Atom Expert Discusses CD With Kiwanis

Ben Colmary, formerly active in the atomic testing projects in Nevada and now head of the nuclear division at Bendix Corp., was the speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday evening in the Methodist church social center. He was introduced by the evening's program chairman, Dr. E. Sharrard.

An Annapolis graduate he took graduate work in science at the State University and at UCLA in California.

His talk here centered on the effects of atomic weapons and the need for civil defense preparedness.

Colmary is now affiliated with the civil defense program in a consultant capacity.

Guests from the Greater Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club for an inter-club visit here Monday were Norman Wenk, Ken McDonald, Bailey Colmar and Gary F. Hawks.

Also present was Howard Peaslee of Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club. Coming events announced Monday included the second program of the Kiwanis-sponsored travel adventure series at the Chelsea high school auditorium Saturday, March 17.

It was also announced that Monday, March 19, Kiwanians will celebrate the club's 38th birthday with a ladies' night dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. and that the March meeting will be held at the Methodist home.

Lion Cagers Will Appear in Game Here

Football and basketball fans will find a double treat in store for them Tuesday, March 27, when the Detroit Lions basketball team will come to Chelsea for a game with an all-star area team.

Football fans who watched the Detroit Lions on TV last fall will be delighted to know that such stars as Alex Karras, Gail Burdette, and others will appear.

The game, sponsored by the Boosters club, is for the benefit of Chelsea school bands. Tickets are available at Foster's, Wear, Anderson's, Merkel Hardware, Chelsea Drug and at the door. The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High gym.

All of their games this season the Lion all-star team has played before capacity crowds so all those who expect to attend the game are urged to reserve their seats as soon as possible.

Pitted against the Lion team will be a squad made up mostly of area coaches. Musical entertainment will be furnished by the senior high band before the game and also at halftime.

New Standard Service Station Opens for Business

A new Standard service station is due to open this week-end near the intersection of South Main St. and Old US-12. The new proprietor is Raymond Gimney.

Gimney formerly worked for Sears & Roebuck in Ann Arbor where he was employed for 14 years in the plumbing and heating sales division.

The new proprietor is married and has a son, Raymond, living in California, and a daughter, Mrs. James Bradbury, of Crooked Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Gimney live at Sugar Loaf Lake.

Gimney plans to open for business this week-end and a grand opening is planned later on.

St. Mary's Seeks Funds For Building

Solicitors working under the leadership of Donald Alber and John Keusch are completing a two-week project during which every member of St. Mary's parish will be visited.

Purpose of the every-member visitation is to secure voluntary pledges of parishioners in a fund-raising campaign to accumulate within the next three years a minimum of $200,000 toward the construction of a new church.

The former church, built in 1869, was used by the parish continuously until it was torn down two years ago after the state fire marshals' office condemned the building as unsafe. Services are being held in St. Mary's school hall until a new church can be built.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Maliszewski, who is serving St. Mary's church as parish priest, said plans for construction of a new church hinge on the result of the present canvass; amounts pledged and the length of time needed to complete full payment of the pledges will be the governing factor in any decision on when construction of a new church may be expected to begin.

Alber and Keusch are serving as co-chairmen of the fund-raising campaign at the request of the Rev. Fr. Maliszewski.

The latter explained that the plan to raise a minimum of $200,000 before construction of a new church is undertaken is deemed advisable in order that the parish need not face the prospect of great indebtedness for costs of construction.

Many comments following the program referred to the fine behavior of the girls—their co-operation in carrying out their assigned parts in the program—their reverent attitude as they stood at attention and joined in giving the Pledge of Allegiance.

A singing chorus, directed by Ruth Dorothy Byrd, and a speaking chorus under the direction of Mary Hope Sawyer, carried out the program theme, "Honor the Past; Serve the Future," and also explained the purposes and aims of the entire Girl Scout program.

Approximately 100 troop and Girl Scout Neighborhood flags were carried by representatives of the troops who marched in and formed an avenue of flags through which the American flag was borne to its place in the center of the platform at the front of the gymnasium.

Decorations on the platform included two bouquets of yellow roses which the Chelsea Methodist church shared with the Girl Scout Anniversary program—yellow

Extension Agent Plans Family Vacation Lesson

"Family Vacations in Michigan" is the topic of the open meeting planned for March 15 and March 29 at 7:30 p.m. in room 1 and 2 of the county building in Ann Arbor, by Extension Agent Mrs. Alice Apple. The public is invited.

This meeting has been planned to interest families; all are welcome.

AVENUE OF FLAGS—An impressive sight at Sunday's Golden Anniversary celebration of District III, Huron Valley Girl Scout Council in observance of the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in America. Girl Scouts in their green uniforms and Brownies in brown uniforms formed solid blocks of color as they stood at attention during the presentation of colors by Troop 104 of Ann Arbor's Eberwhite Neighborhood. The banner bearers made their way to the platform through an "avenue of flags"—approximately 100 troop and neighborhood flags. The colorful flags had been made by members of the individual troops in preparation for the 50th anniversary celebration here. The photo gives an over-all view of the 3,500 persons who attended the celebration including more than 1,000 Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Girl Scouts, Brownies Gather For Anniversary Celebration

An estimated 3,500 people, including more than 1,000 Girl Scouts and Brownies, attended the District III Girl Scout Anniversary celebration held Sunday in the gymnasium at Chelsea High school.

District III, which includes Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Dixboro, Dexter and Saline, accounts for a registration of 1,660 girls of the total of 7,000 Girl Scouts and Brownies in the Huron Valley Council.

Hostess groups for the anniversary celebration here were the Dexter and Chelsea Girl Scout Neighborhood organizations of which Mrs. Richard Detling and Mrs. Wilber Worden, respectively, are chairmen.

Months of preparation for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in America paid off handsomely Sunday when the hundreds of Brownies and Girl Scouts in mass formation, under the capable direction of their leaders, carried out a varied program to perfection.

Many comments following the program referred to the fine behavior of the girls—their co-operation in carrying out their assigned parts in the program—their reverent attitude as they stood at attention and joined in giving the Pledge of Allegiance.

A singing chorus, directed by Ruth Dorothy Byrd, and a speaking chorus under the direction of Mary Hope Sawyer, carried out the program theme, "Honor the Past; Serve the Future," and also explained the purposes and aims of the entire Girl Scout program.

Dairy Dinner Set March 17 In Dexter

The seventh annual Washtenaw county Dairy Banquet will be held Saturday, March 17th at the Dexter High School at 7:30 p.m. This annual event is held to honor Washtenaw County's outstanding dairymen.

Certificates of merit will be awarded to farmers who qualify for five-year production averages of over 400 pounds of butterfat. Recognition will also be given to those who produce over 400 pounds of butterfat on a one-year average, as well as owners of cows which have a lifetime production of more than 100,000 pounds of milk.

The 1962 Dairy Princess will be presented at the banquet. She will be crowned by Miss Katherine Gail of Saline, 1961 Dairy Princess. The Dairy Princess contest is open to all unmarried girls between the ages of 16 and 25 with a dairy farm background. Girls eligible and wanting to enter the contest must have their applications into the County Extension office by March 15.

Also listed among the reasons for reinstatement is the fact that penalties for future violations of all training rules have been lessened.

The announcement is concluded with the statement, "For these reasons the suspension has been lifted and the coaches and administrators believe these athletes warrant the opportunity to participate in the spring sports."

The candidates and the number of votes cast for each is as follows: Robert Daniels, president, 146; George Winans, clerk, 144; Wallace Wood, treasurer, 142; Stephen Clark, trustee, 139; J. V. Burg, II, trustee, 139.

The list continues with Thomas Smith, assessor, 144; Katherine Wagner, library board trustee, 146; and Dr. P. E. Sharrard, library board trustee, 147.

The entire slate of candidates on the Independent Party ticket was unopposed. All were incumbents with the exception of J. V. Burg, II, and Howard Hasel, schwardt, trustee.

The whole thing depends on whether or not we get a rainy spell," he added. "Any of those storms which have so far gone

Flooded Basements, Roads Signal Arrival Of Spring Break-Up

When Robins Come, Spring Is Near...

Robins are here! At least, we have had information that some were seen several miles south of Chelsea and one was noticed Monday by William Geddes near his home on Jefferson St.

First to call in a report of robins this year was Mrs. Edna Faulkner who saw two Sunday in the yard at her home on Sager Rd.

Mrs. Armin Zineke had heard the chirping of robins for a day or two and finally spotted one of them Tuesday morning in a tree near her home on Waldo Rd.; and yesterday the Merle Barrs on old Manchester Road saw four robins in their yard.

Armed with this proof that spring is coming we checked with some of our "first robin" reporters of other years.

Mrs. Frank Reed of 121 North St., who held a two-year record for spying the first robin (as early as January, both years) disappointed said she had been watching for robins among the many birds who come daily to the feeder at her home but has still to see the first one.

The J. V. Burges, also contacted as to whether robins had been among the many birds that they feed at their home on Wilkinson St., said none had been seen. They admit, however (and rather unhappily) that large numbers of crows are roosting in the evergreens around their property.

JAMES METCALF

James Metcalf Here Saturday In Travel Series

James Metcalf will appear here Saturday evening in the second of four travelogue programs sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will be held in the Chelsea High school auditorium and will center on the topic "West Indies."

Metcalf has produced an exciting and brilliant film on what is perhaps the most interesting and colorful area of the Western Hemisphere. Strung out like a string of beads, the West Indian islands stretch across the Caribbean in a huge semicircle. Starting with Jamaica, the "necklace" runs for four thousand miles and ends up in the curious "A. B. C." islands of the Netherlands Antilles, Aruba, Bonaire and Curacao. They also include: Antigua, Martinique, Guadeloupe, St. Lucia, Grand Cayman, Barbados, Grenada, Tobago and Trinidad.

In addition, Metcalf filmed the tiny, out-of-the-way islands that

Warning Issued That Rural Roads 'May Get Worse'

A grim picture of flooded basements and roads flecked with potholes was painted here as the first spring thaw sent worried county and village officials into making preparations for what may turn out to be the worst flooding conditions in a long time.

Two major trouble spots occurred on the Chelsea-Dexter Rd., and the Cavanaugh Lake Rd., where water completely inundated the roads and cars and trucks splashed through the areas at a snail's pace. Some were stalled when the water splashed up into the engines making them inoperable.

At one time the water was 14 to 15 inches deep on the Cavanaugh Lake Rd., but the Washtenaw County Road Commission got a crane out to the area and was able to bring the measurement down to three inches by digging and providing drainage through a nearby field.

In Chelsea some basements were flooded in the Flanders and Brooks Sts., areas but the situation was relieved somewhat when the village pumped out some badly-overloaded storm basins.

The trouble is said to stem from a long, hard winter which has caused a hard frost to be built up underground. When warm weather melts the thick cover of snow covering the ground the water has no place to go and remains on the surface.

The hard frost also raises havoc with black-topped streets and roads due to "buckling" that occurs during a thaw, a road official explained. During a hard winter the frost causes the roadway to expand upward and in the spring, when the road recedes to its regular place, crumbling and buckling occurs, he said.

Adding to the woes of the Road Commission is the fact that 75 percent of the culverts that provide for draining water from county roads are still frozen and do not provide proper drainage.

Officials in Washtenaw, Oakland and Livingston counties predict that the situation will get worse before it gets better.

"Everytime we get a snow storm we get rain along with it and then it takes double the time to get it off and costs us twice as much money to do it," says Roland Kapp, superintendent of the Washtenaw county Road Commission.

Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner John Flook says the situation might get as bad as 1947 when major flooding occurred. He added: "Anyone who has had trouble with high water in the past should take every precautionary measure to prevent a recurrence, including a check of sump pumps and other equipment to be sure they're in working order."

"The whole thing depends on whether or not we get a rainy spell," he added. "Any of those storms which have so far gone

BASKETBALL STAR?—One of the stars of the Detroit Lions basketball team that will appear in action here March 27 against a local all-star team is Nick Pietrosante (above). A 6 ft. 2 inch 240-lb. all-American fullback from Notre Dame, Pietrosante was an outstanding player with the Lions last year, his third in the National Football League. Pietrosante, leading rusher, will appear here with such Lion stalwarts as: Darrik McCord, Hopalong Cassidy and others. The Lions will field a team averaging 6 ft. 2 1/2 inches in height and weighing 240 pounds.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The American Legion will celebrate the 43rd anniversary of its birth, March 15 to 17, 1962; and WHEREAS, The American Legion with its 17,000 community Posts from coast to coast has become one of the great bulwarks of the American way of life through its leadership in all movements to preserve and strengthen our free institutions and our cherished liberties; and

WHEREAS, the service programs of The American Legion have become an integral part of this community and the local Post a civic asset;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Robert Daniels, President of the Village of Chelsea, do hereby proclaim the week of March 11 to 17, 1962, as AMERICAN LEGION BIRTHDAY WEEK, and do call upon all citizens and organizations to join in paying tribute to the good works of The American Legion as a token of the public appreciation of the wartime and peacetime services of our own Legionnaires.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Seal of the Village of Chelsea, at the Village Hall on this 15th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1962.

Robert L. Daniels, President, Village of Chelsea.

Thieves Hit Chicken Flock of Couple Whose Home Recently Burned

The William Bauers whose home at 13484 North Territorial Rd., was destroyed by fire three weeks ago, lost 10 chickens and a duck to thieves on Wednesday of last week.

The thief gained entrance to the barn where the fowls were kept by ripping a board from the barn door.

IT MAY GET WORSE—Motorists traveling the Chelsea-Dexter Rd. Monday found the going rough as a spring-like thaw caused considerable flooding in this area. The spot was about a mile east of Chelsea. Another similar flooded area occurred on the Cavanaugh Lake Rd. Washtenaw county road officials warn that even worse conditions might be in store for residents under certain weather conditions.

American Legion Celebrating Their 43rd Year of Service to United States

The American Legion will celebrate its 43rd anniversary, March 15 to 17. This noteworthy event will be keyed to the nation's largest collective birthday party as some 17,000 community posts—aided by 14,000 American Legion Auxiliary Units—turn March into a joyful observance month from coast to coast.

Born at a caucus of the AEF in 1919 in Paris, France, the American Legion has dedicated its efforts and abilities to a continuing service to God and Country. In so doing, the Legion has become the world's largest veterans' organization today.

From its beginning, the Legion has endeavored to develop a dynamic conviction of Americanism as the only sure method for the preservation and perpetuation of a world-wide peace which honors the dignity of the individual.

The American Legion's many contributions to the betterment of America are immeasurable. The Legion has been and continues to be an active proponent of a militarily strong America. The Legion is an important factor in keeping love of Country at a high premium, in the great increase in home ownership, in the enlightened streamlining of child welfare concepts, in the defense of our free institutions, and in the improvement of care for the disabled, the aged, and the aging.

Through countless services it has performed in its respective communities, the Legion has become identified by Americans everywhere as an organization good for any home town.

On this 43rd anniversary of The American Legion, we salute Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 here in Chelsea and the millions of Legionnaires throughout the country in their continuing endeavors in behalf of community, state, and Nation.

Successful Flight of Astronaut Gives U.S. Much-Needed Boost in Morale

The hero's welcome accorded to Astronaut John Glenn, which began in Washington to be continued in New York, had heartfelt participation in 50 states and around the globe, wherever there were Americans to share in their pride over an achievement that was very literally out of this world.

But, fantastic as it still seems to most of us that a human can be shot into the airless void 150 miles above the earth, circumnavigate it three times in succession and return safely to a predetermined spot, the pent-up emotion released by his return home has a deeper significance.

This is the first time in many disheartening years that Americans as a nation have had such good news to celebrate. It is the first time since the unrequited gallantry of Korea that Americans have had the opportunity of saluting the sort of courage that presses ahead in the face of the known perils and the unknown as well.

At this crucial time, when the nation faces possible disintegration from within and annihilation from without, the example of Col. Glenn could still save us. If we can individually gather strength from his strength, if we can again comprehend as our forefathers did the do-or-die philosophy that guided him and if we can accept a personal discipline of mind and body to develop our will power and our stamina to whatever limits our individual potential may offer—and this goes for the great and the small—our nation is secure, our future undimmed.

While men live, nothing can tarnish the exploit of Col. Glenn and the 30,000 teammates whose toil and devotion and competence backed him up. But, if, as the emotional wave he has stirred gives us to hope, his fellow countrymen will tune themselves to the message implicit in his devotion to duty, then, certainly, his voyage will be a proud sequel to that of Columbus.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Michigan has had a savings and loan law on its books since 1887 although the popularity of this type of banking institution has only been publicly noted in the last decade or so.

Growth of savings and loan associations in the state over the last six years, for example, has amounted to more than $367 million, state officials report.

Today there are 35 associations which report total assets of more than $656 million. The assets report for the fiscal year which ended June 30 noted an increase of $72 million over the previous year, officials said.

"These increases have occurred despite unsteady economic conditions in Michigan during the life of the savings and loan system," said Banking Commissioner Charles D. Slav.

Savings and loan associations have been the object of proposed legislation in the past several years to bring the reserve requirements and tax and branch office regulations into line with those imposed on commercial banks.

The associations differ from banks in that they are mutually owned by "savings shareholders," said Slav.

"This type of financial institution, with 105 offices throughout the state, is performing an increasingly important dual function to the public by providing safe and convenient savings and investment plans and long-term, monthly payment home loans," said the commissioner.

Job prospects for the June college graduates are good, according to the Michigan Education Association.

On the average, June graduates will find a $485 monthly wage awaiting him at his first job. This represents an increase, on the average, of $10 a month over last year, the association said.

Indications are the high-salary will range around $842 for engineers and the low will be $485 a month for business trainees.

Michigan is expected to be among the first states in the nation to put into effect President Kennedy's recommendation for a mass immunization program to combat four of the worst childhood diseases: polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

In production at the department currently is a new three-in-one antigen to be blended with bulk Salk polio vaccine. This is expected to be ready for free distribution throughout the state by late this year, said Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis.

Plans call for producing enough of the quadruple antigen to immunize the estimated 200,000 children who are born or move into Michigan annually.

object of criticism for guarantee terms, or the lack of them.

The Michigan Automobile Dealers Association recently initiated a program designed to improve the "public image" of used car salesmen and dealers. It has some definite advantages to the public.

The association started a program in over 200 Michigan cities under which auto dealers issue a "permanent warranty" under a plan known as the Guaranteed Warranty plan.

The plan guarantees the used car buyer a 15 percent discount on all parts and all labor costs for a year after the purchase.

This warranty applies to the dealer where the car was purchased, plus an estimated 5,000 other participating dealers in 10 other states and the Canadian province of Ontario, the association said.

Gilbert Haley, executive vice-president of the association, said the plan does not cost dealers any membership fee, so no extra charge for the warranty would be tacked onto the price of a car.

Purchasers of used cars are given a warranty card and a list of participating Michigan dealers. In the event of needed repairs, the car owner has them taken care of at any listed dealer. When presented with the bill, the owner shows the warranty card, entitling him to the discount.

Automatic fire extinguishers have recently posed problems for the consumer protection division of the Attorney General's office.

"Many families are being pressured to buy automatic fire extinguishers which are misrepresented as approved by the State Fire Marshal and by 'name' insurance and chemical companies," said Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

Some recent buyers of extinguishers reported that the products were not approved and some were loaded with chemicals found to be dangerously toxic.

State law requires certain standards of safe content for some fire extinguishers, but the law does not cover single family dwellings. The law leaves the homeowner on his own, Kelley said.

The Attorney General's advice to prospective purchasers of extinguishing equipment is to check the sales claims before the purchase is made.

"If in doubt, ask the State Health Department to analyze the extinguisher for safety of content," Kelley said.

Leon Steers Granted Exclusive Name for Registered Holsteins

The names of all registered Holstein cattle bred by Leon Steers, Dexter, Mich., will henceforth begin with the words "Lee-Ear."

Exclusive use of this prefix name has been granted by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. It will become a permanent part of official breed records at the organization's national headquarters in Brattleboro, Vermont.

More than 30,000 Holstein dairymen are currently using similarly distinctive prefixes in naming their home-bred cattle. The total is growing at the rate of 1,500 annually.

Since the average Holstein breeder derives 15 percent of his income from sales of registered breeding stock, the plan, which literally "trademarks" each animal throughout its lifetime, has unique advertising value.

President Kennedy says the Peace Corps must be expanded to meet a big demand.

He called for authorization of $38,750,000 for the corps in the fiscal year starting July 1. Last year he asked for $40,000,000 and got $30,000,000. The expansion now planned will not be enough to meet all requests from foreign countries.

THE B-70's

The Pentagon has been directed by the House Armed Services Committee to proceed with Air Force proposals for production of the B-70 supersonic bomber.

The objections of President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Earl S. McNamara were ignored. The committee authorized an additional $491,000,000 for the program.

The population is about to explode. The population is about to explode. The population is about to explode.

Clem Webster was predicting the time is coming when all will be cancelled and everything will start over giving in to Clem says Franklin Roosevelt claimed the national debt was so small we owed to each other.

If the New Frontier will go with his idea, allows Clem, consider the matter closed on $4,165 he owes.

Rabies Certificate Needed By Dog Owner for License

All dogs in Washtenaw county must be licensed each year by March 1. To obtain that license, the dog owner must produce a rabies certificate of vaccination. Many dog owners wonder about the pet. It's the law!

Rabies is an extremely deceiving disease. It can be controlled through the use of rabies vaccinations. A successful vaccination program depends on the cooperation of all pet owners even though there has been no rabies "scare."

Washtenaw county there has not had a major rabies threat in many years. This is due to the vaccination program. Since there is no permanent immunization yet developed against rabies, a yearly vaccination is necessary. A slackening of public co-operation could open the door to the dangers of a rabies epidemic.

extensive research into this problem all over the world—and has made many recommendations. The recommendation WHO says is most important centers around the strict use of vaccination and an effective method of seeing to it that all rabies-carrying animals receive the vaccine.

Besides the county health officials, who are conducting vaccination clinics, the Washtenaw county Veterinary Medical Association is urging all pet owners to see to it that their dogs receive this annual vaccination.

Vaccination service is available at any veterinarian's office. The injection takes only a few minutes and it can protect the pet and the community against all the dangers and horrors of rabies.

Remember—March 1 is the deadline for renewing your pet's license. You must also have a certificate showing your pet's annual rabies vaccination.

Dairy Banquet . . .

Martin Framberger, secretary of the National Dairy Association with headquarters in Chicago, Ill., will be the speaker for the occasion.

This event is sponsored by the Washtenaw county Dairy Council which is made up of the dairy organizations and processors throughout the county. The objectives of the Council are to coordinate and promote the activities relating to the $5,000,000 dairy industry of the county.

Chairman Elton Frey urges everyone to get tickets as early as possible. Tickets are available from all council members, many business places and the County Extension office.

Travel Series . . .

the average traveler never sees. As a result, the pictures will show such unusual places as St. Lucia with its steaming, drive-in volcano; Grenada, one of the world's foremost spice islands; and Tobago, the lovely island setting of Daniel Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe."

Remaining programs of the series will take place April 7 and May 5.

GIRL SCOUTS ARE WORLD-WIDE—Adding a special note of interest among the more than 1,000 uniformed Brownies and Girl Scouts at Sunday's 50th anniversary celebration, the girls who appear in this photo were costumed for their part in a pantomime showing the world-wide scope of activities as Girl Scouts of America extend friendship, through their Juliette Low Fund contributions, to girls throughout the world. All the girls shown in the photo are from Ann Arbor. In the front row, from left, are Robin Wilson in Spanish costume; Terry Piers as a girl from India; Jackie Netty, in Dutch costume; and Barbara Beach and Margery DeShano, representing Australian fishing girls. At left, in the second row, is Tina Singh who is a Girl Guide in her home community in India and while her parents, the Pritam Singhs, are doing graduate work at the University of numbers by the singing and speaking choruses—"Hey, Look Us Over" and "Pals."

General chairman of the District III 50th Anniversary celebration was Terry Rinker of Ann Arbor, while Nancy Krohn, also of Ann Arbor, was program co-ordinator.

Accompanist for the singing and marching was Betty J. Flanders, VFW Auxiliary youth worker, of Ann Arbor.

George Prinzling, Chelsea High school teacher, acted as sound director during the program.

Neighborhood assignments—for the anniversary celebration were as follows: Saline, invitations; Burns Park, publicity; North Side, programs; Eberwhite, flag ceremony; Stone, Juliette Low fund; and Chelsea and Dexter, hostesses.

Chelsea and Dexter Neighborhoods, as the hostess group, expressed appreciation for the assistance of Chelsea Boy Scouts in directing traffic and parking at the school (and helping push cars which became mired in the parking area).

Scouts who assisted are Victor Parks, Tom Penhalligon and Mike Scholtens of Troop 25, and Joe Fisher, Jim Orthring and Mike Tarsow of Troop 76.

The Girl Scout organization also expressed appreciation to the Chelsea School Board for permission to use the gymnasium for the big anniversary event.

4-H Service Club Plans Party for Older Members

Recreation is fun for 4-H club members, but that's not all. It also provides important opportunities to develop self-confidence and leadership ability.

Most 4-H clubs include some recreation in every club meeting, according to Robert McCrory, county 4-H club agent.

Events include winter sports parties, square dances, picnics and hayrides. Here in Washtenaw county, the 4-H Service Club is planning a party for older 4-H members on March 23 at the Pittsfield Grange Hall. The program will include dancing and refreshments. All 4-H members over 15 are invited.

Junior leaders experienced in teaching games and square dances often conduct recreation for larger club and community groups. Family night parties involving all ages often develop from this.

Recreation in 4-H covers a broad area. Music, dances, crafts, dramatics, sports, hobbies, hikes, tours, picnics and parties all have a place.

REPEAT PERFORMANCE—St. Louis, Mo. For the seventh time, Dr. Clyde E. Kane, 69, has gotten the best of a bandit who tried to rob him.

A woman complained of stomach pains and the man who accompanied her drew a gun and demanded money. Dr. Kane grabbed the man and yelled for help. Tenants came to his rescue.

In the seven attempts of robbery, four were captured and three escaped before police arrived.

Jiffy Mixers Cagers Down Pinckney

Science teacher, and famed for his extra-curricular basketball activity, Terry Pokela, sparked the Dexter Adult Basketball team as they trounced Stockbridge, 70-76, last Wednesday night at the Dexter gym. Pokela snagged eight consecutive field goals without a miss during the third and fourth quarters of the contest.

Dexter's team, dubbed the Automatics, was just that Wednesday as they went into automatic action against the Stockbridge cagers. Pokela paced the Automatics, scoring with 25 points. Who held the Stockbridge scoring honors for the evening? "Long, of course," He had 16 points.

In the first event of the evening's program, Chelsea took Pinckney to tow, downing them 51-49. High scorer for the Jiffy Mixers was Patrick with 24 points; Pinckney's Gerkin tallied 20 points for his team.

Two more nights of play remain to be reported this season. March 14 and March 21 games will round out the cage activity for this year. Pinckney is the team to watch, according to rumor! Tired of being referred to as "in the basement," they are actively recruiting newcomers. All known loose-shouldered cagers in the entire area are being contacted by their previously desperate coach as the pressure increases at the close of the season. Can you sink one from mid-floor? Pinckney is looking for you—they need you—where are you?

These Wednesday night games scheduled for 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. are open to the public; admission is free. On the final night of play for the season Stockbridge will take on Pinckney and all the newcomers that team has found in the interim at 7 p.m. Dexter and Chelsea, who up until game time March 14, at least, shared the first place in the league, will clash at 8:30 p.m. in the last "bloody battle" of the cage season. Dexter gymnasium is the place. "Mad Terry" Pokela guarantees all fans a spectacular evening? Who will be his victim? Chelsea Jiffy Mixers, beware!

Vegetable Growers Equipment To Be Shown In Detroit, March 26

The latest lines of equipment and supplies for commercial vegetable growers will be on display at the third annual, one-day exposition at Detroit's Eastern Market on Monday, March 26. Exhibitors will display tractors, graders, sprayers, dusters, irrigation equipment, seeds, fertilizers, pesticides, plastics, containers, small tools and gadgets, and various other lines of necessities for commercial vegetable production in Michigan.

At least 75 different suppliers will display their wares. There is no charge for admission. The show is jointly sponsored by the Detroit Bureau of Markets, Wolverine State Growers and the Co-operative Extension Service. Ed Kidd, Wayne County Co-operative Extension Service, is general chairman of the event.

Several exhibits at the show this year will feature farm shop tools and equipment. Another area will display newest gadgets in farm inter-communication systems such as short wave radio, telephone and intercom systems.

While the show is particularly designed for the commercial vegetable producers, groups such as fruit growers, greenhousemen, nurserymen, potato farmers and Christmas tree growers will also find displays of equipment and supplies of interest, too.

BOY SCOUTS OF TROOP 25 are busy at projects to raise funds so that all the boys in the troop may participate in an extended Canadian canoe trip Aug. 4-11. Their next work project is a bottle drive. They will pick up empty bottles and return them to dealers for refunds. Another project is a bake sale March 17 and, later, sponsorship of a family movie. As a community service project they plan a "clean-up" drive on roads leading into Chelsea. They will work in teams, on foot, picking up litter, trash and papers along the approaches to Chelsea. In addition to the Boy Scouts, at least 15 men will be in the group for the trip in Ontario's Algonquin Provincial Forest area. So far, 10 adults have signed up—five more still are needed. Trip leader is to be Edwin Dickelman, former Scoutmaster. Boy Scouts in the photo, front row,

Legion Auxiliary Sets Date for Annual Memorial Poppy Sale

At the March meeting of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31 American Legion Auxiliary, it was announced that the annual memorial poppy sale will be held in Chelsea, May 25 and that the 43rd birthday of the American Legion will be observed at a dinner at the Legion Home on March 24. Dinner reservations must be made by March 19.

The March Auxiliary meeting was held Tuesday evening at McKune Memorial Library. Plans were discussed for presentation of a new flag to the high school.

Also discussed were plans for a coffee hour last Saturday at the VA hospital at Ann Arbor.

80 Women Attend World Day of Prayer

Approximately 80 Chelsea area women were present Friday afternoon for a United Church Women's observance of the World Day of Prayer. The service was held at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mrs. Wilbert Grieb being general chairman.

During the service, Mrs. Jerry Beaumont of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, sang, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Carl Mayer.

Those who participated in the service included Mrs. Paul Mann of the Congregational church; Mrs. David Colquhoun of St. Barnabas Episcopal church; Mrs. Harold Eberts of North Lake Methodist church; Mrs. William Storey, Mrs. Ben Donaldson, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. James Gaunt and Mrs. Robert Harris of the Methodist church; and Mrs. Grieb and Mrs. Ellsworth Smith of St. Paul's church.

The Rev. Paul M. Schnake, pastor of St. Paul's church, spoke briefly and suggested that women accept the World Day of Prayer service as a challenge to continue in prayer for the many areas of Christian work supported by United Church Women.

Mrs. Donaldson, who is president of Chelsea's newly-organized United Church Women group, spoke of the many projects made possible by means of World Day of Prayer offerings adding that a new area added this year is Alaska; offerings help to provide counselor service for Alaskan servicemen and their families as well as chaplaincies in hospitals.

Four St. Paul's women served as ushers at the World Day of Prayer—Mrs. Vern List, Mrs. Lynn Kern, Mrs. Charles Langenstam and Mrs. Marion Dietle.

Spring Arrives At Least Officially, Next Tuesday

Ann Arbor—Spring will officially begin at 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 20, reminds Associate Prof. Hazel M. Losh of the University of Michigan Astronomy Department.

The sun will then reach the vernal equinox, or cross the equator on its way north, the U-M astronomer explains.

However, the official beginning of the season will be nearly six hours later than last year. This is so because "the year's length is an uneven number of days, 365.2422 to be exact," Professor Losh says.

Since Dec. 21, the sun has tracked northward at the rate of about a degree a day. It has risen about south of the equator for the last six months, explains Professor Losh.

On the day of the equinox, however, the sun will shine vertically over the earth's equator, and both hemispheres of the earth will share the sunshine about equally that day.

As the sun moves northward, it will not only lengthen the daylight hours, but also bring warmer weather.

Contrary to what many believe, the day and night will not be exactly equal on the day of the equinox. Says Professor Losh: "The length of time between sunrise and sunset will be a few minutes longer than from the sun's setting to its rising because of the refraction or bending of the sun's rays by the earth's atmosphere."

The day and night are more nearly equal on Saturday, March 17, three days before the equinox.

Mrs. Iza Carty, with Mrs. Ruth Otto of Ann Arbor, attended a luncheon Friday at the Statler hotel in Detroit, held in honor of Miss Beulah Adamson, the national VFW Auxiliary president. They also attended a dinner in her honor at the VFW Post at St. Clair Shores, given for state Auxiliary officers.

Certificate of Inspection Required on All Nursery Stock Sold in Michigan

Look for the certificate of inspection when buying nursery stock, which thousands of citizens will be doing when the 1962 planting season comes with the arrival of springlike weather.

This is the word of call from Agricultural Director G. McIntyre that can save buyers of nursery stock thousands of dollars in the weeks ahead. Re-sales of nursery stock in the state are estimated to be in excess of $40 million a year.

All nursery stock is required to carry a certificate of inspection issued by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's plant industry division. The certificate shows that the nursery stock has been inspected and found to be free of insect pests and diseases.

State law also requires stock to be stored or displayed under conditions that will maintain its vigor. All nursery stock is by grades, which is a factor determining price.

In the opinion of C. A. B. chief of the Department's plant industry division, one of the highest quality items of kind selling at give-away prices, beware of glib-tongued men who make extravagant claims about such stock or sensational developments in the horticultural world. All agents who solicit nursery stock are required to carry an agent's permit issued from the Michigan Department of Agriculture by the nursery they represent.

DIRECTOR OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES:

New Role Is Challenge for "Tad" Wieman in Athletics

STRESSING the Girl Scouts Golden Anniversary theme "Honor the Past — Serve the Future," decorations at the front of the gymnasium for Sunday's District III celebration at Chelsea High school include "golden anniversary blossoms"—yellow roses and yellow chrysanthemums. The two bouquets of roses were a gift from Saginaw Girl Scout Troops 12 and 25. The roses had been used at the Methodist church Sunday morning before being taken to the anniversary celebration and were sent in memory of the late Mrs. Peter Boehm of Chelsea, whose daughter, Margaret, is a Saginaw school teacher and active in Girl Scout work there. The chrysanthemums were a gift from Portage Trails Boy Scout Council.

The February issue of The Christian Athlete, official publication of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Inc. (FCA), features a story about E. E. "Tad" Wieman, former University of Michigan coach and now director of athletics at the University of Denver at Denver, Colo. Wieman has announced that he will retire, effective June 15, 1962.

The story states, however, that "Wieman will move to a role of even greater challenge after retirement as he becomes the new Western regional director of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, beginning in October, 1962." He is described as "one of the most respected figures in the history of intercollegiate athletics."

Wieman is well-known to many Chelsea area residents not only because of his coaching at the University of Michigan but because his wife, the former Margaret Vogel, was a Chelsea girl. She is the sister of Miss Helen Vogel, owner of Vogel's Store.

Wieman was elected last August to serve as president of the board of directors of the FCA. He has been active in the national FCA program for many years and has been on their summer conference staff at Estes Park, Colo.

Wieman's responsibilities in his new position will center on public relations, particularly among coaches, ministers and athletes in presenting the program of FCA through films, tapes, records and prominent sports personalities.

Wieman, the story continues, is one of six sons of William Henry Wieman, who was a circuit-riding Presbyterian minister in California. His athletic career was launched at the University of Michigan where he became an outstanding football player and went on to serve as coach after his graduation.

Before taking the position at Denver 10 years ago he had held coaching positions at the University of Minnesota, Princeton and Columbia universities and was dean of men and director of physical education and athletics at the University of Maine.

During his career as coach he has received many honors. In 1956 he was elected to the Football Hall of Fame. In January, 1962, he was presented the Alonzo Stagg award at the annual FCA breakfast in Chicago (awarded annually by the American Football Coaches Association to an individual, group or institution whose services have been outstanding in the advancement of the best interests of football). In 1947 he was elected president and in 1958 to life membership in the American Football Coaches Association.

Artificial Feeding of State's Hungry Deer Only Serves To Create New Problems

ALL THAT GLITTERS—Artificial feeding "seems" like the easy way out for hungry deer during Michigan's winters. But, what looks good in the "back yards" of hunting clubs and resorts, suddenly runs into big problems when applied to the sprawling winter range of whitetails in this state. First off, artificial feeding causes deer to "gang up" in feeding areas, promoting further overbrowsing on natural winter foods. Limited artificial feeding might be useful under some short-term emergencies, but on a large scale it could pyramid Michigan's deer-winter food problem unless surplus animals were harvested each fall. The only lasting solutions for a healthier herd are regular and limited special seasons coupled with commercial tree cuttings and other range improvement programs; they can bring deer numbers and the carrying capacity of their range into balance to hold food shortage problems to a minimum. Besides doing more harm than good to the herd's winter range, a large-scale feeding program would face staggering costs even with the help of a new federal law which will provide surplus grain for deer and other wildlife during emergencies.

Autos Kill 3,436 Deer On Highway in 1961

Lansing — Automobiles killed 3,436 deer on Michigan's highways last year, the highest toll on Conservation Department records which date back to 1954.

The previous record of 3,150 was set in 1960.

Last year's increase in reported car-deer accidents carries a big warning for motorists in the southern lower peninsula where a record 1,412 whitetails were killed.

Compared with 1960, the highway deer toll dropped from 1,207 whitetails to 1,119 in the northern lower peninsula. In the Upper Peninsula, 911 deer met death on the highways, an increase of 151 from the year before.

Milk production per cow in this country moved up to an average of 7,211 pounds in 1961, according to the 1961 Annual Summary on Milk Production and Dairy Products. This is a 3 percent increase over 1960.

It's Hard Work Being a Child In Adult World

Ann Arbor—It's tough to be a child in an adult's world, says Marie Hartwig, University of Michigan supervisor in physical education for women.

"Children get new trails for Christmas, and father is the one who does all the playing," writes Miss Hartwig in "Children Are Human—Even at Camp," a book co-authored by Betty Myers (Burgess-Publishing Co., Minneapolis, 94 pp. $2.25).

"Little girls are allowed to dry the dishes or sweep their own rooms because they are becoming little ladies, but they can't wear lipstick or high heels until X age."

"You aren't supposed to talk with food in your mouth, but just as sure as the world when you take a big bite of hotdog some adult will ask you a question, then what is a child to do? Answer and get a lecture in return for talking while chewing; or don't answer, chew for three minutes, swallow, then answer and be described as a sullen child who won't speak when spoken to?"

Moreover, adults many times fail to grasp the basic sincerity of the things children say.

"Children are basically honest, truthful, and straightforward to the extent that occasionally adults are brought up short," Miss Hartwig notes.

For example the little preschool miss who responded to Art Linkletter's question, "Have you ever been in love?" with the answer, "No, but I've been in like."

"Being a child is a problem primarily because it's adults who are all the time telling the young ones what to do," say the authors.

"Adults seem to have all the answers and sometimes these answers seem to have been derived from little more than the past experience of 'when I was a child.' Any teen-ager will tell you times have changed since his parents were in their teens."

Elm Harvest

qualities: Modern technology and increased demand for all timber products has proven that elm can be used with satisfaction in marketable products.

District Forester Victor Horvath of Ann Arbor, urges all forest landowners in southeastern Michigan to harvest and utilize the 243,000,000 board feet of merchantable elm before the Dutch Elm disease reduces the volume and value drastically.

In response to a report by Eugene Wenzloff, Michigan Department of Agriculture plant inspector, participants acknowledged the fact that current disease controls were practical only in urban and other areas where shade and ornamental trees can be sprayed to destroy the beetle that carries the germ from tree to tree.

This meeting was arranged by Eugene P. Dice, Genesee county extension agent and Allen Boelter, forester for Michigan Conservation Department from Saginaw.

through the course of the deep winter weeks. "If their food supply is cut off before spring, they're left holding an empty feed bag, oftentimes trapped in areas where they normally wouldn't concentrate because of poor natural food conditions," Ruhl explains. The result: serious starvation.

Fawns are the ones who need food most during the winter; there is no easy, sure-fire way to guarantee they would get enough of it through artificial feedings. Even a doe will keep her own fawn away from food when she is hungry.

Getting food to deer in deep-winter areas would not be easy. Some feed-line areas would be inaccessible for days after storms.

"These 'iffy' problems and extra costs, at best, add up to an 'artificial' approach to the long-range job of deer management," Ruhl concludes. "The natural way to a healthier herd," he repeats, "is through a controlled harvest of antlerless deer as well as bucks, and range improvement work."

Lansing—Trying to help Michigan's hungry whitetails through the winter by feeding them with hay, corn, or some other kind of artificial deer food is something like a person taking aspirin for a bad tooth, says Harry D. Ruhl, game chief of the Conservation Department.

"It may give temporary relief to the heart of the problem," Ruhl explains. "Large-scale artificial feeding amounts to treating the symptoms (hungry deer) rather than the ailment (a 'tired' range overworked by more deer than it can handle), he adds.

The game chief stresses the most workable and lasting cure for what ails deer in this state is a combination of regular buck seasons and special antlerless seasons coupled with commercial tree cuttings and other range improvement programs.

Together, they can bring about a balance between whitetail numbers and the food-producing ability of the winter range.

Ruhl notes that "feed 'em with artificial food" is one of the most commonly offered bits of advice on helping out Michigan's deer during the winter.

It may look good in the "back yard" of a hunting club and resort, but artificial feeding would suddenly run into a hard core of big problems and shortcomings if applied to the sprawling winter range of whitetails, he cautions.

Other states which have tried large-scale artificial feeding will vouch for this. Among them is Wisconsin which did it to the unsuccessful tune of $532,000.

"The biggest single drawback to artificial deer feeding is that it defeats its own purpose; it causes whitetails to 'gang up' in feeding areas, promoting overbrowsing on natural foods, which already are in short supply in many parts of the state," the game chief explains.

Limited artificial feeding might be useful under some short-term emergencies, but on a large scale, if it did work, it could pyramid Michigan's deer-winter food problem unless the extra animals saved by feeding each winter were harvested the following fall, Ruhl says.

Feeding grain to deer is no substitute for herd management, he warns. "It is an admission that the range is inadequate for the present wintering herd, and that same antlerless deer should have been taken by hunters last fall in areas other than the two small trouble spots."

Besides doing more harm than good to Michigan's deer and their range, if surplus animals were not closely harvested, a large-scale feeding program would face high costs even with the help of a new federal law which will provide surplus grain for feeding wildlife during emergencies.

Thinking in terms of surplus grain to be made available, Department game biologists estimate it would take at least 600,000 bushels of shelled corn to feed hungry whitetails in this state most winters.

Since "the bulk of Michigan's grain is stored in the southern part of the state, a staggering sum of money would be needed just to package and transport corn to northern counties. Once there, it would take $100,000 to $300,000 to distribute this food, pending on the weather and how far the program was carried out, the Department estimates.

Under its pressing austerity program, the Department does not have this kind of money to spend nor the manpower to do the job, even if artificial feeding worked.

There are other considerations which loom as big as costs, in addition to the all-important problem of accelerated overbrowsing on natural winter food supplies.

"One sobering thought comes from feeding studies at our Casita wildlife experiment station which have shown that overly hungry deer often literally stuff themselves to death" on corn," says Ruhl.

Once feeding is started, there's no turning back, or stopping

LOVED HIS COUNTRY

Ogalla, Neb.—"I am grateful my country for the blessing freedom it has given me and the opportunity to acquire, and own property."

So read the will of Ed Spratt, 64, who died alone in an unoccupied house. Mr. Spratt never married and had lived for many years. His entire estate was valued at between $25,000 and $30,000, and he left the amount to the government of the United States.

Freeway Revives Memories of Michigan-Ohio Dispute

Completion later this year of a superhighway between Michigan's Upper Peninsula and Ohio will revive memories of the state's long-standing dispute over its boundary. The two areas that played a role in Michigan's admission to the Union in 1837, Ohio and Michigan, are in Ohio today because of one of the "wars" in American history.

In 1835, Michigan and Ohio got into a boundary dispute. They took arms against each other, but a strictly minor league stuff, wars go.

The death toll amounted to two, one of which was shot by an Ohio soldier retaliated from it.

Help Us Build A Better Newspaper With Early Copy

Club secretaries and reporters are requested to turn in news of their club meetings on the day following the event with the exception of those which occur Wednesday or Thursday. These should be called in Friday afternoon or Saturday morning.

Tuesday evening meetings should be called in as soon as possible after 8 a.m. Wednesday.

The Standard also should be notified well in advance of scheduled dates and events wherever possible.

Weddings and engagements can and will be given better coverage if the prospective bride will please contact The Standard office well in advance of the date.

We make no secret of the fact that we want the Standard to be first with news concerning local people and events, hence anyone co-operating in this respect will not only receive special treatment but will be helping to build a better home-town newspaper to the benefit of everyone.

Events open to the public which are non-profit and to which no admission charge is made will be listed on the Community Calendar without charge. Money-making events may be listed in the calendar for a nominal charge. For further information, phone GR 5-3581.

Many New Silk Fabrics Making Springtime Debut

This spring you will find silk fibers used in many new and delightful fabrics. To compete with synthetic fiber manufacturers, the silk industry has developed new uses for silk, says Barbara Loder, textiles instructor at Michigan State University.

"Muslin is an open weave print Silk and Cotton Blends with silk warp and cotton filling yarns. The new fabric is light, crisp and firm.

Unusual cotton and rayon blends are highlighted with silk flecks. Silk-cotton tweeds will be found in dress fabrics.

Silk and Wool Blends Firm, flat, lightweight suiting fabrics are created when silk and worsted wool are combined. Silk and wool suiting fabrics also feature textured wools.

Pure Silk A slubbed linen-like silk will soon be seen in dress fabrics. Silk knits will be newsworthy this spring, too. These soft, luxurious fabrics are to be found in dresses, sweaters, plain and novelty jerseys, and men's ties and polo shirts.

Worsted silk will be shown in dress fabrics that are lightweight, supple and artfully colored.

Silk-mousseline is being shown with hairlines of metal woven through the fabric.

Many spring silks will be treated to resist spotting and creases.

Michigan ranked fifth in average milk production per cow and tied for seventh place in average butterfat production per cow in the 1961 national dairy herd improvement Association summary.

List Four Assets If You Want To Be A Queen Everyday

There are four requirements you need if you want to be a queen everyday, a panel of Michigan queens told teen-age girls in a Michigan State University Farmers' Week program.

They are: education, interest in others, good personal appearance and adaptability.

"To be a queen, it is important for you to be informed," said Patricia Hagan, Lansing's Mrs. Home-maker for 1961.

"Continue learning whether you are in school or not," she added, and suggested adult education classes, libraries, study clubs and reading as various ways.

"To be a queen, you need to be interested in other people," Marjorie Mueller, Michigan Dairy Queen, told the girls. "Why? Your popularity depends upon others."

"You can have a smooth and happy social existence if you try to understand others and are interesting to others yourself," she said.

A girl should have "consciousness of appearance, but not be self-conscious," Nancy Fleming, Miss America of 1961, said in a discussion of personal appearance. She stressed the importance of hair, skin, make up and diet.

Sally Green, Michigan Apple Queen, told the teens they must also be able to adjust to different situations.

"Our whole life is really a series of adjustments," she explained. Adjustment is important "if we are to mature into well-rounded young women."

She said not to be afraid of plunging into new experiences. "Expect the unexpected," she added.

Except for Mrs. Hagan, a graduate of the University of Iowa, all the queens are students at MSU.

DIGS TUNNEL FOR WHISKEY

Philadelphia, Pa. — Burglars tunneled into a State liquor store and stole "a large quantity" of whiskey in cases.

The burglars spent some time tunneling from the basement of an unoccupied building under an alley and burrowed about 15 feet to the foundation wall of the liquor store, then punched a hole in it.

Detective William Butler said the tunnel was about 2 feet high and 2 feet wide.

Experts Back Versatile Youths

When 400,000 men and women volunteer their time and know-how to help 2.3 million 4-H club members learn, live and serve, the results are no less than spectacular.

For instance, the Head, Heart, Hands and Health youths finished nearly 4 million projects in more than 40 different categories just this past year.

In almost every instance, the completed project benefited the entire family and in many cases, the community as well.

The information comes from the Cooperative Extension Service which directs 4-H club work.

Further proof of the far-reaching effect of 4-H was found in 1,900 record books maintained by state award-winning club members. The records were reviewed in the headquarters of the National 4-H Service Committee last November, said Norman C. Mindrum, director, for the purpose of selecting boys and girls for scholarships and trip awards to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Sheila Nixon, 20, of Pomona, California, winner of a $400 Ford scholarship, commented: "The awards we win in 4-H work aren't totally ours. Many people have helped us win them."

Another national champion, who won a Sears-Roebuck Foundation scholarship for leadership, is 20-year-old Hoosier farmer Wayne Buck. He has a 4-H record so long "it would fill a book." Now a student at Purdue University, Buck credits 4-H training with teaching him how to accept responsibility, to better understand the world and the people in it.

President Kennedy expressed a similar feeling when he said in a recent message to 4-H members: "I would commend you especially for your constructive and worthwhile efforts in learning to live and work cooperatively with others."

In the beginning, 4-H Clubs were intended for farm youngsters, and offered only projects in crops, livestock, home canning and cooking. The present program embraces a wide range of agricultural, home economics and scientific programs. With the exception of a few such as livestock, tractor and field crops, the projects can be carried on in town as well as on the farm.

4-H Moves to Town Today, membership in 4-H Clubs is about equally divided between farm and non-farm boys and girls. The main reason for this shift is the disappearance of the small farm from the American agricultural scene.

Meanwhile, more and more business people are participating in 4-H as it moves into suburban and urban areas. Mindrum points out: National 4-H Club Week, National 4-H Congress, Farm-City Week, achievement days, county and state fairs, Farm-Safety Week and the like are but a few examples, he said.

Director Mindrum, who is a former 4-H member, and state extension official, has this to say: "To such 4-H achievement one should call special attention to the concurrent efforts of many which, over the years, have made the learn by doing program the success it is."

Business Gives Cash Besides the paid and volunteer workers who carry out the teaching-training aspect, there are business people who contribute know-how and money," he added.

Approximately 60 different business concerns provide funds for 4-H through the National 4-H Service Committee, he said.

Donors of awards for the last 25 years or more include: International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Educational Foundation, Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., Cudahy Packing Co., Armour and Co., Livestock Conservation, Inc., Wilson & Co., Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Also, Santa Fe, Chicago and North Western, Illinois Central and Burlington railways.

Newer 4-H backers are the Sperry and Hutchinson Co., Ralston Purina, Moorman Mfg. Co., General Foods, E. I. du Pont de Nemours and John Deere. Also, Pyroflex Gas and International Minerals & Chemical corporations. These firms have supported the program for five years or less, according to the 4-H Service Committee.

WINDSHIELD VIEWS SAFETY BELT HABIT

We notice many drivers at FOUR MOBIL SERVICE who have safety seat belts but are not using them. If you ask about it, they generally answer that they're just driving around town. Most drivers think that they're just for long trips.

Actually, statistics substantiate that over three quarters of fatal accidents happen within a few miles of the drivers' home, and the speed of the car is less than 40 miles per hour in over half of all accidents.

It's a good idea to get the habit of attaching your safety belt every time you get into your car. In fact, you're thinking of including personal service at FOUR MOBIL SERVICE with the window cleaning, tire check and other services. We just can't do enough for your safety at 520 South Main St. You see, we want you to come back.

Heavy Snows Sometimes Kill Fish in Winter

Ann Arbor—Snowfall can kill fish—at least indirectly, according to Karl E. Lagler, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Fisheries.

"Winter kill is the term used to describe the chain of events that can occur in winter to kill fish by suffocation," he explains. "When a lake or pond freezes over, it can no longer pick up oxygen from the air. But if the ice is clear, green plants will produce enough oxygen to keep the fish alive."

"If the ice will not permit sunlight to penetrate, however, such as when there is a heavy snow cover, the plants may die and instead of producing oxygen, will use oxygen as they decompose. In this situation, the oxygen can soon be removed from the water and the fish suffocate."

Professor Lagler, who takes up this subject on his radio program "Conservation Report," produced by the University Broadcasting Service (WUOM) and carried around the state, says the danger is greater in shallow water.

"Ponds with less than 10 feet of water, and with a high fish population, are in danger and some of them have suffered fish kills," he points out. "The results of winter kill sometimes are not seen since fish killed may decompose before the ice melts."

Sometimes, the U-M fishery specialist adds, the results are not all bad.

"In some waters where there is overpopulation and stunting of game and pan fishes, winter kill can be beneficial," he says. "It reduces the population and the remaining fish may make good growth for a few years."

OBJECTS BATH SHOTS Rome, Italy—Acting as the protective husband, Eddie Fisher has objected to shots of Elizabeth Taylor nude in a bath during her filming of Cleopatra.

Twentieth Century-Fox said the shots were taken several weeks ago. Everyone had been cleared from the set for the shots and film was not processed by the normal laboratory.

Following his objections, after seeing the film, the shots were handed over to him.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.

why?

If you were a professional used-truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product

2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet Jobmaster truck.

"Automotive Market Reports" is a weekly authoritative publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.

ST. MARY'S ALTAR SOCIETY

St. Mary's Altar Society meeting for March was held following the Ash Wednesday evening church service. The meeting took place in the school hall with 38 members present.

Announcements at the meeting included one by the Rev. Fr. Francis Maliszewski in which he said a mission for men and for women will be held at St. Mary's church the last week in March.

Mrs. Keith Boylan, international relations chairman for the Altar Society, announced a meeting to be held at her home Wednesday evening, March 14, for all members interested in entertaining foreign students in their homes for Easter. Mrs. Boylan said the discussion at the meeting would also include formulation of plans for a proposed "Chilsea Day" program for foreign students.

A report given by Mrs. John Steele of the Altar Society's relief committee stated that 400 pounds of used clothing had been sent from the Chilsea church to Bishop's Storehouse for international missions and 60 new articles of infant wear had been sent to the Pope's Storehouse.

Sunday's meeting of the Washtenaw County Deaneary of the Detroit Archdiocesan Council of the NCCW at St. Andrew's church, Saline, and the regular April meeting of the Altar Society were announced. The Altar Society will again meet following the Wednesday-Lenten service on April 4.

CHILD STUDY CLUB

Chilsea Child Study club, at a regular meeting Tuesday evening, had as guest speaker a junior high school science instructor, James Hoffmeyer. He spoke on the topic "Extra-Sensory Perception."

Tuesday's meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Wellnitz with Mrs. John Pilkington and Mrs. Marion Dietle as co-hostesses.

The March 27 meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. James Shadon and the speaker is to be Dr. Jane Schwartz of Ann Arbor. Program topic for the evening is to be "Creativity."

Election of officers will be on the agenda for the March 27 meeting.

KINDER KLUB

Twenty-two members and one guest were present Tuesday evening for the regular Kinder Klub meeting. The gathering was held at the home of Mrs. William Storey.

Mrs. Benjamin Bower, acting in place of a representative of the Jackson Safety Council who had been scheduled to speak, gave an interesting talk on child safety and distributed information packets pertaining to the topic to each member present.

Announcement was again made of the spring training meeting for Child Study clubs to be held at Howell April 28 and members were urged to make plans to attend.

Co-hostesses for Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Marie Hummell and Mrs. Donald Day.

The next regular meeting, Tuesday, March 27, will be held at the home of Mrs. Alfred Smith and Benjamin Bower is scheduled as guest speaker.

JERUSALEM FARM BUREAU

Mrs. Arthur Kuhl, Mrs. Leo Weiss and Mrs. Bernard Herrest were delegated to compose letters to Senators Patrick McNamara and Philip Hart, Congressman George Meader and Con-Con Delegate Roscoe Bonisteel and Don Lawrence expressing views of Jerusalem Farm Bureau members following discussions at Thursday's regular meeting. The letters were signed by all members present.

Letters to the legislators expressed the group's opposition to Farm Controls Bills HR10010 and HR10011. The group's opposition to proposed elimination of the 15-mill tax limitation in Michigan's new constitution.

Seven families and one guest attended Thursday's meeting, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Weiss.

David Pastor gave the minute man report and his father, Dave Pastor, led the evening's discussion on the Con-Con question.

Following the business session, those present played cards during a social hour.

The next meeting, Thursday, April 12, is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Riper.

SOUTH SYLVAN EXTENSION

Mrs. Everett Van Riper and Mrs. William Pritchard were co-hostesses for Thursday's monthly meeting of South Sylvan Extension club. There were nine members present for the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Van Riper and began with a dessert luncheon at 1 o'clock.

A lesson on book buying, "Consumer Protection" was presented by Mrs. Raymond Liebeck and Miss Martha Bristle.

The April meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Forner.

ROGERS CORNERS FARM BUREAU

Friday evening 15 families were represented at a meeting of Rogers Corners Farm Bureau, held at the Mathias Winkler home.

Earl Huehl led the evening's discussion on the topic "Supports Become Farmer Control Trap."

Euchre was played during the social hour and refreshments were served.

The next meeting, scheduled for April 13, will be held at Pleasant Lake school with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buss as hosts.

LEARNING BY DOING

The seventh meeting of Learning By Doing 4-H club is scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 24, at the home of the leader, Mrs. Lewis Haselwerdt, and will be the occasion for the local parents' review.

Ideas for the review were the subject of roll call at the club meeting held last week Saturday at the home of Evelyn Rothfus.

Other business at that meeting included discussing plans for a club exhibit the group placed in Morkel Brothers store window for 4-H Club Week, March 8-10.

Arlis Wiseman, reporter.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Woman's club, with 20 members present, met Tuesday evening at McKim Memorial Library, hostesses being Mrs. David Colquhoun and Mrs. E. J. Weiss.

A program on stone cutting and faceting was presented by Mrs. Philip Futscher who demonstrated on raw materials she had brought with her.

Mrs. Lee Ferguson added interesting information related to her hobby of silversmithing.

The March 27 meeting is to feature a program of organ music.

Laura Jane Edinger, Clinton Schultz Wed At Methodist Church

Laura Jane Edinger of Munith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Edinger, 6831 Kennedy Rd., and Clinton Schultz son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cavender, 7238 Werkner Rd., were married at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the Methodist church.

The Rev. S. D. Kinde officiated in the presence of the couple's immediate families.

The couple's attendants were the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corwin of Napoleon.

Both the bride and bridegroom are students at Jackson Business University. They will make their home at Munith.

In addition to the parents of the couple, those present for the ceremony included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Brienbaugh, and his nephew and nieces, Earl, Sandra, Kay and Beverly GoBott.

WCS

Mrs. Robert Daniels was the program leader at the March 7 meeting of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service.

The meeting was held in the church social center and was preceded by a 12:30 p.m. luncheon.

Title of the program was "The Gift of Giving" which Mrs. Daniels described as "a universal talent" exemplified by a quotation from the pre-Civil War American author and philosopher, Henry David Thoreau, "... to affect the quality of the day—that is the highest of arts."

Emphasizing the changing status of women throughout the world of today, Mrs. Daniels mentioned Mahalia Jackson as an example of this "universal talent," the art of "affecting the quality of the day" because of Miss Jackson's remarkable talent for gospel hymn singing.

A recording of the hymn "Bless This House" as sung by Miss Jackson, concluded the program.

During the business session an announcement was made of a dish towel shower for the church kitchen. The towels may be turned in at any of the circle meetings.

MODERN MOTHERS

Modern Mothers Child Study club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Duane Weiss and Mrs. William Wade at the home of Mrs. Weiss. There were 12 members present.

The evening's program included a "white elephant" sale and a cake sale.

The March 27 meeting has been designated as a games night and will be held at the home of Mrs. John Steele.

A nominating committee was appointed at Tuesday's meeting to present a slate of candidates for election as officers for the coming year.

On the nominating committee are Mrs. William Wade, Mrs. Wilbur Werber and Mrs. William Stahlbaum.

URGING AIR TEST

Military officials are pressing for atomic testing in the atmosphere to develop a new arsenal of bombs that would jam international communications to warheads that would knock down incoming missiles.

There is general concern over possible Soviet weapons progress as a result of the Soviet Union's latest test series. Pressure is on the Administration to abandon its present policy of permitting only underground tests.

Washtenaw County Deaneary Elects Officers Sunday

Among the 63 women present for a meeting of the Washtenaw County Deaneary of the Detroit Archdiocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women were 13 from St. Mary's parish, Chilsea, and one from St. Joseph's parish, Dexter.

Chilsea women who attended were Mrs. Gertrude Young, Mrs. Leon Chapman, Mrs. Anna Dvorak, Mrs. George Hafner, Mrs. Henry Werner, Mrs. Nina Greening, Mrs. Howard Gilbert, Mrs. Lawrence Dann, Mrs. Joseph Hafner, Mrs. Edward Orlovski, Mrs. Frances Alber, Mrs. Joseph Laban and Mrs. Wayne Harvey.

Attending from Dexter was Mrs. Horace Lickly.

Principal business at the meeting was reading of annual reports and election of officers. The meeting was held Sunday at St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Saline.

Officers named are Mrs. Kenneth Hallock of Ypsilanti, director-at-large; Mrs. C. B. Badinger of Ypsilanti, president; Mrs. Fred Busch of Ann Arbor, treasurer; Miss Helen Parker of Ann Arbor, Miss Nina Greening of Chilsea, Mrs. Ted Roberts of Manchester, first, second and third vice-president, respectively; Mrs. Jack Starvas of Ypsilanti, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Richard Warty of Saline, recording secretary.

Mrs. Fred Busch of Ann Arbor and Miss Nina Greening of Chilsea were appointed to act on the deaneary's traffic safety committee.

The May deaneary meeting is to be held at St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys, on Old US-12, west of Chilsea, it was announced Sunday.

Also announced was the national meeting of the NCCW in November, for which Cobo Hall in Detroit has been reserved. It was suggested that women of all parishes in the Washtenaw Deaneary be asked to contribute 50 cents each to help with the expenses of the national meeting.

Beauty Shop Treatment Helps Many Women Hospital Patients in Recovery

Ann Arbor—A unique morale-building for a woman in the hospital is often "prescribed" by doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center: a visit to the beautician.

It has long been suspected that "if you look better you feel better," and many women patients have started on the road to recovery with the application of a little makeup and a whiff of familiar perfume.

Doctors, nurses and beauty operators confirm that a hairdo can have a "valuable therapeutic effect at a certain point in the patient's recovery." It's a good sign, they report, when a woman wants her hair done, although it's up to the doctor exactly when the grand occasion may be safely take place.

"A stylish coiffure helps a girl's morale anytime," says Mrs. Hazel Plumpton, beautician at the U-M Hospital; "so you can imagine what a booster it is for women who have been bedridden for months, to an exhausted new mother, or to any other patient on her way to recovery."

Many major hospitals now have resident beauticians. "Many a wheelchair or stretcher patient can make the trip to the beauty shop," Mrs. Plumpton reports, "otherwise, the beauty shop may go to them." If a woman can't be moved, a mobile unit can be taken to her bedside, equipped for any type of beauty treatment. A detagent shampoo—wet and sudsy like a regular shampoo—is used for patients in beds and wheelchairs, as it can be towel-dried rather than rinsed.

"At University Hospital we encourage patients to come to us. At the right point in their medical care, doctors feel it's good for them to get away from the hospital atmosphere if only for a little while," she explains. "I think we have the only room in the hospital painted a pale cameo pink!"

Hospital beauticians observe many precautions, varying with the patient's injury or disease. A head injury case is handled delicately. A gown and mask is always worn by the beautician to protect the weakened leukemia victim; or to protect herself from contagious diseases such as tuberculosis. Great care is taken when manicuring a diabetic because cuts are difficult to heal.

Nurses wholeheartedly endorse hospital beauty shops. "Before the one opened here in the U-M Medical Center," one nurse recalls, "we kept the patients' hair clean, but our styling attempts were far from beautiful. I'm afraid women patients used to feel like orphans in a storm when we finished their hair."

The University of Michigan is the only public institution among the 12 American universities which attract more than one-third of the National Merit Scholars.

Physical Science
Mr. Hayden's physical science classes just finished studying the necessities of sound and how the vocal cords produce sound.

The classes are beginning the six weeks studying the chapter on light. There are many questions the students have about light and how it works. They will learn the nature of seeing; measuring intensity of light; elements in seeing; and reflection of light and how it affects the eye.

Annual Staff

Ava McDougall, as the editor of the annual staff, is working very hard to make the annual of 1962 a big hit with everyone.

They just finished sending their first shipment which contained the senior pictures, teachers' information, and contents. Now they are finishing the sections on sports, advertisements, and all the baby pictures of the senior class.

Last Saturday the annual staff committee and their advisor Mr. Lagos attended a meeting at Saline to discuss the annual. This meeting was for the Journalism and annual staff members.

Mr. Hummell
Mr. Hummell attended Bowling Green State University. His home town is Findley, O.
Mr. Hummell went to school on a football scholarship.
During the summer he attended the University of Michigan. He's working for his masters degree in ceramics. Mr. Hummell wishes to teach ceramics in college. We all wish you the best of luck.
Mr. Hummell is thought of very highly by all the students in his art class as well as the student body.

He also sponsors H-Y.

Mrs. Straker

Mrs. Straker is the Home Economics teacher at Chelsea. She is presently striving to instruct all of the Home Ec. I, II and III girls in the techniques of sewing.
Mrs. Straker came from Tennessee and attended the University of Tennessee. She stated that the Northern students measure up very well to the Southern students, but she is disappointed that she can't find many students who say "U.A.I." Mrs. Straker is the advisor for both the Sophomore class and the Future Homemakers Association. She is well-liked by everyone.

Government Classes

Mr. Bedford's government classes are studying income taxes. The students are doing sample tax problems and are using both the short forms and the long forms. Short forms are the 1040. They have also been learning to file joint returns. Mr. Bedford has run off mimeographed test so that the students are able to practice filling out the forms. The next topic they will cover is the office of the President; his duties and his responsibilities.

SOCIOLOGY CLASSES

Mr. Bedford's Sociology class is studying the role of the consumer. This is the role of the individual and the role of the group as a user of goods and services. During the next six weeks, Mr. Bedford will try a new method of teaching in the hopes that the class will gain more from this method. He will divide the book up into parts. He has also assigned certain requirements for the students wishing to obtain a certain grade. To obtain an "A" the student must write two written reports during the six-week period, one set of questions at the end-of-one-of-the parts in each chapter. They must complete all of these requirements as well as participate in class to receive an "A." There are similar requirements for "B's" and "C's."

Intramural Sports Program

At a mass meeting, the students who were interested in the intramural sports met to discuss the organization of the games. The MICHIGAN WILDLIFE see two sides to every snowflake that falls. On the one side is help; on the other, hardship. Snow can provide shelter from severe cold for grouse which burrow beneath it to get protection; it can also be a deadly trap for quail and sometimes pheasants when high winds and ice accompany it to seal in these birds. Snow supplies a big source of water for fish through its spring runoff and additions to groundwater. When it melts too fast, the runoff scours stream bottoms, destroying fish food. There are many other ways in which snow plays the dual role of friend and foe of wildlife. Some animals don't take their chances with snow. Instead, they escape worries of the weather by sleeping. Among them are the woodchuck, gopher, and jumping mouse, Michigan's only true hibernators.

time was discussed and it was agreed that the games would be held from 7:00 until 9:00 three nights a week. The whole school would sign up for activities by classes. Then, teams would be made up with each class represented in every team. The gym was to be divided with basketball on one side and volleyball on the other. The schedule of competing teams will be posted on the bulletin board in the hall. The possibility of playing music was discussed and so were the chaperons for the games.

Three nights a week with two of these nights for basketball and the other night mixed with volleyball, dancing, ping pong, etc., were scheduled. The committee decided on the whole school divided equally into two groups, with the freshmen and sophomores on one set on teams and the seniors and juniors on the other set of teams. The play-offs will be on a Saturday night with a dance held afterward. The possibility of having the JCC or the Kiwanis Club members referee the games was discussed.

Journalism

Journalism club went on a field trip to Saline with members from the Annual Staff. At this meeting the schools representing our area discussed the problems of producing a school paper and financing the annual. From these groups the schools told how they produced their annual and school paper and presented these problems to be discussed by the other members of the group. After the discussion, refreshments were served. Chelsea worked in co-operation with Saline on this project. All students present were pleased with the results.

Mr. Morrison

Mr. Morrison came to Chelsea from Spokane, Wash. He previously taught at Dexter High for three years. Mr. Morrison has two children, both of whom are pre-school aged.

When Mr. Morrison was asked what he thought of CHS, he stated that we are a model school and that we have a well-behaved student body with good school spirit. Our faculty is good enough to be matched with any other school in the state. He feels that the administration is of the highest professional quality. Mr. Morrison sponsors the Journalism club and is an advisor for the sophomore class.

Typing

When you take a typing course at Chelsea, you learn everything from where the letter "a" is to what size of paper you are typing on.

Mr. Morrison's typing classes know the alphabet pretty well. They are now starting to concentrate on figuring the number of spaces per line and the number of lines per page.

The phrases "now type a little faster," and "try not to make so many errors" are quite familiar to the many students taking typing this semester.

Because typing is only a semester course it requires a lot of hard work to accomplish everything in time.
