swald was immediately linked to the murder of the President. Police uncovered evidence that the shots that killed the President had been fired from the fifth floor window of a book store where Oswald was employed. Ownership of the gun believed to have been used in the assassination was found hidden on the second floor of the building was taken to him.

Oswald was living in a rented room nearby under an assumed name and his landlady later told him he had rushed in earlier, picked up a jacket and ran out immediately; it was a few minutes later that the police officers were shot.

Oswald was captured on a tip from a man acting suspiciously who took him to the theatre. Although police were certain, on the basis of the accumulated evi-agency of a prolonged public trial.

Ruby was known as an ardent admirer of the late Chief Executive. "I couldn't help it," said Ruby, operator of a Dallas striptease nightclub and onetime Chicago street brawler.

The single bullet into Oswald's abdomen was fired at such close range that the sound of the shot was partly muffled by the victim's body.

That is a brief resume of the shocking violence of the past week-end.

Just 38 minutes after President Kennedy's death, the vice-president, Lyndon B. Johnson, was sworn in as the nation's 36th president by Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

The Kennedys had planned to spend the week-end at the Johnsons' ranch home before returning to Washington.

At ceremonies in the rotunda of

"Is it too much to hope for the martyrdom of one beloved I'dent might even soften the hearts of those who would themselves coil from assassination, but do shrink from spreading the very which kindles thoughts of others?"

News correspondents reported happenings in Washington the week-end, said "John F. Kennedy would have proud of his wife, Jacqueline, their two children, Sandra."

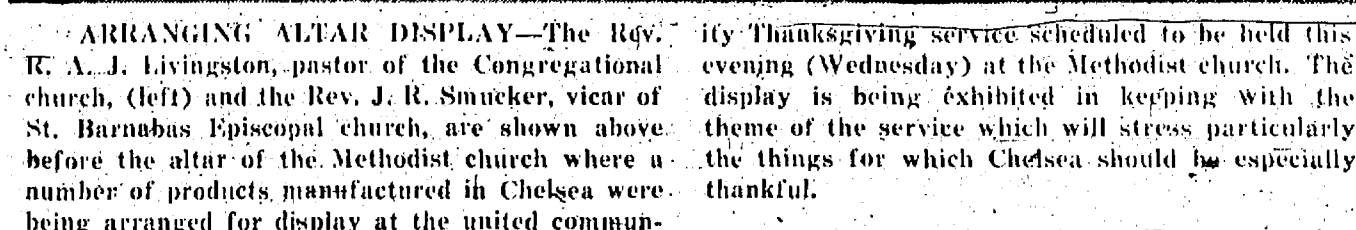

Mrs. Kennedy and the child heard with dignity and elegance the tributes to him as a man to his work in life that sounded the rotunda of the Capitol.

The 34-year-old widow of slain President, the reports continued, wanted to share the historic tributes to her husband with the two children he so adored—Caroline, who is six years old.

Dear Virginia:

Yes, there is a Santa Claus. What's more he's particularly distinguished this year.

In the old days, Virginia, there was some skepticism about Santa Claus. But modern developments have dispelled it.

For instance, when I was a little girl, I had to listen to the half-grown kids who looked down on the carter's about this time of year and sneered. "Tut! tut!" musing believing in Santa Claus. "Anybody knows that nobody could get around the world in one day."

Those were the days, Virginia, before John Glenn and a few of those fellows.

Then there were the others who insisted: "Naginate believing in Santa Claus. 'Anybody knows that nobody could afford to give presents to everyone in the whole world.'"

Those were the days before the foreign aid program.

Yes, Virginia, as the editor of the Sun told you quite some time ago, there will always be a Santa Claus. He will live in 0678 heart of man (and the pockets of Uncle Sam) forever.

But as I started to say, St. Nick is particularly distinguished this year. You can still reach him even in 1963 without his street number, his social security number, his Blue Cross number, his car license number, his (reim.) deer license number, P. O. Box number, his phone number or zone number. However, Virginia! If you want your order to get there early (because the supply is perhaps limited), do use St. Nick's exclusive zip code number. It's 99701. (Better put your own on your return address—in Chelsea it's 48188). And this proves conclusively, doesn't it, there must be a Santa Claus since he has a ZIP code: 99701. It's for him alone.

Americans Are Shocked by Assassination of President

Our community and the rest of the world gasped and shuddered Friday afternoon when word was flashed that President John F. Kennedy had been shot and killed by an assassin in Dallas, Tex.

What had been a joyful motorcade was suddenly changed into a scene of pandemonium and the nation was plunged into its greatest sorrow of modern times.

John F. Kennedy, 35th president of the United States, struck down at age 46, had become a loved and respected figure. His youth, vigor and enthusiasm for living had captivated the nation as few presidents have ever done.

Of course there were those who disagreed with his policies, some violently, but in the time of sorrow, even his political enemies were quick to acknowledge his intellect, charm and leadership.

No president ever came into this highest office of the nation better prepared to serve it. And we believe no other president ever tried more sincerely and conscientiously to serve his beloved country.

John F. Kennedy was a thoroughly dedicated man who will live in history alongside our greatest national heroes. His determined struggles for educational progress, civil rights advancement and the preservation of freedom here and throughout the world will help guide us for years to come.

The new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, although from Texas and hence classed as a Southerner, has been an ardent advocate of President Kennedy's programs and is expected to carry on in much the same tradition. He is coming into the office well-trained and well-informed on all major issues so the world will witness an orderly transfer of power to the new personality. Certainly, under the circumstances, President Johnson will have the earnest support of all patriotic Americans.

Every American should be prompted by this senseless tragedy to find out why our presidents should so often be the target of assassins. In a nation priding itself on offering the greatest freedom for the individual to be found anywhere in the world it is unbelievable that such despicable action can happen.

Yet, the record is clear. Approximately 3 out of 10 presidents this country has elected, have either been assassinated or been the target of an attempted murder. We all believe this just doesn't happen in civilized nations. But it happens here and is one of our greatest shames.

Let us hope the shock and sorrow of the present will forever be remembered to the extent that such a barbaric act may never be repeated.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

I have been disturbed by reports that I have retreated from my fight with the federal government over Aid to the Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU).

Nothing could be further from the truth. I have not abandoned my basic fight with the federal government over the misuse of authority by federal officials.

I think it is important to review the major events of that dispute, in order to put the most recent event in its proper perspective.

In 1961, Congress adopted legislation extending ADCU then available only to children in need because of the death, disability or absence of a parent, to children in need because of the unemployment of a parent.

In doing so, Congress made it absolutely clear that the definition of "unemployment" was to be left up to the states. Rep. Wilbur Mills, chairman of the sponsoring Ways and Means Committee, said: "The question of whether a parent is unemployed is left entirely to the determination of the state. In this instance we are not telling the states they cannot do this; they cannot do that; or they can't do something else. What we are telling the states is this: You find out what this family is in need and what its need is, and you decide if you want to put up state money to help the problems of the needy children, and if so we will join you under the formula now applicable under the ADCU program. That is all we are saying. It is entirely up to the states."

Michigan did not participate in the federal state program in 1961 or 1962. In 1962, Congress extended the program, still on a temporary basis, to 1967.

Following my campaign pledge to do so, I gave full backing to legislation to bring Michigan under the program. This legislation was drafted on the basis of recommendations from the State Department of Social Welfare, which has had long experience in administering such programs. It was cleared in advance by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Assuming that Congress meant what it said when it left it up to the states to define unemployment, the department drafted standards that formed the basis of a workable piece of law, and above all, one that could get through the legislature.

After the bill passed, officials of the Department of HEW changed their position and rejected Michigan's application to be admitted to the program. They said the standards of eligibility did not meet their specifications.

I refused to yield in my position because the department's position amounted to a misuse of its authority. I still believe that.

In July, I asked the Governor's Conference in Miami Beach to support a movement designed to obtain the right of judicial review for the decisions of federal officials. The conference gave unanimous support to this movement.

With the interest and help of the governors of other states, I trust that we will be able to obtain that right of review.

But this fight will take time. I can see why Michigan should continue to be denied these funds during the period in which this battle is being waged.

That is why I have decided to introduce new legislation to bring Michigan under the federal program.

Money Problem

Probably the biggest single factor, other than the sheer presence of partisanship, in the defeat of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program was within the Governor's ranks.

It was not an intentional blow, but an unavoidable one.

Controller Glenn S. Allen, Jr., who ran with Romney last year on the state GOP ticket, was forced into disclosing his estimate of the state's fiscal picture at the end of the current fiscal year.

The picture was so rosy, although Allen was conservative in his estimate, it had adverse effects in the legislature. Some Republicans, already convinced they did not want an income tax, became more firm in their opposition when the estimate was announced.

At least some Democrats who have favored a similar reform program in past years decided to vote against this one on the basis of Allen's estimate of a $25 million surplus at the end of June.

For many of the Democrats it was largely a matter of choice: to support a program basically at the same as they supported under their own party's administration, or to find enough flaws in it to vote against it and hand Romney his first important defeat.

Allen had little, if any, choice. If he held back with the figures quite a few more legislators had indicated they could not vote on the program.

Releasing his estimate, however, confirmed what most legislators thought was true. The $77 million package of insurance taxes enacted in 1961 is more than doing its job because Michigan is continuing to ride the wave of a boom.

All Romney's pleas to "fix the roof before the rains come" were to no avail. The impact of lack of action will probably only be known when the boom wave crests and begins to fall.

Help for Students

Loans available to Michigan college students through the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority will be sharply increased if the 1964 Legislature enacts a law to be proposed.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett said the law would raise the guarantee to banks on loans from the present 80 percent on principal and interest to 100 percent on principal alone.

Bartlett said this was expected to encourage greater participation in the loan program by banks. The Authority already has passed the $500,000 mark in loans guaranteed for college youth in the state. The first loan was approved just over a year ago.

Now 83 banks are involved in a participating agreement with the Authority to extend the loans, but officials hope the percentage guarantee change would enlist many more of the state's 375 banking institutions.

Birth Rate Down

There is a good chance Michigan will record the low birth rate in birth numbers this year.

State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis reports that at the three-quarter mark on the calendar year a total of 130,062 births were recorded, for an average of around 14,500 a month.

Projecting this through the last three months of the year would give a 12-month total of about 173,000 births. In the number this year falls below the 180,000 mark, it will be the lowest number since 1952, Heustis said.

The 1962 report showed 181,754 new babies were born. That was the fifth consecutive year to show a decline.

Michigan's latest population explosion high was in 1957 when 208,488 babies were born. The birth rate has been declining steadily since.

Another peak should come soon, as more and more "war babies" reach the marriage stage.

Washtenaw County Population Increases By Nearly 15,000

The population of Washtenaw county has increased by 14,700 for a gain of 8.9 percent since the 1960 Federal Census. According to estimates prepared by the Detroit Regional Planning Commission's Population and Housing Committee of which the Washtenaw County Planning Commission is a member, the 172,440 persons reported by the U.S. Bureau of Census in 1960 has increased to 187,200.

The area in the county which experienced the greatest growth centered on the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti complex.

Increased school enrollment at both the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University accounted for a substantial share of the county's total growth.

Michigan Lighthouses Guard Shipping, Attract Tourists

The shipping lanes of the Great Lakes surrounding Michigan are among the busiest in the world. Safe passage through the shoals, reefs and sand bars of this aquatic highway system is dependent on a vast network of lighthouses and other navigation aids.

With the longest freshwater coastline in the world—some 3,000 miles—Michigan has scores of lighthouses within its boundaries from the awesome isolation of Stannard Rock Light in Lake Superior to the Livingstone Memorial light on Belle Isle near the heart of metropolitan Detroit.

The visual appeal of the lonely sentinel towers combined with the romantic association of lighthouses with ships in peril, attracts many visitors to the more accessible lights, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Large portions of most Great Lakes voyages require intricate navigation through river passages and harbor channels. The added hazards of the storms and dense fogs that harass Lakes mariners have brought about the construction of the most elaborate navigation system in the world.

To meet the challenge of the Lakes, a number of notable lighthouses have been built. Two of the most isolated are at Stannard Rock and Spectacle Reef.

Stannard Rock, 23 miles out in Lake Superior off Keweenaw peninsula, is the most distant from shore of any lighthouse in United States' waters. The 110-foot concrete tower with its 156,000 candlepower light was constructed in 1877 to warn ships of the half-mile-long reef that it sits atop.

Spectacle Reef light is at the eastern end of the Straits of Mackinac, 10 miles from shore. Twin shoals of limestone rock chain several ships before the 40-foot tower was completed in 1874.

The most popular lighthouses with tourists are those that are located on the mainland or close enough to be seen and photographed easily. There are many such lights in Michigan, most of them still in active service though often unmanned.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You will recollect ole Khrushchev told this feller Tito a while back that what he was aiming to say when he announced he was going to "bury" us was that they was going to bury us under production, not dirt.

I was reading some figgers this week from the U. S. Department of Agriculture that might upset Khrushchy's time table, maybe his stummkick.

This country has cut crop acreage by 50 million acres but the surpluses is still piling up. By 1980, this place says, another 50 million crop acres will have to be reduced and we'll still be able to feed our entire population, which is estimated at 200,000,000 by that time.

I bring this item up at the country store Saturday night and some of the fellers' thought this was mighty good. Zeke Grubb reported he had saw in the papers the other day where the warehouses was bursting out, more was being built, and the Government was about to shell out $5 billion more for supports. Earthermore, Zeke announced, it was predicted that now since the growers has voted controls off wheat, we might have to use the Grand Canyon for storage.

Bug Hookum allowed as how they was a chanct the country might run plum out of money by 1980 but farm production looked safe. He was of the opinion that if we had to gamble with ole Khrushchy between money and somepun to eat, he was in favor of somepun to eat.

But Ed Doolittle, that says his prayers facing toward Abe Lincoln's tomb, claimed we ain't got the proper balance between surplus and cost. He says the Democrats was the cause of this evil. As a general rule, Ed always claims the Republicans is 99 per cent pure. And he says the 1 per cent they was off on account of they had to mix now and then with Democrats.

Clem Webster come back with argument that the greatest evil to hit this country since we stole it from the Indians was when the Republicans under Ike invented the word "adjustments." Afore Ike got in, said Clem, prices was raised but the Republicans started "adjusting" 'em and in 8 year the stopper got plum out of the jug. All we got now, allowed Clem, was "price adjustments." According to Clem, we was now trying to put prices on the moon afore we got a man up there. For instant, he reported he had saw where the price of hair cuts in some places was now gitting "adjusted" to $3.00.

Well, Mister Editor, I got to close now. I just got a notice in the mail that the premium on my hospital insurance has been "adjusted." I got to git my specs and read the fine print and see how far up they adjusted it. Last time they adjusted it, they used a hydraulic jack under it.

COMMENT on SPORTS

★ Spirit in Sports . . .

By Pete Fritchie
Washington, D.C. — The 1963 college football season is as usual, full of upsets. But one week this year must rank with the all-time great upset weeks. That was the weekend Southern Methodist upended Navy, Texas ditched Oklahoma, and Florida defeated Alabama, among other things.

All of which brings us around to the realization that psychology is one of the major factors in sports. Perhaps we do not always accept this fact, for we sometimes like to think that we can mentally overcome his difficulties and handicaps, if he has enough determination, and there is certainly something to this philosophy.

Nevertheless, the mood of players is vitally important. That has been the secret weapon of many of the great coaches over the years; they have been able to get their boys "up" for the big games. Bud Wilkinson no doubt had his lads up for the Southern California game, but Texas on the other hand was up for the Sooners, as they always are, with relish!

Alabama and Navy were no doubt not psychologically inspired as were Southern Methodist and Florida a few weeks back; SMU and Florida had so much to gain in winning! Alabama had suffered so long, without a defeat at home, it must have been a problem for Bear Bryant to get the Tide red-hot over the prospect of playing Florida.

In baseball, too, psychology is a big factor. The team which gets red-hot, as did the St. Louis Cardinals late in the season, must have talent of course, but it is the spark of fire and spirit which achieves a winning streak like that the Cards compiled. This is especially true with pitching. For every tight, consistent pitching a staff must have the right psychological approach and feel.

Add that is where the speculation about the Yankees comes in. Will the shocking defeat and subsequent abuse shake up the confidence and poise of the Yankees? Chances are, if the records are any guide, this defeat will make the Yankees tougher in the coming year. Like football teams on top, the Yankees could not have been as hungry and desperately resolute as were the Los Angeles Dodgers in the recent Series.

The Dodgers were full of desire and pent-up psychology dating back to 1962. That is one advantage the Yankees will have in 1965, and if they get into the World Series (and they will probably look quite like another club, compared to the 1963 performance).

FOOT DIFFERENCE: Lincoln was our tallest President, 6-4½; Madison, the shortest, with 5-4½ to his credit.

Gerald William Kleis, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kleis, Jr., of Waterloo, N.D., who is a graduate of Chelsea High school, class of 1958, and of the University of Michigan, class of 1962, with a bachelor of science degree, completed three months of Peace Corps training at Columbia Teachers College in New York City on Aug. 28 and, after a furlough which he spent at home, is now serving as a teacher of biology and mathematics in a Junior College in the village of Ubulu in Eastern Nigeria, Africa.

Kleis describes his surroundings as most primitive by American standards. He is living in a hut of dried red clay with a corrugated zinc roof, although most of the other huts in the village have roofs of thatched palm fronds.

This part of Africa is close to the equator and consequently the area may be described as tropical with typical forests of palm trees, both oil palm and coconut palm, as well as huge teakwood trees as much as 150 feet tall.

Scattered patches of dense jungle have taken over most of the previously cleared areas which have not continued under cultivation.

The people are known as Ibo and although, as a former British colony the teaching language in the schools is English, Kleis is making every effort to learn the Ibo in order that he might communicate more understandingly with the natives.

In one letter home he wrote that he was most gratified by the reception given him by the people of the village as well as their concern for his well-being. The evidence of this concern was brought home to him when he came down with a slight cold and many of the villagers came to his hut and extended their sympathy and well wishes for his early recovery.

He has also written of his pleasure at finding his pupils to be intelligent, attentive, and eager to learn.

Recently Kleis visited the University of Nigeria, founded by Michigan State University, and spent some time with the parents of a young man living in the Nokamura Co-op House at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, where Kleis' brother, George, is also a resident. In his own words he describes his reception by these people as "pretty royal."

Kleis plans to take some courses at the University of Nigeria during the Christmas vacation.

From the tone of his letters, it would appear that he is very happy with his assignment and his parents said they are looking forward to the day when he can return and give a full account of his experiences in person.

Travelogue Retraces Trip Over Pan-American Highway

Don Cooper, former Alaskan lumberjack turned traveler and lecturer, will be the featured travelogue speaker Saturday evening—the second of the current series of six being held at monthly intervals at Chelsea High school auditorium, sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

Cooper is described as "a logger by inheritance and lecturer by accident." He was born in a logging camp bunkhouse and spent most of his life working in the forests from the Arctic to Argentina. He took the pictures for his first film "Lumberjack in Alaska" to help while away idle hours in the camps.

His program here, entitled "Sourdoughs to Sonoritas," is the story of the Pan-American Highway from Alaska to Guatemala. The film, which Cooper narrates in a humorous, yet informative manner, shows scenes from gold prospecting in the Arctic to a great buried city in the jungles of Guatemala. Included are the Brooks Range, large rivers, a spectacular forest fire, wildlife, trout fishing, people of the various areas involved, picturesque old world cities and picture of Easter week in Antigua, one of the great sights of Central America.

"Sourdoughs to Sonoritas" has been described as a presentation of "10,000 miles of picturesque, beautiful scenery."

Cooper was accompanied on his travels for Saturday's program by his brother, Dennis.

HALF-PAST TEEN

I HEAR THIS NEW "HISTORY OF THE OPERA" TEACHER IS REALLY ROUGH!

Know Your Michigan Law

Attorney General FRANK J. KELLEY

This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law.

In the hundreds of letters which we receive into the Attorney General's office each week, there are almost always inquiries on who may vote on tax issues in school districts. "Must I be a property owner in order to vote?" is the most common question asked.

The answer to this question varies, depending upon the specific issue before the voter and upon whether the election is to take place under the present Constitution or under the new one which goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1964.

Under the present Constitution all voters may cast a ballot on the question of raising the maximum tax limitation in a school district, but only voters owning property assessed for taxes may vote on the direct expenditure of public money on the issuance of bonds.

After Jan. 1, when the revised Constitution takes effect, those who do not have property assessed for taxes will be able to vote on questions of raising the tax limitation only where the increase is for five years or less; otherwise, the rules on voting will remain the same, meaning that the other questions may be voted on only by those who hold tax assessed property.

If any questions should arise in regard to these matters, the local school election authorities should be contacted.

News Hollywood

Walt Disney's live-action feature, "The Incredibly True Adventure of Squidward Tentacles," has been released and should be showing in neighborhood theatres soon.

Laurence Harvey, as producer-director in "The Ceremony," has been released and should be showing in neighborhood theatres soon.

It looks as if the reconciliation of Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin is going to be the real thing this time. Rumors are that they are expecting their second child.

Film Review . . .

"TAKE HER SHE'S MINE"

Keeping up with an attractive daughter proves quite a task in this film, especially when the daughter is Sandra Dee and the father is James Stewart.

Here we find an interesting situation comedy. Daddy is fanatic in his concern over his daughter's college life and in his concern creates some awkward situations.

All the while, Sandra is having a ball and is so sophisticated one doesn't wonder at her father's concern. When the college can no longer condone Miss Dee's conduct—she gets the boot and is sent home.

To cover up this escapade, Stewart sends her to Paris, presumably to study art. But, he finds this is a bad choice and is in a peek of trouble trying to keep matters under control. If you wonder why Audrey Meadows, his wife, is not overly concerned—well, she has the control and patience that these two lack.

Fishing License Sale Declines—

Again This Year

Sales of resident fishing licenses in Michigan once again failed to take an upturn despite population increases, more vacationists, better highways, and other such factors. Through October, sales were down about one-half of a percentage point from the year-ago figure which, in turn, was down one-tenth of one percent from the previous year.

Conservation Department reports for the 10-month period this year also showed a 4.8 percent drop in temporary non-resident licenses from 1962. Slight increases were reported in sales of non-resident annual licenses and in trout stamps.

Sales figures for this year, through October, were: resident fish, 639,648; temporary non-resident, 66,763; annual non-resident fish, 96,483; trout stamps, 155,823.

THE WHITE HOUSE Thanksgiving Day--1963 By the late John F. Kennedy 35th President of the United States A PROCLAMATION

Over three centuries ago, our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts, far from home in a lonely wilderness, set aside a time of thanksgiving. On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the love which bound them together and for the faith which united them with their God.

So too when the colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first Administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as "a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God" and called upon the people of the new republic to "beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best."

And so too, in the midst of America's tragic civil war, President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November 1863 as a day to renew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields," for our "national strength and vigor," and for all our "singular deliverances and blessings."

Much time has passed since the first colonists came to rocky shores and dark forests of an unknown continent, much time since President Washington led a young people into the experience of nationhood, much time since President Lincoln saw the American nation through the ordeal of fraternal war—and in these years our population, our plenty and our power have all grown apace. Today we are a nation of nearly two hundred million souls, stretching from coast to coast, on into the Pacific and north toward the Arctic, a nation enjoying the fruits of an ever-expanding agriculture and industry and achieving standards of living unknown in previous history. We give our humble thanks for this.

Yet, as our power has grown, so has our peril. Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers—for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they possessed and which we must seek every day to emulate. As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them.

Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to Providence for manifold blessings—let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals—and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JOHN F. KENNEDY, President of the United States of America, in conformance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved December 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862 (5 U.S.C. 87b), designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 26, 1963, as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice, and understanding among all men and nations; and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this fourth day of November, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-eighth.

RING IN NOODLES

Jackson—When emptying a bag of noodles, Mrs. Francis Ryder was surprised to find a diamond ring inside.

Mrs. Ryder told the newspaper and by tracing the package to a macaroni firm some 80 miles away, the newspaper learned that Mrs. Giovanna Vitale, a noodle packer, lost her engagement ring some time back.

IT DIDN'T WORK

Chittenango, N. Y.—As a last resort to catch the thief, Paul Demario substituted water for gasoline in his farm gas tank.

He didn't have to wait too long before he saw a car stalled in the road near his farm and called the state police.

The troopers arrested Hadlin Wallis on a charge of larceny. They found 15 gallons of water in the car's gas tank.

Don't Jump to Solutions Urges U. of M. Psychologist

Ann Arbor — Don't jump to solutions.

If you have a problem and wish to solve it, you must learn to suppress your interest in solutions and spend more time exploring the problem at the outset, says University of Michigan psychologist Norman R. F. Maier.

"Successful problem-solving depends, in part, upon the location of the specific problem that is selected from the general problem area," he points out.

"This sounds obvious, but even seemingly clear-cut problems may contain a surprising variety of specific problem locations—a point not always appreciated by conference leaders and individual problem solvers."

Too often a conference leader is likely to take his first conception of a problem as the starting point and immediately look for solutions, says Professor Maier, whose recent research, supported principally by the National Institute of Mental Health, deals with improving the effectiveness of a leader's performance in group problem-solving and decision-making.

It takes skills to explore, choose and isolate "a starting point," Maier points out. Here are some research-based principles that may help discussion leaders:

—Looking for obstacles that can be "overcome" is a key process in successful problem solving.

—A problem may be located in the situation, in individuals, or in the group. These three locations suggest different approaches.

—Once the general locations (in the situation, individuals or in the group) are found, the specific nature of the problem needs to be clarified.

—Avoid confusion between problems, solutions and choices.

—Get assistance from the group in locating and clarifying the problem.

—Problems for group decision should be located in the leader's area of freedom. "Problem solving is successful only when the solution reached is one which can be put into practice."

Maier examines various principles that may serve to improve the quality of group decisions in his latest book, "Problem-Solving Discussions and Conferences" (McGraw-Hill), based on many years of research on methods and skills of conference leadership.

Thanksgiving 1621 - 1963

For us, Thanksgiving Day is more than a commemoration of the occasion on which the Pilgrims gathered before an abundant feast to celebrate the establishment of their firm footing in America.

For us, Thanksgiving Day has become an occasion for pausing to count the blessings that have come to the peoples of America year by year. This national holiday arrives annually as a milestone in the journey of progress launched by our forefathers many years ago.

Outlook Bright for Winning '63-'64 Basketball Season

ing eye. We expect a fine year from Hanson.

"Jeff Flintoff, a returning letterman, will help us considerably with his shooting from the guard position. Gary Dreesch is one of the best all-around ball players we have."

"He can shoot, pass and dribble very well. His lack of height puts him at a disadvantage at a forward position, so we may switch him to guard every now and then. Jack Crawford is returning to basketball this year, which makes us happy. Jack is on his way to nailing down a starting berth at a forward position with his fine shooting. With a bit more confidence in himself Jack can be an excellent basketball player."

"When Parley is running into difficulty we have a very capable person to take his spot in the person of Ed Windell. Ed is tall and lanky and is developing into a fine center. He needs a bit more drive but we feel this will come with experience. He shoots well and can rebound adequately."

"Two forwards who should come a long way this year are Dennis Stoffer and Mike Tarasow. Dennis is improving in every practice and will be valuable substitute for any of our forwards. Before this year is over he may even nail down a starting position. Mike is a sophomore of whom we expect great things in the future. He lacks experience but can hold his own under the boards and usually wins out. He shoots well but can use a bit more work on defense."

"Last but not least is Dick Lauson. Dick will provide excellent backing for our guards. He is fast and has a good head. He is just the man we need to continue our fast break if and when our starting guards begin to wobble. Besides being a good football player Dick is on his way to becoming a good basketball player, a tremendous achievement for an individual as short as he is."

"All in all we are looking forward to a very balanced team. The bench will be as strong as the starting five. Bench strength is very necessary in the type of basketball game we are going to play. We feel that a fast-breaking game is the most adaptable to our personnel. I believe the Chelsea people will enjoy watching our style of basketball. We believe in continuous action both on defense and offense."

Pokela, who graduated from the University of Michigan in 1961, said he went directly "to a rival of ours—Dexter." He taught two years there and did some coaching. He played freshman basketball at Michigan, however, his principal efforts were directed toward basketball and he was on the varsity basketball team during his sophomore year.

Quoted about his particular interest in basketball, Pokela said, "My basketball background lies in the reaches of the Upper Peninsula in a small community called Chassell. It was there I played four years of varsity ball. The final two years of my high school basketball career were the most prolific. Our team won the Michigan State Class D Basketball Tournament at East Lansing both those years. As I graduated we had won 39 straight basketball games. The following year the team won the state title again and had not lost a game, therefore making the record 65 straight victories."

Pokela's assistant basketball coach is Richard Donley who played four years at the University of Michigan. He comes from Big Rapids, where he led a Class B power for two years.

ARGENTINE AID
Congressional leaders have called for immediate suspension of American aid as a result of Argentina's cancellation of agreements with U. S. oil companies.

Existing law says such aid shall be cut off to countries which confiscate American property and don't pay for it in six months. Argentina had been receiving around $100 million a year in loans and grants.

AGRICULTURE in Action

by M. L. Wahl

Back Where They Started . . .

Michigan farmers have been keenly disappointed in the failure of the recent special session of the Michigan legislature to reach agreement on tax reform. However, they have no intention of slackening their efforts in this direction. At stake is a chance to equalize a tax burden on farm property which is two to three times greater than that paid by any other group.

Delegates to the recent annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau noted that property taxes take 12.6 percent of each Michigan farmer's income. They continued to urge substantial personal and real property tax relief along with repeal of the business activities and intangibles taxes.

"We support new sources of revenue for local units of government. We believe this should include the use of the income tax by counties rather than by cities, with the possible exception of Detroit," they said.

The farmers noted that Michigan has the dubious honor of recording the greatest percentage of property tax increase of all states, in the 10-year period from 1951 to 1961—an increase of 187 percent.

A spot-check of property taxes around the United States shows the average increase in the same ten-year period is 77 percent, and that the average farmer pays a real-estate tax of $462.80. In contrast is a business report from Michigan State University that shows many Michigan farmers paying more than double that amount (an average of $982 in one section of the state)—and an over-all state average real and personal property tax of $1728.

Part of the problem is an outmoded assessment practice which frequently assesses farm land at market value—if regarded as useable for sub-division development or similar purposes, even though it is in full crop production. In one instance, 245 acres of strictly farmland bore a tax of $2,350. Another has a rental price of $10 per acre, AND A TAX OF $9 PER ACRE.

Farmers take heart from the New Jersey action of voters who adopted an amendment to the state's constitution in the November election requiring all land actively devoted to agriculture to be assessed only according to the value it has for that use.

'A Man of Wisdom, Strength and Peace'

At Washington, on Saturday, President Johnson issued the following proclamation to the people of the United States:

John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th President of the United States, has been taken from us by an act which outrages decent men everywhere.

He upheld the faith of our fathers, which is freedom for all men. He broadened the frontiers of that faith, and backed it with the energy and the courage which are the mark of the nation he led.

A man of wisdom, strength and peace, he molded and moved the power of our nation in the service of a world of growing liberty and order. All who love freedom will mourn his death.

As he did not shrink from his responsibilities, but welcomed them, so he would not have us shrink from carrying on his work beyond this hour of national tragedy.

He said it himself: "The energy, the faith, the devotion which we bring to this endeavor will light our country and all who serve—and the glory from that fire can truly light the world."

Now, therefore, I Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Monday next, November 25, the day of the funeral service of President Kennedy, to be a national day of mourning throughout the United States.

I earnestly recommend the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission to the will of almighty God, and to pay their homage of love and reverence to the memory of the great and good man.

I invite the people of the world who share our grief to join us in this day of mourning and re-dedication.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this twenty-third day of November in the year of our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and eighty-ninth.

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

In accordance with the proclamation almost all business places were closed all day Monday; others closed during the time of the funeral service—12 noon until 2 p.m.

Schools and libraries were closed and sports events were canceled.

Entertainments of all kinds—theatres, etc., also were canceled. Memorial services were held in churches of all faiths on Sunday and special community memorial services were held in many places on Monday.

In Chelsea, the Chelsea Ministers Fellowship conducted a community memorial service at 11 a.m. Monday in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

The stage was transformed by means of a lighted cross, candles and other altar appointments to give a chancel effect.

Participating in the service, which included a canticle for the dead, prayers, Scripture readings, quiet organ music and moments of silent prayer, were the Rev. Fr. Francis Maliszewski, of St. Mary's Catholic church, the Rev. George P. Stanford, chaplain of the Methodist Home; the Rev. J. R. Smucker, of St. Barnabas Episcopal church; the Rev. R. A. J. Livingston, of the Congregational church; the Rev. James Craig, of the Methodist church; and the Rev. Paul M. Schenke, of St. Paul's United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Clare Warren served as organist. The auditorium was filled for the service which lasted approximately one-half hour.

President's Murder Shocks World..

old today (Wednesday) and John, Jr., who turned three Monday.

As soon as news of the president's death was received, all radio and television programs were canceled until after the funeral and continuous newscasts were programmed. The people of the entire nation were kept informed of all happenings as soon as they occurred.

Stunned political leaders—local, state and national—found it hard to believe that the tragedy of President Kennedy's assassination could have happened. All expressed sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and other members of the family and many reiterated the statement that "at a time like this we are not Republicans" and Democrats but Americans and, as such, deplore the fact that it is possible, in this day and age, to snuff out the life of our President by means of assassination.

Messages of sympathy poured in from most nations of the world; the general theme being that not only has the United States lost a president but the whole world has lost a friend, leader and champion. Callers streamed to United States embassies all over the world to sign their names in expression of sympathy.

It was estimated that approximately 250,000 persons filed past the flag-draped coffin in the rotunda of the Capitol—the procession continued throughout the night and until 9 a.m. Monday. Even then, some were still standing in line and could not be accommodated, since arrangements had to begin then to return the body to the White House in time for the funeral.

The catafalque on which the President lay was the same as the simple bier of planks covered with black bunting used for another martyred commander-in-chief, Abraham Lincoln, almost a century ago.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her daughter Caroline were the first to approach the coffin in the rotunda Sunday after eulogies by Chief Justice Earl Warren, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Speaker John W. McCormack.

Kneeling with her daughter, Mrs. Kennedy kissed the flag that covered the casket, then left the rotunda and her husband to the people.

But several hours later she returned unexpectedly with the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, and reverently kissed the casket for the second time. The attorney general took her arm when she rose and led her outside, where they walked quietly under the trees before entering a car to return to the White House.

The President's mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, appeared a little later. Then his younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

It was nearly midnight when Astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr., and his wife filed past, followed later by Irish President Eamon de Valera.

The funeral Monday noon was held in St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral with Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston and an old friend of the Kennedy family, officiating at the low Pontifical Mass.

Approximately 100 dignitaries from various countries of the world, attended the service, including French President Charles de Gaulle, Prince Phillip and Prime Minister Alec Douglas-Home of Britain, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany, President Eamon de Valera of Ireland, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, King Baudoin of Belgium and many others.

Russia and many countries sent representatives to attend the funeral and extend sympathy and condolence to Mrs. Kennedy and the people of the United States.

In recognition of President Kennedy's heritage of Irish ancestors, a company of Irish Guards, crack troops, accompanied de Valera to the United States and took part in the funeral service at Arlington National Cemetery where the President was laid to rest.

At the conclusion of the service Mrs. Kennedy lit a flame which is to be kept burning at the President's grave for all time to come.

The cortege including marching units of all branches of the service, followed the caisson bearing the President in his coffin and drawn by six horses the almost three miles from the church to the cemetery.

A seventh horse and rider were at the head of those drawing the caisson and a lone riderless horse, with stirrups reversed, followed behind, led by a serviceman. The riderless horse has become a tradition at funerals of national leaders to signify the fallen commander-in-chief.

Mrs. Kennedy accompanied by the president's brothers, Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy, marched behind the caisson as the cortege neared the church, heading the procession of mourners. At the church she was again joined by her young son and daughter.

Protocol, that strict code of diplomatic niceties, was necessarily all but ignored in the arrival of so many world dignitaries; however no one seemed to mind. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and his top department aides tried at least to welcome as many of the visitors as they could at the four airports in the area.

Mrs. Kennedy received the foreign heads of state and leaders of national delegations at the White House after the burial.

There were at least 22 presidents or prime ministers, three reigning monarchs and princes or princesses of nine countries present among the mourners.

From behind the Iron Curtain came representatives of Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia. Red China and Cuba, with whom the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations, were not represented. Neither were other Communist nations in Peking's sphere of influence.

President Johnson arranged to receive all delegation leaders at a reception at the State Department beginning at 6:30 p.m. Monday. The new Chief Executive also conferred Tuesday with a number of world leaders in his office.

On Tuesday, also, people all over the country again took up their routine duties.

News commentators and national leaders voiced the assurance that, in a disaster such as occurred with the assassination of the President, the people of the United States may still be secure in conviction that "the president and the nation" will go on and out dire consequences such would likely follow in many of the countries of the world under similar circumstances.

Isle Royale National Park Lake Superior is noted for having one of the largest remaining herds of great antlered moose in the United States. History says it crossed the ice from Canada 1912 and were stranded by spring thaw.

FW AUXILIARY

Two new members were accepted at the Nov. 25 meeting of the Chelsea Fire Department Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4076. They are Harold Knott and Mrs. Walter Bauer.

It was announced that the Auxiliary plans to present a large Christmas tree to the Chelsea Fire Department for use in the new fire hall. It was also announced that the Auxiliary will make a contribution of $5 to the Chelsea Community Chest and donate for the purchase of a Christmas tree for the Chelsea Fire Department.

The next meeting of the Auxiliary, Dec. 9, will be a combination Christmas and business meeting; however, the customary exchange of Christmas gifts will not take place. Instead, members will make contributions for cancer research, a special interest of the entire Auxiliary.

William Henry Harrison, aged 42, was the youngest.

VIVIAN OTTO CIRCLE

Vivian Otto Circle of the Methodist church met with Mrs. Winston Stoen and Mrs. William Stoen at the Stoen home Wednesday morning, Nov. 20.

After singing grace at the breakfast meeting Mrs. Benjamin Bower took for her devotion service, excerpts from the book "Tomorrow is Now," by Eleanor Roosevelt, stressing the point of our human aspirations and also learning from each other.

Topic for the program was the question, "What Does a Christian Woman Read?" Mrs. Lloyd Merrill very ably reviewed books and several magazines suggested for the church woman to read. She especially named the modern translation of the New Testament by J. B. Phillips; and "Abundant Living" by E. Stanley Jones. She also made suggestions related to finding time to read "the better things."

A Christmas project was discussed and Mrs. Russell Maurer was delegated to remember, with greetings and a small gift, five people who were without families.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Loren Turner.

METHODIST CHURCH CIRCLES

Marion Simons and Marion Shaw Circles of the Methodist church met for a breakfast meeting at the home of Mrs. Lyman Adams Wednesday at 9 a.m. Marion Shaw Circle members were guests at the meeting.

Mrs. Wilbur Silverman, as guest speaker, gave an interesting talk about her former home in Japan.

The opening devotional service was presented by Mrs. Robert Harris.

CHELSEA SUBURBANETTES

Chelsea Suburbanettes Extension Study Group members, at their meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Bruce Bycraft, had a lesson on the topic: "Planning a Family Insurance Program." The lesson leader was Mrs. Earl Tison.

There were 16 members and one guest present for the meeting.

A report of a community service project given at the meeting stated that 75 game prizes and 250 cup cakes were contributed for a party in a men's ward Nov. 19 at Ypsilanti State Hospital.

Announcement also was made that a Christmas package is to be prepared for a boy at the state institution at Coldwater and those who plan to contribute should bring their donations to the next regular meeting of the Extension Study group scheduled for Dec. 19 at the home of Mrs. Tison. The meeting will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. pot-luck dinner.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. George Sanderson are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Lola Barbara, to Troy Lee Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis. They have not announced the wedding date.

Both the prospective bride and her fiancé are graduates of Chelsea High School; she was a member of the class of '63 and he graduated in 1958. Mr. Lewis is employed as a platemaker at Braun & Brumfield Lithographers, Ann Arbor.

Episcopal Women

Complete Plans for Christmas Bazaar

Mrs. Judson Goltra opened the meeting of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church Women Thursday evening with a prayer taken from the book "Cycle of Prayers" of the Missionary District of Alaska. The prayer was entitled "The Generous Spirit."

During the program period the study of the book "Personalities of the Old Testament" by James, was resumed for the year. The chapter on "Deborah" was reviewed by Mrs. Fred Meyer and this was followed by a general discussion.

A report of the Bishop's Day held Nov. 6 at the Cathedral in Detroit was given by Mrs. Goltra. She and Mrs. Edward Mester were delegates appointed to represent St. Barnabas church.

A report of the United Thank Offering (UTO) included the announcement that those who have not yet turned in their offering may give them to Mrs. Jeremiah MacDougall at any time.

Final plans were completed for the annual Christmas bazaar which is to be held at the church Thursday, Dec. 5, from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess, Mrs. J. R. Smucker.

Members were asked to note the date of the December meeting which is a change from the regular date. The meeting, which will include an evaluation of the bazaar project, will be held Monday, Dec. 5, at 7:45 p.m. Hostesses are to be Mrs. Frank Wojciowski and Mrs. Edward Lajohn.

PTO Panel Discussion Held On 'Youth of Our Town'

"The Youth of Our Town" was the topic of a panel discussion program at the November meeting of the Chelsea Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) held Wednesday evening at the Chelsea High School cafeteria and attended by approximately 90 persons.

Points made by the various panel members brought out a number of important facts and ideas.

Leonard Solomon, Junior High school teacher, on the subject of the relationships of the youth to society, to parents and to peers, said "In striving for independence from the home and parents, which begins at about the age of 12 or 13, the goals of the group seem more important than the goals of the individual. Acceptance is very important, especially at this time, but often leads to conformity."

An excerpt from the talk by James Hoffmeyer, Junior High school teacher whose sub-topic was "Multi-Standards, Confusion and Anxieties," is as follows: "Standards of behavior accepted by parents, teachers, friends and in the church, differ in some cases to such a degree that even the most earnest young person is made to feel confused and unsure. In not knowing what is expected of him, anxieties are almost certain to arise and erupt into a rebellious attitude toward some phase of Society—the home, church, school."

"The Vanishing Adolescent," the subject of the Rev. James Craig's presentation brought forth the following: "Ours is fast becoming a 'cream of wheat' culture of bland sameness where making decisions and standing strongly for one's convictions are not only thought not to be unnecessary, but at times even dangerous. Edgar Z. Friedlander, author of 'The Vanishing Adolescent,' speaks of the fear of adults in our society which tends to glorify youth. The adult fears disorder of any kind, loss of control, growing older and envies life not yet squandered. From the book '...fair, decent, kindly and humorous when not under stress, the American boy learns early that devotion can be dangerous and the feeling must be sacrificed to flexibility.'"

Mrs. Thomas Stock, a Senior High school teacher, speaking on "Identities and Pulls," said, "While striving constantly for acceptance, the adolescent is at the same time seeking to identify himself. The search for individual goals is overshadowed by the pressure to conform to the pattern set by the parents, the church, the school and all of society. The greatest need of the adolescent is to please his parents and to be accepted by them. Rebellious behavior often occurs if the parents seem to withhold this acceptance."

Roberta Devine, a high school senior, said, "The young people of Chelsea need more constructive activities, more well-supervised recreational facilities, a place to dance, to talk, to spend some of their leisure time. The need is especially great for the young people no longer connected with the school."

David Wood, a sophomore, suggested "more athletic programs are needed, especially for girls and for the young people no longer in school."

The Rev. R.A.J. Livingston was assigned the topic: "Recreational Facilities." He said "Recreational facilities available to the youth in the Chelsea area had been listed and discussed... there is a wide variety of activities but some areas are weak. Noted especially was the lack of a movie theatre and a need for more commercial establishments for dating couples."

Chief of Police John Palmer, asked to speak on the topic "Juvenile Delinquency," stated that "they are the responsibility of their parents and should be taught to obey and respect the parents and the teachers. Religious teachings should be an important part of the lives of our young people. In most cases, with a compatible home life and religious trainings, juvenile delinquency does not enter the picture."

Discussion following the panel presentation brought out the charge that "delinquent young people wreck their own facilities by misuse and disinterest," and the suggestion to "find out what the teen-ager really wants... don't provide only what adults think they should have."

Summing up, the panel moderator, the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, made the following statement: "There is much good that can come from discussions between parent and parent; parent and teacher; parent and school official; etc.—the sharing of experiences to foster better understanding and communication. One of the greatest problems in the parent-youth and teacher-youth relationship is the lack of communication. Let us not just talk; let us go from such sessions as this and act."

"I would like to see such a panel program repeated, choosing another panel who would bring to light new and different points of interest."

In conclusion the Rev. Schnake expressed his appreciation for the seriousness of the panel members and for the time and effort spent in preparing for their part in the program.

During the business session at Wednesday's meeting a request was made by the athletic director, Neil Celley, for parents to act as chaperons on the buses taking students to out-of-town basketball games, and for parents to assist as ushers and to maintain order among spectators at home basketball games. Anyone interested in serving in this capacity is requested to call Celley to register his name.

Parents wishing to attend any high school dances are invited to do so it was announced. Parents willing to serve as chaperones at these dances should notify the school so chaperone may be assigned definite dance dates.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by a committee of mothers of eighth grade students.

BASIC HAIR CARE

In spite of all pre-occupation with hair styles and tints these days, many girls express disappointment with their coiffure results. A little sleuthing leads to the discovery that often you've been slipshod about the basic care of the hair. In the very same way that you can't expect a good figure without eating a balanced diet, you can't look forward to beautiful hair unless you nurture it through massage and brushing on a daily basis.

When your hair really becomes your crowning glory it's time to think seriously about the style and color that gives you the most flattery. Magic Mirror Beauty Salon, 6585 Jackson Road, Ann Arbor, 665-0816.

NEW BOY SCOUTS—These six boys who graduated last Thursday from Cub Scout Webelos to full-fledged Boy Scouts, have the rare distinction of having remained together as a unit—Den VI—throughout their Cub Scout "career." Their den mothers were Mrs. Vernon Parks and Mrs. Curtis Farley while their Webelos leader was Mr. Parks. Their graduation Thursday took place at the monthly pack meeting of Cub Scout Pack 125 at Chelsea Junior High school. From left, they are Bruce Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Parks; Lee Diekelman whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Diekelman; Harry Novess, son of Cubmaster and Mrs. Malcolm Novess; David Conklin, son of Junior High School Principal and Mrs. Alan Conklin; John Hephburn whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Max Hephburn; and Arthur Farley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Farley. The boys are separating for further Scouting, each joining the troop of his choice.

6 New Boy Scouts Complete 3 Years in Same Cub Den

Six Chelsea boys who met for their first den meeting as Cub Scouts of Den VI in September, 1960, have the unique distinction of remaining in the same den throughout their Cub Scout program and have earned a total of 18 gold arrows and 83 silver awards. The six boys also put forth the extra effort needed to earn the President D. D. Eisenhower award which they will carry over into their Boy Scout work. The Eisenhower award insignia will be attached to their Boy Scout uniforms.

Thursday, Nov. 21, the six boys—Arthur Farley, John Hephburn, Lee Diekelman, David Conklin, Harry Novess and Bruce Parks—graduated from Webelos to Boy Scouts and are joining their choice of Chelsea Boy Scout troops. Since January of this year they have been Webelos under the direction of Vernon Parks, assistant Cubmaster.

Their first Cub Scout meeting in September, 1960, was held at the den headquarters, 169 East Summit St., the home of Mrs. Vernon Parks, one of the two den mothers. Mrs. Curtis Farley was the other den mother. Both remained with the group during their three years of Cub Scout work.

Throughout the three years, illness was the only excuse for any boy's absence, either at den meetings or the monthly pack meetings.

Parents of the boys have been especially co-operative and for two and one-half years, consecutively, had a perfect attendance record at the pack meetings. The perfect attendance record held through

Personal Notes

Lynn Gage, formerly of Chelsea, underwent an appendectomy Thursday at Tucson Medical Center, Tucson, Ariz. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vicary and Mrs. Annabelle Woolley spent Sunday in New Baltimore where they visited Mrs. Vicary's sisters, Mrs. Fred Schlosser and daughter, Thelma, and Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Fogt.

Toivo Riihimäki returned home Thursday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient the past week recovering from an emergency appendectomy.

Mrs. Henry Werner returned Friday night from an eight-day trip to the eastern part of the country. She accompanied her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lyons of Kalamazoo on the trip. At West End Long Branch, N.J., they visited the Lyons' son, Private First Class Alfred, W. Lyons and family. Pfc. Lyons is with the Signal Corps and is currently attending the Signal Corps school at Monmouth, N.J. At Philadelphia Mr. and Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Werner were guests of the former's brother, Ivan Lyons, and his wife and family. They also visited Mrs. Werner's son, Sergeant First Class Paul D. Werner and his family. He is now stationed at DeWitt Army Hospital at Fort Belvoir, Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Werner said they visited Arlington National Cemetery and many other points of special interest in Washington, D.C. and the other communities where they spent some time while on their trip.

DEATHS

Edmund K. Miller

Dies Saturday Evening at Ann Arbor VA Hospital

Edmund K. Miller, 72, of 145 Orchard St., died Saturday evening at the VA Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had been a patient several weeks.

He and his brother, the late Chester Miller, formerly operated a barbership in Chelsea for many years. His brother died in 1946.

Mr. Miller later was employed by the Chelsea Post Office, first on a part-time basis and then full time until his retirement. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member and past commander of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion. He was also a member of the Methodist church.

Born in Manchester, Tenn., Oct. 8, 1891, he was a son of Chester and Mary Mellor Miller. He came to Michigan with his parents when he was seven years old.

On Sept. 23, 1922, at Ann Arbor, he was married to Mattie Wheelock who survives.

Also surviving are two sons, Edmund, Jr., of Chelsea, and Jack of Riverside, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Paul McNulty (Virginia) of Roseville; three brothers, Victor Miller of Chelsea, Joseph of Albion and Vern of Boynton Beach, Fla.; 13 grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Nathan Pierce (Helen) and Ruth Miller of Grass Lake, and Mrs. Lloyd Corwin (Marie) of Ann Arbor; several nieces and nephews and a step-grandchild, Patricia Oppl.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon (Wednesday) at the Burghardt Funeral Home with the Rev. James Craig officiating. Burial will follow at Oak Grove cemetery where graveside rites will be conducted by Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31, American Legion.

NEW NAVY JACKETS

The Navy has adopted a new hooded life jacket designed to give submariners a better chance to escape in below-water emergencies. The hood encloses the wearer's head thus allowing him to breathe on the way up and reach the surface with little danger. The hood also has a window so a man can see where he is going.

Mrs. Walter Boone

Dies at Jackson Rest Home Following Long Illness

Mrs. Walter Boone, 77, whose former home for 52 years was on the farm at 19850 Old US-12, died Saturday at the Keeney Rest Home near Jackson where she had been a patient since April 6, 1961.

Born June 14, 1886, in Detroit, she was the former Anna M. Stickle, a daughter of Wallace and Mary Caine Stickle. She was married to Mr. Boone April 28, 1908, at Seattle, Wash. They made their home in Detroit for a short time before coming to Chelsea later in the year. Mr. Boone died July 1, 1960.

Survivors of Mrs. Boone are a son, Walter of Artesia, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Casper Forner (Mareia) and Mrs. Robert Robbins (Doris) both of Jackson; nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Four brothers preceded her in death.

Funeral services are to be held at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. James Craig officiating. Burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

Claude L. Sharp

Was Soon To Retire From Ford Motor Co.

Claude L. Sharp, 65, of 617 S. Main St., who was scheduled for retirement from the Ford Motor Co. Dearborn plant at Christmas time, died unexpectedly at his home early Sunday morning.

He had lived in Chelsea the past four years.

He was born Aug. 19, 1898, at Greensburg, Ky., a son of Willis E. and Rosa Black Sharp.

For the past 35 years he had been employed as a crankshaft grinder at the Ford Motor Co. He is survived by his widow, Gladys Mae, and other relatives. He was taken to the Staffan Funeral Home and later Sunday the body was sent to Kentucky where funeral services are to take place at the Cowherd & Parrott Funeral Home at Greensburg. Burial will take place at the Greensburg cemetery.

Sunday afternoon visitors at the home of Mrs. Joseph Wright included Mrs. Lynn Albertson of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Hulda Martin of Manchester, Mrs. Bowen of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Ezra Feldkamp and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kuhl and son Gregory.

Union-Sponsored Kiddies' Christmas Party Canceled

Harvey Lixey, president of UAW Local 437, which has sponsored children's Christmas parties here for a number of years, "regretfully" announced this week that it will be impossible to have the party this year because of the fact that the Chelsea theatre is no longer in operation.

Lixey said the Union is hopeful other arrangements may be made so that the party may be held again next year.

The annual party has been extremely popular, attendance in 1962 totaling 1,400 and in 1961, more than 1,500. The party customarily was held in three divisions—shows at the theatre at hourly intervals since, for safety reasons, no more than 500 were permitted in the theatre at a time.

The Union's committees in charge also made a special effort to see that children who were ill and could not attend the party received a Christmas stocking such as each child at the party received as a gift.

The Overhead Cost of Labor . . .

Recent developments in labor relations have left American employers with a burdensome heritage of what may be described as "overhead costs" of putting a man to work. This has undoubtedly been a contributing cause of our unsatisfactory record of growth and job opportunities.

the decision to hire a man has become more like the decision to build a new plant. There are certain fixed charges that will have to be met, whether the man for the plant is in operation full-time or part-time. Also, if the original decision to hire (or to build) turns out to have been a mistake, the process of reversing it can be extremely costly.

paid by the employer are a form of "overhead cost of hiring," since they are the same no matter how many hours the man works. So is the employer's contribution for social security, provided the employee earns more in the year than the maximum subject to tax. The provision for paid holidays and paid vacations is a fixed cost of employment under most arrangements. Contributions for welfare and pension funds are often of the same character.

taking this obligation may stop the employer from hiring the man in the first place. There is much current concern regarding the ability of our economy to provide the new jobs needed by our rapidly growing labor force. During the period 1957 to 1962 total employment grew at a rate of 567,000 per year. The increase in employment in government (chiefly state and local) accounted for more than half of this, so that private business was creating only about a quarter of a million jobs a year. By contrast, the increase in the labor force is expected to be at a rate approaching one-and-a-half million annually during the rest of this decade.

new job opportunities. Loading them down with high overhead labor costs is not the way to do it. DISSATISFIED THIEF San Francisco — A thief broke into an apartment and took $20 worth of records, coins, and a table radio. Dissatisfied with his haul, the burglar left a note saying that this was the most miserable haul he'd ever made. Complained of no cigarette and said anything he left was not worth stealing.

Michigan Dairy Herds Set New Production Record

Michigan dairymen pushed their cows to record-breaking levels this year, narrowly missing a goal of 12,000 pounds milk.

"More than 1,900 herds keeping Dairy Herd Improvement Association records came close with an average of 11,991 pounds of milk," according to Larry Johnson, dairy specialist with the Michigan Co-operative Extension Service.

New state records were set both for milk production and the 451 pound butterfat average. Dairymen have increased production by 1,400 pounds milk and nearly 45 pounds butterfat during the past five years.

What's the reason for the continued increase? Johnson looks at the pounds of grain fed per cow for a partial answer. "Dairymen fed 4,230 pounds of grain an animal last year which was 1,000 pounds more than five years ago," he said.

Better management and better breeding has also helped. Mason county became the first Michigan county to average over 500 pounds butterfat when 18 herds averaged 505 pounds. The 57 herds keeping records in Ottawa county just barely missed this magic figure falling short at the 499 pound level.

Ingham county had 38 herds producing over 500 pounds of butterfat, but the county average fell below the 500 pound figure.

Taking top honors at the milk bucket was Missaukee county with 16 herds averaging 13,217 pounds of milk per cow.

The 26 herds averaging 600 across the state nearly doubled from last year's figure of 14.

Only four counties averaged less than 400 pounds of butterfat per cow.

92 AND STILL A BACHELOR—Elmont, Long Island, N. Y.—William E. Hegeman, having lived 92 years without a wife, automobile, or electricity, has finally decided to get one of them.

Recently he learned the danger of kerosene when his lamp caught fire and threatened his two-room home. Hegeman had electricity installed in his home, but said all girls looked alike to him and he'd rather hunt rabbits.

BOBBY MITCHELL'S CONFIDENCE—The Washington Redskins' flankerback, one of the best at his job in all of pro football, doesn't do it with mirrors. In the December issue of SPORT Magazine, he explains how his self-confidence helps carry him along.

"When I got to high school," Bobby says, "I had to be the best at everything—in track, in baseball, in football, everything. After awhile I was even getting better grades in school. As I got this physical confidence that I was best, I got the mental confidence, too. All my life I've kept this confidence. I cultivated my talents. In other words, I kept practicing. You see so much natural talent fall by the wayside, but I made myself amount to something."

Inside SPORT

By Al Silverman, Editor, Sport Magazine

CAN YOGI DO IT? So the Yankees have a new manager. An improbable choice, you say. Not according to sportswriters, ballplayers and other baseball men who know something about Yogi Berra. "He knows as much baseball, inside baseball, as anyone," says one writer who has covered the Yankees for years. "He'll either be a great manager or a terrible one," says another Yankee writer. This writer has no doubts about Yogi's technical baseball ability. He does have some doubts about Yogi's ability to handle ballplayers.

In any case, Yogi himself is confident. "The only guys who've been with the Yankees almost as long as me are Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford. I expect I'll get some help from them." Help came immediately after Yogi's position became official—in the form of a telegram. It reads: "WE WOULD LIKE OUR UNCONDITIONAL RELEASE TO BECOME PROFESSIONAL GOLFERS—MICKEY AND WHITEY."

SHORT TAKES. Fran Tarkenton, quarterback for the Minnesota Vikings, is renowned as a scrambler. Commenting on this, Los Angeles Rams' coach Swede Svara said, "Catching Tarkenton is like trying to swat a fly with an ironing board."

Rocky Marciano on Sonny Liston in December SPORT: "Right now he's in the middle of a transition and any transition is slow process. For every two steps forward he's going to take one step backward. He wants to be respected but he doesn't know entirely how to go about it."

At the testimonial dinner for Stan Musial in St. Louis, Ralph Houk got up and started his speech this way: "Stan threw out the first ball at the World Series and that's the last time we saw it."

WORLD SERIES TALK. The Los Angeles Dodgers deserved to win the National League pennant, no one is arguing they didn't. The way they manhandled the St. Louis Cardinals in their climactic three-game series this September, after the Cardinals had won 19 games out of 20, proved to most baseball people at least, that the Dodgers are no choke team. And what a difference a year makes.

But mixed with this respect for the Dodgers was a feeling of loss because the Cardinals couldn't go all the way, because Stan Musial would leave baseball without the final glory that a World Series would have given him. Stan Musial played his last World Series game 17 years ago and there were a lot of us who would have liked to have granted him one more.

And don't think the old man wouldn't have been ready for the World Series. He tells just how he would be ready in the November issue of SPORT in a dialogue with another World Series veteran, the Yankees' Whitey Ford. It is pitcher vs. batter, but it is surprising how much Musial and Ford agree on some of the central issues involving the Series.

"There is no pressure any longer before an ordinary game," Ford says. "I feel no tension. I go out and pitch. But before a Series game there comes the butterflies. They go as soon as I start working, but they've been there."

Stan Musial says much the same thing. "The difference is a tension thing. It is worst before the game. Once it starts, it all clears." And then Stan Musial, who played in four of them, says this about the World Series:

"Winning a World Series means you've finished a damn good year's work. The pennant is not enough. Losing a Series takes the edge off the pennant."

So how will it turn out for Whitey Ford, who must meet Sandy Koufax in the opening game of the World Series? Well, the Yankees are clear favorites to win the Series, but one man who knows both pitchers—Charlie Dressen, manager of the Detroit Tigers—picks the Dodgers in the first game. In fact, Dressen gets very specific. He says the game will go into extra innings and Koufax will then win it, 2-1.

DEFINITIONS OF PRO FOOTBALL. A cluster of pro football books are out this fall, indicating that book publishers have at last granted official recognition to the biggest spectator sport in our country. Reading them all, one is struck by the various definitions of the basic nature of the game—the commitment to violence. Allie Sherman of the New York Giants says, "The name of the game is hitting." Norm Van Brocklin, coach of the Minnesota Vikings, says it's

BULLDOG SPORTLIGHT

Chelsea football fans know that CHS has had some good football teams in the past, but few will remember the 1928 powerhouse. This team rolled over such formidable foes as getting "jock straps." Pro football historian Robert Smith, writing in his book "Pro Football," calls it "the extra lean."

Vince Lombardi, who is out with the best of the new pro football books, "Run to Daylight," has his own term. "They have written about the mental toughness which I supposedly have installed in this team," Lombardi writes, "and when they ask me what it is, I have difficulty explaining it. I think it is a singleness of purpose and once you have agreed upon the price that you and your family must pay for success, it enables you to forget that price."

The most entertaining book of the new season is Lee Grosscup's "Fourth and One," a log of Grosscup's voyage last year with the New York Giants, the Minnesota Vikings and the New York Titans. New York Daily News sportswriter Dick Young, noting that the quarterback had just been cut by the New York Jets, suggested a title change for the book: "Third and Fourteen."

SHORT TAKES. Just before the Dodgers clinched the pennant this year the call went out to the press room to put the champagne on ice. "Put it on ice," the custodian screamed, "after last year it's got to be defrosted."

Jim Taylor's comment after his Green Bay Packers were defeated by the Chicago Bears in the season's first game: "The team needed a philosophical lift."

From November SPORT, Robin Roberts saying to his 240-pound Oriole teammate, Boog Powell: "You're the only guy on the club who can hit his weight and stay in the lineup."

When every citizen looks out for himself alone, the nation is apt to succumb.

Price Support Rates Set For 1964 Crop Oats, Rye

Support prices for 1964-crop oats and rye were announced Nov. 27 by U.S. Department of Agriculture. National average will be 66 cents per bushel for oats, grade No. 2, and $1.07 per bushel for rye, grade No. 2, both unchanged from this year's levels.

Oats and rye are not included in the 1964 feed grain program, and thus no acreage retirement price support payment is provided for reduction of acreage required for price support eligibility.

Price support will be carried out in previous years, through loans and warehouse-stored loans and payments as in case of corn, grain sorghum and barley. Price support will be available from the time of harvest through Jan. 31, 1965. Loans will mature April 30, 1965.

Price support levels for oats and rye, as well as for grain sorghum and barley, are based on relative feeding value to corn. Oats in 1964 will receive total support of $1.25 per bushel, support prices for grains included in the 1964 feed grain program, previously announced, are as follows: with loan and purchase rate, price support payment, and total price support listed in that order: corn (per bu.) $1.10, 15c, $1.25; grain sorghum (per bu.) $1.77, 2c, $1.79; barley (per bu.) $1.77, 2c, $1.79.

Participation in the voluntary feed grain program, including minimum acreage diversion of 20 percent of the feed grain base of the farm, is a requirement for price support on 1964-crop corn, grain sorghum and barley. Production of feed grain will start early next year. The program for these three

State Headed for Worst Highway Toll Since 1955

With Michigan headed for its worst traffic death toll in eight years, the 1963 count through Nov. 20 had already climbed to 1,609 or 98 more than the 1,571 fatalities for all of 1962, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

If the daily average of six deaths for the first 20 days this month continues through the remaining 41 days of the year, Michigan's provisional annual toll would be 1,855 or 284 more than in 1962. It would be the worst toll since 1955, when 2,016 were killed, the third highest record in state traffic history.

Even the rate of four deaths a day—the state's average in 30 years of record keeping—in the remaining month and a third would give a projected annual toll of 1,773. This would be greater than 1,746 in 1956, the highest, since 1955. Other recent Michigan tolls were 1,548 in 1967, 1,382 in 1958, 1,473 in 1959, 1,604 in 1960 and 1,597 in 1961.

The current year's accumulated total of 1,609 through Nov. 20 was 191, or 13 percent, more than 1,418 in the same period a year ago. November's toll in the first 20 days was 123 compared with 75 at the same time last year.

Childs emphasized that only greater vigilance by drivers and pedestrians in complying with the traffic rules, and adjustment to seasonal traffic conditions can prevent the year's final death toll from reaching what is now in prospect.

Tigers Schedule More Night Games, Doubleheaders in '64

Detroit — More night games, more doubleheaders and two big holiday week-ends are features of the Detroit Tigers' home schedule for 1964 which will open April 14.

The Tiger Stadium American League slate for the coming season, announced Saturday by Vice-President-General Manager James A. Campbell, disclosed 30 night games and 12 doubleheaders. That is an increase of six night games and three doubleheaders from 1963.

Holidays on the Tiger home schedule are Memorial Day and the Fourth of July. They will be marked by Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Sunday doubleheader dates on the week-ends of May 29-30-31 and July 3-4-5.

The increase in night games, Campbell said, was made in response to public demand.

"The time has come," he said, "when we find it necessary to play our games when the fans are best able to attend them."

The Tigers, who installed their lights in 1948, scheduled 14 night games a year from then until 1957. The number was raised to 21 at that time then boosted to 24 in 1960.

Four of the 1964 night games will be played with the New York Yankees and the same number with Minnesota, Cleveland, Chicago and Washington. Boston, Kansas City and Los Angeles drew three night games and 12 doubleheaders. Baltimore one.

The Yankee night games were set for May 12-13, July 24 and Sept. 9.

Although their expanded night schedule will see the Tigers in action all nights of the week except Saturdays and Sundays, 11 of their 30 are light contests will be on Fridays and nine on Wednesdays. The first night game of the season will be May 6, with the Boston Red Sox, and the busiest months will be June and July with eight night games each.

Three of the night dates will be two-night doubleheaders, a popular feature at Tiger Stadium in recent seasons. They will be played with Kansas City, June 10, Boston July 10 and Los Angeles, Aug. 18.

The nine other double headers will be played on Sundays, starting April 19 with Minnesota and continuing through the next eight Sundays on the schedule. The last four Sundays are scheduled for single games.

"Our Memorial Day and Fourth of July week-ends should be very popular with our fans," Campbell predicted. "There will be a lot of baseball with the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators on those holiday weekends."

Opening Day on April 14 will be a Tuesday date with the Kansas City Athletics. The final home game will be played on Sunday, Sept. 27.

As usual, the Tigers almost ignored Mondays in their 81-game home schedule to be played on 69 dates with heavy emphasis on weekend action. Only two Monday games were carded, one at night, while 13 each were scheduled for Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Starting times and ticket prices at Tiger Stadium will remain unchanged. All day games, single or doubleheader, will start at 1:30 p.m., night games at 8:00 p.m. and two-nighters at 6:00 p.m.

Michigan ranks second in the production of plums; third in apples, pears, celery and grapes; fourth in peaches; fifth in onions and carrots; sixth in sugar-beets; seventh in milk; ninth in potatoes, and tenth in corn and oats.

better highways save lives

Traffic last Labor Day weekend broke all records—yet there was not a single fatality on Michigan's entire freeway system!

Modern highways are already reducing accidents by as much as 75% when compared with the outmoded roads they replace. It is a well-proved fact: Safety-engineered, easy-to-travel roads save lives.

No better way has been found to cut accidents. Yet today, nearly 50% of Michigan's roads and streets are still inadequate! This is no time to stop or curtail the state's great life-saving highway improvement program. The most effective way to further reduce Michigan's traffic toll is to improve these unsafe roads.

Also contributing to improved highway safety are today's modern concrete pavements. Wet or dry, concrete provides dependable skid resistance. Concrete's light color improves night visibility.

As an investment, too, concrete is first choice. Its long life and ability to take the heaviest traffic save taxes for every motorist.

UNUSUAL CACTUS BLOOM—The flower shown by Mrs. Frank Lachowitz, owner of Sylvan Flower Shop, is called a Stapelia Gigantea hairy starfish cactus bloom. This is the first time the cactus plant has put forth a blossom in the 18 months since Mrs. Lachowitz has had it. A soft tan color with the tips of the star points in deeper tan, the entire surface of the petals is covered with a fine hair-like fuzz. Horizontally across each petal are a distinct pattern of markings. Mrs. Lachowitz said the flower, from bud to full bloom, took approximately six weeks to open fully. It measures 12 1/2 inches from tip to tip.

Seat Belt Saves Gregory Man's Life

Officers credited the seat belt worn by Edwin E. Gross, 46, of Gregory for saving his life in an accident Thursday on Dexter-Pineknay Rd., near Island Lake Rd.

Gross apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car and the vehicle went off the road and hit a tree. Deputies said the car careened for 111 feet along a culvert before it hit the tree.

He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

TOO YOUNG TO MARRY

BRISBANE, Australia—Sixty-two years ago Ethel Barker and William Deams parted company because they were too young to marry.

Each married another person and outlived their spouses. Recently they met, by chance, on a Brisbane park bench. Ethel, 89, and William, 90, quickly renewed their romance and were married.

WATCH DOG CONFUSED

Chicago — Sgt. Richard Rae arrived at a cleaning establishment just in time to fire a shot at burglars fleeing with armloads of clothing.

When he began examining the broken window where they entered, the establishments' police watchdog lunged at the policeman but had remained undisturbed by the burglars while they looted the place.

New Phone Directories Being Issued

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. starts delivery of the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area directory in seven communities on Tuesday, Nov. 28, announced Nicholas J. Prakken, manager here for the company.

Some 122,000 copies will be distributed in Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Whitmore Lake, Willis and Ypsilanti.

In addition to the above communities, three others also are included in this directory: Milan, Saline and South Lyon.

Prakken called attention to the change in numbers to be dialed for information, time, and repair. The new numbers will be found inside the front cover of the new directory.

These same pages, Prakken said, instruct Ypsilanti customers to dial "1" preceding the called number on long distance calls. The inclusion of Ypsilanti in the dial "1" toll network is effective Dec. 3, and will make the need of dialing the numeral "1" on long distance uniform throughout this area.

Prakken urges all telephone users to pay particular attention to the emergency numbers section on page 1 of the new book. Here, the telephone company has provided space for writing in local fire and police department numbers, and the number of the family doctor.

"In emergencies it is most helpful to have these numbers readily available to all members of the family," Prakken said.

"In addition," he explained, "Michigan Bell's operators are trained to handle all kinds of emergency calls whenever 'Operator' is dialed."

"Our operators enjoy a long-standing tradition of coming to the aid of persons who have dialed '0' in emergencies," he added.

Folders Available To Help Chances Of Taking Deer

Michigan hunters stand to improve their chances of taking home deer this November and of finding places to camp throughout the state by getting two free folders from the Conservation Department.

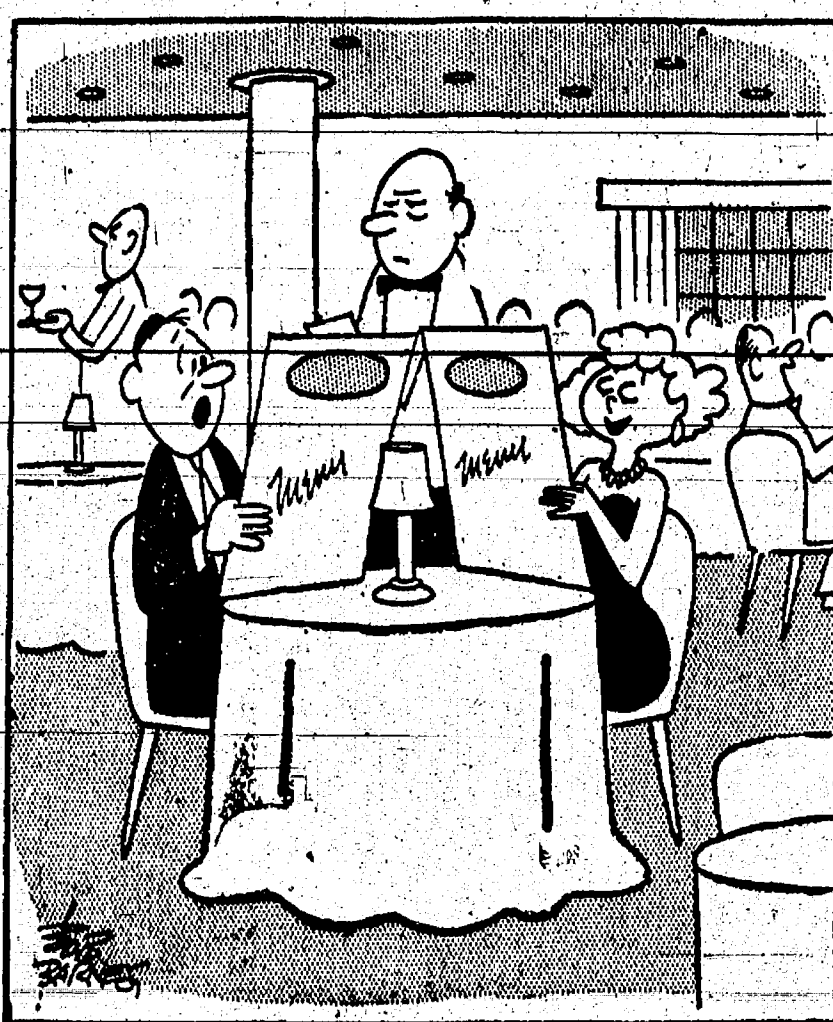

The pocket-sized publications, "How To Be More Successful in Your Deer Hunting" and the 1963 Michigan Campground Directory are available from the Department's Publications Room in Lansing.

The first folder shows where buck hunting success has been best in northern Michigan during recent years. It also passes along some tried-and-proven pointers on the methods of hunting and ways to field dress, drag, transport, skin, and cut up a deer. Other tips are given on gun safety.

This year's Michigan Campground Directory is a valuable guide for those who plan to head-quarters their hunting activities on public lands. It lists more than 11,000 campsites at state parks, state and national forests and some county parks. The guide gives each campground's location and provides a general description of facilities.

A sportsman's paradise, Michigan ranks among the top three states in the combined sale of hunting and fishing licenses. During 1961 Michigan sold 1,086,606 hunting licenses of all descriptions and 927,627 fishing licenses.

"This bread and water doesn't sound bad."

Santa Claus Has His Own Private Zip Code Number

Chelsea and Dexter-area children, along with children throughout Washtenaw county, may mail letters direct to Santa Claus this year if they will address their letters with Santa's own private ZIP code number which is 99701.

The letters should be addressed as follows:

Santa Claus
North Pole, 00701

Children who write to him before Dec. 15 will be answered with a picture of Santa Claus and his helper, Mr. Zip.

In order to speed his reply, children should clearly state their name and address and be sure to include their own ZIP code number after the name of their home town; for instance, Dexter, Mich., 48130 and Chelsea, Mich., 48118.

CONELRAD SIGNING OFF MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

Conelrad, at 840 and 1240 on the radio dial, faded into broadcast history at midnight Sunday, Aug. 4, an untired child of the nuclear age.

Its place comes what is hoped will be a more efficient means of transmitting vital information to the American public in the event of enemy attack. It's called Emergency Broadcast System (EBS), which opens up the entire AM radio band for emergency communications.

Conelrad was created 12 years ago to deny the use of radio transmitters as a navigational aid to enemy aircraft.

CONSIDER FM, TV

The Defense Department decided last year that the precaution no longer is necessary because of modern navigational devices. So the Office of Civil Defense, Office of Emergency Planning, Federal Communications Commission and the broadcast industry sat down to devise a new system.

On receiving a national alert, authorized AM stations will begin transmitting only government broadcasts.

They will be permitted to identify their locations, which stations transmitting under the Conelrad system could not do. But they will not use their call letters.

The FCC is considering possible future inclusion of FM and Television stations in the system.

Some To Leave the Air

EBS will provide a nation-wide network for use by the President and other federal officials in transmitting information to the public.

Stations not included in the network will advise listeners to tune in on stations that are, then leave the air.

The announcement, "We interrupt this program for a nationwide alert," will be the first alarm. This will be made by stations after receiving an authenticated communication over news wires.

EBS stations for this area at the present time are as follows, together with their position on the radio dial: WJLB, 1400; WJBR, 760; WWJ, 950; WXXZ, 1270; WJBR, 1500; WOIA, 1280.

BEE CAUSES CRASH

Watertown, Conn. — Truck driver, Steven Stack swatted at an annoying bee and lost control of the truck he was driving, causing it to crash into a pole and knock down a fence post and a highway sign.

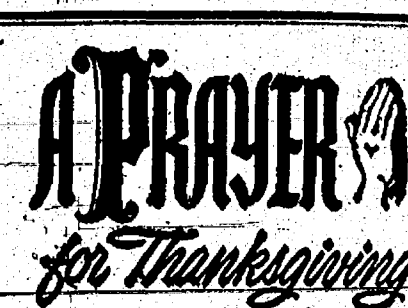

He received a ticket for failure to stay in his proper lane. Stack had one consolation—he wasn't stung by the bee.

Our Thanksgiving Wish..

May we have peace, but with honor and with liberty; may we never seek war; yet, may we never surrender the American way of life; may we never give up the right as Americans to think, talk, and worship; each according to his own way; yet may we be always united, a nation indivisible, in the common defense; may we enjoy the richness of our land, yet be willing to endure the hardships of free men determined to keep a democratic country.
