NOTE SET ON SCHOOL OPERATIONAL MILLAGE

C. E. Fisher Succumbs at U-M Hospital

Charles Eugene Fisher of 280 Freer Rd., died Monday at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient since March 17. He was assistant supervisor of construction at the University of Michigan; was a member of the Lima Township Zoning Board; a member of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church; and formerly served on the Chelsea Village Council.

A son of Charles and Anna Moore Fisher, he was born in Huntington, Ind., Oct. 16, 1911. His father served as director of the Extension Service at the University of Michigan until his death in 1948.

Mr. Fisher attended the University of Michigan and Michigan State University and graduated from Syracuse University in New York in 1932.

On Dec. 9, 1938, he was married to Dorothy Anderson and they have made their home in Chelsea since then.

He was a first lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II, entering the service in February, 1944. He served on Okinawa and in Japan and received his discharge from active duty in January, 1946.

Survivors are his wife, Dorothy; two daughters, Linda and Christine; his mother, Mrs. H. Kenneth Kugel of Washington, D. C.; and two brothers, Dr. Joseph V. Fisher of Chelsea and Dr. John A. Fisher of Berwyn, Pa.

A son, Joseph, died in infancy. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul M. Schnake officiating. Burial will take place in Oak Grove cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be sent to the Raekham-Arthritis Research Unit at the University of Michigan Medical Center, Ann Arbor.

CHS Alumni Banquet Plans Set

Plans and arrangements for the Chelsea High Alumni Banquet to be held in the new high school cafeteria, June 18, were completed at a meeting of Alumni association officers held last week at the home of the Association president, G. L. Staffan (Class of '30).

Also present were vice-president Arden Musbach (class of '50), secretary Doris Smith (class of '30) and treasurer Clarence Wood (class of '40).

David Winans (class of '35), who is in charge of contacting all the alumni by letter, reported that return mail has been bringing in reservations from all over the country and he expects the local residents to be outnumbered by their classmates returning for the occasion.

It is quite urgent that local alumni planning to attend secure their tickets as soon as possible so that accurate banquet arrangements may be made.

Tickets are on sale at Winans Jewelry Store, Foster's Men's Wear and Strieter's Men's Wear.

PARK CLEAN-UP—Interested men of the community spent several hours Tuesday evening May 24, at the annual pre-Memorial Day clean-up at Veterans Memorial Park on North Main St. Among the volunteers were businessmen, Village Council members, Public Works crews who returned after their day's work for the village, and others. Using discarded cement slabs from sidewalks torn up for replacement, the men completed the wall between the parking lot and the creek and gave the entire area a general cleaning in preparation for the summer.

Open Letter to Electors of Chelsea School District

The Chelsea Standard, with its characteristic superb co-operation, in several recent issues has presented to the electors of this school district the factual information concerning the proposed request for operating expenses. It has been the earnest hope of your school trustees that all electors would expend the required time to study and analyze these figures, because the request for the two mill levy for operating expenses was predicated upon such figures.

The decision to ask for operating millage was one arrived at after arduous hours of study, many meetings and the most minute examination of every item in the proposed budget. Such a study has consumed a good share of our efforts for well over a year. You do, or should know the members of your school board—whose signatures appear at the bottom of this letter. We are from varied fields: business, agriculture, labor-management and professional, and each of us by his contacts is acutely alert to the feelings of the electors. While we realize (we being taxpayers, too) that additional taxation is burdensome, we do honestly and unanimously agree such a request is founded upon the real needs of this school district. We have trimmed the proposed budget clean of any item which will not actually jeopardize the proper educational program as we envision it. What remains is a solid and legitimate program to meet the needs of all our children.

We are aware that all over the country there is an upsurge of almost sullen rebellion against many and often all proposals for additional taxes. This to a certain extent is understandable. We can only hope that such a feeling will not be exercised locally without selectivity and discernment.

It has been the acknowledged policy of your school board whenever funds have been required, to present this need to the voters of the district in an honest and as much as possible a dispassionate manner. An emotional appeal or the employment of ominous warnings and dire threats are an insult to an intelligent and informed electorate. Intelligent we believe you to be and informed we hope you will become as the result of the presentation of the facts in this newspaper, before your clubs and at the open meeting held last night. We have confidence that your approval will enable us—your trustees—to carry on with an adequate educational program for the children of this community.

Operational Millage Explained At Kiwanis Meet

Luther Kusterer, Leon Marsh and Earl Beeman of the Chelsea School District Board of Education were at the Kiwanis club meeting held on Tuesday this week because of the Memorial Day holiday.

Board Is Asking for Okay on 2-Mill Levy To Balance Budget

Ohio Conscience Fund Receives $200 from Chelsea

Joseph T. Ferguson, Ohio state treasurer, reported a very unusual incident this week. In the mail he received two $100 bills with a short note which read "Intangible Tax Money Dept." The note was not signed.

The envelope bearing a Chelsea, Mich. postmark was dated May 26, 1960 and contained the largest contribution to the State of Ohio Conscience Fund on record. The other payments were received during 1960, $10,25 on Jan. 18 and $3.00 on April 22.

This would seem to indicate that the people of Ohio are becoming more and more tax conscious and migratory.

This money has been deposited in the General Revenue Fund, Conscience Collections.

Volunteers Complete Wall in Park

The annual pre-Memorial Day work-bee at Veterans Memorial Park went according to schedule Tuesday, May 24, when 27 men finished building the retaining wall and trimming the creek banks.

According to Harvey Lixey, head of the village council park committee, "It's surprising how much work can be done in a short time by a volunteer labor force consisting of the village street crew, the village council, jewelers, clothiers, various other assorted businessmen and one insurance man!"

The two parks are in excellent condition and both local residents and tourists may be seen using the ever-expanding facilities any night when the weather co-operates.

Additional charcoal grates and tables have been placed in Pierce Park and plans to expand both the softball diamond and the general cleared area of the park are in the making.

Veterans Memorial Park has a new swing set and teeter-totter and flowers have again been set out in the flower beds.

These parks give visitors a friendly welcome to our community as well as providing a convenient picnic spot for all local residents.

A guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Casey from Thursday until Sunday was Mrs. Casey's brother, Dr. Robert Karpinski of Chicago. Saturday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karpinski and daughters, Virginia and Ellen of Detroit, and Mathilda Muyskens of Toledo, O., and Sunday guests were Mrs. Paul L. Adams and daughter, Kathi, of Lansing.

The Caseys and their guests called at Whitehall, Ann Arbor, to visit Mrs. Louis C. Karpinski, mother of Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Adams, Joseph and Dr. Robert Karpinski.

Eligible Voters Not Required To Own Property

Next Monday, June 6, is the date for the Chelsea School District election on the request for a 2-mill operational levy for a period of three years. The operational millage levy was unanimously approved by the Board of Education.

Questions relative to the 2-mill levy were to be discussed at a meeting scheduled for last night in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

The 13 candidates for whom petitions have been filed for the June 13 election of three new board members were invited to attend last night's meeting.

At the June 13 election, two members will be elected for four-year terms and one will be elected for a three-year term. This is in line with the new seven-member board now required by state regulations. (It was incorrectly mentioned in last week's Chelsea Standard that four new members of the board were to be elected.)

Eight of the 13 petitions, filed are for four-year terms and the remaining five are for the one three-year term.

Those who have filed for the four-year terms are Charles Powers, William Freeman, Stuart Booker, John Thomson, Mrs. Betty Rust, William Beaman, Miss Nina Grashing and Robert Foster.

Candidates for the three-year term are George Knickerbocker, Jeremiah MacDougall, George Frisinger, Clarence Vogel and Charles Lancaster.

A voter in the millage election, June 6, and in the school board election, June 13, must be 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States, and have resided in the condition and both local residents and tourists may be seen using the ever-expanding facilities any night when the weather co-operates.

Additional charcoal grates and tables have been placed in Pierce Park and plans to expand both the softball diamond and the general cleared area of the park are in the making.

Also visitors there Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. William Sterling of Lansing. Thursday evening callers were Mrs. Tillie Young and granddaughter, Mar-Keta Young.

TRAIN RIDE—Third graders of North Elementary school, accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Harry Anderson and Mrs. Jean Webster, boarded a New York Central train at the Chelsea depot at 1 p.m. Thursday and enjoyed a train ride to Jackson. Several mothers also accompanied them. At the Jackson depot they were met by one of the Chelsea school buses for the trip home. This was the second such trip for Chelsea school pupils this year. Pupils of Mrs. Janet Fulker first grade, Mrs. Florence Hakala's second grade and Mrs. Dorothy Good's third grade, all of North Elementary school, took a similar trip several weeks ago.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

After 11 years, Jim Rathmann has finally hit auto racing's jackpot.

The 61-year-old, Baldish native of California won the 44th annual 500-mile Memorial Day auto race at Indianapolis at a record pace following a sizzling duel with defending champion Rodger Ward.

It was a popular triumph, because Rathmann had been runner-up three times. . . including last year when he was also among the leaders before Ward pulled away to win.

Although there were no clear-cut favorites, Rathmann rated as a solid contender in this year's grind. He turned in the fourth fastest speed during qualifications and started the race in the middle of the first row, with Ward on the outside and Eddie Sachs on the pole.

Rathmann didn't move in front until the 25th lap. . . But thereafter he remained at or near the lead as a dramatic and thrilling-packed duel unfolded before some 175,000 fans.

In all, five drivers led at various stages of the race, but in the end, it was either Rathmann or Ward. The drama began when both drivers pulled into the pits for the third time with just 62 laps to go. Ward changed tires and got a new supply of fuel in 20 seconds. . . Rathmann in 22. Ward thus was out of the pits and running at full throttle just a shade ahead of Rathmann.

Then followed one of the most spectacular wheel-to-wheel battles ever witnessed at the ancient brickyard. Ward had the lead, but Rathmann was right on his tail. They dueling around the turns and down the straightaways, cheered on by the fans.

The lead changed hands 10 times and only a split-second separated the two hot-shots. The duel ended abruptly when Ward, just three laps from the finish, pointed to his gas tank as he raced by his pit crew, indicating he was low on fuel. He had to back off to protect second place and finished about 13 seconds behind the winner.

Later, it was disclosed that both cars ran nearly dry at the finish. Rathmann was none the worse physically after dueling with death for something like three hours, 30 minutes and 11 seconds. His average speed of 138.707 miles per hour shattered Ward's previous record of nearly 136 a year ago.

The new champion gulped a bottle of milk after rolling into victory lane, embraced his pretty wife, Kay, and whooped it up with his pit crew. He was a man of few words.

"This was the toughest race I have ever run," said Rathmann. He knew it. It would have been tooth and toenail right to the checkered flag and to the closest finish in speedway history had Ward not slowed down to avoid running out of gas.

It was the biggest victory for Rathmann in his 14-year career. His previous biggest plum was winning the 600 miles of Monza in Italy two years ago. Rathmann stepped up to the winner's table and collected for himself and his crew about $110,000 plus other prizes.

He has earned a rest, but his immediate plans are to keep on racing. In fact, he'll have only a few days before aiming for another first in a national championship event at Milwaukee Sunday.

Six Michigan college baseball players have been named to All-Star teams in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's District IV. Named to the first team were shortstop Frank Quiroz of Western Michigan and leftfielder Wilbert Franklin of the University of Michigan. Pitcher Mickey Sinks of Michigan State, catcher Larry Banger of Western Michigan and first baseman Bill Roman of Michigan made the second team. Centerfielder Bruce Maher of the University of Detroit was named to the third team. The teams were chosen from NCAA member schools in six midwestern states.

World champion Miller Herb Elliott has changed his mind about returning to Australia and says he will compete in the Compton Invitational track meet this Friday.

Elliott said he would compete despite his injured knee. The Australian mile star made this decision after he went to the UCLA Medical Center to have his knee examined by the doctor for UCLA athletic teams. The doctor said Elliott's trouble was an inflamed ligament and said he didn't think the injury was of any consequence.

Elliott was forced to withdraw Saturday from the mile run in the Modesto, Calif., relays. He earlier said he was going home to give the leg a rest.

Some 40 roadside safety rest areas are planned on the over 700 miles of freeways already open or to be built as part of Michigan's five-year road program. No commercial services will be allowed on the freeways. A Motorist Services Advisory Committee to Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie is currently studying type of comfort and convenience facilities as well as information about services ahead at freeway exits to be located at rest areas similar to this artist's sketch. Parking for 50 cars and 20 trucks with deceleration and acceleration lanes for safe entry and exit to the freeway are planned. Michigan will soon have the longest continuous, non-toll stretch of freeway in the nation on Interstate 94 between Detroit and Benton Harbor.

Safety Rest Areas Being Planned on Michigan's New Freeway System

Lansing—A special Motorist Services Advisory Committee appointed by Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie is wrestling with a million dollar question which will directly affect the future of motorists on Michigan's growing freeway system.

Convenience in using the freeways and how fast needed new roads will be provided are involved in the study.

In the interest of safety for the user as well as long range economy, Michigan's new freeways won't have commercial services along the right-of-way and, unlike toll roads, won't have a service plaza every 30 miles or so for motorists' convenience.

However, safety rest areas are planned every 35 to 50 miles on Michigan's new freeway system because both state and federal highway experts recognize they are needed. The question which is now being decided by the Motorist Services Advisory Committee is how elaborate these installations should be.

The 1956 Federal Highway Bill forbids location of commercial services within the right-of-way of new freeways. Congress felt this prohibition advisable to avoid possible pitfalls in state regulation of business within the freeway right-of-way as well as to assure already established business on the existing roads they would not have "unfair" competition on freeways for the motorists' business.

The Highway Department's Motorist Services Advisory Committee has been told that all-weather comfort facilities alone at some 40 rest areas on the more than 700 miles of freeways planned in Michigan's current five-year road program would require an initial investment of over a half million dollars.

Highway Commissioner Mackie has made it clear to the committee that every cent spent on the construction and maintenance of these facilities will be taken from badly needed new highway construction.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has authorized federal funds for the acquisition of right-of-way for safety rest areas as well as for their construction—exclusive of buildings. Maintenance of the areas will be borne entirely by the state—just as the state pays 100 per cent of the cost of maintaining all highways, regardless of whether or not they are on a federal aid system.

In 1957, shortly after becoming Highway Commissioner, Mackie discovered no roadside safety rest areas were being designed into Michigan's freeways then on the drawing boards, even though the Bureau of Public Roads recognized a need for them. He ordered rest areas planned.

Three will be opened this summer, all on Interstate 94 (US-12), one for westbound traffic near Marshall, another for westbound traffic near Waterliet and one for eastbound traffic west of Kalamazoo.

"Traditionally and logically, services for the traveler have been located next to the traveled way," Mackie says.

"From the time of post taverns and inns until the advent of the modern motel—food, lodging and other facilities—needed by the traveler were located within his sight and surveillance from the road. Free enterprise saw to that."

"Suddenly, as major routes, Congress and highway engineers are changing all of this. In order to provide highways of safe design and in order to protect their capacity to continue carrying traffic volumes in the years ahead, we have eliminated roadside friction. Before and after accident studies indicate this controlled access design has reduced accidents and injuries by over 75 per cent. But in so doing, we not only have eliminated a large percentage of accident hazards, but have also necessarily removed the availability of services except at controlled points of entry and exit.

"So we are taking the motorist from his traditional environment where services are located within sight of the roadway and placing him in a new and strange environment—breaking with tradition."

"The motorist will have to have to adopt new driving and planning habits to adjust to these new conditions to get the best and most convenient use of freeways."

Definite plans have been developed which call for safety rest areas of about eight acres in size, located on the right side of the roadway with special lanes for safe entry and exit. Paved parking areas for 20 trucks and 50 cars are planned.

Co-ordination of the program has been assigned a newly formed Motorist Services and Reports Division of the Highway Department, headed by Otis Hardy, formerly Director of Public Information for the Department.

The Motorist Services Committee named in March, which includes representatives of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, gasoline, resort, telephone, truckers, law enforcement and other highway user interests, is headed by Robert Nisbet, Manager of the Emergency Services Department of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The committee is expected to make a report soon to the Commissioner on its recommendations on what additional facilities Michigan will provide at the rest areas.

A check with other states reveals Michigan will be the first state in the nation to have a long continuous stretch of freeway in operation.

Longest currently is 124 miles in California. The rest of the states have only short sections open of from 30 to 50 miles in length. But late this year, Michigan expects to have almost 200 miles of Interstate 94 open.

The immediate questions facing the committee are type of non-commercial services to be located at the safety rest areas, including comfort facilities, and how to get information to the motorist about services in the vicinity of interchanges while he is still on the freeway itself.

Methods of supplementing State Police emergency service for motorists who have breakdowns on the freeway system will be discussed by the committee.

Members of the Committee are: Robert Nisbet, Director of Road Services of the AAA; State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs; John L. Conroy, General Marketing Manager of Michigan Bell Telephone Co.; Robert Furlong, Executive Secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council; Otis Hardy, Director of Motorist Services and Reports of the State Highway Department; Robert Miller, President of Federated Publications; William Palmer, Associated Petroleum Industries of Michigan; Gordon Sheehy, Director of the Traffic Safety Center at MSU; Jack Stark, General Manager of Howard Sober, Inc., Lansing, representing the Michigan Truckers Association and Light B. Yost, of General Motors Corp., representing the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

VETERANS BILL GAINS
The House has approved unanimously a bill that would put Federal aid to states for veterans' care on a daily rather than annual basis.

In most cases, it would mean an increase from $700 to $912.50 a year for each veteran now in a state home.

The House also approved a bill providing additional compensation for service disabled veterans with four or more children. The measure would grant $12 a month for each child, instead of for the first, second and third children only as is now provided.

Why is it there are always people to tell you how to invest your money who have none to invest themselves?

There are some people who think they could write better comments than these—and they may be right.

Only Suckers Rise to the 'Bait'

By Paul L. Adlams
State Attorney General
If the phone rings and a voice says you have been selected for a "gift," or you are asked to answer a simple question, such as identifying the face on a one-dollar bill in order to win a contest, think twice and don't swallow the bait.

These so-called "gifts" or "contests" are generally just another gimmick to get you together with a fast-talking salesman. And don't be so vain that you think he can't out-smart you. These men and women are trained for their jobs. You're not.

These "bait" techniques are most frequently used in schemes involving dance lessons and photographs.

For example, as a reward for knowing whose face was on that one-dollar bill, you may receive certificates for a number of "free dance lessons." Investigation shows that by the time you leave the dance studio you have probably signed up for an extended and expensive course.

Perhaps you will be offered a "gift certificate" for a picture of your children at a nominal sum. When you appear to pick up the photos, however, the sales personnel can generally pressure you into buying an album of pictures or various other combinations of photographs beyond what you really desire or can afford.

Remember, these contests and gift certificates are gimmicks and nothing more. By shopping a little "in the community," you can get the same items for much less from reputable businessmen.

So, when the phone rings and you hear the familiar pitch, beware. You won't get something for nothing.

Now doctors say a draft can't cause a cold. It can cause cold feet if it's an overdraft.

Wanted: Adult 4-H Leaders

"Wanted! Responsible adults who like boys and girls. Job as 4-H Club leader. No salary. Must take pay in smiles and satisfaction. Job well done. Apply at Co-operative Extension Service Office, Washtenaw County Building, 400 N. State St., Ann Arbor, Mich. We train you on the job."

Will you answer the want-ad? Two hundred fifteen men and women in Washtenaw county have applied and been accepted, reports Jim Hutchinson, 4-H Club agent. But there are still vacancies. These are still boys and girls of 4-H Club age in the county, towns and cities of Washtenaw county who can't belong to a 4-H Club because there is no adult leader to work with them. They can't enroll in project work and get help in such things as vegetable and flower gardening, photography, food preparation and preservation, safety or caring for an animal.

Whoever does apply for the job of leader must be willing to give time, energy and know-how. On-the-job leaders declare the "pay" is high. It comes in watching boys and girls grow in knowledge, self-confidence. That's better than money, and it's something money can't buy.

Will you answer this want-ad for 4-H leaders? For further information, please contact the 4-H Office Jim Hutchinson, 4-H Agent, Phone Number Normandy 3-7411.

The other day we saw a man who did not have the answer to the major political questions of the day.

The trouble with most "frigid" is that they won't pay the price of loyal friendship when a test comes.

The world would be better off if all sentences beginning with "Did you hear?" were never finished.

love that tourist!

He's a fabulous fellow. He's a go-er and a do-er.

He's a fun-loving man with a wife and kids and a carload of maps, cameras, fishing rods, water skis, golf clubs, swimsuits and beach balls.

He's a Michigan fan, just itching to explore some of those 11,037 inland lakes . . . or part of that 3,251 miles of Great Lakes "seashore" in our beautiful Water Wonderland.

He loves to spend money, too. Matter of fact, he and his friends ring up over $650,000,000 a year on cash registers all over our home state.

How can you help your community get its slice of this tourist pie? Easy. Do a little more for vacationers. Show off your hospitality. Smile bigger. Then if you'd like to do still more, check with your local Chamber of Commerce or the Tourist Association in your area.

Moral: tourist travel is no nickel-and-dime affair. It's a dollars-and-sense proposition that means better living for all of us.

$1,000 for 1,000 square feet of land—but what glorious land! It lies in and around Gettysburg, Pa., where the brave battalions of the North and the South fought and died for the cause each believed in, where they rest today in honored graves.

This hallowed ground, Abraham Lincoln called it in his immortal address. It is preserved as a national shrine. But recently "dog and refreshment" stands, and all manner of shoddy enterprises have sprung up around it, to attract visitors who come in respect and veneration to the battlefield.

Patriotic citizens have formed a group to buy up, protect and preserve for posterity the immediate surroundings of the historic ground. Learning of this, Studebaker-Packard Corp. gave $1,000 to buy, in the name of the non-profit body, 1,000 sq. feet; many others, corporate and private are following suit.

The movement is headed by Cliff Arquette, a resident of Gettysburg. You know this dedicated man—as TV's Charlie ("Mt. Ivy") Weaver!

GOOPS! New Haven, Conn.—All but two feet of an $18,000 split-level home built by Albert Greenwood is on town land.

Greenwood is handy with tools, so he decided to build his own home on three lots he purchased in 1941. But he did not survey the land until the home was nearly completed. Then he discovered his error.

The town selectmen have been very understanding. They have asked the local board of finance for authority to sell him the land on which the home is located, so that his 18 months of work will not be in vain.

Sunday evening guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Casey were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Riemschneider and daughter, Alyce, of Chelsea.

Sharon Pichea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pichea entertained at a family dinner at their home following the confirmation service. Guests were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roman of Detroit, and Mrs. Pichea's mother, Mrs. Edward Dickman, also of Detroit.

Delegates Attend Convention in Jackson

Mrs. Elden Buehler, Bertha Smith, and Hilda Grissom were in Albion last week-end where they attended a three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses held at the Armory. They were among the overflow crowd of 1,868 who heard witness minister, Peter D'Mura, talk on, "Finding Happiness in This Troubled World."

Mrs. Buehler stated, "In view of world tensions stemming from the summit conference breakdown, this discussion of the Bible approach to peace was most timely. D'Mura interestingly described the futile plight of the nations in their quest for a lasting peace."

Said D'Mura, "Peace has eluded men like a slippery eel. Even though world leaders from both blocs of nations have waved the olive branch of peace, a world of anxiety and tension is still with us."

Basing his remarks on a Bible prophecy from Isaiah, D'Mura assured his listeners that, "Swords would become plowshares and spears become pruning knives, within our generation." He asserted, "Universal peace will become a reality, not by the efforts of men but by God's own means. His term must be met."

Hepatitis Cases May Set Record High in Michigan, Across Nation

Lansing—Infectious hepatitis, a communicable disease which can cause serious liver damage and sometimes death, appears well on its way toward setting a record high number of cases in Michigan and the nation this year.

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director division of disease control, records and statistics, Michigan Department of Health, said that through the week ending May 13, 826 cases had been reported to the health department, only 312 fewer than the total of 1,138 cases reported for the entire year of 1959. Nationally 8,160 cases were reported through March 19 with a total of 23,187 for 1959.

The record high in Michigan was in 1954 when 1,419 cases were reported.

The cases are scattered throughout the state and have been increasing since the fall of 1958 in keeping with the cyclic pattern of the disease, Dr. Leeder said.

The prominent increase during the first part of this year could be associated partially with the excessive moisture causing overflow of septic tanks and contaminating well water in suburban areas.

There has been no contamination of regularly tested municipal water supplies, he said.

To help prevent the spread of this highly communicable disease, the state health department recommends that suburban residents:

1. Keep an eye on their septic tanks and wells and if they become flooded and overflow not to drink the water.

2. Obtain water from a neighbor of municipal water supply. Use their neighbor's water only if his well has not overflowed with the possibility of being contaminated.

3. After the well water recedes, clean the well and chlorinate it after you have pumped it long enough to flow clear water. Your local health officer or sanitarian will be glad to show you how to do this properly.

4. If you are unable to obtain water from a neighbor or a municipal source and it is necessary for you to use your well, be sure to boil the water for at least 15 minutes before using. In the meantime, have your well water tested.

The incidence of hepatitis in Michigan and the nation may be even higher than figures show, Doctor Leeder said, because mild cases are frequently not reported to health departments.

European Pine Sawfly Damaging Easily Controlled

The time has again arrived this spring for the European Pine Sawfly to start chewing up the needles of Red and Scotch pines. The larvae, or worm stage of this sawfly, have emerged and they will feed in clusters on previous years' needles and may completely defoliate the tree.

The loss of needles from trees intended for Christmas trees could be a serious blow to managers of plantations, but fortunately this insect is easy to control by spraying directly on the larvae as they are feeding. The smaller the larvae, the easier they are to kill. District Forester Victor Horvath of Ann Arbor, responsible for forest activities for the Michigan Department of Conservation in the five southeastern counties, recommends spraying with DDT 50 per cent wettable powder.

It is surprising how much trash one gets in the mails of he bothers to open it all.

The doctor may not know what's wrong with you, but he is confident, at least.

Federal Judge Wallace Kent Named Michigan Masonic Grand Master

At the 184th Annual Communication of the Grand Lodge of Michigan held at Detroit Tuesday and Wednesday, May 24-25, Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent of Kalamazoo became the 110th Grand Master.

Born May 1, 1913, at Galesburg, Ill., Judge Kent completed his first eight grades of schooling at the Campus of Western Michigan University (now Western Michigan University), graduated from Kalamazoo Central High School in 1935, and received his A.B. Degree at Western Michigan College.

In 1940, he received a juris doctor degree when he graduated with high honors from University of Michigan Law School and the highest scholastic honor any law student can achieve, the selection to membership in the Order of Coif.

Judge Kent resigned from his office as Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of Kalamazoo County in 1944 to become a partner in the law firm of Mason, Stratton, Kent, and Wise. He served as Prosecuting Attorney of Kalamazoo County in 1945-46 after which he re-entered private practice. He is a member of the Kalamazoo County Bar Association, and the American Judicial Society.

After appointment by President Eisenhower, and unanimous confirmation of the United States Senate, Michigan's new Grand Master became United States District Court Judge for the Western District of Michigan, July 30, 1954. He was sworn in by Chief Judge Charles C. Simons of the 6th Judicial Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States.

In 1945, Grand Master Kent was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason in Anchor Lodge of Strict Observance No. 87 of Kalamazoo, where he served as Master in 1952. His father and brother, Richard, are members of the same lodge and his father-in-law, E. Victor Fredlund, is a life member of Iron River Lodge No. 457 where two brothers-in-law, also, belong. He has served Grand Lodge as a member of the Committee on Masonic Service and Education and was elected Grand Marshal in 1954.

In 1940, the Judge and Miss Laverne A. Fredlund of Iron River, a former classmate, were united in marriage and their family now includes six children: Wallace, Jr., Virginia, Eric, Robert, Ann and Martha. They are all Episcopalians, long active in the affairs of St. Luke's church, where the Judge has served as members of the Vestry and as both Junior and Senior Warden.

Active in civic affairs and in the Boy Scouts of America he also served as Chairman of the Kalamazoo Legal Aid Bureau.

Patricia Ann Gage Is Member of Nursing Class At University of Arizona

Patricia Ann Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage, now of Tucson, Ariz., was one of 27 freshmen at the University of Arizona School of Nursing who received newly designed caps at the school's first annual capping ceremony at the University's Student Union ballroom on Sunday, May 15.

The School of Nursing at the University of Arizona, started three years ago, has adopted a cap specially designed by Mrs. Richard A. Harvill, wife of the president of the University.

Freshmen were included in the capping ceremony, along with sophomores and juniors for the first capping ceremony; however, beginning in 1961, only sophomores will be included in the capping which will take place annually. Miss Gage attended Chelsea schools while the family lived here. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Gage of South St.

Towns Should Build Plants for Industrial Lease

Towns in this section of the state interested in getting new payrolls are being advised that to meet competition they must be prepared to build plants for lease to desirable industry.

The advice comes from the Michigan Economic Development Department following a conference held at East Lansing last week to explain how federal SBA funds can be used to help community industrial development corporations.

A community industrial development corporation is an organization through which local business men and other citizens invest money for the profit of the whole community to put up buildings for lease to industry on a sound business basis. Usually a local bank provides part of the money needed and takes a first mortgage on the building while the community group usually takes a second mortgage. A new SBA program now makes it possible for that agency to provide part of the money in many cases.

Both the national administrator of SBA, Phillip McCullum, and the director of its regional office at Detroit, Fred W. Fritchard, spoke at the East Lansing meeting, in which about 125 people representing more than 50 communities took part.

Anyone may get detailed advice on the new SBA program and other phases of the problem of attracting industry by writing the Economic Development department at Lansing.

Prospective Members Urged To Sign Now For 4-H Garden Clubs

Fresh asparagus, tomatoes from the vine and sweet crisp carrots are visions dancing around in the heads of 4-H Club members enrolled in the vegetable gardening project.

If you have a "green thumb," and are looking through seed catalogs and getting your gardening tools ready for use, why not enroll in the vegetable gardening project?

Practical experience and bulletins provided by your 4-H extension agent will help you to produce healthy, hardy vegetables.

How plants grow, what fertilizers are best, the proper way to water plants and the control of insects and diseases are just some of the things that are emphasized in this gardening program.

Jim Hutchinson, Washtenaw County 4-H Club Agent reports that last year 98 4-H Club members ranging in age from 10 to 21 enrolled in this program. To find out how you may enroll contact Hutchinson at your county extension office.

Series of Classes Scheduled for Expectant Parents

When the new series of Expectant Parents Classes begins in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Naomi Ament, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Mrs. Ament's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents Classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Mrs. Ament's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction," which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Mrs. Ament will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled. This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7:00 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. The registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes seven classes. A special class is held for the fathers only. In addition a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver is planned.

These classes are sponsored jointly by the Visiting Nurse Association of Ann Arbor, a United Fund Agency and the Washtenaw County Health Department. Their content and subject has been approved by the Washtenaw County Medical Society and at least one of the classes will be taught by a practicing physician, as well as the special class for fathers.

Anyone is eligible to attend and registration may be accomplished prior to the beginning of any class in the series.

CONGRESS PRODDEN President Eisenhower has asked Congress to act promptly on his legislative program without undue attention to election-year politics. In a special message that had the tone of a fatherly lecture, the President listed a score of Administration recommendations awaiting action with only about two months of the present session remaining. He said "none of us can afford to let the 'vital' legislation still pending."

PAYOLA REMEDIES The House Special Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight has ended its hearings on payola in broadcasting and is preparing to produce corrective legislation. A committee source predicted early approval of bills going beyond the payola problem to broader aspects of television and radio. A large number of such measures are now before the subcommittee's parent body, the House Commerce Committee.

Farm Council Barbecue Set For June 19

The annual Washtenaw county chicken barbecue will be held June 19 according to Albert Ruhlig of Dexter. The event attracts more than 4,000 people annually.

The barbecuing of the tons of chicken over charcoal fires under the direction of Michigan State University poultry specialist Floyd Hicks is a sight many people wouldn't miss.

The event is sponsored by Washtenaw Farm Council, the governing body of the Activities Center located on Saline Ann Arbor Rd. The barbecue will be held at the Center. Farm organizations throughout the county co-operate with the Council in organizing the main committee.

General chairman of the event are Mrs. Erwin Fredrick of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Simon Giesbach of Saline.

All proceeds of the event are used to maintain and make added improvements at the Center.

Frank Haggard of Dexter and Armin Haussler of Saline are co-chairmen of the finance committee. They have established ticket chairmen in each township and in the cities. People desiring tickets to assure themselves of being served may secure further information by calling the Extension Service office, County Building, Ann Arbor.

Cutler Addresses Area Citizens at Democratic Rally

Richard L. "Dick" Cutler of Ann Arbor, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for State Senator from Washtenaw county, spoke before a group of Chelsea area citizens at the McKune Memorial Library Friday night. He talked about "Michigan's Financial Troubles" and answered questions from the audience following his talk.

Cutler said a large part of Michigan's financial troubles can be blamed on a small group of bullheaded men in the State Senate, who have blocked every effort at change in Michigan over the past few years. These men have no ideas of their own, and their whole program has been to find out what the Democrats are for, and then to vote against it.

Cutler, who is seeking the Senate seat now held by Republican Louis Christman of Ann Arbor, said that a "new look" was needed if Michigan's reputation as a good place in which to live and work was to be restored. "Under the unit rule used by the Republicans in the Senate, an individual Republican Senator is not free to vote his own conscience," Cutler continued. "This happened again last year, when men like Christman said one thing in public, then voted the other way when the pressure of the Republican majority was put on them."

"If Washtenaw county citizens want Michigan to stand still, the best way in the world to do this is to send another Republican State Senator to Lansing," he concluded.

Cutler, who works at the University of Michigan, is married and the father of two children. He and his family have lived in Ann Arbor for the past 12 years.

"MRS. MICHIGAN" looks lovely in this gown of pink nylon and satin which she will wear on the final evening of the "Mrs. America" contest in Fort Lauderdale. The full-length evening gown was presented to her by the Traverse City Chamber of Commerce. The net skirt has rows of tiny nylon ruffles.

Mrs. Michigan Prepares for Tough National Competition

Florida will be importing sunshine from Michigan this week as the state sends its top homemaker, Mrs. John E. Scott of Traverse City, to Fort Lauderdale to compete in the "Mrs. America" finals.

Mrs. Scott, who was selected "Mrs. Michigan" at the state finals conducted by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. May 4-5, and her doctor husband will leave Traverse City Thursday morning. After a short stop-over at Willow Run Airport, they will fly on to Washington where they will join other state finalists for the flight to Fort Lauderdale.

While in Washington the Scotts are scheduled to meet U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart and do a bit of sightseeing before they leave in the evening.

Arriving at Fort Lauderdale, they will be met by the mayor and other dignitaries and batteries of newspaper, TV and newsreel cameramen. A motorcycle escort will whisk them away to the Yankee Clipper Hotel where they will stay for two weeks during the contest.

The Scotts will be entertained and interviewed during the first few days of the contest. On Sunday they will board a luxurious private yacht for the "Mrs. America" yacht parade which winds up and down the waterways of the city.

Mrs. Scott will return to home-making duties Monday as the competition involving cooking, baking, hair styling, decorating, clothes washing and drying begins.

A group of distinguished judges will watch the contestants' every move and decide on the evening of Friday, June 10, who will be the new "Mrs. America." The finals will be televised nationally.

Red Skelton, as he worked George Appleby, will base his June 7 television program on construction of a concrete fallout shelter. Based on the logic that serious subjects often get more public interest when treated humorously, Skelton's sketch will make comic use of a typical home shelter. He will close, however, with some serious advice about how home owners can obtain simple plans for constructing bomb shelters from Office of Civil Defense officials, Battle Creek.

Michigan stations scheduled to carry the CBS network show at 9:30 p.m. include WWTW, Cadillac; WJBK-TV, Detroit; WKZO-TV, Kalamazoo; WJIM-TV, Lansing; and WKNX-TV, Saginaw.

Most concrete and concrete masonry producers and many building contractors have prepared information to assist home owners in planning basement shelters.

Property Owners Protest Highway Dept. Appraisals

Several owners of property for which the State Highway Department has been negotiating for the new roadbuilding program here have expressed dissatisfaction for several weeks past with the amounts offered for their property and last week, attorneys for one of them, Frederick C. Hinderer, instituted court action in an effort to keep the state from removing the buildings on his property before a commission can be appointed to view them and determine if damages should be awarded.

The injunction case, originally set for last Friday in Washtenaw County Circuit Court, was adjourned by Judge James R. Breakey, Jr., to Tuesday, June 7.

Judge Breakey adjourned the case after Attorney Arthur E. Carpenter, acting as special assistant attorney general for the highway department, said the department will negotiate further for the property.

Carpenter pointed out that Frederick C. Hinderer, in whose name the suit was filed, no longer lives on the property, nor does anyone, Carpenter said. Only the buildings remain, he said.

Carpenter also promised that the department would arrange another appraisal of the property. Attorneys for Hinderer contend in their suit that the property is worth $45,000, compared with the $15,200 which the highway department has offered.

Others who have expressed dissatisfaction with prices offered for their land include Vernon Casad, Roy Senecal, George Price, and Harrison and Wilson West.

The Wilson Wests, parents of eight children, have contended that $4,900 offered for their house and the 10 acres on which it is located, is not a fair price.

West's father, Harrison, had given them the land when they built their home 12 years ago. Harrison West and his wife had camped out on their own property across the road from the Wilson Wests, in an effort to prevent workers from the State Highway Department from surveying their land; however, the surveyors, under guard of six Michigan State Police officers, took West by surprise on May 19 and completed their survey in approximately three hours.

During the excitement West momentarily collapsed and was treated by a physician.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 100 proved to be the Warren Eisenbeiser place on Riker Rd. near North Lake. Many area residents identified it at once. It has been owned by the Eisenbeiser family the past 45 years.

Warren Eisenbeisers Are Owners Of Last Week's 'Mystery Farm'

The Warren Eisenbeisers own Mystery Farm No. 100, a photograph of which was originally published without identification in the May 26 issue of The Standard. The farm is located at 14215 Riker Rd. near North Lake.

With the exception of about 20 years prior to 1942, the Warren Eisenbeisers have lived there their marriage in 1935. Mrs. Eisenbeiser is the former Caroline

Stevenson. Their family includes a son, William, who graduates this month from the University of Michigan. He has majored in chemical engineering; a son, John, who is a sophomore at Eastern Michigan University, taking agricultural engineering; and a daughter, Sue Ann, who is a junior at Chelsea High school.

Warren Eisenbeiser and his brother Leslie, who lives nearby, work the 375-acre farm together. They also work two other farms and specialize in dairy and crops.

The 30 milking cows are quartered on the Warren Eisenbeiser place.

According to available information, the 20-room house, now modernized to a considerable extent, was built about 103 years ago.

The present owner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Eisenbeiser, bought the farm in 1915 after it had been known for many years as the William Stevenson place. Stevenson had owned it in the early 1870's and probably secured it from the Glenn or Twamley families who were the original owners of much of the land in the vicinity.

William Eisenbeiser died in 1915 and his widow remained on the farm until her death in 1942.

Warren Eisenbeiser, the present owner, is now supervisor of Dexter township. He is a member of the Michigan Milk Producers Association and he and the family are members of North Lake Methodist church.

Mrs. Eisenbeiser has been active in Girl Scout leadership in the community.

First to call in the correct identification of the farm were Allen Brosamle and Anton-Nielsen at Farmers' Supply Co.

Others who called are Mrs. Clarence Stupish, the men at Blaess Elevator Co., Charles Curtis, Sharon Bollinger, Mrs. Walter Trinkle, Bob Killham, Mrs. Edward Beissel, Mrs. William Schultz, Douglas Stark, David Pastor, Dick Gilmore, Mrs. George Merkel, Mrs. Mary Clark, E. S. Wilson and Mrs. Bernard Herrst.

VOTE "YES"

MONDAY, JUNE 6

ON PROPOSED

Operational Millage Increase

FOR

Chelsea School District

As one of Chelsea's manufacturing plants, we are interested in having the best available school facilities for the children of our employees. Needless to say new industries coming into Chelsea are also vitally interested in adequate educational facilities for the education of children of their employees. If we are to attract new industries, we must have good schools.

We have reviewed the proposed increase in the millage for operating expense for the Chelsea School District, and we feel that the amounts asked for are justified if present high standards are to be continued. We, therefore, urge people of the community to vote YES on the Proposal at the election on June 6th.

township is copying the voter registration lists in full.

Door-to-door canvasses are being made to identify Republican voters and independents. Those who say they vote Democratic are eliminated from the list.

More than 2,000 workers already have been organized. Lindemer is confident the party will have 15,000 before October.

The two women have conducted 77 training schools and many more have been scheduled.

The undertaking has gathered momentum without fanfare. May be it will not be as big or as effective as Lindemer and his aides believe.

But the party is on the right track at last—and no one is watching the progress more closely than that old master of political organization, Democratic State Chairman Neil Steadler.

Archers' Harvest Drops Sharply In Deer Season

Lansing Archers took an estimated 1,840 deer in Michigan last fall, according to the Conservation Department's recently compiled post card survey of bow and arrow hunters.

This was far below the record take of 2,600 whitetails during the 1958 bow and arrow season and the Department's pre-season kill estimate of approximately 3,000.

Slightly less than five per cent of the estimated 39,960 archers afield last season were successful as compared with about seven per cent the year before. License sales totaled 40,690, less than 2,000 below the record figure of 1956.

Archers in the northern lower peninsula again recorded the highest take, killing 1,110 deer. Those in the upper peninsula took 490 deer. The remaining 240 deer were harvested in the southern lower peninsula where the kill jumped considerably above the 1958 figure of 80.

Response to the survey again ran high as nearly 98 per cent of the 2,112 hunters polled returned completed questionnaires to the Department. This rate of return indicates an unusual degree of interest, according to the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

There are seldom any sins committed in church.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stark

Olive Ann Reddeman, Richard Stark Speak Vows at Congregational Church

The Congregational church was the setting for a three o'clock ceremony Saturday afternoon uniting Olive Ann Reddeman and Richard William Stark in marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Reddeman of 10935 Jerusalem Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. William K. Stark, of 3661 Rentz Rd.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white tulle with a chapel train. Rosepointe lace outlined a full-length front panel as well as the sabrina neckline, with iridescent sequins and seed pearls applied to the gown, itself. A crown of matching sequins and seed pearls held her fingertip-length veil of French illusion. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white roses centered with a white moth orchid.

The two bridesmaids, Mrs. John Howe of Lansing, and Barbara Collins of Ann Arbor, were similarly gownned; their bouquets, however, being of pink roses and pink carnations.

Douglas H. Stark, a brother of the bridegroom, assisted as best man, while John Howe of Lansing, and Gerald Proctor of Grass Lake, a cousin of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore for the wedding a light blue jacket dress of silk shantung, and the bridegroom's mother wore a beige silk organza dinner dress. Each had a corsage of ivory and gold roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church with Eleanor Binstammer of Ann Arbor, in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Maynard Outwater of Birmingham, cut the wedding cake which had been baked and decorated by the bridegroom's mother, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Charles Dinius of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Floyd Proctor of near Grass Lake, served coffee and Mrs. Eugene Ulrich of Milan, served punch. Mrs. Outwater and Mrs. Ulrich are aunts of the bride and Mr. Proctor is an aunt of the bridegroom.

Panel Discussion Shows Agreement on Value of Nursery School Experience

At a meeting of the Huron Valley Council of Co-Operative Nurseries, held Monday, May 28, at the Ann Arbor Public Library, a panel discussion indicated that most parents and educators are agreed that nursery school offers valuable experience for three- and four-year-olds, helping them with the transition from home to school with a minimum of adjustment.

This experience in teaching a child to play and share with others outside the immediate family circle, as is done in the nursery school, is invaluable as groundwork for later learning to work with others—classmates, teachers, etc., when actual school attendance begins.

Mrs. Donald Lussenden, a past officer of the state Co-Operative Nurseries group, expressed these opinions as a member of the panel when she discussed the question, "What is a Nursery?" She said, too, that the nursery school offers an ideal means for the shy, immature, or "mother's child" to break away from this too close association before entering kindergarten.

Miss Dorothy Beach of Chelsea-Dexter Rd., who is a Jackson kindergarten teacher was also a member of the panel. Stressing what she "likes to see in a child starting kindergarten," she listed as desirable traits: honesty; generosity; a knowledge of the difference between right and wrong; ability to make a decision for himself; an understanding of the authority vested in parents and teachers; and, above all, evidence that the child has experienced "togetherness" with his parents in work and recreation. Miss Beach said every parent should be capable of teaching a child these qualities whether they attend nursery school or not; however, later discussion seemed to point to the fact that parents with several small children do not always have the time needed for this individual attention and this can be offered in nursery school groups of children of the same age.

Other speakers on the panel were John Salcau, principal of Erickson Elementary school, Ypsilanti, and Dr. Norma Law, director of the pre-school laboratory at Wayne State University.

David Soule of Chelsea, of the Extension Service of Eastern Michigan University, acted as moderator.

The panel discussion concluded by stressing that nursery school is not a substitute for kindergarten or for mothers but is an ideal experience for the pre-school child. It was also pointed out that nursery school programs should not attempt to provide kindergarten skills since kindergarten, in charge of a competent, trained teacher, is one of the most important parts of a child's school life—a part for which he is not ready at nursery age.

Recommended by the panel as an accomplishment to be taught before a child enters kindergarten is the ability to use shears and paste and otherwise "work with his hands."

Most of the 14 nurseries in the Huron Valley Council had arranged exhibits for the meeting.

Chelsea's exhibit brought forth considerable favorable comment. The exhibit included 11x14 photographs showing the nursery school activities, the former Beach rural school on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. where the nursery is located, samples of the children's work and other items of special interest.

Mrs. Raymond Schairer, the nursery school teacher, also appeared in the photographs as well as parents active in the work of the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery, as volunteer assistants.

KE IN ACTION Republican leaders say that President Eisenhower is showing an increasing tendency to take action on his own as his term nears its end.

They said they were amazed at the extent to which he is personally taking charge of political matters. In the past, some Republicans have felt that Eisenhower too often took a nonpartisan position, avoiding political battles.

Faith in one's self is the foundation of success.

June 2—Dads' Club meets in cafeteria.
June 3—Dance recital.

The annual spring concert, held May 25, was unique in the fact that it was done by high school units only.

The band played "Hiawatha Land," from Porgy and Bess, featuring Ed Lauson on cornet and Sharon Smyser on clarinet as soloists; the first movement of Mendelssohn's "Piano Concerto in G Minor," with Sharon Smyser as piano soloist; Peck Horn's "Revenge," featuring Jon Harris, Wendy Gilbert and Linda Blaes as the "revolutionists"; and Marilyn Pajot as narrator. Lynn Slusser and Lynne Fahrner put on a twirling exhibition to "El Capitan March."

Sharon Smyser received the John Phillip Sousa award for contributing most to the band during her four years in high school. The band was really proud of her.

Band Boosters' president, Mrs. Thomas Harris, announced the winners and alternates for the Interlochen scholarships. In the Junior division, scholarships went to Gordon Beaman (Christine Tarsow, alternate), to Cheryl Lehmann (Ronald Smith, alternate), to David Winans (Mike Baire, alternate) and to Susan Schreier (Wendy Gilbert, alternate) as well as to Rose Ann Zahn. Kiwanis Club gave a Junior scholarship to Kathy White, with Eric Knisley as alternate. Senior scholarship went to Mary Ann Hanson (Marilyn Pajot, alternate).

A Kiwanis club voice scholarship went to Marilyn Pajot. Joan Weirkauf will attend the Eastern Michigan Summer Program.

The choir sang "Wonderful Copenhagen," "I'll Walk with God," "Czechoslovakian Dance Song," "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel," "Born to be Free," and "I May Never Pass This Way Again." Drum-major Jon Harris is conducting try-out preparations for the post he will vacate on graduation. Contenders are David Kopsch, Marvin Fischer, James Eise, and Lenis Bench.

The Student Council approved the party plan submitted by the Future Farmers of America for their "Flow Jockey" dance last Friday.

Next year's Council will consist of 18 members—four from each class and the president and vice-president. Members have been nominated by petitions.

The Chelsea Council voted approval of the Washtenaw Conference Student Council Constitution. Judy Martin and Ruth Prentice were appointed to write University High school stating the decision.

Chelsea High school is the proud possessor of an offset printing press. To be frank, it was army surplus, and lacks a few vital parts. When these parts are obtained and students trained to operate the press, it is hoped that The Bulldog Barks may be again published in offset form, to include a few photos, and to be smaller and neater than the present mimeographed edition.

Journalism club has published the last Bulldog Barks of the school year, and is now slowing down its activities as exam time draws near. To round off the year, a picnic was held at the Wilson home on North Lake last night. Everyone had a wonderful time.

To preside over their destinies during the next school year, Future Homemakers elected Charlotte Harris, president, Darlene Meyers, vice-president, Jeannine Rowe, secretary, Nadine Packard, parliamentarian, Claudia Snyder, recorder, Velma Wiseman, historian, Donna Schiller, song leader, and Irene Wolk, sergeant-at-arms. A picnic is planned for June 5 at Silver Lake, to be the last event of the club year.

A car wash held by the Sophomore class at Hankard's Pure Oil Station on May 21 was well supported by the townspeople. The class is grateful for the patronage, and feels that their project was a distinct success.

Mr. George Marshall's history classes are finishing the world history book. Each member of the class has been expected to complete a term paper on some subject about an event that took place before World War I.

All of the English classes are working with poems. They have studied the appreciation, image, and rhyme scheme, as well as the idea of the poems.

Senior government students are rejoicing in the large number of good grades earned by their term papers on such topics as NATO, National Defense, Narcotics, The Michigan Highway System, League of Nations, Uses of Atomic Energy, Strategic Air Command, Department of State and its Duties, Problems of Adolescence, Civil Defense, Women in the Armed Services, United Nations, Automation, Delinquency, etc. Longest paper was turned in by Charles Koenig, nearest by Charles Koenig, Ted Wilson and Ann Morrison, longest bibliography by Barrie Fisher, best illustrated by Victor Biechaczky.

LIBRARY NEWS
Miss Joan Wiese, high school librarian, plans to study toward her Ph.D. degree this summer at the University of Michigan.

SPECIAL PROJECTS
Students in art classes have been using the encyclopedias and periodicals to locate material for brochures.

Students in English classes have been borrowing poetry books very heavily. Hundreds of pamphlets on Consecration have been signed out by students in Mr. Hunter's biology classes.

The number of students in the High School library has been increasing the last two weeks before term papers and final examinations.

FINAL BOOK RETURNS
All high school library books, pamphlets, and magazines must be returned by MONDAY, June 6. All Junior High books are also due June 6. Outstanding library fines and lost books should be paid for before report cards are issued.

CHOICE ITEMS
Dinah Grate, 12th grade, has loaned the Currier and Ives prints, candle-making form, antique pin cushion, revolving thread holder, doll, and bonnet now in the display case in the Senior High School library. Her family has a collection of antiquities and Americana.

Questions School Operating Millage

Chelsea, Michigan
May 27, 1960

Letter-box
Chelsea, Michigan
The inability of the Chelsea School District to operate our wonderful new school on the income now available will be a topic of much conversation for the next week . . . both pro and con, so something about this seems quite appropriate.

The new increase of 10 per cent on equalized valuation (on top of other recent increases) should produce a considerable increase in revenue for the schools. Actually, the millage should be decreased but instead the Chelsea District sees fit to ask for a two mill increase besides the increase it will get without a vote. In the case of the average 100 acre farm, this will mean an increase of $100 a year in taxes. Since the North School debt is now retired, it would seem that there should at least be no increase.

The Ann Arbor Board of Education had intended asking for an increase in millage, but because of the change in the tax base, has withdrawn the request. Doesn't it seem possible that this should be done in the Chelsea District? Perhaps cancelling of the order for approximately $5,600 worth of typewriters might help the budget. Junior High students should be able to master typing during their years in senior high . . . at an age which would seem much more appropriate.

The chairman of the Equalization Board said (The Detroit Free Press, May 25):

"Every penny of the property tax levied in this state is the result of budgets adopted by county boards of supervisors, township boards, city or village councils and local school boards. . . all local officials elected in their respective communities." Therefore the Equalization Board refuses to accept any responsibility for the increase in our tax bills.

Standard Reader.

And the Answer From the Board . . .

Dear Standard Reader:
For a partial answer to your letter to the editor you should refer to the article in today's edition of The Standard on page one, written and approved unanimously by the Board of Education.

In the May 10 edition of The Standard the millages required by the 1960-61 budget are listed. The decrease in millage required by the 1960-61 budget is 1.117 mills less than the 1959-60 budget and 1.817 mills less than the 1959-60 budget. However, millages and valuations must be considered together and these facts were included in the May 26 edition of The Standard.

You cite the withdrawal of the request for a 2 1/2 voted operational millage by the Ann Arbor Board of Education because of the increase in valuation. You fail to cite the fact that the Ann Arbor School District was allocated 8 of a mill more for 1960-61 than the district was allocated in 1959-60. You fail to recognize the fact that the Ann Arbor School District was allocated 10.75 mills for operation whereas 9.963 mills (which includes the proposed operational millage) is required for the 1960-61 Chelsea School District budget. You fail to cite also that the Ann Arbor School District has 5.5 voted operational mills and the 2 1/2 mills referred to above would have been in addition to the 5.5 mills.

The 1960-61 budget of the Ann Arbor School District will require approximately 16.45 mills as compared with 9.963 mills for the Chelsea School District.

The North Elementary School debt is not retired. The May 19 edition of The Standard lists a 4 mill for the North Elementary School Debt Retirement Fund for 1960-61. The bond contract requires a levy of $20,000 each year and on the basis of this levy this debt will be paid in full April 1, 1964.

The South Elementary School debt has been retired.

The Board of Education agreed to offer typing in the junior high school so that the high school pupils may select an additional academic subject.

Driver education will be offered during the summer rather than during the school year. This will reduce the cost of the program and likewise give the high school pupil an opportunity to select an additional academic subject. Pupils entering high school from St. Mary's school and business education students will be offered typing in high school.

I would like to thank the "Standard Reader" on behalf of the Board of Education for giving us an opportunity to answer your questions prior to the election of June 6.

Leon Marsh,
Member of the Board of Education.

For 36 years, they had assumed they were married. Both were born overseas and had little knowledge of American ways at the time. They thought the license was all there was to a marriage ceremony. Not until the man applied for a pension did they learn of their mistake.

Supervisors Attend Meeting Of Inter-County Committee

Washtenaw county Supervisors attended the third annual meeting of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee on Thursday in the Veterans Memorial Building in Detroit. This committee is composed of members from the counties of Washtenaw, Monroe, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, and Wayne.

This organization is the first of its kind in the entire country, getting together the officials of counties to work co-operatively in studying sewers, roads, government services, taxes and legislation.

Meetings started at 2:30 in the afternoon with greetings by Mayor Mariani of Detroit and continued with committee reports.

Supervisor E. A. Walter of Seio township was among the speakers. He reported on his Special Projects and Taxation committee, saying that his committee was studying methods that might be used to retain part of any new taxes that might be imposed by the state, in the county of origin. The difficulty with most local units of government, Walter stated, is that the state asks the county to assume many burdens without the power of taxation or any method of getting money. If part of any new taxes were to be retained by the counties, it would lift the burden somewhat from the counties.

Paul N. Yivisker, of the Ford Foundation, which is helping sponsor part of the costs of the Inter-

County Committee, gave a very comprehensive talk on how this committee should be maintained. He stressed the value of co-operation with units of government and to work hard to make it work and not to let this committee become a "gimmick."

After a smorgasbord dinner, William R. MacDougal, manager of the County Supervisors Association of the state of California told of the same problems they are facing in the metropolitan areas of San Francisco and Los Angeles. He said that they were modeling an association of counties and cities after the Michigan Supervisors Inter-County Committee.

PAYLOAD ON MOON

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has announced the award of a contract for building a 300-pound payload to be landed on the moon next year.

After crash-landing on the moon, the payload would radio back, for a month or longer, information about conditions on the moon, such as whether the moon sometimes trembles from "lunar quakes."

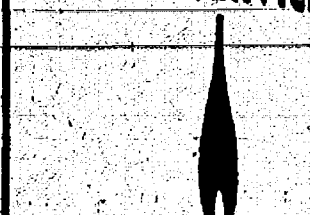

The space agency said that the Aeronautics Division of Ford Motor Company had been selected from among thirteen bidders to build the payload. Development and construction are expected to cost about $3,600,000.
