Summer Band Rehearsal Schedule Set

Summer band classes are being held twice weekly—Mondays and Wednesdays—with sixth graders of the school year meeting at 3 p.m. and the future seventh and eighth grade members assembling at 4 p.m.

Chelsea High School senior band is rehearsing from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays.

The schedule for rehearsals was set at a general meeting Tuesday, July 12, of all band students at their new director, David Lindsey, in the band room at Chelsea High School.

Director Lindsey said he was pleased with the spirit and willingness to learn which he noted at his first session with the band. He said he hoped that the summer session would be a successful one.

The new director said a famous director once stated, "Play in a band is fun and the more you play, the more fun it is."

With that thought in mind an invitation is extended to all band members who are still in high school, as well as musicians who have graduated, to attend the Senior Band rehearsals every night.

Director Lindsey said, in conclusion, "So come on, all you former band members—join the band and see for yourself what it is!"

Charles Koenn Named To Head FFA Chapter

The local chapter of the Future Farmer's of America (FFA), has elected officers for 1960-61. They are: Charles Koenn, president; Richard Harvey, vice-president; Albert Shauer, secretary; Markom Reinhardt, sentinel; Dale Horning, reporter; and treasurer to be appointed by the advisor.

The FFA's annual educational and recreation summer trip has been canceled this year, since not enough members can arrange to go, it was announced July 11.

The group had planned to visit the southeastern section of Minnesota.

Firemen's Association To Meet Here

Fire chiefs and firemen from approximately 30 departments of five counties in this area will be in Chelsea Monday when the Chelsea Fire Department hosts a meeting of the Southern Michigan Association of Fire Chiefs and Firemen.

New fire trucks and fire equipment will be on display on East Middle St. and inside of the fire hall in the Municipal building, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

People of the community are invited to look over the displays. They are also invited to witness a demonstration of fire extinguishers by the Fry-Fyter Co. of Dayton, O., which will be held at 7 p.m. in the municipal parking lot on Park St.

The association's business meeting and dinner will be held at the Congregational church.

The association includes fire departments of Jackson, Hillsdale, Lenawee, Calhoun and Washtenaw counties. Approximately 100 firemen and fire chiefs are expected to attend.

INSTALLED as the new pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church last Sunday was the Rev. Fr. Leo J. Smith (right). Presiding at the ceremonies was the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Warren Peck (center). Dean of the Catholic Church in this area. At the left is David Harvey, recently graduated from the Sacred Heart Seminary, where he studied Latin under the Rev. Smith during his first year. He will enter Sacred Heart College next fall to study for the priesthood.

Plans Are Complete To Greet Caravan From Stockbridge

Sidewalk Days Bargain Event Set for Aug. 12-13

Chamber of Commerce officials announced this week that a Sidewalk Days sale event will be held here on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 12-13.

For the past four years this bargain hunters' event has met with increasing popularity and it is expected that this year's sidewalk bargains will surpass all others.

Announcement is being made now so merchants may know far enough in advance to prepare for it.

Keystone Kops, Square Dancers Will Be Present

Chelsea is all ready to welcome our neighbors from Stockbridge, Munith and Gregory who are visiting us in a caravan tomorrow night.

According to your anniversary caravan chairman, Wallace Wood, it is a bit different to be on the welcoming end of a caravan instead of actually making up the caravan, but all the plans are well along for a royal welcome when the guests arrive.

Parking for 250 caravan cars and traffic control will be handled by Police Chief John Palmer and his men along with the very capable assistance of our civil defense officers.

Further assistance will be provided by our loco detachment of the Keystone Kops.

The Park St. dancing area will be freshly washed and roped off for that part of the festivities and all local dancers are urged to turn out in costume, of course, and join in the fun.

Both of our Brushless Brothers of the Bush Bands have been tuning up for the event and when they join in with the bands which will arrive with the caravan descriptive adjectives will be entirely inadequate.

Actually, there are a number of additional plans and activities for this Friday night which will make our neighbors feel most welcome and the usual fine co-operation of all our folks will make it one of the highlights of their celebration.

Be sure to wear your own celebration costumes when you come up town Friday evening and bring your friends along with you.

Let's all turn out and give our neighbors a real Chelsea welcome.

House Trailer Demolished In Crash

A new $3,200 house trailer and all its contents were demolished yesterday afternoon in a spectacular truck-truck collision in Lima township.

Sheriff's deputies said the house trailer was being pulled by a car driven by Samuel H. Mason, 37, of Detroit, at the time of the accident.

Officers said Mason and his wife, Frances, 48, had bought the trailer a few days ago, had stocked it with furniture and food supplies and started on a trip to Florida.

Deputies said Mason was driving west on U.S. 12 near Lima Center Rd. when a large tractor trailer driven by James Wall, 36, of Detroit, Miss., started to pass the house trailer and car. Wall told officers that as the front of his truck moved up even with the house trailer, the trailer suddenly whipped over against his right front fender.

The impact knocked both the car and the house trailer off the road, crumpling the trailer "like a match box," deputies said. Mr. and Mrs. Mason escaped injury but every item of furniture in their trailer was smashed and splintered.

Wall was ticketed for failure to keep his truck under control.

Librarians Enroll In Two-Week Training Course

Two assistant librarians, Mrs. Russell Bernath and Mrs. Kenneth McManis will leave Sunday for the M.E.A. camp at St. Mary's Lake, near Battle Creek for a two-week required training period for those who work in the library as required by the state.

After attending two summer camps of instruction, certificates are issued by the state which must be renewed every three years. The library board is paying two-thirds of the cost for those who attend the training camp instead of the total amount because of the lack of funds.

The orientation to the library world course consists of five training periods: (1) Getting to know the problems and rewards of library work; (2) Selection of library materials to best serve the community; (3) Organization of library materials; (4) Use of library materials in the community; (5) Management of the library.

Classes are to be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. with the evenings devoted to special programs and activities related to the courses.

Emil Mast of St. Cloud, Fla., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Ida Dillon at Sugar Lake for three months.

Blood Donor Clinic Set at Cassidy Lake

A clinic has been designated as Cassidy Lake Technical Clinic, according to an announcement by Chelsea Blood Bank chairman by Mrs. Dudley Holmes.

Donors will be from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

An American Red Cross team will be in charge but volunteers from the Chelsea Community will be needed to assist at the clinic. Mrs. Holmes requests that anyone who would be available to help at the clinic call her as soon as possible and offer their services.

Volunteers needed include one registered nurse, four first aiders and five registrars.

Cub Scout Outing Set For Saturday

Cub Scouts of Chelsea will stage a special celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, which is being observed this year throughout the nation.

Each Cub Scout group will conduct its own jubilee events which, in Chelsea, take the form of an outing Saturday, July 23.

At the same time more than 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers and leaders will be participating in the fifth national "Jamboree," July 22-28, at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Chelsea Scouts attending the national event at Colorado Springs are Jeffrey Spaulding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spaulding, and Jack Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard. They are members of Boy Scout Troop 76.

Every Cub Scout who participates in Saturday's outing will be entitled to receive a Cub Scout Jubilee emblem to wear on the right shirt pocket of his uniform.

Members of Cub Scout Pack No. 125—boys and their fathers—will meet at the Municipal building at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to go to the site of the outing, still to be announced.

Boys may bring ball gloves and fishing equipment.

Lunch will be served at noon.

Those who wish additional information about the Golden Jubilee Day outing may contact Dan Ewald, Elita Borders, Russell Maurer or Richard Smith.

Rod-Gun Club Will Build Club House

Chelsea Rod and Gun club is proceeding with plans for construction of a club house on the club's property on Lingane Rd., adjacent to Chelsea Greenhouses.

Location selected for the club house is near the east entrance to the grounds in order that it will be easily accessible in winter as well as other times of the year.

The decision to proceed at once with the new building was reached at a meeting of the club held July 12 at the American Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake.

Plans call for a building approximately 30x60 feet in size, of cement block construction and with all facilities for club meetings, social activities, indoor target range and other features.

At present the club maintains picnic facilities and a trap shooting range on the club grounds for use of club members.

Max Hepburn, the club president, said the new club house will be of excellent construction and attractive design and will give Chelsea a much-needed addition to its facilities for social use.

James Douglas Dettling of 11174 Hieber Rd., is home on leave from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Service at Great Lakes, Ill. He will report back for duty Aug. 2.

Reception Planned Sunday For New Priest at St. Mary's

A reception honoring the Rev. Fr. Leo J. Smith, new pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, will be held next Sunday, July 24, in the parish hall of St. Mary's school.

Hosts will be members of the Altar Society, the Holy Name Society, and the Knights of Columbus. Refreshments will be served.

The public is cordially invited to attend this official welcome of the Rev. Smith to Chelsea.

He was installed last Sunday during the eleven o'clock mass, and succeeds the Rev. Fr. Lee Laige who has taken a leave of absence and is temporarily with relatives in Grosse Pointe Park, after 18 years as St. Mary's pastor.

The new pastor was ordained in 1939. He has served at St. Vincent's church, Detroit, Sacred Heart church in Dearborn and in the Air Force as chaplain from 1945 to 1946.

Since 1953 he has taught at Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit.

As part of the installation ceremonies at St. Mary's last Sunday, the letter from the office of the Archbishop which the Rev. Smith received July 12 summoning him to St. Mary's was read to the parish.

Follows an excerpt: "With this appointment I commit to you full care of the souls of this parish, with the faculties, duties, rights, and privileges defined in the Code of Canon Law and in our Archdiocese."

Polling Places Designated For Wheat Quota Voting

Superior Township: Hall, Cherry Hill and Prospect Rds.

Salem, Northfield townships: Emery Store, Voorhies Rd.

Pittsfield, Lodi townships: Pittsfield Township Hall, State and Ellisworth Rds.

Mrs. Stump points out that at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas if they are to become effective. Under quotas, marketing penalties will apply on "excess" wheat resulting from non-compliance with the farm's wheat acreage allotment, and price supports will be available on the crop at not less than 75 per cent of parity. The support for this year's crop is at the minimum national average rate of $1.78, which is also 75 per cent of parity.

On the other hand, if more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketing, but allotments will remain in effect as a condition for price support at 60 per cent of parity, as directed by law.

Wheat growers voting in a referendum each year have approved marketing quotas for the past seven wheat crops.

Square Dance To Be Held in Parking Lot

Last year Chelsea celebrated its 125th anniversary. One of the features was a square dance at the new high school. This event brought dancers from all over southeastern Michigan. It also attracted many spectators. When they saw the fun the dancers were having they decided that this was fun too. Consequently a good many enrolled in the square dance classes in the fall.

The Whirl-A-Way square dance club of Chelsea is sponsoring another dance this year. It will be a free dance to be held at Stop & Shop parking lot on Friday night, July 29, and a repeat dance Friday night, Aug. 12.

Spectators are cordially invited to come out to see the fun. Caller will be Connie "Liz" Eichhorn of Ann Arbor and visiting.

Used Books Welcomed For Library Sale

McKune Memorial Library will conduct a sale of used books in October. Anyone wishing to contribute to the sale is welcome to do so.

For pick-up of books, call Dr. P. E. Sharrard.

Maintenance Work at High School Described For Kiwanis Club

H. P. Moore, chief custodian of Chelsea High School, was speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting last Monday, July 18 at the Methodist social center.

He described the custodian's job at Chelsea High school.

C. R. Allen of Ada, O., was present as a guest.

Announcement was made that number of members will attend the 10th anniversary party of the Kiwanis club to be held at Lincoln consolidated school.

Group singing was led by Jerry Williams, accompanied by Mrs. Nicolson.

An inter-club meeting with the Ypsilanti Club will be held at the Gonda in Ypsilanti.

Becky Belles Help Stockbridge Group Plan Activities

Climax of the 125th anniversary celebration at Stockbridge is a full week of special activities beginning with "Anniversary Day" Saturday, July 30. A parade is scheduled for 2 p.m. under the chairmanship of Keith Saxton. The same day, at 9 p.m., an anniversary ball will be held.

Dr. Arthur Farrell, executive secretary of the Michigan Baptist Convention, is to be the evening speaker at a "Faith of Our Fathers" service, Sunday, July 31.

Special days for the remainder of the week are "Pioneer Homecoming Day," Monday, Aug. 1; "Youth Day" featuring junior olympics with tricycle and bicycle races, Tuesday, Aug. 2; "Ladies Day" and fashion show, Wednesday, Aug. 3; "Agriculture Day," including agriculture progress parade, Thursday, Aug. 4; "Meet Your Merchant Day" with special events by each merchant, Friday, Aug. 5; and "Triangle Day," featuring contests between Gregory, Munith and Stockbridge, Saturday, Aug. 6.

Final judging of beards grown for the occasion will also take place Saturday.

Stockbridge, Gregory and Munith have combined for the 125th anniversary celebration of the founding of the community.

In preparation for the anniversary, the Chelsea "Becky Belles" chapter, active during the 125th anniversary celebration in Chelsea, visited the Stockbridge Rebekah Lodge at their July 4 meeting to brief the Stockbridge group on celebration activities carried out here last year.

The "Becky Belles" are a group of members of the Chelsea Rebekah Lodge. They have met at intervals during the year for social activities.

When they went to the Stockbridge meeting they wore their anniversary costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Niles have returned to their home here to spend the summer after an eight-month stay in California. They had been living at North Long Beach but when they return in September they will be living at Lakewood, Calif.

School Board Asks To Borrow Against State Aid

Beginning Sept. 6 classes will begin at 8:20 a.m. School will be dismissed at 3:50 p.m. in the junior and senior high school. Elementary grades will be dismissed on a staggered schedule as in past years. Bus pick-up schedules will be the same as last year.

All elementary pupils will be required to pay a rental fee of $5.00 each for textbooks, workbooks, and school-furnished supplies for the 1960-61 school year. Pupils will have to pay the replacement costs of textbooks and workbooks if the books are mutilated or lost.

A resolution was passed to make application to borrow $125,000 on the 1960-61 State Aid for the general fund. A loan of $80,000 borrowed against the 1959-60 State Aid, is due Sept. 1.

As of June 30, the State was in arrears $31,867.83 in payment of the 1959-60 State Aid. The latest information indicates that the first State Aid payment for 1960-61 due Aug. 15, will not be paid on that date, likewise, it is not known when the unpaid 1959-60 State Aid balance will be paid.

Public Reception Set Thursday For Paul Bagwell

A public reception and coffee hour will be held for Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for Governor, on Thursday, July 21, it was announced today by Wendell Hobbs, chairman of the Washington county Republican Committee.

The reception will be held in the basement meeting room of the Gondola Restaurant in Ypsilanti from 9 to 10 p.m.

Bagwell, who is touring the state, will spend most of the day Thursday in Monroe and will arrive in Washington county in time to address a dinner meeting of the Greater Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club.

All interested persons are invited to meet Bagwell and discuss with him the issues of the campaign.

Republican candidates seeking election in Washington county have been invited to attend this meeting.

Clarence Eldridge, Jr., is in charge of arrangements for the reception. Any further details may be obtained by calling Eldridge at NO. 8-1184, An Arbor.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

One of the three major U. S. Golf tournaments open to professionals is scheduled for this week.

The 42nd Professional Golfer's Association Championship will start Thursday at the Firestone course in Akron, O. 197 golfers, the largest field ever, to enter a top U. S. golf tournament, will be competing for honors in this year's classic.

Leading the field of contenders will be Arnold Palmer who already this year has won the other two major U. S. tournaments—the Masters, and the U. S. Open.

Palmer won both tournaments with spectacular come-from-behind performances and he feels he has a good chance to take this one. Should he win it he would become the first golfer ever to win all three the same year.

Said Palmer: "The job isn't going to be easy, but I think I can do it." The 29-year-old ace has won more than $70,000 on the pro circuit this year.

His biggest disappointment thus far was a one-stroke loss in the British Open two weeks ago.

Two three-time winners of the PGA, Gene Sarazen and Sam Snead, are among the entrants, as well as every name player among the current tournament regulars, and 18 other former champions.

Two-time winners in the field include Paul Runyan, Denny Shute and Ben Hogan.

The Firestone golf course has received a face lifting for this year's competition. It was formerly some 6,500 yards long with a championship par of 7. It is now 7,100 yards long with a par of 7.

Two new artificial lakes have been added to the layout and there are 22 new fairway traps. All placed within the range of the pro's normal drives. There are 28 additional traps protecting the greens.

Golf Architect Robert Trent Jones, who redesigned the course calls it a "worthy challenge" to the pros and predicts a championship score of "about 284."

In competition the field will be cut to the low 90 and ties for Saturday's third round with the low 60 and ties advancing into Sunday's final round.

Roberto De Vicenzo of Mexico walked off with the French Open Golf championship Wednesday at Paris. He won with a 72-hole total of 275. De Vicenzo passed the field with a blistering seven-under par 65 on the final 18. Bill Johnston of Provo, U., tied for second place in the tourney.

The best lady golfers in the nation will gather for their big tourney of the year . . . The U. S.

Open Championship, at Worcester Mass., this Thursday through Saturday.

Leading money winner of the women's PGA circuit going into the tourney is Louise Suggs who has pocketed over $12,000 in winnings thus far this year. Behind Miss Suggs is Fay Crocker, who has netted slightly over $10,000 and after her are Micky Wright and Betsey Rawls. Each has earned nearly $9,500.

The American League suffered a loss of prestige last week when they took it on the chin twice from the National League in the annual All-Star classics.

National League Manager Walt Alston relied on pitching by Pittsburgh Pirates to win the two games, 5-3 and 6-0. Bob Friend of the Pirates got credit for the first game win and Pittsburgh hurler Vern Law was the winner in the second tilt.

The National Stars used power hitting to back up stellar pitching also. In the first contest they hit two home runs to pace the win over Al Lopez's American All Stars . . . and in the second game they tied an All-Star home run record by walloping four out of the park. The four homers in the second tilt accounted for all of the game's runs.

Hockey lost one of its scrappiest players in the past week.

Ted Lindsay of the Chicago Blackhawks, announced he was retiring after 16 years of playing. During his career Lindsay scored 823 points . . . including 365 goals.

It is the third-highest career total for a hockey player. Lindsay spent 13 seasons with the Detroit Red Wings and three with the Blackhawks.

This week saw veteran jockey Bill Hartack reach a milestone. Hartack rode the 2,500th winner of his career. He rode the winner at Monmouth Park.

Luis Ayala of Chile, successfully defended his singles title in the International Tennis Tournament at Baastad, Sweden. He downed Ramanthan Krishnana of India in straight sets. Krishnana earlier had upset Wimbledon champ Neal Fraser of Australia.

The U. S. Davis Cup team started its long road back to Australia with a victory over Canada in the first round of the North American Zone series.

Big Barry Mackay and Bernard Barzen scored singles victories Friday. Saturday the U. S. doubles team of Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley . . . both of St. Louis . . . scored a 14-12, 6-3, 6-2 win over Bob Bedard and Don Fontana of Canada.

Fallout as a source of radiation may be compared to a lantern as a source of light rays. When the lantern is in the room, it emits light rays that strike various objects. When the lantern is removed, the light rays are gone. In the same way, once the fallout particles are removed, the radiation is gone. Unirradiated objects are not radioactive. However, exposed too long results in damage to living cells.

Six New Laws Affect Veterans, Their Dependents

Six new laws affecting veterans and their dependents have been enacted recently by Congress and approved by the President.

C. W. Nixon, acting manager of V. A.'s regional office in Detroit, itemized them as follows:

1. P.L. 86-490 provides that if a veteran submits proof of dependents within 60 days of notice that the evaluation of his service-connected disability is increased to 50 percent or more, the additional compensation for the dependents will be paid from the date of proof was received by the V. A. as the previous law required.

2. P.L. 86-491 makes uniform the marriage requirements for widows entitled to death benefits under either death compensation or dependency and indemnity compensation. For death compensation, it extends from 10 to 15 years the time limit within which the widow must have married a veteran who later died from a service-connected cause following the termination of the period of service in which he sustained his service-connected disability.

This law does not affect a widow who qualifies because she was married to the veteran for five or more years or where a child was born of the marriage.

3. P.L. 86-492 allows a widow eligible to receive dependency and indemnity compensation, which is based on the rank of the deceased veteran at the time he was separated from the service, to have the benefit of a higher rank than that at time of separation from the service provided he held it for six months at least and was holding it within 120 days of the date of his separation or death.

4. P.L. 86-494 provides that survivors of certain Navy enlisted men, who died as a result of aviation accidents between Oct. 8, 1940 and Aug. 3, 1942, while training to become aviation cadets may apply for $10,000-gratuitous National Service Life Insurance less the amount of Government insurance in force. Payment will be made to survivors but not to estates.

5. P.L. 86-495 prohibits payment of benefits other than insurance to any child on account of the death of more than one parent in the same parental line following the date of the law (June 8, 1960). The prior law would allow a combination of payments from a parent's death and a step-parent's death in some cases.

6. P.L. 86-497 authorizes waiver of premium payment to be granted, upon application, to totally disabled World War II and Korean Conflict veterans, who became totally disabled in line of duty after making application for insurance and prior to the date their insurance became effective. The waiver of premiums renders the insurance non-participating while the waiver is in effect.

LET CHILDREN HELP

Children like to help around the house, so encourage them when they show interest. Home economists point out there are a number of duties a child can assume. These include, caring for pets, watering flowers, helping to dry dishes, answering the telephone, setting the table, and helping care for his own room.

Protective Measures Should Be Taken In Planning Backyard Swimming Pool

Lansing—The backyard swimming pool is becoming increasingly popular in Michigan and this year will probably see more of them than ever before, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

The pools are a great source of pleasure to many families. But, they are also sources of illness and injury unless constructed and cared for properly.

Some cities and townships have adopted ordinances controlling operation of swimming pools on private residences. The ordinances are designed both as safety and health measures.

Before you purchase a pool or engage a contractor to build one, it's a smart idea to have the plans or designs checked by local government and health authorities and to check to see if a local ordinance is in effect. This could save you money and headaches, as well as prevent injuries in the family or to friends and neighbors invited over for a swim-and-patio. It's time to get the pool ready now. Here are some hints from your health department which are protective measures and can enhance the enjoyment of the pool all summer long without the misfortunes of illness or injury:

1. At the beginning of the swimming season, drain all the water out and give the entire pool, including the sides, a good scrubbing with a stiff brush and chlorine bleach solution. Rinse with fresh water.

2. Check to make sure there are no cracks which might permit water to leak out or water from the ground to seep into the pool.

3. Fill the pool with water which is safe enough to drink. Do not use raw lake or stream water.

4. Be sure the pool is equipped with an adequate pump and filter.

5. Chlorine should be added to the water with a mechanical feed pump which will insure the correct amount of the disinfecting chemical. The chlorine content should be kept at five-tenths of a part of chlorine to every million parts of water. Kits are available for testing the chlorine content.

6. Personal hygiene should include a shower before entering the pool and spraying feet to remove grass and other foreign materials. Persons with colds, sore throats, sores on their skin, athlete's foot or other signs of illness should be kept out of the pool.

7. A fence should surround pool to prevent youngsters, others, and animals from falling in. This is mandatory in city ordinances.

8. An adult should be present when young children are using pool and no person should be alone. A long pole or life server should be kept available for rescue use.

9. Diving boards aren't recommended for small pools because dangers to divers and swimmers. Diving areas should be a depth of at least eight feet.

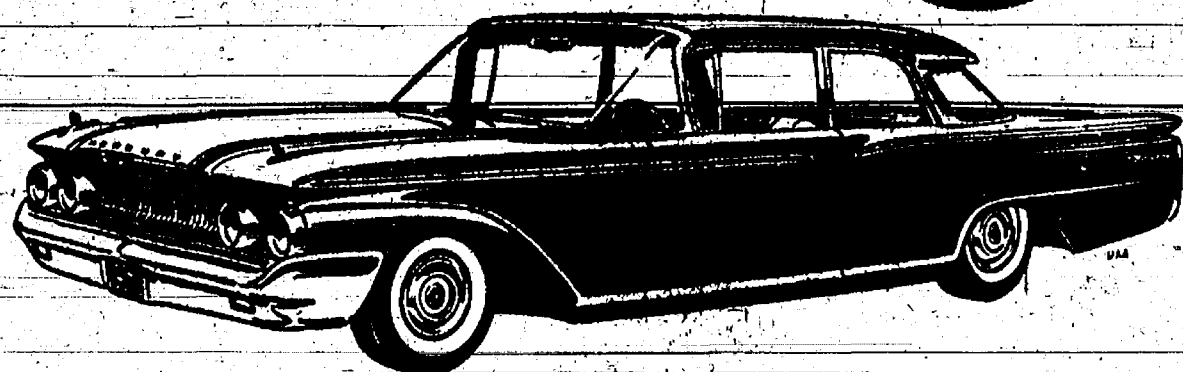

10. Slipping sides and drop-offs, as well as slippery at the poolside are hazards. Warn children not to run on the pool. Electrical wires should not run above or near the pool.

MICHIGAN POSED BY WATER PROBLEMS—Although it boasts the most plentiful supply of fresh water in the United States, Michigan is faced with water problems. Many of these problems are created by conflicting multiple uses and reuses for domestic, industrial and agricultural supply, waste disposal, power generation, navigation and recreation. Increased water needs for irrigation and industry pose a major hurdle. Complex demands from an ever-expanding population will exert increased pressure on the Water Wonderland in the years ahead.

Problem of Water Supply Faces Many Communities

Lansing—Boosting the most diverse and plentiful inland water supply in the United States, Michigan has water available everywhere and for all purposes. Furthermore, every community in the state is either on or within 85 miles of the world's greatest fresh water supply—the Great Lakes.

But, despite all this, Michigan is faced with water problems. In the past, most of these problems have stemmed from too much water. Flood control, soil erosion control and drainage have received considerable attention in many communities.

However, in some areas the tide has literally turned and water shortages have taken place. Municipal and farm wells occasionally run dry or nearly so and many areas are forced to sharply curtail their water usage during summer months. Streams dependent on underground sources plunge to alarmingly low rates.

Although these conditions are temporary they can be very serious. There are several factors contributing to the state's water problems. Among the most basic ones is water's fluid nature.

Any influence—pollution, pumping or release of stored water—applied upstream is felt downstream. Pumping from one point in the lake lowers the entire lake. Pumping from beneath the surface lowers ground waters for some distance away. By the same token, water added at one point will affect an entire lake or subsurface reservoir, whichever the case may be.

Multiple water uses also create many problems. Complex demands for use and reuse must be met by much of Michigan's water supply before it passes completely through the water cycle.

These demands include uses and re-uses for domestic, industrial and agricultural supply, waste disposal, power generation, navigation and recreation.

The percentage of water used by each person for drinking, cooking, washing, and other domestic needs is small indeed. Nevertheless, where only one or two gallons were needed per person 100 years ago, it takes up to 2,000 gallons every day to keep each person supplied with all the necessities and comforts of modern day living.

Much of Michigan's water problems has arisen from increased water needs for irrigation and industry. In 1940, only 3,000 acres were artificially watered in the state. Today, nearly 70,000 acres of farm land are irrigated with 62 percent of the water coming from surface sources.

This figure represents only a small fraction of the total acreage in Michigan under irrigation. Also to be considered are millions of home owners who water their lawns, flower beds, shrubs and trees. Approximately 500,000 acres of city and metropolitan land in Michigan is intensively irrigated, according to a conservative estimate.

As much as 70 per cent of all water used for irrigation may be lost through evaporation and transpiration. Industries which use water for cooling purposes pose the same problem. Frequently their losses may be over 50 per cent.

Water's role in supporting aquatic life cannot be overlooked. Fresh-water fisheries are important food resources aside from their growing recreational value. "Waterfowl, fur-bearers, and other forms of plant and animal life which live near, on, or in water, hold definite economic, recreational and esthetic values."

While these water-loving species use but "a drop in the bucket" of the state's water as compared with other demands, this drop is the heart of their being. Here, the important point is not the volume of use but rather that these animals and plants face stiff competition in the arena of water usage.

There are many other water use conflicts in Michigan, all linked with man's ever-expanding needs. How acute Michigan's water problems are to become, time will tell. And a glance at the state's booming population growth indicates this time may not be far away.

NIXON'S CAMPAIGN STAFF

In a hotel suite almost as hard to find as Vice President Nixon when he wants to "hitch out," his campaign staff has bloomed into a highly personal organization for the 1960 Presidential campaign. The staff will shortly number several and probably expand to nine or ten. It is highly personal in that almost all its members are close friends who have gone through the fires of other campaigns. The search is now on for suitable headquarters in a Washington business building.

PLEDGE TO SEATO

The United States has again promised to meet its military commitments in Southeast Asia as military leaders of that area noted the danger of a Chinese Communist aggression.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, Jr. has restated the United States' policy of continued search for relaxation of tensions in the world despite the collapse of the summit meeting in Paris.

But he emphasized that in that search the United States intended to negotiate from strength.

Goodwill Industries Seeks Capital Funds for Expansion

Goodwill Industries of Detroit wants to hire more physically handicapped men and women. To do so, it must add to its facilities. New equipment is needed and more floor space must be added to the plant at 6522 Brush.

Goodwill Industries of Detroit is self supporting in its day-to-day operations. Discarded household articles, contributed by the public, are repaired and sold to provide funds to pay wages and operating expenses of the organization. This program, coupled with industrial contract work and custom work for individuals, enables Goodwill Industries to employ 460 handicapped workers without the necessity of support from the United Foundation or from regular campaigns for funds.

Funds for buildings and equipment, however, must come from contributions made for this specific purpose. The last campaign for capital funds was made in 1949 at the time Goodwill Industries purchased the Brush-Boulevard building.

The Board of Directors carefully analyzed the potential of the organization. We found that by adding 14,000 square feet of floor space and necessary new equipment, such as dry-cleaning and heating system, it would be possible for Goodwill Industries to employ up to 100 additional handicapped workers," said Robert F. Weber, president of the board of directors.

These improvements require $100,000 of capital funds," Weber added. The Board of Directors authorized a capital funds campaign in this amount to be conducted among corporations, foundations and individuals.

To date contributions and pledges from 70 business firms, 16 foundations and 76 individuals total $84,500. However, one pledge of $25,000, included in this total is provisional and will not be paid until Goodwill Industries has raised the first $125,000 of the campaign," continued Weber. "With $85,500 to go, we are appealing to business firms and individuals to send in their contributions which will make it possible for us to provide employment for handicapped persons who are waiting only for the opportunity of proving they can be self-supporting if given a chance at Goodwill Industries."

Contributions to the Goodwill Industries expansion campaign are tax deductible.

FARM MONEY BILL

Congress has approved a $3,904,000,000 farm money bill carrying funds for many projects the Administration had not requested. It now goes to the White House.

The House of Representatives first approved the bill by voice vote, and the Senate followed suit a short time later.

The measure was a compromise between differing bills passed earlier by Senate and House.

ROBERT F. WEBER
President, Goodwill Industries of Detroit

Booklet Describes Fall-Out Effect On Agriculture

One of the most important defenses against widespread destruction from nuclear weapons is a well-informed public, armed with as much knowledge as possible about protection and survival in the event of enemy attack.

All of us are concerned; but farmers, especially, must wonder about their role in the over-all defense picture. Generally, the farmer lives some distance from his neighbors—his family, themselves. More than any other group he will find himself responsible for his community's preservation.

Not only is he selfishly responsible for this "community" but he will have the added responsibility of contributing to the larger community—the nation's food supply.

Aware of this, the U. S. Department of Agriculture is developing knowledge through public and private research in order to find new techniques to pass on to our rural population. There is much to learn yet about the radiation effects of nuclear weapons on livestock and crops, but there are definite facts that the farmer may learn now to his advantage.

A new booklet, published by the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is entitled "Radioactive Fall-out in Time of Emergency—Effects on Agriculture"—and is available in limited supply by writing the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, 119 W. Washington, Lansing. This booklet has been distributed in Michigan as background material for county Agriculture Agents and recipients of the Rural Civil Defense Kits in each county, who are staging educational meetings for the rural families.

Many thanks to my friends, relatives and neighbors for their cards and for the many kindnesses extended to me and my family during my stay at the hospital and since my return home. Sincerely, Mrs. Franklin Gee.

CARD OF THANKS

Many thanks to all who sent me cards and flowers during my stay at the hospital and since my return home. Also thank you to the Rev. Renner for his visits at the hospital. Mrs. Leroy Bristle.

THANK YOU

To my family, friends and neighbors for all the cards, flowers and gifts I received during my long stay at Foote Hospital. Special thanks to the Rev. McPhillip and the Rev. Schake for their calls and prayers. All were deeply appreciated. Mrs. Julie Wilkerson

BY WILLARD BAIRD

For each of the three years 1956 through 1958 Michigan was able, with a determined traffic safety program, to report a 10 per cent decrease in traffic deaths below the previous year. An in 1958 we were rated first among the major industrial states in pedestrian safety.

Late in 1959 we had more good news for our 4,000,000 licensed drivers. The National Safety Council reported Michigan was tied for first place with neighboring Ohio as the safest of the seven largest industrial states, measured in traffic deaths per billion miles of travel.

Responsible factors in our highway safety gains include our state-wide speed limit law—65 by day and 55 by night—in effect since Feb. 3, 1956 . . . our high school driver education classes, first in the nation to be made available for every high school student . . . an expanded state police highway patrol, augmented by sheriff's patrols and, on high-traffic holidays, by Michigan National Guard troops . . . continued concentration on the safety factor in highway engineering . . . the expanded roadbuilding program, by counties and cities as well as by the state highway department . . . a state-wide safety publicity campaign . . . elimination of delinquent drivers, through license revocation and suspension . . . and establishment in 1955 of the Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, another Michigan first.

Besides its highway patrol work for safety promotion and traffic law enforcement, the Michigan State Police—unlike state trooper organizations in some of the other states—has full police powers and handles all types of criminal cases. Among the first to use scientific techniques in the solution of particularly baffling crimes, it is recognized as one of the most highly trained and efficient police organizations in the country.

Our state police was the first state-wide law-enforcing agency in the nation to use radio communication. It also pioneered in the use of police aircraft (now equipped with three planes, based at Lansing, Traverse City and Marquette) and in the use of the polygraph (lie detector) . . . and a number of other scientific and technical aids for solving crimes.

Within recent years, troopers who are expert skin divers have been assigned to each of the organization's eight districts to assist with underwater recovery of criminal evidence and to locate bodies of drowned persons.

Michigan State Police headquarters in East Lansing has the biggest file of fingerprints of any law enforcement agency in the United States other than the FBI collection in Washington. The Michigan file has been maintained since 1917.

For many years penologists in other states have regarded Michigan as a leader in developing a progressive corrections system.

Our 1937 law centralizing the administration of parole and probation and the operation of our penal institutions and prison industries in one corrections department under a bi-partisan commission was widely hailed as model legislation.

Since its enactment, our non-political parole board has achieved one of the lowest rates of returned prisoners in the country.

Michigan was also among the first states—in 1903—to enact a probation law, giving persons convicted of lesser crimes a second chance before sending them to prison. Progress in that phase of corrective technique led to the establishment in 1958 of Camp Pugsley, near Traverse City, the nation's first state-operated probation camp for youths up to 22 years of age . . . offering vocational training and outdoor work under conservation department supervision for young offenders who, in the opinion of the sentencing judge, lack suitable probation opportunities in their home communities.

Moreover, our corrections department pioneered in 1948 in establishing conservation work camps, in which trusted older prisoners are assigned to special camps to work on improving state parks and recreational areas. Indicative of the success of the plan in rehabilitating prisoners and furthering the services of our conservation department, we now have 12 of these camps.

LEBANESE CUSTOM

Chicago — When Sarkis Torossian, 36, was stopped by a policeman recently for making an unlawful turn, he promptly handed the officer an envelope containing his temporary driver's license and a $5 bill.

Torossian, who came to Chicago three years ago from his native Lebanon, was duly arraigned on a charge of bribing a policeman. After he told Judge Walter Kowalski of the Traffic Court, that all he had done was follow a Lebanese custom of paying the policeman on the spot for a traffic violation, the State dropped the charge, but Judge Kowalski fined Torossian $10 for making the unlawful turn.

TV TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Rolf Hardester, Feature Editor TV Guide Magazine

NBC, in co-operation with the BBC, planning to televise the May 6 wedding ceremony of Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong Jones . . . CBS also bidding to televise the wedding, hoping to fly the tape back from London for use as a half-hour special the same evening . . . Producer Fred Coe continuing his off-beat casting for "The Invisible Line," a story about six patients in a mental hospital scheduled as a Playhouse 90 April 22. Coe is now trying to sign Hope Lange, Eve Arden and Jack Oakie, in addition to Gwen Verden, Anne Bancroft and Mike Nichols and Elaine May . . . Recent renewals: Juna Allyson and Bonanza, the latter to continue as TV's only filmed series during in color . . . John Payne has completed the test film for his planned new hour-long series "O'Connor's Ocean," slated for NBC.

FIRST of the CBS specials that Ingrid Bergman will tape overseas this summer is Stefan Zweig's "24 Hours in the Life of a Woman." According to CBS program vice president Michael Dann, Cecil Beatson will design the show and Norman Jewison will direct. It will probably be taped in Monte Carlo and London . . . Frank Sinatra is switching to NBC next fall to do at least one special, probably more . . . New York actor Jack Varden will star in MGM's new Ashphak Jungle series . . . Ernest Hemingway's "The Gambler, the Nun and the Radio" set as the season's last Electric Playhouse May 19 on CBS . . . A. E. Hotchner will do the adaptation . . . Betsy Palmer and Jeff Donnell co-star on U. S. Steel Hour June 1 in "The Withered Look of Summer." NBC's Friday night fights, originally to be cancelled in June, has been extended through the summer.

OMNIBUS is almost a certainty to return next fall, with several sponsors interested in the series as either a weekly or a monthly offering. Producer Robert Sadek, hoping to do several features on developments in science, is negotiating with Dr. Vannevar Bush to become the show's "Leonard Bernstein of science."

FRANK SINATRA'S welcome home party for Elvis Presley, scheduled as an ABC special May 12, will also feature Joey Bishop and probably Sammy Davis Jr. and Tommy Sands, along with Sinatra's daughter, Nancy. Theme of the show will have them all kidding Elvis about what he lost during his two years in the Army . . . Greer Garson stars in George Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" May 2 on Hallmark Hall of Fame . . . Marilyn Maxwell turns up on Cunsnoke May 14, playing Matt (Jim Arness) Dillon's former sweetheart Raymond Massey set to star in his first TV Western, an upcoming Zane Grey Theater episode . . . In its annual roundup of televised sports events NBC figured it saved viewers $1157 during 1959. That would be the price for a single ticket to the 194 separate events carried during the year.

CBS signed Orson Welles to direct a modern-dress version of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" as a special for next fall. The show is to be taped this summer in Rome and London, with Welles ducer William Goetz. First will be "David, the Outlaw," which will pick up David's life at age 30.

Telephone Lines

By NICK PRAKKEN, Manager

During these vacation days while traveling or away from home you will find a Bell System Credit Card to be a real convenience.

Just call our business office, NO 8-9911, and your service representative will be glad to arrange it.

THE PHONE RANG and a small boy answered. "I have a collect call here," said the Michigan Bell operator. "Is there anyone older at home?" "Sure," answered the boy. "Michael's here. Do you want to talk to him?" "Well, how old is Michael?" asked the operator. "Just a minute," replied the boy. In a moment, the youngster returned to the phone. "Michael says he's seventy!"

MOVE OVER, Princess Margaret and all the crowned heads of Europe . . . we've got our own Princess—a wonderful, new addition to our family of telephones. The lovely Princess is the latest thing in telephones. Little enough to fit on the smallest night table, it comes in five decorative colors. The built-in night light brightens when you lift the receiver. To order this new telephone, stop in or call your local business office or, ask the man on the telephone truck.

Help yourself! There's ice aplenty on hand when you have a gas refrigerator. Why? Because the Magic Ice Maker makes and stores 108 ice cubes—over 5 traysful at one time. And, it makes them automatically as you need them, even dries the cubes to keep them from sticking—drops them into the handy bin ready for use. See the newest models on display right now. End spilling, filling, prying loose of messy ice trays. Treat yourself to a gas refrigerator with an AUTOMATIC ICE MAKER

Rural CD Kit Now Available To Farm People

It's hard to realize that suddenly, modern warfare has caught up with us and that the next round may be for keeps.

A nuclear attack would most likely be directed at metropolitan centers and not at a corner grocery store. But the menace to rural people would be there just the same.

Fallout, the silent killer, would drift downwind from wherever the bombs burst and threaten life anywhere, virtually everywhere, in the United States.

But protection may be provided against this killer. The Michigan Office of Civil Defense has available much literature and information on how individuals may protect themselves and their families.

The kit is being made available which rural leaders may use to inform other farm families about radiation and protective measures that may be taken against it and helping them gain an understanding of the national, state and local Civil Defense programs.

The kit was devised by the National Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization with the help of the National Advisory Council on Rural Civil Defense.

Rural groups may obtain this kit by writing the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, 111 W. Washtenaw, Lansing, or contacting their local County Civil Defense Director.

Fumes and coal gas from heaters and stoves may cause yellowing of silver, say home economists.

Boy Scouts Depart for Jamboree

Among the 80 Boy Scouts attending the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo., next week will be two boys from Chelsea, and three Dexter boys.

Jeffrey Spaulding, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Spaulding, and Jack Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, are the two Scouts from Chelsea making the trip.

Don Blakely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Blakely, Bill Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lambert, and Lon Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peters, are the Dexter residents attending the huge camp-out at the Colorado site.

Scouts assembled at the Wabash Railroad station in Milan, Tuesday morning, July 19, forming patrol units at 8:15 a.m., prior to boarding the special train which sped them along the first leg of their westward journey. Scheduled train departure was 9:00 a.m.

It was a field day for amateur photographers, as the Jamboree contingent shone regally in their colorful outfits.

The golden Jamboree patches of the scouts, explorers and leaders glistened against the red and green backgrounds formed by the uniforms.

Many of the boys wore their leather hiking boots, which will protect their ankles from possible bites during hikes planned as part of the Jamboree program.

Miscellaneous equipment carried aboard the train included musical instruments, small radios, fishing gear and cameras of every conceivable size and shape.

Necktie slides viewed at the boarding platform were of various hues and designs, with initials ranging from balsam wood to hammered metals. One slide was a miniature apple complete with a small worm protruding from it. Necktie slides provide the Scouts an opportunity to bring the special skills of their own home troop before fellow Jamboree Scouts.

Allan Razez, a member of the Jamboree contingent, from Great Britain who recently attended a court of honor held by Dexter's Troop 28, will serve as assistant scoutmaster for Jamboree Troop 57, composed entirely of Portage Trail Council Scouts.

Packs loaded with equipment, and duffle bags, were tagged and delivered to the baggage car of the special train on Saturday, July 16, and will be unloaded upon arrival at the Jamboree campgrounds.

Local area Scouts are scheduled to reach Colorado Springs on July 21. The national scouting event officially opens July 22 and will conclude July 28.

Whitmore Lake Farmer Killed By Electrocution

A 65-year-old Whitmore Lake area farmer was electrocuted by a fallen high tension wire early Monday night when he ran into his wheat field to put out a fire started by the wire.

State Police of the Brighton post said Irving E. Field of 10574 Whitmore Lake Rd. saw the fire in his wheat field and rushed out with two buckets of water. They said he apparently did not realize the fallen 4,800-volt line had started the fire.

Troopers said the mishap is believed to have occurred about 6:30 p.m.

The location is in Livingston county's Green Oak township near the site of an interchange construction project at US-29 (Whitmore Lake Rd.) and M-36.

State police said the cause of the wire being down is under investigation.

The Detroit Edison Co. also is probing the cause. A spokesman in Detroit said the reason had not yet been determined and that a report would be made when a decision is reached.

State police said it is possible that machinery being used on the construction project hit a pole, shaking the line loose.

They said a mark found on a pole could have been caused by heavy machinery.

Two volunteer firemen of the Hamburg Department, using rubber gloves and a rope, removed the line from the stricken man.

They were John Jeannette, an Ann Arbor fireman who works with the Hamburg department on his off-days, and Franklin Yonick of Hamburg, a Detroit Edison Co. employee.

The fire in the field was put out by the Hamburg Fire Department.

COSTLY ERROR

Encino, Calif.—Relaxing at a baseball game after doing her housecleaning, Mrs. Fay G. Borge suddenly remembered what was in an old shoe box she had thrown out.

It was her nest egg of $17,100 bills. Police suggested she look in the city dump. There she learned that her nest egg was hopelessly lost amid tons of trash.

The University of Michigan has conferred 835 honorary degrees upon prominent persons.

AGRICULTURE AHEAD

Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, Washington, D. C., will tell 1960 Farm Management Tour attendees what he foresees in the farm future of the next decade. Newsom will be the speaker on the noon program at the Tomkins Grange Hall when the tour visits Jackson county Aug. 3.

Officers Named at District II Republican Organization Meeting

A Republican organization meeting was held at the Richard Huston residence in Dexter on Thursday, July 14 to select officers for the newly-formed Washtenaw County Republican Club, District II, comprising the townships of Dexter, Webster and Seio.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sellards, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wolter, Mrs. Blanche Holmes, Donald Ruhlitz, Earl Dolitzky, Melvin Bendler, Harold Powers, Frank Haggard and the Hustons.

The following officers were selected: Beverly Huston, county vice-chairman; Jane Steinheimer, secretary-treasurer; Frank Haggard, publicity chairman; and township chairmen, Dexter, Don Ruhlitz; Webster, Frank Haggard; Seio, precinct 1, Dave Sellards, precinct 2, Melvin Bendler; south of US-12, Harold Powers.

A County Republican pot-luck picnic is planned for later in August at Delhi Park. More on this later.

Ag Teachers To Meet on MSU Campus

East Lansing—More than 250 vocational agriculture teachers from Michigan high schools will meet for their 41st annual conference at Michigan State University, July 25-29.

"Professional Teachers Building a Stronger Profession" will be the theme of the 1960 conference at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Invited to attend with the teachers of vocational agriculture are Michigan school superintendents, principals, directors of vocational education, counselors and teachers of institutional on-farm training.

Comprising the week-long program are general sessions, panels, regional FFA meetings, discussion groups, workshops and special lectures.

Topics for consideration include the teacher in the future of vocational agriculture, applying science in teaching agriculture, various aspects of technical agriculture, the gifted student in agriculture and many others.

Among the speakers are Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Carl C. Byers, General Motors Corp.; Harry E. Nesman, chief of agricultural education for the State Department of Public Instruction and general conference chairman.

LIMA CENTER EXTENSION CLUB

Lima Center Extension club held their annual picnic at Lima Community hall, Wednesday, July 13. The picnic, scheduled to be held at Silver Lake, was held at the hall instead because of weather conditions.

Mrs. LaVern Coy and Mrs. Leroy Feldkamp were in charge of the picnic.

With 18 members, one guest and nine children being present, a "white elephant" sale was held netting $18.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edick, Wednesday, Sept. 14, 10:30 a.m. There will be no August meeting.

First Bible printed in America was printed in the Indian language.

Personals

Richard Hain spent the past week at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. David Crocker at Jacksonville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Sr., of Tampa, Fla., are vacationing for two months in Chelsea and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer left by plane Sunday for Medina, N. Y., where they are visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benson, Jr., and family, this week.

Richard Labahn returned to Lincoln, Neb., last Thursday after a 10-day visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Labahn. Mrs. David Miller of Schiller Park, Ill., also was a guest.

ALWAYS BETTER BUYS AT GAMBLES...

School Lunch Cooks Meet In Workshop

Have you heard that you may be poisoned by food cooked in aluminum utensils? If you have, don't believe it, says Miss Roberta Hershey, food and nutrition expert at Michigan State University.

Research has shown that foods acquire very little aluminum, if any, in that way. And small amounts of it, she added, present in many natural foods, are not toxic to the body.

This is just one of the many facts and fallacies concerning food pointed up by Miss Hershey. She spoke on food facts and facts before the 14th annual School Lunch Cooks and Cook Managers Workshop July 12-14 on the MSU campus.

Approximately 150 school lunch officials from schools throughout the state participated in the conference which is a continuing education activity of the MSU College of Home Economics.

Among these was Mrs. Lucille Olson of Chelsea High school.

Another commonly-held misconception, Miss Hershey stated, is that a smoke after eating helps the digestion. Again, there is no scientific basis for this idea. Research has indicated, she said, that smoking may retard digestion.

Miss Hershey noted that some people consider aspirin a good food preservative in canning. The surest way to can food is through the use of heat, she said; the addition of aspirin does not insure keeping, and may prove harmful to some persons in large quantities.

Regarding fat diets, Miss Hershey advised that if you feel the need of a diet, you should consult your doctor and follow his recommendations.

And then, she emphasized, don't try to force your diet on someone else.

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

Stretch your money, your time and energy by using the same pattern for two different dresses.

Home economists suggest you select a simple style that will look well in two different fabrics. One could be a plain color in a textured fabric and the second could be a gay printed one.

Bethel Church To Receive New Carpets, Repairs

Following next Sunday's service at Bethel church in Freedom township, there will be no services until Aug. 14.

During the intervening three weeks the maple floor in the sanctuary will be refinished under the pews and carpeting in the aisles and throughout the carpeted areas of the sanctuary will be replaced. Also to be replaced is the linoleum floor covering in the vestibule and on the stairs leading to the balcony.

Total cost of the work to be done at the church has been estimated at $3,500.

Men of the church will remove and store the pews and do other preliminary work in preparation for the professional workers who will do the refinishing work and lay the new carpet and linoleum.

The Rev. T. W. Menzel, pastor of the church, with Mrs. Menzel, will be on vacation and plan to visit their daughters and other relatives.

Marathon Dealers Giving Prizes in Sweepstakes Contest

Kernit Sharp, 320 North St., was last week's winner in the Marathon Picnic Sweepstakes at Detroit's Marathon Station.

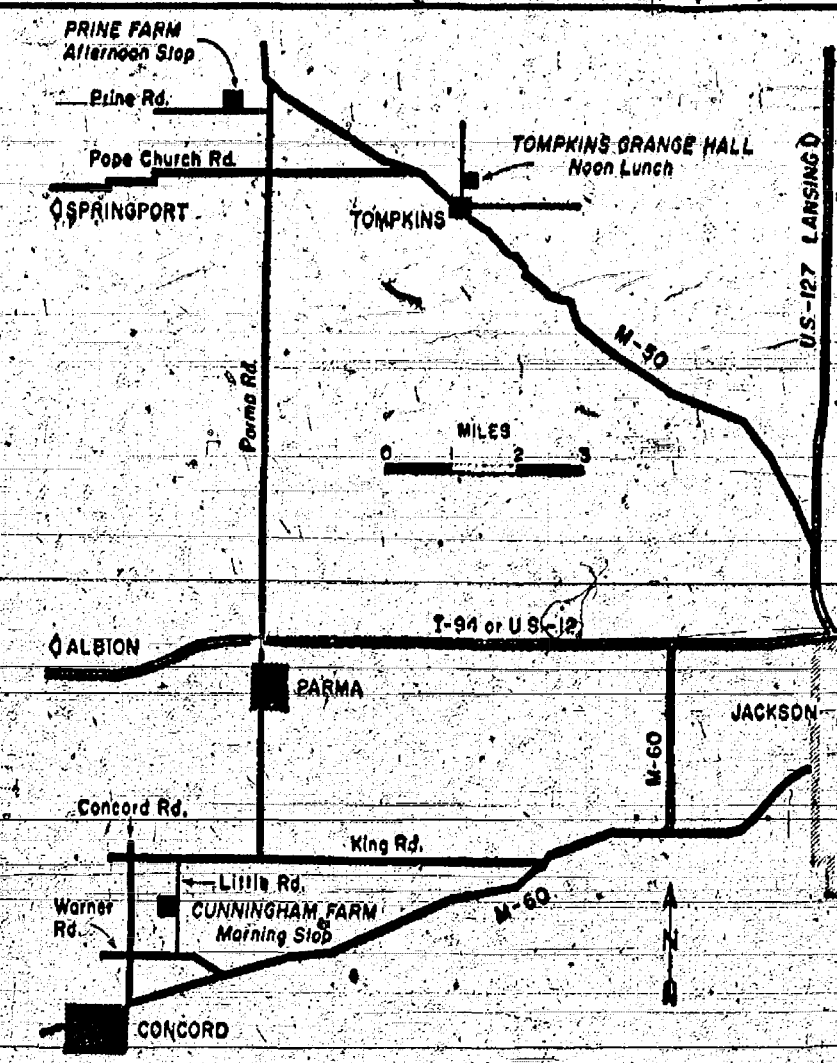

Prize was a Kodak Brownie 8 Movie Camera.

Janet Schulze, 14780 Old Manchester Rd., is this week's winner, her prize being a Hamilton-Skotch Great Scotch Grill.

Prizes in the Sweepstakes are awarded every Monday by Marathon dealers throughout the area. Weekly prizes during the eight-week contest also include lawn chairs, movie cameras, portable radios, picnic coolers, picnic baskets and picnic jugs.

Local Sweepstakes winners are chosen at random from names drawn from entry boxes at local Marathon service stations. Anyone of driving age in this area is eligible to enter as often as he wishes.

A grand prize of a 1960 Pontiac is also awarded weekly. In addition, a nine-day trip to Paris via TWA-Trans World Airlines will be given away as a bonus prize. Winners are chosen from all entering the local Marathon Picnic Sweepstakes before Aug. 28.

FARM MANAGEMENT TOUR—Visitors to the 1960 Farm Management Tour will see a modern dairy farm and beef feeding operation in Jackson county. The tour will visit the Carlton Prime & Sons farm near Springport and the Lyle Cunningham farm north of Concord.

Detailed Plans Told for State Farm Management Tour

Plans are complete for the annual State Farm Management Tour in Jackson county on Aug. 3. Tour coordinator M. P. "Mike" Kelsey of Michigan State University reports two Jackson county farms will be host to nearly 2,000 visitors for the 1960 field day.

Lyle Cunningham's steer feeding operation near Concord will be the morning stop. Following a chicken barbecue at the Tompkins Grange Hall, the tour will move to the Carlton Prime and Sons farm near Springport. The Prime's 90-cow dairy herd is the center of a 500-acre farm business.

Both farms are west of Jackson near main Michigan highways. Cunningham's modern beef plant is on Little Rd. just off M-60. The Prime farm is about ten miles north, near M-50. Tour signs will be posted to guide traffic into the area. The barbecue and noon program will be held in Tompkins just off the tour route on M-50. At the Cunningham farm, visitors will see 350 steers fed with mechanical feed handling equipment and a minimum of labor. More than 250 of the farm's 345 tillable acres are in corn to provide feed for the beefy appetites.

Farm Safety Week Set For July 24-30

There are still too many "other guy" safety promoters in Michigan agriculture, believes Washtenaw County Extension Agent Don Johnson.

This is the person who thinks that safety is fine and that other people should be careful, but who doesn't believe that a farm accident will happen to him.

He is the kind who can't say "no" when his little son or daughter asks for a ride on the tractor. Yet it's easy to note that he says "no" in a hurry and means it when the same child asks to wear his wrist watch. In this case, only the wrist watch would get hurt, but sometimes people thoughtlessly put more value on their wrist watches than they do on the lives of their children.

There's a rather large market for toy wrist watches so that children do not have to listen to Daddy's watch tick, points out Richard Pfister, farm safety specialist at Michigan State University. It would appear that there might be an equally large market for toy tractors for play, rather than take the risks involved in letting children ride on the real thing.

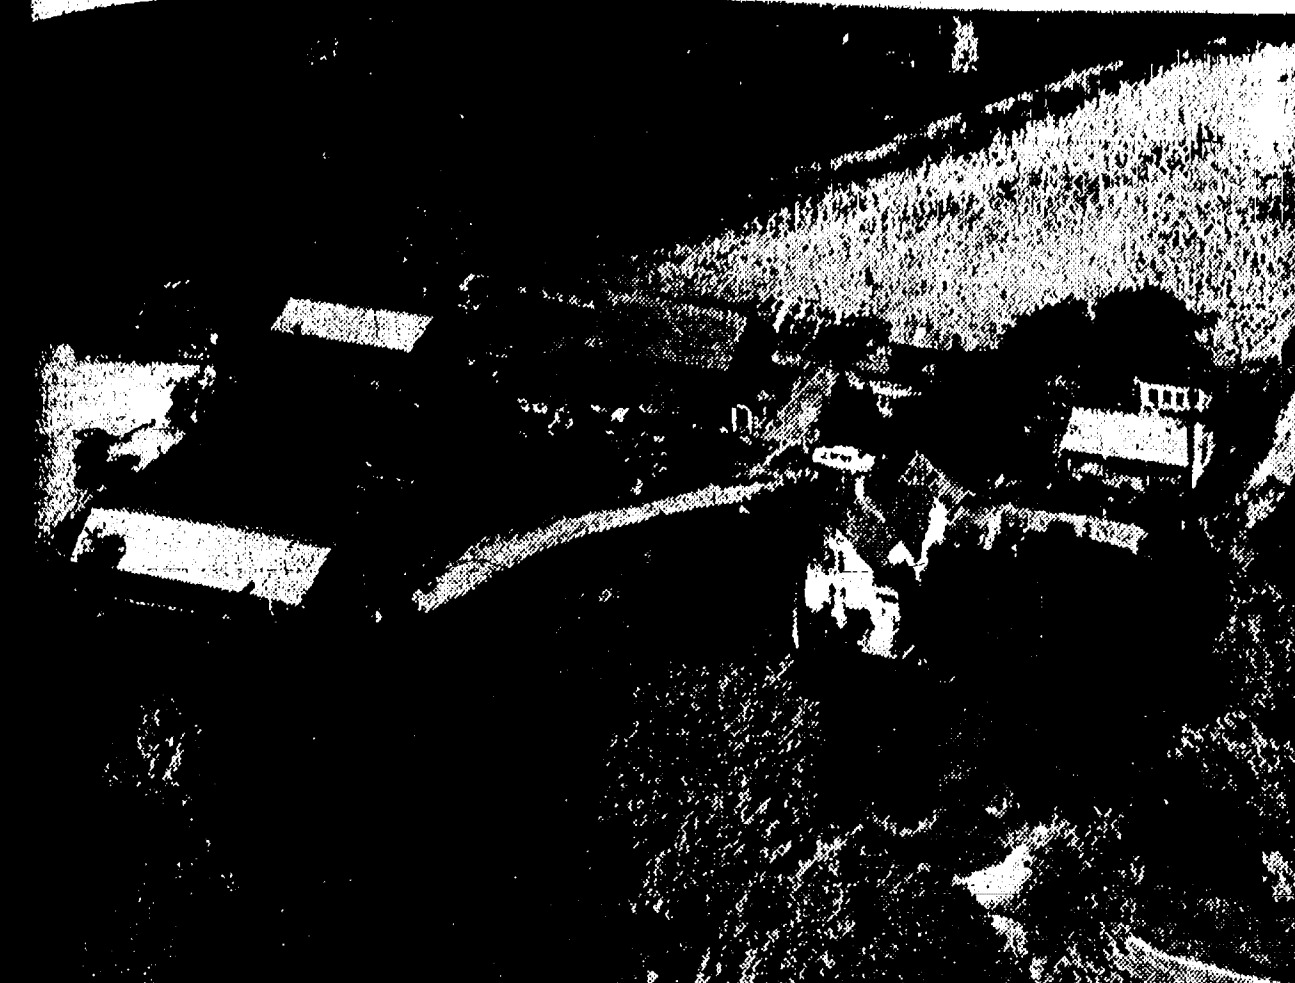

National Farm Safety Week, July 24-30, would be a good time to resolve that you will keep children off your tractor at all times, Pfister suggests. That is one way that you can do something to reduce the heavy toll of tractor accidents that kill or maim scores of children before they are old enough to handle a tractor safely themselves.

Paul Prentice Enlists For Army Service

Paul J. Prentice, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Prentice, 10137 Baynes Rd., is now undergoing eight weeks of basic army training at Fort Knox, Ky., in preparation for paratrooper training. He is a 1959 graduate of Chelsea High school.

Prentice enlisted for three years service and left here June 23.

A total of 18 army men enlisted during the past month according to an announcement by the Ann Arbor Army recruiting office.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 107—Here is another farm photo that proved to be a real "mystery" to most area residents. Published originally in the July 14 issue of The Standard for readers' identification, it was correctly identified by only two people as the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Zabinsky, 10810 Beach Rd.

John Zabinsky Farm Home on Beach Road Is Real Mystery as Only Two Identify It

Mystery Farm No. 107, originally shown in the July 14 edition of The Standard for readers to identify, proved to be another of those not so well known. Julius and Mrs. Laurence Noah were the only people who correctly identified it as the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Zabinsky, 10810 Beach Rd., near Four Mile Lake. The Zabinskys have lived there 12 years and their three young children were born there. They are Veronika, now Mrs. Edwin Birkle of Ann Arbor; Joseph Zabinsky who lives across the road from the home farmhouse, and Leo, now in California. They have an older son, Edmund, also in California, and a daughter, Clara, now Mrs. Lawrence Evans, in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Zabinsky and the Edwin Birkles recently spent a week at the Evans home.

The Zabinsky family included two other sons, the late Walter and Frank Zabinsky, who died at the age of 22 and 27, respectively. The sons and daughters all attended Dexter schools. The parents and the son, Joseph and family, are members of St. Joseph's Catholic church in Dexter.

When the Zabinskys bought the farm 30 years ago from Rudolph Widmayer, they had only 128 acres of land but have since added to it and now own 300 acres.

Widmayer had purchased the farm from the J. Richardson family who had lived there for many years and built the present eight-room house to replace an old log cabin.

The Zabinskys formerly did general farming and raised beef cattle but this year put the acreage in the government Soil Bank.

They are members of the Washtenaw County Farm Bureau.

We Should Clean Our Own House Since We Can't Succeed Elsewhere

We see by the high-priced commentary of some of our widely-known second-guessers that the obviously necessary withdrawal of President Eisenhower's invitation to visit Japan is a humiliating defeat. It is more humiliating than most, perhaps, when the visitor is on the doorstep.

But one humiliation, like one swallow, apparently, does not make a summer. We have accepted humiliation in Panama, humiliation in Cuba, humiliation deep in the mysterious Urals, where, by our own admission, Mr. K. brought down from the very edge of the atmosphere, an American spy and his plane, all in remarkably good condition. Following this, of course, came the humiliation at Paris where Mr. K. bulldozed the summit meeting he had so painstakingly beguiled us into. Long before this, of course, had come sundry Middle East humiliations growing out of our failure to comprehend the Suez crisis—either before or after the seizure of the canal. And then, there were the humiliations in South America, but, by today's standards, these could only be considered as embarrassments.

All of these incidents are examples of Communism-at-work, but some were also evidences of America-asleep.

We will agree that it has required more than a wavering foreign policy, a State Department apparently divided against itself, and the notion that peace is to be secured by supplication to bring us to our present awkward position. In fact, it has required the expenditure of more than $100 billion we didn't have to achieve our current global unpopularity.

Fortunately, there are some indications of a return to first principles—the stepping-up of defense appropriations and increasing demands for cuts in foreign aid. These two activities should go hand-in-hand, dollar-for-dollar. We do not need to spend more—merely more wisely. The only worthwhile aid we can give the free world now must flow from Communist respect for our defense posture.

Freedom, like charity, must begin at home. Our own house is in many respects in disorder because of our preoccupation with the neighbors—and there are noisy delinquents on our doorstep that are in the same bad company as the Japanese schoolboys.

There never was more to be done—right here at home.

Threat of Drowning Is Serious . . .

During the summer, drowning is a greater threat to children than polio, pneumonia, heart disease, tuberculosis and influenza combined. Approximately 7,000 people in the United States die each year by drowning.

Of those who die by drowning, it has been estimated by government officials that more than 90 per cent of them die needlessly. A great many of these are children who have not been taught to swim, or who have not been taught to respect water.

Among the young men going into service in World War II, it was discovered that only one out of ten was a skillful swimmer. Five of the ten possessed only elementary skill, and four of the ten couldn't swim a stroke. Among the general public the number of competent swimmers is, of course, even smaller than the ratio in the service.

Parents cannot emphasize too often to their children the need for safety while swimming. Here are some rules that may save a life: avoid deep water, never swim alone, never swim in unfamiliar water, don't be a showoff, stay on land when overheated or chilled, and try to keep calm when in trouble.

Still Ahead

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Some summer breezes will soon be loaded with sneezes for hay fever sufferers.

The southern half of the lower peninsula is considered to be almost totally a high pollen-count area. Ragweed pollen causes the discomfort, and for the several years that regular checks were made, the pollen count changed very little.

This means that hay fever tends to remain with us as communities grow.

Goldwater in Branch county was known as the hay fever capital of the United States in 1954. It had a pollen count of 190-highest average registered anywhere.

But several other Michigan areas were not far behind and there is no indication that the pesky pollen from ragweed has let up any.

What the Michigan Health Department gaily calls the "sneezin' season" reaches a peak between the middle of August and the middle of September. Some sufferers begin to feel the telltale tickling in the nose about July, however.

Of course pollen isn't the only villain in the picture, but it's by far the most active and the most prevalent.

Some 15 species of ragweed produce most of the discomfort, but tumbleweed, fireweed, sage, hemp and pigweed are also suspect. Then some people get the itchy eyes, runny nose and other discomforts from mayflies, caddis flies, mushroom flies, animal fur or feathers.

This year, as every year, the Health Department is making a plea to landowners and municipal authorities to cut down as much ragweed as possible.

This year, as in other years, people will suffer because the villainous weeds can't all be disposed of.

For those who can, going north is still one of the best ways to avoid hay fever. Northern Michigan is practically pollen-free. Shots or other remedial symptom relievers are also available.

But for countless thousands, the only outlook is suffering until fall frosts take the pollen out of the air.

And the sufferers in Southern Michigan can almost take a perverse pride in being real veterans of the hay fever wars.

Besides a raft of new names, ballots used in the Nov. 8 general election in Michigan this year will have a slightly different appearance. But the voter will have to look closely to spot it.

The Republican party has announced its vignette—the little picture labeling its candidates—will have a 50-star flag this year.

Democrats made no immediate plans to follow their rivals in changing the vignette to take into consideration the fact that Hawaii and Alaska are now part of the United States.

The flag which forms the background for pictures of Abraham Lincoln and Dwight D. Eisenhower on the GOP sections of the ballot will have the extra two stars.

Republican ballots for the Aug. 2 primary election will also have the new look.

For the Primary, the Democratic vignette has a picture of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gov. G. Mennen Williams—backed by a 48-star flag. The party will probably change the vignette to include 50 stars before Sept. 20.

That's the deadline for setting the wording of local propositions which will be on the ballot and if a change were in the hands of county clerks by that time it could probably be made with little difficulty.

One-horse towns and one-teacher schools are a part of the Michigan scene which may never completely pass out of existence.

But the number of one-teacher schools—defined by the Michigan Education Association as a public elementary school with only one teacher, located in a rural or urban area, including one or more rooms and comprising one or more grades—has been whittled down.

The MEA said there were 7,206 one-teacher schools in 1918, but only 1,291 by the 1954-55 school year.

Nationally nearly 400,000 children attended one-teacher schools last year. This is about 1.1 per cent of all children enrolled in public schools and 1.6 per cent of all public-school children in grades one through eight.

By comparison, about a quarter of all school children attended a one-teacher school in 1918.

More than 84 per cent of the teachers in the one-teacher schools said they would choose the same working conditions again if given a choice. About 83 per cent of them had less than four years of college.

The average salary for a Michigan teacher in a one-teacher school was $3,649 a year in 1954-55, compared with $5,504, which is the average salary for all Michigan public-school teachers in the same period, the MEA said.

Michigan's Rural Vote May Be Kennedy Key

Senator John F. Kennedy believes that his fate next November rests with a comparatively few thousand voters in rural Michigan.

Maybe the outcome of the national election cannot be condensed to such a simple conjecture. But in addressing the Michigan delegation in Los Angeles prior to the Democratic convention balloting, the boyish candidate said: "I cannot win the election unless I carry Michigan."

It follows that he cannot carry Michigan if rural Republicans and Independents rally as they did in 1952 and 1954 to crush the Democratic urban machine.

Kennedy promised Gov. Williams that he will campaign strenuously in this state in an attempt to persuade the people that the safety of the United States, and the cause of world peace, will be better served by abandoning the policies of President Eisenhower.

Only once since the first World War has a Democrat moved into the White House without the approval of Michigan. That was in 1940, when Wendell Willkie carried this state against President Roosevelt. Obviously, Kennedy is convinced he cannot perform like F.D.R.

Rural support gave Eisenhower tremendous Michigan victories. He had 55.6 per cent of the vote in 1952, while Gov. Williams was squeezing back into the state capitol in a recount struggle with Fred M. Alger, the GOP nominee for Governor.

In 1954, after the UAW learned how to get almost 100 per cent of its voters to the polls, the President increased his Michigan margin to 55.7 per cent. He won with a majority of 353,749, while Williams was smothering the late Mayor Cobo by a majority of 290,313.

If Eisenhower's first victory was due to his popularity as the hero of World War II, as Democrats claimed, his victory in 1954 was overwhelming endorsement of the policies and strength that have met the Russian challenge.

Kennedy is a glittering young multi-millionaire who will be an effective campaigner.

But glamour is losing its political importance in 1960. Through-out the land, the people are frightened because life or death of civilization may rest upon their ballots next November.

Vice President Nixon has spent almost eight years in a tough classroom, training for the job of protecting freedom in America and peace in the world. He has clashed head-on with Khrushchev and stood firm.

Kennedy's task is to convince the people that their lives will be safer if trusted to a boyish politician whose stature in world affairs remains unproven.

The Democratic convention showed, as far as Michigan is concerned, that Harry S. Truman knew the facts when he charged that the nomination of the Massachusetts Senator had been "rigged" far in advance.

It was reported in this column months ago that a deal existed when Reuther came out for a between Walter Reuther and Kennedy to deliver this state's delegates to Gov. Harrison.

The agreement was made more in the background. He gave a check, two years ago, papermen a lot of "double" about being non-committed, shortly before the convention Gov. though all of the union delegates the press that he was committed pre-convention wagon.

to no one. He mentioned his old friend and ADA buddy, Senator Reuther failed to deliver on several occasions. Hubert Humphrey, favorably on Kennedy may have embarrassed several occasions.

Unlike the convention of 1954, with the nominee.

The herbs will lend their flavor to the pork as it bakes.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where the FBI has released a report saying country crime is now committing more crime than city folks. Well, if the rural folks is overtaking the city folks in these activities, all I can say is they got more excuse. The drought, dust storms, the bo-weevil and lightning rod salesmen for instant, to name only a few, work on nothing but the rural trade.

It's getting so, here of late, that a feller can't turn on the radio or the television without hearing a political candidate making his pitch. If the Democrats is as bad as the Republicans say they are, and if the Republicans is as bad as the Democrats claims, I don't see how, Mister Editor, we can hope to survive. I never dreamed the country was in such a bad fix till I got to listening to the Democrats and Republicans talking about each other.

The only sensible speech I've heard lately was from some feller over a Ohio radio station. He said he was the champion of the middle class, and he allowed as how he was the only champion they've got in this campaign. He claims that the rich can take care of themselves and the Government takes care of the poor folks and that the middle class is the forgotten man in this campaign. I tuned in on him sorter late and didn't get his name and party, but if he's running for a national office I'd like to vote for him. Not that I'm in the middle class, Mister Editor, I'm down with the poor folks and I'm expecting the Government to take care of me, but I just got a heap of sympathy for them middle class folks that ain't got nobody going for 'em. Me and my old lady went to church Sunday and I got to admit we got a real up-and-coming preacher, a feller that is always putting a new twist to things. He said Sunday, for instant, that it's not only hot where a heap of us is headed but that the humidity is terrible. First time to my recollection that I've ever heard a preacher bring up the humidity angle.

I figger a man that lives by the side of the road can be a friend of man by keeping his kids out of it. We had a wreck out here last week on account of a driver trying to miss a bunch of kids playing in the road. I wish you'd pen a editorial on the subject, Mister Editor.

Well, I better knock off here. I ain't in such a good humor on account of all my neighbors getting their income tax refund and mine ain't come yet. Waiting for a refund from the Government and waiting for eternity is about one and the same kind of waiting.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Senator Philip A. Hart's

REPORT from WASHINGTON

Health is important to all of us. It can also be very expensive. The advance of medical science in the past few decades has been nothing short of amazing. The wonders produced by our medical researches, by our drug manufacturers, and by our doctors have been so effective in combating diseases that most of us look forward to a healthier, happier old age. But unfortunately, the price of some of these wonderful new weapons of medical science makes them unavailable to some and a heavy, disheartening burden to many. These facts were in my mind as I took part in the recent drug industry hearings of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee.

As the hearings proceeded, they revealed much about the research, development, production, and marketing of the nation's drugs. There were problems uncovered which are familiar to those of you who followed the hearings in your newspapers. One of the problems the Subcommittee investigated was that of the so-called "cost-price gap," that is, the difference between what a bottle of antibiotics costs the manufacturer to produce and what it costs you when you buy it at your drug store. An average of about 35 cents of every dollar you spend for medicine is used by the manufacturer for administration and promotion of the drug, by way of comparison, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., although well known for its extensive advertising, holds its selling and advertising costs to 11.8 per cent according to Moody's Industrial Reports. The heavy spending by drug firms to promote sales does much to increase the prices we all must pay. The cost of many of our drugs becomes particularly painful when we compare what we pay to what citizens of other countries spend for the same medicines. As an example, Chlorpromazine costs the American buyer $5.05 for 50 tablets; Australians get the same number for $1.69; the French for 77 cents; and Italians for $1.02.

Much of the promotion money spent by drug concerns goes to convince doctors that they should prescribe medicine by a brand name which has been assigned by one company rather than by the generic or chemical designation of the drug. One estimate presented to the Committee is that the entire chemical drug industry spends approximately $5,000 a year per doctor in the country to promote use of particular brand names. In most states it is unlawful for druggists to provide customers with a substitute for the brand name a doctor has written on his prescription even though exactly the same drug may be made by another company and may cost considerably less than the brand name drug. Our state of Michigan has such a law.

The next question was, why not require the doctor to prescribe by generic name or allow the druggist to substitute the lower priced drug? Testimony by the Food and Drug Administration, representatives of the United States Pharmacopoeia and other responsible people said that even though drugs might be the same chemically, their therapeutic quality or efficacy could be different.

All of us, and I know I can include the druggists and drug manufacturers here, would like to see lower drug prices. Since we live in a relatively free economy, the action that either Federal or state government should take is properly limited. It occurs to me, how

Experimental TV Traffic Control Project To Start

Lansing—The General Electric Co. of Syracuse, N. Y., has submitted a low bid of $168,116.60 for an experimental closed circuit television system on the John C. Lodge freeway in Detroit.

The project calls for the installation and maintenance of 14 TV cameras at key locations on a 3.2 mile section of the Lodge freeway by Nov. 1. A push-button signal system will be installed in conjunction with the cameras; it will allow traffic engineers monitoring the cameras in a central control room to operate the signal system to ease traffic tie-ups.

Highway officials also hope to learn more about freeway traffic behavior and interchange design through the experiment.

Water from covered sources such as springs and wells would be essentially free from radon gas, the fallout even in heavier fallout areas and could be used safely by man and animals.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK
By RALPH ROBEY

 The Government Pay Raise
As of the first of this July all Federal Civil Service workers, which includes all employees of the Post Office, got an increase of pay of not less than 7 1/2 per cent. The total cost to the government, and the taxpayers, is over $700 million. It was granted as a result of both Houses of the Congress overriding a most vigorous veto by the President. To appraise the action the following points must be kept in mind.

1. Only two years ago all these employees were given a 10 per cent increase. Since then the cost of living has increased only a small fraction over 2 per cent. On this comparison, therefore, there could be no reason for this latest rise.

2. The Department of Labor currently is making a quite elaborate study of government wages in relation to those paid by private employers. The Congress provided the funds for this study ($500,000) and its purpose is to provide a basis for determining whether the government is paying enough. The results of this analysis will be ready in about two months. No one can be certain what the survey will show, but it is expected that we shall find that only in the higher government jobs is the pay below what is customary in private employment. This will not be corrected by the current rise because those holding these positions do not come under civil service except in a few instances.

3. Government employment does not offer an opportunity to become wealthy, but it has certain aspects which are not found in the private sector of our economy. Such employees have what amounts to a guaranteed annual wage, thirty days vacation each year (this is much longer than private industry grants), substantial sick leave with pay, excellent pension system, and what in effect is an almost complete protection against being discharged. All of these have to be put on the plus side from the viewpoint of the employee and they all cost money.

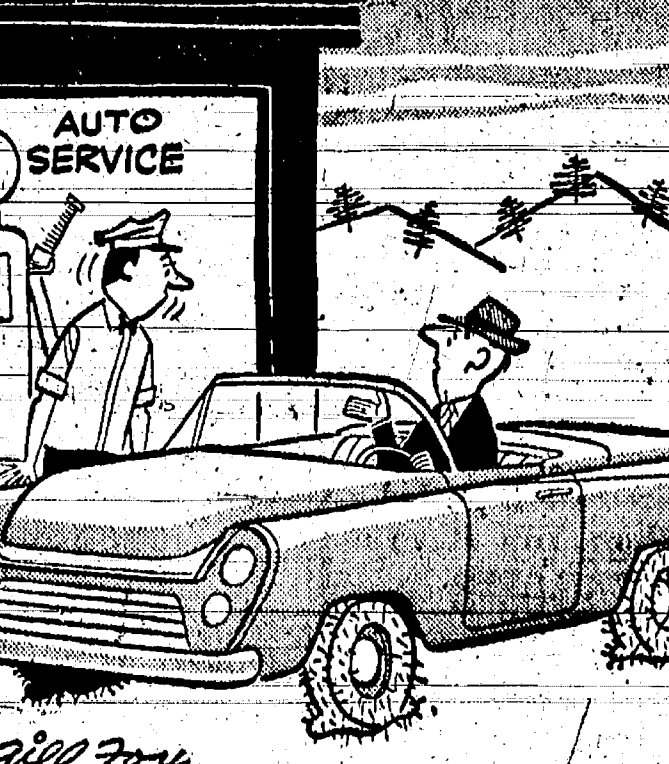

4. As a result of this increase the average pay to government workers will be above that of comparable work in private industry, and much above that of state and municipal workers. The $700 million, therefore, is far from the total cost of the action. States and municipalities will have to raise their pay scales, and private industry will be under renewed pressure for higher wages. What the total cost will amount to for the economy as a whole is not possible of determination, but it certainly will be in the billions.

5. Even without this increase there was a growing question as to the projected $4.2 billion federal surplus for this fiscal year. This was because the Congress obviously was in no mood for serious economy and had many extravagant proposals before it. With the pay increase and if one or two of these proposals is passed, there will be a deficit rather than a surplus for this fiscal year.

6. Passage of the pay increase, and overriding the President's veto, was sheer, blatant, raw politics. Only 69 in the House and 24 in the Senate voted to sustain the veto. Here was pressure politics at its worst, and it is almost

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
On the Right "Track"
Joe Fisher, the local station-master, tells a story that happened last winter during one of our worst blizzards.

Seems there was a Center City salesman down at the depot waiting for the scheduled 8:02 train. Storm raging the way it was, small town, why, the poor chap pictured himself stranded for days. Suddenly a train emerged from the storm and creaked to a stop. It was the 8:02, right on time!

The happy salesman shook Joe's hand and said: "Weather like this and your 8:02 is right on time!" "Hate to disillusion you, son," said Joe, "but this is yesterday's 8:02."

From where I sit... things aren't always what they first appear to be. For example, there's the fellow whose first impression is that only lead tea is real refreshment, but not beer, which I prefer. Sure he's entitled to his opinion, but he's got to respect mine too. That's tolerance and that's something we've got to "train" ourselves to have more of.

Alleged Dangers in Strain 19 Vaccination Disproved in Practice

Are calves vaccinated with Strain 19 vaccine dangerous associates for non-vaccinated animals?

There's no evidence that vaccination with Strain 19 vaccine will establish active brucella infection in vaccinated animals. Neither is there any evidence that they are capable of transmitting the vaccine organism to susceptible contact animals. Experimental evidence indicates that the virulence of the Strain 19 organisms cannot be increased by either natural or artificial means.

Experience in Michigan with the annual vaccination of nearly 100,000 heifer calves amply indicates that the organism cannot become disease producing in the rest of the herd.

Muck Farm Field Day Set July 26

The annual muck farm field day is to be July 26 at the Bath experiment station, 12 miles north-east of Lansing. Robert E. Lucas, Michigan State University Extension Soils Specialist, has announced.

A noon luncheon and tours of some of the 2,000 experimental plots on the farm are planned. Extension specialists will be on hand to answer questions.

Plots which might prove of particular interest to muck farmers, Lucas says, are those that show the effect on some crops of the interaction of herbicide and insecticide materials.

Farmers have noted that some crops seem to be damaged when sprayed with both a weed killer and an insect killer. The experimental plots were set up to test this. Different weed and insect killers were applied in different combinations to determine what materials might be causing the damage.

Farmers also will be interested in the vegetable and field crop variety trials, use of soil fumigants and fungicides and in the fertilizer tests, he said.

Michigan has about 4 1/2 million acres of organic soils, an area equal to the state of New Jersey. These soils represent about one acre in eight.

Farm-Related Jobs Occupy 40% Of Labor Force

Forty per cent of Michigan's total labor force is involved in some phase of agriculture—production, marketing, processing, storage and distribution of farm products.

Dr. N. P. Ralston, Michigan's director of the Co-operative Extension Service, points this out to indicate the importance of agriculture to the state. He urges citizens to take a good look at the state in which they live.

Approximately 250,000 people help to supply the state's farmers with equipment, fertilizer and countless other items.

Another 350,000 handle farm products. They assemble the goods, process and package them, transport them to retail stores, and sell them across grocers' counters.

Last year, the state's farmers earned about 700 million dollars for the goods they sold. That's a good-sized income, but they spent nearly 75 per cent of their receipts for production expenses alone.

"Next time you take a drive in the country, look around," Ralston advised. "You'll see many kinds of machines and buildings that weren't there five or ten years ago."

Processing and marketing firms are mechanizing just as fast as farms. Also, the pricing and business ends of marketing are getting more complex.

Michigan State University's research and extension staffs have the job of helping "agribusiness" workers—both farm and non-farm—meet these changes.

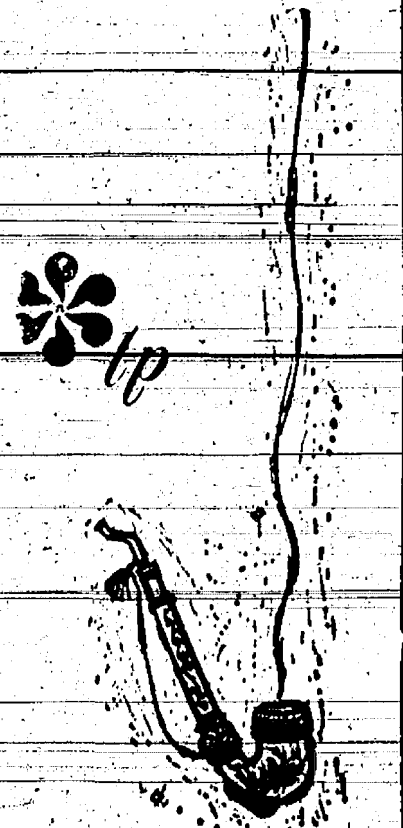

A farmer's tools include his pencil and record book as well as his tractors, plows and combines. MSU researchers are constantly working to sharpen all these tools. Here are a few recent examples:

1. A new, early-maturing navy bean variety called the Seaway has just been developed. The early maturity date will leave several days of added shipping time before the all-important St. Lawrence Seaway closes in winter. This development is especially important because Michigan leads the nation in navy bean production.
2. A thin polyethylene film speeds hay drying enough so a farmer can cut and store hay in one day. Without this new research aid, hay must stay in the field for at least a day or two. Rain during that time can badly hurt quality.
3. A new mechanical method promises to take much of the labor out of cherry harvesting. Picking by hand is a slow, expensive business. The new harvesting system may cut cherry growers' total costs materially.

After exposure to fallout, peas and beans may be carefully washed and shelled and eaten. Corn also would be safe after careful husking. But care should be taken that the water used is not contaminated. Well water would be safest.

Bay City State Park Offers Good Camping Facilities

Landing—Many campers are missing a good bet and losing valuable vacationing time by overlooking Bay City state park. Conservation Department parks division officials advise.

While campsites at most of Michigan's parks are filled to the brim for the summer, the scores of the vacancy sign is usually posted at Bay City park.

Such has been the case for a number of years although the park has an excellent beach, bathhouse, bird museum, concession and other vacationing attractions. With its 250 campsites, the park boasts Michigan's fourth largest campground. Running water and modern flush-type toilets are available and 150 of the park's campsites are equipped with electricity.

Located five miles north of Bay City off M-47, the park fronts on Saginaw Bay, about three miles west of the mouth of the Saginaw River.

Food in cans will not be contaminated by radioactive fallout. However, fallout may lodge on the outside of the can like dust. It may be removed like dust—but with care, as the cloth or water used for removal will then be contaminated.

Highway Department Spends $1,000 Each Day To Pick Up After Litterbugs

Flint—The Michigan State Highway Department spends $1,000 a day to clean up after litterbugs, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said recently.

"Each year, it costs the State Highway Department an estimated $365,000 in expenses and wages to remove trash from Michigan's highways," Mackie said in a talk before the West Flint Kiwanis Club. The Highway Commissioner said Michigan's new freeway system will attract thousands of persons who will visit Michigan for the first time.

"While they are here, many of these visitors will decide whether or not to come back the next year," Mackie said. "And their decisions, I am sure, will be greatly influenced by whether or not our highways and roadside parks are well-kept, free of trash and other debris."

The Highway Commissioner said studies by the Department's Maintenance Division have shown that a tissue thrown from a car window will lay along the side of the highway for a month in dry weather before it deteriorates. "A beer can will lay at the roadside for two years before it rusts away," he said. "And a bottle will lay there forever or until someone picks it up."

Mackie said the $365,000 spent to remove litter from highways and roadside parks would, federal aid, finance construction of six miles of freeway. "I would like to appeal to citizens to co-operate by not throwing anything out of their car windows as they along Michigan's highways," said. "It will make our job easier and make Michigan more attractive."
