Special Rubbish Pick-Up Set for Saturday Morning

Opportunity To Clean Out Winter's Trash

This week Saturday, May 14, the date for Chelsea's big rubbish pick-up when village crews will operate trucks to haul away junk and rubbish which has been placed at the curb. Junk and rubbish should be put out Friday night or very early Saturday morning and trucks will start their rounds at 6 a.m.

This general pick-up was planned by the Village Council as a way to help village residents get rid of the winter's accumulation of trash or of a volume of material to be included in the general weekly pick-up by the village contractor. The contract for this village is for normal weekly accumulations of tin cans, etc., but if residents have larger quantities which they wish to dispose of, they may get in touch with the contractor, William Ternes, telephone, and make special arrangements with him. His contract with the village does not cover this extra pick-up.

As previously announced, residents who may need assistance to dispose of larger items to the curb should call Village Clerk George Winans.

Baseball Team Defeats Pinckney

The bats of the Bulldogs spoke loud and clear last Thursday, as they banged out 13 hits including two home runs and two doubles, to score a 12 to 6 victory over Pinckney.

Catcher Alton Nixon led the attack with a home run and two doubles, while Mike Marsh had a home run and a single, George Wilson and Charles Cameron each had two hits. Matt Murphy, Don Blalock, Ed Lauson, and Kenny Larson all hit safely.

Mike Marsh, pitching his first complete game of the season, scattered five Pinckney hits, but had control trouble and walked nine men. Six Chelsea errors along with the walks, allowed Pinckney to score their six runs.

The line score was: Chelsea, 12 runs on 13 hits, with 6 errors; Pinckney had 6 runs on 5 hits, and 6 errors.

Friday, the day following, the Pinckney victory, South Lyon traveled to Chelsea for a non-conference game. Rain held up the starting of the game for about 30 minutes, but once the game got underway the weather held off long enough to complete all seven innings.

South Lyon is a very strong baseball school, and competition which the Bulldogs look forward to every year. This year was no exception, and the ball game, with the exception of one inning, was the best played game so far this season.

Second baseman Matt Murphy went to the mound for his first assignment as starting pitcher. The Lyons greeted Matt with two runs on a walk and two infield singles. At this time the infield was very slow.

In the third inning the Bulldogs (Continued on page eight)

A MOTHER'S DAY PHOTOGRAPH of Mrs. Minnie Broesamle shows her in a pose that became familiar to many Chelsea area people during the 30 years she served as organist at the Methodist church. Although she will be 84 years old on Oct. 20, she still plays the piano for her own pleasure and as accompanist and soloist at various meetings, including the older adult fellowship group of the Methodist church which holds monthly meetings at the church. Mrs. Broesamle formerly taught piano, organ and violin and assisted young people who were learning to play the saxophone, clarinet or cornet. She and her husband, the late Philip Broesamle, were also in charge of an orchestra at the Methodist church and for the Grange. She retired from teaching about 14 years ago. Mrs. Broesamle has one son, U. S. Navy Commander Kenneth M. Broesamle, now stationed at San Diego, Calif., where he is in charge of a Naval school for training dental technicians. She has two grandsons, Robert, who is an engineering student at the University of Michigan, and Jack Broesamle, of Royal Oak, employed in engineering in Detroit. She also has two great-grandchildren. The plant which is partly visible on the piano, was a Mother's Day gift from her son. The photograph shows her at her home, 118 East Middle St.

School's Financial Situation Studied

(Editor's Note: In an effort to help clarify the financial situation of the Chelsea School District and the proposed operational millage levy the following article has been prepared by school district officials.)

The Chelsea School District is an inter-county school district inasmuch as the district extends into Jackson county. Therefore the operational millage that may be levied by the Chelsea School District is the lesser operational millage allocated by either the Washtenaw County Tax Allocation Board or the Jackson County Tax Allocation Board.

For example, the tentative millage allocated to schools in Washtenaw county is 10.2 mills. If the allocation to schools by the Jackson County Tax Allocation Board is 9 mills, the Chelsea School District could not levy more than the 9 mills (unless additional operational millage is approved by the voters), although $20,254,525 of the 1959-60 total valuation of the district, $21,028,132, is located in Washtenaw county. Only $773,607 of the total valuation is located in Jackson county, yet, this valuation controls the allocated operational millage for the Chelsea School District.

There are eight townships or parts of eight townships located in the Chelsea School District. If either the Washtenaw County Tax Allocation Board or the Jackson County Tax Allocation Board allocated any millage to any townships in the Chelsea District, this millage would be subtracted from the 9 mills referred to above. For example, if Grass Lake township, or any other in our district, were allocated .5 of a mill, the Chelsea School District could levy no more than 8.5 mills in the district.

The allocated millage for the Chelsea School District for the 1960-61 school year may be 8.5 mills instead of the tentative allocated millage to schools in Washtenaw county of 10.2 mills.

Hypothetical Example

County	Washtenaw County	Jackson County
Schools	4.8	6
Township (Sylvan)	10.2	9
In the above example the Chelsea School District would be allocated the lesser millage allocated to schools, 9 mills, less the larger millage allocated to any township .75 of a mill. Therefore, the Chelsea School District millage would be 8.25 mills instead of the 10.2 tentatively allocated to schools in Washtenaw county.
On the basis of the above figures, the total millage levied in the eight townships with property located in the Chelsea School District follows:
Sylvan	8.25	7.5
Dexter	8.25	0
Freedom	8.25	0
Lima	8.25	0
Lyndon	8.25	0
Sharon	8.25	0
Grass Lake	8.25	0
Waterloo	8.25	0
Total	68.25	7.5

The total 15 mills for which the tax allocation boards have the responsibility to allocate would not be levied in any township. 1.05 mills less than the 15 would be levied in five townships, 1.2 mills less in one, .75 of a mill less in one and .25 of mill in one.

On the basis of the above figures a two mills voted operational levy in addition to the 8.25 allocated would total 10.25 mills in the Chelsea School District compared to the 10.2 mills tentatively allocated to the schools in Washtenaw county.

The following table shows the operational millage allocated and voted in the high school districts in Washtenaw county for the 1959-60 school year.

Operational millages levied in high school districts in Washtenaw County in 1959	Tax Rate	Additional operational millage voted and levied	Total
Ann Arbor	9.4	5.6	14.0
Chelsea	8.73	—	8.73
Dexter	9.40	2.0	11.40
Lincoln	7.9	—	7.9
Manchester	8.5	3.5	12.0
Milan	9.15	2.5	11.65
Saline	9.15	—	9.15
Whitmore Lake	9.4	5.0	14.4
Willow Run	9.184	6.0	15.184
Ypsilanti	9.184	7.0	16.184

Future articles will discuss the 1959-60 budget and the 1960-61 budget, the state equalized valuations in the townships, and the allocation of the 15 mills. The final allocation to the Chelsea School District and the final state equalized valuation of the Chelsea School District will not be known until late May or early June.

Corn Price Support Deadline Set for May 31

Only a short time remains for farmers who wish to obtain price support on 1959-crop corn. The closing date is Tuesday, May 31, however, a farm-stored loan must be inspected not later than Monday, May 16, as all papers have to be completed by May 31.

Corn price support may be obtained by means of a non-recourse loan on either farm-stored or warehouse-stored corn or through a purchase agreement with the government. All corn of the 1959-crop is eligible, provided it is of acceptable quality.

Here in Washtenaw county, the support rate is $1.15 per bushel. Ear or shelled corn must grade No. 3 or better, except that corn grading No. 4, because of test weight only is eligible for loan. It must be in adequate storage, either on the farm or in a warehouse or elevator.

Corn loans and purchase agreements being entered into at this time will mature July 31, 1960. Between now and that date, the corn may be redeemed at any time.

Shrub Plantings Underway on Detroit Freeways

Detroit—The first shade tree of an experimental landscaping designed to make Detroit's Freeways safer was planted on the Edsel Ford Freeway recently.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, assisted by officials of the Wayne County Road Commission and city of Detroit, placed the young maple tree into the ground in ceremonies marking the start of the safety and beautification project.

About 4,600 trees and shrubs are being planted on a 2.1 mile section of the Freeway between Thirtieth St. and Trumbull St. at a cost of $90,000.

Mackie said the plantings are designed to improve the Freeways from a safety and operational standpoint by screening distracting elements such as overhead traffic at interchanges.

They also will "frame" leaving and entering ramps and screen service roads from the main highway.

"The plantings are designed to provide an added safety measure on the Freeways and the beauty of the trees and shrubs will be a delightful added bonus for motorists," Mackie said.

The Highway Commissioner said that if the experimental plantings are successful, all urban sections of Michigan's Freeway system eventually will be beautified.

The Detroit plants are part of a long-range program started by the State Highway Department to beautify all Michigan freeways.

So far, more than 10,000 trees and plants have been placed along Michigan's new freeways as part of a safety and beauty program.

1960 Crop Oats County Price Support Rates Set

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced 1960 crop oats county support rates. The rates are based on the 1960 National average support price of 60 cents per bushel for Grade No. 3 Oats. In Michigan, the county support rates are the same as for 1959 when the national support price was also 60 cents per bushel.

Oats to be eligible for support must grade No. 3 or better or No. 4 or the factor of test weight only. County support rates have been established for grade No. 3 oats. Premiums and discounts which are applied for grade and quality to determine individual producer support rates are unchanged from the 1959 program.

Price support will be carried out, as in previous years, through farm and warehouse storage loans and purchase agreements. Support will be available from harvest time through January 31, 1961. Non-recourse loans will mature on April 30, 1961.

Oats produced in violation of leases restricting production of surplus crops on federally-leased lands will not be eligible for price support in 1960.

Provisions limiting non-recourse price support to $50,000 will apply to 1960 oats production.

The 1960 crop oats loan rate for Washtenaw county is $0.52 per bushel. Further details on 1960 crop oats price support may be obtained at the Washtenaw County ASC Office, Room 18, County Building, Ann Arbor.

Mackinac Island Combines History, Charm, Leisure

Developed in the midst of legend still reflecting the tranquility of the 19th century is Michigan's Mackinac Island. This small parcel of land rises high, proud and serene from the Straits of Mackinac in the very shadow of the state's longest suspension bridge which links the two peninsulas of Michigan.

The island once played a crucial role in the struggle between England and France for supremacy in the Great Lakes region. For those who control the trade of the Great North-

Astors and the Biddles also are landmarks of the island.

The Indians called the island "the great turtle" (Michilimackinac, hence its present name), and thought it "the place of the dancing spirits."

Until 1760 the French held the Michilimackinac region. It was abandoned to the English after Wolfe's victory at Quebec in 1759; the island and the entire Great Lakes region became British crown land in 1763. Then, fifteen years after the close of the American Revolution Mackinac Island was turned over to the United States, but it was lost again to the British during the War of 1812, finally regained by the U. S. in 1815.

Medical history also is written in the annals of Mackinac Island. In the old fort Dr. William Beaumont discovered much of what we know of the human digestive system by observing the process at first hand through an opening in the stomach of a wounded French Canadian, Alexis St. Martin. Today Beaumont Memorial stands as a monument to one of America's pioneer medical researchers.

For centuries Mackinac Island has been a place of importance.

The Indians worshipped it as a shrine because of its towering elevations, its arresting rock formations and its entrancing beauty. Then it became the citadel of the Great Lakes. And for the last century Mackinac Island has been a famous summer resort, often called the Bermuda of the north.

The island is reached by a 45-minute ferry trip from either St. Ignace or Mackinaw City. Transportation on the island itself is strictly by horse and carriage or bicycle, for to this day automobiles are not allowed on Mackinac Island.

Besides Fort Mackinac overlooking the harbor, and Fort Holmes on the island's interior, there are natural attractions such as Sugar Loaf Rock and Arch Rock, an island landmark with a 50-ft. span 140 feet above Lake Michigan, favorite subjects of vacationing camera fans.

Vacation activities include cycling, hiking, exploring the old forts and rock formations, golfing, tennis and swimming. And highlighting the summer season are an annual lilac festival in June and the two Great Lakes sailing classics, the Port Huron and Chicago to Mackinac races in July.

Stately old homes stand guard on the heights along with Fort Mackinac, while below lies the village itself, placid in its ageless appeal. And dominating the island is the imposing and spacious Grand Hotel, its gleaming white columns visible far out in the Straits. Still a symbol of Victorian splendor, the hotel has the longest porch in the world and guests are treated like royalty by liveried attendants.

A full range of accommodations including resort hotels, motels and cottages is available to island visitors, and specialty shops cater to the shopping vacationer.

Mackinac Island is a little world of its own with the air of a 19th century print. The slow tempo of boats plying the Straits, and the rhythmic clip-clop of horses hooves create an atmosphere of relaxation and a sense of refuge rarely found today.

NATURE TRAIL OPENS—Looking at the new Acorn Nature Trail at Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, located along the Huron River northwest of Dexter, near the junction of North Territorial Rd. and Huron River Dr., are left to right: Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority and Ann Arbor resident, Brenton Schultz, park superintendent at Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park and a resident of Dexter, and Tommy Rice, age 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rice, 8089 Chatham Ave., Detroit and a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 568 of Detroit, who earlier added finishing touches to the new trail. Acorn Trail will be open for public guided hikes on Sunday, May 15, from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Park naturalists will be on hand to guide visitors along the trail. Persons interested in taking the one-hour guided tours, which cover a labeled trail for three-quarters of a mile, should meet at the parking lot where the "Nature Walks Start Here" sign is posted. Sunday's tours mark the official opening of the "Acorn Trail."

Acorn Nature Trail Opens at Hudson Mills Park, Dexter

To celebrate the official opening of the "Acorn Nature Trail" at Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park near Dexter, naturalists will provide guided tours along the new trail on Sunday, May 15 from 1 p.m. through 4:30 p.m. There is no charge for this service.

Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park is located 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor near the junction of North Territorial Rd. and Huron River Dr. It is one of several parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, five-county park agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Persons interested in taking the one-hour guided tours, which cover a labeled trail for three-quarters of a mile, should meet at the parking lot where the "Nature Walks Start Here" sign is posted.

"We feel this new nature trail will prove as popular as the others we have at Kensington-Metropolitan Park near Brighton, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Metropolitan-Beach on Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens. It is just one of the many improvements completed at the 600-acre Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park," remarked Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, authority director.

"This trail is labeled so that persons may identify flowers, trees and rocks along the path and we encourage visitors to take unguided hikes," he said.

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority naturalist program also provides guided tours by appointment, at Hudson Mills and its parks to Boy Scout, Girl Scout, school and other civic groups. Since these appointments are booked far in advance, reservations for fall hikes may be placed by contacting the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit 26 or phone WO 1-5686.

Wildflowers will be of particular interest along the trail during May and it is hoped that the flowering dogwood trees will be in blossom. Animals which inhabit the park include squirrels, rabbits, raccoons, opossums, red foxes and white-tailed deer.

The authority nature program is directed by Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist, and he is assisted by Charles Damm, Rainer Brocke, and Gerald McAdams, naturalists, and Elmer Switzer, naturalist aide.

Loch Alpine residents have traded one headache for another! Fearing many of the trees in the area had contracted the dread Dutch Elm disease, the association composed of homeowners in that section made plans to have trees in the Loch Alpine area sprayed to prevent any further tree damage.

Now apparently hundreds of fish are dying and floating on the lake. Mechanized equipment which has rolled off the assembly line of the Conservation Department's unique forest fire experiment station near Rosecommon has been instrumental in ranking Michigan's forest fire control system among the best in the nation.

Miss Michigan 1959 Chosen as Judge In 'Miss Washtenaw County' Contest

Sue Westergaard, Miss Michigan-Universa 1959, has been chosen as one of three judges who will participate in selection of "Miss Washtenaw County" to compete in the Miss Michigan pageant, it was announced today by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Manchester.

The winner of this year's Miss Michigan contest will travel to Miami Beach, Fla., to compete for the title of Miss Universe in that pageant to be held July 2-10.

The contest for the selection of "Miss Washtenaw County" will take place June 11, at the Manchester Civic Auditorium in Manchester. She will then compete with other preliminary winners from throughout Michigan for the Miss Michigan title.

According to Mrs. Alma Hamley, treasurer of the Business and Professional Women's Club, "Miss Westergaard will help us provide a fair and unbiased contest to determine the most beautiful girl of this area to represent Washtenaw county at the Michigan contest and subsequently the Miss Universe pageant. The girls will be judged on the basis of beauty of face and figure, poise, personality and charm."

Contestants for the Miss Universe title in Miami Beach will be voting for the following awards in addition to the title: Miss Universe will receive $10,000 consisting of $5,000 in cash and a $5,000 service contract, plus other awards; 1st runner-up receives $4,000; 2nd $2,500; 3rd $1,500; 4th $1,000. Ten semi-finalists will receive $200 each. All remaining contestants will receive $100 each.

The final selection of the Miss Universe will be viewed nationwide on a 90-minute telecast; this year for the first time in the history of the pageant.

Entries close May 24 for the "Miss Washtenaw County" contest. Qualifications are: Girls must be 18 years old prior to June 1, 1960, never married, nationals of the United States and residents of this area for the past six months and be of good health and character.

A new section of the Conservation Department's lands division was organized and staffed in 1956 to deal with Michigan's 38,504 square miles of Great Lakes bottom land. Lack of statutory power to protect this great public trust prior to 1955 has created serious problems of invasion and trespass, largely through extensive filling and improvement projects.

Michigan Bell Pays Record Tax Of $13,919,359

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced its payment to the state primary school fund for 1959 was the largest in the company's history.

Amounting to a record $13,919,359, an increase of nearly $1,500,000 over 1958, the payment again placed Michigan Bell as the top contributor to the fund.

Nicholas J. Frakken, manager here for the company, reported that $13,040 of the total tax payment was allocated to the public school system of Chelsea.

Schools throughout Washtenaw county received from Michigan Bell's payment a total of $255,088. Payments were based on the county school census of 37,735, and the local school census of 1,929.

The tax payment amounted to $8.78 for each of the 2,058,028 youngsters in the state between the ages of 5 and 19 who were on the census rolls for the 1959 school year.

The state primary school fund receives payments not only from Michigan Bell but also from the railroads, Railway Express, Pullman, telephone, and other telephone companies.

Contracts Let To Complete US-12 X-way

Among contracts let by the Michigan State Highway Department April 27 and announced last week was one for the final 5.1 miles of US-12 (Interstate 94) and four structures from Ann Arbor west to Baker Rd. This will complete the expressway through Washtenaw county. Completion date has been set for July 15, 1961.

The structures included are interchanges at Zeeb Rd. and Baker Rd.; a grade separation at Wagner Rd.; and an off ramp at Jackson Ave.

The Zeeb Rd. interchange will carry Zeeb Rd. over the expressway with a 28-foot roadway 250 feet long.

Baker Rd. will be carried over the expressway on a 228-foot structure 28 feet wide.

The grade separation at Wagner Rd. will be 173 feet long and 20 feet wide while the off ramp structure from the expressway to Jackson Ave. will be 28 feet wide and 119 feet long.

With a 12.9-mile stretch in Berrien county, for which contracts also were let, Michigan's major east-west freeway, designated as Interstate 94, will be completed from Detroit to New Buffalo, a distance of 217 miles.

The current five-year program (1957-62) will also extend the freeway from Detroit to Port Huron.

WILD TURKEYS—Vanished from Michigan by the 1890's, wild turkeys are staging a comeback in isolated parts of the state's lower peninsula. Nearly 800 birds were stocked in Allegan state forest and Baldwin, Mio and Gladwin districts by the Conservation Department from 1954 to 1957. By last fall, turkeys in these major areas numbered an estimated 1,300 birds. Flocks in the Allegan area are nearing the saturation point. Since roughly 50 percent of the turkey's fall population normally fails to survive the winter, a very limited hunting season may eventually be in the offing to harvest a few of the area's mature birds. For the present, Department game men plan to live-trap and stock the area's surplus birds in northern sectors of the state where recent releases have been encouraging.

Wild Turkeys Making Good Comeback in State Forests

Lansing—Wild turkeys are adding shades of Michigan's early pioneer days to isolated parts of the state's lower peninsula. They vanished along with the southern lower peninsula's vast forests around the 1890's and, for more than a half-century, odds appeared to be stacked against their return. A number of attempts to restore the birds proved fruitless in the '30's and '40's.

In the early 1950's, news of Pennsylvania's notable success in turkey restoration re-kindled hopes in Michigan and the Conservation Department launched a thorough study of possible release sites.

Michigan's lack of large, unsettled forest country, such as found in mountainous regions of the Keystone State, limited the possibility of any large-scale effort to restore the turkeys where they once thrived.

Studies indicated that Allegan state forest offered the best prospects for the bird's restoration. Areas north of the state's original turkey range were chosen later, but the chances of success there were, at best, so-so.

Following the Conservation Commission's approval in 1953, turkeys and eggs were purchased from Pennsylvania and transferred to the Department's state game farm near Mason.

From 1954 to 1957, nearly 800 birds were stocked in Allegan state forest and Baldwin, Mio, and Gladwin districts. Withstanding the severe winter of 1958-59, various human pressures, and receiving only a limited amount of artificial food, turkeys in these major areas numbered an estimated 1,300 birds by last fall.

Flocks in the Allegan area, totaling about 700 birds, are nearing the saturation point. They are already extending their range into less favorable sectors of the forest.

Since nearly one-half of the bird's fall population is normally lost during the winter, a very limited hunting season may eventually be in the offing to harvest a few of the area's mature turkeys. For the present, however, Department game men feel it would be wiser to live-trap surplus turkeys and transplant them in other parts of the state. Their decision will rest on the outcome of their studies.

Elsewhere, turkeys have moved as far as 50 miles from original release sites in portions of Lake and Newaygo counties in Baldwin district. Small flocks are now found in Wexford, Manistee, and Mason counties and there appear to be room in adjoining areas where the birds may spread.

Although progress is slow, turkeys seem to be increasing in Mio and Gladwin districts and their potential range provides a promising outlook. Located chiefly in Ogemaw, Clare, Oscoda, and Isosco counties, turkeys are also occasionally reported in Roscommon and Alcona counties.

In addition to their primary duties of protecting Michigan's game and fish, conservation officers co-operate with other divisions of the Conservation Department in making game checks and creel censuses, reporting land fills, pollution and land matters, and explaining the why's and wherefores of regulations, law changes and various policies to local residents. He also assists other agencies in searching for lost persons and fugitives.

The House has passed a bill that would clear the way for entry in the United States by a maximum of about 5,000 refugees now in Europe.

The voice vote sent the bill to the Senate. There was little debate, but enough to indicate that there was virtually no chance the House would consider this year President Eisenhower's recommendations for broadening of the general immigration laws.

Rurban Area Can Benefit Local Stores

Michigan's growing "rurbs" offer an opportunity and a challenge to small-town merchants, says Kendall Adams, a research assistant in agricultural economics at Michigan State University.

"Rurbs are really a kind of cross between suburbs and rural areas," Adams points out. "They're springing up rapidly as cities spill over into the areas around small towns and villages. Improved highways and communication make this movement possible."

"The 'rurbs' don't look like the suburbs. Houses are far enough apart to allow good sized lots. Rurban areas usually have less than 1,000 families per square mile, while suburbs run about 5,000."

The rurban homeowner isn't a carbon copy of his suburban neighbor, either. He's moved from the city because he wants a touch of rural atmosphere. And he tends toward the lower middle-income bracket, while suburbs are mainly "upper middle."

Rurban growth puts millions of new customers near rural towns and cities. This gives the local merchants an expanding market. It also gives them some headaches.

For one thing, most small-town store owners have always sought locations on the main street. But the rurbanite isn't a transient shopper. He'd appreciate the chance to turn off on a side street that's arranged so he can park near his store.

Second, planned shopping centers around small towns are providing stiff competition. These compact shopping areas are thriving because they save shopper's steps, eliminate parking worries, and have an assortment of stores.

In 1956, the nation had only 2,000 such centers, and most of those were quite young. Yet one expert expects 10,000 by 1976.

"Most small-town business districts are fairly compact before the rurbs move in," says Adams. "They can meet the shopping center challenge."

But like the farmer, the individual store owner can't do it alone. He must work with his fellow merchants and with local government.

"Of course, businesses compete," Adams points out, "but they also complement each other by providing an assortment of goods. Customers are attracted by the total assortment of goods as well as by specific stores."

In dozens of towns, merchants and local governments have worked against each other, the economist adds. Here are two common examples:

1. Many towns have installed one-way streets to help solve traffic problems. This makes shoppers go around the block to park near certain stores. A few merchants are bound to suffer.

2. Store owners' insistence on main-street locations has often caused officials to route traffic through towns in a sort of meandering path. Actually, both car owners and merchants would gain by having handy shopping and parking areas away from main street.

REFUGEE BILL VOTED

The House has passed a bill that would clear the way for entry in the United States by a maximum of about 5,000 refugees now in Europe.

The voice vote sent the bill to the Senate. There was little debate, but enough to indicate that there was virtually no chance the House would consider this year President Eisenhower's recommendations for broadening of the general immigration laws.

NEW "MRS. MICHIGAN," Mrs. Geraldine L. Scott of Traverse City, is crowned by Fred Kaiser, vice-president and general sales manager of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Traverse City Doctor's Wife Chosen as 'Mrs. Michigan'

A sparkling eyed mother of four daughters from Traverse City, Mrs. Geraldine L. Scott, is the new "Mrs. Michigan."

Wife of Dr. John E. Scott, director of the Health Department for Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Benzie counties, she moved to Traverse City four years ago. He went back to school and received his masters of public health degree before taking his present post-almost a year ago.

Mrs. Scott's favorite household tasks are cooking, sewing and ironing. She is less enthusiastic about dishwashing and mending. She has no household help, but a baby-sitter comes in once a week while her shops.

Among her civic and church activities, she is a lay teacher of high school students in her Catholic church, is active in the PTA, Grand Traverse Safety Council and Medical Auxiliary of the County Medical Society.

The Scotts' children are Deborah, 9; Diana, 7; Maureen, 5½; and Kathleen, 2½. The two older children enjoy skiing with their parents and the entire family spends many busy hours taking care of their 300-acre, 120,000 Christmas tree plantation.

As winner of the "Mrs. Michigan" title, Mrs. Scott and her husband win an all-expense paid trip to Fort Lauderdale for two weeks while she competes in the "Mrs. America" finals. They will stay at the Yankee Clipper Hotel.

Other awards include an RCA Whirlpool gas refrigerator, automatic gas range, clothes dryer and a number of other household gifts. Should she win the national title, she will receive a $30,000 furnished home in Florida complete with swimming pool, all-gas kitchen, band in 1948 while she was a dietetic intern at Henry Ford Hospital and he was a senior medical student at Wayne University College of Medicine.

Dr. Scott entered the U. S. Army in 1948 and was stationed in San Francisco when they were married May 14, 1949. A captain when he left the regular Army in 1952, he moved to Traverse City four years ago.

Salt and pepper.

1. Brown chops slowly on each side until golden brown in rendered fat trimmings. Season with salt and pepper.

2. Add onion, ½ cup of the matos and liquor from mushroom cover tightly and simmer for minutes or until chops are tender. Rinse. Drain. Add but spread over chops. Add remaining tomatoes, green pepper, rooms, salt and pepper. Stir leaving chops in bottom of pan.

3. Simmer until green peas are tender and cheese melted, 15 minutes, or place in 350° F. for 20-25 minutes.

4. With large spatula serve each portion without turning pork chop-spaghetti arrangement.

Technical work of the Conservation Department's fish division, involving lake and stream maps, fisheries, fisheries surveys, investigation of fish mortalities, diseases, studies of fish feeding habits, is conducted by the Institute of Fisheries search at Ann Arbor. The Institute is financed and administered by the Department.

The honored women were presented with plants. The plants were African violets grown by Mrs. Walter Bohne and donated by her for presentation to the honored mothers and daughters.

Table decorations included bouquets of carnations. An added detail was the nut cups made in the form of daffodils.

Responsible for the dining room decorations were Mrs. Austin Artz and Mrs. Harold Wahl.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dault

Donna Mae Walz, James Dault Speak Wedding Vows

Donna Mae Walz and William James Dault exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m. Saturday before the Rev. S. D. Kinde at the Methodist church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle A. Walz of Clear Lake Rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dault of Cavanaugh Lake.

With Charles Isham at the organ, Mrs. Harry Jones, Jr., sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's wedding gown was fashioned of Chantilly lace over satin, style features being a fitted bodice with a sweetheart neckline and a full-length, ruffled capelet extending to the hemline of the floor-length skirt. A scalloped crown of lace, trimmed with sequins, held her fingertip-length veil, a cascade arrangement of white carnations with a white orchid at the center.

Ann Haselschwerdt, for her role as a matron of honor, wore a street-length dress of pink nylon chiffon with a bouffant skirt and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Laverne Walz, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mae Ellen Marshall, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore navy blue and each had a corsage of pink and white roses. Mrs. Walz's dress was of chiffon and she used matching colored accessories. Mrs. Dault chose white accessories.

Thomas Dault assisted his brother as best man. Another brother, Gary, and a cousin Larry Dault of Detroit, served as ushers.

At the reception, held in the social center of the church, Mrs. Wayne Malcho of Dansville, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Herman Schoening of Grass Lake, sister of the bride, poured coffee and punch, respectively.

Mrs. Bertilla Forner Honored at Mary's Mother-Daughter Banquet

St. Mary's Altar Society Mother and Daughter banquet, held in St. Mary's school hall Wednesday evening, May 4, featured a surprise "This Is Your Life" program presented by Mrs. G. L. Staffan, with Mrs. Bertilla Forner as the person whose life story was unfolded. The program not only was a surprise to the guest of honor but to the 250 mothers and daughters who attended the banquet.

Beginning with her birth as the seventh child in a family of eight children born to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Weber of Sylvan township, one of her sisters, Mrs. J. E. Seckinger (Myrtle) of Jackson, appeared to tell about Mrs. Forner's childhood.

Others who participated included Mrs. Joseph Hafner, a schoolmate when both attended the Red School, now moved to the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds and used by St. Barnabas Episcopal church as a temporary place of worship.

When Mrs. Forner attended classes in the Red School it was located at the corner of Manchester and Pritchard Rds., now a part of Chrysler Proving Ground.

Mrs. Albert Doll, Sr., a cousin of Mrs. Forner, recalled incidents of Mrs. Forner's courtship and her marriage, April 24, 1918, to Leo Forner, with the Rev. Fr. Considine officiating. Mr. Forner died on their 19th wedding anniversary, April 24, 1937.

Mrs. Staffan, continuing the narration, mentioned that this year marked the 50th anniversary of Mrs. Forner's First Communion at St. Mary's church and that one of her granddaughters, Janet Boylan, was a member of the 1960 class.

Mrs. Mary Knies recalled highlights of Mrs. Forner's 23 years as an employee of Federal Screw Works.

Mrs. Forner had begun work at the plant soon after her husband's death, supporting her family "with the help of her son, Robert," according to the story of her life as presented by Mrs. Staffan.

It was brought out that this year was the first Mrs. Forner had taken her entire vacation at one time and went on a trip. Other years she had always saved part of her vacation to be with members of her family who needed her in time of illness or when some of the 18 grandchildren were born.

This year Mrs. Forner, with her sister, Mrs. Seckinger, and two brothers, Theodore Weber of Ypsilanti, and Herman Weber of Ann Arbor, spent three weeks in Florida, visiting the sister, Sister Mary Genevieve, O.P., prioress of Barry College, in Miami.

Also mentioned in connection with Mrs. Forner's family were two other brothers, Sylvester and Arthur Weber.

Sister Mary Genevieve and another sister, Sister Mary Francis, O.P., mother superior at St. Mary's school, Adrian, sent congratulatory letters which were read during the program by two of Mrs. Forner's daughters, Mrs. James Yoxall of Detroit and Mrs. Joseph Steele of Ann Arbor. Sisters Mary Francis and Mary Genevieve had also sent Mrs. Forner a gift—a rosary in a silver mesh case.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Forner was presented with a tape recording of the program and, ending on a light note, Mrs. Staffan presented her with a miniature model of an automobile saying "compact cars" were now the fashion.

The Rev. Fr. Lee Lalge spoke briefly, commending Mrs. Forner and all the mothers present.

With Mrs. Forner at the banquet were her three daughters, Mrs. Yoxall (Mary), Mrs. Steele (Dorothy) and Mrs. Keith Boylan (Agnel), also her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Forner, seven granddaughters, and her sister, Mrs. Seckinger.

Honored as the oldest mothers present at the banquet were Mrs. Cora Beissel and Mrs. George Clark. Each was presented with a plant.

Also honored were Mrs. Henry E. Orthing as the mother present with the youngest daughter, 9-week-old Treese; and Mrs. Mary Lee Hoffman and Mrs. William Clark who tied for the honor of mother present with the most daughters. Each had four daughters at the banquet.

Younger daughters at the banquet were entertained with movies shown in another part of the building during the "This Is Your Life" program.

Announcement was made that donations of peanut butter, jelly, cookie mixes, color books and crayons for the migrant project should be brought to Gertrude Young at Merkel's store before May 15.

It was also announced that the June Altar Society meeting will be held Wednesday, June 1.

Diane Gary, James Collins Win U-M Scholarships

Diane Gary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gary, and James Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Collins, have been awarded Regents-Alumni scholarships to the University of Michigan, it was announced this week.

A total of 640 Regents-Alumni scholarships are being awarded this year as compared to 613 in 1959.

There were 1,615 applications this year.

For the first time, the amount of the stipend will vary according to the financial needs of winners, ranging from an honorary $40 entrance award to a $500 a year grant. However, most of the scholarships will be granted for undergraduate freshman year fees.

The scholarships formerly were awarded to cover semester fees only. They are renewable for a normal-length degree program if the student's academic record justifies it.

Miss Gary's scholarship is for the School of Nursing at the University.

She has been a student in Chelsea schools since 1953. Prior to that she had attended Pleasant Lake school for several years after returning to the United States from Germany where the family had lived for a year while her father was in military service.

She received the Kiwanis Good Citizen award in 1957 and 1958; the DAR award in 1960; and the outstanding French student award.

Colloquium Set for Catholic Teaching Sisters of County

The staff of the Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county has arranged a colloquium for the teaching sisters of the county which will be held Saturday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m. at the offices of the Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county, 117 North Division St., Ann Arbor.

Discussion will center around ways in which the teaching sisters and social workers can work together helping children with certain aspects of the social and emotional adjustment. Successful school achievement, as it is now interpreted by educators, means not that every child will "pass" certain standard courses, but that every child will achieve the maximum of his own potential, both in class work and in social and emotional growth toward maturity.

Community studies of constructive mental health programs have emphasized the value of preventive service and the role of the school in the area of prevention. Prevention of problems and ways in which the two disciplines can work together to accomplish this goal will also be discussed.

The Rev. John A. Trease, assistant director of Catholic Charities, Marguerite M. Parrish, executive secretary of Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county, Elizabeth P. Berry, Ivan Kovaca and Janet H. McKnight, case workers, will act as discussion leaders.

played give-away and allowed one South Lyon run to score on three Chelsea errors. As it turned out, this made the difference in the game. In their half of the third, Chelsea came up with their three runs, on four hits and an error. Kenny Larson, Ed Lauhon, Richie Wood, and Matt Murphy all hit safely to collect the three runs for Chelsea.

South Lyon went out in front in the fifth inning on two hits and an error.

Chelsea lost an opportunity to tie the game in the seventh, when Alton Nixon singled, stole second, and moved to third on the catcher's throw, but the Bulldogs were unable to push across the big run, and went down 4 to 3.

After the first inning Matt allowed just two Lyons' hits and walked two.

The line score was: Chelsea, 3 runs on 6 hits with 4 errors, South Lyon, 4 runs on 4 hits and 2 errors.

Tuesday's Saline game at Chelsea was rained out and will be played on May 24.

Today the Bulldogs are scheduled to visit Dexter for the return game with the Dreadnaughts.

Roby has withdrawn his 20-acre land from production of surplus farm crops and entered into a 10-year Soil Bank program with the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the supervision of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCC). Roby hired O'Reilly Myers of Gaylord and his crew of two men to plant the seedlings. He had planted 11,000 seedlings a year ago. District Forester Victor Horvath, who supervises the planting seedlings for the government, said that a total of 40,000 had been planted in Washtenaw county this year. The number includes those planted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koselka on their farm on N. Lima Center Rd.

Last Week's Mystery Farm Identified As Home of Mrs. Robert Shanahan

Mystery Farm No. 97, published last week's Standard for readers' identification, is the home of Mrs. Riegger Shanahan and her 10-year-old son, Thomas. She and her late husband, Robert Shanahan, purchased the place three years ago. Mr. Shanahan died Feb. 2 of this year.

In addition to operating the 120-acre farm, he had been employed at the Killins Gravel Co.

His father, Lawrence Shanahan, of Mrs. Shanahan's father, Karl Riegger, are caring for the farm of livestock—steers and pigs—since his death.

Mrs. Shanahan is employed at the Dexter Savings Bank. The Shanahans bought the place from Arthur Williams who had owned it about five years.

Prior to that it had been owned for 20 years by members of the Hatt family, Harley Hatt having owned it since 1960.

The property includes parts of two farms—procured from the United States Government in 1891, one by Casper and Carlissa Bartley and the other by Frederick Sheldon.

Others through the years prior to the Hatt ownership included Henry Markle, 1899; John Bean, 1895; LeRoy Bean, 1898; Emil Zinke, 1898; Frederick Wedemeyer, 1874.

On the other parcel the owners included Aaron Gage, 1837; Lewis Godfrey, 1849; Carlissa and Harriet Whipple and Ambrose Gage, 1849; Eli Spaulding, 1853; Frederick Wedemeyer, 1856.

Since then other owners included Maria Faulkner, 1875; David Rockwell, 1875; Frederick Wedemeyer, 1876; Theodore and Hattie Wedemeyer, 1899; Fred and Alice Keen, 1907; Mary Herzog, 1908; Frank and Louisa Nellis, 1919; Dugald Duncan, 1919; Burr C. Thomas, 1921; Richard Clinton, 1931.

Alvin and Mary Hatt, parents of Harley Hatt, became the owners in 1938 and he and his family made their home there until 1951. In 1952 Arthur Williams purchased it from Harley who had come into full ownership in 1950.

The Harley Hatt family of four children became well known throughout the area because of

College Education Is Becoming More Difficult To Finance These Days

The younger generation these days is finding a college education is not easily paid for. Because money is comparatively plentiful at this time, the real effects of increased tuition bills and increased fees in colleges has not yet produced its full impact.

However, colleges all over the United States have been forced to increase their tuition rates, room and board charges have increased sharply in most instances, and cost of materials, clothes and food—not to mention other essentials—are all considerably higher.

This poses a serious question for all Americans, since this country's heritage is, to a large extent, tied up with low-cost, liberal education. Most of this country's great leaders have received their foundation in a liberal arts school of some kind.

The colleges are not to be blamed, necessarily, because in many cases their endowments have shrunk in proportion to the increase in inflation and, in other cases, their long-term investments pay interest rates today which are considerably lower than the average and not in line with increased costs of operation. The problem is real and may eventually have to be decided by the taxpayer, in one form or another.

An acute situation is arising whereby high school graduates with meritorious records are not financially able to attend college. The number of such students will increase greatly as soon as a period of deflation sets in.

The problem is being studied by private colleges and by many leading citizens independently. It merits the serious thought of every American.

TV Quiz Expert Flunks Census Test

One of the stars of the now defunct "Twenty-One" television program, Teddy Nadler, recently flunked a very simple test for prospective census-takers. It was a test based on elementary map reading and the vocabulary.

Although Nadler won thousands upon thousands of dollars on the quiz program for his amazing knowledge in great detail on a wide variety of subjects, he flunked this simple vocabulary and map reading test.

Said Nadler after the test: "I was nervous. There were so many people there. I shouldn't have taken it."

Teddy, the idol of millions during his reign supreme on the TV show, was not particularly nervous there where he was winning thousands of dollars. If he were as proficient as it seems, judging from his amazing answers on the show in the fields of classical music, history, mythology, and sports, it is hard to see how he would not have a good vocabulary.

A census official said apparently Nadler had no aptitude for maps. Nadler agreed. He said the print was so small he didn't know which way north was.

Fortunately Nadler was well paid for the more complicated answers he gave on the TV show, and the $13-a-day job he missed as a census taker won't work too much of a hardship on him.

Modern psychology tells us that it's bad to be an orphan, terrible to be the youngest, crushing to be in the middle, and taxing to be the oldest. There seems to be no way out, except to be born an adult.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

"Economic climate," a political football for two election campaigns in a row, is going to be booted around in a third.

It was a central theme of the 1958 fall campaign, it was an issue during the 1959 spring election, and it will be paramount from now until the Nov. 8 balloting.

The two candidates for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, "Paul D. Bagwell and Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo)," have questioned Michigan's qualifications as a place to do business.

Democrats have famed the fire. Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, for one, challenged Bagwell to debate the economic climate issue.

"Mr. Bagwell shouldn't be allowed to drag Michigan through the mud again," said Swainson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Many of those concerned with Michigan's economic destiny—those on both sides of the political fence—have been doing some soul-searching about the wisdom of knocking Michigan.

Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., said during a recent visit to a Michigan plant that the state's trouble was "politics, not poverty."

"We know that Michigan is basically healthy financially, and industrially wealthy," Greenwalt said.

The Bible for both sides of the economic climate debate is the so-called Haber Report, a study sponsored by the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research and conducted by two institute specialists and Prof. William Haber, University of Michigan.

Democrats emphasize the chapter on Michigan's potentials. Republicans emphasize the chapter on Michigan's problems.

Most-quoted section of the Haber report is the one indicating Michigan needs 100,000 new jobs a year.

Most-ignored section is the one that says:

"Guard zealously the good name of the state. Stop undermining its reputation by exaggerating its problems and minimizing its virtues. We have short-changed the state long enough."

Action programs recommended last year by the Haber report generally were ignored by the 1958 legislature. Study programs made out better.

The major recommendations, adoption of an economic growth act, was proposed by the administration but rejected by the legislature.

The legislature also declined to provide funds for a stepped-up industrial promotion program.

But many of the recommendations for committees to study reasons for plant movements, existing business conditions and other aspects—have been included among the missions of some legislative interim committees, including the Committee on Jobs or organized by Morris.

The lowest-paying job on the State Administrative Board is the most-sought.

In 1958 there were two Democrats and one Republican in the primary race for lieutenant governor.

This year, at least three Democrats and at least five Republicans have made various moves to get their party's nominations.

Former Lt. Gov. Clarence Reid one of the last Republicans to serve on the Administrative Board, would like to return. Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) would like to preside, as the lieutenant governor does, over the chamber in which he once was a page boy.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows at the country store Saturday night was discussing the pros and cons of making garden this year. Ed Doolittle said about all he expected to get out of his garden this summer was his neighbor's chickens. In other words, his neighbor's chickens is going to eat corn and beans and Ed's going to eat the chickens. It was agreed by one and all that this was a fair arrangement.

One fellow allowed as how he wasn't making no garden this year, said it took all his spare time raising his neighbor's children. That brought up the question from one fellow about what's happened to all the kids of the last generation that was raised on what was grown in the garden in the summer and what was canned and put away for winter. It was decided that most of them is now at the grocery store buying canned food to be shored their cat has a balanced diet.

The session was full of arguments, as usual. There's one good thing to be said for ignorance, Mister Editor. It causes a heap of mighty interesting arguments.

I see by the papers where the Army has turned in a report to the Congress on what things is costing them these days. I found a section of it real educating. A soldier, the Army says, gets $168.30 for clothes when he enlists. A woman or WAC get $232.36 for the same purpose. A soldier gets one pair of shoes and two pairs of boots, a WAC four pairs of shoes and one pair of pumps. She also gets a handbag and over shoes. A soldier has to use his pockets and give his feet wet. The report said a GI gets $5.40 worth of undershirts and drawers, but a WAC get $30 for what the Army lists real modest as "undergarments."

I been arguing with my old lady for 40 year that it oughtn't to cost here to buy clothes for her than me and I shore hope she don't see this scientific report from the Army.

Things has been rough enough at my house lately without her seeing that report. A woman come by our place Saturday and tried to buy some old clothes from my old lady. This woman was pretty hefty and she allowed as how she didn't see many wimmen anymore "hipped and busted like I am and I shore would like to buy your old clothes." My old lady has been boiling mad ever since. I reckon it ain't fashionable anymore for a woman to be "hipped and busted" too much. On the other hand, Liz Taylor and Marilyn Monroe ain't done too bad in this department lately. There just ain't no accounting anymore, Mister Editor, for the workings of a woman's mind.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lews.

Positive Program Needed for World Peace

Lansing—During the last week it was my privilege to travel to the Atlantic seaboard and then to California. As I traveled from one coast to the other, the full width of this continent, I was impressed again with the grandeur of our nation. This is a country built by generations imbued with a love of peace and liberty.

Americans have fought and died to gain liberty and to preserve from oppression free peoples all over the world. Our nation has always been ready, willing and able to make the sacrifices necessary to win the war. But we have never really been called upon to make the same level of sacrifice to build the peace. As I traveled over our great industrial states, the plains areas and across the mountains and saw below our factories, homes, centers of learning and research, our waterways, railroads and transcontinental highways, I was impressed even more with the need for a definite program for peace, not alone for ourselves, but for the entire world.

To accomplish this we cannot be entirely dependent on a policy of deterrence. We need, rather, to seek and create a permanent and honorable peace where men live not in terror, but in dignity.

As a definite alternative to deterrence there should be a positive program for peace which would include at least five elements: (1) Disarmament; (2) Domestic programs and institutions for peace; (3) Relief of world tensions; (4) Development of viable and stable economies throughout the world; and (5) World law.

There is, at present, the practical possibility that we can come to agreement on the banning of all atomic tests. One of the things which has been holding up a test ban has been our demand that there be 100 per cent certainty that no one can secretly violate a test ban agreement in the area of small underground explosions—everything else we can detect. I believe the risk of Soviet violation of a test ban is slight in comparison to the risks of continued testing. These tests involve pollution of the atmosphere, feeding of mistrust, encouraging an expanding nuclear club and playing with the possibility of accidental war. These factors involve the risk of reducing the balance of terror to the shambles of horror.

Everyone wants peace, yet we fail to prepare for it. There are only a handful of disarmament experts scattered through several federal agencies. As a first order of business we should establish a National Peace Agency which, as a minimum program, could keep up-to-date technological information flowing to our disarmament negotiators.

We must plan for a transition to a peace-oriented economy so that industries won't be disrupted and jobs lost. I am proud to note that only a few days ago the Carnegie Corp. announced its award of $57,000 grant to the University of Michigan for what is believed to be the first major, nationwide study of the economics of disarmament.

The idea of peace as a desired social condition contains the core of the importance of human dignity. We must help people who are ill-fed, ill-clothed, ill-housed and in ill health find their way to a healthy, living vital economy, to a growing dignity and strength in freedom.

These proposals point to a world which substitutes order for chaos and law for force in the settlement of international disputes. Ultimately world peace will depend on World Law.

Restrictions which hamper the functioning of the World Council should be removed. We must demonstrate our desire to live in peace with our neighbors under the rule of law and lead the way for other nations to do the same.

57 Counties Show Drop in Voter Registration

Within a week, Michigan Elections' Director, Robert M. Montgomery, will issue a report showing that voter registration has decreased in the last year in 57 counties which are predominantly Republican.

It will show very small gains in the other rural counties.

But the report by Montgomery will reveal that in the Democratic strongholds of Wayne and Macomb counties, voter registration has increased, despite the fact that the UAW has not started its biennial registration drive.

Republican areas have lost about 50,000 registered voters in the last year.

Wayne and Macomb alone have gained 23,800. The gain in these two Democratic counties will be considerably more before the union completes its 1960 campaign to get out the vote. Oakland, always Republican in the election of state and national officials is going up, too.

The 1960 census will show that Michigan has a population of more than 8,000,000, which is an increase of 20 per cent since 1950. There has been an increase of about 250,000 in the last three years.

Few out-state counties will show a drop in the census figures, compared to 10 years ago. But the slump in voter registration outside the metropolitan area cannot be blamed on a shift in population. It has been said too often that a major weakness of the GOP is its failure to conscript its strength for the November battles. The UAW is able to attend to its political chores by registering its families and getting its voters to the polls because it has a paid professional staff.

Republicans, frequently split by factional fights, have depended upon volunteer help. These volunteers frequently have not had either incentive or enthusiasm.

Because of the popularity of Gov. Williams, statisticians conclude that Michigan now is a Democratic state. The huge population growth since World War II has brought about this transformation, they say.

Let no Republican forget, however, that only three elections ago, James M. Hare beat Owen J. Cleary for Secretary of State by only 52,000 votes when more than two million voters went to the polls.

United States Senator McNamara that year beat Senator Homer Ferguson by 39,000 votes.

Both Ferguson and Cleary lost Wayne county by 235,000.

The Republican candidates for those offices came within shooting distance of victory with a Model T organization racing against a high-powered modern machine.

Maybe this year, the GOP will find a way of getting to the polls the 350,000 Republicans who didn't bother to vote two years ago.

Several years ago, the UAW inaugurated a door-to-door canvass in Detroit to make sure that all voters are registered in Democratic precincts.

The procedure spread to Flint, Muskegon, Saginaw, Lansing and other cities.

As a service to both political parties, R. Stanton Kilpatrick, Clerk of Grand Rapids, this year is sending a house trailer through every precinct to register voters. This mobile unit, financed by public-spirited organizations, is in addition to temporary offices in fire stations and libraries.

What if a fleet of mobile units were available in every city and township?

Maybe Elections' Director Montgomery would be changing the figures which show a drop of 65,000 voters in Washtenaw county; 4,000 in Ingham; 10,834 in Kent; 6,923 in Saginaw.

Latin II students are translating Biblical passages. The creation of the first story they studied. In recent weeks they have progressed to the story of David and Goliath. Additional work which has been done in the stories are the conquests of the Roman people under Julius Caesar.

Each student has been required to do a project. Some have proved to be quite interesting. Diana Miller did an oil painting showing an episode in one of the stories previously read. Cynthia Klingler made a chart on geometrical words with their English derivations.

The Spring Band Concert has been postponed until May 25. The numbers to be played are "Porgy and Bess," "Peck Horns," "Burst of Flame," "Down the Street," and "Hiawatha Land."

On May 16 the Band will take part in the Mayor's Day parade. June 20 has been selected for the annual trip to Boblo.

The first week of May found the students at Chelsea High celebrating the start of a new marking period by putting on a project called Sponge Week, during which students observed certain days for special purposes. One day was designated for costumes as worn during the 1920's. Another day was set aside for the costumes of childhood.

Friday proved to be the big day, as the girls could invite their favorite fellow to the Sponge Dance that was held in the cafeteria. Everyone reported having had a wonderful time.

The Student Council decided to hold an auction to dispose of the old dance records in its possession. The committee to carry out this project are Vic Blechaczky and Ruth Prentice.

Student Council membership cards have arrived, and have been distributed to the proper persons. . . . Sherry Frisinger reported that Mr. Conklin, summer recreation director, plans to hold the summer dances in the Junior High School gymnasium, but will investigate the possibility of holding them on the tennis courts.

Tentative plans have been made for the showing of the color slides of the European trip taken last summer by Miss Fox. Students, teachers, or anyone interested in seeing them is invited to come to the high school building, where the showing will begin at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 20. The entire series takes about three hours, if proper comments are made, and since high school events must end by 10 o'clock, the early starting hour is required. The room to be used will be determined by the number of people who indicate in advance that they plan to attend.

On April 28 the Library club attended the state-wide meeting in Ann Arbor of the Student Library Assistants' Association of Michigan, commonly called SLAAM. Attending members were Dorothy Martin, Marjorie Hepburn, Dorothy DeFant, Mary Hepburn, Linda Kephart, Barbara Apel, Kay Swanson, and Judy

Two Boys Chosen To Attend Wolverine Boys' State Affair

Charles Linn Waller of 211 Cavanaugh Lake, and Edward Brown, 20008-US-12, have been selected to attend the American Legion-sponsored 1960 Wolverine Boys' State. This is the 23rd annual Boys' State program.

Waller is the representative of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion, and Brown is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

The project is held annually in mid-June (June 16-23) on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing. Enrollment is limited to 1,000 outstanding youngsters in the state of Michigan.

American Legion and Kiwanis officials say the teen-agers were selected on the basis of their leadership, good sportsmanship, personalities and mental alertness.

During the eight-day session, the youths "learn by doing" the mechanics and operation of city, county and state government.

Under guidance of American Legion instructors, the boys elect city, county and state officers; learn how to draft bills, enact them into laws, then enforce and administer the laws after they are passed. The youths also attend lectures and clinics taught by representatives of the state police, sheriff's office; Lansing mayor's office, and the Ingham County Bar Association.

Objectives of the Boys' State program are to impress teen-agers with the responsibilities and duties of good citizenship.

Kiwanis Club Hears Address on Goals of Organization

Kiwanis club members, at their meeting Tuesday evening in the social center of the Methodist church, heard a talk on goals of Kiwanis International and the fundamental ideals of community service for which the organization strives in all its projects.

The talk was given by Harold Beadle of Ypsilanti, a past lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis District VI and present chairman of the Kiwanis education-committee.

Beadle was introduced by James Liebeck, program chairman for the evening.

Robert Risinger was inducted as a new member of the Chelsea club with Alfred Mayer in charge as a past lieutenant-governor.

Guests at the meeting, in addition to the guest speaker, were Bill Swihart, Tom Lawrence and Art Walker of Ypsilanti, O. E. Kimball of Hillsdale, the Rev. George Stanford and John McGilli.

Unadilla Church Carillon To Herald Summit Departure

Unadilla Presbyterian church will ring its Schulmerich Carillon Bell in conjunction with thousands of other bells of other churches, schools and other organizations throughout the nation, Saturday, May 14 at 7 p.m. The President of the United States will be leaving that night for the Paris summit meeting.

This will be a demonstration of our support of the President's "Peace With Justice for All Men" purpose at the Summit meeting.

The call for this united observance was issued a few days ago to all churches and other organizations by the Schulmerich Carillons, Inc. Unadilla Presbyterian church, the Rev. William Yauch, minister, and Wilbur Lee, director of music, will be happy to participate in this national "Bells of Peace" demonstration. This effort is in keeping with the Bell of Liberty which rang out for Peace and Freedom in 1776.

Michigan Set for Annual Invasion of Picnickers

Lansing—It will soon be picnic time again and when it comes, the Michigan State Highway Department will have more than 4,000 picnic tables ready to serve travelers.

About 2,300 of them are placed at shady spots along the side of Michigan highways while the rest of them are located in the Highway Department's 111 roadside parks.

In addition, many Michigan counties have their own roadside parks and picnic tables, making Michigan one of the most accommodating states in the country from the picnicer's standpoint.

The idea of placing picnic tables along the roadsides originated in Michigan in 1929. The first tables were made from planks salvaged from wooden guardrails. They were soon replaced with the present type of table.

"Dame" Judith Anderson, complete with "pink sash, jeweled brooch and all that," goes to London in the spring for the formal investiture of her title.

She received the same telegram from Sir Laurence Olivier, Noel Coward, Sir Alec Guinness, Sir John Gielgud and Mary Martin: "There's nothing like a dame."

Maria Schell comes by her honey blonde hair naturally. On the set of "Cimarron" Maria revealed: "I massage orange honey into my hair before shampooing. It's very common in Europe."

Today's picture review:

OUR MAN IN HAVANA
Here is a picture with a superb cast—Alex Guinness, Jo Morrow, Burl Ives, Noel Coward, Maureen O'Hara and Ernie Kovacs.

Alex Guinness is a gentle, unassuming man who runs a vacuum cleaner agency in Havana. He is approached by British Intelligence to be the British espionage man in the Caribbean. Needing money, he accepts, but he has only the vaguest of ideas as to what the job entails.

Advised by a friend to fake reports and secret plans, Guinness displays a rare talent for making up a story. The brass in London is so impressed with his skill that they send him a staff to help him. From here on out the picture contains excellent comedy.

Ernie Kovacs, as a Cuban police officer in love with Guinness' daughter, turns in a gem of a performance. Guinness fans should not miss this one.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

The weather put the damper on the week-end sports scene this week as far as the prep sports went. Most area teams were scheduled to run in the Albion invitational track meet; however, Friday's rains ruined the track, and the plans for the meet.

Michigan's track team did get their only dual meet of the season off on Saturday. The Wolverines had little trouble in topping Western Michigan.

Michigan's baseball team split a double-header with MSU, and the split cost the Wolverines a clear title try. Friday's game at East Lansing had been rained out in the third inning after Michigan had jumped off to a two-run lead.

On the high school baseball scene, the second round of the tight Washtenaw Conference basketball race is underway. Chelsea must press into a steady winning streak if the Bulldogs are to take the title or finish second. The outcome of the All-Sports trophy rests on the baseball race Tuesday, when the Bulldogs are scheduled to enter their league-leading Salina in a game that could tell the story.

Michigan unveiled the 1960 version of the football team on Saturday afternoon at the stadium under a cloudy sky. Prior to the contest, we attended a press luncheon at which the Wolverines' youthful mentor, Bump Elliott, outlined prospects for the fall.

Right now, it appears that the Maize and Blue will be a better football team than last fall, but it also looks like the balance of the conference will be stronger, too. Tackles and guards are Michigan's current weak spots in the line, and its quarterback in the backfield. To us who have followed the Wolverines during the spring drills, the outlook is an optimistic one at least. Michigan has a fine group of sophomores coming up this fall, and from Bump's remarks Saturday, at least one boy from this area will be seeing a lot of action this fall. Milt's Joe O'Donnell is currently the choice along with veteran Rudd Van Dine for the starting fullback berth. It always does this reporter a lot of good to see a fellow from this area making good in the world of collegiate sports.

It appears that the Wolverines will be very strong at end this year. And along with a couple of the freshmen passing quarterbacks in Bob Chandler and Dave Glinka, Michigan may take to the air a great deal this fall. In fact, it was an end who won the Myer Morton trophy as the team's most improved player over the spring drill period.

William A. Freehan of Royal Oak, promising young freshman end of the University of Michigan football squad Saturday was named recipient of the annual Myer Morton Trophy as the most improved player in spring practice.

The six-foot, three-inch, 202-pound, pre-business administration student who gained his high school experience at Bishop Barry in St. Petersburg, Fla., was chosen from a player group that included eight players, seven of whom were sophomores. The group, all in close contention for the award, also included Dave Glinka, quarterback from Toledo, O.; Bob Chandler, also, quarterback, from LaGrange, Ill.; Joe O'Donnell, Milan, fullback; Dave Ramey, right halfback; Dayton O. Jim Ward, left halfback; Imay City; Jack Strobel, fullback; Maywood, Ill.; and Todd Grant, center, Lathrup Village. All but Grant, a junior will be sophomores next fall.

Selection was made by Coach Bump Elliott and his staff. Commenting on the selection, Elliott said, "Freehan showed the greatest improvement of any candidate we considered although a number of other boys figured strongly in the selection. Bill was chosen on the basis of improved play, effort and attendance. We expect him to make a real contribution to the team but we were pleased that so many others developed enough to be considered in the selection."

Freehan was an all-around top-notch high school student. Besides being all-conference and all-state football captain and an all-state Class A baseball player while at Bishop Barry, he was president of his graduating class and of the student body.

He succeeds Willard Hildebrand of Chillicothe, O., letterman tackle, who was chosen last year. In winning the award which extends back to 1925, Freehan joins such more recent winners as Don Dufek, Roger Zatkoff, Tony Branoff, Ron Kramer, Jim Van Pelt, Bob Ptacek, and Dick Syring.

Catcher Gus Triandos of the Baltimore Orioles has been put on the disabled list and was to undergo surgery on his right hand on Tuesday.

Triandos—the American League's All-Star catcher the past two years—is expected to be on the sidelines from four to six weeks.

He will undergo surgery for a pinched nerve in his right hand. Triandos has been unable to grip a bat properly since last July when he suffered a similar injury.

Gus has had only six hits in 40 times up this season for a .150 batting average.

Jim Pollard, one of the great stars of the Minneapolis basketball teams of the early fifties, is calling it quits.

Pollard, who's been coaching the Lakers, says that only a good college coaching job will tempt him to return to the game.

The National Basketball Association has granted the Lakers permission to move to Los Angeles.

Heavyweight boxing champion Ingemar Johansson began sparring Monday at his training camp in Grossinger, N. Y. Johansson is preparing for his return title bout with former champion Floyd Patterson... scheduled for June 20 in New York City. The Swedish titleholder began serious training Monday with eight rounds of gym exercise and four miles of roadwork. His sparring mate will be Bill Johnson and Artie Towne of New York, and his brother Rolf Johansson.

Jerry Barber walked away with the $10,000 first place jackpot in the Las Vegas golf Tournament of Champions Sunday. He set a course record 288 for the 72 holes to beat runnerup Jay Hebert by four strokes. Barber shot a final round 67. Hebert, a 68. Julius Borge finished third with a 274... Don Whitte fourth with 275... and Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper tied for fifth with 276.

Barber did it the hard way in scoring his greatest golf victory in the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions. He out-distanced the bigger, younger players on the lengthy Desert Inn Country Club layout. Afterward, he joked, "Those big, young guys should be ashamed. I'm the oldest and smallest man in the field"... at 44 years and 180 pounds.
