County 4-H Show Underway at Rural Activities Center

New Floodlights Ready for Use on Outdoor Arena

A new night lighting system was installed at the Washtenaw Farm and Rural Activities Center last week and was ready for use when the county 4-H Show got under way Tuesday of this week. The show continues through tomorrow night.

The new lighting system will be especially appreciated by 4-H club members and spectators at the showmanship contest scheduled for 8 o'clock this evening. "Champion 4-H Showman" trophies will be presented in dairy, beef, sheep and swine divisions.

Today is designated as Dairy and Swine Day of the annual 4-H Show.

Tomorrow's principal feature is all-day horse show beginning 9 a.m. and ending with an evening program.

Other highlights of tomorrow's program are morning dairy and beef judging, tractor operation contest beginning at 1 p.m., and a 4-H dog show at 6:30 p.m. Last night, under the newly installed sports type lights, a cavalcade of horses and beef and dairy animals was featured.

The new lights which are adding much to the enjoyment of the evening programs in the arena at the 4-H Show, were made possible by a donation of $1,000 from the Arbor-Kiwanis club and another $1,000 from the Farm Council of Washtenaw county.

The remainder of the cost of $2,275 project is being paid by the 4-H Service Club and the Chelsea Ridge 4-H club, according to announcements pertaining to the new lights.

More than 1,300 4-H exhibitors are on display at the 4-H Show. The exhibits represent the summer project work of 4-H club members of Washtenaw county. Exhibits will be selected from among those entered in the county fair for showing at the State fair which follows at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Weir and daughter Mary Alice, visited their son Robert James Weir at the U.S. Naval Training Station at Hanks, Ill., on Sunday. He will graduate from the eight-week training course Aug. 20.

The Community Fair parade is scheduled for 2 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 10.

Atkinson requests that all who plan to enter floats in the parade contact him as soon as possible by calling GR 9-6851.

RECREATION PROGRAM CLOSES—All morning playground groups of the Chelsea Recreation Council's summer program were entertained at a party Friday morning to mark the closing of the 1960 six-week period of activities. Supervisors of the morning arts and crafts programs at North and South Elementary and the Junior High school playgrounds are at the rear in the above photo. From left, they are Rose Ann Hills, Carol Dancer, Barbara Bertke, Ellen Kusch and Ericella Neal. Elaine Pearson who also assisted as a supervisor, was not present at the time the picture was taken at the Junior High school playground.

Merchants Offering Spectacular Savings For 'Sidewalk Days'

Drinking Fountains Will Be Repaired Only Once More!

Vandalism in the Village has not been confined to fresh cement. The Light and Water Department reports that it has repaired the two drinking fountains on Main St. three times each already this summer.

The Light and Water Department has been requested by the Village to repair them just once more. If they are broken again, Main St. will probably be dry for the rest of the year.

Residents are asked to help keep the fountains on Main St. by reporting any misuse of them to police with the names of the inconsiderate people responsible for their damage.

Free Parking Friday, Saturday For Annual Event

Free parking in the downtown area tomorrow and Saturday is the "bargain day" offering of the Village Council as a contribution to the annual "Sidewalk Days" sale sponsored by merchants of Chelsea.

This is the fourth annual "Sidewalk Sale" event to be staged in Chelsea.

Patterned after Chicago's famous Maxwell street where all sorts of merchandise is piled on tables and in boxes for shoppers to rummage through to make their selections, the sale begins Friday morning.

Home furnishings and appliances will also be hauled out to the sidewalk for shoppers' convenience. Really "big" reductions are being made on many nationally advertised appliances such as refrigerators, stoves, radio and television sets, and on jewelry, hardware, dishes, etc., etc.

Men's, women's and children's clothing, household linens and bedding, groceries, meats and canned goods; in fact, anything you may think of will be found on sale at truly spectacular savings during the big two-day event.

To make the event even more attractive to bargain hunters, strictly new, fine quality merchandise will be among the items on sale instead of shopworn, end-of-the-season clear-outs.

All merchants are co-operating in offering really outstanding bargains at this sale.

Stores will remain open until 9 p.m. Friday and until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Throughout the two-day event sidewalk stocks will be replenished as long as supplies last.

Donkeyball Teams Set For Aug. 19

A team of donkey riders described as "better than average" has been formed to play against the Chelsea Jaycees in a game of donkey baseball Friday, Aug. 19, at 8 p.m., at the Chelsea High school athletic field. Announced that the Jaycees' challenge, issued last week, had been accepted was made following the combined Jaycees' meeting and steak fry Tuesday evening at the Cavanaugh Lake home of Dan Maroney.

The amateur players on the challenging team will include such well-known men as Al Keizer, Dick Rogers and "Caveman" Larry Verne. Half of 125th Anniversary fame. The team will be managed by Veryl Hufley who stated that because of the "outstanding" ability of the men he has signed up he believes the team should be called "Chelsea All-Stars."

The Jaycees team will include Dan Maroney, George Winchester and Jaycees' President Merle Leach, to name only a few.

Fred Hoffman is in charge of distribution of the advance sale of tickets for the event.

It was also announced at Tuesday's meeting that four members of the Chelsea Jaycees will attend the summer board meeting of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce being held at Cadillac this week-end. The four are George Winchester, Ron Eder, Merle Leach and Maroney.

Rod-Gun Club Completes Plans For Trap Shoot

At the regular monthly meeting of Chelsea Rod and Gun club, held Tuesday evening at the Legion home at Cavanaugh Lake, plans were completed for opening the annual trap shoot program at the club grounds on Lingane Rd.

The grand opening is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 14, at 2 p.m. Club members and any others interested may participate.

Forty-two members were present for Tuesday's meeting and for the lunch served at the conclusion of the business session.

Groundbreaking Ceremonies Set by St. Barnabas Mission

To the strains of the seventh century hymn, "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation, Christ the Head and Corner Stone," the members of St. Barnabas' Episcopal Mission will break ground for their new church building Sunday, Aug. 14.

After worshipping for six years in the old school house on the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds, St. Barnabas' church will mark the beginning of an ambitious building program for the years to come by beginning their $45,000.00 structure this week.

Robert Baldwin, chairman of the Bishop's Committee, and Mrs. Judson Goltz, president of the Episcopal Women of Chelsea, will turn the first spadeful of earth at the spot which one day soon will mark the site of the altar. The Rev. Allan W. Reed, vicar of St. Barnabas, and representatives of the Diocese of Michigan and Saint Andrew's church, Ann Arbor, sponsors of the Mission, will also assist.

The special service for groundbreaking will begin in the Rod School building at 9:30 a.m. After prayers and a brief address by the vicar, the congregation will follow the choir through the street to the site of the new building, one block east of the present church.

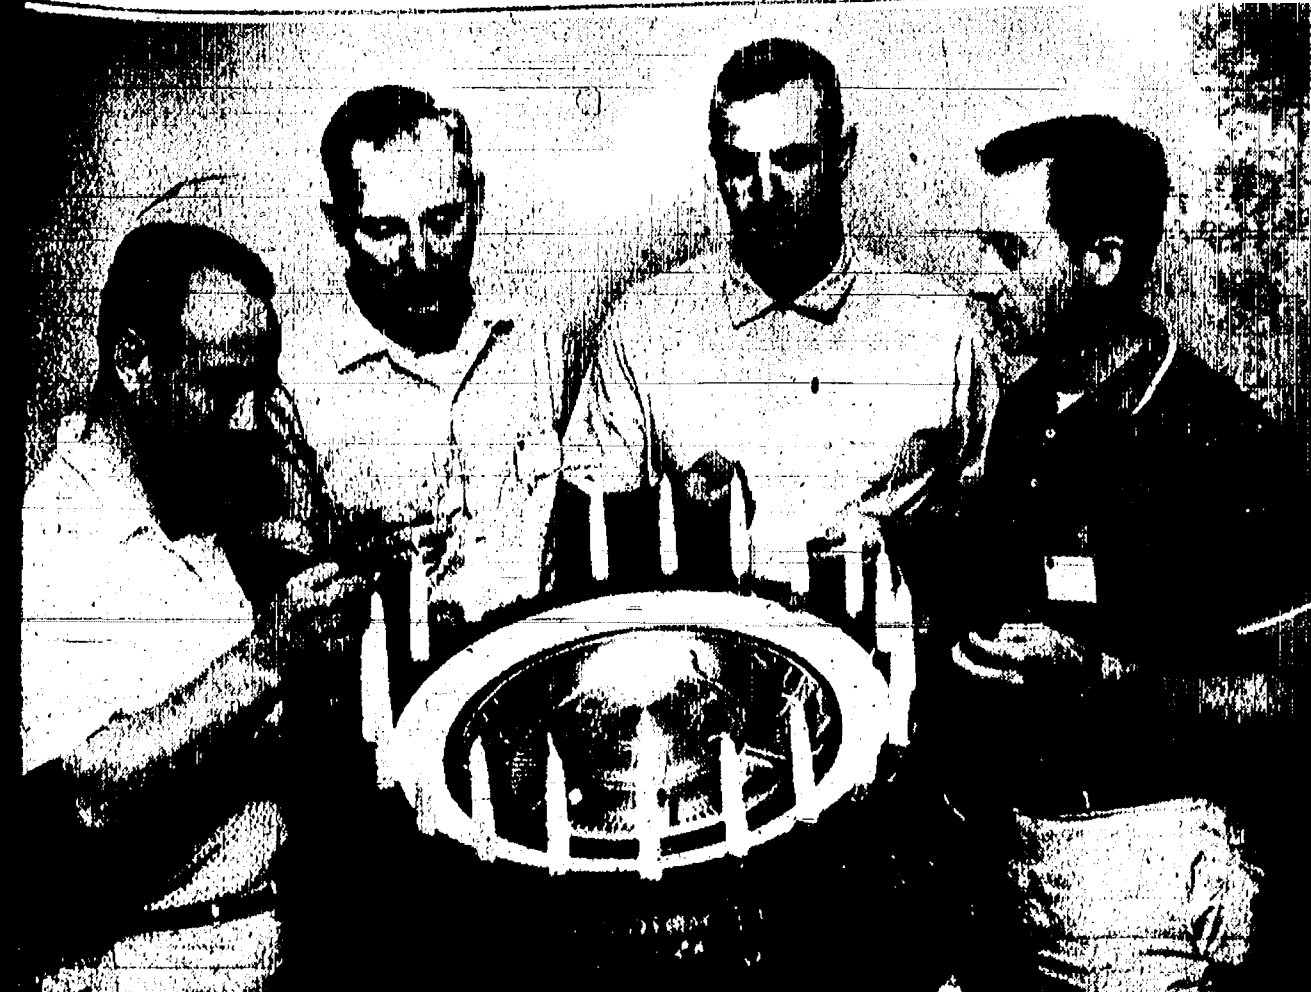

Construction on the new building, designed by Charles Scott of Toledo, O., is expected to begin within ten days. Chelsea Associated Builders has been awarded contracts as general contractor. Other contractors include several local firms.

The new building will provide the people of Saint Barnabas with adequate area for worship services with a seating capacity of 150. The undercroft will contain utility rooms, a kitchen, rest rooms and a combination church school and social room.

Members of the building committee who have carried out the wishes of the congregation in procuring an adequate building are Stuart Becker, chairman; Edward Leamon and Harold Waller. Women of the church have concentrated their efforts in raising money above their regular mission giving for the new building. An ice cream social is planned for Aug. 20 and plans for a Christmas bazaar are being made.

The owner is entitled to a free mounted photo of the place if he or she will call at The Standard office by Saturday. This is the 111th in the current series of farm photos being published each week.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH ROBBY

★ The GOP Platform And Business

By all odds the greatest controversy in the Republican National Convention was over the platform. The particular points upon which there was disagreement were civil rights, defense, and to a lesser degree the proposal for federal aid to education. Until the last it appeared there would be an argument on the floor, but that did not happen. None the less, this is the most liberal platform ever adopted by the Republicans.

But just as in the case of the Democratic platform, we are concerned only with those pledges and policies which have a direct bearing upon the business trend. There is a vast and basic difference between the two platforms in this regard.

The Democrats, it will be recalled, pledged whatever policies that may be necessary to have a national growth rate of 5 per cent, and made it clear that this was a responsibility of government. The Republicans are in favor of mere rapid growth (they mention no specific percentage), but insist that this must result, not from government action, but through the decisions of free men. Their proposals, therefore, are designed primarily to create a climate which will encourage growth.

The exact words in the Republican platform are: "To build a better America with broad national purposes such as high employment, vigorous and steady economic growth, and a dependable currency, responsible management of our federal finances is essential. Even more important, a sound economy is vital to national security."

They state it as their belief that "except in times of war or economic adversity, expenditures should be covered by revenues" and "our tax structure should be

ROAD HIDDEN—That's Miller Rd., near the Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. (in background), buried under all that sand. Scores of ancient trees, many estimated to be over 100 years old, are making way as Washtenaw County Road Commission employees clear Miller all along its length in preparation for possible blacktopping next year. Sand and gravel will be added and grading done this year; and the intersection of Miller and Wagner Rd. is being lowered 8 feet to eliminate a dangerous peak right where the two meet. (Photo Courtesy of Ann Arbor News)

TV TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Ralf Hardester, Features Editor TV Guide Magazine

BOTH THE DEMOCRATS AND THE REPUBLICANS plan to avoid pre-empting popular TV shows during the fall Presidential Campaign, not wanting to irritate the viewer-voter. They'll take five-minute periods for quick messages, with only a handful of it full-dress half-hour appearances planned.

Rea Shaw has been added to The Tab Hunter Show cast as a regular. Burr Tillstrom may wind up on Broadway before the end of the year—with Kukla, O'Neil and the rest of the ageless Kuklaopolitans. Host Ronald Reagan also will star in the opening G.E. Theater episode of the fall season, "Good-bye, My Love," with Anne Baxter set as the costar. Producer Don (Hunnesey) McGuire has plans for two new series, one to star Abby Dalton, the other Jimmie Komack. Both are Hennesey regulars.

LOOK FOR the Jack Paar show to be telecast in color in the near future. October's Times special will be taped in Copenhagen. Project 20 is busy shooting masterpieces by Raphael, Michelangelo and Botticelli in Rome and Florence for its life of Christ special Dec. 21. Ed Murrow returns to Person to Person which will replace his Small World Sunday nights at 6 next fall. Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom will provide the voice of Clarence the Kindhearted Housebreaker in ABC's new Flintstones cartoon series. Phil Silvers' lone special next season will be called "Just Polly and Me," Polly being Polly Bergen. CBS has scheduled for October. The TV Academy is now seriously considering airing its Emmy Awards next September, instead of June, in order that the Awards might reflect the entire October-through-June season.

THEY'RE KILLING OFF the oaters and the gumshoes and bringing on the laugh-em-ups at CBS. Going are Hotel De Paree, Johnny Ringo, the Texan, Markham, Mr. Lucky and Tightrope! Added to the roster are Angel (Annie Farge, Marshall Thompson), Bringing Up Buddy (Frank Aletter, Enid Markay and Doro Merande), The Tom Ewell Show, The Andy Griffith Show, Pete and Gladys (Harry Morgan and Cara Williams) and My Sister Eileen (Elaine Stritch and Shirley Bonney). Jack E. Leonard is trying to convince networks he'd be great as star of the proposed new Major Hoople series he hopes to circulate. The Shirley Temple Show will explore the life and times of Winnie-the-Pooh in October. Bob Hope has taped one of his fall specials at the United States Air Force Academy, North of Colorado Springs, Colo. Burl Ives will be the star in Zane Grey Theater's opener in the fall.

DIRECTIVE ISSUED

The Defense Department has issued a directive that will mean the stripping of secrecy labels from tons of old documents that have accumulated in guarded storerooms, across the land. Reduced storage costs for records no longer needing heavy protection could run to several hundred thousand dollars a year, it was noted. The declassification order was issued by Deputy Secretary of Defense James H. Douglas.

Vegetables or fruits exposed to fallout should be washed thoroughly, then peeled, pared or the outside portion removed in such a way that hands or utensils do not contaminate the parts to be eaten.

CARRY ON NURSE

"Carry On Nurse" is a dizzy daffy offering from Britain that may induce plenty of giggles and guffaws in spectators who happen to be in just the right silly sort of mood.

There isn't much plot involved. The setting is the men's ward of a hospital where the patients include a scholar, a boxer, a horse-race enthusiast and a piker. The nurses, ranging from a horseface to real beauties, have their hands full with their unpredictable charges. Said charges, among other things, consume champagne, sneak off to an operating room to perform a do-it-yourself job on a bunion, etc., etc.; and the latter affair is reduced to a shambles.

Snakes Are Most Disliked Living Thing of Outdoors

Few, if any, living things in Michigan's out-of-doors are so feared by more than snakes. Hence, many people feel that the "only good snake is a dead snake." It is not true, of course. It is a purely speculative idea that the serpent's role in the Garden of Eden in the Bible is the type of thinking. Of more importance, the snake is advancing such anti-snake sentiment are the superstitions, and general misunderstanding, which have since blossomed. There are countless fallacies about snakes, many of which are with a reputation being evil, deadly or, at best, detestable. The table has it that the hog-

Common Snakes of Michigan

BEEN SEEING SNAKES? Summer is the active season for snakes in Michigan and here are the ones you're most apt to see. If you shudder at the thought of meeting up with snakes, it may ease your mind to know that Michigan has only one poisonous species—the Massasauga or rattlesnake. And even this rattler, confined to the lower peninsula and Bois Blanc Island, is too small to inflict a fatal wound except, perhaps, to a small child. There is no authentic record of a person dying in this state from a bite of a native snake. Superstitions and myths have generated many false fears about snakes and clouded the generally beneficial role these reptiles play in the "balance of nature."

enhance the lowly status of snakes and, in effect, has branded most snakes with the "skull and crossed-bones" seal.

If you shudder at the thought of meeting up with a snake, it may ease your mind to know that Michigan has only one poisonous species—the Massasauga or rattlesnake. And even this one, confined to the Lower Peninsula and Bois Blanc Island, is only mildly poisonous. There is no authentic record of a person dying in Michigan from a bite of a native snake. The Massasauga can produce some uncomfortable after-effects to those it bites if first aid is not properly and promptly applied.

Whisky is no cure for snake bites as some people believe.

The rattler is identified by its namesake, but, contrary to another false belief, its age cannot be told by counting its rattles. When aroused, this snake vibrates its rattles which produce a "buzzing" or "hissing" sound. The Massasauga has a thick body blotched with black or brown markings on a lighter background. It is a denizen of marshy areas and wet meadows but may range far upland in summer.

All of Michigan's other snakes are harmless.

Garter snakes are the most familiar, being found almost everywhere from wooded lands above the Straits to farms and suburban areas of the Lower Peninsula. They prefer moist places near swamps, lakes and streams, but are also present on uplands. Their diet includes frogs, toads, fish,

Don't Side with The Wrong People

By Paul L. Adams
State Attorney General

(Note: This is one in a series of articles by Paul L. Adams, State Attorney General, concerning frauds affecting the consumers of this State.)

"Your home has been selected as a model in this neighborhood for an aluminum siding job." These words spoken by unscrupulous salesmen have cost Michigan residents hard-earned dollars yearly.

My investigations as Attorney General indicate that the application of siding stands out as one of the most fruitful sources of exorbitant profits by those who prey upon the desire of homeowners to improve their property.

And the fraudulent gimmicks used keep pace with the huge profits to be made by the unprincipled organizations using door-to-door salesmen in this business.

You may be told that your home has been selected as a neighborhood model to be photographed and advertised and you will be paid $100 for each new siding job acquired as a result of this advertising. Thus, your siding job will cost you next to nothing. Actually it will probably cost you twice as much as a legitimate businessman would charge. And don't depend on referral money. The chances are you will never get a penny.

Another gimmick is that your home is being considered by the board of directors for a siding job which, if you are picked, will be used as a model for national advertising. If you win the company will send you a check every month for a number of years to pay you for the cost of the siding. Don't worry! Next morning you will be informed that you have won.

Of course to be eligible for the job, you will be asked to sign a work order authorizing the work.

What you are signing is a promise. If you refuse to pay you will be threatened with court action. And don't wait on the checks from the company. They will never arrive.

Don't fall for these gimmicks. If you want a siding job, compare estimates from legitimate businesses in your area.

The something-for-nothing you may think you are getting now will cost you headaches, heartaches and paychecks for many years to come.

Envy and jealousy eat out one's soul and warp one's personality.

Backward Tips Deadliest of All Tractor Mishaps
Michigan's late spring is putting a lot of pressure on farmers to hurry in handling farm equipment.

WANT ADS

This hurrying often causes an epidemic of backward tractor tips, warns a Michigan State University farm safety specialist.

WANT ADS

"Backward tips are the deadliest kind," points out Richard Pfister, "continuing survey of newspaper clippings shows about 50 Michigan deaths from these tips in the 1950's."

WANT ADS

Farmers are working a lot of soft ground this spring, Pfister observes, leading to more times of getting stuck. Then it's a temptation to rock back and forth violently rather than take time to ask a neighbor for a pull.

WANT ADS

"The neighbor can pull you out in a few minutes," Pfister points out. "If you don't call him, he may wind up doing all your work while you lie in a hospital bed."

WANT ADS

Backing up is the "only safe way out" when the rear tires become mired more than 12 inches deep.

WANT ADS

At about that depth, the tractor's weight is no longer supported by the bottom of the tire. It shifts to the point where the tire's leading edge hits the ground. The leading edge would then, near the tractor's center of gravity, making a backward tip quite easy.

WANT ADS

"Don't kid yourself that you can disengage the clutch in time," Pfister warns. "You have less than two-fifths of a second to prevent a tip once it starts."

WANT ADS

He advises using a low drawbar for all pulling. Some people feel a higher hitch gives more traction, but it often causes a backward tip.

WANT ADS

Driving over small ditches also causes a lot of tractor tips at this time of year. A steep bank is dangerous even if it's shallow.

WANT ADS

The amount of gravel roads on Michigan's trunkline highway system has been reduced from more than 800 miles to 454 miles since July 1, 1957. The remaining gravel trunkline roads will be paved by the end of 1962.

IN good numbers, otherwise once a day is enough.

WANT ADS

Hooks are customarily baited with small bits of cut fish. Spawn and liver from female whitefish are best but sucker meat also works well.

WANT ADS

Use a No. 3 or 4 hook, placing your sinker about 18 or 20 inches above the hook and bait. Lower your line until the sinker touches bottom, then reel it up until your bait is just off bottom. Fishing action is generally best from 7 to 12 a.m., 3 to 5 p.m., and 7 to 10 p.m.

WANT ADS

A large net is a must for landing whitefish. Hooks tear out of the small, soft, paper-thin mouths of these fish very easily and, consequently, many meals-to-be will escape unless they are expertly netted.

WANT ADS

Whitefish are found in many trout lakes. They are most abundant in lakes open to spearing during the Oct. 15-Dec. 31 season. Fishermen may obtain free listings of these lakes by writing the Michigan Department of Conservation, Fish Division, Lansing.

Whitefish Offers Sportsmen Overlooked Summer Sport
Lansing—Hook and line anglers are "missing the boat" to summer sport in a number of Michigan's northern inland lakes.

WANT ADS

That's the word from Conservation Department fisheries men whose lake trout egg-collecting work of recent years has turned up large whitefish populations in lakes that were speared. Before this, they knew little about whitefish numbers in Michigan waters.

WANT ADS

Apparently, fishermen have not been tuned in to this opportunity because they give little attention to this fine-food fish during the summer months. Whitefish fever hits its highest pitch among most fishermen during the fall spearing season.

WANT ADS

Angling for whitefish is somewhat of a specialized sport. Successful fishermen have found that fishing over baited areas, usually marked with buoys, puts them in a good "bargaining position." At this time of year, bait should be placed in deep waters where whitefish retreat when shallow areas become too warm.

WANT ADS

Canned or whole sweet corn, macaroni, rice, tapioca, or oatmeal make excellent baits. About half a pint of bait should be scattered around buoys daily for three or four days before fishing begins.

Other calls during the past two weeks were to the Verne Fordyce property, 115 Orchard St., where contents of a waste basket caught fire in the John Fischer apartment. The fire had been extinguished when firemen arrived.

Another call, Thursday, July 28, at 4:41 p.m., was to the rear of Chelsea Hardware Co., where a power lawn mower caught fire.

Additional Street Work To Be Done

The Chelsea Village Council report on street work this week states that two additional streets are included for some work as part of the 1960 street improvement program.

Because of the poor condition of the surface and base, Garfield St. will be scarified and oiled this year. This is being done so that it may be more easily and economically maintained until it can be properly rebuilt, either in 1961 or 1962.

Jackson St. from East St. to the depot will be scarified and oiled from the depot to Main will receive one coat of black top.

The one half section of Washington St. near the high school entrance is to be scarified and oiled this year. Next year it is intended to resurface all of Washington St.

Vision Tests Are Given to 5,779 Children

Results of a vision testing program in schools during the 1959-1960 school year were made known today by Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Officer, and showed a total of 5,779 children received vision checks by the vision testing technician on the staff of the Washtenaw County Health Department.

According to Dr. Engelke, a screening vision test is given initially by the technician, and indicates those children who may need further evaluation. Following this test, he said, a more delicate test is given to eliminate any children who may have had difficulty with the screening-type test for various reasons other than visual defects.

All those who show a need for medical attention as a result of the second test are referred to eye doctors for further care. This group totaled 621 children said Dr. Engelke.

Already, reports have been received that 375 children have completed the follow-up procedures with their doctors, and more than 200 more indicate that they are in the process.

Vision tests are administered by the health department each year as part of the health department's comprehensive school health program. Co-operating in this program are the county medical society, the schools, and a host of volunteers in each of the school areas where tests are given.

Testing procedures include the use of a new Bausch & Lomb device which eliminates many variables such as light intensity in the room, location of light sources and so on. These factors, many times influence the results of vision tests, but are not problems in the current health department program Dr. Engelke concluded.

Fallout Shelter Will Be Built at Ann Arbor Home

Ann Arbor has been chosen as the site for one of eight new fallout shelters to be built by federal Civil Defense funds at the home of a private citizen. It has been announced.

The shelter will be open to the public during certain periods of the week for approximately a year, State CD Director Ralph M. Sheehan said. Its purpose is to provide visual incentive to all American citizens to show the simplicity of preparing home protection in the event of nuclear attack.

Private homes in five Michigan cities already contain the demonstration shelters. Funds for eight additional cities in the state were provided last month by Congress to the Federal Office of Civil Defense.

Sites for the shelters were chosen by the State CD Office subject to approval from the Federal Office of Civil Defense and Defense Mobilization. The exact location in Ann Arbor has not been determined.

Former Senior Bandsmen Urged To Attend Rehearsal

David Lindsay, instrumental music director in Chelsea schools, announced this week that summer band classes and rehearsals will continue through Friday, Aug. 19.

Senior Band rehearsals are held Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m., and Director Lindsay said attendance is good and membership is growing; however, he is hoping that all former Senior Band members who are still in high school will rejoin the band as they are very much needed to round out instrumentation.

Without the co-operation of these former band members, the director said, there will be 27 people in the band. While the 27 are working nicely, he said, the addition of 28 former band members would make it a really fine Senior Band.

Director Lindsay said he would welcome the return of former members.

Adults who play band instruments are invited to attend rehearsals, also, the director said. Excellent attendance and interest in band classes and rehearsals is resulting in progress in these groups giving evidence of a bright future for sea school bands, Lindsay.

All band classes and rehearsals are held in the band room at Chelsea High school.

Requirements Listed for Wheat Loan

Wheat of the 1960 crop to be offered as security for a farm-storage price-support loan must have been stored in a satisfactory granary at least 30 days before it is inspected for measurement, a sampling and sealing, chairman Max M. Kaimbach of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today in a harvest-time reminder to wheat growers.

Other principal farm-storage wheat loan requirements were listed by Kaimbach as follows:

1. Ownership of the wheat must rest in the producer who is seeking the loan or in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the wheat was harvested.

2. Wheat must grade No. 3 or better, or grade No. 4 or No. 5 on the factor of test weight, only, or be classed as mixed wheat provided the mixture is a natural product of the field.

3. Wheat grading "tough," "weevely," "ergoty" or "treated" is ineligible for a farm-storage loan.

The basic price-support rate for farm-stored wheat in Washtenaw county is $1.81 per bushel for No. 1 wheat. High protein content brings a premium. Discounts range from 1 cent a bushel for No. 2 to 15 cents a bushel for garlicky. In addition there is a discount of 20 cents a bushel for 37 specified varieties which are classed as undesirable because of inferior milling or baking qualities.

Application for a wheat loan should be made at the Washtenaw county ASC office, located at Room 18, Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor.

State Police Recruiting Drive Opens

An opportunity to become a trooper in the Michigan State Police, one of the finest police organizations in existence, is again open to qualified young men, according to Sgt. Ray McConnell, commander of the Jackson post.

"Every young man should investigate this opportunity right now because it doesn't come very often," he emphasized. "The pay is good, the work interesting, there is job security and a liberal pension plan."

Complete information and application blanks may be obtained at any State Police post or from the State Civil Service Commission. Applications must be turned in or mailed to any post or the Civil Service Commission not later than Wednesday, Sept. 7. Applications postmarked up to midnight that day will be accepted.

Eligible are men 21 to 29 years of age, married or single, at least 5 feet 10 inches tall, in good health and of good character, and with a high school education or its equivalent.

Trooper pay begins at $4,050 and goes to a maximum of $6,744 plus longevity pay after six years.

Promotion in rank brings substantial pay increases. There are paid vacations, paid sick leave, a subsistence allowance of $3 a day, and, in addition, uniforms and equipment are furnished. Officers are eligible for pensions at half pay after 25 years of service, with the same provision also for the widow in event of death of the retired officer.

The trooper pay scale begins when the recruit enters training.

Sheriff Candidate Will Probably Ask Recount of Votes

Indications this week are that Richard H. Williams of 1377 Hunter Ave., Willow Village, will ask for a recount of the Aug. 2 election results in the contest for nomination as the Democratic candidate for sheriff of Washtenaw county.

First results of the election showed that Williams lost to Lawrence Oltersdorf by the slim margin of 21 votes—2,011 to 2,032.

At that time Williams said he would not request a recount; however, since then, as a result of voting discrepancies he said he had "found" in Ypsilanti township, the results had varied from 21 to 17—and then 18 votes before a final standing of 20 votes behind Oltersdorf was the final figure.

Last week-end, County Clerk Luella Smith and Harold W. Schneider, chairman of the Board of Canvassers, disclosed that official tabulations of figures taken from the records submitted by city and township clerks will show Lawrence P. Oltersdorf as the winner over Williams by a slender margin of 20 votes. They said the tabulation gained two votes for Oltersdorf and three for Williams.

The official totals for the primary are: Oltersdorf 2,013 and Williams, 2,033.

Election records show that this is the closest election race in the recent history of Washtenaw county.

1860 Census Report Listed County Population at 6,680

Just 100 years ago the population of Washtenaw county was listed officially in a book of census statistics prepared by the office of the Michigan Secretary of State as "35,747 inhabitants" with 6,880 families in the county.

The 1860 population figure of 17,278 is almost five times that number.

Total population in the state in 1860 was 754,281 and in the entire United States, 31,046,490.

The book from which the 1860 figures are taken is the property of Mrs. Clinton C. Johnson. It was published Oct. 1, 1861, when James B. Porter was secretary of state.

A foreword in the book of statistics states that it was being published "in pursuance of an act of the Legislature of the State of Michigan approved March 10, 1861."

Villages and smaller towns were not listed separately in the book—only township populations being given; however, Ann Arbor's population was listed as 4,447 as compared to the 1960 figure of 66,779.

The list of inhabitants in 1860, for townships in this area includes the following: Sylvan 1,587; Sharon 1,000; Scio 1,820; Lyndon 823; Lima 592; Freedom 1,330;

Webster 1,206; Scio 1,820; and Dexter township 857.

In addition to figures on the number of inhabitants, the 1860 census figures included the number of houses in the townships and counties as well as the number of livestock animals and the value of the stock.

Washtenaw county had, in 1860, a total of 9,034 horses; 4 mules; 11,545 milch cows; 3,272 working oxen; 15,320 other cattle; 105,424 sheep; and 20,032 swine. Total value of the stock was $1,017,047.

There were 1,531 houses in cities of Washtenaw county and 6,052 houses in the entire county.

Livestock listed for Sylvan township was: 376 horses; 400 milch cows; 210 working oxen; 691 other cattle; 6,275 sheep; and 741 swine. Total value of stock, $92,255. Figures for other area townships:

Lima—427 horses; 581 milch cows; 161 working oxen; 777 other cattle; 8,017 sheep; and 763 swine. Total value $106,733.

Lyndon—257 horses; 363 milch cows; 180 working oxen; 548 other cattle; 5,577 sheep; and 862 swine. Total value $44,411.

Dexter township—250 horses; 373 milch cows; 160 working oxen; 511 other cattle; 7,476 sheep; and 718 swine. Total value $77,150.

Scio—448 horses; 500 milch cows; 160 working oxen; 783 other cattle; 9,049 sheep; and 472 swine. Total value $103,340.

Freedom—461 horses; 656 milch cows; 200 working oxen; 907 other cattle; 6,010 sheep; and 1,279 swine. Total value, $76,970.

Sharon—450 horses; 432 milch cows; 126 working oxen; 693 other cattle; 11,096 sheep; and 1,047 swine. Total value, $112,865.

It was interesting to note that Washtenaw county led all other counties in the state in the number of sheep in 1860—105,424.

Also of interest were population figures for the county for 1840 and 1850 for purposes of comparison.

In 1840 Washtenaw county's population was 23,571; in 1850 it was 28,569; and in 1860, 35,747.

Michigan's population for 1840 was 212,287; 1850, 397,065; and 1860, 751,110.

Also listed were the state population figures for 1820 and 1830, as well as the totals for the entire United States from 1820 through 1860.

The figures are as follows, with the state and national amounts, respectively—1820, 8,896 and 9,638,131; 1830—31,639 and 12,866,020; 1840—212,287 and 17,009,453; 1850—397,065 and 23,191,074; and 1860—754,281 and 31,046,490.

Complete figures for the state and nation in the 1860 census are not yet listed officially.

In 1960 Sylvan township's population is 4,338; Freedom township, 1,058; Lima township, 1,391; Lyndon township, 1,028; Sharon township, 759; Scio township, 6,135; Webster township, 1,280; and Dexter township, 1,682.

County Democrats To Meet Wednesday for Convention

Next Wednesday, Aug. 17, in Room 1 of the County Building at Ann Arbor, Washtenaw county Democrats will hold their county convention. The convention is open to the public.

The keynote speaker, Otis M. Smith, Michigan auditor-general, will be introduced by Mrs. Grace Markwardt of Ann Arbor, Democratic candidate for state representative from the first district.

Mrs. Markwardt is also the Washtenaw county member of the Democratic State Central Committee. Chairmen of convention committees include Allan Grossman of Saline, resolutions; Richard Denard of Ann Arbor, hospitality; Weston Vivian of Ann Arbor, credentials; and J. Kenneth Kelley of Ypsilanti, rules.

Delegates to this convention will elect 23 delegates and 23 alternates to attend the state convention of the Democratic party to be held later this month in Grand Rapids.

Delegates to this convention from Scio township include Robert Holliday, Oliver R. and Richard E. Nash and Eileen Evans.

Sylvan township delegates to the convention are Clyde Martin, William Rademacher and Dennis Talant for Precinct 1 and Dr. Charles Miller, Norman Eismann and Donn Joseph for Precinct 2.

Lima township delegates are Leigh Beach and Fred Barth while those from Lyndon township are Gerald Grohner and Mrs. Dennis Guinan.

PENTAGON CRITICIZED

A recently released Senate report said that Defense Department estimates of the need for military housing were out of line with the number of men in uniform.

In releasing the report, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, (Democrat of Texas), said "closer cooperation" by the department "between military family housing" would help to save taxpayers' dollars.

The report was issued by the Preparedness Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Senator Johnson heads the subcommittee.

It's unfortunate that the symptoms of fatigue and of laziness are practically identical.

State Fair Entry Deadline Date Set for Aug. 12

Deadline for agriculture and livestock entries for the Michigan State Fair is Friday, Aug. 12, this year.

The announcement was by Donald L. Swanson, general manager, who reported that thousands of 1960 Premium Books have been mailed to Michigan Exhibitors announcing a record $140,000 in prizes for this year's 111th annual Michigan State Fair to be held Sept. 2-11 in Detroit.

Eldon McLachlan, State Fair agricultural director, said that changes listed in this year's Premium Book included:

1. Dairy Cattle premiums have been increased by $1,000.

2. A special banner will be awarded the Junior Champion Sow and Boar.

3. The tenure of steer ownership must be at least 90 days.

4. The addition of two Performance Classes for both Arabian and Appaloosa Horses.

Swanson suggested that farmers make every effort to get their entries in as early as possible.

He explained that in recent years practically all categories have been filled to capacity—many long before the deadline—and urged everyone to avoid the last-minute rush and the possibility of being "shut out" because of lack of space.

The 1960 Premium Book has been mailed to a permanent list of farmers including those exhibitors in last year's State Fair. Anyone not on the mailing list, or anyone desiring a free copy, should write to the Director of Agricultural Exhibits, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 110, originally pictured in the Aug. 4 edition of The Standard without identification, proved to be the Claude Deatricks place at 18000 M-92, fronting on Green Lake. The Deatricks have lived there since 1946.

Claude Deatricks Home on M-92 at Green Lake Quickly Identified After Publication

Brooksville and Arthur Deatricks quickly recognized the photo published in The Standard, Aug. 4 without identification, as the Claude Deatricks place at 18000 M-92. Others who recognized the home were Earl Kuhl and Charles Curtis, who later also should have been listed. Mystery Farm No. 109 is a photo of the Arthur Deatricks, who bought the place in 1940, came here from Lyndon township, Ohio, in 1946 and made their home on the farm.

Deatricks, who had retired at the time after teaching in rural Ohio for 36 years, then moved to the former Canfield school north of Chelsea from fall of 1946 until the spring of 1952.

The house which appears in the photo is, no longer occupied by the Deatricks, but make their home in a new house built which appears at a distance behind the old house.

Deatricks' son, Claude Ray, his wife and two children, their daughter, Sarah Mae, husband Wesley McClain, and three children, also have moved to the farm although they do not appear in the photo.

The senior Deatricks have a daughter, Dinah Grate, a 1960 Chelsea High school graduate, living with them.

They have another daughter, Doris, now Mrs. Harold Wolff of Battle Creek. The Wolffs' nine-year-old daughter is the Deatricks' seventh grandchild.

The senior Deatricks bought the 300-acre farm from the Henry Stofor estate.

To many area residents the farm is still often referred to as "the Stofor place." The Stofor family had come into possession of the farm in 1874.

Included in the family were Harry and Harriet Stofor, Platt, Arthur, Platt, and the late "Cora" Stofor, Stofor, Homer Stofor, a former Lyndon township supervisor, Laura Stofor-Nichols, Emma Stofor, and George Stofor.

Prior to 1874 the farm was known as the James Gorman place. Gorman's widow, the former Alice Youngs, lived there many years, following her husband's death.

The farm has considerable frontage on Green Lake across the road from the farmhouses and other buildings.

Delving into earlier history of the farm brought out the fact that a great-grandmother of Mrs. Dale Keeser is buried on an island in the lake, the spot being marked by a clump of lilac bushes. The family name of the great-grandmother was Hastings.

Deatricks says he is one of the few area farmers who still use horse-drawn farm implements.

cured the farm land from the U. S. Government.

At that time the site of the grave was on a rise of ground which became the island a number of years later when the lake level was raised following construction of a dam on neighboring property.

The Henry Stofors built the now unoccupied house, an older home having been moved to the location some years earlier from the former site of other farm buildings on an old road, no longer in public use, which crosses the farm.

Deatricks tore down the old house and used the lumber for a small cabin.

Deatricks does truck farming and some general farming and pastures from 15 to 20 cows and eight horses on the remaining hilly portions of the farm.

He has always interested himself in horse trading and, in addition, keeps a yoke of oxen which are trained to old style harness. Drawing a covered wagon, the oxen have appeared in Community Fair and other parades here and are taken to many other communities. Only last week Deatricks took them to Defiance, O., where a farmers' convention was in progress with thousands of farmers in attendance.

Deatricks says he is one of the few area farmers who still use horse-drawn farm implements.

Boating Accidents Usually Found To Be Result of 'Operator Negligence'

Not as many people die in boats each year as on our highways, but the number is quite significant, nevertheless. In fact, a survey made some time ago by the Outboard Boating Club of America, produced some surprising facts regarding most fatal accidents.

Contrary to what most of us think, excessive speed in boats is not one of the principal causes of fatalities. In fact, young operators and high speeds are only incidental factors in boating accidents, according to the O.B.C. report.

Of the cases studied, the survey showed that the average age of skippers involved in fatal accidents was a little over 36 years. One such skipper in 12 was less than 20 years of age. This seems to vindicate the young skipper, although it is quite likely that he is capable of a greater swimming performance after an accident, than the older skipper, and that therefore he escapes drowning when some older persons might not be so fortunate.

The result of the study was the finding that more than 30 per cent of the accidents analyzed were caused by "operator negligence."

Capsize or overturning the boat was the biggest single factor in the cause of accident. (This included accidents where a boat was found overturned and there was no accurate description of events at the time of the accident.)

Collisions with other boats, and with such things as rocks and reefs or submerged objects, caused 8.82 per cent of the accidents over the period under observation.

The warning is obvious: boat owners must refrain from overloading their boats, refrain from standing up in their boats or having a passenger stand up (in smaller boats), and avoid negligence in any form. And boat operators who are more than 36 years old should remember that they are in the most dangerous category.

Many Large Industrial Firms Find Move to Small Community Gratifying

Not too long ago a national weekly newspaper reported on the trend of big business to move its plants into smaller towns. The report was highly enlightening.

One firm which had operated in a large metropolitan area for half a century, recently erected plants in two small communities and the company president reported that the firm was delighted with the results.

In the first place, he said, the business had been virtually unknown in the large city and workers were not in touch with the needs of people in smaller towns who used the product manufactured. In the smaller towns, where the two new plants were opened, citizens were eager to have the new plants locate in their communities and helped raise money for the buildings, on a loan basis, and took a great interest in the business enterprise. They were happy, contented, good workers, and had the interest of the business at heart.

Labor relations in such a plant, and in a community which appreciates the location of a such a plant, are of the best.

These are some of the reasons, in brief, why so many big corporations are building plants in the nation's smaller communities. This is good for the nation, and produces good management-labor relations. We hope and see no reason why this trend will not continue at an even accelerated pace during the future years.

Fifteen sturdy New York women have proved that they have the stuff of which heroines are made. They watched television shows 12 hours a day for a week in experiment aimed at aiding humanity.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was in mighty fine voice. Ed Doolittle, as usual led the discussion. He got underway by announcing that he was borrowing a bulldozer so he could clean out the junk his old lady has stored in the garage. He allowed as how he ain't been able to get nothing but the front bumper under the roof since last fall.

There ain't no doubt about it that a garage has got the old fashioned attic beat two to one for a place to store junk. When I see some of the junk folks has got stored in their garages as I drive along the road, I wonder how in this world we got along afore the days of the automobile.

Zeke Grubb was telling the fellers he saw where a supermarket survey in Chicago showed that the wimmen buy most of the cartons of beer and that they pick the brand they like best. Zeke said the piece didn't say, but he reckoned the men has took to buying the soap—I mean detergent—for the kitchen sink that's the easiest on their hands.

It was agreed unanimously that about the only thing wimmen ain't took over in the country is chewing tobacco and Bug Hookum. He said he was reading a piece not long ago where 81 million pounds of it was sold last year, or about a half pound for ever man, woman, and child in the country. I wouldn't put it past a few wimmen to be chewing a little on the sly. The statistics, Mister Editor, would indicate it.

One feller predicted that the price of sugar would go sky high one of these days on account of all the trouble they been having in Cuba. Ed allowed as how high priced sugar was okay with him, said he wasn't in favor of putting no cheap sugar in 80-cent-a-pound coffee. Ed always did like to go first class.

Clem Webster said he saw a piece in the papers where about one out of over four couples getting married these days gets a divorce. All the fellers was agreed, naturally, that it was the wimmen's fault. Clem allowed as how the average woman today gets a husband like buying a old house. She don't see it the way it is, but the way it'll be when she gets through remodeling. Any woman that married a man with the idea of remodeling him is going to be as disappointed as a woman that gets married because she's tired of working.

The session ended on a high level, with a discussion on foreign aid. It was agreed that our foreign friends backslide when the money stops and it's still Uncle Sam versus everybody. It was voted it's just as easy to maintain that status without foreign aid as with it.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

The watchdog over Michigan's money matters is the Auditor General, a position now held by Otis M. Smith.

Until the first of the year, the Auditor General's office also wrote the state's checks and balanced—or tried to balance—the checkbook.

An act of the 1959 legislature created a situation not unlike one that could be found in many homes. The Treasury Department, like a good wife, has taken over the task of writing and disbursing warrants against the state. But the Auditor General's department, like a good husband, still retains the power to check fiscal operations and see that the books balance.

The philosophy behind the change was that one agency ought not to have both pre-audit and post-audit powers.

Action of the Auditor General is now concentrated on checking not only the Treasury department, which handles state payrolls, welfare payments and general expenditures made by the Department of Administration, but the operations of all state agencies which have substantial money matters in their own hands.

Chief among these would be the Highway Department, Department of Revenue, the larger regulatory agencies, colleges, hospitals, and prisons.

Agencies which have major financial matters in their hands are audited annually. Those with lesser powers are audited each two or three years.

In addition, a commercial firm of auditors is hired every year to audit the Auditor General's operations.

The County Audit Division of the Auditor General's department is supposed to examine the books, accounts and financial affairs of each county department and institution annually.

However, understuffing permits only periodic checks with commercial accounting firms doing part of the work.

Things the Auditor General looks for in going over the books of state or county agencies include: Whether procedures involving systems and records conform to the laws; whether the handling of funds and property has been done properly; and whether cost accounting records and reports are adequate and effective.

The great debate over use of wilderness areas, particularly in the Upper Peninsula, for commercial operation still rages.

It seems to involve a basic conflict of philosophies that will be difficult, if not utterly impossible, to reconcile in the foreseeable future.

On the one hand are the conservationists, who say certain wild areas should be preserved for posterity as the one last frontier.

But those who advocate maximum industrial and commercial operations as a way to make Michigan richer and give the state a better competitive position nationally say use can be made of many if not most of the wilderness areas without harming their value as natural attractions.

Conservation groups, outdoorsmen and plain nature-lovers take the first position, while commercial interests, economic development groups and private businessmen take the second stand.

The conservationists won one round when permission was refused for mineral exploration in the Porcupine Mountains State Park.

A powerful spokesman on record for limited development of wilderness areas is Dr. Paul Herbert, chief of research for the Michigan Economic Development Department, who says conservation, not preservation of natural resources, is the key to prosperous operation of both tourist businesses and industrial and commercial firms.

Herbert said too much concentration on the preservation of wild areas would "further impoverish the Upper Peninsula."

An illustrious statesman who was also an illustrious scholar left his mark on state, national and international politics and also had one of Michigan's state office buildings named after him.

Gen. Lewis Cass held six appointments as territorial governor of Michigan between 1813 and 1828.

He served in the United States Senate and as Minister to France. Throughout his career in public service, Cass continued to do research on historical and governmental matters and was almost a prolific writer on the subjects.

Among his other contributions, Gen. Cass was recognized as one of the young nation's foremost authorities on the American Indian. He spread his efforts, however, to numerous historical fields and questions of the day.

An important facet of his character was the way in which he encouraged others to scholarly activity.

Washington News Notes

RED TAPE CUT

The Labor and Treasury Departments have announced a plan for reducing the Government paper work required of administrators of welfare and pension plans.

The aim is to free employers and trustees from having to file two reports, one each with the Labor Department and the Internal Revenue Service.

POACHING LAW

The Senate recently voted to make violation of the migratory bird game laws by commercial hunters a felony.

It rejected as too harsh, however, a provision approved by the House that would have made buyers of illegally killed birds liable to the same penalties. The measure now goes back to the House for consideration of this amendment.

Income Tax Fighters All Win Nomination

Analyzing the results of the primary election, political writers have been unanimous in concluding that the sun is higher in the morning sky for the GOP in Michigan than it has been since 1952. That was the year that Republicans settled their nominee for Governor, Fred M. Alger, and gave Gov. Williams a foothold to create a dynasty.

There is general agreement that the big primary vote given Paul D. Bagwell while unopposed for the nomination for Governor, and the hearty endorsement of Rep. Alvin M. Bentley for United States Senator, indicates victory next November is within reach of the Republican Party at last.

Yet a most important outcome of the near-record voting has been overlooked.

That is that the people of this troubled state last week set a binding course for their state for the next two years—a course decided by Democrats as "horse and buggy" yet embraced by the voters as the direction necessary for responsible government.

The test, of course, was in the nomination of candidates for the State Senate.

Because they blocked the Democratic income tax, and loyelled Gov. Williams' immense spending program, most of the 22 Republican Senators had been ridiculed by the newspapers of the metropolitan area.

Marked particularly for extermination were stalwarts like Senators Carlton H. Morris, of Kalamazoo, who directed the blockade of the income tax; Lynn O. Francis, of Midland, GOP floor leader; Charles R. Foerster, of Grand Rapids, defender of a philosophy as old as the nation; Charles Prescott, of the Tawas area, courageous protector of the Republican principles of free enterprise; Paul C. Younger, of Lansing, powerful leader in the defense of "conservatism"; and Perry W. Greene of Grand Rapids, veteran and able chairman of the State Affairs Committee.

All won re-nomination from the voters of their districts, most of them by overwhelming majorities.

Only Senator Morris had a really close fight. As the captain who directed the battle against an income tax, he was singled out for defeat. His abortive attempt to run for the nomination for Governor had weakened his position.

And he was faced by a popular and able opponent in Glenn Allen, the former Kalamazoo mayor.

One Detroit newspaper entered the campaign against Morris with venom, although it has very little circulation in that area. One of its articles ridiculing the Senator was reprinted and sent to at least 25,000 homes.

Inasmuch as the re-nomination of Morris and his colleagues is tantamount to re-election in these Republican districts, the primary election means that Michigan is further from an income tax today than it was in 1959 regardless of the fate of the four-cent sales tax proposal next November.

It means that the big-spending, high-tax program of the Democratic Party will be blocked if John Swainson is elected Governor. It means that if Bagwell is elected, the legislature and the new Governor will find a common ground on which to rebuild Michigan's clumsy tax structure on an equitable basis.

The people made their decision when they returned the ridiculed valiant—who had been toward governmental sanity of fiscal responsibility, unless a publican sweep next November included control of the Michigan House of Representatives.

From my front porch....
...I watch the world go by.

Being helpless to do anything about it anyway, I've gone along with most of women's weird style fads—the slab-sided "chemise," the drop-waisted "sack" dress. I thought they made milady look awful.

Even the extreme styles of their shoes in recent years haven't disturbed me too much. They looked somewhat dainty, and if the poor dears wanted to punish their tooties, it was their feet taking it!

Of late, they've taken to the sharply pointed toes, which look dreadful and must be torture to wear. But now, in the latest fashion in feminine footwear, they've really gone too far, with things called "winkle-pickers."

These are the longest and pointiest, sticking out as much as two inches beyond a girl's real toes. She has to go up a staircase one foot at a time—and sideways.

The fad began among teenagers in London, whence the name "winkle-pickers," from a long pin used to pry a shellfish called a periwinkle from its shell. Let London keep 'em!

Haas-Norris Vows Spoken in Evening Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Norris who were married at a 7 o'clock ceremony Saturday evening in Albion, Ind., are spending three weeks on a trip to Florida and upon their return will be at home at 506 McKinley St.

The bride is the former Mrs. Dorlene Glos Haas, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Ulrich, 17410 Heim Rd., while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Norris of Albion, Ind.

The Rev. Donald Richter officiated at the ceremony which took place at St. Mark's Lutheran church with 160 guests present.

Soloist for the occasion was Rex G. Norris of Fort Worth, Tex., a brother of the bridegroom. Accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Frances Brown of Albion, Ind., he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Wedding Prayer."

The bride chose for the wedding a street-length dress of pink tulle over tulle, styled with a fitted bodice and fully gathered skirt. Her accessories were white with the exception of her corsage which was an arrangement of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Ray D. Norris of Albion, Ind., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Dressed in a pale blue eyelot-or-gandy jacket dress, her accessories also were white and her corsage matched that of the bride.

Mrs. Ulrich, mother of the bride, wore a beige dress with brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a green two-piece dress with white accessories. Both mothers, as well as the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Eugene Shumaker, each had a corsage of white carnations.

Ray D. Norris, brother of the bridegroom, assisted as best man. Another brother, Larry Joe Norris, and a nephew, Richard Moore, acted as ring bearers.

A reception was held at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall at Albion, Ind. Those who assisted are Mrs. Kenneth Weber, of Albion, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Paul Graham of Spencerville, Ind., aunt of the bride, who served cake, and Mrs. Roy Waters of Hudson, sister of the bride, who served punch.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Roth of Horton.

The couple's attendants at the wedding were Dorothy Murray of Ypsilanti, and Jerold Roth of Horton.

The bride is employed at the F. W. Woolworth store in Jackson, while the bridegroom is with the Clark Equipment Co., also in Jackson.

Automobiles were offered to consumers "completely equipped" for the first time in 1910.

Fashion Notes

And now we hear that needle-pointed shoes are coming back in fashion. They have been gaining ground for some months, but at a showing recently of leather industries in New York a needle-pointed shoe and an extremely pointed shoe were shown in leathers of various colors. Two leathers of different textures were shown in some displays, and a variety of shades in the different colors.

Pale handbags and pale scarves are in favor—bone or light gray.

A yellow poplin pea-jacket over white strikes a colorful note for sports wear.

Berets are being shown in all of the new hat collections. They are fashioned of luxurious fabrics and have more fullness than those of yesterday.

St. Paul's Women Take Part in Retreat At Crooked Lake

Thursday, Aug. 4, a group of women of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, with the pastor of the church and his wife, The Rev. and Mrs. Paul M. Schnake, attended an all-day retreat at the Crooked Lake cottage of Mrs. Harold Davis of Ann Arbor, daughter of Albion, Mich.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Floyd Walz, the morning program included meditation, prayer, appropriate hymns, and readings from a specially-prepared pamphlet, "Alone with God." Readers included Mrs. Harold Widmayer, Mrs. Herbert Paul and Mrs. Wilbert Grieb.

Following a noon lunch and fellowship period the afternoon program, held outdoors, opened with the hymn "This is my Father's World."

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ellsworth Smith, Mrs. Henry Kerner and Mrs. Paul Schable, discussions were held on three statements listed in the program pamphlet as follows: "I believe in God and have faith in Him, God is the Creator, Redeemer and Father of all mankind;" "I believe in the Church as Christ's agent to save the world;" and third, "My Challenge."

In conclusion, the pastor gave a summary of the day's program and Mrs. Schable, president of the Women's Guild of the church, expressed appreciation to all who had a part in making the "retreat" program a memorable one.

Mrs. Fred Cook
Honored on 88th Birthday

Mrs. Fred Cook who is spending the summer at Cavanaugh Lake with her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Carter, observed her 88th birthday yesterday. In celebration of the occasion her sons, Fred P. Cook of Vicksburg, Miss., and Lee C. Cook of Delhi, La., spent the week-end here, making the trip by plane. They arrived Friday night and left Monday night.

It was the first time in many years that the two sons had visited here and in their honor as well as in observance of their mother's birthday, several family gatherings were held at the Carter home and at the home of another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gracey of Lima Center.

The two men also attended Saturday's Tiger baseball game in Detroit, a distinct treat for them since they have no "big" league games in the south.

Fashion Notes

And now we hear that needle-pointed shoes are coming back in fashion. They have been gaining ground for some months, but at a showing recently of leather industries in New York a needle-pointed shoe and an extremely pointed shoe were shown in leathers of various colors. Two leathers of different textures were shown in some displays, and a variety of shades in the different colors.

MISSILE PROJECT

The Navy has killed a project for developing a plane-launched guided missile called Corvus after spending $80,000,000 on it.

An announcement said that the Navy had learned "much" from the project, but had discovered that the weapon had too limited use to warrant its further development.

A person with charm is one who can make another feel that both of them are pretty wonderful people.

A large audience came to see the pictures on Japan shown and narrated by the Rev. Silvernail at the church on Sunday evening. Among them was a picture of the former home of Mrs. Silvernail and her parents and family, also Dawn at the Orphanage and many of the Bible classes, some taught by the Rev. When Mrs. Wells returned to her home she gave the pictures taken here and other information to the editor of their weekly paper, "The Unadilla Times." The pictures were published on the front page along with a nice write-up about our village. The editor sent a copy of the paper to Mr. Bates.

Mrs. Wells sent him a program of the pageant, "Footprints Along the Susquehanna," as well as stationery and a sticker they used during the celebration. She also enclosed a picture of the Unadilla House, a hotel and landmark there. Unadilla means "the Meeting Place" so called because the first location of the New York town was located at the junction of the Unadilla and Susquehanna rivers. High waters in the spring of the year forced the early settlers to move to the present location about eight miles north of the meeting of the two rivers. It is interesting to note that just east of our own village Portage Creek and Fish Creek junction and flow into Bass Lake.

They stopped at the Unadilla Store where they talked with Mr. Bates. They took a picture of the store as well as the Presbyterian church sign across the corner. They also took a picture of a Unadilla Road sign.

Our village was named after Unadilla, N. Y., which is now about the size of Stockbridge. Last year they celebrated their 300th Anniversary which they called "Unadilla Frontier Days." At that time they sent us literature concerning their celebration but did not know we do not have a post office as it was never delivered.
