Holiday Cage Tournament Progress

Chelsea, Dexter, Line Are Winners First Round

Wednesday night winners in the annual Holiday Basketball tournament at Chelsea High School were Saline, Dexter Brook, and Chelsea, in that order, in four games played.

Chelsea, playing South Lyon at home, won by a score of 82-70. In the half-time scores gave South Lyon a 41 to Saline's 31. Saline and Mike Bixby were the winners with 22 and 20 points, respectively.

Saline's Stanley Tapp and Saline's Burgess each tallied 18 points. In the 6:30 p.m. game—Dexter vs. South Lyon—Dexter was called the "winners" of the evening, with Saline in the final two minutes of the game. Dexter's Cliff Blossom saved the day with a score of 21 points. Dexter scored a total of 21 points in the game.

Saline's Homer Nixon scored 13 points while Grass Lake's highman, Chuck Strahan, scored 10 points. Chelsea was leading by a wide margin, 40-10, in the first night's tournament. The game was expected to be an interesting one.

Hunters Take To Fields over Holiday Week-End

Hunters were spotted in record numbers in and near Dexter, as the snow and cold weather combined to give local hunting enthusiasts "that old fever," and many of those laced-up their boots and pulled on the familiar red jackets to trudge the fields in search of game.

Several of those who sought some of the rabbits reported to be so numerous in this vicinity, declared that the small animals must have been observing the holiday in their own cozy living rooms, as it turned out that "it just wasn't a day for hunting—don't know why!"

"But the stroll in the open fields served to settle many a turkey dinner from the previous day and to give a few hours of communing with nature, a necessary thing occasionally," one hunter contentedly observed.

GONE GOOSE: Anyone Lose Christmas Bill of Fare?

Mrs. Donald Doll was surprised Friday morning to look out of the window at her home, 128 Van Buren St., and see a goose walking around in her yard.

The bird is apparently quite tame and didn't even appear startled when the noon siren nearby sounded for the 11:30 a.m. noon hour.

Mrs. Doll, thinking the goose was probably intended for someone's Christmas dinner, called The Standard office and asked if anyone had reported a "gone goose." She also reported her find to the Police Department.

How the Police Department handled the goose was still at the Doll home and at last reports had not been claimed by its owner.

MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN PLANNED—C. J. Pickrell, of Ann Arbor, Washenaw county March of Dimes chairman, was present for a committee meeting held Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Charles Lancaster to make plans for the January March of Dimes campaign. Mrs. Lancaster and Mrs. Leo Bishop are Chelsea co-chairmen of the campaign here. Dates for some of the planned events are as follows: peanut sales in charge of Mrs. Robert Foye, Jan. 14 and Jan. 21; and square dance in charge of special events committee, Jan. 21 (place to be announced). Girl Scouts of Troop 77 are addressing mailers for the committee this week. Those who appear in the above photo, at either side of the coffee table, are County Chairman Pickrell and Chelsea Co-Chairman Mrs. Lancaster. Seated from left are Mrs. Thomas Burt, Mothers' March chairman; Mrs. Robert Foster, canister committee chairman; Mrs. Russell McLaughlin, co-chairman of special events; Mrs. Robert Foye, peanut sale chairman; and Mrs. Wilbur Worden, one of the leaders of Girl Scout Troop 77. The Girl Scouts prepared dime cards for mailing yesterday. Pickrell is scheduled to speak at a Kiwanis club meeting here, Jan. 16.

Deadline Set for Grain Loans under Price Support

Farmers have until Jan. 31, 1961, to cover their grain and a number of other 1960 crops under the price support program, Mrs. Carolyn Stump, office manager of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Department, said today.

For wheat, compliance with the individual farm allotment is required in order to be eligible for price support on the crop. The 1960 crops for which Jan. 31 is the deadline for obtaining loans of purchase agreements include wheat, barley, oats, grain sorghum, rye, soybeans, and dry edibles.

Mrs. Stump reminded growers that good storage, which must be approved by the county ASC committee, is a requisite for obtaining a price support loan on any stored crop. It is particularly important that farm storage be in good condition to allow sufficient time for inspection, sampling, and preparation of loan documents prior to the deadline date.

Chester Davis Wins Science Fellowship

One of 300 Science Faculty Fellowships awarded recently by the National Science Foundation went to Chester L. Davis, husband of the former Mildred Notten, of Chelsea.

Davis, who is chairman of the Department of Mathematics and Engineering Mechanics at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., is the son of the Rev. R. O. Davis who served Salem Grove Methodist church here from 1947 to 1950 and later was pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed churches at Francisco and Rogers Corners for more than two years. He is now located at Kirtland, Texas.

Mrs. Davis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Notten of 14902 Redman Rd., west of Chelsea.

Davis applied early in October for the Fellowship award for study in the doctoral level. The awards are made for the improvement of college science teaching, and selection of Fellows is made by the Foundation from among citizens of the United States, solely on the basis of ability, for scientific study or scientific work at appropriate non-profit institutions. Announcement of the award was made by Alan Waterman, Director of the National Science Foundation.

Joining the Tri-State College faculty in June 1958, as an associate professor in Mathematics and Engineering Mechanics, Davis is now chairman of the department. He holds the A. B. degree from Western Michigan University, and the A.M. from the University of Michigan, and has done additional graduate study at Wayne University. Prior to his association with Tri-State College, he was a senior research mathematician on the General Motors research staff, having earlier served as senior instructor in the General Motors Institute. Since coming to Tri-State College, Davis has continued to act as a consultant with the General Motors Research Laboratories.

Mrs. J. L. O'Hara and son Richard, spent the Christmas week-end at Lansing as guests of her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vanderkelen and children, in their new home, 3023 Hughes Rd., additional guests present for Christmas dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heilmann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo O'Hara and Miss Mary O'Hara, all of Ann Arbor.

Batteries Sell Like Crazy as Toys Run Down

Who really had the most fun with the new toys, Junior or his father, will most likely always remain a mystery, but local merchants report the sale of batteries ran high on the day after Christmas and mostly for toys.

Flashlights, toy guns and games which require the small cells added to the "battery run" as many of these which, though supplied with the initial batteries, had run out of power on Christmas Eve and through the hours of Christmas Day, and by Monday were ready for a fresh supply of power.

Morning newspapers found a ready market as many of the businessmen enjoying their holiday made a trip downtown to catch up on the news of the nation and the state.

License Plate Sale Dates Set For Dexter

Continuing a service instituted in 1958 by Secretary of State James M. Harbo for communities that have no regular automobile license bureau, Wallace Wood, Chelsea branch manager has announced that he will again be in Dexter on four alternate Saturday afternoons beginning Jan. 7, so Dexter residents may secure their 1961 licenses in their own community, eliminating special trips to Chelsea or Ann Arbor for the purpose.

There is no extra charge for the service, Wood explained. He said he will be at the Dexter Ford garage, Alfred Gross, Inc., Jan. 7 and 21 and Feb. 4 and 18, from 1 to 5 p.m. with a full supply of plates.

Six FFA Members Are Honored

Stanley Dyer, Richard Haist, Richard Harvey, Malcolm Reinhardt, Ron Walters and Charles Koenig are the six members of the Chelsea Future Farmers of America who received "District Farmer" awards at a district meeting held at Manchester, Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Announcement was made at that time that 32 FFA members were to be honored this being the first time "district farmer" awards were given—but names of the six Chelsea members were not announced at once.

In addition to Chelsea, the district includes Milford, Dexter, Saline, Manchester and Clinton.

Requirements state that the recipient must hold, at least, the Chapter Farmer degree; be enrolled in a vocational agriculture course and a member of the FFA; must have earned $250 from a supervised farming program; participated in at least one of the district leadership contests and must be voted in by the members of the district.

Mabel Fox Killed Friday in Collision Near Williamston

Was Prominent in School, Church, Civic Affairs

Miss Mabel W. Fox, teacher in Chelsea schools the past 22 years, lost her life in a traffic accident on U.S. 16 near Williamston, Friday afternoon.

She was pronounced dead on arrival at Sparrow Hospital, Lansing, where she was taken following the crash.

According to reports of the accident, Miss Fox was headed west at about 2:50 p.m., when her car was struck head-on by a car driven by Lafayette Hoag, 41, of Webberville.

A car Hoag was attempting to pass on the three-lane highway swung out forcing his vehicle into the west-bound lane and into the car driven by Miss Fox, witnesses told police. Both cars were totally demolished.

Hoag is reported in critical condition in Sparrow hospital with head and chest injuries, while a passenger in his car, Fern Mitchell, 40, also of Webberville, was treated for minor lacerations, bruises and abrasions.

Miss Fox had told friends here that she planned a holiday visit to her aunt at Grand Rapids and was presumably enroute there when the accident occurred.

Miss Fox who taught social science subjects at Chelsea High school, had been a Chelsea resident since 1938. Her home was at 216 Jefferson St.

Prior to her teaching at Chelsea, she had taught first at Lansing and later at Dexter.

In addition to her teaching, Miss Fox was active in community affairs and at the time of her death had served six years as chairman of the Official Board of the First Methodist church and was vice-president of the McKean Memorial Library Board. First elected to the Library Board in 1948, she served four full three-year terms and was re-elected in 1960 for a fifth term.

Announcement was made at that time that 32 FFA members were to be honored this being the first time "district farmer" awards were given—but names of the six Chelsea members were not announced at once.

In addition to Chelsea, the district includes Milford, Dexter, Saline, Manchester and Clinton.

Requirements state that the recipient must hold, at least, the Chapter Farmer degree; be enrolled in a vocational agriculture course and a member of the FFA; must have earned $250 from a supervised farming program; participated in at least one of the district leadership contests and must be voted in by the members of the district.

MISS MABEL W. FOX

and was a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

Born at Grand Rapids, Jan. 2, 1903, Miss Fox was a daughter of Cornelius and Jennie Fisher Fox. Her father made his home with her for several years prior to his death in 1967.

Active in many areas of the field of education, Miss Fox had held offices in the Michigan Education Association and was a state delegate to the National Education Association. This past summer she took part in a National Education Department of Classroom Teachers conference of the National Association in Hawaii.

In a telegram Monday to The Chelsea Standard, E. B. Kennedy, executive secretary of the Michigan Education Association, said: "The loss of Mabel Fox is not soon to be replaced. Her leadership, vision, and dedication set her apart from others. Deepest sympathy to her family and friends."

A graduate of the University of Michigan where she received an AB degree in 1923, she attended graduate school there and at Columbia University, N. Y., for her master's degree in education.

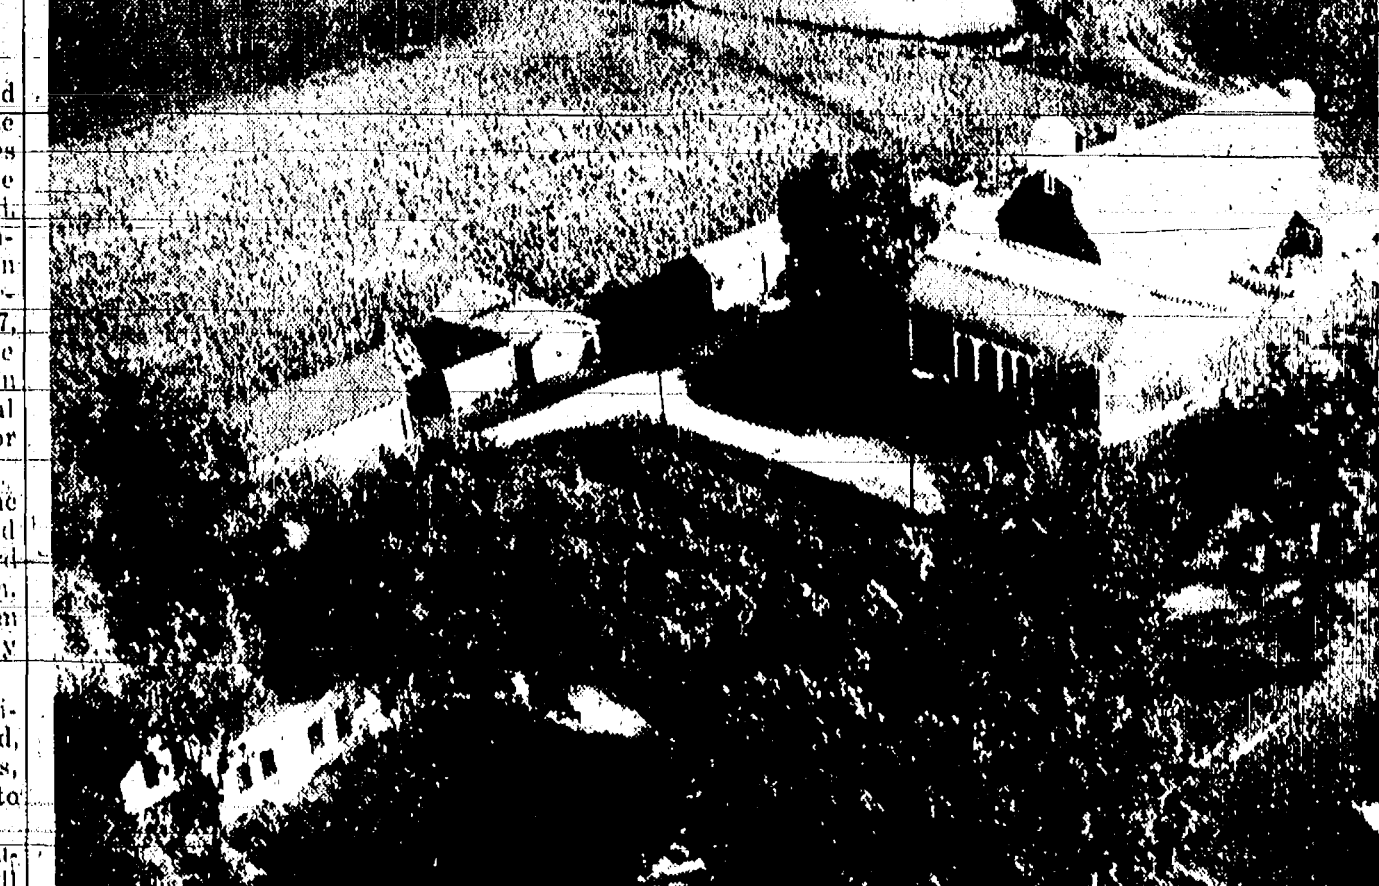

Survivors of Miss Fox are two aunts, Mrs. Millie Benke of Holland, Mich., and Mrs. Rebecca Libbey of Grand Rapids; and a cousin, Mrs. Gladys Hartman of Chicago.

The body was at the Burghardt Funeral Home from Sunday until 9 a.m. Tuesday and then lay in state at the Methodist church until the funeral service at 10:30 a.m. with the Rev. S. J. Kinde officiating. Burial followed at 2:30 p.m. at Oak Hill cemetery, Grand Rapids.

Memorial contributions have been set aside as the Mabel W. Fox Memorial Fund, the disbursement of which will be guided by her will. It is expected the fund will be used for education and library purposes.

Making New Year's Resolutions Is Not Silly Out-Moded Tradition

There was a time, not many years ago, when most persons gave some thought to the resolutions they would adopt for the New Year. Unfortunately, in this modern age of hurry, worry and hustle, the habit has become somewhat rare. Nevertheless, we believe there is still much to be gained by following the age-old custom of our ancestors.

It always pays a man or woman to take stock of themselves. Frankly, honestly and privately look yourself over, make an inventory of your assets and liabilities in connection with a world of other people.

We know there are some blase individuals who poke fun at all those who seek to improve themselves. There are likewise many people who worship money above all other accomplishments and therefore base their judgment of everything upon the basis of material wealth.

Religion teaches us that life is more than material possessions and that men and women who expect to live after death must base their faith upon spiritual achievements. It is virtually impossible to make much progress in this direction unless one is willing to establish, deliberately and intelligently, a set of values for existence.

Let's Try To Match This Faith In America as We Face the New Year

History shows that American presidential campaigns are usually followed by periods of uncertainty about the economic outlook. People wait nervously for the dust raised by campaign oratory to settle, and for a chance to gauge the policies of the incoming administration and the congress.

This time, the situation is aggravated by the fact that there has been a considerable amount of gloomy talk—both in the recent campaign and apart from it—about the possibility of a 1961 recession.

Therefore, it is heartening and instructive to recall the confident tones of one important non-political voice that spoke out before the election.

The voice was that of Chairman Frederic G. Donner of General Motors, who announced on Oct. 31 that GM plans to spend $1.4 billion in 1961 for plant, machinery, equipment and tooling. That's money on the line that will help to make secure the jobs of millions of workers, and the prosperity of thousands of businesses.

"The $1,250,000 investment that we will be making in 1961 testifies to our faith in the continued economic progress of this country and of the free world as a whole," Donner said.

Obviously, GM is not timidly waiting for that dust to settle. Not many of us can probably match the size of GM's bet on America. But we might try matching the strength of its faith.

A health article reported recently that pain strikes the body at its weakest place. No we know why we hear so much about headaches.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

If there's such a thing as political climate, it seems to be changing for the better in Michigan.

The constant thunder and lightning of clashes between Republicans and Democrats under the Capitol dome could even change into the soft zephyrs of compromise and cooperation.

More realistically, the opposing sides of the political aisle may be trying just a little harder to work together and to see the value of the other's point of view.

To draw the weather analogy just a bit farther, with a Democrat in the Governor's chair and Republicans in control of the legislature, it's always partly cloudy.

Though a sudden and violent squall can arise from a "cold front" of partisan disagreement, it need not blow hard in all directions for a long period of time.

The recent special session in which lawmakers voted a penny hike in the sales and use taxes came off without a hitch. The bitter wrangling of the 1959 and 1960 regular sessions, caused in part by the inflexibility of both parties, was missing.

True, the tax hikes were dictated by the people when they voted on the question Nov. 8. But Governor-elect John B. Swainson who served two terms in the State Senate and presided over that body as Lieutenant Governor for two years, showed an ability to get along with his former colleagues.

A new era of legislative harmony, if not outright togetherness. More important, most of the 22 Republicans in the Senate made an effort to get along with Swainson.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams and the GOP lawmakers were at odds almost constantly on almost every issue during the entire 12-years he spent as chief executive.

An analysis of the vastly complex reasons why this was so is rich ground to be explored by the authors of weighty tomes in the realm of political science.

Needless to say, neither Williams nor the Republicans wanted to hold back the state's progress.

Many reasons for squabbling were outside the particular area being argued at any given time. Political and personal pressures completely unrelated to the realm of everyday state operations were at work during the entire time Williams was bringing the Democratic party to prominence in Michigan.

Animosities sprang up quickly and centered themselves in the Governor and the Senate Republicans.

A new face in the front office, particularly since Swainson lacks the "hand-picked" by Williams stamp, plus a realization that both parties are going to have a strong voice in government, could lead to

Pardoned Convict Terroizes Family

Walter Pecho, twice convicted of murder for the shot gun killing of his wife, sat near the Christmas tree with another loaded gun on his lap, waiting for a target.

He had been pardoned by Gov. Williams.

He was waiting this time, he later told police, for the little men to come out of the hot air radiator.

He was prepared to knock his enemies off one by one, Pecho told the State Police. He would then be free, he said.

When Pecho's daughter arrived home that day she feared for her life and the safety of her family.

She had been taking care of her father since his release from Jackson Prison last June. This episode was the end.

The daughter screamed for help. Walter Pecho today is locked up again.

He won't be able to shoot the little men coming from the radiator—or anyone else.

And Gov. Williams, leaving the Lansing scene after refusing for eight of his twelve years to issue a pardon, undoubtedly is grateful that he missed having blood on his hands.

Most newspapermen at the capital knew that Gov. Williams issued a pardon for Pecho to help the UAW campaign to defeat State Senator Paul C. Younger of Lansing. Younger was prosecutor of Ingham county in 1953 when Pecho was convicted by a jury on circumstantial evidence.

For the last two years, the Democratic State Central Committee has had private detectives looking into the past of the Republican Senators who have been a sturdy wall against wild spending to be financed by an income tax.

The sleuths first came up with evidence that State Senator Charles Feenstra, of Grand Rapids, received a few pieces of the glass that had been removed from the Senate ceiling when the roof was rebuilt.

Fred Chase, secretary of the Senate, has more of this glass to give away if anyone wants it.

Democrats failed to make a scandal out of this.

The detectives got nowhere in their investigation of Senator Edward Hutchinson, a thorn raised for them on a Bramble bush in Fennville, or in their attack on Senator Carlton H. Morris, of Kalamazoo.

In searching the past of Senator Younger, a major target in the Democratic drive for control of the legislature, the detectives discovered that Pecho had been convicted on circumstantial evidence.

The smart UAW publicists fed

Lansing newspapermen a series of stories that Pecho was wrongly convicted by Younger. Some of the reporters swallowed the bait.

Circuit Judge Louis A. Coash held a second impartial hearing. He sustained the conviction.

The Parole Board then held hearings. Two facts were not denied:

1—The blast that killed Mrs. Pecho came from above.

2—The shot gun was resting on her lap when her husband called police.

Gov. Williams decided Mrs. Pecho committed suicide.

For 14 months before Gov. Williams issued the pardon, Pecho had been locked in the psycho ward at Jackson Prison.

Once the pardon was issued, Democrats lost no ground in a campaign against Gov. Williams. The district, made up of Ingham and Livingston counties, was flooded with sheets demanding the Republican Senator convicting this "innocent" man.

Senator Younger won by biggest majority of his career. The shot gun has been taken away from Pecho. He's locked at the request of his own family.

Yet they say in Lansing Gov. Williams, unlike every Governor since Stephen T. Mason, never has granted a pardon.

And a happy New Year is too, Mr. Pecho and Gov. Williams wherever you may be.

Again Michigan leads the Nation! 500 miles of freeways now open to traffic in Michigan!

A record-breaking 500 miles of modern freeways—easier driving and four times as safe as conventional highways—are now in use by millions of Michigan motorists and thousands of vacation travelers. One highway alone—Interstate 94—runs 203 continuous miles from downtown Detroit to St. Joseph. It's the longest stretch of toll-free, limited access highway in the United States!

Today, Michigan holds 1st place in Interstate System construction—up from 35th place just 3 years ago. Since 1957, Michigan's freeway mileage has increased 5 times! You can thank your capable state highway engineers, backed by efficient contractors and crews.

You can be glad, too, that more than 99% of these beautiful new freeways are paved with concrete. Its lower cost and proven performance saves tax money. Concrete highways and streets outlast asphalt almost 2 to 1 and cost up to 60% less to maintain. Add greater safety. Concrete gives more skid resistance, wet or dry, and better nighttime visibility.

In front-running Michigan and other progressive states, highway engineers choose concrete to save money and provide motorists with the safest, smoothest-riding, longest-lasting highways.

RIDDLE SOLVED:

What Made Ma's Girdle Turn Yellow

Do girdles do an efficient job of absorbing fat? An occupational health engineer with the state health department has found that they do—sometimes too efficiently.

The Michigan Department of Health received a call for help from the owner of a women's store specializing in foundation garments in the Flint area. The owner's complaint was that for some reason girdles stocked in the Flint store were turning yellow while the same brand of girdles in other outlets were not affected.

An occupational health engineer was dispatched to see "what was cooking."

The ladies foundation apparel shop was located in a building housing several business places, including a restaurant. A quick investigation revealed the presence of fumes of grease and cooking oils leaking from the restaurant into the apparel shop through the ventilation system in the building.

Investigation of objectionable or damaging fumes of any kind is one of many services performed by health department engineers.

The owner confirmed the fact that the girdles started turning yellow about the time the girdles started turning out fried foods when the restaurant opened.

Tests run in the health department laboratory showed fumes from cooking oils can turn girdles yellow.

The moral of the story would seem to provide an out for husbands: If your wife wears a girdle you may have a good excuse for not taking her out to dinner more often.

5 WALLETS STOLEN

Joplin, Mo.—Joplin firemen don't carry their wallets to fires—they leave them in lockers at the station.

Recently, the five firemen were routed out of bed by a false alarm.

When they returned, they discovered a thief had entered the station, found the locker key, emptied the wallets for a total of $116, relocked the locker, and hung the key back on the wall hook and vanished.

A front view of the house with its white-pillared full-length porch and set well back from the road, would have been more familiar.

Only persons who were positive in their identification of the farm are the men at Blaess Elevator Co. and Farmers Supply Co. also Ernest Hinderer.

Several acres of the farm were sold to the State Highway Department for the new I-94 highway construction. The new road is at the rear of the farmhouse and other buildings separating that part from the remainder of the farm.

MRS. WILBER WORDEN, who served as Webelos den leader for a group of Cub Scouts who have now graduated to membership in Boy Scout Troops 25 and 76, was presented with a sterling silver bracelet made up of emblems of Cub Scouting and Webelos at the December meeting of Cub Scout Pack 125. Cubmaster W. J. Grossman made the presentation on behalf of Pack 125 in special recognition for her pioneering as a Webelos leader, a position customarily held by Cub Scout fathers. Mention was also made of Mrs. Worden's years of service as a den mother. The Pack meeting was held at the Junior High School.

Business Cards To Be Sealed in Capsule on I-94

Lansing—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has appealed to newspapers and radio and television stations to help collect cards of businessmen along the Interstate 94 Freeway.

Mackie said the business cards will be a part of the historical record of the dedication of the final section of the 203-mile freeway between Detroit and Lake Michigan.

"We would like to emphasize the relationship of good highways to good business," Mackie said. "For that reason, I am asking businessmen to send their cards to me in Lansing."

The cards, along with newspapers and other material, will be placed in a time capsule that will be placed along the freeway between Ann Arbor and Jackson.

When the capsule is opened at some future date, the business cards will indicate that we truly realized the importance this great highway will have to the economic development of the area it traverses.

Mackie has predicted I-94 eventually will result in development of a "strip city" between Detroit and Chicago.

Mackie said he already has received more than 200 business cards and hopes to include at least 1,000 from businessmen in Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Van Buren and Berrien counties through which the highway passes.

Ann Arbor Leads Nation In Doctors

According to reports released this week by the U. S. Public Health Service, Ann Arbor has more doctors per capita than any place in the entire nation.

The report states that Ann Arbor has 459 physicians per 100,000 persons—a far higher ratio than any other area in the country.

In the list of 18 big cities (million or more persons) Detroit is at the "bottom" with 111 physicians per 100,000 persons. Boston heads the list of big cities with 207 active physicians per 100,000 persons in its metropolitan area.

Other metropolitan areas and their ratio of physicians to every 100,000 persons is as follows:

Washington, D. C. Maryland-Virginia, 173; Baltimore, 160; Seattle, Wash., 162; Cleveland, 161; Philadelphia-New Jersey, 160; Cincinnati-Kentucky, 154; Minneapolis-St. Paul, 153; Los Angeles-Long Beach, 151; Chicago-Northwest, Indiana, 143; Buffalo, N. Y., 137; Dallas, 137; Kansas City, Mo., Kansas, 133; Houston, 132; St. Louis-Illinois, 132; Milwaukee, 128; Pittsburgh, 117.

The New York area had the highest proportion of physicians in private practice with 77 per cent. The Baltimore area had the highest per cent (38) in hospital service, teaching administration, research and other salaried jobs.

THREE DAYS IN GULF

St. Petersburg, Fla.—A 20-year-old New Jersey youth decided he didn't want to become a commercial fisherman, after spending three days in the disabled boat in the Gulf of New Mexico.

A Coast Guard helicopter plucked Mickey Pandolfi, of West New York, N. J., off the boat about 35 miles from shore.

Huehl Farm on US-12 Proves Difficult for Many To Identify

Huehl farm at 10876 US-12, in Lima township, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Scherer, has been owned by members of the same family for almost 80 years. The present owner, Walter Huehl of Indianapolis, whose grandparents, Conrad and Christine Alber Finkbeiner, were there to make their home in the owner or who any previous owners may have been.

Both Conrad Finkbeiner and Christine Alber came to the United States from their former homes in Wuerttemberg, Germany in 1864, before their marriage. Following their marriage, according to available information, they first made their home in Sharon Hollow, south of Chelsea, before moving to the Lima township farm.

One of their daughters, Bertha Finkbeiner was married to Benjamin Huehl and they bought the farm in 1910.

The Benjamin Huehls were the parents of the present owner.

Other members of the Conrad Finkbeiner family were Christina, now Mrs. Edwin Koebe, past 90, who lives at Grand Lodge; Will Finkbeiner of Steinbach Rd., John Finkbeiner, formerly of Ann Arbor who presently is with relatives at Tecumseh; and the late Mrs. Delbert Maroney. Mrs. John Huehl, Charles Finkbeiner and Earl Finkbeiner.

Another son of the Conrad Finkbeiners, Conrad, Jr., is also presumed dead. He has not been heard from for many years.

Benjamin Huehl was employed for several years as a foreman in the old Glazier Stone Works before moving to the farm in 1910.

Members of the Benjamin Huehl family are: Walter Huehl, the present owner of the farm, who is president of the Indianapolis Life Insurance Co., Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. George Tash (Tash) of Ann Arbor; and Dr. Herbert Huehl, an Ann Arbor dentist.

Their parents retired from farming in 1939 and Clifford Heydlauff operated the 167-acre place for 22 years before purchasing his present farm on Kalmbach Rd., which was the home of his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Heydlauff.

The Clifford Heydlauff family of three sons and a daughter grew up on the Huehl farm. They are: James, Ned and Ann.

The David Scherers, who now live on the farm, have a granddaughter living with them—Audrey Scherer who attends school in Chelsea.

They have two sons and two daughters, now all married—Mrs. Stanley Humbert (Humbert) and Mrs. Clarence Hennigan (Hennigan) of Ypsilanti, David Scherer, Jr., of Ann Arbor, and LeRoy of Jackson Rd.

Several acres of the farm were sold to the State Highway Department for the new I-94 highway construction. The new road is at the rear of the farmhouse and other buildings separating that part from the remainder of the farm.

NATIONAL OUTLOOK

BY RALPH HOREY

Prospects for Capital Investment

Two items are crucial in the determination of the business trend. These are inventories and business investment in plant and equipment. They may move together—or in opposite directions. This means that they may augment each other, or tend to offset each other. But that is only one phase of their importance.

On inventories the only figures we have are historical. That is they refer to what already has happened. Of course, predictions may be made, but they are fraught with danger. And errors in such predictions may be enormous, because changes in inventories may amount to twenty billion dollars a year. In the first quarter of this year, for example, inventories were being accumulated at an annual rate of over $11 billion. Since then there has been a continuous decline, and no one can know how much longer this drop will last.

Such a movement of inventories has a direct effect upon gross national product. It also has curbing influence upon production, employment, consumption, and almost every other segment of our economic system. This has been perhaps the most important single factor in our business trend this year.

On-business investment in plant and equipment we have historical figures, but we also have predictions that have proved to be amazingly accurate. There are two sets of such figures. One is official, the other is private. The official series is compiled by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission from data submitted by various individual companies. The private series is that of McGraw-Hill and is based upon replies to a questionnaire. The two differ in both coverage and details, but the totals always are relatively close.

The latest government survey was based upon reports made in late July and August. The projections were carried only to the end of this year. They show the same total—$36.9 billion—for both the third and fourth quarters.

The McGraw-Hill survey has just been published. It covers the rest of this year and also 1961. The figures are both surprising and encouraging. They show an anticipated decline for next year of only 3 per cent, to $35 billion. This 3 per cent applies both to manufacturing alone, and for all business together.

The largest drop in proposed manufacturing investment is textiles—21 per cent. The largest increase is electrical machinery—10 per cent. In the non-manufacturing field railroads lead the list in declines—24 per cent, and electric and gas utilities plan the greatest increase—4 per cent.

The projection is surprising for several reasons: the widespread talk of a recession over most of 1961; the unused capacity at present in all of our major industries, which in some instances amounts to between 40 and 50 per cent; the marked squeeze on profits in almost every field; and the difficulty, or impossibility, of raising prices.

All of these considerations, one would assume, should curtail business investment in plant and equipment—curtail it by much more than a mere 3 per cent. Obviously other factors are even more important in the minds of business management. Among these probably the most significant are the desire to increase efficiency by more modern machinery, the introduction of new products, the knowledge that a business can not simply stand still, and a genuinely optimistic long-term confidence in the future of our economic system.

If the McGraw-Hill projections prove true, business investment in plant and equipment will be at least a sustaining force throughout 1961.

Heavy Duty Scale Testing Curtailed By Loss of Truck

A heavy duty scale testing truck of the Michigan Department of Agriculture that has eight years of service and more than 100,000 miles to its credit has been retired without likelihood of immediate replacement and the extra work load will be placed on two other similar vehicles.

There are approximately 7,500 large capacity scales in the state. They vary in capacity from 6,000 pounds to 200,000 pounds. Mainly they are operated by coal yards, lumber yards, manufacturing plants, grain elevators, livestock yards and other agricultural and industrial plants.

Because of having to lay up one of the three trucks used by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's foods and standards division checks of large capacity scales cannot be completed with except on a request basis, according to G. S. McIntyre, director of the Department.

Chief J. L. Littlefield, of the foods and standards division who is directly in charge of this important work, says there may be months of delay because there already is a backlog of requests. Scale operators cannot expect immediate service on requests because two heavy duty scale testing trucks are having to do the work of three.

Special testing equipment is required to determine accuracy of scales of this kind. The tremendous volume of business transacted over them results in immense sums of money changing hands on the basis of their weighing operations.

The aggregate error in the course of a year's business as a result of even a small inaccuracy in the scale used may represent the margin of profit that determines the business life of a firm or individual. Either the buyer or the seller may be shorted, Littlefield said.

Going to church is a habit everybody—even the wealthy and elderly individual—should nourish. Attended often enough, something good is sure to "take" as a result.

Library Committee Chairmen Named For Grade Schools

Mrs. Carl Schwiager, PTA-volunteer library committee chairman, has announced that she has appointed Mrs. Curtis Farley chairman and Mrs. Victor Winter co-chairman of the library committee at South Elementary school.

Mrs. Schwiager said also, that Mrs. Graham Sprague has accepted the position of chairman of elementary volunteer librarians at North school.

Mrs. Schwiager made the appointments at a pre-Christmas tea for library volunteers, held in the Chelsea High school library.

She pointed out that the committee is urgently in need of a volunteer mother to sit in from 1:30 until 3:30 p.m. Fridays at the North school library.

Mothers Always Come Through for Sons in Financial Difficulty

Ann Arbor—Mothers nearly a century ago—as now—have generally "come through" when their sons at college sent out an S.O.S. for cash, letters in The University of Michigan Historical Collections indicate.

On April 7, 1867, Mrs. W. L. Alexander of Geneva, N. Y., answered the plea of her son Byron, a sophomore at the U-M, thus: "It seems that my labors to impress upon your infant mind the necessity of hoisting signals of distress before you are 'hull down' have been abortive."

"I understand your letter you have gone under to the amount of $12. The present available funds of the family are reduced to $22, or thereabouts, 20 of which we send you, hoping the cow will 'come in' in a day or two and relieve us from further embarrassment."

"It may be two weeks before we can send you any more, so if you are contemplating matrimony—as I expect that will be your next extravagance—please to hold on."

ENVOYS' TRAVEL CURTAILED
Many United States diplomats who planned to return home on leave or move to new posts early next year have been told to unpack their suitcases.

In a major economy move, the State Department has ordered a drastic cutback in all but the most essential travel by its Foreign Service officers. The order takes effect January 1.

The purpose of the action was to save funds that will be used to speed new diplomatic posts in Africa.

Dec. 30—Holiday tournament—last day.

Jan. 3—School opens.

Jan. 6—Pinckney games here.

Jan. 13—U-High games there.

Jan. 16 and 17—First semester final examinations.

For the past week the art classes under the direction of Mr. Hummel have been very busy making a "modernistic" Christmas tree. Streamers hung from a star to a large hoop at the bottom, and student-made decorations cover the "tree." They also wrapped empty packages to place under it. Some classes have done finger painting and have made Christmas mobiles.

Art II classes made Mardi Gras masks, completed their Christmas cards, and, along with Art I, ordered their materials for copper enameling.

The choir made a successful trip to Manchester, Dec. 14, where they sang 15 Christmas songs to the assembled high school students. They left Chelsea at noon and returned seventh hour.

The combined choir and bands performed the annual Christmas concert Monday evening in the gym. The change of place was necessary because of the large number of participants and consequently of parents. Junior and senior bands, junior boys and girls choruses, senior choir and an enlarged Cholette group participated in the two-hour program. They had rehearsed during the afternoon.

The residents of Mercywood were treated to a concert on Tuesday afternoon when the band and Cholettes performed for them.

Mrs. Christine Flora's freshmen English classes have just finished reading short stories, and have now started Charles Dickens' "Great Expectations" which seems to be very interesting. While this class is reading, Mrs. Gwen Lago's classes are beginning to find out just what a "book review" really is.

RUSS LEADS IN STUDY

A Government report says that the Russians might lead the West in the study of the effects of cosmic radiation on the life in outer space.

"But," the report added, "they are five to ten years behind the West in certain aspects of experimental cosmic ray physics."

The report also said Soviet work on radiation from space "does not have the breadth, flexibility and imagination of the Western efforts in this field."

$4 Million Interchange To Be Built at Brighton

Lansing—The Michigan State Highway Department will open bids Jan. 4 on one of the largest interchanges in outstate Michigan.

The big interchange will be located near Brighton at the intersection of the Detroit-Muskegon and Ohio-to-Soo Freeways. Eight separate structures will go into the interchange which will cover about 175 acres and will cost about $4 million.

Lansing-Mackinac Freeway To Be Complete in 1962

Mount Pleasant—More than 90 per cent of the Lansing-to-Mackinac Bridge freeway is open to traffic or under construction and the entire route will be completed within two years, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said recently.

Mackie spoke at ribbon-cutting ceremonies marking the opening of a 13-mile, $6.5 million section from Alma to Mount Pleasant. The Highway Commissioner said 74.5 miles or one-third of the 224-mile freeway is now open to traffic, while all but 15 miles of the remaining mileage is under construction.

"The final section between Vanderbilt and Indian River will be placed under construction early next year and the entire route will be open to traffic by late 1962," Mackie said.

The freeway is now continuous from Lansing to Mount Pleasant, except for a 10-mile stretch between Ithaca and Alma, while another 21 miles is open from Indian River to the Mackinac Bridge. Mackie said the freeway, when completed, will induce a "tremendous increase" in tourist traffic to northern Michigan.

"This freeway and others we are building will encourage more people to make trips to see and do more things," Mackie said. "I predict tourist travel in Michigan will increase by almost 50 per cent the first full year the system is in operation."

Governor Proclaims 'Interstate 94 Day'

As Dream Comes True

Lansing—Gov. G. Mennen Williams proclaimed Dec. 19 as "Interstate 94 Day" in Michigan in recognition of the completion of a long-cherished dream of a super-highway from Detroit to Lake Michigan.

Noting the 203-mile freeway is the longest continuous Interstate highway in the U.S. and the first such border-to-border route, Williams said completion of the final link "is significant in our state and it is important to the entire nation."

"Under the vigorous leadership of State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and with the assistance of outstanding personnel in the State Highway Department and the foresight and cooperation of local officials, Michigan has set the pace for the nation in the number of miles of toll-free divided highways opened to traffic and in the dollar volume of contracts let for construction," the proclamation said.

"Highway progress in Michigan has been of great benefit to industry, to transportation, to industrial development and to the safety of the motoring public. In the number of lives saved on our highways and the dollar value of local economic progress, our new highways have been of great advantage to Michigan and our people."

In some cases, all costs leading to a Ph.D. in Engineering may exceed $20,000 the University of Michigan College of Engineering estimates.

A SINCERE THANKS

Last January, Hastings Mutual announced the observance of its 75th Anniversary year. It was in 1885 that we began to serve the people of Michigan with windstorm insurance. At that time, our company was known as Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Company. Today, as we start our 76th year, we serve more rural Michigan patrons than any other all-Michigan insurance company. In addition to windstorm, Hastings Mutual now offers fire, liability, hail, homeowners and multiple peril protection.

While striving to give you the fastest, most efficient claim service possible, we also offer the security of knowing that you are protected by one of Michigan's oldest, most respected insurance companies. To you who made this growth possible during the past 75 years, Hastings Mutual and its more than 350 licensed agents express their most sincere thanks.
