Iron Pearson Edges Acacia Fraternity at U-M

Iron Pearson is a pledge of the University of Michigan Alpha chapter of the Masonic associated fraternity.

Fraternity President Dan Barr, several members and pledges, and the national convocation of Sigma Kappa, Inc., at Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 2.

Charles Sink, president of the society of Michigan Musical and one of the founders of Acacia, was a speaker at the convention attended by delegates from many parts of the United States.

Smorgasbord Set Next Sunday for Camp Crile Benefit

"Rain or shine" next Sunday, Sept. 11, the third annual Camp Crile Benefit Smorgasbord dinner will be held at the camp, 10842 Joel Lake Rd. Tents will be set up on the grounds with picnic tables provided.

The camp which is sponsored by the Michigan Society for Epileptic Children, is located on the former John Sullivan farm.

Approximately 650 people were served at last year's Smorgasbord dinner.

Serving begins at 12 o'clock and continues until 5 p.m.

Hunter Safety Course Will Start Sept. 20

Gene Shoemaker, of 130 East St., who will be the instructor for a hunter safety program of instruction for boys and girls 12-17 years old, has announced that the series of four weekly sessions will begin Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Classes will be held on the third floor of the Municipal building and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The three remaining sessions will be held Sept. 27, Oct. 4 and Oct. 11.

Chelsea Rod and Gun club heartily endorses the program which is outlined by the Department of Conservation. The course is free and participation is voluntary on the part of the young people.

Max Hepburn, president of the Chelsea Rod and Gun club, will be the guest speaker at the Sept. 20 meeting which is in the nature of an orientation class. Appropriate movies will be shown.

At one of the sessions of the course, Police Chief John Palmer will be the speaker and at another session Howard Anderson of Sugar Lake will display his gun collection.

Applications for the course are available by calling Gene Shoemaker at GR 5-8230 during the day or GR 5-8279 evenings.

Applications are also available free at the Rod and Gun club's booth at the Chelsea Community Fair.

CLEANING AND POLISHING the new Chelsea Bowling Lanes in preparation for installation of automatic pinsetters were two of the owners—Ole Johnson, left, and William Freeman. Charles Sloan, the third partner, erected the new building, located on M-92 south of Old US-12. Men from the Brunswick Co. are expected here this week to install the automatic pinsetter equipment.

Adolph Duerr, Jr., Recovering from Heart Surgery

Adolph Duerr, Jr., who underwent heart surgery at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, two weeks ago today, is making progress toward recovery, according to members of his family; however, he still is not permitted to have visitors. His many friends are remembering him with cards and letters.

Dr. Richard Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Barton, has finished the summer session at Michigan State University, East Lansing, and he and his family have returned to Carthage, Ill., where he is associate professor of history at Carthage College. The family had visited often during the summer at the G. A. Barton home.

St. Thomas Lutheran Church Schedules Annual Mission Festival

St. Thomas Lutheran church at Ellsworth and Huab Rd., has scheduled its annual Mission Festival for Sunday, Sept. 11.

Two services will be held, at 10 a.m. and at 8 p.m. There will be no Sunday school.

The Rev. Richard W. Bierlein, pastor of the church, will deliver the sermon at the morning service while a guest speaker, the Rev. George M. Krach of Southfield, will speak at the evening service.

A special invitation has been extended to members of Salem Lutheran church in Seio township to share in the festival services.

Chelsea Camera club will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at McKune Memorial Library.

Keith Haab Wins Honors At State Show

Keith Haab, 15-year-old sophomore at Chelsea High school, won a number of honors at the State 4-H Show at East Lansing last week, including first place in the junior yearling calf division and first in dairy showmanship in the senior age group in the Brown Swiss division. In the senior age group he was competing with youths 14-21 years of age.

His Brown Swiss junior yearling calf was judged first place winner, junior champion and reserve grand champion and, in addition, received a junior yearling ribbon awarded by the Artificial Breeders Association.

A member of the Rogers Corners Herdman 4-H club, under Leaders LeRoy and Robert Heller, honors at the State Show are no novelty to him but this year's awards are really outstanding.

He has been a member of the Rogers Corners club five years and has won the honor of exhibiting at the State Show each year.

He received a first place award his first year at the state show five years ago and last year won a first place award on the same calf he exhibited this year.

Washtenaw Conference Football Games Will Be Broadcast

WOIA radio will broadcast the High School football "game of the week" this year it was announced by Sports Director Tom Johnston and Donald Aiber, president of Albor Oil Co. The Washtenaw Conference games will be spotlighted according to Johnston, and the first broadcast will be of the Chelsea-Milan game on Friday, Sept. 16.

The broadcasts will follow the same pattern of the station's successful taped rebroadcasts of the basketball games over the past few years, and will be heard Saturdays at 10:30 a.m. following some 25 area high school coaches on the "Coaches Comments" program.

The full game, including the bands, will be heard, and Johnston, who also writes a column for this paper, will do the play-by-play.

The game broadcast will be sponsored by the Albor Oil Co. and the Gulf Oil Corp., in co-operation with area dealers.

Kiwanians Hear Discussion of Political Party Platforms

Henry Thierman, program chairman at Tuesday evening's Kiwanis club meeting, introduced John Keusch and Charles Cameron, whom he had asked to present to Kiwanians, in this election year, the Democratic and Republican platforms, respectively, as adopted at the national party conventions.

A guest at Tuesday's meeting, held in the social center of the Methodist church, was Olie Johnson.

Fat Stock Sale, Pig Scramble on Tonight's 'Family Day' Program

Giant Parade Will Be Held Saturday, 2 p.m.

George Atkinson, chairman in charge of the Chelsea Community Fair parade Saturday, Sept. 10, said yesterday, "Let's show some of the old 125th Anniversary spirit and help make this Community Fair parade a good one." He said he would like to have additional floats entered.

Those who plan to enter floats in the parade should contact him at GR 9-6851 if they have not yet done so.

The parade route will form at the Junior High school and all entries should be in their assigned places at 1:30 p.m.

The parade route will be East St. to East Middle, East Middle Main, Main St. to Old US-12 and then to the fairgrounds.

Children with bicycles, tricycles, doll buggies, and conster wagons will meet on Harrison St. Children with tricycles, doll buggies, and conster wagons will have the parade at Albert's Service station, corner South Main and Orin.

Plants, trucks, and fold cars will form on Park between East St. and Madison St. facing west.

Farm machinery will form on East St. facing north.

Riding horses will form on Park St. facing East St.

In case of rain the parade will be held up until clear enough to proceed. The five whistle will be sounded to signal entries to get to their assigned locations.

Prizes for floats are $20, $15 and $10 for first, second and third place winners.

Decorated bicycles and decorated tricycles will be judged for first, second and third prizes of $3, $2 and $1, respectively, in both categories.

If not held up by rain, the parade is to begin promptly at 2 p.m. Merchants are asked to display their U. S. flags for Saturday's parade.

Law Requires Complete Stop for Halted School Bus

Police Officer John Palmer advised local residents to renew their vigilance in the matter of stopping for school buses both inside the village and in the outlying area.

The first day of school, no violators were observed but Officer Palmer stated several tickets were issued last year for this offense.

State law requires motorists to come to a complete stop when meeting or following a school bus which comes to a stop, whether or not the red flashing lights are in operation. Motorists may continue only on signal from bus driver or when bus resumes its run.

Zion Church Mission Festival Set for Sunday

Zion Lutheran church at Rogers Corners will hold its annual Mission Festival Sunday, Sept. 11, the guest speaker, the Rev. Herbert Wolber of Venice, O., being a former missionary.

The Rev. Wolber organized and established a mountain mission station in New Guinea prior to his return to the United States several years ago when he became pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at Venice, O.

The mission festival observance will include two services—the regular 10:15 a.m. service at which the Rev. Wolber will deliver the sermon, and an evening service at 7:30 p.m., when he will present an illustrated talk on the missionary program in New Guinea.

The Rev. C. J. Reimer, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, said all members and friends are invited to hear the Rev. Wolber's firsthand account of his experiences.

First Day Enrollment Totals 1,860

A total of 1,860 students in grades kindergarten through twelve returned to classes in Chelsea schools when the fall term opened Tuesday, Sept. 6.

The figure will probably increase somewhat in the next week or two as later registrations are received.

The present total includes 227 students at St. Mary's parochial school; an even 1,000 elementary pupils in North and South schools; 250 students in Chelsea Junior High school; and 363 at Chelsea High school.

Public school enrollment has increased by 25 over the 1959 figures. The over-all increase shows a total of 35 more students than last year in the public elementary schools while the junior and senior high school enrollment is 10 less than the 1959 figure.

St. Mary's 227 students are divided among grades one to eight.

Elementary and junior and senior high school enrollment is listed by classes as follows:

Kindergarten	176
First grade	147
Second grade	148
Third grade	122
Fourth grade	144
Fifth grade	136
Sixth grade	120
Seventh grade	115
Eighth grade	135
Ninth grade	119
Tenth grade	99
Eleventh grade	74
Twelfth grade	91

Saturday Night Features Daring Parachute Jump

Chelsea Community Fair opened on schedule yesterday with Children's Day events as one of the special features. The queen of the fair was also to be chosen last night and presented with various gifts in addition to a tiara provided by the Chelsea Jaycees Auxiliary.

Contestants listed yesterday for the queen contest included Rosemarie Porter, Chelsea High school freshman; Margaret Murphy, sophomore; Nancy McCalla, junior; Judy Summers, senior class queen candidate; and Pat McCormick, of the Rogers Corners Herdman 4-H club.

Contest judges were Mrs. Cecil Creal, wife of Ann Arbor's mayor; Sheriff George Petersen; Manchester Village President Eugene Bentscheider; and Mrs. Eugene Robinson, president of the Grass Lake Child Study club.

Judging of all exhibits at the fair takes place today and the prize fat stock sale will be held this evening.

Indications yesterday were that this year's exhibits of livestock would be the largest ever to be entered in a Community Fair in Chelsea.

Another highlight this evening is the annual pig scramble of which Stephen Hayden, Chelsea High school FFA advisor is chairman. He said 14 Landrace pigs will be entered for Chelsea and William Dunnvin, Dexter FFA advisor, announced plans to enter 10 Chester White, Berkshire and Landrace pigs for the Dexter FFA chapter.

Youths who catch a pig may keep it, promising to return one pig from a litter produced by the animal for next year's pig scramble.

Of special interest this evening is a new feature—a dairy cattle showmanship contest.

Tractor pulling contests will be the feature of tomorrow evening's Farmer's Day program. Durr Whitaker is chairman of the tractor pulling contest.

The horse show in charge of Herman Koehn and scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday following the big Community Fair parade, promises to be exceptionally good entertainment in addition to providing opportunities for entrants to win prizes and ribbons on their animals.

The evening program Saturday will feature a spectacular parachute jump from 7,000 feet into the arena area by two members of the Jackson Sky Diving Team—John Monahan and Ed Brown.

Both Chelsea-area men. The jump will take place between 7 and 7:30 p.m.

J. V. Burg, Jr., program chairman, again emphasized the fact that all evening programs will begin promptly at 7 p.m. instead of 8 p.m.

HONOR LONG-TIME 4-H LEADERS—Three Washtenaw county 4-H Club leaders were honored Wednesday night, Aug. 31, during the State 4-H Club Show, for their long records of service as club leaders. They are (from right): Mrs. T. G. Riemenschneider, Route 3, Grass Lake, 25 years; Robert Mast, Route 2, Dexter, 20 years; and Allen Broesamle, Route 3, Grass Lake, 20 years. Laurence McCabe, representing the Railroad Community Service Committee of Greater Detroit, is presenting a plaque to Broesamle.

4-H Leaders Honored at State Show

Three 4-H club leaders from this county among those invited to attend a banquet in their honor Wednesday evening, Aug. 31, in conjunction with the State 4-H Show at East Lansing, in recognition of their records of 20 and 25 years of service.

Total of 36 leaders and their families and wives were invited to the banquet as guests of the Washtenaw Central Railroad.

Among a group of 20 from the Washtenaw county who were honored for years of service as 4-H club leaders were Allen Broesamle, of 36 Kilmer Rd., Chelsea and Robert Mast, of 5780 Mast Rd., Dexter. Each will receive a diamond pin at the Washtenaw county 4-H Fall Achievement program. Mrs. T. G. Riemenschneider of 2010 Norton Rd., Chelsea was in a group of 12 from the state who were honored for 25 years of leadership. She will be presented with an emerald pin.

Only four others in the entire state received higher honors—three for 30 years and one for 40 years of service.

The three from this vicinity were the only ones in the group of honored leaders from the state invited to the banquet who were from Washtenaw county.

Two others from the county, Mrs. Walter Wolfgang of 13081

Scio Church Rd., and Mrs. Harvey Sanderson of 132 Dixboro Rd., were listed with those who are credited with 15 years of 4-H club leadership.

Mrs. Riemenschneider's summer club is known as "Dutch Cooks," while her winter sewing group is known as the "Flying Fingers" club.

Broesamle is leader of the Weedless Gardeners 4-H club and Mast is leader of the Webster 4-H club.

Each of the honored leaders was presented with a citation which reads as follows:
"4-H Leadership Citation: In recognition of outstanding contributions to the 4-H youth of Michigan through development of leadership, citizenship, community service. State 4-H Show, 1960."

Representatives of the New York Central Railroad, present to distribute the awards were John Hanks, chairman of the New York Central Railroad Community Service Committee of Greater Detroit, and Lawrence McCabe chairman of the agriculture committee of the Community Service Committee.

The banquet Wednesday evening took place in the Red Cedar dining room at Kellogg Center, with the program following in the auditorium.

National Security Demands Peaceful Method of Arbitration in Major Strikes

Once again this summer thousands of passengers, in various countries of the world, are stranded because of strikes, many of them unauthorized, which delay the sailing of their ship, prevent the take-off of their aircraft, or halt the trains.

The public, as usual, is the sufferer when strikes affecting public utilities are concerned. And since the public is not organized, the travelers take it on the chin.

No one seems to be concerned over the right of these people to have a vacation. If they have saved their money all year, to spend a month or two weeks on vacation, and this is prevented because of an unauthorized strike, no one seems to be concerned. Likewise, when public transportation workers go on strike, in the large cities, inhabitants are seriously handicapped, and their jobs and their work affected. No one has proposed a solution to these dislocations.

When an industry like the steel industry or a major railroad is put out of operation by a strike, the entire country may eventually become inconvenienced, or placed in actual jeopardy, as far as its national security is concerned. No one seems to have the solution to prevent this kind of strike, either.

Obviously, there must eventually be a solution to this problem.

The best proposal yet advanced in this direction, it seems to us, is one that impartial labor-management courts be set up.

These labor-management courts would be empowered to arrive at decisions affecting a union and a vital industry, if the union and the industry were unable to come to terms on their own. The courts would be restricted to those industries which are vital to the security of the United States, and which could affect the life or death of every citizen.

Moreover, they would not be called upon to function unless negotiations between industry and union broke down, and a strike adversely affecting the vital interest of our nation as a whole, were impending.

Distasteful as this suggestion may be, to both management and labor, it is one which must be eventually be adopted—unless something similar, which could achieve the same effect, is substituted. Ruinous strikes, affecting the national economy, displacing hundreds of thousands or even millions of Americans, wildcat strikes affecting the public interest, and pocketbooks of workers, and other strikes which cause unnecessary hardships to so many citizens, must be circumvented in the interest of the majority of citizens of the United States and in the interest of national security and national survival.

Soviet May Again Win Olympic Games

The Olympic Games which will probably be concluded this week, are held only every four years, barring wars, etc., and are now in progress in Rome, Italy. These amateur sports meetings have become the top athletic attraction in the modern world.

The United States has been accustomed to winning the games in recent years—until 1956. Then Russia emerged as the new victor, after having been a very close competitor in 1952.

The prospect for this year is that Russia will win again. The entire nation is organized behind the Olympics team effort in the Soviet Union and this, plus the fact that our women entries always score less in the track and field events than do the brawny Russian women, handicaps the United States to a certain extent.

The Olympic Games, of course, are not officially decided by team points. But the press has, over the years, tabulated the unofficial point totals of the teams and in 1956 the Russians won easily. While their victory this year may not be quite as easy, it now appears that they will probably be the winners again.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The session at the country store Saturday night was what them society writers would call the "crowning event" of the season. Zeke Grubb got things off on a high level when he brung up a item he saw in the papers about the experts in Washington now claiming installment buying was getting out of hand.

According to Zeke, the piece said as soon as the Congress got back in session they was going to advocate putting curbs on credit buying. Clem Webster figured this would make it as hard to git in debt as to git out, sorter even things up. The fellers was all agreed that when you can't go backwards you're holding your own and that this was pritty good fer times like these.

Ed Doolittle allowed as how, with them Congressmen all at home, it was a mighty good time to size up the situation in the country. Ed says you can't size up nothing with them fellers all in Washing. Agriculture and git that bulletin ton yapping at the same time. But one feller said that afore you can size up the situation in the country you've got to figger it from two angles. First, you've got to see how things is going in Georgia, and then the rest of the country. He claims that in Georgia judges is shooting lawyers and the present administration is accusing the last one of selling liquor and stealing the brass door knobs off'n the Capitol privy. In short, things is bad in Georgia but gitting better. Bug Hookum was lamenting that the rest of the country is at the cross-roads, with its back to the wall and its neck in the noose, the missile bomb hanging over our head and the tide is running out. Bug is a strong believer in calamity, Mister Editor.

But taking the country as a whole, the fellers was all pritty optimistic about the future. Most of us got that bulletin last week from the U. S. Department of Agriculture showing how a couple with four school children could have good, nourishing meals for $38 a week. It didn't say nothing about clothes, medical care, taxes and things like that, but I reckon they wouldn't cost more'n another $50. If we can git the $38 a week we can hold body and soul together for a spell longer. Incidental, Mister Editor, if I was you I'd write the U. S. Department of Agriculture and git that bulletin out yapping at the same time. and also git on their regular mailing list. They cover overthing from elephants to this family budget, for free.

The session adjourned on the happy note that them Russians may be a little ahead of us in the missile race, but they ain't learned yet how to put out that pritty red and white striped toothpaste. Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

Dying Days

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer R. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Minor parties in Michigan politics can't win. They only lose. But they continue to play the game. Only one independent, that is, a man who was neither a Democrat nor a Republican has been elected to the legislature since the two parties became dominant forces in politics, but the minor parties continue to nominate and vote for candidates.

This year, at least five of the minority groups are expected to have states before the people. Two of them have never been on the ballot before. Another, the Prohibition party, has been a relatively powerful minority group for many years.

Two Socialist factions, the Socialist Workers party and the Socialist Labor party, are continuing campaign efforts.

The new groups on the ballot are the Independent American party and the Tax Cut party. In past years, at least 20 minority parties have appeared on the ballot at one time or another. The Prohibitionists have consistently polled the most votes, hitting a high of 14,249 votes for governor in 1948 when Democrat G. Mennen Williams first took office.

First minority party to get on the Michigan ballot was the Liberty party, which made the grade in 1841.

While it is easy—and not uncommon—to brand the minority parties as "crackpots," "radicals" or with some other derogatory term, the groups are not necessarily anything but good Americans with particularly strong ideas on certain issues.

The Prohibitionists, for example, no longer hope to win an election but hope to promote temperance ideals among all parties.

State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery says the minority parties will be welcome on the state ticket as long as they can qualify under the election laws for a place on the ballot.

The two major parties seldom expect strong opposition from any of the smaller groups, though at particular times in particular areas a single candidate might pose a threat to the Democrat or Republican.

But as long as they can get on the ballot, it speaks well for the free choice system in the United States.

Changes in farmers' way of life will get a close inspection if a Michigan State University professor of Rural Sociology gets his way.

Prof. Charles R. Hoffer, president of the Rural Sociology Society, said just because there are fewer farmers now than in the past doesn't mean studies to improve their relations with city folks are any less important.

In fact, with a smaller segment of the population feeding an ever larger segment, the studies increase in importance, he said.

Hoffer said the term "rural population" includes much more than just people living on farms at the present time.

"Towns, small cities and the ever-increasing rural-urban fringe areas logically and actually come within its purview," Hoffer said.

A pioneer in the field of Rural Sociology, Hoffer said the changes that are taking place in rural life throughout the world demand that more and more studies be made.

Michigan young men eligible for the draft but physically unqualified for military service aren't getting particularly healthier, but their selective service registration cards might make it appear so in the future.

The familiar "4-F" designation is going to be limited to those who would fail to qualify for the draft under any circumstances.

State Selective Service headquarters had announced that many of the registrants currently classified 4-F will be put into a new bracket which will be for men who could serve in some capacity in the event of an emergency, but who aren't likely to be needed unless world conditions call for a drastic step-up in inductions.

Almost 113,000 of Michigan's nearly 845,000 registrants were in the old 4-F classification.

"Current standards of acceptability have resulted in high rejection rates," the headquarters said. "Many men not being accepted for induction today and who are now classified 4-F would have to serve in an emergency under altered standards."

National headquarters for the selective service ordered the change in order to facilitate rapid manpower increases if needed.

As a by-product, they probably ruined countless jokes for comedians who won't wish to poke fun at a serious disability, which would still call for a 4-F classification.

Water Accidents Claim 16 Michigan Lives In Two-Week Period

Sixteen persons died and another 19 were injured in 42 water accidents in Michigan reported to the State Police in the two weeks ending Aug. 30.

The water toll to date this year has claimed 138 lives and injured 171 persons in 321 accidents.

Of the fatalities, 45 were swimmers or waders, 21 were boat passengers, 18 were boat operators, seven were children who wandered away from parents and into water, four were skindivers, two were water-skiers and 41 died in miscellaneous water mishaps.

More of Detroit's Welfare Shifted to State

Newspaper wire services last week carried a brief story from Detroit announcing that Circuit Judge Thomas J. Murphy had relieved the Wayne county government of its share of the cost of Aid to Dependent Children within the City of Detroit.

Nothing in the story would excite the average taxpayer. Yet the decision by Judge Murphy hits every family in Michigan in the region where most families today cannot afford to be hit—the pocketbook.

It means that the state will be compelled to dig up another $1.6 million this fiscal year to help Detroit finance its constantly increasing welfare load.

It means that every worker from the factories of the southern counties to the mines of the Upper Peninsula must lay a few more bucks on the line to help Detroit.

It means that Democrats are a step closer to the party's vision of a state-wide welfare system under which thrifty counties (like those on the west side, for example) will assume a large part of the welfare burden of the depressed areas (like Detroit, for example).

The broad consequences of Judge Murphy's decision are due to an involved program established quietly by the Democratic administration in Lansing. Only experts in the welfare field have been aware of the pattern.

In brief, Judge Murphy ruled that Detroit no longer can call on the Wayne county government for supplementary ADC. He said Detroit must dig up this money from its own tax sources.

In other words, Wayne county escaped from an unhappy deal under which the Board of Supervisors spread taxes to supplement Detroit's staggering welfare burden.

The joker is that Detroit now will get this $1.6 million from Lansing this year and will demand larger sums in the future unless the ADC load is lightened.

This grab is possible because the State Department of Social Welfare has decreed that the taxpayers of poor, old Detroit should not be allowed to spend more than one-and-a-half per cent of assessed valuation on welfare.

This benevolent rule to aid the debt-ridden citadel of the Democratic Party forced the people of the entire state to pay about half the cost of Detroit's $17 million welfare load last year.

In effect, the rule fixes a ceiling of $8.5 million a year as the limit Detroit must pry from its citizens for ADC and direct relief.

So the county government's contribution of $1.6 million, now outlawed by Judge Murphy, will merely be added to the bill being sent by the city for payment in Lansing.

Detroit, stronghold of the Democratic Party, is the only city receiving this special help from the Lansing government.

The joke is that taxpayers throughout the state must share in Detroit's relief costs was not enacted by the legislature.

The lawmakers were not consulted.

Perhaps the legislature would have agreed, if given a chance. The Republican Party is committed to the principle that the state must aid the local government when welfare costs exceed the resources of the local taxpayers.

Thursday, Sept. 5, 1941—Due to the sale of the building on Main St. in which their store has been located for 20 years, Grove Brothers closed their store yesterday. If a building should become available they will reopen a store here; otherwise, they will make their home in Oxford.

Coming as a climax to a season of unusual drought were unprecedented frosts over the week-end and a general frost Tuesday morning which damaged tomatoes, squash, cucumbers and sweet corn. It is the earliest frost recorded in this area since 1877.

News of men in service: Cpl. Leonard Quigley who served 18 months in France and Germany, discharged last Friday; T-Sgt. Robert M. Eaton arrived home last night on terminal leave after 19 months overseas service; and Charles (Bug) Slane inducted into Army and now at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Forced Feeding Not for Children, by Dietitians

Ann Arbor—Advice on keeping children from "hating" new foods offered by dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Don't force the child to eat the food. If he tries the food and doesn't like it, offer it a couple of weeks later, served in a new way. Sauces, flavors, garnishes and colors do wonders in changing the child's attitude.

Unfortunately, say the U-M food specialists, this system is not infallible. Once a dislike is created, it's hard to reverse the procedure. The solution then may be to substitute another food from the same food group to provide the same nutritional value to the child.

State August Traffic Toll Higher than 1959

August's provisional traffic death toll of 137, exceeding by nine, or seven per cent, the total of 128 for the month a year ago, makes it the sixth month this year in Michigan to show an increase over the comparable 1959 periods, according to the State Police.

Injuries are the highest for any month this year.

The accumulated record for the first seven months includes 808 deaths and 48,807 persons injured in 116,995 accidents, representing increases of six, 46 and nine per cent respectively over the similar 1959 period.

Fair Program . . .

7:30 p.m. as previously announced.

Following the parachute jumping act will be presented by the Canine Collie-ettes Dog Show, which is also appearing this year at the State Fair in Detroit.

The traditional drawing for free door prizes given away by merchants of the community will conclude Saturday's program.

★ How To Improve Productive Efficiency

Recently in a discussion of the problem of foreign competition we ended with the sentence: "The only sound, real answer is for us to increase our productive efficiency and sell more abroad." One of our good friends has written to ask the obvious question: "How?" Among the more important factors are the following:

1. Better Management. The managers of every business try to do as good a job as they can, and most of them do well. But there always is room for improvement. New layouts of the work may help and a more careful assignment of workers may give greater efficiency. Through research and initiative new products may be developed and attractive modifications made in existing products.
2. Better Machinery. This is a matter of investment in plant and equipment and it takes funds. Unfortunately our depreciation laws are quite out-of-date and our system of taxation is worse. A large proportion of business organizations, therefore, find it difficult to accumulate the cash flow necessary for needed capital investment, and as a general rule business profits are not high enough to be of too much help. The large companies have a credit standing which may enable them to borrow in the open market, but smaller organizations are usually either unable to do so or find it excessively expensive.

3. Eliminate Wasteful Practices. Featherbedding is the term usually applied to such practices, but it is too narrow. There is, of course, an enormous amount of featherbedding in American industry and it would be most helpful if it could be eliminated. But waste of manpower is not limited to this category. Management overhead may be too large, and there may be waste all down the line. It is not easy to determine just how much waste there is in an organization, and it may be distasteful and difficult to eliminate it. But if there is to be a truly efficient organization it is essential to tighten up from top to bottom.

4. Lower Prices. Some persons think business should lower prices and take a gamble that increased volume will prevent a loss of profits. In some instances that may work, but it is not a practice which the business system as a whole can follow. For most organizations the only basis upon which they can reduce prices is to have lower costs of production. In addition to what has been said above there is one enormously significant field which can be used for a reduction of production costs and hence a lowering of prices. This is the increase in productivity. For many years we have had the habit of using this for increased wages. We can no longer afford this luxury. The increase in output per man-hour should be used for lower prices. That will give labor an increase in real buying power, and it will help everyone else as well.

5. Study Foreign Markets. Merely because a product is liked by the American Public, and sells well here, it does not follow that the citizens of any foreign nation will want to buy it. Products must be tailored for each market in which they are to be sold. American business has been amazingly slow in recognizing this in connection with foreign trade. It is not too late to make up for the oversight, but there is no time to lose in moving in this direction. The United States Department of Commerce, banks with foreign branches, and many other sources can provide detailed information to help in planning products for foreign markets.

If American business will seriously follow these five points, we can increase our productive efficiency, sell more abroad, and in time reduce the problem of foreign competition to manageable terms.

Regular Trout Fishing Season Closes Sept. 11

Lansing—Although mid night, Sept. 11, marks an end to Michigan's 1960 regular trout season and all fishing in designated trout lakes and most trout streams, there still will be plenty of action in the offing for fishermen during the weeks to follow.

Rainbow trout will be fair catches during the Sept. 12 to Nov. 30 fall season in a score of lakes and streams designated by the Conservation Department.

Brook trout will remain open to fishing through Oct. 15 in Swanzy and Airport lakes of Marquette county as part of a Department research project.

Lake trout may be taken throughout the fall in non-spout inland lakes. Fishermen generally have better luck seeking out these fish during the fall spawning season than in the summer when they retreat to deep waters.

Warm-water fishing on non-trout waters is often better in the fall when cooler temperatures arrive than at any other time. Largemouth bass and northern pike strike quite readily during the fall months. Some of the state's best perch fishing takes place along the shores of the Great Lakes during the fall.

WHAT NEXT?

Chicago, Ill.—While robbing a shoe store in Chicago, Donald Lawson tied up the manager and three employees. But before he could get away, customers began pouring in. So, he posed as a clerk and sold seven pairs of shoes according to police who captured him.

Inspection Is Key to Milk Quality

From the farm to the consumer not less than 225 factors influencing the wholesomeness of milk are checked by dairy inspectors of the Michigan Department of Agriculture which under state law is charged with dairy product inspection.

More than a billion quarts of bottled milk were sold in the state last year with about an equal amount going into other dairy foods.

The director of the Department,
C. S. McIntyre, said 110 items are checked in the course of a milk pasteurization plant inspection.
Farm inspections entail the checking of 108 items under 24 main headings. These include cleanliness of cows, cleanliness of utensils, cooling and storage of milk, construction and cleanliness of cow barns and similar factors influencing quality.

Like farm inspection, milk pasteurization plant inspection is concerned with cleanliness of building, equipment, and utensils. But it also includes waste disposal, maintenance of time-temperature of pasteurization, coolers and cooling, bottling and packaging, and general cleansing methods.

Milk transport trucks also undergo inspection by men of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. At the retail level, establishments are inspected for general sanitation and temperature at which milk is kept before it reaches the consumer.

"Co-operation with our dairy laws," said McIntyre, "is generally good at all levels of the milk industry but the frequency of inspection is also a factor in keeping quality high. Sometimes persons become careless in their daily operations without meaning to be so and the inspector is important in assisting to get them back on the right track."

Confiscated Firearms

Will Be Sold by Conservation Dept.

Lansing—Hunters in the market for second-hand firearms or bows may find what they're looking for at the Conservation Department's central repair shop at Gaylord.

An assortment of 48 rifles, shotguns, and bows confiscated from game law violators are now up for sale at the shop on a sealed bid basis. Bidders may inspect the weapons, ranging in appraised value from $2 to $75, Sept. 12-15 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bids will be accepted until 10 a.m. EST, Sept. 16, when they will be publicly opened at the Gaylord shop. Each weapon will go to the highest bidder and no bids will be accepted for less than its appraised price. Bids must be submitted on a "single gun" basis and accompanied by a deposit equaling
the amount offered.

Additional information may be obtained from the Department's field administration division in Lansing or any of its field offices.

ing to make a smart impression is

AGRICO in the drill...
PROFITS on your wheat

You're surprised at the number of different ways a fertilizer for wheat can be made. Take a 5-10-10, for example. Manufacturers can use any combination of at least 14 different sources of nitrogen, six of phosphorus and five of potash... plus other plant food elements... and still come up with a 5-10-10.

Agrico selects the right combination of plant food sources needed to help your wheat develop a strong, deep root system... one that's well established before Winter sets in. Farmers tell us that their Agrico fertilized wheat has fuller, plumper kernels and more uniform maturity. This results in extra bushels, extra profit from your fertilizer investment.

Don't skimp on your own profits. Put Agrico in your drill this Fall... get more profit on your wheat.

Wrong Name Used in Story of Mystery Farm

In the story of "Mystery Farm No. 113" in the Sept. 1 issue of The Standard, the name "John" was inadvertently used instead of "William" in giving the date of death of the parents of the present owners of the farm, Donald and Louis Otto.

The statement should have read: William Otto died March 11, 1957 and his widow, Mary McKune Otto, died May 26, 1959.

Series of Classes Beginning for Expectant Parents

When the new series of Expectant Parents' Classes begins in Room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Rachel Schottlin, public health nurse, discuss how life baby grows before birth. Mrs. Schottlin's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' Classes, as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Mrs. Schottlin's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction" which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Mrs. Schottlin will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled. This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7:00 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. The registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes seven classes. A special class is held for the fathers only. In addition a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver is planned.

These classes are sponsored jointly by the Visiting Nurse Association of Ann Arbor, a United Fund Agency and the Washtenaw County Health Department. Their content and subject has been approved by the Washtenaw Medical Society and at least one of the classes will be taught by a practicing physician, as well as the special class for fathers.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Schneider who will be returning soon to Eden Seminary, Webster, Groves, Mo., spent a few days visiting the former's twin brother, Richard, and family at Nellville, Wis. The latter is now associated with the Winnebago Children's Home there as director of social service.

Dance School Prepares for Second Year

Registrations are now being taken for enrollment in the Dexter School of Dance opening its second year here under the Direction of Geraldine Seaback.

The classes will again be under the instruction of Jacques Rosales formerly of the Belgian Opera Ballet, Mrs. Rosales, who also teaches in Ann Arbor is the wife of Gustav Rosales, violinist with the Stanley Quartette at the University of Michigan.

Last year proved a successful first year with 23 pupils completing the year's work with a recital given in June in the auditorium of the new high school. With the exception of one or two, all were beginners.

The first part of the program was devoted to showing the foundation work done to properly condition the children, physically for the ballet. It isn't often that an audience has the opportunity to see this phase of the work. Students having had previous training were outstanding. Classes were held in St. James Parish Hall.

A search for tap and aerobic teachers who can come to Dexter is underway and these two classes will be added to the program when qualified teachers can be found.

There have been requests for ballroom dancing but not enough students signed up. If a group of from 20 to 30 students is organized arrangements will be made to open a ballroom class.

Living costs and education today are costly, making it difficult for many families to give their children the opportunity of dancing lessons. It is Mrs. Seaback's hope that there will be a large increase in the dance school enrollment thus making it possible to lower the fee and still cover expenses.

Mrs. Seaback has been a teacher of piano and voice for many years. Having moved her home to Seaback Rd., on the river near Dexter, she commutes daily to her studios in Ann Arbor.

If the demand is great enough to warrant it, she says she will also open a music studio in Dexter thereby saving students the trip to Ann Arbor.

Assisting her will be James Herring, concert pianist who has been studying with her the past two years. Herring has appeared as guest soloist with the Ann Arbor Civic Symphony and has appeared before many audiences both here and in Mississippi, his home state. This coming year he will serve at the University of Michigan School of Music as concert accompanist. Herring is preparing for auditions in New York City.

1960 Auto Plates Now Available At Half Price

Secretary of State James M. Hare announced today that all 1960 full-year vehicle licenses and tabs will go on sale at half price effective Sept. 1. This includes 1960 passenger car tabs and plates for light commercial, pick-ups, trailers, motorcycles, and other vehicles with the exception of heavy trucks paying more than $50.00 in weight taxes.

"Because of the high discounts offered by auto dealers on their large inventories of 1960 cars, motor registrations are holding up," Hare said. "With many 1961 cars coming out earlier than usual due to the Detroit auto show and current competitive conditions in the compact market, this 50 percent reduction in weight taxes will be welcomed by persons buying their first car and by household units buying a second family car."

Persons who already own cars carrying 1960 license tabs may transfer their old license to new vehicles at a small transfer cost. Before this law went into effect, persons who purchased new cars at the end of the license plate year had to pay for a new license instead of the transfer fee.

Hare said that half-price plates purchased at this time will be valid until Feb. 28, 1961, although those who wish to do so will be able to buy 1961 plates or tabs on Nov. 1, 1960.

Mr. and Mrs. James Herman of Jackson, formerly of Chelsea, accompanied their son, Roger, and James Mshar of Chelsea to Houghton when the two enrolled in the Michigan College of Mining and Technology and visited points of interest in the Upper Peninsula before returning home.

DEATHS

Mrs. Ernest Adam
Native of Germany Was Area Resident for 53 Years
Mrs. Ernest Adam, a Chelsea area resident for the past 53 years, died Sunday at St. Joseph Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, following a long illness. She was 73 years old.

Mrs. Adam was a member of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, St. Paul's Women's Guild, Woman's Relief Corps No. 210, Rebekah Lodge No. 130, and the Helping Hand Sewing club.

The former Mary Elizabeth Schumloffer, she was born Oct. 9, 1886, at Schwarzenborn, Germany, a daughter of Heinrich and Anna Schumloffer. She came to the United States in 1900 when she was 13 years old and on Sept. 2, 1912, at Ann Arbor, was married to Ernest Adam who survives.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are two daughters, Mrs. Warren K. Goss (Verna) of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Marvin E. O'Neil (Eileen) of Santa Monica, Calif.; a son, Donald S. Adam of Dearborn; seven grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Dannebeck of Detroit and Mrs. Jacob Weis of Frankfurt, Germany; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at the Burghard Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul M. Schnake officiating. Burial followed at Bethel cemetery, Ann Arbor.

Walter A. Grant Former Chelsea Resident Dies at Plymouth Home

Walter A. Grant, a former Chelsea resident, died suddenly Sunday at his home in Plymouth. He was 70 years old.

He was born Oct. 26, 1880, in Chelsea, a son of Myron and Rebecca Leach Grant. On Oct. 26, 1905, he married Pearl Barnes in Windsor, Ont. She survives.

He operated a bowling alley in Detroit for many years and had lived in Plymouth since 1948.

Surviving, in addition to the widow, are a brother, Leonard of Jackson, and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Sears of Detroit.

Funeral services were held at 7:30 p.m. yesterday at the Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth with the Rev. David T. Davies officiating.

Further services will be held at the Staffan Funeral Home here at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the Rev. Allan Reed of St. Barnabas Episcopal church officiating. Burial will follow at Oak Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Joseph Laban who spent almost two weeks at Schiller Park, Ill., with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Miller and children, returned home Tuesday.

James H. Mullen of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen and son, James and daughter, Patricia, of Hayward, Calif., have returned to their homes after a 10-day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barth.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 114—Published in the Sept. 1 issue of The Standard without identification, 1741 Dancer Rd. 114th in the current series of farm photos was quickly identified as the Oscar Bareis place at 1741 Dancer Rd.

Fast Week's Mystery Farm Proves To Be Dancer Rd. Home of Oscar Bareis Family

The photo of Mystery Farm No. 114, which originally appeared in the Sept. 1 issue of The Standard, proved to be the home of the Oscar Bareis family at 1741 Dancer Rd.

Oscar and his wife, the former McVay, have made their home there since their marriage in 1930, and have owned the place since Jan. 3, 1938, having inherited it from the estate of their father, George Bareis, Jr., who was a general farming on a 120-acre place.

The Oscar Bareis family includes three sons, all married, and a daughter, Carolyn, who is a senior at Chelsea High school.

He has been a member of the Chelsea band for six years. She is the flute.

John is also active in 4-H work and is currently a junior in the Lima-Selo Cooks Club, of which the adults are Mrs. LaVerne Coy and Harold Sias.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Bareis was in Livingston county. Her home was at Stockbridge.

The three sons are Oscar, employed at the University of Michigan; Richard, who teaches in the Dexter schools; and Philip, a teacher in the Clinton schools. Philip's wife, Helen, also teaches there.

Oscar and his wife, Mary, live in Chelsea and Richard and his wife, Arlene, live at Dexter.

Philip, now of Clinton, has just completed a two-year contract with a Washington Senators baseball farm team, the Port-Wadon Beach, Fla., Jets.

Mr. and Mrs. Bareis believe the present farm home was built about 20 years ago. The nine-room home with its 10-foot ceilings and fine woodwork, is an example of the architectural style of those days. It has been modernized and remodeled during the years.

Mrs. Bareis said that when they bought the place there was a two-room apartment and hallway on the second floor separated from the rest of the rooms by a solid wall. They were told, she said, that a Mexican dwarf had provided the money when the house was built and the apartment was sealed for his comfort. The stairway leading to the apartment was also built to accommodate his short legs and small feet. The stairs and rooms have now been remodeled.

According to ownership records, the farm was secured from the U. S. Government Jan. 1, 1931, by Lucius Lester Cooper and was deeded to Susannah Cooper in December, 1932, with Cooper being given a life lease. He died March 19, 1937.

The next owners listed are Mary P. Taylor, Dec. 15, 1916; Lewis and Lily Ernest, June 23, 1920; and George Bareis, Jr., March 30, 1921.

The latter was the present owner's father from whose estate Oscar and his wife bought the farm in 1938 after they had been living there since their marriage eight years earlier.

Among those who identified the Bareis farm are: Blaes Elevator men, Mrs. Oscar Bareis, Charles Curtis, Charlene Powers, Loren Heller, and Dick Gilmore of Manchester.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

There were moans and groans across the nation and across the world during this past week. Across the nation, they were the moans and groans of high school and college footballers as the 1960 grid season got underway. Across the world, they were the moans and groans of athletes and officials at the Olympic games.

The groans from the footballers who sweated under 90-degree temperatures might well be justified, but I doubt that those from Rome are all as worthy of comment.

The kick-off of the football season is just a couple of weeks away, and it might be worth noting here that this should be a great grid year as far as conference races are concerned.

The Washington Conference should be well balanced with most coaches having veteran squads back. Chelsea, the defending champion, must be listed as the favorite for the title, but can expect a battle from University High, Saline and maybe even Manchester, Dexter or Roosevelt.

Based upon the record, I would hesitate to build up the Pinckney Pirates this fall.

At Ann Arbor, Bump Elliott and his staff are looking for all-important interior linemen. The Wolverines of 1960 will be a great deal like last fall's eleven. Young, hard-hitting, and with plenty of desire.

The sad Olympic story, is that America seems to be the brunt of all of the problems. At least, more losses are reported with criticism of our athletes or the judges than seems necessary. I'd like to think that sportsmanship is still a basic thing in the American way of life, and feel sure that some of our losses in the games may be credited to the desire and ability of the opponents rather than to judging failures. The games will get worse instead of better if this type of thing continues, and in particular if they continue to be turned into a political battleground between Russia and the U.S.A.

Here's a story that, to me, is what the Olympic games should always be—a test of ability, desire and courage.

An athlete is not necessarily confined to his specialty for a show of greatness.

When the 1948 Olympics rolled around Harrison Dillard was definitely a man with a specialty. About that time Dillard was setting the track world on fire . . . and he was considered the King of the hurdlers.

In 1948 he had won 82 straight events . . . including some non-hurdle races. He seemed a sure bet to travel to the Olympics in London that year . . . as a hurdler.

As fate would have it, however, the final trial day in his hurdle event was also an off-day for Dillard. In the final tryouts he kicked over a hurdle . . . ran a poor race . . . and failed to qualify.

But Dillard wasn't through yet. Determined to make the Olympic team that year he entered the 100-meter race and surprised everyone by finishing third behind famed speedsters Harney Ewell and Mel Patton.

So Dillard got his trip to London, the fans said, well at least he got the ride. And the track experts figured that was all it was . . . just a joke.

They couldn't see him taking any play away from Patton and Ewell. But Dillard continued to surprise. In the first trial heat he more than held his own . . . he posted better than either Patton or Ewell. Then in the semi-finals he ran a dead heat with Ewell.

Even with these showings, however, Dillard was still considered only as the third best American in the race when it came the day of the finals.

A crowd of 89,000 was on hand at Wembley Stadium for that race. The U. S. still had to win an Olympic event that summer and Patton and Ewell loomed as the best American possibilities for a gold medal.

When they lined up for the start Patton had the inside lane . . . Dillard the outside. In between were Ewell, Lloyd LaBeach of Panama and Alistair McCord Quodale and Macdonald Bailey . . . both of Britain.

The starter raised the gun . . . a crack pierced the warm summer air and the race was on.

Dillard managed to break in front at the start. The crowd transfixed, saw him maintain his lead through the first half of the race. Then Ewell made his bid. Dillard couldn't see Barney but he knew he was breathing down his neck.

Ewell pulled almost even but Dillard, with a final effort spurred ahead to hit the tape as the winner. He was clocked in 10.2 seconds . . . one tenth of a second ahead of Ewell.

Harrison Dillard didn't get a change to show his stuff in his specialty that year . . . but he did manage to show some greatness by defeating the experts and picking up an Olympic victory anyhow.

By the way, I'll be looking for you at the Chelsea Fair, along with some of the other fellows from WOLA, well, not at the Gulf booth to give away some tickets to baseball, football and basketball games at Ann Arbor and in Detroit. Until the Fair this week, or the column next week, here's hoping that the ball bounces the best for you.

Veterans Training Under GI Bill Should Apply Now

Veterans planning to train under the Korean GI Bill this fall should get their applications into the Veterans Administration now, rather than wait until the last minute.

Gene A. Robens, manager of VA's regional office in Detroit, pointed out today that this same advice holds true too for young men and women who intend to start school next month under the War Orphans Education program.

Robens said that there actually isn't much time left for processing applications and ironing out snags and special problems before school starts. Those who wait until the last minute when VA can be swamped with with applications are risking delays.

Applications for Korean GI Bill training or for War Orphans education may be obtained at any VA office.

More than 14,000 Korean veterans were in training as the spring school term ended last June. More than 9,000 are expected to participate in the program in Michigan this fall.

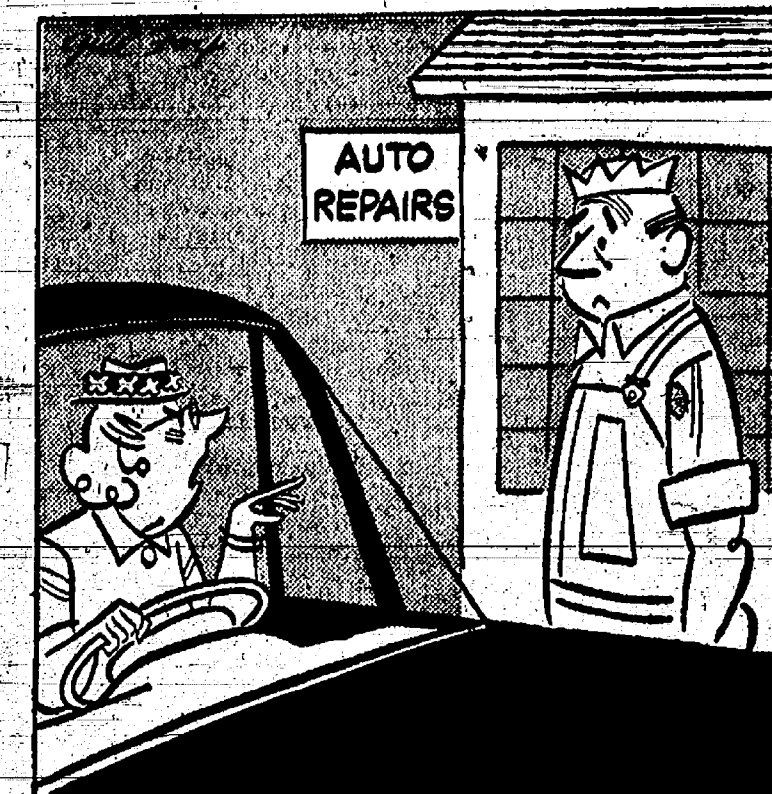

War orphans in training last June totaled 281 but this figure is expected to increase steadily for the next few years, as orphans of World War II veterans approach college age, Robens said.

NEW PAYOLA CHARGES

The Federal Trade Commission has charged four more concerns with giving payola to radio and television disk jockeys and other broadcasting station personnel. More than 400 such complaints have been issued.

The concerns were given thirty days to answer the complaints.

Chelsea School District AUDIT REPORT

June 30, 1960

Board of Education
Chelsea School District
Chelsea, Michigan

July 11, 1960

We have examined the cash accounts of the Chelsea School District for the year ended June 30, 1960. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The accounting records are of cash receipts and disbursements only, no balance sheet accounting being undertaken. Our examination included tests of supporting data for disbursements but we did not consider it practicable to review the classification of all disbursement items.

A separate audit report will be submitted for the internal student activity accounts.

In our opinion, the accompanying summary and statements of receipts and disbursements present fairly the cash transactions of the Chelsea School District for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960.

Very truly yours,
s/Ernest Johnson & Hoffman

Bolzman-Whitaker Vows Repeated at Methodist Church

The Chelsea Methodist church was the setting for a 7 o'clock wedding ceremony Saturday evening uniting Carol Anne Bolzman, daughter of Mrs. Betty Bolzman of Ann Arbor, and Paul Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whitaker of Glazier Lake. The service was read by the Rev. S. D. Kinde in the presence of approximately 100 guests.

For her wedding the bride wore a floor-length gown of white pure silk organza fashioned with long sleeves and a scoop neckline on the fitted bodice. A crown-shaped floral headpiece held her fingertip-length veil. She carried a white Bible with an arrangement of stephanotis encircling a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Loretta, for her role as maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length gown of yellow chiffon and carried a bouquet of orchid and white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Wilma Bolzman, another sister of the bride, and Joyce Whitaker, sister of the bridegroom, wore for the occasion orchid-colored chiffon gowns and carried yellow and white carnations.

The bride's mother also wore orchid chiffon in ballerina length and had a corsage of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother, in pastel pink and green taffeta, had a corsage of pink carnations.

Clifford Whitaker of Manchester, a cousin of the bridegroom, assisted as best man and Charles Whitaker, a brother of the bridegroom, and James Bates of Stockbridge served as ushers.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony, those who assisted including Mrs. Willie Whitaker and Mrs. Earle Risher, aunts of the bridegroom, Mrs. Robert Markgraff, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jack Conley.

The couple left later for Fort Knox, Ky., where the bridegroom, an army private, is stationed. They will make their home there for the present.

Wanda Sue Patrick

Wanda Sue Patrick, Don Wood Plan October Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patrick have announced the engagement of their daughter, Wanda Sue, to Don David Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood.

The bride-elect was graduated from Chelsea High school and is employed at Wahl's book store in Ann Arbor. Her fiancé was also graduated from Chelsea High school and will attend Michigan State University.

An Oct. 1 wedding is being planned.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY PAST-PRESIDENTS

Past Presidents of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 81, American Legion Auxiliary, met Tuesday evening, Aug. 30, at the Crooked Lake home of Mrs. William Weber. Games were played and refreshments were served following the business session.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be held Nov. 29 at the home of Mrs. Florence O'Hara.

LIMANEERS

Mrs. John Metzger and Mrs. Harry Prudden were co-hostesses for the September meeting of the Limaneers held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Metzger. There were 13 members present.

Following a noon pot-luck dinner a business session was held and plans were discussed for the group's fall hospital project.

The next regular meeting will be held Oct. 6 at the home of Mrs. Lionel Vickers.

Woolen Garments May Soon Be Wash-Wear, Too

Wash-and-wear woens for your wardrobe may be just 12 months away.

Bernetta Kibacka, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, says machine-washable, no-iron wool fabrics already have been produced in laboratories. She notes that researchers are optimistic about the future of these wash and wear fabrics.

Wool fibers do not naturally muss or pill as easily as cotton or man-made fibers, but they do have a tendency to felt or shrink when washed with agitation and steam. Researchers have tested various chemicals and resin finishes to stabilize the fiber. They found some treatments would control shrinkage, but would leave unwanted side effects, such as yellowing, change in hand or fiber damage. Two promising treatments for wool have been developed abroad—one in Australia and one in Israel.

Researchers with the Wool Bureau in the United States believe minimum care woolen fabrics may be obtained through improved yarn constructions and better yarns, perhaps in combination with some slight chemical modification. They report that untreated worsted fabrics woven of fine yarns and of tight construction have performed as well as in wash and wear tests as many resinated cottons.

Legion Auxiliary Names Standing Committees for Year

The regular meeting of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 81, American Legion Auxiliary, was held Tuesday, Sept. 6, at the American Legion Home, with the new president, Mrs. Hilda Hall, presiding.

Linda Burghardt, Girls State representative, gave an interesting, and complete report of her nine-day stay at Wolverine Girls State at Ann Arbor in June.

The junior past president, Mrs. Eleanor Shutes, gave a report of her year as president.

Mrs. Hazel Spaulding and Mrs. Eleanor Shutes gave their reports, as delegates, on the state convention held in Detroit. Mrs. Ruth Christwell also added a few comments.

Other reports included one of the Second District meeting at Dundee in June and the installation and memorial services at Temperance in August at which time final tribute was paid to Mrs. Catherine Hafley, Gold Star mother.

It was decided to hold the October meeting at 7 p.m. in order to

U-M Band Will Be Guests of Chevrolet On Wisconsin Trip

Ann Arbor—The University of Michigan Marching Band will travel to Madison, Wis., Oct. 20 for the Michigan-Wisconsin football game as a guest of the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corp.

Announcement of the trip was made jointly by William D. Revelli, U-M director of bands and John L. Cutter, director of public relations for Chevrolet.

This will be the Michigan band's first association with Chevrolet after many years during which the Buick Motor Division of GM made the band its guest on an annual fall trip as well as two trips to the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1, 1948 and Jan. 1, 1951.

"We in Chevrolet are delighted with this new association and the opportunity it provides for others to see and hear one of the outstanding university bands in the country," Cutter said in making the announcement.

DISPUTE ENDED
Live-virus poliomyelitis vaccine has been approved as suitable for use in the United States.

The announcement, ending a long controversy, was made by Dr. LeRoy E. Burney, Surgeon General of the Public Health Service.

Freezers, Food Plans and the Cold Shoulder

(Note: This is one in a series of articles by Paul L. Adams, State Attorney General, concerning frauds affecting the consumers of this State.)

By Paul L. Adams
State Attorney General

Food freezers sold in combination with various types of food schemes cause the largest share of complaints to the office of the Attorney General in the area of consumer frauds.

Investigation indicates that before signing any contract for a freezer and food plan you should consider the following:

1. Representations that a food plan allows you to buy foods at special discounts or wholesale prices are often grossly exaggerated.

You may be induced to pay an exorbitant price for a freezer which is supposed to include food but actually does not. You may pay for a membership card in a food plan which supposedly will save you enough money to pay for your freezer. You may be told that by joining the food plan you can purchase food at wholesale for the rest of your life.

These are gimmicks. The food plan generally will not save you money. It will cost you much more than purchasing a freezer and food separately from legitimate merchants.

The discount or wholesale prices are usually the same as you would pay by judicious shopping. The grade of meat and other items to which you are entitled may be misrepresented. The stock from which you may select your groceries may be limited and inadequate. Companies involved have on several occasions discontinued business, leaving food plan members with no place to get their food and with no one to return their money.

2. The food freezer itself may be greatly overpriced. Always check the price with a reputable local dealer before you sign any contract.

3. Do not sign the contract for the purchase of the food plan in blank as is too often done! See that all representations made by the salesman are included in the contract.

When the blanks in the contract are filled in later by the company or salesman, the terms are often different than represented to you. If you complain to the seller, you may be informed that the salesman is no longer employed by him and you are stuck with the contract.

A cold shoulder for a persistent salesman may save your food budget from future bankruptcy.
