Bristle Barn Fire Causes Heavy Loss

Chelsea Fire Department runs during the past two weeks included one grass fire, a trailer fire blaze and, most serious fire in this area in some time, the loss of a barn on the Elmer Bristle farm, 13271 S. Church Rd.

The Bristle barn, together with its contents of hay and tools was completely destroyed after being struck by lightning at 3:35 p.m. Sunday, July 17. Sheep in the basement of the barn were rescued before the flames reached them, according to Fire Department records.

Thursday, at 5:30 a.m., firemen responded when a fire on a small tandem trailer on US-12 burned, and on Wednesday, July 20, at 1:35 p.m., a run was made to Farmland Camp, 19420 Waterloo Rd., because of a grass and rubbish fire.

OFF TO THE JAMBOREE—Chelsea's two Boy Scouts at the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs this week, were packed and ready to start for Milan to join the train load of Scouts headed for the West at 8:15 a.m. Tuesday, July 19. They will be returning home Sunday. Jeffrey Spaulding, at left, and Jack Howard are members of Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 76.

Two Chelsea Boy Scouts Attending Jamboree

Jeffrey Spaulding and Jack Howard, Chelsea Boy Scouts who are attending the national jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo., this week, will be returning home Sunday. The two Chelsea boys, members of Troop 76, were selected by vote from a group of seven who had fulfilled eligibility requirements during the year. The trip is partially sponsored by the Kiwanis club, the troop assuming the remainder of the cost.

HAROLD LANTIS, left, general chairman of the Stockbridge-Munith-Grangory 125th Anniversary celebration July 30-Aug. 6, visited Chelsea Friday evening with the big caravan. He appears with Chelsea anniversary "belles," Mrs. Luit Sweeney and Mrs. J. V. Burg, I, in their anniversary costumes of last year, and J. V. Burg wearing his anniversary outfit. Chelsea residents joined in the fun, many wearing their anniversary costumes for the occasion. The week-long celebration at Stockbridge begins with a big parade at 2 p.m. Saturday and an anniversary ball at 9 p.m. Special events are planned for each day of the week.

Stockbridge Celebration Crowd Arrives - 300 Cars Full

Residents of the "Big Triangle," Stockbridge, Gregory and Munith, invaded Chelsea last Friday night, resplendent in old-fashioned costumes and all the trimmings. They arrived in a caravan of at least 300 cars, which were very efficiently parked by a smooth working combination of the Chelsea Civil Defense group and the Chelsea Police Department.

From the parking lot area they staged their grand march up through Main street and then broke up to mingle with all the Chelsea friends and neighbors who had turned out to welcome them. Mayor Dan Alber extended Chelsea's congratulations and best wishes in a friendly welcome speech, and the visitors' general chairman, Harold Lantis, expressed appreciation for the welcome they had received, mentioning the welcome signs in all the store windows, and the banner across Main street.

The Price Brothers provided catchy dance music and novelty songs on Park 8, which had been washed down and roped off for dancing and the triangle caravan chairman, Wendel Abbott, with the assistance of "Connie" Eichhorn conducted a lively square dance across Main street on South St.

In short, it seemed like "old times" with another of Chelsea's famous "Friday nights" in full swing.

Highlights of the evening included horses and buggies, mules, burros, old cars, throngs of friendly people taking up every square foot of sidewalk and overflowing into the street, the Fire Department turning out with old hand-down equipment and bringing them all, a caravan of tourists enroute to their home in Ohio who got caught in the caravan, were forcibly parked along with the Stockbridge-Munith-Grangory caravan, and then had the "time of their lives" joining in the evening's fun.

Members of the Chelsea committee in charge of arrangements for the event here Friday night, said later that the enthusiasm shown "makes it wonder if, after all these nearby celebrations are over, we shouldn't continue with neighborly visits to some of our friends in surrounding towns several times during the summer."

Washtenaw Votes Against Wheat Quota

Slightly more than 50 per cent of Washtenaw county farmers who voted decided against wheat quotas in the national referendum conducted last Thursday.

Quotas will remain in effect here for the 1961 wheat crop, however because quotas were approved by more than the required two-thirds of growers who cast their ballots nationally.

Only 127 votes were cast in the county during the day, from a total of 576 eligible to make their preferences known. Of that number, 65 voted against and 62 voted to continue under quotas.

Breakdown of the abstaining is as follows:

Dexter-Fire Hall: votes cast—22; against—10; for—12; eligible to vote—74.
Sylvan Town Hall: votes cast—16; against—5; for—11; eligible to vote—77.
Sharon Town Hall: votes cast—22; against—9; for—13; eligible to vote—86.
Saline Town Hall: votes cast—16; against—12; for—4; eligible to vote—81.
Stony Creek Grange Hall: votes cast—22; against—10; for—12; eligible to vote—86.
Superior Town Hall: votes cast—7; against—1 for—6; eligible to vote—86.
Emery Store, Vorhies Rd.: votes cast—8; against—8; for—0; eligible to vote—30.
Pittsford Town Hall: votes cast—14; against—10; for—4; eligible to vote—88.

As a result of the national decision, which also ran counter to the expressed preference of more than one-third of Michigan farmers voting, acreage allotments remain in effect as a condition for price support.

The minimum support price under quotas is now $1.61 per bushel.

Chrysler Proving Grounds Employee Picnic Set Sunday

More than 700 persons are expected to attend the annual family day picnic for Chrysler Proving Grounds employees, to be held at Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park near Dexter, Sunday, July 31.

E. B. Anderson, supervisor of personnel and general services for Chrysler Proving Grounds, is in charge of the day's program.

Activities will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a meal served at noon.

Construction Hampered By Children

It has come to the attention of the Village Council that some parents have been lax in the supervision of their children in the areas of construction in the village. This has been particularly true on the street and sidewalk programs.

The excavating contractor had one truck driver quit rather than risk backing into the street to unload gravel because of the children playing in the street in the fresh gravel.

In the same section of town, the village Public Works crew was harassed while attempting to lay new sidewalk. After the crew left, these children then proceeded to mutilate the fresh cement.

Other new village cement work has suffered from people who think the sidewalks in the village should carry lasting mementoes of their shoe sizes.

The Village is spending $5,000 this summer for curb and sidewalk. It will be a poor investment if we must go back in a few short years and replace it because of the vandalism of a few this year.

The contractors and public works crew have been instructed to contact the Village Police for positive action if there is any further difficulty.

300 Persons Attend Open House for New St. Mary's Pastor

Approximately 300 persons attended the reception held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's parish hall honoring the new pastor, the Rev. Fr. Leo J. Smith. The number included members of St. Mary's church, area clergymen and residents of the community.

The reception was sponsored by organizations of the church, including St. Mary's Altar Society, the Holy Name Society and the Knights of Columbus.

In the receiving line with the new pastor were Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Burg, I, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Knib, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Keusch, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCarthy and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barry.

Women of St. Mary's parish served refreshments during the afternoon with Mrs. Edwin Keusch and Mrs. Harry Lyons, pouring coffee and Mrs. G. L. Staffan.

High of 90 Degrees Recorded Last Friday

Friday, July 22, a high of 90 degrees was recorded at the U. S. Weather Station at Willow Run. This is the second time this summer that temperatures have reached the 90-degree mark.

A high of 90 degrees was also recorded on June 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Darby motored to Van Wert, O., last weekend and spent Sunday with his brother and wife there.

Lois and Susie Dancer of Jackson, are spending some time here with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Lehman.

Combined Phone Directory To Be Published in December

Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and five neighboring communities will be combined in a new telephone directory that will be published and distributed in December by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The new directory, including listings of Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Whitmore Lake, and Willis, also will contain a Yellow Pages section for all of the communities.

Plans for the new directory were announced Monday by Donald E. McGraw, Michigan Bell assistant vice president-revenues, at an informal discussion before the Michigan Public Service Commission in Lansing.

A delegation of public officials, union representatives, and representatives of women's clubs who attended the informal discussion appeared satisfied the new directory will answer all major objections to current directory service.

Protests had been raised this year after Ypsilanti telephone listings were included along with 20 other communities in the West and Downriver Area telephone directory.

The delegation, headed by Mrs. Howard Blackenbush of Ypsilanti, a member of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, said the present listing divorced Ypsilanti from Ann Arbor and disrupted cultural, economic, and political ties between the communities.

After hearing Michigan Bell's plans, however, the delegation indicated the new directory is acceptable and will satisfy complaints that have been made.

The new directory is being compiled by Michigan Bell as the result of an area-wide survey of telephone customers conducted by the Market Opinion Research Co. of Detroit.

The new directory will replace individual directories that formerly have been issued for Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Whitmore Lake, and Willis.

Ypsilanti listings will be withdrawn from the West and Downriver Area white pages directory when the new edition of it is published next April. Listings of Ypsilanti business customers will be removed from their present Yellow Pages directory and will be incorporated in the new Yellow Pages section of the new area directory in December.

The new directory will not in any way change any community's local calling privileges. Telephone customers may obtain directories of any other community which is in their local calling area but which is not contained in the new directory.

In addition to Mrs. Blackenbush, officials attending Monday's informal discussion were Kenneth Baxson, Ypsilanti city attorney; Robert Marsh, Ypsilanti city treasurer; and three members of the planning committee of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, William Scheel, committee chairman, John Rye, and Curt Will.

Representing Ford Local 849, UAW, were Leighton Stoddard and Larry Husse.

At present, there are 29,419 Michigan Bell customers in Ann Arbor; 13,864 in Ypsilanti; 2,248 in Chelsea; 1,568 in Dexter; 1,132 in Manchester; 1,035 in Whitmore Lake; and 908 in Willis.

Bland Flavors Please Patients, Say Dietitians

Ann Arbor—Preparing hospital meals is a constant challenge to food specialists because illness often changes a patient's sense of taste.

Dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center say mild flavors are to tempt the lagging appetites of the sick. A patient seldom wants strong, definite flavors; these may even prove unpleasant to him.

The U-M dietitians say the setting of an invalid's tray may also influence his willingness to eat. Attractive appearance of food plus cleanliness and orderliness of the tray are important. Foods should be placed neatly in dishes, with a little colorful garnish to enhance both eye and appetite appeal.

In this way food takes on extra importance in an invalid's day. Mealtime breaks a dull routine, therefore little details of taste and consistency may become magnified.

Three Youths Plead Guilty To Spearing Black Bass Illegally

Three youths told their "fish story" to Ann Arbor Municipal Court last Monday, and the trouble was, it was true.

Found guilty of spearing black bass at Silver Lake in Dexter township, Sunday, were Edward T. Green, 21, and Joseph W. Secker, 20, both of Lincoln Park; and Kenneth B. Wezner, 20, of South Gate.

All three were sentenced to one day in jail and fined $50 plus $10 costs.

The boys were caught with eight bass, the largest of which tipped the scales at five pounds.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

BY
RALPH ROZEY

★ Democratic Platform and Business

Political action has become so intertwined with economics that no business analyst any longer can afford to ignore what either the Democrats or the Republicans propose to do. The platforms adopted at the National Conventions never can be taken at their face value, because they always are highly political documents, but at least they provide an indication of the direction in which the party is moving.

The platform just adopted by the Democrats at Los Angeles is truly an amazing document. It is over 20,000 words long, which means that it is one of the longest ever offered. It includes the strongest civil rights plank ever put in a platform, and it ranges over a variety of ideas and problems that is without parallel. Here, however, we are concerned only with those items of outstanding importance from the viewpoint of the future of business.

Most basic is the dogmatic statement "that our economy can and must grow at an average rate of 5 per cent annually" and this is followed by this sentence: "We pledge ourselves to policies that will achieve this goal without inflation."

There is not space even to list the various policies which are to assure this 5 per cent annual growth, but they include elimination of the high-interest, tight-money policy, which means the destruction of the independence of the Federal Reserve Board, and just about every conceivable type of spending program, together with a detailed direction of our economic system by the Federal Government.

Where is the money coming from to cover all these additional outlays? To the drafters of this platform that was not a problem. The increased rate of growth will bring in larger revenues (each one per cent increase in the growth rate yields about one billion in larger revenues), and it is said the present tax laws can be made to yield much larger returns.

This latter is to be accomplished by collecting "the billions" which at present are owed but not paid, and by closing so-called loopholes in present tax laws. In addition it is proposed to eliminate "the gross waste in federal expenditures."

Now everyone would like to see a deletion of the waste in government spending, and it unquestionably is large, and everyone is in favor of the tax laws being rigidly enforced. But both of these are not going to yield billions of dollars of additional revenues. So-called loopholes were put in the law by action of the Congress, and they should not be changed without most careful consideration and with all interested persons, having ample opportunity to be heard. The increased spending, therefore, cannot be made without either an increase of taxes or the development of a deficit, and since a rise of tax rates is specifically ruled out, what the platform really is proposing is a deficit of probably quite enormous proportions.

Combine such a deficit with the destruction of the power of the Federal Reserve to regulate the volume of credit, and it makes no sense at all to talk of increasing our growth rate without inflation.

This does not mean that our production can not grow more rapidly than it has. Of course it can, and it is to be hoped that it does. The policies which will make this possible, however, are not stepping upon the power of the Federal Reserve, increased government spending, ruining deficits or forcing "full employment." To get

THERE'S FUN AND FELLOWSHIP in newspaper offices, say Nancy McCalla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCalla, 12875 Old US-12, and Barbara Irwin, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Irwin, 16880 Grass Lake Rd., who are talking with William Haight, director of the Communication Arts Institute at Michigan State University and instructor in the section of Mimeographed newspapers. The girls are two of more than 450 high school students representing 10 states, who are attending the annual institute this summer on the East Lansing campus. The institute is broken into three two-week sessions, offering courses in reporting, news-writing, feature writing, copy editing, photography, television and radio production. According to Prof. Haight, the object is to help outstanding high school students increase their knowledge and interest in journalism, TV-radio and theatre. Nancy and Barbara attended the second session of the institute as representatives of the Chelsea High school journalism class.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

Gene Sarazen turned in many a memorable performance during his career as a pro golfer.

One of his toughest fights on the golf circuit came when he was just 21.

It was 1923 and Sarazen was facing the great Walter Hagen in the finals of the PGA tourney. Hagen was the favorite. He was on a hot streak and he carried with him a bag of tricks that had flustered more experienced golfers than Gene.

On the other hand, Gene was on a hot streak. He was on a hot streak and he carried with him a bag of tricks that had flustered more experienced golfers than Gene.

He sent the ball sailing to a spot just five feet in bounds in grass a foot high.

Hagen brightened noticeably after that shot. But the smiles were short-lived. On his second shot Gene nibbled the ball to within 15 inches of the pin.

He was almost certain of a birdie and this meant that Hagen could no longer play it safe. Walter let go with a fine long shot but it fell just a bit short in a bunker which guarded the front of the green.

The pressure was on Hagen. He had to get a birdie from the sand to tie. Hagen had a close look then told the caddy to pick up the flag.

Hagen shot. The ball hit the back of the cup, trickled off the lip, and stopped three inches away. Sarazen expected Hagen would concede the 15-inch putt and the match. But Walter made Gene play the ball. Sarazen realized it was part of Hagen's strategy.

Gene putted, the ball dropped in for a birdie and the PGA championship.

Modern Beef 'Factory' on Farm Management Tour

One hundred and eighty tons of corn-the-hoof will mean a lot of steers on the Aug. 3 Farm Management Tour in Washtenaw county will see these diners in process at the Lyle Cunningham farm near Concord. Cunningham has 350 head of steers which will go to market in a summer and early fall as feed for the oven, the fry or charcoal broiler.

The Jackson county feeder, a member of the Jackson Jaycee's, awarded young farmer award, placed in the cattle business with head. That was in 1950. By 1958 he was up to 400 and next year he hopes to have 400 on feed. He has 20 sows farrowing two litters a year, he has about 300 hogs follow the cattle.

A year ago he decided to "go the way." With a lot of help from his county extension agent, a Swanson, and Michigan State University beef specialist, Hugh Anderson, he planned a $50,000 expansion, complete with an all-automatic feedlot. Visitors on tour will see the 350 white-faced "guests" served up their corn and supplement "meal" less than an hour at the turn of a few switches.

Cattle and corn go together in a modern "beef factory." Corn, king of the crops and more than 6 acres will go into three giant silos this fall. Most of it will be used as silage and the grain will be stored in a picker sheller, will be stored as high moisture corn in a 20x50 silo that holds 12,000 bushels. That sounds like a lot of corn, but right now the steers are eating at the rate of a ton and a half a day and appetites get even lustier as they reach the 1000-pound mark.

With the intensive livestock program, Cunningham's farm income is 90 per cent above average farm account keepers, in his area. Labor income, income per man, crop values per acre, crop yields and labor efficiency are also well above average. This requires sound management, to plan ahead and make the right decisions for a $100,000 business. A one cent per pound difference in the price of beef can spell the cost of a new tractor.

The Cunningham farm will be the morning stop on the Aug. 3 tour. After a chicken barbecue at the Tompkins Community Hall, the tour will stop at the farm of Carlton Prime & Sons near Springport. Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, will speak during the noon program. As head of one of the nation's leading farm organizations he will provide some observations on the future of American agriculture. Nearly 2,000 persons are expected to attend the 1960 tour from Michigan and surrounding states.

The Michigan State Highway Department maintains 112 roadside parks containing 1,817 picnic tables. There are another 2,207 individual picnic table sites throughout the state.

CORN DEMONSTRATION PLOTS FIELD DAY FEATURE
Washtenaw county's corn crop is most important to agricultural industry. County farmers annually produce more than three million bushels of corn plus eight thousand acres for ensilage. Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District and Co-operative Extension Service recognizing this important crop, have established demonstration plots on the Deppman Hereford Farm at Saline to be shown to the visitors on the County Crops and Soils Field Day, July 30. The plots will feature fertilizer rates and placement; plant population; pre-emergence spray with 2,4-D; deep tillage versus conventional; effects of speed in planting; cover crops in corn; plant feeding—using radioactive phosphorus; and side dressing with nitrogen. Lynn Robertson, soils specialist from Michigan State University and Soil Conservation Service personnel will be on hand to discuss practices and techniques with the visitors. In addition to the corn plots, the beef cattle program in operation at the Deppman farm will be discussed in detail. Farmers are encouraged to attend the tours which will begin at 10 a.m. and again in the afternoon starting at 1 p.m.

Washtenaw Crops, Soils Field Day Will Be Held Saturday Near Saline

located on Austin Rd., near Saline, will be the host to the 1960 Crops and Soils Field Day to be held Saturday, July 30, according to John Truett, SCS Work Unit Conservationist.

Along with other features, the livestock enterprise and how it is co-ordinated with the available feed supply will be explained in detail by the specialists. Wilton Finley, Animal Husbandry Specialist, Michigan State University; John Truett, SCS technician, and Lloyd Bright, farm manager, will be on hand to discuss in detail the farm cropping program and the present and future plans for the Hereford cattle program. The soils and cropping program have been planned jointly by Deppman and local Soil Conservation Specialists.

This farm plan, which is constantly being evaluated and revised when necessary, has been in effect on the Deppman farm for two years. The entire 690 acres has been completely surveyed, soils classified, fields have been arranged to fit the needs and best land use. A large 5 1/2 acre farm pond was constructed in 1959. A farm woodlot has been cruised and a management plan initiated by Victor Horvath, District Forester.

These features of the Field Day,

July 30, sponsored by the Soil Conservation District and Co-operative Extension Service may be observed by visitors on the 10:00 a.m. or 1:00 p.m. tours. Trucks and wagons will be provided for transportation.

State Election Inspectors Serve As 'Watchdogs'

Must there be an American flag displayed in each polling place? Can a voting machine be placed against the wall? What kind of ballots can be "thrown out?"

These are a few of the questions which 100 Michigan Department of State inspectors will face in 83 counties as they serve on a special primary election task force to "preserve the purity of elections and guard against abuses of the elective franchise."

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, this "watchdog" service was inaugurated several years ago when many voter complaints were received from persons who objected to questionable practices which occurred in their home-town elections.

"As new clerks and polling place personnel became more experienced the situation improved," Hare said. "Last year we had relatively little trouble and, where we did, it was almost always due to a minor misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the procedures and not a willful violation of the law."

All of the election inspectors will carry compilations of election laws as well as a check list of 50 items to look for as they patrol the polling places. Among them are:

Did the voting machine counters register zero at opening of the polls?

Is campaigning banned less than 100 feet from the entrance of the polling place?

Are the voting booth and cup-tain arranged so as to conceal the voter?

Are any of the elections inspectors electioneering?

Was everyone in line at 8 p.m. closing time permitted to vote?

What about the question of the American flag? Michigan law dictates that "a flag of the United States, made of cloth 'A' bunting and of dimensions not less than 3 feet in length ... be displayed in each polling place during the progress of elections."

Michigan Birth Rate Continues Slow-Down Pace

Lansing—Indications are that Mr. Stork is either on tranquilizers or still on the "slow-down" he started in Michigan in 1958.

According to provisional figures released today by the Michigan Department of Health, the state delivered 1,405 fewer babies to Michigan hospitals during the first three months of this year than he did last year during the same period on his Michigan route.

There were 40,163 babies born in the first quarter compared to 41,568 in 1959.

If the stork continues his lighter loads for the rest of the year, 1960 will be the third straight year he has been taking it easier since 1957 when he went all out by delivering a record-high number of 208,488 precious bundles.

In 1958 he slowed down to 202,890 and this was the first year since 1948 that births hadn't increased in Michigan. The following year, 1959, he really put on the brakes and delivered only 197,809 according to state health department records.

WHEAT HARVEST UNDERWAY—Elmer Scherdt's yield on a 14.8-acre field on his Chelsea-Dexter Rd. farm averaged 49 bushels of wheat to the acre. He combined the wheat after tests showed the moisture content to be just 13 per cent and test weight of the grain to be 58 lbs. per bushel, rating it almost premium quality. Scherdt began combining Wednesday, completing the harvesting of his own crop and that of his son, Clement, on the Paul Fite farm south of Chelsea, Saturday afternoon.

Summer Evenings Enjoyable With Good Outdoor Lighting
 Even though the days are long, summer suggests outdoor lighting to many homeowners. They want it for decorative beauty, protection for their homes, the safety of their children and to stretch the fun of backyard get-togethers into the hours after dark.

Outdoor lighting ranges from the simple porch light to elaborate garden lighting. Each has its place in the homeowner's beauty-safety-recreation scheme. None of them, of course, is a substitute for root street lighting.

Porch Lighting
 Just turning on the porch light adds friendly warmth to a home. It says, "welcome" and makes it easy for visitors to find you. A porch light acts as a beacon to children who may be playing outside after dark, makes the steps safer, and offers an obstacle to would-be prowlers.

The 100-watt lamp bulb or equivalent used in the customary porch lighting can be operated four hours for as little as one cent a night.

Color Bulbs
 Most night flying insects cannot see yellow light. Consequently they are not attracted by it and do not dive and buzz around it as they do white. So, for the summer months yellow lamp bulbs are recommended for outdoor fixtures. At Christmas-time other color bulbs may be used to give added effect to holiday decorating.

Though they may give somewhat less light, color bulbs cost as little to operate as white bulbs of the same wattage.

Protective Lighting
 The combination of waterproof holder and flood or spotlight lamp is a versatile, inexpensive fixture usually costing $4 or less.

For year round use it may be fastened under the eaves of the house to downlight the faces of the building or stuck in the ground aimed at the house to bathe the exterior in light.

Dark areas between the garage and back door, shadowed walks on the side of the house, may be lit by portable yard lights fastened on the house, garage or a nearby tree.

Directed onto the recreation area of your backyard, these lights add fun to barbecues, let you play badminton, shuffleboard and other games long after the sun has gone down.

Besides these uses, the fixtures may be adapted in many ways to decorate. Used to highlight a favorite flower bed or bank of evergreens or to spotlight a flowering tree, they put a charming picture in the normally blank night-time picture window, bring out the beauty of sharply edged lawns and neatly trimmed shrubs. Lighting trees from the ground is very attractive and gives a highly interesting shadow effect.

Operation of the lights may be done manually, or they may be controlled by an inexpensive timer-circuit which is priced under $12. It automatically turns the lights on and shuts them off at any specified hour in the 24 and need not be reset each day.

The homeowner should be sure that outdoor lighting of all kinds uses waterproof outlets for the wiring and waterproof sockets for the light bulbs.

The usual portable yard light uses a 100 or 150 watt spot or flood lamp so operating cost would be about one cent to one and one-half cent for four hours per lamp.

Friendship Lanterns
 A bit of nostalgia has practical uses year round in lighting yards and walkways. This is the "Friendship Post Lantern" or "Coach Lamp" which is reminiscent of the old street lights in London Town.

The post lamp is usually placed near the walk between the front door and the public sidewalk. It sends out a cheerful glow and acts as an extension of the porch light in making it easy for visitors to find you and to use the walk and steps without stumbling.

Many post-lamps come equipped with rugged photo-electric cells so the lamps will automatically turn themselves on during the hours of darkness and turn themselves off during the day. Other models have waterproof outlets in their bases to provide power for other lighting or for an electric mower, trimmer, edger or other electric appliances.

The cost of such lamps varies depending on their elaborateness, but prices start under $20, and operating cost, assuming a 100-watt lamp bulb operating all night, is about 2 1/2 cents a night.

Garden Lighting
 Almost a misnomer because it has so many different uses, the term "garden lighting" is used to describe that group of fixtures whose primary function is to continue the beauty of yards and gardens into the night-time hours. However, they do provide a good measure of safety and protection, too, when they are used along walk edges, on terraces or patios, or in flower beds near the house. There are fixtures for every purpose, in shapes and sizes to fit into a display of just about every kind of flower, shrub or tree. Some are disguised to look like large daisies, others look like small umbrellas, bird houses, or bells, still others have the appearance of Hawaiian luau torches, or Chinese lanterns.

1960 Wheat Support Price Raised 1 Cent

Price support for 1960-crop wheat in Washtenaw county has been increased to $1.81 per bushel for No. 1 wheat, Mrs. Carolyn Stump, office manager for the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, has announced.

This definite support rate reflects an increase of 1 cent per bushel over the minimum rate announced earlier. It results from an increase in the current national wheat parity price as of July 1, the beginning of the wheat marketing year, compared with a year ago when the advance minimum price was announced.

The current national average price-support rate of $1.78 per bushel is still based on 75 per cent of parity—the same per cent as for the advanced minimum support, since wheat supplies for 1960-61 are now estimated at 2,661 million bushels, 190.5 per cent of the estimated normal supply. Under the formula in the law, wheat supply percentage above 130 per cent calls for the minimum 75 per cent level of support.

Mrs. Stump said that support rates for loan wheat stored in terminal have also been increased 1 cent over the preliminary rates. Information on the terminal rates is also available in the ASC office.

As in the past, wheat support will be available through loans on farm and warehouse-stored wheat and through purchase agreements. Non-recourse price support on 1960-crop wheat will be subject to a $50,000 limitation unless the producer's 1960 wheat average was reduced at least 20 per cent below his 1959 acreage. Loans in excess of the $50,000 will be made on a recourse basis, under which the borrower agrees to repay any amount over $50,000 by Jan. 31, 1962.

Producers in commercial wheat-producing states, including Michigan, must have complied with their 1960-crop wheat acreage allotment in order to be eligible for price support on the crops.

VOTE YES ON THE GAS FRANCHISE

SERVICE IN CHELSEA IS NOT INVOLVED

At the election next Tuesday, August 2, the people of Sylvan Township (including Chelsea) will have an opportunity to approve a franchise permitting Consumers Power Company to supply gas service to prospective customers in Sylvan Township. One of these is the new school for boys in the west portion of the township.

Consumers Power Company does not propose to provide service in Chelsea, which already is served by another gas company. This could not be done in any case without a separate franchise from the Village and the approval of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

So the franchise to be voted on next Tuesday applies only to the area outside the Village, although the people of Chelsea will vote on it along with the other people within the township boundaries.

The franchise will simply give Consumers Power Company the legal authority to supply gas to people in the Township who do not have it now and who need and want it. The question of rates is not involved, since the rates to be charged are under the control of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

For continued progress in Sylvan Township, we respectfully ask you to vote YES on the gas franchise Tuesday, August 2.

Construction of Interstate Freeway System Will Provide Many Benefits

Four years ago the nation began the greatest construction project in history. We undertook a 13-year program to rebuild, modernize and extend the highway system of America.

The backbone of this program is a 41,000-mile network of trunk-line expressways called the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. It is good news that more than one-fifth of this system—8,855 miles—is now open to traffic.

Construction is underway on an additional 4,353 miles of the system, and engineering and right-of-way acquisition has begun on still another 10,436 miles. Thus, some form of work is underway or completed on more than half of the 41,000-mile interstate system.

At the same time, work has also been progressing under the Federal-Aid Highway program on more than 12,000 miles of primary and secondary highways not included in the interstate system.

The interstate highways contain the best design features and safety standards that highway engineers know how to build into them. When completed, the system will be able to handle the increased traffic demands of the years 1975. It will interconnect 90 per cent of our cities with a population of 50,000 or more, as well as thousands of smaller communities. Within ten years, more or less, we shall be able to drive on the nearest interstate route and continue safely and speedily to any region or almost any city anywhere in the United States without once stopping for a traffic light.

The cost of the Federal-Aid highway program runs into billions of dollars, but the economic return will be far greater than the outlay. Experience shows that the completion of a new expressway always results in savings in time and money for the motorists who use it, fewer accidents, and accelerated economic development for the area it serves. Authoritative estimates indicate that every dollar the public invests in the interstate system will be substantially multiplied in direct and tangible benefits to the public.

The greatest return of all will be in the lives saved by the new and improved highways. The statistical division of the National Safety Council estimates that the interstate system alone has already saved some 8,000 lives, and that it will have about 30,000 more in the next 10 years—if the highways are built on schedule.

Erosion Is Costly Loss on Farmlands

For many years now, experts of the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture have been calling attention to the losses suffered through soil erosion in this country.

Some years ago, Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, then Chief of the Soil Conservation Service, declared that about 100,000,000 acres of crop land, some of it the nation's best land, had been "completely finished" as a result of soil erosion. He then estimated that the annual direct cost of erosion to the farmers of this country alone, not counting damage to reservoirs, stream channels, irrigation ditches, highways and railroads, at $100,000,000.

This information has been read time and again by the farmers of this section. It undoubtedly attracted their attention, and some farmers have taken constructive steps to correct the situation, having their steep slopes terraced, planting certain cover crops or trees to help hold the soil, and by using other advanced ideas to help save that precious top soil.

We take this occasion, however, to call the attention of other farmers to the necessity of continuing the fight against erosion on their land. Like some other things that menace mankind, the time to start war on erosion is when the first threatening gully appears, before great damage is done.

BETH MILFORD

Candidate for STATE SENATE

Urges
Better Housekeeping
 For Michigan

Beth Milford, Republican candidate for the State Senate, says, "What Michigan needs is some good housekeeping to set its house in order. For example, during the past two years the bungling in Lansing has cost the taxpayers of Michigan thousands of dollars in interest to meet our school payrolls. We pay our sales tax into the state but because of bickering and inertia the state aid payments did not reach the local school districts in time to meet payrolls. Ypsilanti school district alone has paid out over $10,000 in interest to banks on money borrowed on our state aid monies which were overdue. This is really paying for the same services twice, and is utter nonsense. No self-respecting farmer or housewife would conduct their affairs in this fashion."

"We have 33 senators in the Michigan state senate. I submit to you that one woman could help bring order out of chaos and restore to Michigan its rightful reputation of a state with sound business sense."

"With the taxes we pay the taxpayers of Michigan have every right to be alarmed when we read in the headlines that the state closed its books on July 1st with the greatest deficit in our history."

Mrs. Milford, who received two degrees from the University of Michigan in economics and business administration says, "What we need in Lansing is sound business practice applied with plain common sense."

A Hope!

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

"Good care does" as much for the spirit as it does for health," said Michigan Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis recently as he called for study programs on possible improvements in care for the aged.

"If you think about your own old age, you know you don't want to end up in a cramped room, with indifferent care, tasteless meals and few visitors," he said. "Fortunately, most of the older folks in Michigan nursing homes or homes for the aged get good care."

"Four years ago the legislature authorized the Health Department to license homes which met high standards prescribed by the department. The 'do's and don'ts' are long and detailed, but the burden of the rules is that patients are to have 'personalized attention and meticulous care.'"

"As more people live longer, nursing homes become increasingly important," Heustis said.

"Young people might remember that when they look into the face of an older person, they look into a mirror of sorts," he said. "Most of us will live to a ripe old age and our final years may be spent in a nursing home."

Heustis made a plea for increased family and community support to make lives of the older persons more interesting.

"Most nursing homes and homes for the aged are doing their best to improve, and have made a great deal of progress," Heustis said. "But they need much more family and community support to make old houses into new homes for older people."

More than 16,000 patients are in 608 licensed homes in Michigan, the department said.

Some of them are senile. Others are paralyzed and bedfast. Some are blind. Still others hobble about on crutches or use canes to help them make their painful way.

"But others are full of life and vigor despite their advanced age."

All no matter what their physical condition, need someone to show an interest in them. Not only do they need interest from family and community, but they need financial help in many cases.

"Bargain basement rates won't support high quality nursing services," Heustis said.

"Patients come to these homes with varied backgrounds, health problems, tastes, habits and expectations, but all need good care in a home-like atmosphere," he said.

What many of them need most is somebody—anybody—to care.

Fatigue may be second to carelessness as a cause of accidents.

"Michigan had a relatively low fatality count—14 dead in a three-day period over the long Independence Day week-end—but a pattern to the deaths might indicate tiredness is a villain in many of the cases."

Secretary of State James M. Hare analyzed the figures this way:

On the first evening of the week-end (Friday), when drivers were fresh and on the way to a holiday destination, only one person was killed. On July 2 (Saturday), two died on highways.

The next day, the third day of the holiday week-end, four persons were killed in auto accidents. But on July 4, (Monday) the final day of the week-end, when the stream of exhausted weekenders was heading home, seven persons died in seven fatal accidents on Michigan roads.

Part of the pay for a Michigan motel owner must be in the satisfaction of his job.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It may be gitting later than them varmints in the Kremlin thinks. I see where the wimmen in Moscow is complaining that they're mighty tired of wearing flour-sacks-for-dresses. They has told Khrushchev they want to be better shod and less shoddy. They're demanding to look and smell nicer, want to git rid of them peasant styles, want perfume, gaze-me-good frocks and a new look. Ole Khrushchev better be bending a big ear to this noise. In the matter of a country's survival, the female can be more important than the missile program. The Kremlin would be smart to start reading the handwriting on the wall—while the wall is still there.

I see where some big column writer has estimated there is nearly three million people in the United States that don't read nothing but the comic strips. He says we got 50,000 people in this country that thinks Dick Tracy is head of the FBI. There's two ways to look at that thing, Mister Editor. Maybe one reason we got such a great country is because we got so many people in it that don't do nothing but follow the pursuit of happiness. If they git it just reading the comics, who is this column writer to be complaining? Speaking of column writers, I see where this feller Bernard Baruch, setting on one of them park benches in New York, told a reporter that political honesty was getting mighty scarce in this present campaign. Political honesty, in case Mr. Baruch don't know it, it is in the same class with horse feathers. Somepeun can't git scarce when there ain't none of it to start with.

I heard on the radio last night that a bunch of telephone girls in some place in Florida was threatening to walk out if they don't git air conditioning this summer. Let 'em walk, I say. What ought to happen to wimmen-complaining about the heat is to dress 'em in BVD's, a pair of man's pants, a shirt with the neck buttoned up tight and a collar and tie to keep all the heat inside—like I wear to preaching ever Sunday—put a coat on 'em and turn the whole bunch loose on the street on a hot day. Telephone girls wearing about eight ounces of clothes demanding air conditioning is the limit, Mister Editor.

Them spend-happy boys in the Pentagon has been paying such outlandish prices for everything that I see where a salesman created a sensation up there the other day by whispering around that he could git thing fer 'em at retail. It would be a mighty good break fer the taxpayers if they'd hire this feller and make him a five star General-In-Charge-of-Buying.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Former Adrain Operation Transferred to Ohio

During the recent "Michigan Week" celebrating the state's virtues in song and story, there was a strange development down in Ohio.

The Bridgeport Brass Company, which had deserted Adrain, Mich., with a display of love and kisses and regretful farewells, was shopping for a new plant in Warren, the Ohio town that has a firm Republican climate.

In view of the procession of industries abandoning Michigan, the Bridgeport Brass incident would have been ignored by the newspapers had Paul D. Bagwell not become disturbed.

You may remember that Bagwell, who will be the GOP nominee for Governor this year, was blasted by the Democratic administration and by the UAW because he dared ask whether Michigan's economic climate was driving the company out of the state.

Bagwell was accused of betraying his native state by asking why Michigan was not a happy location for the brass company which operates factories in many parts of the country.

Officials of the company, the union and the Adrain Chamber of Commerce put Bagwell on the fire and tried him to a frazzle.

They insisted that Bridgeport Brass was discontinuing its Michigan operation, with a loss of 615 jobs and an annual payroll in Adrain exceeding $5,000,000, only because defense contracts had been exhausted.

The union and the administration in Lansing (but not the company) declared Bridgeport would not replace its Michigan plant in a more favorable climate.

So Adrain put on a farewell banquet to demonstrate that the city of 25,000 population did not resent the loss of the 615 jobs, the big payroll and the tax revenue which had been an important part of the budget for the city and its schools.

Following chicken and apple pie, the citizens praised the Bridgeport Brass executives who were uncomfortably at the head table. They raised voices high in singing "Thanks a Million" and "Thanks for the Memories."

Austin R. Zender, Bridgeport president who was guest of honor, said with some embarrassment: "I am not so sure we deserve this tribute."

Zender must have known that within two weeks, the company would start negotiations for a new plant in Ohio.

The fact that Bridgeport Brass has closed the deal to purchase a government-owned plant in Warren, having abandoned a government-owned plant in Michigan, was made public this week by Bagwell.

Newspapers which blasted Bagwell last April for suggesting the company might locate elsewhere completely ignored his revelation that Bridgeport will start making aluminum products in Ohio, although it had been processing aluminum in Michigan.

During his campaign for the governorship two years ago, Bagwell tried in vain to awaken the voters to the fact that Michigan was sliding rapidly downhill as an industrial state.

He practically was accused of treason.

But two years have passed. Cities are wrestling with the problem of declining populations, depleted tax income and the stigma of business streets lined with empty buildings.

The republican candidate will try again to make the people realize that the deadrot may be caused by a government antagonist.

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right; takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torston-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

State Fair Seeks Outstanding
Mother, Housewife To Honor

Somewhere in the vast State of Michigan is a mother who will be honored at the 111th annual Michigan State Fair and crowned Mrs. Michigan State Fair of 1960.

General Manager Donald L. Swanson and members of the Michigan State Fair Commission started the search today for the state's out-standing mother and housewife. The "mom" selected will be crowned on Thursday, Sept. 1, fol-lowing the mammoth opening pa-rade through Detroit's downtown business section, by Gov. G. Men-nen Williams as part of the ribbon-cutting ceremonies and program at the Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Swanson said the deadline for en-tries has been set for Monday, Aug. 15 and the rules will follow the same format as in the previ-ous two contests of 1958 and 1959.

The mothers, 21 years and older, must be residents of the state and must file an entry listing all qual-ifications and reasons why she be selected.

The entrants may file the entry themselves or have it sent in by a friend, member of the family or by a club or church organization to which she has devoted hours of service and faithful duty.

The contest was inaugurated in 1958 with the selection of Mrs. Jarold Clark of Croswell as the first Mrs. Michigan State Fair.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Room
July 6, 1960

Regular Session.

Invocation by Mr. David Wood, minister of the Chelsea Baptist church.

This meeting was called to order by Pres. Alber at 8:00 p.m.

Trustees present: Barr, Baldwin, Chandler, Clark, Lixey and Paul.

The minutes of the meeting of June 21, 1960 were read and ap-proved.

A public hearing was held be-fore the Village Council on the rezoning request submitted by Robert L. and James K. Daniels to change the premises as sub-mitted from R-8 Multiple Family, to "GGE" General Business. No op-position was voiced to this rezon-ing request. Motion by Clark, sup-ported by Baldwin, that the rezon-ing request be approved. Roll call: Yes all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. Harold Street pertaining to work at the Sewage Treatment Plant.

Motion by Chandler, supported by Clark, to authorize a change in plans for a sludge heater. A gas heater will be installed to replace the oil heater as originally called for in the specifications. Roll call: Yes all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. Wally Grossman, Civil Defense Di-rector, Maurice Hoffman, Leigh Beach, Richard Kern, and Jim Eisenman regarding a mutual Civil Defense Organization. The neces-sity for mutual aid in case of a disaster was emphasized and the need for much more public educa-tion along these lines was dis-cussed. Public apathy makes it imperative that a few key people be briefed and capable to act for many, should the occasion arise. Chelsea is fortunate in having a very capable Civil Defense Police Force as a nucleus for the many groups necessary for an adequate civil defense force. Capable radio operators is another asset to Chelsea's defense program. Mention was made of the mobile radio unit which will be located at the fair-grounds for the annual fair. This unit is capable of transmitting and receiving over a portion of the world and the public is asked to take an interest in it during the fair.

Motion by Chandler, supported by Barr, to deny the Resolution for the transfer of ownership of the 1960 Tavern and SDM licenses from George W. Lubahn to Gene-vieve Nelson. Roll call: Yes Bal-dwin, Barr, and Chandler. Nays, Lixey, Paul, Clark and Alber. Mo-tion not carried.

Motion by Lixey, supported by Clark, to approve the Resolution for the transfer of ownership of the 1960 Tavern and SDM Licenses from George W. Lubahn to Gene-vieve Nelson. Roll call: Yes Lixey, Paul, Clark and Alber. Nays Baldwin, Barr, and Chandler. Mo-tion carried.

Motion by Lixey, supported by Clark, to authorize the purchase of the fog spray equipment for use at the Village Parks. Purchase price $299.00. This equipment to be paid from money received for the park program from the Com-munity Minutest Show.

Motion by Barr, supported by Baldwin, that the clerk be au-thorized and directed to issue checks on the following Funds in payment of the bills submitted: General Fund, $10,802.13; Special Parking Lot Fund, $13,197.55; Sewage Treatment Fund, $21,618.93. Roll call: Yes all. Motion carried.

Motion by Clark, supported by Paul, to adjourn. Roll call: Yes all. Motion carried.

Approved July 19, 1960.

Donald C. Alber, President.
George L. Winans, Clerk.

Raspberry Crop
Highest Quality
In Recent Years

Michigan, one of the nation's leading producers of bramble fruits, is completing a harvest of raspberries and dewberries the quality of which is the highest in recent years.

During years when there are high temperatures and excessive rainfall during raspberry harvest, mold occurs in the fruit to lower quality.

Recently a chemist from the Michigan Department of Agri-culture's chemical laboratory spent several days checking raspberry receiving points for mold count. Associated with him in the check was a representative of the De-partment's foods and standards di- vision.

Analysis of raspberries found in southwestern Michigan, where the bulk of the bramble fruit crop is raised, disclosed the mold count to be the lowest in years. Fruit received by fruit processors was of excellent quality and in good, fresh, sound condition.

Bramble fruits are raised in a limited way in many areas of the state. However, the main com-mercial producing areas are Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties with smaller plantations in Manistee, Macomb, St. Joseph and several other counties. The last census figures available indicate Michi-gan had 7,646 acres of raspberries in its commercial areas.

David Collins Serving With Strategic Air Command

Forbes AFB, Kans.—Airman David W. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Collins of Chelsea, Mich., is a member of the Strategic Air Command's combat-ready alert force here.

The alert force at this Midwest base is typical of those maintained world-wide by SAC on an "around the clock" basis, 24 hours daily, seven days a week, all year along. The Air Force considers SAC's retaliatory power to be the principle deterrent to war today. For this reason, SAC crews and planes must be poised to leap off immediately should an enemy attack come.

Crews on alert at Forbes AFB remain in the new $850,000 alert facility on the edge of the flight line for several days at a time, and are then replaced by another shift of crews. While on alert, the crews eat, sleep, and remain in the alert building together.

The facility is completely air conditioned, and is equipped with a modern kitchen, dining room, carpeted lounges for officers and enlisted men, a library, briefing and study rooms. The bedrooms are all underground, and large corrugated iron tubes provide quick access to the flight line at ground level. The alert building and the aircraft outside are constantly guarded by armed combat defense sentries and trained sentry dogs against possible sabotage, and the building itself is surrounded by hurricane-type fences topped with barbed wire.

Airman Collins, who periodically pulls alert duty with his crew, is a Boom Operator on a KC-97 Stratotanker, a $1,225,000 aerial tanker built by Boeing. The KC-97, a mammoth, double decked, four-engine "flying gas station," is capable of in-flight refueling both the B-47 and B-52 bombers.

Periodic practice alerts keep the alert force at Forbes AFB on its toes. Occurring on an average of every day or so, a practice alert is initiated from SAC Headquarters at Omaha, Neb., or from Second Air Force Headquarters at Shreveport, La. Within a matter of seconds, blaring klaxon horns, similar to those used on submarines, sound the alert and the crews race to the waiting aircraft.

Upon reaching the planes, the crews receive notification of the type alert in progress and further instructions. Normally the planes do not take off during a practice alert, but should the real thing come, these combat crews are thoroughly trained to carry out their assigned missions, and as they roar down the runways of this and other SAC bases around the world the very survival of the United States will be in their hands.
