Gelman Move To New Plant Is Underway

Born about four years ago in a basement at 233 Jefferson St., the Gelman Instrument Company, now pretty well grown up, started moving Wednesday of this week into its new plant near Ann Arbor.

By the end of this week, the entire manufacturing operation—both mechanical and chemical—will be headquartered at 400 S. Wagner Rd. Within another month the offices will also be at the new location.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed my business and personal life in Chelsea," president Charles Gelman told The Standard. "The co-operation we received while doing business here is very much appreciated by all of us. In fact, the general spirit of friendliness that went along with being a member of the community makes it a personally difficult thing to leave here."

"Nevertheless, despite the efforts of Village President Robert Daniels and others in the village government to help us locate here, there are certain considerations that made it desirable for us to move to Ann Arbor."

Gelman explained that a primary factor was proximity to the numerous University of Michigan people who act as consultants on several facets of research and product development, as well as the availability of a sizable tract of land (the plant is located on 20 acres to allow for future growth), near existing utilities.

"In addition," he continued, "rental housing for new employees is rather scarce here. At the same time, Chelsea's favorable situation of practically full employment, though a plus factor in the locality as a whole, has made it necessary for us in many instances to hire skilled people from outside the Chelsea area."

Chelsea facilities still occupied by the company are comprised of three downtown business buildings at 106 N. Main St.

TOP VOLUNTEER WORKER—Mrs. Iza Carty of Chelsea, became the first volunteer worker at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Ann Arbor, to be awarded the coveted VA Gold Emblem award for 5,000 hours of voluntary service to the patients at the hospital. Dr. Leon Ross, director of the hospital, made the presentation to Mrs. Carty, who was listed in the program as a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. The awards program, the ninth annual recognition of volunteer workers, took place Wednesday, June 5, in an outdoor ceremony at the hospital. In making the presentation, Dr. Ross said, "Mrs. Carty is a woman of many talents. She completed her American Red Cross Nurses Aide training in April, 1958, and immediately began assisting as a volunteer nurse."

aid in nursing service. She is also a member of the American Red Cross Motor Corps and has been transporting patients to off-station recreational therapy activities for five years. In addition, for the past nine years she has actively participated in the hospital's escorting service and in doing shopping for patients. Mrs. Carty was given a standing ovation by patients, employees and those present for the awards ceremony. Mrs. Carty is the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Department of Michigan alternate representative to the Hospital's Veterans Administration Voluntary Service Advisory Committee and in that capacity assists with co-ordinating, planning and conducting entertainment for patients in the auditorium and in wards.

Approval Given Saturday at Alumni Banquet

Approximately 200 persons attended the Chelsea Alumni banquet Saturday evening in the cafeteria at Chelsea High school.

Principal items of business at the meeting following the dinner were reports on the Chelsea Alumni Memorial Education Fund, originally introduced for the association's consideration two years ago as the Mabel Fox-Flanagan Howlett Trust Fund. The purpose was to establish "a fund from which qualified and deserving graduates of Chelsea High school might borrow in furtherance of their advanced education or the acquisition of a trade or profession."

Chelsea alumni could make donations to the fund for eventually assuring that "no graduate of Chelsea High school in the future need be denied a higher education in the event he desires to continue in school and is capable of doing so."

The committee of alumni who presented the original plan included Donald Bacon, Howard Holmes, William Rademacher and Roland Spaulding, with the then president of the Chelsea School Board, Dr. J. V. Fisher.

At the 1962 alumni banquet the committee was authorized to act for an additional year for a "more searching investigation—to determine the extent of the need for this loan fund" and also to empower the committee to change the name of the fund from Mabel Fox-Flanagan Howlett to Chelsea Alumni Memorial Education Fund and that all people of the school community, in addition to Chelsea High school alumni, be permitted to make memorial gifts for any alumni, teacher or friend.

At the time the Alumni Association also contributed $100 to the fund.

Proposals of the committee, offered in a report given at Saturday's banquet by Dr. Fisher and approved by the association, are as follows:

(1.) That the Chelsea Alumni Memorial Education Fund be established as a non-profit corporation to qualify for tax-exempt donations.

(2.) That the incorporation, formulation of by-laws and other legal technicalities be drawn up by and through the generosity of William Rademacher.

(3.) That the present five-man committee be enlarged to include one representative from each of the four most recent graduating classes. Said members to be selected by the Alumni Association president on recommendation of the class concerned.

(4.) That the committee be empowered to collect the sum of $1,000 annually from each alumnus to promote and perpetuate this fund.

Kinde Family Will Move to Northville for New Pastorate

At the sessions of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church, held the past week-end at Adrian, the Rev. S. D. Kinde, appointed pastor of the First Methodist church at Northville. When asked about the new assignment, the Rev. Kinde said, "I am transferring from Chelsea to Northville came as a surprise to my family. We had made our plans for the summer on the basis of returning to Chelsea for another year. Mrs. Kinde, Kathryn and I were at Loughton Lake vacation. Kathryn had enrolled at the University of Michigan for the summer to take a special education course and would commute from home to school."

"We have always said to our District Superintendent, and we said again this year, that if a church opened its doors to us and we felt it to be the will of God that we ought to go, we would do so."

"On Saturday morning a phone call came from the Bishop's Office at the Detroit Annual Conference at Adrian College stating that Northville was open to a new minister, that our record in Chelsea was excellent."

Linda Blaess Will Attend Annual Girls' State Sessions

Linda Blaess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Blaess, 730 Taylor St., has been selected by Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31, American Legion Auxiliary as the organization's 1963 representative at Wolverine Girls' State.

Held on the campus of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, June 1-15, 1963, Wolverine Girls' State girls will play the role of junior politicians and build a unit of government, electing from their own representatives, city, county and state officials for a model state. Under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary, the girls will be assigned to cities, petition for offices, form party platform and caucus their way into a whirlwind nine days of self-government.

At the close of their session, two girls will be selected to represent Michigan at Girls' Nation held in Washington, D.C.

Wolverine Girls' State was established in 1941 and dedicated to the training and development of girls who have qualities of leadership. The primary objective of Girls' State is to stimulate girls to take a deep interest in the development of home and community life and to encourage them to be better citizens of tomorrow.

Wolverine Girls' State brings to the girls attending a knowledge of national, state and local government through actual practice. It gives them a state of their own, a session governing themselves through democratic procedures.

Girls may be sponsored by civic, social, fraternal and patriotic organizations, as well as by the American Legion Posts and American Legion Auxiliary Units. Girls are usually selected from a list obtained from the high school principal, of eligible girls who are in their third year in senior high school or their junior year.

In making their choice of girls to attend Wolverine Girls' State, committees take into consideration extra-curricular activities showing good citizenship qualities of the candidates, as well as good scholarship.

Chelsea's representative has been a member of the Senior Band at Chelsea High school for three years and has been interested in baton twirling, serving as a drum majorette for six years and as head majorette of the Senior Band for two years of that time.

In the band she plays the French horn and also gives instructions in baton twirling to aspirants for majorette positions.

Last summer Miss Blaess attended the Smith-Wadbridge Camp for Majorettes at Syracuse, Ind.

In her freshman and sophomore years she was affiliated with the school's Girls Athletic Association (GAA); she is now a member of the Future Nurses club and served as its treasurer this year.

She is also an active member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ.

At Girls' State she will be one of 420 girls from the entire state who will spend the nine days "seeing how the national government functions."

Live It Up Pop - Next Sunday Is Your One Big Day of the Year

Fifty-three years ago Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, who was the driving force behind starting Americans to observe Father's Day, made herself a heroine in the eyes of every American father since that time.

This is the day when Father gets special recognition—the one day out of the year when everyone takes time to show "the old man" a little courtesy and consideration. And this year Father's Day comes next Sunday, June 16, the third Sunday in June, according to custom.

Each year on Father's Day, the emphasis is placed on trying to obtain a closer father-child relationship as a means of building a better world. In our community, or any other community across the nation, the father is away from home during the major portion of the day. Consequently, children do not have an opportunity to become as well acquainted with their father as they do with their mother.

All of us realize how important it is to the proper development of a child to have the sympathetic guidance of "Dad." But all too often fathers, weighed down with the responsibilities of making a living, fail to devote enough of those precious moments to the youngsters. So, Fathers, along with absorbing all the affection and gifts the family showers on you (maybe even breakfast in bed!) maybe you and I should resolve to show them we care also by giving them a little more of our time and patience.

It's Easy To See Why Foreigners Have Difficulty Understanding Americans

He yells for the government to balance the budget and then spends his last dime for a down payment on a new car. He gets scared to death if we vote a billion dollars a year for education, but is unconcerned when he finds out we spend three billion a year on cigarettes.

He knows the line-up of every baseball team—then does not know the words to the "Star Spangled Banner."

He'll spend a half day looking for vitamin pills to make him live longer, then drives 90 miles an hour on slippery pavement to make up for the time he lost.

He ties up his pet dog but lets his 16-year-old son run wild.

An American will work hard on a farm so he can move to town where he can make money so he can move back to the farm.

We're supposed to be the most civilized nation on earth, but still can't deliver money without an armored car.

In America we have more experts on marriage than any other country in the world—and more divorces.

But, we're still pretty nice folks. Calling a person "A Real American" is the best compliment you can pay him. Most of the world is itching for what we have but they'll never get it until they start scratching for it the way we did. Michigan Bell Telephone Credit Union Magazine.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Which Capital?

Appearance of Gov. George Romney in Washington on several recent occasions stirred up national interest in the prospect of Michigan's chief executive as a 1964 Republican presidential candidate. Democrats feel they could use Romney's part in the national political arena as a tool to regain the governor's chair. With a number of potential winners in the party ranks, the Democrats would be very happy to accuse Romney of abandoning Michigan.

Romney has said time and time again he does not have national political ambitions. Because of his firm remarks along this line many state GOP leaders feel he would be unwise to accept a nomination in 1964 if it was offered at the national convention.

Further, Republicans would be hard pressed to find a candidate of his stature to keep the power within the state.

Perk Up Picnics With Assortment of Nutritional Treats

Ann Arbor — Perk up your picnic lunches with nutritional treat ideas from dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Variety in texture, color and taste are the key points that lead to an attractive and taste-tempting picnic lunch that the whole family will enjoy.

The U-M food specialists suggest five pointers in planning your outdoor lunches:

- Something hearty to eat. Plan having a meat or meat substitute such as cheese. Try alternate layers of a variety of breads and fillings. To pep up cream cheese, mix it with either onions, nuts, olives, crushed pineapple or chopped diced beef. Serve it on French, raisin, nut or rye bread.
- Something crisp to munch. Toss in a favorite raw vegetable or fruit. Try strips of carrots, celery, cucumber or green peppers for an extra treat.
- Something sweet, but nutritious, to chew. Suggestions for desserts include fruit, fruit bread sandwiches, cookies and angel or pound cake.
- Something to drink. Don't forget milk; a milk beverage, soup or fruit juice. Don't forget milk, a milk beverage, soup or fruit juice.
- Something novel to nibble. Slip in a small snack of popcorn balls for the youngsters.

Picnic lunches needn't be dull if you heed these helpful hints from the U-M dietitians.

LABEL ISSUE AIDED

Both sides continue discussion over whether there is a need for an "administration" supported "truth in packaging" bill to protect the nation's shoppers. Jerry Voorhis, executive director of the Cooperative League of the U.S.A., contended it is needed to prevent confusing labeling on weights and sizes.

But R. Allan Hickman, spokesman for the packaging industry said the public's attention it has created makes legislation unnecessary.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where several colleges is complaining that the honor system for taking exams at the end of this school year wasn't working none too good. We used that system back when I was a boy. The teacher would announce that we was on our honor and would we please all set three desks apart. It worked pretty good in them days and I'd recommend it for this generation.

It looks like the value of money is getting less ever day. For instance, I was reading this piece in the papers where penny weighing machines was about to disappear in this country. A fellow in Memphis claimed he used to operate 500 of these machines, but he's now down to 161 and aims to go out of business. He says they just ain't no profit no more in traveling all over the area collecting the pennies. And up till it took a nickel to mail a letter, the nickel was about to get extinct like the Buffalo.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was setting around giving each other the benefits of their doubts and Ed Doolittle said he had noted where Congressmen from some of the farm states was trying to get a special item in Kennedy's tax cut plan for giving the farmer a better deal with taxes. Clem Webster allowed as how this would bring on a heap of confusion on account of every city gardner claiming he was a farmer. I don't know how would work out, Mister Editor, recollect hearing my Pa say time that a real farmer could a hen cackle and tell whether was laying or lying. If we this new tax benefit for farmers might have to use the lie and lying test.

Zeke Grubb told the fellers had saw a piece in the papers where the Government was giving $80,000 at Beltsville in Maryland to build a hospital for whelping of special dogs. He said he recollected that when Charlie Wilson took a job in a cabinet, he said that what a good fer General Motors was fer the country, and Zeke figured that what is good fer dogs of to be good fer people. He's favor of the Government build special hospitals fer expect mothers. This brings a round applause from all the fellers it was so voted.

And my pamphlet, yesterday from the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported they completed a "study" showing much more it costs to feed a teenage boy than a teenage girl. I announce, fer instance, that it on average $11.40 a week to a teenage boy between 16 and only $8.80 fer a girl the same age. It probably didn't cost me $25,000 to make this "study." I reckon it was worth it to taxpayers.

Robert Lansing has been a to the east of the film version "Under the Yum Yum Tree," includes Jack Lemmon, Carolley, Dean Jones, Eddie Adams, Gene Cohn and Paul Lynde.

"Men From The Diner's Club" Danny Kaye, a versatile comedian who starred in many a few years ago, is back on screen clowning in his usual entered way.

In this comedy, Danny Kaye's antics when his tie is caught in an office computer. Clow his way through scene after scene. Kaye brings back humor that been absent from the screen some time.

In one of the best scenes, Kaye tries desperately to get a card back from a customer, big boss said "get it" and brings out the Danny Kaye so familiar to his fans.

Due credit should be given Martha Hyer, Cora Williams, Savalas and Everett Sloane, including the episode in the waiter, their contributions to whole affair are praiseworthy.

Yours truly, Uncle Lew

Kinde Family Moving...

sen was good, that the move would be a deserved promotion based upon that record, and that we would have an hour to consider the offer to accept or to reject it. It seemed to be the call of the church to accept a new challenge and enter a new field of service, and we accepted the call."

Continuing, Mr. Kinde stated, "Chelsea has treated us well and we have been happy here. The 10 years we have lived here have been fruitful ones and we have enjoyed seeing the church make progress in several areas of its work."

This community is a good place to bring up a family. Our children like Chelsea and have done well in the local schools. They will no doubt think of this community through the years as "our home town." We cherish the friends we have made here.

"We know the Rev. and Mrs. James Craig who are coming to Chelsea and commend them highly to the community. The local parish will be blessed by their coming," Mr. Kinde concluded.

During the 10-year pastorate of the Rev. Kinde many major changes have been made in the local church. A new sanctuary and chancel were installed; the church nave re-carpeted and refurbished; the exterior re-roofed and the stone work pointed up; the parsonage was redecorated, a new kitchen installed, and several rooms paneled during the summer of 1962 and the family "camped out" in the church kitchen for the summer.

It was during Mr. Kinde's ministry that the new $70,000 educational unit was planned, built, and paid for.

The Rev. Kinde received 480 youth and adults into membership, in addition to the children who were baptized and placed on the preparatory membership roll.

The Kinde family will leave on June 24 for their new address, 139 Dunlap St., Northville.

A farewell reception is being planned for the Kinde family to be held at the church next Thursday, June 20, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

ROBBERS WEAR NUN'S GARB

Montevideo, Uruguay—Disguised as Roman Catholic nuns, two men held up a bank and escaped with $200,000.

The robbers pushed the employees into a room used as a makeshift kitchen and the bank manager was forced to open the vault. After shoving the manager into the kitchen, they calmly walked out, got into a car and fled.

TIMOTHY ORTBRING surveys the hole made in the ceiling of his bedroom when a large tree limb crashed through the roof of the family home during Saturday's midnight thunderstorm. Timothy and a younger brother were asleep on the opposite side of the room when the tree limb, 18 inches in diameter, crashed through the ceiling, extending four feet into the room. They were wakened in the room—their mother couldn't get in the door and they couldn't get out until the debris was moved. Tim's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ortbring, Jr., 20927 Selo Church Rd.

CHS Alumni Banquet...

(5.) That donors retain their separate identity—if they so desire.

(6.) That friendly competition between classes be stimulated in the matter of giving.

(7.) That an annual report be rendered to the Alumni Association at its yearly meeting.

The committee's report was submitted after studying answers received to questionnaires sent out during the past year to former Chelsea school students. A total of 92 responded, 25 of the questionnaires having additional favorable comment on the proposal.

At Saturday's banquet the Class of 1963 indicated that a gift to the fund is to be made when all class records are completed.

The Class of 1936 made a contribution of $50.52.

Toastmaster at the 1963 banquet was William Rademacher.

The Rev. M. W. Brueckner, pastor-emeritus of Zion Lutheran church, Rogers Corners, gave the invocation; Donald Baldwin, of the Class of '48, gave the welcome to the Class of '63 and Class President Jack Howard responded.

Roll call of classes showed 13 members of the 25th anniversary class present at the banquet. Roland Spaulding, acting as spokesman, Mrs. Florence Mayer, who was the class advisor, was a guest at the banquet and at a reunion party held later at the Chelsea Rod & Gun club.

Eight of the 50th anniversary class were present at the banquet. A reunion of the class was held at McKim Memorial Library before the banquet. After the banquet some of the group were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maroney.

Roll call at the banquet disclosed that many classes were represented at the affair. There were two members of the Class of 1897 present—Mrs. Otto Luick (May Wood) and Mrs. D. R. Hoppe (Lillian Gerard).

Mrs. Florence Howlett, oldest living graduate of Chelsea High school, was the recipient of a plant sent to her at Colonial Manor Nursing Home as a gift from the Alumni Association.

Decorations on the banquet tables were pictures drawn by elementary school children. Also used were bouquets of mock orange blossoms and peonies. The decorating committee chairmen were Mrs. Charles Papovich (Norma Jean Dull) and Mrs. Duane Hall (Eleanor Schmidt).

Officers elected for the 1964 banquet are Keith Bradbury, president; Lloyd Gray, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Robbins, secretary; and Mary Kathryn Weber, treasurer.

The Common Market Turns Inward

The European Economic Community has developed in recent years a fundamental question: Is it a first step toward closer economic ties among nations of the free world? Or is it simply the creation of a self-protective, on a larger scale, to protect the interests of its constituent nations in the same way as individual nations have in the past? The more starry-eyed members of the economic profession have at least until very recently assumed that the Community would gradually broaden its horizons. The very logic of its own creation would, it was believed, persuade the community to sacrifice to some degree the special interests of internal groups to the broader interest in expanded economic relationships with the rest of the world. This line of thinking was one of the bases for the passage in this country of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962. The Act greatly extended the President's powers to negotiate tariff reductions with other countries. Events of the past few months have thoroughly deflated this idealistic view. In January General de Gaulle flatly vetoed the acceptance of Britain into membership. Last week, again upon his insistence, the Community decided to discontinue consultations with the British Ambassador accredited to it. Participation by Britain would have been a first step toward an integration of several other European nations into the Common Market.

Another indication of inward-turning was the raising of the Community's tariff on American frozen chicken. The subject of American poultry to severely restrictive tariffs had been a sore point for some time. All this makes it perfectly clear that next year's bargaining session among the GATT nations will not be conducted in an atmosphere of sweetness and light. Preliminary negotiations to establish procedures very nearly broke down but were saved by a compromise. The United States agreed that where "disparities" exist in the form of especially high tariff rates they might be subjected to deeper cuts than would apply generally. This was a concession on our part since while the American tariff system is generally a low one some individual rates are high for special reasons. Our friends from the EEC are not going to be guided by altruistic concern for the solidarity of the free world in the next year's negotiations. They will be tough horse-traders, and we had better be too. Fortunately, the Commerce Department will play a role in preparations for the bargaining and this will provide a channel for representation of the business viewpoint. American business had better make sure that Commerce is well informed of its interests and its problems, both at home and abroad. When you run across an individual who knows it all, the best way to enjoy yourself is to keep quiet and let him talk.

CHS Class of 1913 Holds 50th Anniversary Reunion

The Class of 1913, in observance of the 50th anniversary of graduation from high school, met for a reunion at McKune Memorial Library before attending the banquet and, at the banquet, were seated together. Six were present for the pre-banquet reunion and two others came for the banquet. Those at the reunion included Mrs. Wilbur Riemenschneider (Ruth Walz) of Detroit, Mrs. Elmer Feldkamp (Mabel Geyer) of Ann Arbor, J. Walter Runciman of Detroit, L. Deane Hall of Toledo, O., Elmer Hammond of Oxford, Miss., and Paul Maroney of Chelsea. The two who came for the banquet only are Leo McQuillen of Detroit, and Mrs. Roy Howard (Cora Johnson) of Dexter-Pinkney Rd. Among other surviving members of the class are Mrs. Vivian Klinger Dancer and Warren Coe, both of St. Petersburg, Fla., Mrs. Norma Turnbull Waller of Flint, Miss. Amanda Kosh-Mrs. Herbert Loeffler (Edna Maroney) and Max Roedel, all of the Chelsea area, and Dr. Clarence G. Stipe.

Dr. Stipe, a mathematician, sent a message stating he is being retired this week from his position at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton and it was necessary for him to remain there until then. Michigan enlisted more than 90,000 men in the Union Forces during the Civil War.

Lighting at Tiger Stadium Brighter Than in Most Homes

The batter who fails to connect with the ball during a night game at Tiger Stadium certainly can't use that old alibi about "them bum lights."

The illumination at home plate is 3 1/2 times as strong as it is under his favorite reading lamp at home.

It's more than twice as strong as the lighting in the bowling alley, ice hockey arena or basketball court he visits.

It's twice as bright as the studio lighting for the black-and-white television he watches.

And it's more powerful even than the strong light his wife uses for her finest needlework.

These are the facts disclosed by a recent survey of the lighting conditions in the Detroit Tiger's home park. In use since 1948, the lights at Tiger Stadium were found to be as powerful now as when they were placed in position, due to the improvement in equipment and bulbs.

At home plate, the illumination was rated 352 foot candles.

For comparison, the recommended foot candlepower for a reading lamp is 100; for bowling, hockey or basketball 100-200; for black-and-white television 50-150; and for fine sewing or needlework 200-300.

These figures were supplied by the Detroit Edison Co., based on research of Dr. H. Richard Black, well-known Ohio State University.

A total of 1,386 bulbs at Tiger Stadium were counted in the survey conducted by the American League with retired umpire Charley Berry, in charge. Of these, 1,328 on the eight roof-top towers are rated at 1,500 watts each, the other 58, under the overhang of the right field pavilion, are 1,000 watts each.

For the lighting study, readings were taken at 47 spots on the playing surface—16 in the infield at 30-foot intervals and 31 in the outfield at twice that distance.

In the infield, the readings ranged from 852 foot candlepower at home plate to 192 at second base. That was the only spot, however, where the reading was under 200 and the infield average was computed at 290.

In the outfield, the range was from 342 (just behind third base) to 92 in deepest centerfield. It was pointed out, however, that the right field overhang affected five of the outfield light meter readings, so those five were eliminated.

That brought up the outfield average to 225 candlepower, power-making it a fine place for reading your favorite newspaper if you aren't afraid of getting hit on the head by a fly ball.

Opened to traffic in December of 1959, the $11 million Portage Lake bridge, linking Houghton and Hancock in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is the world's heaviest vertical lift bridge. Its center span weighs 4.5 million pounds.

Plaque Honoring Ty Cobb Planned for Tiger Stadium

Detroit—"The memory of Ty Cobb must not be allowed to dim in the city where he grew from the rawest rookie into the greatest figure baseball has ever known."

With that declaration, President John E. Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers announced Thursday that a memorial in the form of a bronze plaque will be placed at Tiger Stadium this summer "to remind the citizens of Detroit every day of the exploits of the Tigers' greatest figure."

"Baseball, the Tigers and the city of Detroit owe more to this one man than they can ever express adequately," Fetzer said. "But I pledge you that the Tiger organization will do everything in its power to perpetuate the memory of Ty Cobb."

"The plaque we are planning is but a token of the respect and admiration all true fans have for the Georgia Peach. We know that our fans in Detroit and elsewhere join us in paying tribute to this great man whose memory must be kept forever fresh in baseball."

The plaque, noting Cobb's birth in 1886 and death in 1961, is being prepared by the same artists who designed and cast the tablet in the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., which marks Cobb's election to the game's Hall of Fame in 1936.

As the author of more batting records than any player in the history of the game, Cobb was among the first five selected for the Hall of Fame, along with Babe Ruth, Hank Wagner, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson. His career, extending from 1905 through 1928, covered 3,033 games and included a lifetime batting average of .367. He was the American League batting champion 12 times while playing with the Tigers from 1905 through 1926.

The Cobb plaque at Tiger Stadium, nearly three feet by four feet in size, will be placed on the outside wall of the stadium adjacent to the office entrance on Turnbull Avenue, just north of Michigan, where passersby can inspect it.

"We considered putting the plaque inside the stadium," Fetzer said, "but selected the outside location so that the maximum number may see it every day."

Appropriate dedication ceremonies are being planned for July 17, the second anniversary of Cobb's death at the age of 74.

A national shrine dedicated to Cobb's memory is being built at Royston, Ga., the town near his birthplace where he endured a hospital before his death. Fetzer recently made a substantial contribution to the Georgia project and urged others to do likewise.

Lots of Cherry Pies

Michigan is the nation's largest producer of red-tart cherries, 67 percent of the total national crop in 1962. Can you visualize one ton of red-tart cherries? Well, Michigan had 120,000 tons last year—worth more than $10,640,000. Grand Traverse county leads all counties in the nation in cherry production. In sweet cherries, we ranked fourth in 1962, with 18,000 tons. The grower return for them was $4.1 million.

Instructional TV Can Be What We Want It To Be

Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the Lakewood (Ohio) Post and was reprinted with permission of the author, Dr. William B. Edwards, superintendent of Lakewood schools.

By Dr. William B. Edwards

There are some people who refer to television as a monster, a mechanical baby-sitter, or an idiot box that will produce a generation of square-eyed balls.

Actually, television is what we want to make of it—it usually depends upon the individual's selectivity and personal choice. The viewer must turn on the set but he may also turn it off. The programs designed for relaxation, current news or events, documentaries, etc., may stimulate some and stagnate others.

Television may be used properly and positively or improperly and negatively as we choose.

Educational TV is past the infancy stage. Good programs for classroom use are beyond the period of experimentation. Their value as an aid to classroom learning has been clearly demonstrated.

In the studios of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction at Purdue University, I viewed with other superintendents an exciting introductory lesson to a course in American literature. The title of the semester course is "Franklin to Frost" and shows the best of American literature from the Colonial period to the present day.

The television teacher was superb. He had been most carefully chosen for his role. Delivery, knowledge of the subject, ability to arouse interest, the presentation of facts with adequate background information and the personality of the teacher were all balanced to make this lesson beautiful and meaningful to observe.

The teacher, with a research team of able scholars, had devoted considerable time to the outline of the course. Curriculum experts had participated in the program development. This one series on American literature was a full-time responsibility. The regular classroom teacher may not enjoy this singleness of purpose.

The technical aspects of presentation were measured and developed to produce the best learning conditions, appraised, and finally the lesson the television screen for the classrooms was a masterpiece.

The teacher in the classroom received in advance a lesson outline, supplementary materials to lead a discussion, suggested questions to advance the understanding of the class, references to books, articles, in fact, the whole spectrum of assistance for a fine classroom learning situation.

Part of the lesson we viewed in the program "Franklin to Frost" was an illustration of the works of Edgar Allan Poe. The television teacher presented the subject and then we heard another voice reading a narrative poem with the camera showing to the viewers scenes illustrating the depth of the melancholy touched by Poe. The scope of the television teacher was beyond that which could be presented in the classroom, would raise the rate of learning to a much higher degree.

Another lesson we observed was in the field of science for fifth or sixth grades. Conditions almost identical with an "original" discovery were captured. This, too, was a stirring experience.

The lessons are prepared by a selected group of able teachers who have made outstanding contributions on a regional or national basis. The final product as viewed in the classroom holds a breadth-of-scope of subject matter as would be expected from this concentrated effort.

Educational television is not a panacea for all problems of education or learning. It will advance learning when properly used by able teachers. It is a development of this era with great possibilities to reach beyond our horizon.

4th Michigan Cavalry captured Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

June Birthday Party Honors 14 Residents At Methodist Home

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Fullerton entertained at a graduation party Sunday at their home in honor of their daughter, Bonnie, and two cousins, Diane Fullerton and Gloria Reul, both of Jackson.

Hamburgers, Hotdogs Are Fine Foods

Hamburgers and wieners really are excellent protein foods, according to Michigan State University foods and nutrition specialist Roberta Hershey.

What's more, they're popular with youngsters, although hotdogs may be too highly seasoned for very young children.

"If wieners have had an ingredient other than meat added to them, it is likely to be nonfat dry milk—an excellent food in itself," Miss Hershey says.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY

Reliable sources say President Kennedy has decided on Roger Hillsman as successor to Averall Harriman as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

Hillsman, 48, chief of intelligence and research for the State Department is a West Point graduate.

The post became vacant when Kennedy named Harriman deputy under secretary of state for political affairs.

The University of Michigan was the first state institution to establish a Department of Dentistry, in 1875.

Tractor 'Rides With Daddy' Kill 37 Youngsters in State

Letting children "ride the tractor with daddy" is extremely dangerous. Parents of 37 children can sadly testify from past experiences.

That's the number of children who have been killed in Michigan during the past six years while riding on the farm tractor. "Experience has shown that giving a child a ride on the tractor and doing farm work at the same time is a lethal combination," says Richard Pfister, agricultural safety engineer at Michigan State University. Some 100 or more disabling accidents also happen each year.

What do you do when your children beg for a ride on the tractor? "You buy them a miniature-sized toy tractor and let them ride to their heart's content," recommends Pfister. "But don't combine your work with their play."

Another type of accident situation—especially apparent during the spring and summer months—is a slow-moving tractor on the highway. Tractors are especially dangerous on the road because they: (1) aren't designed for highway travel; (2) lack signaling equipment; (3) usually do not have adequate lighting and (4) are slow moving. "Farmers should use a red flag during daylight hours and a flashing red light at night to help identify the tractor as a slow moving vehicle," Pfister says.

Drivers often times don't realize the dangers with farm tractors on the highway until it is too late. To be safe, Pfister suggests to drivers approaching slow-moving vehicles for: (1) treat them the same as meeting a concrete wall; (2) watch for the unusual; (3) be patient and (4) stay alert.

CONFIRMATION

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Schneider were hosts at an open house Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock in their home in honor of their daughter Linda Kay's confirmation in the Salem Evangelical church during the morning. The Rev. Harold A. Tryzka is the pastor. Nineteen guests were present for the occasion with Linda Kay Gregory of Dexter and Sandy Cole and her sister Sylvia Jane serving the punch and coffee.

GOP CHANGE TACTICS

Republican leaders appear to be steering away from the kind of criticism of President Kennedy's Cuban policies that might let the Democrats try to hang a "war party" label on them.

Senator Keating (R., N.Y.), who has been the No. 1 GOP critic of the Administration's course, said he felt it as important "to speak up in support of the Government when it moves toward a more vigorous policy on Cuba as it is to criticize when it is not."

Lighting at Tiger Stadium Brighter Than in Most Homes

The batter who fails to connect with the ball during a night game at Tiger Stadium certainly can't use that old alibi about "them bum lights."

The illumination at home plate is 3½ times as strong as it is under his favorite reading lamp at home.

It's more than twice as strong as the lighting in the bowling alley, ice hockey arena or basketball court he visits.

It's twice as bright as the studio lighting for the black-and-white television he watches.

And it's more powerful even than the strong light his wife uses for her finest needlework.

These are the facts disclosed by a recent survey of the lighting conditions in the Detroit Tiger's home park. In use since 1948, the lights at Tiger Stadium were found to be as powerful now as when they were placed in position, due to the improvement in equipment and bulbs.

At home plate, the illumination was rated 352 foot-candlepower.

For comparison, the recommended foot-candlepower for a reading lamp is 100; for bowling, hockey or basketball 100-200; for black-and-white television 50-150; and for fine sewing or needlework 200-300.

These figures were supplied by the Detroit Edison Co., based on research of Dr. H. Richard Blackwell, of Ohio State University.

A total of 1,386 bulbs at Tiger Stadium were counted in the survey conducted by the American League with retired umpire Charley Berry in charge. Of these, 1,328 on the eight roof-top towers are rated at 1500 watts each, the other 58, under the overhang of the right field pavilion, are 1,000 watts each.

For the lighting study, readings were taken at 47 spots on the playing surface—16 in the infield at 30-foot intervals and 31 in the outfield at twice that distance.

In the infield, the readings ranged from 352 foot-candlepower at home plate to 192 at second base. That was the only spot, however, where the reading was under 200 and the infield average was computed at 290.

In the outfield, the range was from 342 (just behind third base) to 92 in deepest centerfield. It was pointed out, however, that the right field overhang affected five of the outfield light meter readings, so those five were eliminated.

That brought up the outfield average to 225 candlefoot power, making it a fine place for reading your favorite newspaper if you aren't afraid of getting hit on the head by a fly ball.

Opened to traffic in December of 1950, the $11 million Portage Lake bridge, linking Houghton and Hancock in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is the world's heaviest vertical lift bridge. Its center span weighs 4.5 million pounds.

Plaque Honoring Ty Cobb Planned for Tiger Stadium

Detroit—"The memory of Ty Cobb must not be allowed to dim in the city where he grew from the rawest rookie into the greatest figure baseball has ever known."

With that declaration, President John E. Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers announced Thursday that a memorial in the form of a bronze plaque will be placed at Tiger Stadium this summer "to remind the citizens of Detroit every day of the exploits of 'The Tigers' greatest figure."

"Baseball, the Tigers and the city of Detroit owe more to this one man than they can ever express adequately," Fetzer said. "But I pledge you that the Tiger organization will do everything in its power to perpetuate the memory of Ty Cobb."

"The plaque we are planning is but a token of the respect and admiration all true fans have for the Georgia Peach. We know that our fans, in Detroit and elsewhere, join us in paying tribute to this great man whose memory must be kept forever fresh in baseball."

The plaque, noting Cobb's birth in 1886 and death in 1961, is being prepared by the same artists who designed and cast the tablet in the shrine at Copperstown, N.Y., which marks Cobb's election to the game's Hall of Fame in 1936.

As the author of more batting records than any player in the history of the game, Cobb was among the first five selected for the Hall of Fame, along with Babe Ruth, Hans Wagner, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson.

His career, extending from 1905 through 1928, covered 3,033 games and included a lifetime batting average of .367. He was the American League batting champion 12 times while playing with the Tigers from 1905 through 1926.

The Cobb plaque at Tiger Stadium, nearly three feet by four feet in size, will be placed on the outside wall of the stadium adjacent to the office entrance on Campbell Avenue, just north of Michigan, where passersby can inspect it.

"We considered putting the plaque inside the stadium," Fetzer said, "but selected the outside location so that the maximum number may see it every day."

Appropriate dedication ceremonies are being planned for July 17, the second anniversary of Cobb's death at the age of 74.

A national shrine dedicated to Cobb's memory is being built at Royston, Ga., the town near his birthplace where he endowed a hospital before his death. Fetzer recently made a substantial contribution to the Georgia project and urged others to do likewise.

Lots of Cherry Pies

Michigan is the nation's largest producer of red tart cherries, 67 percent of the total national crop in 1962. Can you visualize one ton of red tart cherries? Well, Michigan had 120,000 tons last year—worth more than $10,640,000.

Grand Traverse county leads all counties in the nation in cherry production. In sweet cherries, we ranked fourth in 1962, with 18,000 tons. The grower return for them was $4.1 million.

Tractor 'Rides With Daddy' Kill 37 Youngsters in State

Letting children "ride the tractor with daddy" is extremely dangerous. Parents of 37 children can sadly testify from past experiences.

That's the number of children who have been killed in Michigan during the past six years while riding on the farm tractor. "Experience has shown that giving a child a ride on the tractor and doing farm work at the same time is a 'lethal combination,'" says Richard Pfister, agricultural safety engineer at Michigan State University. Some 100 or more disabling accidents also happen each year.

What do you do when your children beg for a ride on the tractor? "You buy them a miniature-sized toy tractor and let them ride to their heart's content," recommends Pfister. "But don't combine your work with their play."

Another type of accident situation—especially apparent during the spring and summer months—is a slow-moving tractor on the highway. Tractors are especially dangerous on the road because they:

- (1) aren't designed for highway travel;
- (2) lack signaling equipment;
- (3) usually do not have adequate lighting and are slow moving.

Farmers should use a red flag during daylight hours and a flashing red light at night to help identify the tractor as a slow moving vehicle, Pfister says.

Drivers often times don't realize the dangers with farm tractors on the highway until it is too late. To be safe, Pfister suggests to drivers approaching slow-moving vehicles to: (1) treat them the same as meeting a concrete wall; (2) watch for the unusual; (3) be patient and (4) stay alert.

CONFIRMATION

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Schneider were hosts at an open house Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock in their home in honor of their daughter Linda Kay's confirmation in the Salem Evangelical church during the morning. The Rev. Harold A. Tryznska is the pastor. Nineteen guests were present for the occasion with Linda Kay Gregory of Dexter and Sandy Cole and her sister Sylvia Jane serving the punch and coffee.

GOP CHANGE TACTICS

Republican leaders appear to be steering away from the kind of criticism of President Kennedy's Cuban policies that might let the Democrats try to hang a "war party" label on them.

Senator Keating (R., N.Y.), who has been the No. 1 GOP critic of the Administration's course said he felt it as important, "to speak up in support of the Government when it moves toward a more vigorous policy on Cuba as it is to criticize when it is not."

MARRIED SATURDAY—Mr. and Mrs. King William Hanna will make their home in Chelsea when they return in 10 days from their wedding trip in the east. The couple repeated their marriage vows at 7 p.m. Saturday at Emanuel United Church of Christ at Manchester with the Rev. S. D. Kinde of Chelsea officiating. The bride is the former Anne Marie Buss. The couple's attendants were the bride's sister, Lucille Buss, and Charles Mailing of Grosse Pointe. The bride carried a white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom, topped with a white orchid. The bridesmaid, dressed in blue, carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Instructional TV Can Be What We Want It To Be

Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the Lakewood (Ohio) Post and because of the general interest is reprinted here with permission of the author, Dr. William B. Edwards, superintendent of Lakewood schools.

By Dr. William B. Edwards
There are some people who refer to television as a monster, a mechanical baby-sitter, or an idiot box that will produce a generation of square eye-balls.

Actually, television is what we want to make of it—it usually depends upon the individual's selectivity and personal choice. The viewer must turn on the set but he may also turn it off. The programs designed for relaxation, current news or events, documentaries, etc., may stimulate some and stagnate others.

Television may be used properly and positively or improperly and negatively as we choose.

Educational TV is past the infancy stage. Good programs for classroom use are beyond the period of experimentation. Their value as an aid to classroom learning has been clearly demonstrated.

In the studios of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction at Purdue University, I viewed with other superintendents an exciting introductory lesson to a course in American Literature. The title of the semester course is "Franklin to Frost" and shows the best of American literature from the Colonial period to the present day.

The television teacher was superb. He had been most carefully chosen for his role. Delivery, knowledge of the subject, ability to arouse interest, the presentation of facts with adequate background information and the personality of the teacher were all balanced to make this lesson beautiful and meaningful to observe.

The teacher, with a research team of able scholars, had devoted considerable time to the outline of the course. Curriculum experts had participated in the program development. This one series on American literature was a full-time responsibility. The regular classroom teacher may not enjoy this singleness of purpose.

The technical aspects of presentation were measured and developed to produce the best learning conditions, appraised, and finally the lesson the television screen for the classroom was a masterpiece.

The teacher in the classroom received in advance a lesson outline, supplementary materials to lead a discussion, suggested questions to advance the understanding of the class, references to books, articles, in fact, the whole spectrum of assistance for a fine classroom learning situation.

Part of the lesson we viewed in the program "Franklin to Frost" was an illustration of the works of Edgar Allan Poe. The television teacher presented the subject and then we heard another voice reading a narrative poem with the camera showing to the viewers scenes illustrating the depth of the melancholy touched by Poe.

The scope of the television teaching was beyond that which could be presented in the classroom, would raise the rate of learning to a much higher degree.

Another lesson we observed was in the field of science for fifth or sixth grades. Conditions almost identical with an original discovery were captured. This, too, was a stirring experience.

The lessons are prepared by a selected group of able teachers who have made outstanding contributions on a regional or national basis. The final product as viewed in the classroom holds a breadth of scope of subject-matter as would be expected from this concentrated effort.

Educational television is not a panacea for all problems of education or learning. It will advance learning when properly used by able teachers. It is a development of this era with great possibilities to reach beyond our horizon.

4th Michigan Cavalry captured Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

Michigan was admitted to the Union Jan. 26, 1837, becoming the 26th state.

Our state is fifth in the production of sugar beets. Last year Michigan produced 3 1/2 million hundredweight of fine quality white sugar. The largest sugar factory east of the Mississippi is at Bay City.

Opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959 made Michigan the principal maritime state on the nation's fourth seacoast. Now 80 percent of the world's merchant fleet can reach Michigan's seaports.

McNAMARA'S POWER

Representative Hebert (D-La.) said Congress should consider whether to take away some of the broad powers now vested in Secretary of Defense McNamara.

Hebert, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said they had recommended a $15,800,000 military buying bill to include $363,700,000 earmarked for stepped-up development of the RS-70 reconnaissance strike plan.

McNamara is against expansion of the development program, which calls for construction of three planes.

Michigan has 60 state parks and recreation areas, 28 state forests, five national forests and 150 county and municipal camping parks. In this state are more than 9,000 prepared campsites for tent and trailer vacationers.
