A. Petsch Home Gutted By Flames

At 3:07 a.m. Tuesday firemen were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Petsch, 2015 Old US-12, west of Wilkinson St., where fire gutted the interior and destroyed the roof of the dwelling. Members of the family told firemen it was their opinion the fire started near the fuse box. Firemen laid two lines of hose to hydrants on Wilkinson St. and had plenty of water; however, the fire had gained such headway that the interior was completely destroyed before the blaze was brought under control. Firemen remained on the scene until 8:45 a.m. and were called back at 9:15 a.m. when fire broke out again. They remained an hour to make certain gas lines leading to the house were no longer endangered.

World Day of Prayer Planned For Friday, Mar. 1
United Church Women of the Chelsea Area have made plans for the annual observance of World Day of Prayer, customarily held on the first Friday in Lent. The service this year will take place Friday, March 1, at 1:30 p.m. at the Methodist church. Theme for the service here and for similar services throughout the Christian world is "More Than Conquerors." Mrs. Loring Bates, United Christian World Missions, is chairman of the planning committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Ben Donaldson, who is the United Church Women president, Mrs. Wilbert Grieb of St. Paul's church, and Mrs. Clare Warren of the Methodist church.

Church Okays Plans for New Kitchen

After two years of planning a new kitchen for the Methodist church—a project of the Woman's Society of Christian Service—the plan was approved for installation by act of the church's official board in session Monday evening, Feb. 11.

The trustees' report on the project was read by Robert Turner. Financing of the project was approved by the church's commission on finance as read by William Storey, the commission chairman.

Mrs. Arthur Stoll was present as a representative of the WSCS and outlined the floor plans and other details. She was accompanied by Mrs. James Gaunt, a member of her committee, Robert Turner and Robert Daniels were appointed to supervise construction, scheduled to begin soon. Estimated cost of the improvement program is $40,000 and it was voted to allocate toward that amount, 50 percent of the proceeds of dime folders which Methodist church people annually designate as Lenten Self-Denial offerings. The remaining 50 percent of proceeds of the Lenten folders will go to the Commission on Missions for some special project.

Disastrous Fire Averted By Firemen

A kitchen wall and the flooring in an upstairs bedroom were damaged by fire Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lydia Zahn, 3200 Rentz Rd. Some smoke damage resulted in other parts of the house; however, a disastrous fire was averted because of quick response by Chelsea and Manchester fire departments and by neighbors and friends who rushed to the farm when they learned of the danger.

Mrs. Zahn was sewing in the front part of the house at the time the fire was discovered by her brother-in-law, Charles Zahn. He had returned at 3:15 p.m. from a trip to town and as he opened the stairway door to go to his room to change his clothes he found the stairway and the upper floor of the house filled with smoke. The fire had been smoldering in the kitchen partition between the wall and chimney and had ignited the flooring in the upstairs room. An estimate of the amount of damage was not yet available.

SCOUT AWARD—The two Boy Scouts shown in the photo with their parents received Pro Deo et Patria awards at ceremonies held on Boy Scout Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Congregational church. The "God and Country" award, as it is popularly spoken of, required more than a year of preparation and volunteer church service by the two Scouts. From left are Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Penhallegon, their son, Tom, and Ken Reinhardt and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinhardt.

Two Boy Scouts Receive God and Country Awards

Two Chelsea Boy Scouts received Pro Deo et Patria (For God and Country) awards at special services Sunday morning at the Congregational church. They are Tom Penhallegon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Penhallegon, and Ken Reinhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinhardt.

Both are Life Scouts and plan to continue work toward Eagle rank, highest award in Scouting. Penhallegon is a member of Troop 25 and Reinhardt is in Troop 76.

To complete requirements for the God and Country award, the two boys met with the Rev. Philip Rusten each week for a full year for study and submitted a written statement on the topic "My Personal Faith." A number of volunteer service projects for the church were also completed by the two candidates in fulfilling requirements for the award they received Sunday.

The award ceremony was planned as a fitting observance of Boy Scout Sunday, when all Scouts were asked to attend church services in uniform. The four-part sermon included an opening talk by a former Scoutmaster, Robert Foye, on the topic "The Adult in the World of Youth."

This was followed by an appropriate message by the Rev. Rusten who was acting as supply pastor, and short statements by the two award recipients, explaining the benefits and satisfaction gained from their church work of the past year which made them eligible for the award. Fathers of both youths have a record of active Boy Scout leadership. Penhallegon being a former Detroit Scoutmaster and former Troop 25 troop chairman, and Alvin Reinhardt being present Scoutmaster of Troop 76. Scoutmaster Reinhardt also participated in Sunday's service by reading the Scripture.

Grade PTA To Feature CD Director

Elementary PTA will meet Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 8 p.m., at North school. A highlight of the meeting is to be a talk on the subject "Community Disasters," by Chelsea Civil Defense Director, Elwyn Beach. All interested people of the community are invited to attend, whether or not they have children in school.

Beach's talk was originally scheduled for Jan. 23, but that PTA meeting was called off because of the extremely cold weather and bad driving conditions. The February meeting was moved forward a week because of Ash Wednesday which falls on the regular date.

Civil Defense

Last Thursday evening Lee Satterthwaite and Ricki Curry were guests of Civil Defense Director Elwyn Beach at the Annual Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES) meeting held in the Washtenaw County Civil Defense Control Center in Ann Arbor. Approximately 80 people assembled to hear the definite part that the RACES organization plays in the Federal Communications plans for Civil Defense. Chelsea is playing an important part in this network.

Chelsea is on the air every Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the temporary Control Center located in the basement of the Municipal Building. The station call letters are K3JDM-6. Broadcasting on the frequency of 145.850 megahertz, the assistant communications officer is Lee Satterthwaite and Ricki Curry will be trained for standby duty.

The Chelsea Civil Defense Office has purchased two portable generators to be used for emergencies and disasters and they have been assigned to the Public Works department and to the Light and Power Department.

Chelsea Products Engages Detroit Agency To Handle Advertising

Methodists Plan Fellowship with Speaker from U-M

The Commission on Christian Social Concerns of the First Methodist church is making plans for a special Sunday evening fellowship meeting in the Church social center for Feb. 24, from 8 until 10 p.m. The Rev. Paul Dodson of the Protestant Student Center of the U. of M. will speak on the topic, "Christian Responsibility in a Democracy." Mrs. Ben R. Donaldson will preside.

The Commission invites everyone to attend with this statement: "We seek to build a better world. We must therefore begin with ourselves. We need better informed, more sincerely held, clearer and stronger belief in the universal soundness of Christianity and democracy. Let us each answer the question: In what do I really believe; what are my standards, my practices, my motives, and my goals?"

Khrushchev's prediction that our grandchildren will be Communists may well come true unless we know for ourselves, and share with them, the greater blessings of freedom and democracy. We must not only keep Communism out of America but replace it with something better where it now exists."

A social hour in charge of the Commission will close the meeting.

Bulldogs Lose To Improved Dexter Team

Deer Herds Presenting Real Danger

Conservation Officer Donley Boyer said yesterday that it is imperative for motorists to be on the lookout for deer, particularly in the Chelsea-Dexter-Manchester area. He said motorists should reduce speed when in this area in order to be prepared to stop at once if deer are sighted.

Not only have large numbers of deer been killed but cars have been severely damaged. Boyer says the fact that car-drivers and passengers have so far escaped injury is fortunate. There are large numbers of deer in the area and because of the continued cold weather the animals tend to gather in herds. From 50 to 60 deer have been observed in the woods along I-94 in the vicinity of Pierce Lake.

Signs have been placed along I-94 at the request of Conservation Officer Boyer warning motorists that deer may cross at that point; the signs, weighted with sandbags, have also been posted along M-52 south of Chelsea.

In spite of these precautions, however, motorists fail to slow down, Boyer said; in fact, six deer were killed by cars immediately after the signs were put up.

Old US-12 west of Chelsea, is another danger spot. Boyer said motorists should be particularly watchful nights and mornings—the time deer are most apt to be on the move.

Boyer said that 24 deer have been killed by cars in the entire area under his jurisdiction since Jan. 1 and 20 of these have been killed in the immediate Chelsea-Dexter vicinity.

Additional Area Chairmen Named For Cancer Drive

Mrs. Dudley Holmes, Chelsea Cancer chairman, announced this week that she has appointed additional area chairmen for the annual April campaign to raise funds.

They are Mrs. Irwin Young and Mrs. Leonard Eder for Sylvan township and Mrs. Charles Powers for Lima township.

Deadly Accuracy On Free Throws Was Difference

Hopes for a Washtenaw Conference basketball championship were seriously dampened last Friday evening when the Dreadnaughts of Dexter clipped our Bulldogs, 67-63.

With the return of Senior Mike Webb to the lineup Dexter has considerably strengthened their attack and are currently riding a five-game winning streak. Even though Chelsea outscored Dexter 48-42, from the floor, it was free throws that made the difference, as Dexter hit on 25 of 41 attempts while Chelsea scored on 15 of 28.

Sixteen of Dexter's free throw conversions came in the fourth period. The Bulldogs jumped into a 14-22 first-quarter lead, and extended it to 34-28 by half time. However, in the third quarter, the Dreadnaughts came back to take a 45-44 lead which they never relinquished.

In the fourth period Chelsea hit on six field goal attempts to only three by Dexter, but the 16 points from the charity line for the Dreadnaughts were more than enough to hand them their 67-63 victory.

With 20 points to his credit already, Bob Klemenschnider fouled out midway in the third period, which allowed Chelsea's offensive attack considerably. Jim Cameron also fouled out in the third period after turning in a fine overall game plus scoring six points. Curt Farley hit for 16 points plus being the game's leading rebounder with 21. Don Joseph scored 12 points and had 10 rebounds in a fine over-all effort. Other Chelsea players, who scored were Jeff Flintoff with four points, Dud Holmes and Carl Walker with two points each, and Don Wilson with one point. Mike Webb and Ron Mull each had 17 for Dexter while Doug Dunham had 16.

The Dexter victory leaves both Chelsea and Dexter with two conference losses and the only hope for either team to share in the championship pie is for both teams to defeat U. High when they meet for their second round games.

U. High will come to Chelsea next Tuesday for what promises to be a real tough contest with lots of excitement, and then (Continued on page three)

CUB SCOUT BANQUET—Present for the Cub Scout Blue and Gold father-son banquet of Cub Pack 125 at Chelsea High school cafeteria Thursday evening were, from left, Harold Baker, Neighborhood Boy Scout Commissioner; Cubmaster Malcolm Novess; Dan Foylik, institutional representative from the sponsoring Chelsea Jaycees; Robert Foye, chairman of Cub Scout Pack Committee and assistant District IV commissioner; and the Rev. Philip Rusten, who presented the evening's program. This was the first time in Chelsea for a father-son Blue and Gold banquet—in former years the Blue and Gold observance of Boy Scout Week was a family affair. The father-son program was declared "a wonderful success." Also a guest at the banquet, although he does not appear in the photo, was Ralph Frisch, Scoutmaster of Troop 25.

Cub Scouts, Fathers Join in Annual Blue-Gold Dinner

A total of 138 men and boys attended the Cub Scouts Blue and Gold dinner at the Chelsea High school cafeteria Thursday evening, the affair being a Cub Scout and Dad banquet. This was the first time the observance was for fathers and their Cub Scout sons only. It was formerly a family dinner. Acting as masters of ceremony were Cubmaster Malcolm Novess and Assistant Boy Scout District Commissioner Robert Foye. Seated at the speakers' table, also were the Rev. S. D. Kinde who gave the invocation, the Rev. Paul M. Schanke, Scoutmaster, Ralph Frisch of Troop 25, Scoutmaster Alvin Reinhardt of Troop 76, Neighborhood Commissioner Harold Baker, and the Rev. Philip Rusten, the principal speaker. The pot-luck dinner was served with the assistance of Girl Scouts of Troop 48 and members of the Chelsea Jaycees Auxiliary. Each den had been responsible for its own table decorations. Cubmaster Novess expressed thanks to merchants and food service firms as well as individuals and organizations for their contributions which helped make the affair a success. Mothers of Cub Scouts were also commended for their work on the committees in charge of arrangements. The Rev. Rusten, in his talk on the topic, "Scouting for Men and Boys," said Scouting "makes men out of boys and boys out of men." He said fathers and sons got their biggest thrill from working and playing together as they do in Scouting activities. An appeal was made for additional fathers willing to give one night a month to work on the Pack Committee which plans the Cub Scout events. Chelsea Cub Scouts are affiliated with Pack No. 125.

Paul Schaible, Sr., Observes 60 Years in Chelsea Banking

Paul G. Schaible, Sr., was honored last night (Wednesday) at a dinner at the Town Club in Ann Arbor to mark the 60th anniversary of his affiliation with banking institutions of Chelsea. Present for the occasion were officers and employees of the bank and their wives and husbands.

While not unique in banking circles, the senior Schaible's 60-year career is one of very few recorded in Michigan, according to banking publications. Schaible's connection with Chelsea banks began Feb. 1, 1903, when he was employed by the former Chelsea Savings Bank as a bookkeeper and assistant cashier. In 1908 he was one of the organizers of the Farmers and Merchants Bank which opened for business on June 1 of that year. He served as cashier of that bank until 1921 when he became its president, succeeding John Waitroun who had served in that capacity until his death. Schaible continued as president until the Farmers & Merchants Bank and the Kempt Commercial Bank merged in 1934.

Since then the bank has been known as Chelsea State Bank. Schaible serving as is president until a year ago when he was named chairman of the board of directors. Paul E. Mann who had been executive vice-president and cashier of the bank since February, 1956, was named president of the bank at the annual meeting on Jan. 14, 1960.

Schaible retains active membership in the Kiwanis club, the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce and St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church. He and his wife make their home at 170 Orchard St.

PAUL G. SCHAIUBLE, SR. Their family includes their son, two sons and a daughter, live at Paul, Jr., who has been with the Chelsea State Bank since February, 1956; has served as cashier since 1958 and as a member of the board of directors the past year. He and his wife and their

Heart Association Reminds Us To Slow Down and Live Longer

This is the time of year when the annual campaign of the American Heart Association reminds us that heart disease is the biggest killer stalking us today.

The experts and scientists marvel at the toughness of the human heart but in the United States we have found a way to break down even such a tough organ as the heart. In the fast pace of modern living the heart often succumbs to excessive strain. The United States, as a country, has the dubious distinction of having developed the highest incidence of heart attack and heart failure of any nation in the world.

This high rate of affliction is a reflection of the pace of American life. It should serve as a warning for us to alter and modify that pace—but it doesn't. The pace just seems to get faster and tougher, year after year.

Probably the most effective thing we can do, the experts tell us, is to slow down and give our heart a break. Slower living, less tension and better eating habits might save your life—and it should be worth saving, especially to you.

What Have You Done To Help Make Your Community A Better Place?

How often have we sat in a banquet hall and listened to a speaker, with a full head of steam, painting rosy dreams and seeing visions of a greater Chelsea.

Quite often, to be sure, we have all heard this sort of speech.

After it is over, however, how many of us acted upon the suggestions, meeting together and planning the building of a greater community?

A greater, more prosperous community can be achieved by us if we work together in the hope that future generations will enjoy this town and if we are determined to crown our efforts with success. We want our community to be a thriving, progressive and glorious place in which to live, and we owe much to those who have gone before us who have lived here.

It must be remembered that we have accepted not only what the former citizens of our community have left us, but all the gifts of all the men who ever lived, and this is a considerable inheritance—one for which we have paid nothing.

We believe every citizen should accept in his heart this debt, and should find a way to contribute something to his community and to his country.

A new novel is described by the critics as being sincere, refreshing and clean. The author is in despair because it isn't selling well at all.

An English scientist says every man is worth $3,000 to his country at the time of his birth. We hope the tax collectors in this country don't find this out.

That great friend of male Americans—the one who discovered that cigar ashes are good for the living room rug—is out with another weighty discovery. He finds that a heavy blanket of ice and snow helps protect the cement in the sidewalk.

High heels were probably invented by some woman who had been kissed on the forehead.

The lie detector is by no means infallible, says an authority. Should the subject be married, one might try checking the device with the wife.

As for us, we don't envy the rich. We just look at them and wonder how they ever got that way.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Who Gets Applause

The vicious circle of political credit-taking is an interesting phenomena to watch.

A recent example of a dispute over pride of accomplishment came when Gov. George Romney presented his budget message to the legislature. He said some $34.6 million surplus would result at the end of the current fiscal year. Some $33 million of this, he proposed, should be applied to the state's current deficit.

Gov. John B. Swainson made a similar pronouncement a few weeks before the end of his two-year term. Citing savings accomplished under his administration, Swainson estimated the surplus at $35 million.

The Democrats, now without the attractive public forum automatically provided to the party which holds the executive office, would very much like to take credit for reducing the deficit.

Ever since 1959, when the fiscal crisis of a "payless-payday" brought national attention to Michigan's problems, the Democrats were largely given the blame for creating the deficit. Their voices were hardly heard when they attempted to shift the blame to the Republican-controlled legislature.

There is no doubt that the surplus to be counted on July 1 will be a remainder from the Swainson administration, since his budget runs through the end of the current fiscal year.

The likelihood of his party getting credit for creating the surplus is very small, however.

Legislative records will show that the surplus is largely the result of a $77 million "nuisance tax" package passed during 1962. The same record will show Democrats in the legislature fought the tax down to the wire and in the end provided only the bare minimum of votes necessary to pass the package through both houses.

The same record will show that Swainson voiced publicly his reluctance in letting the tax bills become law without his signature. It is rare when a Governor attempts to take credit for a law which on passage he did not approve by signing it into effect.

Take A Chance
 Gambling, prohibited by law, is practiced in one particular way almost daily in Michigan, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

"If you sit in a parked car with the motor running, you're taking a gamble with death," he said. At least a dozen young people, and at least 46 persons of all ages, have been killed by carbon monoxide poisoning in the early part of this winter, said Dr. Heustis.

The lack of wisdom of sitting in a parked car with the motor running is never realized until it's too late, because there is no fool-proof method of detecting the silent, deadly carbon monoxide.

The victims are usually overcome rather suddenly without warning, because the rapid buildup of carbon monoxide causes the occupants of the vehicle to be overcome without experiencing the headache, nausea and smarting eyes which are common symptoms of exposure to the fumes.

Because of the high incidence of carbon monoxide deaths among young couples in parked cars, Heustis has issued a special request for parents to impress upon their children the danger of such a practice.

"The best way to prevent accidental carbon monoxide exposure in a car is simply never to sit in one with the motor running and all the windows closed," said Heustis.

Brag Week
 If you want a job well done, seek an expert at it. This is exactly what the Michigan Week of Officials have done, in naming a chairman for Hospitality Day during the May observance.

Win Schuler of Marshall, well known for his four restaurants, plays host to thousands of visitors to the state every day.

As head of the planning for Hospitality Day during Michigan's annual "brag week," Schuler is urging every community to carry on activities to demonstrate its friendliness to visitors.

As in previous years, Schuler hopes communities will provide free meals, entertainment, gifts and parking, or just official greetings to visitors coming into Michigan from other states.

His recipe calls for presenting Michigan as "America's Hospitalityland." The ingredients are a friendly greeting and a gracious invitation to visit, mixed with a bowl of friendship and good fellowship.

"A happy and friendly place to live, a place to be proud of; these are the assets we own and must display if we are to grow and prosper to the fullest fruition," says Schuler.

If these are the ingredients which have given Schuler the success he enjoys in his commercial enterprises, it is very likely that properly applied they could also Caucuses Monday evening failed to name any candidates on either the Independent or People's party tickets.

In the 24 Years Ago column (Feb. 25, 1905): Jacob Rummel of Waterloo has sawed nearly 100,000 feet of lumber (pine and hemlock) for farmers who will be using it for new buildings they will erect this summer. Sawing the lumber from their own trees saves the farmers approximately $15,000.

In the 34 Years Ago column (Feb. 21, 1895): The articles of association of the firm of W. P. Schenk & Co. were drawn up this week. The company consists of W. P. Schenk, W. F. Riemenschneider, John W. Schenk, Alton Fletcher and J. H. Cutting.

Information Available On New Constitution

Mrs. Paul Mann and Mrs. Dudley Holmes are affiliated with the Washtenaw County Co-ordinating Committee for the New Constitution and are prepared to help clubs, groups and organizations of the Chelsea area who wish to avail themselves of an opportunity to learn more about the proposed constitution.

Of special interest is a sound track film obtainable from the U. of M. audio-visual center in the Frisze Building, Ann Arbor, free of charge. The film runs for 28 minutes.

The committee also maintains a speakers' bureau and can provide able speakers for short or long talks; reading information is also available.

Study clubs and organizations of the community are being contacted by Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Mann with the offer of providing the films, speakers or reading matter explaining the proposed state constitution.

The Co-ordinating Committee for the Constitution is non-partisan; it is supported by the League of Women Voters of Ann Arbor.

Bird Feeding Is Interesting But Unnecessary

Feeding birds in winter can be an interesting pastime on a snowy Michigan landscape. Wildlife specialists at Michigan State University point out that most birds really don't need the feed, since they can take care of themselves.

"Attracting birds to your home is really the only reason for feeding," says Charles Shick of MSU's fisheries and wildlife department. Shick notes that winter birds of the state fit into three general categories; insect eaters, seed eaters and ground feeders.

The insect eaters include the chickadee, woodpecker and nuthatch. They are attracted by suet and table scraps. A heavy mesh-type onion bag or small wire basket tied to a tree trunk or post makes a good container.

The goldfinch, tree sparrow, junco and grosbeak prefer seeds for their snacks. They like weed seeds, grains such as oats or wheat, sunflower seeds, bread crumbs and several kinds of berries. Feed can usually be placed in a hopper-type feeder.

The pheasant and quail are the major ground feeders. Corn is their main staple and they like to follow up harvested fields. When there is snow cover and grain is scarce, they will eat many kinds of seeds, grain or berries. Feed for such birds should be placed on the ground, under brush or cover swept clear of snow.

For the serious bird watcher, a booklet, "Attracting Birds," has a number of suggestions on bird feeding. It's available for 15 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocket-book. There are differences.

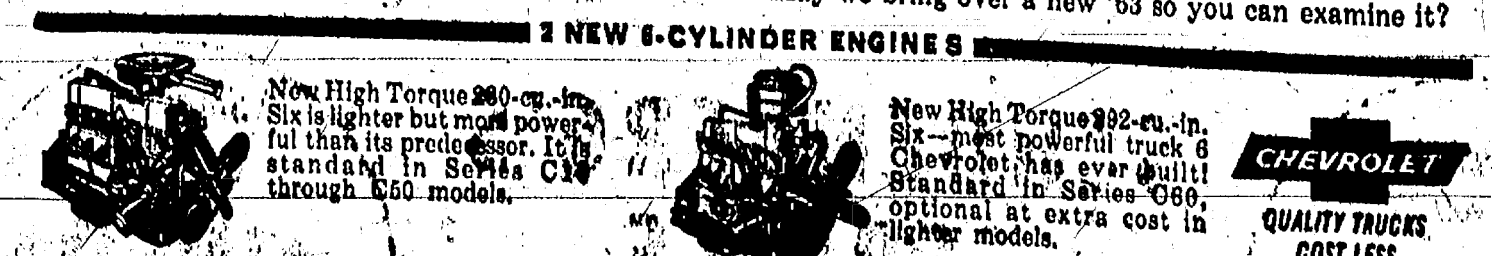

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, latching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging.

The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Most of the time the sessions at the country store goes along as smooth as frog hair, but Saturday night they was a difference of opinion at the meeting. Everthing was in good humor and nobody was mad, but some of the fellers was taking sides, Democrat and Republican.

Ed Doylettle come in all riled up on account of him having to pay 5 cent for a stamp to get his income tax report mailed. Ed don't buy but one stamp a year and that's when he has to get his annual masterpiece off to the Internal Revenue Department.

In the first place, allowed Ed, he was 100 percent unimpressed when the Democrats come up with this idea back under Truman of making farmers mail off their report in February ahead of everybody else. In the second place, claimed Ed—who has always voted the straight Republican ticket—this 5-cent stamp is a good example of what the Democrats is doing to this country.

Furthermore, announced Ed, Democrats is the champions and inventors of high taxes and the over-balanced budget. He told the fellers that Kennedy was the best President this country has ever had, since Eisenhower, and that he has done more for cheap money than anybody since Julian Corbett.

And Ed allowed that up to Kennedy, politicians was content just to get their feet in the public trough, but now they has took to laying down longways in the ting.

Clem Webster, who started voting Democrat back under Woodrow Wilson, said he would have to take issue with Ed on a number of items.

First off, said Clem, he was of the opinion that Ed was sending that chicken scratching of his to the wrong place. He ought to mail it to the Poultry Department, and let the Department of Agriculture check it. In the second place, Clem claimed, Ed ain't never filed a report that didn't show a net loss on the year and it would be hard for Ed to tell if taxes was high or low or the budget over-balanced or under-balanced.

In the third place, argued Clem, like enlarged that public trough so big that a politician had to lay in it longways to keep from falling out. And furthermore, Clem said Ed couldn't saved that one cent on his annual stamp by mailing the price went up on January 7. He accused Ed of being careless in the matter of handling his annual stamp situation.

Personal, Mister Editor, I didn't get in the argument on account of not voting for 50 year that the best political party, Democrat or Republican, was always the one out of office.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

MOST IMPORTANT DECISION OF GENERATION:

Michigan's Proposed New Constitution

NOTE: The League of Women Voters of Michigan, a non-partisan organization, has studied the new constitution and believes it should be adopted. Following articles have been prepared to help the public understand the difference between the new and old constitutions.

The Judiciary

The new constitution recognizes the concept of a unified court system. It divides the courts into three levels: supreme court, circuit court, and district court.

The supreme court is given general superintending control over all courts, and will appoint and remove judges. The circuit court is given the responsibility of hearing appeals and for procedures in appeals and for procedures in appeals and for procedures in appeals.

court of some of its burden, and will be even more essential in view of the new provision which guarantees one appeal in criminal as well as civil cases. The new court is to consist of nine judges elected from districts as nearly equal in population as possible. Judges will serve six-year, overlapping terms, and may sit in "divisions" of at least three judges each. The legislature may adjust the number of judges and the districts.

Circuit courts will show little change. In multi-judge districts, terms are to be overlapping, to simplify matters for the voter. In the probate court, terms are increased from four to six years, and are to be overlapping in multi-judge districts. In sparsely populated areas, probate court districts of more than one county may be established, or the probate court may be combined with the local courts. Another provision would permit the legislature to establish family courts (courts set up to handle all the legal problems relating to the family, including divorce, delinquency and dependency).

Justices of the peace and circuit court commissioners are to be replaced, within five years, by local courts to be established by the legislature. These courts could vary to meet differing local needs. Effective immediately upon adoption of the constitution, justices of the peace as well as other judges must be paid salaries. The much-criticized fee system is abolished.

All judges of courts of record (probate and higher) must be lawyers, and must be under 70 years of age when they take office. At present, probate judges are not required to be lawyers. However, any incumbent probate judge would be eligible for re-election. The method of selecting judges is to be completely elective: the governor's power to appoint judges to fill vacancies is removed. (The supreme court may fill vacancies temporarily by appointing retired judges, who would not be eligible to run for election to the post.) All judges will be elected in non-partisan elections. The legislature, as now, will determine how supreme court justices are to be nominated; other judicial candidates will, as now, be nominated in non-partisan primaries.

One new feature should serve to decrease political pressure on the judiciary. Incumbent judges will be able to run for re-election by filing a declaration of intent. At present, supreme court incumbents must be renominated by state party conventions, and other judicial incumbents must circulate petitions for renomination. Another new provision gives constitutional status to existing laws which permit judicial review of administrative agency rulings. This affords constitutional protection from possible capricious and arbitrary decisions of agencies in matters of individual rights and liberties.

Trinkle Named to Office in MMPA Local

Charles Trinkle of 9331 Trinkle Rd., was elected vice-president of the Saline local of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association. He and other officers were elected Thursday night at the local's annual banquet in Saline High school.

James Hayes of Saline was named president; and Albert Gall of Saline, secretary-treasurer.

Delegates named to attend the Association's meetings during the year are Elwin Marlon, Ernest Girbach, Paul Herter and Carl Seeger.

CATTLE-BREEDERS ELECT—Michigan purebred dairy cattle breeders elected officers at their annual meetings during Farmers' Week on the Michigan State University campus. Officers for 1963 of the Michigan Holstein-Friesian Cat-

Official Calfhood Vaccination Records Show Decline in Washtenaw County

Washtenaw dairy farmers forgetting to vaccinate their calves? Official records of Michigan Department of Agriculture indicate the county's farmers vaccinated 178,123 calves in 1962, down from 196,000 in 1961. Records also show Washtenaw county has no herds on quarantine for brucellosis. This is proof that the disease has been brought under control, however, this is no reason for relaxing on the vaccination program.

Don Johnson, county extension director, warns that a buildup of non-vaccinated animals will create a situation conducive to a big outbreak of the disease in the future. The only logical and, by far, the most economical control of the disease is by vaccination.

Michigan law includes the following requirements dealing with the importation of cattle into Michigan. "After Jan. 1, 1963, all female dairy and breeding cattle over eight months of age shall have been officially calfhood vaccinated for brucellosis between the ages of four months through eight months."

This means that non-vaccinated female cattle are no longer eligible for entry into Michigan for dairy or breeding purposes.

The law also includes the following requirements for sale or movement of cattle in Michigan. "All female cattle born after Jan. 1, 1963 sold or otherwise disposed of or moved to associate

Sheriff's Dept. Report for January Lists 128 Arrests

In the monthly report of the Sheriff's Department released by Sheriff George A. Petersen it was noted that county officers made a total of 128 arrests during January while answering and processing 712 complaints in the 31-day period.

A total of 104 traffic violations were issued by deputies who investigated 149 traffic accidents and drove department cars a total of 73,312 miles during January. The accidents were listed as 48 involving personal injury and 105 property damage. There were no traffic fatalities.

The department's two dog wardens picked up 114 stray dogs last month, in answering 181 complaints.

The driver's license section of the Sheriff's Department in the County Jail issued 1,747 licenses and collected fees amounting to $4,602.

The licenses included 34 duplicates, 1,306 renewals, 147 originals and 260 chauffeur renewals.

Inmates in the County Jail were served a total of 5,010 meals in January, the reports states in conclusion.

Basketball Loss... (Continued from page one) must play Dexter at U. High on Friday.

The Bulldogs played at Saline last night, and will go to Pinckney tomorrow night.

Chelsea's JV's defeated the Dexter Junior Varsity for the second time in as many meetings, this time by a sound 69-52 margin.

Rep. G. Meader Will Be in Area For Consultation

Representative George Meader will meet with the Board of Directors and the State and National Affairs Committee of the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon at McKenny Hall at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti to discuss legislative prospects of the 88th Congress, and will remain in his Congressional District for the balance of the week.

Thursday evening, Meader will introduce the principal speaker, the Honorable Robert P. Griffin of Michigan's 9th District, at the Lincoln Day Banquet in Jackson.

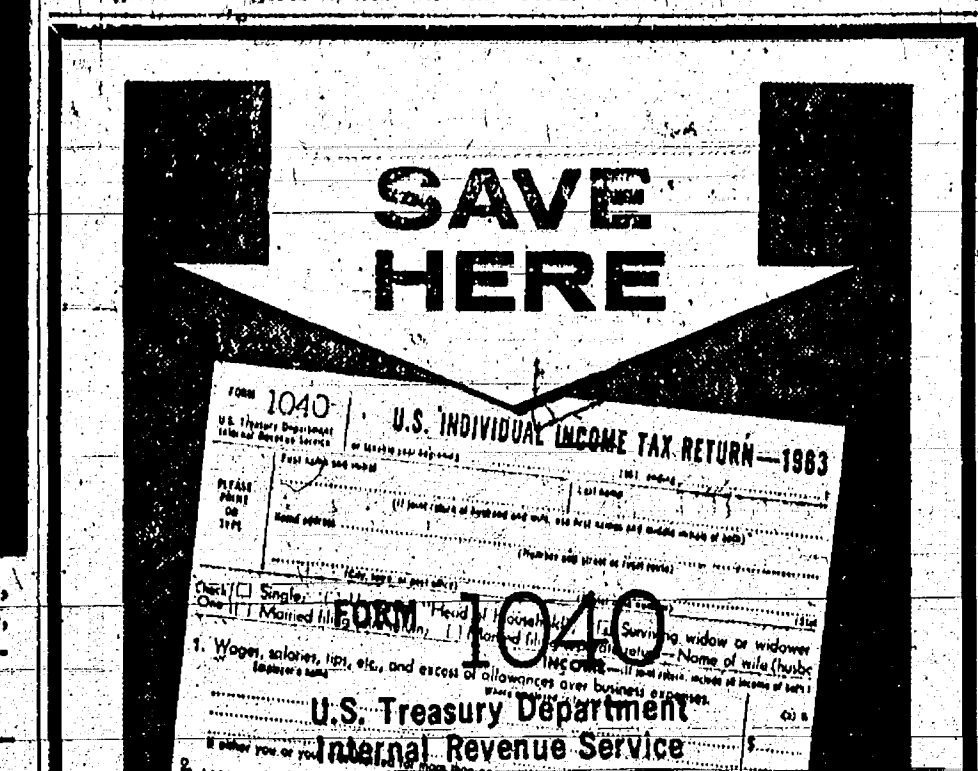

On Friday and Saturday will attend the State Republican Convention in Grand Rapids.

While here Congressman Meader will be glad to consult with any constituents who may wish to see him personally and may be reached through his district office, 327 E. Liberty St., Ann Arbor.

Announcing... DrugTax

A SERVICE TO TAXPAYERS

Ever wish, at income tax time, that you had a complete record of every cent you spent for drugs and drug products throughout the year—and how much of it was legally deductible?

That kind of a record could save you money. And that kind of a record can now be yours, every year, absolutely free of charge.

This new service is called DrugTax. We are making it available to all of our customers immediately, free of charge, as another way of saying "thank you" for their patronage.

You would be surprised at the number of drug and medical supplies that can be of a deductible nature—items such as antiseptics, aspirin, cough and cold preparations, and hundreds of others.

Indeed, the American taxpayer has been losing millions of dollars annually because he hasn't been aware of how many drug items are legally deductible.

But you must be able to offer proof of purchase in order to claim such items in preparing your federal income tax return. And when you buy from us, you get that proof—in the form of an annual record, mailed in February.

Come in today and let us tell you more about DrugTax. And from now on, buy all of your drug and medical supplies from the store that gives you the free DrugTax record.

The explanations came from the physicians; Dr. Clapper, a professor, teaches cardiology at the College of Medicine; Wayne State University, while Dr. Stow is chief of staff, St. Lawrence Hospital, Lansing. "Based on our experience in the initial allocation this second allocation should generate an additional 280,000 man-months of direct useful work," said Hodges.

20,724 Notary Commissions Processed in 1962

In 1962 the Michigan Department of State processed 20,724 notary commissions, about 500 more than in 1961.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, there are more than 80,000 notaries. The commissions they receive run for four years and do not expire automatically if there is a change in the executive office.

Hare pointed out that the law assigns specific responsibilities to the secretary of state and others to the executive office.

"These gubernatorial appointments," Hare said, "are every bit as important to the recipient as are appointments to state commissions or boards. After the notary document is signed by the Governor, the Secretary of State must countersign, thereby validating the Governor's signature."

Hare said that the staff gets these documents in the mail daily, usually "within one to two hours after they are received from the executive office."

The following Chelsea area residents were appointed or reappointed as notaries public during the final quarter of 1962: Dorothy A. Fisher, Paul E. Maynard, Evangelina Mohrlock, Elizabeth E. Tison, and Norman O. Wenk.

High School Bands Will Send Delegates to 'All-Star' Event

Selected high school musicians from 80 Michigan high school bands will make up two 107-piece bands which will meet at Forest Hills High school, Grand Rapids, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 23-24. This second annual event is organized and sponsored by the Lansing Conservatory of Music, Inc., with Janice Markle, Forest Hills band director, this year's local chairman. The Forest Hills Music Association will house and handle the feeding of these young musicians.

The two bands will be heard in a concert on Sunday, Feb. 24, at 4 p.m., in the Forest Hills High School gymnasium, climaxing two days of rehearsals. Two nationally known directors, Dr. William D. Revell, University of Michigan, and Mark H. Hindsley, University of Illinois, will be their conductors. The Sunday concert is open free to the public. All rehearsals and clinics during the two days are open to all school musicians and their directors.

A special highlight of the concert will be the performances of three outstanding virtuosos, French Horn soloist, Philip Parkes, master horn teacher at the University of Indiana, played principal horn with the Kansas City Philharmonic under Karl Krueger, Boston Symphony with Koussevitzky, Cleveland Orchestra with Rodzinski and Szell, and the Chicago Symphony under Stock, Rodzinski, Kubalik, and Reiner. Parkes is author of a recently published book, "The Art of French Horn Playing."

Flute soloist, Walfrid Kujala, has been a member of the Chicago Symphony since 1954 and with them was soloist under Fritz Reiner in Vividoli A. Minor Picolet Concert. Kujala is on the faculty of Northwestern School of Music and Sherwood Music School. He formerly was a member of the Rochester Civic and Philharmonic Orchestra under Erick Leinsdorf and was a faculty member of the Eastman School of Music. Kujala has written articles for "Woodwind Magazine" and "Flute Forum."

Drum soloist, Frank Arsenault is regarded as one of the nation's leading rudimental drum soloists, instructors and clinicians. A member of the Ludwig Drum educational staff, Arsenault travels throughout the United States and Canada demonstrating techniques of the rudimental art. His recording of the 20 Standard American Rudiments has become a standard guide for the teaching of the rudimental system of drumming in the school music program.

Among the area bands which will be represented, in addition to Chelsea, are Stockbridge, Dexter, and Fowlerville.

GUARD RECRUITING
As a possible reaction from recent statements by Secretary of Defense McNamara, the Army National Guard will open an aggressive recruiting drive during the first of the year.

Informed sources said they are confident the guard can reach the goal of 400,000 men. It now is about 25,000 short of that. McNamara earlier this year sought to trim Army guard and reserve strength by 58,000 men.

Michigan Firm Enters Foreign Aid Venture

East Lansing—The successful venture of a Michigan company into "private" foreign aid is reported in the latest issue of the Michigan Economic Record, a publication of Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.
The company is Whirlpool Corp., which has undertaken joint sponsorship of a technical institute in Medellin, Colombia. The institute is closely patterned after the Whirlpool Foundation Technical Institute in Benton Harbor.
Twenty-two Colombian manufacturers pay half the cost of the institute and Whirlpool pays the other half.
San Quentin, Calif. — It is no longer a prison for 85-year-old Tony di Tardo, but rather a home. Tardo has been serving a sentence for murder of his wife since 1920. For years he has refused to accept parole and for the eighth time he refused freedom when a parole was offered. State law provides a prisoner cannot be released against his will.
"This place has given me a good life," the aged convict said, "I am too old to go out into the world and start anew."

Returning Michigan IFYE Delegate Finds Japanese Women Gaining Rights

Mon-no-longer-walks behind dad when a Japanese girl still tends to be shy. They showed great surprise when Beverly "spoke her mind" on topics like world affairs. But they really let their hair down and had fun on youth events.

"The oldest son is expected to eventually take over the typical Japanese family firm," Beverly found. "He learns of that obligation while very young, and more often than not, he abides by it. Sometimes, however, he disregards tradition and insists on a non-farm career. This can cause friction in the family circle unless a younger son wants to take over."

"The people I met did not show their emotions readily, especially their unhappiness," Beverly reports. "The Japanese are famous for their ability to bounce back from disaster without despair."

For example, the IFYE's host families generally showed little emotion about World War II, despite horrible damage and loss of loved ones. They also recover from frequent typhoons with amazing speed. Japan has done wonders industrially and agriculturally since the war. The basic philosophy in farming is to make every spot and cranny of land productive.

Actually, a three-to-four-acre farm is considered pretty large in Japan. Five of the six farms that hosted Beverly had only that much land. Rice was the principle product on three of them, milk on two. The sixth farm included 15 acres owned co-operatively by five families. Such ventures are becoming more common because they allow greater efficiency and mechanization.

Time was when parents and professional matchmakers "arranged" most marriages. Now the young people are generally on their own. Teen-age boys and girls still mix very little in rural areas. Interest in the opposite sex takes a sharp upturn when young people reach the so-called "marriage age"—25-26 for boys and 20-22 for girls. Relatives and friends then en-

The Taxation of Capital Gains

Any investment that one makes in time, presumably, either in the form of cash or in the form of securities, is subject to the possibility of a rise or fall in value. This rise or fall is known as capital gain or loss. When the value of the investment rises, the gain is realized. When the value falls, the loss is realized. For the purpose of taxation, capital gains and losses are treated differently. Capital gains are taxed at a lower rate than ordinary income, while capital losses are deducted from ordinary income.

Some states make no distinction between capital gains and other income. But the federal government does make a distinction, and in his new tax program President Kennedy proposes to modify this in important particulars. For many years the federal income tax law has provided that capital gains would not be taxed at more than 25 percent, regardless of what a taxpayer might have to pay on his other income. This has been accomplished by requiring that only 50 percent of any capital gains be added to other income for tax purposes. If the maximum rate a person was paying was under 25 percent, then he paid the lower rate on his capital gains. If the maximum rate was above 25 percent, then the taxpayer still paid only 25 percent on his capital gains.

Two other points are important. For profit or loss to be classified as a capital gain or loss, the asset must be held a minimum of six months. Secondly, capital gains can be offset only against capital losses, except a limited carry-over for five years may be deducted from other income. President Kennedy recommends that all these features be changed. The holding period, he says, should be increased from six months to one year. His reason for this is that with the present holding period it is too easy for investors to shift regular investment profits into capital gains. Instead of taking 50 percent of such gains or losses, the President suggests that only 30 percent be taken. If his proposed tax reductions are enacted, the rates applicable to capital gains will be from 4.2 to 19.5 percent. Finally, the President says that the present five-year limitation on carry-over of capital losses frequently causes severe hardship.

Capital gains are not income in the sense that wages, salaries, interest, dividends, and profits are income. It is highly questionable, therefore, whether capital gains should be taxed at all. Further, lengthening the holding period from six to twelve months accomplishes nothing for all practical purposes. One of the strongest and most legitimate complaints against the taxation of capital gains has been that it tended to make investments less fluid—tended to freeze an owner into particular stocks or bonds. The President apparently believes that by doubling the holding period this freezing will be ended. It can have no such effect.

A prime requisite for maximum, healthy growth of our economic system is the ability of capital to seek places and produce products which need development. Taxes on capital gains hinder this in two ways. First, they reduce the amount of capital, secondly, they make it unprofitable for an investor to sell his holdings unless the potential rate of return from the new venture promises to more than offset the shrinkage of his funds as a result of the tax. Some years ago it was provided by law that if a person sells a home and reinvests all the proceeds in a new home within a specified time there is no tax liability. The same principle should be applied across the board. This would mean that if an investor owned stock or bonds, and for some reason decided it wise to sell, he would not be subjected to a tax on any profits. Granting he reinvested the proceeds within a year, if he did not reinvest, he would have to pay a tax. Such a system would put an end to direct taxing of capital as such, and would once again give us the fluidity for investment which is essential for the welfare of the nation.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Nineteen members and 10 guests of the Woman's Club of Chelsea were present Tuesday evening for a regular meeting and according to a report of the gathering "enjoyed" a most interesting program.

Introduced by Mrs. Alma Meservy of the program committee, Mrs. George Frisinger spoke about the children's summer theatre workshop held each year at the Frisinger farm known as Home-stead Acres. Mrs. Frisinger explained it is a new type of day camp affording creative dramatics to children 9 to 17 years old.

Children receive instruction in the history and tradition of the theatre, take hikes in the woods and participate in other activities typical of summer fun on the farm.

In this way, educational objectives are achieved through a recreational program, it was explained.

Mrs. Frisinger concluded her talk with colored slides showing some of the activities at the farm the past summer.

Mrs. Louis Rump, vice-president of the club, presided at the business session when Mrs. Meservy announced that the next meeting will be held at Merkel's Store at 8 p.m. on Feb. 26, and that Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer will be in charge of the program.

Hostesses who served refreshments at Tuesday's meeting were Mrs. Paul Schable, Sr. and Miss Nina Belle Wurster.

★ Savannah Is Ready To Go . . .

THE NS SAVANNAH, first atomic-powered cargo-passenger ship, is ready for sea trials, reports the Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration. The nuclear reactor of the sleek 595-foot vessel has been loaded with 17,000 pounds of uranium fuel, enough to power the ship for 3½ years. Extraordinary precautions will be taken to insure safe operation before this unique ship goes into service. First trials will take place at Camden, N. J., where the keel was laid May 22, 1958. Then the ship goes to Yorktown, Va., for further wringing out. Finally a New York maritime firm will operate the Savannah for the government, on an 18-month trial period. During this time the ship will carry 10,000 tons of cargo and about 80 passengers on visits to major U. S. and foreign ports. . . . MORE THAN 4,000 subcontractors and suppliers collaborated on the construction of the Mercury spacecraft.

PARKING PRIVILEGES for physically handicapped workers are now being granted by law. The National Society for Crippled Children and Adults estimates that there are 4,000,000 orthopedically handicapped persons in the U. A Chicago chemist, Dr. Rolf Ehrmann of Chemetron, spends hours of his spare time encouraging the spread of such legislation; he reports that seven states now give workers on medical certification, the right to obtain special windshield stickers or plates . . . Social Security Number Must Be On Tax Return

The Internal Revenue Service today issued a reminder to all taxpayers that their social security numbers must be entered on their 1962 federal income tax returns, forms 1040 or 1040-A, when filing this year. . . . R. I. Nixon, District Director of Internal Revenue, stated that beginning with 1962 returns, a taxpayer's social security number is also his Taxpayer Identification Number which will be used in processing his return.

The Director further stated that taxpayers who do not yet have a social security number should obtain an application form SS-5 from their local post office, or nearest Social Security Office or Internal Revenue Service Office and immediately apply for a number.

In addition, the Director commented that on joint returns, where both husband and wife had income, both social security numbers must be entered.

It was also pointed out that in some instances an individual who has more than one employer will have more than the maximum $160 of social security taxes withheld from his pay. This excess may be used as a credit against your income tax.

Farnum said that this is a routine audit which department is required by law to conduct annually in each county. County audits are conducted to ascertain if the accounting systems and records conform to and are consistent with proper governmental accounting standards; if there has been any irregularity in the receipt, expenditure or disposition of any monies received or appropriated, or if such funds have been disbursed and used for any purpose other than that provided by law.

The last State conducted audit of Washtenaw county was for the calendar year ended Dec. 31, 1960.

Carbon Monoxide Killing Many Sitting in Parked Cars

Lansing—“If you sit in a parked car with the motor running, you're taking a gamble with death,” warned State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

Alarmed at the increasing number of young couples found dead or overcome by carbon monoxide in parked cars, Dr. Heustis urged parents to admonish their children not to sit in parked cars with the motor running.

“There are a number of reasons why this is unwise,” the commissioner said. “But the primary reason right now is the possibility of being killed or overcome by carbon monoxide fumes leaking into the car.”

With the exception of scientific equipment, there is no foot-proof method of detecting the presence of this silent killer, which is completely odorless and colorless. In the confined area of an automobile, there is a rapid buildup of carbon monoxide which can overwhelm the occupants without the common symptoms of carbon monoxide exposure—headache, nausea, “smarting” eyes. As a result, the victims are usually overcome rather suddenly without warning.

“The best way to prevent accidenal carbon monoxide exposure in a car is simply never to sit in one with the motor running and the windows closed,” Dr. Heustis said.

The health department doesn't have a complete record of all incidents, but based on newspaper clippings, at least a dozen young people are known to have died in this manner during the past two months.

With two or three more months the windows closed,” Dr. Heustis is afraid that this number will be more than doubled before the winter is over.

Carbon monoxide deaths are not confined to young people in parked automobiles, however. At least 45 people have been killed by carbon monoxide so far this winter, and more than 100 others overcome. In addition to parked cars, sources of carbon monoxide have been faulty furnaces and chimneys, charcoal heaters, kerosene stoves, defective hot water heaters, malfunctioning gas refrigerators, and faulty ventilating systems.
