Bulldogs Lose in Baseball Title Bid

Chelsea's Bulldogs have not been able to consistently enough to win the baseball championships in the last week they have lost the team that determined who would win and who would lose the championship.

Last Thursday the Bulldogs allowed the Roosevelt Rough Riders to defeat them 4-3, after tying the game at 3-3 in the fourth inning. The Roosevelt win allowed the Bulldogs to remain in a tie for first place with Saline.

On Tuesday the Saline Hornets defeated Chelsea for a game that would determine first or second place for them. In the first inning Saline had defeated Chelsea in a free-swinging affair, 10-8. In the first inning the Bulldogs scored out with four runs on four hits and one error, only to see Saline tie the game with two runs in the second and two more in the third. In the fifth inning a single by the lead off man and a long home run sent the Hornets out in front, 6-4.

In the Chelsea sixth, Mike Marshall and Alton Nixon came up with a two-run homer to tie the game at 6-6. With runners on second and third and two out, Ed Nelson hit a ground ball to third, throw to first was wide and Nelson was safe when he slid under the attempted tag by the first baseman. This allowed both runs to score and tie the game at 8-8.

Donald Blacklock, in a pinch-hitting role, then hit a long triple to center to score Lauson from first with what proved to be the winning run.

In the Saline seventh, the first two men singled and were advanced to second and third on a sacrifice bunt. With two on and out, Matt Murphy replaced Nelson who had pitched a bit, but was tiring a bit. Murphy got the first man he faced second out and was "one away from Saline's downfall."

Next man walked to load the bases with two out, but a ground ball to Mike Marshall at short, who threw to Larson for the force at second, ended the game and Saline thanks to share in the baseball championship.

David McLaughlin Places Second in State Low Hurdles

David McLaughlin, Chelsea High school sophomore, placed second in the low hurdles at the state track meet at Mt. Pleasant Saturday. He set a new Chelsea High school record for the low hurdles, 20.8 seconds to beat his own previous record of 20.5 seconds.

McLaughlin also placed fourth in the high hurdles at the state meet.

Don Sexton, who also qualified for state competition at the regional meet last week, participated in the broad jump event at Mt. Pleasant but did not place.

Kiwanis Club Citizenship Awards Made

Jackson East Kiwanis club's president, Roy H. Kaywood, was in charge of the program at the Chelsea Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening in the social center of the Methodist church.

The program was put on by the Jackson club in keeping with Exchange Week for all Kiwanis clubs. The Chelsea club was scheduled to return the compliment by presenting a program at the Jackson East club last night.

"At Monday's program here, Rollo Sims of the Jackson Optimist club was introduced as the guest speaker by the Jackson East club president.

Sims, who is sports director for Jackson's radio station, WKHM, told of his interest in young people and their education and advocated "more taxes for education" as less taxes will be needed for correctional measures later. He also stressed his ideas for recognition opportunities for all participants in sports and scholarship activities as opposed to honors only for those in the limelight as "stars" as so often is the case.

Sims' talk was especially appropriate for Monday's meeting when the Chelsea Kiwanis club had as their guests the 12 students in grades 7 through 12 at Chelsea High school who were recipients of Chelsea Kiwanis good citizenship awards this year.

Luther Kusterer, chairman of the Kiwanis Boys and Girls committee, presented certificates to the award winners. They are Linda Fisher and James Collins, seniors; Carol Cameron and Daniel Mayer, juniors; Nancy McCalla and Donald Atkinson, sophomores; Carol McCalla and Jack Howard, freshmen; Susan Schroen and John Hand, eighth graders; and Jane Fair and Donald Hinderer, seventh graders.

Members of Jackson East club who accompanied the club president and the guest speaker to the Chelsea meeting included Ted Wood, Irwin Gourley, Roy Clark, Marston St. John, Henry Shaw, Dan Probert, D. Ramsey and E.F. Gauss.

Norman O. Wenk of Chelsea, who is a member of Greater Ypsilanti Kiwanis club, was also a guest at the meeting.

Next week's Kiwanis club meeting will be held Tuesday evening because of the Memorial Day holiday on the regular meeting night.

W. Daniels Nominated To Head Friends of Library

Mr. Edward Stasheff, past president of the Friends of the Ann Arbor Public Library, gave an exceptionally interesting talk at the annual meeting of the Friends of the McKune Memorial Library here Monday evening.

Mr. Stasheff, who was introduced by Harold Jones, president of the Chelsea group, told about his experience in working with the Ann Arbor group and made a number of helpful suggestions for future projects of the Chelsea group.

Mr. E. W. Eaton, acting for the nominating committee, presented a slate of officers for the Chelsea Friends for the coming year and members cast a unanimous ballot for election of the officers.

Mr. Warren Daniels was named president to succeed Harold Jones. In turn, he was elected vice-president and Mrs. Benjamin Boye named secretary-treasurer.

Mr. J. V. Fisher and Ben Donaldson were elected members of the nominating committee.

A social hour followed the meeting which was held at McKune Memorial Library.

J. Gaken Attending Millers Conference at St. Louis

James Gaken, chief miller at Chelsea Milling Co., left by jet plane Sunday for St. Louis, Mo., where he attended the technical conference and trade show of the National Association of Operative Millers. He is to return home today.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM—Amid a setting of "palm trees" the Junior-Senior Prom, important highlight of the school year, was held Saturday evening in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. Programs in red and gold, the simulated palm trees, fish, nets and other decorations, in courtyard effect, carried out the illusion of a scene in Jamaica, setting the theme for the affair. Juniors who were on the prom committee included Carol Cameron, the chair-

13 File for School Board Positions

Petitions have been filed for a total of 13 candidates for the four positions to be filled on the Chelsea Board of Education at the June 13 school election.

Eight of the petitions are for candidates for four-year terms and five are for the two three-year terms on the new seven-member board.

Those who have filed for the four-year terms are Charles Powers, William Freeman, Stuart Booker, John Thomson, Mrs. Betty Bust, Wilbur Beeman, Miss Nina Greening and Robert Foster.

Candidates for the three-year terms are George Knickerbocker, Jeremiah MacDougall, George Prinsinger, Clarence Vogel and Charles Lancaster.

Each of the candidates has received a special invitation to be present at the June 1 public meeting in the Chelsea High school auditorium when the proposal for a 2-mill operational levy will be discussed and explained. The operational levy will be voted on June 6 at a special election.

The regular school election for naming four new school board members will take place June 13. At the June 1 meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m., each of the 13 candidates will be given an opportunity to speak for a few minutes.

Sylvan Democrats Plan 'Kick-Off' Rally For Friday Evening

The Sylvan Township Democratic Committee has announced a "kick-off" rally to be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow, May 27, at McKune Memorial Library for Tom Payne who seeks the Democratic candidacy for U. S. representative in Congress, and Richard L. Cutler, candidate for state senator.

Everyone interested is invited to attend the rally.

Refreshments will be served immediately following the meeting.

Compute Your Tax

A voter in the millage election, June 6, and in the school board election, June 13, must be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States, and have resided in the State of Michigan six months and in the school district 30 days next preceding the election. A voter does not have to be registered with the village clerk, the township clerk, or the clerk of any governmental unit, nor does a voter have to own property to vote in either election.

At the meeting of the Jackson Tax Allocation Board Tuesday, May 17, Jackson county was allocated 5.5 mills and the townships of Waterloo and Grass Lake in the Chelsea School District were allocated .75 of a mill. The maximum allocation to the Chelsea School District is 8.75 mills. The Washtenaw county Tax Allocation Board allocated 4.25 mills to Washtenaw county, .59 of a mill to Sylvan township and .43 of a mill to Dexter township. If the Chelsea School District did not extend into Jackson county, 10.18 mills would be available to the district and an operational millage election would be unnecessary. However, the Chelsea School District extends into Jackson county and the lower millage, 8.75, is the maximum millage available to the school district unless additional operational millage is approved by the electors. An additional levy of 1.213 mills of the two voted mills is required to satisfy the 1960-61 budget.

In order to understand how your taxes are determined it is necessary to understand the relationship between assessed valuation and state equalized valuation. The following table lists the assessed valuation, the state equalized valuation, and the factor used to convert the assessed valuation of your property to the state equalized valuation of your property. The factor multiplied by the assessed valuation of your property results in the state equalized valuation of your property. For example, the state equalized valuation of property assessed at $2,000.00 in Sylvan Township would be $5,760.00.

CHART I
	Assessed	St. Equalized	Factor
Sylvan	6,565,970	18,891,296	2.88
Dexter	671,205	2,916,123	4.35
Freedom	464,990	1,112,383	2.4
Lima	1,694,580	4,599,348	2.72
Lyndon	1,103,114	2,627,870	2.383
Sharon	155,915	482,523	3.095
Grass Lake	10,800	23,419	2.17
Waterloo	415,250	889,788	2.143
	10,991,824	31,542,750

On the following chart, column one lists the total mills, including 1.213 of the voted 2 mills, for county, township and school purposes to be levied on the state equalized valuation for 1960-61. The millage in your township multiplied by the factor in your township equals your tax per thousand of assessed valuation.

In column four, the total mills on the state equalized valuation are listed excluding the 1.213 mills of the voted 2 mills. The millage in your township multiplied by the factor equals your tax per thousand of assessed valuation without any voted millage.

The tax per thousand dollars of assessed valuation shown in column six will be levied on your property regardless of your vote in the June 6 election.

The cost per thousand of assessed valuation for the 1.213 additional mills would be $8.50 in Sylvan township; $5.20 in Dexter township; $2.91 in Freedom township; $3.30 in Lima township; $2.89 in Lyndon township; $3.76 in Sharon township; $2.03 in Grass Lake township; and $2.60 in Waterloo township.

The board of education invites all interested electors to the public meeting, June 1, 1960, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium to ask questions relative to the requested 2 millage for a period of three years which was unanimously approved by the board of education.

Flag Sale Extended to Saturday

Jaycees encountered rather damp weather during their flag sale last week. Their spirits were not dampened, however, as they endeavored to canvass the village selling the new U. S. 50-star flags.

Covering the town in one evening proved to be too large a job for the Jaycees, and they feel that many people did not have the opportunity to purchase one of the flag kits.

Anyone who is still interested in buying a flag, may place their order at Stop & Shop or at Palmer's Motor Sales. The flags will be available through Saturday, May 28.

19 Young People To Be Confirmed At St. Paul's

A class of 19 girls and four boys will be confirmed at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church at the 10:45 a.m. service next Sunday.

This is the first class to be confirmed by the present pastor, the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, since he took over his duties here.

Parade to Cemetery, Memorial Services Scheduled Monday

No Vandalism, Please!

Committees in charge of marking each deceased veteran's grave in 17 cemeteries in this area by placing an American flag on it are making a special plea to parents asking them to impress upon their children that these flags must not be disturbed.

The flags are placed on the graves as a mark of respect for the servicemen who made sacrifices for their country and as such deserve to be treated accordingly.

The vandalism which has been prevalent the past few years is to be regretted and it was stated this week that offenders apprehended will be punished severely.

Veterans who volunteer to assist in placing flags on the graves should meet at Oak Grove cemetery at 7 p.m. Friday, May 27.

Brief Ceremony Will Pay Tribute To Soldier Dead

Chelsea's Memorial Day observance will take place Monday, May 30, with the traditional parade to Oak Grove cemetery for a memorial ceremony. The parade, which will form at the Municipal building, is to begin at 10 a.m.

Frank Rohr, commander of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion said Elden Eisele will be the officer of the day. All veterans are urged to join the march to the cemetery to honor the memory of the soldier dead.

Chelsea school bands will march in the parade and Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and members of service organizations are also included.

Chrysler Corp. is providing four cars for Woman's Relief Corps members, Gold Star mothers or others who may need transportation to and from the cemetery.

Instead of the custom of former years when small bouquets were placed on each veteran's grave, a wreath will be placed on the soldiers' and sailors' monument as a memorial tribute.

The ceremony at the cemetery will include prayer by the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church; a brief message by Commander Rohr; "In Flanders Field," recited by Tom Eisenbeiser; and the rifle squad salute to the dead.

Children who march in the parade will be treated to ice cream cones following the parade.

According to present plans, Commander Rohr said, the parade route will be Main street to Park; east on Park to East street; north to Middle street and east to the cemetery.

Recreation Program Outlined

Plans for the six-week summer program of the Chelsea Recreation Council were the subject of discussion at the May 19 meeting, held at McKune Memorial Library.

Alan Conklin, program director, reported that arrangements include provision of two baseball diamonds—one at South elementary and one at the High school.

Conklin also announced that tennis instruction will be available. Marjorie Bradbury, who assisted with the recreation program last year, will be in charge of this part of the program in addition to being in full charge of girls' and women's activities and assisting with the swimming.

Swimming at Grooms Beach, Whitmore Lake, afternoons; a morning program for boys at the athletic field; and playgrounds at North and South elementary schools and at the Junior High school are all part of the regular program.

Three girls, in addition to Miss Bradbury, will be on duty. They are Priscilla Nunn and Ellen Keusch, with the third still to be announced.

Poppy Sales Total $312

Mrs. Eldon Gorton, American Legion Auxiliary Poppy Day chairman, and Mrs. Ray Franklin, Poppy chairman for the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076, said yesterday they were gratified with the success of the annual joint sale held here Friday.

Cash receipts for the Legion Auxiliary amounted to $150.61 while the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Auxiliary total was $161.95.

The VFW Auxiliary takes over the poppy sale for the Post, chairman for the Post being Laurence Boyer.

Twenty-two VFW Auxiliary members and two non-members, Alice Eschelbach and Megs Ritter, assisted as volunteers.

Mrs. Gorton was assisted by 30 American Legion Auxiliary volunteers.

Net proceeds of the sale are designated by both service organizations for their programs of rehabilitation and child welfare.

Mary Ann Horning left Friday night by plane to attend the National Handpressers convention at Miami Beach, Fla. She was to return home last night.

★ Output per Manhour . . .

Productivity is a term which is widely used and just about as widely misunderstood. Yet it is an extremely important concept.

Perhaps the most common definition of productivity is output per man-hour. This is accurate but raises the further questions of how does one measure such output and what causes an increase or decrease. This definition also has the disadvantage of appearing to place the entire responsibility for changes in productivity upon labor, which of course is far from true.

Three Basic Factors

Actually three basic factors cause variations in productivity. These are energy, organization, and capital.

Energy includes both human labor and all other kinds of power used in production. The changes here over the past several generations have been fantastic. Formerly human energy provided well over 80 per cent of all the power used. Today human energy is used primarily to direct other sources of power. Even in steel mills a worker no longer has to lift any appreciable weight, and in many industries he does not have to lift anything. This change in the type of energy used has been an enormous boon to both our workers and our economy as a whole.

Organization includes both the function of management and production layouts. Both of these have a profound influence upon the efficiency of an organization, and efficiency is a prime element in output per man-hour. One also should include under organization the skill of the working force. With increased mechanization of the productive process more expert workers are required, even though many jobs become more routine. The character of our labor force has changed greatly over the years in regard to skill, but there still is a shortage of those with highly technical training.

Capital is an absolute necessity for an over-all increase in output per man-hour, and there is a close correlation between investment and productivity. Granted, in an individual factory it may be possible to increase output by better management, improved organization and better industrial relations, but such betterment is necessarily limited. Today it takes about $17,000 investment to provide the essentials of each job, and the total continues to increase with the development of better and better machines. In some industries the investment per worker is much less than $17,000, but in others it is several times this amount. Even in farming the investment per worker is up to this figure.

A Significant Variable With all of these elements influencing productivity it is to be expected, and is true, that output per man-hour varies from company to company, from industry to industry, and from year to year. Measuring the results, therefore, is extremely complicated, and many of the data that are published are misleading.

This is a field, in other words, where one can prove almost anything he desires by statistics. By picking his base year he can show that the increase has been either large or small. An honest and conscientious analyst will not indulge in such manipulations, but unfortunately a lot of it goes on all the time. And one must add that it is not easy to select a base year even under the best of circumstances. The best protection is to ignore year-to-year changes and rely on long-term trends. Even this does not provide complete protection against wrong conclusions, but at least under this procedure there is an opportunity for errors to be washed out.

One final word must be said: increasing productivity is what gives us a rising standard of living, protects the value of our currency, and determines the overall growth of our production. Even though we have difficulty in measuring it, therefore, we have no choice but to improve productivity.

Leland Kalmbach Observes 10th Year As President of Massachusetts Mutual

Leland J. Kalmbach, a native of Chelsea, observed his 10th anniversary as president of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. on May 19. During the decade the company has grown more rapidly than during the entire first century of its existence. Its total insurance has more than doubled, annual sales have increased threefold, and assets have grown from $1.4 billion in 1950 to $2.4 billion at the present time. The rates of return on the company's investments have been among the highest in the industry. Substantial liberalizations in the company's dividend schedules, reflecting favorable mortality experience, operating efficiencies, and rising investment income, have been made five times since 1950.

The Massachusetts Mutual entered its 10th year of operation just four days before Kalmbach's anniversary. It is now the 10th largest life insurance company in the United States based on total assets, and the 8th largest among all types of U. S. corporations.

Its ranking over the past 10 years as to amount of individual life insurance delivered by North American companies has improved from 16th to ninth place, and its rank as to net gain in individual insurance in force, from 12th to seventh.

Kalmbach was the youngest man ever elected president of the Massachusetts Mutual. He was 49 years old when he became the company's ninth president. He is one of the best known and most widely traveled executives in the life insurance business today. He initially made his reputation through contacts as senior vice-president and head of the reinsurance division of another large life company before he joined the Massachusetts Mutual as a vice-president in 1948.

After leaving the University of Michigan in 1923 where he majored in business administration and actuarial mathematics and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa national honorary society and Delta Sigma Pi professional fraternity. He was a student of the famous Professor J. W. Glover who turned out more graduates who became actuaries than any other professor in America.

After leaving the University of Michigan, he joined the Cleveland Life Insurance Co. where he gained his first practical actuarial experience. In 1924 he moved to the Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. of Fort Wayne, Ind. where his work soon took him into reinsurance and underwriting activities. Then in 1926 he went into the selling end of reinsurance which started his calling on companies.

He was a vice-president at the age of 36, and when he left the company was senior vice-president and a director.

On Jan. 1, 1948, Kalmbach accepted the invitation of the late President Alexander T. Maclean to join the Massachusetts Mutual as a vice-president, and the following month he was elected a director. Maclean died on May 15, 1950, and Kalmbach succeeded him as president four days later.

Kalmbach has given generously of his time to industry and civic groups and organizations. He is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries, a member of the executive committee of the American Life Convention, and a director of numerous corporations.

Kalmbach is married to the former Letha G. Albor of Chelsea, and the couple have one son, John L., who is a senior in the School of Business Administration at the University of Michigan and is a member of Chi Psi fraternity.

Today's picture review: "MAN IN A COCKED HAT"

From Britain comes a brightly daff comedy titled "Man in a Coked Hat," which gives diplomacy a thorough-going spoofing. Produced by the Boulting Brothers, who have sent many English comedies our way lately, "Man in a Coked Hat" features Peter Sellers, the chap who played three roles with such hilarious effect in "The Mouse That Roared."

Sellers plays an obscure Foreign Office functionary in charge of "miscellaneous" territories. The somewhat placid routine of his days, which in the ordinary way never seem radically disturbed by anything slightly resembling work, is suddenly disrupted when word arrives of disturbances on Gallaradia, a remote island which has been over-looked since the days of Queen Victoria.

It appears that the rule of the young monarch is being challenged by his uncle, a grand duke, and a civil war is looming on the horizon. Meantime, a group of Russians on the island are acting in a very suspicious manner, all of which, needless to say, alarms His Majesty's Government, and our hero is sent to straighten things out.

Absolutely supporting Sellers is Luciana Paoluzzi, as a beautiful princess.

All in all, this is another example of the sterling ability of the English to laugh at themselves and should not be missed if you are looking for good, light entertainment.

ASC Office Clerk Wins Award from State For New Record Chart

Mrs. Olive Wiseman, a clerk in the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, has received a cash award of $10.00 from the state ASC committee for submitting a chart to record permitted acres and base crops planted for conservation reserve farms. This chart shows a ready reference for the permitted acres that may be planted to crops on a farm that has part of the cropland under conservation reserve, and also shows the acres planted.

Mrs. Wiseman, who has been employed by the Washtenaw County ASC Office since October 1957, also received a Certificate of Appreciation from the state ASC committee.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PETITION OF VILLAGE OF CHELSEA TO WASHTENAW COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS FOR ALTERATION OF THE BOUNDARIES OF THE VILLAGE OF CHELSEA.

Notice is hereby given that a petition will be presented to the Board of Supervisors for Washtenaw County, Michigan, on Tuesday, June 14, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. at the Supervisors' Room in the Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor, Michigan, said petition requesting that the southerly boundary of the Village of Chelsea be altered to include the premises described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the north and south quarter line of Section Thirteen (13), Town Two (2) South, Range Three (3) East, 3.343.30 feet north of the south quarter post of said Section; thence north on the north and south quarter line, 365.00 feet; thence south 78° 54' 30" east, 751.50 feet to the westerly line of Highway M-92; thence southwesterly along the westerly right of way of M-92 along a curve with a radius of 2,242.01 feet (its chord bearing south 10° 24' west, 252.76 feet), a distance of 252.91 feet; thence continuing along the westerly line of Highway M-92 south 22° 28' west, 105.90 feet; thence north 76° 54' 30" west, 629.45 feet to the point of beginning. Being a part of Section Thirteen (13), Town Two (2) South, Range Three (3) East. Contains 5.62 acres, Sylvan Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

which are presently a part of the Township of Sylvan, Washtenaw County, Michigan.
The said petition was prepared pursuant to resolution of the Council of the Village of Chelsea, adopted at a regular meeting thereof held on the third day of May, 1960.

All parties interested may appear at the aforesaid time before the Board of Supervisors and be heard touching the said petition and concerning the proposed alteration of the boundaries of the Village of Chelsea.

Open House Set Sunday at U-M Radio Telescope

Ann Arbor—Ann Arbor area residents will have another opportunity to see the University of Michigan's 85-foot radio telescope at an open house Sunday, May 29.

Prof. Fred T. Haddock, director of the U-M radio astronomy project, has scheduled the May 29 open house to give persons who may have missed seeing the mammoth parabolic antenna last fall another opportunity to do so.

An invitation to the public to inspect the "big dish" following its dedication last fall met with an overwhelming response. At that first open house, roads to the Peach Mountain site were lined with cars of persons who waited up to an hour or more to get into the site.

The structure was built to detect faint radio signals from space. Such signals may emanate from stars and galaxies and may reveal those undetectable by visual methods.

The radio telescope site is some 16 miles northwest of Ann Arbor. The Radio Astronomy Observatory entrance is at 10260 North Territorial Rd., which is 1/4 of a mile west of Portage Lake Rd. and 9 1/2 miles west of US-24 or 8.5 miles east of Highway M-92.

Hudson Mills Park Ready To Welcome Picnickers

Persons seeking a beautiful natural setting for their family picnic, or outing during the Memorial Day week-end might well consider a trip to the new Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park.

This suggestion was made today by Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five-county park and parkway agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

The authority has just increased facilities at the 600-acre Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, located along the Huron River just 12 miles northwest of Ann Arbor near the junction of North Territorial Rd. and Huron River Dr.

Long a popular fishing site, facilities now include picnic tables, shelters, pumps, stoves, play areas, comfort stations and a nature trail.

Other improvements include the creation of an attractive lagoon, installation of a rustic bridge leading to a small island in the park, additional comfort stations and parking lots, and the recent opening of "Acorn Nature Trail" which stretches for three-quarters of a mile.

Two other authority parks in the Ann Arbor area are Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park and Delhi Metropolitan Park. Both are located northwest of Ann Arbor and have playground equipment, picnic tables, shelters and stoves.

No swimming is permitted at any of these parks. Information concerning facilities at any of these parks should be directed to Brenton Schultz, park superintendent, Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park, Dexter.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

The Washtenaw Conference track and field meet certainly turned out to be nothing short of sensational. A mere nothing separated University High, the winner, and second-place Saline. Despite the overcast sky and an almost steady drizzle which fell through the meet, the affair must be rated as a success.

Chelsea's Dave McLaughlin was a double winner, taking the shot put and the low hurdles. Dave also topped a second place in the high hurdles, to cap a successful Washtenaw Conference athletic year.

The outcome of the meet was actually very satisfying to the league coaches from one point of view. A different school claimed each of the sports titles, and the competition in all cases was close. Thus, Chelsea in football, Saline in basketball, University High in track and Ypsilanti Roosevelt in baseball, all came out as title winners in the Washtenaw Conference's first year of life.

Results of the track events in the area have been interesting to note. Many of the schools were using borrowed tracks this year, and yet the league as a whole produced some fine efforts, time-wise, and also created a great deal of interest in the sport.

Summer baseball programs are now being organized, and from the looks of the scheduled events, will be bigger and better than ever. The possibility at this time that the Huron Valley baseball program will disaffiliate with the national program is a real one. Some of the recreation leaders in the smaller communities feel that the cost is running a little high for the benefits of the program. And too, the eligibility problem is one which must be faced each year. The decision will be made this week, when the league meeting is held. We do know this for sure, whatever is decided, it will be for the good of the boys involved in the program.

Last Sunday, Dave Strack, Michigan's new basketball coach flew into town. Dave of course had some regrets about leaving the University of Idaho, but was very happy to be returning to Ann Arbor as Michigan's head coach. The main reason for his trip is to talk to some possible future Michigan basketball players, and to talk to Fritz Crisler about his choice of an assistant. You can be assured of this, that the new assistant will be a Michigan man, and I'll tell you this much, he may now be a head coach at another school, who would be more than willing to come back to Ann Arbor as Dave's assistant.

The University of Michigan won the Big Ten tennis championship Saturday by edging Northwestern which started the host school but allowed the meet to be moved across town from Evanston to the University of Chicago for an indoor finish because of rain.

The meet was forced to run late to make up all scheduled matches despite the delay encountered by the move. There are no available indoor facilities at Northwestern. With a half dozen matches still remaining, Michigan had an unbeatable 55 to 41 lead over Northwestern.

Michigan State was in third with 27, Illinois and Iowa were tied at 21 each, while Minnesota had ten, Wisconsin nine, Ohio State and Purdue four each and Indiana three.

Among individual singles champs were Frank Fulton of Michigan, Chuck Lockhart of Northwestern, Ron Mescall of Michigan State and Bruce MacDonald of Michigan.

The standings below Michigan and Northwestern are subject to some changes.

Purdue won its second straight Big Ten golf championship last week with a 72-hole total of 1,520 to finish 11 strokes ahead of runner-up Michigan State.

The Boilermakers had jumped to an 11-stroke lead at the 36-hole midpoint in the matches at East Lansing and boosted it to 14 strokes by the end of the third round.

John Konek, the Purdue ace, took his third conference individual crown by overtaking Ohio State's Jack Nicklaus, the 1959 U. S. Amateur champ, on the final round.

Konek fired a closing 69 for a 282 total to defeat Nicklaus by two strokes. The Buckeye golfer faltered and carded a 73 final round. C. A. Smith of Michigan State was third with a 286.

Nicklaus and Konek were paired for the final round and Nicklaus held a two-stroke lead.

Konek caught him on the third and took the lead on the ninth. Behind Purdue and Michigan State were Ohio State, Minnesota, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois, in that order.

Illinois scored in all but one of 14 events last week-end to total 61 1/2 points for the Big Ten track championship, the third for the Illini in a row.

Illinois athletes took five individual crowns and the mile relay led by Del Colman who collected 12 points with a victory in the 220-yard low hurdles, assisted on the relay team and also scored in the broad jump and the 100-yard dash.

George Kerr of Illinois won the 880 and 440 and ran on the relay team for ten points.

The only other double winner was Michigan's Tom Robinson who took the 100 and 200-yard dashes.

Robinson tied the conference mark in the 100 with a 9.4 clocking. That mark was set by Ohio State's Jesse Owens 24 years ago.

Indoor champ Michigan, runner-up in the team race with 45 points, took five individual honors also. Stephen Williams won the high jump with a 6 ft. 7 1/2 inch leap; Ergas Leps took the mile in 4:12.2; and Ray Locke won the shot put with a 55-foot, one-half inch toss.

Michigan's chances for the title went out the window when Ben McCray injured his back in the prelims and was unable to compete in the hurdle events.

Other team totals—Minnesota, 25 1/2; Michigan State, 22; Ohio State, 17 1/2; Iowa, 16; Indiana, 14 1/2; Purdue, 12 1/2; Northwestern, 11 1/2; Wisconsin failed to score.

Among the other individual titles Mike Klineham of Michigan State grabbed a share of the pole vault crown from Dick Bowers of Ohio State as they both went 14 ft. 3 3/4 inches.

Robert Bailey of Grand Rapids has won the singles championship at the 21st annual Michigan Moose

Summer Hours in Effect Sunday at McKune Library

The summer schedule of hours will go into effect next week at McKune Memorial Library. The summer schedule is customarily in effect from June 1 to Sept. 1.

Principal change is the fact that evening hours are included only one night a week during the summer—7 to 9 p.m. Fridays only.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Monday, Thursday and Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Friday evening, 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. bowling tournament in Port Huron. The tournament ended Sunday. Other winners were the Bowl-O-Brome Lanes No. 2 of Port Huron in team competition, Charles Scott and Ted Smith of Wyandotte in doubles competition, and Connie Green of Marshall in all-events play.

A and A Asphalt of Detroit is the winner of the 57th annual American Bowling Congress tournament at Toledo. The Detroit team has led the tournament for some time and was declared the winner when competition ended Sunday.

Other Michigan entries who finished near the top in various events include Checker Cab of Detroit, second in the boosters division team competition, and Detroit's Kesters and Girard of Detroit, fourth in the boosters team play.

Rudy Milantoni and Gene Kapp of Lincoln Park finished fifth in doubles competition and Mike Testa of Detroit finished fourth in all-events.

Chuck Kocis of Detroit has won the Michigan Medal Play golf tournament in Detroit. Kocis had a total of 282 for four rounds to edge Bud Stevens of the Western Golf Club in Detroit and Glen Johnson of Grosse Ile by one stroke. Harold Brink, for several years the best amateur golfer in Grand Rapids, was fourth, one stroke further back.

The Curtis Cup is in American hands for the first time in four years.

America's young amateur golfers scored an impressive victory in England on Friday and Saturday to return the cup this side of the Atlantic.

The winning American girls were playing on foreign soil for the first time, but it didn't hamper their scores any.

The Americans won two out of three in the foursome matches, then racked up four singles victories and halved another one.

Mystery Farm 99 Is Waterloo Road Home of Mrs. Clarence Stapish and Family

Mrs. Clarence Stapish is now the owner of the farm designated as Mystery Farm No. 99 located at 21500 Waterloo Rd. and originally published in last week's issue of the Standard. Many area residents recognized it.

Mrs. Stapish, who is the former Mrs. Packer, has lived there since her marriage to the late Clarence Stapish 25 years ago. He died Jan. 9, 1959.

Clarence Stapish's parents, Edward and Ella Melvin Stapish, bought the farm from the Peter Hinde estate in 1904. Edward Stapish died in 1907 but his widow continued to make her home there with her son and his family until her death in 1952. Clarence, their only son, came into possession of the farm at that time; however, he had operated it for his mother prior to that.

When he became the full owner of the farm, it brought his total ownership to approximately 125 acres since he himself already owned two neighboring farms, the former C. D. Johnson farm of approximately 125 acres and the Otto Goetz farm of 160 acres which he had owned since 1948. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goetz still live in the house on that farm which has been their home for 48 years.

Part of West Lake is on the Stapish and former Johnson farm, according to ownership records.

the present Stapish farm was purchased from the U. S. Government in 1932. The original house was on what later became the Goetz farm. It is believed the present home on the Stapish farm was built during the ownership of Peter Hinde.

Clarence Stapish added a garage, silo, milk house and other small buildings but the main buildings, including the house, are the ones built by Hinde.

Clarence Stapish concentrated on dairy farming and growing the feed he needed for the animals. He and his family also shared a great interest in riding horses and at one time they owned 12 such horses. He was active in the community fair and at one time was in charge of the horse show at the fair.

At the time of his death, Clarence Stapish had served as justice of the peace in Dexter township for 30 years.

He had been a member of Farm Bureau and was also a member of the Chelsea Knights of Columbus and all of his family are members of St. Mary's Catholic church, of which he had been a member all his life.

Mrs. Stapish now rents some of the farm land. She and her three daughters still retain their interest in riding horses and keep three on the farm.

The daughters are Margaret, who graduated from Chelsea High school in 1957 and is now employed at Chelsea State Bank; Helen, who is a member of the Chelsea High school class of 1960; and Clara Mary, a freshman. All were formerly members of 4-H horse clubs. They and their parents participated in all Community Fair parades and in other parades and horse shows.

Charles Curtis was the first to call in the correct identification of the Stapish farm.

Others who called to identify it are Douglas Stark, Margaret Stapish, men at Blass Elevator, Don Otto, Mrs. Carroll Clark, Mrs. Clarence Stapish, Mrs. Walter Bauer, Judy Woolley, David Pastor, David Curtis, Mrs. Earl Kuhl and Howard Bergman; also, Mike Zysch of Dexter.

Memorial Day Reminds Us Each Year That Freedom Has High Price

When the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General John A. Logan, issued the order designating May 30, 1868, as a day for decorating the graves of the men who fell in the War Between the States, he expressed the hope that it would be observed "from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of the departed."

The custom of thus paying homage to the war dead, which had originated in the South and represented at that time only spontaneous local activity on the part of a relatively few women and children, thus came into being.

The appeal of such an annual commemoration to large numbers of people was soon demonstrated throughout the reunited Republic.

By 1900, President McKinley, himself a Union veteran, declared, "The army of Grant and the Army of Lee are together. They are one now in faith, in hope, in fraternity, in purpose and in invincible patriotism."

Memorial Day, observed annually since that time, reminds us that human freedom was bought at a great price, and that anything we would have here in this country must be obtained and preserved by hard work and consecrated effort.

Cancer Society Nonsense

The American Cancer Society, as we understand it, has instructed local branches over the country to pull out of the United Fund.

In some communities where the United Fund has provided the American Cancer Society with more money than it ever collected before, the local Society has nevertheless been instructed to refuse funds from the United Fund and conduct its own drive.

We regret to see that a large number of the national charity organizations are pulling out of the United Fund. They apparently wish to gather under their skirts again a huge organization, with all its bureaucratic red tape and high salaried jobs (in many instances), and have a do-gooding empire of their own.

This cannot be justified in areas where the United Fund has been providing the American Cancer Society with more local money than it had been collecting prior to inclusion in the United Fund program. Moreover, the business of going back to the old method of collecting charity money with a dozen or more different drives each year in every small community, with the same people having to do some of the work in all of them, is a step backward.

As far as we are concerned, if the leading figures in the American Cancer Society refuse to accept money from the United Fund in communities where the United Fund is favored, we would recommend the use of that United Fund allocation for cancer relief on a local basis. We definitely oppose any separate drive by individual organizations.

If newspapers and community leaders all over the country would take this position, and if the over-organizing chiefs of the big charity organizations were made to realize that people in small communities were not going to permit a return to the old days when all charities went out on their own with a special drive, these policies of staying out of the United Fund would soon be abandoned.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Several weeks ago we discussed the industrial development corporations which have been organized by scores of Michigan communities as a tool for economic progress. Little was said at that time of the use of this type of organization to help industry already in existence.

Many towns—notably Traverse City—have invested capital supplied by the IDC to construct new floor space for local manufacturers, to assist in modernization of machine facilities and for other purposes where inadequate finances limit the opportunity to expand production and payrolls.

Community interest in the financing of building for industrial prospects was emphasized in April when 116 representatives from 61 towns scattered throughout the lower peninsula heard officials of the Small Business Administration explain various ways in which federal funds might be used to supplement those raised locally for this purpose.

While greatly pleased at the results of the SBA meeting in Lansing, Don Weeks, director of the Michigan Economic Development Department, warns that construction financing, however useful, is only part of a sound industrial development program.

One of the things which troubles the department, Weeks says, is the lack of good industrial sites in too many communities. His comment is echoed by industrial development men from the railroads and the public utilities. One of these, Basil Inkpen of the New York Central railroad, remarks that "no matter what else a community may have done to promote new industry, if it hasn't a site, it doesn't have an industrial development program."

Steps have been taken to deal with the site problem in such cities as Battle Creek, Elk Rapids, Hermansville, Howard City, Jackson, Morley, Niles, Sault Ste Marie and Sturgis, to mention a few.

Distinction should be made between mere acreage of land and what the professional plant location man calls a site; a tract which has immediate access to good transportation facilities, sewers, water and utilities such as gas and electricity. It should be firmly zoned for industry and bear a suitable price tag. Other features may be desirable but those cited are essential.

Smaller towns have difficulty in finding the money to buy industrial property outright; many have surmounted this obstacle by obtaining long term options which are comparatively inexpensive but have the merit of stabilizing the price to permit firm commitments to prospects.

Some Upper Peninsula communities are hard put to find suitable tracts because of the holdings of mining companies, which are frequently reluctant to surrender title which may have a long potential life for their own use. Sometimes state ownership may pose a similar problem. Municipalities and land does not present the same formidable hurdle, as it is usually possible to make arrangements for industrial utilization.

Zoning laws written before industrial problems were so well defined are another hazard which stands between towns and their future. Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, for example are considered as "naturals" for future development by many experts, yet plans to locate new industry there often come to a discouraging crawl because of the lack of good sites. Zoning ordinances adopted many years ago designated the broad Paw Paw river flats for heavy industry—yet soil conditions would necessitate construction costs that no sane industrialist would incur.

While it may be difficult to correct some of these errors of history, it is also worthwhile to use them as a guide in determining future requirements. Need of sounder zoning policies for the protection of industry comes along with the status of a national movement among development people.

Sites and industrial development corporations despite their importance, still do not lie at the heart of successful plant locations from the community standpoint. Like almost everything else in community life, it needs people to do the job. Practically anyone who has experience in the field will

Economic Development Measure Neglected

Lansing—While the 70th legislature, which adjourned its regular session last week, adopted some progressive legislation, it failed to take action in the important fields of civil rights and economic development.

There was some progress: a commission on the aging was approved; immunization against polio for all children entering school for the first time was required; and improvements, although less than needed, in the appropriations for mental health and education.

But, the legislature failed to enact my recommendations for programs which would assist economic development. These recommendations require little, if any, money, but they were rejected.

There is no question about Michigan's forefront position among industrial states and there is no doubt that we will remain there. It must be recognized, however, that other states are providing legislation and funds to be used for the purpose of luring industry. In gaining new industry, Michigan must use and promote to the fullest our great advantages such as the world's greatest force of highly skilled workers, outstanding industrial know-how, and our rich reserve of natural resources, including an ever abundant supply of fresh water.

There is some question about what methods are best suited to attract industry. Some which are being used elsewhere do not insure permanent location or local expansion.

The proposals which I made to the 70th legislature, I am confident, would have been of great benefit to Michigan.

The Seal of Quality, for instance, would place Michigan's fine agricultural products in a competitive position with those from other states which benefit from a premium reputation although they are not of better quality than Michigan's. This measure has the support of agricultural organizations but was killed by a Republican controlled Senate committee after having passed the House of Representatives.

The Economic Growth Act of 1960 which I recommended has support of leading economists and is patterned after the Federal Employment Act. It would have provided a regular appraisal of economic situation with recommendations for improvement. It would have realized its responsibility to economic growth to match population increase. But it failed of passage.

The same fate was met by bills which would have permitted political subdivisions to combine to establish industrial parks and to setting up an Industrial FHA. There were no strong arguments against these bills. Their passage would certainly have indicated (Continued on page 10)

State Equalization To Hike Property Taxes

State Senator John P. (Joe) Smeekens, who never goes to war unarmed, screamed in Lansing this week that the State Board of Equalization appointed by Gov. Williams raised property taxes at least $60 million last Monday.

State Revenue Commissioner Clarence W. Lock, chairman of the commission, angrily replied that the Senator from Coldwater is a mischief-maker who doesn't understand the property tax system.

His implication, of course, is that Smeekens is full of smek. According to Webster's dictionary, smek is another word for smoke. If Senator Smeekens is right, the biggest tax story since the defeat of Gov. Williams' income tax is being overlooked.

So this bewildered writer hustled to the office of Commissioner Lock. He sought a simple answer to this simple question:

"If property taxes in Michigan are not being raised by $60 million as a result of the decisions of the State Board of Equalization, how much more burdensome will the burden become?"

There is no such thing as a simple answer from an expert. They talk an algebraic language understood only by themselves and the genius who conceived the 15-mill tax amendment to the Constitution.

But this fact soon became clear: Senator Smeekens is on the right track.

Property taxes will leap upward in nearly every county except the Democratic strongholds of Wayne and Monroe.

The equalized value of the state, compared to last year, is being increased by $2.4 billion. That figure will compel a tax increase in the neighborhood of $80 million if present tax rates are not reduced.

The defensive argument of the Democratic State Board is that local governments can prevent this shocking blow by lowering rates.

But the complexity of deductable millage under the school tax formula (don't seek an explanation of that business) makes an increase of $8 million in school taxes mandatory.

There are other roadblocks, such as rate guarantees on school bonds, which make tax hikes.

The property tax increase that will result from the new assessed valuations may reach Smeekens' prediction of $80 million. Or it may be $40 million.

But you can bet your house and lot that it will exceed $25 million.

No one will know definitely until next fall after all tax rates have been adjusted by the local governments.

The blow will stagger rural property owners.

For instance, assessments for Grand Traverse county are being increased 88 per cent. Bay County 17 per cent; Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Manistee 18 per cent; Eaton, 21; Ingham, 16; Jackson, Livingston and Montcalm, 17; Oscoda, 31; Washtenaw 34, and Schoolcraft, 37.

These are random examples. But Wayne's assessments are being boosted only 6 per cent. Macomb escapes with a 9 per cent increase.

Servant of the People!

Now, after Michigan Week—with its emphasis on all the things for which this great state of ours is famous, is a good time to consider the vital importance of the motor truck. . . . Here is a servant of the people which does indeed serve everyone: the farmer, the business man, the retailer, the housewife, the vacationer, the boy or girl at school.

Everything you eat, wear, or use travels all or part of the way to you by truck. Yes, trucks are as much a part of Michigan as its vast productive capacity, its beautiful scenery, its great educational facilities, its fine people.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvair that tallied a whopping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvair's rear-engine design and the sure-footedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvair (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvair is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

WATERLOO

Fifty members and their families, of the Village church, met at the school following the morning services on Sunday for a co-operative dinner and farewell for the Rev. Dale Ferris and family, who have been transferred to the Marcellus charge for the coming year. They will be moving this Tuesday. A gift of money was presented to the family from the group, Leigh Beaman making the presentation, with response by the Rev. and Mrs. Ferris. Miss Jennie McGuffey, the delegate to conference, gave a fine report at both churches. The Rev. Wilbur Silvernail comes to us from Portage Prairie where he held the pastorate for five years. Mrs. Silvernail is Japanese as is their 13-year-old adopted daughter. The Rev. Silvernail will occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Everyone is extended an invitation to come and hear him and meet the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beeman and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Riethmiller, Jr., attended the ball game in Detroit on Sunday. It was also the Donald Beemans' wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Jone Moskel has returned to the home of her daughter and family, the Wilbur Beemans, after a stay at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor.
