Christmas Concert Will Be Presented Monday by Bands

Senior Band Will Be Dressed in New Uniforms

Monday evening, Dec. 17 at 8 p.m., the instrumental musicians of Chelsea School District, from grades 7 through 12 will present their annual Christmas concert in Chelsea high school auditorium. The seventh, eighth, and senior bands will play traditional yuletide music, some of it in the customary manner and some in a pleasing new style featuring unusual smooth harmonic transitions and the modern idiom with skillful blending of seasonal melodies in melody form.

To add variety for the listener, music from waltzes to marches and tone poems have been programmed. Music from the pens of composers such as Telemann, Grundan, Frescobaldi, King and Alford is being studied and will be presented by the various bands.

The seventh grade band numbers while the eighth grade band is comprised of 36 instrumentalists. The 11-member Senior Band will wear their new uniforms for this year which is the first formal appearance in the new dress.

No admission will be charged but free-will offering will be taken. Everyone interested is cordially invited to attend. It was announced yesterday by David Lind, the instrumental music director of Chelsea schools. He reminds those who plan to attend, "remember the date, Monday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m."

Jiffy Mixers Defeated by Prison Team

The Chelsea Jiffy Mixers basketball squad opened its season Saturday by dropping a close game to the Milan Federal Prison Rockets, 34-71.

The prisoners broke out with a fast lead and kept that same edge through to half-time when they led 39-29. The Mixers fought back in the second half and with seconds remaining in the game they took a three-point lead. However, the Rockets soon tied the score and with two seconds showing on the clock the winning shot was pumped through by a Milan guard to end the hard-fought game. This left the Celtics from Milan with a 6-2 season record.

Homey Nixon was high for the Celtics with 18 points, followed closely by Tim Fredericks and Art Baker who hit for 10 points each. Nixon scored 10 points, while John Jones and Odis Richardson hit for three and two, respectively.

Adult Typing Class Formed at High School

An adult typing class began a two-week course Monday evening at Chelsea High school. Anyone who might wish to join this adult education class may do so by attending the next session, Monday, Dec. 17, from 7 until 9 p.m. Class sessions take place in the typing room (Room 20) at the high school and are held each Monday evening.

Skating Pond Will Soon Be Ready for Use

Muswood skating pond, adjacent to Veterans Memorial Park and behind the residences on the west side of North Main St., should provide good skating for Chelsea youngsters, providing that youngsters have co-operated by remaining off the surface until the ice reached sufficient thickness; providing also that they have refrained from throwing things on to the surface to roughen it.

A smooth skating surface is possible only with such co-operation, it was pointed out this week.

There has been some question as to whether sale of the property to Chelsea Products will curtail use of the pond; however, village officials have been assured that the company plans to permit use of the pond for "a good many years to come."

Robert W. Wagner, general manager of Chelsea Products, repeated the assurance made at the time announcement of the firm's purchase of the land from George T. Staffan was announced—that the firm planned no immediate use of the skating pond area and would permit continued use of the pond by youngsters of the community.

Blood Bank Clinic Nets 127-Pint Total

Mrs. Dudley Holmes, Chelsea Blood Bank chairman, reported that 133 persons registered to donate blood at last Friday's clinic at the Congregational church. She said she "was very pleased" with the response, especially since the date of the clinic coincided with the first heavy snowfall of the season, causing traffic difficulties.

Sixteen of those registering were rejected for various reasons—particularly because of colds—so the total yield for the Blood Bank amounted to 127 pints. The Red Cross mobile unit in charge of the clinic arrived here a little late but otherwise unhampered by the snowstorm. It was learned later that two other Red Cross units heading for points north and west to conduct clinics, were stalled and unable to reach their destinations.

Mrs. Holmes said that any prospective donors who were unable to get to the clinic may make appointments to donate blood at University Hospital or St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor; Poole Hospital, Jackson; or Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, and designate that their donation be credited to the Chelsea Blood Bank.

Mrs. Holmes said a disappointing feature was the fact that only two people registered to donate from the extra area it had been planned to include in the Chelsea Blood Bank this year. This comprises the entire Washtenaw county portion of the Chelsea-School District. Chelsea schools had co-operated by sending notes home with all school children and Mrs. Holmes said this entire effort resulted in only one registration from the out- (Continued on page five)

POST OFFICE DECORATED—Co-operation of three Chelsea Girl Scout troops and the Chelsea Post Office, brought about the placing of a decorated Christmas tree in the lobby of the Chelsea Post Office, as well as decorations for some of the windows. Cub Scout Pack 125 donated the tree as a community service project. Troop 48 Girl Scouts decorated the doors as French windows; Girl Scouts of Troop 77 made and placed decorations in the two large windows at either side of the entrance; and Troop 98 Girl Scouts decorated the Christmas tree. Troop 98 Girl Scouts and leaders present when the above picture was

225 Brave Snow, Cold for Methodist Home Dedication

Although the season's first heavy snowstorm occurred Thursday and Friday, resulting in hazardous driving conditions, only one of the people scheduled to participate in the dedication service for the new Methodist Home medical facility and hospital unit was unable to get here. This was the Rev. Roy Johns of Bad Axe, chairman of the building committee. His part in the service was filled by the Rev. George Woomer of Detroit, a member of the Home Board of Trustees.

At least 45 cancellations were received late Thursday night, however, from people who had intended to be present for a noon dinner served at the Home to approximately 90 guests.

Among the guests were Chelsea area clergymen and their wives, village and county officials and other Chelsea business and professional people.

The service of dedication was carried out as previously announced, with the Rev. J. Douglas Parker, president of the Board of Trustees, presiding.

At the dinner, the Rev. Edwin J. Weiss, administrator at the Home, expressed appreciation to the entire Chelsea community for the friendship and good will toward the Home and its personnel and also made special mention of gifts of flowers and plants received for the dedication service. The Rev. Weiss said he spoke for "the entire Home Board" in expressing appreciation.

A listing of gifts received for the new construction project gave the following names: Chelsea Home Friends, Chelsea Home members, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crocker, Mrs. George Curtis, W. R. Daniels, Frank Deller, Dr. Joseph Fisher, Friends, Klump-Brothers and Mrs. Leah Kniekerbocker; also sustaining or apartment gifts made by present and future members.

Numerous bequests and memorial gifts, as well as included in the listing of funds which were designated for the construction cost of the building, furnishings and landscaping, the total amounting to more than $1,250,000.

Guests at the dinner and others who came for the 2 p.m. dedication service in the Home chapel were invited to tour the new facility and apartment unit.

Several of the apartments were already occupied and the hospital section had a five-bed ward unit (Continued on page three)

Children's Christmas Party Will Be Held Saturday Afternoon

Baptist Church Plans Special Holiday Program

The Rev. David Wood, pastor of Chelsea Baptist church, announced yesterday that the Christmas program of the Sunday school will be held at 7 p.m. Dec. 16 and on the following Sunday evening, also at 7 o'clock, the church choir will present a Christmas cantata "Child Jesus."

Sunday's children's program, to which all members and friends are invited, will include recitations, songs and a playlet, "The Sub-titute Shepherd." Mrs. Wood is in charge of the program.

The Dec. 23 cantata is being given under the direction of David Sandborn, vocal music director of Chelsea schools.

Mail Early in Day During Busy Season

Chelsea Postmaster Carl Mayer, in making a statement about holiday mailing, said, "Many thanks to our postal patrons for the splendid co-operation during the Christmas season last year."

He said to those who would like to help this year, when the mail volume is expected to reach an all-time peak, the following suggestions are offered.

Unsealed greeting cards without writing, other than your name, may be mailed for three cents, but they cannot be forwarded or returned to the sender if undeliverable as addressed. Those bearing the first class rate of four cents will be forwarded or returned if undeliverable, provided they bear the sender's name and address. All sealed cards and those containing writing must bear the letter (first class) rate of postage. The new four-cent Christmas stamp is available for sending cards, first class. All mail must have complete addresses.

The postmaster also stated it would be appreciated if everyone will put their cards into bundles of "local" and "out of town," using the handy labels that may be secured from the Post Office or letter carrier.

It is suggested that patrons mail as early in the day as possible during the Christmas season—that those receiving their mail through Post Office boxes withdraw their mail more frequently and that city delivery patrons who expect more than their normal amount of mail, place temporary boxes at their doors to hold the excess amount of mail.

Winter Snow, Cold Seize Entire Area

After recording in The Standard last Thursday that flowers were in bloom here the first of the week, typical Michigan weather for this time of the year set in on the day the paper was published. It began to snow and before the snowfall ended Friday, a total of almost nine inches had been dumped in the area.

School buses started their runs Friday morning but encountered drifts and had to turn back. Classes were called off for the day after a number of students within walking distance had managed to reach the schools.

The year's first big winter storm resulted in numerous traffic accidents as roads and streets became slippery.

Washtenaw county Road Commission maintenance crews warn that bridge and viaduct overpass pavements are the first areas to watch for—they become slippery as soon as the temperature reaches the freezing point.

"Night Patrol" men working out of the Washtenaw county Road Commission yards, attempt to avert the dangers at these spots as soon as they discover them, spreading sand and salt. They point out, however, that drivers should be on the alert at all bridges—whether highway or railroad crossing overpasses or bridges over waterways. The bridge pavements still warm after the mild weather, with cold air over and under them, are the first road areas to become slippery—the danger is lessened to some degree after the inner and outer surface of the pavement has reached a degree of uniform coldness so sweating and the resultant freezing of the moisture does not occur so easily.

Road Commission crews are putting up signs at overpasses alerting drivers to the possibility that the bridge floor is in danger of becoming slippery as soon as the temperature goes down.

Burglars Break in at Chelsea Motors

Stolen in a break-in at Chelsea Motors Inc., on Chelsea-Manchester Rd., some time Thursday night was some cash from a garage cash box, two tool boxes containing $500 in tools, other tools, a $250 chain saw, two automobile tires, a plastic boat cover and several other items.

According to reports of the break-in, entry was gained by smashing a rear window.

Kiddies Invited To Visit Santa At Free Movies

Santa Claus will be here again Saturday and will participate in the annual Christmas party for youngsters at Chelsea Theatre.

Children through the eighth grade are invited to be guests at one of the three shows to be given—Saturday afternoon—the first at 12 noon, the second at 1 p.m. and the third at 2 p.m. After each show, as children leave the theatre, Santa Claus, assisted by volunteers, and committees of the UAW-CIO divisions of Chelsea, will distribute Christmas stockings—one to each child who attends.

Those who wish to pick up Christmas stockings for children who are ill may make their request to the committee after all children present have received their gifts at the end of the last show of the afternoon. No gifts for other than children at the party will be distributed following the first and second show.

It is believed this plan will prevent a recurrence of last year's disappointment to approximately 40 younger children at the third show who received no gift in spite of the fact that extra gifts had been hurriedly purchased when it appeared the supply was running short. The committee felt it would be more practical to get extra supplies, if needed, for those not able to attend the party than to provide for them first and disappoint the children who expect to receive their gift at the party.

The annual Christmas party is made possible through the co-operation of six divisions of the UAW-CIO and a grant from the Chelsea Community Chest.

Participating Union groups are Chrysler Local 1284 and Federal Screw, Rockwell-Standard, Central Fibre, Chelsea Products and Chelsea Manufacturing Divisions of UAW-CIO Local 437.

General chairmen of the Christmas party are Mac Packard of Central Fibre Products Division and Mitchell Picklesimer of Federal Screw Works Division. The Christmas party is their responsibility as recreation chairmen of UAW-CIO Local 437.

Their assistants are volunteers from all six divisions of the Union.

Santa Claus, while he is here Saturday, will also pick up the mail which has been deposited by children at the community in Santa's personal mailbox in front of the Post Office steps. No stamps are required if the letters are deposited in this red painted box. Unstamped Santa Claus letters should not be deposited in the regular Post Office mail box.

James Schneider Becomes Eagle Scout

The highest award in Boy Scouting was bestowed on James Schneider at a Court of Honor held Monday evening, Dec. 10, in the dining room of the Congregational church. He is the third member of his family to receive the high award and one of his brothers, Eagle Scout Richard Schneider, came from Neillville, Wis., where he is now in home mission work of the United Church of Christ, to present the award.

Richard Schneider is director of social services at the Winnebago Children's Home for neglected, dependent and emotionally disturbed children at Neillville. He brought with him two of the boys from the school and introduced them as "Arnold and Jim."

The third Eagle Scout in the Schneider family is Richard's twin brother, Douglas, a United Church of Christ missionary in India.

An enlarged replica of the Eagle award pennant served as a background for the award ceremony.

Centerpieces on the tables for the supper which preceded the award ceremony, also carried out the Eagle award theme in the colors of red, white and blue. Standards held enlarged replicas of the Eagle pin.

The speakers table was centered with a bouquet of red, white and blue pansy chrysanthemums in a pure white bowl.

Community Colleges May Be the Best Way To Handle Increased Enrollments

Partly owing to the enrollment jam in the state's colleges and universities, but more so because the taxpayer senses a less expensive way of educating his sons and daughters, community colleges are on the rise in Michigan.

A vote in Macomb county, following similar action in western Wayne county, paves the way for three of the two-year colleges. It lends credence to the theory of a number of educators that this is a way the state can help solve its higher education dilemma.

The problem is that public universities now are operating at near-peak capacity. The next few years will bring a flood of students—the coming-of-age of the war babies—that threatens to inundate the system.

Michigan's fiscal troubles, hampering expansion of existing universities, is blamed for a lack of preparedness for the crush of students who are expected on the campuses within two or three years.

But it also can be thanked for forcing higher education to take stock of its assets, make better use of its facilities.

The community college can well serve freshmen and sophomores who are not yet involved with the laboratories and expensive equipment employed by more advanced students, hence the cost is less. Tuition can consequently be lower.

Students living close at home save the annual costs of up to $1,000 for board and room. Also, in their first years in college, they continue in a close-to-home atmosphere.

The taxpayer without children will wonder where he benefits in the program. If it makes a difference to him whether he pays the cost of such education at the state or local level, he has yet another consideration. In educating the young men and women in his community, he is helping to raise the economic and social atmosphere of his own immediate surroundings. Local business and industry will benefit by locally trained employees; there is less turnover among home-grown workers.

Community colleges were programmed not only to prepare students for more college elsewhere, but provide terminal courses that produce graduate technicians in various lines of endeavor.—Clinton County Republican-News.

GETTING THE FAMILY CHRISTMAS TREE

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

1963 legislature convening next month may likely be a long session.

Traditionally in the odd years very little important legislation is passed before the April elections.

Next year, this is expected to be particularly true because of the very important April vote on the Constitution proposed by the Constitutional Convention.

Republicans may be expected to keep the session moving along slowly so they will have time to help the new governor get oriented and promote the proposed document.

Democrats, without the usual important help from the executive office, will want a great deal of time to campaign to see that the document is not approved.

If the same token, approval of the document would pave the way for a number of pieces of legislation to implement the provisions of the new Constitution.

More Jobs Needed

Estimates of job needs for Michigan are going up. It wasn't too many years ago that the economists warned the state would need 10,000 jobs a year to keep the population working.

Now George Moffett, Jr., a member of the Michigan Industrial Ambassadors, says Michigan must have 30,000 new industrial jobs a year for the next 10 years if it is to keep up with its population growth.

One of Moffett's primary concerns is drawing industry to the state by helping finance industrial development. Southern states have had the spotlight for the last several years for their activities in helping industry locate by providing financing plans favorable to the industrial management.

A number of plans to help Michigan compete with the Southern states for new industry have been proposed.

As a member of a Michigan Weak planning committee, Moffett proposes to boost the efforts locally with a series of regional seminars next May.

Legislative proponents of industrial development financing plans for the state also are expected to reiterate their previous proposals during the 1963 session.

Facts Win Debates

Unbelievable amounts of data are available in two dull sounding but very enlightening books just published by the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at MSU. Population figures, bank deposits, business activities, crop reports can all be studied quickly in charts which show the picture from as long ago as 1840 to the present. "Michigan—Economic Charts" covers 104 activities.

An even sterner, and perhaps more interesting, book called "Michigan Statistical Abstract," provides all kinds of information about the state, cities and counties. Subjects covered include employment, manufacturing, agriculture, mining, trade and finance.

Both books may be secured by contacting the MSU office. They are guaranteed to let the man who checks in them win the arguments from the man who guesses.

Seeing Red

Plans for installation of traffic lights at intersections reach state officials, or local authorities, very frequently just after accidents occur at the crossings.

People who appeal to officials for the lights believe the accident rate will automatically go down.

when the signals are installed. Traffic studies by the State Highway Department indicate this is not necessarily true, however.

At least during the first year or so after a light is installed, it frequently has the opposite effect and more accidents occur, according to the study.

A year-long study of 52 locations in the state where new stop lights were installed showed accidents increased 33 percent during the period, as compared to the year before the signals were placed.

Rear-end collisions at the locations increased nearly 100 percent, and there was 65 percent increase in accidents involving left-turn movements, the department reported.

"It may be clearly seen from the study that a traffic signal isn't the answer to accident prevention," said Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie. "It merely does what it is intended to do, and that is to stop one flow of traffic while another goes through an intersection."

Michigan's 83 winter sports centers make it the national leader in this respect, according to the state tourist council. An estimated 200,000 skiers will make an average of three trips to one or more of the areas, which are scattered throughout the state.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My old lady was in town last Saturday and she brought home one of them slick magazines for women. On account of me not getting my weekly dose of fine reading material from the Department of Agriculture and them other Government agencies, I picked up this thing the other night to give it a glimpse or two.

Things is going on in this country, Mister Editor, that the men-folks don't know about. Some of the items that was in that magazine ought to be barred under the Fifth Amendment. For instance, one of them female writers alluded as how the average man could tell everything he knowed in one hour flat. Personal, I don't think it would slow down his conversation much. After that he could set it and talk about women.

And another woman writer was claiming that they is a plot among men writers to get wives back in the kitchen. I think this statement was a little overdrawed and that most men would be satisfied just to get the wife back in the house. But the item that put the stopper in the jug was this piece by some woman professor at one of them big female college in New York.

First off, she says gossip is good for women, claims the reason women live longer than men is because they relax by gossiping. If that's true, Mister Editor, we got several female characters out this way that'll live to be 187.

And she claimed a "survey" showed that women was talking a heap slower than they was 20 years ago. Just how you could get a "survey" on this subject is a mystery to me. But I reckon it's possible. For instance, I was reading in one of them pamphlets from the Agriculture Department the other week where the 1961 pickle census was now complete and we had a bumper crop of 7 billion cucumbers. And so, pickles or women, I reckon the situation can get "surveyed."

This woman professor didn't say why they was talking slower. I figure it must be on account of them running out of breath. It shore ain't because they is running out of someone to say or because they is putting more thought behind it.

But this will give you a idea, Mister Editor, of what's going on in them slick magazines for women. I aim to tear out a few pages of this magazine and send 'em to my Congressman and ask him if he don't think it's time for an official investigation of the matter. I had half a mind to mention it to my old lady, but the other half told me to keep quiet. Discussing matters of this nature with my old lady is harder than trying to read a newspaper in the car with all the windows open. And, incidentally, if you don't hear from me next week you'll know she saw this piece afore I could get it out.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Early Sunsets in Winter Increase Traffic Accidents

As the sun starts to set, turn on your automobile lights. It is winter advice to motorists from James M. Hare, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Council.

Study of urban and rural accidents in Michigan over a five-year period shows that December is the deadliest month of the year, with 101 percent of all traffic accidents occurring between 4:25 and 4:39 in the afternoon. The variation in the time of sunset is due to the difference in latitude between our southern tier of counties and the upper part of the State.

Hare pointed out that many December and January accidents happen in the morning when the sun rises much later than at other times of the year. On the 45 degree North latitude, which cuts across the State on a line roughly between Alpena and Traverse City, the sun rises on New Year's morning at about 7:38. Because of this and other factors, like morning fog, the need for driving with lights on during the early hours of the day is most important.

The greatest number of fatal and injury accidents on Michigan's rural and urban roads occurs between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. Last year 1,707 injury-death incidents took place on rural roads while 511 were suffered on streets in urban areas.

Club and Social Happenings

ST. PAUL'S MISSION CLUB
St. Paul's Mission club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Emma Seitz, opening the meeting with a German hymn.

Devotions were led by the president, Mrs. Amanda Mayer. A program of readings included the following: "Requiem—Christ-mas," by Mrs. Wilbert Grish; "Dear Santa" by Mrs. Ola Hil-singer; "My Christmas Walk" by Mrs. Paul Seitz; "The Inn-Keeper Makes a Decision" by Mrs. Mina Seitz; "Amos Explains the Lord's Prayer" by Mrs. Oscar Lindauer; and "A Brother Like That" by Mrs. Emma Seitz.

In observance of their December birthdays, Mrs. Emma Seitz and Mrs. Paul Seitz were remembered with a card shower.

The January meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Grish.

ROGERS CORNERS EXTENSION
Rogers Corners Extension club's Christmas party, with husbands and guests, will be held Saturday, Dec. 15, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Kuemeter. The party is set for 8 p.m. with Mrs. Luther Schaefer as co-hostess. Those who attend will bring their own table service.

At the November meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Ira Johnson, the lesson, "Christmas in the German Tradition," was presented by Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Frank Mitchell.

Members participated by bringing cookies baked according to recipes distributed at a previous meeting.

Two guests attended the Nov. 28 meeting—Mrs. Ray Niles and Mrs. James Dean. The latter joined the group as a new member.

Greek Boy Sends Thanks for School Bag from UCW

Mrs. Julson Goltra and her mother, Mrs. Kittie Kuhls, received a letter last week from the mother of a six-year-old boy in Greece who had received one of the bags of school supplies sent from Chelsea's United Church Women Community Day contributions in November 1961.

Mrs. Goltra was at a loss to understand how the recipient of the bag secured her name until her mother, who is ill, told her she had included the name while working on the packet.

Nick Mari of Pegadia, Kostas, Greece, is the six-year-old who received the packet from "the bishop," according to the letter written by Mrs. Frango Mari. Mrs. Mari expressed deep appreciation for the gift, saying Americans are good people and that the Greek people are "proud of Americans" and concluded by saying, "God Bless America and Americans."

Mrs. Mari explained that the school bag gift was received by her son on Nov. 16, 1962 (almost a year after the contribution was made here). Her letter of appreciation included information about other members of the family, in a Standard Classified With Sell-It!

furnished. A lounge (or general assembly room) on the first floor is an especially attractive room, in keeping with the entire building; the general effect is most attractive as well as functional.

Transfer of Home residents from the former hospital unit to the new facility is in progress.

The newly-dedicated building is the sixth unit of the residence care facilities and provides room for more than 80 additional persons, bringing total capacity of Home residence to approximately 225 people.

It includes living quarters for couples or individuals in separate "efficiency" apartments; craft shop for sewing, weaving and hobbies; laundries—one for individual use and one for hospital linens; etc.; recreation space; medical care facilities; a lounge; storage space; and many other conveniences.

General contractor for the new building is O. W. Burke Co., with Shaw-Winkler Co., Garner Electric Service and Austin Blue Co., as sub-contractors.

Architects were Erroll Clark, Donald Scripture, John Pishus and the late Charles Scripture.

Members of the building committee included Maurice Shari of Detroit; Mrs. Paul Youngdahl, II, S. McKeon; Mrs. James Crippen and Loren Campbell of Ann Arbor; the Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the Chelsea Methodist church; Howard Chapin of Ypsilanti; Victor Zink of Rochester; the Rev. William Wager of Flint; and the committee chairman, the Rev. Roy Johns of Bad Axe.

Jap Beetle Project Nears Completion
The largest single aerial treatment program for Japanese beetle in the country was recently completed when 400 converted B-25 planes, finished applying dieldrin pellets, in Monroe and Lenawee counties. Total acres aerially treated was 80,135 1/2.
The program to check the invasion of the pest in Michigan was operated jointly by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Plant Pest Control division of the USDA. Costs of $366,400 were borne by the two departments. The Michigan agency paid its share by taking fourth quarter funds of the Plant Industry division and money from other projects in the Department. This was on the basis of an understanding that an $183,200 supplemental appropriation to repay the Department will be sought by the appropriation committee when the legislature convenes in January.
The insecticide used in the program was applied at the rate of 20 pounds of dieldrin pellets per acre, the rate recommended by the USDA. Only two pounds of the 20 pounds is active ingredient. The dieldrin is expected to maintain its potency in the soil from three to five years. The substance destroys the larvae of the Japanese beetle, which spends 10 months in the earth before emerging as an adult beetle.
In the Monroe-Lenawee project there were 800 tons of the insecticide applied. Additional spots are to be treated by equipment on the ground that were not economical to treat with planes. Ground work is expected to be finished within the next few days.

Year Club' Will Meet MSU Farmers' Week

MSU Farmers' Week at Michigan State University has been an annual event on the Michigan State campus for nearly half a century. It features a variety of activities, including lectures, demonstrations, and exhibits. The event is open to the public and is a great opportunity for people to learn more about the importance of agriculture.

invited to the luncheon to be held at the MSU Union. As a program feature, Dean T. K. Cowden of MSU's College of Agriculture will present the three "Distinguished Service to Agriculture" awards, an annual highlight of the week. Guests will also get a progress report on the amazing growth of the nation's pioneer land-grant college since the days of the thirties.

awards at the Court of Honor. Napkins, place cards in the form of eagles, and other table appointments were also in keeping with the decorative Eagle Award theme. The invocation at the dinner was given by James Schneider's pastor, the Rev. Paul M. Schaeke, of St. Paul's church. Girl Scouts of Troop 98—Pam Graham and Carol Foye—acted as babysitters for younger children in the church nursery during the program period. Other Boy Scouts honored Monday included Eric Rusten and Fred Worden, who received Star Scout badges at the Court of Honor. These presentations were made by Stove Donahue, Scout Ship 1201 skipper, of Detroit, who with his wife, was a guest at the dinner. In presenting the Eagle award to James Schneider, his brother said he "was proud to give Jim this high award" and that he knew Jim had worked diligently, sometimes under very difficult circumstances, to fulfill the necessary requirements. An Eagle Scout award winner must have earned at least 21 merit badges; the Palm award requires an additional five badges. Troop 25 Scoutmaster Robert Foye was master of ceremonies and special recognition was given him as retiring Scoutmaster and Ralph Frisch as the incoming Scoutmaster. Foye is taking over duties of committee chairman of Cub Scout Pack 125. Also honored were parents of the new Eagle Scout, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schneider, and parents of the two Palm award winners, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Scholtens. Others who received recognition at the event were the Rev. Philip Ruston, committee chairman and former Scoutmaster; Vernon Parks who has ended his eighth year in Scouting—three years as committee member of Cub Scout Pack 125 and five with Boy Scout Troop 25; Parks plans to become a Webelos leader the first of the year. Co-chairmen for the dinner at the Court of Honor were Mrs.

Vernon Parks, Mrs. Ross Scholtens and Mrs. Lewis Schneider. Approximately 125 persons attended.

Brownies...

TROOP 625—Brownies of Troop 625, at their meeting Thursday at South school, prepared invitations for their troop birthday party next week. They played games and had refreshments. The hostess was Linda Hale. Rhonda Romine, Loralynn Grammatico, scribes. A 'Rushy' is a tall fur hat.

What's happened to the cost of food?

Food? Let's look inside these three bags of "groceries." Here's a new type of can opener, furniture polish, cleansing tissues, toothpaste. All things we need, of course, but not food. Here's a box of cake mix, frozen vegetables, a frozen pie. They save a lot of time and trouble, but the additional cost is for the packaging not the food. Fact is, food itself takes less of our income than ever before—only 20%. Forty years ago it took 42%. In Western Europe today food still takes 30 to 50% of the family income. . . . In Russia, 60%. What's happened to the cost of our food? It's now the biggest bargain in the world. Thanks to the achievement of American farmers.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By RALPH ROBEY

Corporate Profits and Wages . . .

Within the past few days the office of Business Economics of the Department of Commerce has published a new study headed "Corporate Profits and National Output." It covers the period from 1947 through the first half of 1962. Many things that have been widely recognized and commented upon are confirmed, but there are significant new interpretations. Among the well-known facts which are confirmed is that profits have not kept pace with the growth of the economy. This is true regardless of how profits are measured. The new interpretations relate to the causes of this lag. Most important cause of the profit lag in terms of dollars has been the increase in depreciation charges on the side of speeding up these depreciation charges, but they have had no effect upon the figures used in the study. It is interesting to note, however, that the study makes an estimate that they will amount to between $2 billion and $3 billion.

A second great factor in reducing the dollar volume of profits has been the increase of taxes. For the study, emphasis is only on direct taxes. For the most part these are levies imposed by states and local governments, although many excise taxes also are imposed by the federal government.

reality. This year the Internal Revenue Service has made still further changes on the side of speeding up these depreciation charges, but they have had no effect upon the figures used in the study. It is interesting to note, however, that the study makes an estimate that they will amount to between $2 billion and $3 billion.

Then in 1954 a new law was passed authorizing two new methods of calculating depreciation, and both were designed to bring such charges into closer relationship to of this year. Mention is also made of the fact that the federal corporate income tax has risen since the late 1940's from about 38 percent to 52 percent.

Most newsworthy of the interpretations is the comment on wages. This includes both wages and salaries and all "fringe benefits." This item has risen by exactly the same percentage as corporate production, or by 113 percent. This appears to say that rising wages have contributed nothing to the profit squeeze, and it has been so reported in the newspapers.

Is such an interpretation correct or is it fundamentally a mirage? In our judgment it is a mirage. We do not question the mathematical accuracy of the study's figures. There would be no point in that type of error, and our government is noted for being strict in this regard.

We think that all these identical increases amount to is that business management, by one means and another, and by necessity, has held the total of wages and salaries to the same aggregate rise as output. In terms of profits this is most important, but it is not as significant as the amount paid for the output per hour. And we know from many studies, both private and governmental, that in industry after industry wages have increased more rapidly than output per paid manhour. This is one of the major elements increasing the cost of production, and if prices are not raised, profits have to decline.

In economic analysis the use of averages frequently can be most misleading. We think the interpretation placed on wages in this study is a perfect example of this fact.

Navy Offers Holiday Leave for New Recruits

Edwin D. Harvey, CSCA (SS), USN, Navy Recruiter from Ann Arbor Navy Recruiting station announced today that recruits enlisted between Dec. 18-30, who so desire, may be granted advance leave not to exceed 14 days to expire not later than 8 a.m., Jan. 2.

Chief Harvey also said this would let the new recruits spend the holidays with their families and will not affect the regular recruit leave upon graduation from recruit training.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Chief Harvey at the recruiting station, 220 N. Main St., Ann Arbor.

Child's Understanding Of Time Is Limited

"A child's limited understanding of the passing of time is one of the reasons why he finds it difficult to hurry or wait when you expect him to," says Lennah Backus, family life specialist at Michigan State University.

Mrs. Backus feels that the simple suggestion, "Dress now, play later," may be much more useful to a little child than saying, "Hurry up and get into your clothes. We haven't much time!"

"The child's lack of understanding of time requires considerable patience on the part of parents," the specialist says. "You may be wrapped up in a television program when your child asks for a drink. If your 'just a minute' stretches into several, the child may become impatient and will not learn much about how to judge time."

If you know a family with a child born with a defect, ask them to seek aid through their local chapter of the National Foundation-March of Dimes. Join the 25th Anniversary March of Dimes in January and fight crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Now Is Good Time To Buy Your Home

Now is the time to buy a home. This was the advice of S. M. Van Kirk, executive director of the National Building Materials Distributors Association, Chicago, Ill.

Van Kirk told a NBMBA conference Dec. 3-5 at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education that prices of home building materials have been dropping for the past year.

"The industry is all geared for the 'fabulous sixties,'" he explained. "It is capable of producing 2,000,000 housing units a year—but, in 1962, only about 1,300,000 units will be sold. Overproduction has resulted in lower prices."

He noted that in most areas houses are standing vacant, and that builders are not very busy and, therefore, are easier to deal with.

Non-Skiers Also Find Fun in Snow

Although some skiers may call it heresy, there's a group of winter sports enthusiasts that claim a snow-covered slope may be used for a recreation without learning the "snowplow" or other ski techniques.

The favorite snowtime activity with this group is the fun-filled and thrilling sport of tobogganing, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. And while Michigan has more ski areas than any other state, non-skiers also find ample opportunity for winter sports at the state's 83 winter sports centers.

Tobogganists, who number in the thousands every year in Michigan, will find several of the state's winter resorts offer complete facilities. Toboggans may be rented for use on specially-prepared chutes where speeds of 60 miles-per-hour are attainable on runs as much as a mile long.

While tobogganing may be tricky and even dangerous on open slopes

Michigan winter sports centers facilities include Petoskey Winter Sports Park, Petoskey; Newaygo Winter Sports Park, Newaygo; Brock Park, near Ionia; Indian Hills, Grand Rapids; Hu-Lu Heights, Hudsonville; Goshorn

WALKS TO JAIL.
St. Petersburg, Fla. — When a storm came up suddenly, guards hurried a crew of road gang convicts into a turek and took them back to a prison camp.
The count later showed Cortez Barnes missing. Sometime later Barnes reached the camp. He said they left in such a hurry that the guards failed to pick him up, and he walked the five miles back to camp.

To remove the material smell from new deer hunting clothes, smoke them over a wood fire.

Con-Con Report

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one in a series about the proposed new Michigan Constitution. Additional articles will appear in subsequent weeks.

Four presently elective state administrative offices would become appointive positions if the proposed new Michigan constitution is approved by the voters at the April 1, 1963, election.

Four other principal state offices would remain elective. They are: governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state.

These offices which would become appointive are: state treasurer, auditor general, superintendent of public instruction and state highway commissioner.

The treasurer would be named by the governor and the auditor general by the state legislature. The state school chief would be chosen by an enlarged eight-member state board of education. The highway commissioner's appointment would be the responsibility of a new four-man bipartisan state highway commission.

This equal division between appointive and elective state officials was adopted by the Constitutional Convention after lengthy hearings, committee sessions and floor debate. It represents a compromise between those who favored popular election of only one or two officials—the governor and lieutenant governor—and those who were of the opinion that all state administrative officials should continue to be elective officers.

In their testimony before committees, former governors of Michigan of both political faiths appeared to favor a system which would provide fewer elected state administrative officials. It was their contention that this would result in a stronger, more effective and better coordinated executive department of state government.

The auditor general would be named by majority vote of the members of the legislature. The constitution requires that he be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in the state and that he be appointed for a term of eight years. He would be ineligible for appointment or election to any other paid public office in the state while serving as auditor general and for two years thereafter.

In changing the method of selection of the auditor general, the proposed constitution makes him primarily responsible to the legislative rather than to the executive branch of state government. The convention viewed his principal function as one of seeing to it that legislative appropriations are spent in the manner intended by the legislature.

The superintendent of public instruction would continue to be the principal executive officer of the state department of education, but would be appointed by and have his term of office fixed by the new state board of education. The board's eight members would be elected by popular vote for overlapping eight-year terms.

The new constitution proposes that the state board of education be the unifying and coordinating force for education within the state and receive information from all of the various levels of public education. Such information would be considered by the board in determining advice to local school boards, governing boards of colleges and universities and the legislature as to the total needs of education in the state.

In recommending the change in the elective status of the state highway commissioner, the Constitutional Convention recognized that Michigan is the only one of the 50 U.S. states which elects its highway chief.

The new constitution provides that he be named by a four-member commission appointed by the governor. No more than two members of the commission may belong to the same political party. They are to be chosen for four-year overlapping terms.

The governor's appointments of the state treasurer and members of the state highway commission will be subject to the advice and consent of the state senate, according to the terms of the new constitution.

New Gift Envelope Now Available for Savings Bonds

A familiar and popular gift item—United States Savings Bonds—will be available in an attractive new "package" this Christmas, according to John R. Meadows, volunteer chairman of the Washtenaw County Savings Bonds committee.

The package consists of a handsome new gift envelope which will be available free at local banks to purchasers of Savings Bonds to be used as gifts. The envelope is faced in blue with a drawing of the American eagle holding a red, white and blue streamer. It is backed in white and flapped with the blue inscription, "A Gift for You... A share in America." Space for address and signature is also provided along with another inscription of "Keep Freedom in Your Future—with U. S. Savings Bonds."

"Coming at this time of year, Meadows said, 'the new gift folder is an attractive bonus to Christmas shoppers. Throughout the year, however, these folders will be available for all types of gift occasions, and will be kept in stock by the banks for this purpose.'

"The folders are easy to mail and may be slipped into a Christmas-card-enveloped or tucked into a child's Christmas stocking. However they are given, they are certainly easy to receive!"

Birth defects occur in one out of 10 births, afflicting more than 250,000 babies each year. The 1963 March of Dimes seeks to fight birth defects by sponsoring research seeking causes and cures.
