Bulldogs Trounce South Lyon, 47-0; Point for Dexter

Win over Dexter Needed Friday in Conference Race

Chelsea High gridgers marched to their fifth victory of the season Friday night as they crushed South Lyon team, 47-0. The stage is now set for the key Western Conference clash—tonight with Dexter's Dreadnoughts.

The Bulldogs are undefeated in conference play while Dexter, lost 14-0 early in the season, victory for Chelsea would establish a tie for the title as a conference game with Dexter is scheduled for Nov. 4.

Chelsea kicked-off to the Lions after South Lyon had picked up first down forced them to punt. Halfback Davey Keezer took a punt kick on his own 35-yard line and returned it 35 yards to the 10-yard line. Four plays later, halfback Don Blau took a punt kick on the three-yard line and scored. The extra point attempt was good.

The Bulldogs added two more touchdowns in the first quarter to have no doubt about the evening winner. Halfback Dave McLaughlin scored from the three-yard line for the second score. Quarterback Ed Lauch passed to Ed Nixon for the extra point.

The third first-quarter touchdown came on a pass from Ed Lauch to Alton Nixon for 10 yards to the 10-yard line. Lauch passed to Nixon for the extra point. The second quarter Lauch, showed his best passing of the night and passed to Nixon for 25 yards and the big end zone touchdown. Ed Lauch passed to Nixon for the extra point.

After the half-time intermission, Bulldogs took the second half off and marched 74 yards for a touchdown. Halfback Don Blau passed six yards off-tackle to the touchdown. Lauch passed to Nixon for the extra point.

With Nixon made their only threat after Blau's T.D., they moved the ball deep into the end zone. Lauch passed to Nixon for the extra point.

Community Chest Funds Come Slowly

Community Chest campaign figures available Tuesday, indicate that approximately 35 per cent of the $15,297 goal had been reached.

Total amount of contributions turned in by campaign workers at that time amounted to $5,300 of which $4,200 was from the industry division and $980 from the business division.

No reports are as yet available from residential, rural and schools divisions.

Contributors who are in a position to increase the amount given in former years can help with the success of the campaign if they will give an additional amount this year. This will help balance the increase in contributions from workers who are now or have been laid off, it was pointed out by campaign workers.

The red feather "thermometer" on the Post Office lawn shows the present percentage of contributions—at slightly more than one-third of the goal on the fifth day of the campaign which began Oct. 17.

Workers are endeavoring to complete their solicitations by Monday, Oct. 31; however, a complete report is not expected to be available for another week or 10 days.

Door-to-Door Salesmen Must Have Village OK

Because of flagrant disregard of business ethics by many door-to-door salesmen or peddlers, Chelsea Village officials advise Chelsea residents that to protect themselves and others, they should demand that the salesman show a permit secured from the village clerk.

Particularly to be guarded against are magazine salesmen who are not sponsored by a local organization; also some encyclopedia salesmen as well as some out-of-town home repairmen.

The easiest way to eliminate the nuisance and fraudulence of those who are dishonest is to demand their permit. Honest persons will be glad to show their permits; only those who attempt to misrepresent themselves or their wares will object.

The permits are obtainable from the village clerk for a nominal fee.

Residents should not hesitate to call the Police Department for information as to whether a door-to-door salesman is misrepresenting himself or his product or services.

Kiwanis-Sponsored Halloween Party Set For Saturday Night

The annual Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party for youngsters of the community has been planned for Saturday night as a finale to Chelsea's three-day celebration which includes dedication tonight of the newly-completed downtown parking lot and outdoor community activities center at 7 p.m.

The dedication ceremony, with village officials and supervisors of neighboring townships present, will be followed by a Chelsea High school pep meeting at the parking lot as a prelude to tomorrow's Chelsea-Dexter football game at the high school athletic field.

Because the children's Halloween party was moved forward this year, the annual "tricks or treats" night is scheduled for Monday evening, Oct. 31. The Chelsea Fire Department siren will be sounded at 6:30 p.m. for the beginning of the children's visits to the homes of neighbors and friends. At 8:30 p.m. the siren will be sounded again and all "tricks or treats" activities should stop at that time.

Children are to assemble at the Junior High school gymnasium at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. Here noise-makers will be distributed and the parade will be lined up to start promptly at 6:45 p.m.

The parade will circle the block Park, Main, East Middle and South East Sts. and then will go to the Municipal parking lot where cider and doughnuts will be served from 6:45 to 7:15 p.m. The Chelsea Junior Band will lead the way.

This will be followed by entertainment and judging and awarding prizes to winners.

Three-Day Celebration Set To Dedicate New Downtown Parking Lot

Nixon Train Passing Thru Here Today

Vice-President Richard M. Nixon is campaigning in Michigan today and his schedule calls for his train to pass through Chelsea at 10:45 a.m. after a half-hour stop at Ann Arbor.

Pupils in Chelsea schools were advised yesterday that they would be excused to see the train as it passes through Chelsea, providing their parents make the request.

Chelsea Republicans were officially notified late Tuesday night that the Vice-President and Mrs. Nixon will be on the rear platform of the train as it passes through Chelsea. The train will stop during the night, according to assurances yesterday and attempts were still being made to have the train make a brief stop.

Republicans emphasize that since Nixon is the present Vice-President of the United States, he should be accorded the honor of having people of the community turn out to wave to him as he passes through town on his way to Jackson for an 11:10 appearance there.

Vice-President Nixon's train is scheduled to reach Ann Arbor at 10:30 a.m. after a stop at Monroe, according to Wendell W. Hobbs, Washtenaw County Republican Committee chairman who is in charge of arrangements for Nixon's visit to the county.

From Monroe the campaign train is scheduled to go to Detroit, where switching activities will put it on the tracks headed for Ann Arbor. There is no stop planned at Ypsilanti on the trip from Detroit to Ann Arbor, Hobbs said.

Hobbs said that it can be stated definitely that Nixon is scheduled to arrive at the New York Central Railroad depot at Ann Arbor at 10:35 a.m. This is 15 minutes later than originally announced.

When the Vice-President gets off the special train at 10:35 a.m., he will walk directly to a stand set up in front of the depot. There he is scheduled to give a talk with his train to leave the station at 10:35 a.m.

Secretary of State Hare Speaks at Democratic Rally

James M. Hare, incumbent candidate for the office of Secretary of State, spoke at the Chelsea Democratic rally held at the MacKune Memorial Library last Friday night. Hare discussed taxes and the need for an immediate and complete tax reform, instead of a sales tax increase that many of the opposition party admit would only be a temporary solution.

"As for tax reform by a Constitutional Convention, we cannot wait for that to take place. Under the most ideal conditions, the legal process would take years."

Activities Start Tonight with Giant Pep Rally

Beginning this evening, at 7 o'clock, a three-day program of community activities has been arranged centering around Chelsea's newly-completed downtown parking lot; the Chelsea-Dexter football game here Friday night; and the annual Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party for youngsters.

A detailed story of the three-day affair has been prepared by a "Special" Chelsea Standard reporter. This is his story.

Come one, come all, come everybody! Turn out in the fun! Starting promptly at 7 o'clock this evening, a torch-light parade will form at the Junior High school and literally take over the town for a few minutes before ending up in the new downtown parking lot.

Village officials will conduct a short dedication program for this fine new dual purpose addition to the community. The fact that the old parking lot needed the expansion, reorganization and beauty treatment that it has just undergone is well known but the use of this lot as a Community Outdoor Activity Center has unlimited possibilities.

Following the dedication program, one of the most important local events of the year will take place. You are all invited to watch, or take part in a real bang-up football pep rally. Important event? Certainly! It is your chance to turn out and give actual support, by your presence, to our Chelsea High football team.

This pep rally will be conducted by Richard Hest, president of the student council. The High School Senior Band, under the direction of David Lindsey will assist the cheerleaders, captained on this occasion by Judy Summers, with their part of the program. It is also hoped that the band will be able to work in a couple of numbers for your enjoyment—somewhere in the program.

Chelsea football players will be introduced and you will have this opportunity to applaud them for the hard work, fine spirit and very high degree of good sportsmanship they have shown throughout the season.

Now, for Friday evening. Starting promptly at 7:30 p.m., the opening whistle of the Dexter-Chelsea football game will bring the crowd to their feet out at the new athletic field. Plan to arrive early so as to have time to park, get your tickets and see the special pre-game activities.

Republican Jamboree Set In Dexter

The Republican Jamboree to be held next Saturday, Oct. 29, at Dexter's Copeland auditorium (old high school) will present the county and state candidates in an atmosphere of fun. District chairman Frank Haggard, reports that William Urquhart will act as master of ceremonies. Fun skits will be under the direction of Yates Kennedy. Refreshments will be sold by the Young Republicans as part of their fund-raising program.

Speeches will be short so that the candidates will have plenty of time to visit with the people on the floor. The entire program will be on the informal side.

Mrs. Rha Arnold will be at the piano for the community singing plan for the community singing.

Dave Sellards will have charge of making name tags for the guests as they arrive. Mrs. Richard Huston will have charge of the music.

Speeches will be short so that the candidates will have plenty of time to visit with the people on the floor. The entire program will be on the informal side.

JIM MSJAR, a 1959 graduate of Chelsea High school and now sophomore in the Civil Engineering department at Michigan State University, is a member of the 1960 football squad at the school. He participated in varsity football last year as a guard. Also on the 1960 squad is Roger Herman, 1960 Chelsea High school graduate, who now lives at Jackson. He is a freshman mechanical engineering student at Michigan Tech. Herman was captain of the Chelsea High school squad and gained all-conference and state honors. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Herman and state honors. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mahan, and an uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Steele, are planning to attend the Michigan Tech game against the Northern Michigan college team at Marquette on Nov. 5.

Speeches will be short so that the candidates will have plenty of time to visit with the people on the floor. The entire program will be on the informal side.

Planet Mercury Will Cross Sun's Face Next Monday

People who have access to a telescope or binoculars may, with some preparation, view a transit of the planet Mercury across the face of the sun on Monday, Nov. 7.

This particular happening occurs only once in every three to 11 years.

Appearing as a small black spot, Mercury begins the transit at the lower eastern quarter of the sun at 9:34 a.m. Eastern Standard time and moves on a slightly raised line until completing the transit at 2:10 p.m. a little above center at the west.

In order to avoid injury to the eyes, it is suggested that a white cardboard be placed a few inches from the telescope or binoculars and then adjust the telescope or binoculars until the image of the sun and the Mercury transit are clearly focused on the cardboard.

Student at IBU

A. C. Hermann, president of Jackson Business University, Jackson, has announced that Shirley Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Howard is enrolled at the school.

A number of Chelsea people will be in Ann Arbor for the Vice-President's visit and others are planning to go to Jackson to hear him speak.

Top Leaders in UAW-CIO Oppose Judge Breakey

Political leaders of the UAW-CIO are opposed to him but thousands of members of unions of the state are in favor of the Judge James R. Breakey, Jr. Ann Arbor election to the candidacy of Michigan Supreme Court on the non-partisan ticket, Nov. 8.

This is the belief of Judge Breakey, who said: "My opponent is reported as having stated to a UAW-CIO meeting:

"We can lose all of the advances made in this State in the last 12 years by losing this November," meaning the Supreme Court."

"This reveals," said Judge Breakey, "that the leaders of the UAW-CIO are determined to defeat me in this election. I am certain that there are thousands of union members who do not follow their leaders in this attempt of officers of the UAW-CIO to effect control of the Supreme Court in this election."

"Certainly my record of 15 years as a trial judge has shown that no group, no class, no special interest has ever controlled my decision as a judge. My firm belief is that the only justice the citizens of Michigan desire is equal justice for everyone."

Judge Breakey has been circuit judge in Washtenaw county for 15 years. He is a resident of Ypsilanti and has been in the practice of law since 1929.

Judge Breakey is a member of the Michigan Judge's Association, trustee of the Michigan State Bar Foundation, member of the State Committee of the Michigan Section of Judicial Administration of the American Bar Association, and other important legal committees.

GROSS DERELICTION

Representative Francis E. Walter has accused the Administration of "gross" dereliction in hiring two cryptographic code clerks who defected to the Soviet Union.

The Pennsylvania Democrat who is chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was referring to Bernon F. Mitchell and William E. Martin.

NIXON... the man and his experience

by Raymond Moley

Contributing Editor Newsweek Magazine

WHAT'S NIXON LIKE?

The American voter in these autumn days is facing a profoundly important decision. He must employ or, if you wish, choose or elect a public servant for a mighty important position. The voter, if he is wise, will ask of the applicant the same sort of questions he would ask of any prospective employee.

The three most frequently asked questions about any applicant for a job are these:

1. What are the applicant's character, his personality, his family background, and his moral and spiritual fiber and convictions?

2. How well and how hard has the applicant worked at his previous jobs? How thoroughly does he prepare for an assignment?

3. What special training and experience has he had to fit him for this particular job for which he is applying?

In this and two more articles I shall answer these questions. When the applicant answers for information about an applicant, he asks those three questions. He also asks, "How long and how well have you known the applicant?"

Keen Mind

My acquaintance with Richard Nixon began on an afternoon in late summer, 1948. I was in Los Angeles and a friend called and asked me to join him and a few friends at dinner at his home some distance from the city. He said that he would ask a young Congressman named Nixon from Whittier, who was also invited, to pick me up at the hotel and drive me out.

During the three or four hours' trip out and back, he told me about his labors in the Hiss case, which was then in process. I was amazed at the keenness of Nixon's mind, his capacity for long and meticulous investigation, and his concern about protecting the nation against Communist espionage.

Later I talked with Nixon several times a year, in Washington and California, in his home and in hotels when our paths crossed. I was in California when he was running for Senator in 1950 and in 1952 when he was running for Vice President. Our talk has concerned party organization, public policies, and many other subjects. My first impression, formed in 1948, has been strengthened in every way.

Among many individuals who have lived in and around Congress for a long time there is often considerable conviviality. There is nothing especially convivial about Nixon's personal associations. He is no prude, but he is very light in his drinking and eating habits.

There are certain subjects on which he has most intense convictions. One is his fear of revolution.

Nixon has an intense hatred of Communism, at home and abroad. He has seen and felt the Communist peril in the Hiss case, in his travels in South America, in Russia, and the Far East. But his opposition to international Communism would not be more than a selfish, rather than a noble, motive for world in its opposition and to render the United States capable of meeting any aggression.

There is also his feeling about civil rights, which is rooted deep in his Quaker heritage and early life.

Both of the most recent and best biographies of Nixon stress the deeply religious and moral background of the man. Both of those biographies, Bela Kornitzer's "The Real Nixon" and Earl Maza's "Richard Nixon", are based upon exhaustive research.

Nixon's mother was a devout Quaker, and her children's early life centered in the extended meeting house in Whittier. The family attended services more than once on Sundays and several times during the week. Maza says that Richard Nixon played the organ at the meeting house and taught Sunday school.

In Kornitzer's book there is reproduced a composition written by Nixon in his freshman year at Whittier College. It is a recollection of his brother Arthur, who died of the age of seven when Nixon was twelve. It is not only a remarkable revelation of the young author's deeply affectionate nature, but it is an expression of his religious conviction. It concludes with these sentiments:

"There is a growing tendency among college students to let their childhood beliefs be forgotten. Especially we find this true when we speak of the divine creator and his plans for us. I thought that I would also become that way, but I find that it is almost impossible for me to do so. And when I am tired and worried, and am almost ready to quit trying to live as I should, I look up and see the picture of a little boy with sparkling eyes, and curly hair. I remember the childish prayer: (If I should die before I wake...) I pray that it may prove true for me as it did for my brother Arthur."

As Kornitzer says, in the entire text of this composition there is shown deep sensitivity and affection. He finds also "the fighting, crusading, almost puritanical moralism which service of his public career has described as sanctimonious and insincere... Yet, characteristically, it is on this very background that his critics concentrate their fire against him, challenging his motives and convictions." In my opinion there is no "new" Nixon. The boy was father of the man. And it was an able, serious, and compassionate boy.

Production Records
Announced for Several Area Holstein Cows

Brattleboro, Vt.—The Holstein
Friesian Association of America
has announced new lactation averages for two registered Holstein
herds in this area.

George & Ralph Erke, Chelsea,
have nine completed production records averaging 13,913 lbs. of milk and 489 lbs. of butterfat.

George Macomber, Ann Arbor,
has 16 completed production records averaging 14,634 lbs. of milk
and 534 lbs. of butterfat.

Leo R. Robinson, Sal 4405721,
a registered Holstein cow, owned by Leonard Burnmeister, Ann Arbor, produced 13,475 lbs. milk and 540 lbs. butterfat in 385 days on twice daily milking as a two-year old.

Lactation averages are calculated on the commonly-employed two-milking-a-day, 80% day-mature equivalent basis. This provides a uniform basis for comparison and selection in registered Holstein breeding programs.

Spook Safety Rules Given
For Protection of Children

Ann Arbor—To avoid a witch's
brew of trouble this Halloween,
pediatricians at the University of Michigan Medical Center offer
these guides for the safety of your favorite spook:

Most important, they say, is to make sure your demon has plenty of "visibility." He should be able to see through his mask or shroud,
and others should be able to see him.

Luminous tape is in vogue of
fall sprites, ghouls and wizards say.
The U-M doctors. It can be seen easily, enhances the spookiness of the costume and helps ward off
such dangers as automobiles.
It's also a good idea to carry a flashlight, but no open flame such as candles or oil lanterns. Each Halloween hospitals repair burned
goblins who became careless with fire.

The doctors urge homeowners to keep porch lights on for the guidance of amateur and inexperienced
spooks. Although those hoodnods

have a legendary ability to walk through walls, the doctors observe that they have an uncanny way of tripping over bushes, steps and lawn furniture and skinning their ecotops.

Low-flying witches and galloping goblins should positively not carry sharp or pointed instruments,
warn the University pediatricians,
or they may end up haunting a hospital.

One of the most common diseases at Halloween, say the doctors, is "Poltergeist Dyspepsia," a sudden stomachache caused by too
many and too varied trick-or-treat goodies.

Science knows of no sure cure
for this eerie indigestion, except moderation. However, if it comes and if it persists it would be best to hop on your broom and go see
your family doctor.

The U-M doctors recommend five additional precautions if you want to come through Halloween with a whole hoodoo: Check costumes for fire hazards; use burnt cork and cosmetics in preference to masks
to aid visibility; warn youngsters repeatedly about going into the streets; make sure spooks under age 8 have an older wizard to guide them; and, finally, when staging a party at home, don't make it too ghoulish or you may frighten the wits out of the younger goblins.

After all, say the doctors, they're
just like children.

NIXON . . . the man and his experience
by Raymond Moley
Contributing Editor Newsweek Magazine

NIXON'S TRAINING FOR THE PRESIDENCY

In reply to the pertinent question which voters have to ask
when they are employing a man for the highest responsibility they can bestow — "What training has this man had for the job?" — we must look to three sources: a bit of our country's early history; the record of the past seven and three quarter years; and the testimony of the applicant's superior officers and the people who have worked closely with him.

The Constitution of the Uni-
ed States made no provision for the training of Chief Executives. Indeed, it is difficult to see how any such provision
could be made.

In some of the earlier days
of the Republic the infant nation's security depended upon
the conduct of international affairs. The people apparently sensed this. Thus, we find the great Jefferson being succeeded in office by his Secretary of State, James Madison; then
Madison's Secretary of State,
James Monroe, succeeded him.
Finally, when Monroe was through, his Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams, was the next President.

It was not so much that the office of Secretary of State was regarded as first in line of succession, but because in those years the very survival of the nation depended upon the conduct of international affairs.
The maintenance of our sovereignty and integrity as a nation
demanded experienced hands at the helm.

Dominant Need
So it is today, as we are faced with an international peril of vast proportions. Experience in the field of international affairs
is, as in those early years, the
dominant need.

By all means the heaviest burden on Eisenhower has been foreign relations and the conduct of the cold war and the development of military strength. Here is where he has needed Nixon's help the most.
But in the first two or three years it was in politics and in Congressional liaison that the President used Nixon the most.
Gradually, however, Nixon has become a stronger and stronger
hand in formulating policy in the foreign field. Eisenhower assigned him on many occasions
to preside over the Security Council. Nixon's place at the Cabinet table was, as Earl Mazo notes in his book,
"Richard Nixon," quite significantly moved from the foot,
where Coolidge and Garner sat
silently, to a spot directly opposite the President at the center of things. Nixon has participated more and more in small sessions where great decisions were hammered out.

Mazo further notes:
"Far less publicized is Nixon's
duty as head of the Government Contract Committee, the agency
which tries, by persuasive
methods, to end racial and religious discrimination in firms
doing business with the government. Among other assignments
he has been directing preparation of the administration's Mutual Security and Reciprocal Trade Programs for transmission to Congress and is in overall charge of a study of the world economic struggle
developing between the Communist bloc and the West. He also is chairman of a Cabinet committee recently established to deal with price stability and the nation's growth and development. In Eisenhower's opinion, Nixon's three most valuable contributions to the administration have been his confidential

advice to the President, his liaison between Congress and the executive department, and his good-will and fact-finding tours
overseas."

As Vice President, Nixon has represented the United States
in more than forty countries
and in almost all the trouble
spots of the world. In disseminating and handling many delicate problems with world leaders and heads of governments never once has he made a misstep —
even when "under fire" as in Central America and most lately
in Russia itself. These facts alone attest to his mental and moral strength — the toughness of mind and spirit which
in today's world.

As John Foster Dulles so eloquently said of Nixon on one occasion: "I don't know anybody
who so effectively represents

abroad the best qualities of America. The kind of dedication to the ideas of our nation which have made it respected and admired."

But what counts most is the testimony of the President himself. In September, 1957, President Eisenhower, after nearly four years of deepening respect for the capacity and loyalty of the Vice President in helping to shape the policies of the administration, sent to Nixon a memorandum which gave him
a major responsibility in foreign policy.

"My basic thought is that you might find it possible — and intriguing — to be of even more help in our whole governmental program dealing with affairs
abroad than you have been in the past. . . . By your extensive travels you have been of inestimable assistance to the Secretary of State and to me. In addition you have gained an understanding of our foreign problems that is both mutual and comprehensive. My belief is that this knowledge and comprehension, supplemented by your special position of having one foot in the Executive branch and one foot in the Legislative branch, can be advantageously
used in helping to lay out advanced programs and schedules."

Zeal and Ability
As Mazo notes, the remainder of the document outlines for Nixon specific tasks, which he was to perform in shaping policies in trade, mutual assistance,
technical and direct aid, and defense.

As to the zeal and ability
with which Nixon carried out these assignments, the President himself testified in Chicago
on September 20, 1960:
"I have noted allegations of late that the Vice President has contributed little to the affairs of Government over these last seven and a half successful
years. On this matter, let me set the record straight. During these years Dick Nixon has participated with me and high officials of your Government in hundreds of important deliberative proceedings of the Cabinet, National Security Council, and other agencies. His counsel
has been invaluable to me."

"Nixon is the possessor of a vast richness of experience in domestic affairs, foreign relations and person-to-person diplomacy. . . . a man capable of calm decision in the midst of frenzy, a man who is neither intimidated by selfish pressure
groups at home nor tyrants
abroad."

Rita Hayworth will have to apply for guardianship over the huge inheritance left her daughter Yamin by the girl's father, Prince Aly Khan.

The little princess loves horses as much as her father did.

Sir Alec Guinness gets to play Lawrence of Arabia on the screen after all. Alec, of a huge hit in the Terence Rattigan play about Lawrence on London's West End, has agreed to appear in the movie version.

Elvis Presley has two girls in a whirl—Letitia Roman, daughter of Dr. Novarese, the costume and custom expert on "Spartacus," and Sigrid Muller, German actress.

Reports are that Dean Martin is wooing Ava Gardner to be his lady in "Ada Dallas," about a man who is groomed for governor of his after all. Alec, a huge hit in the film, and she becomes "Governor."

Today's picture review:
WILD RIVER
"Wild River" was shot on location in Tennessee, and for the most part the setting and the people have authenticity.

Producer-director Elia Kazan has built the film around a dramatic event in America's social and economic history—the harnessing of the Tennessee River in the early days of the New Deal. And at the core of this tale about the Tennessee Valley Authority is a tragic human conflict.

The film opens with a studied flood victim haltingly telling an interviewer how his family was swept away by rampaging waters which regularly terrorized the valley. Thus is established the need for such a flood control program as initiated by TVA.

Follows a struggle between progress and personal ownership with obvious conflict between the old and the new—between rugged (and stubborn) individualism and the good of the many as embodied in the Government.

Montgomery Clift and Jo Van Fleet head an outstanding cast consisting of Lee Remick, Albert Salmi, Jay C. Flippen, James Westfield and others.

Grover Cleveland will be remembered as the President who extended the "Monroe Doctrine."

LAW ENFORCEMENT AIDES—Conservation Department fisheries and game men, foresters, and parks rangers will join ranks with conservation officers early in November to bolster game law enforcement in northern Michigan before and during this year's deer hunting season. These plain clothes deputies will accompany officers on patrol and generally assist them in communications, checking "any deer" permits and their kill (above, center), and other duties. Cooks, maintenance men, and others will ease the officers' normal work load and help to step up actual law enforcement by registering hunters at field offices, searching for lost hunters, delivering messages, and recovering illegal kill. Next month's shift in manpower will double the Department's regular conservation officer forces.

Conservation Dept. Puts Every Available Man into Service To Police Deer Season

Lansing—Deer hunters will find it particularly wise to follow game laws to a "T" throughout northern Michigan during their regular and special seasons this November.

Triggered by last year's rise in deer hunting violations and public protests that followed, the Conservation Department will launch one of the most vigorous law enforcement campaigns in its history north of Highway M-20 on Nov. 10. For several months, Department officials have been studying and juggling work loads to send as many law enforcement "deputies" as possible into the woods next month. Their plans have jelled into an all-out, department-wide effort.

Biologists, foresters, parks rangers, maintenance men, cooks, and others have been called upon to join the Department's conservation officer ranks during the normal peak period for deer hunting violations.

Numerically, these plain clothes workers will double the department's regular conservation officer forces.

Men from the department's fish, game, parks, field administration, and forestry divisions will be paired into patrol units with officers. Many already hold commissions as officers and are well versed in the jobs they must do.

Maintenance men, cooks, office personnel, and others will help to step up enforcement by recovering illegal kill, registering hunters at field offices, searching for lost hunters, delivering messages, and recovering illegal kill.

The new system saves 37 1/2 percent in paper footage and in machine production time. The same percentage will also be gained in microfilm savings.

In addition to more efficient production, the new document will be printed on heavier and better paper stock (24 lb. to 32 lb.).

Have said that the new title will be printed on the same safety stock as are the new title pages, driver licenses. Any chemical alteration will be instantly detectable as the word "STOP" emerges from the paper. Title will be printed on buff safety paper.

New 'Compact' Auto Title Saves Money In Paper Production

People who buy cars this month will be the first to receive the new "compact" automobile title now being issued by the Michigan Department of State.

The smaller-sized document saves paper, machine production time, and will be tamper-proof.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare the former titles were 14 1/2 square inches larger than the new compact size, which is 8 1/2 inches long and 5 1/4 inches wide.

"At the same time," Hare said, "We have increased readability by enlarging the vehicle information area by almost 80 per cent. This will result in speeding up transactions in which vehicle titles are involved."

The new system saves 37 1/2 percent in paper footage and in machine production time. The same percentage will also be gained in microfilm savings.

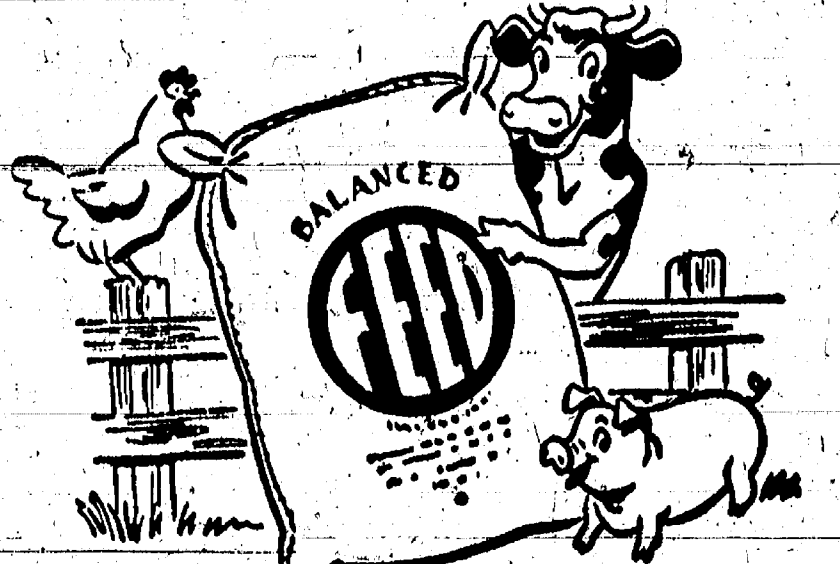

In addition to more efficient production, the new document will be printed on heavier and better paper stock (24 lb. to 32 lb.).

Have said that the new title will be printed on the same safety stock as are the new title pages, driver licenses. Any chemical alteration will be instantly detectable as the word "STOP" emerges from the paper. Title will be printed on buff safety paper.

Saturday Is Worst For Traffic Fatalities

An analysis of highway fatalities show that Saturday is the deadliest day of the week followed by Sunday, Thursday, and Tuesday. Mondays and Wednesdays tied as the days with the lowest number of fatal accidents.

According to James M. Hare, Chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, "873 of last year's 2,280 fatalities occurred in rural areas compared with 407 in urban areas."

'Turn Other Shin' Rule Questioned By U-M Educator

Ann Arbor—Teachers have had to take altogether too much nonsense from unruly children, according to William C. Morse (Ph.D.), University of Michigan professor of educational psychology.

Widely known for his work with emotionally maladjusted children, Morse declares, "We need to have as much investment in how to control children as we have in how to understand them. There has been much belaboring of the mental health concept but little progress. It's like our attitude toward sex. We're advertising it but we don't know how to manage it."

"All our energy has been put into accepting the child. If he kicks one shin, you turn the other shin. Then may be you can change him, you're told."

"There's been a tough battle to train teachers to accept certain kinds of behavior that probably should not be tolerated," Morse believes. "This amounts to a kind of psychic absenteeism."

Teachers are told to "accept" the child, to love and understand him and "relate" to him, no matter what the situation, the psychologist points out. The cycle includes finding out about the child, developing tolerance, then comes frustration, then it's June and we start all over again," he adds.

"I think our acceptance will have to change from naive resignation to accepting a child whatever his pathology. Our acceptance may mean keeping him in school or having him removed for special help. Teachers will accept him by doing what is necessary to help the child—and this may mean restricting him."

Morse, who calls for stricter supervision in the classroom, says progressive schools often have unhealthy interpersonal relationships. "In classrooms where the teacher has his eye on the sparrow, wherever he sits—a fairly autocratic situation—we find that the willingness of the kids to help each other is frequently very high," he concludes.

Don't Drink Stream Water Without First Properly Purifying It

Lansing—On a hot summer's day, temptation to drink from the crystal clear waters of a bubbling brook may overwhelm a family hiking through the woods.

But, don't give into the temptation, warns the state health department.

Even the clearest-looking, sparkling water may contain thousands of deadly germs.

If you're really roughing it in the wilds where the only source of water is a stream or brook, here are four ways to make sure the water you're drinking will be safe:

(1) Add three drops of any standard laundry bleach to one gallon of clear water, stir it around for 30 minutes; (2) Place the water in a clean container and let it boil vigorously for at least one minute; or (3) Add chlorine or halazone tablets available at drug or sporting goods stores. Be sure to follow the directions on the label.

If you don't take these precautions, here's what you might contract: typhoid fever, other intestinal diseases, and infectious hepatitis. Any of them can make you ill and some may be fatal.

The state of Missouri has more than 8,000 miles of railroad, 1927 miles of navigable waters and boasts 14,664 miles of improved or kill on their "any deer" tag state highways.

Goblins' Soaping Windows Adds to Traffic Hazards

Mixture of witches, goblins, leaves, autumn drizzles, and darkness which come with the season adds up to more accidents in Michigan. James M. Hare, in issuing a Michigan State Police Commission warning, asked drivers to refrain from one of the most serious traffic hazards of the season: soaping or painting windows.

With early dusk and frequently foggy conditions in October the dry-weather problem increases," Hare said, "or otherwise making up windows make visibility even more difficult to the peril of pedestrians, young and old."

It was also pointed out that the driver and passengers felt by the soaped windows, whose car has been the object of pranksters' and soap, increases the danger of accidents.

Kids should have fun during traditional trick or treat hollers," Hare said, "but they must be careful not to get into the consequences of the thoughtless actions of the few who fail to get the property, and life or limb of others."

Local Mail Volume Has Nearly Doubled Since 1953

A new all-time high in the nation's mail volume was reached during fiscal year 1960, ending June 30, which continued the steady upward trend of the past seven years at a rate which exceeds the population growth, according to advance information from the Annual Report of the Post Office Department which has been made available to Postmaster Carl J. Mayer.

Although subject to last-minute revisions, the year's total has been estimated as 89.9 billion pieces of mail which includes about one billion pieces of parcel post. It was stated that this would mean an increase of nearly 25 per cent over the corresponding figures from 1953 when the annual volume was 50.9 billion pieces.

During this same period, it was pointed out, the revenue of the Department also has shown an impressive gain with an increase from $2,081,714,000 in fiscal year 1953 to $3,276,800,000 for fiscal year 1960.

Here in Chelsea, receipts of the post office climbed from $37,700 in 1953 to $68,500 last year.

"There is not much we can do about how much mail we have to handle from day to day or how many people are making use of the Postal Service," Postmaster Mayer stated, "but the whole Department keeps busy in devising ways and means for doing the job not only more efficiently but more economically. As I recall it, that was the way President Eisenhower outlined the principal objectives of the Department when Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield was being sworn in back in 1953, and that's the way we have been operating ever since."

"We can't deny that we still make mistakes and that the human element still plays a vital part in daily operations, but the statistics in the Department's annual report offer positive proof that we are making progress on a nationwide basis. As an example, while the mail volume showed an increase of 10 billion pieces handled annually, the employment increased during this same period amounted to only 11 per cent."

"By way of explanation, it should be mentioned that the employment figures—based on thousands of man-years—are first worked out under two separate headings, city carriers and 'all other,' and then combined for the overall percentage figures just mentioned for fiscal 1960."

"It should also be mentioned that there has been a steady and substantial increase in city carriers' each year's compared with 1953, ranging from 4.5 per cent in 1954 to 29.2 per cent in the latest estimates. This increase has been essential to keep pace with the ever-expanding growth of established cities as well as the establishment of new ones."

City delivery service has been started in 800 communities in addition to the extension of literally hundreds of routes which were already in operation. This required the equivalent of 31,000 more letter carriers to serve approximately 9,000,000 more American families and upwards of 700,000 more business concerns.

"There is perhaps no better way of demonstrating the Department's ever-improving efficiency than by showing just how steadily the annual volume handled per man-year of employment has increased since 1953. In that year the total handled by one man was 132,000 pieces of mail. For 1960 the corresponding figure was 157,000."

"It is of course, true that all the additional service has made it necessary to take on many new employees and that our total increased from 509,520 in 1953 to 562,385 on June 30, 1960, but as pointed out in the original 1960 report figures, the workload increase during this same period was nearly 25 per cent."

"To my way of thinking that's the story in a nutshell and I seriously doubt if there has ever been a story just like it in the entire history of the Post Office Department. I am also of the opinion that it would be impossible to over-emphasize the importance of this story—not only for today's operations but for the years that lie ahead."

"In a recent speech on this subject by the Postmaster General he brought out that by 1970 our population is expected to be 208,000,000 and that our annual mail volume by then will be more than 90 billion pieces. The U. S. Bureau of Standards, an entirely separate organization, estimates that our mail volume will be doubled within the next 25 years, and it all fits into the same picture."

"It was in another speech about the Post Office Department that another official expressed his sentiments about the situation like this: 'We are proud of our record. We have no apologies to make and no regrets to express. What has been done was once said to be impossible. Now it is history.' Those are also my sentiments."

Included among items cited by Postmaster Mayer as recent accomplishments by the Department were the following:

Established the first large-scale program of automatic mail handling by machinery on a nationwide basis.

Developed the "airlift" program which speeds up the delivery of approximately one letter out of every 17 on a "space available" basis.

Continued with the development of faster machines for letter sorting, parcel post sorting, and for mail culling, facing and cancelling.

Continued with plans for a new automatic postal "sub-station" which will vend stamps, envelopes, post cards and writing paper, and which will have money changers for both coins and bills.

Scenic Highway Around Lake Superior Now Open

A trip around Lake Superior by auto is now a reality for the first time since the "gap" highway, which links the Ontario section of the Trans-Canada highway, was completed and opened to traffic Saturday, Sept. 17.

"Although the completion of this highway is certain to draw thousands of adventurous Michiganders northward for a look-at-see wilderness," said Harry N. Rogan, Automobile Club of Michigan travel services director, "it won't be an ideal vacation trip for families for some time to come."

"Extremely limited accommodations in such Ontario communities as Wawa, White River, Marathon and along nearly all of the entire route of the new road will force many tourists to become campers," explained Rogan, who has just completed survey trip of the new highway.

Closing of the original "gap" in Ontario 17, a 164-mile stretch of roadway from the mouth of the Agawa River (64 miles north of the Ontario Soo) to Marathon, has cost an estimated $81 million. In bridge and road construction through territory previously inaccessible, except by rail or air. The final stretch runs about 70 miles. The country is extremely rugged and slashed by deep gorges and broad rivers. One bridge is more than 1,000 feet long, said Rogan. The cost run as high as $825,000 a mile in some sections. The beautifully-scenic area is dotted by crystal-clear lakes and rivers where fishing and hunting is ranked among the best on the continent. The Auto Club spokesman said the new road will undoubtedly give great impetus to the tourist and resort industry in areas bordering Lake Superior.

"The new section will provide a

Background is culvert construction on Interstate 94 freeway between Jackson and Ann Arbor. The State Highway Department has $300 million dollars worth of work in progress throughout the state in 700 separate projects.

James M. Hare, Secretary of State, has ordered Michigan's black on aluminum vehicle license tabs to go on sale in 250 branch offices in 83 counties on Tuesday, Nov. 1.

"We are again selling these at the earliest date possible in hope that it may encourage new car buying," Hare said. "At this time of the year a great many people delay in getting 1961 cars for a few weeks to avoid having to transfer registrations twice."

In the past, when annual plates were available and before the "plate goes with the owner" law was in effect, even more persons waited until new licenses were available before buying the fall line of cars.

The motor vehicle law gives the Secretary of State authority to begin the sale of new license plates at any time between Nov. 1 and the beginning of the calendar year. The 1961 tabs will be the last of the three-year cycle which started with our green and gold state year in 1959. This system saved the State of Michigan approximately $300,000. Present plans call for issuing new plates in 1962.

With the increased interest in new cars, spurred on by early exposure of 1961 models by dealers and by the National Automobile Show in Detroit, some dealers optimistically hope that auto sales in Michigan may be more brisk than current economic conditions would indicate.

The present farm population of the United States is nearly 20 per cent of the total population.

Lima Group Joins in Move For Toll-Free Dexter Calls

Recent publicity pertaining to a Dexter Chamber of Commerce project requesting Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to institute toll-free telephone service between Dexter and Chelsea, was the subject of discussion at the Oct. 20 meeting of Agricultural Entrepreneurs Farm Bureau group. Sixteen families were present for the meeting which took place at Lima Center Community Hall.

The 34 families who are members of the Agricultural Entrepreneurs group all live between Chelsea and Dexter. The discussion brought out that some of these members must make a long distance call to telephone a next-door neighbor; others must call long distance if they wish to contact their children's school, the Dexter Fire Department which is nearer than the Chelsea department, or to call a doctor.

Children of the group's members, affiliated with Lima-Scio 4-H Livestock, Crops and Handicraft clubs and Learning By Doing Sewing 4-H club are similarly handicapped, members and leaders being on Chelsea and Dexter exchanges. It was pointed out that calls have been made to members on both exchanges by some one who has an Ann Arbor phone; however, members cannot get in direct touch with each other without paying a toll charge.

"At the meeting Thursday, the Agricultural Entrepreneurs decided they would attend the next Dexter Chamber of Commerce meeting and offer their support and assistance in any way they can in efforts to obtain toll-free telephone service between Dexter and Chelsea."

Other business at Thursday's meeting and offer their support by Raymond Schairer and distribution of a pamphlet on the Con Con question. The pamphlet was prepared by Stanley Powell, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Charles Powers led a discussion on national issues of the November election.

New members who joined the group at this meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Coy and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bardbury.

Red Dolan's "Madness"

One day, "Red" Dolan was seen at the golf club strapping on a pair of snowshoes.

"When some of Red's friends heard about it, they began joking about his mysterious 'madness.' But I figured Red must have had a reason for donning snowshoes, so I asked him about it."

"Well," said Red, "You know that marsh near the 14th hole. Joe: A lot of the boys like golf balls right into there and lose 'em for good. So I just put on my snowshoes — they let me travel on top of that spongy marsh surface without sinking in — and retrieve those golf balls. You should have seen my last haul — enough to play all season with."

From where I sit, center-of-gravity opinions about things before they know all the facts. Some folks, for really no good reason at all, will criticize a man for preferring a glass of beer to some other beverage. It's just a matter of taste. To think otherwise is just plain intolerant. And it's a sure way to "shoe" away friends.

Mrs. Kell Wireman
Chelsea Resident's Mother
Dies in Salyersville, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelle Allen have returned from Fredville, Ky., where they were called by the death of Mrs. Allen's mother, Mrs. Ada Wireman.

Mrs. Wireman, who was 56 years old, died Friday, Oct. 14, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ben Patrick, at Salyersville, Ky. She had been ill for several months.

Secretary of State Hare

Steps necessary, would take at least a year, and based on practical experience, it would be more like two years. After that, a constitution would have to be written and voted on by the citizens of Michigan," Hare stated.

As for economy in government, overhead costs have risen in government as in any private business. Therefore methods of operation must be found to cut costs. The tab system of auto licensing is now used by 24 states, and has saved the taxpayers more than $300,000.

Thomas P. Payne, of Ann Arbor, Democratic candidate for the second Congressional District seat, declared "complete shock and amazement" that his opponent would deny a fully documented vote which he cast during the last session of Congress against the appropriation bill for the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Other speakers of the rally were William Dammiller, candidate for state representative, Lawrence Oltersdorf, candidate for sheriff and Richard Cutler, candidate for the state senate.

Refreshments were served before the rally ended in time to view the fourth chapter of the great debate between the presidential candidates.

TAXPAYERS AIDED
President Eisenhower has signed a bill relieving an estimated total of 1,700,000 persons from the requirement of filing declarations of estimated income tax liability.

The new law provides that no declaration need be filed by persons whose estimated tax liability is less than $40, regardless of gross income.

More Than 100 Parents Attend First PTA Meet

More than 100 parents were present for the PTA meeting held Wednesday evening at the Chelsea High school cafeteria.

During a get-acquainted period from 8 until 8:30 p.m., teachers sat at separate tables and parents were invited to visit with their children's teachers. The arrangement met with such success that it was decided to repeat the plan soon at another meeting.

Several questions were answered from a question box which had been suggested at a previous meeting. This project, too, will be repeated because of the interest shown.

Marle Hummell, art instructor in Chelsea schools, was the speaker at the meeting. He explained the aims and purposes of art education in the schools and said the art teacher attempts to interest students in expressing their ideas by means of any media at hand; also, to enjoy all forms of arts and make it a part of their every day living.

The PTA president, David Soule, appointed the Rev. Philip Ruatzen program chairman and Mrs. Raymond Johnson chairman of the membership committee.

PTA school calendar for the next six weeks distributed.

President Soule announced forthcoming parent education institute to be held at Ann Arbor. The next PTA meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 16, at high school cafeteria.

Girl Scouts Attend Week-End District Camp-Out

Eight Girl Scouts and two leaders of Girl Scout Troop 77 were among those who attended the Junior-Senior week-end camp-out of District III of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. The affair took place Oct. 24, 25 and 26 at Brim Lake Boy Scout camp, the girls living in tents.

Theme for the week-end program was "Get Acquainted with Sites and People."

Sandy Ereston and Cindy Schumann of the Chelsea troop were chosen as representatives in an all-camp game called "Operation People Hunt." The game took up most of Saturday afternoon as all Girl Scouts attempted to identify the participants in each troop from clues mentioning one or two facts. Pairs about the Chelsea girls were given as "a girl named Alexandra, (Sandy Ereston) and a girl born at Fairbanks, Alaska (Cindy Schumann)."

The Chelsea Troop was invited to a campfire program of Troop 122 of Ann Arbor on Friday night and on Sunday morning the Chelsea girls were in charge of the daily flag raising ceremony.

Chelsea girls who attended are Sandy Ereston, Carol Harley, Wanda Schiller, Jane Scott, Cindy Schumann, Joyce Sharp, Drinda West and Diane Worden.

Leaders who accompanied them are Mrs. Wilbert Worden and Mrs. Fred Schumann.

Stockbridge Man Killed On US-12

A Stockbridge man was killed about 7 p.m. Sunday while hitchhiking on US-12 near here and a Chelsea man was injured in an automobile accident on US-12 near Dancer Rd., Sunday morning.

The Stockbridge man killed was Harold L. Mayer. According to a county medical examiner's report Mayer died instantly after being struck by the car. His body was taken to the Burkhart Funeral Home here and was transferred to Stockbridge, Monday.

Sheriff's deputies reported the accident took place one mile east of Freer Rd. at 7 p.m. John O. McFeaters, 41, of Garden City, driver of the car, told deputies he did not see Mayer until the latter stepped in front of his vehicle.

Neither McFeaters nor any of his four passengers was injured.

The Chelsea man injured in the Sunday morning traffic accident is William Kelly Light, 61, of 217 Harrison St. He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy hospital for treatment of injuries he received. Light was thrown out of his car onto the pavement after an unidentified car pulled in front of him while he was attempting to pass it and his car swerved and hit an eastbound car and a westbound car.

Baby Sitter Service Offered On Election Day

Girl Scouts of Troop 77 have received permission to use the third floor of the Municipal building for a volunteer baby sitting service on election day.

Husbands and wives who wish to go to the polls together may bring their children to the Municipal building where the Girl Scouts (all eighth graders) under the supervision of adult leaders will care for them free of charge between the hours of 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

An adult leader and a Girl Scout will be on duty at the downstairs entrance to the Municipal building so parents may drop the children there without spending the time to take them up to the third floor.

The Girl Scouts decided on the free baby sitting service as a contribution to the "get out the vote" campaign.

The girls will provide toys and books for the entertainment of the youngsters.

Girl Scouts of Troop 77 have also volunteered for assisting the librarian at McKune Memorial Library as a community service project. One of the girls will be on duty for an hour after school Monday through Friday, and on shifts of one to two hours Saturday days.

The program will be put into operation Nov. 1.

School Board Policies

This is the fourth and final installment of a list of school policies adopted by the Chelsea School Board at the beginning of the present school year.

The complete list has been published in the series of four articles in issues of The Standard dated Oct. 6, 13, 20 and 27.

Pupil Transportation

The transportation of pupils is a matter which involves many factors but the "safety" of all pupils is more important than any other factor.

The drivers of our buses have attended safety meetings in the state and are fully informed about safe procedures and regulations in connection with bus transportation. They are extremely eager to avoid accidents and to make the service satisfactory for all concerned.

The drivers have an important part to play in the program but equally important is that of the pupils riding on the buses. Each pupil should be interested in his safety of himself and of the other members of the groups and the complete co-operation of all is necessary.

The following list of items is given so that all may understand the problems and the procedures to be followed in the buses.

Pupil Co-operation

Pupils must obey bus drivers promptly as they are in full charge of buses and pupils while in transit. Students who do not respond to the bus driver's requests will lose their rights to ride the bus.

Pupils should be on time at the designated bus stops. Buses cannot wait.

Pupils should stay off the roadways at all times while waiting for buses.

Pupils should cross in front of a bus when crossing a highway, not in back of a bus.

They should wait until the bus has come to a stop before attempting to enter or leave the bus.

They should keep their hands and heads inside the bus at all times.

There should be no moving around or changing of seats on buses.

There should be no loud talking, but conversation or singing in normal tones is permissible.

Any student causing trouble by teasing, pulling hair, scuffling, or using unfit language will be warned, and on a second offense, suspended from riding.

Throwing articles of any kind in a bus is more dangerous than anything else, and it will not be tolerated.

Any damage to a bus should be reported to the driver at once.

Any student disfiguring or mis-

Ray Steward Family Now Owns Scio Church Rd. 'Mystery Farm'

Mystery Farm No. 121—Originally published without identification in last week's issue of The Standard, the above photo proved to be and Mrs. Ray Steward are owners of the farm at 12005 Church Rd., which they purchased from the Clarence Trinkle estate. The photograph of the published in the Oct. 20 issue of The Standard without identification was recognized at once by men at Farmers' Supply neighbors of the Stewards and area residents also recognized those who called the office including Albert J. Rothfuss, Reuben J. Charles, Curtis and Bollinger.

Steward also called when he recognized the photo. 47 acres which comprises the farm today includes land originally secured from the U. S. Government by Almon Whipple and Alvah Bowen. No date was recorded as to when the two men came the owners; however, it was later mentioned that Whipple's title dated from Oct. 1885 and Bowen's, Aug. 3, 1930. The part originally owned by Alvah Bowen was deeded to Almon M. and Levi Whipple in 1840. Whipples were listed as owners throughout the years with the exception of short periods in the 1840's and again in the 1860's when other names, Stewart and Julia Ann Knight, Philip Staring and Philip Jacob Wellhoff, appear.

Through the years the Whipple family mentioned in ownership records included Levi and Amanda, 1865-1886; Amanda Whipple, life lease until 1919; Mason Whipple, life lease until 1919; and after Mason's death in 1933, the heirs of the original estate—Mason, Edmund J. and Warren T. Whipple, Frank Leon, Jacob LaRue and Milo Merle Shaver, Hazel Whipple Seltz and Ethel Whipple Hashtey.

Clarence Trinkle and his wife, Louise, bought the place from the Whipple estate in December, 1935, and sold it to the present owners, Ray and Florence Steward in 1943.

Steward had come here from Ann Arbor where he had operated

Steward Refrigeration at 216 East Huron St. from 1938 until 1941. He said his was the first authorized refrigeration agency for General Motors products in Washtenaw county and he installed the first refrigeration units in the meat markets, grocery stores, restaurants and taverns of Chelsea.

When Steward moved to his farm on Scio Church Rd. he worked at farming until three years ago when he went back to electrical contracting and servicing under the name Steward Electric.

Steward said the house was built by the Whipple family but he did not know the date. 1885, marked as the date of construction. Steward has remodeled and modernized the interior of the farm home. There are eight large rooms in the house.

The road which appears in the upper right of the photo leads to Trinkle's gravel pit, Scio, Church Rd. is at the right but does not appear in the photo.

A son, Francis, and his family purchased the neighboring Julius Schmidt farm and make their home there.

The Stewards also have a daughter, Virginia, now Mrs. Jack Schmidt, of Ann Arbor.

First-year Homemakers have been divided into two sections, one learning how to cook and the other
how to sew. Most of the students
sewing are making cotton skirts,
vests, or simple dresses. Cooks are learning fundamentals, and are also required to count calories in their daily diet.

Second-year Homemakers are studying meats and learning about the different types and cuts. Last Thursday they took a meat tour
of a local market and found it very helpful.

"The next ten years of this century may well be the most decisive ones of all," Dean James M.
Brown, Dean of Men at BMU, told CHS Future Teachers, Oct. 17. He explained that today's high school
students will be tomorrow's citizens, and that because there is a conflict between two major groups
in the world today, the next generation of citizens will decide the conflict. For this reason it is very important, even essential, that the American people be given the very best education possible. In order to meet these demands it is necessary
to have more and more qualified teachers.

Dean Brown also spoke about the factors that caused him to become a teacher, and about his 46 years

In the teaching profession. Following Dean Brown's talk, Mr. Sanborn asked each class to choose a representative. Lynn Lippert, Donna Snyder, Sandy Sharrard,
and Carol Mayer then told the PTA why they had chosen teaching as a profession, and what they thought was good about teaching
in the Chelsea school system.

lege scholarships are awarded annually by 181 colleges and universities located in 80 states and the District of Columbia. A list of the participating colleges may be obtained from the principal's office.
Selection of award winners under the College Plan is made by the respective colleges and universities. Students wishing to be considered under this plan should apply directly to the college of their choice. Awards under both plans range from $200 to $2,000 per

ported by the March of Dimes, will finished studying insects and leaves, which proved very interesting, as taught by Mr. Hunter and Mr. Slater. Mrs. Finch's phy. ed.

classes are finishing softball and have started tumbling, while the boys under Mr. Taylor are working on ping-pong and tennis. Both classes are very interested in their studies, especially the exercises.

Due to the many expenditures
of the Student Council, the treasury is gradually emptying. This makes the matter of donating money to the Athletic Board for cheerleaders' physicals and for bus
expenses for away games a matter of great importance. Virginia
LeVan, David Lixey, and Rayma
Smith will look into this matter
further.

A most welcome gift of some 50
English and American modern novels has been made to the high school library by Alex Mshar whose daughter, Joyce, is a freshman.
The display in the library case
this week features the piano accordion. David Kephart, a senior member of the band, has arranged
the exhibit using his own accord-ions, one assembled and one unas-sembled, together with the music
selections from his own teaching collection.

The previous display honoring the Wright Brothers included a handmade model of the first airplane. This display was put together by Danny Kephart, a freshman member of the high school
library staff. Mrs. Mayhew, Grieb spent Thursday morning arranging the periodicals in the conference room of the senior high school library.

Visitors to the school library
last Friday morning included Dr.
Annis Gille of England and Dr.
Joseph Fisher, president of the School Board.

At their second meeting, Latin club members discussed ordering stuffs for the annual sale. They finally decided to order 225 boxes,
and each member selling more than eight boxes would get one-half the profit. Dues were raised to $1 from 75c.

Journalism discussed the sale of the second issue of Bulldogs, decided to sell no more yearly subscriptions, just semester ones. President Ed Brown appointed Pat Pastor, Sandra Meabon, Nancy Mc-Calla and Mary Ann Hanson to plan a pot-luck supper. To investigate the possibilities of a Journalism dance, he appointed Paula Ro-
mine, Carol McCalla, Jean Pajot,
and Virginia LeVan.

Varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders have exchanged cheers,
which have to be modified somewhat, so that the actions aren't alike. This will exclude any claim-
on special cheers for either squad.
The varsity girls have been revising
old cheers with pepier motions.
They will try to develop one new cheer each week. Junior varsity members have been working hard to get their actions clear and precise.

The Way the Ball Bounces

With Tom Johnston

Another week, and only the weather is changing. The football front remains as exciting as ever, and in the Washenaw Conference, all eyes will be at Chelsea Friday night to wait and watch whether or not the Bulldogs will be able to stop the gridiron rise of Dexter's driving Dreadnaughts who stand as a formidable goal between Conklin's crew and their second Washenaw Conference title.

The game will center what will be a big week in Chelsea. The village's new parking lot will receive its dedication and serve as a pay rally site on Thursday, while weather-permitting, a post-game dance will be held in the new structure on Friday following the game.

But of course, this being a sports column, we're interested in the contest itself which will pit two similar football eleven's, with a great deal of tradition in the football battles between the two communities against each other in what amounts to a championship game.

Chelsea may have a bit more depth than Dexter. I feel that the story of the game will be told up front, as most games are. It wouldn't appear that Dave McLaughlin and Jerry Brown vary that much as hard runners, Tom Hoy and Eddie Laouhon are equals, and Mike Reames and Don Blacklock offer to counter each other's efforts in over-all ability.

The game will be won on either desire or depth or a combination of both. And I sincerely feel that there is little to choose when picking a winner, thus, I'm not going to even try, but will only say that it should be everything one would want to watch in a football game.

The contest of course will be our WOIA game of the week, and will be re-broadcast Saturday morning at 10:30. Earlier in the week, I hope to have both Al Conklin and Dexter's Al Ritt as interview guests on my morning show at 7:30.

Minnesota was everything that we had heard, the Golden Gophers had a tremendous team, that showed power-power-power, and on the basis of looking at all aspects of the Big Ten race, I'd have to go along with Minnesota to top Iowa on Nov. 5 and win the conference title for the first time since about 1941. After all, as we learned on Saturday, the speedy backs can't move when they can't get the ball, and the Minnesota line makes it tough on quarterbacks.

Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue's coach, deserves some plaudits for the fine coaching job he has done at the Indiana school. By the way, Michigan plays Purdue and Iowa as well as Michigan State and Army in their first four games next fall.

The fired-up Detroit Lions upset the world champion Baltimore Colts Sunday in Detroit, 30-17. The kicking ability of Lion Jim Martin who booted three field goals marked the edge in the National Football League victory—the first for the Lions this season.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles charged Sunday that the last second field goal by Mississippi which beat his team was not good. Broyles said, "The referee lost his composure. He was determined to give it to Mississippi, no matter where it went." Mississippi Coach countered Broyles' charge saying: "I can't see why anybody would criticize a field goal like that. There were five or six persons closer to the goal who said it was good." Ole Miss edged Arkansas in a Saturday college football game, 10-7.

Sluggish Ted Williams has been honored with the comeback of the year award for the American League. The 42-year-old Williams was awarded the honor by a 24-man board of United Press International experts. Al Smith and Roy Stivers of the Chicago White Sox were second and third in the balloting.

Ralph Houk (Howk) took over

as field manager of the New York Yankees Thursday and was immediately given a free hand in running the club by co-owner Dan Topping. The successor to Casey Stengel was signed to a one-year contract for $32,000. Topping said, "I wish to make it plain there will be no interference from the front office." And Houk—who is a World War II combat hero—vowed that he is "nobody's yes man." The 41-year-old Houk assumed his new post with the complete blessing of the 70-year-old Stengel. Said Casey: "The Yankees got themselves a mighty fine man."

Bill DeWitt stepped down Thursday as president and general manager of the Detroit Tigers. DeWitt resigned his $50,000 a year job amid a shakeup in the Tiger front-office operation. He submitted his resignation to John Fetter, who is acquiring "controlling" interest in the club and who will assume the presidency himself. DeWitt had been under fire recently because the Tigers were faltering—and because of certain policy decisions.

Area Young People Meet Sunday for Rally At Methodist Home

Methodist Young People of the Washenaw Sub-District met for a rally Sunday, Oct. 23 at 3 p.m. at the Methodist Home.

The fall rally theme was based upon nature and was the annual harvest-ingathering for the Home. Jams and jellies, canned foods and farm produce were arranged in displays or booths by youth of the several churches in this area.

The first, second, and third awards for the most artistic displays went to Dexter, Chelsea, and Ypsilanti. The Chelsea display featured a cornucopia of corn husks. Awards for the most original displays went to Willis, Ypsilanti, and Ann Arbor West Side young people's groups; and honors for the displays of greatest monetary value were awarded to Whitmore Lake, Ypsilanti, and Dixboro groups. The over-all champion display award was won by Ypsilanti.

After a program of skits and a business meeting the 150 young people went to the First Methodist church social center for an old-fashioned box social as a dinner hour.

At 6:30 p.m. they went to the nave of the church where Miss Shirley Caldwell, of Ypsilanti, led in group singing of spirituals and camp songs. Gail Barber, of Stony Creek, led in a devotional prayer, and Kathryn Kinde, sub-district president gave a dramatic devotional reading. The meeting closed with the MYF benediction in unison.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schumuk, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schairer and Mrs. S. D. Kinde assisted in local preparations.

Of the 81,500,000 drivers in the United States, nearly 40 per cent are women. A survey of car use by women drivers shows that nearly half use their car on a daily basis.

THE LETTERBOX

Prepare Now for Possible Future Nuclear Attack

The Editor
The Chelsea Standard
Dear Editor:

As a fairly recent arrival in the Chelsea area, but one who "has heard the wind blow," as they say in the bright Mohawk valley, I am addressing this to other householders particularly.

I believe that most of us are criminally unaware of the sacrifices to the way of life of all of us that are necessary if this nation is to survive an effective enemy attack or counterattack. I realize that here is an organization for non-military defense, or Civil Defense, in national emergency.

What I am speaking of is the time before such aid can work. Even after it is working, this area and points west will be Detroit's Civil Defense Area, so there will be plenty of changes at best.

In a way we are the lucky ones. Unless Detroit gets at least two hours warning and wholesale planned evacuation, it will be just T.S., a "tough situation," as the Fourth Marines said, for them.

To get down to brass tacks, we have a cool scientific prediction that a nuclear war in the next decade is more likely than not, and that in such a war, as things stand now, up to a third of our population will die these being the findings common to the three independent reports published last December by the research teams from Johns Hopkins University (this one at the invitation of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee), Stanford University, and that from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

Now that we have learned this, would it not seem sensible to do all in our power to prevent losses? We may not care about saving our own skins—I am speaking to the heads of families—but those dependent on us will probably live through to a better atomic age if we do our part now.

Remember the great story of Noah. Noah was warned; so were you. The Lord told him to get ready, and he did, for forty days and nights of a deluge; you have only fourteen, less maybe. And after it was over and things had subsided, Noah found some wine and got drunk. So can you brother. For you will be the salt of the earth.

With highest regards,
"A-Citizen"

MICE ASSIST ROBBERS

London, England. — White mice helped two robbers loot a store in London. Police said the thieves walked into the store and released the mice. Girl clerks fled screaming from the store. The thieves then gathered up $2,500 worth of goods and fled.

NEAT THIEF
Yonkers (N. Y.) — Mrs. Ellen Rotchford told Yonkers police that $296 was stolen from her five sons. The young men awoke and found their trousers folded neatly on a chair and their empty wallets nearby.

STOLEN SEAT
Denver — A thief crept up behind Bobby Miyoshi, on a Denver street, put a knife to his throat to frighten him, and then used the weapon to cut out the seat of his victim's pants—including a pocket containing $34.

TIROS I
The Weather Bureau has released the information that the Tiros I weather-eye satellite has performed an unexpected meteorological feat by photographing a "square" cloud that spawned tornadoes over Oklahoma.

The feat was hailed by meteorologists as indicating how the weather satellites should help forecasting the weather and detecting in advance such intense and destructive small storm tornadoes.
