Road Commission Employees Get Safety Awards

Howard G. Minor, superintendent-manager for the Washtenaw County Road Commission, announced this week that 13 Chelsea area workers are among the 53 who will be honored at the annual safety award dinner.

The dinner will be held tomorrow evening at the Dixboro Methodist church.

Victor Miller and Raymond Schumacher will be honored for 21 years of driving equipment for the Road Commission with no at-fault accidents; LeRoy Satterthwaite for his safety record of 20 years; and Fred Houk for 18 years.

Other Chelsea men to be honored for no at-fault accidents for varying numbers of years are John Klink, 12 years; Oliver Walker, eight years; Vernon Satterthwaite, seven years; John Stoffer and Edward Walker, five years; Robert Farrell, Lloyd Schneider and Harold Wheeler, two years; and James Bennett, one year.

Each received a certificate and a pin designating his award.

The 53 men honored included the following: 10 who had safety records ranging from 15 to 21 years; six whose records covered periods of from 10 to 15 years; 15 who received certificates and pins for five to 10-year records; and 22 in a group having no at-fault accidents for from one to five years.

Chelsea Implement Co. is among those offering rides to the polls on election day. The company announced that a driver will be sent at the time specified by the voter and arrangements may be made ahead of time by calling the company's office.

The service will be available from the time the polls open until they close. Dean Willis, spokesman for the company, stated.

Girl Scouts of Troop 77 repeat their announcement of last week that they will provide a free baby-sitting service from 4 p.m. until the polls close on election day.

With adult leaders in charge, the girls will take care of children while their parents vote. The Girl Scouts of Troop 77 are eighth grade students.

They have prepared quarters for their baby sitting project on the third floor of the Municipal building.

An adult and a Girl Scout will be on duty at the first floor entrance to receive the children.

Candidates for both major parties are winding up their campaigns this week in preparation for election day, Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Both the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees were in the state during the past week.

Vice-President Nixon, on a swing through southeastern Michigan last Thursday, passed through Chelsea at 11 a.m. Rewarding local Republican efforts, the campaign train slowed down to five miles per hour for its passage through Chelsea.

He and Mrs. Nixon stood on the back platform and waved to the crowd gathered along the railroad track from Main St. to East St.

Fair Board Gives $500 for PA System

Chelsea's three-day "celebration" last week-end was a grand success. Thursday's dedication of the parking lot; Friday's Chelsea-Dexter game; won by the Chelsea Bulldogs and followed by a dance at the parking lot; and Saturday's Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party attended by an estimated 500 youngsters.

Thursday's dedication ceremony was carried out as scheduled, a surprise feature being the presentation to Village President Donald Alber of a check for $500 from the Chelsea Community Fair Association. The presentation was made by Thomas Bust, Fair Association president, who explained that the amount was the balance left of the money presented by the Chelsea 125th Anniversary committee to the Fair Association for construction of the livestock building on the fairgrounds. It was suggested the $500 be used to help defray the cost of the public address system at the combined parking lot and community activities center.

President Alber, commended all who had a part in bringing to completion the parking lot project and predicted the paved area with its stadium-type wall at the Park street side would prove its worth for many years to come as an ideal location for outdoor community activities.

The Chelsea school band and cheerleaders performed at the pep rally which followed the dedication ceremony as a prelude to Friday's Chelsea-Dexter football game. That Chelsea won the game by a decisive score of 40 to 6 added a "pressed down and running" measure of enjoyment to the week-end celebration.

Committees in charge of the Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party Saturday night estimated that approximately 500 participated. The new parking lot, brilliantly lighted for the occasion, proved its worth as a spot for a large gathering of youngsters safely away from traffic. Apparently, no one missed the huge bonfire which had been a feature of the Halloween celebration on the Junior High school playground during the years the refreshments were served there after the annual parade.

The outdoor setting also proved an advantage for the program of entertainment—a magician and a trampoline act.

Trampoline performer was Knute Loken, head of the gymnastics department at the University of Michigan, while the magician was Jimmy Wear, who calls himself a "modern mystic and escape artist."

"Tricks of treats" night was held from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. Monday and co-operation in confining the calls of youngsters to the two-hour period was gratifying, according to committee reports.

The fire siren sounded at 6:30 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. to signal the beginning and end of the period.

Mrs. W. G. Price formerly of Chelsea, has been confined at home the past two weeks because of an attack of pneumonia. She is living at 607 Robin Rd., Ann Arbor.

The Rev. and Mrs. Allan Reed and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baldwin of St. Barnabas Episcopal church were in Detroit Thursday for the consecration of the Rev. Robert DeWitt as suffragan bishop of Michigan at St. Paul's Cathedral.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME—Vice-President and Mrs. Nixon were greeted by a crowd of approximately 15,000 when they arrived in Ann Arbor last Thursday for a half-hour stay. The Vice-President was given a rousing welcome as he reached the platform erected in front of the New York Central depot where he gave a 20-minute speech touching on foreign policy, civil rights, education and government spending. Mentioning the Cuban problem which he termed "difficult," Nixon was loudly cheered by the crowd when he said that President Eisenhower "was right" in his handling of the situation (political and economic "quarantine"). Nixon stated, too, that the United States has "kept the peace because the United States and its allies are militarily stronger." On the platform with Nixon in the above photo were Congressman George Meader (left), Republican candidate for re-election, and Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor. Nixon's train passed through Chelsea while enroute from Ann Arbor to Jackson and he and Mrs. Nixon stood on the back platform and waved to Chelsea people, including school children, who were lined up along the track from East St. to Main St.

Record-Breaking Vote Seen For Next Tuesday's Election

Next Tuesday, Nov. 8, is election day. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Present indications are that a record-breaking number of voters will go to the polls to cast their ballots. All township clerks report a much higher number of new voter registrations than former years.

In addition to voting for county, state and national candidates, for office on partisan tickets, there is a non-partisan contest for Justice of the Michigan State Supreme Court and an uncontested non-partisan ballot for Washtenaw County Judge of Probate.

In addition, three proposals are being submitted for voters' approval.

Proposal No. 1 is for a proposed amendment to the state constitution authorizing the state "to borrow such amounts as are required on its faith and credit for the purpose of making loans to school districts to pay certain school bonds issued before July 1, 1952; authorizing the legislature, subject to limitations, to prescribe the conditions of such loans; and authorizing the levy of taxes by school districts without limitation as to rate or amount for payment of school bonds and state loans."

Proposal No. 2 provides for an amendment increasing the maximum sales tax rate from the present three per cent to four per cent.

Proposal No. 3 is for a proposed amendment to the state constitution relative to constitutional conventions.

The amendment, if approved would provide for submitting the question of calling a constitutional convention at the biennial spring election in 1961 and each 16th year thereafter. The amendment would also provide that "the question of calling a convention shall be decided by a majority of those voting on the question," and would regulate the election of delegates and the time and place of meeting.

On the non-partisan ballot, Probate Judge John W. Conlin is unopposed.

Washtenaw County Circuit Judge James R. Breaker, Jr., is one of two candidates for the State Supreme Court post. He is opposing Theodore Souris, presently serving. The Supreme Court contest is to fill a vacancy for the term expiring Dec. 31, 1967.

Candidates on the Democratic ticket are as follows: John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, president and vice-president; John B. Swainson, governor; John J. Edwards, lieutenant-governor; James M. Harce, secretary of state; Paul L. Adams, attorney general; Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer; Otis M. Smith, auditor general; Patrick V. McNamara, U. S. senator; Thomas P. Payne, representative in Congress, Second District; Richard L. Cutler, state senator, 33rd District; William F. Dammiller, representative in state legislature, Second District.

The Washtenaw county Democratic ticket includes no candidate for prosecuting attorney; Lawrence P. Oltersdorf, sheriff; Adeline Drews, county clerk; Sylvester Blaznak, county treasurer; Elaine L. Rice, register of deeds; Richard E. Nash, drain commissioner; and Edward L. Jones, county surveyor.

The Republican candidates are Richard M. Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, president and vice-president; Paul D. Bagwell, governor; Clarence A. Reid, lieutenant-governor; William B. Kreger, secretary of state; Wendell A. Miles, attorney general; David R. Calhoun, state treasurer; John V. Clements, auditor general; Alvin M. Bentley, U. S. senator; George Meader, representative in Congress; Stanley G. Thayer, state senator, 33rd District; James F. Wampler, representative in state legislature.

Republican candidates for Washtenaw county offices are William F. Ager, Jr., prosecuting attorney; George A. Petersen, sheriff; Lucien M. Smith, county clerk; William F. Vermer, county treasurer; Patricia Newkirk Hardy, register of deeds; John H. Plouk, drain commissioner; and Herbert S. Hicks, surveyor.

Bulldogs Trounce Dexter To Assure League Title Share

Victory Over Saline Will Bring Undisputed Crown for Second Year

Last Friday evening Chelsea High's Bulldogs earned at least a share of the 1960 Washtenaw Conference title by overwhelming a stubborn Dexter eleven, 40-6.

The victory, achieved before a Dad's Night crowd of close to 2,000 spectators, enabled the Bulldogs to clinch their fifth consecutive conference victory of the year, and 11th straight Conference victory over a two-year period.

With 15 seniors playing their final game before the home crowd the Bulldogs turned in their finest game of the season, as they completely dominated the game which many observers predicted would be extremely close.

The final score tells only part of the story, as the Bulldogs amassed a total offense of more than 350 yards and 23 first downs (two-by-penalty) by the visitors.

Coach Al Conklin's squad achieved the victory with the "finest team effort of the year."

As has been the case with other opponents this year, Dexter was unable to halt Chelsea's balanced attack and Coach Truman O'Donerty's hard charging linemen completely contained the Dexter offense.

Dexter won the pre-game toss and elected to receive and took a short kick-off back to their own 40-yard line. On the second play Dexter fumbled and tackle Danny Ellenwood, whose play sparked all night, recovered for the Blue and Gold on the Dexter 45. Quickly capitalizing on the break, Chelsea marched in for the T. D. from the five-yard line as Quarterback Ed Lauson faked the ball to Dave McLaughlin and handed off to Left Halfback Daryl Keezer who sped through a huge hole opened by Don Blalock, Ellenwood, and Anton Nixon. The extra point attempt was good as Lauson ran a similar play only pitched out to Keezer who went wide without a hand being laid on him.

Following the kick-off the tough Chelsea defense held and Dexter punted to Chelsea's 25-yard line. The Bulldogs moved back to midfield where an intercepted pass stalled the drive. Again Dexter couldn't move and punted to Chelsea's four-yard line where the ball rolled dead.

On the first play Dexter's large following had their first chance to cheer as Chelsea fumbled and a Dexter lineman recovered on the four. On third down Dexter's Left Halfback Mike Reames dove over the T. D. On the extra point attempt Chelsea's Dave McLaughlin turned in the game's outstanding defensive play as he halted the speedy Reames on the four-yard line to stop the play and Chelsea still led, 7-6.

Undismayed by the quick Dexter touchdown, the Bulldogs went to work in earnest, as they marched 75 yards with Chelsea backs Keezer, Blalock, and McLaughlin pounding off-tackle repeatedly until they reached Dexter's one-yard line. Right Halfback Don Blalock, who turned in his finest high school game, cracked through a hole opened by Center Jim Maynard, Guard Charley Walley and Tackle Dan Ellenwood, for the touchdown. Blalock hit the same hole for the extra point. The score came with 1:45 left in the half to make the score 14-6 in favor of Chelsea.

The Bulldogs, however, added another score before the intermission. Following the kick-off a lateral went astray in the Dexter backfield and defensive and Richie Wood recovered for Chelsea on the Dexter 35. Quarterback Ed Lauson tried two unsuccessful passes and it looked as though Dexter would hold the Bulldogs. But Lauson dug into his bag of tricks and came up with the ancient statue of liberty prop, spectacular touchdown. Lauson faked back as if to pass again, with 28 seconds to go in the half, and slipped the ball to McLaughlin who zipped through a hole opened by Blalock and Co-Captain Dan Meyer into the Dexter secondary. Once past the line of scrimmage, Dave cut back and went the 35 yards on a brilliant run. Lauson rushed out to score the extra point and the Bulldogs went into the half-time intermission with a 21-6 lead.

After a fine half-time show by the Chelsea Bulldog Band and the introduction of honored guests, the fathers of the varsity team members, the Bulldogs came back and turned the once-tight, tense game into a rout.

Chelsea took the second half kick-off and promptly marched to the Dexter six-yard line where the drive stalled. Three plays later, the Dexter team had a fourth down and six inches to go from their own 15-yard line. Gambling, they tried a quarterback sneak for the necessary yardage but the quarter-back never got to the line of scrimmage as he was hit simultaneously by Ellenwood, Waller, Mike Marsh

Kiwanis Club Plans Annual Pancake Supper

Robert Daniels, general chairman of the Kiwanis-sponsored public pancake supper to be held at Chelsea High school cafeteria Monday, Nov. 7, announced sub-committees for the project at Monday night's Kiwanis club meeting in the social center of the Methodist church.

Daniels said plans have been perfected for a serving arrangement which will provide speedy, efficient service and eliminate waiting on the part of patrons.

James Liebeck who was program chairman for Monday's meeting, introduced Louis Rome of Ann Arbor as guest speaker. Rome told Kiwanians about his work as director of the Juvenile Division of the Washtenaw County Probate Court.

M. J. Anderson, a past governor of the Kiwanis Michigan District, conducted an induction ceremony for two new members of the Chelsea club—Ray Knickerbocker and Dr. Clare Warren.

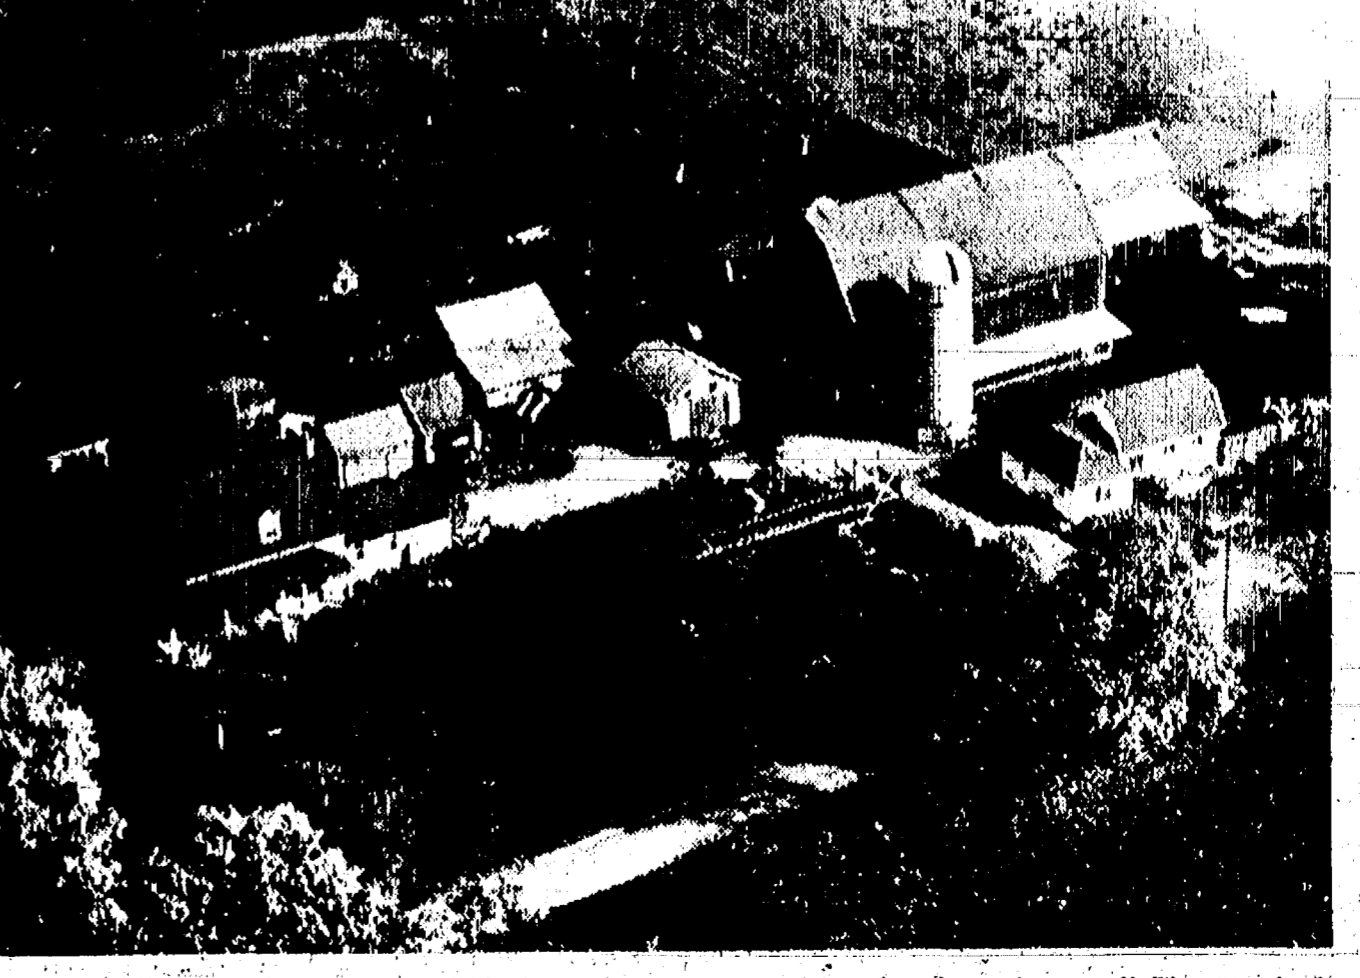

'We Got Him,' Police Tell Parents of Boy 'Lost' In Crowd at Nixon Rally

Showing an unusual amount of poise in spite of his predicament, John Barrows, a young Burns Park School student, strode up to police officers to announce, "I know my Mother and Dad are here, but I just can't find them," after he became separated from them at the "Nixon" rally in Ann Arbor on Thursday, Oct. 27.

John waited while the announcer informed his parents, somewhere in the crowd, "To the parents of John Barrows—we got him! Let their small blonde son, complimenting him for showing good sense in reporting to officers at once.

Equal Space Coincidence Greet's Nixons in Ann Arbor

Promoting the theory of "equal space and time for both major political parties," Sue Kennedy presented a bouquet of roses to "Pat" Nixon, when she accompanied her husband during his appearance last Thursday before approximately 15,000 residents from Washtenaw county.

Area Churches Planning Canvass of All Members

The Methodist and Congregational churches and St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, in common with many Protestant churches throughout the country, are carrying out special programs of visitation and enlistment during the first week of November for furthering the work of their individual congregations for the coming year.

St. Paul's church and the Methodist church have completed arrangements for an every-member visitation Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6, while the Congregational church plans its program of visitation for the following Sunday, Nov. 13.

St. Barnabas Episcopal church will carry out a slightly different project of presenting the plans for the year and has scheduled the activity for later in the month, according to an announcement by the vicar, the Rev. Allan Reed. St. Barnabas church is in the process of building a new church on its property on Old US-12.

The Methodist church has designated Nov. 6 as Loyalty Sunday and Nov. 13 as Victory Sunday when it is hoped to report successful completion of the project. The 50 or more volunteers who will participate in the visitation will be at the church Sunday morning for a brief service of dedication during the worship service.

Sunday afternoon, at two o'clock, they will meet at the church for a dessert lunch and then will start their visitation, returning to the church at 6 p.m.

A total of 68 people attended a training session at St. Paul's church Sunday evening in preparation for Sunday's visitation when they will present the 1961 goals and general program.

Lawrence Dietz is general chairman of the project; George Knick, erbocker has been in charge of preparing the various budget items; and J. Raymond Seltz is visitation chairman.

The Methodist church is asking members to stay at home to receive the visitors from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m., while St. Paul's church members are asked to be at home from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m.

The Congregational church has planned its Loyalty Sunday for Nov. 20 after beginning its visitation program Sunday, Nov. 13.

Recognition will be accorded the 50 volunteer visitors of the congregation at the morning service Nov. 13.

Nov. 9 and 10, canvassers training sessions will be held at the church in preparation for the Nov. 13 visitation.

A feature of the Nov. 20 Loyalty Sunday will be a ceremony of "burning the mortgage" for the educational unit erected at the rear of the church four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trinkle returned Wednesday evening from an 18-day trip to Burns, Kansas, where they were guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Ziegler and children. They were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hieber of near Ann Arbor. While in Kansas they also visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ziegler at Wichita and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Ziegler at Burns. Their travels covered a total of 2,100 miles. En route home they traveled through the Ozark Mountains region.

The Problem of Foreign Competition

Most of us foreign competitors are not of the same type. Some are merely a term, and to a number of us it is all to the good. But to thousands of firms in this nation, foreign competition is a hurtful and in many instances a very real existence. The answer is to be found in the difference between domestic and foreign competition.

1. Wages are lower. This is true in every nation, even if one counts the fringe benefits. Taxes on business are lower as a general rule. Raw materials may cost more or less, and administrative expenses may be either higher or lower, but usually are lower. Even though output per manhour is less than in this country, therefore, the total cost of production is less in most instances.

2. Foreign factories have been largely rebuilt in the past few years. This means that they have just as modern and efficient machines as we have and can, if they so desire, turn out just as good a product. In many lines, the foreign factories are even more modern on the average than ours—in spite of the enormous investment we have been making in plant and equipment.

3. Foreign governments, with few exceptions, actively help and support exports. In some cases this is through outright and direct subsidies, and in most cases the government guarantees the exporting company against various kinds of loss. Foreign governments also make constant surveys of our market, arrange fairs, and so forth, all of which are designed to be of specific aid to their exporters. Our government does practically nothing along these lines, although it is moving in this direction but moving very slowly.

4. In most foreign nations it is a matter of exporting to survive. Until the past two or three years, as a result of the war devastation, they did not have a surplus which they could ship abroad, but now they have increased their production in many lines to a volume which gives them a substantial supply for export. And the widespread over-devaluation of their currencies in 1949 and immediately thereafter has given them a competitive advantage as of today.

In spite of all these favorable factors we still are exporting more goods than we import, and this year our exports are increasing more rapidly than our imports. This is quite amazing because in many foreign nations there are tariffs and other restrictions against our goods. In some cases these restrictions are so severe that American companies are establishing foreign branches or subsidiaries in order to be able to sell at all in the market.

Unfortunately the severity of the foreign competition is creating a demand in many quarters for us to raise tariffs. In some instances that may be desirable, or even necessary. But the only sound, real answer is for us to increase our productive efficiency—and sell more abroad.

In addition to being noted for its bluegrass region with its fine stock, Kentucky boasts of its tobacco production, which is second largest in the nation. Corn is the state's second largest crop, its oil production is considerable and its manufacturing, transportation and financial interests are large.

Notice Relative to Opening and Closing of the Polls

ELECTION LAW, ACT 116, P. A. 1954

SECTION 720. On the day of any election the polls shall be open at 7 o'clock in the forenoon, and shall be continuously open until 8 o'clock in the afternoon and no longer. Every qualified elector shall be allowed to vote.

THE POLLS of said election will be open at 7 o'clock a.m. and will remain open until 8 o'clock p.m. of said day of election.

RICHARD J. KERN, Township Clerk

ern on the average than ours—in spite of the enormous investment we have been making in plant and equipment.

3. Foreign governments, with few exceptions, actively help and support exports. In some cases this is through outright and direct subsidies, and in most cases the government guarantees the exporting company against various kinds of loss. Foreign governments also make constant surveys of our market, arrange fairs, and so forth, all of which are designed to be of specific aid to their exporters. Our government does practically nothing along these lines, although it is moving in this direction but moving very slowly.

4. In most foreign nations it is a matter of exporting to survive. Until the past two or three years, as a result of the war devastation, they did not have a surplus which they could ship abroad, but now they have increased their production in many lines to a volume which gives them a substantial supply for export. And the widespread over-devaluation of their currencies in 1949 and immediately thereafter has given them a competitive advantage as of today.

In spite of all these favorable factors we still are exporting more goods than we import, and this year our exports are increasing more rapidly than our imports. This is quite amazing because in many foreign nations there are tariffs and other restrictions against our goods. In some cases these restrictions are so severe that American companies are establishing foreign branches or subsidiaries in order to be able to sell at all in the market.

Unfortunately the severity of the foreign competition is creating a demand in many quarters for us to raise tariffs. In some instances that may be desirable, or even necessary. But the only sound, real answer is for us to increase our productive efficiency—and sell more abroad.

In addition to being noted for its bluegrass region with its fine stock, Kentucky boasts of its tobacco production, which is second largest in the nation. Corn is the state's second largest crop, its oil production is considerable and its manufacturing, transportation and financial interests are large.

A CAPACITY CROWD was on hand at the Halloween parade Saturday night. Entertainment Municipal parking lot where Kiwanians served gallons of cider and 150 dozen of doughnuts after the parade.

Black Bears Are Dangerous Though Apparently Tame

Lankin—Big, powerful, and somewhat of a buffoon is the black bear, Michigan's unofficial "King of the Forest."

To many hunters, this burly animal is the most coveted prize in the state's "out-of-doors." To tourists, he is a major sight-seeing attraction, the monarch of Michigan's wilderness.

Unfortunatly, Brother Bruin's reputation is slipping in some northern areas where persons, frightened by this awesome animal or his value as a tourist gimmick, have created garbage dumps and other feeding stations.

This "catering" service is not as virtuous as it may seem. It causes unsanitary conditions; it leads to tramp bears are apt as not to "bite the hand that feeds them." Particular caution should be given to mother bears with their baby cubs. The same is true when cubs are seen alone for you can be quite sure the mother isn't far away. Females are highly protective of their offspring and, therefore, take a very dim view of people trying to make up to their cubs.

Wild bears will attack humans if they see or fancy themselves or their young in danger. Otherwise, they usually will shun man when given a chance. Tramp bears, on the other hand, are far from shy of people and, in fact, become downright brazen in their search for a handout.

Although these free-loaders covet their true nature with a front of tameness, they still harbor deep-rooted instincts of the wild, instincts capable of flaring up without warning.

spotlight on the campaign

NIXON . . . the man and his experience.

by Raymond Moley

Contributing Editor, Newsweek Magazine

NIXON DOES HIS HOMEWORK

The second important question which should be asked by every voter who must on November 8th elect a new President for that immense task is, "How well and how hard has he worked at his previous jobs?"

How thoroughly does he prepare for his assignments?

In reply, it should be noted first the serious, stoical nature of the Quaker upbringing. The author, bearing burdens seldom imposed upon any woman, was sustained by her fervent Quaker faith. Whatever came—and the vicissitudes were many—she spent no time in self-pity, but did the day's work with an almost fierce will. Nixon inherited this trait.

That determination to meet each obligation without sparing any effort to be ready has shown through his entire private and public life. This stoicism imparts an air of reserve in his contacts with people which has often been interpreted as either shyness or aloofness. Neither of these explanations is accurate, for he is not shy and he finds his greatest satisfactions in his relations with others. But he knows, as does any intelligent being, that there is a destiny that determines results which may frustrate any ambition.

Faith in Individual

Man's appraisal of this is that there is an element of fatalism in Nixon which precludes blind confidence in what may come. It is not that sort of fatalism which consigns all to an unforeseen destiny and which makes human effort seem unnecessary. Rather, it is a faith in Providence which diminishes the role that an individual may play. Never would Nixon claim even to himself that he and he alone is master of his fate.

The Quaker in Nixon is best expressed by that word "Respectability." It is written in the long career of indefatigable work which has characterized Herbert Hoover. (Who is meaningfully omitted by Senator Kennedy in his list of Republicans with whom he disagrees.) Every step in Nixon's remarkable rise to his present prominence has been characterized by intense preparation for the new responsibility. This goes back to his school days, his competition in college, in debates, his winning of a law-school scholarship. His law practice, his amazing campaign for office, his intensive campaigning in Congressional elections, even in states and districts where the Republican candidate could not possibly win his preparation for the official who boards the plane at the airport. (This is identical to the procedure Nixon uses in campaign tours.)

From his early life down to his busy years in the Vice Presidency Nixon has been a prodigious reader. Law, politics, government, and history have been a source of intense interest. I was most interested, only three months ago, in talking with Nixon to hear that he had read one of the most difficult, learned—but important—books that has appeared in recent years. Professor Hayek's "Constitution of Liberty." This wasn't a blurb, because Nixon said "never" and never to describe his agreement in political philosophy with that of the author. Nixon's advice to young men and women entering politics is that the best preparation is a "sense of history."

Speeches All Nixon

It has become so much a commonplace that public figures as well as leaders of business and industry have someone to prepare their speeches that the custom has lost all of its taint. The "ghost writer" has become an accepted member of respectable society. Indeed, there have been advertisements of "ghosting" agencies. But Nixon labors prodigiously on his own speeches. When he was starting for his Russian trip in 1959 the State Department prepared for him as a matter of routine a speech which he was supposed to deliver over there. But he threw the script away and worked far into the night before he left, writing his own speech in longhand. He knows how to employ helpers in getting facts, but uses them in his own way. In the current campaign his speeches are almost all completely extemporaneous. His long speech of acceptance was wholly his own. No listener need feel that this or that statement has been written by some collaborator. It is all genuine Nixon.

Such a habit of work is indispensable equipment for the Presidency, in which final decisions must be his and his alone. As Woodrow Wilson said while President, "Everything that comes to the President's desk is a problem." The preliminary arguments may have been the concern of subordinates. The facts may be gathered in voluminous number in bureaus and departments, and often they are confusing and contradictory. But the final decision must be determined by one mind. And that mind should be well stocked by preliminary study, training and experience.

Mail volume in the Chelsea area contributed to a new national record of nearly 64 billion pieces of mail, including a billion pieces of parcel post, during fiscal year 1960 ending last June 30, Postmaster Carl J. Mayer said.

Based on advance information from the Annual Report of the Department, which has been made available to Postmaster Mayer, it was revealed that the present day figures represent an increase of 25 per cent over the 1953 volume which totaled 50.9 billion pieces.

This increase, along with a sharp discontinuance of mail-carrying trains in recent years, has helped postal transportation, including foster a complete revolution in far more extensive use of highway vehicles, he said.

In the State of Michigan in June of 1960, 1,488 government-owned postal vehicles were in operation. That compares with 809 in June of 1953. During those years 1,064 new vehicles have been delivered to Michigan Postmasters, 441 vehicles having become obsolete.

Today, 85 per cent of the vast postal vehicle fleet operating under a modernization and improvement program initiated in 1954, is composed largely of new types of standard, commercial, lightweight, maneuverable vehicles.

This conversion, he noted, has meant the "retirement" of worn out units, many in use for ten years or more, which, in turn, has greatly reduced maintenance costs for the Postal Service.

Described as a vital part of this program which was launched approximately seven years ago under the direction of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, vehicle unit purchases during fiscal year 1960 amounted to more than $6,500 as compared with 115 similar purchases during fiscal year 1953.

"The motor vehicle inventory on June 30, 1960, was 18,908," Postmaster Mayer said, "and although the 1960 statistics are not yet in final form, it is estimated that more than 34,000 new vehicles have been purchased since fiscal year 1954 and that with the retirement of old vehicles the inventory total on June 30 of this year was just a little under 37,000 vehicles."

"Still another development of vital importance in connection with motor vehicle service is the fact that 119 new maintenance facilities have been constructed since January, 1953, to service this fleet. Ten more were under construction on June 30 and 25 more are now in the planning stage.

"Other figures in the preliminary 1960 report reveal that the post offices which now have motor vehicle service available total more

Open House Set Thursday, Nov. 10 For VA Hospital

"Many people must have driven by or seen from afar our nine-story brick building and wondered what it was like inside the building," said Dr. Leon Ross, manager of the VA hospital in Ann Arbor.

"We will be happy to have these people, as well as residents of this area visit us during Open House on Thursday, Nov. 10. It will be between the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. and volunteer guides will escort visitors through the hospital."

The Ann Arbor hospital is one of 170 hospitals the VA maintains throughout the United States. Sumner G. Whitaker, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, has suggested that every hospital and regional office be opened to the public at least once each year.

"The Administrator believes that veterans, their friends, and their families should have an opportunity of seeing how the VA treats the disabled man, providing more than just medical treatment," explained Dr. Ross. "Nov. 10, one day before the national holiday Veterans Day, seems an appropriate time to open our doors to the public."

Special Treatment Helps Frozen Peaches Keep Color

Fresh, juicy peaches look pretty when you slice them for freezing. But they can turn brown unless you take care in processing the fruit. Anita Dean, food and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, says the "care" means packing them in liquid and treating them with ascorbic acid.

She explains that oxygen goes to work on the peaches to cause the darkening process. The liquid sugar-syrup and the ascorbic acid helps protect peaches from air. Ascorbic acid is available in crystalline or tablet form at almost any drug store. It is added to the syrup—just before the liquid is poured over the fruit.

For each quart of the cool syrup, use 1/2 teaspoon of the crystals, or one thousand milligrams in tablet form. Commercial preparations containing ascorbic acid are also available and should be used according to directions.

To keep the top pieces of fruit under the syrup, crumple a piece of waxed or parchment paper and place it on top of the fruit before adding the lid.

Mrs. Dean notes that some newer peach varieties, such as the Redhaven, resist browning and hold their color longer. But for freezing, even these varieties hold best in a liquid pack with ascorbic acid.

Senior Citizens Crafts Show to Honor All Couples Married 50 Years or More

A feature of the Washtenaw Senior Citizens Arts and Crafts Show to be held in Ann Arbor the week of Nov. 13-20 will be a special "Anniversary Party" to honor all couples of the county who have been married 50 years or longer. The party is scheduled for the closing day, Sunday, Nov. 20, the announcement being made at this time in order to permit sufficient time for eligible couples to contact the Senior Citizens' Guild for reservations.

Mrs. Shuta Ling, director of the Guild, requests that couples who would like to attend call her at NO 2-0505.

The week-long show, to be held at the Senior Citizens' Guild, 323 Packard St., will officially be opened by Ann Arbor Mayor Cecil O. Creal on Sunday, Nov. 13.

Also invited to attend the opening of the show are Mayor Frank Deedy of Saline and Mayor Donald Fulford of Ypsilanti, and Village Presidents Donald Alber of Chelsea, Floyd Layton of Dexter, Eugene Bentscheider of Manchester, and Oscar Berkley of Milan.

In addition, the supervisors of the 20 townships of the county have also been invited to attend. This is the first annual Senior Citizens Arts and Crafts Show to be held in Washtenaw county. It

Tips Offered To Help Get Best from Linens

Bed linens need good care to give good wear.

To make sure your sheets and pillowcases serve you best, here are some suggestions from Cecilia Roach, instructor in the textiles, clothing, and related arts department at Michigan State College.

Strong bleaches used in laundering sheets will weaken them. To prevent them from becoming too soiled, change them frequently. Mend the holes and tears before washing. Miss Roach suggests tearing torn sheets down the center lengthwise, seaming the salvaged edges together and hemming the raw edges.

Sheets should be washed in hot, softened water with plenty of soap. Make sure the soap is thoroughly rinsed out. Don't try to wash too many sheets at one time, cautions Miss Roach: the results won't be as good.

Miss Roach suggests hanging sheets a different way each time you pin them up to dry. This will distribute wear from the clothesline evenly over the sheet. She says sunshine is the best bleach to whiten sheets, so try to hang them on a sunny day. But do not let them whip in a strong wind or freeze stiff.

Avoid an iron that is too hot and never use it to iron creases into sheets. Fold them by hand and try folding them in different places. Most long tears in sheets, says Miss Roach, are crease breaks.

DEATHS

Mrs. Mary A. Roepcke, Was Last Survivor of Pioneer Lyndon Family

Mrs. Mary Abbie Roepcke, 88 years old, last surviving member of a family of six children of Spencer and Mary Wallace Boyce, pioneer Lyndon township residents, died of a heart attack at 2 a.m. Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Orrin Powell, at Stockbridge.

Mrs. Roepcke had been an active member of the Stockbridge Baptist church since 1927. She was also a member of the King's Daughters at Stockbridge; the Women's Christian Temperance Union; and the Women's Missionary Society.

The former Mary Abbie Boyce, she was born on the Boyce homestead at 11437 Boyce Rd. and was baptized in the former Baptist church, located for many years prior to 1910 near the intersection of Boyce Rd. and M-92.

She was married at the Boyce homestead Nov. 13, 1895 to Louis B. Roepcke of Unadilla and they made their home at Unadilla for five years. From 1900 until 1927 they lived in Detroit and then moved to Stockbridge where they remained the rest of their lives. Mr. Roepcke died Aug. 1, 1930.

Survivors of Mrs. Roepcke are three daughters, Mrs. Powell (Pearl) of Stockbridge, Mrs. Mary Allen of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Irene Herndon of Detroit; a son, Louis Boyce Roepcke of Stockbridge; nine grandchildren; 30 great-grandchildren; and a number of nieces and nephews including H. Boyce of Lyndon township and Mrs. Mary Boyce Clark who, with her son, Dean, lives on the Boyce homestead farm.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Caskey Funeral Home at Stockbridge with the Rev. James Lombard officiating. Burial took place at Oaklawn cemetery, Stockbridge.

Vincent A. Lingane Former Chelsea Resident Dies in Minnesota

Mrs. Patrick Lingane of Jackson, formerly of Chelsea, has received word of the death, Oct. 19, of her brother-in-law, Vincent A. Lingane of Minneapolis, Minn. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

Born on the former Lingane homestead at 6690 Lingane Rd. here, Dec. 6, 1885, he was the youngest and last surviving member of a family of five sons of John and Ellen Savage Lingane. His father was sunk at sea when the Titanic was sunk as he was returning from a visit to his old home in Ireland.

The four brothers who preceded Mr. Lingane in death, all well known in this area, were Jeremiah, William, James and Patrick.

Survivors of Mr. Lingane are his widow, Katherine Hennessey Lingane; one son, James, who is a professor at Harvard University; four grandchildren, and a niece and nephew. The latter is Leo F. Lingane of Jackson.

BIRTHS

Last Two Months Provide One-Fifth Of Traffic Deaths

With November and December averaging one-fifth of the annual Michigan traffic deaths, Sgt. Raymond McConnell, of the Jackson State Police post, is warning motorists and pedestrians to be unusually vigilant in these hazardous months.

The toll for last November and December was 299, or 20 per cent of the 1959 total, the same as the 33-year average computed since traffic records were begun.

More hours of darkness due to shorter days mean more driving and walking is done in reduced visibility, Sgt. McConnell pointed out. Frequent unfavorable weather and road conditions increase the hazards. In addition, holiday shopping adds to the volume of pedestrian and vehicle traffic in these two months.

"More alert driving and walking can cut down this year-end toll," Sergeant McConnell emphasized. "To increase their safety, motorists and pedestrians must work at it every day. You can't take safety for granted."

Sergeant McConnell offered these safety tips.

To drivers: Because traffic hazards increase in November and December, increase your alertness. Take it easy after dark and in bad weather. Increase your caution at hills, curves and intersections—there may be ice or snow. Obey the traffic laws and signs and watch out for the motorist or pedestrian who may not. Safe driving can prevent accidents.

To pedestrians: Be especially alert for the added walking hazards of the season. Don't block your vision with packages or other objects. Walk only where drivers expect you, but be on guard for the motorist who may be inattentive or careless. Be extra cautious at night and in bad weather. Remember, careful walking can keep you unharmed so always take your best steps in traffic.

Railroad workers achieved the 8-hour day in 1915 by an act of Congress making it effective on railroads engaged in interstate commerce.

HALLOWEEN PRIZEWINNERS — Here are the prizewinners in Saturday night's Kiwanis-sponsored Halloween party for youngsters of the community. First, second and third prizes of $3, $2 and $1 were awarded in four categories. At left are the Wilson West family of seven children, dressed as bats who were awarded first place in the comical division. At right front are the Paul Bollinger family, Sharon, Richard, and Donald, dressed as Africans and awarded first prize in the "most original" division. Across the top are Joe Fisher who carried a sign stating he'd "lost his head," awarded second prize in the "comical" division; John Potts, outfitted as Paul Bunyan's "Babe, the Blue Ox," awarded third prize in the "most original" category; Tom Gardner whose halo outfit won him third place in the "comical" division; and J. Farrell, whose devil outfit was judged second place winner in the "spookiest" classification. Just in front of Potts is Lee Dickelman in a bat costume which won him third prize in the "most typical of Halloween" class and in front of Fisher is Roxanne Shears, in a pumpkin outfit which was awarded second prize in that division. If you can identify an age outfit, that will be Gary Craven who got first prize in the "spookiest" division. Then there's a mummy outfit somewhere in the group. That is, Don Hepburn, third prize winner in the "spookiest" division. Dressed as three witches and awarded first prize in the "typical Halloween" class, were Mary Lynn and Bill Clark, Jr., and their cousin, Diane MacDonald; while Darlene Bolinowsky was second place winner in the "most original" category with her costume of neckties.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 122 — Published in week's issue of The Standard without identification, the photo of "Mystery Farm No. 122" was identified as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Reid, at 351 North Dancer Rd.

New Home of J. Mitchell Reids Located on North Dancer Road

photo of "Mystery Farm No. 122" which originally appeared in identification in the Oct. 1959 issue of The Standard, is the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell Reid, 351 North Dancer

Reids built their new home in 1943, living in the hip-roofed garage, living in the photo. The house was under construction. The building is now used by Reid as a shop for his hobbies of re-finishing furniture, etc.

The hip-roofed building was built in 1946 by the previous owners, Leonard and Augusta Schaudt who made their home there from March 1943 until June, 1956.

According to information given the Reids, owners of the land prior to 1943 were Chris Loeffler, George Branch, John Grau and Charles Easton, the latter having secured it from the U. S. Government. The Reids had no record of dates of the previous ownerships.

The long building at the upper right center is a new chicken coop built by the Reids; however, they do not as yet, keep chickens.

The attractive new home is of red brick with white trim and a gray-green roof. The living quarters, at left, include two bedrooms and bath at left, and the kitchen across the front. The living and dining area are at the back. A breezeway connects the house and the garage at right.

New trees have been planted in an orchard area at the right and shrubbery has been added around the house since the photo was taken.

The house is situated on 20 acres of land owned by the Reids, and cultivated and planted by Keith Braggery. Reid is employed at Chelsea Spring Division of the Rockwell-Standard Corp.

People who identified the Reid home included the men at Blagg's Elevator Co., Douglas Stark, Mrs. Robert Kushmaul, Charles Curtis, Mitchell Reid, Mrs. Ezra Heininger, Phil Konzelman of Gregory and Max Bernard Houss.

AIR FORCE SCORED

The Air Force has been charged by the Senate Small Business Committee with waste and inefficiency. The committee cited the awarding of a defense subcontract to a company inexperienced in the job to be done.

While the cost of the contract under investigation was relatively small — about $2,700,000 — the committee cited it as a "case history" of inefficiency in defense procurement.

Chelsea Co-Op Nursery 'Alumni' Visit School

The Chelsea Co-Op Nursery school children have had a busy six weeks since school started with birthday parties and a Halloween party. Birthdays were celebrated by Cathy Cadogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cadogan, Waters Road; Ann Arbor; Kim Longworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Longworth, Stofer Rd., and Cathy Crouch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Crouch, Chelsea.

The week before their Halloween party, the children soaked out the pumpkins which were made into jack-o-lanterns and also made paper pumpkins. The day of their party, they frosted and decorated their own cupcakes and had cider.

Alumni Day was held Friday, Oct. 14, with 13 of last year's graduating class returning to tell of their experiences in kindergarten.

The next business meeting for the mothers will be held Thursday, Nov. 3 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Marie Leach 1414 Freer Rd. with Mrs. J. V. Burg, II, and Mrs. Stanley Kiel as hostesses.

DE GAULLE DISPUTED

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has gone on record as disagreeing with President de Gaulle's recommendations on Western strategic planning and the organization of the Atlantic alliance.

At a recent news conference, Mr. Herter defended the integration of forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as "essential" to military effectiveness.

Mr. Herter took issue also with the French President's suggestion that the United States, Britain and France set up a three-power organization for planning political and strategic moves.

New Committees Named for Year by Assembly of God

Announcement was made this week that the First Assembly of God church has named standing committees for the year.

Named as the finance committee are Chester Youkam, chairman; Thomas Spears, treasurer; and Mrs. Sidney Arnett, secretary.

The Sunday school committee includes P. C. Davis, chairman; Mrs. Jack Conley, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Spears and Albert Wise.

The youth leadership committee for the group known as Christ's Ambassadors, are Jack Conley, Mr. Albert Wise and Mrs. Earl Willis.

The Women's Missionary Council at a meeting at the home of the new pastor, the Rev. James O. Sutton, Sr., on Sunday, Oct. 23, named Mrs. Chester Youkam, chairman; Mrs. P. C. Davis and Mrs. Roy Whitaker as the executive committee.

What Does the Right To Vote in Free Elections Mean to You?

What does the right to vote mean? A chance to cast a ballot for a friend in a local election? An hour or two, or even a day, away from the job on election day? A chore grudgingly performed that involves a trip to the polling place and, perhaps, a wait in line? To some people who have the right to vote secured, this may be its meaning.

To others though, it has a deeper, almost mystical significance.

To the 15-year-old freedom fighter shot down by a Soviet tank in the streets of Budapest, the right of self-government—the right to vote—was worth dying for.

To the peasant Chinese, slaving in the bitter agony of a commune rice paddy, the right of self-government—the right to vote—is a vision of an unobtainable treasure, the thought of which creates mental anguish.

To the two young East Germans escaping from their communist masters across a heavily mined border, the right of self-government, the right to vote, was worth the price of one of them paid several weeks ago—both his legs.

It's a precious thing—the right to vote—too precious to lose because one has something else to do on election day. Don't let it happen to you next Tuesday.

Approval of Sales Tax Increase Needed To Solve State's Cash Shortage

Looming above the question of candidates and parties in Tuesday's election is the spectre of Michigan's economic future. It is a nebulous figure, one that will be given form and substance only after the votes are counted on Nov. 8. The brightness of our state's future depends a great deal upon the path we chose to follow on this day of decision. A signpost of major economic significance is the fate of the proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 2, dealing with an increase in the state sales tax.

Everyone—candidates, parties and individuals—seems to agree that Michigan's tax structure needs revision. How this is to be done and what we should do until it gets done, is the immediate problem.

Many people throughout the state are convinced that the most progressive step that may be taken now is the wholehearted support of the proposed amendment that will permit the legislature to increase the sales tax by one per cent. After all arguments are exhausted, the unpleasant fact remains that if a one per cent sales tax increase is not approved, a state income tax will become necessary.

Approval of the sales tax hike, which would be shared by everyone, including visitors and tourists, would bring an estimated 110 to 115 million dollars into the general fund. This is the fund that has been emptied so many times in recent months because there just isn't enough tax money coming in to do the job that has to be done.

Another fact that makes the sales tax hike a bit easier to swallow is that each of us pays it, a few cents at a time, while we are buying the consumer goods we purchase daily. The alternative—a state income tax—would mean another deduction from our pay checks.

It seems apparent that some basic business management facts have been overlooked by advocates of the state income tax.

Michigan has a complete organization set up for levying and collecting the sales tax. The only change needed, if the proposal is approved, is to increase the levy from its present three per cent to anything up to and including four per cent. A state income tax, however, would require an entire new organization and all the money and manpower that goes along with setting up another governmental control agency.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Who will get Michigan's 20 electoral votes for president after the Nov. 8 general election?

Whether it's Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon or Democratic hopeful John F. Kennedy, the winner will have worked hard for the prize. Both have made Michigan a major target of campaigning—both in person and by delegation.

The political party's aim in an election is, of course, to elect as many of its nominees as it possibly can.

But since a coat-tail ride on the popularity of a ticket-leading presidential candidate counts just as much as a win by personal vote-getting power, the drums beat loudest for the man shooting for the White House.

A candidate for the Congress, governorship, legislature or any other office might, in other words, pick up votes through the appeal of a popular presidential candidate.

Rarely, if ever, would the reverse be true with the presidential hopeful picking up votes through the popularity of a local candidate.

At any rate, Michigan will have had a good look at both Kennedy and Nixon by election day. Each planned three or four visits to the state.

In addition, a flock of lesser lights from either party has made the Michigan tour.

Included in the prestige-laden group were United States senators of both political faiths, a fair number of U. S. representatives, several cabinet members and some relatives of the candidates.

Republican vice-presidential nominee Henry Cabot Lodge missed the invitation to speak in Benton Harbor, but was to appear later. Democratic Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas, who holds the nod for the number two spot on his party's ticket, had failed to schedule a Michigan visit two weeks before the election.

The multitude of distinguished visitors was a mixed blessing to Capitol newsmen.

They haven't lacked for news to cover, but on some occasions, they have needed to be in more than one spot at a time.

Local party workers also have had their problems. They're the ones responsible for turning out a crowd of the appropriate size when a party bigwig drops by.

Perhaps Henry Ford, the father of the assembly-line technique and best known for the car that bears his name, should also get credit for inventing the supermarket.

This interesting observation has been offered by a pair of Michigan State University men in an University publication.

Stanley C. Hollander and Gary A. Marple contend that Ford's "commensurates" of the period of the 1920's incorporated many of the features of the modern supermarket.

A Ford commissary in Highland Park sold $6 million worth of merchandise in 1926.

The average sales for American supermarkets in 1954 was $181 million, Hollander and Marple said. Ford emphasized rapid turnover, low prices, checkout cashiering, self-service, prepackaging of bulk goods and many other features common in the markets today.

But, Hollander and Marple said, Ford actually had little influence on the supermarket of today.

In the face of protest from retail sales outlets who were competing with him, Ford refused to open his bag of tricks so that others could share in his merchandising methods and thereby missed a chance to affect substantially the course of retail marketing.

Red and white striped vests will be worn by certain Highway Department workers in the future, but not for sartorial elegance.

The new vest was developed to provide workers who have to operate near busy highways with an easily seen covering to protect them from possible accidents.

State law provides that the familiar black and yellow checkered vest may be worn only by persons engaged in traffic control.

Some contractors had asked permission to outfit workers near traffic streams with the checkered vest. But the Department had to (Continued on page 16)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Our preacher talked for a hour or two Sunday morning on the younger generation. I dozed off toward the end but I gathered he was a little down hearted about 'em. He allowed as how they could operate anything from a juke box to a airplane but couldn't learn how to run a sewing machine, a lawnmower or a hay baler. He also said that, judging from what he saw Johnny reading, it might be a God's blessing if Johnny couldn't read. When it came to the kids in college, he said from what he read in the papers a heap of them was just attending classes between riots.

I don't think that actual there's any more devilment amongst the kids today than they was when I was a boy. Now they all got cars and they just spread it faster over more territory. And I know of at least one college that ain't gone to the dogs. I was reading a piece in the papers last week where a Senate committee, investigating waste of manpower in the Army, found a soldier that was a college graduate mowing the lawn in a Army cemetery. That might look bad for the Army, but it looks mighty good for that college this boy come from. There ain't many colleges this day and time where they'll let the know-how to mow a lawn.

Speaking of lawns, I see where the American Institute of Science says that this atom radiation business has no effect on crab grass. I could've told 'em scientists long ago that God put crab grass on earth to stay. You can call it wire grass or wild grass or any name you like, but you can't get rid of it. You can plow it under, burn it, hoe it, beat it with a stick, cuss it, pray over it, but it'll be back next year. Of course, if the Government would make it a valuable cash crop, the insects and a couple of blights would wipe it out, but aside from that the only way you can get rid of it is to move off and leave it. If them scientists ever come up with somepun that'll kill crab grass, I don't want to be here to see it, Mister Editor. It'll mean the end of civilization ain't fur off.

I see by the papers where Senator Byrd says some feller wandered into the State Department by mistake and worked there three year afore it was discovered he belonged in the Department of Agriculture. It might be a idea if the Congress would conduct a survey—over yester—find our boy many Government employees in Washington is in the right department. Under the Fifth Amendment, of course, it might not be possible to move 'em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Word has been received that David Bartke, Class of '58 at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., has been placed on the newly-inaugurated "Superintendent's List," considered a higher honor than the dean's lists at colleges and universities since it is more difficult to achieve.

In the Four Years Ago column (Oct. 30, 1948): Gov. G. Mennen Williams, in a 15-minute address at Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting, predicted that in the next five or six years the state will have passed the necessary legislation for private income tax or corporation profits tax or both, as a means of wiping out the state's huge deficit.

In the 34 Years Ago column (Oct. 28, 1912): J. J. Panaritis of Detroit became the owner of Chelsea Candy Works at 104 North Main St., operated here the past four years by Johnson and Batsakes.

14 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 31, 1942—

Mrs. Frederic Leeman of Ann Arbor arranged a surprise housewarming party Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Osterle at their home on M-92.

The guests appeared in Halloween costume—totally bewildering—when a couple—us—to whom their guests were until they unmasked.

Mrs. Ethel Knickerbocker was installed as worthy matron and Franklin Gee as worthy patron of Olive Chapter No. 108, OES, at public installation ceremonies Wednesday.

24 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 29, 1932—

On Sunday the children of Mrs. Fred Barth of Lima Township entertained 80 guests in observance of the Barth's 25th wedding anniversary.

At the election next week candidates include Franklin Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy. Democratic candidates for president and vice-president are Alf Landon and Frank Knox. Landon is seeking the two offices. Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican, is a candidate for governor of Michigan.

In the 24 Years Ago column (Oct. 31, 1912): William C. Williams, who will be in charge of the Company's plant and grounds, has moved from Ann Arbor to Chelsea. Williams also is a reporter for the Chelsea Standard. He cleared $83 on its support day evening.

34 Years Ago . . .

Thursday, Oct. 28, 1922—

Arrangements are being made by members of St. Mary's for the Sixth Annual St. Fair which will be held in Memorial hall Nov. 22, 23 and 24.

Tomorrow, patrons and of the local school district have an opportunity to see the high school auditorium. The entire school system will be open for public inspection. Expected several hundred will attend, not only to see the new building but also the heating and ventilating system of the school.

Mrs. Mary Robertson, wife of Dr. George A. Robertson, daughter of Chelsea, was installed as worthy matron and Franklin Gee as worthy patron of Olive Chapter No. 108, OES, at public installation ceremonies Wednesday.

TO VOTE
Tuesday, Nov. 8

In 1956, an important presidential election year, only 61 percent of the eligible United States voters bothered to cast ballots. This sorry record has been used as a terrible propaganda tool by the Russians to make us a laughing stock in the eyes of other nations.

Russians boast that 99.97 percent of 133-million eligible voters cast ballots in their more recent elections. They are quick to report that 39 percent of the eligible U. S. voters were too lazy, or too indifferent to cast ballots for the most important office in the land—the Presidency.

Future Teachers Association with director David Sanborn visited Eastern Michigan University Saturday. Starting with registration and a light breakfast, they heard speeches from various dignitaries and visited various parts of the campus. After lunch, each student participated in a workshop on teaching as a profession, and then talked with student-teachers, learning the view-point of older students.

The Chelsea FTA members declared that the $1 registration fee brought them the biggest bargain for a long time.

Mr. Donald Bussler, instructor at Chelsea Junior High school, will again offer a free course in the Russian language—speaking, writing, and reading. The class meets in room 111 at the senior high school at 7:00 p.m. each Wednesday. Anyone interested is asked to call GR 9-7891 for complete information. The present group anticipates a most successful year.

The Chelsea High Camera club set their dues, but not a deadline for paying them to treasurer Sue Lounsbury. The club members were told about the nation-wide Kodak contest, and invited to enter either the black-and-white or the color-photo contest. Sue was appointed to write for further information on the contest.

The chorus of CHS is planning some big events for this year, two of which are a trip to the Kalamazoo Music Festival, and possibly the staging of "Carousel" by Rodgers and Hammerstein. If the latter is done, it will be in the original Broadway form, complete with costumes and stage settings.
 The chorus may also make a pro-essional recording of "Ave Maria."

The group is presently preparing for the Christmas Concert, to be held sometime in early December.
 The numbers will include sacred music and carols.

The Future Homemakers of America are planning an alumni dance on Dec. 8, on Saturday. Publicity will be done by Linda Bur-hardt, Sherry Elsemann, Judy Martin. Further details will be arranged later.

Mrs. Barbara Straker, the homemaking teacher, accompanied by Donna Schiller and Jeannine Rowe, visited a regional meeting at Hanover-Horton School to determine whether the meeting was of sufficiently high quality to justify taking a bus-load of students another year. They reported: it was.

Art classes made paper mache masks of Mardi Gras type for Halloween group projects. The masks were about four feet high.

Librarians have been kept busy lately with constantly increasing numbers of requests for science fiction, recordings of foreign languages, and the beginning books of foreign languages. The latter is being used by students for their own interest.

The books received from the estate of the late Carl Chandler, French and English teacher at CHS for many years, are being cataloged.

The Library club is also embarking on a project to purchase for resale books which would help students in their academic work.

The Chelsea High School Marching Band performed brilliantly at the half-time during the Dad's Night game. The band began with a waltz, and then did a square dance number which had been featured during Chelsea's 125th anniversary celebration. The group then executed a countermarch down the field to the Dexter sidelines, where they played the "Dexter School Song" in Dexter's honor, followed by "He's a Jolly Good Fellow,"

 "Rock-A-Bye-Baby," and "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," in honor of the visiting dads. During the "Rock-a-bye" number the band went through the actions of a rocking cradle. The finale was "Add Lang Syne" in honor of the seniors, immediately followed by the Chelsea high school song. The performance was one to remember.

Sophomores are seriously considering another "clean-up" day, since the original project, was so successful. The group is also working hard academically. The English classes under the capable direction of Mrs. LaGoe and Mrs. Sharp are reading dilemmas, literature, and working on grammar. Mr. Mc-Gill's students are working with triangles, while the history of ancient Rome is being studied by the world history classes under Mr.
 Frizling.

Miss Fox social studies classes are "burning the candle at both ends," and in the middle, too. Seniors have been competing to see which 24 would go to Ann Arbor today (Nov. 3) to participate in County Government Day, while they have been studying election issues in preparation for a day of campaigning on Nov. 4 to be followed by a mock election on Nov.

7. Juniors are also working on the mock election. Nixon impersonators are F. Laban, D. Kophart, Jim Maynard, Patsy Foster. Lodge impersonators are Tom Hagen, Lynn Lippert, Ronald Walter, Sherry Frisling; representing Kennedy are Donald Forner, Danny Eliot, wood, Richard Harvey, and David Talbot; impersonating Johnson are Jim Marshall, Richie Woods, Stanley Hand, and Jack Weinmann.

Library Volunteer Helpers Still Needed

Two new members have been added to the list of people serving on the FTA volunteer library committee at the school libraries—Mrs.
 Victor Winter at South school and Mrs. Kenneth Buck at North school.

Mrs. Carl Schwiager, PTA chairman of the library committee said yesterday that more volunteers are needed to help with the program.

Anyone who can spare a few hours for the work and would like to volunteer, may call Mrs.
 Schwiager. She said no special training is necessary.

Offer a Brand New Deal for a New Generation

Americans are on the edge of a new frontier.

A new day of hope and harmony is dawning — for all Americans — regardless of race, religion or region.

America has experienced a Republican Administration and a Democratic Congress. By a sense of overriding responsibility to the Nation, Democrats have made divided government work. But divided government will end in January.

The Democratic Party has nominated the most perfect ticket since Roosevelt and Garner.

KENNEDY is a man of power and personality.

JOHNSON is a master of the art of diplomacy.

For the young of heart they offer, not salesmanship, but VIGOROUS LEADERSHIP.

We can have faith in the future only if we have faith in ourselves. We are moving into perilous times ahead. Divided government must end. We must perfect our unity in order to form a more perfect union. Distractive divisions between Executive and Legislative branches of our Government must be ended. We must end the division between our regions, the suspicions between our religions, the fears between our races, and the strifes between our classes.

A Government out of touch with the world is a government out of touch with its own people.

A Government continually caught by surprise abroad is a Government asleep at the switch — a Government napping through its responsibilities.

To those who threaten the peace and freedom of mankind, America must speak with a decisive voice — the voice of a nation fully united.

SUPPORT THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY — the party of the North, South, East and West.

BACK THE NEW DEMOCRATIC REGIME in a New Generation that will exceed the New Deal and the Fair Deal in its Social and Economic Aspects.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 48

On Oct. 28 Troop 48 discussed their trip to the International exhibition in Ann Arbor. Some of the girls bought gifts from different lands. One of the exhibits was on games of different lands. We decided that from 3:30-7:30 would be appropriate for our hayride at Eisenbeiser's farm. Refreshments were brought by Pat Wireman.

Cynthia Hepburn, scribe.

TROOP 148—

Girl Scouts of Troop 148 held a

Halloween party at South school Wednesday. All the girls wore costumes. Refreshments were brought by Tina Lindauer, Elaine Paul, Jayanne Mastry, Faith Hayes and Janice Koester. Julie Rosebush, scribe.

Omitted on a list submitted for publication of names of Girl Scouts of Troop 77 who participated in the Girl Scout camp-out at Bruin Lake Oct. 14-16, was the name of Kathy Sutter. This made a total of nine girls who attended from Chelsea, instead of eight as originally stated.

BROWNIES

TROOP 50—

The Brownies met Thursday Oct. 27. We had guest day. Everyone brought a guest. Next week we are to bring pictures of a magazine. Debbie Winans and Diane Stoffer served refreshments.

Frances Seyfried, Pfc. Larry Lubahn Wed in Ann Arbor

Bethlehem Evangelical and Reformed church at Ann Arbor was the setting for the wedding ceremony uniting Frances Seyfried, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Seyfried, 4610 Dexter Rd., Ann Arbor, and Pfc. Larry Lubahn son of Mr. and Mrs. George William Lubahn, 3850 Waltrous Rd. Pfc. Lubahn is currently stationed at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., after his recent return from service in Germany.

The ceremony took place at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. E. R. Klautz, pastor of the church, officiating in the presence of approximately 200 guests.

Arthur Jahnke, accompanied on the organ by his wife, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because." The bride wore for her wedding a ballerina-length dress fashioned of white brocade lace over satin. Her fingertip-length veil was fastened to a crown-shaped headpiece of pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses centered with a white orchid.

Patricia Pope of Ann Arbor, served as maid of honor while Mrs. Bruce Coray of Grass Lake, and Katrene Gall of Saline, a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Miss Pope wore a blue-grey gown with white accessories and a headband of yellow baby mums. She carried a bouquet of yellow baby mums centered with a large bloom matching the color of her gown.

Mrs. Corey was in green and carried a bouquet of yellow mums centered with a large green flower and Miss Gall, in royal blue, had a similar bouquet centered with a large blue flower. They wore floral headbands matching that of the maid of honor.

The bride's mother, in grey with blue accessories, and the bridegroom's mother, in navy blue with white accessories, each had a corsage of pink carnations.

James Speer assisted the bridegroom as best man and Darrel and Jerry Satterthwaite were ushers. A reception followed in the church parlors, those who assisted including Mrs. William Butts of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Robert Lee Payne of Dexter, who poured coffee and punch, respectively; and Mrs. Leslie Pope of Ann Arbor, who served the wedding cake.

Others who assisted are Mrs. Carl Anderson of Ann Arbor, and William Butts of Ypsilanti, as mistress and master of ceremonies; Mrs. John Cummings of Ann Arbor, in charge of the gift table; and Mrs. Robert Cummings of Ann Arbor, who kept a guest book. The bride is a 1960 graduate of Ann Arbor High school and was employed at Mercywood Sanitarium, Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom graduated in 1960 from Chelsea High school. The couple left yesterday for Arizona.

MERRY MAIDS 4-H CLUB

The second meeting of the Merry Maids 4-H club was brought to order by the out-going president, Joyce Mahur. The pledge to the flag was recited and officers were elected as follows: Mary Kay Albert, president; Pat Guest, vice president; Janice Wood, secretary; and Joyce Mahur, treasurer.

It was voted that dues be 25 cents. It was decided to have a penalty of ten cents for every meeting after Dec. 14 that dues are not paid.

Roll call was taken with 28 members and five guests present. Winter projects were discussed before the 4-H pledge was recited and the meeting adjourned.

Eve Trinkle, Emerson Wheeler Exchange Vows Saturday at St. Mary's Church

Eve Kathleen Trinkle and Emerson A. Wheeler exchanged wedding vows at a one o'clock ceremony performed Saturday at St. Mary's Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Leo J. Smith. Soloist for the ceremony was the bride's sister, Mrs. Donald Bauer, who sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother." The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trinkle, 205 Freer Rd., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wheeler, 121 Lincoln St.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned of white embroidered silk organza over net and taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Her ensemble was completed with a beaded Princess Ann elbow-length veil and a pearl necklace which was a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible and an arrangement of white orchids and chrysanthemums.

Teresa Laler, the bride's only attendant, wore a street length dress of French blue brocade silk taffeta with a scoop neckline and elbow-length puffed sleeves. Her accessories included matching shoes, a pearl beaded head clip with a short blue veil, and a bouquet of blue and white chrysanthemums.

Charles R. Eder, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, while Daniel Ellenwood, nephew of the bridegroom, and Ralph Trinkle, brother of the bride, seated the 250 guests who attended the wedding and reception.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Trinkle wore a royal-blue brocade crepe dress with all-white accessories, including a feather hat and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark green wool dress and a brown feathered hat. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

The reception took place at the St. Barnabas Church Women Entertained With Travel Films

Thursday evening, at St. Barnabas Episcopal church, the Churchwomen of St. Barnabas were entertained with a program of colored moving pictures shown and narrated by Mr. and Mrs. Deane Rogers. The pictures were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Rogers on a four-month trip around the world from which they returned in June.

Included among the many interesting places they visited were Singapore, Java, India, Cairo and the pyramids of Egypt.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Robert Baldwin.

During the business session additional plans for the St. Barnabas Christmas bazaar were discussed. Several work-days for the bazaar have already taken place and others are being scheduled in preparation for the project. The bazaar is to be held at the church Saturday, Dec. 8.

The hostess Mrs. Ed Meester, served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

It was announced that the tentative date for the next meeting is Nov. 17.

Mrs. Dillman Wahl Installed To Head
OES Chapter

Officers of Olive Chapter No. 108, Order of Eastern Star, were installed at impressive public installation services held at the Masonic hall Wednesday evening.

Installing officer was Mrs. Delda Gee while Mrs. Walter Schrader, Jr., served as installing marshal. Mrs. Otto Lucht, installing chaplain; Loretta Wahl as installing organist; and Mrs. Duane Hall, soloist.

In honor of the newly-installed worthy matron, Mrs. Dillman Wahl, Mrs. Hall sang the solo "My Task." Dillman Wahl was installed as worthy patron and following the ceremonies the Wahls' daughter, Mrs. Gerald Herriok presented her parents with a gift on behalf of herself, her husband and her sister, Loretta.

The outgoing matron, Mrs. Duane Hall, and outgoing patron, Carl Stevens were recipients of tributes from the members representing star points. Mrs. Hall was also presented with a past matron's jewel by her sister, Mrs. Elaine Hice, and a gift from the Past Matrons' club, by her mother, Mrs. Norman Schmidt.

A past patron's pin was presented to Carl Stevens.

Mrs. K. R. McMannis, the new associate matron, was also honored and was presented with a bouquet. Harold Bair was installed as the new associate patron.

Other officers installed are Mrs. Norman Schmidt, secretary; Mrs. Lila List, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Christwell, conductress; Mrs. Betty Rudd, associate conductress; Mrs. Helen Bakker, chaplain; Mrs. Ruth Schrader, marshal; Mrs. Hazel Wacker, organist; Mrs. Dixie Lee Wenk, Adah; Mrs. Lucille Aljett, sister; Mrs. Elaine Hice, Esther; Mrs. Katherine Ellenwood, Martha; Mrs. Kathryn Adams, Electa; Mrs. Olive Stevens, warder; and Carl Stevens, sentinel.

Auxiliary officers are Mrs. Lucht, Bible bearer; Mrs. Marie Shaver, blue ray of Adah; Mrs. Doris Smith, yellow ray of Ruth; Mrs. Beverly Knickerbocker, white ray of Esther; Mrs. Leora Noll, green ray of Martha; Mrs. Delda Gee, red ray of Electa; Mrs. Patricia DeHaven, Christian flag bearer; Mrs. Lillian Sanderson, Eastern Star flag bearer; Mrs. Hall, soloist; Mrs. Delda Gee, drill director; and Mrs. Schmidt, instructor.

The chapter room was effectively decorated with large bouquets of chrysanthemums. Adding to the impressive effect were white Bibles at each star point station with a red rose laid across its opened pages.

The large white Bible at the altar was similarly arranged.

The ceremonies were concluded with a solo, "The End of a Perfect Day," sung by Mrs. Hall.

Refreshments were served later in the dining room of the hall. Mrs. Hall, the outgoing worthy matron, and her sister, Mrs. Hice, a past matron, poured at the refreshment table.

Guests who spent Sunday here with their former pastor, the Rev. S. D. Kinde and family, were Mr. and Mrs. Michael Greko and daughters, Jean and Sandra, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bell and sons, Thomas, Charles and Kenneth; and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Halder and children, Janet and Paul, all of Saginaw.

From today's editorial: We are not familiar with the inspiring purpose of Henry Ford's action in instituting a five-day week but that it is uneconomic is as clear as day. It is unfortunate that Mr. Ford should feel called upon to do this now and then, because of his tremendous resources, to institute so-called reform methods which merely make for economic disturbance.
