

43 Steers Sold at Auction Thursday

Donald Koenigter's 1,116-pound Hereford steer, judged grand champion at the Chelsea Community Fair, brought 40 cents per pound at the fat stock sale Thursday evening, while the reserve champion, an Angus weighing 943 pounds and entered by Edward Keizer, sold for 33 cents per pound. Both were purchased by the Stop & Shop Supermarkets.

The grand champion lamb, owned by Dean Schairer, weighed 100 pounds and was sold for 36 cents per pound to Farmers Supply Co. Lloyd Grau exhibited the grand champion barrow which sold for 27 cents per pound, and Carol McCulla exhibited the reserve champion barrow which was sold for 17 1/2 cents per pound. Michigan Livestock Co. purchased both.

Napoleon Livestock Co. was the successful bidder for Carol McCulla's grand champion pen of three fat hogs, paying 16 1/2 cents per pound, and the reserve champion pen of three whose owner, Daniel Ehnis, received 18 cents per pound.

A total of 43 steers, including Koenigter's grand champion and Keizer's reserve champion, were included in the Chelsea and Dexter Steer Clubs and sold at the Community Fair sale.

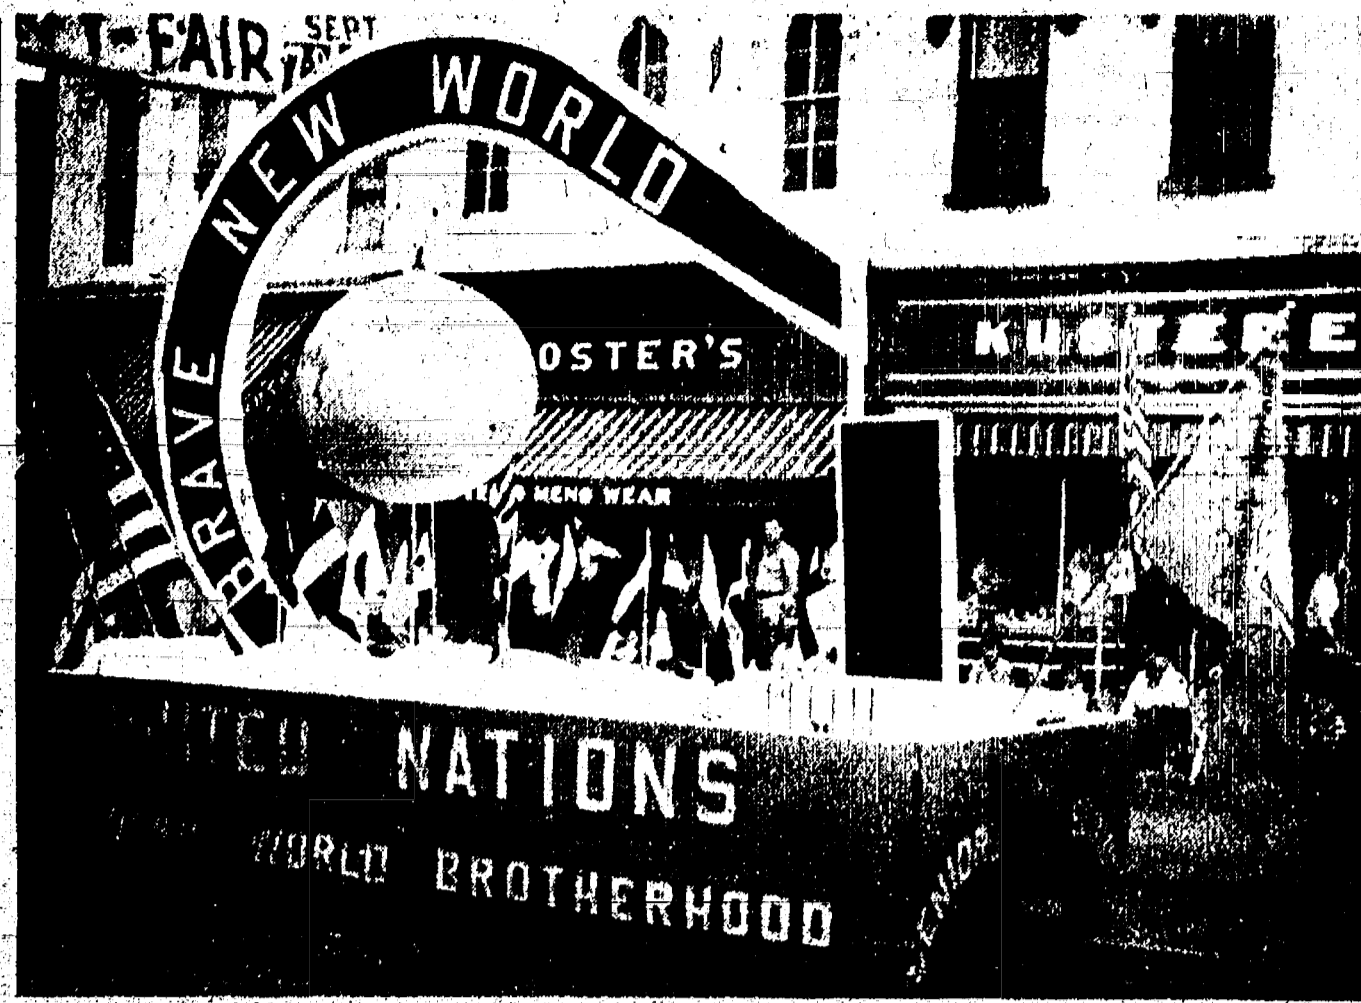

Buyers of the remaining steers, together with the breed of the animal, its weight, price per pound and the name of the owner and exhibitor, in that order, are as follows:

Michigan Livestock Co.—Angus, 1,020 lbs., 28 cents; Ralph Diuble, Angus, 1,005 lbs., 26 1/2 cents; David Frishner, Hereford, 1,005 lbs., 29 cents; Allie Hinderer, Hereford, 880 lbs., 25 1/2 cents; Ronald Montango.

At Gross of Dexter—Hereford, 1,050 lbs., 30 1/2 cents; Gary Eschelbach, Hereford, 925 lbs., 28 cents; Joe Ehnis, Angus, 885 lbs., 29 cents; Bob Dolatzki, Angus, 900 lbs., 27 cents; Harold Gross.

Ridley Commission Co.—Hereford, 965 pounds, 27 1/2 cents; Bob Schneider, Angus, 1,200 lbs., 27 1/2 cents.

SECOND PRIZE WINNER—The Chelsea High School senior class float was awarded second prize of $15 for its Community Fair parade float, "Brave New World." The effective decorations included a large "globe" balloon and UN flags to carry out the theme "Brave New World."

"MISS JANE," the teacher of Chelsea Co-operative Nursery, had a chair plainly marked with her own name on the Nursery's Community parade float. A replica of a schoolhouse, located at the Chelsea-Dexter Road former rural school in which the nursery holds its classes, was the principal feature. Several children and one of the mothers were seated in the "schoolyard." "Miss Jane" is Mrs. Raymond Schairer of 50 North Parker Rd.

Bulldogs Open Grid Season Here Friday

Fight Against Milan

Chelsea and Milan will compete in the Milan-Chelsea-Kiwanis football trophy in a non-league game here tomorrow night—the first of the season for both teams.

Chelsea held on to the trophy for four successive seasons, but Milan wrested it from the Bulldogs in both the 1958 and 1959 football seasons.

Coach Alan Couklin said yesterday that the starting Chelsea line-up for the big game tomorrow will include Homer Nixon, RB; Dan Mayer, LT; Mike Marsh, LG; Jerry Ringe, C; Charles Waller, RG; Dan Ellenwood, RT; Alton Nixon, RE; Ed Tashon, QB; Al Schauer, LH; Don Blalock, RH; and Dave McLaughlin, EB.

Don Wilson may be in the starting line-up as center in place of Co-Captain Jerry Ringe, but present plans list Ringe for the position.

Tractor Pulling Contest Climaxes Farmers' Day

Winners in the three categories of the tractor pulling contests at the Chelsea Community Fair, concluding Farmers' Day Friday evening, are listed as follows:

Tractors up to 4,500 lbs.—Paul Frisinger, first place; Archie Coleman, second place; and Bruce Whitman, third place.

Tractors weighing 4,500 lbs. to 5,500 lbs.—Richard Fowler, first place; Dean Clark, second place; and Bruce Whitman, third place.

In the heavy class, 5,500 lbs. and up, the winners were Richard Brassow, first place; Orson Heeman, second place; and Harold Trinkle, third place.

Prizes were $25, $15 and $10, respectively, for first, second and third place winners.

Hunter Safety Course Starts Next Tuesday

The hunter safety instruction program, as outlined by the Department of Conservation, will begin here Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, at 7:30 p.m. with Gene Shoemaker as instructor. The course is free and participation is voluntary on the part of young people 12 to 17 years old.

The course is comprised of four weekly classes—Tuesday evenings, Sept. 20 and 27 and Oct. 4 and 11.

Max Hepburn, president of the Chelsea Rod and Gun club, will be a guest speaker at the first class session Tuesday evening.

Features announced for the sessions include a gun collection display by Howard Anderson of Sugar Loaf Lake; an archery demonstration by Dare Edwards and son; practice shooting at Chelsea Rod and Gun club grounds; and a talk by Police Chief John Palmer.

Purpose of the course is to instruct young people—boys and girls—in the proper use of guns in preparation for future hunting. It is believed the thorough instruction in safety practices will go a long way in helping to prevent injury and loss of life resulting from thoughtless carelessness while hunting.

Those who have not yet registered for the course may do so at next Tuesday's meeting, Shoemaker said.

QUEEN OF THE FAIR—Margaret Murphy, Chelsea High school sophomore, was chosen Chelsea Community Fair Queen at the Wednesday evening program at the fairgrounds. Contest judges were Mrs. Cecil Creal, wife of Ann Arbor's mayor; Sheriff George Peterson; Manchester Village President Eugene Bentschneider; and Mrs. Horace Robinson, president of the Grass Lake Child Study Club. The queen was presented with a tiara from the Jaycees Auxiliary; flowers from Chelsea Greenhouses; a necklace set from Kautleher's Jewelry; pearls from Wiman's Jewelry; hose from Anderson's and from Vogel's stores; gift certificate from Patty Ann Shoppe; perfume and cologne from Fonn's Drug; a photo from Ralph Guenther; and lipstick and case from Chelsea Drug. The queen and her attendants, Rosemarie Parter, Nancy McCalla, Judy Summers and Pat McCormick, were also presented with corsages from the Fair Association. The Jaycees Auxiliary has, for the past several years, promoted special recognition for the Community Fair queen. The 1960 queen, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, 330 West Middle St., was "crowned" by last year's queen, Carol Reddeman, and Harvey Liky, Chelsea village president pro-tem. Mrs. Elton Guenther, Jaycees Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Charles Pappovich, Jaycees Auxiliary queen contest chairman, presented the tiara and the merchants' gifts to Miss Murphy.

First Meeting Of PTA Set Wednesday

Chelsea PTA will hold its first meeting of the 1960-61 school year next Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m. in the new High School cafeteria.

Invitations have been extended to all the administrative and teaching staff, the bus drivers, custodians and cooks so that parents may have the opportunity to meet all personnel. An explanation of the PTA policies and programs for the year will be given by David Soule, PTA president, and a copy of a calendar of coming events will be available for all present.

A special invitation is extended to new families in the community and parents who have just entered a child in the Chelsea school system to join the PTA.

"The PTA is open to everyone interested in the welfare of children. Here is an opportunity for past members to meet the new people in our district and an opportunity for everyone to work together so that our children will have a better community, state and nation in which to live," Soule stated. He also invited those who attend to stay for the coffee hour following the meeting.

Jaycees Plan Fall Chicken Barbecue

At the Jaycee meeting last week, general chairman Gene Shoemaker, outlined his plans for the annual chicken barbecue. The affair is held annually in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Color Tour.

The Jaycees are confident that this year's barbecue will be bigger and better than ever. In past years, they have served their delicious version of barbecued chicken to thousands of local residents and Color Tour travelers.

Last week's meeting was held at the Chelsea Knights of Columbus Hall. The Jaycees decided to utilize the K. of C. Hall as their regular meeting place for the coming year.

Next month's meeting will center around the annual membership drive. Any young man between the ages of 21 and 35 who may be interested in joining the Jaycees, is invited to attend the membership campaign meeting Oct. 4.

Balmer Wins Prize in Antique Car Festival at Greenfield Village

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer and son, Robert, and Mary Anne Sorensen of Ann Arbor, spent Sunday at Greenfield Village where they participated in the antique car festival.

Balmer won third prize in the class in which he entered his 1908 Ann Arbor touring car.

He also won a trophy in a "potato race" competition with his son, Robert, driving the car.

The owner will be presented with a free mounted photo of the farm if he will call at The Standard office on or before Saturday.

Linda Fisher Receives First Teachers Club Scholarship

Linda Fisher, Chelsea High School honor graduate, class of 1960, was presented the first Chelsea Teachers' Club scholarship during her senior year Thursday in the office of Charles S. Cameron, superintendent of schools. The award was presented by Wesley J. Schlemmery and mathematics teacher, who proposed the establishment of the scholarship fund.

Linda Fisher, daughter of Mrs. Eugene Fisher, 280 Freer Rd., and the late Mrs. Fisher, was chosen by the Teachers Club to receive the award on the basis of her high academic achievement and personal performance. In addition to this honor, during her senior year Linda was editor of the yearbook, "The Barkers," and was elected "most representative girl" by her classmates. She will enter the University of Michigan School of Nursing next week. The scholarship will cover tuition for two semesters.

Following the presentation of the award, Cowell and James LaGoo, co-chairmen of the faculty committee, announced plans for continuation of the scholarship. They said that funds for the scholarship were provided by contributions from individual teachers and proceeds from a matinee performance of the community minstrel show last spring. This year the teachers' club hopes the fund may be enlarged to provide money for more than one scholarship.

Individuals and organizations will be invited to participate in this project.

The purpose of the project is to recognize scholastic achievement and to encourage outstanding students to further their education.

ELTON FREY, 7147 Scio Church Rd., won the dairy showmanship contest in the senior division at the Chelsea Community Fair Thursday evening. His award was a trophy and a prize of $10. He pointed out, to the judge's satisfaction, all the good features as well as any faults in the animal being shown. Sponsored by the Chelsea Artificial Breeders Association, Thursday's contest was the first dairy showmanship contest held in connection with the Chelsea Community Fair.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

This will be the start of a big year in sports, not only T. J., but for thousands of athletes and sports fans across the nation. On Friday night for example, we'll be at a special pre-opening affair at the fine new Chelsea Bowling Lanes, and then of course just about a week or so later, the new lanes will have their grand opening. At 7:30, Friday night, it's the big football game between Chelsea and Milan, and that will be the first of our game-of-the-week broadcasts for the football and basketball seasons. I'm really happy that we're going to be broadcasting these Washtenaw Conference battles again this fall and winter. The listener response has been amazing, but better still it helps to give long neglected recognition to the county's smaller schools who have always produced top grade football talent. The game itself will be a great one to watch, but sorry, I'll not even attempt to pick a winner on this one. the strongest football circuit in the United States. Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee, Auburn and Georgia Tech will be out to dominate the national ratings. The University of Washington is the defending Big Five and Rose Bowl champion but many observers think Southern California has the best team on the west coast. The Trojans handed the Huskies their only loss a year ago, 22-15. Competition will be as fierce as ever in the Southwest Conference. Texas, Arkansas and Texas Christian, which tied for the title in 1969, will be back in action with strong teams, and Baylor rates as a dangerous darkhorse. Oklahoma's 12-year reign appears to be just about over as the undisputed king of the Big Eight Conference. And if the Sooner dynasty ends, Kansas is likely to step up to the throne. Oklahoma lost half of its top 22 performers from last year and Coach Bud Wilkinson will have the most inexperienced backfield since he took over the club in 1947. Among the service teams, the Air Force will be even stronger than last year but neither Army nor Navy will rate with the top teams in the east, or for that matter the country. Both Army and Navy had costly graduation losses and will be battling inexperience. Illinois is rated as the team to beat in the Big Ten but the conference as a whole may slip a little in the national ratings because of its athletic policy which limits football and other sports scholarships to the basis of need. Many good high school players have left the Midwest for other areas. Wyoming looks like a sure fire coin to capture its third straight Skyline Conference championship. Coach Bob Devaney will field an even stronger team than last year when the Cowboys lost only to the Air Force. Here are championship predictions for some of the other conferences: Atlantic coast—Glenison, with North Carolina and Wake Forest given a chance for an upset. Southern Conference—Virginia Military Institute. Yankee Conference—Connecticut. Middle Atlantic—Delaware. California Collegiate—Fresno State. Border Conference—New Mexico State. Missouri Valley—Tulsa. Rocky Mountain—Utah State. East Lansing—A schedule of two triangular meets, one dual meet, and three championship events for Michigan State's 1969 cross country squad was announced this week by Athletic Director Biggie Munn. Highlighting the slate is a triangular meeting with Air Force Academy and Texas at Colorado Springs, Colo., on Nov. 5, and the 22nd annual NCAA championship run on MSU's Forest Akers Golf Course, Nov. 21. The Spartans of Coach Fran Dittich open with a dual meet at Penn State on Oct. 15, and host Notre Dame and Ohio State in a three-way affair Oct. 28. State enters the Big Ten meet at Chicago on Nov. 11, and the IC4A meet at New York on Nov. 14, before winding up with the nationals at home. In all of the three championship meets, the Spartans will defend the team championship. The complete schedule: Oct. 15, Penn State at University Park, Pa.; Oct. 28, Notre Dame and Ohio State at East Lansing; Nov. 5, Air Force Academy and Texas at Colorado Springs, Colo.; Nov. 11, Big Ten Meet at Chicago; Nov. 14, IC4A meet at New York; Nov. 21, NCAA meet at East Lansing. More than half of the AFL-CIO membership is concentrated in the Middle Atlantic and East North Central regions, according to U. S. Labor Department.

THIRD PRIZE WINNER in the Community Fair parade float division was the above entry of Chelsea Chamber of Commerce. Theme of the float was Chelsea's slogan: "Chelsea—Rich in Pride, Industry, Agriculture, Recreation."

Bethel Church Schedules Annual Mission Festival

The annual Mission Festival will be observed at Bethel church, Freedom township, with services at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 18. Two speakers will represent separate types of work which are of great concern to the church at the present time. The speaker at the morning service will be the Rev. Rudolf W. Raber, pastor of Hough Avenue United church at Cleveland, O. He is a native of North Dakota, and attended Elmhurst College and Eden Theological Seminary. For several years he was associated with Caroline Mission in St. Louis, a church settlement house. Since 1952 he has worked in his present inner city mission project in Cleveland. This year he is also serving as acting secretary for racial and cultural relations on the Council for Christian Social Action of the United Church of Christ. This past summer the Rev. Raber was chosen to lead some of the opening devotions at the General Synod of the United Church where a new constitution was recommended to be voted on by the Congregational, Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church. At the Sunday evening service the speaker will be the Rev. Halley B. Oliver, pastor of the First Congregational church of Owosso. Along with the Rev. T. W. Menzel, pastor of Bethel church, he has been serving on a committee attempting to deal with some of the problems arising from the union of their respective church bodies. Founded in 1840, Bethel church has close ties with a number of churches of the county and the annual Mission Festival customarily finds many friends of the congregation present at the services.

Ann Arbor—It's been a dozen years since Oregon and Michigan have tangled on the football field—they'll meet at Ann Arbor again in this year's opener, Sept. 24—but the two quarterbacks in that last game are still well remembered. Pete Elliott, who guided Michigan to the 1948 national championship in Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's first season of coaching, now is Illinois' head coach and will bring the Illini here Nov. 6, to meet his brother Bump of Michigan on the grid for the first time. Norm Van Brocklin, whose passes kept the Wolverine defense in suspense all afternoon, quarterbacked Oregon and went on to become one of professional football's greatest passers. Incidentally, Michigan won the game, 14-0, and ironically, on passes. Chuck Ortmann pitched one to All-American Dick Rifenburg for the first one, and substitute Chuck Lentz, after pitching one to Pete Elliott for 36 yards on the ninety-yard stripe and then a moment later pitched one from the 13-yard line to fullback Tom Peterson. Ann Arbor—Karl King, famous march writer, will be guest conductor at the annual High School Band Day half-time show during the Michigan-Duke game here, Oct. 8. Another probable record-smashing group of more than 13,500 bandmen from all parts of Michigan will assemble for the annual show. Dr. William D. Revell and his assistant, George Cavender, will begin rehearsing the band for its series of half-time shows next week. A mammoth special performance also is scheduled for the Minnesota game, Oct. 22, which also is Band Alumni Day.

Census Bureau To Collect Data On Polio Shots

Information on polio shots will be collected from a number of local families in connection with the September Current Population Survey, Director John E. Tharaldson of the Census Bureau's regional field office at Detroit has announced. The information is being collected for the United States Public Health Service so that estimates of the number of persons who have had polio shots may be brought up to date. The polio shot questions, to be asked of persons under 60 years of age, are: Have you had any polio injections or shots? How many shots have you already had? When did you get the latest shot? The polio shot questions will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment. The Current Population Survey will be conducted here and in 329 other sample areas in the country during the week of Sept. 19. Information will be collected locally by duly accredited interviewers.

Ann Arbor—The University of Michigan has had 48 All-American football players since William Cunningham, a center, was chosen on the 1898 squad. East Wolverine All-American to be chosen was Jim Pace, halfback on the 1957 team. The gridiron season is a long one and the breaks of the game have a long standing record of saying who wins and who doesn't. But these observations are apparent after a coast-to-coast survey of team prospects. The Orangemen of Syracuse University are loaded and they'll be gunning to repeat their national championship of a year ago. However, the obstacles may be too many and too rugged. In a 30-day period in mid-season, Syracuse runs into the other two top teams in the east—Pittsburgh and Penn State—and either could knock Syracuse off its pinnacle. The Southeastern Conference team for team—probably will be PIG SCRAMBLE—The annual pig scramble at Chelsea Community Fair Thursday evening proved highly entertaining for the audience gathered for the evening's program. It was also enjoyable as well as profitable for the youngsters who participated—each one who caught one of the squealing young pigs being permitted to keep it for himself, the only requirement being that one of the pig's offspring will be donated for next year's pig scramble. Stephen Hayden, Chelsea High school agriculture instructor and Future Farmers of America advisor, was in charge of the Chelsea "scramble." Shown in the photo with the pigs they had caught are, from right, Kenneth Wenk, Carl Loeffler, Tom Penhallegon, who helped out but didn't plan to catch a pig for himself, John Steele who caught a pig for James Bauer, Joe Merkel, Jerry Bristle, Lynn Harvey catching for Dave Hargrave, George Klunk, Malcolm Reinhardt, Kenneth Bollinger, Joseph Nyles, Dan Hines, Harry Hadley and Edward Keezer.

Congregational Association Fall Meet To Be Held Here

The Jackson Association of Congregational Churches will hold its annual fall meeting Tuesday, Sept. 20, at the Chelsea Congregational church. The gathering of delegates from the 20 churches of the association in the city will be held in the morning session begins at 9 a.m. with registration of delegates from the churches. The principal speaker will be Dr. Frank Jensen of the State Conference. Earl Blinn, assistant moderator of the Jackson Association, will preside. Rev. Philip Ruchstein, pastor of the Chelsea church, is the moderator. At 11:30 a.m. there will be a discussion pertaining to the United Church—a merger of the Congregational, Christian and Evangelical and Reformed Churches. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 by the Women's Fellowship of the Chelsea church and will be followed by the afternoon session which begins at 1:30 p.m. The afternoon speaker is to be Miss Alice Huggins of the American Board of Foreign Missions. Approximately 100 delegates are expected to attend the meeting, coming from churches in an area including Jackson, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Clinton, Pinckney, Hudson, Addison, Leslie and the vicinity bounded by these communities.

Failure of Minimum Wage Bill

Everyone knows that the basic reason for the session of Congress after the national conventions was political. None the less, there was some legislation that was regarded as imperative. One bill put in this category was minimum wages. But the session has adjourned without being able to get agreement on this subject.

The house had passed its bill before the recess. This provided for increasing minimum wages from $1.00 to $1.15 and extending coverage by about 1,400,000. There was disagreement with both the increase and the extended coverage, but the Administration was willing to accept this bill. This acceptance was based upon various studies which had been made by the Department of Labor showing that an increase to $1.15 would not cause too much disturbance, and that is the test which controls the advice given to President Eisenhower.

The Senate bill was much more extreme in all particulars. It proposed the minimum should be $1.25, that coverage be increased by four million (originally it was five million, but Senator Kennedy agreed to an amendment eliminating one million), and that the test of whether a company should come under the act would be determined by the dollar volume of its sales, not whether it was engaged in interstate commerce.

The leader of the opposition to this Kennedy bill was Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona. On the day he made his major presentation he held the floor for over four hours, and all of his discussion was relevant. He maintained that such an increase would throw half a million persons out of work, that in order for labor to keep current wage differentials as between jobs there would have to be an increase all up the line, and he expressed grave doubts as to whether the bill was constitutional as a result of using volume of sales as the test of coverage.

In spite of the arguments of Senator Goldwater the bill passed the Senate by substantial majority and it was sent to a joint conference with representatives of the House. Here Senator Kennedy offered to make still more concessions, but he would not give up his proposal for determining the basis of coverage. The House conferees refused to change the concept of interstate commerce, and in consequence no agreement could be reached. Senator Kennedy insisted that without this change there was no point in having a minimum wage bill this year—that anything else would fail to be progress, and that he would prefer to wait until the next Congress. Since bills do not carry over from one Congress to another it will be necessary to start from scratch to bring up minimum wage legislation again. And since the next Congress may be either more or less liberal than the present one it is impossible to forecast what may happen. But one fact is clear: Senator Kennedy has suffered a major defeat, and it is not likely that he can make political capital out of it. This is because the basic issue is one of changing the constitutional concept of interstate commerce, and most persons can not be convinced that such a change is desirable or in the public interest.

The whole idea of the convention recess of the Congress was an error. It was supposed to be "smart" politics because it was believed that important campaign issues could be developed—either by passing "desirable" legislation and sending it to the country with it as a record or, in case there was a veto, use that to show that the Republicans are not concerned about the welfare of the public. But it has not worked out that way is so obvious that the only discussion now is on how much damage the special session has done to Senators Kennedy and Johnson.

There are people who discuss problems maturely and people who converse all day without saying a significant word.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

No News Like True News

Nothing makes a newspaper editor happier than a "coop." But it seems to me same editors overlook it now and then. Last week, for example, an editor claimed his paper was the first in his city to report the Mayor's "impending retirement." But, judging from the next day's edition of the same paper, the Mayor had other ideas. As a result, the lead editorial in that newspaper then started off like this: "We are glad to be the first paper in the city to inform our public that the story of the Mayor's retirement is just a rumor." From where I sit, facts and truth always win out, no matter how you disguise them. That goes for newspapers as well as for neighbors. For instance, your choice of beverage may be a glass of iced tea... mine is an occasional glass of beer. Now each of us could make up quite a "story" about which of us is right. But the fact is we're both right—now let's just respect each other's point of view.

At your FORD DEALER'S, of course. His USED CARS are inspected, reconditioned when necessary and road-tested. They're priced right, too!

Where in the world can I get a GOOD USED CAR I can trust?

Bristle Brothers Win Many Livestock Awards at Fairs

The Bristle boys, Jerry, Stephen and James, have gathered for themselves a number of high awards on sheep they exhibited at the Washtenaw County 4-H Show, the State 4-H Show and the Michigan State Fair. At the Junior Show at the Michigan State Fair, Jerry, 14 years old, received first place awards on his Black Top Delaine Merino ewe lamb, ram lamb, aged ewe and aged ram and also a champion award on the aged ewe. He also exhibited a senior yearling Milking Shorthorn which placed first in the Junior Show at the State Fair and second in the open class. At the Ann Arbor 4-H Show, in the Black Top Delaine Merino division, Jerry was awarded first on his aged ewe and ram lamb and first and champion on the aged ram he exhibited. At the State 4-H Show, Jerry's awards included firsts on ram lamb and yearling ewe. Stephen Bristle, 19 years old, received a first place award on a yearling ewe and first and champion on his yearling ram at the Michigan State Fair. At the State 4-H Show at Lansing he was awarded first and champion on both aged ewe and aged ram, while at the Ann Arbor 4-H Show he received three age-ends and one fourth place award on his entries. Stephen's sheep are Black Top Delaine Merinos. The younger brother, James, 12 years old, exhibited Shropshire sheep at the Washtenaw County 4-H Show at Ann Arbor and received first place awards on a yearling ewe and a ewe lamb. He also received second place at Ann Arbor on his aged ram and ram lamb and exhibited a Jersey calf which placed first in its class. At the Chelsea Community Fair last week James received the champion award on his Shropshire ram and ewe, while Jerry got the championship award for his Black Top Delaine Merino ewe. The three Bristle boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bristle, 13271 Scio Church Rd.

Children's Day Prizes Awarded in Many Categories

Children's Day at Chelsea Community Fair, Wednesday, Sept. 7, featured a number of contests in which prizes were awarded. Chairman of the Children's Day evening program was M. J. Anderson. Following a band concert by the Chelsea High School Band, directed by David Lindsay, there was a parade of decorated bicycles, wagons, carts and animals. Various cash prizes were awarded winners in several contests. Stephanie Aldrich and Beverly Ann Bethke with 17-inch pony tails, and Juanita Misaldea, whose pony tail was 14 inches long, were prizewinners in a pony tail contest for girls more than 10 years old. Other pony tail contest winners, in another group were Sue McClain, 20 inches; Wanda Schiller, 16 1/2 inches; and Sue Knott, 14 1/2 inches. First, second and third prizes for having the most freckles went to Larry Parker, Clifford McClain and Ray Worden. Doll contests and winners were listed as follows: Largest doll—Dianna Hale and Susie Parker. Smallest doll—Linda Kay Hale, Nancy Langowski and Sue McClain. Most unusual doll—Sue Parker. Best dressed doll—Jean Parker, Anita Martin and Joanne Popovich. Other contests included dog with the longest tail, in which Eric Rusten won first prize, Rachel Laubach, second prize, and Linda Van Riper, third prize. Their dogs' tails were 18 inches, 17 inches and 13 inches long respectively. John Hammon, Linda Boyer and Ray Sanderson had the dogs with the shortest tails—1/2 inch, 1 1/2 inch, and 2 inch. Penny Boyer and Jean Sanderson won prizes for having the best dressed dogs.

Forest Fire Damage Points to Low Record During Vacation Season

Lansing—If 1960 goes down as Michigan's best year in forest fire control, acreage-wise, summer vacationers will be among those deserving a solid pat on the back. From Memorial Day through Labor Day, the peak vacationing season, only 173 acres were damaged by fires. Michigan's forest fire losses had averaged 870 acres during this same period since 1951. Michigan's current forest fire figure is running neck and neck with that of 1956, the best year on state records when 3,420 acres were burned. This year's toll stands at 2,316 acres. Of course, the vacationing season is not over in this state, not is the forest fire threat. Thousands of hunters and sightseers will be in the out-of-doors this fall at a time when browning leaves and dying ground foliage signal the need for continued caution against fires and the mistakes that lead to them.

GIVE FRUIT ACID TREATMENT PERSONALS

Non-acid fruits such as apples, avocados, bananas, fresh peaches and pears need help to keep from turning dark after they are cut. Home economists at Michigan State University suggest you add an acid such as lemon or lime juice, grapefruit juice or pineapple juice. The Rev. and Mrs. James R. Lee of Cambridge, N. THANK YOU

I wish in this way to express my heartfelt thanks to Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 and the Chelsea Blood Bank for their wonderful help during my wife's illness. Sincerely, Fred Harris, Jr.

CARD-OF-THANKS

Our thanks and heartfelt appreciation are extended to neighbors, friends and relatives for the kindnesses shown our loved one during her illness and for the sympathy expressed in so many thoughtful and helpful ways following her death. Family of Mary E. Adam.

THANK YOU

I wish in this small way to show my appreciation and express thanks to all who sent cards and gifts and those who visited me while I was in the hospital and since my return home. A special "thank you" to the Chelsea Baptist church and the Rev. David A. Wood, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and employees of Central Fibre Products. Mrs. Donald Schneider.

THANK YOU

Our thanks and appreciation are extended to the following merchants for the gifts donated for the Chelsea Community Fair: Queen; Walter and Sandy Zeeb of Chelsea Greenhouse; Chelsea Drug; Kantehner's Jewelry; Winans Jewelry; Anderson's; Vogel's; Patty Ann Shoppe; and Penn's Store. Thanks also to the girls who participated in the queen contest and to the automobile dealers who provided cars for them. Chelsea Jaycees Auxiliary

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

W. A. Dexter, Washtenaw County extension agent in agriculture watches with scholarship recipients standing, from the left, Richard Wheeler, a 1960 Dexter High school graduate, Stanley Post of Saline, and LaVern Leach of Manchester, as William Crimm of Saline Savings Bank, in his capacity as treasurer of the Washtenaw County Bankers Association, signs the scholarship checks for the three youths. These three boys were chosen from those who made application earlier in the year through the county extension office, according to Dexter. The Bankers' Association awards these scholarships annually to boys who have shown excellence in their school agriculture courses, as well as exhibited promise in their actual work on the farm, and who have qualified in their academic record for college entrance. The three scholarship winners shown here are already enrolled at Michigan State University for the short course to be given this fall; they have received their room assignments and will begin their studies about Oct. 1.

Three Youths Receive MSU Scholarships from Banks

Three county boys have received scholarships from the Washtenaw County Bankers' Association to attend short courses at Michigan State University. Recipients are Richard Wheeler of 4274 North Territorial Rd., Dexter, LaVern Leach of 10235 Sharon Hollow Rd., Manchester and Stanley Post of 10135 Burmeister Rd., Manchester. The Michigan Bankers' short course scholarship program for young farmers started in 1949 and since that time 1,104 young men and women have been awarded scholarships. The bankers desire to assist young people in securing training that provides leadership development as well as technical agricultural subject matter. Every community needs good effective and progressive rural leaders.

Since young people are needed to produce our agricultural products today, the farmer of tomorrow must be better trained. The successful farmer of today operates a big business that demands careful thinking and skilled managerial ability. Michigan State University through a short course program is very well equipped to assist the young farmer to secure some of that education which he needs to qualify him as a successful and leading farmer of the future. The job ahead in agriculture is one that challenges the best of our rural young people.

Red Cross Volunteers Are Needed

Imagine being hospitalized for the greater part of a lifetime and never having a visitor to break the monotony of the years. This is true for many at the Veterans Administration Hospital, the largest in the Washtenaw County Hospital and the mentally ill at Ypsilanti State Hospital. Red Cross Gray Ladies and Nurses-Aides provide that "caring loving care" which physicians know is so essential to recovery. There is a great need for many more volunteers in this type of work. The happiness on the faces of these lonely men and women when they know someone cares, is a great reward.

Be Sure Who Has the Note

By Paul L. Adams, State Attorney General (Note: This is one in a series of articles by Paul L. Adams, State Attorney General, concerning frauds affecting the consumers of this State.) "Conman" have worked out a widespread practice for tricking housewives and other innocent victims into making agreements with "no money down." The gimmick is that by merely signing a harmless looking piece of paper you authorize delivery of goods or services.

The "conman" leads you to believe that this piece of paper allows him to deliver the purchase to you for testing and that you are free to change your mind if you decide against it. My investigation into consumer frauds discloses that the average consumer urgently needs to know more about the legal doctrine of "holder in due course" because the law is that if this harmless looking piece of paper is actually a negotiable note it is collectible in the hands of a bank or finance company or other holder. It can be broken only while still in the hands of the original salesman.

The "conman" of course quickly sells the note and departs for points unknown, leaving his customer stuck to pay, even if the purchase turns out to be unworkable, or phony. Where the note has been transferred to a holder in due course, you must pay, even though you have a valid defense against the original seller. Most notes are negotiable. Don't assume your "piece of paper" is not negotiable, unless your lawyer tells you so!

Orientation and training classes will be held in October for new volunteers who become members of the Red Cross team. Mrs. Grace Radford, County Chairman of Volunteers asks, "Will you help us to help?"

Good Things Happen When You Serve" is the slogan of the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross during its volunteer recruitment drive, Sept. 15-30. Besides gray ladies and nurses aides, other equally important volunteer services are needed on bloodmobiles, and as motor service drivers, canteen workers, typists, receptionists - to name a few of the many interesting opportunities to serve.

Volunteer workers make it possible for each dollar contributed directly to a Red Cross chapter or through participation in a United Fund to do the work of $6.

For further information about the types of services, volunteers perform and qualifications for various services, prospective volunteers are invited to call Mrs. L. G. Palmer or Gertrude Young at GR 9-2473 or GR 5-5711 respectively, or the Red Cross Chapter Headquarters, NO 2-5546.

Parachutists Land in Fair Arena Area

Two parachute jumps by men well known in this area, provided a thrill for those who attended Saturday evening's final program of the Chelsea Community Fair as well as for the many spectators in cars parked along nearby roads.

John Mooneyham, an employee at Chrysler Proving Ground, jumped first, from a height of 4,000 feet where, he said later, it was "really cold." He dropped 1,500 feet in eight seconds before opening his parachute at the 2,500-foot level.

Seeing parts of his parachute apparently tear, many watchers gasped believing the chutist was in trouble. Mooneyham explained later that a rip cord operated by the descending chutist opens "holes" in the parachute permitting him to "steer" himself to his selected landing spot.

Mooneyham touched the ground approximately 30 feet in front of the grandstand, landing in the arena as he had said he would.

Ed Green, the second parachutist, made his jump from a height of 4,500 feet; dropping 4,000 feet before opening his parachute. He also landed in the arena, approximately 10 feet behind the spot where Mooneyham touched the ground.

Bill Barnes of Jackson was the pilot of the Cessna "170" from which the two men jumped.

Green carried a smoke bomb so spectators could trace his descent.

Green lives at Manchester where he is an employee of the Kuebler Plumbing and Heating Co.

Mooneyham, a former paratrooper, moved the past week from Jerusalem Rd. to a new home in Dexter.

Mooneyham interested Green in parachuting as a sport and was his instructor. Both are members of the Jackson Sport Parachute club.

Government in the 1880's by Pardon Keyes and Joseph Sanderson. The exact date was not registered.

Ownership passed to Clarissa Keyes in 1837 and later that year to Alfred Dwell.

Consider and Sam Cushman became the owners in 1842 and Jacob Taylor in 1844.

Other owners listed through the years are Joseph Taylor, 1866; Nathan P. Ellis, February, 1866; Andrew Dunlap, March, 1867; Alvah Burgess, 1864; Elijah H. Keyes, 1866; Thomas E. and Leonard E. Morse and then Thomas F. Morse alone in 1878.

Thomas F. Morse retained ownership until his death on April 30, 1910, after he had retired and lived in Chelsea a number of years.

May E. and Aimee Morse becah the owners following his death and in 1936 it became the property of Mrs. Wiseman and her aunt.

Among those who called the Standard office to identify the Wiseman farm were the men at Blaess Elevator, also Paul Rothfuss, Mrs. Wiseman and David Easton.

DONALD DIUBLE, 15 years old, and his two-year-old Holstein made an attractive picture at the first dairy showmanship contest ever held at the Chelsea Community Fair. Donald won first place in the junior division and received a trophy and a $10 prize as his award. Pointing out good features as well as faults in the animal being shown and conducting himself in accordance with showmanship contest rules which required him to confine his attention strictly to the judge and the show animal are the principal showmanship tests which the young winner passed "with flying colors." He is active in 4-H Club work as a member of the Socio-Lodi Junior Farmers club. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Diuble, 7650 Waters Rd. The contest was sponsored by the Chelsea Artificial Breeders Association.

Last Week's Mystery Farm on Guenther Road Now Owned by Glen Wiseman

Mystery Farm No. 115, originally shown at 1250 Guenther Rd., southeast of Chelsea. The Sept. 8 issue of The Standard for readers. Wisemans have lived there since 1938. Recently, proved to be the Glen Wiseman farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wiseman and three daughters, Velma, Judy Arlys, make their home at Guenther Rd. on the farm in a photograph originally in the Sept. 8 issue of Standard as "Mystery Farm 115." It has been the Wiseman since 1938, a year following marriage of Glen and Olive Arlys, being a junior at Guelph school.

Velma is in the seventh grade Arlys in the sixth grade.

Three girls are active in 4-H work. All three are affiliated with the Lima-Scioto Clubs, Blue Florists and Learning By Clubs.

Three girls also sing in the at the Congregational.

Wiseman does general farming on 120-acre place. He customarily raises several cows, approximately 30 hogs.

In addition to her housekeeping the farm Mrs. Wiseman is employed at the Washtenaw County ASC office at Ann Arbor.

The Wiseman's believe their 10-room home was built in about 1880 and that it replaced the original farmhouse which was located approximately 300 feet south. The present home was remodeled before they moved into it in 1938 and they have done some remodeling and modernizing in the 22 years since then. They were married May 22, 1937.

Both have lived in the vicinity since they were born.

The farm was purchased for Mrs. Wiseman and her aunt, Clara Feldkamp who died in 1949. Before her marriage to Mr. Wiseman and for a year following, there were tenants living on the place.

Earlier tenants who operated the farm for previous owners included Mrs. Emma Seitz and her husband, the late Fred Seitz, who lived there for three years following their marriage in 1909. Their oldest son, Paul, was born there. Originally, 320 acres in size, the farm was secured from the U. S.

Government in the 1880's by Pardon Keyes and Joseph Sanderson. The exact date was not registered.

Ownership passed to Clarissa Keyes in 1837 and later that year to Alfred Dwell.

Consider and Sam Cushman became the owners in 1842 and Jacob Taylor in 1844.

Other owners listed through the years are Joseph Taylor, 1866; Nathan P. Ellis, February, 1866; Andrew Dunlap, March, 1867; Alvah Burgess, 1864; Elijah H. Keyes, 1866; Thomas E. and Leonard E. Morse and then Thomas F. Morse alone in 1878.

Thomas F. Morse retained ownership until his death on April 30, 1910, after he had retired and lived in Chelsea a number of years.

May E. and Aimee Morse becah the owners following his death and in 1936 it became the property of Mrs. Wiseman and her aunt.

Among those who called the Standard office to identify the Wiseman farm were the men at Blaess Elevator, also Paul Rothfuss, Mrs. Wiseman and David Easton.

Democracy Works and Endures Only When Won by People with Desire

All over the world today, in the backward areas, the United Nations, the United States and other good-intentioned forces are attempting to bestow democracy upon primitive and native people, or peoples not far removed from those stages.

All free citizens of the world hope that the process will succeed and that these backward peoples will accept democracy, honor it, and fulfill the responsibilities of good citizens in making it work.

We in the United States, however, are a somewhat naive people, and certainly our foreign policy has been the most idealistic in the world in recent years. Our efforts, and those of the U. N., to "present" democracy to those native peoples in the world is commendable, but that does not mean that the effort will always succeed.

It should be remembered that democracy has been earned in all of the countries where it has lasted a long time and where it has been firmly established beyond any danger of disintegration or overthrow.

In England, for instance, the people forced a king to grant the Magna Carta in 1215 at Runnymede, and the freedom of the people was won after a bitter struggle and over the centuries. These freedoms are now institutions in democratic England, and the democratic system is firmly established.

In the United States, we started with a rich heritage of freedom as British subjects, and added to this, we fought for our independence and the ideal of self-government which we hold precious today.

It follows, then, that the best thing we can do in some areas of the world, and in some potentially democratic countries, is to aid the people, and to try to help uplift their standards of living, hygiene, diet, technical progress, etc. A glance to the south-of-us, to South America and Latin America, will show that democracy does not work when people are poverty-stricken, ignorant and not accustomed to exercising the freedoms which we in the United States too often take for granted.

Spies Have Never Been Defended But Servicemen Should Be Protected

We confess we are not too worked up over the ultimate fate of Francis Gary Powers. He was, according to the President, a spy. Spies have always been expendable. And Powers was paid fabulously to accept this calculated risk. If it had not suited the propaganda plans of Mr. K he would not even have had a trial.

Americans should be more concerned about the captured crew of the Air Force RB-47 whose commander was killed when the Russians shot down the plane over international waters on July 1. These were servicemen in uniform, on service pay and under military orders of a country which owes them all possible protection.

A Texan visiting Australia saw a kangaroo for the first time and then drawled: "Ah! I grant you one thing for sure. Your grasshoppers are bigger than ours."

The tremendous and mysterious bang heard in England on the Fourth of July might have been that Shot Heard Round the World on its 179th round.

Sir Owen Seaman and no doubt others have rhymed love with shove, but we haven't had the pleasure of seeing moon rhymed with spittoon, or kissed with fist.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: I ain't got much work done the last few weeks on account of keeping up with them political conventions. With everybody living off'n the Government these days, figuring out who's going to run it for the next four year and figuring out where your next meal is coming from is getting to be about one and the same.

It for the whole family. And she usually figured it out about eight. Now we got "commentators" and when they git through we don't know from nothing.

The boys at the country store was divided on the results of both conventions. Some thought they picked 'em right and some said they got the wrong man. Bug Hookum was lamenting that both choices was bad but, like I told you once before, Bug is a great feller to lament about everything.

As a matter of fact, Mister Editor, me and Bug differs in several ways. I smoke three-for-a-nickel cigars and do all my low-rating on my wife's kindfolks. She traces her ancestors clear back to Adam and Moses so that gives me a pretty good range to work on.

1960 Record?

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

People who read traffic safety stories, glance at safety signs or hear safety reminders have short memories. Too often they let themselves get killed or involved in an accident despite the warnings.

But if it weren't for the newspapers—and other media—the record would be far worse than it is, according to Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the State Safety Commission.

"Definitely, we've been dead without the co-operation and support of newspapers," he said. As Michigan's 1,680,000 students start back to school this fall, Shipman says there can be no better time for drivers to be reminded of the need for precaution on the highway especially near schools and during the hours children are making the trip between school and home.

The law about stopping for school buses loading or unloading children needs to be re-emphasized. It became effective in 1957 more than a year ago and drivers need to be reminded that they are required to stop when the bus stops, whether they are traveling in the same or opposite direction.

"The trend has been for a more safety-conscious public over the past years, and newspapers have helped it along," states Shipman. Newspaper efforts have been sparked by a committee of especially dedicated editors who work together in the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association.

F. Granger Well, president of the Port Huron Times Herald, is a key driving force in this activity. In six of the last seven years he served as chairman of the committee.

The MPA committee urges three main actions for Michigan newspapers:

- 1.—Devote ample news and editorials to traffic safety matters to keep the public up-to-date. 2.—Support the aims defined by traffic experts. In recent years this included pushing for a speed limit, a larger state police department, adequate financing for a state safety office, the point system and the school bus law. The committee does not set itself up to decide what to do; it supports the things safety leaders say will bring the best results.

3.—Support local enforcement officials in their efforts to deal with traffic violators. The committee urged editors to chat with sheriffs, police chiefs and judges encouraging them to deal strictly with law breakers; to offer editorial support for strictness.

Another effective way newspapers help in safety efforts is through campaigning for road improvements, better signing, traffic lights or other safety aids right in their own communities, Shipman said.

"Not only can the public be warned about an unsafe situation, but officials can sometimes be persuaded to act." "In all our meetings with daily and weekly newspaper editors we continually emphasize the theme, look-around-you—There may be a safety situation in your own town that needs cleaning up," the safety expert said.

"Everybody is more affected by what they read than by anything else," Shipman said. "In order to get people to drive safely, we think the best thing is to urge them to do specific things." "You just can't tell them to be safe," he said. "The one thing we do emphasize in any campaign is reasonableness."

He said newspapers used the specific suggestion approach effectively, with stories and sometimes pictures to illustrate such warnings as: Give your children something to do to keep them from sitting on a long ride. Don't quarrel with your mother-in-law while on a trip. Don't drive when you're dead tired. Be sure your car is in shape to make the trip.

Newspapers have been complimented numerous times for their safety work by the Governor, by State Police Commissioner Joseph E. Childs and Secretary of State James M. Hare, who is chairman of the State Safety Commission by virtue of his elective position. Editors, like safety experts, know that the battle to reduce accidents on the highway is a never-ending one. Continued effort is necessary to keep from losing ground.

Call Issued for Volunteers To Help In School Libraries

Mrs. Carl Schwieger, chairman of the Chelsea PTA volunteer library committee, said yesterday that the committee is continuing with the work of supervising children in the school libraries as they select or return books and that there is an urgent need for additional volunteers.

Mrs. Schwieger said the schedule is so arranged that if a sufficient number of women will volunteer, each would be assigned a regular day for three hours of work each week. She suggested that women who are in a position to help with the work call her at her home for details.

Kennedy States New Principle for Bargaining

Toward the end of his speech in Flint on Labor Day, Senator John F. Kennedy unveiled a new principle for the UAW—a principle that can lead to the bloodless revolution in America which was the unconcealed goal of labor dictators before they became subtle politicians.

Kennedy told Flint automobile workers at a picnic that installation of automation machinery is a proper subject for collective bargaining. By this statement, he pointed vividly to the road his administration will follow if he is elected President.

At the end of this road is complete management of the factories by the workers. For if they have the power to dictate to their employers the type of machines that must be used to produce automobiles in today's highly competitive market, they will have relegated management and investors to the limbo of inconsequential potlodes.

Most of the 70 or more newspapermen traveling through Michigan with Senator Kennedy ignored his action in calling the workers to arms to negotiate to more abundant production at less cost to consumers.

Most of these newspaper writers are members of the UAW-CIO and are submerged to their necks in the labor movement. Most of them based their stories that day on Kennedy's ridiculous charge that every family in America with two children lost $7,200 in the last eight years "because President Eisenhower does not have faith in the future of his nation."

Maybe I am out of tune. Maybe, after 36 years writing politics for Detroit dailies, I have become a broken-down outfielder who has lost the ball in the sun.

But if I had been covering Kennedy on Labor Day, my story would have been based on the fact that the Democratic nominee for President suggested that the UAW change course in its negotiations with the automobile industry next year.

His proposal makes clear that if he is elected and if the union follows his leadership, Michigan is threatened with disastrous and far-reaching strikes.

So far, Walter Reuther and his economists have not opposed automation. If they attempted to block labor-saving and money-saving machinery, they would be in the fatal position of the revolution in England a century ago who tried to destroy the looms that replaced hand weavers.

"Unemployment due to automation is of acute concern to both political parties, and both will have bills in the legislature next year to broaden the training programs for the unskilled who needs jobs."

But until Senator Kennedy spoke in Flint, not even Reuther had conceived bargaining sessions with the Big Three to limit the use of labor-saving devices.

My story would have pointed out that in 1958, the union set out to tighten its hold on management by demanding a profit-sharing program. It would have told how Reuther quickly abandoned this tactic when the automobile manufacturers countered with a proposal that, if pay is to be based on profits, the union also should share in losses when business declined.

The story would have pointed out that on Sept. 1, five days before Senator Kennedy arrived in Michigan, all automobile workers received an automatic raise of $2.40 a week because of the "Eisenhower prosperity" which Kennedy ridiculed.

Maybe the size of crowds at political rallies are meaningless in this television era. The UAW worked for weeks to get into Cadillac Square in Detroit to make a big show for the date.

A crowd of 100,000 would have filled the square from the old City Hall to the County Building.

I stood on the sidewalk of Wood across the street from Kennedy. The newspapers said there were 40,000 on hand. A large number of estimates would have been 30,000, a figure that may be inflated when compared to the rallies the UAW staged for F. D. Roosevelt, Truman and Stevenson.

Mrs. T. G. Riemenschneider had charge of devotions and Mrs. Albert Schweinfurth presented the lesson, "The Purpose Becomes Action."

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rentschler and son, Robert, and Mrs. Leonard Loveland were hosts for the September meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 5 at the home of Mrs. Eva Notten.

BUDGET SURPLUS

The Federal Budget showed a surplus of $1,068,101,353 in the fiscal year that ended June 30. It was a spectacular improvement over the previous year. The surplus resulted largely from a sharp post-recession rebound in tax revenues and a string of chance circumstances that reduced expenditures.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. McCallum

Alice Ann Wenk, William McCallum Speak Vows Saturday at St. Paul's

Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Wenk announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Ann, to William F. McCallum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCallum of St. Clair.

The couple spoke their marriage vows Saturday afternoon in a ceremony read by the Rev. Paul Schnake in St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church.

The bride wore a bluish peau de soie gown with the overskirt ending in a chapel-length train. Train roses and scrolls centered with seed pearls and crystals circled the scoop neckline and the three-quarter length sleeves. Her bluish silk illusion veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and crystals and she carried a hogarth curve arrangement of white roses, ivy and Stephanotis, centered with pink chiffon roses.

Mrs. Donald Fisher of Detroit, for her role as matron of honor, wore an ice pink gown similar in style to the bride's gown, featuring a cummerbund and overskirt. She wore matching accessories.

Miss Jacqueline Larmee, of Ann Arbor, and Miss Olive Ann McCallum, of St. Clair, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Their dresses of burgundy wine satin were styled like that of the matron of honor. The attendants carried cascades of white tulle mums and pink leaves.

Miss Nancy Kay Koengeler wore pink crystal and carried a fan arrangement of white snowdrift mums and pink chiffon roses. She served as a junior bridesmaid.

Judith Grau of Chelsea, the flower girl, she was dressed in pink crystal and also carried a French basket with a fan arrangement of mums and roses. John Fulford, of Ypsilanti, a cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Assisting as best man was Ed Kenyon of Battle Creek.

Ushers were John Weiser, of St. Clair, and Frederick Wenk, a brother of the bride.

The bride's mother was dressed in a burgundy wine suit of silk peau de soie. She wore matching accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dull finished satin dress of electric blue with matching accessories. Her corsage was a white cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the church parlors after which the couple left for a trip to the Peconos Mountains.

They will live at 1620 Spartan Village, East Lansing.

The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University.

The bridegroom is a senior in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Michigan State University where he is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Phi Eta Sigma honorary societies.

The earliest authenticated strike of workers in the United States in a single trade occurred in 1780, when Philadelphia printers gained a minimum wage of $6 a week.

September Birthday Celebrants Honored At Methodist Home

Seventeen women at the Methodist Home who have birthdays in September were remembered with birthday gifts of necklaces at a joint birthday party held in their honor Tuesday.

Two men who reside there—Leonard Hendee and George Friggens—were presented with after-shave lotion as gifts in observance of their September birthdays.

The gifts are provided by the Chelsea Home Friends of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church.

Table decorations at Tuesday's party included trailing vines together with garden flowers which some of the members raised themselves.

Among Tuesday's honored residents was Mrs. Minnie Staebler, formerly of Ann Arbor, who observed her 93rd birthday this month.

In addition to Mrs. Staebler, Mr. Friggens and Mr. Hendee, those honored Tuesday are Mrs. Mary Patterson, Mrs. Winifred Harper, Mrs. Jane Hildebrand, Mrs. Christina Taggart, Mrs. Lillie Doelle, Mrs. Lucy Findley, Mrs. Laura Fraser, Miss Alta Griffin, Miss Mary Gregg, Mrs. Florence Tiffany, Miss Lonah Burrows, Mrs. Maude Barker, Mrs. Hilda Fulcher, Mrs. Orpha Fisher, Mrs. Clara Swartz and Mrs. Dora Baker.

Those who observed birthdays in August included 96-year-old Mrs. Lola LaRue, a new resident who formerly lived in Howell.

Others honored for August birthdays are Mrs. Nora Friggens, Miss Alice McKeever, Mr. Frank Dellar, Mrs. Mabel Austin, Mrs. Alta Mooney, the Rev. Irvin Snavely, Miss Augusta Bentz, Mrs. Annetta Falz, Mrs. Laura Oliver, Mrs. Alice Beryl, Mrs. Flora Baxter and Mrs. Grace Westcott.

Pot-Luck Picnic Organized To Greet 'Citizen' Jim Egbert

"Jim" Egbert, director of Chelsea's 125th Anniversary pageant a year ago, and the community minstrel show held here last spring, is to be in Chelsea this weekend and the many friends he has made here are planning a get-together pot-luck picnic in his honor at Pierce Park Saturday evening.

Heading the informal committee in charge of arrangements for the event are Roland Spaulding, Mrs. Dudley Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nielsen.

Invited to be present for the gala picnic in Egbert's honor are all interested people of the community.

The committee has planned to provide coffee and suggest that those who attend bring their own rolls or sandwiches, their own table service and a dish of food to pass.

The date is Saturday, Sept. 17; the place is Pierce Park; and the time set for the pot-luck supper is 6 p.m.

HOUSING FOR AGED

The Federal Housing Administrator has ordered a fast start on the new Federal program of direct loans for housing for the aged. The program was signed into law by President Eisenhower in July.

Elaborate or extravagant projects are barred, but some are expected to cost two or three million dollars each.

champion, an Angus, was raised by Edward Keezer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Keezer, 512 Freer Rd., as his Chelsea Steer Club project. His sponsor in the club was Wes Howes. The steer weighed 940 pounds and sold for 33 cents per pound for a total of $310.20.

The Hi-Light

Edited by Students of the Chelsea High School Journalism Club

Sept. 15—School Board reception for teachers, 8:00 p.m.
Sept. 16—Milan plays here at 7:30 p.m.
Sept. 21—ITA meets in cafeteria, 7 p.m.
Sept. 23—U. High plays here, 7:30 p.m.

At the close of opening week, Chelsea High had enrolled 383 students. The largest is the freshman class, with 119; sophomores enrolled 99; seniors claim 41; juniors have 74. Junior High school enrolled 252, with 136 in grade eight and 116 in grade seven.

The enrollment of 17 more senior high students may force Chelsea High school to become a "class B" school. A great disadvantage of this change would be the fact that tougher competition in music, sports, etc., would be met. It might cost more to go to class B schools for competitive events because some of them are further away.

A time-honored pattern of many years' standing is being discontinued this year when students report directly to their first-hour classes, instead of reporting to home room. The saving of this fifteen-minute period, and "the passing time" following it, makes possible the holding of seven 55-minute classes each day. Morning classes start at 8:20 and end at 11:15. Afternoon classes begin at 11:55 and end at 3:50.

Another change is the shifting of "activity period" from morning to afternoon. This makes it possible for clubs to meet without taking very much time from any one class—the change spreads the time shift over the four afternoon classes instead of the three morning classes.

Senior band met for the first time this year on Sept. 6 under the direction of the new instructor, Mr. David Lindsay.

Members began practice on the music for the concert they presented Wednesday evening, Sept. 8, at the Community Fair. They also began preparations for the parade on Saturday, Sept. 10.

They are now working on the half-time shows for the home football games. The band also plans to participate in the University of Michigan Band Day on Oct. 8.

Freshmen met Friday, Sept. 2, to nominate Rose Porter as their candidate for the title of "Fair Queen," with Carol Mayer and Carolyn Smith in the court. The class is proud of the fact that its enrollment is the largest in school—119. Advisors are Misses Joan Wiese and Mabel Fox and Messrs. Robert Taylor and Jack Musser. Margot Murphy, sophomore candidate for "Fair Queen," was chosen Sept. 7 with a resounding cheer. Class representatives went wild when she was nominated. Before her election, Margot had expressed doubt of her ability to win the nomination. Her comment "I'm very thankful," showed her sincerity.

The class took pride in the float for the Saturday parade. The pink letters saying "Class of '60" on the sides, and "CHS 1960" on the back gave the impression of flowers.

Margot was becomingly dressed in a golden taffeta gown with slender shoulder straps. The color accented a beautiful tan which she acquired during the summer. The theme, "Chelsea High Has Everything," was shown by students representing various categories. Representing leadership were Nancy Huelsberg and Bill Allan. Judy Weinkauf and Don Holmes exemplified sportsmanship. Citizenship students were Carol McCalla and Jack Howard. Susan O'Neill and Eric Knisely illustrated scholarship.

The class had been working and planning in connection with the float for nearly five weeks before the fair. They are proud of their float, and most of all, of their queen. Their advisors are Mrs. Gwen LaGuer, Mrs. Christine Flora, Messrs. George Prinz and William Hunter.

The junior class also worked very hard this year planning and decorating their float. The theme, "The World's Wheel of Understanding" stressed the idea of youth participation in world affairs.

The class also maintained a refreshment booth at the fair, which proved to be successful. All students who participated will gain points for the senior trip club.

The group is now eagerly awaiting the arrival of their things. Advisors of the group this year are Mr. LaGue, Mrs. Beverly Sharp, Mrs. Edward A. Straker, Mr. Alfred Smith, and Mr. Tom Slater.

The senior class met late in August under the supervision of Mr. Steve Hayden to discuss their float and stand. Other advisors are Mrs. Wanetta Finch and Messrs. John McGill and Wesley Cowell.

They decided upon "Brave New World" as a theme for their float, and that construction would take place at Danny Mayer's home.

The committee named to supervise the senior stand at the fair included Lynn Lipphart, chairman, and Judy Speer, Sue Eisenbeiser, and Mary Jane Harris. A duty schedule was worked out according to the point system of the Trip Club.

They also discussed magazine sales and the serving of a banquet to an outside organization in mid-September.

They nominated Judy Summers as their candidate for "Fair Queen." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Summers, of Rustic Drive, North Lake. In the parade she wore an aqua chiffon formal. She was driven in a 1900 Ford convertible by Jerry Ringe, another CHS senior.

Judy is a variety cheerleader, member of journalism, GAA, FHA, and is active in class activities, as well as being employed at Stop and Shop Supermarkets.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Room August 16, 1960
Regular Session.
Invocation by Mr. Geo. Stanford, Chaplain of the Chelsea Methodist Home.
This meeting was called to order by Pres. Alber at 8:00 p.m.
Trustees present: Barr, Baldwin, Clark, Lixey, and Paul.
Trustees absent: Chandler.
The minutes of the regular session of August 2, 1960 were read and approved.
A public hearing was held before the Village Council on the rezoning request submitted by the Chelsea Knights of Columbus to change the premises located at 700 South Main from "R-1" Single Family to "R-3" Multiple Family. A petition opposing this rezoning was submitted signed by 24 of the residents residing in the area located within 300 feet of the aforementioned lot.
Motion by Barr, supported by Paul, that the request by the Knights of Columbus for the aforementioned rezoning be denied. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.
A discussion was held with Mr. Harold Strout, Sewage Treatment Engineer, regarding the additions to the Sewage Treatment Plant. The modifications are 47 per cent complete with final completion scheduled for the latter part of December of 1960.
A discussion was held regarding possible future expansion of sewerage facilities south from Old US-12.
Motion by Paul, supported by Clark, to authorize the purchase of eyecone fence from the Board of Education for $225.00. This purchase to be paid from the Equipment Fund. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.
