

Importance of Chelsea Industry Stressed for Michigan Week

Michigan Week, May 19-26, stresses in all its varied programs, the advantages of living, working and playing in Michigan's many cities, villages and rural areas, as well as extolling its beauty as a recreation and vacation spot.

Chelsea's situation fits each of these categories. It is pointed out in the Michigan Week committee, under chairmanship of George A. Taylor, however, the committee has undertaken to give community an over-all view of the importance of its industries during next week's special Michigan activities and foster a feeling ing of appreciation for the many benefits afforded the community by its industries.

To stress the importance of the role played by industry, the committee, after interviewing personnel at each of the 18 firms listed in the Chelsea area, arrived at the following figures:

Local industry currently employs approximately 1,160 people. Salaries paid by industries in the area total more than $7,625,000 annually.

Local industry pays approximately 60 cents of every school tax dollar; however, their payment of these taxes has never kept them from supporting all educational and school building expansion programs.

The industries also are credited with the major support of all community campaigns for funds.

Many of these firms are planning exhibits in the downtown area on Wednesday, "Our Livelihood Day" of Michigan Week.

Brief resumes of each of Chelsea's industries are listed here with in alphabetical order:

Blaess Elevator Co.
Since 1946 Blaess Elevator Co. has been servicing the area farmers with grain storage facilities, both with private or government storage programs. They have been leaders in this area with distribution and educational information connected with the rapid growth and use of agricultural chemicals. Modern equipment and methods have always been employed to meet the challenge of the changing agricultural trends and advancements.

Michigan Feed Milling Co., which is also part of the Blaess Elevator Co., is a feed manufacturing plant working directly with the Larrova Feed Co. Their function is the producing of animal feeds under the brand name "Larro." Currently they are shipping feeds into six states at their location at Four Mile Lake has proved to be very favorable for these transit movements.

Central Fibre Products Co.
Central Fibre Products Co. was organized Aug. 6, 1920, and operations began in a barn near the New York Central tracks. Original products were paper fleece, twine and kraft and tissue cord. In 1924, the company's expanding business called for larger quarters and the new building, now occupied by Frigid Products became the firm's base of operations for the next 15 years. Fibre products used in the automotive business were added. The firm, which employed seven men in 1920 now has approximately 100 employees. Donald Bacon, with the firm since it was founded, is chairman of the board. Location of the plant the past 24 years has been at 320 North Main St.

Chelsea Grinding Co.
Chelsea Grinding Co., William Freeman, owner, is now located at 13000 US-12 having moved to the new building at this location three years ago. As its name implies, the firm does various kinds of precision grinding—centerless, disc, cylindrical and internal. Its former location was on North Main St.

Chelsea Heat Treating, Inc.
Chelsea Heat Treating was organized in January of 1959 to serve this area for the many and varied heat treating processes. Eldon Heller is president of the firm.

Chelsea Mfg. Corp.
Chelsea Manufacturing Corp. began production in Chelsea in 1959. It presently employs approximately 40 production workers who are engaged in the fabrication of truck body components, such as side panels, doors and tailgates. From the raw stampings to a product ready for customers' final assembly lines.

Although assembly work and resistance welding are considered the principal lines, engineering, experimental and prototype development of truck components are also carried on both here at the Chelsea plant on Hayes St. and at the main office located in Novi.

PARADOME IS SELECTED AS STATE PRODUCT OF THE YEAR

Portable Outdoor House Wins Coveted Honor

Michigan Week 1963 has special significance for Chelsea, with the announcement that the "Paradome" portable camping house manufactured here by Outdoor Fibre Products Co. was chosen Michigan "Product of the Year."

The new company organized two years ago, includes John A. Taylor, a former member of Moss & Associates, and George Brigham, an architect and retired University of Michigan professor, both of whom had done development work on the "Paradome."

Milton Kendrick, state chairman of the "Michigan Week" awards committee, said the judges chose the "Paradome" because "it portrays Michigan, where we are always emphasizing outdoor life and the tourist concept. Most important, it has appeal to the entire United States because each and every State has beautiful camp sites. This unit will allow families to visit these areas in relative comfort at minimum cost."

Presentation of the "Product of the Year" and other "Michigan Week" recognitions is to be made at a meeting of the Economic Club of Detroit on May 20.

Taylor and Brigham, Donald Bacon who is chairman of the board of the Outdoor Fibre Products Co. as well as of Central Fibre Products Co., at whose plant the new firm began manufacture of the portable structure, will attend the presentation luncheon.

Also expected to attend are James McDonnell, president of the new firm, and others interested in Chelsea's recognition at the luncheon program.

Last Thursday, television cameras were brought to the Chelsea plant and to its testing site on Scio Church Rd. Photos of the (Continued on page six)

Two Candidates Seek Election to School Board Post

Mrs. Shirley Heydlauff has filed a petition as candidate for election to the Chelsea School District Board of Education at the June 10 annual election.

Dr. Clare Warren had filed as a candidate several weeks ago. Deadline date for filing petitions was Monday, May 13.

One trustee is to be elected this year.

Extra Millage Is Approved For Schools

Chelsea School District electors approved the two-mill operational levy at Monday's election by a vote of 473 "yes" and 364 "no."

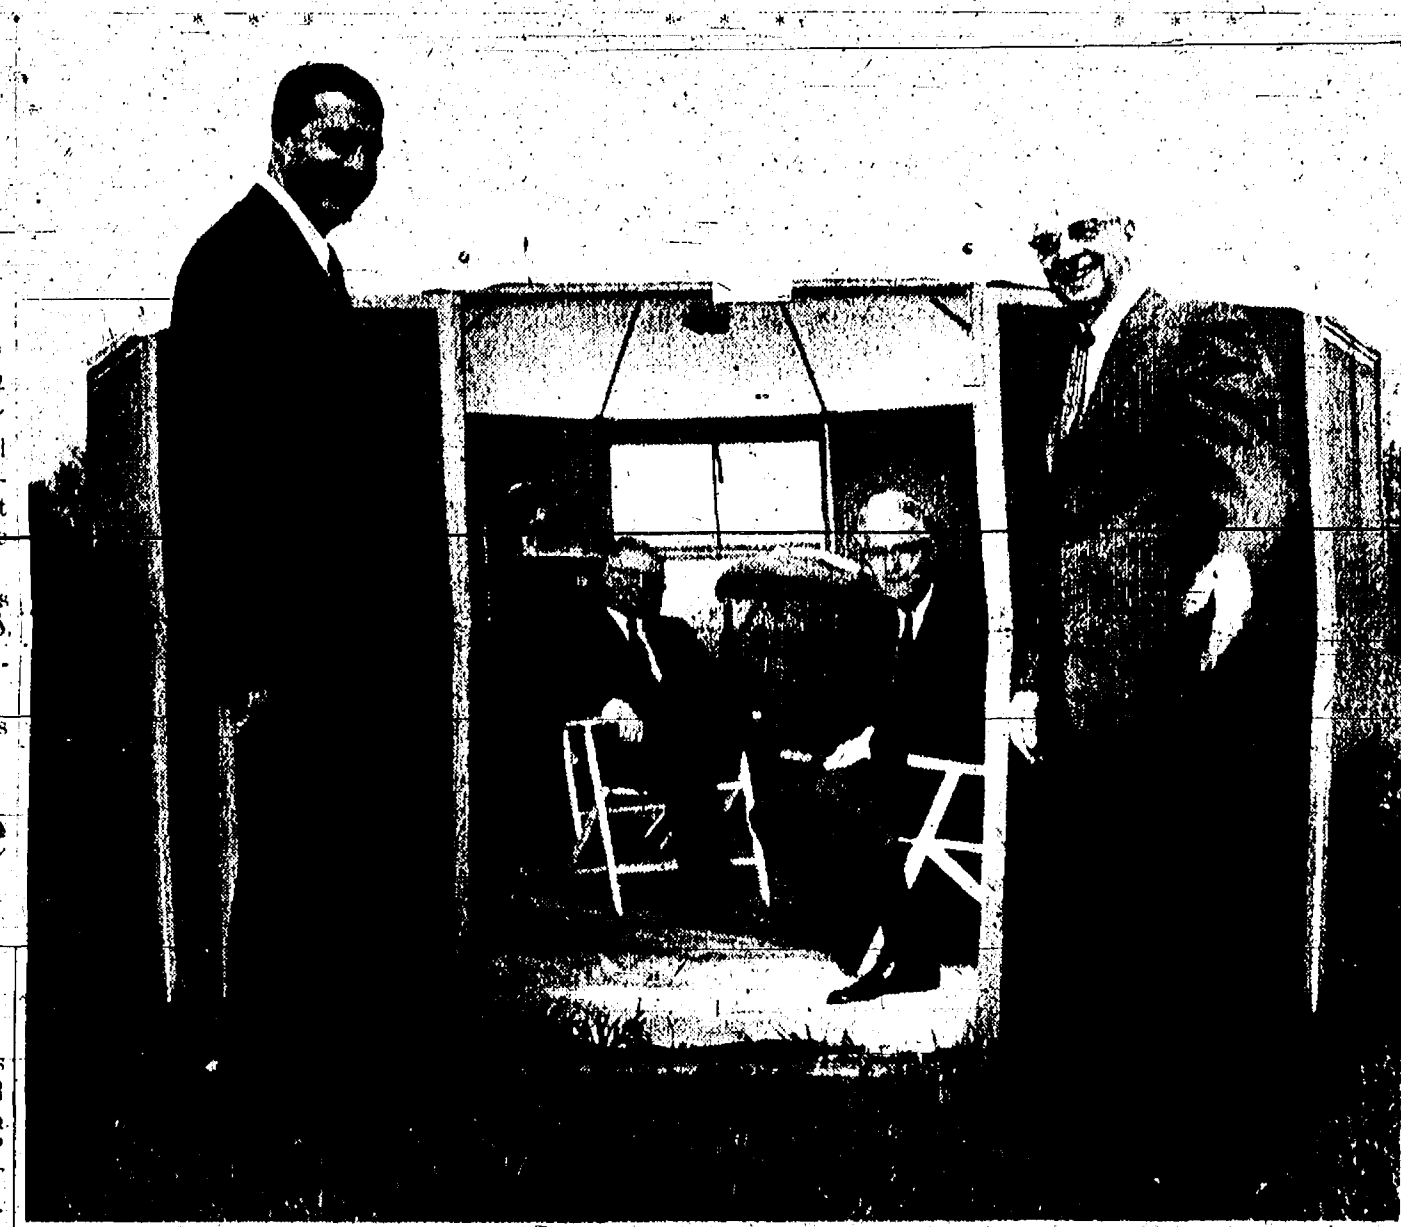

Commenting on the results of the election, School Board President Stuart R. Booker made the following statement:

"Members of the Chelsea School Board should be most grateful to the electorate of this district for reducing the complexities and problems always facing the Board by means of the affirmative vote on the question of additional millage on May 13."

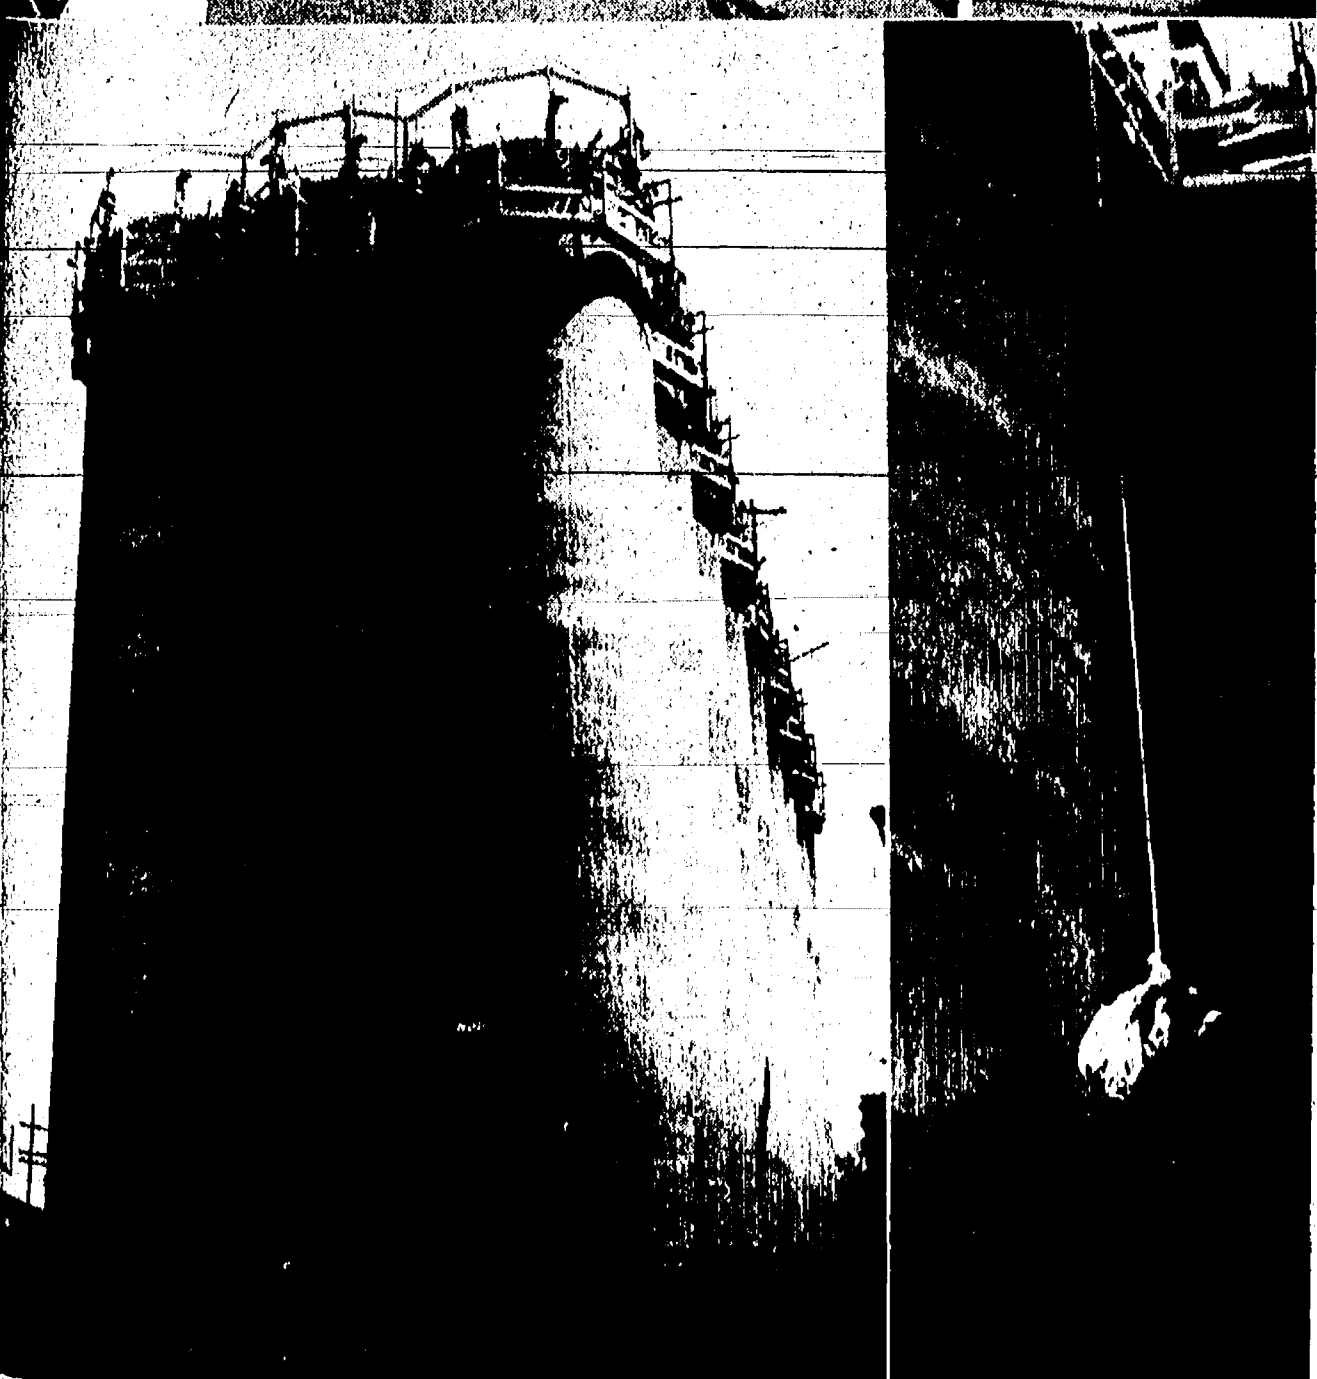

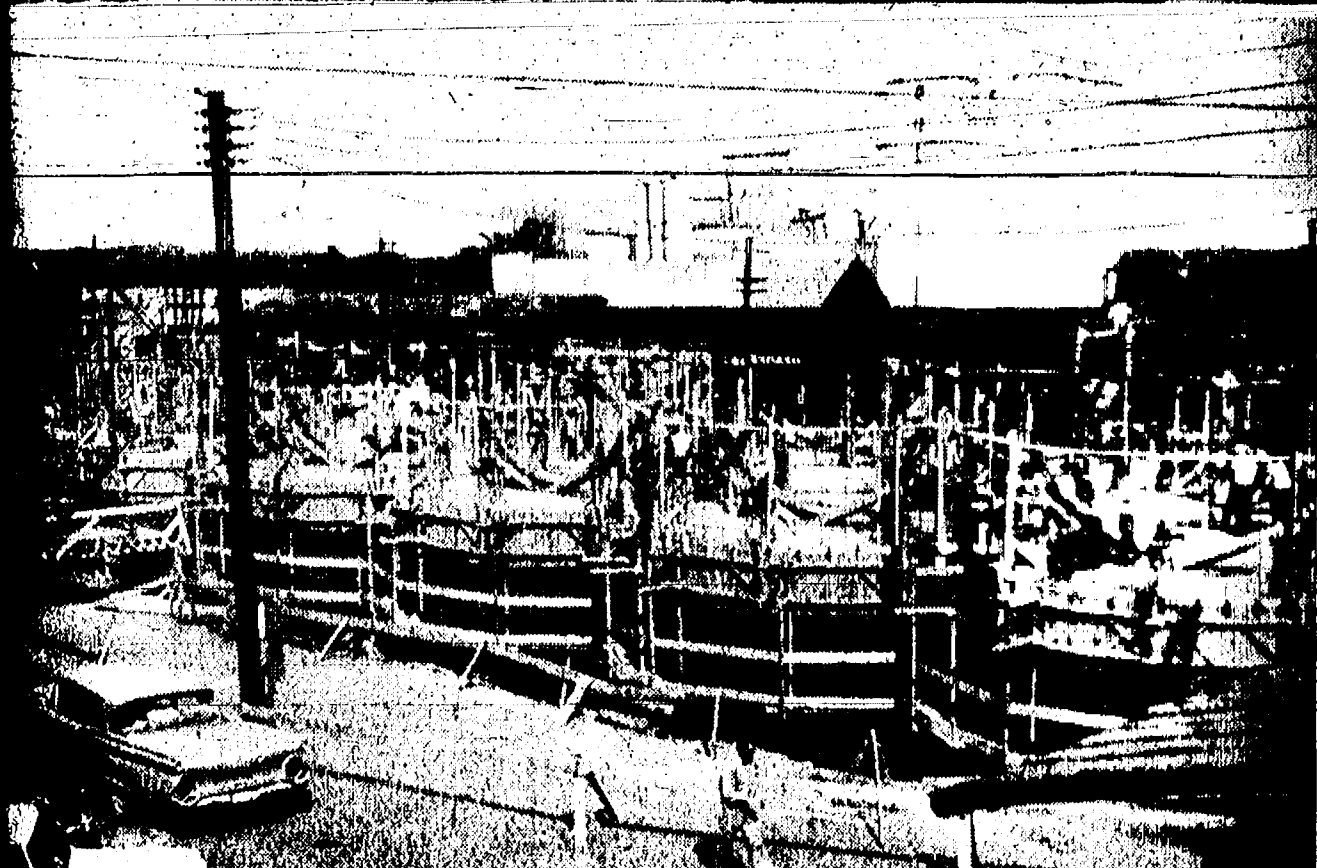

"This affirmative vote was even more gratifying coming on the heels of so many well publicized rejections of requested millage increases by neighboring communities."

"The affirmative action by Chelsea District voters could be construed as evidence of the awareness of our people of the paradoxical situation."

PROJECT OF THE YEAR—John Taylor and George Brigham, of Outdoor Fibre Products, Chelsea, show off the "Paradome," which they helped develop and which has been named Michigan's "Product of the Year." Inside the portable shelter are Wesley Baker, chairman of the Michigan Week Business and Product Promotion Board, and Milton Kendrick, chairman of the awards committee.

UP 120 FEET IN 6 1/2 DAYS—This series of photos is in the nature of a progress report of the Chelsea Milling Co. construction project on Main St. at the New York Central railroad tracks. At the top of the photo grouping is a view of the platform attached to the movable wood forms used for the job of pouring concrete for the walls of the 27 storage bins to their present height of 120 feet.

The entire platform and surrounding forms were raised simultaneously as the concrete walls took shape. This first photo showed how the project looked as pouring of concrete was ready to begin at 8 a.m. Monday, May 6. The second photo shows the walls began to take shape by Tuesday

Boy Scouts Paper Drive Set Saturday

Saturday, May 18, is the day for the paper drive sponsored by Boy Scouts of Troop 25 to earn money for summer camping projects.

Chelsea area residents may assist with the drive if they wish, by bringing their paper contributions directly to the waste paper company's truck which will be parked behind the Central Fibre Products plant in the company's parking lot.

Michigan Week Plans

Chelsea's Michigan Week observance is highlighted this year by the fact that a Chelsea product has been named "Michigan's Product of the Year."

The "Paradome," manufactured here by Outdoor Fibre Products Co., affiliated with Central Fibre

Products Co. at its North Main St. plant, received the coveted designation.

Announcement of the winning product was made by Milton Kendrick, state chairman of the Michigan Week awards committee.

Chelsea's observance of the week begins Sunday when pastors will make mention of the spiritual aspects of life in Michigan as handed down in traditions from earliest settlers and founders of area churches.

Monday is the annual "Mayors' Exchange" day which has always held special significance here. Larry Chapman, the Village Council's chairman for the day's observance is making a special request for a turnout of people who live in the South Main Street area. He asks that people "come out on the sidewalk" to watch the parade led by the visiting mayor from Mt. Morris and his party as escorted to the downtown area from Pierce Memorial Park by the welcoming party will be representatives of the Village Council and service organizations and Chelsea's High school band, recent winner of a first division rating in state competition.

Pupils at South school are to be taken to positions along the South Main St. line of march in order to see the parade.

Morris Mayor, James Callahan, with his wife and another couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Slattery, are scheduled to arrive at Pierce Park at 9 a.m. They plan to meet the Chelsea party, Village President and Mrs. Robert Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lixey, for breakfast at a halfway point to be announced later. Michigan Week Gives Us Chance To Take Stock of Our Many Resources

With the entire state poised for its annual observance of Michigan Week we should each take a few minutes to reflect upon the real meaning of being a resident of this great state.

Of course we have had problems and internal differences the past few years, but that is no great disgrace. Out of honest differences of opinion and open discussion comes progress. With a talented, versatile and aggressive population such as we have in Michigan no problem will remain insurmountable for very long.

We can all be thankful for our bustling industries which have long been recognized throughout the world. They are the real heart of our state—providing jobs, goods and services for a rapidly growing population.

And our farmers are another important part of the heart of our state. They have been in the forefront in the recent revolution in agricultural production. Blessed with rich soils and a favorable climate, these farmers prove to be equal partners with industry in providing the lifeblood of our state.

Without industry or a rich farming citizenry no state could ever hope for a healthy, booming economy; and with the great groups we have here in Michigan it's little wonder that other states look upon us with real envy.

But, just as our industries and farms are the heart of the state, our people are the soul that makes Michigan really great. With a rich heritage founded in the true pioneering spirit, Michigan citizens have never stopped pioneering and progressing.

Shortly after the turn of the century when the lumbering boom began to die and it appeared Michigan would surely lose its prominence, a new crop of pioneers started a revolution of their own with the auto industry. Since that early date Michigan has been synonymous with the auto throughout the world.

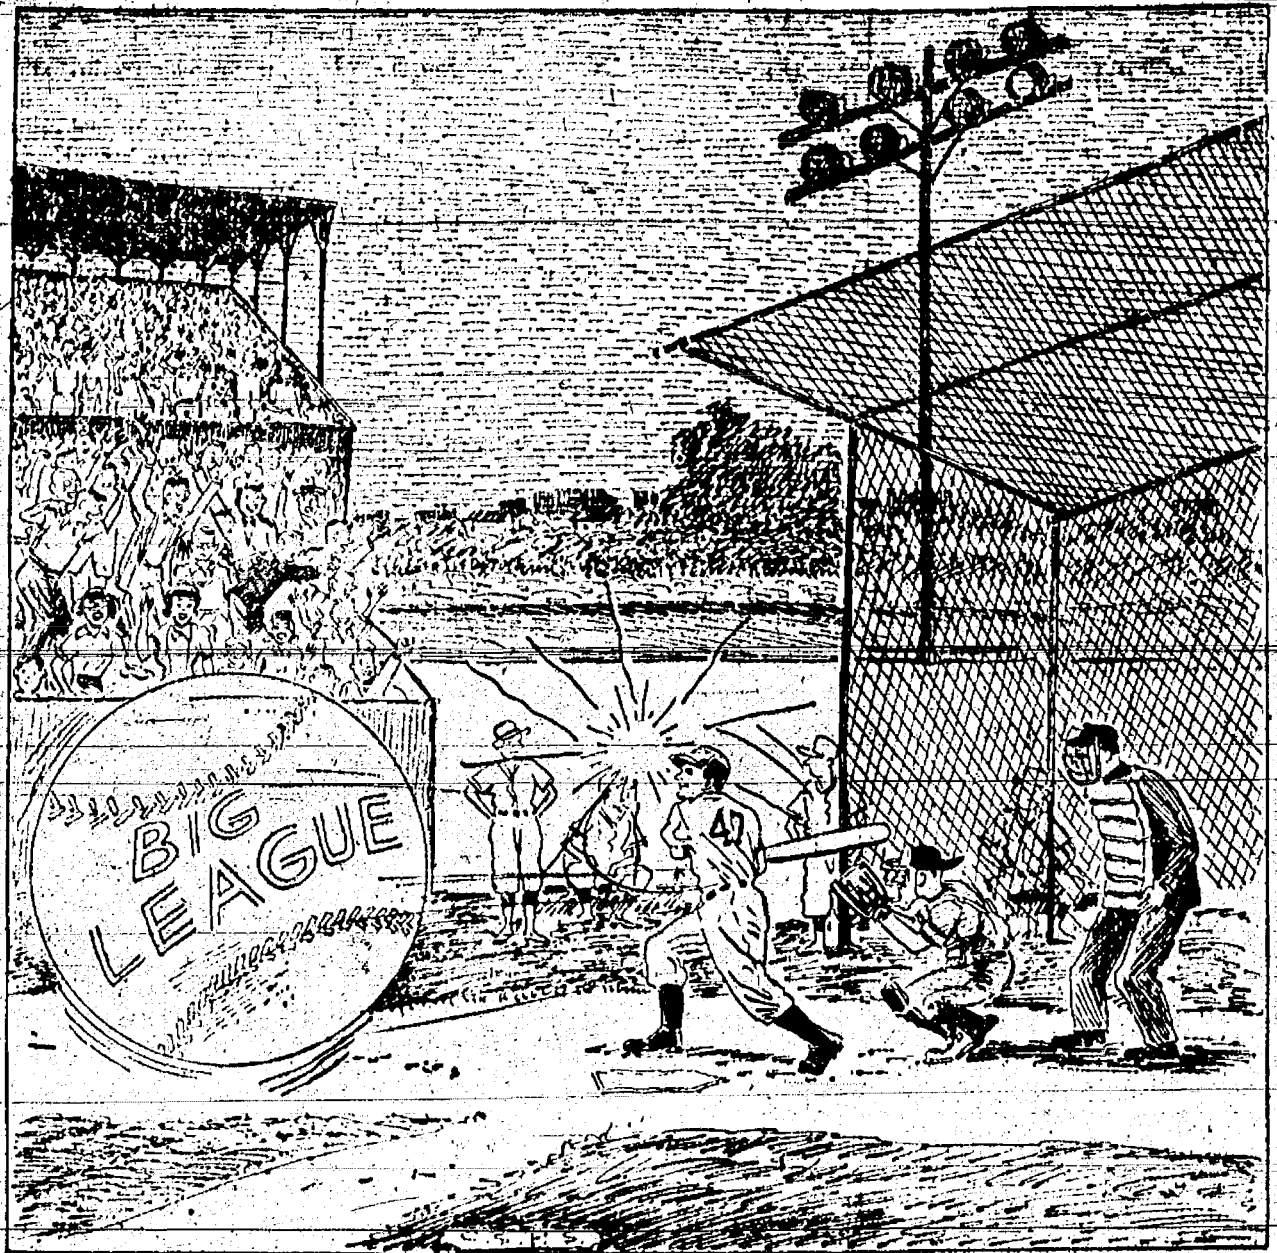

During World War I and even more so in World War II, the nation—and indeed the world—looked to Michigan more than any single state or nation, to supply the weapons needed to provide victory.

After World War II another pioneering venture began to develop and attract research industries. Much of this has been centered in our own immediate area. Many industries from other states have been quick to take advantage of our rich collection of skilled manpower and scientific minds as they adapt themselves to provide outstanding research facilities which promise more and better products for tomorrow.

No, Michigan is not a "problem state" as some outsiders have stated. They just don't understand what Michigan really is.

Michigan Week is designed to give us all a chance to learn more about our state and to more freely appreciate the many wonderful resources we have. During this next week make it a point to spend a few minutes each day in reflecting on Michigan's present greatness and its potential for the future. You will become more enthusiastic than ever in your appreciation for our great state.

SAFETY—FIRST—SECOND

An apparent move to broaden the use of presently earmarked highway funds has been indicated early by Gov. George Romney.

Speaking to a traffic safety group in Lansing before the approval of the new Constitution was even verified by the Board of State Canvassers, Romney called for a study to determine the feasibility of using highway funds to promote traffic safety.

Romney's theory was that since today's roads are designed to encourage safety, the same funds used to build them should also be available to preach the subject and conduct research on it. His specific reference was to possible use of the funds to re-establish a Traffic Safety center similar to the one in operation at Michigan State University until last year when it was cut out of the state budget.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie reacted quickly at Romney's suggestion.

Mackie said he believes it would be a "serious mistake" for the state legislature to divert highway funds to another agency. Under the new Constitution, however, the earmarking of these funds will end. The commissioner's fear is that, "When they make the first diversion to a quasi-highway agency, the second one will become that much easier."

This fear is not altogether unjustified, it would appear. There have been some discussions among legislators already that a traffic safety center, driver education, highway, police patrols and all other highway-related state programs should be financed by road funds.

While Mackie's complaint about possible "raids on highway funds" was heard at the first public mention of the possibility, his attitude wasn't toward such uses might be lessened if he were assured the new uses were kept in quasi-highway programs.

What Mackie really appears to fear most is that the legislature will do exactly what the new Constitution gives it the power to do. That is to spend highway funds for all highway purposes "as defined by law."

The list of state government operations which could be construed as "highway purposes" is longer than most would expect. It would certainly be unfortunate if the legislators, many of whom resent the present financial independence of the Highway Department, were to stage a wholesale raid on the funds which would deter the long-range construction plans.

WARN YOUR CHILDREN
The warm weather months bring forth an increase in the incidence of child molesting, but it needn't be so if youngsters are properly advised.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett has asked teachers to provide a special aid to law enforcement officials before Michigan's children begin the summer vacation, when they spend more time playing outside.

The teacher's cautioning words can sometimes exert more influence on impressing the children than if the warning comes from another source, said Bartlett.

The proper words "of caution" will reach all children if given in the classroom. This was partly what prompted Bartlett to call on the teachers.

"Children should be cautioned fully against accepting gifts or rides in cars from strangers; against going for walks with people they do not know; and against playing alone or in deserted areas."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I been in a state of shock all week over a item quoting a official from the U. S. Department of Education. It seems the experts has started teaching a new system of arithmetic to the school young-uns. They ain't got it going in all the schools yet, the piece says, but by 1965 they hope to have the old system done away with complete and the new one installed all over the country.

I read the piece 6 times, Mister Editor, and on the last time around I knowed me or there was crazy and, natural, it had to be me. They got the Constitution and the Administration on their side, and like the feller said, you can't beat city hall.

In the first place, the experts is doing away with the "Tutem System," which is the two times two is four system. They say this ain't true if you use "Base Seven." I reckon Base Seven is a first cousin to Third Base or Cloud Nine or somepun. Anyhow, Base Seven and Tutem is in conflict. It says so right on the front page.

Furthermore, they allow us how it ain't important in this new arithmetic to know what a circle is, the main thing is to know "what happens when the circle loses its roundness."

And in this new system of arithmetic for the school kids of 1965, they won't be no such thing as a line. It will be knowed as a "set of points" standing shoulder to shoulder.

And they put the stopper in the jug by announcing the days is about over for adding, subtracting, and dividing. Under the new system these items will be called "Intersection, union, and complementation."

I recollect complaining a few year ago when the schools slowed down on teaching reading, writing, and arithmetic, and started giving courses in hair-do, folk dancing, and flute-playing. I just didn't know, Mister Editor, when I was well off.

But I reckon, like this piece says, the next generation has got to have a "Univac mind" to keep pace with space. In another 20 year, when a feller wants to call up his wife at the factory where she's working, he'll have to dial 663-2540 and tell 'em his Social Security 243-48-9566, Internal Revenue Service 44-6005848 calling SS 243-07-3037, IRS 43-610-5745, please. And a feller can't handle that situation with the kind of arithmetic we got now.

I started to report these matters to the fellers at the country store Saturday night, but I got to flogging it wasn't no use in having everybody going crazy at the same time, at least not till 1965.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Flowering Redbud Trees Provide Colorful Sight

One of the most colorful sights in southeastern Michigan is the group flowering Redbud trees now in full bloom along the Huron River and park roads in Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

George Giblin, park manager, said that colorful trees will probably remain affire with color through the week end of May 18-19.

Visitors may observe these bright buds while driving through the 1,000-acre park along the Metropolitan Parkway from Hannan Rd. to Watz Rd. Entrance to the park, a unit of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, is on Hannan Rd., 1/4 mile south of the Willow Run (I-94) Freeway between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Belleville.

Wildflowers are in bloom along the Paw Paw and Chippewa nature trails. Playground equipment, tables, stoves and shelters are available for picnickers and the 18-hole "Par 3" golf course is open 8 a.m. to dusk daily.

For additional information persons may phone the park office at OXbox 9-2921 (Belleville exchange).

Lyndon Resident Loses 15 Rabbits To Dog Pack

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roderick of 9508 Beeman Rd., lost a total of 15 rabbits early Tuesday it is believed a dog or dogs were responsible for their death.

The Rodericks own dog awakened the family at about 3 a.m. and investigation of the disturbance revealed that calves had broken out of the barnyard.

When the calves were returned to the barn, it was discovered that four rabbit hutches—two outside and two inside the barn—had been broken open and the rabbits scattered and dead, each having its back broken.

A small stray dog appeared at the farm on Tuesday and Roderick believes it was one of those responsible for the killing of the rabbits. A paw mark found on one of the hutches indicated a larger dog was also involved and it is considered a possibility that several dogs traveling in a pack were responsible for the killings.

Roderick placed the value of the rabbits he lost at approximately $40.

Fourth in production for the fresh market and ninth in production for processing, Michigan raised 128,000 tons of tomatoes, worth $6.7 million last year. Fresh market production is increasing.

Seat Belts Save Lives Says Expert

Dr. Donald Fred Huelke, assistant professor of anatomy at the University of Michigan, was the guest speaker at Monday evening's Kiwanis club meeting in the social center of the Methodist church.

By means of slide pictures, he illustrated his talk on the importance of seat belts as equipment in automobiles.

His work as lecturer for students, graduate students, nurses and medical students, has led to extensive research on the types of injuries received by automobile passengers and drivers in traffic accidents.

For comparison, he showed injuries suffered when seat belts were used and when not used by the accident victims in every instance he stressed the fact that seat belts are an advantage in accident injury prevention and saving of lives.

Dr. Huelke has a bachelor of science degree in zoology from the University of Illinois; a master's degree in physiology, also from the U. of Ill., and a doctoral degree in anatomy from the University of Michigan.

He is a member of various national groups concerned with anatomical research, including the American Association of Anatomists, International Association for Dental research, and American Association of Automotive Medicine.

Monday's program was in charge of George A. Staffan.

In addition to the speaker, guests included Richard Palmer of Dexter and John R. Thomson,

BUDGET CUTS

The Senate Armed Services Committee cut out $77,000,000 in Defense Department requests for aircraft, missiles and other military hardware. But it agreed with the House in voting an extra $363,700,000 to speed development of the RS-70 reconnaissance strike bomber.

The House voted a reduction also of $91,964,000 in appropriations for the Post Office Department. This came despite the objections of Postmaster Day and postal employees.

Peanut butter is an excellent protein food and a favorite with youngsters, but not all the protein it contains is of highest quality, she explains.
"In other words," she continues, "it does not supply sufficient amounts of all the amino acids needed for building and repair of all the body tissues."
She says research shows it's best to serve complete (animal) and incomplete (vegetable) proteins at the same time in order for the body to use it most efficiently.

Agriculture Queens' Trip Boosts State
To focus national attention to Michigan and some of its choice farm products four of the state's agricultural queens will leave tomorrow May 17, for the south and east on a tour of television, radio and personal appearances.
This is the 10th year the state's agricultural queens have made publicity trips as ambassadors of their state and boosters for the products they represent as a part of the annual Michigan Week observance.
Agricultural queens and the organization sponsoring them are Apple Queen Gayle Robinson, 19, of Sparta, Michigan State Apple Commission; Bean Queen Marsha LaFave, 19, of Owendale, Michigan Bean Shippers Association; Blossom Queen Gerri Ann Olden, 18, of Mattawan, Blossomtime, Inc.; and Cherry Queen Geri Schmidt, 20, Farmington, Michigan Cherry Commission. Tour manager will be Joe E. Wells, administrative assistant in the Michigan Department of Agriculture; and the chaperon will be his wife, Marjorie, former newspaper editor.
Each of the four queens will be attractively costumed in dresses that televise well and, depict the agricultural product she represents, carrying with her a hand prop of the product.
Gov. George Romney will be on hand to wish the party success when they leave Lansing tomorrow afternoon. From Chicago they will continue by rail to Nashville, Tenn., for appearances Saturday including the popular radio program Grand Ole Opry.
Monday morning they will be guests of the Michigan State Society in Washington, D. C., at a Congressional breakfast in the dining room of the new Senate Office Building. They will give talks before the 300 attendants.
The party will go to New York City for a press conference and television and radio appearances before going to Boston to present Michigan beans to Massachusetts Gov. Peabody in the state house at "the home of the bean and the cod."

COMMENTS ON HAIRCUT
Tampa, Fla.—While in Florida for the Easter holidays, little John F. Kennedy Jr. claimed much attention and comment over his haircut, or was it the need of a haircut?
The White House said the First Lady favors her son's long style. Others thought differently. One barber said if he was a boy he should have had a boy's haircut. Some thought it terribly old-fashioned and others merely said he looked like he needed a haircut.

Importance of Chelsea Industry Pointed Out

has been milling wheat in the operated by the Holmes family, county for 115 years. Flour mills were located at New Hudson; Dexter and Selo in addition to Chelsea. The first Chelsea mill was built in 1879 and came into possession of the Holmes family around the turn of the century.

The present business has developed from a small operation serving local farmers and grocery stores and is now a firm of national prominence in the prepared flour mix industry. Its trade name "Jiffy" has become familiar all over the United States and in foreign markets. Extensive distribution of its Jiffy mixes takes place in England, particularly.

At present, the company is in the process of expanding its operations—27 new storage bins being under construction on Main St. The main plant is on North St.

Chelsea Products, Inc.

Chelsea Products, Inc., located on Buchanan St., now a division of the Dana Corporation, manufactures a complete line of power take-offs to operate any kind of special truck mounted equipment. The power take-offs are made in various sizes to fit the smallest or the largest type of truck.

Included in the firm's list of products are clutches, transmissions, auxiliaries, power towers, propeller shafts, universal joints, power-lock differentials, axles and frames and torque converters. The firm's products are sold throughout the world.

Chrysler Proving Grounds

Located three miles south of Chelsea, Chrysler Engineering Grounds has been a part of the community's thought since 1945 when secret buying of the 4,000-acre whetted the curiosity of people in this area and throughout the country. During the next five years while the firm was buying up the land the area became known far and wide as Chelsea's "Mystery Project."

The property now includes a high-speed test track—a 4.7-mile oval—an eight-mile-long "endurance" road, man-made hills and other installations for testing cars as well as an engineering workshop where test cars are equipped and studied.

Employees include graduate engineers, old-time car builders, and analysts, mechanics, highly skilled test drivers, maintenance men, office workers and others.

Detroit Abrasives Co.

Detroit Abrasives Co., located on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. at Four Mile Lake, recycles aluminum oxide abrasive grain from worn out grinding wheels. This abrasive is then reused by grinding wheel manufacturers in the production of new grinding wheels.

The company was established in Detroit in 1937. It operated there until moving to its present location in 1948.

Federal Screw Works

Federal Screw Works, as it is known today, is the outgrowth of a small beginning by Chelsea men in 1913. That year the "Chelsea Screw Co." began operation in a small plant now occupied by Daniels Motor Sales on Main St. at the railroad tracks. Founders of the original company were M. J. Dunkel and the late Conrad Lehman. There were 10 employees. The firm prospered, outgrew its original quarters and built a new plant, the first building of the present plant which now extends from South Main St. to Congdon St. in the center of the block between Summit and Lincoln Sts. The growing company merged with Federal Screw Works to become the "Chelsea Division" in 1928. Through the years it has remained one of Chelsea's principal industries.

The original building on the present site with its 4,000 square feet of floor space has grown to the present 55,000 square feet. The company has acquired a reputation as a producer of close tolerance, fine finish, hardenable metal components in addition to the general screw products.

Fortune Industries, Inc.

Leonard Fortune was a graduate chemical engineer with 15 years experience in the rubber industry when he entered the abrasive field on an option to purchase basis with E. A. Rice Co. in 1952. Eight months after joining the E. A. Rice Co., the company's plant burned down and his proposed partner did not wish to rebuild.

Leonard Fortune's brief experience in the abrasive business had introduced him to the then new and developing method of tumbling and vibratory finishing of metal parts of all kinds.

He was so impressed with the manufacturing efficiencies available in this new method of metal finishing that he determined to go into business for himself manufacturing abrasive materials suitable for use in the tumbling and vibratory metal finishing processing method.

For three years he worked with Hoover Ball & Bearing Co. as a night supervisor to provide a steady income while he worked during the days in developing the company now known as Fortune Industries, Inc.

In 1953 he purchased the site of the present factory. Here he built the first part of the present manufacturing facility containing originally only 2,000 sq. ft.

In the 10 years since that time three additions to the building have been made bringing the present floor space to 16,000 sq. ft. The business has shown an average growth rate of 37 percent per year for that same period of time.

Currently employing between 18 and 24 persons, Fortune Industries are shipping more than 5,000 pounds per day of a variety of abrasive products.

Because of continuous operation of a high temperature tunnel kiln necessary in its manufacturing processes, the company operates on a 24-hour basis seven days a week.

Jacklo Industries, Lima Co. Jacklo Industries and the Lima Co. are located at 11776 and 11778 Dexter-Chelsea Rd. The Lima Co. manufactures

Limalox abrasives—aluminum oxide abrasive grain for blasting, polishing, buffing, lapping and anti-slip surfaces.

Longworth Plating Service

Located at 110 Jackson St., Longworth Plating Service does electroplating for industry to industrial and government specifications—cadmium, tin, zinc, copper, nickel and chrome—in barrel or still plating.

Outdoor Fibre Products Co.

Outdoor Fibre Products Co. at 820 North Main St., founded only two years ago, employs 20 men. The company has the distinction of having had its "Paradome" portable plastic shelter chosen as "Michigan's 1953 Product of the Year."

Development work on the "Paradome" was done by John A. Taylor and George Brigham, both members of the new company of which Donald Bacon is chairman of the board, and James McDonnell president.

Production Machining Co.

Established in 1946 with two men employed, Production Machining Co. moved from a West Middle St. store building to its present plant at 524 North Main St. Fifteen men are now employed in the manufacture of tractor and implement parts.

Rockwell-Standard Corp.

Rockwell-Standard Corp., Spring Division, has operated in Chelsea since 1939 after its founding in Detroit in 1935.

Originally its principal products were mechanical springs, but soon wire forms, clips and small stampings were added to the product line. The company's line now includes, in addition, various small stampings.

Its customers include all the automobile producers, many major appliance, truck and agricultural equipment manufacturers, producers of building supplies, mechanical rubber products, conveying equipment, and manufacturers of many specialty items.

Tokheim Engineering Co.

Tokheim Engineering Co., as its name implies specializes in engineering services of a classified nature, including work for the government. The plant is located at 20401 Old US-12.

The William A. Thomas Co.

The William A. Thomas Co., at 1035 N. Fletcher Rd., manufactures a variety of screw machine products.

4-H Service Club

Considering Changes

In Charter, Goals

Washtenaw 4-H Service Club will be making final decisions on the club charter and year's goals at the meeting being held today.

(Thursday) in the County Building. All Service Club members were urged to attend. The group is meeting in Room 117A, at 8 p.m.

Ron Kuhl, Service Club president, announces that if the proposed changes are made they will drastically alter the eligibility requirements of the members, purposes of the club, establish a governing board of directors along with many minor changes. These changes have been under consideration by club members at the last two monthly meetings.

Only a mother can recognize the handwriting on the wall.

Paradome Wins

equipment at the plant, personnel in charge of the "Paradome" construction processes, and of the two sizes of "Paradomes" as set up on the firm's testing site were included for broadcasting later on newscasts.

The "Paradome" is described as "a portable plastic shelter which can be used for everything from a hunting lodge to a pony stable." It is a rigid, portable, fold-up camping house which can be taken anywhere. It comes in two models, one 13 feet in diameter for camping and another three times that size for commercial use.

The smaller model can be packed into a carton three feet wide, six feet long and nine inches thick, and can be erected in 20 minutes by two people. The shelter weighs 80 pounds and can be easily hauled in a station wagon or on top of a car. Any number of units can be joined together to form a larger shelter. The unit sells for about $250.

The 12-section wall unit is constructed of polyurethane insulated plastic, ¾ of an inch thick. The wall sections are connected every three feet with a flexible vinyl hinge that allows it to fold up like an accordion.

The roof and floor are reinforced plastic and there are three screened sliding windows and a hinged door. The shelter has no interior posts or braces, depending on tension for support. The transparent roof is supported by 12 aluminum rods which radiate from the center a spoke wheel.

The "Paradome" was originally developed by Moss and Associates, a research and development firm in Ann Arbor, for the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps. It was designed for use as an emergency air drop shelter, field eating room, and a headquarters division command post.

Outdoor Fibre Products formed as a sister company Central Fibre Products, an established Chelsea firm which had selling paper products to a motive industry for many years. Central Fibre was founded on Aug. 6, 1920.

Taylor, who is now general manager of Outdoor Fibre Products Co., says the firm is between 45 and 60 days in delivery of the "Paradome" units. They are being tested on the Coast for use by the U.S. Government's Forestry Service. He also, that the University of Arizona has purchased 12 units for use on anthropology expeditions.

One or more of the "Paradomes" will be on display in Chelsea throughout Michigan Week.

Michigan's grape crop totaled 68,000 tons—3rd in nation, and was worth $8.88 to growers. The old-fashioned cord is the prevailing variety. Most of the crop is grown in western counties with the crop going to wineries, juice plants and manufacturers.

Don't Worry About Rigid Exercising

Ann Arbor — It isn't eating, drinking and exercising when we feel like it that is bad. It's doing these things when Nature indicates that there is no need to do so that causes all the difficulties.

Says Larry F. Zeigler, University of Michigan chairman of graduate study in physical education.

"Today we encourage children to eat a balanced diet, and we like to see them have a healthy appetite, generally speaking," says Zeigler.

"On the other hand, we find far too many overweight adults. They are now being encouraged to abstain while keeping balance in their diets. Vast quantities of vitamin tablets and liquid low-calorie dietary supplements are consumed in the U.S. every day. The role of exercise in weight control has not received enough attention."

Zeigler also questions whether girls' constitutions are so different from those of boys that they don't need vigorous exercise.

"There can be no doubt, however, that women are most concerned with their appearance. At the present time physical education courses which cater to 'posture,' figure, and carriage have crowded sections at the university level at any rate."

"Television programs and magazine articles appear daily which encourage women to exercise regularly through the medium of a series of callisthenics," says Zeigler. "As fine as these may be, they represent an artificial approach to a problem that can be met in a much more natural way through games and sports."

Ann Arbor C. of C. Director To Speak For Local Group

William Bott, executive director of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce for the past seven years, will be the guest speaker at the May 21 meeting of the Chelsea Chapter of Commerce.

The dinner meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the Congregational church. Bott's talk here will center on the theme that it requires enthusiasm to build a community.

A graduate of Indiana State University, he came to his Ann Arbor post from Niles where he was manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

At Ann Arbor he has been active in promotion of the Research Park development, parking lot development, and beautification and revitalization of the downtown shopping area.

He has served on the board of the Ann Arbor United Fund and on the board of the Great Lakes Development Council. He has been active on the Washtenaw County Community College planning program and has served on the city's planning commission.

Paul G. Schaible, Jr., Chelsea Chamber of Commerce president, also announced that in addition to Tuesday evening's regular meeting there will be a 12 o'clock luncheon at the Congregational church Monday noon in connection with the Michigan Week Mayors' Exchange program when visitors from Mt. Morris will be in Chelsea.

Schaible said anyone wishing to attend the luncheon being sponsored by the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce may contact him at the bank for tickets.

Michigan Farm Youth Reports on Tour to Nepal

Wealth, physical comfort and democratic government don't guarantee complete personal freedom. In fact, the peasants of Nepal are in many ways freer than we Americans, believes a Michigan International Farm Youth Exchange delegate just back from that tiny Asian kingdom.

Robert Harter of Carson City lived as an adopted son of 13 rural Nepali families during six months as an "IFYE" Nepal, bordered on two sides by India, on the East by Sikkim, on the north by Tibet, has eight mountains over 26,000 feet high, including the famed Mount Everest.

The sincerity and warmth of Nepal impressed Bob so much that he hopes to return as a Peace Corps Volunteer. He found their subtle freedom hard to define.

A Michigan State student, Bob makes these observations: "They are not slaves of the clock. In fact, their basic idea of time differs from ours. They keep track of days, but they really don't know what you mean when you talk of time's passage within a day. They never worry about befluence prior to 1981." Bob "However, women are much same everywhere. I could tell my host 'mother' had a pa-

Nepal's varied topography from the mighty Himalayas north to a level plain only feet above sea level in the south. The agriculture reflects this variety. Crops include wheat, corn, buckwheat, potatoes, legumes much like soybeans, cane, hemp (raw material for rope), cotton, and even some fruit.

Goats are the main meat source though poor breeding and food limit their growth. Chickens becoming more common cause breeding stock is relatively cheap.

Sacred cows lumber in and out of the villages—a constant reminder that nearly two-thirds of the Nepali are Hindu. Buddhists count for about 30 percent, and one percent Christians. Limited almost entirely to the hill country.

"Perhaps the most valuable thing I learned was how cultures can differ while people remain basically the same," Bob concludes. "Americans must resist temptation to define things in terms of their concepts and values."

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

Saving A Vice or A Virtue?

One of the bases for the current wave of economic optimism is the release of gross national product figures for the first quarter of 1968. These turned out to be higher than expected, and a substantial rise over the quarter of 1967. Specifically, gross national product was running at an annual rate of $572 billion—$8.5 billion higher than in the preceding quarter.

The bulk of the increase—$5.5 billion—was accounted for by a step-up in consumer spending. The remainder of the increase occurred in the area of government spending. Neither domestic investment expenditures nor net exports showed any rise.

Those who are concerned with short-term changes in the rate of economic activity can take some satisfaction in these developments. There is no doubt that, given the present circumstances of the economy, consumer spending and government activity which would not otherwise take place. The question which remains to be asked is whether they can lead to the long-term growth which we hope for and need.

The rise in consumer spending was in part the product of a reduction in their rate of saving out of current income. In the first quarter of this year only 6.0 percent of after-tax personal income was saved—the lowest savings rate since the early part of 1960. Perhaps this particular figures should not be taken too seriously, since there are many questions which might be raised as to methods used in its calculation. Whether it is right or not, it is still appropriate to ask whether saving is a vice or a virtue from the point of view of the nation's economic progress.

From a short-term point of view a fall in saving means a corresponding rise in the demand for consumer goods and services. But from a broader perspective it is a reduction in the rate of accumulation of capital on which job-creating and efficiency-improving business investment depends.

Distortions in the relationship between costs and prices have created a profit-squeeze which has kept economic activity below ideal levels. This kind of problem is alleviated, although not solved, through the stimulation of spending by consumers or government. But the road to long-term growth lies in a different direction. We cannot grow merely through keeping existing productive facilities busy. If we are to increase the nation's productive potential, it must be through capital formation—and that requires saving.

Current development, although momentarily cheering, do not encourage the belief that we are making much progress toward solving the longer-range problem of barriers to saving and investment.

Nothing helps a public official more than a personal flunky on the government payroll.

Junior-Senior Prom Slated Saturday

General co-chairmen in charge of arrangements for the Chelsea High school junior-senior prom, to be held Saturday evening in the high school cafeteria, are the junior class president and vice-president, Mike Schrader and Lynn Harvey.

Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. and dancing to the music of the Jack Braun orchestra begins at 9 p.m. David Lindsay, instrumental music director of Chelsea schools, is one of the members of the orchestra.

High school faculty members and their wives and husbands and members of the junior and senior classes will attend the dinner; all other faculty members and their guests are invited to the dance. At the dinner, the invocation will be given by the Rev. Fr. Francis Maliszewski, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church. He will be introduced by Lynn Harvey, the toastmaster.

Mike Schrader will welcome the guests as president of the junior class and Jack Howard, senior class president, will respond.

Special speaker at the dinner is to be Stephen Hayden, high school teacher and FFA advisor.

Junior class advisors who have been assisting in preparations for this highlight of the school year are Mrs. Barbara Straker and James Bedford.

Sometimes Michigan maple syrup is a natural winner for quality, although 1967 figures show the state to be sixth in production. That year the state yield was 78,000 gallons.

State Police Post Plans Open House

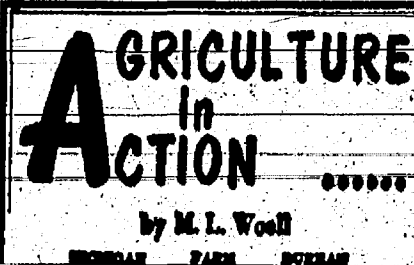

The Michigan State Police will hold their seventh annual observance of Michigan Week with an open house at all posts on Hospitality Day, May 21, according to Sergeant Wayne N. Jussila, commanding officer of the Ypsilanti post.

In addition, the state flag as well as the United States flag will be flown all during the week, which runs from May 19 to 25.

Visiting hours at the Ypsilanti post will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. A special welcome is extended to the public to examine the equipment and facilities and find out how the department operates. Visitors will be escorted on tours by officers.

"Visitors are always welcome at the post, but open house provides a special opportunity to find out how a post is operated," said Sgt. Jussila. "They will learn how we function and the services we perform. Questions are invited and there will be an exhibit."

"To those who may not know the location, the Ypsilanti post is situated at 230 E. Michigan Ave., and is easily identified. We'll be waiting to see you."

★ 'Dear Peasants' . . .

"Dear American Peasants" wrote a little French girl to a pen-pal U. S. farm family. Her simple acceptance of the word and all of its historical meaning for American agriculture, pinpoints a vast cultural difference.

Farmers are peasants in most parts of the world. Only in America is the man-on-the-land treated with the same respect as any other businessman.

In Russia, as a peasant, farmers enjoyed a large degree of freedom and individuality. Under communism the Russian peasant is only a faceless cog in the collective machine.

In much of Europe, the farmer remains a peasant. The feudal attitudes of the "gentry" toward him smacks of paternalism at best.

In India farmers are called "cultivators" but precious little of that vast land is truly cultivated. Tractors are rarities. Combines, unheard of. What good is heavy machinery on "farms" from three to five acres in size?

In much of Asia farmers remain the low man on the economic scale with social standing to match. He is the "coolie" in the rice paddy, the dung collector, the cane slasher. Bullock and hand-swung harvest flails are his tools.

In Africa, preparing a field for planting means burning. The ground is broken with pointed sticks and a few seeds dropped in the hole stamped shut with a bare foot. Erosion, insects, disease, all take their toll. The big one is erosion. Not understanding the difference between cause and effect the native blames "cultivation" for the worn-out soil. Jungles, drawn out pasture land in scars of shade, cattle fail to prosper.

According to Walter Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, herein lies the greatest challenge faced by American farmers.

"We must find means to help others to better use their own resources to raise themselves to our own level, or they will surely pull us down to theirs."

"Dear American Peasant . . . It could happen here. Political supply-management farm controls now pushed by Washington planners could be the first step."

State Traffic Toll Continues Sharp Upward Spiral

Michigan's traffic death toll continued to increase in April, with 129 persons killed, or 19 more than 110 in the same month last year, a gain of 17 percent, according to State Police provisional records reported by Commissioner Joseph A. Child.

It was the fourth consecutive month of increased deaths compared with the same months in 1962 and the ninth month of such increases in the past 12.

The provisional toll of 456 for the first four months this year is 67, or 17 percent, more than 389 for the corresponding 1962 period. Delayed death reports will add somewhat to the April and four-month tolls.

More complete figures for March showed 8,756 injured in 101,918 accidents. It was the seventeenth month in a row with an increase in injuries compared with the same months the previous year, and accidents increased in 15 of the last 16 months.

Estimated travel for the first two months, the latest information available, was 5.3 billion miles and the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was 3.7, both increases of nine per cent compared with the same 1962 period.

The acid test of business is not whether it is big or small; the real question is, "Is it honest?"

MRA AND MR. K

"Kommunist", the Moscow organ which gives the Party Line inside the Soviet Union, recently said this of Moral Re-Armament:

"MORAL RE-ARMAMENT is certainly the most prominent association which aims to save Western civilization from Communism. It has staff headquarters in Europe, Asia and America. These people hold assemblies in Latin America and even organize Pan-African conferences. . . . The leaders of Moral Re-Armament claim it is superior to capitalism and Communism. . . . At a time when the morals of the bourgeois world are bankrupt, the prophets of Moral Re-Armament say that the world requires an ideology to satisfy the longing for absolute standards, an ideology able to move the hearts of the privileged as well as the under-privileged. . . . They train officers, philosophers, film directors and move with 200, 300, or 400 people in strength with up-to-date technical equipment, radio transmitters, libraries. . . . Not long ago they issued a call to Communists through full pages in the press. In this the Communists are challenged to take part in 'the greatest revolution of all time.' These people say the problem is neither Communism nor capitalism, but the necessity to change human nature to the roots. They puff themselves up with pride and even suggest to Marxists they should change and take up an ideology that is for everybody. This is really the most bold stroke that has come from these propagandists of reconciliation and forgiveness."

As Mr. Khrushchev and his followers try to explain attitudes of Moral Re-Armament, it is important to state what Moral Re-Armament is for and what it is against.

FOR

INTELLIGENT NATIONAL SECURITY.

Sexual deviants in high places who protect potential spies.

A FREE PRESS.

Those who bully newspapermen for obeying their conscience. And newspapermen who abuse their liberty by distorting or suppressing news of Moral Re-Armament.

COMMUNISTS, FASCISTS, OTHER "ISTS", or anybody willing to pay the price of changing themselves in a revolutionary bid to change society.

Communism, Fascism, or any small perilous "ism" which abolishes God and sets race against race, class against class, color against color, man against man, in an atomic age.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA to be a pattern of unity and purpose for the world.

Debunkers of patriotism who deify the past, debase the present and destroy the future; a United States which criticizes other countries but is itself deeply divided.

A SOCIETY where no man is handicapped by color, race, background or upbringing, all have the chance of full, satisfying life.

Leaders of society and government who betray their trust, and use influence and power to force decadence upon us—bigots who try to persecute those unwilling to compromise or to cover up.

PEACE.

Pacifism, which seems to make war certain. Leaders who cry "peace" but create conditions that lead to war. Philosophers and fools who cry "peace" but train man to live like a beast, and so doom him to live like a beast, treat others like beasts, and march the path to slaughterhouse or zoo.

A REVOLUTION OF CHANGE—social, economic, national, universal, founded on personal change.

Reaction, which strives to change everybody else except itself.

FULL AND PERMANENT EMPLOYMENT in industry that meets the needs of humanity rather than brimming the pockets of a few while the bellies of many stay void.

Steely selfishness of right, acid bitterness of left which create class wars, lockouts, unofficial strikes and lead inevitably to national bankruptcy and war.

GOD'S STANDARD OF HONESTY that means no skeletons in any closet and a fair day's work for a fair day's wage.

Human "honesty" which publishes other people's shortcomings while covering up its own, tells men to get as much as they can in return for as little as possible.

GOD'S STANDARD OF ABSOLUTE PURITY.

Homosexuality, lesbianism, pornography, adultery, lies which say sin is no longer sin when enough people come to like it. Preoccupation with dirt which robs a nation of sweat and skill and helps to lose its markets.

MARRIAGES THAT LAST because they are a promise, for better, for worse, held sacred by partners and people.

Divorce by consent whether legalized or wangled.

GREAT ART in theater, films, television.

Producers and critics who uplift grime as genius and bar those who stand for decency, faith and honor.

GOD'S STANDARD OF UNSELFISHNESS which means the pursuit of a goal all humanity can accept and share—the remaking of the world based on government by men governed by God.

Human selfishness that elevates "number one" into the national idol, says all who refuse to worship it are squares.

GOD'S STANDARD OF LOVE that cures evil as well as for giving it.

Human "love" that tells men evil is all right, cannot be cured and so says there is nothing to forgive and that man can manage by himself.

TRUTH.

Lies invented by knaves, endorsed by the experts and swallowed by fools, which separate a nation from moral and spiritual rebirth.

GOD, CHRIST AS PERSONAL FRIEND AND SAVIOUR, a Church aflame with the Holy Spirit.

Those in and out of churches who use theology, science, personal compromise and position to rob the nations of true faith.

Cliff Of The Week

"That bum ain't nearly as good as I'm making him look!"

Child Molestation Cases Increase in Warm Months

Because complaints involving the molestation of small children increase in the warm weather months, Sgt. Raymond McConnell, commander of the Jackson State Police post, is urging parents to warn their youngsters against going anywhere with strangers.

Sergeant McConnell emphasized that this warning should be occasionally repeated to keep children on guard against accepting gifts or other lures from persons they do not know.

He said that State Police last year investigated 571 sex offense complaints, which include child molestation, throughout the state. While this was 22 fewer than 599 in 1967, the sergeant stressed that the records again showed that the offenses increased in the warm weather months.

High month last year was July with 68 and then in order, June, 65; Aug., 62; May, 57; Oct., 54; April, 52 and Sept., 48, with the remaining five months having 40 or less.

Sgt. McConnell observed that reluctance by parents to report child molestation incidents to the police for fear of embarrassing publicity is unwarranted. Names of minor children involved and their parents are not used by the press, radio or television except in situations involving abduction or murder.

He added that this reluctance conceals the actual total of molestation cases, tends to thwart preventive action by law enforcement agencies, and may even encourage the offender to strike again.

Sgt. McConnell emphasized that parents should impress their children with the importance of following cautions:

1. Don't accept any offers of money, candy or other gifts from strangers and don't go for walks or rides with them.
2. Report to your parents, police or teacher any persons acting suspiciously near you or your group.
3. Have playmates or companions with you while outdoors at play, going to or from school and when running errands. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings or isolated areas.
4. Don't loiter in or near public rest rooms because these are danger spots.
5. Don't let anyone persuade you to disobey these rules. Be sure to consult your parents, teacher or a police officer if you have a problem or a question concerning your safety away from home.

Sgt. McConnell suggested that children can help curb the child molesting problem by doing as follows:

1. Write down or memorize descriptive details of any persons who tries to molest you while outdoors, on the way to or from school or other places. Remember the color of eyes, hair, skin and any unusual features such as mustache, eyeglasses, tattoos, jewelry or any physical defects or scars.
2. If the stranger has a car, write down in some manner the license plate number and try to remember other details about the car such as color, make, and decorations.
3. Children should be advised that their suspicions can help protect themselves and other youngsters from harm, Sgt. McConnell concluded. He pointed out that any person investigated because of some child's complaint should not be offended if he has a proper explanation for his activities.

Beans are an internationally famous Michigan crop that totaled 7,527,000 hundred weight, worth $47 million to growers in 1967. Your state raised more than 99 percent of the total national crop of navy beans. These are the tiny, nearly-round white beans. Processors buy 75 per cent of Michigan's navy bean crop because Michigan navy beans will not mush when canned commercially.

Did you ever stop to think about it? Every time you see a new house go up or a new business come to life, you are watching the community grow.

This physical growth is easy to see. Not quite so obvious is a different kind of growth and progress.

Maybe you noticed it when you shopped local stores for your Easter needs... new styles, a wider selection, a range of prices to suit most every need and every budget.

Some of us may be so accustomed to progress and change that we don't really see things happening around us. If grandma hadn't been shopping for several years, don't you think she would be somewhat amazed at the selection and variety of merchandise that is now available? You can bet that she would!

This, too, is progress. It's a part of "better living" that we Americans enjoy in every aspect of community life. It's something to be thankful for!

Walkaway Club For For Those Whose Life Are Saved by Seat Belts

Lansing — From Canada comes an idea, for dramatizing the effectiveness of automobile seat belts.

It is the Walkaway club, an organization, whose only requirement for membership is that candidates show they "have had their lives saved by wearing a seat belt while riding in a motor vehicle."

State Police Post Plans Open House

The Michigan State Police will hold their seventh annual observance of Michigan Week with an open house at all posts on Hospitality Day, May 21, according to Sergeant Ray McConnell, commanding officer of the Jackson post.

In addition, the state flag as well as the United States flag will be flown all during the week, which runs from May 19 to 25.

Visiting hours at the Jackson post will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. A special welcome is extended to the public to examine the equipment and facilities and find out how the department operates. Visitors will be escorted on tours by officers.

"To those who may not know the location, the Jackson post is situated at M-106 & Parnell Rd. and is easily identified. We'll be waiting to see you."

Nursery School To Become Memorial to Mrs. F. Howlett

Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery parents who are in the process of purchasing the old Beach school as a permanent location for their nursery, have said the name of this school is to be changed from "Beach" to the "Florence Howlett School."

The idea of naming this school after Mrs. Howlett was the suggestion of Donald Bacon who contributed the initial amount toward the purchase of this property. The nursery parents thought this an excellent suggestion for Florence Bachman Howlett has stood for the epitome of education of children in this area for many years. She received an award in 1959 from Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, president of Eastern Michigan University, representing Pi Lambda Theta, national honor society of women in education, for her many years of service as a school teacher in Chelsea. Mrs. Howlett had received her life certificate from Eastern Michigan University in 1920 after she had been teaching since her own graduation from Chelsea High School in 1885. She had received her first teaching certificate from the county, called a "first-grade certificate" and on this had taught two years in rural school.

Mrs. Howlett taught English in Chelsea High School for 11 years; she taught the fourth grade for one year; then sixth grade and junior high subjects for 18 years and retired from the teaching profession in 1932. An ex-pupil of hers was quoted as saying, "One thing I shall always remember about

Mrs. Howlett is that she made us memorize the states and their capitals, the counties in Michigan and the townships in Washtenaw county. Many times I have used that information since and I silently thank her."

Mrs. Howlett was not born in this area, her birthplace is Dresden, N. Y., and the date was June 18, 1867. Her parents, James and Jeanette Kime Bachman, moved here in 1871 when she was four years old. Their family home was 134 E. Summit St., which is now the parsonage of St. Paul's church.

Mrs. Howlett for many years lived at 221 Railroad St. by herself, even though blind in later years, but resides now at the Colonial Manor Nursing home since she broke her hip in 1959. She has been a member of the Methodist Church since 1885.

Co-Operative Nursery parents are suggesting that former students of Mrs. Howlett, during her more than 30 years of teaching in Chelsea schools, help formulate this continuing memorial to her name by sending a donation to help buy the building at 11000 Chelsea-Dexter Rd. and have their names inscribed on a permanent roster to be kept in the building.

Anyone interested in contributing to the project may contact Mrs. George Winans, Mrs. George Palmer, or Mrs. William Herring.

Former Pastor Joins Theatre Workshop Staff

Announcement was made this week that Philip Rusten, former pastor of the Chelsea Congregational church, will be a member of the staff at the Homestead Acres Workshops program, a family project of Mrs. George P. Frisinger, owner-director, and her daughter and son, Sherry, David and Roger.

A teacher of English at the high school level, with a master's degree in education and in philosophy, Mr. Rusten served as a minister in Congregational churches for 15 years. He taught courses on the subject of creative thinking in the Lansing and Ann Arbor adult evening schools for a period of four years and has been a camp director of senior high youths as well as a Scout leader.

At Homestead Acres, during the summer day camp period, June 24 to July 20, he will direct the techniques of stagecraft as well as conduct a creative writing workshop in the farm and woods setting surrounded by nature.

Mrs. Frisinger also announced this week that Miss Janet O'Brien will direct the theatre arts workshop this summer. A teacher in the Ann Arbor schools, Miss O'Brien has had wide experience in the fields of drama and dance. She received a master's degree in theatre from the University of Michigan as well as a master's degree in elementary education from the same university.

The program included a toast to mothers by Linda Prentice; a toast to daughters by Mrs. Milton Barber; and an Edgar Guest poem, "She Has A Baby," by Mrs. Donald Harr.

Mrs. Hugh Gaddis, president of the WWS of the church presented African violet plants to the following: Mrs. Walter Vicary, oldest mother present; her granddaughter, Mrs. Fremont Boyer, the youngest mother attending; Mrs. George Beaman, the mother present with the most daughters (four); and Mrs. Janice Kelly of Wayne, daughter of Mrs. George Young, who came the longest distance to attend the banquet.

Sue Eisenbeiser formally initiated Into EMU Sorority.

Sue Eisenbeiser, a 1961 graduate of Chelsea High School, was formally initiated into the Beta Pi Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi on May 11 in McKenny Hall at Eastern Michigan University.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Eisenbeiser, of 14215 Riker Rd., she is a sophomore majoring in special education.

Alpha Omicron Pi was founded Jan. 2, 1897 at Barnard College, now a part of Columbia University, New York. The Beta Pi Chapter at Eastern Michigan University is one of 73 collegiate and 95 alumnae chapters located in the United States and Canada. A part of Michigan's big milk production goes to cheese makers in the state. Production in 1961 in Michigan was more than 5 million pounds of Italian style cheese in which the state is the fifth largest producer, more than 52 million pounds of cottage cheese in which we are fifth, and nearly 29 million pounds of American type cheese in which Michigan ranks eleventh in production.

Mrs. Leonard Loveland Guest at Birthday, Mother's Day Party

Mrs. Leonard Loveland was guest of honor at a combined Mothers' Day-birthday party held Saturday evening at the St. John's church parish hall at Franciscan.

A large birthday cake decorated with yellow roses and green leaves centered the table. Also used as table decoration was an arrangement of flowers sent from Hawaii by Mrs. Loveland's grandson, Pvt. Verland Loveland, stationed on Oahu.

Flowers and greens included are woodrose, anemone, silver morning glories, Norfolk Island pine leaves and caladium. Also sent to her by her grandson was a set of orchids. The flowers were sent by air and were beautifully fresh on arrival.

Another grandson of Mrs. Loveland in the service, Pfc. Robert Rentschler of Fort Knox, Ky., called on her Thursday before returning to duty.

At Saturday's dinner Mary and Barbara Loveland of Grass Lake presented piano music and Clifton Loveland, also of Grass Lake, played the guitar.

Mrs. Loveland received many gifts and cards.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Loveland and daughters of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Vinton and Edward O'Fere of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Loveland and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rentschler, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Loveland, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spink and family of Horton, Mrs. Gale Loveland and children, Mr. and Mrs. Dillman Wahl and daughter, Loretta, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Loveland and daughters.

Hall of Heroes

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans, whose next election is in 1965, is noticing a curious side-effect from the rise of the United Nations: People around the country are beginning to nominate U.N. figures for America's pantheon of heroes.

One letter to curator Freda T. Hildal even nominated a U.N. newspaper correspondent. Another suggested: "The beloved Dag Hammarskjold might be a likely candidate, or perhaps Adlai Stevenson, who is doing such a fine job for our country."

Mrs. Hildal must reply gently that two rules bar candidates nominated wholly on their U.N. records. One rule is that a candidate must be a native-born or naturalized American, which rules out Hammarskjold (a Swede) as well as any other Secretary-General who has ever served (one was a Norwegian and the other is Burmese). The second rule: A candidate must have been dead 25 years. The U.N. is only 17 years old.

However, the Hall of Fame's handbook points out that one non-American comes close to sharing honors with Mark Twain, Lincoln, Patrick Henry and others among Americans whose busts are enshrined in the colonnade on the New York University campus. Because of Lafayette's service in the American Revolution, his bust enjoys a special niche near—but not in—the colonnade.

Beverly Ann Brown, James D. Detling Wed at St. Mary's

Beverly Ann Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brown of Chelsea, and James Douglas Detling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Detling of Manchester, were united in marriage Saturday in a double-ring ceremony performed at St. Mary's Catholic Church by the Rev. Fr. Francis Mallon.

For her wedding the bride chose a street-length dress of white silk shantung with an alençon lace jacket. A crown of seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Irvin Gill of Manchester was the matron of honor, while David Detling served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner for the immediate members of the families of the couple was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The bride, a 1960 graduate of Chelsea High school, is employed at Grove's Variety store. The bridegroom attended Manchester High school and is with the U.S. Navy assigned to the carrier USS Kitty Hawk.

The couple left for a northern Michigan honeymoon, and upon their return, the bridegroom leaves for his ship at San Francisco, Calif., where he has seven months to serve before he is discharged. The new Mrs. Detling will remain in Chelsea.

Participate in Concert By U-M Youth Band

Laurie Reddeman, David Winans, and Tim Scholten were in Saline Sunday to participate in a concert given by the University of Michigan Extension Service Youth Band at Saline High school. The concert was directed by Arthur Katterjohn of Saline, director of the Youth Band.

The group meets throughout the winter on alternate Saturdays for practice sessions.

At Mealtime Teens Need Lion's Share

Who gets the extra slice of meat or the extra glass of milk at your house? If you have teen-agers in your family, they're the ones who need it most.

"Very often, they may require half again as much food as the parent," says Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University. Practically all 15-year-olds, for instance need more food than either parent. This means more of the highly nutritive foods as well as more total calories.

FFA Teams Rated Tops In Dairy, Livestock Judging

Chelsea was the only school in the state to receive gold awards in both dairy and livestock contests at the Future Farmers of America events at Michigan State University on Saturday, May 4, according to announcements made this week.

The top 10 to 15 percent of all teams entered are awarded gold awards while the next 10 to 15 percent are eligible for silver awards.

Members of the gold-award livestock judging team are Douglas Young, William Wenk and Edward Keizer. Individual awards of the three team members were a silver award for Keizer and gold awards for Young and Wenk.

On the dairy judging team were Donald Hinderer, Jerry Bristle and James Schiller. The team effort earned them a gold award while in individual judging they each received a silver award.

The livestock judging team completed in a group of 63 teams—11 of these received gold awards and the Saline team was the winner becoming eligible to represent Michigan in the national FFA contest.

A total of 73 teams were entered in dairy judging with the Cornma team placing first. Chelsea and 12 other teams in the group received gold awards.

It is believed this is the first a Chelsea team ever received a gold award at an FFA state contest—and two teams receiving such an award at the same time makes the honor doubly rewarding.

The success at the state level climaxes one of the best years in the history of the Chelsea FFA.

Stephen Hayden, FFA advisor and Howard Dresch accompanied the team members and four other FFA boys to the state contests.

The other boys who attended are William Watkins and David Clark, as "alternates," also David Hargrave and Richard McCalla who entered soil judging and meat judging events, respectively. Because they entered as individuals they did not qualify for awards.

Chelsea's FFA achievements for the 1962-63 school year include receiving a gold award at the district level in demonstration; gold awards at district and regional competition in parliamentary procedure; sixth place finish in state parliamentary procedure contest; three perfect scores in the DeKalb seed corn contest; and the two gold awards in the state livestock and dairy judging.

Nursery School Council Meets on MSU Campus

In co-operation with Michigan State University, the Michigan Council of Co-operative Nurseries held a conference May 13 and 14 at Kellogg Center on the East Lansing campus. The conference included workshops on administration, taxation, group living in the nursery, children's literature, art in the nursery, and wood working.

Those who attended from Chelsea Co-Op Nursery are Mrs. Raymond Steinbach, Mrs. William Starkweather, Mrs. Herbert Hinz, and the nursery school teacher, Mrs. Raymond Schaller.

The world will be a happier place when people learn to think of others—not for others.

THE LETTERBOX

TO THE EDITOR

Chelsea Standard

Dear Readers:

How long has it been since you readers have counted your blessings for living in America? Or would you rather be living under Krushchev or Castro rules?

This month of May has many special weeks, days and moments set aside by Acts of Congress, the presidents, and local laws.

May 12-18 is National Hospital Week. Why not call, visit or send a cheer card to some one who is sick or hospitalized that you know, even tho' may be slightly, this day. Then count your blessings that you are not one of them.

May 12 was Mother's Day. Did you remember yours? Each living person has or had a mother! If you didn't remember her in some small way, please do so very soon. It doesn't need to be a gift of cost, but a word or cheer, a little kindness or a good-night kiss, just to let her know you care. Then count your blessings by making every day a Mother's Day.

May 24 and 25 have been set aside for "Poppy Days," the prettiest flower of all, for Veterans' groups. "We honor the dead, by helping the living." What do you do as an American but just stand by and do nothing? The widows and orphans deprived of their husband and father through many services of war, our sick and disabled veterans in the countless hospitals all over the world, all need your help. When you drop your dimes to dollars in the poppy canisters held in the hands of faithful members of the veterans organizations, count your many blessings that you are not one of the above-mentioned, less fortunate than you, and need help.

Memorial Day will soon be here. A parade to our local cemetery will be in order. It is not a parade for fun and frolic. But a solemn time, set aside to honor our dead, truly a day for us to remember all of our departed loved ones. Let us forget—Fly our American Flag gently, and with pride. Then count your many blessings, that you can willingly stand by with hats off, as the parade goes by, without being ordered to do so.

Junior High Choir Plans Operetta

"Tom Sawyer," a three-act operetta, will be presented by the Chelsea Junior High School Choir next week Friday and Saturday evening, May 24 and 25 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Tom outwits his friends in the first act so that they do his job of whitewashing his Aunt Polly's fence.

Three scenes are presented in Act II, the graveyard scene, the very humorous funeral scene of three "quite live" pirates, and the cave scene when Tom and Becky get separated from their friends during a picnic in the cave.

Act III celebrates the return of our heroes, Tom and Huck, who relate a tale of terror when confronted with the dreadful "Injun Joe."

The cast of characters includes: Jan Hibbs as Tom Sawyer; Debbie Gorton as his Aunt Polly, Elizabeth Bower as his step-sister, Mary, Paul Schmale as his step-brother, Sid, Norman Hayes as Huck Finn, David Mottinger as Joe Harper, Barbara Watson as Becky Thatcher, Rebecca Clemons as Amy Lawrence, Jim Renz as Injun Joe, Mike Pollett as Pard, Russell Beeman as the Rev. Walters, Ted Pickles as Judge Thatcher, Curmit Gibson as Jim, the colored boy, Mike Roark as Billy, Lanny Patrick as Johnny, Ron Cumberly as Albert Temple, Dennis Hoover as Dr. Robinson, Gail Foster as Grace, Charlene Powers as Sally, Jean Parker as Suzie, Jan Koenigster as the Widow Douglas and Brian Dyson as Muff Potter.

Accompanying at the piano will be Joan Dietz and the director is David Sanborn. Student director is Jan Koenigster. Tickets will be sold only at the door.

Dexter Golfer Scores Ace At Inverness

"Why don't you look in the cup?" fellow golfers advised Gordon Clark, as he searched the area behind No. 5 green for his golf ball on Monday evening during the Dexter Open Golf League play. Sure enough—there sat the golf ball, with all the dignity and pomp to be accorded one which had received a belt from Gordon's "five iron" back at the tee 135 yards away. His first "Hole-in-one"—also the first hole-in-one for this league—and the first one for Inverness Golf Club this year.

Gordon shot a 38 for the round, had birdied the fourth hole, just prior to sinking his ace—the irony of the situation is that he actually lost the round to John Kishpaugh. Sometimes you just can't lose for winning. Bob Moffat and Don Julier were the other two members of the golf foursome.

A mail carrier at the post office in Ann Arbor, Gordon and "the Mrs." live on Mast Rd. and have a young son, Douglas, just two years old. They are building a new home on N. Territorial Rd.

Mrs. Clark was asked how long her husband had been playing golf. "Forever, I think," was her considered reply, as she referred the query to her golfer-husband for a more exacting answer.

HONORARY CITIZEN

As an honorary citizen of the United States, Sir Winston Churchill is the first person ever to receive this honor.

President Kennedy said, "By adding his name to our rolls, we meant to honor him—but his acceptance honors us far more. For no statement or proclamation can enrich his name now—the name of Sir Winston Churchill is already legend."

Many Boat Owners Fail To Register Craft with State

If you are one of the three out of five watercraft owners who have not re-registered your motorboat this year, you'd better act soon if you want to enjoy Michigan waters this May or June.

Since the current three-year registration period started on Jan. 1, the Department of State has registered 160,000 watercraft, or about 38 percent of the estimated 400,000 or more motorboat owners in Michigan.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, the unit which handles applications completes the process and gets the papers in the mail to the owner in about one week.

"If hot weather comes along and we are plagued with applications, it may slow down this present smooth flowing schedule," Hare said. "For that reason, I'd like to urge all motorboat owners to get their applications in now. If they wait until Memorial Day, they'll catch us in the big crush."

The new registration, which costs $3.00, is good for three years, from Jan. 1, 1963 to Dec. 31, 1965.

According to Hare, to enable boat owners to retain the MC numbers they already carry on their watercraft, the Department sent out pre-prepared applications to all boat owners whose craft had previously been registered.

All persons who received these prepared registration applications early this year were asked to return them at once with their $3.00 fee so that they could retain their present boat numbers.

Hare suggested that motorboat owners check their application card to see if the description of the watercraft, the boat registration number, and the owner's name is correct.

Where owners have changed addresses and have not notified the Department, they will not receive the application forms. They, as well as those who buy boats not previously registered, may pick up application blanks in any Department of State branch office, in hunting and fishing license outlets, at marine supply shops, or by writing directly to the Department of State, Lansing.

Upon receipt of the signed card and the registration fee, the Michigan Department of State mails two 8x2 1/2 inch black-and-white decals and a registration certificate, good until the end of 1965. The decals are to be fixed to the boat as visual evidence that the 1963-65 fee has been paid.

The receipts go into the Watercraft Law Enforcement Fund and are used for the administration of the law.

The State matches on a two-for-one basis, up to a maximum State contribution of $20,000, the money appropriated by counties for watercraft policing and regulating purposes.

"Just as the Department collects car weight taxes for highway use," Hare said, "so it collects these watercraft taxes for the benefit of everybody using Michigan waters."
