Bulldogs Win Homecoming Contest, 26-0

Go to Pinckney Friday Night for Conference Game

The 1962 version of Chelsea High School Homecoming Week is over and a good time was enjoyed by everyone, including the Chelsea Bulldogs who defeated a good Ypsilanti Roosevelt team Friday evening, 26-0.

Receiving the opening kick-off, Chelsea was unable to pick up a first down and was forced to punt to Roosevelt; however, after holding the Rough Riders for two downs by recovering an Ypsi's fumble, the Bulldogs then moved to score the game's first touchdown with Dudley Holmes going from the eight-yard line. The punt after attempt failed and Chelsea was in front, 6-0.

Neither team was able to hit the dirt again in the first half as they went into half time with the Bulldogs still clinging to a 6-0 lead.

Roosevelt received the second half kick-off and returned it to Chelsea where they picked up a first down before being forced into a punting situation.

The Bulldogs took over on their 5-yard line where they scored on the second play with Dud Holmes going 70 yards, only to have the play called back because of a penalty. Then with third down and 19 yards to go for a first down, quarterback Curt Farley hit Dud Holmes at mid-field for a first down. Chelsea then continued their drive to the Roosevelt 12-yard line where Jack Howard went over for the second Chelsea score. Howard kicked the extra point and the Bulldogs led, 13-0.

Just moments later Fullback Dick Lathorn intercepted a Roosevelt pass and scooted 40 yards for another Chelsea score. Dud Holmes added to Don Brooks for the point after to boost the score to 20-0.

In the fourth period Roger Lehman capped a 60-yard Chelsea drive by going over to score from the three-yard line. The point after failed and the Bulldogs now led 26-0.

The entire Chelsea line of Mike Strader, Don Brooks, Bob Riesenbreyer, Tim Whitesall, Tom Jensenbreyer, Don Wilson, Warren Brath, and Gary Dreesch did an outstanding job of opening holes in the defensive line as well as preventing Roosevelt from penetrating further than the Chelsea yard line.

Chelsea's gold team of Mike Tabor, Jim Cameron, Dennis Stoffer, Jeff Spaulding, Oran Wireman, Jack Crawford, John Hand, Mike Gishmaul, Jeff Flintoff, Roger Lehman, and Gordon Carpenher, took over in the fourth quarter and moved the ball to the Roosevelt 30 before giving up the ball on downs.

Chelsea travels to Pinckney this week to play another key game in the Washtenaw Conference race. It will be homecoming for the Pirates this week which will be an inspirational factor to what is a very fast and dangerous team on any occasion. The Bulldogs can't afford to get down if they hope to continue their winning ways.

Thomas Tucci entered St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, as a patient on Monday.

Musser Resigns For Business Manager Position

Jack Musser, Chelsea High School Industrial arts teacher, the past 10 years, has tendered his resignation to accept a position as business manager of the Grand Haven public schools.

The Mussers have two children, Corinne, in the fourth grade, and David, four years old.

The family will move to Grand Haven as soon as living quarters are obtained there after the 30-day effective date of his resignation.

Methodists Hope To Pay Off Debt

The First Methodist church is preparing, through an all-out effort among its members, to wipe out its indebtedness on the $5,000 Educational Unit constructed three years ago. The debt stands at $1,750 and the church hopes to pay off this amount prior to Oct. 31.

"We are very proud of our record in raising these funds and we are determined to reach our goal by the end of this month," Rev. S. D. Kinde stated this week. The new unit, consisting of 15 class rooms, a church office, rest rooms, heating area, and a spacious foyer was built to meet the needs of the growing church school which has nearly doubled its enrollment in 10 years. Present enrollment is 361 according to Mrs. Jack Musser, church school superintendent.

Motorists Urged To Be Alert for Deer at Night

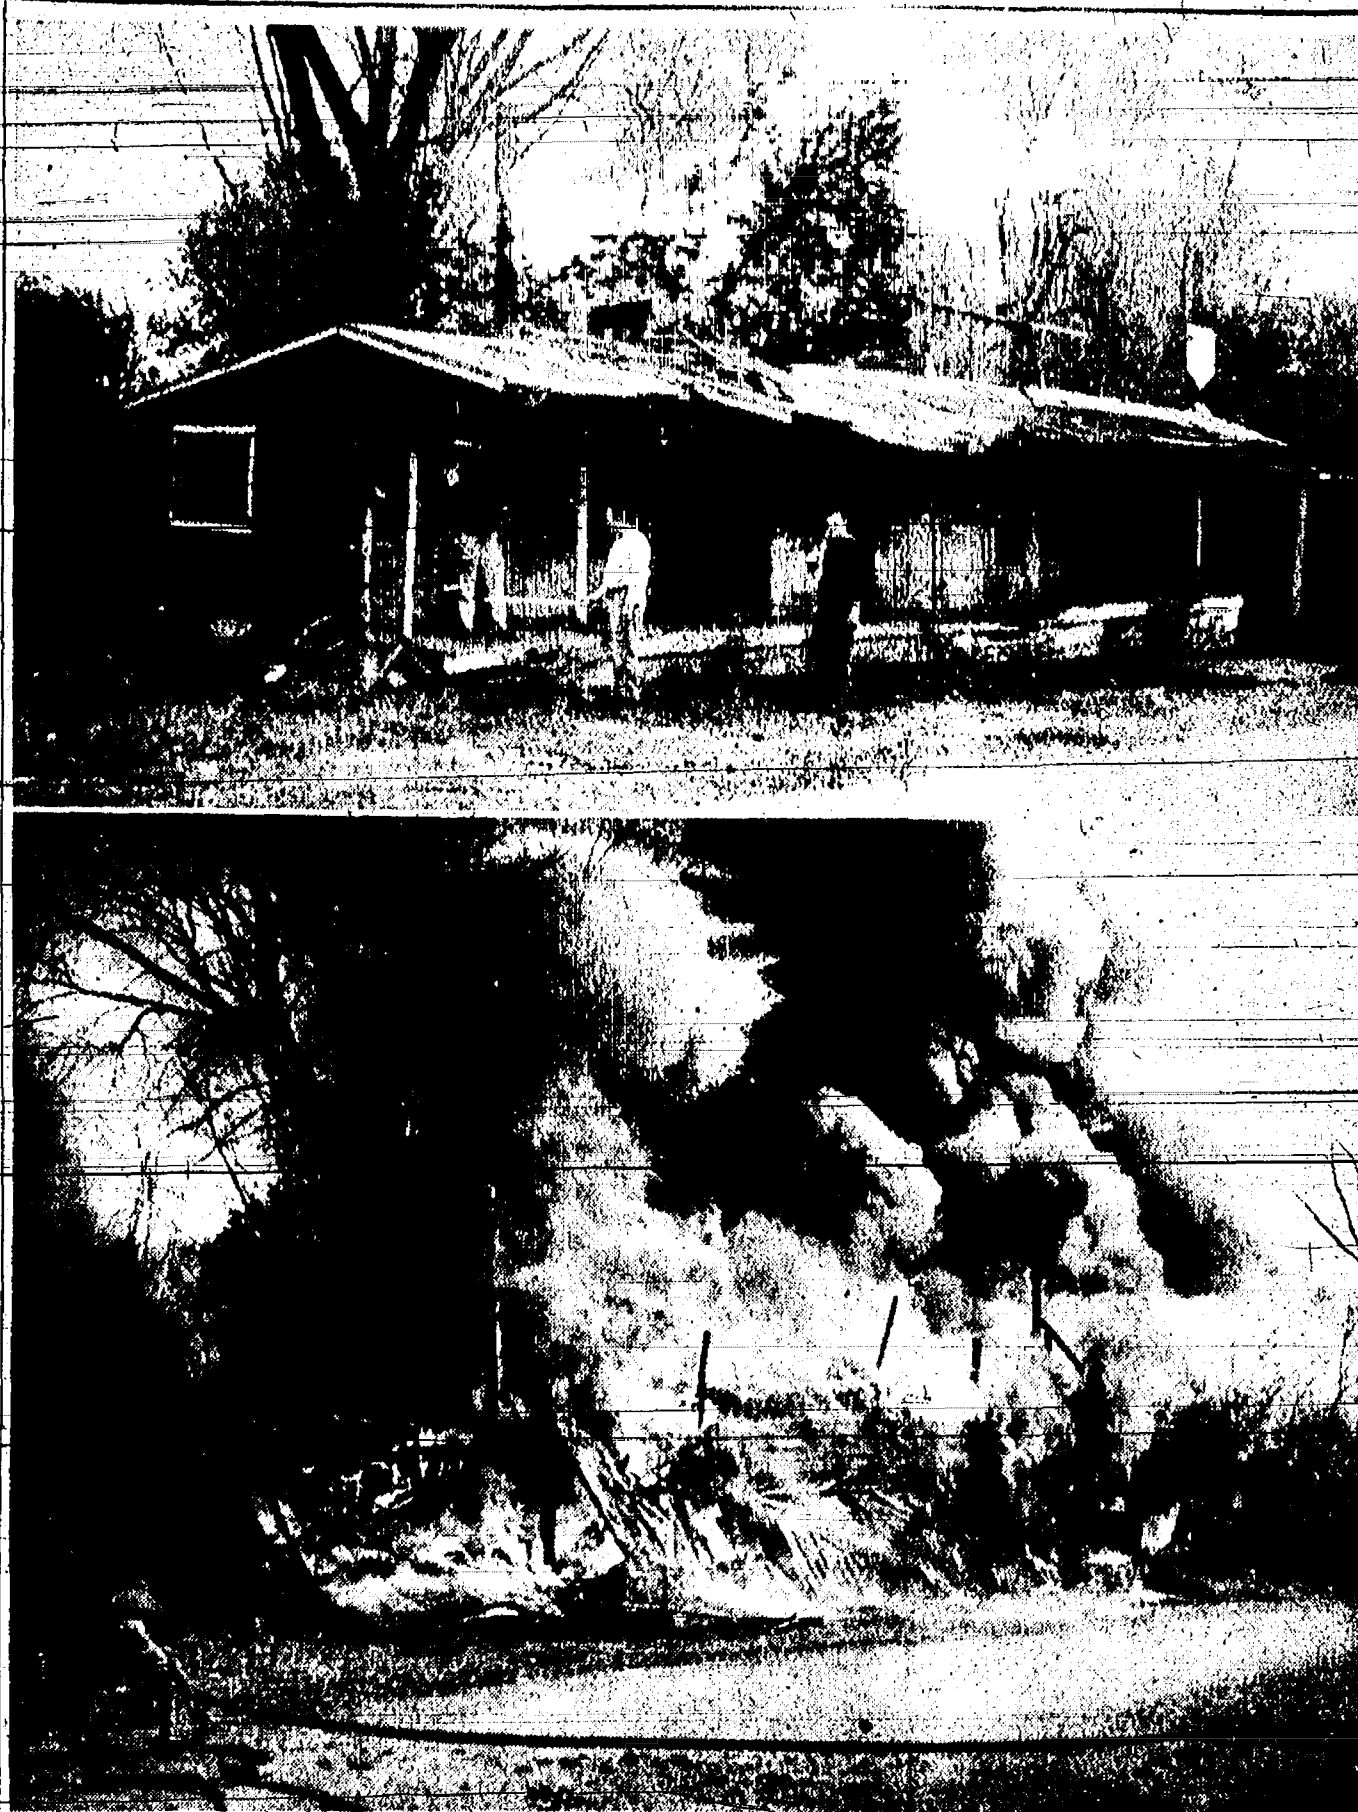

Conservation Officer Donley Boyer repeats his warnings, given periodically, for motorists to keep watch for deer that are "on the move" at night—particularly on moonlight nights.

Boyer said four deer have been struck and killed by cars during the past 10 days and the cars have been damaged in varying degrees. Two small bucks were struck on the test track at Chrysler Proving Ground and a small doe and small buck were killed on M-24 one Wednesday and the other Saturday.

Boyer also mentioned that there have been arrests of hunters who have "jumped the gun" on the pheasant hunting season which opens at 10 a.m. Oct. 20. He said four University of Michigan foreign students apprehended Oct. 4 with pheasants and guns in their car are to appear for final disposition of their case Oct. 20.

Schools Will Close Next Thursday, Friday

Chelsea Schools will be closed next week Thursday and Friday, Oct. 18 and 19, to permit faculty members to attend MEA meetings in Ann Arbor.

AT 12:30 SATURDAY AFTERNOON, the top photo shows the way the old Bahmiller Feed Mill on Madison St. looked for a number of years since its owner, E. J. Bahmiller became ill and could no longer operate the business or do anything about its upkeep or removal. With his permission, Chelsea Jaycees took on the responsibility of its removal as a community service project. A number of people had mentioned, in response to a recent general Jaycee community survey, that removal of the old building would be an asset to the town; for this reason they made arrangements with the owner, the Village Council and the Fire Department and set Saturday noon, Oct. 6, as the date for its destruction. The above photo was taken a moment before the blaze was touched off. Stand-

Social Service Elects Officers At Annual Meet

Chelsea Social Service, Inc., at its annual meeting Tuesday, Oct. 9, at McKune Memorial Library, heard reports of the year's activities from officers and from the director, Mrs. Louis Ramp.

President Louis Burghardt presided at the meeting.

Mrs. E. W. Eaton, who had served as treasurer of Chelsea Social Service the past 11 years, announced her retirement and Mrs. LeRoy Hoffman was elected to replace her.

Others whose retirement was announced are H. T. Moore and Mrs. Sallie Smith, members of the board of directors.

Elected to replace the two retirees are Mrs. Arthur Schmunk and Mrs. LeRoy Hoffman; another board member is still to be named.

Other board members present were Mrs. Paul Schauble, Sr., secretary; Harold Jones, Charles Lancaster and Mrs. Robert Wagner.

Jaycee Barbecue Slated for Sunday

Reports of Chelsea Chamber of Commerce "color" tour committees indicate that the tour project is drawing visitors from many parts of Michigan and from various points in Ohio and Indiana.

The largest influx of visitors is expected this week-end—the second week-end of the month which has proved the most popular since the tour was instituted.

Chelsea Jaycees, recognizing the fact that hordes of travelers customarily are in the area for the second week-end of the month, plan their annual chicken barbecue for that Sunday.

Arrangements for the barbecue are now complete—the pits for the charcoal fires will be set up at Pierce Park, as usual, and serving will begin at noon.

Preparations have been made for 1,200 servings.

"Thank" Orthing, who was a charter member of the Jaycees, lends his willing assistance as "chief cook" and Joe Doering will also again be on hand to assist Orthing. Both are considered experts in the art of charcoal broiling.

In charge of the barbecue pits are Bill Perry, Dan Foytik and Arthur Stoll.

General chairman is Ed. Akim; his committee includes Roland Elder, George Winchester, Jr., and Daniel Maroney.

All Jaycees have a part in the work and Jaycee Auxiliary members also assist.

Among those who have indicated they plan to take color tours in the area and get their dinner at the Jaycees' barbecue are approximately 50 Senior Citizens of Ann Arbor. They will eat their dinner at Pierce Park.

In addition to out-of-town visitors, Chelsea area residents will patronize the chicken barbecue, many families availing themselves of the take-out service while others will eat at the park.

Past experience has led committees to serve only full portion dinners this year; children's portions, as served in the past, led to considerable waste. It is theorized that families with several children are best able to judge for them-ing in the doorway, with the oil can, is George A. Staffan who was chairman of the community survey committee; holding the long torch on which Staffan poured oil to start the blaze is Roland Elder and at right is Robert Bertke. The old mill had stood at the same location for many years. Bahmiller, who formerly operated threshing machines in the area, parked his equipment around the building during the off season. Razing of the building marks the passing of an era in Chelsea. The lower photo shows the blaze at its height at 1 p.m. The accumulated dust, tar paper and dry timber made a raging inferno of the building in a matter of minutes after the torch was applied. Firemen kept three hoses spraying water onto it most of the time to keep the blaze under control.

Kiwanis Travel Series Only 100 From Sell-Out

Guests at Monday's weekly dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club were Dr. Andrew Jenkins and Neil Celley, new Chelsea High school counselor.

The program chairman, M. J. Anderson, introduced Clyde Johnson of the Ann Arbor Kiwanis club.

Johnson, in turn, introduced two girls who are attending school in Ann Arbor under the Youth For Understanding program—Margaret Campbell of England, and Gisela Wohlhaupt of Germany. He also introduced a third girl, Linda McCracken of Ann Arbor, who spent a year in Europe under the same program.

Each girl spoke briefly and Johnson gave a resume of the student exchange project.

Chelsea Kiwanians have received an invitation to attend the Dexter Kiwanis club's 25th anniversary celebration Oct. 23. It was announced at Monday's meeting.

Other business included a report by Wallace Wood, ticket chairman for the Kiwanis-sponsored travelogue series—he said 550 tickets have already been sold, leaving only 100 more available.

Fifty members and directors of the Needlework Guild attended the annual ingathering Thursday afternoon at the Congregational church.

Mrs. Robert Wagner, third vice-president, was in charge of the ingathering and was assisted by members of the Helping Hand Sewing Circle, Mrs. LeRoy Satterthwaite and Mrs. David Brennan, of the Helping Hand group, presided at the lace covered table which was decorated with pink 'mums and tall blue tapers.

The clothing, brought to the ingathering, was exhibited on long tables under the direction of Mrs. J. Vincent Burg, 1, fourth vice-president. She was assisted by Mrs. Florence O'Hara. The articles of clothing were turned over to the director of Chelsea Social Service, Mrs. Louis Ramp, for distribution.

The annual meeting of the Needlework Guild—Board of Directors will be held at the McKune Memorial Library, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1. The final reports of the directors will be due at that time. Mrs. Burg urged directors to have all remaining articles of clothing in by that date in order that it may be available to the needy children in the community as soon as possible.

High School Sophomore Suffers Fractured Skull In Fall on Hayride

Madonna Freysinger, who suffered a fractured skull when she fell from a moving wagon while on a hayride Sept. 30, is reported to be steadily improving at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Freysinger of 1220 South Fletcher Rd. and is a sophomore at Chelsea High school.

The mishap occurred on Seio Church Rd. as the group was heading back to Zion Lutheran church. The hayride was an outing of the church's Luther League.

Each girl spoke briefly and Johnson gave a resume of the student exchange project.

Chelsea Kiwanians have received an invitation to attend the Dexter Kiwanis club's 25th anniversary celebration Oct. 23. It was announced at Monday's meeting.

Total of $15,400 Needed To Meet 1963 Budget

"Every Chelsea area resident has a responsibility for supporting the work of the organizations represented in the Chelsea Community Chest," Village President Robert Daniels said in proclaiming Oct. 15-Nov. 5 "Community Chest Weeks."

President Daniels said "I strongly urge each individual to participate and contribute to the best of his or her ability in order that the campaign will be successful."

All campaign workers are to meet at St. Paul's church hall this evening for a coffee hour during which necessary campaign materials will be distributed in readiness for the opening of the drive to raise a total of $15,400 as this year's goal. The coffee hour begins at 8:30 p.m.

The campaign gets under way in earnest on Monday, Oct. 15.

Hunter Safety Course Ends With 17 Grads

Hunter Safety courses given in Chelsea and Dexter to young people 12 to 17 years of age have been completed, according to an announcement by Conservation Office Donley Boyer.

The hunter safety classes are sponsored by the Michigan Department of Conservation in cooperation with local organizations; in Dexter the American Legion is the sponsoring group and in Chelsea the Rod and Gun club interests itself in promoting the annual project.

J. Yates Kennedy was the Dexter Legion's representative and instructor while Peter Severn assisted at the Chelsea classes for the sponsoring Rod and Gun club. He was assisted by Ray Koch.

Severn and his wife plan to serve refreshments Thursday, Oct. 11, to the 17 youths who completed the course in Chelsea.

He is Kenneth Luick, Robert Miller, Vincent Stahl, Gary Craven, Douglas Dyer, Dave Bable, Bill and Mike Harvey, Brian and Mike Policht.

The list continues with Richard Allen, Jim Bowling, Earl Hughes, Ronnie Morley, Chuck Reed, Joseph Scott and Charles Studebaker.

The Dexter young people who completed the course include three girls and six boys as well as three boys who had attended previous classes and enrolled for repeat sessions this year.

Those who attended the classes for the second time are Allen Steinaway, Richard Evinger and Larry Stalker.

The others are Karen and Sharon Rice, Nancy Poland, Jim Austin, Tom Andrew, Gary Detling, Irving Renton, Bradley Merrier and Gerry Poloy.

Conservation Officers Boyer said the four-hour course of classes in Dexter were held Oct. 2, 3 and 4 while those in Chelsea were combined into two two-hour sessions and held Sept. 27 and Oct. 4.

Each young person who completed the course will receive a certificate stating that he or she has "completed the Hunter Safety Course."

HOMECOMING QUEENS—Chelsea High's Homecoming last week-end was described as a "complete success"—the Chelsea team won Friday's football game with Ypsilanti Roosevelt 26-0; the queen contest was a big event; the homecoming dance after the game was a happy occasion; and the big pep rally Thursday night was a fine introduction to the big event of the football season.

FIRST HOMECOMING SCORE—After the Ypsilanti-Roosevelt Rough Riders were held to two downs in the first quarter of Friday's Homecoming game here, the Chelsea Bulldogs regained possession of the ball, and as seen in the above photo Dud Holmes is racing from the eight-yard line to score the first touchdown, the score remaining at 6-0 through the first half. During the second half the Bulldogs chalked up another 20 points while the Rough Riders were unsuccessful in their efforts to score. The game was Chelsea's second this season in which the opposing team remained scoreless. Their game with Manchester was won by a score of 48-0.

Employ the Physically Handicapped Move Has Helped Many with Ability

The human body is an amazing machine. A person can live on half a lung. A person can get along without the use of arms and legs. As a matter of fact, our factories, offices and businesses have many individuals—even in top-level, policy-making positions—who are so severely handicapped that they cannot even pick up a pencil.

As the nation and this community observe National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 7-13, proclaimed annually by the president of the United States, let us keep these people in mind. Just because a man is in a wheelchair, just because he cannot see, or because he is deaf does not mean he cannot be a productive employee.

All properly trained handicapped persons can and do produce. There are many examples of this in our own community. If further evidence is needed, surveys made by the U. S. Department of Labor indicate the handicapped have production, attendance, and safety records which are equal to or slightly better than those of their so-called able-bodied co-workers.

In these times when we must use our manpower resources to the fullest, it is imperative that the handicapped be given equal consideration with the so-called able-bodied for opportunity at employment.

National Fire Prevention Week Is Time To Correct Potential Dangers

It is appropriate that the observance of National Fire Prevention Week comes during the first of October when we are faced with the necessity of again heating our homes after the summer months. It is during this period that many fires occur due to faulty heating systems and unsafe furnaces and chimneys.

To call the public's attention to the danger of such tragedies, National Fire Prevention Week is set aside from Oct. 7-13 this year. Observance of this week is also intended to remind citizens of the many deaths and huge property losses which result each year from carelessness in the use of fire.

We urge all readers to make a resolution to exercise extreme care to prevent tragedies resulting from fires in your community. A little thought about this may pay big dividends and prevent unnecessary deaths.

Man is but a worm. He comes along, wiggles a bit, and then some chicken gets him.—Grit.

Detroit will be host to the National Automobile Show this year for only the second time in the 44-year history of the multi-million dollar display.

Two years ago the annual extravaganza was shifted from New York to the Motor City to mark the opening of Cobo Hall. This year, Oct. 20-28 it will return to the same 300,000 square foot of display area in downtown Detroit.

Fashion shows, stage performances, a national television program originating daily from Cobo Hall, travel movies, and an old car parade highlight the 44th annual display of the modes of travel in the U.S.A.

Sponsors of the show, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, boast the 1952 display will be the most spectacular in the long history of the event. Each auto company has been allocated more space, to allow a more complete display of the new car lines than ever before.

In addition to the daily morning telecast from the arena, an hour-long color broadcast will bring millions of families to the scene on the evening of Oct. 21.

A special concert by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on Oct. 18 and the appearance of Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson on Oct. 22 also are expected to attract record-breaking crowds to this year's display.

The beginning of a state-authorized student loan program is under way according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett.

Some $572,000 will soon be available to Michigan students who need money to obtain college educations.

The investigation showed the store it with the surplus crops on account of the added storage costs. Furthermore, he writes, it would complicate our foreign policy to ship his excess overseas. The people over there would get to eating more corn on the cob, and while this might help the corn surplus problem, he figures them foreign dentists and corn growers would get mad and they would turn to Communism if we didn't anchor 'em down heavy with more foreign aid.

He told the Agriculture folks he has got several false teeth customers that is getting paid for not producing corn and wheat and other things, so it would be a heap more simple if they would just send him the money and he would go into the non-producing false teeth business.

Now that's a good, honest proposition, Mister Editor, one that not only fits in perfect with our foreign aid policy, but also with our farm policy and I predict they'll take him up on the deal.

Well, the candidates around the country for the U. S. Senate and House is coming down the home stretch and about all of them has took to the newspapers, radio and television. Most of 'em looks and sounds pretty good and I'm shore, no matter who wins, wonderful things is in store for all of us in Washington come the next session of the Congress. The trick to politics, Mister Editor, is to get contributions from the rich, votes from the poor, and promise perfection to both, again each other. Personal, I'm going to drive to the polls November 6 mighty slow, sorter like I was going to see the tax collector.

Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

The program is under the jurisdiction of the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority created by the 1950 Legislature. No state funds were appropriated for the operation of the Authority, however.

The Authority solicited private funds to start the program. This fall and received agreement with a group of Michigan banks for a guaranty program. Under the agreement every $1 contributed is guaranteed a $10 loan for a student.

Bartlett said the program set up provided that each college and university could retain its deposits into the guaranty fund for use by its students.

The largest contribution came recently when the University of Michigan deposited $50,000 with the Authority to secure $500,000 in loans for students at the Ann Arbor institution.

There is risk in buying land you have never seen, according to reports reaching the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office in Lansing.

A prime example was a mail offer sent to many Michigan residents offering land for sale in Hawaii.

The advertisements indicated the land was on a beautiful estate on "palm-fringed beaches of white sand or glistening black, together with brilliant orchids and crystal clear water." The property was minutes away from the golf course, had an excellent water supply and free transportation to schools, according to the offer.

A closer look at the offer, according to Atty. Gen. Frank K. Kelley, disclosed a somewhat different picture.

The investigation showed the nearest golf course was 40 miles away. The one-room grammar school 12 miles away and high school 23 miles away were not served by any transportation. The "excellent water supply" was available only by tapping it on the roofs of the houses.

In addition to the variation from the claims, Kelley said the company which mailed the offers was not qualified to do business in Michigan.

The worst of the traffic accidents in Michigan is yet to come with the approach of winter, but one area of vital statistics begins to drop off in the latter part of the year.

This year, the water accident record improved in two areas, but showed an increase in the most important area. Some 210 persons drowned in the various types of water accidents this year, for an increase of nine victims from last year.

The 423 accidents recorded, however, represented a decrease of 62 and a drop of 28 was noted in the number of persons injured.

Free Booklet Gives Special Regulations On Winter Fishing

Lansing — Fishermen may obtain free copies of special regulations to be in effect later this year and early 1951 from the Conservation Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its district field offices.

The regulations lists waters open to this winter's hook-and-line season on rainbow trout; winterkill lakes where fish of any kind or size may be taken by hook-and-line fishing at any time; and waters which come under the Oct. 15-Dec. 31 spearing season on ciscoes, whitefish, suckers, and carp.

Other regulations list streams open to hoop netting for burbot from Dec. 15-Feb. 28 and waters where ciscoes may be taken by gill nets from Nov. 15 to Dec. 10.

Michigan Is No. 2 In Hunting, Fishing

Lansing—Michigan was second to California in hunting and fishing popularity during the 1951 fiscal year, figures from the U. S. Department of the Interior show.

About 2,458,000 licenses and stamps were issued to give Michigan the No. 2 spot for the third straight year. California, which has finished first since 1950, issued some 4,775,000.

Michigan hunters paid $4,884,419 for 1,140,476 licenses and stamps. Sales receipts from 1,308,715 fishing licenses and stamps totaled $2,707,418.

More than 41,000,000 licenses, tags, permits, and stamps were issued to the nation's sportsmen at a gross cost of $116,800,000.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cook gave their friends a happy surprise by keeping to themselves the fact that the handsome new residence, nearing completion on US-12 (Now Old US-12) is to be their home.

The invited relatives and friends to spend Sunday with them and then took them out to the modern new home, showed them around and then announced it was the new "Cook homestead."

Married Saturday, Sept. 28, at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Fred I. Walker, Zelma Hepburn and Victor Miller. They are making their home in Ann Arbor.

Leonard Satterthwaite, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Satterthwaite, died Sunday at U. M. Hospital, Ann Arbor, of injuries received Saturday when he was caught in the belt of a silo filler.

ONE-TEACHER SCHOOLS

According to the National Education Association there has been a sharp decrease in one-teacher schools in the last 30 years between 1922 and 1921.

The latest report shows that the number has dropped from 164,000 to 15,018. The report stated that there would always be a need for one-teacher schools, sparsely settled areas, but the total should be reduced to 5,000 within the next 10 years.

Everyone Needs Nourishing Foods At Breakfast Meal

East Lansing—What you ate this morning is showing.
"Breakfast can play a large part in how you look, act and feel throughout the day," says Roberta Hershey, Michigan State University foods and nutrition specialist.
"This is especially true for those who skip on the noon meal."
Miss Hershey points out the period from breakfast to lunch usually makes up one third of your day and includes half of your hours on the job or in school.
Mid-morning slump with accompanying hunger pains may lower efficiency and creativity by hindering your ability to concentrate and remain interested.

How to Grow Old Fast
"Rushing off to work or school without breakfast not only can ruin your morning personality, but it can injure your health,"
the specialist points out. "Forcing your body to operate without necessary nutrients can wear down resistance and speed aging."

"Such excuses as 'I'm on a diet,'
'Mother doesn't have time to fix breakfast' or 'No one eats it if I do it' are well-known replies to doctors and nutrition experts.
But poorly planned fast diets, busy schedules and an unwillingness to get up in the morning can be corrected or offset."

Miss Hershey believes that the adverse effects of not eating breakfast outweigh the results of skipping breakfast calories. Too often, she says, a breakfast of during coffee break or a casual but nutritious meal "make up" for breakfast. These foods contain a large amount of calories, but have little food value.

A breakfast of juice, cereal, and eggs or meat contains few calories in comparison to snack sweets, and it has enough protein to prevent hunger pains, she says. Diet-ers should concentrate on eating foods that are nutritious rather than eating "empty calories."

Fix Breakfast at Night
"If you don't have time to fix breakfast in the morning, concentrate on foods that may be prepared the night before or that can be prepared in a few minutes," Miss Hershey advises. "For example, you can measure water for coffee and mix orange juice before you go to bed. You can also set out breakfast cereals and dishes for eating and cooking."

"Prepared rolls, ready for the oven often are not beyond your 12-year-old daughter's ability to bake, and toast requires even less effort," she continues. Fruits such as bananas or strawberries are good for self-serving in the morning too."

Pulling yourself out of bed earlier takes will power but usually you can be helped along with the aroma of something good to eat, Miss Hershey says. Furthermore, the realization that everything is ready and waiting eliminates any need for extra effort.

MEETING UNLIKELY
Soviet Premier Khrushchev recently hinted to foreign visitors that he would like to have a talk with President Kennedy later this year.

United States officials are presently cool to such a meeting because of the danger that sharp words would inflame East-West tensions.

FASTER THAN POLICE
Waterbury, Conn.—After reporting his car was missing, John G. Adomides became impatient waiting for a report from the police.
First he borrowed another car and went out looking for his stolen sedan. But this method was too slow.
So he drove to the airport, climbed on his plane, and began looking for his car. In a few minutes he saw it near the railroad tracks.

New Brighton Interchange Eliminates US-23 Bottleneck

Brighton—The final stretch of US-23 Freeway between Ann Arbor and the Saginaw Bay area was opened recently, the State Highway Department reports.
Four college crews and a high school girl—all wearing varsity sweaters from as many different schools—took part in ribbon-cutting ceremonies to mark opening of nearly nine miles of freeway between Brighton and M-59.
The new stretch of freeway includes one of the world's largest interchanges.
The interchange, linking the US-23 and Interstate 96 freeways, covers an area of 171 acres.
The 1-96 portion of the interchange was opened last December, nearly a year ahead of schedule, and completion of the interchange eliminated the last major traffic bottleneck between Ann Arbor and the Mackinac Bridge.
Highway Department officials said growth of Brighton, located at the crossroads of the two super-highways, will be stimulated by completion of the two border-to-border freeways.
Completion of the stretch of US-23 between Brighton and M-59 provides Detroit motorists with non-stop driving from the northwest edge of the Motor City to the community of Vanderbilt in Otsego County, a distance of 235 miles.

Rest Areas Proving Popular With Motorists

Battle Creek—Michigan leads the nation in construction of Safety Rest Areas on the Interstate highway system with 15 now in use.
State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reports that by the end of the summer, Michigan will have about 26 Rest Areas on its freeway system.
"Eventually, there will be 100 Rest Areas on our freeway system," Mackie said.
The landscaped Rest Areas, located every 45 to 50 miles in each direction, are about eight acres in size, have parking for 24 trucks and 60 cars, and have drinking water, rest rooms, picnic tables, trash barrels and information bulletin boards.
Mackie said recent studies show the Rest Areas are "very popular with freeway travelers."
"A survey taken on Interstate 94 last summer showed 12 per cent of all motorists stop at a Rest Area during the day, and eight per cent use the facilities at night," Mackie said.

Con-Con Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series of articles about the proposed new Michigan Constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Michigan will continue to have courts of jurisdiction below the circuit court level under the terms of the new constitution, even though the document specifically abolishes the offices of Justice of the Peace and Circuit Court Commissioner within five years after its adoption.

The setting up of a new state system of courts of limited jurisdiction is left to the legislature by provisions of the new constitution. If such courts are not designated by the legislature as "courts of record" their judges need not be lawyers.

The new constitution requires that all judges, including those in courts of limited jurisdiction, be salaried employees. The fee system for the compensation of judges is abolished if the new document is approved by the people at the polls on April 1, 1963.

Debates in the judicial committee and on the floor at the Constitutional Convention indicate that the fee system of compensation was one of the principal objections to the Justice of the Peace system in Michigan. A majority of the delegates felt that it was poor practice to gauge a judge's pay by the volume of his work. Cases were cited in which competition among lower courts appeared to be detrimental to proper judicial processes.

The proposed constitution provides the legislature with a five-year period within which to re-evaluate the entire system of courts of limited jurisdiction and to develop a lower court structure better adapted to the needs of the people and the ends of justice.

Qualifications of judges for the lower courts will be a matter for legislative determination, but the framers of the new constitution recognized that in a corner of the more sparsely settled sections of the state sufficient lawyers might not be available to staff necessary judicial positions.

The new document provides that only lawyers will be eligible for Justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the court of appeals and circuit courts. Now probate judges must also be lawyers, but non-lawyers serving as probate judges at the time of adoption of the new constitution may serve the remainder of their terms and be eligible for re-election.

Another judicial provision in the new constitution would permit the legislature to combine two or more counties into a probate district, if such a procedure is approved by a majority of the voters in each of the counties involved. It also permits the legislature to provide for the combination of the office of probate judge with any judicial office of a court of limited jurisdiction within a county.

These permissive provisions are included to make possible better administration of these courts in the smaller counties of the state. The term of office for probate judges is increased from four to six years under the terms of the new document.

NEW JOBS

Congress has authorized a 900-million-dollar public works program that will affect more than a thousand towns, cities and rural counties in the United States.
The purpose of the program is to create jobs quickly in areas where unemployment is high and, at the same time, build useful public works. Rural areas are earmarked for at least one-third of the federal aid.

U. N. BOND BILL PASSED

Congress has given its approval to President Kennedy's proposal to lend the United Nations up to $100,000,000.
The bill authorized the President to help the United Nations in either of two ways: Lend it the money, or buy up to half of a $200,000,000 bond issue. The bill also contained some restrictions.

PARKS HORSE, PAYS METER

Glendale, Ariz. — Gayle Cate and Bobby Wagoner, both 13, rode into town on their horse and solved their own parking problem.
They rode into an empty parking space, dismounted, hitched a dobbie to the meter and dropped a penny in the slot.
The nearby patrolman mused aloud to bystanders, "Wonder where I'll put the ticket in case the horse oversteers the time!"

DOWN THE DRAIN

Los Angeles — John Farris and his wife were riding along discussing which car to buy. Farris wanted one kind his wife another.
To stress her point, she gestured with the sack indicating that to buy the car her husband wanted was like throwing money away.
Out the bag went and landed in a storm drain 15 feet below the surface of the ground. While trying to fish it out a nearby filling station washed down the driveway and the water carried sack and money away.
They drove away in silence.

On Sunday afternoon Oct. 14, there will be open house at the Realy Homestead on the Waterloo-Munnich Rd. from 2 to 6 p.m. so that friends of the society, members and all interested people in the area may see what has been accomplished this summer.

Trees Not For Sale at This Nursery

We do not believe in wire tapping but the other day we overheard a phone conversation as follows:

First person: "Hello. What price are your red maple trees? Do you stock them all year round?"

Second person: "I'm sorry, we have young saplings three and four years old. We meet from September through May."

First person: "Excuse me, but I heard on television to let my fingers do the walking. But I'd like to let my three-year-old boy run in the orchard. Who shall I call?"

Second person: "Call Mrs. Raymond Steinbach, GR 9-5881 and tell her 8 1/2 people out of 10 are enrolling three- and four-year olds at Chelsea Co-Op Nursery—not for trees."

There is one vacancy left in the four-year-old class and several left in the three-year-old section; spokesmen for the school reported this week.

Attendance at this meeting will count for the 100 percent parent participation program of all pack meetings; however, Cub Scouts will not be at this special pack meeting planned especially for the parents of current and prospective Cub Scouts.

Each den mother will plan the activity of the evening for the parents of the Cub Scouts of her own den and will be prepared to entertain four extra parents in order to absorb in her group any parents whose boys are not yet placed in a den.

THE LETTERBOX

To the Editor: We definitely agree with "once a kid" who wrote the article in regard to children collecting for UNICEF on Halloween.

We think it is a disgrace to spoil children's fun for funds. Are we so "fund happy" we cash in on children's one night of fun that only occurs once a year?

Can't we remember how much fun we had as children on that night and yet we say we love our children. Well, if we do, let's prove it! Let's drop this one and for all—let children be children and enjoy themselves at least one night a year.

At Child-Lover.

Chelsea, Mich.
Oct. 9, 1962

To the Editor: As a parent I am very pleased Chelsea is taking on a world outlook in becoming part of the UNICEF: Tricks or Treats for the World's Children program this Halloween.

It is a pathetic picture each Halloween to see children crying out the pounds of candy for which they begged. Especially when we realize it will only add unnecessary calories and aid tooth decay.

It seems to me, everyone will have more fun in the "dressing up," begging, and "handing out" when we have the added joy of knowing we are helping a sick and hungry child who has to beg for life itself.

A Concerned Mother.

Woman's Club Hears Discussion on Problems of Aging

Members and guests who attended the Woman's club meeting at McKune Memorial Library Tuesday evening, heard an interesting and informative talk on the subject of geriatrics. The speaker was Mrs. George Coons, program director of the geriatrics department at Ypsilanti State Hospital and a member of the staff in the University of Michigan Gerontology Department.

Mrs. Coons is conducting a program of rehabilitation at Ypsilanti State Hospital aimed at bringing the older patients to their highest possible level of achievement by means of recreation, crafts and workshop activities. Included in their recreation are birthday parties, baseball games and (for the more active) bowling.

The entire program has for its purpose a "more nearly normal life inside the hospital." She explained that volunteer workers and contributions are welcomed.

During the business session which followed, the club voted to make a contribution to the work of the Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children after Mrs. Lee Ferguson presented a report on the association's work. She explained that some area children are now attending the association's grade school which is in need of toys as well as money for its work.

Further plans were discussed for the club's fall rummage sale scheduled for Oct. 26 and 27 and announcement of the next meeting included mention that a book report will be given by Mrs. E. W. Eaton.

Hostesses for Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. David Soule.

W. J. 'Bill' Windle Named District IV Scout Executive

William J. "Bill" Windle and his wife, the former Alice Heathcote, and young son, Ralph, are moving to the Washtenaw county area where he will be District IV scout executive for Portage Trails Council.

His appointment was announced by Jack R. Doidge, president of the council, who said Windle will assume his new duties Oct. 15. Windle plans to reside in Chelsea.

Born in Delphos, O., Windle was raised in Jackson, his initial work in scouting being with Land O' Lakes Council in Jackson in 1952. After eight months' service there, he went into the U. S. Army where he worked with a special services unit for about two years.

Returning to civilian life, he was kept busy at the Chief Shabbona Council out of St. Charles, Ill., before coming to serve as assistant district executive with the Detroit Area Council four years ago. While working with the Detroit Area Council, he gained experience both in the downtown area and in the suburban parts of the Council's territory, with approximately two years spent in each. He is a member of Scouting's Order of the Arrow.

With the advent of Halloween, some jack-o'-lanterns of special significance as their youngsters will celebrate his fifth birthday this year on that date.

Windle as the new District IV executive will work with scouting units in Dexter, Chelsea, Saline, Whitmore Lake, Milan, and Manchester.

The district has 700 boys enrolled in six Cub Scout packs, eight Boy Scout troops and four Explorer units.

In announcing the new appointment, Doidge said, "We are confident that our volunteer leaders in this new district will enjoy working with Windle whose previous Scouting experience will be of great value as he meets his new responsibilities."

Windle is a member of the American Legion and the Knights of Columbus and was formerly a member of the Lions club in St. Charles, Ill.

FALSE ALARM

Antioch, Calif. — It wasn't an enemy attack but the enemy warning system got real action.

Police dispatcher Glen Blomsteth leaned against the wall while reading a bulletin at 7:12 a.m. Unknown to him, he pressed a red button, which triggered six new civil defense air raid sirens installed for warning against enemy attack.

Officers and civilians, reported to their stations. At least they found out the system worked.

The un-American idea is the belief that the government can always do it better, or worse.

Association for Retarded Children Planning Start of Nursery Class

The Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, a United Fund agency, is announcing plans for enrollment of a nursery class, ages three to six, and a senior class for those 15 years old and over.

Applications for enrollment are now being accepted at the Sullivan Special Education Center, 5924 Jackson Rd., where a new room is almost completed to house the additional classes.

The nursery class is for both trainable and educable. The only requirements for these children are: a psychological examination by a licensed psychologist; they must be reasonably toilet trained and be able to make their words known.

Nursery hours are from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Senior hours are from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tuition for these classes will be $1.00 per day; this fee may be adjusted to fit into the family budget since no child will be excluded because of inability to pay.

Transportation for nursery and senior classes is mostly by bus. Mrs. Hugh D. Pickett, the director of the Center, will help make transportation arrangements.

The nursery and senior classes must be members of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children. Membership is $3 per individual or $5 for a family. With this, members receive a subscription to "Child Limited," a monthly news letter, and the pamphlet "Span."

MOTHER OF 9 ADOPTS

Arkansas, Pass, Tex. — Having raised nine children, her own Mrs. Albert J. Luke has gone to Colombia where she will adopt three orphaned youngsters.

Mrs. Luke explained that her children were all married and away from home, that she seldom saw her 19 grandchildren and that she was only 45—so why shouldn't she raise more children.

The bride, who is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton K. Musbach of Howard Rd., was given in marriage by her father.

An arrangement of cymbidium orchids, stephanotis and ivy atop a lace-covered white Bible carried by the bride complemented her gown of white satin and hand-clipped alençon lace. Any-Deer Permit

Applicants Reminded To Sign Their Names

Lansing—Applicants for antlerless deer hunting permits are reminded to put postage on both halves of application cards. Lack of proper postage was the most common shortcoming found among some 20,000 early entries for permits which reached the Conservation Department's Lansing office. Failure to sign names and give complete hunting license numbers, including letter prefixes, were next on the list of oversights by applicants.

It will do no good to dash off to the license dealer for another form or write the Department if you've already mailed an application and now think something was left out. One application is the limit per hunter.

Oct. 10 is the deadline for post-marking applications. Drawings will start at 10 a.m., Oct. 18, to determine successful applicants in areas where entries outnumber permit quotas.

Education on the higher level is showing the weaknesses of the present age of high finance.

September Traffic

September traffic deaths in Michigan totaled 151, an increase of 23, or 18 percent, over 128 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

A seven-death two-car collision on the month's closing week-end helped to increase the September toll. This was the fourth month in a row in which there was a gain in deaths compared with the same months last year. Delayed death reports will raise the September count somewhat.

September's average for the last five years of 1957-61 was 135 and for the 25 years since 1933 it was 149.

The provisional nine-month toll is 1,142, which is six more than 1,136 in the same period in 1961.

HOUSE APPROVES FARM BILL

The House approved, by a small margin, a compromise farm bill that would give President Kennedy something to work on to control farm surpluses.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman said he was delighted over the vote of confidence for sensible long-range farm programs.

The bill provides a combination of payments to wheat and feed growers who voluntarily reduce their acreage in 1963.

Would your retirement budget be wrecked if you had no income for several months? Be smart! Visit your social security office two or three months before retirement and your monthly check will start right on schedule.

Hearing Loss Is Common Says Expert

Ann Arbor—Hearing loss—one of the most common human illnesses—today affects about 4 1/2 million children, according to Dr. Walter P. Work of the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Dr. Work, chairman of the department of otolaryngology (ear, nose and throat), estimates that in Michigan alone 16,000 school-age children are hard of hearing.

The Michigan Department of Maternal and Child Welfare is active in testing and discovering such cases and in rehabilitating them. But, says Dr. Work, identifying the child with a hearing loss is difficult.

"Often the child's own difficulty with speech and school work gives the first evidence that his hearing is impaired."

The Michigan specialist listed three main types of hearing disorders: "conduction disorders" which involve the physical transmission of sound waves through the middle to the inner ear; "nerve loss" which affects the transmission of impulses from the inner ear to the brain; and, third, any combination of these two.

Some hearing disorders are present at birth, and others are acquired early in life, he reported. When the difficulty is inherited, there is usually a history of hearing problems in the family. Certain diseases of the mother during pregnancy can also result in deafness for her child.

Hearing loss after birth can follow attacks of mumps, measles, meningitis and bacterial ear infections, Dr. Work said.

"Today, hearing loss may be detected scientifically in infants as young as nine months of age, and many of the problems may be overcome by prompt medical or surgical treatment."

He further urged parents to be alert to hearing problems in their children and, if there is question, to make every effort to have their child examined by a physician at an early age.

Dr. Work spoke on a radio broadcast co-sponsored by the University of Michigan and the State Medical Society.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, Oct. 10. Anyone wishing to join should contact Mrs. Wilber Worden.

GO JET-SMOOTH '63 CHEVROLET—IT'S EXCITING!

If all roads were superhighways, Chevrolet's remarkably smooth and silent ride might be just another luxury. But as most town and country roads will demonstrate, this is one Chevrolet advantage that's mighty easy to get excited about. (The way those four deep-coil springs put the kibosh on bumps, you'd almost think Chevrolet was working for the highway commission.) The new '63 Bel Airs, Biscaynes and Impalas are built to be equally easy-going on upkeep. Brakes are self-adjusting. New Delcotron generator s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s battery life. Even the rocker panels on the Body-by-Flasher are self-washing and ventilating to cut down on rust. Your dealer's waiting to tell you more—and the more you hear about these new Chevrolets, the better you'll like them.

Fresh Meats Should Be Used in Few Days or Frozen is the final article of a series on the proper storage of meat and poultry as prepared by A. Gibbs, Consumer Market Information agent of the Extension Service, the co-operation of Michigan University and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Poultry will keep fresh in the refrigerator at the normal refrigerator temperatures of 38 to 40 degrees for only two days. If you have any doubt as to when you will be using your poultry, the best guide I can give you is to freeze it as soon as you buy it.

Frozen poultry will keep in your freezer at 0 degrees for as long as six to eight months if properly wrapped. Thaw frozen poultry in the refrigerator and allow two to three days for a large turkey—one to two days for a small bird.

If you are planning on roasting a chicken or a turkey it is best to put the dressing in just before the bird goes into the oven. A stuffed bird makes an excellent place for harmful bacteria to grow. If you are roasting poultry, the temperature of the oven should be 325 degrees. However, commercially frozen stuffed turkeys are perfectly safe to use, for they are frozen under carefully controlled conditions of fast-freezing which cannot be duplicated in the home.

If you have left-over poultry, refrigerate or freeze the meat, dressing and gravy in separate, well-covered or wrapped packages as soon as possible after the meal. Some say to store it within 30 minutes after serving. Don't use the old-fashioned method of allowing the food to cool to room temperature before refrigerating it—this gives the bacteria time to grow.

In freezing the left-over cooked poultry of any kind, cut the meat off the bones, and package as slices or bits. Freezing the slices in their own gravy or cream sauce keeps the air away from the meat and helps retain its flavor.

Now, in reviewing what we have covered, the first step to remember is that meat, poultry and fish are very perishable—so it is extremely important to remember to get them home and under refrigeration as soon as possible.

The second step is that all fresh meat or poultry should be unwrapped and loosely rewrapped or the store wrapper punctured to allow the product to breathe, before it is placed in the refrigerator.

The next step is to hold the meat and poultry at refrigerator temperatures for no more than the maximum storage times. And these are as follows:

All fresh beef, pork, veal, lamb (steaks, chops and roasts): within three days.

All ground fresh meats (ground beef, pork, veal or lamb and pork sausage): within one to two days.

Variety meats: within one to two days.

Smoked or cured meats (ham, bacon, frankfurters, sausage): within 10 days.

Poultry: within two days.

Next, in freezing, remember that proper methods will protect the original quality, but it will not improve it; so it is wise to select high quality meats and poultry in the first place.

Our fifth step is to make sure that all packages are properly wrapped before freezing in moisture-vapor-proof freezer wrappings to protect the original quality.

If you are planning long-term storage, the sixth step is to be sure that your freezer compartment goes down to 0 degrees or below, also to protect the original quality.

The next step is to hold the fresh meat and poultry in the freezer for only the recommended storage times which are as follows:

Fresh beef (steaks, chops and roasts): 8 to 10 months.

Fresh lamb (chops and roasts): six to eight months.

All other fresh meats: four to five months.

Fresh poultry: six to eight months.

The eighth and last step is to remind you that it is not wise to refreeze thawed meat because of the loss of juices and deterioration of the meat during the thawing and the refreezing.

Finally, I'd like to say that if you don't have refrigerator or freezer space to store a quantity of meat, it will be well worth your while in quality and money saved through less waste to make a few more trips to the market, and store your purchases properly.

ON WEST BERLIN

Gen. Lucius Clay says Russia is not ready to use force in Berlin. That is as long as the Western allies make it clear they will fight if necessary.

The President's former envoy to West Berlin says Russia, not the allies, had the initiative in the divided city.

The general further stated that when we really determine a course of action and say this is what we are going to take, it will be accepted by the Soviets because they certainly are not, as yet, prepared to use force.

Airman David Beeman Serving Aboard Carrier Recovering Astronaut

Project Mercury (FHTNC) — David C. Beeman, airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orson Beeman of 9015 Beeman Rd., Chelsea, Mich., is serving aboard the support aircraft carrier USS Kent, a unit of the recovery force which the U. S. Navy and U. S. Marine Corps assigned to the Pacific Ocean area for the third manned orbital flight into space.

The organization of ships and aircraft units, Task Force 130, was on station in the Pacific to locate and recover Astronaut Walter M. Schirra. His re-entry was planned to take place over the Pacific.

The around-the-world vigil maintained by the Pacific and Atlantic recovery forces, marked the first time that Pacific Fleet units had been specifically assigned to Project Mercury operations. However, in past space shots, all military units which possibly might be used have been on standby during a space shot. The landings of the two previous U. S. manned orbital flights have been terminated in the Atlantic.
