The Rev. Monsignor Warren, dean of the Catholic Church in this area, will preside at the installation ceremony.

Kiwanians Given Lesson In Politics

William Rademacher, in charge of the program Monday evening at the Kiwanis club dinner meeting, introduced Stanley G. Thayer, Ann Arbor attorney, as the guest speaker.

Thayer, candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator, used charts to illustrate his talk on the convention system of naming candidates. The charts showed the manner of selecting delegates to county, state and national conventions.

Also guests at the meeting were Sylvester Leonard and Jack Gable of Willis, who are seeking nomination as candidates for county treasurer and clerk, respectively, and Lyle Christwell.

A. D. Mayer, former Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, introduced Dr. Jerome B. Casey as a new member of the club.

Let's Show Stockbridge Our Spirit

Chelsea people interested in making arrangements for entertaining (and being entertained by) an anniversary caravan from the Stockbridge area Friday, July 22, have submitted the following story of preparations being made for the event.

Shades of the 125th! Our good neighbors to the north—Stockbridge, Munith and Gregory—have combined forces to celebrate the 125th Anniversary of their communities and are coming to Chelsea in caravan to include us in their festivities, Friday night, July 22.

Harold Lantis, their celebration general chairman, says that they have held several very successful caravans and he thinks that they will have their biggest and most elaborate caravan ready to roll into Chelsea at 8:00 p.m. one week from tomorrow night.

They will stage their grand march up Main St., and then settle down to a full evening's entertainment consisting of square dances, music, singing, German Bands and anything else that they can drum up before caravan time.

Now for Chelsea's end of things—your personally, your friends and the members of your Belle and Brush chapters—Let's show them that we've had a bit of practice celebrating a 125th Anniversary ourselves.

Let's get out our celebration finery—those beautiful long gowns and the sun bonnets you Belles wore and the plug hats, fancy vests and all the trimmings you men sported so proudly... and don't forget the kids!

Of course the Chelsea Friday night spirit wouldn't be the same without the Sylvan Center City Slickers, Hairless Joe, bathing beauties, Brothers of the Brush Band (both Junior and Senior), mules, burros, horses and buggies, Keystone Kops, our local square dancers, the Charleston Dancers and all the rest of you whose old-fashioned outfits were the highlights of our celebration and surely an impromptu extravaganza of two will be thrown in for good measure.

We've had a year to rest up... let's all plan to turn out in our old-fashioned finery. Grab the phone—call your friends and let's show our visitors some real Chelsea spirit and hospitality.

Stockbridge Caravan To Arrive Here at 8 p.m.

The Stockbridge Area 125th Anniversary Celebration Committee this week sent to The Standard the following announcement of their plans for a July 22 caravan visit to Chelsea.

The Stockbridge Area 125th Anniversary Celebration is sending a caravan to Chelsea on Friday, July 22. The caravan will leave Stockbridge-Memorial Field at 7:30 and arrive in Chelsea at 8 p.m. Those persons taking part in the caravan will parade in the costume of 125 years ago, to the bandstand between 8 and 8:30 p.m.

The program will begin immediately after the parade and will include the Price Brothers band and novelty act, barber shop quartet, a soft shoe chorus line, bell's quartette, instrumental act, and group singing.

The program will be followed by dancing, including both Michigan and Western square dancing.

LOOK MOM, NO CAVITIES—Last Thursday afternoon the fluoride dental decay preventive 1960 program was completed here with 127 children participating. Roy Ketting, a senior in the University of Michigan Dental School, administered the treatment, assisted by Lynne Fahrner, Chelsea High school senior. The Chelsea Parent-Teacher Association co-operates with state and county health departments in sponsoring the program. John Thomson, left rear, was PTA chairman of the project. Lynne Fahrner appears at left front. Children receiving their final treatment when the photo was taken are, from right, Donald Nutt, William Peltes, Barry Novess, Ted O'Neill and Lynn O'Neill. A total of 138 had been accepted for registration. Each of the youngsters made a total of four trips to the clinic, spacing their visits on alternate days. The clinic was in operation June 27, 28, 29, 30 and July 1, 5, 6, and 7.

Chelsea Greenhouse Sold by Armstrongs To Walter Zebs

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Armstrong who have been connected with the Chelsea Greenhouses on Lincage Rd. for the past 27 years, have sold the business to Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Zebs. They have moved to the home they purchased at 16891 Waterloo Rd.

The Armstrongs began work at the greenhouses 27 years ago for the late Mrs. Elvira Clark Visek who founded the business in 1907. Mrs. Visek sold them a half interest Nov. 15, 1945 and they became sole owners following her death in 1957.

The Armstrongs commented on their pleasant association with people of the community during the years they have been at the greenhouses and said that they are looking forward to enjoying their retirement.

1,965 School-Age Children Reported

The school census in Chelsea School District as compiled from the census figures as of May 31, 1960, show a total of 1,965 children between the ages of five and 19 years. The number includes 1,023 boys and 942 girls.

The 1960 census shows also that there are 457 boys and 300 girls (847 total) under five years of age. This is a decrease of 22 compared to the 1959 figure of 869 for the under five group.

The five to 19-year age group, however, shows an increase of 36 over the 1959 figure of 1,929.

The census figures for each age group are as follows, listing age, number of boys, number of girls and total number of each age in that order:

Delegates Write Constitution For United Church of Christ

Mrs. Paul G. Schable, Sr., who became a member of the General Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church last spring, was one of nine women among the 31 official delegates from Michigan who were in Cleveland, O., last week to attend an adjourned session of the General Synod of the United Church of Christ.

She is a member of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church and is president of the Women's Guild of the church.

The meeting at Cleveland, which began Wednesday, July 6, was part of what has been designated "one of the most significant developments in American Protestantism."

More than 700 church leaders—men and women, as well as clergymen—from all over the nation took part in the meeting at which the principal business was the final shaping of the constitution for the United Church of Christ which is a merger of two large Protestant denominations.

The United Church of Christ represents a type of church union that has never before been attempted in the United States. It is composed of the General Council of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Unlike other recent church unions, which have been re-unions between different branches of the same denomination, the two groups making up the United Church of Christ represent different backgrounds, different customs and different forms of church government.

The Evangelical and Reformed Church, which originated in Germany, has a modified presbyterial system of government with authority in certain specified matters resting in regional synods and in a national General Synod.

Congregational Christians, who are the spiritual descendants of the Pilgrims and Puritans, consider each local church autonomous. Regional and national bodies exist but the relationship of the churches to them is voluntary.

The United Church was actually formed in 1957 according to the provisions of a previously agreed upon Basis of Union, which suggested the general outline of the constitution for the United Church but specified that the actual document be written after the union took place.

Approval of the constitution at the Synod meeting in Cleveland will be followed by action of Congregational and Reformed regional synods at local levels who must ratify the constitution before it may be declared in effect for the United Church of Christ.

Cub Scout Field Day Set July 23

Cub Scout Committeemen Frank Wojciehowski and John Polts met Monday evening with a committee appointed to assist in making arrangements for the long-planned Cub Scout Field Day to be held here Saturday, July 23.

On the arrangements committee are Dan Ewald, Elia Borders, Russell Maurer and Richard Smith.

It was decided to ask Cub Scouts to be at the Municipal Building at 9:30 a.m. They will be transported from there to the picnic site to be announced in the July 21 issue of The Standard. The boys are to bring baseball gloves and equipment and, if desired, fishing equipment, also.

An effort is being made to have as many fathers of Cub Scouts as possible present. The Field Day program will continue into the afternoon.

Each boy will receive the coveted patch for participation in the Field Day program. There are approximately 60 boys in the Cub Scouts this year.

Den mothers are to call the members of their dens to alert them to plan for the occasion.

Revised Operational Budget Is Adopted By School Board

$42,210 Decrease Made After Extra Millage Refused

Officers of the Chelsea School District Board of Education, elected when the board organized following election of three new members; are Dr. J. V. Fisher, president; Howard W. Flintoft, secretary; and Luther Kusterer, treasurer.

Standing committees appointed by the president are Luther Kusterer, Stuart Booker, Clarence Vogel, finance; Howard Flintoft, Robert Foster, Dr. J. V. Fisher, publicity; Earl Beeman, Clarence Vogel, Luther Kusterer, buildings and grounds; Howard Flintoft, Clarence Vogel, Earl Beeman, future planning; Dr. J. V. Fisher, Stuart Booker, Robert Foster, curriculum.

At the first meeting of the new seven-man Board of Education, a revised operating budget for 1960-61 was adopted by a vote of 5-2, including an across the board increase of $200 for teachers, and several changes were decided upon in matters of school policy.

Among these is the decision to discontinue recognition of valedictorian and salutatorian of the graduating class; however, all graduating seniors who have maintained a 3.5 average or above during their high school years will be recognized. An all "A" record is equal to 4.0.

The revised operating budget for 1960-61, including the $200 increase for teachers, is $577,950. Cost of operation was increased $5,000 and cost of parts and repairs to maintain buses was increased $2,000, bringing the actual decrease in the revised budget to $42,210.

Reductions made in the budget, listed as follows, bring the total decrease to $52,596.92; however, the increase added for operation and bus maintenance reduces the revised total decrease.

Saferackers Fail at Blaess Elevator Co.

A huge old-fashioned safe at Blaess Elevator Co. at Four Mile Lake proved a disappointment to would-be saferackers who broke into the office early Sunday. Their disappointment would have been even greater if they had been successful in their attempt to break it open since the company keeps only a very small amount of cash in it.

The heavy safe was used principally as fire protection for papers of value to no one but the company itself.

With the fire protection thought in mind, the safe had been built into an insulated steel-lined cabinet. The would-be thieves came prepared for heavy work Sunday and must have brought equipment with the intention of carting the safe away. It was dragged to the center of the office before the prowlers abandoned efforts to either get into it or haul it away.

William and Julius Blaess, owners, had to borrow a roller hoist to get the safe back into position. Large quantities of insulation which had been packed around the safe for fire protection of its contents had been removed and stacked in a corner by the prowlers.

Evidence left behind by the prowlers indicated that at least three men were involved in the attempted saferacking.

Only reward for their herculean effort was approximately $8 in change they found in a soft drink machine they pried open.

Mr. and Mrs. George Knoll called Sunday at the home of the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Conant, near Lake Orion. Mr. Van Conant had just returned home after being hospitalized.

"Pillow Talk," with Doris Day and Rock Hudson has already grossed more than $10,000,000. Now Ross Hunter has another story for them, "Next Time You Live."

Now it comes out. Both Shirley McLaine and Steve Allen will be in the Chessman picture when and if Marlon Brando ever makes it. So it was business, not sentiment after all.

Today's picture review:

THE AWAKENING

"The Awakening" is an Italian film which is notable for a virtuoso performance by Anna Magnani. Miss Magnani pulls out all the stops—and then some—as a nun who becomes attached—much too attached, in view of her vows—to a raggedy little boy whose mother has left him with relatives who have little time or money for him.

Essentially for the boy's sake, the sister manages to salvage an old convent that had been ordered closed. The affection between the boy and the nun is poignant fare, and the scenery is beautiful.

Others in the cast include Piero Bocca, appealing as the boy, and Eleonora Rossi Drago as his mother.

Week-end guests at the J. Art Lovells were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stein and Kathy of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon DaCosta, Sudi and Jeff of Ann Arbor and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lovell and Andrew of Chuyahoga Falls, O.

Firemen pried her out of the wreckage and took her to a hospital for treatment of cuts and possible concussion.

Many Career Choices in Agriculture

Agriculture, the nation's largest industry, offers nearly a complete range of career prospects, declares a Michigan State University agricultural educator.

"Parents who are counselling with their sons and daughters about career choices should keep in mind this wide selection," suggests Vern Freeh, coordinator of student programs in the College of Agriculture at Michigan State University.

"For instance," he points out, "agriculture can use engineers, scientists, management consultants, editors, conservation specialists as well as farmers."

The reason for this wide choice is that agriculture has changed in a revolutionary way, Freeh says. Agriculture no longer means just farming, although farming is still an important part of agriculture. Farmers do not carry on most of the activities of agriculture themselves as they did a generation or two ago. Many of these activities have moved off the farm into urban areas.

"This off-the-farm activity provides many of the career opportunities," the MSU educator says. In the field of science, trained research workers seek to develop new varieties of crops, new strains of livestock, new machines and chemicals or they discover new uses for agricultural products.

Engineers are needed to build and maintain the vast and complicated industrial system that supplies equipment and other materials for agriculture.

If selling appeals to a youth, then he can expect a rewarding sales career in agriculture in such areas as feeds, growth-promoting substances and veterinary medicines. These salesmen need to know the product and its scientific application.

If a career in finance sounds interesting, then there are positions available with banks and other credit agencies, insurance companies, co-operatives and industrial firms.

Agricultural communications is another fascinating field. Communicators need to know how to interpret agricultural information to the many audiences that are reached by it. Magazines, newspapers, radio and television stations and advertising agencies need such people.

The conservation, development and management of natural resources require people who are trained to perform research, management, education, service and communication functions in the broad areas of forests and their products, fish, wildlife, soils and water.

Government service is yet another field of agriculture that offers career choices in many local, state and national agencies. Trained people are needed in the field of education by such groups as cooperative extension services and other adult education programs as well as the teaching of agricultural subjects in schools.

Further information about agricultural careers and training for them is available by writing the College of Agriculture, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Gardner was booked on suspicion of robbery.

MICHIGAN FEATURE SERIES prepared by MICHIGAN TOURIST COUNCIL... No. 23

State Highway Dept. OK's X-Way Safety Rest Areas

Lansing—The State Highway Department will follow the recommendations of a citizens advisory committee in planning roadside safety rest areas to be built on the State's fast growing freeway system.

No commercial facilities are allowed on the new freeways, by federal statute. Rest areas will provide minimum service for motorists who don't want to leave the highway.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackle said he has accepted the recommendations of a Motorist Services Advisory Committee which included representatives of business and industry, as well as highway users, in developing plans for the first 46 safety rest areas planned on the State's freeway system. The committee came up with its recommendations after a three-month study which included a survey of what had been done in other major freeway states, as well as a financial analysis of various proposed alternative treatments of the Michigan rest areas. The report was unanimously approved by all members.

Three safety rest areas will be opened this summer on Interstate 94 near Marshall, Kalamazoo and Watervliet. A continuous 132-mile section of freeway, the longest in the nation, will be in operation on this route this fall.

The committee recommended strict limits on accommodations in the initial safety rest area installations. They suggested operation on an experimental basis with surveys to be conducted of use and reaction to the facilities to aid future planning.

The rest areas eventually will be located every 35 to 40 miles in each direction on the State's freeway system. They will average eight acres in size with extra lanes to remove traffic from the fast moving freeway lanes and return it safely. Parking for 50 cars and 20 trucks is planned. Limited picnic facilities will be available, designed to serve freeway users but not attract use by local residents.

Specific recommendations of the committee included:

1. POSTED INFORMATION. A 4-by-8-foot internally illuminated information case which will include a map of the entire Interstate route in Michigan, a detail map of the area ahead which includes major local roads and streets, as well as the freeway route to help the motorist orient himself. An official state highway map will also be posted.
2. TELEPHONES. Two coin operated telephone booths will be installed which will contain telephone directories for communities in the immediate area as well as communities for some distance ahead so the motorist can check gas, food or lodging facilities off the freeway by phone.
3. COMFORT FACILITIES. Unheated minimum comfort facilities will be installed similar to those at existing roadside parks. Minimum heated facilities would cost an estimated $15,000 more for installation.

Series of Classes Being Formed for Expectant Parents

When the new series of Expectant Parents' classes begins in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Rachel Schottin, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Mrs. Schottin's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Mrs. Schottin's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction" which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Mrs. Schottin will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled. This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks. The first class will be held next Thursday, July 21.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7:00 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. Registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes seven classes. A special class is held for the fathers only. In addition a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver is planned.

These classes are sponsored jointly by the Visiting Nurse Association of Ann Arbor, a United Fund Agency and the Washtenaw County Health Department. Their content and subject has been approved by the Washtenaw County Medical Society and at least one of the classes will be taught by a practicing physician, as well as the special class for fathers.

Anyone is eligible to attend and registration may be accomplished prior to the beginning of any class in the series.

There will be no classes in Ypsilanti this summer, but Ypsilanti area residents are welcome to the Ann Arbor classes.

HERTER'S WISH

Secretary of State Herter and a friend were talking about a public opinion poll recently.

The friend told Herter the poll showed that 4 per cent of those questioned never had heard of the U-2 spy plane incident.

"I wish I were among that 4 per cent," Herter said.

estimated the cost of a regular highway patrol by the Department, similar to those of toll road authorities, would be about $1,000 per mile per year, or $307,000 annually for the 367 miles of freeway currently in operation. The report said, "The demands of economy and the urgent need for the rapid expansion and improvement of Michigan's remaining outmoded highways at the earliest possible date dictate a strict limitation on initial outlays for safety rest area facilities and emergency service to be paid for by highway funds."

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

★ Output Per Manhour Spurts Upward

For many years the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor has been attempting to measure productivity or output per manhour. It just announced its compilation for 1959, which revealed an increase of over 4 per cent as compared with 1958.

Actually the figures are 4.2 to 4.4 per cent. This variation is the result of using two sets of employment data—establishment reports of payroll hours and labor force reports of individuals. This is worth noting because it gives one example of how difficult it is to get any figure that is worth printing. The Bureau is most conscious of these difficulties and also that the figures constantly are misused and have misleading conclusions read into them. But these are nothing the Bureau can do either to prevent this misuse or the misinterpretation.

Even granting the limited value of all the figures there are some things that need to be said about them:

First, it is customary for output per manhour to rise substantially after a recession. Various factors contribute to this, such as management adding employees only as they clearly are needed—the poor producers having been eliminated during the business downturn—and the introduction of all possible cost-saving processes and devices as volume rises. A 4 per cent-plus rise in 1959, therefore, does not give even an indication of what will or may happen in 1960.

Second, a year-to-year change in productivity is never significant. Rather, only the long-term trend is indicative of what really is happening in the economic system; and the longer the period covered, the better are the results because in the longer period some of the inevitable errors may be offset. For the entire postwar period 1947-1959 the annual increase was between 3.1 and 3.4 per cent, according to the Bureau depending upon which series of manhours is used. Considering that during this period there were three recessions, this is a rather remarkable showing, but the period is still too short to warrant hard and fast conclusions.

Third, the rate of growth varies widely from one section of the economic system to another. For example, during 1960 agriculture showed practically no improvement in output per manhour, but for the entire postwar period the annual increase was 6 per cent. The Bureau has not published the rate by industries, but that unquestionably would reveal quite enormous variations; and the same would be true if we had data on individual companies.

Fourth, the figure does not represent merely the contribution of labor. As the bureau puts it in its release, the figure measures "the combined effect of a number of workers, managerial skill, changes in technology, capital investment per worker, utilization of capacity, layout and flow of material, and labor-management relations." This means, of course, that the improvement is not a sound basis upon which to determine wages.

Finally, there is a vast difference between the increase in output per manhour and the growth rate of the economy as a whole. The best measure of the nation's growth rate is gross national product, which, it will be recalled, is the monetary value of all the goods and services produced in the nation. An increase in output per manhour, is only one of innumerable elements entering and determining the gross national product.

These comments may give the impression that it would be better if we simply stopped trying to measure productivity. That is far from true. We need the figure, and it will be calculated in any event. The need is to stop reading more in the calculation than is warranted.

County To Lose $9,000 In Funds Because of Slow Rural Growth

According to figures released by the Michigan State Highway Department recently in Lansing, the Washtenaw County Road Commission will lose about $9,000 during 1960 as their share of the Motor Vehicle funds for the maintenance of local roads and subdivision streets based on first quarter figures and the released figures on the 1960 census.

This is based on the fact that 35 per cent of the money returned to the various County Road Commissions for local road and subdivision street maintenance is prorated to the various County Road Commissions according to the rural population.

The rural population in the entire state of Michigan increased by 31.7 per cent between 1950 and 1960, whereas the rural population in Washtenaw county increased by only 25.4 per cent. Some of this loss may be attributed to city annexations, but the general increase in rural population in Washtenaw county was about six per cent below the state average.

Jackson and Monroe County Road Commissions will receive about $14,000 more because their rural population growth was above the state average. Ingham county will lose about $11,000; and Lenawee county will lose about $7,500 because their rural population growth was below the state average.

Commissions are not paid on arguments won, but on sales made.

Circus Comes To Dexter on Wednesday

One of the finest tented circuses touring the Eastern United States this season will make a one-day appearance Wednesday, July 20 at Dexter under Kiwanis club auspices, it was announced by club president Virgil L. Walling.

Under a mammoth big top Beers-Barnes circus will exhibit at the Dexter High school with 1 1/2-hour performances at 2 and 8 p.m. The 1960 edition of the show according to their advance agent, will bring a grand sparkling new program in mass entertainment. A gorgeous, colorful panorama of spangieland is promised.

There will be performing elephants, trained seals, beautiful horses, prancing ponies, talented canines, thrilling aerialists, artistic wirewalkers, ridiculous clowns, and pretty girls.

The show's 30th season on the road is being highlighted with such outstanding circus acts as "The Arias," mid-air marvels of Madrid, Spain; Gayle DeRisque of the whirling trapeze; TV's incomparable "Harold," the prince of Waltzing steel wire artists; the Spectacular Lunafords with their pony drills, trick mules and clever canines; Rajah and his performing elephants; Col. Walt Davis and his "Horses at Liberty"; and Capt. Willis with his educated seals.

Noted as the "Aristocrat of Spangieland," the Beers-Barnes Circus is the oldest circus appearing under canvas.

The sponsors will conduct an advance sale of general admission tickets in order to earn a much higher percentage than that received at showgrounds, but this campaign will be handled exclusively by members of the sponsoring organization, Walling said.

Poor Drainage Is Main Cause Of Patio Damage

More outdoor living coupled with the "do-it-yourself" fad has brought about more home-made patios each year.

Two thirds of the patios built today are done by the homeowner himself, estimates Joseph T. Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University.

Cox says that although most home-made patios are an attempt to save money, they are not always cheaper than those done with professional help.

Important factors to consider when planning a patio are drainage, materials to be used, design layout, proportions of steps and walls, and use of space.

Inadequate drainage causes almost 90 per cent of patio damage, warns Cox. Moisture that gets under patio slabs, heating and settling action of the frost and other destructive natural forces must all be taken into account.

Patio materials commonly used include asphalt, brick, concrete, flagstone, aggregates, tile and wood. Consider cost, availability and desired appearance in making a choice.

Good planning will show up in more interesting and practical design layouts, comfortable and safe proportions of steps and walls and the best use of the available space. "Professional help in planning a patio is available from qualified landscape architects. Additional information may be obtained from the Michigan State University extension bulletin, "Landscape Paving for Home Grounds." County co-operative extension offices can supply a copy of this bulletin.

A patio does not have to be large to be useful, Cox says. Proper analysis of available space and the existing features of home and property will make your patio an interesting and important addition to summer living.

Also, it costs no more to do the job in an attractive and practical way than to do it in a crude and wasteful manner.

Second Cup of Coffee Waste Of Time, Research Shows

Ann Arbor-If you don't get a lift from your daily coffee break, your "timing" may be off.

They say the caffeine in one cup of coffee partially blocks the effects of a second cup for about three hours.

Science calls it "Tachyphylaxia." The researchers are Dr. Edward F. Domino (M.D.), associate professor of pharmacology...

Dr. Maiti says the average cup of American coffee contains 100 milligrams of caffeine. It is quick-acting. In about 20 minutes you get peak stimulation...

Curiously an additional dose taken during the 2 1/2-hour span will not raise the level of stimulation as much as the first dose, Dr. Maiti said.

For example, if you have breakfast coffee at 7 a.m. you will get little "lift" from a coffee break until after 10 a.m.

Dr. Domino said there are large individual variations in this tipping timetable and confessed the findings do not attempt to measure other values one might get from a coffee break.

Neurosurgeons at the University of Michigan Medical Center-the men who repair brain damage-say a fractured skull from a severe blow can actually save a person's life.

The alternative may be the "closed head injury," a far more serious injury which involves widespread damage to the brain itself.

"It is brain damage, not skull damage, that is medically important in all head injuries," say the U-M doctors.

When the skull itself breaks, it frequently absorbs the lethal force of the blow and thus protects the brain proper.

Victims of severe closed head injuries are immediately unconscious. Later they may become wildly irrational.

It was probably this latter symptom, say the Michigan doctors, that led the ancients to fear that "evil spirits" had taken possession of the patient.

Michigan Wins Awards for 1960 Tourist Book

The State of Michigan recently won three top awards for vacation travel advertising and its state-wide tourist guidebook, according to Robert J. Furlong, director of the state tourist council.

Mead Paper Co. of Dayton, O., cited the council's "Michigan Water Wonderland" travel booklet for "excellence of idea, design and fine craftsmanship" in naming the publication an award winner in national competition for fine printing.

The booklet was designed by the council's advertising agency, Ross Roy Inc., of Detroit, and printed by Specker-Hines & Thomas of Lansing.

Meanwhile, tourist council advertising was selected for awards in two separate judgments. The awards were:

A citation from the Industrial Marketers of Detroit for exceptional merit "in recognition of a distinguished program promoting the business opportunities and benefits obtainable in the state of Michigan;" and the 1960 "Umbrella Award" from the Art Directors Club and Detroit Copy Club for advertising "judged outstanding in content and treatment."

Tourist council advertising designed to promote increased vacation travel in Michigan, appears in several national and regional magazines and in major midwestern newspapers.

Farm Pond To Be Featured At Field Day

Washtenaw County Soils and Crops Field Day to be held July 30 at the Ray Deppman Hereford farm, Saline, will feature a recently constructed farm pond according to Don Balduz, Soil Conservation District chairman.

The pond, 5 1/2 acres in size, was constructed in 1959 under the guidance of Soil Conservation Service technicians. To construct the pond a dyke and fill consisting of 7,000 cu. yds. had to be made. The pond entraps approximately 280 acres of watershed run off. The pond, when full, has a depth of approximately 13 ft. of water.

A concrete drop structure 36 inches in diameter and 9 ft. deep has provisions for carrying off all excess water and may be used for draining the pond if necessary. Limited amounts of water may be continuously regulated for livestock use below the dam.

This pond was constructed primarily to secure a constant and adequate water supply for the Deppman Hereford herd. Being located very close to the farm buildings it also provides water for emergency fire protection.

A 16-acre area adjacent to the pond has been set aside and plans developed for wildlife improvement. Trees and shrubs which give wildlife food and protection have been planted.

Visitors to the field day may visit the pond and five other special interest stops between 10 a.m. and 12 noon and again 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

DEATHS

Mrs. Fred Harris, Jr. Dies Sunday Noon After Long Illness

Mrs. Fred Harris, Jr., of 2404 North Lima Center Rd., died Sunday noon at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. She had been ill for several months and was readmitted to the hospital July 7.

Mrs. Harris, the former Sarah E. McGuire, was 45 years old. She was born July 19, 1914, at Bradley, Ky., a daughter of R. P. and Fanny Salyer McGuire. She came to Michigan in 1941 and on Nov. 12, 1942, she was married to Mr. Harris at North Lake by the Rev. Harvey Pearce. They had lived in the Chelsea area since then, moving to the Lima Center Rd. address 3 1/2 years ago.

Mrs. Harris was a member of the Congregational church. Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Charlotte, and a son, Stephen, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Luther Kusterer (Louise) and Mrs. Malcolm Novess (Rose) of Chelsea; and five brothers, Lacy McGuire of Dayton, O., Kermit of Dearborn, Paul of Ypsilanti, Jeff of San Diego, Calif., and Curtis of Seattle, Wash.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Burghardt Funeral Home with the Rev. Philip Rusten officiating. Burial followed at Oak Grove cemetery.

Funeral services for Albert Franklin Realy of 9998 Munith-Waterloo Rd., Grass Lake, were held at 2 p.m. Thursday at St. Jacob's Evangelical Lutheran church, Waterloo, with the Rev. Andrew Bloom officiating. Interment followed in the church cemetery.

Mr. Realy, who was 81 years old, died Monday evening, July 4, at Foote hospital, Jackson.

A son of Jacob and Catherine Archenbom Realy, he was born in Waterloo township, Jackson county, Nov. 14, 1878.

Pike Planted In North Lake

Indications are that fisherman at North Lake, within the next year, should be catching Northern Pike which will have reached 12 inches in length. A planting of six-week-old fingerlings averaging 5.2 inches in size, were released at the lake the past week by the fish division of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Conservation Officer Donley Boyer said there were approximately 1,300 fish in the planting, the present total weight being slightly more than 40 pounds. He estimates the fish will more than double their size within a year, growth after the first year being less rapid.

The 1,300 pike will supplement the pike population at North Lake and help to keep the smaller fish population under control.

Spawning conditions at North Lake are believed by conservationists to be ideal for Northern Pike who prefer the protection offered by the growth of rushes and weeds in shallow water along the shoreline in sections of North Lake.

Manchester Chicken Broil Set Thursday

Manchester's Famous Chicken Broil will take place this year on the Manchester Athletic Field, Thursday, July 14. On that day approximately 5,000 hungry people from half a dozen states will gather around the long charcoal pits to watch the cooking and enjoy the results.

This is Manchester's seventh annual broil, during which time attendance has climbed from 1,500 to 5,000.

Cooking is under the supervision of Dr. Howard Zindel, Poultry Department of Michigan State University, whose staff designed the special broiling equipment for community dinners. The cooks, waiters, and hosts will be businessmen and farmers, many of them members of the Optimist Club and Jaycees, who are sponsoring the event to raise money for the improvement of Carr Park.

The chicken halves, dressed and iced, will be delivered by panel trucks to the grounds and will be placed on the long charcoal pits for a slow-broil process that takes almost two hours to complete. Three pits, each 100 feet long, will accommodate 1,200 halves at a time. The halves average more than 17 ounces each.

Diners who come early to watch the cooking will also see the crew of cabbage slicers converting hundreds of heads of cabbage into mounds of pearly white slaw on traditional German cabbage slicers. Tickets may be obtained in advance from any Optimist Club member or Jaycee or bought at the gate. Seating capacity will be 1,000 this year and extra serving lines will hold delay to a minimum.

Service will begin at 4:30 p.m. and continue until all have been fed.

On display during the dinner will be the famous seven-foot Paul Bunyon Skillet, large enough to cook eggs for 500 people at one time. This skillet, developed by the Poultry Department, was used in the breakfast to celebrate Michigan Week this May.

There will be a fast softball doubleheader after dinner, played under the lights.

Mrs. Elba Gage, Miss Lillie Wackenhut and Mrs. Ola Hilsinger, with Mrs. Hannah Schoen and Miss Emilie Steinbach of Dexter, called Saturday at the Evangelical Home in Detroit to visit Mrs. Louis Eppeler, formerly of Chelsea, who had been ill the past two weeks. They found her much improved.

Mrs. LeRoy Bristle returned home Saturday after being a patient at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, for an emergency appendectomy.

Cincinnati—Firemen made a run to a rooming house recently.

A woman living there had reported another tenant had entered the bathroom several hours before and never come out. He had failed to respond after she became concerned and knocked on the door.

The firemen forced open the bathroom door.

The tenant, James Mabers, 40, was sleeping peacefully in the bathtub.

The Klinglers are leaving the end of next week for California. They will make their home temporarily with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Meyung and daughter at Redondo Beach, until they locate a home for themselves.

The Klinglers have rented their home here to Dr. and Mrs. James Shadon.

At Sunday's party, the Klinglers were presented with gifts from the assembled guests.

Law Requires Immunization Before Children Start School

Under provisions of Act 12, Published Acts of 1960, all children enrolling for the first time in a Michigan school must show evidence of having been adequately immunized against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus (lockjaw) and polio," said Dr. Otto Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Department director.

"The only exceptions will be those children whose parents sign a statement to the effect that the child has not been immunized because of religious or other convictions," he said.

"This public act added a new section to the School Code of 1955," Dr. Engelke said. "This act required that parents must submit to the schools either one of four statements regarding the immunization status of their child."

The four statements mentioned by the doctor were described as (1) a statement signed by a physician that the child had been immunized against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus (lockjaw), whooping cough and poliomyelitis, or (2) a statement signed by the parents that the immunization procedures would be completed by the family physician and that a report of the completion of the immunization procedures would be furnished the schools, or (3) a statement requesting the local health department to provide immunizations, or (4) a statement signed by parents attesting to the fact that they do not wish their child protected against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus (lockjaw), whooping cough, poliomyelitis because of religious or other convictions.

Schools will require statements at the time of enrollment and Dr. Engelke reminded parents that these immunizations and statements should be obtained from family physicians as early as possible to avoid inconvenience to the parents, as well as to the doctors. Although the schools will require the statements at the time of registration, there has been no time and set for the completion of the immunization procedure," Dr. Engelke said.

According to the doctor, nearly 85 per cent of Washtenaw county children have been immunized before they are 18 months of age.

It was Dr. Engelke's opinion, that the law would not receive vigorous enforcement in Washtenaw county or elsewhere this first year.

"Any further planning regarding compliance with the Act must await the findings of the school at the time of enrollment," Dr. Engelke said. "The point now," the doctor concluded, "is to have the child immunized or to get the doctor's statement of immunization before school begins so that a last-minute rush on the family physician's offices may be avoided and the child may be enrolled."

Family Picnic Served In Dining Room by Salem Grove WSCS

Because showers had been predicted, the picnic sponsored by the Salem Grove Women's Society of Christian Service for all families of the church, Sunday, July 3, the dinner was served in the church dining room.

It had been planned to hold the picnic at Red Arrow Park.

THE BITTER BIT!

Hattiesburg, Miss. — Perry F. Nail, 33, a jailed burglar, complained to guards at a local prison that "some dirty thief" stole $81 he had won from fellow prisoners in a poker game.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 106 "stumped" practically everyone in this area.

Dr. Wilfred Lane and Mrs. Laurence Noah were the only persons who called The Standard office with the correct identification. The farm, owned by Herman Henes of Dexter, is located at 10332 Fleming Rd., just off Dexter-Pincney Rd. (Portage Lake Rd.). Henes has never lived on the farm, himself. He purchased the place 25 years ago from the former long-time owners, members of the late Patrick Harbitt family. Henes formerly pastured cattle on the 228-acre farm and also had farm families live there and work the land. Now, however, he has put the land in the government's Soil Bank and has tenants living in the farm house. The Paul Yetska family lives in part of the house and a family named Bronson occupies the other part. The house and other farm buildings shown in the photo are located at the end of a long lane leading from Fleming Rd. This is one of the reasons so few people recognized it.

Washington News Notes

TRUMAN BACKED
Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has gone on record as saying that he agrees with Harry S. Truman's statement that Democratic National Convention proceedings "are taking on the aspect of a prearranged affair."

But despite agreement with former President Truman's statement, the Senate Majority Leader expects an open convention in which all aspirants are considered and the most qualified man selected.

U. S. FOREIGN POLICY
President Eisenhower says that his Administration will hold fast to its present course in foreign relations. He proclaimed his trip valuable, although disorders in Tokyo led to cancellation of his scheduled visit to the Japanese capital.

He commends goodwill trips to his successor and says that although he does not plan any more for himself in his remaining months in office, he would not hesitate to go if the occasion arose to strengthen the friendship between the United States and other nations.

SOVIET WALKOUT
The State Department reacted with official denunciations and unofficial surprise and mystification recently to the abrupt Soviet withdrawal from the Geneva disarmament talks.

The official reaction was contained in a statement describing the Soviet action as "deplorable," "disappointing," and "irresponsible" and calling for the Soviet Union to return to the negotiating table in a "continued search for a just and durable peace."

FUND BILL VOTED
The Senate voted unanimously recently, to appropriate $1,067,227,000 for military construction in the fiscal year beginning July 1. The measure now goes back to the House, which on June 9 approved only $876,145,000.

The Senate bill is $12,773,000 below budget requests and $272,189,200 below what was appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30.

TOKYO ACTION DECIED
A former United States labor attaché in Japan says that if President Eisenhower had gone to Tokyo as planned the demonstrations would have faded.

Edward M. Skagen, who served in Tokyo as a reserve foreign service officer for four and one-half years, also said that our own diplomats lived in a small world abroad, failed to understand the thinking of the masses, and paid an undue amount of attention to groups that they classified as "friendly" and neglected others.

Twenty U. S. college students will take part in the University of Michigan's first summer Russian Study Tour.

ON CAPITOL HILL
By Congressman George Meader

I voted to adopt the pay raise bill notwithstanding the President's veto because it appeared to be a choice between no pay increase whatever and a bill containing provisions I did not favor. In that decision I considered representations made to me both by those who favored and those who opposed the bill. My decision was not impelled by "pressure" from either side.

The truth is that I react unfavorably to pressure and power plays. The truth also is that as far as pressure is concerned, there was far more from the executive branch of the government than from the postal workers or from their union. I have had my staff review my correspondence on this bill and find that I received 93 communications supporting the pay raise, 2 communications against it, 24 to override the veto, and three to sustain it. Neither their letters nor the few oral discussions with postal employees contained any threat of retaliation. In the ten years I have served as congressman I have never signed a discharge petition for a postal pay raise or for that matter for any other measure. It is on discharge petitions that "pressure" is most frequently and most vigorously exerted.

On the current pay raise bill, which admittedly was hastily drafted, I voted for a motion to recommit which would have reduced the increase pay from 7 1/2 to 5 per cent. The Administration's position seems to have been open to any increase in pay whatever, although they would have been willing to see the 2 1/2 per cent temporary increase adopted two year ago become per-

14 Women Honored At Methodist Home July Birthday Party

Fourteen women were in the group of July birthday celebrants honored at the monthly birthday party at the Methodist Home. The birthday observance took place Tuesday during the regular noon dinner hour.

Members of the group are all among the younger residents of the Home, all being in their 70's and 80's. No 90-year-olds at the Home have July birthdays.

Four of the July birthday people were observing birthdays as Home residents for the first time. They are Mrs. Florence Ward, formerly of Ferndale; Mrs. Maudie Scafe who entered from Detroit; Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong whose former home was in Ann Arbor; and Mrs. Margaret Brand, formerly of Saginaw.

The remaining ten who observed July birthdays are Mrs. Georgiana Oyles, Mrs. Lollita Butte, Mrs. Lucy Leighton, Mrs. Maude Newark, Miss Ida Hayland, Mrs. Fannie Magill, Mrs. Margaret McKelvey, Mrs. Matilda Wilber, Mrs. Elizabeth Ricker and Mrs. Elizabeth Bodell.

Each was presented with a necklace as a gift from the Chelsea Home Friends of the Methodist Church.

From my front porch...

... I watch the world go by.

No matter how expertly cooked any food may be, it lacks relish to me if it's served by a waiter, instead of a waitress.

Any ex-GI will go along with this: a military mess could be prepared by a blue ribbon chef and still be just grub, if in a show line.

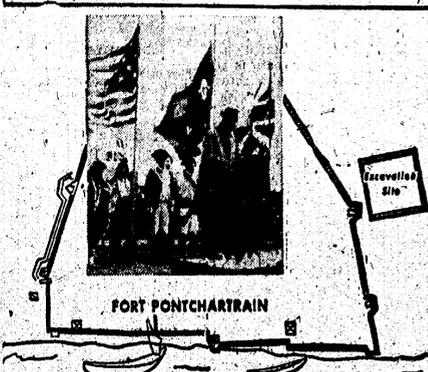

The serving of food, from a sandwich on up, needs a woman's touch—the savory seasoning of feminine charm and daintiness. A smiling waitress is the best aid to digestion I've ever encountered.

The most expensive high-toned restaurants, it seems to me, invariably have the stoniest faced waiters, and they're decked out fancily to make them look even snootier. They can ruin my appetite with one chilly look.

For eating pleasure and my stomach's sake, I'll take a hamburger served by a beaming waitress, and pass up an eight-course banquet served by the most high-class hotel's gentlemen flunkies. It isn't that I don't like elegant food—I just want to enjoy it!

Wayne Archeologist Works As Shovels Creak on Riverbank

Flags of the three countries which have occupied the site were displayed recently at a Detroit ceremony in which the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company broke ground for its new skyscraper near the site of old Fort Pontchartrain. Figures representing Indians, trappers, French, British, and American Army officers were grouped around the flags as the Company's president, Ralph T. McElvenny, opened ceremonies.

DETROIT... Soil once trod by Cadillac's followers in the shadow of Fort Pontchartrain, now being turned by power shovels, is producing relics of the early white man's activities near this historic settlement.

These tangible bits of the State's past are being collected by Dr. Arnold Pilling, Wayne State University archeologist. With buckets off shoes muddy, he dodges the shovels at Woodward and Jefferson, where the excavation for Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's new headquarters is being dug. His students aid him inside the excavation as a part of their field experience.

Already uncovered are household items from the early 1820's and '30's, including such hand-wrought items as padlocks, upholstering tacks, and window glass; and such tradesmen's materials as shoe and harness parts. Even food items from family garbage have popped up: watermelon and grape seeds, cherry pits and bones.

Also associated with eating in that day are a cup, plate, and bowl of North Staffordshire ware, now in fragments but preserved in their original dark blue color. The plan for recovery of these historical articles has the formal approval of both University and Utility. A unique contract has been drawn up between them, to make possible Dr. Pilling's work. The map shows the excavation site considerably nearer the Detroit River than it is today. Historians believe that on July 24, 1701 when Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac and his followers landed, they disembarked only about 100 feet from the building site. The old fort was built by Cadillac near his landing point. Today fort site and building site are more than a block from the river. To find and identify many relics of the early soldiers and settlers and of the Indians who camped near the fort is the aim of the Wayne State archeologist and his students.

LOWE AND BEHOLD
Decatur, Ill.—It appeared like a routine arrest on a drunken-driving charge when police arrested Donald Lowe, 33.

Coincidence took the place of routine, later, though, when the same two patrolmen arrested Donald Lowe, 22, and charged him with drunken driving.

But that wasn't all; as both Lowes (not related) left the courtroom, police were arresting a man for drunken driving. His name: Lowe.

But this one was George, also not related to the others.

Francis Smysor's Father Retires After 26 Years With Postal Service

The July issue of "Postmasters Gazette," official magazine of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States, mentions the retirement of George Smysor as postmaster at Mulvane, Kan.

He was honored at a banquet at which the principal speaker was Robert Justus, director of the regional post office at Wichita, Kan.

The story of Smysor's retirement states that he was prominent in the work of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States.

At the banquet, George Bloomer, a close personal friend, served as toastmaster and related the many activities of the retiring postmaster paying tribute to his work in his church and the community and his "fine job as postmaster, and prior to that, as editor."

The honored retiree was presented with a complete set of fishing gear.

Personally, we are not afraid we will be struck by lightning while attending church—especially in clear weather.

Census Bureau To Make Survey On Buying Plans

Special questions on consumer plans to purchase automobiles, air conditioners, clothes dryers, and hi-fi equipment, including radios and phonographs, will be asked in the July Current Population Survey, it was announced today by Director John E. Tharaldson of the Census Bureau's regional field office at Detroit.

The special questions are in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment which are asked each month of a sample of the population in the Current Population Survey. The information is being collected for the Federal Reserve Board for use in a national study of consumer buying plans.

The questions about air conditioners, clothes dryers, and hi-fi equipment cover present ownership and date of purchase of any of these items, as well as plans to purchase one in the next three to six months. For automobiles, information will be obtained not only on ownership and buying plans, but also on methods of financing, outstanding indebtedness on the car, and recent repair costs.

The Current Population Survey will be conducted locally and in 320 other areas of the country during the week of July 18. Information will be collected here by duly accredited interviewers.

Official Calfood Vaccination Gives Good Insurance

Livestock owners often ask—"What is an official calfood vaccine?" Here's the explanation. An official calfood vaccine is a calf vaccinated between four through eight months of age with Strain-19 vaccine. The vaccination must be performed by a licensed, accredited veterinarian and the animal must be tattooed in the right ear.

The veterinarian is then required to submit a record of this vaccination along with the identification numbers of the animal to the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The owner will then be sent a permanent certificate which identifies his animal as an official calfood vaccinee. That's the legal terminology.

This means that if you have an officially calfood vaccinated animal, the animal has a high degree of resistance to brucellosis in the future. Anyone who has been around cattle sales, knows it also means increased value to the owner at sale time. From $25 to $100 premium is paid for breeding cattle that are official calfood vaccinees.

Besides these two benefits, vaccination not only helps protect cattle from brucellosis, but also provides health protection to the farm family. Brucellosis can only be contracted by man through infected animals. In short, calfood vaccination may be compared to income insurance. Owners have suffered severe losses when their herds were attacked with brucellosis. A vaccination program is cheap insurance against such loss.

RICH NAG
St. Louis—A 28-year-old riding horse has inherited $3,500 from the estate of Robert S. Green, of St. Louis.

Open in his will directed that the money be used to care for the horse, named Willy. What remains when the horse dies is to go to the humane society.

The University of Michigan presented 175,572 degrees to graduates between 1865 and 1959.

Through 11 wars in the last century and a half, courageous men of Michigan have written a valiant record in the military defense of state and nation.

The Michigan Historical Commission has compiled a list of 108 Michigan men who were awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor—the nation's highest decoration for bravery above and beyond the call of military duty—since the medal was authorized by congress during the Civil War.

Exploits of Michigan Military men date back before statehood. Our first militia units were organized early in the 1800's. Some 200 Michigan men joined the colors of the War of 1812, taking part in the Canadian campaign of General William Hull—then Michigan's territorial governor—and the capture of Sandwich, Ont.

Men of Michigan answered the call to arms again in the Black Hawk War of 1832, the bloodless Toledo War of 1835, the "Patriot War of 1835, and the Mexican War of 1846.

In the Toledo War, occasioned by a boundary dispute with Ohio,

Michigan gave up a wedge-shaped strip of land, five to eight miles wide, across its southern boundary, including the city of Toledo, in exchange for the Upper peninsula which congress sliced off from the Wisconsin territory.

At the height of the tension over the southern boundary line, Gov. Stevens T. Mason sent a force of 1,000 militiamen to defend Michigan's domain. Ohio's Gov. Lucas dispatched a counter-force of 600 men. Before any blood was shed, a congressional peace commission proposed the Upper Peninsula-for-Toledo solution to the difficulty which President Jackson and the Michigan and Ohio governors accepted.

During the Civil War, Michigan—which then had a population of less than 700,000—sent 92,220 men to the defense of the Union.

A Michigan man became a national hero in the Civil War and in later skirmishing with hostile Indian tribesmen—General George Armstrong Custer, of Monroe.

Army records disclose the astonishing fact that the Ohio-born Custer, a dashing and daring officer in the famous Michigan Seventh Cavalry brigade, became a brigadier general of volunteers at the age of 23. And a major general at 25.

A savage encounter with Sioux and Cheyenne tribesmen, who vastly outnumbered his own forces, ended Custer's career at the Battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876. In that desperate struggle, Custer and every man of his band of 225 cavalrymen, including his brother Thomas, were killed, a dramatic end to a notable military record, immortalized in American history as Custer's Last Stand. The army post at Fort Custer, near Battle Creek, honors his memory.

Our Michigan National Guard, first known as the Michigan State Troops, was organized after the Civil War and sent five regiments to southern training camps and three regiments to Cuba during the Spanish-American War, 1898-99.

Commander of American Land operations in Cuba during the Spanish-American War was a Michigan man, Brig. Gen. William Rufus Shafter, of Galesburg.

Shafter was a Kalamazoo county farmer before he volunteered for service with the Seventh Michigan Infantry in the Civil War. Later he joined the Regular Army and made a career of military service, becoming a major general before his retirement in 1901. The Army post at Fort Shafter, Hawaii, is named in his honor.

igan also served in the Mexican Border campaign in 1916, under the command of Gen. John J. Pershing.

National Guardsmen from Michigan, mobilized for federal service in 1940, were among the first to contact the Japanese enemy in the South Pacific during World War II. Along with others in the never-defeated 32nd "Red Arrow" Division, they established the longest combat record of any American Division—654 days.

Earlier, in World War I, the French admiringly named the Michigan and Wisconsin troops of the 32nd Division "Les Terribles" (The Terrible Ones) in deep respect for their devastating attacks in the Aisne-Marne offensive and other campaigns which broke the German resistance.

Some 833,400 Michigan men and women served in our nation's armed forces in the two major World Wars... 175,300 in World War I, and 658,100 in World War II... and 210,000 were in military service during the Korean War.

Albino Squirrels Found in Kensington Metropolitan Park

Two young albino squirrels now living near the Nature Center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford in addition to albino squirrel reported at park in January 1960.

Bill Hopkins, chief naturalist of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, believes that the young albinos are evidently off-spring of the previously reported white squirrel.

Because of their color, they are less likely than the brown squirrels to be hidden from their enemies. If they do survive, a number of albino squirrels at park may increase.

The rare albino squirrel in Kensington Park belongs to the class known as the Red Squirrel. Since there is no pigment in hair, it is pure white, though the eyes of the squirrel are pink.

The albino characteristic is able of appearing in almost any animal, but it occurs infrequently in the Red Squirrel.
