Additional Parking Area Being Sought

Paul G. Schable, Jr., newly-named president of the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce, presided at the April dinner meeting held Tuesday evening in the dining room of the Congregational church.

During the business session the group went on record with approval of a motion to work with the Village Council in promoting payment for the Park street parking lot.

A committee appointed to work on this project includes Robert Foster, Luther Kusterer, J. V. Burg II, and John Perry.

President Schable also appointed Charles Lancaster as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce retail business promotion committee which includes W. J. Howes, Robert Foster and David Strieter.

In recognition of the anticipated necessity for additional off-street parking in the downtown area, three members were designated as a "future parking committee."

They are F. W. Merkel, Carl Schneider and Robert Barlow.

It was voted to discontinue a long-standing custom of the Chamber of Commerce—the annual Christmas Ladies' Night dinner—and plan a summer picnic meeting instead. Reason for discontinuing the Christmas party, it was explained, is the fact that during the holiday period there is usually conflict of dates with other events.

School Budget To Be Studied At Open Meet

A joint meeting of the PTO and PTA of Chelsea schools, which will be open to the public as well, is scheduled to be held at the Chelsea High school cafeteria Wednesday, April 24, at 8 p.m.

Membership of the Chelsea School District Board of Education will be present to announce the proposed budget for the district for the 1963-64 school year; copies of the budget will be circulated to those interested.

Board of Education members will also be available to answer questions on the millage vote scheduled for May 13—the request for a two-mill operational levy.

The millage election May 13 will be held from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. at the Junior High school, it is pointed out. This is in accordance with regulations pertaining to registration school districts. Chelsea became a registration district in September, 1962.

Housing Needed

Housing is desperately needed at once in the Chelsea area for people coming in daily to work on construction projects and on the natural gas pipeline being built between the storage field and the main pipeline interchange of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. south of Chelsea.

Residents who have unoccupied sleeping or apartment units which might serve to house these people are being urged to list them with Chamber of Commerce officials or otherwise publicize the fact that they are available—and to do this at once.

U-D Chorus Will Appear Here April 27

St. Mary's parish of Chelsea has arranged to present "Spring Fantasy" featuring the University of Detroit Chorus under the direction of Don Lange. The program will take place Saturday, April 27, at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the door the evening of the program.

This will be the second appearance of the chorus in Chelsea. It is being returned by popular demand having presented an excellent program last December. The chorus presents a variety of songs reaching beyond the usual repertoire of college groups with a balance of sacred, classical and popular selections, folks songs, spirituals, comedy numbers, and recent Broadway hits. The unique use of costumes, props, lights, choreography, and dancing combine to make this a most entertaining variety group, the committee in charge of arrangements explains.

A portion of the program will include numbers such as: "Cuanta Le Gusta"; "La Comparsita"; "Flight of the Bumble Bee"; "Malaguena"; "Hernando's Hildaway"; "Inch Worm"; "Adoramus Te".

Also included in the performance will be popular numbers and Broadway hits featuring several soloists, as well as delightful numbers by trios and quartets, and the well known "Singing Titans."

Corporal Troy Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis, 4988 Kalmback Rd., is expected to arrive home Friday after completing four years' service in the Marines.

Bulldog '9' Opens Home Season Today

Chelsea Bulldogs baseball team, playing at Pinckney, Tuesday, won their game by a score of 14-0 after losing at Stockbridge the day before—in a shut-out. Stockbridge had two runs to win the game.

Chelsea's win on Tuesday ended Pinckney's 27-game winning streak. Chelsea's Gary Dresch went all the way allowing only four hits but was hampered somewhat by wildness, walking four and hitting three batters.

The big hits in the win were a bases loaded triple by Phil Boham and two home runs turned in by Jack Crawford and Gary Dresch.

Gary White contributed three singles.

The box score for the Pinckney game was as follows:

Chelsea	14	10	0
Pinckney	0	4	0

In Monday's game at Stockbridge, Chelsea's Phil Boham was the losing pitcher. He went all the way. He struck out seven and walked only one batter as he turned in a nice job starting his first varsity game as a sophomore.

Chelsea's four hits were collected by Gordon Beeman, Jack Crawford, Owen Wiceman and Gary White.

Big Bob Camburn of the Stockbridge team pitched the last four innings, striking out eight. Chelsea's only scoring threat came in the sixth inning when they loaded the bases with no outs; however, Camburn bote down and struck out the side.

Box score for Monday's game:

Stockbridge	2	5	2
Chelsea	0	4	1

Chelsea plays their first home game against Saline at 4 o'clock this afternoon (Thursday).

Chelsea's record for the opening of the season is 1-1 with a 1-0 conference record.

Their coach this season is Bert Kruse.

Council Briefs

The Rev. J. R. Smucker, vicar of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, gave the opening invocation at the April 16 meeting of the Village Council. The meeting was held in the Council room of the Municipal Building. Meetings are held the first and third Tuesday evenings of the month and interested citizens may attend if they wish to do so.

Present for a discussion regarding a request for a "teen-center" in the village were three Junior High school students, Bonnie Erskine, Cindy Blacklaw and Shari Stofor. Since the request is in direct relation to the general theme of the Youth committee of the Council, the chairman of that committee, Trustee J. V. Burg II, was asked to study the request and work with the student group in studying possibilities.

Discussion was held with a group of women from the Mothers' Club of Chelsea regarding a problem of concern to parents of children in the southwest section of the village.

There was a request for clarification of a letter stating that property owners are required to (Continued on page five)

Fire Dept. Answers Two False Alarms

Fire Chief James Gaken reported a busy week for Chelsea firemen; in addition to legitimate calls, he said, a false alarm was received the department money, time and a lot of extra effort which should not have been asked of the volunteer firemen.

The false alarm was received just after firemen had returned from another call—the address given as 515 Waterloo Rd., was fictitious and the report stated a house was on fire. Chief Gaken said the areas from Werker Rd. to Waterloo Village and from Island Lake Rd. to Werker Rd. were covered by fire trucks in an effort to locate a possible fire; he himself, traveled by car beyond Waterloo Village before returning to Chelsea after deciding it was a false alarm.

Chief Gaken said a fire call cannot be ignored but having equipment out on a false alarm (Continued on page three)

EASTER EGG HUNT—This was a familiar scene at the Jaycee-sponsored Easter Egg Hunt on the grounds at Chelsea High school Saturday afternoon. A total of 1,800 eggs, colored by Jaycee Auxiliary members with the assistance of the men's organization, were hidden around the school grounds. Children in five categories, pre-school, kindergarten, first, second and third grade, each had their own area assigned to them for the hunt. This was the first time the Easter Egg Hunt was held in Chelsea sponsored by the Chelsea Jaycees under the general chairmanship of Louis "Corky" Dreyer. Ideal weather added to the effectiveness of the project which was attended by approximately 500 children of the community. The success of the community service fun project for youngsters and its enthusiastic reception gives every indication that the Jaycees will include it on the year's calendar as an annual event.

Grass Fire Danger Rated 'Very High'

Before yesterday's rain, the "burning index" or danger rating as recognized and tabulated by the Conservation Department had reached a high in this area of what the department numbered as "very high."

According to the Conservation Department's index, the rating 25-49 is considered "very high" as related to danger of fire.

When conditions are such that this rating is applied to describe them it means that fires will start from a cigarette butt or a small spark of any kind, will spread rapidly, and call for manning emergency stations in forest areas and calling on all outside help possible in case of grass and brush fires.

Conservation Officer Donkey Boyer said a rating of "45" is almost as high as it can get before conditions reach the explosive stage when fires become practically uncontrollable once they are started.

The Conservation Department's fire danger rating begins at zero when conditions are considered safe and fire from campfires or burning brush will not spread.

Numbers used to describe increasing fire danger for conservation department men are listed 0-1, safe; 2-3, very low; 4-6, low; 7-12, moderate; 13-24, high; 25-49, very high; and 50-101, extremely dangerous.

Yesterday's rain helped temporarily but unless there is an appreciable amount of additional moisture, the sun's rays will soon dry the grass and fire danger will increase accordingly, Boyer states. He advises that extreme caution be exercised to prevent starting destructive blazes, endangering property and wildlife.

Perfect Weather Helps Jaycees Initiate Project

Louis "Corky" Dreyer, general chairman of the Jaycees-sponsored Easter Egg Hunt Saturday afternoon, declared the event a gratifying success—approximately 500 area youngsters in the age group from pre-school to third grade participated in ideal weather for the occasion.

There were two winners in each of five categories, one receiving a prize for finding the most eggs and the other receiving a special artificial Easter egg valued at $2.00 in trade at any Chelsea store.

In the pre-school group Donald Harmon and Mitchell Preston tied for the largest number of eggs and Cheryl Fletcher received the $2.00 egg.

Kindergarten age winners were Tina Dreyer for the most eggs, and Annette Wengren, the fancy egg.

First grade winners were Thomas Baylan (most eggs) and an unidentified youngster (fancy egg); second grade—Mark Jacobs (most eggs) and Mary Margaret Thomson (fancy egg); and third grade—Randy Barr (most eggs) and Michael Thomson (fancy egg).

Chelsea Jaycees sponsored the event as a community service fun project for children of the area.

Plans for the sale of the Band Boosters calendar, scheduled for April 15-30 were finalized at the meeting. All Chelsea village and adjacent rural areas will be covered. It was noted that sales of the calendar and listings of birth dates and anniversaries have nearly doubled each year, attesting the popularity of the calendar.

Barbaric Sport of Boxing Must Be Eliminated or Drastically Reformed

The fatality in a recent championship boxing bout on the West Coast is merely another in a long history of such tragic events. Each time the brutal savagery of this "sport" takes a life and thousands view a man being beaten to death a murmur of indecency arises and there is talk about some move to regulate boxing rules and equipment, or to eliminate it completely.

But each time, a few weeks after the victim has been buried and the indignant talk has died down, promoters go to work again lining up another potential victim. All because for the big money to be gained at the top there are always those who will keep fighting even though they know there is a good chance that they will get their brains knocked out!

We think it long overdue that we eliminate this barbaric "sport" which has as its sole object the dishing out of enough physical punishment to eliminate the opponent. Sure, other sports offer the opportunity of being hurt, physically, and some of them probably provide more deaths than any other. But some of them may provide as many deaths over the years as boxing does. But, again, boxing is the only sport based solely on physical punishment and as such has no place in modern civilization.

If abolition of the sport cannot be brought about all at once, the very least that could and must be done is to require protective head gear, and larger, softer gloves should be used.

It makes no real difference whether the sports lover sees fewer knockdowns and knockouts. If one life a year is saved the drastic action would be justified.

Navajo Indians Now 'Civilized' With Adoption of Election Campaign

Out in Arizona the 90,000-member Navajo Indian Tribe recently went through its first serious election campaign in its history. And from what we hear the campaign was enough to bring a smile to any veteran political campaigner.

For the first time the Indians were subjected to billboard advertising and newspaper ads urging the election of the Hon. John Drinkwater or the Hon. North Wind. The radio stations on the reservation, which covers parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Utah, blared forth with political announcements.

One candidate reportedly had as his slogan: "Shin-nahata-bay-sz-shi." That was supposed to mean "I stand on my record." Another blared: "Ashnot-olita." That meant "We need a change."

It seems rather sad to us to find the remnants of the brave Indian tribe mixed down in the same old windjamming oratory of our own election campaigns. Somehow or other when we were reading our history books we never expected the Redman to sink so low. But then, it seems things are pretty much the same all over.

We have stolen just about all the land from the Indians, introduced them to firewater, and now we have brought them to the crowning glory of the democratic election process—the political campaign. If they turn back to their old ways and go on the warpath there will be a lot of secret understanding and sympathy going for them.

Need Fair Ideas
State Fair officials have a number of ideas for expanding the uses of the Fairgrounds at Detroit, but they are looking for more suggestions.

The State Fair Authority recently retained Oskar Stonorov, an internationally known architect, to design a site plan for future development of the Fairgrounds.

Walter A. Goodman, general manager of the Fair, emphasizes the Authority will keep the staging of the annual State Fair as its basic purpose but another objective is to provide facilities to meet the year-round recreational needs of the State.

Some of the suggestions for year-round facilities to be added to the Fairgrounds are for ice and field hockey, soccer, amateur and semi-professional theater, miniature golf, skiing, an antique car museum, and special buildings for use by groups.

The groups for which facilities have been recommended by interested citizens to date include 4-H, Future Farmers of America, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, and senior citizens.

Development of settings similar to California's Disneyland and Denmark's Tivoli Gardens also have been suggested.

Goodman is now looking for other ideas which the architect may use in laying out the plan for the Fairgrounds.

Sometimes on Sunday
Effects of the controversial Sunday Closing Law passed by the 1962 legislature are just beginning to be felt in counties where it will be enforced.

Many county Boards of Supervisors voted to exempt their areas from the provisions before the enactment actually became law late in March. Court action tied up enforcement in a number of other areas.

One of the more curious effects of the law came in the legislature, however, where an attempt to repeal it throughout the state was started even before it became law.

Russell Strange, a fourth-term Republican Representative from Clare, introduced the repeal bill early in the 1963 session.

Although his proposal died in committee, Strange said he thought the committee's decision was a wise one. "They told me they wanted to give it a year to run before making a decision on whether it should remain in effect," he said.

Support for the repeal bill appears to be strong although the measure never got to the floor for debate. Indications were another attempt to eliminate the mandatory one-day closing will be made during coming sessions.

Saving Stamps
Failure of his proposals to regulate the trading stamp industry disappointed Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelly, but he says he plans to renew the effort during the next legislative session.

Identical bills introduced in the House and Senate this year on Kelly's behalf were designed to give an insurance factor to Mrs. Michigan Housewife that when she saves stamps over a long period of time she will receive some measure of value from them.

Both bills died in the committees to which they were assigned. The Senate State Affairs Committee held a hearing on the proposal which drew strong protest to the regulation from spokesmen for the industry. In the House working

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The more I try to figger out the human race the more I think Noah had too many monkeys aboard when he took off in the Ark. Take, for instance, this fellow that told a Chicago Judge last week that he'd been making a good living for 15 years stealing hub caps and selling 'em for 80 cent each. I'm shore one of his ancestors come from a excess quota of monkeys on the Ark.

Then I was reading this piece where the designers of the new 1964 model cars that's coming out this Fall is planning a lot of fancy gadgets. On one station wagon for the "executive type" it says they'll have a pull-out bar. If they keep on messing around they'll invent the running board again. And they say one or two of the 1964 cars will have 450 horse power. Now I'm shore the fellow that puts that much dynamite in a car had a ancestor on the Ark that belonged to the monkey family.

Well, I see by the papers where another loophole has been discovered for milking Uncle Sam. It says here that the Navy Bureau of Ships planned to have a New York outfit make 'em some radar equipment. They made a advance payment that was $2.6 million more'n what that radar equipment was going to cost. The company hung onto this excess money for three years before they paid it back to the Government. And while they was hanging onto it, they invested it in Government bonds for the three-year period and picked up $47,000 in interest.

What they was doing, Mister Editor, was using tax money to gain $47,000 in tax money.

I have writ to my Congressman and ask him if he can't git me a little advance money on my Soli Bank deal to invest in Government bonds to take care of my 1963 taxes. Natural, I ain't expecting to hear from him till the next election.

Two very disturbing items was in the papers last week in addition to them I have mentioned above.

A teacher in one of these home-making or somepun or other classes in a New York high school bring a washboard to class and ask the students to tell what it was. They wasn't a single one in the class that had ever saw one. I reckon you could say that when this generation can't tell what a washboard is, the link between then and now is gone complete and forever.

And a manufacturer of wimmen's clothes in Milwaukee says the number of wimmen wearing pants has increased 400 per cent since 1954. He claims dresses will be out of style by 1980. I'm glad, Mister Editor, I won't be around when it happens.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

NEWS HOLLYWOOD

Today's Film Review

"TRIAL AND ERROR"
This film would come under classification of a "very English comedy." It is dry, very comical that provides an abundance of chuckles—but not the actual laughs that usually accompany comedy.

It demonstrates the acting of Peter Sellers and Richard Tenenborough, who together make a mastery of underplayed, understated histrionics.

The story concerns a long-forgotten shoekeeper (selling of seeds), who has murdered his wife. He finally came to the break point when he could not bear constant laughing, good humor and joking ways. The meek murderer (Tenenborough) is assigned as his barrister for defense (Sellers), a scholar many decades ago.

What happens in the remainder of the film is a sort of special humor, especially the reactions of several imaginative courtiers, which they hope to be their assumed victory.

J. Ludwig Named To Head Scouts' Iroquois District

Iroquois District — District IV of the Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America—held the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday evening in the Council's conference room at Ann Arbor.

William Windle of Chelsea, who is district executive, presided at the meeting as secretary of the district committee.

Participating in the opening ceremonies were District Chairman Richard Smith of Chelsea and District Commissioner Max Kenyon of Dexter. Kenyon also gave an annual report.

The state of officers for the year was presented by the nominating committee chairman, Paul Nicholas of Chelsea. These included as committee-at-large the following: George Rohine, White Lake; Ted Stautz, Manchester; Roger Sweeney and Ken Brooks, Chelsea; Richard Smith, B. J. Ludwig, Jr., James Botsford, William J. and Robert Barlow, Chelsea; and four new men, Paul F. Niebauer and Robert Foye of Chelsea, Robert Kiger of Manchester and Arthur Woolner of Milan.

In addition to the above names, there were a number of nominees from the floor. These are: Kenneth Runcie, George A. Staffan, Howard James, James Daniels, Jack Meyer, George Heydlauff, of Chelsea; James Carmen, Robert Tefft, of Strat, William Crim Jr.,

Saline; Bob De Vee, Roger Stevens, Floyd Wany, Milan; Ward Tupper, Dick Johnson, Dexter; Jess Landreth, Whitmore Lake; Fred Schiller, Ron McNally and Ron Jenter, Manchester.

District officers named are B. J. Ludwig of Chelsea, chairman; Stanton "Pat" Roesech of Saline and Manchester, first vice-chairman; Luther Kiger of Manchester, second vice-chairman; and Max Kenyon, district commissioner.

All officers were installed by the Portage Trails Council president, Jack Doldge, and following the installation, a brief talk was given by the Council's Scout executive, Clarence "Joe" Doud of Ann Arbor.

SHEER BRAVADO

Memphis, Tenn. — An escape from the county penal farm has been captured—hard at work on the police parking garage being built next door to headquarters.

Larry Daniel Dyson, 38, walked away from a work gang April 8, 1960, while serving a petty larceny sentence.

When captured he had been working with a construction crew at the garage for months.

Nearly everybody is for the common good until they come to the pocketbook test.

Know YOUR MICHIGAN LAW

The position of Solicitor General is one of the most important legal posts in the State, but it is probably one of the least understood. Judging from the inquiries received in my office many persons are unaware of the duties and functions of the Solicitor General's office.

The Solicitor General is appointed by the Attorney General and a member of his staff. Under the direction of the Attorney General, he is in charge of all cases in both the United States and State Supreme Courts in which the State of Michigan is interested. He also represents the State in matters before the Federal courts.

Normally we have at least 100 cases on appeal to the State Supreme Court and various Federal courts and the task of keeping track of each one of them can be a trying job. In most of the appeals, the State is not the party which instituted the proceedings, and therefore has no control over the feasibility of the appeal.

Basically, there are two types of cases in which the Solicitor General represents the people before the Supreme Court and various Federal courts:

(1) The first type may be classified under the broad heading of civil matters and involves official action of the various boards, departments, and agencies of the State.

(2) The other may be designated criminal in nature and deals with cases in which convicted persons seek a review of their case by the Supreme Court or the Federal courts.

Included in the latter type are appeals instituted by inmates of our prisons as well as appeals initiated by patients in mental hospitals who believe they are unlawfully confined.

In Michigan the Solicitor General is under Civil Service and a career lawyer.

Donald Snyder Home at North Lake Included in House Tour Itinerary

formed of almost ceiling-high kitchen cabinets. Trailing plants add an attractive touch on top of the cabinets. One of the home's window walls is at the right. The second photo is a view of the fireplace wall at right and a window wall ahead with its view of the lake.

False Fire Alarms...

could prove a real danger to other property, should the equipment not be immediately available if a big fire broke out.

Anyone apprehended for deliberately turning in a false alarm is liable for prosecution.

In addition to the Ellis Carpenter house fire Friday, reported elsewhere in this paper, Chelsea firemen have had a number of grass fires.

Wednesday, April 10, they responded at 12:52 p.m. when grass and brush was discovered on fire on state land at M-52 and North West.

Monday afternoon a grass and brush fire occurred on the Dale Barker property, 13819 Old US-12 West.

At 6:50 p.m. Saturday, a car fire on Old US-12 resulted in a call for firemen and after their return the false alarm was received at 7:40 p.m.

Even an intelligent man makes a fool of himself about some things.

The Donald Snyder home at North Lake and one of the new efficiency apartments at the Methodist Home have been included in the itinerary of the Chelsea-Dexter Co-Operative Nursery house tour which takes place April 27.

Co-operation of the Chelsea Child Study Club will provide a convenient noon luncheon at the Congregational church. The luncheon—a salad smorgasbord—will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and tickets are available from any Child Study club member.

The tour stop at the Methodist Home efficiency apartments is an innovation this year. The apartments, either for couples or for single occupation, are carpeted, have their own kitchen and bath facilities, a private balcony, are beautifully carpeted and furnished with the residents' own possessions.

The apartments demonstrate what ideal retirement quarters can provide in the way of gracious living.

The Snyder home at 13948 Bramble Brae, North Lake, is a compact, carefully planned home, designed and built by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snyder to serve both their present needs and their future retirement.

Window walls in the dining living and recreation areas give a panoramic view of the terraced lawn overlooking the Inverness Island. One may enter the home by way of the carport into the open galley kitchen which is conveniently located to provide easy access to both the living and dining areas.

Open planning in the living areas gives an impression of spaciousness enhanced by a beamed ceiling in the living room space. Indirect lighting used on the main level adds an impression of warmth in the mahogany-paneled living area.

Other attractive features of the home are fold-away walls and Murphy-type beds—one adjacent to the living room and one in the downstairs level. Additional sleeping space is provided by a trundle bed in the girls' bedroom.

Desert sand and brown tones in the bathroom compliment the wood tones in the home. The lighting in the bedroom and bath is recessed.

On the lower level, built-in storage across one wall, the brick fireplace wall containing hidden storage in the raised hearth, plus a summer kitchen, provides pleasant living on both levels.

An unusual imitation brick wall in the recreation room was created by Mr. Snyder's clever use of pieces from the mahogany paneling in the upstairs living areas.

Other houses in the 1963 tour are the Donley Boyer home, the superintendent's residence at the Methodist Home and the North Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Claire.

Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Bates were a son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. James Bates and children, Denise and Kevin, of Detroit.

Out-of-town visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Elsemann were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elsemann and Mr. and Mrs. William Elsemann, of Ann Arbor.

Check Seed Corn Germination Rate Before Planting

Corn seed germination is a planted field may be quite different from the percentage printed on the seed tag, especially if the crop is planted early. 42

Seed laboratories get their figures under optimum conditions of temperature and moisture. These seldom exist in the field according to E. C. Rossman, farm crops researcher at Michigan State University. 42

Rossman suggests a simple cold germination test as a double check on seed corn. 42

Seed placed in a layer of moist soil, wrapped in newspaper and kept in a refrigerator for about 10 days can give a check for early planting. This temperature will be about 45-50 degrees. The number of seeds which germinate after 5-7 days at room temperature following refrigeration should give a good indication of germination under field conditions. 42

Details of the test may be secured from county Extension Service offices. Rossman advises that seed testing less than 80 percent germination under such tests may call for other seed. 42

The crop scientist is an avid supporter of early planting for Michigan. He has conducted planting tests over the past 13 years for MSU's Agricultural Experiment Station. Yields on all plots were 13 percent higher for corn planted before May 10 than crops planted May 15-20. 42

Conservationists Seeking Mementos Of Logging Days

Lansing—If you have some old photographs, logging tools, or other mementos of Michigan's early lumbering days, the Conservation Department would like to hear from you.

Its interest in these collector's items stems from an interpretive program being developed at Hartwick Pines state park to tell the story of the vast white pine forests which once covered much of the state, and the great industry they produced.

Items that help to recapture some of the color of that bygone lumbering era will be displayed in the memorial building and logging camp located adjacent to the park's famous virgin pine forest. Anyone who would like to donate to historical exhibits—perhaps you have some mementos of this period—collecting dust in your attic—is urged to contact the park's manager or write to the Department's parks and recreation division, Lansing 26.

Columbia Asks for More Peace Corps Volunteers

The success and popularity of Peace Corps volunteers working in community action programs in Colombia has led that government to seek Peace Corps assistance in another sphere of activity, agricultural extension.

Colombia, the first country in Latin America to receive Peace Corps help, now has 167 volunteers working in rural and urban community action programs. In January, 60 volunteers arrived in Colombia to assist in high school physical education and university teaching in English. Additional volunteers are now in training to aid in the establishment and management of rural co-operatives and credit unions and to replace the first volunteers in community action, whose two-year Peace Corps assignment will be completed in June.

The Colombian Extension Service has developed new and better agricultural techniques at its experimental farms. However, a shortage of personnel has made it impossible to pass these improved methods on to the individual farmer.

The Colombian government has asked for 490 men and women with rural backgrounds, training in agriculture or home economics, and experience in farming and homemaking. The volunteers will apply their skills and know-how to the immediate problems facing the small farmer or campesino. How can the land be improved, fertilizer, crop rotation, irrigation, drainage or water control? How can production be increased—more efficient methods of planting and harvesting, pest control, or new varieties of fruits and vegetables? How can the income be supplemented—truck gardening or small projects in swine, poultry or rabbits? And finally, how can the living standard for the family be raised—home improvement, health and sanitation practices, or a more nutritious diet?

Selected volunteers will receive 12 weeks of special training in agricultural extension and community development methods at the Peace Corps Training Center at the University of New Mexico. Twelve hours of college credit will be awarded for the training course which will also include Latin American studies, Spanish, U. S. History, health and physical education. The first 60 volunteers will begin training in April, the second in June.

Once in Colombia the volunteers' assignments will range from the rich tropical lowlands of the coast to the high mountainous regions of the Andean plateau. The volunteers will be living in municipalities or county seats and visiting the surrounding farms by horse, bicycle, or motor bike. In many instances, they will be sharing small houses with other Peace Corps volunteers working on similar programs.

Married couples are encouraged to apply if they have no children under 18, both are willing to serve as full-scale volunteers and both have skills which can be used on the project. For application blanks and information on this and other Peace Corps programs, see County Agent Robert W. McCrory at 116 County Building, Ann Arbor, or write Peace Corps, Agricultural Division, Washington 25, D. C.

★ Women Tackle Taxes

(Guest Column By: Donna Wilber) Far from the image of uneducated, unfashionable "Maw," whose main activity was raising chickens and kids and calling from the fields for supper, is today's farm woman who can't be distinguished from her city sister unless she tells you her address is "Rural Route."

Active in school, church and civic affairs, well-informed on world and national events, today's farm woman is a conscientious citizen of her local community, her state and her country. Typical of this kind of woman, multiplied thousands of times, are the members of county Farm Bureau Women's Committees.

These women will be meeting this spring throughout the state of Michigan in district "rally-type" sessions. Any time a group of women get together, discussion is expected to center around such things as the latest fashions, hairdos, recipes, etc. But such is not the case when Farm Bureau Women get together. Not content to drink tea, gossip and leave the worrying to their husbands, the women will tackle the problem of taxes.

In each of the 11 district meetings scheduled for April, participants will seriously consider this subject in which farmers have a vital interest. A tax study conducted by Farm Bureau has shown that "based on income, farmers pay two to three times more property tax than any other group." Although taxes have been termed "the price we pay for civilization," the farmer's major complaint is that while other businesses have experienced a rise in net income in spite of tax increases, farmers have not.

Whether or not these ladies come up with all the answers for a tax reform program remains to be seen, but it is certain that many ideas will result. And this group is well-known for initiating and carrying through ideas! Recently, the Farm Bureau Women flew to Washington, D. C. to visit with their Senators and Representatives, and it could be that an idea of one of these women has already found its way to the floor of Congress.

Taxes, the wheat referendum, Medicare, the Common Market, the preservation of the free enterprise system—these are all subjects which today's farm woman can discuss with intelligence and determination to erase that image of "Maw."

Researchers at the University of Michigan developed a bite-size gadget to get samples of stomach tissue without expensive exploratory surgery.

You can't beat this bromide: "An honest man is the noblest work of God."

allow for a 12-foot easement for public utilities. Trustee Stephen Clark was assigned to study the matter and make recommendations.

Concern for small children using a short cut from the southwest area to South Elementary school through a swampy and wooded area was expressed by the group; they expressed a desire for the village to consider construction of a street in this area. President Robert Daniels asked Trustee Paul Bollinger, the Council's Public Works committee chairman to work with the group in seeking a solution to their problem.

There was discussion of the proposed new Fire Hall on the West Middle St. site.

Motion approved to accept the tax rate as presented. The total amount is 17 mills, the same as last year; however, one mill less was allocated for the payment of interest and principal on the bond issue sold for the sewage plant addition and the mill added to the levy for the general fund, bringing that to 13 mills. The remaining one mill of the 17-mill levy is for the public library. The extra mill for the general fund is for the new fire hall building.

Motion made to approve the 1963 budget as presented by the Council's budget committee, the total being $203,433.50.

Motion made and approved to award the contract for construction of the new fire hall building.

tion of the new fire station to Frederick Belsey in the amount of $23,643, subject to revisions. Construction is to be started as soon as possible.

Motion approved to pay Icarman, Johnson & Hoffman $1,000 for the annual audit—$500 of this amount to be paid from the village general fund and $500 from the Light & Water fund.

The village president and village clerk were authorized to enter into an agreement to purchase a parcel of land on West Middle St. from Robert and Betty Rudd.

Councilman Bollinger reporting regarding the skating pond area adjacent to Veterans Park. He said the village Public Works Dept. has laid tile from the pond to the creek and that this action has resulted in lowering the water level approximately 2½ feet to creek level. It was pointed out, however, that the depth of the water in the pond is still a hazard for children and parents should forbid children to play in the area.

Approval given a motion to pay $75 to William Terna for repair of his pucker truck for damage caused by a cave-in over a water main which had been improperly backfilled in the village; also to pay $18 to Ted Balmer for wrecker service. This amount to be paid from the Light & Water Dept. fund.

Progress will come to an end when children agree with the views of their parents.

CAR FALLS THROUGH ICE
Browns Valley, Minn. — Three college men took a short cut across Lake Traverse when the car broke through the ice and sank to the bottom of the lake.

The three men climbed into back seat and pressed their noses to the roof, where there was a pocket of air.

They opened the door and attempted to get out. Only one swam the 75 feet to shore. The other two were found dead in the back seat of the car.

CORN FOR RUSSIANS?
Moscow — Russians are not taking kindly to Premier Khrushchev's campaign to promote corn as human food.

Russians usually turn up their noses at cornflakes. Their idea of a good breakfast is a heaping plate of hot sausages, potatoes and cabbage covered with thick gravy.

The gravy is topped up with four or five slices of white bread not cornbread!

Khrushchev's argument is that the Americans eat it and they love it.

CAR FALLS THROUGH ICE
Browns Valley, Minn. — Three college men took a short cut across Lake Traverse when the car broke through the ice and sank to the bottom of the lake.

The three men climbed into back seat and pressed their noses to the roof, where there was a pocket of air.

They opened the door and attempted to get out. Only one swam the 75 feet to shore. The other two were found dead in the back seat of the car.

CORN FOR RUSSIANS?
Moscow — Russians are not taking kindly to Premier Khrushchev's campaign to promote corn as human food.

Russians usually turn up their noses at cornflakes. Their idea of a good breakfast is a heaping plate of hot sausages, potatoes and cabbage covered with thick gravy.

The gravy is topped up with four or five slices of white bread not cornbread!

Khrushchev's argument is that the Americans eat it and they love it.

Senator Philip A. Hart's

REPORT from WASHINGTON

★ The Earthquake Detectives ...

The other morning, the car radio reported that negotiators in Geneva had promised to press with new vigor for a treaty that "could end forever all nuclear testing."

I didn't catch all of it because I was trying — with equal fervor — to end forever all arguments on who would sit next to the windows in the back seat. But it occurred to me that the two sets of negotiations — one in a stately conference room and the other in a station wagon — had certain similarities.

Certainly, both buses would be highly desirable from the viewpoint of almost everyone involved but in each case the solution remains nevertheless distant and elusive.

Still, the international problem gives me the greater reason for optimism. Throughout successive reports of peace parleys hot, peace parleys cold, two basic facts remain clear:

(1) Deadly fallout from anybody's atomic tests falls impartially on us all and (2) a test ban would serve both American and Russian interests in discouraging the spread of atomic weapons.

Both nations are clearly agreed on the desirability of a test ban. It is the enforcement procedures that are in dispute.

The detection of atmospheric tests presents no problem: If Russia sets off its debris will be detected in air samples collected outside the Soviet borders.

But how do you guard against underground blasts? First of all, underground explosions, like earthquakes, can be detected by "black boxes" that pick up the seismic tremors, they set off in the earth.

There are about 400 earthquakes in Russia each year. Yet our negotiators are calling for only seven on-site inspections annually.

How will we know which tremors to investigate? This is where the "earthquake detectives" come in.

From information cataloged in the black boxes, an expert writes off all tremors that emit signals that are unmistakably natural (27 originate very deeply within the earth) or (4) occur close to population centers.

On the other hand, says Dr. George A. Borststrom of MSU food science department, 15 billion persons, or half the world, depend upon fish and aquatic foods for more than half of their animal protein.

Borststrom, more than two-thirds of all the meat and milk in the world is consumed by less than 600 million people, or about one-fifth of the total population.

When it comes to feeding the underdeveloped nations, fish serves, fish is more important than milk, even though the world produces 2.5 pounds of milk every pound of fish.

THE LETTERBOX

To The Editor:
Often in our busy life we don't pay much attention to "locking the barn door" until after the horse is stolen. Often too, we ordinary citizens find out about some particular bit of legislation only AFTER it has been passed and put into effect.

It will come as a real shock to many parents to learn that Senate Bill 1199, now before the House of Representatives, can make them a part of a County-wide, or even larger, school district. Even though you live in a good sized town or city and have a good high school, you may find in a few years that your children will be bused on a bus and hauled many miles to a large, centrally located school.

How will this come about? Through the committee dictatorship established in Senate Bill 1199. Under this plan, parental influence will vanish and our children will become only a number on an IBM card.

This bill has passed the Senate (by the bare minimum 18 votes) and was reported out of the house education committee by a 5-4 vote. Now it is up to us as parents to let our Representatives know we don't approve of such centralization of education.

Sincerely,
Harmon Cropsey, President,
Friends of Michigan Schools

Seniors Have 4-Day Trip To New York

Sixty-eight Chelsea High school seniors returned at 4 p.m. Monday from their four-day senior class trip to New York City. Their chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. John McGill and High School Principal and Mrs. Charles Lane.

The group left Chelsea by bus at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, April 11, to Toledo where they boarded the train for New York at 4:30 p.m. They arrived there at 8 a.m. Friday.

After checking into their hotel, the New Yorker, the seniors were on their own until the scheduled afternoon tour of lower New York—The Bowery and Chinatown—Greenwich Village, Wall Street and the Statue of Liberty.

The group returned to the hotel for dinner and in the evening some of them went to see the musical production "Mr. President," at the St. James theatre while others had a free evening.

Saturday's group tour included Tiffany's, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Rockefeller Center, a visit to the National Broadcasting Co. in the RCA Building and, in the evening a visit to Radio City Music Hall where they saw a movie and the dance group known as the "Rockettes."

In addition to attending Easter Sunday services in the church of their choice, the group visited the UN Building Sunday morning.

The afternoon was again free and following their evening dinner, there was a tour of the Empire State Building before they returned to the hotel to pick up their luggage and go to the depot to board the train for the return trip at 10 p.m. They were met at Toledo by the bus which brought them back to Chelsea.

Fishermen Need Plenty Of Patience

Ann Arbor—The average Michigan angler will fish a little less than two hours for each trout he keeps, according to a biologist of the Institute for Fisheries Research, located at the University of Michigan.

Researcher K. G. Fukano says the trout fisherman is most likely to have early success in one of the trout lakes in the Upper Peninsula or northern Lower Peninsula, especially if the lake has been planted with brook trout.

He recommends a trout lake rather than a trout stream because the lake fish are apt to be fed more actively due to warmer lake waters.

"However, if you are interested in catching a trophy trout, your best bet would be one of the streams with a spring rainbow run," he says.

Fukano's information is based on creel records collected by officers of the Michigan Department of Conservation, which operates the Institute for Fisheries Research.

The dominant kind of trout in Michigan, of course, is the brook (speckled) trout, taken in great numbers in the Upper Peninsula; the biologist points out. Introduced rainbow and brown trout are most frequently caught in northern Lower Michigan. Southern Michigan has few trout waters, but some nontrout lakes have been stocked with rainbows.

In stocked trout waters, bluegill and yellow perch are the pan fish that make up 60 to 70 percent of the total catch, while northern pike is the game fish taken in great numbers, Fukano adds.

The average non-trout angler should catch from 10 to 13 fishkeepers in 10 hours of fishing—about twice the expectation of the trout fisherman, he points out on "Conservation Report," radio series produced and distributed by the University Broadcasting Service (WUOM).

Sewage Treatment Plant Operators Certified by State

Lansing—The Michigan Department of Health has awarded certificates of achievement to 120 Michigan sewage treatment plant superintendents and operators following the yearly examination administered this year to approximately 190 applicants.

Among those men who passed the difficult written test and met other educational and experience requirements for certification are Melvin C. Leach of Chelsea, and Allyn M. Ernst of Manchester.

According to Don Pierce, Sewerage Section Chief of the Health Department's Division of Engineering, this is the highest number of men to be certified in one year since the certification program started 12 years ago.

The percentage of men taking the examinations who passed is also the highest ever recorded, Pierce said.

"This is due to a combination of factors," he said. "For one thing, I believe that the training programs sponsored by the state health department are paying off. Another important reason is incentive. The law requires that only the superintendent of each plant be certified, but many operators are striving for self-improvement. Certification gives them job security, mobility, prestige, and in many cases, higher pay."

It is explained that the Health Department classifies sewage treatment plants as A, B, C, or D according to size, type, and location. The examination for the higher classifications becomes progressively more difficult. Chelsea is in Class B and Manchester in Class D.

An operator may be certified to operate any or all of the four classes of plants, Pierce said.

This year, 82 of the certificate recipients up-graded their classification as a result of the examination. The remaining 38 were certified for the first time.

"With new sewage treatment plants being built every year, and with vacancies due to death and retirement, there are openings each year for superintendents which equal about 10 percent of all the supervisory positions in the state," Pierce said.

"Sewage treatment is an important and rapidly developing field, with excellent opportunities for advancement and offering increasingly higher rewards for certified personnel."

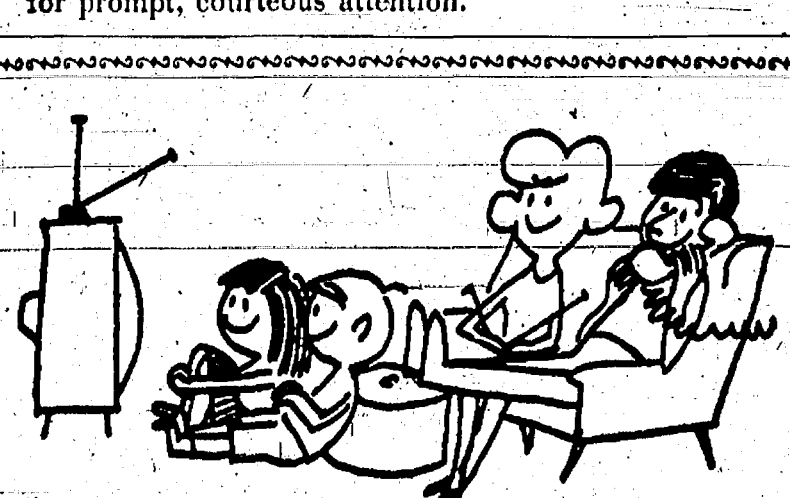

A capacity audience attended the Spring Achievement program Wednesday evening.

CHARRED RUINS of the first floor was all that remained of the Ellis Carpenter residence on Dexter-Chelsea Rd., after it was hit by a fire Friday noon.

Fire Leaves 7 Homeless, Destroys Nearly Everything

A disastrous fire at the Ellis Carpenter home, 13740, Chelsea-Dexter Rd., Friday afternoon not only left the family of seven homeless but resulted in the loss of much of their furniture and practically all of their clothing.

According to Fire Department records, the fire which started near the chimney, had gained considerable headway on the roof before the occupants were aware of the blaze. A passing motorist discovered the fire and notified the family; other motorists stopped and helped remove furniture from the lower floor of the two and one-half story house.

Chelsea and Dexter Fire Departments responded to the alarm.

Destroyed in the blaze were seven beds and all the bedding, furniture and clothing on the second floor; also all the wedding gifts of a son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Carpenter. The gifts were stored on the second floor; the recent bride was living with the family while her husband is stationed on Okinawa.

A daughter, Mrs. Harry Arnett, her three-month-old daughter, Linda, and a 10-year-old step-daughter, Debbie, were staying at the parents' home; they also lost all of their clothing except what they were wearing.

The Carpenter family includes two grown sons, Edsel and Jack, and two daughters, Judy, 15, and Janet, 12. All their belongings were lost in the fire, including clothing, school books, etc.

Two young nephews of the Carpenters who were cared for days by Mrs. Carpenter, also lost clothing in the fire. They are Bobby and Jeff Phillips, sons of Mrs. Phoebe Phillips who is employed at Neil's Dairy Bar.

At the time the fire was discovered, Carl Carpenter, Jr., a seven-year-old grandson, was visiting the farm; all the youngsters, however, were outdoors and not endangered by the blaze.

Among other items destroyed were television sets; also, new linoleum flooring recently laid. With the exception of the kitchen, bathroom and washroom—a one-story addition at the rear of the house—the entire house is described by firemen as a total loss.

The Carpenters had lived in the home only a few months. They were renting it from the owner, C. J. Jenks of Detroit. Some of the family were staying with a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carpenter, on North St., until living quarters are found.

With frost leaving the ground gradually because of ideal weather for the purpose and no sudden, heavy rainfall occurring to complicate the situation, roads did not take the heavy beating road men had been expecting following the unusually long and severe winter. ★ European Growth Slows Down ...

It appears that the period of exceptionally rapid economic expansion in Western Europe is gradually drawing to a close. What is anticipated is not a major economic reversal but a slowing down of the spectacular rates of growth which have prevailed in the recent past. It is instructive to examine the underlying causes of this change and to inquire into its probable impact on the American economy.

European business is now beginning to encounter the same problem which has been restraining growth in this country—a profit squeeze. Labor costs continue to rise at rapid rates. Prices, while still rising, cannot keep up with the cost increases and profits are squeezed in between. Profit opportunities, which provide the incentive for investment and expansion, are becoming less plentiful than they were a while back. This is the principal reason for the expected change in the European economic climate.

For the near future at least it does not seem likely that a serious unemployment situation will develop in Europe. In fact the problem for some time will be one of creating enough new jobs.

The slowdown in growth will differ from country to country in its timing and its effects. West Germany, whose growth in the 1950's was described as an economic miracle, has already entered the period of slower expansion. Its current growth rate is merely good rather than sensational. France and Italy, which came into their own periods of rapid growth somewhat later than Germany, will probably also hit the growth slowdown at a later time.

The change to a less exuberant economic climate in Europe will of course have repercussions on the American economy. They will be mixed in nature, since Europe is both a customer and a competitor of American business. The net effect on our balance-of-payments position is difficult to predict. Investment in Europe by American firms (an outflow of funds) will be reduced. But exports (providing an inflow of funds) will also be restrained.

On the whole, this column believes that the anticipated slowdown in European growth will create additional pressures and difficulties for American business. True, European firms are experiencing cost-increases which tend to weaken their competitive position vis-à-vis the United States. But there is still in many cases a substantial cost differential in their favor. Slackening of growth in their home markets may cause European producers to become more aggressive and more ingenious in seeking foreign outlets.

American exports, especially of capital goods, will not continue to increase as rapidly as they have in the past. American business will no longer have as many opportunities for profitable participation in European growth—either through direct investment or through cooperative arrangements with local firms.

These developments are still only a small cloud on the European horizon. But forecasters of the economic weather will be wise to keep their eyes on it.

Two students also will receive $250 college scholarships, and books, cash prizes, a camera and various other prizes will be awarded.

the Ann Arbor News, and the University of Michigan.

Exchange Club members have obtained funds from 39 area firms to finance the Fair.

By Pete Fritchle

Washington, D.C.—The major League training grind has revealed expectations if not more, and one of them is the possibility that Baltimore may join Detroit or any other club which makes the grade, in making the American League pennant chase a battle this year.

The Yankees are favored as always, and one of the hopes is Stan Williams, the hard-throwing pitcher the Yankees obtained from the Los Angeles Dodgers after the end of last season. But Williams has been tagged a bit so far, in spring training, and if he doesn't produce, the Yankees might not have a romp this year after all.

For another thing, the Orioles look like the team that almost won the flag for Paul Richards back in 1960. That year they were hot with young pitchers and in one series in Baltimore they shut out the Yanks in three out of four and won them all—an unheard of feat.

But the Yanks broke their back in a series in New York (just as they did to the Tigers in the next year) and that was that. Baltimore has never again been the same. But they may be the same 1960 hot club now.

Of course, there is always the argument over how important the showing of the various clubs in spring training is. Some say it amounts to very little. There have been years pennant winners looked poor in the training camps. But there have been many years, too, when a hot team's performance was the tipoff of things to come.

Pittsburgh showed this a couple of years ago as did Detroit in 1961, the Pirates winning the flag and the world championship and the Tigers becoming a surprise contender, leading most of the way.

So you never can tell. But Baltimore acts like a winning club and Billy Hitchcock may have himself a real contender. In the National, ironically enough, the Houston Colts (Baltimore challenged when Paul Richards was running the show) look vastly improved.

A lot of subconscious individuals are worrying about the subconscious.

Richards, though up front in Houston, might be weaving magic with the Colts this year.

Los Angeles and San Francisco both look strong, which is a surprise to no one. The big question mark is whether the 1961 pennant winner, Cincinnati, will get back into the pennant fray in a big way this year, and make it a three-way run.

Need Cited for Planting More Trees on Private Lands

Lansing — Michigan's supply of growing timber may not measure up to consumer demands by the turn of the century—perhaps even before that—unless private landowners meet part of the challenge by stepping up tree plantings in 1968 and the years just ahead, Conservation Department Foresters report.

The possibility, pointed up most recently in a sweeping survey completed by Resources for the Future, Inc., is based on this country's projected population growth through the year 2000, and the greatly increased needs for all types of wood products that this will bring.

According to the RFF report, severe shortages of lumber could develop after 1980.

Conclusions drawn from this study indicate that state and federal forest lands in Michigan will not be able to bridge the projected gap between wood supplies and demands.

Although management of these public forests is geared to boosting timber output sharply, more and more of their lands are being set aside to answer demands for recreation and other uses which will continue to spiral upward in future years.

In light of all this, private landowners are encouraged to establish three plantations, with five acres suggested as the minimum size of planting sites. In 20-30 years, these plantations will be ready for thinning to produce pulp, poles, and low-grade lumber. After that, they will be well on their way toward yielding a harvestable crop that must be planned for now.

"Arbor Day ceremonies will be held April 18 in northern Michigan and May 2 in northern Michigan to honor this state's great forest resource," notes T. E. Daw, chief of the Department's forestry division. "Traditionally," he adds, "this is a day for appling tribute to our present forest lands. It's important that we take a hard look at the future also and work together to do the big job that waits to be done."

Pigeons Aid Cancer Research at MSU

East Lansing — Making pigeons give milk might seem to be a magician's trick but it's all part of a serious work day for a Michigan State University scientist.

Dr. Joseph Meites, MSU professor of physiology, uses pigeons in cancer research to test for the presence of prolactin, the hormone that stimulates milk production in mammals—and pigeons. In addition, prolactin is understood to be necessary for the growth of breast cancer.

Pigeons, unlike other fowls, produce a type of milk in their crops. Both males and females make this milk and regurgitate it into the mouths of their young.

Sportsmen Preparing for Smelt Run

Lansing — Lower Michigan's army of ready-and-waiting smelt fishermen should soon find themselves knee-deep in action, the Conservation Department reports. The region's first spring spawning runs were reported early this week in Grass creek and Intermediate river, Antrim county. Over the years, the creek's opening runs have given sportsmen a good tip on when smelt invasions should begin elsewhere in the state.

Thus, if the present warning trend continues, the sliverly little fish should start making their way up the lower peninsula connecting Great Lakes rivers and small inland streams around April 10. Smelt runs are expected to hit their peak about April 20 in this part of Michigan.

In the Upper Peninsula, where waters don't warm up as quickly as those in downstate Michigan, major smelt migrations will likely get underway around May 1, building up to their highest level between then and May 10.

As in the past, this spring's smelt take by sportsmen will depend a good deal on weather and stream conditions. In recent years, their success has slacked off and the 1962 catch of commercial operators in the Great Lakes took another downward dip. However, smelt runs are known to fluctuate sharply from one year to the next and even if there is no significant change from 1962, dip-net fishermen should take more than one million pounds of these fish during April and early May.

Free lists of waters open to smelt dipping may be obtained through the Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its district field offices.

Sportsmen are reminded that a new law provides for the taking of smelt with gill nets during April and May in Great Lakes waters open to commercial fishing. A special $3 license is required under this regulation; gill nets may not exceed 50 feet in length and their mesh sizes must measure between 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 inches.

For dipping with standard hand nets, residents need regular $2 fishing licenses to take smelt upstream from the Great Lakes; non-residents are required to have an annual ($5) or temporary ($4) license for smelt dipping in any of Michigan's waters, including the Great Lakes.

Brownies...

TROOP 247 — The April 9 meeting of Brownies of Troop 247 was held after school at the home of Mrs. Robert Taylor on Chandler St. Lauralyn Johnson gave a rock demonstration, explaining about the various kinds. The girls then played a guessing game naming kinds of rocks. Each girl was given a rock to keep.

Refreshments were served by Debbie Shadon and Pam Laraway. Donice Bussler, scribe.

TROOP 87 — Brownies of Troop 87 made 52 Easter baskets, using construction paper and artificial Easter grass and filling them with candy eggs; they delivered the baskets Monday, April 8, to the boys at St. Louis school. The early delivery was made in order to reach the students before they left for their Easter vacation.

Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Imogene Slocum and Mrs. Barbara Leach.

Troop 87 Brownies and their leaders had their own Easter party at South school Wednesday, April 10.

Each girl's place was marked with a tiny Easter "basket" made of a paper cup filled with candy eggs and chickens.

Easter bunny cookies brought by Patty Eisele were served as refreshments.

Brownies finished their mats for camping, known as "sit-upons," and discussed their coming trip to Jackson to appear on the Tam's Fun Time television program. Their appearance is scheduled for 9-10 a.m. Saturday, April 27.

So far we have received no communication from the children in our schools indicating an unusual delight with their studies.

Mt. Hope Pastor Addresses Joint Session of Legislature

In observance of Pan-American Week, the Rev. and Mrs. Karl H. Keefe of Ann Arbor were in Lansing Tuesday; the Rev. Keefe had been invited to speak before the combined State House of Representatives and Senate on the topic "Our Neighbors."

Accompanying the Rev. and Mrs. Keefe were 21 Grass Lake school boys and their teacher, Mrs. John Lindamood. The boys carried flags of the 21 republics of the American Hemisphere. These flags are some of the ones housed in the flag shrine the Rev. and Mrs. Keefe have established in a former rural schoolhouse — now the property of the Mt. Hope Methodist church west of Chelsea, of which the Rev. Keefe is pastor.

The Rev. and Mrs. Keefe have accumulated the flags of the South American republics and others during visits to the various countries.

Jose A. Mara, secretary-general of the Organization of American States (OAS) has urged "more interest" in the OAS, according to the Rev. Keefe and the latter, as a step in that direction, has been sending subscriptions of the monthly publication, "Americas," to approximately 25 state officials and area newspaper editors.

As the result of this special interest on the part of the pastor of Mt. Hope church, he was invited to speak before the legislators at the joint meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The Rev. Keefe also spoke on the subject of the OAS at a district meeting and banquet of the Rebekah Lodge held at Midland Monday evening.
