School Board Studying Merits Of Curriculum

School to M-92 Right-of-Way Plans Accepted

The Board of Education Wednesday evening took under study curriculum plan for Junior and senior high schools offered by High School Principal Charles Lane.

Lane suggested the following four-year plan, operational for the 1963-64 school year.

1. Typing, Home Economics, Shop and Art to be offered as elective courses in Junior High for one semester.

2. Junior High to operate on a four-day week with no formal study days.

3. Naming of a supervisor for the Junior High Library, possibly by person.

4. Making provision for a Remedial Reading and Improvement program in the 1962-63 curriculum.

After hearing and discussing the report the Board decided to study the plan further before arriving at a decision.

Robert and James Daniels, representing Chelsea Lumber Co., were present and offered a plan whereby the lumber company would exchange a fully-developed right-of-way from M-92 through their proposed housing project to the North Cemetery school for an undeveloped right-of-way from M-92 to the same school, owned by the school district. The plan also included a proposal by the lumber company to construct a "turn-around" near the school and asked for an easement through school property so that underground lines from the housing project could connect up with village lines at McKinley St.

The Board felt that this would be a benefit to the school district and would entail no cost to the taxpayer so voted unanimously to accept the plan.

It was emphasized that the easement to school property over right-of-ways would remain the same—only the routing would change.

Fox Hunt Is Planned Next Sunday

Next Sunday, Feb. 25, is the date for the annual Chelsea area fox hunt, according to an announcement by Max Hepburn, Chelsea Rod and Gun club president.

Co-sponsoring the event are Detroit Outdoorsman's club, Jackson County Outdoors club and Chelsea Rod and Gun club.

This is an organized hunt and rules state that no dogs are allowed.

Rules also state that rifles or slugs are not permitted.

Only permissible firearms are rifles with shot no larger than No. 2 size.

The hunt is open to all who wish to participate; there is no charge, the idea being "the more the merrier" and the greater chance for a successful and enjoyable day, Hepburn said.

He especially urges all Chelsea Rod and Gun club members to plan to take part since this is the one event of the year which affords an opportunity to become acquainted with the members of other sportsmen's clubs.

Hunters are to meet at 7 a.m. at Louie's Dairy Bar and Chelsea area men, particularly, should plan to be there at that time for instructions, Hepburn said.

Exact location of the hunt area has not yet been announced.

In past years it has taken place in Sharon township where area farmers continue to find evidence of the existence of numerous foxes.

Cub Scout Blue-Gold Dinner Attended by More Than 400

Cubmaster W. J. Grossman acted as master of ceremonies at the Cub Scout Blue and Gold dinner held at the Chelsea High school cafeteria Thursday evening.

Following the meal, which was attended by more than 400 persons, including Cub Scouts and their families and guests, leaders and den mothers, the Washtenaw Indian dancers presented a program of ceremonial dances in the school's auditorium. All were dressed in colorful costumes.

Guests who had been invited to attend the meeting in recognition of their co-operation in Cub Scout activities, included the Rev. and Mrs. Paul M. Schnake, the Rev. Fr. Francis Maliszewski, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Maroney, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. George Staffan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schunk, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lange and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sundling.

The Rev. Fr. Maliszewski gave the invocation and the Rev. Paul M. Schnake was in charge of the closing ceremony at the dinner and also led group singing.

Webers and Den II Cub Scouts opened the program with a flag ceremony.

Each place at the table was marked with a gift. The gifts had been donated by merchants and businessmen of the community.

Mrs. Alex Ersten was general chairman of the Blue and Gold dinner project.

In charge of decorations for the banquet were Sharon and Janice Pichea, Sandi and Denise Ersten and the den mothers.

Fred Sundling, District IV Scout Executive, was the principal speaker during the after-dinner program. Sundling also presented Richard Smith, District IV chairman, with his Scout registration card.

Announcement was made at the close of the program that the date for Cub Scout Pack Committee meetings has been set for the last Tuesday of each month, the first one on the new schedule to be held March 27.

Speaker at the meeting will be George Frisling.

In recognition of the library's 30th anniversary, five volunteers who were active in its founding Feb. 27, 1932, are being invited to attend the Friends of the Library meeting Monday evening.

The five are Mrs. P. G. Schauble, Sr., Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer, Mrs. Charles Meserve, Mrs. A. W. Wilkinson and Mrs. George Walworth.

The Chelsea library was founded by the then Child Study club, now known as the Woman's Club of Chelsea.

First location of the library was in the Palmer building at 110 East Middle St. When it opened, the library had 22 donated books and 100 loaned from the state library and was operated entirely by volunteers.

In 1933 the library was moved to quarters on the second floor of Chelsea State Bank; in 1938 one-half mill was voted for its support (later changed to one mill); in 1940 the library was moved to the first floor of the building now occupied by Grove's store; and when the Municipal Building was completed seven years later, the library was moved to the second floor of the building remaining there until June 29, 1959, when it was moved to its present permanent location, the former McKune family homestead on Main St., bequeathed to the library by the late Mrs. J. E. McKune.

Friends of the Chelsea Public Library, now called Friends of McKune Memorial Library held its first general meeting Oct. 3, 1959 with the late Henry C. Schneider acting as chairman and Mrs. George Walworth as clerk.

First officers, elected at a meeting held Nov. 5, 1949, were Mrs. R. A. McLaughlin, president; Mrs. R. W. Wagner, vice-president; and H. C. Schneider, secretary-treasurer.

In his talk Monday evening, Frisling is expected to review the many things already done for the library during the organization's 12 years of existence and stress what can be done by a group dedicated to being "friends" of the library.

Harold Jones, president of the Friends group, will preside at the meeting and the evening's program is in charge of Mrs. Frederick Belser and Mrs. Lowell Davidson.

All interested people of the community are invited to attend.

Operational Plan For Civil Defense Is Meeting Topic

A proposed plan of operation, in the advent that Chelsea should come under a national emergency, was discussed at a Civil Defense meeting held Wednesday evening in the Municipal Building.

A booklet telling how to set up such a plan was read at the meeting and then a discussion took place on how the plan could be placed on Chelsea.

It is expected that in the near future the proposed operational plan will be put down in writing and this will be submitted to the county director of Civil Defense.

After approval by the county director Chelsea will qualify for the placement of a medical-emergency center and a generator unit for a power-plant, it was stated.

Showing its faith in the administration of Robert Daniels, the Independent Party again selected him as their candidate for village president. He will be seeking his second term.

Other officers named by the Independent Party are: clerk, George Winans; treasurer, Wallace Wood; trustees for three-year terms on the library board, Mrs. Frederick Wagner and Dr. Parker Sharrard.

Hold-over members of the village council are Merle Barr, Dr. L. J. Paul and William Chandler. The terms of Donald Baldwin, Hapley Lixey and Steven Clark expire, Clark being the only outgoing trustee to seek re-election.

Mrs. Wagner and Dr. Sharrard were renominated candidates to the library board after their terms expired. Hold-over trustees are Mrs. Edwin Eaton, Mrs. Lee Ferguson, Mrs. David Soule and John Thomson.

Other incumbent officers of the Independent Party renominated as candidates are George Winans, clerk; Wallace Wood, treasurer; and Thomas Smith, assessor.

The Independent Party caucus was chaired by George Palmer. Members of his committee were William Freeman, Charles Winans and Harvey Lixey, George Winans was secretary.

The Peoples' Party committee, named at the 1961 election, consisted of Donald Alber, John Dettling and George Heylauff. Chairman of Monday evening's meeting was Anton Nielsen.

Observance of Washington's Birthday First Proposed by Congress in 1800

The nation's first President, and the General who won a war against Great Britain to make the colonies independent of that nation, is rightly remembered each February 22nd and honored as the Father of his country.

However, the proper observance of Washington's birthday anniversary did not come about overnight after his death. The colonies and the states were slow to recognize the magnitude of the contribution of George Washington. Not only had he won independence for the colonies, he had served as the first President, and he had set the precedent for a two-term limit for Chief Executives.

Moreover, he had established the foundation principles of American governments—one of them being staying out of the affairs of other nations. That policy was the wisest course for the young nation at that time and his doctrine allowed the country to grow and prosper during its early years.

After he died, on Dec. 14, 1799, the Congress—then meeting in Philadelphia—proposed that Feb. 22, 1800 be observed throughout the country with exercises in honor of the first President of the country.

Thereafter observances of Washington's birthday spread rapidly and, today observance of the anniversary of the birth of our first President, and military hero, is general throughout the nation.

Religious Intolerance Still Exists In Some South American Countries

A depressing and discouraging example of religious intolerance in the Americas was recently enacted in Colombia, one of the United States' allies in South America.

The Rev. Dr. Billy Graham, world-famous evangelist, was denied permission to speak in the city of Barranquilla, Colombia. The reason is that the Roman Catholic Church has an alliance with the state denying any other church freedom of speech and activity in Colombia.

The discouraging thing about this—and there are discouraging scenes of this kind in many Latin countries to the South—is that Protestant missionaries have been hounded, persecuted and killed in Colombia in recent years under the banner of the church-state alliance that exists there.

Roman Catholics in the United States do not like the looks of this, of course, but they cannot necessarily do much about it. All Americans, we believe, support the principle of free speech and free assembly. But for years the situation in Colombia has been scandalous and there is no such thing there as religious freedom or the freedom to speak and work in behalf of the church one believes in.

The world will have advanced a major step forward when religious tolerance and freedom of speech and assembly and worship are guaranteed in all the Christian countries. And U.S. Catholics and Protestants alike will rejoice when that day comes.

School enrollment in Michigan elementary and secondary systems this year rose about 50,000 more than the previous year, to 1,728,090, but the hike was not evenly distributed among grades. The Michigan Education Association reported high school enrollments are growing at a rate more than double that in the elementary schools as post-war population increases move through the secondary grades.

High school enrollment this year reached 1,000,000, for an increase of 4.8 percent over the 1960-61 totals, while a 2.2 percent gain in elementary schools brought the student numbers to 26 million.

The MEA research division said the current year brought the number of teachers in Michigan public schools to 66,000. This represents a gain of some 3,000 more than the 1960-61 total.

Teachers' salaries increased during the past year, according to statistics compiled by the MEA and the State Department of Public Instruction.

State Superintendent Lynn M. Bartlett reported the current year wages of all Michigan teachers gave them an average of $6,162, as compared to $5,898 a year ago.

The apparently high average for all Michigan teachers could be deceiving at first glance, Bartlett warned. One group of about 25,000 teachers in the state had average earnings of $4,372; another smaller group taken separately showed an average of $3,960, and one group of primary teachers received as little as $2,700.

A booklet on services recently published by the commission, however, gives the specific information needed by the senior citizen or relatives and friends who may be trying to help.

It includes information about using free time, seeking employment, getting medical care, money and suitable housing.

In addition to general information on services available throughout the state, the commission booklet gives a county-by-county breakdown on the location of agencies such as the department of social welfare, bureau of social aid, social security, Michigan employment security commission and county and district health departments.

Senior citizens, of age 65 and older, have come to the attention of government agencies and the public increasingly in recent years.

Some years ago, under the administration of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, a Michigan Commission on Aging was created to encourage activities and services to meet the needs of the state's senior citizens.

Now, for the first time, the commission has prepared its first direct contact with the generation of citizens it was created to help.

"Most of the work of the commission deals with the people who are serving our senior citizens, rather than with the senior citizens themselves," said Manfred Lilliefors, director of the commission.

MSU Research Tries To Find Hardy Seeds For Michigan Growing

East Lansing—The best types of Scotch, pine, Christmas trees actually had their origins in Southern France, Spain, Turkey and Greece, according to a Michigan State University forestry specialist.

Michigan growers still rely on imported seed, according to John Wright, MSU forester. However, domestic seed orchards are being established, and will provide quality seed within a few years.

Research is also in progress to find a source of Douglas fir seed that will grow trees which survive well in Michigan. The Douglas fir is a top-quality Christmas tree as well as a source of high-grade lumber, but strains of the tree now grown in Michigan suffer from late spring frost.

Wright is testing seed from 12 locations in western states to learn which will have the best survival rate for Michigan.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Starts Feb. 23
Chelsea Girl Scouts and Brownies, in common with Girl Scout organizations throughout the country, begin their annual cookie sale tomorrow, Feb. 23.
The sale is to be conducted in the usual manner—the girls will take orders for the two weeks beginning Feb. 23 and ending March 10, with delivery scheduled after April 13.
The cookies are being provided by a different company this year—the Berry Co.—and four kinds, instead of three, will be available.
Mrs. R. E. Sharrard, Chelsea Neighborhood cookie sale chairman, said orders will be taken for sandwich cookies, Scotchies, mint and Savannahs. The latter are a peanut butter sandwich cookie. She said cost of the cookies to the Girl Scouts is 22 1/2 cents per box.
Troops retain five cents of the receipts for each package they sell and 1 1/2 cents is reserved for national and international Girl Scout events. The remaining 11 cents, less sales tax, goes to the fund for the over-all camping program—camp sites, maintenance, campships, etc.
Cookie chairman for the 11 Girl Scout and Brownie troops of the Chelsea Neighborhood are as follows: Mrs. Wilber Worden, Troops 48 and 9; Mrs. Glen Clark, Troop 48; Mrs. Bruce Graham, Troop 148; Mrs. Robert Eisele, Troop 408; Mrs. Earl Tison, Troop 50; Mrs. Carl Reynolds, Troop 51.
The list continues with Mrs. George West, Troop 52; Mrs. Dale Bailey, Troop 58; Mrs. Andy Balckwell, Troop 606; and Mrs. Calvin McNutt, Troop 625.
Girl Scouts and Brownies are told by their leaders to solicit orders only from their relatives and people with whom they are acquainted, unless accompanied by an adult.
Ingrid Bergman bought a small place in a little French village seeking peace and quiet. Only recently a French syndicate bought the adjoining 180 acres for a country club.

Taking Applications for Highway Department's Work-Study Program
Lansing—Applications will be taken through Feb. 28 for the Michigan State Highway Department's three-year work-study student technician program, the State Highway Department has announced.
State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said applications must be received by the Civil Service Commission at Lansing by 5 p.m., Feb. 28.
Applications may be obtained from offices of county clerks (except in Wayne county), the Michigan Employment Security Commission or the Michigan Civil Service Commission.
Civil Service tests will be held early this spring to select 50 students to participate in the three-year program, which includes both on-the-job training and classroom study.
Students will work on various highway department jobs such as drafting, design and survey for a period of six months at a salary ranging from $159 to $184 every two weeks. Students will then attend either Ferris Institute at Big Rapids or Lansing Community College for the next six months.
Students selected for this year's program will begin on-the-job training at construction sites and at Lansing highway department offices in July to make full use of the summer construction season. Class work will start next December.
Any high school graduate under 21, including those who graduate this June, is eligible to take the examination.
Graduates of the work-study program will earn an associate degree in Civil Technology.
Mackie said the program, which was started in 1957, proved so successful that in 1960 it was expanded from 25 to 50 new students per year and extended to include class work at Ferris Institute.
Thirty-seven graduates of the program are now working full-time for the highway department as surveyors, inspectors and draftsmen.

"We Honor Credit Cards from HILTON - DINERS' CLUB - AMERICAN EXPRESS - MOBIL OIL CO. - Also Cash."

We were third in sales in '61. Third!

It's nice to be loved.

Like we've said: "When people like a car they show it." All you have to do is put together a car that's sharper looking, smoother running and a bigger value. That's why Pontiac and Tempest stormed into third place. Why don't you see your Pontiac dealer (a very happy man these days) and go with a winner?

Offered in both convertible and hardtop models, the 500XL features Thunderbird-type bucket seats and console as well as custom designed interior appointments. Unlike conventional cars, the control lever for either the 4-speed manual or 3-speed automatic transmissions are mounted on the console where they provide the driver with the greatest ease of operation. Available with a complete range of performance options, including Ford's new 406-cubic-inch engine, the new models will go on sale in Ford dealerships early in April.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

By John B. Swainson

True understanding of my program of tax reform presented recently to the legislature becomes submerged in the noise created by those willing to ignore the state's needs for the sake of political gain.

Because such misunderstanding exists, I wish to devote my column this week to the major changes in my suggested tax changes that Michigan must be less dependent on consumption taxes and more dependent on earning power, or the ability to pay.

Most important to note is this: My tax reform program is not just another tax. It is a series of changes that can bring fairness into Michigan taxation, not addition or subtraction of one or another tax.

First of all, my program calls for taking the sales and use taxes off food and drugs. It is my belief that the basic necessities of life—food and drugs—should not be included among those items taxed for state revenue.

If we take the tax off food and drugs we offer necessary relief for those with low incomes, the unemployed workers, the family on relief, the breadwinner who is sick, the pensioner, the widow and her children and the young family with average income. They will be freed from an unfair tax on the food they buy at the grocery store and on prescription drugs when they can least afford unnecessary draining of their meager resources.

Removal of this tax on food and drugs would save consumers $95 million a year in taxes now paid on purchases they make almost daily.

The 3 percent tax on corporate and personal income—plus a supplemental 1/2 percent for local communities—are predicated on ability to pay and allow the same exemptions as the federal income tax.

Local property taxes have, in many instances, gone beyond the homeowner's ability to pay. Property taxes are always there to be paid, whether the homeowner is employed or unemployed—whether he is sick or retired.

It is beyond question that Michigan must remove the unfairness that has crept into our tax structure.

"Striking a child in a fit of anger is an unpardonable sin," say the authors. "The parent must be able to divorce his personal feelings from the situation. Too often children receive harsh punishment because the adult's ego has been deflated or the adult considers the offense a deliberate attempt to humiliate him."

"If punishment is necessary, it should follow the offense as soon as possible and be related to the crime. For a child who can reason, the suspense and agony of the 'waiting' oftentimes are more painful than the actual punishment."

"In any case, wise parents or counselors might well follow the recommendation of the old Indian who said, 'Never criticize a human being until you have walked in his moccasins for two weeks.'"

A REAL GHOST STORY
Nottingham, England—A local vicar has reported that he has been called in to comfort women who claim they have seen a ghost move through their homes.

The women all claim to have seen the same ghost. They describe it as a ghost with long black pig-tails.

Women and children are the only ones who have seen the strange figure, which goes around moving things on tables and in cupboards and, on occasion, has been seen tickling babies in their cribs.

When the new series of Expectant Parents' classes begins in room 1 in the basement of the County Building Thursday nights, those present will hear Mrs. Rachel Schottin, public health nurse, discuss how the baby grows before birth. Mrs. Schottin's discussion will be designed to provide an overview of the entire program of Expectant Parents' classes as well as to help the parents to develop an understanding of how their baby grows before birth.

Included in Mrs. Schottin's discussion will be a film titled "Human Reproduction" which will show the growth and development of the baby before birth and will also show diagrammatically how labor takes place. Mrs. Schottin will also discuss the anatomy and the physiology of pregnancy and then will open the class to discussion and questions from the group assembled.

This new series of classes will meet each Thursday night in the County Building for the next seven weeks. The first meeting is scheduled for Feb. 22.

Registration may be accomplished at the class meeting and the registration will be open at 7 p.m. to allow ample time for registration before the class begins at 7:30 p.m. The registration fee for the entire series is $2.50 per couple. This includes seven classes. A special class is held for the fathers only. In addition a tour of the maternity wards of the hospital in which the mother expects to deliver is planned.

Principal speaker at the banquet was the Rt. Rev. William Gordon, Episcopal Bishop of Alaska, whose presence was of special interest because the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan has a companion relationship with the missionary district of Alaska.

Thursday evening, at a family night covered-dish supper at St. Barnabas' church here, the vicar, the Rev. John R. Smucker, announced the names of appointees to the church's Bishop's Committee, governing body of the church.

Stuart R. Booker heads the committee as chairman. Other members of the Bishop's Committee are Fred Anderson, Chester Bowling, E. W. Eaton, Edward Lauson, Jeremiah MacDougall, George McKeighan, Mrs. Louis Ramp, Robert K. Taylor and Harold Waller.

Michigan Tops Nation In Interstate Highway Work

Lansing—For the second consecutive year, Michigan has led the nation in the construction of interstate freeways, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads (BPR) reports.

The BPR's final tabulation of interstate projects in 49 states and the District of Columbia, showed Michigan awarded contracts for construction of 182 miles of interstate freeway during 1961.

Idaho was second with 113 miles—including some two-lane freeways—while Texas ranked third with 107 miles. All states, with the exception of Alaska, have interstate highways.

The BPR report also showed Michigan ranked third in the nation behind California and New York in the total dollar volume of all highway construction projects placed under contract in 1961.

California awarded contracts totaling $344 million followed by New York, $338.2 million and Michigan, $212.9 million.

The report said all 50 states and the District of Columbia awarded contracts totaling nearly $3.9 billion during the year for construction and modernization of all types of state and federal highways.

In 1960, Michigan was first in interstate construction with 126 miles placed under contract, while Texas was second with 124 miles.

ENGLISH TEACHER—

Mr. James LaGoe went to school in Marion, Mich. His first five years of teaching were spent at Chelsea High-school. Mr. LaGoe teaches college preparatory English to juniors and seniors. When Mr. LaGoe was asked what he thought of CHS he replied that it was an enjoyable place to teach. He liked the faculty and student body very much. Mr. LaGoe has been active in class projects. He is the advisor of the Annual Staff and of the senior class. Last year he helped the juniors with the Christmas card and magazine sale.

Mr. LaGoe said that there was one thing he disliked about Chelsea and which probably won't be changed in the future. This is, "Chelsea lacks a good trout stream."

RUSSIAN CLASS AND CLUB—Mr. Bussler's Russian class has just finished the possessive phrases. At the present time, the class is busy with the accusative of masculine nouns, both animate and inanimate, impersonal expressions, infinitives, the past tense, and the relative with adverbs of quantity. In the future the class will study the future tense concerned with the compound, and the imperative.

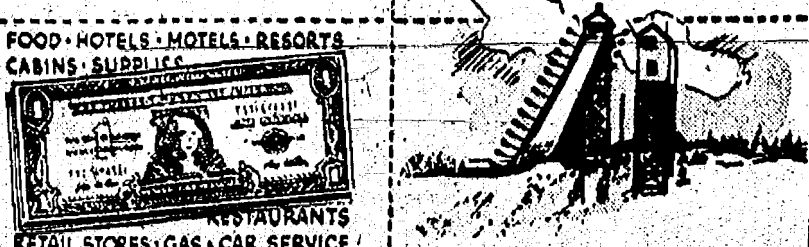

The Russian club was suggested by Mr. Bussler so that the students taking Russian might learn about the Russian people and how they live under communist rule.

FTA

At the meeting held Feb. 15, the FTA called roll and asked the members to answer with their study-habits so that we could determine when they could student teach. The FTA was invited to a teacher's meeting after school where they will offer their services to help the teachers in Chelsea during their study halls. An MEA speaker will come to explain what the MEA tries to help the teachers.

A chart will be put in the hall to tell what study halls the various members have and when they may help teachers. The club next talked of movies that they hope to obtain for the club to enjoy. Better club participation was discussed and the club voted to have a joint meeting with the Saline FTA. A movie will be shown and refreshments will follow.

The discussion went on to requirements of club members. FTA members must have a B- average in order to remain in membership of the club. Mr. Sanborn has been busy getting assignments for the student teacher's program. Most of the members now have received teaching assignments in the grade and high schools. For those who don't have positions Mr. Sanborn

Along with the Dramatics club which she originated this year, she likes to read, paint and work with wood, such as arranging different sizes of wood into a shape and making lamps, etc.

One thing that she would like to see at Chelsea High is for the students to have a more creative opportunity to express themselves.

SOPHOMORE ENGLISH—

The sophomore English classes are working on journals. The non-fiction unit in the sophomore literature book is divided into three different sections. The students are required to read the non-fiction selections and then either write an essay or write out questions. The first section of the journal included an essay on non-fiction in general, 15 paragraphs telling about the traits of the men mentioned in the selections and an essay on both the style and themes of the unit.

When the sophomores finish working on their book reviews, they will begin working on their next one which will be oral.

ART III—

Mr. Hummel's Art III class is the smallest class at Chelsea High. It is made up of five members: Diana Miller, Ava MacDougall, Jane Foster, Kay Swanson and Kurt Hovis.

This art class just began this school year and is starting off to be a big success. The students are in classes with Art I and II students.

At the beginning of the year Mr. Hummel gave each student a list of six projects for the whole year. The six projects were: family of ceramics, sculpture, textile design, enamel, print, and oil painting.

Three of the students made a tile table, while others worked on pottery and sculpture. These five students are left on their own to think and try new ideas, and also to help each other. When they finish one project they go on to whatever they feel like working on.

FRENCH, ENGLISH TEACHER—

Mrs. Eckstrom came from Saginaw to teach at Chelsea High. Before she came here she taught at St. Johns, Mich. for a while.

Here is the way Mrs. Eckstrom feels about Chelsea students and Chelsea: "Meeting Chelsea students and some of their parents has made a very refreshing year. The earnest desire to learn on the part of numerous students has been the special quality which, for me, makes teaching a rewarding and encouraging experience." She also said she really hopes to become much better acquainted with Chelsea in the years to come.

Mrs. Eckstrom teaches French I and II, and English I. She is also the sponsor of the French club, and Journalism club.

The students of CHS welcome one of our newest additions, and hopes she stays with us for a long time.

SENIOR CLASS—

At the Feb. 16 meeting during fifth hour, the seniors were informed of the trip committee's decision to take our trip with Seniorama. The class voted to go to the Copa instead of a Broadway play.

Chaperons for the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. Hayden. With extra points that have been earned the class will take Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The remainder of the extra points are going to be distributed, accordingly, to three new students.

adjoining teeth tend to "drift" into the vacant space and there may be an eventual shifting of all the teeth, said Wertheimer.

Health department officials are strong advocates of fluoridated water. "Children drinking fluoridated water have a tremendous advantage over those who do not have this benefit," said Wertheimer. "The fluoride in the water offers built-in protection against tooth decay and has been proved to reduce tooth decay as much as 65 percent."

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.

CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car, spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.

CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvair Monza's for you.

Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence. But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless. So size 'em up—then save it up—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

AGRICULTURAL ENTREPRENEURS MEET

Agricultural Entrepreneurs Farm Bureau met Thursday, Feb. 15, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Trinkle with 37 people present.

The group decided to pay the membership fee to the Washtenaw County Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Charles Trinkle gave the minutes report on con-con and the milk bill, urging everyone to write to their senators to voice their opinion.

It was decided to omit sending notice cards prior to each meeting as notices are in all the local papers the week before the meeting; this will be on a trial basis.

It was also decided that the host each month would furnish the prizes for the entertainment, not to exceed $2.00.

Raymond Schairer led the discussion on "Teaching Our American Heritage in Schools."

LaRoy Rutherford, Farm Bureau Insurance agent, presented to the group a handsome 50-star American flag for display during the meetings. He also gave an informative talk on Farm Bureau Insurance; he stated that Farm Bureau has every kind of insurance a farm family might need. He also stated that Washtenaw county last year was paid a total of $3,000 in claims. A question and answer period followed his talk and everyone felt that they knew more about what to expect from their Farm Bureau insurance in the future.

The next meeting will be held March 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bradbury.

EMPTY PISTOL WORKED

St. Petersburg, Fla. — A young expectant housewife surprised a burglar in her home and held him at bay with an empty pistol until police arrived.

Mrs. Sandra Cutts arrived at home and found the burglar in her kitchen. She grabbed the pistol and chased him out of the back door, down the alley and out onto the street. She said she was so mad that she forgot the pistol did not contain bullets.

Police found several items of jewelry stuffed into the intruder's shirt.

Jaycees Plan March Stage Production

Several members of the Chelsea Junior Chamber of Commerce attended the winter board of directors meeting held in Saginaw, Feb. 9 and 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maroney and Mr. and Mrs. George Winchester Jr., went to Saginaw Friday and were joined Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Akin, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Salonen, Duane Layher, and Bill Lake.

President Dan Maroney reported that he "is proud to announce the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce has acclaimed the Civil Defense Home Disaster Kit Project carried out by the Chelsea Jaycees as a huge success." Chelsea was recognized as one of few chapters in the nation to provide this valuable information to every home in the community.

President Maroney also stated that final arrangements are being made for the stage play "The Money Sucker" which will take place in March.

It was also reported that four Chelsea couples attended the JCC District IV dance held Saturday evening, Feb. 17, at Milan—Mr. and Mrs. George Winchester, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maroney, Mr. and Mrs. Moyle Leach and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steinbach.

ELECTROCUTED IN TUB

Chicago, Ill. — Two small children, a 3-year-old girl and her baby brother, were electrocuted in the bath-tub when their older sister accidentally dropped an operating radio into the tub in which they were bathing.

The parents of the children, Gregory and Mary Ann Schuler, rushed to the bathroom when they heard the screams of their oldest daughter.

Mrs. Schuler told police she had been bathing the children but had stepped from the bathroom for a minute.

VARSITY FENCER—One of Michigan State's most improved varsity fencers this winter is Ron Papadopoulos of Chelsea, who competes for the Spartans in epee division. The 20-year-old junior, shown here with Coach Charlie Schmitter, appeared in only four bouts last year, but has been a regular in State's five dual meets to date this season. Papadopoulos' best effort was at a recent quadrangular meet at Champaign, Ill., when he won two of three matches from both Chicago and Iowa State opponents. His cumulative record for the year is 5-9. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Papadopoulos. He graduated from Chelsea High school and is now majoring in fisheries and wildlife at MSU.

Con-Con President Stirs Hall with Inspiring Speech

By Roscoe O. Bonisteel
33rd Senatorial District Delegate
Michigan

Constitutional Convention
One of the better speeches of this Convention was presented this week by President Stephen Nisbet, whose informal remarks won sustained applause from the delegates, press and spectators in Constitution Hall.

President Nisbet said: "I know that I am an optimist and an enthusiast. I believe that I am usually hopeful and confident as to the results of projects in which I find myself participating."

"Today, I must admit, however, that for the last two weeks I had become less certain and somewhat apprehensive as to the result of our Convention. Somehow I had the feeling that we were losing some of our dedication to the high task before us; that we had become a little too personal in our thinking and discussion; that we were failing to keep the high objectives of our work."

"But Friday, as we closed a busy and difficult week, I sensed a new spirit emerging, a more constructive outlook and a willingness to depart from old concepts and go into new imaginations and higher objectives. I hope I was right and I hope you as delegates felt that way, too."

Nisbet said that three things had happened to him as a delegate since the Convention began: "I knew the problems that needed to be solved. They were the problems of my City of Fremont and my County of Newagen... But I soon learned that other communities had their problems and maybe to a greater degree than mine... We think bigger than we did four months ago."

"Second, I would vote for what the people of my district wanted. But today... I am not so sure that I can or should serve their interests alone. What was it that made the Madisons and the Hamiltons, the Clays and the Calhouns, the Websters and the Adams, the Jacksons and the Marshalls. It was not that they were serving Virginia or New York, or Kentucky or Carolina, or Massachusetts, or Tennessee. It was because they were representing their people not for themselves alone, but to build a better and stronger United States."

"Third, I came to this Convention to write a Constitution that would include Michigan and that would be acceptable to all Michigan citizens and on which we could get a favorable vote. Friday, I began to wonder. Maybe, I thought, our duty is to write a document that is best for our people; that we definitely put principles of good government ahead of appeasement; that we put the right above the acceptable; that we put the long range good above the immediate advantages, so that even if the people of our state are not ready to accept this, it will set the standard for future progress."

And then he continued, "We must find the answer of what is best for Michigan, not for the Democrats or the Republicans, not for Fremont or Detroit, not for education, labor, industry or agriculture—but what is best for our nearly eight million Michigan citizens."

Nisbet asked the delegates and others in the hall to join him in prayer... "give us wisdom to see our duty, give us knowledge to perform our tasks; give us confidence to think constructively... We have come near to the end of our own strength. From here on we need and ask for Thy guiding hand so that our duty and obligation will be adequately filled for our great State of Michigan."

He concluded his stirring remarks with: "Ladies and Gentlemen of this Constitutional Convention, I urge, as Lincoln said, 'Let us take increased devotion' to this task before us."

"The job can be done and we can do it if we only keep our mind and our effort on our real obligation—the welfare of Michigan and all its citizens."

There is nothing more I can add to Nisbet's words.

CHS Musicians Rate High In Solo, Ensemble Festival

Chelsea High school had its share of honors at the annual Solo and Ensemble Instrumental Music Festival held Saturday at Eastern Michigan University.

A first division or "superior" rating went to the French horn and flute duet of Wendy Gilbert and Jean Pajot playing Handel's "Where'er You Walk." As a result of this rating the duet will compete in the state solo and Ensemble Festival at Mt. Pleasant.

Second division ratings went to three Chelsea High band groups, the brass octet, clarinet duet and saxophone duet. The octet, composed of Gordon Beeman, Eric Knisely, Barry Visel, Wendy Gilbert, Linda Blaess, David Friessinger, Dick Lauhon and Jae Kuzenski, played "Overture for Brass" by Frank. The clarinet duet, composed of Kinyon Gorton and Marianne Edwards, and the saxophone duet, composed of Laurie Reddman and Nancy Koenigter, both played "Minuet in G" by Beethoven.

A third division rating went to the flute duet composed of Sandra Johnson and Carolyn Wilkerson playing "Musette," anonymous. David Lindsay, band instructor, reported that he was "very pleased" with the attitude and conduct of the young Chelsea musicians at the festival.

More than 3,000 musicians from schools in Washtenaw, Monroe and Wayne counties competed.

Irish Hills Summer Theatre Will Produce Five Plays

The Irish Hills Playhouse, a new professional summer theatre, will open June 15, it was announced today. The theatre will occupy the building (at US-12 and Lane Rd., 1/4 mile west of Lane State Park) which was recently the home of the Irish Hills Super Market.

The season of five plays will be produced by Larry and Dorothy Burns formerly with Associated with educational and community theatre in Louisiana and an Antonio. Mrs. Burns will bring broad experience to costuming.

The theatre will be an intimate 100-seat arena style playhouse situated on a novel seating arrangement on opposite sides of a centrally located stage. This arrangement is expected to combine the advantages of proscenium and arena theatre.

The producers have been in negotiations since April with several people of wide experience in the New York theatre and professional theatre outside New York and expect to announce shortly the completion of contracts for director and technical director.

As is traditional in summer stock, the acting company will be drawn from the professional theatre and drama schools. They will live, work and eat together, joining for rehearsals, set construction, costuming, lighting, and all aspects of theatre production. An apprentice program for training young and talented people in the theatre arts is planned and the theatre will offer some scholarships for particularly promising apprentices.

The season opens with Forenc Molnar's romantic comedy, "The Play's the Thing" in an adaptation by P. G. Wodehouse. Other plays are presently being scheduled and will be announced later.

Taxpayers Urged To Check Closely All Tax Returns

R. I. Nixon, District Director of Internal Revenue, issued an announcement today urging all taxpayers to check and double-check their 1961 returns carefully, before sending them in.

The director stated that many incomplete and imperfect returns have been filed. The four most common errors being: Failure to sign the returns; failure to attach W-2 withholding statements; mistakes in arithmetic; and incomplete exemption information.

The Internal Revenue Service is concerned about these errors, which not only entails a great deal of work to correct, but in many cases delays the issuance of refund checks.

Director Nixon stressed that taxpayers could save the Internal Revenue Service and themselves trouble by taking time to go over the facts and figures on their returns before mailing.

Minimum Tillage Field Day Set In Lenawee County

Southern Michigan farmers will have an excellent chance this spring to see just what minimum tillage can do. A minimum tillage field day will be held at the Oliver and Robert Mueller farm near Britton in Lenawee county, May 10.

Plans call for plowing, fitting, planting, fertilizing and applying weed-control chemicals to 40 acres of corn in one day. A wide variety of machines will be in operation. These will be combined with demonstrations of new practices.

Machinery and tillage-practice demonstrations will be interspersed with information and research reports on minimum tillage. Three Michigan State University departments serving the Cooperative Extension Service will sponsor the event," reports Robert White, MSU agricultural engineer who heads planning for the day.

Agrological engineering, farm groups and soil science departments are co-sponsors.

Seed, chemical and machinery firms will help conduct the demonstration event in Michigan's leading corn-growing county.

Automotive Program Gaining in Popularity Throughout Michigan

The 4-H automotive program, growing steadily in Michigan, has a total of 32 counties report enrollment in this relatively new project, says Bob McCrory, county extension agent, 4-H.

"The project seeks to develop correct driving attitudes among teenagers," McCrory points out. "That's very important because teenagers make up only 7 percent of the total driving force, yet they account for 12 percent of a highway mishaps."

At club meetings, members study the automobile and how it works. They also participate in contest activities as skill driving, costume contests, runs and hazard hunts.

Many local people serve as volunteer drivers.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. sponsors the program, 4-H clubs, leader-training funds, and special awards for outstanding members.

For full details on how to organize an automotive club, contact the county extension office at 11 County Building, Ann Arbor. Phone number is Normand 3-7611, extension 227.
