Two Win U.S. Savings Bonds From Local 437

Two Federal Screw Works employees, Dorothy Eisenman of 121 Summit St. and Stephen Allen of Stockbridge, received $25 government savings bonds as prizes from the Committee On Political Education (COPE) of UAW-CIO Local 437.

Charles Carty of Central Fibre Products Co. drew the winning names at a membership meeting held Saturday at the local Union Hall. All contributors to the COPE fund were eligible to compete for the prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Breitenwischer, accompanied by their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Britton and children of Jackson, spent last week camping at Traverse City state park. They visited points of special interest in the area and were in Traverse City to view the parade at the annual Cherry Festival.

UNUSUAL BLOOM

This night blooming cactus, owned by Mrs. Emma Seitz, bloomed last week for the first time since it was grown from a leaf rooted seven years ago. It had four blossoms, one opening each night beginning Tuesday. Many of Mrs. Seitz's friends and neighbors came in to watch the bud unfold to a beautiful white flower with feathery petals surrounded by finger-like spikes. The flower, which is very fragrant, remains open until morning and then closes into its original bud shape, and hangs limply on its stem. Before the bud opens it gives the appearance of a man's pipe on a long pipemeter. The stem and bud shoot from the end of leaf in the manner common to all cactus plants. It is a member of the cactus family and is common in the tropics but rare in this part of the country.

CHOSEN FOR CAMPING TRIP—Sue Eisenbeiser (left) and Diane Worden are shown preparing for departure this morning on the "Gypsy Trip" awarded Girl Scouts who were chosen as alternates for the International Girl Scout Roundup. Miss Worden is the alternate who was named from Huron Valley Girl Scout Council; Miss Eisenbeiser is one of the adult leaders for the trip. She has worked with the 10 alternates since last November at weekly training sessions in preparation for the Gypsy Trip. The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council girls joined a group from Indiana who had met them at Hilltop, at Ann Arbor.

Girl Scouts, Advisors Ready For Gypsy Trip to New York

Diane Worden and Sue Eisenbeiser leave today with a group of Indiana Girl Scouts and adult advisors for a combined Tribal Trails and Huron Valley Girl Scout Council Roundup Gypsy Trip which will take them to Camp Little Natch near Fort Ann, N. Y., and will include camping and sightseeing enroute.

Diane is one of 10 Girl Scouts from the Huron Valley Council who were chosen as alternates to the International Girl Scout Roundup at Button Bay State Park in Vermont. The Gypsy Trip is for the pleasure of alternates not required to fill in at the roundup for delegates unable to attend.

Last week-end Huron Valley Girl Scouts who attended training sessions for the Roundup and the Gypsy Trip at Hilltop Girl Scout camp at Ann Arbor, had an opportunity to meet two Girl Scouts from Belgium who are attending the Roundup. The girls from Belgium are Nadine Lempreur of Leige and Beatrice Mommen of Antwerp. The Belgian girls had been guests of Girl Scouts in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Plymouth since their arrival in June.

Sue Eisenbeiser, who has been in Girl Scout work as a Scout and an adult leader for the past 10 years, is one of those in charge of the Gypsy Trip. She has been active in training all the alternates of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council at weekly training sessions since last November.

The Tribal Trails Council of Indiana, at the regular meeting Tuesday evening, were alerted to the fact that children unknowingly are causing considerable extra work for the Public Works Department because of dropping stones, sticks and other refuse into sanitary sewer manhole covers; the objects are forced through the hole left in the cover for the purpose of providing a hold to lift the cover when necessary.

As sticks and refuse accumulate, there is interference with the flow of sewage and nearby residents are bothered with the nuisance of back-up of sewage into their basements.

Village officials ask that parents impress upon their children that under no circumstances should they drop objects of any kind through the manhole covers.

Instances of the practice observed by residents should be reported at once.

Two Area Youths Enlist in Navy
 Arthur Haab, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haab, and David Curtis, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Curtis, left Wednesday to report at the Naval Training Station at San Diego, Calif. Both had enlisted together for four years' service in the U. S. Navy.

Haab, a graduate of Chelsea High school, has been employed the past three years at the Double-A Products plant at Manchester.

Curtis, who graduated from Manchester High school, had been employed as a custodian in the Manchester school system.

President Pro-Tem Merle Barr, Jr., took over meeting at this point for a discussion with Robert Walz regarding easement for a sewer line across the northeast corner of his property on McKinley St. The easement also involves the Chelsea School District so the Council adjourned and attended the School District meeting.

Further discussion related to M-92 speed limit and a request is to be made for a meeting with representatives of the State Police and State Highway Department for further study of the matter.

Motion made and approved to pay Sellers Construction Co. $9,771.63, which is 90 percent of final payment of South Main St. sewer construction.

Motion approved for final payment to Hough Brothers for sewage treatment plant construction. Amount: $5,668.88.

Motion approved to request permission from state to place Community Fair banner across Main St.

Motion approved to enter into maintenance contract with the State Highway Department for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Wheat Crop Better Than Last Year

If favorable weather continues, this week-end will see the end of the 1962 wheat harvest.

The first loads of wheat were brought in to Blesse Elevator at Four Mile Lake on July 7 by John Holzhofer of near Jackson and Arthur Grau of Chelsea-Manchester Rd. This was exactly two weeks earlier than last year's harvest.

Three years ago, the biggest run of the 1959 harvest occurred during the middle of July; it was an exceptionally dry season, similar to conditions this year.

Specialists had predicted that this year's harvest would begin in earnest on July 7, their calculations proving accurate for this area.

Winter kill, because of ice, was expected to cut down yield—it did in many instances—but yields in general were better than expected.

At Chelsea Milling Co. Lyle Haselswerdt, assistant manager, said that wheat brought in there was of premium quality, 60-61 lbs. test weight, during most of the past two weeks; following recent rains, however, some was classed as No. 2 weighing approximately 58 lbs. Moisture content remained below the permissible 14 percent.

William Blesse, one of the owners of Blesse Elevator, commented that some farmers claimed a yield of 60 bushels per acre on certain areas of their land and much less than that in other areas where the effects of winter kill cut yield to as low as 12 to 15 bushels per acre.

On the whole, Blesse said, wheat this year was of much better quality than last year's crop.

Prepare Now For Entries in Fair Parade

George Atkinson, who is parade chairman for the Chelsea Community Fair again this year, said this week, "Now is the time to start making your plans to participate in the parade."

The parade is to be held Saturday, Sept. 8, starting time being 2 p.m.

Those planning to enter floats in the parade will want to make their arrangements well in advance. Each float will be permitted one queen candidate.

There will be first, second and third prizes in each of the two categories—schools and youth organizations, being one category and adult organizations, business and industry being the other.

All who plan to enter the parade should notify Atkinson as soon as they can.

Chelsea Community Fair dates this year are Sept. 6-8.

The big Saturday parade is one of the highlights of the annual event.

Somebody Goofed

The report of the fire at the John Walz home on Old US-12, East, published in the July 12 issue of The Standard should have given the date as Thursday, July 5; also, that the owner of the house is John Walz.

School Board Briefs

At the July 17 meeting of the Chelsea School District Board of Education, a resolution was passed to make application to borrow $100,000 against the state aid payments for the 1962-63 fiscal year. It was pointed out that last year the sum of $125,000 was borrowed in this way.

Superintendent Charles Cameron was authorized to attend the Sept. 13-15 meeting of the Michigan Association of School Administrators at Mackinac Island.

Purchase of new typing tables for the High School authorized; the present tables to be put to use at the Junior High school.

Contract authorized for $4,000 per year for a minimum of a 40-hour week for a mechanic to assist in maintenance of buses and other related maintenance.

Bills approved for payment in the amount of $7,749.74.

Report Any Missed Garbage Pick-up at Once

Village officials mentioned yesterday that for the past two or three weeks, because of extenuating circumstances, there have been instances where the garbage and rubbish pick-up crew have missed making some of the regular pickups.

Village officials said that whenever this occurs, residents should call and leave a message at once at the Chelsea Electric and Water Department; the failure to make the pick-up is unintentional and a call placed immediately will remedy the situation.

Rehearsals Held Each Wednesday; Others May Join

The Summer Community Band is off to an impressive start. Sixty-two members were on hand for the first rehearsal last week and a continued high interest is anticipated with the first public performance scheduled for 8:00 p.m. tomorrow night in the downtown parking lot between East Middle and Park Streets, weather permitting.

Several adults of the area are members of the group and the invitation to join for others who play band instruments is still in effect.

Rehearsals are being held every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Grade Bands are meeting regularly on a daytime schedule with very excellent progress being made. Band students who are unable to take the summer classes will find themselves hard-pressed to catch up with their classmates in September.

In addition to the local Summer Band program, some Chelsea students are studying various phases of instrumental music in summer camps. Beverly Windell has just returned from a two-week session at Interlochen, sponsored by the Kiwanis club, and Barry Viesel and Dick Laubon are currently enrolled there for advanced study. Linda Blesse has just returned from the Smith-Walbridge major-camp at Syracuse, N.Y., after a week of intensive training.

The Summer Community Band is scheduled to present concerts in the downtown area on alternating Friday nights. The public is invited to attend and enjoy the music. The audience may sit in their cars or use the bleacher facilities north of the Park St. fence.

Four Chelsea women were among the 72 persons who participated in a tour of the Irish Hills Friday, sponsored by the Washtenaw county Senior Citizens group. The tour started at Ann Arbor at 1 p.m., two buses being utilized to provide transportation.

Another project of the senior citizens is a trip to Dub to be held for tomorrow.

Last Friday's tour, in charge of Mrs. Walter Barcis, included dinner at an Irish Hills restaurant before the group returned to Ann Arbor. Those who participated in Friday's tour are Mrs. Winifred Geffron, Mrs. Lucille Olson, and the Misses Lettie Kaecher and Corn Feldkamp.

Past 20 Years Has Seen Great Advances in Handling, Using Blood

Outer space with its rockets and astronauts is so dramatic that we may overlook another frontier of science—the inner space of our arteries and veins. The battle here is one in which all healthy adults may take part and in which triumphs mean health and longer life for our friends, our families and ourselves.

On this frontier, we learn from the July issue of the American Legion Magazine, we are doing very well. Thanks to research launched in World War II, writes Tom Mahoney in an article, "A.B.C.'s of Blood," we have learned more in the last 20 years about handling and using blood than in all the previous centuries.

"While other countries have contributed to the advances," he says, "most have come from American laboratories. In the vital inner space of arteries and veins, the United States leads the world."

We are now transfusing our blood at the rate of more than 5,500,000 pints a year. Since May 27, 1961, the American Association of Blood Banks and the American Red Cross have co-operated in a reciprocal clearing house system under which blood needed by a patient may be supplied and credited to him by a relative or friend perhaps hundreds of miles away.

Surgery has been revolutionized by the availability of this blood. Open heart operations, for example, are possible only because of extra blood. It has also helped cut the toll of auto accidents.

But the increased use of blood makes the need for donors greater than ever. If you are between 21 and 60 and in good health you should give blood regularly to your nearest bank or collection center. It is painless and your body replaces its volume in a few hours.

"It is a great thrill," writes Mahoney, "to see a patient, perhaps a child, come out of shock and back to life with blood that you have contributed."

Ten Commandments for Traffic Safety

Some time ago we read with interest a list of "Ten Commandments for Traffic Safety" formulated by the National District Attorneys Association. We were intrigued with this modern adaptation of the commandments, and filed the list away for future reference.

And now that vacation time is here and everybody every place seems to be taking to the highways, we thought it might be a good idea to pass this "Code for Drivers" along to you:

- I. Thou shalt not murder by motor.
- II. Thou shalt not mix alcohol with gasoline.
- III. Thou shalt not exceed the speed limit.
- IV. Thou shalt not follow too closely.
- V. Thou shalt not weave from lane to lane.
- VI. Thou shalt not fail to signal.
- VII. Thou shalt not lose thy temper.
- VIII. Thou shalt be courteous to thy fellow motorist.
- IX. Thou shalt favor the pedestrian and bicyclist.
- X. Honor traffic laws that thy days may be long.

How To Balance the Budget . . .

PARDON US if we fail to cheer the White House budget-balancing act, wherein record peacetime spending of $92.5 billion is shown to be $500 million less than anticipated receipts of nearly $11 billion more than last year! In keeping with this optimism is the request for 46,000 more Government workers (bringing the total up to 2,538,000) and raises for all to help spend it.

It would make too much sense to base the budget on what we took in this year!

THE NEW SWIMMIN' POOL

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Every year a new record. That's the story of Michigan's state government budget, which this year jumped to $513.5 million.

In recent years it has grown in leaps: from $435.5 million in the 1960-61 fiscal year to $462.6 million last year, and now $513.5 million.

But many of the large budget-consuming departments and divisions will work this year with basically the same budget they had last year.

Educational institutions, from the grade schools through the colleges and universities, gained the highest boosts. The education budget last year was $109.6 million. Some $116.5 million was set aside for it this year.

This year a boost in the school aid formula and the anticipated increase in primary enrollments pushed the budget for school aid payments to $68 million from $40 million in the past fiscal year.

Republican majority leaders in the legislature estimated revenue from taxes around $536 million. The excess, if there is any when the taxes are collected, is designed to reduce the still mounting deficit.

A new item in the budget this year calls for the creation of a state camp facility similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps units in use in the 1930's.

The legislature set aside $110,000 for operation of the facility for juvenile delinquents, and $80,000 for its initial physical establishment.

Michigan officials have high hopes of cornering about 10 percent of the Federal appropriation for man power development and training programs.

Initially 14 courses under the act will be offered to some 400 persons in Alma, Battle Creek,

Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Muskegon. Later courses are planned in Bay City and Detroit, as well as several other cities.

The projects will be a prime example of federal-state-local co-operation.

The Federal government set down the ground rules and will provide the funds. State officials are co-ordinating the programs, which are suggested and designed by local committees working with public school officials and the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Charles C. Killingsworth, Michigan State University labor-industry expert, predicts great success for the program in the state.

The courses offered are set up on recommendation by local officials after a study of the needs of the labor market. Killingsworth estimates that four out of five trainees under the program will have jobs waiting for them when they conclude the courses. The others will "have a good chance to get a job," he said.

Courses under the program will be similar to several already conducted in various areas under the Area Redevelopment Act, with one major change. Under the Area Redevelopment Act, communities must be classified as "distressed areas" to qualify for Federal funds.

Success of the ARA courses has already been evidenced. In the Detroit area, three nurses' aide programs were completed in May. Of 19 persons who completed the courses, 16 were employed.

A similar ARA course in Port Huron for spring machine operators had 30 students. All 30 had jobs waiting for them.

Basically the manpower development and training programs will be geared to help the unemployed re-situate themselves in a labor market for which they are not presently qualified.

Killingsworth said Michigan hopes to receive $43 million of the initial $435 million Congressional appropriation. This would allow the training of an estimated 100,000 persons in Michigan.

Something new was recently added to Michigan's network of freeways. A 24-hour patrol by State Police was inaugurated on a semi-permanent basis after a month-long pilot study.

"About 100 troopers split into three shifts will be assigned to the freeway patrol from 20 posts," said State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs. "They will be there to assist stranded motorists as well as for traffic supervision and crime prevention."

The uses of the freeway patrol were shown well in the preliminary study of the idea.

The pilot test covered an 83-mile stretch of Interstate 94 between Battle Creek and New Buffalo. A special compilation during the month showed assistance was provided to 371 motorists.

Of these, 189 were for tire failure; 91 motorists ran out of gas; 164 had motor trouble; 37 needed help with other mechanical failures; and 100 wanted information on food and lodging or routes, be-

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

As a general rule, thumb pamphlets we get from the Department of Agriculture don't call for too deep meditation or prayer. But ever-once in a while we'll get one that will stir up a little thinking.

Per instant, the one I got last week was telling about a banker in Georgia inventing a gadget that'll reset the shafts on a cultivator to fit the different width of crop rows. This gadget will do the job in 10 minutes instead of the two hours it takes now.

Just what a banker is doing meddling in the farm business, I don't know. But everybody else, including this feller Willie Sol Estes, seems to be getting into the act, so I reckon it's legal. But anyhow, the time is coming when all you'll need to operate a big farm is a couple fellers that knows how to push control buttons and operate one of them computers.

The folks in the Agriculture Department has already proved by experiments that the only good you get from cultivating corn is weed control, and that you can now do this with chemicals, so unplowed corn fields will produce as much corn as them that is plowed or cultivated.

The reason I bring this item up, Mister Editor, is to wonder if we ain't fast coming to another major farm problem. What's going to happen in another 10 year to the thousands that is working on farms that won't be needed?

And I was reading the other day where power tractors on the farm has replaced 20 million horses in the last 35 years, saving 70 million acres of hay that used to be needed to feed those horses.

Things is changing fast in agriculture in this country and sometimes I wonder if them Congressmen that's busy extending the New Frontier has took due note of these changes and made any plans for the future.

And I see by the papers where a new invention in school houses has been noted. A school in Michigan is 'boarding up the windows for next year. They claim this will keep the young'uns from getting distracted by outside things and that it's a very advanced idea in education. I'm agin it. Mister Editor. It won't work. Furthermore, if Johnny can't read and Johnny can't spell, like the newspapers is claiming, it won't be long under this new idea till Johnny can't even see.

Me and my old lady was discussing this new idea in education and she allows as how, windows or no windows, the real reason Johnny can't read is because Johnny, dad blast him, won't study. But my old lady is old-fashioned in these matters, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Need Extra Care To Preserve Food In Hot Weather

Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold during the picnic season when most food poisoning cases are likely to occur.

This is the advice of Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre, whose suggestion is appropriate at any time but especially applies at the period of the year when many meals are exposed to summer temperatures and are likely to be consumed hours after the food is prepared.

Food that are particularly susceptible to food poisoning unless they are properly stored for are cream sauces, puddings, cream pies, mayonnaise, cream fillings, and salad dressing—especially those utilizing eggs and cream in their preparation.

The Department's foods and standards and laboratory divisions recommend that foods intended to be served cold be kept at temperatures of 60 degrees or less. Hot foods should be kept at temperatures of 130 degrees or over.

Avoid keeping foods at room temperatures, it was suggested by foods and standards chief J. L. Littlefield.

Each summer Department microbiologists detect bacterial contaminants in foods submitted for analysis by the foods and standards division following instances in which persons, frequently picnic goers, were made ill from eating certain food. If bacterial contaminants enter foods during preparation, the warm summer temperatures stimulate their growth unless caution is taken in cooking and refrigeration.

Proper cooking is vital. Foods intended to be eaten hot should be kept heated during the interval between preparation and serving. For cold foods, chilling and good refrigeration is suggested between the time the dish is prepared and when it is served, Littlefield said.

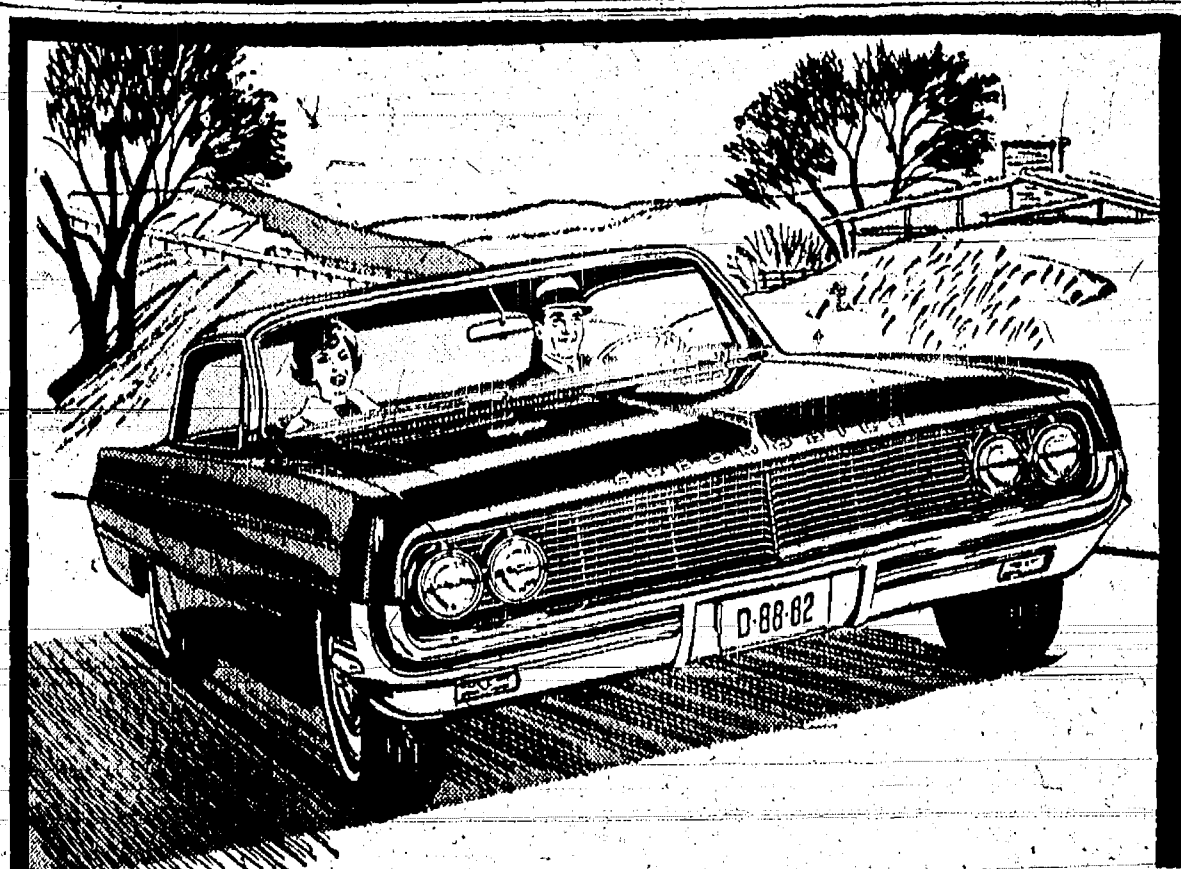

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reed, with the former's mother, Mrs. Martha Wagner of Ypsilanti State Hospital, visited Mrs. Wagner's daughter, Mrs. Beulah Hamilton, and family at Plymouth, Sunday afternoon.

CHELSEA DRUG

CON-CON ASKS PRESS TO HELP—Michigan's Constitutional Convention leaders met with officers and directors of the Michigan Press Association and the Michigan Association of Broadcasters at Lansing recently to enlist their aid in presenting the explanation of the proposed new document to the people. The session was called by Ink White (R-St. Johns), chairman of the Convention's Public Information committee. Grouped around Stephen S. Nisbet (R-Fremont), convention president, are White, Les Biederman of Traverse City, president of the MAB; Clem Broasler of Detroit, Associated Press; James Tagg of Alma, president of the MPA, and James Klockenkemper of Detroit, United Press International.

Con-Con Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is No. 1 in a series about the proposed new Michigan Constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Although existing forms of local government are retained, the proposed Michigan Constitution modernizes and broadens their powers to enable them to serve more effectively. Article VII of the new document contains the sections relating to counties, townships, cities and villages.

Greater strength and flexibility are given to local governments by these provisions:
1. Charter counties, cities and villages are granted authority to levy taxes other than property taxes for their support.
2. Power to cooperate with other local units of government on common problems.
3. Retention of home rule for cities and villages.
4. Liberal construction by the courts of laws concerning cities, villages, counties and townships.
5. County officers' terms are to be four years. Township officers may by law have terms of office up to four years.

To permit more effective county government, particularly in metropolitan areas, county home rule is provided for, subject to enabling statutes. Its adoption, modification or repeal will depend on the vote of the electors of the county.

The county home rule proposal evolved from long deliberation in both the Local Government committee and in the convention. It makes it possible for those counties with specific problems to deal with them effectively, but does so without disturbing unnecessarily the government of other counties in the state.

The county home rule provisions of the new document follow generally the pattern established by the home rule provisions for cities in the present constitution. Left to the legislature is the responsibility for working out details of charter county organization.

The board of supervisors may initiate a ballot proposal to elect a commission to frame a county charter, or five percent of the county's electors may petition the board to submit such a proposal to the electorate.

The proposed constitution increases the limitation on the power of the county to incur debt from three to ten percent of its assessed valuation. This permits counties to extend their credit for both primary and secondary obligations.

Secondary obligations are incurred by placing the full faith and credit of the county behind bonds of cities and townships to enable them to borrow at the lowest possible interest rate for the construction of water and sewage systems and other public works.

A new section among the general provisions of the Local Government article requires that units empowered to draw budgets may not adopt them until after a public hearing held in such manner as the legislature may prescribe.

In general, the constitutional changes in the area of local government are largely involved with revising and updating the provisions of the 1908 document. Traditional forms are not subject to alteration without the approval of the voters in the local unit affected.

AGRICULTURE In ACTION

by M. L. Woolf

Michigan Farm Bureau

English Viewpoint

"You American farmers are funny, you want less government in your business, while we think more would be good." Speaking was Neville Stone, farmer from Yorkshire, England, Stone was visiting offices of the Michigan Farm Bureau, Lansing, as the last leg of a recent three-month tour.

Fellow farmers back home had sponsored his tour, which according to Stone, could have been taken to "most any country." He chose the United States "because our countries are so much alike. You are about 10 years ahead of us in some things, and those I wanted to check personally," he said.

The young farmer, whose home territory is internationally famed for both its Yorkshire puddings and Yorkshire hogs, ("We call them large whites"), was amazed to learn that Michigan farmers worked to help defeat the Administration's tight-control farm bill.

"Back home, we think government controls are good because they force people out of farming. England, like America, has too many farmers, even though we're down to five percent compared to your almost 9 percent." He added that the average English farm is 80 acres in size.

A bright appearing, obviously sharp young man, Stone will return to an agriculture that is not only tightly controlled and regulated, but which admittedly has a limited future. He thought American farm production fantastic, but seemed unable to link this unusual production to the freedoms that American farmers obviously enjoy.

He was surprised that American farmers welcomed the competition of the European Common Market, and said that perhaps in the future England should drop attempts to compete agriculturally and turn instead to heavier industrial exports.

Sad commentary: "Your most surprising discovery in America?" "Well, it's the way you celebrate your holidays. I was here over the 4th, and felt almost embarrassed because I knew it would be a big thing, much noise, fireworks and speeches telling of how you won your independence from us."

"But it was all very disappointing. Really, nothing happened."

Mrs. Foster Fletcher of Ypsilanti spent from Thursday until Saturday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Schneider.

Mrs. Joseph Villeneuve of Newberry, is spending two weeks here at the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thomson and children.

Michigan's Best Holsteins To Be Shown

The state's biggest Holstein event of the year is the Michigan Black and White show.

Howard Wilkie, Washtenaw county dairyman and chairman of the state Black and White show, says hundreds of ring-side visitors who are expected to attend will see nearly 300 of the state's best Holsteins. The Michigan Black and White show is one of the biggest Black and White shows in the nation. Officials have planned a special program for 4-H and FFA members including a judging contest.

The big tan-bark event takes place Friday, July 27, starting at 9 o'clock at the Rural Activities Center located half-way between Ann Arbor and Saline. Facilities on the grounds will accommodate hundreds of visitors, and include picnic tables, parking space, shade trees, and seats around the show ring. Lunch will also be available on the grounds. Free cold milk to be furnished by the American Dairy Association of Michigan and the Michigan Holstein-Friesian Association will add to the enjoyment of this state-wide cow show.

The Rural Activities Center is accessible by roads from all directions and the roads leading to the fairgrounds will be marked. Wilkie suggests that dairymen throughout the state plan to attend the Michigan Black and White Show, Friday, July 27.

R. Grossman Cited on Retiring from Job With Road Commission

Ralph Grossman, of 411 Wilkison St., has retired from active service with the Washtenaw County Road Commission. It was announced this week by Howard G. Miner, superintendent-manager.

First employed by the Road Commission April 23, 1928, he later left for a period of four years for other employment and then returned to complete 30 years of service in the Ann Arbor District.

The Washtenaw County Road Commission, in recognition of his long service, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, Ralph Grossman on June 25, 1958, has elected to terminate his services with the Washtenaw County Road Commission so as to enjoy the fruits of his labor; and

"Whereas, after 30 years of faithful and able service to the Commission we know that his presence will be missed.

"Now therefore be it resolved, that we the members of the Washtenaw County Board of Road Commissioners thank him for his service and loyalty and wish him happy days in his years of retirement."

A copy of the resolution was presented to Grossman.

Station Wagon Power Window Is Potential Killer

Lansing—The unattended station wagon with an automatic tailgate window was pointed to as a potential child-killer, by State Health Commissioner, Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

The Commissioner's warning followed several recent incidents, one of them fatal, in which children have caught their heads in an automatic window.

"Children should never be left alone in an automobile under any conditions," Dr. Heustis said. "But a car with automatic windows is a booby-trap. The power of these windows, exerting up to 50 pounds pressure, is enough to strangle a child easily."

"In standard models, the windows work only when the ignition key is on," Dr. Heustis explained. "Removing the keys eliminates the danger."

"But in most station wagons with automatic tailgate windows, the ignition key is not required. If two or more children are allowed to play in such a car, the window can become a blunt gullotine for one of them."

"A lot of people seem to think of a station wagon as a kind of mobile playpen," the Commissioner commented. "It's a dangerous practice."

"The eventual answer," he said, "lies in engineering. And I'm happy to say that the automobile industry is actively engaged in trying to solve the problem."

"However, right today, the only answer is to keep the kids out of the car when it's unattended."

"Or better yet, if you have little children," Dr. Heustis advised, "be really safe, buy the model with handcrank windows. The hazard is eliminated—and the elbow grease may even do you some good."

Mrs. Annabelle Woolley and Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Boyer and son spent Sunday at New Baltimore where they visited at the homes of the former's aunts and their families. Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Fogt and daughters, Dorothy and Adeline, and Mrs. Fred Schlosser and daughter, Thelma. Mrs. Woolley and the Boyers were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Viary who had spent the past week at New Baltimore as guests of the Fogts and Schlossers.

Outstanding Livestock, Dairy Farms To Be Visited on Management Tour

Have you ever wondered what kind of a farm a state and national farm leader operates?

If so, there's an opportunity to see one at the State Farm Management Tour, Wednesday, Aug. 1. One of the two farms to be visited near North Branch in LaPeere county is that of the Lake Bros. One of the three brothers in the farm partnership is Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, and also president of the National Milk Federation.

Glenn farms with his two brothers, Charles and Clare, and readily admits that in recent years they've done most of the farming. But Charles and Clare agree that Glenn has much to do with the management decisions on the farm, even though his duties with the farm organizations keep him away from the family farm much of the time.

The great-grandparents of the Lakes started farming on 97 acres of the present farm in 1805-07 years ago.

Glenn started farming on his own in 1936 by renting his grandfather's farm while an agricultural short-course student at Michigan State University. In 1939 a partnership was formed with Charles and their late father, Lloyd. Acreage was added until 1954 they had acquired the present 437 acres, 274 of which is tillable. Clare became a partner in 1956.

The Lakes milk 100 Holsteins and have about 100 more head of young stock. They raise all their own replacements and cull heavily—25 to 30 percent a year. They have started feeding out male calves for beef.

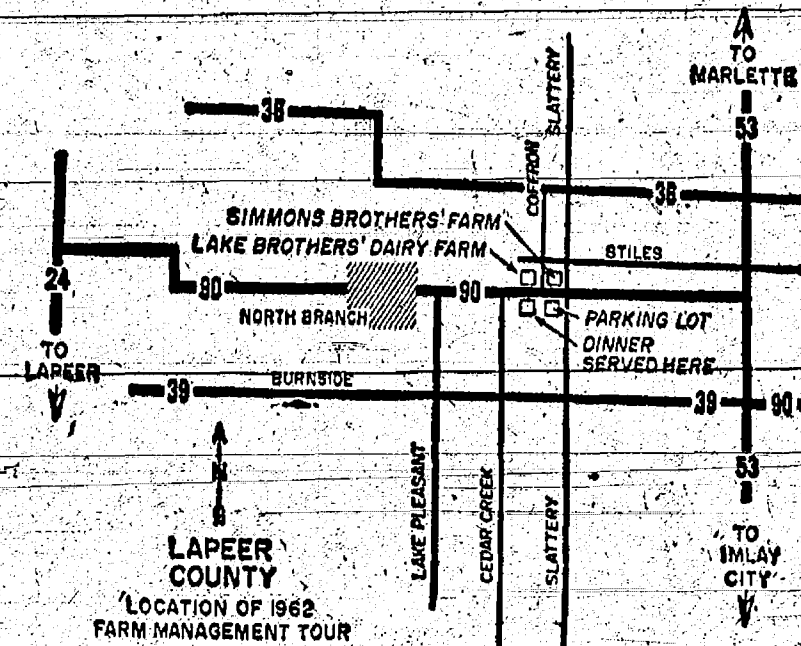

All the brothers share in major decisions, but each has his special responsibilities. Charles handles the crop growing and harvesting; Clare the dairy herd, and Glenn the record-keeping, buying, selling and finances.

Minimum tillage, with heavy use of nitrogen to support a high plant population of 20,000 plants an acre, is one of the main features of their crops program. Most of the tillable land is in corn. The Lakes plant late maturing varieties for silage to get greater tonnage.

The milking herd is dry lot fed silage and hay. Animals get all the grain and supplement they will eat at milking time. No pasture, green chop or haylage is fed to the milking herd. The herd average in 1961 was 430 pounds butterfat and more than 12,000 pounds of milk.

An eight-stall side-opening milking parlor makes it possible for two men to complete milking operations for the 100 cows in two hours.

J. H. "H" Brown, Michigan State University agricultural economist, believes the 1962 State Farm Management Tour offers city and rural people a real opportunity. "The Lake Bros. farm—and the nearby Simmons Bros. operation—are two highly mechanized livestock farms that show the trend on many family farms in STATE FARM MANAGEMENT TOUR—The 1962 State Farm Management Tour will be held on two neighboring farms in LaPeere county, Aug. 1 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. They are the Simmons Bros. and Lake Bros. farms, two miles east of North Branch on highway M-90. Both grow a lot of corn and market it through livestock. The Simmons have beef cattle and hogs; the Lakes, dairy cattle.

The map above shows the location of the farms and the speaker, Paul C. Johnson, editor of Prairie Farmer, Chicago. At the noon lunch program in the Glenn Lake farmyard, Johnson will speak on "Looking head at Farming — An Editor's Viewpoint." The public is invited to attend the tour which is sponsored by the Michigan Co-operative Extension Service.

The youngest member present was Dianne Sodt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dean Sodt, who is two years old.

Election of officers resulted in naming Mrs. Willis Uphaus president; Lowell Spike, vice-president; Mary Jo Huber, secretary; and Eugene Huber, treasurer.

Marlene Uphaus and Douglas Spike were named as the entertainment committee. All are from Manchester.

It was announced that next year's reunion will be held at the same place the third Sunday in July.

A short program was given and letters read from members in New Jersey and Illinois.

Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the program period and business session.

About one in 12 Americans lived on a farm in 1961. This is the smallest farm population in recent years. And 43 percent of all farm people are under 20 years of age.

Hagman Reunion

Mrs. Rose Chase and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Koenigster and family attended the Hagman family reunion held Sunday at Howell City Park.

There were 55 present from Toledo, Detroit, Lansing, Chelsea and Howell.

Honored as the oldest member of the family present was John Hagman, who has served as Livingston county clerk for 40 years.

The youngest child present was Kerry Joan Bailer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bailer of Howell.

OUTLAWS SCHOOL PRAYER
Congressmen and churchmen have voiced criticism at the Supreme Court for outlawing the saying of official prayers in public schools.

The court rules that it is a violation of the Constitution for New York State to authorize the saying of the following prayer in public schools:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Agriculture will have to double production by the year 2,000 if our present diet of plant and animal products is to be maintained for an ever-increasing population.

Club and Social HappeningsWATERLOO WWSWS

The Women's Society for World Service of the Waterloo Village church held a planned picnic dinner Thursday at the home of Mrs. Leo Walz in Stockbridge. There were 26 members and one guest present.

With Mrs. Hugh Gaddis, the president, in charge, a business meeting was held following the dinner and plans were made for the annual ice cream social at the church house, Saturday, July 28; also for a bake sale counter at the social.

She also announced WWSWS Day at Lake side Camp, Brighton, Tuesday, July 24, and all members were urged to attend.

The WWSWS spiritual life chairman, Mrs. George Young, presented an impressive program on the topic, "The Meaning of the Lord's Prayer."

The meeting was concluded with announcement of the next regular WWSWS meeting, Thursday, Aug. 16, at the church house.

LIMA-CENTER EXTENSION

Lima-Center Extension Club held a pot-luck picnic Wednesday, July 11, at the Cavanaugh Lake county park with Mrs. Alfred Johnson as hostess.

During a short business session which followed the dinner, Mrs. LeRoy Feldkamp announced that arrangements have been made with the Red Cross for the group to retake the standard First Aid course this fall; mouth-to-mouth respiration will be included in the course. The Lima-Center group took the original course four years ago.

It was decided to name two hostesses in the future for the club's annual picnic and for the annual Christmas party.

Also announced was the fact that the Lima-Center group had donated an electric teakettle to the Chelsea Co-operative Nursery.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. Andrew Tykowski, chairman; Mrs. Paul Seitz, vice-chairman; Mrs. Jack Bradbury, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Walter Beutler, news reporter; Mrs. Raymond Schaefer, recreation chairman; Mrs. Alfred Johnson, project leader; and Mrs. Myrtle Price, community service chairman.

The gathering was concluded with a "white elephant" sale and announcement that there will be no August meeting; also, that for the September meeting members should come prepared with ideas for Halloween favors to be made for Ypsilanti State Hospital.

JERUSALEM FARM BUREAU
Jerusalem Farm Bureau, with nine families represented, held the July meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Iven Weiss.

Included in the monthly package report given by Walter Wolfgang, was a warning about false claims being made by unscrupulous salesmen who have been active in the county in recent weeks. The salesmen are promoting tractor fuel for which they make extravagant claims later found to be false.

The package report information suggested that farmers approached by such salesmen ask them for an analysis of their product—something they are not prepared to give.

Announcement was made by the group secretary that information had been received stating that the County Farm Bureau Rummage Sale dates have been changed to Sept. 5, 6 and 7 since the previously announced dates conflicted with the Saline Fair.

David Pastor gave the minute-man report and also led the discussion of the evening, substituting for his father who was not present. Discussion topic was "The Proposed Constitution of Michigan is a Good Document."

There will be no regular meeting in August; however, a family pot-luck supper will be held Thursday, Aug. 3, at 7 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kuhl.

Americans now use at least five times as much water as they did in 1900. And current needs may double by 1975.

21 Honored at Methodist Home Birthday Party

Twenty-one residents of the Methodist Home were honored Tuesday during the noon dinner hour in observance of their birthdays, the occasion having an added pleasure—a brief visit by Mrs. John B. Swainson, the wife of the governor, who was spending the day in Washtenaw county. Mrs. Swainson had been honored at a coffee hour at McKuhn Memorial Library, with Mrs. Wallace Wood as hostess, prior to her visit to the Home.

White hydrangeas, red geraniums and blue larkspur, together with American flags and lighted candles were used as table decorations to carry out a patriotic color scheme in keeping with the Fourth of July theme.

Each of the ladies whose birthdays were celebrated received a scatter pin as a gift and the two men were presented with ties; the gifts are provided by the Chelsea Home Friends of the Methodist Church.

Those whose birthdays were observed are Mrs. Florence Ward, Mrs. Myrtle Burden, Mrs. Georgiana Oyler, Mrs. Lellia Butte, Mrs. Beryl Way, Mrs. Lucy Leight, Mrs. Eda Kishpaugh, Septimus Danby, Mrs. Carrie Cox, Mrs. Maude Seale.

The list continues with Mrs. Oren McGrath, Miss Ida Harland, McKelvey, Mrs. Matilda Wilber, Mrs. Margaret Brandt, Miss Sadie Mitchell, Mrs. Elizabeth Bicker, Manley Conklin, Mrs. Edith Blasing, and Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong.

Where Is Most Of Farm Family's Income Spent?
East Lansing—How much money do farm families spend for family living? How much is spent for basic necessities? How closely are family spending patterns related to income and size of household?

To answer these questions, Michigan State University established the Michigan Family Living Sample. About 120 farm families, drawn from all areas of the state, participated in the program in 1960.

Income and expenditures were reported by all families on a monthly basis. Additional information was obtained for 67 families in the sample.

Expenditures were analyzed by J. R. Brake, MSU agricultural economist, and C. R. Holm, formerly of the Department of Home Management and Child Development.

They found that the average family in the sample had 52.8 members. Average total income from farm and non-farm sources (including the value of food and fuel grown on the farm) was $7,776. Average total family expenditure was $4,924 with $3,826 going for basic items such as food, housing upkeep, household operation, clothing, medical expenses, and education. Of this $1,748 went for food. The average expenditure for non-basic items, such as contributions, gifts, or special purchases (automobiles, equipment, furnishings and the like) was $1,098.

The researchers also arrived at these other conclusions:

A minimum income of $4,000 is necessary for a family of two persons. The necessary income for a family of eight is at least $6,000.

On the average, an additional household member cost the family about $29.50 more per month in 1960. This is important because the level of living in the family is based on family size.

Families which do not have enough income to cover total expenses tend to "live on depreciation." They will not be able to make new investments as equipment depreciates or wears out.

Because size of household is relatively more important than size of income, the effects of a rise in family income in the United States would probably offer little help in eliminating the food surplus problem. In this sample, 10 percent income increase was followed by only a 1.7 percent food expenditure increase.

Continued research in family expenditures will provide a basis for evaluating farm programs as well as for advising families with respect to expenditures for family living.

Teaching Career Offers Advantages To Married Women

East Lansing—Teaching has a reputation for being a low-paying field. But it might be a financially wise occupational choice for the young woman who wants to combine a career with marriage and a family.

All wives who work must devote a share of their earnings to certain expenses—just because they have jobs. Some of these expenses include income tax, social security, other occupational costs (such as compulsory insurance and retirement), child care, transportation, clothing, food and many others.

In a study just completed at Michigan State University, researchers found that wives who teach in primary and secondary schools seem to devote a lower proportion of their earnings to these job-necessitated costs. This means that the teachers have a greater proportion of their incomes available for family use.

The study, conducted by Dr. Jean Schlatter and Barbara Ferrar of the MSU Department of Home Management and Child Development, involved interviews with 50 employed wives of MSU students.

The wives reported on their earnings and job-necessitated expenses for 1960. Each wife interviewed had at least one child under five so that child care costs had to be considered.

The researchers found that a total average of 48 percent of a wife's income went toward expenses incurred "because of the job." This left 52 percent available for family use.

The elementary or secondary school teachers, however, still had an average of 64 percent left for family use. This was higher than any average for any other occupational group in the sample, which included clerical workers and such professions as nursing, dietetics, bacteriology, statistics and social work.

"The teachers spent a lower proportion of their incomes on food, clothing and transportation. This may simply be a result of their shorter work year," said Mrs. Ferrar.

The researchers stress that their work is exploratory and say they hope to conduct similar work with larger, non-student samples.

Labor costs for pruning trees can be cut in half with a device developed by Michigan University and USDA agricultural engineers. With the device—a space basket—a man with pruning equipment stands in a basket and moves himself with aid of a hydraulic mechanism down, left or right.

Indian Pow-Wow Scheduled Sunday At Activity Center

This week-end, Saturday and Sunday, is the date for the annual Pow-Wow, featuring Indian dance events and contests. The Pow-Wow Dancers, a group of performers who have appeared in full Indian costume at various gatherings throughout the area, are sponsoring the event, which no admission is being charged. The group is bringing to the area for the event a group of dancers from Oklahoma, members of the Charles Chibitty family who have appeared here before and have always proved themselves to be experts in interpretative dancing, even the youngest children participate, to the delight of audience.

The Pow-Wow is to be held at the Rural Activities Center on S. Ann Arbor Rd. Elimination contests will be held at 2:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, and finals in various events will take place both evenings beginning at 7:30 p.m.

An added feature Sunday evening is a "Princess" contest; only Indian girls are permitted to take part since it is pointed out that the true Indian girls are so well trained in the dances that they would have no chance to lose.

An elaborately beaded crown is placed upon the head of the girl who wins the "princess" title.

People who plan to attend are asked to bring lawn chairs or blankets to sit on, since grand seating will prove insufficient.

A refreshment stand will be provided.

A charge of 50 cents will be made for parking. Receipts of the parking charges are to be used to pay expenses of the Pow-Wow.

THE MANAGER GAME—It's an easy one to play. All you have to do is guess which major-league manager will get fired first. So far, it's been a real slow season, but here are some hints.

The leading candidates for extinction seem to be Mike Higgins at Boston and Mickey Vernon at Washington. Red Sox fans, especially, are very upset at the way the franchise has deteriorated since even before the retirement of Ted Williams. While there are a lot of obvious front-office scapegoats, Manager Higgins, who has been accused of being "too nice, too easygoing," is the man on the spot. He may last the season but don't bet on it. His probable replacement: Johnny Pesky, ex-Red Sox shortstop, now managing in Seattle.

One manager who may not return next year—but strictly on his own—is grizzled old Casey Stengel of the Mets. It's not so much that the Mets have turned sour as it is a matter of Casey's age and the fact that he took the job in the first place as a favor to his old friend, general manager George Weiss.

One man who has been mentioned for the Stengel job is veteran Yankee catcher Yogi Berra. He's heard the rumors, too, but says, "Uh-uh. I don't want to manage no guys like me."

Safest manager in all of the major leagues is Mel McGaha, who has done a remarkable job in his first year with the Cleveland Indians. The title of a story on McGaha in the August issue of SPORT, "How a Manager Gets Tough," pretty well sums up McGaha's approach to the job. "One time a starting pitcher was given some bullpen duty. Grumbling, he said, 'I'd rather start than relieve.' McGaha told the pitcher, 'Keep your mouth shut.'"

HORSE RACING'S WILD MAN. Leave it to jockey Manuel Ucaza to pick out the biggest races to display his "hell-for-bent" riding. One year he was disqualified from the Flamingo. This spring he was set down after his ride in the Preakness on Kidan. The tendency in most bumptious races involving Ucaza is to put the blame on the young Panamanian; very few horse people have ever come to his defense.

One who has is his valet at the New York tracks, Cliff Carter. The valet once told us, "The kid's a solid loner. You got to be around with guys in this business any hello, goodbye. Nobody says anything to him. Normally, the other jockeys are a nice bunch of guys. Anything happens out on the track, normally they wouldn't ever

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

July 2, 1962
Council Room

Regular Session.

This meeting was called to order by Pres. Daniels at 8:00 p.m.

Trustees present: Barr, Burg, Chandler, Clark, Haselschwardt, and Paul. The minutes of the June 19, 1962 Regular Session were read and approved.

A discussion was held with Mr. Ray Knickerbocker and Mr. Elmer Wilson regarding a proposed Income Protection Plan for the Village employees. No Village participation in this plan is being considered by the Council.

Motion by Chandler, supported by Burg, that Pres. Pro-Tem Barr be instructed to assume control of the Council proceedings for a discussion regarding the proposed sanitary sewer connections from the Lanewood Subdivision.

A discussion was held with School Board members Donald Albery, Luther Kusterer, and Supt. of Schools, Charles Cameron, regarding a request for easements for water and sewer lines to service the Lanewood Subdivision.

Motion by Burg, supported by Clark, that the Village of Chelsea amend the existing agreement between the Village of Chelsea and the Chelsea School District, and assume the maintenance of the existing water and sewer main located on the North Elementary School property and to reduce the present sewer and water rates to the normal Village rate in exchange for the granting of an easement for a 6-inch forced sewer main from the Lanewood Subdivision, and furthermore that the agreement will be contingent upon the granting of an easement for a proposed future water main to be located within 10 feet of the North School boundary line. The Village will be relieved of its obligation to reimburse the School District for any portion of the construction of the water main and sewer line. Roll call. Yeas all.

A discussion was held regarding the State proposed speed limits in the Village. Trustee Paul was instructed to investigate the State's authority in this matter.

A request was entered by Mr. Blane McClanahan for a variance for the construction of a garage located on his property at 204 W. Middle St. A letter was submitted by Mrs. Ruth Plow, stating no objection to the proposed variance.

Motion by Clark, supported by Barr, to allow the proposed variance as requested by Mr. Blane McClanahan for the construction of a garage. The variance will allow Mr. McClanahan to build a garage to within two feet of his west boundary line. The west wall of the garage will be constructed of fireproof material. Roll call. Yeas all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held regarding the proposed Sylvan Township participation in the Village landfill.

Trustee Haselschwardt was instructed to attend the Sylvan Township meeting with his recommendations. It was requested that costs be ascertained for the construction of several types of buildings to house the equipment at the landfill site.

A change order for the Selders Construction contract was submitted by Mr. Robert Wilking of Pinkbely, Pettis, & Strout. A contract addition of $785.00 for additional work as specified by the State Highway Dept.

Motion by Clark, supported by Haselschwardt, to approve the above contract addition. Roll call. Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Paul, supported by Clark, to approve Ordinance No. 55B as read. Roll call. Yeas all. Motion carried.

The following changes in the rates for disposal of refuse at the Village landfill were recommended: A semi-trailer from $5.00 to $10.00; stake truck (1 ton or larger) from $3.00 to $6.00; small stake truck and 2 wheel trailers and small pickups from $5.00 to $1.50; pickup with racks and up to 1 ton capacity, $3.00; cars and station wagons, $7.50.

Queen Contest Closes Aug. 17

The Michigan State Fair is seeking Michigan Beauty Queens to enter the annual "Miss Michigan State Fair" contest to be held during this year's State Fair, Aug. 24 through Sept. 3.

General Manager Walter Goodman has set Friday, Aug. 17, the deadline for entries—earlier this year because of earlier State Fair dates.

As in past years, to qualify for the contest, the candidate must have won a sponsored Beauty Contest in Michigan since the last State Fair. She must be between the ages of 16 and 25 years and single.

Miss Michigan State Fair of 1962 thus actually will be the Queen of all Michigan Beauty Queens. Preliminary judging will be held at the State Fair on Tuesday, Aug. 28, and the winner will be chosen by well-known judges and crowned by Governor John B. Swainson on Wednesday, Aug. 29.

Only one queen may be sent by the sponsoring Michigan group which pays her expenses. Official entry blanks may be secured by writing to the State Fair in Detroit to the attention of Cleighton Melin.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

By John B. Swainson

Lansing — During the week-end I visited Michigan's National Guard during training at Camp Grayling. A tour of the camp emphasizes the very important role of the National Guard in our nation's security.

The record speaks for itself. It was from this camp that Michigan Guardsmen departed in 1917 to form the 32nd Division jointly with Wisconsin. During World War I the 32nd Division fought on six fronts in four major offensives where it met and vanquished 23 enemy divisions.

In World War II the 32nd Division was also the first United States division to be airborne into combat. It was the first division to make a beach landing in New Guinea; the first division to carry out General MacArthur's by-pass strategy; and the first division to supply, simultaneously, 11 battalions in combat in one action completely by air drop.

Counting both World War I and World War II, Michigan National Guardsmen had an unequalled record of 808 days of combat action in the two major wars.

And, in the Korean War, many individuals and individual units of the Michigan National Guard fought with distinction.

These are but some of the highlights of the brilliant records and traditions that have been passed on down to those who now comprise the Iron Fist 46th Division, the Air National Guard and other units of the Michigan National Guard.

Our citizen-soldiers are a most important line of defense. They are looked to with confidence to uphold the traditions and achievements of those who preceded them in the Guard.

But, while we keep our defenses strong as a nation dedicated to liberty for the individual, it is clearly up to us as individuals in a democratic society to strengthen it wherever and whenever it is within our power to do so.

We can offer no greater tribute to the memory of the more than 6,000 members of the Michigan National Guard who lost their lives for the sake of freedom than to make sure that no man within our individual world is denied his freedom.

About Your Social Security

When you change your address, you wouldn't think of carrying the same old house key along after you have made the change in residence, would you? Yet, according to Robert Kehoe, manager of the Ann Arbor Social Security district office, there are some married women who still carry the same old social security card they had before they were wed. Some fail to make the changes months, or even years, after they have changed their names from Miss to Mrs.

The key to your social security record is your social security account number card. No one should have more than one social security number, yet it is possible to have more than one card under different names. Manager Kehoe pointed out that in the interest of having all earnings properly credited to the proper account number, the Social Security Administration needs to know about changes in names whether it be because of marriage, divorce or other reasons.

It is really a simple matter for a newly-married woman to insure that her social security records are current and correct under the proper name and number. Manager Kehoe advised that if you can, it is best if you bring your old social security card to the nearest social security office in Ann Arbor the address is 114 S. 4th Ave. The Social Security people will issue you a new social security card with the same account number card. No one should have more than one social security

Trend Now Is for Students To Attend Closest College

The size-of-the-contents-of-dad's wallet continues to have a lot to do with where his children will attend college these days and generally it's turning out to be the school nearest home.

This trend started in the post-war years and has continued to grow along with the price of living. It is clearly evident in a study recently made by the Michigan Council of State College Presidents. Purpose of the study was to determine the present degree of relationship between place of residence of Michigan's 83,564 students attending the state's 10 tax-supported institutions of public higher education and the location of these colleges and universities. The 1961 fall enrollment figures were used.

A typical example of the "closest to home" trend is the enrollment picture at Northern Michigan College at Marquette. Of the 2,301 students enrolled, 951 are from Marquette county itself and all but 405 of the remaining 1,896 are either from adjacent or other counties forming Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Washtenaw county's 4,415 students were enrolled at public colleges and universities as follows: U. of M., 2,825; MSU, 227; MSU-O, 1; WSU, 40; WMU, 54; EMU, 1,110; CMU, 48; Tech., 15; Ferris Institute, 68; NMC, 18.

During the first two years, all of Michigan's public higher education institutions offer the conventional basic courses preparatory to selecting a specialty later on. The choice of specialty then determines to a large extent where the student will enroll.

Many of the professional schools and colleges at Michigan's public higher education institutions rank among the best in the country. Including the 16 community junior colleges now operating, Michigan ranks second only to California among the 50 states in the size of its system of public higher education. Better than 80 percent of its high school graduates enroll in the state's public colleges and universities compared with only about half, for example, in the neighboring states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The remaining 15 to 20 percent attend private colleges and other non-tax-supported institutions of higher learning, of which there are more than 40 in Michigan.

Three factors were cited to defend her national currency.

1. An increase of 5 to 15 percent in tariffs on most Canadian imports.

2. To defend Canada's monetary reserves and discourage spending abroad.

3. To provide an inviting climate for foreign investments.

There is no admission charge to enter the ground or the exhibit and display buildings at the Iowa Free Fair, Michigan's second largest fair.

SPARK PLUG FACTS

A new spark plug requires about 5,000 volts to fire under normal conditions. As the engine speed increases, the voltage must increase to make the spark plug perform its duty; often doubling in the case of flooring the accelerator when passing.

Now, as the spark plug wears its electrodes, the spark gap widens and demands even more voltage until the coil cannot build up the voltage needed, and the plug misfires.

This misfiring action now causes a number of effects in your auto engine that is expensive to you. Extra gasoline and oil is consumed for less motor efficiency. Carbon builds up on the valves, which means eventual, expensive engine service. Starting gets more difficult and drains the battery. And there are a few more expenses, too, but why go on?

Get over to FOOR MOBIL SERVICE at 320 South Main Street for our spark plug service. You'll be money ahead in the long run.
