SEAT BELT CLINIC—Red Tibble, inside the car, Art Stoll, at left, and George Winchester, right, chairman of the Jaycees seat belt clinic, were installing seat belts in a car as the photographer happened by. The seat belt clinic, the second annual event sponsored by the Chelsea Jaycees, was held all day Saturday and on Sunday afternoon at the Stop & Shop supermarket parking lot at M-32 and Old US-12. The project continues the coming week-end—from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and from noon until 5 p.m. Sunday. Last year Chelsea Jaycees installed a total of 1,260 seat belts at their two week-end sessions. That accomplishment earned them a first-place award at the state Jaycee convention two weeks ago and brought them recognition among Jaycee groups throughout the nation as having sponsored the largest clinic conducted by any Jaycee group.

Richard Scott Freeman Will Graduate from Military College Course

Mrs. Scott Freeman and daughter, Lynn, are leaving today (Wednesday, May 29) to attend the 11th commencement service at Gordon Military College, Barnsville, Ga., where Richard Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Freeman, is concluding a two-year Junior College course. He will return to the college next year.

The Freemans' daughter, Lynn, will return in the fall to St. Mary's Academy at Monroe where she will be a junior.

Baccalaureate Service Set For Sunday

Baccalaureate services Sunday evening at Chelsea High school auditorium will open commencement activities for 94 seniors in the Class of 1963.

Class night is scheduled for Wednesday, June 5; commencement for Friday, June 7; and the annual alumni banquet for Saturday, June 8.

Class night and graduation ceremonies will take place in the high school gymnasium while the alumni banquet will be held in the high school cafeteria.

The Rev. John R. Smucker, vicar of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, will be the speaker at the baccalaureate service, his topic being "Prologue to a Question Mark."

Other clergymen who will participate in the service are the Rev. J. Tracy Luke of St. John's Church at Francisco and Rogers Corners, who will give the invocation; the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, pastor of St. Paul's United Church of Christ, who will preside in leading the litany; and the Rev. William Silvernail of the Waterloo Village church, who is to read the scripture.

Also participating will be the Rev. John Jolley, pastor of Salem Grove and North Lake Methodist churches, who will lead in prayer; and the Rev. S. D. Kinde, pastor of the Methodist church, who will give the benediction as presiding minister.

The High School choir, under the direction of the vocal music director, David Sanborn, will sing the anthem "O Man, List to His Sighing," by Heinrich Isaac.

Organist for the service is to be Mrs. Carl Mayer.

School Board Briefs

At the May 21 meeting of the Chelsea School District Board of Education Robert Daniels, president of the Kiwanis club, presented an offer from the club to pay $2,400 for lights for the baseball field at Chelsea High school; also, an offer on behalf of the Village Council, to install the lights at no cost to the school for labor.

The offer was accepted by the School Board and installation is to take place in the near future.

Also passed at the meeting was a motion to blacktop a portion of the parking lot at the high school, the first step in eventual blacktopping of the entire parking lot. This first blacktop area will be 90x180 feet in size and will provide the space for two outdoor basketball courts, using portable backstops. The work will be done when street blacktopping equipment is in Chelsea for the summer street improvement program; this makes for considerable saving in the cost of the improvement.

The election board workers for the June 10 election were named as follows: Leigh Beach, Nina Greening, Mrs. Erwin Haisel, Mrs. M. J. Baxter, Earl Beeman, Mrs. Herman Ashley, Mrs. Raymond Manzel, Mrs. Florence Mayer, Mrs. Louis Bernath and, at the special request of the Board of Education, Charles Cameron.

The Board granted the Chelsea Recreation Commission the use of "not more" than three buses for use in the summer recreation swimming program at Whitmore Lake. Use of the buses was cleared with legal counsel, the Recreation Commission having agreed to pay all costs including insurance.

Two new school buses were purchased, action being taken to secure a 36-passenger Chevrolet bus from Spaulding Chevrolet Sales and a 30-passenger Ford from Palmer Motor Sales. Both are to be equipped with Superior bodies.

There was discussion pertaining to the possible building of track facilities at the High school, space for this having been included in original school plans and plotting. Trustees Donald Albert, Clarence Vogel and Robert Foster were instructed to investigate the possibility of doing this and make a report at the next meeting of the School Board.

Memorial Day Ceremonies Set For Thursday

Poppy Day Sales Total Nearly $360

Mrs. Paul Frayer, chairman, and Mrs. Leon Shutes, co-chairmen of the Poppy Day sale of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31, American Legion Auxiliary, reported that proceeds of the sale amounted to $360. She said the money will be used for veteran rehabilitation and child care work of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Volunteers who worked during the day included 19 Auxiliary members, seven Junior Auxiliary members and one Legion Post member.

Headquarters for both the Legion Auxiliary and the Ladies' Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4074 who conducted their sale the same day, was in the lobby of Sylvan Hotel.

Mrs. Fred Klink, Sr., VFW Auxiliary could not be reached for an official report of the proceeds of the Buddy Poppy sale; however, it was believed the amount reached a total of $190 plus.

Parade To Form At Parking Lot On Park Street

George Winans, officer of the day, and J. Vincent Burg, Jr., sergeant-at-arms, for the Memorial Day observance here are reminding people of the area to participate in the parade at 10 a.m. Thursday.

Former service men and women are particularly urged to march in the parade, they said.

The Rev. John R. Smucker, vicar of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, will speak at the ceremony at the cemetery and the Rev. Scott Westerman will give the invocation and the benediction.

Assembly for the parade will take place at the Park St. parking lot beginning at 9 a.m.

Because of street work being done on East Middle St., Winans said, the parade route might need to be changed—directly east on Park St. to Madison, and then north to the cemetery; however, if East Middle St. is in condition to be used the parade will follow the customary route.

A special reminder is given about display of the American flags along the parade route, particularly also, that proper respect be shown by onlookers as the American flag passes—placing the right hand over the heart and standing at attention.

during their stay, forming mythical cities, townships, counties, etc., holding elections, in keeping with rules and regulations governing actual elections, after a period of active campaigning by candidates and electing one boy as "governor."

Boys interested in music are encouraged to bring their musical instruments and join the Boys' State Band and those interested in sports have opportunities to enjoy participation as time permits.

One of the highlights of the week's activities is the "inauguration" of the Wolverine Boys' State governor. Whenever possible, the governor of Michigan attends the inauguration as guest speaker.

Fourth Graders at St. Mary's School Buy New Library Books

Fourth grade pupils at St. Mary's school and their teacher, Mrs. William Collins, have purchased a number of new books for their school library.

With the help of their room mothers they held a very successful bake sale May 22 at the school and it was from the proceeds of the bake sale that funds for the purchase of the books were obtained.

Coach R. Taylor Leaving Chelsea

Robert M. Taylor, identified with the athletic program of Chelsea High school since the fall of 1956, leaves Chelsea at the end of the school year to accept a position as head basketball coach at Waterford Township High school near Pontiac.

For the past year he has been head football coach at Chelsea High school, assuming that position when Alan Conklin, under whom he had served as assistant coach, was named Junior High school principal.

Taylor has been head basketball coach at Chelsea since coming here in 1956 and until this season, had also coached baseball and for one year was track coach as well.

He has taught physical education and driver education from the fall of 1960 until June of 1962 he taught industrial arts; and from the fall of 1962 until the present has concentrated entirely on physical education teaching in addition to his coaching duties.

Taylor is the founder of the Chelsea Holiday Basketball Tournament held here the past four years. His Chelsea team won the tournament the second year (1960) and lost to Stockbridge by one point in the 1962 tournament.

The 1959 tournament winner was Saline High and the 1961 winner, Jackson St. Mary's.

His 1962 football team was undefeated in conference play and was co-champion with Saline in the Washtenaw Conference.

He will be succeeded here by James Bedford who was assistant coach, while Jack Carl, junior varsity coach this year will be his assistant with the varsity team.

Taylor's move to the Waterford position takes him to a class "A" school system; Chelsea is in Class "B."

A graduate of Western Michigan University in 1954, Taylor was head basketball coach at Springfield before coming to Chelsea. He also coached baseball and football here.

The Taylors have made their home here at 540 Chandler St.; they are members of the Methodist church where Mrs. Taylor serves as a Sunday school teacher. Mrs. Taylor also leads a Brownie troop and is a member of Kinder Klub, a Child Study club group.

The Taylors' family includes two daughters, Tracey, eight years old, in the second grade; and Kimberly, five, in the kindergarten at South school; and four-year-old Philip.

Memorial Day Set Aside Officially To Commemorate Dead of All Wars

When the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General Jonathan A. Logan, issued the order designating May 30, 1868, as a day for decorating the graves of the men who had fallen in the war between the states, he expressed the hope that it would be observed "from year to year while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of the departed."

The custom of this paying homage to the war dead, which had originated in the South and represented at that time only spontaneous local activity on the part of a relatively few women and children, thus came into being.

The appeal of such an annual commemoration to large numbers of people was soon demonstrated throughout the reunited Republic.

By 1900, President McKinley, himself a Union veteran, declared, "The Army of Grant and the Army of Lee are together. They are one now in faith, in hope, in fraternity, in purpose, and in invincible patriotism."

Memorial Day, observed annually since that time, reminds us each year that human freedom has been purchased at a tremendous price and that anything we would have here in this country must be obtained and preserved by hard work, sacrifice and consecrated effort.

Negro Demonstrators Ill Advised in Resorting to Mob Pressure Tactics

Whatever one's personal views on the riots in Alabama of late, the unpleasant fact Americans must face is that the United States is suffering tremendously in the public relations field over all the world as a result of these events.

It may well be true that along with Negroes who seek greater freedoms and privileges, in these riots and demonstrations are undoubtedly Communist organizers and minority group organizers who are more interested in publicity, dues and memberships than in quiet results.

The Communists have been exploiting Negro movements in the United States for a long time, of course, and they delight in such events as those which have been occurring in Alabama.

Any southerner who could see and read and hear the news treatment given these events all over the world would appreciate the extent of the tragedy which has been in progress. Pictures showing police dogs in use gain the automatic sympathy of practically all outsiders.

The truth is, of course, that authorities were justified in using the dogs and that they did not abuse demonstrators more than they did to their credit. But the public relations battle in the eyes of the world has been lost and the sooner the incidents can be ended the better it will be for not only the South but the entire United States.

The use of federal troops which were called in, is always unfortunate. No doubt agitating groups feel they have succeeded whenever they can get the federal government to send in troops and take over local control. If federal troops are used often this will prove a big incentive for more and more demonstrations and more and more demands for federal troops.

Local authorities, we believe, have a perfect right to bar demonstrations which are likely to get out of hand or likely to cause disorder or rioting. Our government is not the kind which acts as a result of rioting; demonstration en masse or the Latin kind of emotional disorder which brings about government change in many countries.

Consequently, mass demonstrations which set off counter pressures and sentiments and emotions, must not be allowed to become the ruling force in the South or anywhere else in our nation, no matter what cause or how just anyone may feel the cause to be.

Such tactics will lead to serious bloodshed sooner than we would like if they are continued, to greater division of the races and a continuous indictment by the rest of the civilized world. Ours is a government by law and legal changes and mob pressures are volatile and dangerous instruments with which to force changes.

The task ahead, on this Memorial Day, is for us to prevent any more events like those in Alabama—and that is an obligation that falls equally on all citizens, white and black.

Help for Mentally Ill

Shift of emphasis in the care of mentally ill is foreseen under a law enacted by the legislature this year.

The so-called community mental health services was sponsored by Pontiac Republican Sen. Farrell E. Roberts and seven of his colleagues.

In signing the measure into law, Gov. George Romney lauded the intent of the bill, saying it will "give local citizens more power to establish the kind of mental health programs their communities need."

Similar measures were proposed in previous sessions during the administration of Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson on recommendation of State Mental Health Director Charles W. Wages. Each failed to gain the needed Republican support in the legislature.

Roberts' bill would allow boards of supervisors in one or more counties to establish a 12-man community mental health board. Creation of the board would be contingent on majority approval of the County Board of Supervisors.

Any program devised by the community board would be submitted to the State Mental Health Department for approval. It would provide the state would match local funds, up to 60 percent of the cost of the program.

Romney agreed with the sponsors of the bill, who contended the community program would "stretch dollars earmarked for mental health by permitting local units to channel the funds into the services which are most essential."

Pull and Haul

Michigan stands in the middle in an area of controversy in the transportation industry.

This state is one of eight which limit the length of trucks to 55 feet. Twenty other states have either 60 or 65-foot limitations, and the remaining 22 states and the District of Columbia restrict the length to 50 feet.

The controversy arises, as far as Michigan is concerned, over battles between the trucking and rail interests to corner their share of the auto haul-away business.

In the last several legislative sessions in Lansing, the pressure has been great to boost the truck length to 60 feet, allowing three additional feet of overhang. This would give the auto-haulaways a number of legislators the length should be increased, to allow the transportation of more autos at a time and thus decrease the transportation costs.

Rail interests, however, gained support in their fight against the proposal from tourist-minded legislators who argued against the bill for safety reasons. The railroad people themselves contend such an extension would virtually eliminate them from the auto transport business because their costs would not change.

The truck length proposal has been killed in the last three sessions, but pressure becomes greater each year and is expected to continue.

A Dead Issue?

Civil Defense efforts throughout the state are progressing, but not nearly as fast as State Police Captain Richard L. Nicolen had hoped.

Nicolen, named deputy director of the Civil Defense division when it was put under the State Police, is urging a speedup in the license.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

My cousin Hiram mailed me a clipping last week explaining all about the new Kennedy budget that the Congress is debating. This piece tells everything in detail, four-square and gospel clear, it's the first time I've known for certain what was heads and what was tails in this matter.

Hiram is a backwoods Republican, but the man doing the explaining in this piece is a White House expert named Walter Heller and I feel pretty sure he is a Harvard Democrat, so this balance off the piece and makes it non-partisan and a authority on the subject.

He says our 8 billion dollar debt in 1962 was bad, in fact it was and he calls it a "deficit of weakness." And the reason he says it was bad is on account of it was a mistake, that the Government planned a surplus in 1962 and anything the Government didn't plan is bad. But he explains that by increasing the debt in 1963 what we got is a "deficit of strength" on account of hiking spending and cutting taxes and the Government planning it that way. He says anything the Government plans is good. Furthermore, he explains that with a 8 billion dollar deficit many factories and workmen is idle, but with a "deficit of strength" they would be put to work.

I was explaining these matters to the fellows at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doellittle allowed as how everything was now crystal clear to him. He said we couldn't get this country moving ahead by just borrowing the same amount every year, if we borrowed 8 billion last, 10 billion sounded like a pretty reasonable figger to him for 1963. Ed is all for progress, Mister Editor.

got around to working on the Kennedy budget yet, said all his time has been taken up lately trying to figger out a item in one of his pamphlets from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Zeke had the item in his pocket and he got it out and read it to the fellows.

The Department of Agriculture is advising how four can live cheaper than one. They got it figured, according to this item, that if a family buys in big amounts, a man and his old lady and two youngsters can eat for 5 per cent less than three, 10 per cent less than two and a full 20 per cent cheaper than one.

These experts claims a small family can't take advantage of big quantity prices on account of they got caught with too much spoilage and left-overs. Clem Webster said this was very valuable information and that he aimed to start the new system right away. He figured he'd fall in about the 8 per cent class on account of his old lady was a little heavy on the eating. But he reported the spoilage and left-overs wouldn't be no problem, he'd just give 'em to the hogs.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

ing agreements with building owners for public fallout shelters.

Under a recent decision in Washington, building owners who sign license agreements permitting use of their structures for public shelters receive certificates of commendation from the U. S. Office of Civil Defense.

About 2,000 properties designed to accommodate more than one million persons are now under license agreements, Nicolen said. Another 1,700 buildings have been approved for licensing, but agreements are yet to be signed.

Each building considered for public shelter use is inspected by teams of architects and engineers under the direction of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Nicolen said the number of building owners participating in the program was very encouraging, but the program is not progressing as rapidly as it should be.

Huron River Parks Ready For Holiday

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, today announced that its three parks in Washtenaw county are now ready for use during the Memorial Day Holiday.

Included are Hudson Mills Metropolitan, Delhi Metropolitan Park and Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park. These three scenic parks are located along the Huron River near Dexter.

Each has park tables, stoves, shelters and playground equipment as well as sanitary facilities.

Delhi, located 3 1/2 miles east of Dexter along Huron River Dr., is best-known for its famous rapids. This year there is an additional picnic area known as the West Delhi picnic area.

To reach this area visitors may take the road directly across from the "Delhi Metropolitan Park" sign and travel for about 1/4 mile. Groups will find this a scenic spot for picnics and outings.

Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park, located two miles northwest of Ann Arbor, has several shelters, many tables and is ideal sites for picnics. It also borders the Huron River.

Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, a 600-acre site on the Huron River, has its entrance along Huron Territorial Rd., between the Dexter-Pinekey trail and Huron River Dr. A nature trail, scenic lagoon, rustic shelter and bridge plus heavily wooded areas are the major facilities at this beautiful, rustic park.

Washtenaw county residents are within an hour's ride to Kensington Metropolitan Park south-east of Brighton (via US-24, Freeway) or Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, near Belleville, with its entrance on Hannan Rd. 1/4 mile south of I-94 between Belleville and Detroit Metropolitan Airport. MILK EXPERT

What! A milk expert who doesn't even know milk gives you 26 nutrients! Doesn't know that milk and dairy products provide 28% of our food, yet take only 19% of our food dollar. Has never heard milk is nature's most nearly perfect food!

Well, there are all kinds of milk experts. Some know what to say about milk. Others know what to do with it.

Just proves one thing. You don't have to know all the "reasons why" to be a milk expert. Tastes good. Reason enough.

Alumni Association To Hear Report on Scholarship Fund

Dr. J. V. Fisher is scheduled to report at the Chelsea Alumni banquet Saturday, June 8, on the originally designated Florence Howlett Memorial Fund as head of the committee who at last year's banquet were backed by a vote of the alumni present to change the name to Chelsea Alumni Memorial Educational Fund. At that time a contribution of $100 was voted for the fund by the Alumni Association.

Also to be given at this year's banquet is a report on progress of the campaign to raise funds to pay for the Chelsea Co-Operative Nursery school in the former Beach school building on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. Purchase of the school building as a permanent facility for the nursery was instituted recently with an initial contribution of $500 from Donald Bacon who requested that the school be named in honor of Florence Howlett, a Chelsea school teacher for many years. She is now a patient at Colonial Manor Nursing Home.

The officers and committees in charge of arrangements for the banquet to be held in the Chelsea High school cafeteria, are holding a final meeting Friday evening, May 31, in the office of William Rademacher. The meeting is to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The special program planned for the pleasure of those who attend the banquet is entitled "Mr. and Mrs. Alumni Speaking."

Those who plan to attend should make reservations at once by contacting Mrs. George Winans or Honey with biscuits, or Michigan honey in just about any way you serve it, is food for the gods.

In production Michigan was 11th in the nation, with 8,112,000 pounds, worth $1,347,000. Not very sensational. Perhaps not. What is impressive though, is the fact that the state's 104,000 colonies of bees, that produce honey and wax pollinate about $160 million worth of orchard and field crops in buzzing around on their business calls.

Open House for Seniors

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Bojanowski will entertain at open house Sunday afternoon from 4 to 6 p.m. in honor of their son Darrell, a member of the 1963 graduating class of Chelsea High school. They are inviting all the seniors to attend the open house at their Long Lake home.

NORTHERN CORN ROOTWORM has been causing serious damage in Michigan during the past five years. Gordon Guyer, chairman of Michigan State University's entomology department, says crop rotation or band applications of one pound of actual heptachlor or aldrin per acre can help prevent the corn root damage shown on the right. At present, Guyer and other MSU entomologists are looking for other methods of controlling the rootworm—a pest which could cut corn yields by as much as 30 percent.

Red Cross Chapter Elects Officers at Annual Meeting

James M. Davis, director of the International Center of the University of Michigan, was re-elected to a second term as chapter chairman of the Washtenaw County Red Cross at its annual meeting held May 21 in Ann Arbor.

Also re-elected for repeat terms were James F. Beamer and Mrs. Owen J. Cleary both as vice-chairmen; and Roy E. Weber as treasurer. Mrs. Richard Mann was elected secretary, succeeding Mrs. Fred Ulrich, Jr.

The Red Cross Building Drive Committee reported that to date a total of $184,000 had been received toward the construction of the new Red Cross Operations Center at 2729 Packard Rd. between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti. The chapter headquarters is expected to shift to the new location some time this summer, the committee reported.

Mrs. James D. Prendergast, chairman of volunteers, presented a film report on the construction of the new center so all the members could see how it was progressing. Mrs. Prendergast noted that this project was designed by a local firm, is being built by a local company and that it will be used by local volunteers to perform services on a county-wide basis. The finance chairman thanked the several United Funds and Community Chests for their help in establishing the Red Cross budget for 1964.

As part of the program saluting the 100th anniversary of the founding of the International Red

THANK YOU

Many thanks to all who so kindly remembered me during my stay in the hospital and after my return. The cards, calls and kindnesses extended are deeply appreciated.

Sincerely,

Layonda Hayes.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of John E. Meahan who passed away three years ago May 20, 1960.

Three years have passed since our loved one was taken from our home on earth, to dwell with our God above.

Don't ask us if we miss him for in our home there is such a vacant place. For we miss hearing his footsteps, and seeing his smiling face. But we go on, hiding our heartache behind our smiles.

Though the flowers we place upon your grave may wither and decay, our love for you will never fade away. And in our minds the 20th of May will remain, for we lost our loved one on that fateful day.

Sadly missed by his sister, Linda, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Reule.

THANK YOU

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 31 wishes first to thank Mike Apel for use of the Sylvan Hotel lobby as headquarters for the Poppy Day sales; we wish also to thank everyone in our community, The Chelsea Standard for the publicity, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary for their co-operation, and special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Kern for use of their home after the poppy day sales in which we continued our work of the day.

Mrs. Paul Frayer, chairman.
Mrs. Leon Shutes, co-chairman.

CARD OF THANKS

I find no words adequate to express my gratitude and affection to my wonderfully friends, relatives and neighbors for the sympathy expressed many thoughtful ways for the death of my husband.

Ily joins me in extending thanks to Olive Lodge No. F&AM, Olive Chapter No. OES, the Rev. S. D. Kline, Burghard Funeral Home as to all who sent cards, flowers and messages; those who in food and all who did so kind things and were so kind that kindness and thought can never be forgotten.

Mrs. William J. Apel

Driving in Car Makes Distances Seem Less Than They Really Are

Riding in a car makes the world around you seem smaller. You can notice this phenomenon when you stop your car along the side of the road and look out at the landscape suddenly seems more spacious than it did when you were inside the car. The reason for this is probably the motion of the car tends to compress the distances ahead of you and make them seem smaller. A good example of this occurs when you travel on the highway. The right edge of the pavement is a line of steel stakes, each with a reflector mounted on it. Most people will guess the distance between the stakes at somewhere between 50 and 100 feet. Actually, they're 200 feet apart — enough room between them for three average-size houses. An even more striking example of how distances can fool a person occurs on the black and white center stripes of highways. From a moving car, the alternate black and white sections each look to be six or eight feet long. Actually, the white sections are 20 feet long and the black sections 30 feet.

Rare Songbirds Fly 1,500 Miles To Spend Summers in Michigan

Lansing — Somewhere between Michigan and the far-off Bahama Islands, about 1,000 rare members of the songbird family are winging their way northward on an annual journey that will cover nearly 1,500 miles.

Their destination: The east-central sector of this state's northern lower peninsula. Their estimated time of arrival: Early this month, possibly around May 10-15 with latecomers expected during the following two weeks or so. Their collective name: The Kirtland's warbler.

Highly regarded among ornithologists and bird watchers, this rare songbird might well have been named the Michigan warbler; it has never been found nesting in any other state.

Anyone bent on adding the Kirtland's warbler to his list of bird sightings in the United States will have to seek out dense, young stands of jack pine in the northern lower peninsula's east-central area. For this is where the bird makes its home during the warm-weather months.

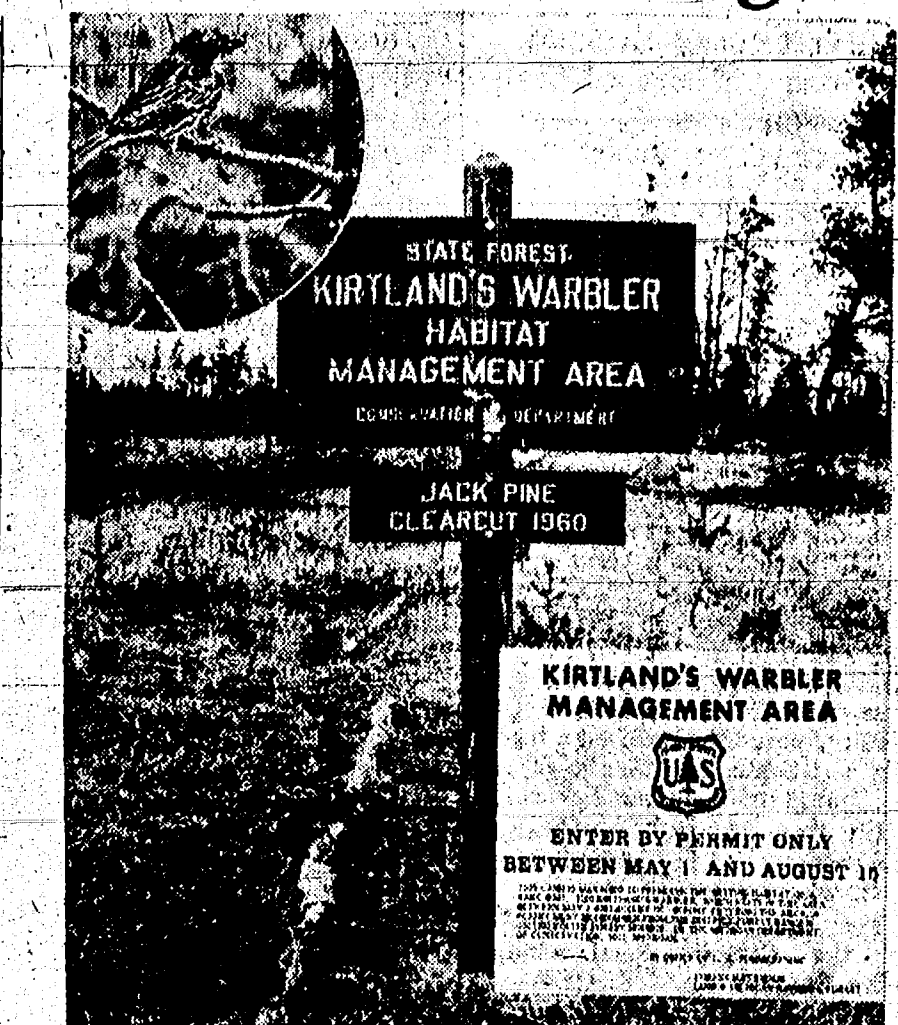

Surveys run in 1981 indicated that the bird's summer range takes in parts of Alcona, Crawford, Isabella, Kalamazoo, Montcalm, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, and Roscommon counties.

In recent summers, Ogemaw and Oscoda counties have hosted more than half of the world's population of 1,000 or less Kirtland's warblers.

The Kirtland's warbler itself is a wee bit of a bird, smaller than an English sparrow. The average adult weighs only about 14 grams. Although not as colorful as some of its fine-feathered friends, the Kirtland's warbler is a handsome little fellow. It is bluish-gray above, streaked yellow below, with two white wing bars.

The bird's best trademarks are its loud, full-throated song and its wagging tail which never seems to stop.

As mentioned earlier, the Kirtland's warbler nests almost exclusively in dense stands of young jack pine, five to 15 feet tall which are mixed with more open patches of brush and scattered trees. Small wonder

There's going to be a pleasant sort of "homecoming" ceremony after they arrive from their winter retreats in the Bahama Islands. On June 1, a 400-acre block of Huron National Forest lands will be dedicated near Mack Lake by the U.S. Forest Service. The Conservation Department has already set aside three separate tracts of state-owned jackpine lands, totaling 11 square miles in Crawford, Ogemaw, and Oscoda counties, lands which are being managed first and foremost for Kirtland's warbler nesting habitat. Management of these areas includes periodic cuttings, controlled burns, and other practices which also will be carried out on the federal forest lands. These management programs of the Department and U.S. Forest Service are believed to be the first undertaken for the welfare of an endangered non-game species. Although tours are planned as part of the June 1 dedication ceremony at Mio, both agencies hope future visits to these areas will be kept at a minimum to allow the birds as much nesting privacy as possible. —Mich. Dept. of Conservation in cooperation with U.S. Forest Service this bird is also called the jack-pine warbler.

Although it has a strong preference for the natural growth of jack pines, in recent years some birds have been found nesting in red pine plantations where conditions were similar to the favored habitat.

Male warblers are first to arrive in Michigan each May and, in typical songbird fashion, they establish "territories" or nesting grounds which are jealously defended. They chase other Kirtland's warblers that fly near them and at intervals, fill the air with the distinctive sound of their liquid, bubbling song.

Females begin returning to Michigan shortly after the first males arrive, and choose nesting territories staked out by their mates-to-be. Pre-nesting time lasts about two weeks, or until late May. Nests are made on the ground, usually within a few inches of a jack pine. Favorite spots are hollows rimmed by heavy plant growth.

During the nesting and incubation period, males sing with gusto and persistently, often from perches where they can readily be seen. Most young birds are hatched between middle and late June.

Posing a major threat to the warbler's annual production is the brown-headed cowbird. The female cowbird keeps close tabs on the warbler's nest-building. When the work is done and the nest is clear, Mrs. Cowbird not only removes the warbler's eggs but slyly lays her own in the nest, covering up her crime and leaving the female Kirtland to incubate the eggs.

Thus, many an unsuspecting warbler has found her efforts have gone for naught and, ironically, more cowbirds have been raised to increase the problem.

Like other small songbirds, the Kirtland's warbler is short-lived. Its average life span is only about two years. Consequently, two or three bad nesting years could be disastrous for this little bird whose population is already considered dangerously low.

Washtenaw County Leads State in Doctor-Patient Ratio

The May issue of "The Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society" lists Washtenaw county first among Michigan counties in the ratio of physicians to population.

In an article on the physician shortage in the nation and plans to augment medical training in Michigan, a chart of registered physicians by counties in 1983 gives 642 for Washtenaw, or an average of one physician per 280 persons.

The chart also shows an increase of 21 medical doctors in the county since last year and 51 more than in 1981.

Kent county (Grand Rapids) is second with one physician per 330 persons—but the number of medical doctors is on the decrease in that county, with 15 fewer registered physicians this year than last.

The article points out that Dr. Luther L. Terry, U. S. surgeon general, says that adequate medical care takes about one physician for every 1,000 people—but only a few Michigan counties, including Washtenaw, meet or better this ratio.

According to an article entitled "About Physician Distribution in Michigan, and Nation, rural counties, particularly in the northern part of the state suffer from the greatest shortages.

Keweenaw county in the Upper Peninsula which had two registered physicians in 1981 lists no doctors for its 2,417 people either in 1982 or 1983.

Arenac with a population of 9,800, Leelanau with 9,321, Baraga with 7,151, Alcona with 4,444 list one registered physician each.

Also noted in the Journal was an article on the Washtenaw County Hospital by Ann Arbor Drs. Ralph L. Brandt and Edwin M. Smith and Miss Edith J. Brown, case worker of the Washtenaw County Welfare Department, entitled "The Patient Discharge Dilemma at the County Hospital." Another article by Dr. R. Wallace Teed, Ann Arbor physician, is entitled "Prescription for Public Relations."

Winans said wearing of uniforms is not necessary—participation in the memorial parade and the service at the cemetery are the important factors.

Flags should be displayed, not only along the parade route, but throughout the community, on Memorial Day.

Bass Fishing Season Will Open June 1

Lansing — Michigan's 1963 bass fishing season opens June 1 in inland waters, the Great Lakes, and the St. Marys river.

June 1 marks the starting date for angling with these fighting fish in Lake St. Clair, the St. Clair and Detroit rivers. This later opening is in deference to Canadian regulations for these waters.

Bass fishing regulations will be the same as last year in all Michigan waters, according to the Conservation Department. All catches 10 inches and longer are keepers; the daily or possession limit remains at five, singly or combined.

At the season's onset, large-mouths are found in three to 10 feet of water in lily pad and bull-rush areas, around stumps and submerged logs, and similar types of cover. Most any artificial lure works well on these fish during the early season, and both casting and spinning are in order, according to the Department's free folder, "Michigan Fish and How to Catch Them."

Some of the state's best small-mouth bass fishing occurs just after the season starts, when these fish are still spawning in the shallow water of lakes, near mouths of rivers, and in bays of the Great Lakes. During this period, they will strike small to medium plugs, spoons, poppers, bugs and streamers cast into the shallows.

Copies of the fishing folder are available through the Department's Publications Room in Lansing, its field offices, and fishing license dealers.

Junior High Student Council Sends $100 Contribution to CARE

The Chelsea Junior High School Student Council this week made a contribution of $100 to CARE, Inc., designating that the money be divided among five countries: Ecuador, Hong Kong, India, Nigeria and Pakistan.

Each year it has been the custom of the Junior High Student Council to buy something for the school with money raised by means of various projects; such things as record players, tape recorders, ping pong table and others are among those provided. This year, however, the Student Council voted to do something for someone else.

Principal source of the money was the sale of potato chips during noon lunch hours; a little of it also was realized from profits on assemblies and a pencil vending machine.

James Hoffmeyer, Student Council advisor at the Junior High school, was delegated the responsibility for sending the check which he did during the past week.

Four Men Appear in Sylvan Justice Court On Fishing Violations

Four men appeared before Justice of the Peace Chandler Rogers the past week on fishing violation charges.

Bill Robbins of Rank Rd., pleaded guilty to failing to remove an ice fishing shanty from Mill Lake before the ice gave way. The shanty was taken out of the water on May 18 according to records of Conservation Officer Donley Boyer.

Robbins was assessed fine and costs of $10.

Three others paid $13 fine and costs for fishing without a license. They are Ronald E. Murphy of Detroit, apprehended May 4 on the Huron River; John C. Perryman of Ypsilanti, apprehended May 18 on the Huron River; and Alfred J. Brancheau of Flint, on the Raisin River May 18.

Sixty percent of Michigan's carrot production is for the fresh market; the remainder goes to soup, manufacturers, baby food makers, and other processors.

Clear Lake Camp Property Purchased by Co-Op Society

The former Lansing Boy Scout camp at Clear Lake—a 92-acre area with 1,420 feet of lake frontage—and the former Straub's Land-lake property of 114 acres with 800 feet of lake frontage, has been purchased by a newly-formed Ann Arbor Co-Operative Society as a recreation facility for members of the organization all of whom will be residents of the Ann Arbor area.

Memberships will be available to 600 families, or about 2,000 persons, for use of the area for camping, picnicking, boating, fishing, swimming and other outdoor recreation pastimes, according to Richard Webster, chairman of the society's recreation committee.

The dining hall and lodges of the former Boy Scout camp will be made available to Ann Arbor area community groups on a rental basis for meeting and other events, he said. The camp is equipped to feed 150 persons at a time from its kitchen.

Membership on a first come first serve basis has been set at $30, plus a $1 membership fee for joining the society and purchase of one share of dividend-paying common stock in the co-operative for $10, for a total of $41, Webster said.

Peter Forsythe, a member of the new camp's board of directors, said the 9,000-member society which formerly operated a co-operative food store here is affiliated with Automation... Is It Really Automatic?

The word "automation," although it was first coined several years ago, began to come into common usage in the early 1950's. Actually it had a rather specific meaning, but it has gradually come to be applied to practically every device of technological change which replaces human labor. In the past the word has come to be used for a whole collection of economic fallacies. Only a few of them can be discussed in this space.

One fallacy is the notion that, because of the advent of automation, we are in a new era when technological change and the ensuing labor displacement are occurring much more rapidly than ever before. But the payoff on the technological change is the gain in output per man-hour — productivity. During the five years, 1957-1962, output per man-hour in the private economy increased at an annual rate of 2.7 percent. This is not too much different from the 2.3 percent rate of increase for the entire period 1900-1962. During the 1920's the rate was higher—3.1 percent.

A second fallacy is the idea that we can load all sorts of penalties, restrictions and extra costs on those who automate without seriously slowing down the technological progress of the nation. Such a view is the basis for feather-bedding, and if carried to an extreme it can practically destroy the incentive for installing improved methods of production.

The most dangerous fallacy of all is the belief that automation is itself automatic—that it proceeds under its own momentum in a direction and at a rate that are unrelated to economic conditions. The fact is that automated equipment is not installed until a careful calculation of costs indicates that there is a worth-while saving to be made by the change-over. In many cases, the reason for the installation of new production methods is not a new technological discovery but a change in cost relationships.

Practically all new office buildings and apartment houses are now equipped with automatic elevators, and older buildings are being rapidly converted to their use. The reason for this is not that a major technological breakthrough has occurred — engineers have known how to provide automatic elevator service for a long time. The chief reason for the change is that the wages and fringe benefits of elevator operators have been pushed up to the point where it has become more economical to install the very expensive automatic equipment.

This has occurred at a time when there is severe unemployment among the unskilled people who might very well qualify for jobs as elevator operators. You are not necessarily doing a man a favor by making it more expensive to hire him—the prospective employer may have other alternatives.

A Presbyterian clergyman, the Reverend John Monteith, organized the First Protestant Society of Detroit in October 1816. A few years later the Society became the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit.

County Receives $539,121 From State Highway Fund

The State Highway Department has started distributing first quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said net receipts of the Highway Fund during January, February and March of 1963, amounted to $87,311,745, an increase of $5,580,076 compared to the same period of 1962.

Major reason for the increase was that sale of 1963 license tabs was up considerably compared to license sales during the same period of last year when many motorists purchased their 1962 license plates—first new plates in three years—earlier than usual.

Washtenaw county's share totaled $539,121 while Dexter received $8,100, and Chelsea's share was $10,725.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund. After deduction of collection costs and the Waterways Commission's share, the money is distributed under provisions of state law which provide that 47 percent goes to the State Highway Department for use on state highways.

35 percent to the state's 83 counties for use on county roads, and 18 percent to 511 incorporated cities and villages for their roads and streets.

Under this formula, the State Highway Department will receive $41,036,520 as its share of the second quarter collections, while the counties will receive $30,559,100 and the incorporated cities and villages will get $15,716,114.

Tigers Are Well-Educated Group of Young Ball Players

The 1963 Tigers are a well-educated group. Fourteen of the 25 players currently on the Detroit roster have attended college. Five received college degrees and Bubba Phillips has two—bachelor of science and master of arts from the University of Southern Mississippi, where he was a two-sport star and where he was an off-season member of the athletic staff.

Other degree holders are: Jim Bunning, Xavier University; Norm Cash, Sul Ross (Tex.) State; Bill Paul, University of Cincinnati; and Mike Roark, Boston College. Bob Anderson (Western Michigan) and Bill Freehan (University of Michigan) attend college in the off-season and expect to receive degrees.

The Tigers were broadly experienced in sports before reaching the major leagues.

Freehan played baseball in high school, 10 in college. Hank Aguirre, one who did not play high school baseball, explains: "I was so little they wouldn't let me go out for the team." The southpaw hurler now stands 6-1 and weighs 200. Freehan, Mickey Lolich and Dick McAuliffe are the only Tigers young enough to have Little League backgrounds.

Fourteen played for American Legion teams before signing professional contracts and 10 had experience in winter baseball in the Caribbean after becoming pros.

Common Errors Slow Down Many Boat Registrations

Hundreds of motorboat owners fail to get a prompt return on the motorboat registrations they mail to Lansing because they make one or two common errors in their applications.

Secretary of State James M. Hare points out that these incorrect applications are not only frustrating to the boat owner who wants to get his craft into the water but are costly to the State as well.

"One unfortunate error," Hare said, "is that many applications come in on obsolete forms in use three years ago when the MC series of numeral identifications began. At that time the law required a $2.00 fee. New legislation has now raised the fee to $3.00 for a three-year registration. When a boat owner sends in a check for $2.00, we must get in touch with him and remind him to send the extra dollar."

"The law," Hare added, "forbids us to process the registration until we have the proper fee in our office. All of this correspondence takes time, costs money, and makes for a lot of needless delay and concern. For that reason, I'd like to remind boat owners that the 1963-65 application blank is of a yellowish hue, that registration costs $3.00 and that it is good for three years."

Other common errors which delay processing are:

1. Requests for transfer of motorboat ownership and renewal of registrations are sent on old certificates with only $1.00 remittance. The watercraft registration unit should receive a remittance of $4.00, $1.00 for transfer and $3.00 for renewal.

The Michigan Department of State is processing more than 3,000 applications each day. About half of Michigan's 400,000 motorboat owners have re-registered their craft for the 1963-65 registration period.

What a mighty flood Michigan's 5,491 million pounds of milk last year would produce. Milk checks that went to farmers in 1962 exceeded $200 million, the greatest single source of farm income in the state. Even so, Michigan is No. 7 among the states in production. About 55 percent of the milk of Michigan goes to the fluid market, the rest into manufactured dairy products.

Ann Arbor—Tuberculosis remains one of Michigan's most important diseases and the leading infectious killer of young adults according to a panel of three University of Michigan doctors.

Everyday in Michigan approximately 10 new cases of tuberculosis are discovered.

The U-M physicians—Dr. George Lowrey of pediatrics and Dr. Robert Green and Dr. Nancy Furstenberg of internal medicine—appeared on a state-wide broadcast co-sponsored by the University and the State Medical Society.

They said the germ that causes TB is somewhat unique. It apparently cannot exist outside the human body; so there has been an unbroken chain of infection from one person to another throughout the entire history of the disease.

"If the chain can be broken, we can eliminate TB once and for all," they explained.

"A child with a positive TB skin test is a leading clue as to where TB patients may be. His contacts are limited to parents, close relatives, a babysitter, or possibly a teacher. This is the reason why tuberculin surveys in the schools are so important."

TB symptoms may include cough, weight loss, fatigue and lack of energy. But since these could signal many different diseases, the doctors recommend a Tuberculin test—a small "shot" injected under the outer surface for detecting TB.

"Not everyone with a positive tuberculin test has active TB. The germ can live in the body for years without becoming active. Therefore, one may become infected the day after birth and not have significant clinical TB until the 30th year of life," report the doctors.

Treatment today consists of drugs for a prolonged period of time, occasionally combined with surgery on the lungs. After treatment of TB virtually every patient today returns to his normal occupation.

Compared to the past, long periods of hospitalization and invalidism are usually not necessary, the doctors said.

He who lives at high tension usually blows a fuse.

Inside SPORT

By Al Silverman, Editor, Sport Magazine

THE REMARKABLE GORDIE HOWE: It was at the beginning of the 1962-63 hockey season and a writer was talking to Detroit Red Wings coach Sid Abel about how long Howe might be able to endure in the National Hockey League. "Gordie will move to defense eventually," Abel said. "As long as he can score goals up front, he'll stay up front. But there'll probably be times this winter when we'll move him back."

With Sid Abel's information in hand, the writer went to see Gordie Howe, in his 16th NHL season, professed to be puzzled. "Abel's holding out on me," Gordie said. "I have played defense on occasion, when some of the boys were hurt. I was horsefeathers, too. But I still think I can contribute at forward."

Gordie Howe contributed. At season's end his accumulation of goals and assists totaled 85, and Howe had won his sixth NHL scoring title. And the old man, the 34-year-old man who would some day have to play defense to conserve his strength, was the leading candidate for his fifth Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player. Time was standing quiet for Gordie Howe.

MICKY AND YOGI—Mickey Mantle in the May issue of SPORT writes about Yogi Berra and what Berra has meant to the Yankees over the years. Mickey also writes about the fun he has had with Yogi over the years. "One day," Mickey notes, "Yogi was in left field at the Cleveland ballpark. They have a cutoff fence in the outfield that's about Yogi's height. Well, he almost made a great catch going up the fence for a long drive. But the ball ticked off his glove and dropped over the fence for a home run."

When the inning was over, Yogi came over to me and said, Hey, Mick, ya think I shoulda had that ball?

time I tried to tackle him, he me." Ex-major-league umpire Jones is firmly convinced that ballplayers regard umpires as human relics. As proof, Red an incident in a game he once working behind the when he was hit on the right shoulder by a foul tip. The who threw the ball was Bob and Jones started rubbing bone as if he'd been shot. he was massaging away, his met those of Bob Ortiz, who kneeling on deck and laughing. "You got hit over the huh Red?" asked Ortiz. "No, you jerk, the heart's here," said Red pointing to left side. "Not on an umpire," said "Heart always on wrong side."

Cottage Cheese Rated As Valuable Aid In Menu Planning

Ann Arbor—Busy homemakers seeking time-saving and economical additions to menus should add nutritious cottage cheese to their grocery list, suggest dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

This versatile cheese may be prepared in many quick, taste-tempting ways. A slice of toast spread with cottage cheese, topped with smooth, mellow-flavored American cheese and popped under the broiler for five minutes, is a gourmet's delight—and within the budget of every homemaker.

The addition of hot, zesty vegetable soup or a cold, green salad makes a perfect meal for those interested in saving time and money.

The U-M dietitians also suggest:—A refreshing combination salad of cottage cheese mixed with sour cream and added to a variety of vegetables, such as sliced cucumber and radishes—or try it with several fresh fruits.

—Mixing one quarter cup of cottage cheese with each egg before scrambling.

Business World Needs More Creative Thinkers

East Lansing — Business needs to develop more creative thinkers, an Indiana University management professor said in a recent speech at Michigan State University.

"Technology," said Dr. John F. Mee, "is now being created faster than it can be applied in business enterprise."

"It is my hope that the businessman will be able to contribute as much good to society as doctors, lawyers, teachers, artists and scientists—and receive comparable recognition for his professional services."

save you time in the kitchen, pennies in your pocketbook and provide nutrition for your family at the same time, say the U-M dietitians.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his Gettysburg office with grandson David, son of Colonel John S. D. Eisenhower.

This grandfather teaches his grandson about freedom. Who is teaching your children to speak up for freedom?

Where did you learn about freedom? In school, to be sure, you learned the dates and places and battles. Here and there, a great teacher brought them to life, made you see vividly what freedom means.

But didn't you learn most about freedom by living it from day to day in your own home? You saw your family make its own way, dependent upon no one but itself. You heard your parents speak up freely. You saw them vote, act, work, quit, spend, save, move, stay, freely. And when your father told you why he chose to do as he did, deciding for himself the way to go, you understood better why other men took their weapons and walked to Lexington and Concord.

What can you teach about freedom? What have you to say to your children and grandchildren about the American Way? They'll be up to their necks in the fight for freedom soon; the Communists will see to that. Whether they win the fight depends upon how strongly they want to win, upon how strongly they believe in freedom. And they must understand enough about freedom not to give it away piecemeal at home, so that they are left with the forms and not the realities of freedom. Freedom can be taken away, as every Pole and Hungarian knows. Cubans know it can be lost in other ways.

Perhaps, you've tried to share your thoughts about freedom, but find it hard to express them. Then let the Freedoms Foundation help you. Learn how to make your effort count in the struggle against Communism. Learn how to think up, speak up and act up for freedom every day, in your own backyard.

Freedoms Foundation is a nonprofit, nonsectarian organization devoted solely to the preservation of the American Way. Dwight D. Eisenhower is Chairman. Your contribution of ten, five, even one dollar will help in the fight for freedom. It will bring you membership in Freedoms Foundation, and your copy of "Freedoms Handbook," a tool to help you work effectively for freedom.

Advertising Impact Told by MSU Professor

East Lansing—The impact of advertising and the benefit it can have on society imposes definite obligations on the people who prepare advertising messages, upon the people who communicate the messages and upon the public as consumers.

These views were expressed in a recent lecture by John W. Crawford, chairman of Michigan State University's advertising department, and the Division of Mass Communications.

The major area of responsibility concerns the motives of advertisers, according to Crawford. "Motives govern behavior," he said.

INVITATION TO MASSACRE—Governor George Romney receives an invitation to attend a massacre! Pretty Indiana, Michelle Adams of Petoskey, extends the invitation to the Governor to attend the Lacrosse-Fort Michillimackinac Bicentennial celebration at the Straits area communities of Mackinaw City, Petoskey, and Cheboygan, this Memorial Day weekend, May 30 through June 2. The celebration will include parades, canoe races, lacrosse games, muzzle loaders, shoots, etc., and will be climaxed by a reenactment of the 200-year-old historically famous massacre of a British garrison at Fort Michillimackinac which, now restored, is located on the site of modern-day Mackinaw City. The Governor indicated his intention to attend the Bicentennial celebration.

1963 Fertilizer Recommendations Given by MSU

Any farmer knows there are many differences in soils. This is one of the first things he checks—whether he is renting or buying a farm.

He knows that productive soil can spell the difference between profit and loss. While the virgin soils of pioneer times may have required little treatment, today's land must be carefully managed.

And, even after two centuries of use, many soils produce three to four times more than they did in the days of the ox team and wooden plow.

Soil management is a complex science. And thanks to the knowledge of soil scientists, yields of 100-150 bushels corn, 60 bushels soybeans and 500 bushels potatoes are not uncommon. Much of the reason for climbing yields has been the continued use of chemical fertilizers.

While soils may look like "just dirt" to many people, there are many differences. Soil experts of the Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture and researchers and extension specialists at Michigan State University have classified Michigan soils into "soil management groups."

There are about 150 of these groups over the state. Each designation describes such things as texture, slope, erosion, color and drainage. For each of these groups, scientists have worked out fertilizer recommendations for all major crops based on four levels of available soil nutrients.

Soils and horticultural scientists have developed recommendations for 24 different soil combinations for the common field crops and eight for major vegetables. While these serve as guides, the soil test is the best way to assure accurate fertilizer application.

The recommendations are published in "Fertilizer Recommendations for Michigan Crops." Extension Bulletin E-189 is available from all county Cooperative Extension Service offices or the Bulletin Room, 10 Agricultural Hall, MSU, East Lansing.

TV'S GOOD POINT

Bay Side, N.Y.—Television is helpful—sometimes!

It was bedtime for a 4-year-old boy and his mother entered with storybook, cigarette and ashtray. When she sat on the bed, the boy said: "Go on out in the living room and finish that cigarette, Mom. I don't want any fires in here."

The warning of a TV fireman who appears on a local children's program had struck home.

AGRICULTURE In ACTION

by M. L. Wadsworth

Death Takes No Holiday

The Memorial Day week-end, the long 4th of July holiday that many people take, when coupled with the Labor Day week-end, are bound to add up to blood and tears for many accident bound motorists.

If past records are any indication, many of the victims will be those from rural areas who are unused to freeway traffic, or become involved as they leave the slower-paced farm communities to become caught up in the rush of modern high-speed traffic.

Farm Bureau safety experts repeat that loose gravel, animals on the road, "tailgating" tired drivers and failure to estimate proper slow-down distances all are part of the accident picture.

In the fervent hope that re-checking the list of things we all know (but most fail to do), will have some effect, they reiterate: Never, but never, swerve suddenly to avoid striking a pet. Much as we love cats and dogs, we love children more. Sudden swerves are sudden death.

One wonderful farm wife, her baby son, and her mother, are no more, because she drove the pickup truck to close to the concrete road edge where the wheel caught in loose gravel. Instead of "riding it out" with a graduate pull-back onto the road, she pulled hard on the wheel, popped back on to the concrete, out of control and into a head-on collision with a huge, loaded truck.

"Stop often... rest, eat, sleep, walk around, do anything to wake up," is the advice of Highway Patrol people. Don't set heavy schedules—with deadline dates at the end. Do you really think those who wait begrudge the half-hour extra that saves your life?

Just as cars reach full travel speed through gradual acceleration, they should go through an equal "de-acceleration" period when coming off freeways into villages or rural communities. This failure to de-accelerate is blamed by insurance companies for a great share of the recent rash of exit accidents. Tail-gate driving causes "turtling" and cars are not designed to ride on top of each other. Drivers benumbed by cruising speeds on superhighways, sail off at the same high speeds into a ditch.

Enough advice? Not quite. If you must take a "belt" for the road, make sure it's a safety-belt.

Webelos...

Webelos Den VI will not have a regular meeting Saturday, June 1; however, all Webelos and their parents are to meet Thursday, May 30, at 8:45 a.m. (sharp) at 169 East Summit St., for a flag raising ceremony.

After the flag-raising ceremony Webelos and their leader will leave to participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Miss Hell' Contest Under Consideration As Part of Satan's Holiday

Hell, Mich., has been invited to participate in the "Miss World" contest. The Michigan finals will be held in Detroit on July 27 with the winner to go to Huntington, W. Va., in August for the U.S. finals. The winner of this contest will then be flown to London, England, for a chance for the "Miss World" crown.

Conditions of the contest call for entries in the age group 17 to 27 years, married or single. Each contestant will be required to appear in an evening gown and in a bathing suit but a talent bit will not be required.

In the event the contest is sponsored locally, it will be held as a finale for the Satans Holiday celebration on June 30 at 5 p.m. The local winner will go to Detroit for the Michigan final.

If the "Miss Hell" contest is held, it will be open to anyone in the State of Michigan and not only to local residents. Any contestant in the Chelsea, Brighton, Howell, Dexter, Pinckney, Stockbridge, Ann Arbor, areas is invited to write the Hell Chamber of Commerce for entry blanks.

BUSY CORNER

The interchange of the Ford and Lodge freeways in Detroit is one of the world's busiest highway intersections. An average of nearly 300,000 cars a day travel through the tri-level interchange.

Nature Center Opened in Huron-Clinton Metro Park

A new Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority Nature Center was opened Saturday near Belleville. It will supplement the one opened in 1958 at Kensington Metropolitan Park southeast of Brighton and visited by more than 277,000 persons through 1962.

Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays only until June 17. On and after this date the building will be open daily Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. During Memorial Day week-end the Nature Center will be open daily 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.—Thursday through Sunday, June 2.

The new facility, located approximately 22 miles southeast of Ann Arbor is a geodesic dome-type building made of plywood and painted a light cream color. The unique design is made of triangular plywood sections and was selected because of its relatively economical costs, interior spaciousness and attractive appearance. It is 39 feet in diameter, costs $3,400 and was assembled by park work crews.

Exhibits will include examples of plant and animal life in southeastern Michigan, such as a few "cold-blooded" animals (turtles, frogs and toads), electric matching games showing birds, trees, flowers and mammals, wood samples of bark and a large unoccupied hornet's nest.

Lee Curtis, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, a science teacher for several years, has been appointed the seasonal Park Naturalist. He resides in Dexter.

William F. Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, states this new facility is provided to meet the increasing interest in nature study and the demand for guided nature hikes by youth groups, day camp and municipal recreation groups, scout units and other civic organizations using the park.

Appointments for guided nature hikes at the park may be obtained by contacting the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit 26 (Phone 961-5865). Requests for naturalist services must usually be made several weeks in advance.

BOY, 11, SAVES BABY

Bitburg, Germany—The United States Air Force credited the quick thinking of 11-year-old James Thomas with saving a serviceman's baby.

Young Thomas noticed the baby playing in the window of an apartment two floors up, as the child fell the boy leaped over the railing, curled one foot under the lower bar for support and snatched the baby as it plunged downward. The baby suffered no apparent harm.

Michigan had the nation's first superintendent of public instruction and was the first state to assure every child the right to a tax-paid high school education. The state's educational system has been used as a model by many states.

President Kennedy Opposed to Corporal Punishment in Schools

In view of recent programs at parent group meetings relative to methods of discipline in schools, the story of President Kennedy's views as expressed in reports of a recent news conference in Washington are of special interest.

The report states that when it comes to disciplining children, the President declares himself flatly against physical punishment in the schools.

However, he is very strong in support of discipline at home, as the teachers won't have to carry the burden. The same view about "strong discipline at home" was expressed by the President in a recent PTO meeting in Chelsea.

The report of the news conference continues as follows:

"When we talk about corporal punishment," said Kennedy, who has two young children, "we have to think about our own children, and we are rather reluctant to have other people administering punishment to our own children."

"Because we are reluctant, it puts special obligation on us to maintain order and to send children out from our homes who accept the idea of discipline," the President said.

"So," he concluded, "I would not be for corporal punishment in the school, but I would be for every strong discipline at home, so we don't place an unfair burden upon the teachers."

Nigeria's Economic Prospects Are Good

East Lansing — "Nigeria's prospects for successful economic development are good," reports Dr. Alfred L. Edwards of the Michigan State University economics department.

Dr. Edwards, who has served as advisor and visiting professor at the University of Nigeria, says the African nation needs foreign capital to carry out its development.

Nigeria, he said, "has most of the natural resources required for balanced growth. In terms of population it is by far the largest country in Africa and has therefore a potentially large internal market for the goods and services that it will be capable of producing."

Economists contend that few motorists are rolling their own.

Police Patrols Increased For Holiday

Special State Police traffic patrols will be in effect for the four and one-half day Memorial holiday week-end period beginning at noon Wednesday, May 29, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

He warned, however, that in view of a heavy increase in deaths, injuries and accidents this year it is especially important that motorists be alert to their driving responsibilities over the holiday.

Maximum State Police patrol coverage will be provided from 3 p.m. each day when traffic is expected to be the heaviest. Extra attention will be given to sections with high-accident records.

Detectives where available will take over post desk assignments to relieve uniformed officers for patrol duty. All pass days for Thursday, May 30, have been cancelled. In addition, 100 National Guard members will assist troopers from 2 to 11 p.m. on each of the days of May 29 and 30.

For State Police special patrol and statistical purposes the 102-hour period will end at midnight, June 2.

"This is the first warm weather holiday week-end of the season and, of course, a surge in traffic can be expected," Childs said. "For their own sake, motorists should not drive with abandon. As an example of the traffic situation, we are experiencing there has been an increase of about 17 percent in deaths since the first of the year compared with the same period last year. Accidents are the highest on record and there has been a big jump in injuries."

"Michigan has good drivers, but in most instances it is the thoughtless moment that ends in an accident. By all means be alert."

Holiday death averages are much higher than on other days. Childs said. Last year 10 persons were killed in the 30-hour Memorial day observance, or one every three hours. This was the same average in the most recent 102-hour Memorial period in 1961, when 34 died. The average on days other than holidays is one death every six and three-quarters hours.

"I am not trying to discourage drivers from using the highways for their holiday hours of recreation," Childs said. "The safe driver is safe. Just don't let your guard down."

Dana Shareholders

OK Consolidation With Perfect Circle

Shareholders of the Dana Corporation, Toledo based automotive parts manufacturer, have given overwhelming approval to a proposed consolidation with the Perfect Circle Corporation of Hagerstown, Ind.

Dr. Martin, president of Dana, said that 4,000,000 votes for the merger represented 88.2 percent of the company's shares. There were 250,000 shares voting against the merger.

Shareholders of Perfect Circle approved the consolidation at their meeting in Hagerstown, Ind., May 15. It is anticipated that the consolidation will be consummated effective July 1.

Perfect Circle, considered the world's oldest and largest producer of piston rings, has more than 2,500 employees and operates 11 plants serving the original equipment and domestic markets. Dana makes car and truck parts for the automotive industry including transmissions, axles, clutches, forgings, frames and universal joints. It operates plants in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Under the proposed consolidation, Martin stated that Perfect Circle will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Dana.

Growing a great variety of foods and leading the nation in many, Michigan comes closer to completely setting the family table than any other state.

Family Disaster Shelter Needed in All Rural Areas

In any family disaster protection plan, shelter is of first importance. People in rural areas or small towns probably would not have access to a public shelter in case of tornado or nuclear disaster. In the event of nuclear disaster, the first essential is to protect or shield your family and livestock from fallout dust, and from the penetrating rays that radiate from that dust.

An underground shelter, covered with three feet of earth and provided with a closed entranceway, would allow in only about one three-thousandths of the radiation outside. In addition to the protection factor, an underground shelter can double as a fruit cellar or as extra storage space in normal times.

This underground combination fruit cellar and disaster shelter provides 10 square feet of floor space per person for six people (or 60 square feet). In no case should a shelter contain less than 25 feet of floor space. Other features of the plan include ample storage space, proper ventilation, electrical installation, and an emergency exit.

Planning and building a shelter take time. What can be done in the meantime for maximum family protection?

The rule-of-thumb here is to improvise until you can complete your shelter plans. Pick a corner
