Bulldogs Down Pinckney, 46-0

Team Travels To South Lyon Friday Evening

Those who saw Chelsea and Pinckney play last Friday were convinced that "first impressions" are not always reliable, and justly so. In the first few minutes of the game, the Bulldogs gave the impression that they might be a long night for the Pirates.

Receiving the opening kick-off, Pinckney failed to move the ball. Chelsea was forced into a punting situation. Tom Eisenbeiser, leader of the Pirates punt, and the Bulldogs recovered on the Pinckney 30-yard line.

The Pirates were again held on pins and forced to kick. Following the punt return to the middle of the field, Chelsea fumbled on their first play and Pinckney recovered again. It was at this point that it appeared the evening might be a long one for the Bulldogs.

The complex of the game was about to change, however, and when Pinckney was forced into their third successive punt situation, Jack Howard took the kick in the Chelsea 20, and behind the five Chelsea blocking, returned the ball all the way for the first Chelsea score of the evening. Howard kicked the point after and the Bulldogs led, 7-0.

The remaining 18 are divided among 14 other schools and one, James Maynard, is a naval cadet at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Those who are enrolled at Michigan State College are Donald Atkinson, Nancy Carter, Carol Danneberg, Sherry Frislinger, Stanley Hand, Mary Ann Hanson, Rose Ann Hills, Ava MacDougall, Nancy McCalla, Dianne Miller, Elaine Pearson, Rita Ramp and Ruth Ann Sexton.

Boys PP&K Contest Set For Saturday

At 9 a.m. Saturday at Chelsea High school athletic field, more than 60 boys seven to 11 years old, will compete for prizes in the Punt, Pass & Kick contest being sponsored by Palmer Motor Sales in cooperation with the Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. and the National Football League.

Chelsea Jaycees are assisting by assuming responsibility for conducting Saturday's contest and judging to select the winners.

Last year, when the PP&K competition was launched nationally by Ford Motor Co., 205,000 grade school boys throughout the United States participated. A total of 60 competed in Chelsea.

Each boy competes against other boys in his own age group in a contest of football punting, passing, and kicking (using a kicking tee). There is no body contact, no special equipment needed.

Points are awarded for each foot the ball travels in the air, and points deducted for each foot the ball lands to the left or right of a center line. (Measurements are made to the half-foot, and half points awarded or deducted.)

Top winners of each local competition will receive National Football League warm-up jackets with the official emblem of the NFL team in the area. Second place winners will be football helmets; third prizes, football autographs by members of the 1961 NFL champion Green Bay Packers.

Following completion of all local contests, there will be state, area, divisional and national championship competition.

Registrations may still be made at Palmer Motor Sales; the registrations are being accepted until Friday night.

JAYCEE BARBECUE—Edward Baczinski, right, and Joe Doering were the official "creakers" at the Jaycees barbecue at Pierce Park last Sunday. They passed judgement as to whether the 1310 chicken halves were charcoal-broiled to perfection before they were taken from the grill to be served.

Looking on, at left, is Lloyd Schneider, a Jaycee member. Doering and Baczinski are volunteer workers who have loaned their assistance to the Jaycees at the annual barbecue for several years. "Hank" Orthing, chief cook, was another volunteer worker, although he was not present when the photographer happened by. Further back along the barbecue broiling pit are Jaycees Bob Bertke and (behind Baczinski) George A. Staffan.

Committee members in charge of the barbecue project were Ed Akin, chairman; Art Stoll, Lloyd Schneider, Ron Eder, George Staffan and Gene Shoemaker. They had planned for 1,200 servings but hustled out and bought an additional 110 chickens when it became evident they were going to fall short. After the additional chickens were served, additional would-be customers were turned away "with regret."

ANNUAL REPORT PRESENTED: Social Service Reports New Contacts in Past Year

Mrs. Louis Ramp, director of Chelsea Social Service, in her sixth annual report to the board of directors, described as its "most highly organized service and the one in which we have felt the greatest pride" is the annual distribution of gifts to the needy at Christmas time.

Mrs. Ramp explained that from year to year, the Social Service personnel have added to their knowledge of procedure with the result that all families known to be in need are provided for adequately with the co-operation of various community groups. She said a "Christmas Bureau of sorts" describes the method used to avoid duplication while insuring that all are cared for.

Chelsea Social Service, Mrs. Ramp said, acts as an agent for the many organizations and individuals who want to share with the less fortunate at the holiday season.

Chelsea Social Service is a benefitting agency of the Chelsea Community Chest; however, Mrs. Ramp's report states, "the gifts we distribute are by no means provided exclusively from the funds of Chelsea Social Service, nor is the work required for the distribution performed entirely by its personnel."

The list continues with the Chelsea Branch of the Needlework Guild; the American Legion Auxiliary; Ruth Naomi Circle of the Congregational church; Chat 'n' Soup of the Congregational church; St. Barnabas Episcopal church (white gift collection); Anderson's Store; Child Study Club; Cub Scouts; Girl Scouts; Chelsea Public Schools students; CHS Latin Club; CHS Future Homemakers; (Continued on page six)

First Film in Travel Series To Be Shown

Robert Davis Will Narrate Story of Belgium

The first in the series of six Kiwanis-sponsored travelogues of the 1962-63 season will take place Saturday, Oct. 20, in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

ROBERT DAVIS

At Monday's Kiwanis club meeting, Wallace Wood, the ticket chairman, reported there were still a limited number of tickets available, any Kiwanian may be contacted by persons wishing to secure tickets, Wood said.

The first program of the series is entitled "Amazing Belgium," with Robert Davis of Cary, Ill., as narrator.

Davis calls the world "his oyster," and it has been, for he has visited many of its interesting places with his talented camera. He has photographed Iceland, Sicily, the Canary Islands, Cyprus, Texas, Arizona and now Belgium.

He has had the distinction of appearing in the largest auditoriums in the country, such as Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh, Town Hall and Columbia University in New York.

School Band Boosters Plan Tag Day

At a meeting of the Chelsea schools Band Boosters club, held Wednesday evening, Oct. 10, Charles Lancaster, head of the ways and means committee, outlined plans for a tag sale to be held at the High School Athletic Field before the start of the Dexter-Chelsea football game.

Lancaster explained that the tag sale will continue Saturday, Oct. 27 on Main St. and will give area residents an opportunity to support the new uniform fund-raising effort.

Further projects of the group include chocolate bar and fruit cake sales. The chocolate bars will be sold from Nov. 2-12, and orders for fruit cakes will be taken at that time. Delivery of fruit cakes will be made before Thanksgiving.

Elementary PTA, Parents To Meet For Conferences

Announced as grade chairmen for these sales were: Mrs. Ross Scholten, 6th grade; Mrs. Jack Pfeiffer, 7th grade; Mrs. Peter Severn, 8th grade; and Mrs. Russell Gardner and Mrs. David Solde, senior high grade.

Beginning at 8 p.m. a business meeting will be held and then all elementary teachers from North and South schools and elementary teachers at the Junior High school will be available for short conferences with parents.

Cub Scout Parents Will Meet Tonight

Mrs. Vernon Parks and Mrs. Curtis Farley, who are in charge of the annual Cub Scout parents event to be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday (tonight) at the Junior High school gymnasium, are reminding parents to be sure to attend.

Cub Scouts of Den VI, of which Mrs. Parks and Mrs. Farley are den mothers, spent Saturday morning as guests of Warren Spaulding at his farm on Waltrous Rd.

A new experience for most of the boys was driving a tractor under the supervision of their host, each Cub Scout taking a turn at it while the other Cub Scouts and their leaders rode in a trailer drawn by the tractor.

Mr. Spaulding stopped at intervals to permit the boys to pick up hickory nuts and walnuts.

The boys also enjoyed a tour of the farm buildings visiting an empty silo and hearing their voices echo in the structure; swinging in old-fashioned swings from the high branches of maple and walnut trees; and being presented with bouquets of dahlias for each Cub Scout to take home to his mother.

The drivers, Mrs. Curtis Farley, assistant den mother, and Vernon Parks, den dad, took the Cub Scouts for a ride before returning to Chelsea, stopping at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. E. Mayer where they were permitted the privilege of picking bitternests to put with their bouquets of dahlias.

Boys of Den VI are Tony Burnett, Arthur Farley, David Conklin, Lee Dickelman, Bruce Parks, John Hepburn and Barry Novess.

Steer Club Sign-Up Now Underway

Thirteen of the 19 prospective Chelsea Steer Club members were present for a meeting Tuesday evening at the Chelsea High school cafeteria to organize for the year.

It was pointed out that it is imperative that all who wish to participate in the Steer Club this year pick up the regulation agreement at once and sign and return it by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23. The signed agreements may be turned in to Stephen Hayden, agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at Chelsea High school, or to Thomas Rust at the Chelsea Hardware store.

Bust is Steer Club chairman for the sponsoring Chelsea Chamber of Commerce.

Club requirements are that the animals must be purchased by Nov. 15 and all who plan to be club members this year should complete arrangements before the Oct. 23 deadline date.

LEIGH PALMER, second from left, the only Ford dealer in Michigan who has been in business continuously for 50 years, was presented a plaque last week by representatives of the Ford Company in recognition of the honor. There are two other Ford dealership firms in the Detroit District who have been in business 50 years or more, but ownership of both has changed during the years. Palmer began as a sub-dealer here in 1911 and received his own franchise in April, 1912. His son, George Palmer, is now associated with him in the business here. Last spring Leigh Palmer was guest of honor at a banquet in Detroit for all 50-year Ford dealers in the United States. In the photo, from left, are R. M. Gilliland, assistant district sales manager for the Ford Co.; Leigh Palmer; George Palmer; and Frank Galeana, zone field manager.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK:

What Is A Newspaper?

By Representative Carl Albert of Oklahoma
Majority Leader, U. S. House of Representatives

To the layman, a newspaper is a sometimes satisfying, occasionally perplexing, and often exciting experience. To the newspaperman, the American public must present a similar enigma. As an element in our society, we view no single institution as more fundamental than the press in expressing the divergent views arising out of free and open discussion; more formidable in the structuring of public opinion; or more faithful in the execution of its vast responsibilities.

In an age of potential push-button annihilation when the repercussions of error may be catastrophic, we must be able to marshal the best thinking of the best minds and bring it to bear on the problem at hand. The functioning of an open democratic society demands an informed populace. History is replete with decisions not made or made erroneously because the weight of public opinion was against them. Thus, a newspaper becomes the means of disseminating information—accurate, factual information—to serve as the basis for reasoned judgment.

This is not to say that a newspaper is committed to total objectivity. What could be more appropriate in a free society than the expression of honest convictions strongly held? No man would deny a newspaper editor the citizen's privilege to form an opinion on the basis of the available facts and argue the wisdom of his decision. Nor would any responsible editor deny the citizen's right of access to all the available facts, presented without bias, on which to base his judgment.

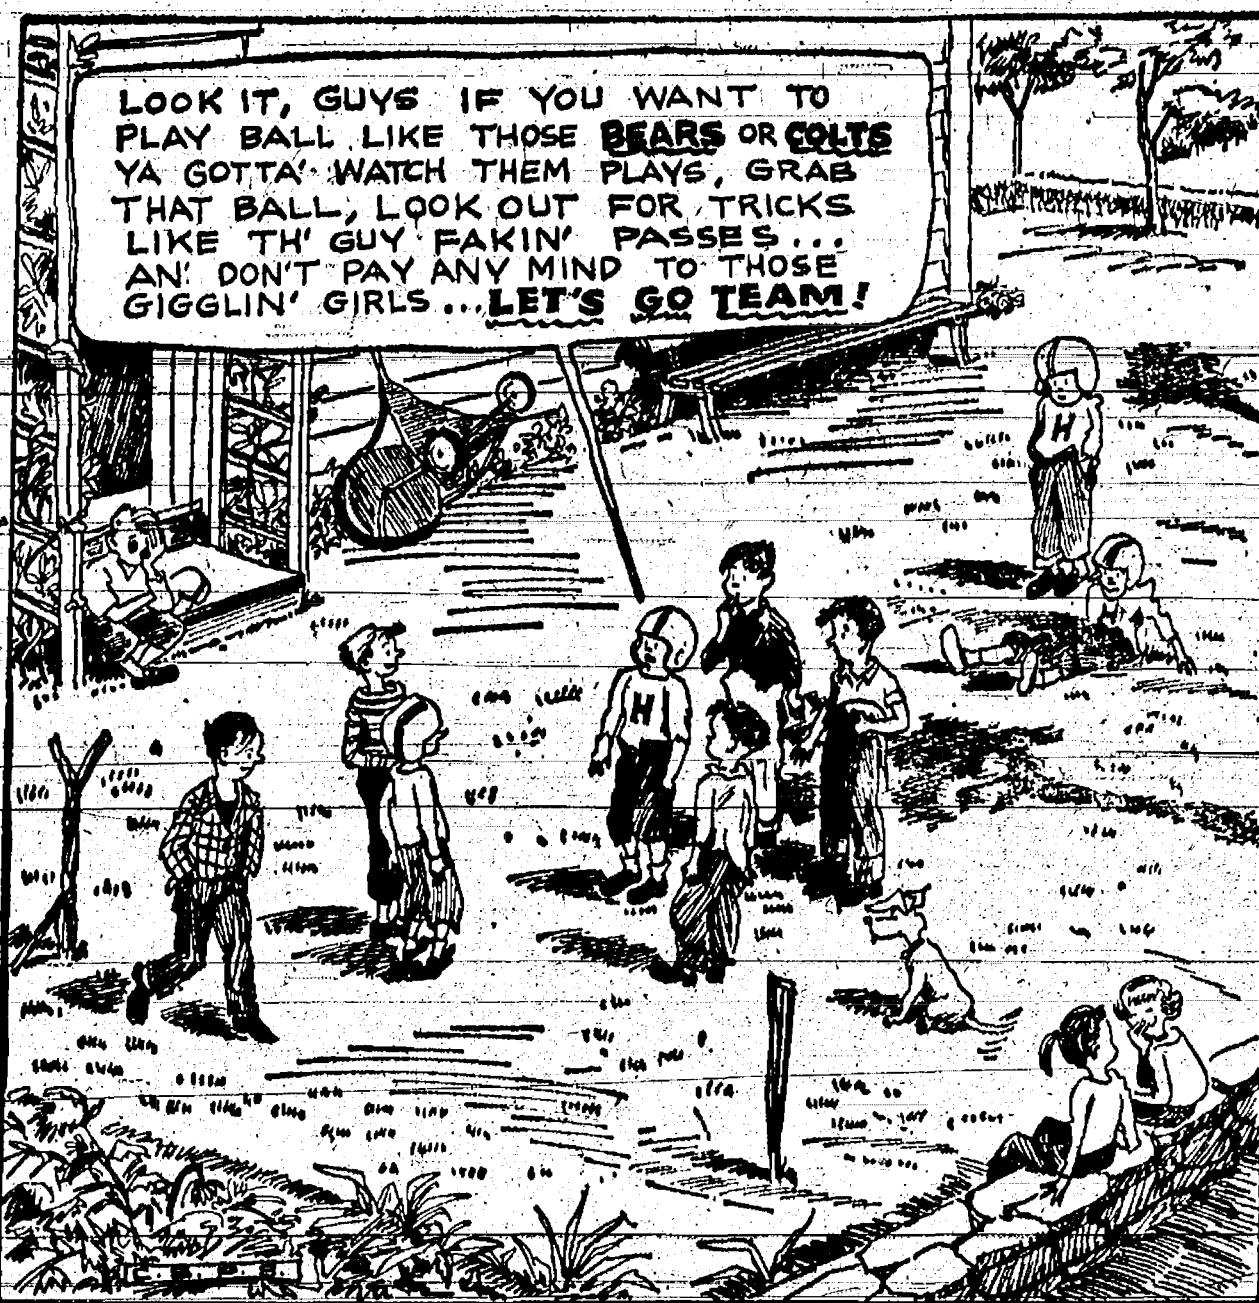

Many factors emerge which affect the newspaper's basic function as a disseminator of information. The newspaper has the responsibility to the local community it serves. This public service aspect is familiar to us all in announcements of community interest and local news and feature stories. More important, however, is the service rendered by the newspaper which recognizes its influence on the public mind, to stimulate the interest and arouse the concern of the average citizen in those issues which are broader than his private world. No concept is more germane to the success of democratic government than the proposition that every citizen shares the responsibility for his government. No institution performs a greater public service than preparing the citizen to fulfill this responsibility.

The supposed inroads of the "electronic media" in the areas of disseminating information and influencing public opinion have been the subject of considerable discussion in recent years. There is no doubt that radio and television have profoundly changed the habits of news-hungry Americans. On-the-spot coverage enables the listener and viewer to participate in the news, and newspapers, by their very nature, cannot compete with this speed in transmitting information. On the other hand, the electronic media cannot compete with the newspapers in the depth of news coverage presented. The permanency of the written word—its availability for later close scrutiny and intensive study—provide the opportunity to delve below the surface of the issue and probe the principles underlying it.

When a newspaper succumbs to the temptation to simplify issues in order to popularize them, it loses the advantage of the analytical and abdicates its responsibility for the accurate. That portion of the public interested only in a sketchy superficial reporting of circumstances can be satisfied by a five-minute newscast; the man who seeks a solution

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

It wasn't too many years ago that the first women became active in political circles.

The number of women in public offices still is relatively low today, but the part women play in campaigns and party organizations is considerable.

Mrs. Nancy Williams, wife of Michigan's only six-term governor, was one of the first women to hit the campaign trail on behalf of her husband. This year, both governor and his wife are running for re-election.

Planning for the winter on the highway is a task that falls across the state in the fall, when most people are thinking of color tours and football games.

The approach of winter also brings a rash of accidents. State Police and other officials had strong hopes until a few weeks ago for a decrease in the traffic fatality toll from last year.

A sudden series of multiple-death crashes, however, boosted the toll above the 1961 count with little hope for returning below that figure again.

Wet leaves on roadways, rain, and the sure-to-come snow make everyday driving require extra alertness and caution.

The AAA "Bing 'em Back Alive" campaign supported by national and local safety councils of the summer months should be kept in mind even more when the road hazards increase in the late months of the year.

Michigan Week, still seven months away, is already being given primary consideration by a number of residents who have been asked to plan the 11th annual observance.

Herbert G. Daverman, Grand Rapids, was named general chairman and has selected two deputy general chairmen, Woodward C. Smith, vice-president of Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, was appointed to work with regional chairmen in the northern two-thirds of the state, and Paul Penfield, Detroit, was asked to assist in programs in the southern third.

Then came the job of selecting the 16 regional chairmen. This, too, has been done.

Planning for the May 1962 "Bing 'em Back Alive" week now is being set down to chairmen at the county level. Michigan Week officials said all county chairmen are expected to be named and local organizations set by Dec. 1. This would be the earliest start in the history of the event.

Michigan Week has grown by leaps and bounds during its 10 years. Further growth is expected to continue as more individuals become concerned with the business and economic future of the state, Daverman said.

Apples require care at home. They keep their crisp texture best when kept in a cool, moist place.

Too warm a temperature makes apples mealy and soft. They may be stored in the refrigerator for two or three weeks—or in a cool, dark storage spot for two or three months.

NICEF Halloween Plan Is Strictly Voluntary Program

NICEF "trick or treat for the children" is a program of children and parents and their friends and neighbors, explained by committee members, who are sponsoring the Halloween program for the first time this year.

The program, which is strictly voluntary, was made not to be an additional solicitation for the children.

Information continues as it is hoped that children have their fun of dressing up from house to house going "trick or treating" now, in lieu of the various treats and candies which are given to the children; it is that the amount usually spent for an individual treat will be given in coin to each child with an official UNICEF container.

"Some people will still give treats; some children will want to receive candy or cookies; each household and person has the privilege of making his own decision in the matter. The money for UNICEF is to be given only to children who have the official containers."

Continuing, the committee members state some households will plan to give parties to children with the proper UNICEF containers and candy to those children who wish to follow the customary pattern of former years.

It was pointed out that children who wish to co-operate with the UNICEF program should have a parent, an adult friend or a responsible youth accompany them to sign up and receive the official container.

This may be done at McKune Memorial Library Oct. 29 and 30 from 3 to 5 p.m. or at any time before Oct. 3 at the homes of the following: William Storey, 218 Jefferson St.; Robert Daniels, 605 Washington St.; Robert Robbins, 605 Grant St.

Kiwanis Club Studies Aid to Handicapped

The program at Monday's Kiwanis club dinner meeting was opened with a talk by John Mader of Ann Arbor on proposed county plans for assistance to the handicapped. He mentioned that Tom Hanning of Chelsea is on the local committee for the Chelsea area.

Other guests at the meeting were Donald Young, Chelsea school teacher, and Lewis H. Schock of Ann Arbor. The guests were introduced by School Superintendent Charles Cameron.

In observance of National Newspaper Week, Walter Leonard, editor of The Chelsea Standard, was asked to present an appropriate program.

He spoke on the role of the newspaper in present-day communities and showed a movie entitled "The Story That Couldn't Be Printed."

The movie concerned an editorial written by John Peter Zenger, early in the history of the country. The editorial criticized the grant of public officials. Zenger had written it in defiance of colonial governors who ruled that all printers must have a royal license from the Crown in England.

His trial led to important court decisions upholding the freedom of the press and its right to expose dishonesty in public officials.

Following the Revolution, nine states guaranteed the "freedom of the press" and the First Amendment to the new Federal Constitution declared that "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press."

Business at Monday's meeting, held in the social center of the Methodist church, included an announcement by Paul G. Schable, Jr., that the annual Kiwanis public pancake supper will be held at the Chelsea High school cafeteria Monday, Nov. 5. Schable, who is chairman of the project, distributed tickets to Kiwanians who will begin selling them at once.

Announcement was made that Chelsea Kiwanians will go to Dexter next Tuesday for that club's 25th anniversary program and dinner. The meeting will take the place of the regular Monday meeting for the Chelsea club; however, a roundtable meeting will be held Monday evening at Chelsea Restaurant for those who do not plan to go to Dexter Tuesday evening.

ADMITTED TO HALL OF FAME

age feels responsible for problems of this nature in the area because of recent installation of sewer and water main repairs are to be effected at the most appropriate time.

Motion made to award the job of tank repair and painting of the main water tank in the downtown area to Huron Painting Co. of Ypsilanti in the following amounts: painting, $1,800; repairs, $500; sand blasting of a small area, $175 per square foot.

Motion made to authorize the village clerk to apply for money in the amount of $603 available from the Washtenaw County Road Commission for removal of diseased elm trees.

Councilman Howard Henschel reported on a meeting with the Lyndon Township Board regarding possible participation in the village landfill; no official action was taken.

An analysis of budget expenditures to date showed that the expenditures are in accordance with figures as originally planned.

Councilman Henschel reported on his investigation of the proposed construction of a pole type building for use at the landfill for storage of equipment. A motion was made to advertise for bids for a pole type shed to be built at the landfill site.

The meeting was adjourned at 12:50 a.m.

Village Council meetings are held the first and third Tuesday evenings of each month. The meetings are held in the Council room on the second floor of the Municipal Building and all interested citizens are welcome to attend.

Voting Rights Assured Those at Overseas Posts

Michigan citizens, temporarily stationed in other states or overseas on governmental missions or bases, are eligible to vote in the November gubernatorial election.

Secretary of State James J. Hare today urged service men, peace corpsmen, and civilian personnel serving abroad or in other states to write to their local election clerks at once if they wish to cast a ballot in the coming general election.

Families of all servicemen, peace corps personnel and civilians on governmental overseas assignments should write to tell them that their being absent from Michigan does not cause them to lose their vote, providing that they act at once, Hare said.

All local election clerks have had absent voter ballots since Sept. 25. Hare pointed out that if persons on foreign assignments write for their ballots at once, there will be greater assurance that the voted ballots will be returned from Asia, Africa, Europe, or elsewhere in the world before the election day deadline.

The gubernatorial general election will be held Tuesday, Nov. 6, the traditional "first Tuesday after the first Monday" in November.

Win Over Pinckney...

Midway in the third quarter Chelsea started a drive on their own 40 which moved to the Pinckney 40, where Curt Farley passed to Don Brooks who pitched out to Dud Holmes who covered the remaining 30 yards to the end zone without a hand being put on him. Jack Howard kicked the point after and it was 33-0 at the end of the third quarter.

Midway in the fourth period in the fourth quarter Dick Lauson broke loose up the middle and sprinted 30 yards for his second touchdown of the evening. The extra point failed and it was now 39-0.

The Bulldogs started a drive on their own 35 which went all the way with Curt Farley going over from the two-yard line. Jack Howard kicked the point after which gave Chelsea its 46-0 margin.

The line blocking plus the overall tackling was good with the defensive line play of Don Brooks, Mike Schneider, Bob Romschneider, Don Wilson, Tim Whitely, Tom Eisenbeiser, Warren Porath and Gary Dresch being especially outstanding.

The Bulldogs travel to South Lyon tomorrow for a non-conference tilt with Lyons, and return to their home grounds next week for their final home game of the season against Dexter, a traditional rival who always plays well against Chelsea.

Out-of-town visitors at the home line who were here Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Eisenmann morning, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest the past week included Harold Schiller and Alfred Schiller of Hanselmann and children of Sa-i Rogers Corners, Sunday evening.

1-94 Carries Most Trucks Of Any Michigan Highway

Lansing-Interstate 94 Freeway carries more trucks than any highway in Michigan, a State Highway Department traffic survey showed today.

In Detroit, I-94—known as the Edsel Ford Freeway—carries an average 9,000 commercial vehicles each day. By the time the truck traffic reaches Ypsilanti, it drops to 5,000 per day.

Commercial traffic includes all non-passenger carrying vehicles. US-24 (Telegraph Rd.) between Monroe and Pontiac is the second most popular truck route in the state. It carries an average of 5,500 trucks per day.

I-75 Freeway between Detroit and Toledo is the third most heavily traveled commercial route, handling an average of 5,000 commercial vehicles daily.

It is natural that the Detroit-Toledo Freeway and Telegraph Rd. carry so much truck traffic," Traffic Survey Engineer William Lepczyk said.

"Any Michigan-bound truck from eastern United States will enter the state at Toledo and will continue north on I-75 or Telegraph Rd. if he wants to by-pass Detroit traffic."

The I-94 truck traffic is the result of a great number of manufacturing plants between Detroit and Ypsilanti," he said.

Lepczyk said truck traffic on all state highways are compiled on the Highway Department's latest commercial traffic map.

Freeway south of Monroe and US-12, leading into the I-94 Freeway, at New Buffalo are the most popular truck entry and exit points in Michigan.

An average 5,000 trucks per day enter or leave the state at Toledo while 4,000 daily enter or leave Michigan at New Buffalo.

The completion of I-94 across southern Michigan has made a change in the truck traffic pattern," Lepczyk said.

At the time of the last commercial study in 1957, old US-12 carried about 2,000 trucks per day and its parallel route, US-112 carried about 2,500 per day.

Today, I-94, which replaced US-12, carries an average of about 3,500 commercial vehicles daily between Detroit and the Michigan-Indiana line at New Buffalo.

On US-112, recently designated US-12, dropped to an average 1,000 trucks per day.

"The truckers obviously prefer to drive the freeway," Lepczyk said.

One of the free world's largest unions, the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, AFL-CIO, was founded in Michigan in 1935.

Freeways are the most efficient routes engineers can build. They can carry much heavier traffic loads with greater safety and driving convenience than any other type of road.

Children Urged To Invite Visitors From Other States

Michigan school children visiting the Capitol were urged by Secretary of State James M. Hare to write letters to outstate friends or relatives inviting them to Michigan to see the 44th National Automobile Show, enjoy Indian Summer color tours, visit an automobile plant or two, examine the vintage vehicles in the Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, or do a little hunting, fishing, or sightseeing.

The 44th National Automobile Show will be held in spacious Cobo Hall on the Detroit River from Sunday, Oct. 20, through Oct. 28. Seven acres of exhibits and a mammoth stage show, "America Drives Ahead," will draw visitors from coast to coast and around the world, Hare pointed out.

Hare reminded letter writers that people who live in other parts of the United States can purchase Michigan-made automobiles in their home states, and then accept delivery in Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Pontiac, or in other Michigan automotive centers.

"By doing this, new car buyers can save freight charges and use the money to help pay for a Michigan holiday," Hare said. "To help people like this the Michigan Department of State issues a paper instrument license sticker which makes it possible for these visitors to spend a few weeks in Michigan before returning to their home state."

The green, in-transit sticker is good for 30 days. The fee is $5.00 for the license plus a dollar for a title.

"Many people like to take a trip through the factory where the car is made," Hare said. "If the idea of picking up their car is suggested to them by their Michigan friends, we can easily convince them that they should tarry a few more days enjoying the recreational and cultural activities of our Great Lakes State."

WILL HISTORIC CHURCH BE SAVED? Donations are pouring in from all over Michigan in the current campaign to raise $100,000 by Oct. 1 to save and restore the 129-year-old St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Tecumseh as an historic shrine. It is the state's oldest church in continuous use, but now faces doom. It must make way for a new St. Peter's presently under construction. The community's weekly newspaper, The Tecumseh Herald, started the drive. Gifts of $1 are sought from 100,000 interested Michigan citizens. These can be sent to The Herald.

Corn Picking Field Loses Jump Rapidly in November

Early harvesting, with a properly adjusted picker can drastically cut corn losses in the field. More than one and a half million acres of corn are scheduled for harvest in Michigan alone this year. During the next few weeks, 33,000 pickers, combines equipped with corn heads and picker-shellers will be starting the corn harvest.

"Farmers should harvest as rapidly as possible once corn is ready," says Bob White, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University. He points out that ear and shelling losses increase only gradually through October, but jump rapidly during November. Research has shown that farmers may expect field losses to average about three bushels per acre per week after the middle of October.

"Farmers who are still picking corn at Thanksgiving can expect to leave about 15 percent of their crop in the field," White estimates. The whole picking job should be done by the end of October as the weather is usually good and the crop handles better at this time.

Improper picker adjustment greatly adds to corn losses—even when picking conditions are ideal. And shelling losses become more of a problem as the season progresses.

Two major sources of trouble on a picker are the snapping rolls and husking bed. "Excessive shelling at the snapping rolls is generally caused by the rolls being too far apart," says White. They should be set as close as possible without causing "plugging," which sets the scene for many accidents.

"Plugging can also be caused by fast ground speeds," White adds. The farmer may need to change the "aggressiveness" of the snapping rolls by adding lugs or weights to the rolls, he points out. Snapping roll speed can also be adjusted on some types of pickers.

In heavy corn, field losses may be reduced, and plugging minimized when the ground speed of the picker is held near two miles per hour.

Husking bed problems are usually caused by wrong adjustment of the ear retarders or overloading. The picker should be set so that ears are fed uniformly into the husking bed. "Excessive husks or trash found in the husking bed usually mean that the snapping roll need adjusting."

White cautions farmers to make sure that all slip clutches are working—both on new and old machines. He advises farmers to loosen the spring tension on each clutch to the point where it actually slips.

"Let it slip for a short period of time and then tighten it back to normal," he says.

National Automobile Show Opens Oct. 20 in Cobo Hall

Detroit—In slightly more than two weeks the "world's biggest Auto Show," the 44th National and will display all the new U.S. passenger cars and most of the new truck models together for the first time.

Illustrative of the spirit of this year's Show is the theme—"America Drives Ahead"—selected from more than 300 suggestions.

Prior to the opening of Cobo Hall in Detroit two years ago, the National Auto Show, traditionally had been staged in New York. Now that Detroit has the finest and largest exhibition structure in the world, the show at long last is being held where it logically belongs.

In preparation for more than a year, the 44th National Auto Show promises to surpass even the 1960 show, which drew nearly one and one-half million delighted spectators and broke all previous attendance records.

In addition to the 300,000 square feet of exhibition area in Cobo Hall, this year's show will make use of the 9,500-seat Convention Arena, a striking black marble structure where a musical extravaganza will be presented four times daily. Directed by John Wray, the musical features a score by Quincy Jones and choreography by Bill Foster.

This year, also, more completely new lines of cars are expected to be on display than in any previous show. Each motor vehicle company has been allocated more space to exhibit its products than ever before.

Millions of families will attend the show vicariously on the night of Sunday, Oct. 21, when the National Broadcasting Co. carries its color television cameras into Cobo Hall for an hour-long telecast.

Who Do You Trust? (NOTE: This is one in a series of articles by Frank J. Kelly, State Attorney General, concerning frauds affecting the consumers of this state.)

A few unscrupulous sellers of home improvements and major appliances are currently reported to be obtaining mortgages upon the homes of their customers by glib double-talk and some fast shuffling of carbon paper.

One such operation involving a huge number of transactions features confusion, bewilderment and astonishment on the part of the buyer when he is finally confronted with a recorded mortgage and tough collection policies. The amount collected is often several hundred dollars more than the price he thought he was paying.

When making statements regarding the signing of the various papers, including the mortgage, the victims all say the same thing: "The salesman told me it was a trust deed, not a mortgage."

"What's a trust deed?—one customer inquired. "Well it means I trust you, you trust me," answered the salesman.

Be warned that a trust deed is a mortgage, and that no papers should be signed obligating you for large sums of money until your attorney has reviewed them to be sure that you are not obligating yourself to pay more than you agreed, or that you are mortgaging your home without intending to do so. Be careful whom you trust! Most of these salesmen are honest. You should be on the alert for the few that are not.

Tamper-Proof License Carried by 4 Million Motorists

About nine out of ten Michigan motorists now carry easy-to-read, tamper-proof, driver's licenses.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, the use of easily falsified—white-on-black—photographic operators' licenses was discontinued in April, 1960, when a new process made possible the printing of black type on gray "bank" paper. These new and legible licenses are now carried by nearly 4,000,000 Michigan motorists and 256,000 chauffeurs.

At the time the "fool-proof" licenses were first issued the Department was praised by prohibitionists and bar owners, the police and by citizens in general. It made it easy for tavern operators and package store owners to spot alterations on licenses held by teen-agers who changed their birth dates to make them 21 or older.

According to Hare, the new printing process also made it possible for the State Department to print basic information about the financial responsibility law and the Michigan point system on each license.

During the 29 months that the process has been used, more than 4.5 million of the "bank" paper licenses have been issued. This includes those held by motorists with non-commercial cars, duplicate documents, and chauffeurs' licenses which are issued on a yearly basis.

"When the three year cycle for non-commercial drivers ends next April," Hare said, "the expensive, hard-to-read, smeary, emulsion-process license will become an outdated historic item."

Mrs. Elma Webster and daughter, Mrs. Mahel Pease of Scotts, visited Sunday and Monday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Eisenmann and Mrs. Elmer Weinberg. On Monday, Mrs. Weinberg, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Pease were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eisenmann.

Travel Series

York City, Orchestra Hall in Chicago and many others.

"Amazing Belgium" will present a panorama tour of the treasure paths of one of the most densely populated countries of Europe.

Much of its charm is in the personality of the people. It will show irresistible flower vendors in Brussels' famous Grand Place; tapestry weavers and busy lace makers; artists cutting stained glass for magnificent windows and copper smith hammering out their designs. Staff Nees, director of the series, said, "In the world, Belgium is shown in a private setting; this series will be seen during their trips in the busy center of the world and textile workers will be shown weaving Belgian linen cloth. At Antwerp, the world center of the diamond cutting industry, the picture shows industrial cutters, polishers and buyers."

Other views include original artwork of old masters; sand yachting, vacationing scenes, etc. Davis' pictures have been published in travel sections of national magazines and he has also produced industrial and commercial films as well as educational film strips.

Davis offered his first film lecture in 1948, since then he has appeared approximately 2,000 times on the lecture platform.

RESEARCH: PATHWAY TO BETTER FISHING—Proud of today's progress and working for more sport tomorrow is the Conservation Department's fishery research program which will earn its share of the spotlight on "Science and Technology" during Michigan Week, May 20-26. Over the years, research has led to stream improvement, chemical control of stunted fish populations, and other measures which have helped sport fishing. A biologist holds up two jars containing bluegills of the same age to show how chemical work backed by research is increasing the growth rate of fish in many treated lakes. In the left jar are stunted bluegills taken from a lake which had more fish than it could handle. In the right jar are the same sort of fish which might expect if your own home were being remedied. Progress is being made, however, to provide better facilities and more room for the years ahead. Other jars are big-size bluegills which came from a lake after it had been treated to cancel out over-crowding. Despite its advances, research has many new and old challenges to meet, both in inland waters and the Great Lakes. Behind continued public support, it will come up with new ways to provide this generation's grandchildren with good fishing.

Rod & Gun Club

A report of the committee in charge of posting leased lands the past week-end stated that indications are that there are large numbers of pheasants in the area this year—many more than was the case last year.

The November meeting of the club has been moved forward because of the deer hunting season. The meeting is to be held Nov. 6.

It was decided that a limited number of Christmas trees will be harvested on the fish property and sold this year, because thinning of the stand of trees is necessary.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. William Beach and the latter's cousin, Mrs. Katie Turpin of Portland, O., returned Monday from Gettysburg, Pa., where they were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Beach, Mrs. Turpin, who has been visiting relatives here the past six weeks, left yesterday to return to Portland.

Mrs. John McMillan, of Chelsea Restaurant, who broke her leg in a fall Saturday night, Oct. 6, returned to her home yesterday after being a patient at St. Joseph Mercy hospital since the accident.

Farm Sprays Are Also Top Game Killers

Ann Arbor—Agricultural pesticides stand out among all other sources of fish kills in 1961, reports Karl F. Lagler, University of Michigan fishery authority.

"The use of potent pesticides aids farming operations, but if handled without proper precautions can cause heavy damage to fish, songbirds and even game," Lagler warns on "Conservation Report," radio series produced by the University Broadcasting Service (WUOM) for state-wide distribution.

Because pesticides combine great benefits with great dangers, government agencies urge great care in their proper use, he adds, and describes how the accidental destruction of fish often happens.

When rainfall has been light, watercress often have the only green pasture left. Cattle sprayed with insecticides in normal pest-control procedures are turned into these watercress areas to graze. The get into the water, and the spray they carry on them is often enough to kill fish or fish food organisms.

Areas infested with grasshoppers are often sprayed heavily to kill these agricultural pests; when rains follow these applications, the run-off can carry the insecticide into any waters in the drainage area, to kill fish and other aquatic life.

The word of warning is, read the label, check weather reports and watch that nozzle. A loaded spray gun can be deadly.

Production Record Told For Macomber Holstein

Past Regal Best 4010724, a three-year-old registered Holstein cow, owned by George Macomber, Ann Arbor has completed an official 365-day record of 18,172 lbs. of milk and 704 lbs. of butterfat.

Michigan State University supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official breed improvement program of The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

In announcing the new record, a spokesman for the national Holstein organization said that it compared to the average cow's annual output of 7-211 lbs. of milk containing 270 lbs. of butterfat.

TO ARMY WITH SONS

London—Three British Army recruits will have their mothers with them for their first week of training.

A Royal Engineers adjutant, Maj. Edward Smeeden explained, "We aim to show the mothers exactly what goes on in the early days of a recruit's training."

This came as a result of one of the mother's remarking, "you must be out of your mind" when her son told her he was joining the army.

HARRY G. MOAK

Port Huron Man Named To Head Masonic Group

For the third time in the history of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons in Michigan, a Mason from Port Huron has become Grand High Priest—Michigan's 105th. Harry G. Moak, insurance executive, was elected to this top-ranking office by the unanimous acclamation of the delegates who collectively represented all of Michigan's 160 chapters with a total membership of more than 31,000, at the 144th Annual Convocation of Grand Chapter, held at Grand Rapids, Oct. 11-13.

Moak's parents, the late Myron C. and Esther Elizabeth Moak, resided in Port Huron before moving to Detroit where Harry was born Sept. 1, 1916.

He graduated from Port Huron High School in 1936 and then accepted business opportunities in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Cleveland, Ohio, and New York City.

"The couple have two children, a boy and a girl; Bill, now 13 years old, and Beth who is 10."

The family are members of the Presbyterian church and Mrs. Moak taught a Sunday school for many years.

About Your Social Security

Persons receiving monthly social security checks were reminded today that a change of address should be reported promptly to both the Social Security Administration and to the post office. Failure to do this, Robert Kehoe, manager of the Ann Arbor Social Security Office, said, will result in a delay in receiving your check and the possibility that the check will be returned to the Treasury rather than be forwarded.

Forms for change of address on social security records are available at the Ann Arbor Social Security Office at 1355 N. Main St., Kehoe said. If a change is reported before the middle of the month, the next check can be sent to the new address.

The post office should also be notified of a forwarding address in case some social security checks are already in the mail, Kehoe said.

A SHORTAGE OF PHONE NUMBERS?

That's what would happen in the future if the present 2-letter, 5-numeral system of telephone numbers were continued. Because of growth in population and the increasing demand for telephones, there just wouldn't be enough usable letter-numeral combinations to go around in the years ahead. So Michigan Bell, along with other telephone companies throughout the nation, is gradually adopting the new "All-Number Calling" system of 7-numeral phone numbers. This will insure enough telephone numbers for our ever-growing population, as well as a uniform numbering system.

STORMY WEATHER'S ON THE WAY. And more than ever or those bitter cold days ahead, shopping by phone is the convenient thing to do. What could be faster, easier, and just plain cozier than ordering whatever you need by a few flicks of the telephone dial? So if the weather's the give-you-the-sniffles variety, or you just can't get away from the house, let your telephone do your running around for you. The Shop-by-Phone habit saves you time, saves you steps, saves YOU.

WE'RE PROUD TO SALUTE the men and women in the newspaper industry this week. National Newspaper Week, October 14-20, serves to remind us of their dedicated work in the endless job of keeping us a nation of well-informed citizens. And Michigan Bell is also proud of its own role in helping the newspapers in our state get the news to you quickly...for modern telephone equipment and facilities are an essential part of the newspapers' job of gathering and publishing the news.

What Is A Newspaper...

through the logical sequence of sifting facts, ideas, and theories demands the full presentation that only a newspaper can give. It is not beyond the realm of probability that the majority of newspaper readers desire facts plus analysis, both clearly delineated. It is not inconceivable that the majority are sophisticated enough to recognize the shades of gray, as well as the black and white, of a given problem. It is not implausible to challenge the old notion that sensationalism sells newspapers; rather, it is logical to view a newspaper as fulfilling the dual role of informant and analyst.

Faced with the dynamic world in which we live, the concept of the newspaper and its role in our society cannot remain static. Used irresponsibly or unjustly, the power of the press can be a torch to raise our democratic structure and reduce to ashes our confidence in the ability of man to determine his destiny; used with responsibility and intelligence, the power of the press can remain the cornerstone of our monument to democracy.

and Chelsea Milling Co.; and others.

Chelsea Milling Co. provided new cartons for boxing the Christmas gifts and, in addition, contributed several cases of Jiffy products which were included in the boxes.

Chelsea Social Service co-operates with the Salvation Army, another Community Chest beneficiary. For the past few years, using for the past few years, using a master list prepared here, the Salvation Army provides for adults while Chelsea Social Service provides for families with children.

Mrs. Ramp made special mention in her report of "one remarkable group" who enabled Chelsea Social Service last Christmas to provide "a bountiful Christmas for more than 100 Chelsea area children."

This is the Jaycee Auxiliary who held a toy drive during the summer; took the toys to Cassidy Lake Training School where they were restored to good as new condition; brought them back and stored them and then turned them over to CSS in time for Christmas distribution.

While the past year has been "reasonably placed one," reflecting the fact that employment has been generally good, Chelsea Social Service has assisted people through a series of crises caused by illness and by sudden loss of income or insufficient income to meet unusual demands.

People newly in need have been helped to secure aid from public agencies; attractive clothing has been provided for children as the new school year opened; fuel was provided for persons whose budgets would not stretch to provide sufficient heat in winter; and in many cases, arrangements have been made for transportation to clinics or welfare agencies in Ann Arbor since curtailment of bus service.

Some general statistics included in Mrs. Ramp's report indicate that from Aug. 1, 1961 to July 31, 1962, 177 personal interviews took place; 41 clients were interviewed by telephone; 20 interviews were held with persons interested in the clients and more than 100 related telephone calls were made.

A resume of statistics from the date of Nov. 1, 1956 through Aug. 1, 1962, show that 245 families or individuals were contacted and interviewed; total number of persons numbering 909.

On 86 of the cards in the file are recorded contacts, during the year just past, 35 being new contacts this year.

Mrs. Ramp concluded her report with a word of appreciation for the manner in which the effort of Chelsea Social Service personnel "have been received by the Board and by the community."

TELESTAR EFFECTIVE
Communications operators of the communications experiment said that the Telestar satellite has survived almost three months of radiation attack without losing effectiveness.

A spokesman for the American Telephone & Telegraph Company said the satellite is still delivering 85 per cent of its electric power potential.

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

By John B. Swainson

Lansing — The Conservation Commission has taken a step which I feel is very basic to a large I gave the commission to study better recreational facilities for Michigan's citizens and to prepare a preliminary report.

The commission has agreed to the creation of a new staff position to be known as the Deputy Director for Recreation. This is the first important step in the study and review of the over-all recreational needs of Michigan.

In August 1961 I issued an executive policy statement which said that the state government, through the Conservation Commission, should promote and facilitate the development of adequate and coordinated recreation opportunities throughout the state.

Recreation is a legitimate component of government responsibility, directly associated with the welfare of the people. Because of this I have directed the commission to develop and maintain recreation programs for professional leadership.

Recreation is a legitimate component of government responsibility, directly associated with the welfare of the people. Because of this I have directed the commission to develop and maintain recreation programs for professional leadership.

New outdoor recreations are unending and growing. Old interests such as camping are gaining new followers. I am convinced that we have taken a forward step in keeping Michigan in step with our changing times.

After I charged the Commission with the responsibility for over-all recreational policy, Michigan State University offered the services of Professor Louis F. Twardzik to prepare a preliminary report.

Commission Chairman Clarence J. Messner, Grosse Pointe, accepted this generous offer and Professor Twardzik did prepare an excellent study of the needs in the general field of recreation.

During this same period Conservation Department personnel were preparing studies of their particular interest areas.

The Conservation Department has been the steward for the people of Michigan of our vast resources and our wonderful natural resources for many years and has accumulated a great deal of knowledge relating to the recreational use of those resources.

When all the studies and proposals were pulled together by the commission the decision was made to create this new staff position.

We propose to screen candidates on a national basis to find a highly qualified person to fill this new post.

As I told the Commission when the decision was announced, "The success of this new policy direction in recreation will depend in large measure on the quality of leadership provided."

Initially the new deputy will work with present staff people within the Conservation Department to begin a broad recreational program.

Delicious apples are more mild in flavor than most apples. They have a great eye appeal for eating fresh, but they are not a favorite food because they remain firm in slices and become dry very easily.

NOW A REALITY—Ribbon-cutting ceremonies will be held Oct. 31 to mark the opening of the $20 million International Bridge linking Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Gov. John B. Swainson of Michigan and Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

Robarts of Ontario have been invited to participate in the opening ceremonies. Formal dedication for the bridge, which crosses the famed Soo Locks and the St. Mary's River, will be held next spring.

LENIS BEACH

Three 1962 CHS Graduates Enlist Together in U.S. Navy

Three June 1962 graduates of Chelsea High school have enlisted in the U. S. Navy and left together last Wednesday for Great Lakes Naval Training Station. The three are Lenis Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Beach; Paul Schramm, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schramm; and Duane A. Weiss (Duke) son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Weiss. Beach and Schramm each have enlisted for four years, while Weiss, whose 18th birthday occurred Oct. 11, enlisted for three years. Schramm and Weiss participated in athletics in high school and Beach was active in band work. He was the recipient of the Philip Sousa band award in his senior year. Weiss was employed at Stop & Shop supermarket during the summer and had enrolled at Cleary College, attending classes there for three weeks prior to enlisting. All three plan to avail themselves of opportunities for special education after completing the initial nine-week basic training period. Beach is hoping to study lithography. The Beach family waited at the New York Central's Main St. crossing here for the Twilight Limited to pass through Wednesday evening in order to wave to the boys. Ordinarily, the train travels so fast that it is difficult to recognize anyone; however, the three boys got an unexpected "bonus"—the train was slowed down almost to a stop as it passed through here, presumably to give a freight train, which had passed earlier, time to reach a siding. The Twilight Limited was almost a half-hour late. The three boys waved from the platform of their coach, the third from the end on the train.

Voters May Meet Office Seekers at Candidates Fair

Twenty-four candidates for office will be presented to the public at a Candidates Fair at the Arborland Shopping Center on Monday Oct. 29, sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

The fair, to be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. in the Community Auditorium at Arborland, is being planned to give voters an opportunity to meet personally and to talk informally with the candidates. Each candidate will have a special area to distribute literature and to talk to voters.

Candidates for the U. S. Congress from the Second Congressional District, for the State Legislature from Washtenaw county, and for all county offices are expected to attend. All candidates will be introduced, and those running for Congress and the State Legislature will make short "stump" speeches, followed by question and answer periods.

A major attraction of the fair, however, will be the free period set aside to allow voters to circulate among the candidates, discussing issues of interest with them on an individual basis.

The League hopes that the fair will be particularly helpful to the independent voter who does not attend party functions. The personal contact will also give the citizen a chance to express his views on issues to the candidates.

League members will demonstrate a voting machine, have sample ballots on display, and provide non-partisan information on any propositions on the ballot. Coffee and cider will be served. All interested citizens, and their high-school-age students, are urged to attend.

Science Teachers To See Program On Solar Energy

High school physics and chemistry teachers from four counties will meet at Eastern Michigan University Tuesday, Oct. 23 to see demonstrations of a teaching aid on magnetism and a student's unit on solar energy.

The teachers whose visits will be sponsored by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and General Telephone Co., will represent Jackson, Monroe, Lenawee and Washtenaw counties.

This is the second series of science aids for high school students offered by the Bell Telephone System in its continuing, comprehensive program of assistance to education.

Last year the first two units were introduced on similarities in wave behavior and transistors in audio oscillators.

This year, the teacher-oriented unit on "Ferromagnetic Domains" is a basic approach to the study of magnetism. The program presents domain theory—the focal point of almost all advanced work in magnetism today.

The package includes a book prepared by E. A. Nesbitt of the solid state physics research department of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, a two-part color-motion picture, and four sets of demonstration materials.

The second unit is a science kit for the advanced student. "Energy from the Sun" is an experiment to convert solar energy to electrical energy. It was developed by Dr. Daryl M. Chapin, one of the inventors of the Bell solar battery.

The book and kit were designed to both teach and challenge scholars of science at the secondary school level. Each teacher who attends the demonstration will receive this kit for classroom use.

THE LETTERBOX

More on UNICEF . . .
Chelsea, Mich.
Oct. 13, 1962

To the Editor:
I have been a worker with children for many years and have conducted UNICEF Tricks or Treats for the World's Children, as long as UNICEF has been functioning.

The children have always told me that they had much more fun going out for UNICEF and asked if they couldn't do it several nights rather than one.

Many children in our world know no other way — except UNICEF. Many are helped and children, as well as adults are always happy to help when a life is involved — and yes — when eyesight is restored. Thousands have been treated for yaws through UNICEF. This is also another way of helping in the peace program.

When parents and adults are educated to this wonderful program, and the vast amount of good accomplished, they go all out for it. Mrs. Lloyd Merrell.

Catholic War Veterans Post Will Be Formed

At a meeting of Catholic War Veterans, held Friday evening, Oct. 5, at Dexter Post 557 of the American Legion, to select a committee to form a Post of the Catholic War Veterans in this area, Donald Bohm was elected chairman.

A committee meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the K. of C. Hall in Chelsea, at which Leon Galinskas and Edward Keblaitis, state commander and adjutant of the Catholic War Veterans, were present; tentative plans were made for installation ceremonies of the proposed post on Sunday, Nov. 11.

It was announced that enough memberships had been secured to assure the minimum of 15 required by the National Council of Catholic War Veterans for a new post.

It was also announced that the committee had booked the University of Detroit Choral Group under the direction of Don Large, at the Chelsea High School auditorium on Dec. 1 for the benefit of the St. Joseph's Church Building Fund.

The next meeting will be Sunday afternoon, Oct. 21, at 2 p.m., at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Chelsea. All Catholic War Veterans are invited and urged to attend.

Warmth of Clothing Is Determined By Insulating Qualities

East Lansing—Are you sure your coat will keep you warm this winter?

"Warmth from clothing depends on the amount of insulation your garment provides," says Barbara Loder, Michigan State University textiles, clothing and related arts instructor. "To determine a garment's insulating qualities ask yourself some questions."

Does the fabric have a means to trap and hold air?

Wrapping yourself in numerous layers of clothing isn't necessary today. Miss Loder points out, Acrylics such as Creslan, Orlon, Acrilan and Zelan and Monacryls such as Verel and Dynel can form bulky, fur-like piles that trap air by themselves.

"Natural wool fibers have insulating qualities because of their unique crimped structure which traps air," the home economist says. "Manufactured fibers must have this 'crimp' built into the yarn through various bulking and texturizing processes."

"Foam laminates tend to trap air in the foam as a means of insulation. Newly developed is a 'sandwich' coat that has fabric laminated to both sides. Also, styles may soon be available with a printed foam backing, such as pailley, that may be used as a lining."

Will the fabric "break the wind?"

Tightly woven, napped or water-proofed fabrics are good for this purpose, Miss Loder says. One such fabric you'll find popular this year is melton cloth. A tight weave enables it to keep out cold breezes, and a nap on both sides holds air for insulation as well.

Are the other clothes you're wearing suitable for cold weather?

"A jacket or coat with good insulation is of little value if the rest of your body is chilled," Miss Loder says. "In previous years hoods, scarves, stoles and boots weren't considered fashionable, but this year's muffled necklines and long boots offer a healthy improvement."

Miss Loder points out that, although layer after layer is unnecessary, the clothing worn underneath your topcoat should aid in insulation. Remember that two layers of fabric will hold air between them. For example, if you wear a blouse and sweater together they will give more warmth than if you wore the sweater alone.

Con-Con Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series of articles about the proposed new Michigan constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

A court of appeals, with jurisdiction intermediate between the circuit and state supreme courts, is a judicial innovation in Michigan proposed constitution which will be presented to the voters at the April 1 election in 1963.

The new appeal court is designed to relieve to some extent the work of the supreme court whose jurisdiction as well as its rules of practice and procedure.

The new constitution would impose on the appellate courts of the state an additional load because a new provision in its Declaration of Rights grants an appeal as a matter of right to those accused in criminal actions. Under the present constitution, no such right is guaranteed.

The proposed court of appeals would consist initially of nine judges who would be nominated and elected from districts in non-partisan balloting. The legislature would be authorized to set up as many districts as equal population. Flexibility is provided by permitting the legislature to increase the number of judges of the court and to alter the districts from which they are elected.

The new constitution proposes that the supreme court be authorized to prescribe that the court of appeals may sit in divisions of not fewer than three judges, and at such places as the high court may designate. It is probable that the appeal court would conduct sessions in three-judge panels at several locations in Michigan.

Judges of the court of appeals would be chosen for six-year terms which must be arranged by the legislature so that all terms in each district will not expire at the same time.

The proposed constitution makes few significant changes in its sections dealing with the circuit courts, although a new provision requires that in circuits which have more than one judge the legislature shall devise a plan which permits their terms of office to expire at different times. The convention delegates believed that this change would be better for the judiciary and less confusing to the voters.

New language in the Judicial Article of the proposed constitution also assures uniform salaries for all judges within their particular jurisdiction or circuit. Judicial salary restrictions in the present constitution have sometimes resulted in serious inequities.

In pay scales among judges whose terms expire at different times, the new document would also permit elected judges to become candidates in the primary election for the offices of which they are incumbents by filing an affidavit of candidacy. This would eliminate the necessity for incumbent judges to circulate and file nominating petitions.

James Rayer Honored Saturday On 50th Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. James Rayer of Half Moon Lake were honored by neighbors and friends Saturday evening at a party held at Inverness Country club in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Rayer is now president of the Glenbrook Beach Association; before his retirement several years ago he was staff supervisor of quality control for Rockwell Standard Corp. Prior to his connection with that firm he had been with the Timken-Detroit Axle Co. of Detroit.

The Rayers have made their home at Half Moon Lake for a number of years. They were married in Pennsylvania, Oct. 12, 1912. Mrs. Rayer is the former Dorothy Wilding.

Their family includes a son and daughter, James Rayer of Dearborn township, and Mrs. Robert Krueger of Clawson; and two grandsons, Richard Rayer of Dearborn and James Weber of Clawson. For Saturday's party, Mrs. Rayer wore a beige dress and had a corsage of yellow roses which was a gift from Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

HANGS BY FINGERS

Memphis, Tenn. — A 21-month-old boy hung by his fingers from a window ledge for fifteen minutes until he was rescued by firemen.

Arthur B. Humphrey, Jr., saw the boy dangling from the ledge and telephoned the Fire Department.

The mother did not know of the child's plight until she noticed the window broken and the crowd below. The lad had broken the window with his teddy bear and then crawled out on the ledge.

WED AT GAS STATION

Buckeye, Ariz. — A local gas station was the wedding site for Lawrence Woody and Marilyn Boca. It seemed an odd place for a wedding, but, Woody explained that while he was an attendant at the station he fell in love with Miss Boca, who was a frequent customer. They wanted to be married where they met and fell in love.

Expert Opinions on Business Prospects

When we have had a dinner of business leaders and private economists, forty-two persons are present, of which nine were economists, and the remainder representatives of business organizations of all sizes and located on one end of the nation to the other.

At these dinners the discussion is always off the record and quite frank. That was true this time and the analysis presented was of utmost interest and to us most significant.

All of the economists—and there is no more competent group in the country—expressed the opinion that the business trend still is on the upgrade, but that in a matter of a relatively few months will start to ease off. In other words, there was a firm prediction that before long we shall enter another recession. It was their unanimous view that it will be a mild recession, and that nothing can be done by government to prevent it.

The business leaders devoted most of their discussion to various problems which their companies face. Among those emphasized were the following:

1. The severity of present competition. This is from both other domestic producers and from abroad, and it is from identical products and substitutes. In many instances this competition is leading to a softening of prices, and is causing firms to shade their publicly quoted prices in one way or another. In all but a few cases there is not a possibility, at present, of lifting prices.

2. A fairly consistent uptrend in the cost of production. In some cases a rising volume of sales trends to offset this somewhat, but as a general rule the rate of profit per dollar of sales is not improving. This means, of course, that the profit squeeze is still going on for business as a whole. It also means that there is little incentive for new investment in productive facilities unless some way can be found to reduce the cost of production.

3. The continued power of labor union leaders. These leaders still are demanding substantial increases in wages and various fringe benefits. And in far too large a proportion of our business firms, these demands can be refused by management only at the risk of unbearable loss to the company. The ramifications of this situation in our economic system as a whole, and their influence upon us in the world market, are extremely serious, but no one expects an early solution of this problem.

4. An inability to judge what is going to come out of Washington. This is not only, or even primarily, which laws will or will not be passed. It also involves the attitude of various agencies, the issuance of regulations, investigations of all sorts by this or that unit of government, and so forth and so on.

Every one at the dinner agreed that 1962 will set a new high for business as a whole. Every one also agreed that we are not moving at an adequate upward rate. Various of the spokesmen termed the present situation "high-level stagnation." That is not an original phrase; by any means, but it is reasonably accurate at the moment. It means that gross national product will rise by a few more billions, that over-all production will increase by a few more points in the Federal Reserve Board index, that retail trade will carry along at a little better level than at present, that personal income will continue to rise modestly, and that employment will show some further improvement. But it also means that none of these advances, for all of them taken together, will go much above the present level. Therefore, this recovery is not going to get us even close to our full potential. What is going to start the next recession and why will it be mild? The recession will start primarily because of the problems listed above. These problems of necessity have a great effect upon the will, the incentive, and the determination of management to drive ahead.

The recession will be mild because there has been no widespread speculative excesses which have created massive trouble spots that can be cleaned up only by extreme readjustments. Even so the recession will be unfortunate, and it is to be hoped that it will at least serve as a compelling reason to get a positive and sound reform program under way.

The Hi-Light

Edited by Students of the Chelsea High School Journalism Club

Student Editor: Sandy Sharrard

The Latin club held its first meeting on Sept. 19 during activity period. Officers for the new year are: Barry Visel, president; Bev Wendell, secretary; Cindy Schumm, vice-president. The treasurer will be appointed by the advisor, Mr. Smith. Jim Knott was appointed as the chairman of the planning committee for all parties and fun activities. The dues will be 75 cents. These dues should be paid by the last meeting in October or they will be raised to $1.00.

After much anxiety and heart-rending false alarms, the Chelsea High band made their first home appearance at homecoming in their new uniforms. The much anticipated garments arrived at Chelsea on Friday, Sept. 28, just a day before the U. of M. Band Day which Chelsea participate annually. Since the uniforms had not arrived, the Band presented their first two fine shows at the home football games with the Junior High's capes.

The Band has also been invited to participate in the Thanksgiving Lion's football game halftime show with a number of other high school bands. This activity is awaited with rising anticipation. Mr. Dave Lindsay, director, has written some marvelous shows which prove to be even better than last year's. The 81 bandmen appreciate the wonderful support they've been given and hope it will continue.

RUSSIAN CLUB
The second meeting of the Russian club was held Oct. 3. Officers who were elected at the previous meeting are: Mike Sholtens, president; Tom Sharrard, vice-president; and Linda Wahl, secretary.

Among the activities planned for this year's Russian club are the showing of Russian films, a Russian fun night, a Russian banquet, and trips to the meetings of Russian club at the University of Michigan for all interested club members. At these meetings, it will be possible for the Chelsea High Russian students to talk to native Russians.

This year Russian club should prove to be very educational as well as a lot of fun for everyone involved.

FHA
Future Homemakers of America isn't a club just for fun and waste of time. Don't think it's like a never-ending class that has subject matter that is hard to soak up. No, it isn't, it's a girl's club, organized to group together girls with one or several common ideas. Ideas of having fun and also of helping a fellow student or someone who could really use a helping hand. Yes, FHA can be a big fluffy ball for all the kids that join together to get one task accomplished. The Chelsea FHA girls work and laugh together and enjoy it. Why not join?

In past years our club has accomplished building up the club's importance by mixing our fun with work. We had an Easter egg hunt, bake sales, sold cook books, attended Regional FHA meeting and served at an FFA dinner. This year's activities include much the same things.

Cafeteria Menu

Thursday, Oct. 25—Chop suey; rice; peas; peaches.

Friday, Oct. 26—Tuna roll; mushroom gravy; cream potatoes; cole slaw; dessert.

The Future Teachers of America was called to order on Sept. 25 by the advisor, Mr. Sanborn. Newly-elected officers are: president, Janice Wond; vice-president, Chris Fisher; secretary, Susan Schumm; and treasurer, Joyce Mahar. Each member signed her name and preference for class teaching in the coming year. FTA has now reached its goal of all members being Juniors and Seniors. Mr. Sanborn told the club about a trip to the University of Michigan for an educational tour to learn about exceptional children. The rest of the meeting was spent discussing plans for the year. Any Junior or Senior who can retain a B-average for the year is invited to join FTA.

Riding Horse For Child Is Popular Item

Ann Arbor—"Please, get me a horse."

This familiar children's plea will be repeated in more and more families as the weather warms up, and chances are an increasing number of children will get their wish, says Rose J. Wilhelm of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration.

Explains Wilhelm, "While the number of horses in the U. S. has been declining steadily since the turn of the century, the popularity of horseback riding is at an all-time high." His views are presented in a U-M Broadcasting Service (WUOM) program, "Business Review."

Parents must remember, however, that the principal costs of a horse include more than the purchase price. Riding equipment alone will cost at least $100. Parents may spend whatever amount of money they wish on riding clothing. Additional costs: board and feed, blacksmiths/veterinarians.

On the other side, however, there is no sport which gives quite the thrill, challenge, and sense of accomplishment as riding. It is a sport that the child can participate in throughout his entire life," Wilhelm notes.

Here are some pointers for the parents buying a horse:

A number of possible sources are open to the prospective purchaser—cattle and horse auctions, horse dealers and horse breeders and farmers.

A word of caution: the buyer should deal with somebody he knows and with whom he has a continuing relationship.

"The wary attitude that grandfather had toward horse traders in his time is still justified today. Unless the prospective owner knows a good deal about horses, he will do best to avoid going to the wholesale markets," Wilhelm advises.

The prices of pleasure horses range from $100 for an undistinguished pony or plow to well over $20,000 for the highly schooled dressage horse.

Many factors determine the price. The degree of training is one. The horse's temperament is another. The physical structure of a horse also influences the price. There are other considerations: the age of the horse, its color,

Former Chelsea Resident Thrilled By Seeing Jiffy Products at Munich Fair

Mrs. William Ott, the former Linda White, now in Nuernberg, Germany, writes that she got a big thrill while visiting the Munich Fair and happened upon a "large display of all our Jiffy Mixes."

Each nation in the world has an entry in the fair, Mrs. Ott explained, that of the United States being a "supermarket." It is in this typically American exhibit that the display of Jiffy products appears.

Mrs. Ott, who formerly lived in Chelsea, designated the products "our Jiffy Mixes," since they are produced here by Chelsea Milling Co.

It's high time that drinking drivers be punished when caught at the wheel of an automobile, without waiting for them to kill some innocent pedestrian.
