School To Ask Mills Extra For Operation

Total Tax Levy Still Lower Than This Year

The Chelsea board of education unanimously requested two mills for operation for the 1962-63 school year. The millage election will be held Monday, May 14, at 7:00 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

In the 1962-63 budget, the board requested a 1.0 mill increase in the junior high school millage, which was recognized in the total program.

Additional teachers will be needed for the anticipated enrollment of 75 additional pupils next year. The total anticipated enrollment for next year is 1,800.

The approval of the two mills will prevent the district from having a deficit budget. The millage next year, including the two voted mills, will be two and one-half mills.

The tax increase next year will be the same as the tax increase in 1961, including the two voted mills.

The 1961-62 year was the first year that the Chelsea Standard is not levied the same as the tax increase in 1961, including the two voted mills.

Further explanation and additional information will appear in the Chelsea Standard in the next weeks.

Members of the board of education are: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fink, Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher.

Kindergarten Next Fall? Mark May 11

Elementary School Principal Arthur Schumacher, in response to inquiries of parents of children who will be entering kindergarten next fall, has announced that the annual spring "kindergarten round-up" and registration is scheduled for Friday, May 11.

The eligible to begin kindergarten in September, a child must be five years old by Dec. 1, 1962. "Kindergarten round-up" is for parents and children of kindergarten entrance age—the parents meet with a teacher to register their children while the children themselves have a first-hand experience at "going to school."

Children from the rural areas and their parents will be expected at the school at 9 a.m. while those living in town are to be in at 1 p.m.

Principal Schumacher suggests that residents of the Chelsea School District spread the word about the kindergarten round-up. Friends and neighbors who may have children of kindergarten age.

Area Planning Committee Names Officer Slate

DONALD ATKINSON and his physics instructor, John McGill, look over the Tesla coil which Atkinson is to demonstrate at the Science Open House at Chelsea High school. The open house is scheduled for Wednesday, April 25, beginning at 7:30 p.m. During his demonstration the apparatus Atkinson uses will produce a relatively small continuous bolt of lightning, an effect which sometimes is described as "St. Elmo's Fire." Atkinson is one of many demonstrations which are being prepared for the Science Open House.

Science Open House Stated Wednesday at Chelsea High

Science Open House at Chelsea High school is scheduled for Wednesday, April 25, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

There will be demonstrations by a number of students in addition to exhibits of students' work in the various science classes—physics, taught by John McGill; chemistry, taught by Wesley Covell; biology, taught by William Hunter; and physical science as studied in Stephen Hayden's agriculture classes.

Among the students who will be demonstrating apparatus are Donald Atkinson, David Fraser, James Maynard, David McLaughlin, Mark Steger, Mike Cross, Sherry Prinsinger, Bud Schramm, Diana Miller, Donna Snyder, Gary Czekanski, Patty Pastor, Stanley Hand and Gerald Schiller.

Atkinson's apparatus, called a Tesla Coil, produces a relatively small continuous bolt of lightning (15,000 to 30,000 electron volts). During the demonstration Atkinson will produce the effect sometimes referred to as "St. Elmo's Fire" (corona discharge).

Fraser's demonstration is a Van DeGraff generator used in nuclear physics experiments as particle accelerators.

A spectroscope, used to identify the chemical elements by their color and location in the spectrum is Maynard's project.

McLaughlin's demonstration is called a skin-resistance detector which is used to measure changes in electrical skin resistance due to a change in the amount of moisture present.

Steger's apparatus, a ram jet engine, will be used to demonstrate action and reaction, mass flow, critical temperature, linear and area expansion of objects due to change in heat.

Other demonstrations include a simple radio receiver which was given to the CHS physics department by the electrical engineering department of the University of Michigan; Bud Schramm will give this demonstration.

Photometry, a demonstration by Sherry Prinsinger on the inverse square law, shows why images are produced—reverted, erect and/or reversed.

The so-called "electric eye," a photo-electric effect, will be demonstrated by Mike Cross; gravitation effect, by Diana Miller, demonstrating inertia—gravity through the use of static electricity; and fluid statics—action by Donna Snyder using an apparatus which compares liquid wave motion to other wave motions such as electrical, sound, etc.

Czekanski will demonstrate the theory of simple harmonic motion on special apparatus for his project, "Physical Wave Motion"; Patty Pastor will work on color—demonstrating the solar spectrum and the bending of light through a prism; Hand's demonstration, a cloud chamber, uses an apparatus which shows the tracks caused by radioactive particles; and Schiller will explain the theory of optics.

Kiwanis Club Plans Easter Flower Sale

At a special board meeting immediately following the regular Kiwanis club meeting Monday evening, it was voted to go on record with an expression of appreciation for the outstanding achievement of the Chelsea Eighth Grade Band and the director, David Lindsay, in earning a First Division rating in the State Junior Band Festival here Saturday.

The board voted that the Kiwanis club should underwrite the cost of "Blue Ribbon" medals which the band members are entitled to wear as a result of their achievement.

The board decided, also, that in the event the senior band wins a similar honor at the Senior Band Festival April 28 at Lansing, Kiwanis will pay for the medals for that group, as well.

The Chelsea Junior Band was the unanimous choice of all judges for the coveted First Division rating.

Members at the Kiwanis club dinner meeting in the social center of the Methodist church included Dr. J. B. Casey of Jackson and Ray Steinbach of Chelsea.

The evening's program period was in charge of Floyd Fowler. He introduced Walter Zeeb, Jr. of Chelsea Greenhouses, who gave a talk on the types, varieties and characteristics of flowers and plants which Kiwanians will be selling Friday and Saturday in their annual Easter Flower Sale at Hilltop Plumbing store.

Zeeb's talk was planned to be of assistance to Kiwanians who are to act as salesmen at the two-day flower sale. The plants and flowers are obtained from the Chelsea Greenhouse.

Business at the meeting included assignment of Kiwanians to act as ushers at the community Good Friday service; M. W. McClure had selected two men from each of the participating church to serve as the ushers for the annual town-wide church from 1:30 until 2:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Eighth Grade Band Wins Top Rating at State Festival

Last Saturday proved to be a joyous day for local folks as the Eighth Grade Band came out of the State Festival competition with a unanimous First Division rating from the judges.

Six other groups were awarded a final rating of superior by the judges in their various classifications but in each case it was a split decision from adjudicators. The Chelsea organization was alone in the spotlight of a unanimous choice for a First Division rating.

Results of this festival entitled the Eighth Grade Band members to purchase Blue Ribbon medals in recognition of their fine achievement.

Retired Lapeer Implement Dealer Is Example of American Opportunity

Jimmie Harris is getting well. The best-known citizen of Lapeer county, and until the first of the year its biggest farm equipment dealer, is back home in Lapeer, after a sojourn in Florida that followed extensive surgery and weeks in the hospital. Recuperation from the ailing health, and automobile accident that laid him low is still uncertain, they say, and bound to be slow. But he'd better make it. A whole generation of confused American youth needs his example of rough-hewn self-reliance-at-work.

Born in the Kentucky hills and raised on hominy grits, Jimmie's business life began at 12 when an uncle gave him the runt pig of a litter and he went into hog-raising. Three years later, when he had saved $23, he bought the first suit he had ever worn and a bus ticket to Pontiac, where he got a job at $7 a week. A kindly merchant who staked him to eating money for the first week was not only repaid but he received $20 from Jimmie every Christmas for the next 30 years.

At 20, he was working eight hours in an automobile plant and eight hours more in his own pool parlor at the factory gate. In his spare time he sold real estate and used cars. On his day off he sometimes played poker around the clock, and made that pay, too. When illness struck Jimmie down last January, he was the Massey-Ferguson farm-implement dealer in Lapeer, and selling a million dollars worth a year.

Widely-known and loved, few people, even in Lapeer, knew that it was after World War II that Jimmie's wife began teaching him to read; or that he subscribed to 170 copies of The Lapeer County Press for the patients at the town's hospitals; or always bought a breakfast for the monthly quota of draftees before they left for induction; or remembered the town's retired, bed-ridden policeman at Christmas after others had forgotten.

An open letter to Jimmie Harris from Branch Manager Radebaugh "and all of us at Massey-Ferguson" acknowledging "the end of one of the most pleasant relationships any corporation ever had" occupied a full page in The Press of last Jan. 11. It said in part:

"We loved your friendliness, respected your business ability and integrity, and envied your knack of getting more fun out of business than most men get out of play."

"Goodbye, old buddy," it concluded, "and best of luck."

And so far, with everybody pulling for him, Jimmie's having it.

EASTER

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Political repercussions, or even threat of retribution for action taken on a given problem, have heavy over the heads of state legislators just as the prospect of the gulfstream does over a doomed man.

During nearly every session there is some issue which lawmakers say will mean death at the polls for one or more of their colleagues.

This threat is being applied in the current session, as it was in 1959, to the many supporters of several fiscal reform plans: all of which include a state income tax on individuals and corporations.

"You cannot vote for an income tax in Michigan and survive at the polls," contends Sen. Carlton H. Morris, a staunch conservative Republican from Kalamazoo.

His comment repeated most recently during a long and heated debate, was aimed at nine members of his own party who helped Democrats give the Senate the vehicles for a tax reform program.

Similar comments were made in 1959 when the House of Representatives approved an income tax plan, which was defeated in the Senate.

The following year showed one of the smallest turnovers in membership in the history of the state, however.

Among the nine Republicans presently warning that they were creating their own political death was Senate Majority Leader Frank D. Bender, St. Clair, who fought as hard as Morris and other members against the income tax in 1959.

Another is a freshman Senator from Traverse City, William G. Milliken.

Eloquent speeches by both Bender and Milliken on their record of seeking fiscal reform included a reference to the possibility of cutting short their political careers.

"It is true that you can't survive politically if you help enact a tax-revision plan which includes an income tax, then I think that is the price that must be paid," said Milliken. "If we are to do something which is in the best interest of the state and the nation, that action is political death. I think it will be well worth the cost."

"There are those who think, either shortsighted or small in outlook, that the people elect them to office to further their own interests. They are afraid to do what might be needed for fear that everyone might not agree on the exact same needs."

A basic principle of the American form of government is that the voting public puts its trust in a number of elected officials who are charged with the duty of doing what is right for the majority of the people.

The 1960 election in the House indicated voters did not take advantage of the opportunity to throw the "incumbents" who voted for an income tax.

It would appear likely that the public which re-elected most of the same members to the House would take the same action if either or both chambers of the legislature approved this same type of taxes in 1962.

One definite statement may be made for people: if any want to pay an income tax, many how ever, apparently are ready to accept one if they can be convinced this is the way Michigan's name can be paid without fear of "cash crisis," "payless paydays" and "unfavorable business climate."

"Senior citizens" who drive will be cheered by report of an agreement reached by auto-insurance companies in the face of pending regulation on their activities.

A bill introduced in the legislature this year was designed to prevent insurance firms from raising rates sharply on cancelling policies when motorists reached the classification of "senior citizen" at age 65.

Rep. Edgar Currie, 69-year-old Democratic lawmaker from Detroit, said the practice of discriminating against the elderly driver was becoming widespread before he introduced the measure.

Currie withdrew the proposal before it came up for a vote in the House.

Specific stipulation of the reasons for which auto liability insurance policies on private cars may be cancelled has been filed with the State Insurance Department on behalf of the more than 100 companies affiliated with the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, the Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, and several independent companies, he said.

"Age was not a factor in the reasons for which a company may cancel policies," he said.

The specified reasons for cancellation are confined to not by an insured motorist which would make "continuation of his insurance contrary to the public interest," said Currie.

Future Teachers Week Observed Throughout State

Michigan Future Teacher Association and its 8,000 individual members are celebrating Future Teacher Week, April 15-21.

Activities around the crucial of recruiting high school students to the teaching profession, observation visits, the third annual week to be held in April.

As a result of the rapid growth of the number of high school students desiring to become teachers, the Future Teachers Clubs have been organized throughout the state. These groups are sponsored by the Michigan Education Teacher Education Association, Michigan Standards Commission and the Michigan State Board of Education.

Teachers club members are observing the special week by doing "cadet" teaching — taking over classes in the grade schools in the presence of the teachers; helping individual students; discussion with pupils of any problems they may have; and generally observing class room teaching procedures.

David Sunborn, who is the Chelsea club's advisor, explained that there are 94 students in the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades who are actively engaged in the cadet teaching program as F.T.A. members.

To be eligible for membership in the Future Teachers club students must maintain a "B" or better average. There are now 30 members in the club.

Officers are Mary Ann Hanson, president; Christine Fisher, vice president; Rose Ann Hiltz, secretary; Virginia LeVan, treasurer; and Hilda Weir, club historian.

In this proclamation, designating Future Teachers Week, Governor Swainson urged all persons in Michigan to encourage and assist people interested in teaching and expressed his appreciation to all teachers in the state.

Future Teachers Week is being held during the fifth national April observance of Teaching Career Month, which is designed to focus national attention on the recruitment, preparation, and retention of top-quality teachers.

Tokheim Execs. Meet with Chelsea Government Officers

Village President Robert Daniels, Sylvan Township Supervisor Maurice Hoffman, and three other Chelsea men attended a "got acquainted" meeting and dinner Wednesday evening at the Whetstone Country Club in Ann Arbor to meet officials of the Tokheim Corp. of Fort Wayne, Ind., who had spent the afternoon at the corporation's new subsidiary plant in Chelsea.

The Chelsea plant, formerly known as Versatile Engineering, will now be called Tokheim Corp. Engineering Division.

Tokheim officials present included Louis Niezer, the corporation president and chairman of the board of directors; Perry Williamson, his assistant and secretary of the Chelsea division; David Cunningham, secretary of the corporation; Harold Mammoser, corporation treasurer and president of the Chelsea division; Earl Parrish, automotive sales manager for Tokheim Corp.; Arthur Richards, general manager of the corporation's General Products Division at Fort Wayne, Ind.; and Kenneth Heavin, executive vice-president of the Chelsea division.

The latter's father, Carl Heavin of Ypsilanti, was also a guest.

Additional Chelsea men at the dinner included J. V. Burg, II, president of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce; Councilman Merle St. Barr, Jr., who is chairman of the Economic Development Committee; and Paul Mann, president of Chelsea State Bank.

Mention was made at the dinner gathering that Governor Swainson had extended an official welcome to the Indiana firm on the opening of its subsidiary operation in Chelsea in a letter to Corporation President Niezer.

Heavin, who headed Versatile Engineering and is now executive vice-president of Tokheim's Engineering Division here, was commended at Wednesday's meeting for "his engineering abilities" and officials said they were confident that he will play an important part in developing the Chelsea division into a major part of the corporation's diversified operations.

1962 Traffic Death Toll Exceeded Present Day Figure by Five Times

Learning "Every year for the past 100 years the quiet clapping of horses hooves along a dusty road, the buggy bumping in the breeze. Things must have been pretty busy going then."

Don't believe it, says the National Safety Council.

The year 1962 was the highest point in America for horse-drawn transportation. And in that year there were 30 traffic deaths for each 100 million miles of travel.

That figure is more than five times as much as our present, automobile fatality rate.

Total circulation of Michigan's 324 public libraries last year was 30 million, an increase of 13 million in 10 years.

KHRUSHCHEV'S GOAL: An Egg a day for every Russian by 1980

We hear a lot these days about our "farm problems". Yet how many of us realize that American agriculture—problems and all—is the envy and the wonder of the world?

Witness Mr. Khrushchev's recent 7 hour speech to the Communist Central Committee. He openly admitted that Soviet agriculture has fallen critically short of its goals—in spite of concentrated efforts. He also made a sweeping promise and set an heroic goal for Soviet farms: an egg a day for every Russian by 1980. Significantly, he refrained from such a rash commitment on milk and dairy products.

Witness a few more facts: (1) Our farmers make up only 3% of our population, yet they produce abundant food for all of us at the lowest cost in history. Russian farmers represent 45% of the population, yet there is a constant threat of food shortage. (2) Food takes less of our income than ever before—only 20%. In Western Europe food takes 30% to 60% of the average income—in Russia, 60%.

Does this mean that the United States has no farm problems at all? Of course not. Fortunately, however, we are not problems of shortage and near-famine. Let's keep this in mind next time we read about our "farm problems". Let's remember, too, that "farm problems" are not altogether "farmers' problems". At stake, don't forget, is the food supply of 180 million Americans. You and me.

Let's not take our egg a day, our quart of milk entirely for granted.

Personal Notes

U. S. Marine Corporal Troy Lewis, stationed at the Norfolk Naval base, spent the past week here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis of Kalamazoo. Because he could not be at home for Christmas his parents had a Christmas turkey dinner for him on Sunday before he left to return to duty. The unseasonable snow which struck the area Sunday, added a realistic Christmas-like touch to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hoyer of Jackson were recent callers of Mrs. J. D. Wright who has returned to her home here after spending some time in Jackson with her son and family. Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Hawley and children, a Saturday caller at the home of Mrs. Wright and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Biegler was Neil Depp of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Henry Schneider returned home Tuesday night after spending six weeks with relatives. She went first to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Horace R. Getz, in Reno, Nev., remaining for a five-week visit. From there she flew to Rockford, Ill., to spend a week with another daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bartlett. While a guest of the Bartletts, they took her to Racine, Wis., to visit two sisters-in-law, Miss Alma Schneider and Mrs. Charles Erickson, and to Rebo, Wis., to call on friends.

Grass Fire
Threatens
Wide Area

Fifty acres or more burned over Wednesday morning after dry grass along the New York Central Railroad tracks caught fire, presumably from a passing train.

Chelsea and Dexter firemen, Auxiliary firemen and area farmers turned out to help fight the blaze and were successful in saving barns, houses and other buildings in its path.

Beginning at the Four Mile Lake crossing, at Blaess Elevator, a brisk west wind fanned the blaze and the fire spread rapidly.

The Jerald Heydlauff farm was struck first. The blaze was kept away from the buildings but raced on toward the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery school; however, that building, a brick structure, was also unscathed through the heroic efforts of the fire fighters.

At one point a small fire got started on the south side of Chelsea-Dexter Rd. but was spotted immediately and extinguished.

Firemen worked individually and in pairs along the railroad track east of the crossing where numerous small fires had started.

A grass fire was started Sunday along the tracks near Notten Rd., west of Chelsea and firemen were called out.

Shortly before the Dexter Rd. fire, Chelsea firemen had responded to a call from a resident on Clardale Court where a grass fire had started near a rubbish burner.

BIRTHS

A son, Harvey James, to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Proctor of Mason, Sunday, April 8. Mrs. Proctor is the former Donna Steers of Dexter.

Friendship
Night Set by Area Masons

Next Thursday, April 26, Olive Chapter No. 140, Royal Arch Masons, will hold a Friendship Night dinner in the Masonic hall in Chelsea.

Clinton Collyer, high priest of the Chelsea Chapter, said Masons of 10 area communities have been invited to attend the 7 p.m. dinner, planned for the occasion and the evening's program which follows.

Masons are expected to attend from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Milan, Saline, Dexter, Manchester, Stockbridge, Grass Lake, Jackson, and the entire Chelsea-Dexter area.

J. Allan Kaercher of Ann Arbor, district deputy instructor, will attend as a representative of the Grand Chapter of Michigan R.A.M.

Charles Cameron, Chelsea school superintendent, will serve as master of ceremonies for the after-dinner program.

A highlight of the evening will be the presentation of a life membership in Olive Chapter No. 140, R.A.M., to Herbert Loeffler of Chelsea.

Past Grand High Priest Smith is publisher of "Masonic World," is the author of a book, "Michigan Masonic History," served on the state's public relations committee and history committee for the R.A.M.

Collyer said the prominence of the speaker is expected to bring out a record number of Masons for the Friendship Night dinner and program. He said, too, that Masons are welcome to attend the program alone if they find it impossible to be present for the dinner.

If the Friendship Night, as planned for Chelsea at the instigation of High Priest Collyer, proves a success it is believed it may become an annual event held with a different area R.A.M. Chapter as host on a rotating basis.

The Jerald Heydlauff farm was struck first. The blaze was kept away from the buildings but raced on toward the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery school; however, that building, a brick structure, was also unscathed through the heroic efforts of the fire fighters.

The human race has endured so many crises that we are inclined to bet that it will survive the present world conditions.

The Keefers have visited a number of South American countries and have exchanged flags with them. These are included in the display which features flags of each state in the Union as well as national flags of other countries.

The Cub Scouts' visit to the display is set for 10:30 a.m. and the Keefers will be there to tell about the various flags.

Mrs. Vernon Parks and Mrs. Curtis Farley, den mothers, with Mr. Parks accompanying the group as one of the drivers, will be the adults in the group.

Cub Scouts of Den VI, planning to go on the outing are Arthur Farley, John Hepburn, Lee Dickolman, David Conklin, Barry Novess and Bruce Parks. The den chief is Eric Ruston.

Mrs. Parks said yesterday that if there are other groups who might want to join Den VI for the visit to the flag display, they may contact her.

Den VI boys and their leaders are planning to take a sack lunch with them.

Bulldogs Lose First Game to Stockbridge

Chelsea Bulldogs opened their baseball season at Stockbridge Thursday last week and were defeated in extra innings, 4-3.

With three Freshmen, three Sophomores and three Juniors in the starting line-up the Bulldogs gave a good account of themselves despite the fact that they were not victorious.

The game was scoreless until the fifth inning when Chelsea broke the ice by chasing Gary Dresch and Jack Crawford across the plate to take a brief 2-0 lead. In the last of the fifth, Stockbridge came to life with three runs of their own to tie the score at 3-3. But the Bulldogs came right back in the sixth to tie the score at 3-3 when Jack Crawford scored again.

In both the seventh and eighth innings Chelsea had men in scoring position but were unable to get that clutch hit to go out in front. In the bottom of the eighth Stockbridge scored on a single, a stolen base and another single to win, 4-3.

Dudley Homes went all the way on the mound for Chelsea and turned in a fine job as he allowed only four hits while walking four and striking out four.

The only Bulldogs to hit safely were Gary Dresch with a double, Curt Farley and Jack Crawford each with singles.

The line score was Stockbridge 4 runs on 5 hits and 3 errors; Chelsea had 3 runs with 3 hits and 4 errors.

School Officials Study Future of Instruction by TV

Charles S. Cameron, superintendent of the Chelsea School District, and Luther Kusterer, member of the Chelsea board of education, were among 211 midwest school administrators attending a meeting on airborne television instruction Wednesday of last week at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

The meeting is one of a series in which school administrators have been discussing the future of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction.

Midwest schools now have the opportunity to become members, take over the management and operation of MPATI and insure the continuation of airborne television lessons for $1 or less per student per year.

Dr. Bryce D. Gombold, executive vice-president of MPATI, told the group: "He said a new, four-year grant of $7.5 million from the Ford Foundation, announced last week, will be used to supplement funds from member schools and colleges. The grant will be received in annual installments of decreasing size. Complete financial support by the member institutions should be achieved by 1965-66," Dr. Gombold added.

To date MPATI has been supported entirely by donations from foundations and private industry.

Schools in the region served by MPATI spent an average of $444 per pupil on education each year, according to statistics compiled by the U. S. Office of Education. Membership in MPATI will raise this cost by one dollar to $445. (Continued on page 11)

McLaughlin Sets Record In Shot Put

Chelsea High school's track team finished second in a close contest at the triangle meet Tuesday afternoon with Saline and University High at Ann Arbor.

Chelsea's score was 47.9 points to winning Saline's 48.4 points. The U. High score was 40.7 points. Dave McLaughlin's shot put of 48 feet and 7 inches was a new school record, breaking the former record of 48 feet and 4 1/2 inches, a record achieved by McLaughlin in events last year.

McLaughlin also won both high and low hurdles. Pinckney's other Chelsea track team members at the meet are as follows:

Larry Cattell — first in pole vault, first in broad jump; and third in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes; Jim Maynard — first in the high jump; second in shot put; second in high hurdles; and fourth in low hurdles; Warren Porath — third in the broad jump; Mike Schrader — third in the 440-yard dash; and Keith Haul — fourth in the mile run.

Tuesday's meet began at 4:15 p.m. Next Tuesday, at Saline, Chelsea has a meet with Pinckney beginning at 6 p.m.

Faulty Jaw Formation Given As Cause for Deer Starving

Conservation Officer Donley Boyer this week received a report from the Rose Lake Wildlife Research Center on the deer carcass he sent there for examination after the animal had been found in a starved condition near here, March 22.

Hunters in the Chelsea area have been awaiting a report on the cause of the starved condition of the deer.

The deer was starved to death in spite of the fact that food was plentiful in the area and the animal was found to have food impacted in its jaws.

Ralph Bailey, district game supervisor, and Donley Boyer who is Conservation Officer for District No. 11, which includes the Chelsea area, each received a report this week on the findings of the Rose Lake Research Center as given by Dr. L. D. Fay, game pathologist.

Explaining that the animal examined was a doe almost two years old, the game pathologist said the mass of food packed in the cheek on both sides of the face is quite a rare condition; however, the game division laboratory has one or two records of similar occurrences in the past 10 years.

He explained that in most instances food impactions like the one found in the deer in question are associated with defective teeth. In other animals on which reports were available it was found that some of the teeth were missing or broken.

"Deer evidently cannot reach around with their tongue and chew food out from behind their teeth," Dr. Fay said, "and I believe the cause of food impaction in this doe was faulty occlusion of the lower teeth with the upper—the lower jaw was abnormally narrow so that the teeth could not meet, the inside edges of the uppers. The teeth wore on a slant and evidently weren't suitable for chewing woody winter browse."

Dr. Fay further explained that the doe was actually in a starved condition with all the fat reserves in its body used up. Perforation of one cheek, as noted by Conservation Officer Boyer at the time he found the starving deer, was the result of "a phenomenon known as pressure necrosis," Fay said. He pointed out that the pressure of the food mass against the cheek reduced the blood supply to the area, causing the tissues to gradually die until a break developed in the overlying skin.

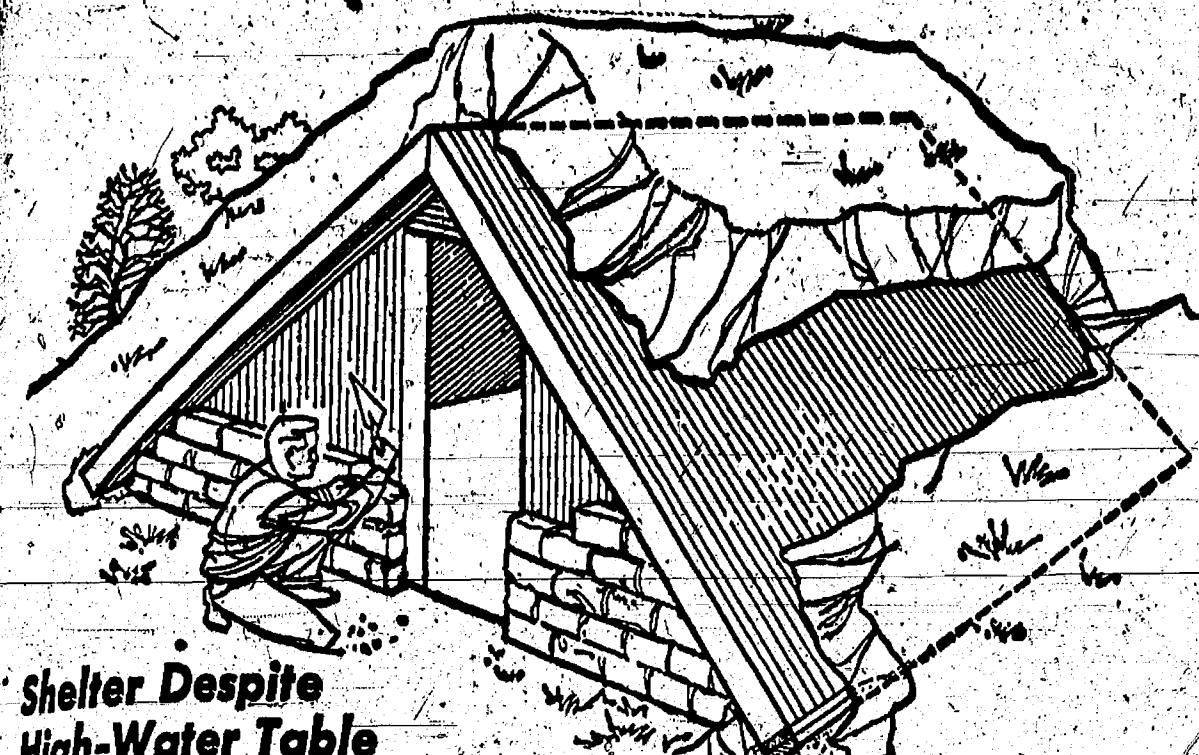

Dr. Fay compared the conditions to "bed sores" in humans; such sores or ulcers developing because of pressure on areas of the body, shutting off the blood supply to the area and causing the skin and underlying tissue to die away.

Dr. Fay concluded his report by saying that such food impactions are "interesting oddities to us and tragic for the deer but are insignificant compared with other causes of deer mortality."

District Game Supervisor Bailey, in his report to Boyer, said that Dr. Fay was a series of slides of the animal and the jaw which he "would probably be glad to show to interested groups."

Two Chelsea Young People Tour with College Choir

Information received this week from Kalamazoo College states that Carol Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron, is a freshman at the college, and has been named to the Dean's List for the winter quarter.

She was cited for having received a 3.5 of better average in her present enrollment for the winter quarter under the new program for year-around education at the college.

Miss Cameron was also listed as one of 30 Kalamazoo College choir members who have returned to school after the choir's annual spring tour. The choir, during its 10-day tour, appeared at various points in Pennsylvania, New York, Vermont, New Jersey and Ohio.

Conlin Details Program for Michigan Fiscal Solvency

By Representative Rolfe G. Conlin
If the people of Michigan are willing to accept one rough year of taxation they can put the State of Michigan, as well as Detroit and Wayne county which have special fiscal problems, on a basis of fiscal solvency.

In the discussions of the "Conlin Plan," the "Swainson Plan," the "Swainson Plan," and all others, there has been a serious omission—that is the necessity for helping local units of government solve their own fiscal problems—especially Detroit and Wayne county—while we also solve the state's admitted deficit problem.

As everyone knows I have proposed a solution for the state's fiscal problems. Governor Swainson has and so have others. In all these proposals, the factor of an income tax has been the average person has not been made aware of other factors in the various programs. That is the matter of helping the local property taxpayers. For that reason, I want to elaborate on my position, especially as it concerns Detroit and Wayne county which have serious deficit problems of concern to us in the legislature.

I have proposed that the state repeal the unfair Business Activities Tax which is levied on a business whether it makes any money or not. I have proposed the repeal of the intangibles tax because if we adopt an income tax, we should not be taxing both the source of income and the income itself. I have proposed to have the corporate franchise tax on the grounds that successful business should not pay a substantial tax for the privilege of doing business in the state and then pay a tax on its profits but also that business which fails to make a taxable profit should contribute something to the operation of government. I have proposed an income tax of three percent on individuals and five percent on corporations.

All of these would provide the state of Michigan with sufficient revenue to meet the needs of the future and to gradually retire our frightening deficit.

But I have gone beyond this. I have proposed that the state give up one percent of the four percent state sales tax and allow the counties to decide whether they want to pick up this one percent. It would be collected by the state and returned to the county of origin in order to reduce collection costs.

This is really the crux of the whole solution—and one which I believe the public has failed to understand.

I have proposed that the one percent county sales tax be divided half to the county general fund and half to the county school districts. The school share would be distributed on a formula similar to the state school aid formula but using a larger deductible millage feature.

The effect of these two would be to permit the counties to reduce their property taxes which are paid equally by city and rural taxpayers alike, and to permit the school districts to reduce or at least hold level—their local school taxes.

Governor Swainson, differing from my plan, has suggested that we impose an income tax of 3 1/2 percent—with half of one percent returned to the local units of government. He has suggested that the sales tax be removed from food and drugs. These are really the only major differences between our two programs.

The flaws in Governor Swainson's plan are these: the major problem in distributing revenues from an income tax is how to allocate it to each unit of government fairly. If the people of Detroit or Wayne county pay "X" number of dollars in income tax and are promised it will be returned to their local units, any tax expert will tell you that the problem of distributing this fairly becomes a practical impossibility. It would be more expensive to the tax itself to attempt to determine where each dollar came from and send it back there. If we attempt to return it on a per capita basis, obviously areas which have not paid very much income tax will receive more than they have paid.

The Governor's proposal to remove the sales tax from food and drugs is believed by most tax attorneys to be unconstitutional because the sales tax amendment to the constitution—adopted by the people—fixes the present tax base. Thus if we change the commodities on which the tax is based, we change the base itself. But even if the proposal were legal, it would take away $45 million a year from school districts and require the state general fund to make up the difference. Everyone knows that we cannot reduce public school revenues by this much, and therefore the Governor's proposal merely puts the state further in the red.

On the contrary, my proposal would provide more money for counties and school districts without upsetting the state treasury.

Any member of the legislature who is concerned with the problem of the whole state cannot help but be aware of the fiscal problems of Detroit and Wayne county. We cannot shut our eyes to the problem of the metropolitan area and simply solve the state problem—especially when the metropolitan area problem is repeated in a smaller degree in many of the outstate areas.

If Michigan is to solve its fiscal problem and stop shaming itself before the whole nation, it is going to have to face up to a year of "paying the piper." I am referring to the fact that none of the proposals I have made—and none of the proposals offered by others—can possibly take effect for at least a year. That is why I have reluctantly endorsed the idea of some special nuisance taxes to keep the state afloat for one year while these other tax reforms take effect. But I am sure that if the people realize what they can achieve, they will accept this long-range solution.

The same thing is true of Detroit and Wayne county. There is no way we in the legislature, nor any other agency, can save the metropolitan area immediately. Detroit and Wayne county need money July 1 to stay solvent. But I firmly believe that if this area will accept my suggestions, it too, can pull itself out of its fiscal morass and proceed with the rest of the state on a path of financial stability.

If we can adopt my proposal, Wayne county can retain the one percent sales tax—which will not cost its people any more than they now pay—and gain $40 million dollars. This will permit the county to pay Detroit $20 million now owed. Mayor Cavanagh is reported now to be considering a proposal to merge the city and county health and welfare departments. If Wayne county has the additional sales tax revenue, this is practical and the city will be saved between $8 and $9 million a year.

It certainly would not be so important as to tell Detroit what to do. But if Detroit wants a suggestion, mine would be to adopt a one-year occupations tax of one-half of one percent. Toledo and other Ohio cities have such a tax and have found it very simple to administer—and what is more important—it is simple to eliminate after a year's emergency use. The proposal for a city income tax, in the light of good tax administration, presents terrific problems of allocation between units of government from whence it came.

An occupation tax is not an income tax, but a privilege tax, and has none of the problems of deductions, exemptions, allocations and so forth. In addition, it could be so small it would not bear heavily on suburban people who work in Detroit.

I know that Governor Swainson has offered to work on a bi-partisan basis with legislative Republicans to put Michigan back on a sound financial footing. These comments are not intended to quarrel with the Governor's position, but merely to point out my concern of how the legislature must deal adequately with the state's fiscal problem—as well as that of the metropolitan area.

The Governor has proposed only one relief for property taxpayers—that is a removal of the personal property tax on industrial machinery and equipment. While I know his motive is good, I believe there is no way to compute how much individual local governments would lose by such a step and absolutely no way to reimburse each unit fairly from the state treasury for what it has lost.

I urge the Governor to consider the proposal to allow the counties and the school districts to share in the sales tax, making it possible for them to reduce the property tax for all property owners, and to encourage the metropolitan area to take the steps I have suggested to pull themselves out of the fiscal morass.

Briefly, again, the people of Michigan can put this fine state back on its feet financially and free the rest of the nation proudly if we will undergo about one year of tough taxes. If we do not, we have no one to blame but ourselves when the nation points to us as a people who refuse to face the facts of life.

National Red Cross

Aquatic School Scheduled for Michigan

Applications for the National Red Cross Aquatic School at Whitehall, June 13 to 23, are now to be accepted. It was announced by the Washtenaw County Red Cross Safety Service section.

The Michigan school is one of 23 being held this summer nationally and it will feature training leading to the instructor rating in Water Safety, First Aid, Canoeing. Besides participating in one of the "majors," students will attend specialized seminars on camp or pool management.

Anyone interested should contact the Washtenaw County Red Cross office at 662-5546.

FOOD COSTS RISE

The Labor Department has reported that the United States Consumer Price Index, pushed up chiefly by higher food prices, set a record in February.

An increase of three-tenths of 1 percent has ended four months of complete stability in the index. Other Government economic authorities have discounted the significance of this increase as a possible start of a long-term increase in price levels.

Each year, debris burning accounts for nearly as much damage to private and public property in Michigan as all other causes combined.

★ Full of Beans

This definitely is not a recipe column. Except, perhaps to examine the "recipe" for success of unusual farm product promotions such as the annual "Bean Smorgasbords" of Gratiot and Saginaw counties.

Recipes for exotic bean dishes are part of the same success story that began when groups of county Farm Bureau leaders got their heads together to see what could be done to promote their number-one cash crop, Navy beans.

Since then the smorgasbords have attracted thousands of people and national attention centered on special bean dishes created by local farm wives from recipes dreamed up in their own kitchens. Stars of the show are such unusual dishes as bean "caviar" (it cannot be distinguished from the non-bean variety). German chocolate cake, made with bean flour and delightfully moist and delicately flavored; all manner of cookies, doughnuts, cakes large and small, rolls, candies, buns and breads. All are made according to the rules, with beans as a major ingredient.

Surprisingly, bean flour does not produce a heavy product. Further, when baked, bean cakes, breads and cookies retain their moisture beyond ordinary flours. Some of the ladies prefer to use a finely ground bean flour in their baking; others use a "puree" of navy beans which is simple to prepare according to Mrs. Lela Godley, this year's Gratiot county smorgasbord chairman and originator of many of the unusual dishes. "Simply soak two cups of washed navy beans in 4 cups of hot water for 1 hour. Add 2 cups hot water and one-eighth teaspoon butter. Simmer on low heat about 1 1/2 hours. Strain while hot—and that's all there is to it. Mrs. Godley says this recipe will yield about 4 cups of puree which can be stored in a refrigerator, or kept frozen for up to six months. Mrs. Lloyd Shankel (Lillian) used the puree this year to turn out a Cherry Nut-Bean Chiffon cake that would have done credit to the Chef at the Waldorf. Working through the Gratiot county Farm Bureau, she and a group of other women have developed a long list of recipes that begin with the famous U. S.

Seneca Bean Soup and conclude with a "beans and mold." All of which goes to show what farmers can do when they set their minds to it—to promote their own good products.

Americanism: Getting "mostest for the leastest." A box of candy usually brings a smile to the face of any regardless of age.

DOUBLE QUICK—that's what our telephone men are these days, thanks to a new development by The Bell Telephone Laboratories. The Bell Labs have come up with a new device called a "coil spring connector," making it possible for telephone men to connect and disconnect small wires in half the time. It's another example of Bell System teamwork that paid off. Finding better and faster ways of doing everyday telephone jobs like this helps Michigan Bell keep the cost of your service low, the quality high.

And what happier time to get a lovely new extension phone? It puts your calls close at hand in the bedroom, kitchen, den, or basement playroom. Think of the steps you'll save—for only pennies a day. And you can choose a style to fit your needs. A lovely PRINCESS phone—little, lovely, with a night light, too. Or a convenient wall phone for busy housewives. Or a desk phone for Dad in the den. All are available in colors to add springtime sparkle to your home. To order, just call our business office.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS may have been a housewife's dream where the prices of butter and eggs and a lot of household things were concerned, but here's an exception: Long Distance rates actually cost less today than they did then! In 1923, for example, a 3-minute evening station call from Lansing to San Francisco cost $6.40. The charge tonight? Just $1.65, plus tax. It's another way efficiencies in the telephone business make your service a bigger value than ever before.

add a GARAGE

With the approaching spring weather many of you will be planning to build a new garage to protect the investment you have in an automobile. We will be pleased to show you plans for many styles of modern garages. We can also supply pre-fabricated or knocked-down materials or aluminum. Airborne TV Classes . . .

Dr. Gubbold told the school leaders that by 1985, subject to allocation of frequencies by the Federal Communications Commission-MPATI could telecast over four or perhaps six channels instead of the current two, cover a greater area by flying at higher altitudes and triple the number of courses offered.

The airborne program telecasts video-taped lessons from a high-flying aircraft to schools in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. The project is aimed at upgrading the quality of education on a vast geographic scale at a cost within reach of school budgets.

School Board Briefs

The board voted unanimously at the regular meeting Tuesday to request two mills for operation for the 1967-68 school year. The election will be held Monday, May 14, from 1:00-8:00 p.m. at the Junior High school gymnasium. (See article on page 1.)

Luther Kusterer reported on his trip to Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., where he attended a seminar on the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction.

An insurance proposal, submitted by Martin Miller was referred to the finance committee for further study.

Luther Kusterer announced his candidacy for another term. The annual school board election will be held June 11. Howard Flintoff announced that he will not seek re-election for another term.

The board voted unanimously to organize a Citizens Committee from the names submitted by the board members. The first meeting will be Monday, April 23, at 8:00 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The committee is composed of a cross-section of the electorate of the district.

The driver education program for the summer was approved. Any adult wishing to enroll in the program should call Robert M. Taylor at the high school.

The resignation of David Johnson, librarian, to be effective May 1, was accepted by the board. Mr. Johnson has accepted a Civil Service position as librarian-administrator on the island of Okinawa.

The superintendent was authorized to represent the board of education at the meetings of the tax allocation boards.

The board agreed to proceed to organize the district as a registration district.

Howard Flintoff will present the diplomas to the 1961 Seniors at Commencement.

In announcing that he will not seek re-election Flintoff made the following statement.

"Having served nine years on the Board of Education has been a rewarding experience for me. I am proud to have had the opportunity to serve our schools during the years of their greatest growth.

"The support I have received from the residents of the School District has been very gratifying and I thank them.

"The associations that I have had with Superintendent Charles Cameron, the principals and the faculty of the Chelsea School system, and fellow board members, past and present, have meant a lot to me and I shall miss them."

Get A Permit Before You Burn

Getting ready to burn leaves and rubbish around your home or cottage this spring? If so, don't forget you'll need a burning permit from the Conservation Department. It's easy to get one provided, of course, conditions are safe. Just drop into your nearest Department district or field office. A telephone call to either office will also do; your permit will be filled out over the phone and mailed to you. Permits are also available from conservation officers, fire officers, and townsmen. An issued permit means that weather conditions are "A-OK" for burning in your area. It also tells Department field men where you'll be burning so they can come to your rescue in a hurry if things get out of control. It's an important piece of paper. And, it's free. —Mich. Dexter Depot Secured for CD Supplies

Negotiations have been completed between the county and the New York Central Railroad for the use of the Dexter depot as a Civil Defense supply depot for the western half of Washtenaw county, as announced by county Civil Defense Director Col. Gerald Miller Tuesday. Miller commended the railroad for their splendid cooperation in offering the use of the depot at Dexter for the period of one year at no charge to the county. Railroad officials have assisted in every possible way to facilitate negotiations, he added. Supplies to be stored here for distribution to the various buildings which will be designated as fallout shelters in the western half of the county will include food, water, containers, medical supplies, radiological instruments and some emergency engineering tools, under present plans, the county director said.

William Day is the county coordinator in charge of the supplies for the county and Vic Sindlinger has been appointed to assist Day in the western half of the county covering the Dexter, Chelsea and Manchester area, the areas to be supported by the Dexter supply depot.

Just when the supplies will begin to arrive depends mostly on when final selections are determined for the buildings which will be known as fallout shelters in case of an emergency.

It takes an intelligent citizen to keep up with what is going on these days.

Officers Re-Elected at Maple Grove Cemetery Association Meeting

The Maple Grove cemetery annual meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Inez Rank and officers were re-elected as follows: Alfred West, president; George Welch, treasurer; Mrs. Inez Rank, secretary.

Trustees elected for three-year terms are Oscar Widmayer, Mrs. George Welch and Lynn Kern. Arrangements were discussed for the cemetery clean-up in addition to that to be done by individual lot owners, themselves.

Higher Corn Yields Possible By Increasing Planting Rate

More plants per acre mean corn. Michigan farmers cannot expect top corn yields with low plant population. Population is the term used to measure the number of plants per acre.

Most farmers should plant about 16 percent more corn per acre, says Milton Erdmann, a farm crops specialist at Michigan State University. This additional seed will allow for losses due to poor germination, insect attacks and mechanical damage during cultivation.

According to Erdmann, farmers planting corn in highly productive mineral and muck soils should plant so there will be between 18,000 and 20,000 plants per acre at harvest time. This means that most farmers should plant about 23,000 kernels per acre, Erdmann says. Many will be able to obtain yields between 120 and 140 bushels per acre with this plant population, he adds.

On first class soils, he advises planting so there will be a plant population of 18,000 at harvest time. This should result in yields of 80 to 100 bushels, Erdmann estimates.

On second class soils, aim for between 12,000 and 14,000 plants per acre at time of harvest. Moisture will usually be a limiting factor on these second class soils, he says.

Corn planted at the State Minimum Tillage Field Day in Leona, Mich. May 3 will be planted at a rate of 23,000 kernels per acre. This should result in a harvest time plant population of about 20,000 plants.

Nearly one-fourth of Michigan's 1,100 miles of Interstate highways will be six or eight lanes wide. When the entire system is completed, about 235 miles will be six lanes wide while nearly 30 miles will be eight lanes wide. All other Interstate routes will be divided four-lane highways.
