

CHS Counselor Survived Nazi Rule 'Because of CD Training'

With the Civil Defense Training program now being held each week from 6:45 until 8:45 p.m. at the Junior High school gymnasium, the experiences of one of the school faculty should be of particular interest.

Very few people of the community are aware that this man's "civil defense" preparations for survival while a youth helped his family escape from the Nazis and that because of his experiences he is now eager to do everything he can to alert the danger of being unprepared for any eventuality threatening the freedom of the United States.

which he is now a citizen, Bergman participated Saturday "and Sunday in 'Operation Bosman,' a 'week-end warriors' training and demonstration program of the 781st Helicopter Utility Squadron, based at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

Bergman explained that the commanding officer of the squadron is Lt. Commander Laloh D. Hornberger, USNR, who in his private life owns and manages the Capital Optical Studios in Lansing and East Lansing. The executive officer is Lt. Commander Philip J. Gannon, USNR, Ph.D. who is dean of Lansing Community College.

The week-end program included helicopter air-sea rescue, executed at the entrance of the Detroit River into Lake Erie. Two members of the squadron went through the typical paces of a survivor who first would check his suit and raft in order to put them into immediate operational condition, then activating the salt water to a drinking water conversion unit, then putting into use the day-night flare-smoke signal packet, and also using the signaling mirror (under sunny conditions). In case of shark menace he can use the shark-repellent packet which is good for about five hours.

While two helicopters went through the paces of locating and finding the "survivors" and then using the same type of three-prong hook device with which the spaceman, Lt. Commander Allan Shepard, was lifted from the sea, the other program participants manned two large rafts and a Coast Guard patrol boat situated in the immediate vicinity.

Other parts of the program included ground warfare, aircraft maintenance, parachute inspection demonstration, fire fighting and crash demonstration, flight in Douglas DC3 Navy transport aircraft over the local area, a cruise film of last year's tour of duty to the Jacksonville, Fla., area, and squadron muster.

Many of the members on the base have already fulfilled their active and reserve military obligations, but in view of the extremely involved and dangerous world situation—stand by without any personal benefit, rather, out of a sincere feeling of patriotism and a sense of duty. Here you see high executives in private life working as mechanics or office clerks side by side with high school junior or senior boys who on week-ends and two summer cruises, followed by six months full-time active duty (in the case of the boys) during which time these young men actually learn and perform highly skilled technological tasks.

The squadron is changing over from sea-rescue to anti-submarine warfare. Within recent times a foreign power has systematically laid out at the bottom of our bordering oceans radioactive markers which constantly send frequency signals which very effectively could guide a wartime enemy's missiles, aircraft, ships and submarines (atomic warhead armed), to designated action areas. These markers are difficult to destroy in many cases. The foreign power's submarines and surface fishing fleet vessels are systematically and continuously following our movements and actions. Never before in our country's history has actual peril been so great, and yet resulting in so little (but certainly necessary) home-defense planning and actions by individual citizens.

Bergman explained that he is not soliciting volunteers for any of the active or reserve branches of the United States Armed Forces; however, he was raised in now Soviet-occupied and dominated Latvia, which was also destroyed by Nazi Germany. His immediate family, which was taken to East Prussia during the last stages of World War II, together with other Latvian Riga University medical personnel, were fortunate to escape to Denmark and then, in 1946, to come to Ironwood, Mich.

He feels that his family's survival was due to the interference of Providence, aided by his own survival training in Latvian schools before the Soviets and Germans actually came into Latvia, as well as due to active planning and execution of many apparently hopeless and yet effective actions, even in hostile conqueror's territory (Germany and Occupied Denmark). His father, a Methodist minister before the war in Latvia, and now in Yale,

Mich., became a medical assistant (feldsher) and his mother worked as a nurse, while Bergman was an attendant (from the age of 12½) in Latvian, German military, and Danish International hospitals.

When in the last moments of war in The Danzig Festungsstadt area Germans refused the Latvian personnel the privilege of escaping from surrounding and infiltrating Soviet forces, civilian Red Cross workers aided by Finnish, Estonian, Latvian military Red Cross units took over by force German Naval small units (including barges) and effected their almost unbelievable escape. The majority perished in the cold winter waters of the Baltic Sea but some of those who tried to survive did so.

As a result of his experiences leading to his escape, Bergman has only one petition and qualified appeal to every school child and adult of our school district:

"For your own sake, for the sake of yet unborn children here in Chelsea and everywhere in the United States, start acting now! You have the initial beginning of Civil Defense now. Take part in it. You may be young or old. Take part in your Civil Defense! You may be an unskilled worker or a local executive or governmental leader. Take active part in doing for yourself and for your own people what neither the President of the country, nor our country's allies can do. I escaped from slavery and horror once. Now there's no other place left to escape to—and this goes for you as well as for myself. Whether you really understand what freedom means or not, whether you had a part in establishing freedom or not, now only you and I can and must do everything to insure its chances for survival. For God has no other brains or hands than yours and mine for this vital task!"

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN OPENS MONDAY

Homecoming Festivities Set Friday Night

The Chelsea-Pinckney football game here tomorrow night is the main attraction for the annual "Homecoming" of Chelsea High school. The game will be highlighted by selection and crowning of the "Homecoming Queen" during half-time.

A special half-time program has been arranged by the school band under the direction of David Lind, with David Sanborn, vocal director, as master of ceremonies.

The winner will be "crowned" during the half-time program by the co-captains of the football team, Jack Howard and Tom Eisele.

The queen will be presented with a dozen red roses and a crown, both provided by the senior class.

The homecoming dance which will take place after the game, will feature a "snake dance" session which is to precede the dance.

The procession will start at the principal parking lot on Park St. at 6:15 p.m.

It will be led by the school band, followed by the business and athletic clubs, and the cheerleaders. The procession will lead the queen and her court to the stadium for the game.

The dance will be held at the Post Office corner the second time.

Blood Still Available Though Bank Arrears Running in Arrears

Although the Chelsea Community Blood Bank, for the first time in nine years, is already in arrears nine pints to the Ann Arbor headquarters, people in the area in need of blood may still obtain it by calling Mrs. Dudley Holmes, Blood Bank chairman, or her co-chairman, Harold Jones, Mrs. Holmes may be reached at GR 9-2181.

Blood supplied from the headquarters stock must be replaced after Chelsea's next Blood Bank clinic, scheduled for Dec. 18.

1,500 Served At Jaycee Barbecue

Roland Eder, general chairman of the Jaycees chicken barbecue, held Sunday at Pierce Park under ideal weather conditions, said yesterday that the exceptional success of the affair was the result of outstanding team work on the part of all Jaycees; the wholehearted assistance of non-members and area businessmen; and the patronage of residents of the community as well as those from out-of-town. A total of 1,500 chicken halves were barbecued and served.

JAYCEE BARBECUE—Exceptionally fine weather Sunday added the final touch to the outstanding success of the Jaycees' sixth annual chicken barbecue at Pierce Park. Planned for the second Sunday in October especially to accommodate color tour visitors, area residents also patronize the affair which was planned this year to serve 1,100 adults and 400 children. Workers at the barbecue pit in the above photo included Henry Ortring, left front, who was chief cook; and, at right front, Joe Doering, assistant chief cook. Behind Ortring is Lloyd Schneider, while on the opposite side of the pit are Charles Harold of Elyria, O., a week-end visitor here who assisted the Jaycees throughout the day, and George Akin, a Jaycees member. Ron Eder was general chairman of the barbecue. Other committee members who assisted with the project included Verne Buehler who was in charge of properties.

Kick-Off Luncheon Scheduled Monday At St. Paul's Church

St. Paul's Okays Building Group To Hire Architect

At a special congregational meeting held Sunday morning at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, the church building and site committee was authorized to retain an architect for the purpose of obtaining preliminary drawings only for the proposed new church building now under consideration by the congregation.

The building and site committee also was empowered to proceed with securing an option on a site and report back to the congregation.

Paul Schaible, Jr., is chairman of the building and site committee.

Kiwanis Club Will Host 80-Year-Olds

The Rev. Paul M. Schanke was the speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening and told about his recent trip to Ecuador to deliver livestock gifts on behalf of Church World Service.

He exhibited a collection of jungle handicraft he had brought back. Included were woven articles; jewelry made of feathers, bone and insect parts; pottery; a hand-woven hammock; a blowgun and other hand-made primitive weapons.

Announcement was made that Monday, Oct. 30, has been selected as the club's annual "Octogenarian Night" when men of the community 80 years old and over will be guests of the club.

The meeting will be held in the club's customary meeting place—the social center of the Methodist church.

Need Advance Preparation For Civil Defense Success

Approximately 100 people of the community, including Village officials and employees, representatives of the police and fire department, auxiliary police and others, are participating in the Civil Defense training program being conducted at the Junior High school gymnasium each evening this week.

While those completing the entire course will receive recognition of the fact, anyone who wishes to attend sessions tonight and to-morrow is welcome to do so. The classes are held from 6:45 p.m. until 8:45 p.m.

Col. G. G. Miller, Washtenaw county Civil Defense director, who is conducting the training sessions, pointed out at one of the meetings that the Chelsea area must make plans for caring for large numbers of evacuees from nearby metropolitan areas in case of nuclear attack.

He explained that the state Civil Defense department has indicated that this area is regarded as one in which most people may expect to be saved providing proper measures are taken in advance.

Miller, in presenting the program, gives detailed instructions about what can be done by the town itself and by individuals in order to insure the maximum protection for the greatest number of people.

He explained that a workable system of action must be set up ready to function at a moment's notice. Under such a plan, certain (Continued from page three)

Volunteers Seek To Meet $15,300 Budget for Year

Chelsea's Community Chest campaign will get underway Monday when campaign workers get together at St. Paul's church on East Summit St. for the annual "kick-off" luncheon at 12 o'clock noon.

It was previously incorrectly announced that the luncheon was to be held at the Congregational church.

At the luncheon campaign workers will receive all the necessary materials for their solicitations during the two-week drive to raise the $15,300 approved by the board of directors for the 1962 budget. Requests had been received for allocations amounting to a total of $19,300 but this amount was pared to the $15,300 figure.

Benefiting agencies are Chelsea Recreation Council, Chelsea Social Service, American Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Chelsea Friends of the Library, Huron Valley Child Guidance, UAW-CIO Children's Christmas Party and the United Fund.

The Community Chest was designed to eliminate the need for many separate drives for contributions and the "give once for all" campaign has, for the most part, accomplished this purpose.

George Knickerbocker and Larry Chapman, co-chairmen of the campaign this year, urge that everyone make his or her contributions to the campaign as soon and as generously as possible in order that the work may be completed with a minimum of inconvenience to volunteer workers. Steer Club To Organize Norbert Merkel, chairman of the Steer Club committee of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, has announced that the next year's club will be organized at an open meeting of prospective members and their parents in the Chelsea High school cafeteria at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Since it is planned to buy all steers for the club in a group this year, it is imperative that all contracts be signed and returned by Monday, Oct. 23.

For this reason, all young people interested in Steer Club membership should be at Wednesday's meeting with their parents.

Plans for the evening's meeting include the serving of refreshments following the outlining of plans for organization for the year.

General Vogel Sees Cadets Trampled by U-M

Brigadier General and Mrs. Herbert Vogel of Knoxville, Tenn., were in Ann Arbor Saturday to attend the Army-Michigan football game and then spent until Tuesday afternoon here visiting relatives and friends. During their stay they were at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. L. P. Vogel.

Also week-end guests there were Mrs. Margaret Mallick and Miss Erma Graber of Detroit. General and Mrs. Vogel went from here to Fort Wayne, Ind., where they planned to visit a sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunstone, before returning to Knoxville.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD TEA—Mrs. Thomas Masterson, at right, president of the Chelsea Branch of the Needlework Guild, and Mrs. Louis Ramp, director of Chelsea Social Service, poured at the Needlework Guild ingathering tea, held Thursday afternoon at the Congregational church. A complete report of the number of contributions made at the annual ingathering is not yet available; however, it was noted the ingathering was "very successful" and that more than usual amounts of money were contributed. The money is used for the purchase of boots, shoes, and other items which need exact fitting; also, for jackets, coats and similar larger articles which normally are not contributed at the ingatherings. Chelsea Social Service distributes the clothing and household linens to needy persons in the Chelsea area as the need arises. Shown being served at the tea are, from left, Mrs. Henry Gilbert, Mrs. J. V. Burg, I, and Mrs. Guy Barton.

Everyone the Opportunity To Help

The United Community Chest Fund drive for donations will begin Monday. It is a united effort, and is the most important charity effort in this community each year.

The Community Chest is the most sensible plan for community charity yet devised. But is still opposed by some leaders much propaganda about the so-called advantages of these go-it-alone charity organizations—send them money, New York, or nationally organized charity organizations.

In our opinion, the primary reason among some of the highly-published organizations for wanting to stay out of the Community Chest is the prospect of loss of jobs, publicity and funds to be handled by the independent organizations. No system, of course, is perfect, and there have been mistakes made in Community Chest drives. There have been people working toward Community Chest efforts that were not the best suited to their task.

But, generally speaking, the superiority of the system whereby a community has one joint charity drive, with local people deciding what portion of the funds collected will go where, is above question.

The Community Chest offers a way for a local group to help underprivileged children, teen-agers, troubled families hit by disaster, the sick, the handicapped, victims of unemployment, the aged and others.

This community has always supported their Community Chest handsomely. We hope they always will. And in the economic warfare that is being waged, it is possible to the best to contribute as generously as possible to the fund drive for the coming year.

National Fire Prevention Week

Alerts Us To Check Possible Dangers

It is appropriate that the observance of National Fire Prevention Week comes during the first of October, when people are faced with the necessity of heating their homes again after the summer months. It is during this period that many fires occur, due to faulty heating systems and unsafe furnaces and chimneys.

To call the public's attention to the danger of such tragedies, National Fire Prevention Week is set aside from Oct. 9-14 this year. Observance of this week is also intended to remind citizens of the many deaths and huge property losses, which result each year from carelessness in the use of fire.

We urge all readers to make a resolution to express extreme care to prevent tragedies resulting from fires in this community. A little thought about this will pay dividends and possibly prevent unnecessary deaths.

Carefulness in the woods at this time of the year will also save many millions of dollars worth of timber, which is consumed by forest fires every year.

Too often only those who have experienced a fire appreciate the warning issued every year at this time. We hope readers in this community will concern themselves with this problem during Fire Prevention Week and maybe remember to give the volunteer firemen a kind word of appreciation for their unselfish devotion to their jobs.

PUBLIC HUNTING LANDS—Looking for a place to hunt this fall where access is no problem and shooting prospects are generally good? If so, this map should be helpful. It shows your area's "charmed circle" of public hunting lands. Purchased and developed by the Conservation Department with money from hunting and fishing license fees and federal grants, the game areas shown above boast a variety of game targets and cover. Department surveys indicate that hunters harvest about twice as much game per acre in state game areas as they do on private lands. Public hunting is also available in state recreation areas outside their developed sections of major use.

Historical Markers Boost State's Tourist Industry

Mount Pleasant—Michigan's historical marker program has made a "tremendous contribution" to tourism in the State, an official of the Michigan State Highway Department said recently.
Chief Engineer John E. Meyer said the 130 green-and-gold markers that have been placed in Highway Department Roadside Parks throughout the State give travelers who stop in these areas an opportunity to absorb bits of State history.
"These markers play a vital role in educating thousands of visitors from other states who come to Michigan to enjoy our recreational advantages," Meyer said at the

MSU Enrollment Totals 25,044 for New Record High

East Lansing—Enrollment at Michigan State University this fall will reach a total of 25,044, Registrar Kermit H. Smith announced at the close of the regular registration period.
This is the highest figure in the institution's history—it is 7 percent above last year's comparable total of 23,373.
Budget limitations imposed by last year's legislative appropriations restricted the number of new fall totalled 4,740, only 1 percent higher than last year's 4,690.
University officials were directed by the MSU Board of Trustees to attempt to hold the enrollment on the East Lansing campus to approximately 22,560.—The total on-campus enrollment today was 22,637.
The over-all growth came because of the addition of a third class at MSU—Oakland, where the enrollment went to 1,008, and because of the return of a much higher than expected proportion of students who previously had attended Michigan State.
Included in the total are 1,339 students registered at MSU-resident centers around the state.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClure returned Saturday after spending a week with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Hopkins and children, at their home near Hartford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Miller returned home late Tuesday night of last week after spending the week-end at Fort Hood, Tex., visiting their son, Pfc. Charles Miller. They had left here by bus on the previous Thursday. Pfc. Miller had the week-end off and accompanied his parents to points of interest in the area including the State Capitol at Austin, Tex. Victor Miller's father, the late Chester Miller, Sr., a stonecutter, was employed on the construction of the building and for this reason, the Millers were especially interested in seeing it. Literature about the building states that plans for it were first discussed in 1875. The Millers obtained a picture which includes all of the workers and hope eventually to identify the photo of the older Miller in the group.

Still Time for Fall Soil Testing

Farmers still have time to test soil for lime recommendations and apply the needed lime before winter losses in, says Jame Porter, Michigan State University soil scientist.
"There is no better time than fall for applying any liming material, whether limestone, marl or by-product lime," Porter says. "On most fields the crops are in a stage that will have little damage from heavy spreading equipment."
The soil itself is likely to be relatively dry and there will be little packing from this equipment. Most important, the lime has an extra six or seven months, in which to neutralize acidity and become diffused through the soil.
Lime should be applied only on the basis of a soil test, Porter says. It is wasteful to apply lime where it is not needed and at rates other than that required for maximum crop production.
Farmers who do not get lime applied before winter, can apply lime after freeze-up if snow cover permits, Porter concludes.

Richard Haist To Head Washtenaw Student Council

The first monthly meeting of the Washtenaw League Student Council for the current school year took place Tuesday, Oct. 3 at Chelsea High school. All students of the county affiliate with the League sent representatives to the meeting.

The co-operative Student Council, established two years ago, since its first meeting in the 1960-61 school year at Chelsea High school.

The business meeting at last year's meeting was held in the school library and the various advisors visited with Chelsea's school administrators, teachers and other personnel.

The selection of officers of the Washtenaw League Student Council resulted in naming Richard Haist as president.

Haist also serves as Chelsea High School's Student Council president.

At the third successive year, Richard Haist, Chelsea schools' advisor, has been designated the Council's advisor.

At the Oct. 3 meeting following the selection of officers and initial deliberation of mutual concerns, the delegates set Oct. 7 as the date for the next meeting.

Chelsea's Student Council will be represented at the county meeting by Al Schauer, vice-president; Carol Mayer, corresponding secretary; Warren Forath and Mary Ann Hanson; also, Dudley Holmes, alternate delegate.

Purpose of the Washtenaw League Student Council as outlined when it was established two years ago, included a list of the following goals:

1. Promote better relations between schools in the Washtenaw Conference.
2. Form friendships.
3. Solve mutual problems.
4. Exchange ideas concerning the betterment of each school's student council.
5. Organize well-planned student exchange days and share talents with other schools.
6. Establish sportsmanship atmosphere among all schools and award an annual trophy.
7. Exchange student publications (yearbooks, newspaper, etc.)

The Chelsea Student Council works closely with High School Principal Charles Lane and Superintendent Charles Cameron.

It was explained that all students and teachers are welcome to attend the weekly business meetings of the Chelsea Student Council; however, in the case of students and school organizations, these visits should be announced to President Richard Haist or Mr. Bergman in order to facilitate planning for accommodations.

It has been pointed out that the Student Council is often called upon to deal with pleasant

Methodists Plan Dinner To Kick-off Annual Canvass

Plans are nearing completion for the second congregational dinner to be held in the First Methodist church, Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 6:30 p.m.

While the affair is planned as the kick-off event in the annual Every-Member Visitation Canvass no funds or pledges will be taken at the dinner. It is an inspirational gathering and will feature Dr. Vaughn Whited of the West Side Methodist church, Ann Arbor, as speaker. His theme will be "John Wesley." Dr. Whited went to England for one year to study the life of Wesley and to visit historic spots associated with Wesley and the Methodist movement. He is now writing a book on the life of this great leader of Methodism.

The meal featuring sauerkraut, pork, "kniffler," pie and other foods will be served in a setting of 50 years ago. Mrs. Robert Daniels is decoration chairman and Mrs. Lawton Steger in charge of planning the meal to be served by the WSCS. Those attending are requested to bring their own table service.

Reservations may be made at the close of the Sunday service or by phoning Mrs. Loving Bates or Mrs. William Storey.

In November, 1960, the University of Michigan radio station WUOM was given a First Award by the Michigan Associate Press for its coverage of local affairs and special events.

At a business meeting of the parents' organization the group voted to underwrite the cost of a language laboratory for the college.

School Board Upholds Disciplinary Action Against High School Athletes

At a special meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education Monday evening, called for the purpose of "hearing all of the facts" about the recent suspension of 11 football players and one track team member, the Board went on record with unanimous approval of that action of the administration and coaching staff.

Two members of the board—S. R. Booker and Paul E. Mann—had requested School Board President Howard Flintoft to call such a meeting to clarify the situation for all board members following the wide publicity given the incident and because of many conflicting stories "making the rounds" of the community.

The suspension of the athletes followed a student drinking party at North Lake after the Manchester-Chelsea football game which Chelsea won, 35-0.

Rules governing participation in athletics at the school clearly state that suspension is mandatory for any athlete apprehended drinking or smoking and all students are fully informed of the existence of such rules.

A number of people in the community who earlier had expressed the opinion that suspension "seemed severe" for the first such offense, now agree that the rules are for the protection of the school and all athletes and have stated that the coaches and administrators "deserve commendation" for their firm stand in the matter.

Monday's meeting which was expected by the board to be a routine special session, was attended by approximately 75 area residents and, following an executive session of the board, those who wished to participate in open discussion were given an opportunity to do so.

Board President Flintoft said that he felt the open discussion at the meeting had clarified the situation about the suspensions and that the problem had now resolved itself and the matter could be considered closed.

When the board meeting opened Monday, one of the members suggested that in view of the number of people present, the board should meet first in executive session to discuss their position on the matter.

Noting that a city newspaper reporter was present, the fact was announced after the executive session by Trustee Mann, who said he felt the people present had a right to know this before any discussion began.

If you think you have a very intimate friend, don't get into a business deal with him.

Laymen's Sunday To Be Observed at Methodist Church

Laymen's Sunday will be observed Oct. 15 at the First Methodist church and Donley Boyer, lay leader, has assigned men of the congregation for the various parts of the morning worship service.

Bruce Irving is to open the service with the call to worship and the affirmation of faith.

The general confession and responsive reading will be led by Huey Hardy and will be followed by the Scripture lesson and laymen's prayer by Raymond Schirer.

An interpretation of Laymen's Sunday will be given by Robert Turner and announcements will be made by Daniel Ewald who also will preside during the offering.

The service will be concluded with the Laymen's Day message and benediction by David Soule. Soule's topic is to be "Our Partnership with God."

All School Bus Drivers Attending Special Classes

All 17 of Chelsea's school bus drivers, with W. J. Grossman, supervisor of transportation for the Chelsea School District, will be attending special classes for school bus drivers under a program sponsored by the Division of Field Services of Eastern Michigan University. The opening session will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 9, in the west cafeteria of Ann Arbor High school.

Subsequent sessions are scheduled for Dec. 4, Feb. 5 and Mar. 26 for the Chelsea bus drivers and those from the Ann Arbor, Dexter and Manchester districts.

Drivers from the eastern part of the county will meet separately for classes at Willow Run.

Chelsea bus drivers scheduled to attend the classes at Ann Arbor are Clifford Heydlauff, Donald Keizer, Robert Bauer, George Brettschneider, Arthur Barth, Sr., Mrs. Elwood Keizer (Dorothy), Mrs. Donovan Sweeney (Lulu), the Rev. David Wood, Leonard Cross.

The list continues with Richard Rogers, Wilbert Koch, Lyndell Peebles, Elmer Lindow, Roy Kalmback, Victor Kohnsman, the Rev. Carmen Carpenter and Edward Laier.

Last year, 78 percent of the drivers of Washtenaw county's eight districts attended the safety and instructional classes. A total of 111 individuals, 52 of them women, completed the session, according to David Soule of EMU, coordinator of the Michigan school bus driver education program.

MYF Sponsoring Harvest Ingathering For Methodist Home

In conjunction with Laymen's Sunday at the Methodist church Oct. 15, the Methodist Youth Fellowship will have its annual harvest ingathering for the Methodist Home.

The ingathering will take place at 10 a.m. worship service suggested contributions including jams, jellies, commercially packed foods and canned goods; also farm produce.

Amazing Hummingbirds Now Making Annual 2,000-Mile Migratory Flight to Central America

Ann Arbor — The ruby-throated hummingbird—the only hummingbird east of the great plains—is now making its 2,000-mile migratory flight to winter quarters in Central America, says Harrison B. Tordoff, University of Michigan associate professor of zoology.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Opportunity Comes Knocking

In the middle of harvest, Smiley Roberts' hired man... From where I sit, a man who undervalues himself is bound to lose out in a lot of ways. But even worse is the man who undervalues other people. Chances are he's the kind of man who thinks only his own ideas are worth something—the kind of man who respects no opinion but his own. If he prefers tea, he's likely to object to your choice of coffee—or my choice of a glass of beer. Intolerance like this is no way to reap the rewards of good friendship.

Gelman Instrument Markets Pocket-Size Radiation Meter

Gelman Instrument Company of Chelsea recently has introduced a low-cost Pocket Radiation Meter for the detection of radioactivity. This device may be carried in a vest or shirt pocket to keep handy for instant use.

Little larger than a pack of cigarettes, the Pocket Radiation Meter performs the same functions as large, expensive geiger counters. It is ideal for personal protection against fallout or industrial radiation, and it is expected to find wide application by atomic plant workers, radioisotope laboratory personnel, Civil Defense units, and civilians in target cities.

The Pocket Radiation Meter weighs less than 8 1/2 ounces and operates on power from ordinary penlight batteries or mercury cells. In normal use, the mercury cells would power the unit for more than a year. The meter is accurate at any temperature from minus 20 degrees to plus 140 degrees.

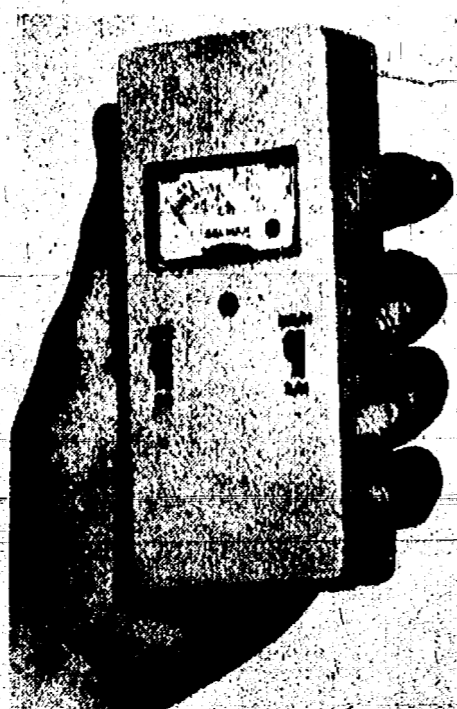

Three different models of the Pocket Radiation Meter are available, and each model covers two individual ranges of radiation levels.

A special Civil Defense model of the meter is ideal for use in home fallout shelters. Should outside communication be cut off during an atomic attack, the meter can be used to indicate whether or not the radiation outside the shelter has subsided to a safe level. The usefulness of the meter is not limited to the shelter, for it enables the survivor to identify and avoid areas in which radiation levels remain too high for safe entry. Consequently, the meter can reliably provide the most important single piece of information needed for survival after an atomic attack. It is also ideal for use by survey teams, military personnel, disaster crews, and for emergency surveys around nuclear reactors.

The standard range Pocket Radiation Meter is designed for the radiation levels of radiochemical laboratories, medical laboratories, radiation therapy equipment, decontamination operations, and medical laboratories.

The high range Pocket Radiation Meter is designed for use near any high strength radiation source like nuclear reactors or industrial radiography equipment.

All three models give instant readings of radiation concentration with the mere flick of a switch.

★ Film 'Ban' Fails

What effect has the "ban" by Governor Swainson had on the use of the films "Operation Abolition" and "Communism on the Map" within the state of Michigan? "None whatsoever, except to increase their use," says Donna Wilber of the Visuals Department of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "Since less than a year ago, our copies of 'Communism on the Map' have been shown 270 times to 25,000 people. One copy of 'Operation Abolition' has been shown 121 times to 20,000 people," Mrs. Wilber reports.

To see for ourselves let's check a portion of one month's schedule through a film's-eye view of "Operation Abolition," the picture showing student riots last year during the House Un-American Activities hearings in San Francisco.

By Greyhound bus, a jolting ride from my last showing in Silverwood, to my next booking in Bay City. Here I am shown to a Kiwanis Club... they said they were 'shocked at the seeming complete disregard by students for law and order.' Next morning, on my way to Coldwater where the Firemen's Association viewed me, saying 'We believe you should be shown to every child of high school or college age.'

"No rest for me... on the bus again, to Charlotte to be shown to employees of the 'Aluminum Extrusions Company.' They thought I should go before 'more young people to teach them how Communists can use a group to their own ends.' By noon we're in Kalamazoo where 100 Kiwanis Club members think I am 'very good' and an 'eye-opener.'

"Off to Howell, this time the Livingston Farm Bureau president shows me to a group, and then takes me over to Pinckney to another Kiwanis Club meeting. I and my companion for this date 'Communism on the Map' run into a little trouble here with a group of University of Michigan Students, and for a little while I thought my end had come. Not so...

I remain in one piece and leave on a long bus trip to the Blaine Christian church in Beulah where my spirits picked up when they said I was 'interesting, informative and educational.' "Back on the bus, to travel clear across the state to Port Huron where the publisher of the Times-Herald showed me to his staff.

This new group had seen my buddy 'Communism on the Map' a few weeks previous and although they thought I was good, they felt "C.O.M." was more effective."

This partial report for one copy of "Operation Abolition" could be duplicated by other copies in the state. Besides Farm Bureau, the films are generally available (without cost) through the American Legion and other patriotic organizations.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Feldkamp and family attended an open house Sunday afternoon for her nephew, Ronald Walter, of Waterloo who leaves Oct. 11 for active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps.

When To Advertise

Often-Asked Questions About Advertising

There is an old adage that says—"There are two good times to advertise—when business is good and when business is bad." There is a lot of good sense in this advice, contradictory as it may appear at first.

Advertising is a very misunderstood subject. Very few folks have taken the time to learn how advertising really works, and what it does. Too many retailers—and manufacturers—have the notion that it can be turned on and off at will and still produce good, useful results. It doesn't work this way.

The true value of advertising is in its cumulative effect. The consistency of your advertising is more important than the size of any one advertisement.

There are many firms who appear on the business scene with a big splurge of massive advertising, and then stop advertising, and soon they disappear from sight. This is certainly not the way to get real value for your advertising dollar.

I wish we all fully understand the many ramifications of advertising; how it motivates people; how it creates an image that works for you long after the customer has forgotten what it is that made him react.

They say that great fortunes are built during bad times. This could be true. We do know that the stores and the manufacturing plants that do a sensible, consistent advertising job year in and year out are those that always land on top when business gets good.

Another, and perhaps less spectacular, role of advertising is that of creating an image in the mind of your customers, actual and potential, of the types of merchandise you offer, the character of your store, etc. Properly used, an advertising program can, over a period of time, build up an image for your store or your product that will influence potential customers even when your advertisement is not in front of them.

The urge to trim operating expense when sales drop off is certainly understandable. But slashing your advertising budget can rob you of valuable sales help just at a time when you need it most. Cutting out advertising to save money is like stopping the clock in order to save time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Barth

Open House Reception Will Honor Frederick Barths on 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick George Barth, who have lived at their present home, 11640 Jerusalem Rd., since their marriage, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house reception there from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday. The reception is being given in their honor by their children.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Barth have been area residents all their lives and both are members of pioneer residents of the community.

Mrs. Barth's father, James Mullen, came to Lyndon township from New York state in 1846 at the age of two, his father, Owen Mullen, having taken up land from the U. S. Government for a farm at Sugar Loaf Lake.

Mrs. Barth's mother, Mary Brienbach, was a daughter of Martin and Catherine Brienbach, Ontario, Canada, and came to Unadilla with her parents in 1800. The family later moved to Lyndon township to what is now known as the Mike Dealy farm.

Mrs. Barth's parents, who were married May 11, 1874, had a family of 22 children, only three of them now living—Mrs. Barth, who is the former Anne Katherine Mullen, and James H. and John Mullen, now of Detroit.

Mrs. Barth's parents moved to Chelsea shortly after their marriage and her father was employed by the former Michigan Central Railroad.

Equally connected with the early life of the community was the family of Mr. Barth's father, Charles Barth, who was born at Hufenhart, Baden, Germany, and came to Lima township in about 1868, while his mother, the former Louise Alber, was born in Lyons, France, and came to Sylvan township approximately four years later.

They were married March 15, 1881, and made their home at 881 Fletcher Rd., where Frederick Barth was born. His brother, Arthur Barth, now owns the home-stand farm on Fletcher Rd. He also has three sisters, Mrs. S. C. Andrea (Mimie), of Big Silver Lake, Mrs. E. W. Schmidt (Louise) of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Rose Geigler of Otsego Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Barth, observing their golden wedding on Sunday, were married by the late Rev. Fr. William Considine, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, on Oct. 17, 1911. Their attendants, both

District President Addresses WSCS October Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church had as a special speaker at its Oct. 4 meeting, the district WSCS president, Mrs. Bruce Love of Howell.

Mrs. Love is the former Grace Riemenschneider, a member of the Methodist church here until her marriage. She is a daughter of Mrs. Ruth Riemenschneider, now of Detroit, and the late Wilbur Riemenschneider. Her brother, Richard, lived in Chelsea until he and his family moved recently to Ann Arbor.

In her talk here on the topic "Churches for New Times," Mrs. Love said, "The Church has a message of grace and peace and hope and love which never changes; but the ways in which it presents this message to the world must change to fit the times."

Continuing the thought, she said, "Since the Women's Society of Christian Service is a part of the Church, it too must change its approach to people. Societies which do not live up to the 'purpose' should make this their first change—The purpose of the WSCS shall be to unite all women of the church in Christian living and service."

"Until all of the women who are members of the Methodist Church are joined in serving and living as Christians," Mrs. Love concluded, "then the Women's Society is not ready to face the challenge of the 'new times' in which we live."

The afternoon program followed the group's birthday dinner at which special tables were decorated in keeping for each month and members sat at the tables which corresponded with their birthday.

The vice-president and program chairman, Mrs. David Soule, was in charge during the program period which opened with a devotional service presented by Mrs. Clare Warren.

With Mrs. James Gaunt at the piano the group sang the theme hymn "No Form of Human Framing."

The devotional reading by Mrs. Warren was taken from Reuben Youngdahl's book "Live Today," and was based on the section entitled "Hidden Power in Humility."

A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Loring Bates.

Willing Workers, Mission Circles Plan Joint Meeting

A combined meeting of the Mission Circle and the Willing Workers Circle of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church is scheduled to be held at the church hall Wednesday, Oct. 18, beginning with a pot-luck dinner at 6:15 p.m.

The Willing Workers Circle is the hostess group for the special meeting at which the program will include a guest speaker—a girl from India who is a student at the University of Michigan.

She will give her views of her home country as a means of comparison with a film and tape recording sent by Douglas Schneider, a member of St. Paul's church now in India as a missionary.

The tape recording gives Schneider's views of India as a newcomer to the country.

Mrs. M. L. Dietle, chairman of the hostess Circle, said she is hoping for 100 percent attendance of both groups.

Quigley gave a very interesting talk about the unique opportunity Catholic families have to meet many foreign students and to exchange with them many ideas of mutual interests thus promoting better world relations.

Also present for the meeting was the president of the Washtenaw County Deaconery, Mrs. Kenneth Heliker, who spoke briefly about the Cubans' flight to escape Communism by placing their children in American Catholic foster homes.

During the business session at the meeting, the new president, Miss Gertrude Young, presided.

The outgoing president, Mrs. George Merkel, was presented with a gift by Vice-President Mrs. Leon Chapman on behalf of the Altar Society.

Announcement was made that a silver tea is being sponsored by the Altar Society honoring the Sisters of St. Dominic at the convent here on Sunday, Oct. 15. Hours for the tea are 2-4 p.m.

KENNEDY WINS VICTORY

President Kennedy scored a victory as senators restored almost all House cuts in the foreign aid money bill. The Senate and House conferees will now try to compromise the $538,000,000 difference.

The aid funds are included in an over-all money bill of $4,416,001,000, carrying funds for various foreign assistance programs and related projects. One of the items is $40,000,000 asked by Kennedy for his Peace Corps.

The Senate restored all but $83,000,000 of the $596,000,000 slashed from the bill by the House.
