Extra Hours Slated By Post Office

Postmaster Carl Mayer announced yesterday that Post Office windows will remain open afternoons on the two remaining Saturdays before Christmas—Dec. 14 and Dec. 21—until 5 p.m. Other than the extra Saturday afternoon hours, the normal service hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily will remain in effect.

On Sunday, Dec. 15 and Sunday, Dec. 22, Postmaster Mayer said, there will be a receipt and a dispatch of mail at 7 a.m.; this is in addition to the normal Sunday dispatch of mail at 4:10 p.m.

The Post Office lobby will be open on the two Sundays, Dec. 15 and 22, for the convenience of post office box holders who may wish to pick up their mail and for patrons who may wish to deposit mail.

The Postmaster states that the present flow of Christmas cards is running about the same as last year, but the mailing of Christmas gifts is lagging somewhat. He suggests that all gift parcels to most distant points be sent by air mail from now on.

Speaking about Christmas gift packages, the Postmaster said, "I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of proper packaging."

AUTOGRAPHED COPIES of his three recently published books of poetry were presented this week by the author, the Rev. Lloyd F. Merrell, center, above, to McKune Memorial Library and to Chelsea High School Library. Mrs. David Strieter accepted the volumes on behalf of the library. Board while Supt. Charles S. Cameron represented Chelsea High school at the ceremony.

Books of Poetry Presented to Library, School By Author

The Rev. Lloyd Frank Merrell, retired Methodist minister who, with his wife, now makes his home in one of the cottages at the Chelsea Methodist Home, has received extensive recognition for publication of three books of poetry he has published since 1940.

This week he presented copies of each of the three publications—"Tales of Tall Taylor," "Flowering Dust," and "Healing Symphony"—to both the McKune Memorial Library and to the Chelsea High School Library. Superintendent Charles Cameron accepted the books for the school and Mrs. David Strieter, a member of the library board, accepted the volumes for McKune Library.

The Rev. Merrell is listed in "Who's Who in the Midwest" (U.S.A.); "International Who's Who in Poetry" (England); "Dictionary of International Biography" (England); "Manchester Central" (Reference); "The Poetry Society of America Library"; "Evanston Township High School Library" (Illinois); "Evanston Historical Society" (Illinois); and "University of Michigan, Hopwood Library."

"Tales of Tall Taylor" is a paper cover book with 20 pages of verse described as "fantastic whoopery of the Bay Port, Michigan, 'Munchausen,'" related to fishing hunting and other outdoor activities. The "Bay Port Munchausen" was Delmore Taylor, who died in 1941 at the age of 84. The Rev. Merrell has set the tales in verse and, as one reviewer put it, "out-Bunyan's Paul Bunyan." Paul Bunyan, the legendary hero of North American lumber camps had his counterpart in Delmore Taylor, the "Great Lakes" hero of tall tales of a tall day, according to the introductory remarks in the foreword of the volume.

In one of the Tall Taylor tales related to a dry spell of weather, the Rev. Merrell wrote, "Del says he can remember a drought so long an' g'im, the frogs were seven years old before they learned to swim."

The content of "Tales of Tall Taylor" constitute material gleaned by the author over a period of 20 years of association with Delmore Taylor while the Rev. Merrell was pastor of Methodist churches in the area.

"Flowering Dust," and "Healing Symphony" are books of serious verse the latter being in its fourth printing. Poetic sub-titles include "Rackety Sources," "Shaded Brooks," "Leaves on Waves," "Spray in the Wind," etc.

Chelsea Theatre To Re-Open Beginning Christmas Day

Welcome news to Chelsea-area residents is the announcement this week that the Chelsea Theatre is to be re-opened.

George Keast and Harold Schmitz, both of South Lyon, plan to open the theatre on a full-time basis with the first regular program scheduled for Christmas Day. The first show will begin at 3 p.m. with the box office open at 2:30 p.m. There will be two afternoon and two evening shows.

The new theatre owners have also planned a "get acquainted" party at the theatre for next week Saturday, Dec. 21, and invite Chelsea children and their parents to attend one of the three shows scheduled (10 a.m., 1:15 a.m., and 2:30 p.m.) with the compliments of the new management.

Both men have had extensive experience in movie theatre operation. They plan to operate on a full-time basis with afternoon and evening shows on Sundays and holidays and evening shows each weekday.

'Freightboat to Asia' Travel Film Scheduled Saturday

"Freightboat to Asia" is the title of the Kiwanis-sponsored travelogue scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m., in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

John Weld, author of the novel "Don't You Cry for Me," based on incidents in the history of California, will be the narrator for the travelogue of the journey to the Orient.

During the production of the film, Weld and his wife were shipwrecked in Tokyo Bay and barely escaped with their lives. The pictures to be shown here were taken while the Welds traveled to and around Asia on board a freightboat visiting peoples of the Far East.

"Exotic, colorful, exciting and fabulous" are used to describe the scenes of Japan, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, India and Ceylon, which Weld tells about in true story tellers' style.

Bulldog Cagers Defeat Roosevelt, Stockbridge

Chelsea Bulldogs won both basketball games played this week—the Ypsi-Roosevelt game Friday, 86-45, and the Stockbridge tilt Tuesday, 64-52. Neither was a home game.

The first quarter of the game "told the story"—Chelsea's press and fast break caught Roosevelt unawares, and in addition, they shot well—35 field goals out of 71 attempts. At the end of the quarter the score was 27-5 in Chelsea's favor.

The first home game is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 20, when Chelsea hosts Dexter. Coach Terry Pokela's former school team and Chelsea's traditional rival.

Chelsea outscored Roosevelt in all four quarters—16-11 in the second quarter; 25-14 in the third; and 18-15 in the fourth quarter.

In the Ypsi-Roosevelt game, Curt Farley, who played slightly more than half of the game, was high scorer for Chelsea with 30 points and 22 rebounds.

Everyone on the team played a considerable part of the game. Coach Pokela said "Our bench looked very strong as they came through with some good shooting."

Three Chelsea men shared honors for second highest scorers—Gary Dresch, Jim Hanson and Jock Crawford, each with 10 points.

Charles Schmunk and Mike Tarasow were credited with eight points each; Carl Walker scored six points and Jim Cameron and Jeff Flintoft each scored two points.

Push and Owens were assessed fine and costs of $50 each and Brown and Barkley, $25 each, when they appeared before Grass Lake Township Justice of the Peace Gordon Britton on Friday, Nov. 29.

Randolph, 28, of Munith—were arrested by Conservation Officer Donley Boyer Nov. 28 in Lyndon township on a charge of carrying a handgun without a deer hunting license during the deer hunting season. They pleaded guilty Dec. 7 before Sylvan Township Justice of the Peace Chandler Rogers and were assessed fine and costs of $18 each.

Raymond S. Kuzmowski, 20, of Garden City, also appeared before Justice Rogers the same day having been cited Nov. 28 by Conservation Officer Donley Boyer for carrying a loaded gun in an automobile. He was assessed fine and costs of $18.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Try Shopping at Home for All Your Christmas Gifts

It is true that the standard of living and prosperity of a community depends on the volume of business done, but it also depends on the distribution of the income in the community.

There are, of course, other factors involved, but we are interested in calling your attention to the current Christmas shopping season and urging you to try the stores in your own home town before going elsewhere to buy your Christmas gifts.

Increased business for local merchants means increased income for the community. This means that local buyers, who trade at home, will have a part in improving the standard of living for local families.

You may not be interested in the economic well-being of some of your fellow citizens unless you realize that, as they prosper, you may also expect to prosper. The welfare of local merchants affects other people, including employees, and everyone who expects to sell them anything, either in the way of services or goods.

Give your local merchants the opportunity to serve your needs first and if they cannot do so, let them know and we're certain they will be able to do better in the future.

Federal Assassination Law Should Be Enacted at Once

There could hardly be any objection to a federal law against assassination of the President of the United States. This would pose no threat to the jurisdiction of states and local court and enforcement officials, for it involves only one man and does not constitute a take-over of state jurisdiction by the federal government.

In view of the fourth assassination of a United States President in less than a century, certainly no elaborate justification of the need for such a law is necessary.

Some may ask whether a federal law against assassination of a President would prevent such murders. Perhaps it would not; but it certainly could do no harm and it might give would-be murderers reason to pause and reconsider.

At the very least, a federal law against assassination of a President would mark the determination of the American people to do what they can, legally, to protect their Chief Executives. The need has been demonstrated and there can be no valid objection.

In Europe, a man in riding pants surrounded by yes-men is called a dictator. Over here he is called a movie director.

A democracy is a place where the man in the street is more concerned with a five-dollar deficit in the family budget than with five billion in the national budget.

Tax Income Up
Personal income in Michigan is slightly less than 40 percent in the last 10 years. In Michigan, but revenues from state and local taxes have grown more than twice that percentage.

The State Revenue Department's report shows personal income went from $12.0 billion in 1953 to $18 billion this year, an increase of 33.3 percent. During the same period the total state-local taxes combined brought in 109.84 percent more to government units.

Local taxes increased the greatest, the department indicated, with a 126.09 percent jump in revenue. State taxes jumped by 98.01 percent during the 10-year period.

The department report shows the greatest increases on the state level were on the business activities, use, cigarette and intangibles taxes.

The business activities levy just written into law in 1955 brought $50 million in the first year and $77.9 the most recent full year of report, for a hike of 232.9 percent.

In 1953 Michigan residents were paying 7.53 percent of their personal income for state and local taxes, while this year the figure had jumped 11.29 percent, the department said.

Resorts Prosper
A tardy winter could well have some effect, but the tourist industry in Michigan is hoping to surpass its record $20 million season put on the books last year. Some 85 winter sports facilities will be open this year, State Tourist Council Director William McGraw said before the season opened. This represents a total increase of two over last year, but eight new resorts will be opening this year. Six center operators declined against continuing in business, McGraw said.

The new facilities are well scattered around the state. They will be at Harbor Springs, Bollaie, Holland, Lakeview, Rockford, Kalamazoo, Oxford, and in the Al Quall Recreation area of the Upper Peninsula.

McGraw said major improvements also have been made at a number of resorts throughout the state. This winter, ski buffs will have their choice of many new ski runs, improved slopes and additional tow equipment. There will be 20 chair lifts, 42 T-bar and J-bar lifts and 10 gondolas in operation. Some 28 ski areas are geared to make their own snow this year, he said.

Poor Fish
Michigan's fish industry, badly hurt by the recent botulism scare, may get federal help toward a comeback.

Although federal and state officials attempted to make clear that only smoked products were suspect in the botulism poisonings, many people just crossed all fish products off their shopping lists. At least one firm blamed its bankruptcy on the scare.

Now, however, urgings of officials from Michigan and Wisconsin prompt the U. S. Senate to broaden the small business disaster loan program to include special relief for the Great Lakes fish packing industry.

The change in the loan program made it applicable to all natural disasters. U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrat, spearheaded a move to the change when he termed the botulism scare a "severe disaster" for the industry.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

They was a heap of interesting items in the papers last week. For instant, I saw where one of them column writers was claiming 1964 would be a big year for weddings on account of it being leap year. Folks always makes a big to-do about Leap Year and how the girls is going to make it or bust that year. Personal, I don't put no stock in that kind of talk. When a girl thinks she's in love and ready for the alter, one year is as good as the next year and she works at it just as hard any year as she does in Leap Year.

Back in the old days a girl might break a leg—I mean limb—chasing her man but the man had to pop the question. It could be that things has changed a little in this matter and wimmen figger if they can vote and wear pants and fly airplanes they can pop the question. Leap Year might make it easier on the girls from the standpoint of eickett, and that's all they was to it anymore.

But I don't mean to hint, Mister Editor, I'm a authority on wimmen. All I know for shore is you can always tell a married woman by the ring on her finger —but, judging from my old lady, you can't tell her much.

And I see where ole Krushy, that ain't having much success burying us, has come up with a plan to beat the pants off us. Them wimmen athletes from Russia that was visiting us went home and said America was wonderul on account of "they make prettier pants than ours." Krushy announced immediate that in "due time we will produce pants in color that cannot be matched anywhere on earth." I reckon he aims to come out with some end-of-the-rainbow models.

At the national level I see where one member says he is going to put a bill in the next Congress making cigarettes again the law. Ever on in a while we get them kind of bills in the Congress and I figger they was put in to make headlines back home. I recollect when Huey Long was in the Senate he put in a bill to outlaw coats and ties between May and October. They throwed Huey and his bill both out of the meeting. And that's what will happen to the cigarette bill.

Incidental, a law again cigarettes wouldn't bother me none. On account of they was gitting too ludy-like. I cut 'em out five year ago and took up pipe smoking.

About the most unusual item I saw in the papers last week was where Senator Margaret Chase Smith was the "afterdinner" speaker at a big Republican banquet some place in Maine. It ain't often, Mister Editor, you see Smith was the "after-dinner" speaker. Most of 'em can't wait till after dinner to tell it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of go—6 or V8—you'd expect from one of Chevy's great highway performers. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

The kind of fresh styling—inside and out—that makes it the year's smartest surprise. Come down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses!

And if that makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car here. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps. And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up in every detail of this one's suave good looks, too.

So good? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

See five entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet Showroom—CHEVROLET, CHEVELLE, CHEVY II, CORVAIR & CORVETTE

Lunar Eclipse Coming for Early Risers

Ann Arbor—A total eclipse of the moon will take place on the early morning of Dec. 30, but Michigan star-gazers will see only the first half of the spectacle.

The reason is that the moon will be leaving the earth's shadow at about the time that it sets over the horizon, explains University of Michigan astronomer Hazel N. Losh.

"At 4:25 a.m. the moon will first touch the earth's shadow, and the eclipse will begin. At about this time, the full moon will be found about 30 degrees above the western horizon," Professor Losh says.

"Soon after, a noticeable dimming at the eastern edge of the moon will show up, this darkened area gradually spreading over the moon's surface until 5:28 a.m. when the moon will be entirely in eclipse."

"The mid-eclipse will come at 4:07 a.m., with totality ending at 6:17 a.m., but it will take about an hour for the moon to leave the shadow completely at 7:00 a.m. Throughout the entire period that the moon is above the horizon in eclipse it will be visible."

Professor Losh continues: "During the partial phase the earth's shadow will appear dark in contrast with the remaining section of the full moon, but when the moon is completely immersed, it will not be hidden, as one at first might suppose."

"During the total stage, it is illuminated by sunlight, which filters through the earth's atmosphere, and is bent and refracted into the shadow cone on to the moon. The moon then will shine with a dull reddish glow, having been deprived of its blue rays by the earth's atmosphere, which scatters and diffuses the blue light."

In some years Michigan's bean crop has filed 7 million hundred-weight bags, far out in front as the Navy bean leader.

Civil Defense

Sweden's All-Out Civil Defense Plans

Sweden hopes to develop a civil defense system that would make an enemy attack "more expensive than profitable," says her chief medical officer for C.D.

Dr. Walo von Greyerz of Stockholm said Sweden believes that "if civil defense measures fail, even the strongest military defense will be meaningless."

Sweden's C.D. system consists of an evacuation plan, shelters and a civil defense corps. Dr. von Greyerz said. The evacuation plan is based on the belief that the country would get "strategic warning" of at least two weeks by observing the general international situation.

Most of those evacuated would travel 10 to 30 miles from their homes.

Our policy is to spread the population, thus reducing the importance of targets. The enemy would lose the incentive to bomb if his goal is to destroy our morale by killing civilians and thus refrain from a useless attack. If the people get frightened," he added, "spontaneous flight" would result.

"This cannot be stopped," he said. "A prepared plan for evacuation will channel this flight into foreseen lines and avoid undue chaos or panic."

The evacuation plan is "feasible and meaningful," he said, because there are only a few large cities, many small country towns, and long distances between populated areas.

To meet what Dr. von Greyerz called "the claim of the public for protection," Sweden is also building rock shelters.

Owners of plants and other buildings in certain areas are required to build, equip and maintain private shelters. "Certain towns must build and equip public shelters."

CAPE KENNEDY

In his Thanksgiving message to the nation, President Johnson announced to honor Kennedy from this moment on "Cape Canaveral, Florida, will be known as Cape Kennedy. And the vast missile-launching and space operations base there will be named the John F. Kennedy Space Center."

Michigan leads the nation in production of seedling evergreens.

Trap Removed From Foot of Canadian Goose

A Canadian goose, hampered by a muskrat trap and dangling chain attached to its leg, which had eluded capture by would-be good Samaritans, was finally apprehended Tuesday of this week at Silver Lake, Don Richards, assistant parks manager in the Pinckney Recreation Area, caught the big goose Tuesday and removed the trap and chain.

The plight of the goose was first reported on Wednesday, Nov. 27, when Edwin Barth of 338 Washington St. discovered it "grounded" in the yard at his home. The next time it was seen was at Silver Lake on Tuesday, Dec. 3, when Sam Anders noticed it while engaged in his regular practice of feeding wildfowl at the lake.

Both Barth and Anders tried to get close enough to the goose to remove the trap; however, each time they approached the goose managed to take off and fly for some distance before the weight of the trap and chain forced it to the ground again.

When Conservation Officer Donley Boyer was notified by Barth he thought it might be one of the geese that stay at Silver Lake; however, he couldn't locate it there.

During the alert for the hampered goose, the Earl Whiteheads at Pierce Lake discovered another one which is still carrying a small piece of trap attached to its foot without apparent ill effects.

Of special interest to Chelsea area residents is the fact that David Sanborn, vocal-music director in Chelsea schools, and James Hoffmeyer (Caralee) are members of the orchestra.

Oliver Edel will be the soloist for the afternoon. He is professor of music in the School of Music of the University of Michigan, a former member of the Stanley Quartet, and a teacher of cello and chamber music both at the University and at the National Music Camp of Interlochen. He will play a number which will be "Concerto for Cello and Orchestra" by William Walton. This will be the Ann Arbor premiere of this recent composition (1956) by one of England's outstanding composers.

The remainder of the program will be: "Overture to the Impresario," by Mozart; "Ancient Dances and Airs for the Lute," by Respighi; and "Capriccio Espagnol," by Rinsky-Korsakov.

For more than a quarter-century the Ann Arbor Symphony has played a major role in the cultural picture of this area. With the devoted assistance of the Women's Association of Ann Arbor, the orchestra is a self-sustaining, community-oriented group with an unbroken tradition of free public admission to the concerts.

The Ann Arbor Symphony is composed of musicians from a wide variety of backgrounds: teachers, office personnel, professional people, shopkeepers, bankers, and students, to mention only a few. In fact, the musicians represent a reasonably accurate cross-section of the population of the city and county.

Michigan is proud of its many church-sponsored secondary and elementary schools and its 23 denominational colleges.

each with eight points and Gary Dresch, described as "very cold and couldn't buy a basket" who scored only two points in the game.

High scorers for Stockbridge were Larry White and Jon Mills, who tied with 15 points each. Stockbridge held the lead through three quarters of the game—at no time by more than four points.

Curt Farley carried the scoring and rebounding load—some of the other scorers had a "cold" night. The final quarter made the big difference in the result of the game. Chelsea pressed and outran a tired Stockbridge team; Farley scored 12 of his 34 points in this quarter.

Jim Cameron and Jim Hanson, Chelsea's starting guards, played a fine game.

Summing up the Stockbridge game, Coach Pokela said "All in all, we did not play our best game. Stockbridge was taller than we but our hustle when the chips were down made the difference."

Chelsea JV's also won both the Ypsi-Roosevelt and the Stockbridge game.

At Roosevelt the score was 44-44 with high scorers being Oren Wireman, 17 points, and Tom Steele, 16 points.

The Stockbridge score of 61-51 included 20 by David Clark and 15 by Gary Houle.

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN'S NEW DEER PROBLEM—For many years, Michigan's deer problem has been centered in northern counties because of a winter food shortage. Today, a new kind of whitetail problem arises in southern Michigan where car-deer collisions have jumped 316 percent in less than 10 years. Last year, they cost motorists about one third of a million dollars in car damage. In addition, deer are becoming a serious threat to farm crops. About 10 percent of the farms in southern Michigan report some damage by deer. In 1962, agricultural damage came to more than an estimated $300,000. The deer problem must be faced soon, because it is getting worse—fast! The southern herd, now estimated at 45,000-50,000 animals, is doubling in size every five years. The Conservation Department feels that antlerless deer hunting should be introduced in 1964, taking in those areas where whitetail numbers are already seriously out of hand.

Crop Damage by Deer Herd Widespread Through Area

"Gentlemen: I am a fruit grower in Livingston county, and I have tried everything to keep the deer out of my orchard. This year alone the deer have caused me a loss of fruit in the amount of $12,000, also a damage to the trees. I can't estimate. Other fruit growers in this area are suffering a comparable loss."

"The deer population has exploded in this area. There are now close to 1,000 deer which means 2,000 or more next year. This herd has got to be controlled. I am asking that you open a doe season here. The buck killing is not controlling this herd. My back is to the wall in this situation and survival is the only remaining choice. I would like to hear from you before legal action is taken on my part. I am going to fight this thing through."

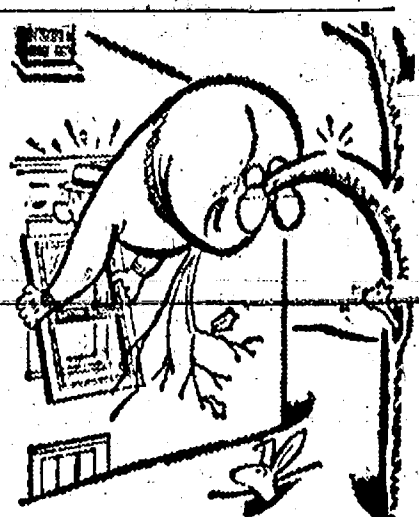

Signed,
An Orchardist

This was a letter received recently by the Conservation Department. The orchard fruit grower is talking about is a giant 40 miles from Detroit City Hall and he is not exaggerating his loss nor his situation. The only point on which he was mistaken was his estimate of the number of deer in his area. He probably guessed too low.

Here's another letter:
"Dear Sir: Last fall we did not get all of our corn picked. This spring there was scarcely any left in this 17 acres. Some people figure about $500 damage was done here by the deer herd. Now we are on Social Security and our income does not go all the way and so we raised this corn for our feeder pigs, to help out our income. Now this deer herd has eaten up my livelihood. I think that the State should be responsible as long as they are taking the fee from the sportsman. When the farmer's animal gets out he is held liable for damage and the State should be no exception."

Signed,
A Farmer

These letters to the Conservation Department are not unusual.

"When the lough breaks" and you are up to your neck in snow, you'll wish you hadn't waited to fix yourself some low-cost storm windows. Do it now! It's easy with War's EASY-ON Storm Window Kit. Contains everything needed for a complete storm window. EASY-ON... America's most popular window kit... is only 39¢ at your local dealer.

this time, the Conservation Department expects this herd will double in size within five years! What's causing this tremendous increase? Two facts are most important: First, the deer has ideal deer range in southern Michigan. The winters are much more mild than farther north and plenty of food is available, with lots of openings, young growth timber, and standing crops to work on. Second, the food situation and the mild winters make for a very high fawn production rate and excellent fawn survival.

The question we face at this point is what to do about the problem.

More than 90 percent of the land in southern Michigan is privately owned, and hunting rights are, as always, controlled by the land owner. The farmer who is suffering crop damage will welcome hunters onto his land.

But what about those folks down the road who have a little crop damage and don't mind a bit, who love to see deer, and who know all the local deer by their first names? Will they welcome special seasons that take extra deer? Will they allow hunters on their land? At present, the Department is trending toward use of special seasons in some areas where damage has been heaviest where known concentrations of deer can be stabilized at acceptable levels. Probably the quota-area system now used in northern Michigan, or a variation will be put to work in the southern areas.

When this will happen, how it will go, how large the area and quotas will be—all are questions the Department will be asking constantly from now on. Start toward control may come next year, and even this will be none too soon.

Children's Christmas Toys Should Be Chosen With Care

If your child isn't old enough to write a "Dear Santa" letter, choosing his Christmas toys can be a problem. For the pre-schooler, his toys are just as important as his clothing, and he usually outgrows them before he is three. Like his clothing, toys should be selected to fit the child's age of growth and his particular interests. Researchers advise parents to keep these hints in mind when choosing toys for a pre-school child:

1. Select toys that are sturdy and durable. Toys that break their promises to the youngster as well as to the parents' pocketbook.
2. Choose toys suited to the child's age, his stage of development and interests. A toy that is too simple isn't interesting. A toy that is too complicated is frustrating and should be put away until the child grows up to it.

3. Choose toys that are fun for the child, not easily broken novelties or gimmicks that only amuse him briefly or merely appeal to an adult. Non-specific toys, like blocks, have more lasting appeal than toys which are replicas of the adult world-in-miniature.
4. Choose toys that are safe. There should be no sharp edges and wood should be sanded smooth. Paint should be non-toxic and parts the right size for small hands to manage, but large enough to prevent swallowing. Avoid electrical toys for young children.
5. Choose toys that encourage long play periods by letting the child be an active participant, not just a passive observer. A toy should have many different kinds of play values.

6. Select toys for different kinds of play: some to stimulate physical activity, others for imaginative, dramatic, and social play.

Parents should remember that toys for the young child are a necessity, not a luxury. The wisely chosen toy will last longer, be more fun for the child and easier on the family budget, too.

Michigan Traffic Toll Jumps 50% Over Last November

Michigan's 174 traffic deaths in November were 58, or 50 percent, more than 116 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

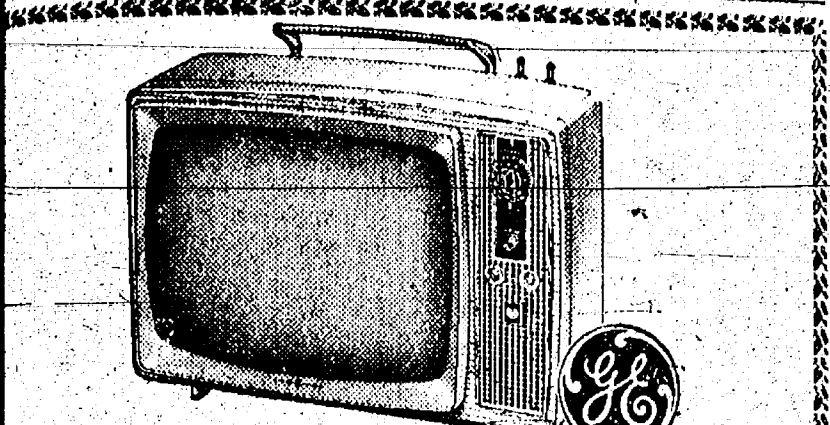

It was the 10th month of increase in deaths this year compared with the same months in 1962.

The provisional 11-month total of 1,651 deaths is 192, or 13 percent, higher than 1,459 in the same period last year. During November the year's accumulating number of fatalities reached and passed the 1,571 mark for 1962.

More complete figures for the first 10 months showed 1,477 deaths and 98,157 injured in 200,042 accidents. These were increases of 10 percent in deaths and accidents and 15 percent in injured over the same period in 1962.

Current traffic statistics indicate Michigan is headed for its worst annual death toll since 1955 when 2,010 were killed and for new all-time highs in injured and accidents, exceeding the 108,143 injured and 233,078 accident records set in 1962.

Estimated mileage traveled in the first nine months, the latest information available, totaled 26.3 billion, seven percent more than in the same period in 1962, while the death rate of 5.0 per 100 million vehicle miles was up 6 percent.

COMMENT on SPORTS

★ Top Sports Story

by Pete Fritchie
Washington, D.C. — This is the time of year sports writers start voting, talking and writing about the greatest feats of the year. Looking over all the greats on the U.S. sports scene, the biggest item must be the sweep of the New York Yankees in four straight games by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series.

This would have been big sports news if the Dodgers had merely won. But they scored an early knockout. Yet it would not be right to say the Dodgers breezed through the Yankees.

They didn't. Every game played, of the four, was respectable. The Yankees could have won any one of them with one big inning late in the game. They were consistently smothered with great pitching.

The story of this series was pitching and it is the old story in baseball. The Yankees' Whitey Ford is as cool under the guns as anyone. He didn't have the fine edge in the first game, though, to beat Sandy Koufax, though he could have won allowing a run or pitching a shutout. Koufax was socked for a two-run homer.

What many fans and some sports writers missed was the fact that Podres and Drysdale pitched as well or better than Koufax. Sandy was more spectacular. He deserved the honors for the overall performance of the year. But in the Series, Drysdale didn't allow a run and Podres departed in the ninth inning of the second game with the Yankees at zero.

That was simply too good, from the number two and three men. Downing and Bouton could not match that, even against the lighter-hitting Dodgers. In the second game he worked, Whitey Ford shouldn't have lost. He gave only two hits but should have given up Joe Pepitone instead. Ford really outpitched Koufax, if a choice had to be made, though it was head-to-head.

The Yanks taken in four! That has to be the big sports story of 1963.

There were other great stories. Chuck McKinley winning the Wimbledon title was like the great old days. But it has been a long time, since anyone ran over the Yankees and rubbed their noses in the dirt.

Some fans had been waiting a long time.

Send Christmas Mail Early

vital need for packing and wrapping your Christmas gifts securely. Pack all your gifts in sturdy cartons, wrap them with heavy paper, and tie them securely with strong cord. It is sometimes hard to understand why people will be so careless about putting valuable Christmas gifts into the mails in flimsy boxes and loosely wrapped packages. Many of these poorly stand the necessary handling, and thus cause delay and disappointment all around.

The Postmaster further suggests that it is best to print the recipient's full name, street address, city, zone or ZIP Code number and state on all mailing labels, making sure to include an extra label inside your gift packages.

Those who wish to enclose their Christmas card or letter in their gift package may do so, merely adding the appropriate letter postage to the postage for the package itself and indicating the presence of a letter or Christmas card inside the package.

The Postmaster expressed his thanks for the fine public co-operation to date and said, "If you'll just follow these simple requirements, it's sure to be a merrier Christmas for everybody."

Don't mail money in Christmas gifts or parcels. Use Post Money Orders or checks.

Insure your gift parcels. Register letters of real value. Parcels containing delicate gifts must be marked "fragile" and food stuffs should be marked "perishable" if they are subject to spoilage.

Be sure your Christmas card and gift mailing lists are up to date.

Wrap your Christmas gifts carefully.

Address your cards and gifts legibly and correctly.

Use complete addresses, including street number, rural route or post office box number. Be sure that the name of the street is complete with avenue, parkway, or drive. Avoid abbreviations of street and state names. Use ZIP Code numbers wherever possible and be sure to include your own ZIP Code number in your return address.

And most important of all, mail your cards and gifts now.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

Employee Protection vs. Union Survival

It has become fashionable to say that the union movement is the enemy of automation. This is a distortion of the facts. The union movement is the enemy of the status quo. It is the enemy of the system that has created the unemployment problem. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the aged and the disabled. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the poor. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the sick. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the dying. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the living. It is the enemy of the system that has created the problem of the world.

retire or die. Those with lesser seniority could continue as firemen unless offered other comparable employment. Remaining groups, those whose employment has been recent or only casual, may be laid off permanently with various amounts of severance pay. The dispute over how to handle the problem of the no-longer-needed firemen has been an object of intense government attention for some four years. A Presidential Commission appointed by President Eisenhower, an Emergency Board created by President Kennedy, later the Secretary of Labor himself, and finally this arbitration board set up by law have studied the problem and recommended solutions. In broad outline the proposed solutions have all been the same—that the problem be taken care of gradually by attrition. The railroads have accepted this approach, in spite of the continuing financial burden it imposes. The unions have fought it every step of the way. They have now announced that they will challenge in the courts both the decision of the arbitration board and the legislation under which it was rendered. This means more delay, and decision-making under the threat of a nationwide rail strike. It is hard to see how anyone can reasonably feel that the latest recommendation does not provide ample protection for those who now hold firemen's jobs. The fly in the ointment, from the union's point of view, is that it does not preserve indefinitely the function of firemen. This leads us to ask whether the union intransigence is not aimed at protecting the union's existence rather than the interests of its present members. If so, then hostility to new technology will not be removed by anything that is done to solve the problems of the individuals who are directly affected by it.

People that like the "shade of the old apple tree," but don't like the "wormy, messy, decaying apples" can do something about it, a Michigan State University horticulturist says. Spray the tree with 30 parts per million naphthalene-acetic acid (AA) when the tree is in full bloom or petal fall, no apples will develop.

Five Grosbeaks Appear At Bird Feeder Stations

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Koch of 1240 Fletcher Rd., were thrilled yesterday morning to discover five grosbeaks among the curious and other birds gathered around the feeder stations in their yard. The Kochs saw a pair of the grosbeaks two weeks ago and then no others until the five which appeared yesterday.

Deer Kill 3rd Highest On Record

Michigan's 1963 army of five-arm deer hunters, believed to be the largest ever, took an estimated 114,500 whitetails, third highest on record, the Conservation Department reports.

The Department's kill figure, yet to be refined by a postcard survey of hunters, points to an increase of 10 percent in the buck harvest, from 63,880 last year to 69,800 this season.

Antlerless deer kill jumped 37 percent, totaling 44,700 as against 32,510 during the 1962 season.

Hunters in the northern Lower Peninsula killed 45,000 bucks, some 5,000 more than a year ago, to register their second highest take of antlered whitetails. In the Upper Peninsula, the buck figure reached 18,300, about 500 above last year.

For the third year in a row, sportsmen set a new record for buck kill in the southern Lower Peninsula where deer numbers are snowballing at the rate of 14 percent annually. This year's total is estimated at 6,500, up 19 percent from last season.

Traffic counts and field surveys indicate that antlerless deer kill rose from 6,670 last year to 11,200 in the Upper Peninsula and from 25,840 to 33,500 in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Biological checks of more than 11,000 deer at the Department's roadside stations show that the physical condition of the herd improved in most areas. This turn for the better is largely due to the liberal 1962 kill of nearly 96,000 animals and to last year's relatively easy winter on white-tails.

The Department reports that yearling bucks, whose numbers make or break each season, accounted for a greater percent of the total kill in both regions of northern Michigan. The proportion of 1 1/2-year-old bucks climbed from 46 to 51 percent in the Upper Peninsula, and from 71 to 72 percent in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Antler size in yearling-bucks, another barometer of the herd's physical condition, increased throughout most parts of the state.

Field studies reveal that hunting pressure was generally heavier than a year ago.

Although no final figures will be available for several months, Department officials estimate that upwards of 475,000 deer licenses were sold to crack the 1959 record of 468,000.

BULLDOG SPORTLIGHT

When we hear of a tie occurring in a football, hockey, or even soccer game, we are not too surprised. Such occurrences are commonplace in those athletic events. However, when such a thing happens in a basketball game, it seems quite unusual.

In fact, the way the game is played today it is nearly impossible for a game to end in a tie. Nevertheless, it was not too long ago that Chelsea tied in two basketball games.

The first time a tie took place was during the 1932-33 season. Chelsea tied Pinckney, 16-16. Among the players listed on the roster were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The second time this occurred was during the 1934-35 season. Ironically, the score was the same as the previous year, 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The third time this occurred was during the 1935-36 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The fourth time this occurred was during the 1936-37 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The sixth time this occurred was during the 1938-39 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The seventh time this occurred was during the 1939-40 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The eighth time this occurred was during the 1940-41 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The ninth time this occurred was during the 1941-42 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

The tenth time this occurred was during the 1942-43 season. The score was 16-16. The players on the score sheet were E. Hawley, R. Hutz, E. Steiner, N. Panathier, and G. Novess.

Just A Minute...

By the Rev. James A. Craig

The wind caused an unusual rattling sound along Main St. It took a moment to figure out what it was. A glance up confirmed that it was the tinsel on the wire.

Sights and sounds often cause us to look at things differently enough or demanding enough.

A group of people in a State Park were looking up at a starling. A group of people in a State Park were looking up at a starling.

We hardly hear or see the sights and sounds around us. For traveling we get so far, and no place in particular.

The wind rustles the tinsel. When you look up what do you see and what do you hear?

Prayer: Our Father, as the shopping days get fewer, lift us above the furor that we might hear the angel's song and see Thy Light. Amen.

Every American Has Right To Help in Freedom Struggle

East Lansing — "Any American man, woman or child is life impoverished in his spiritual life unless he is helped to understand and participate in some genuine way in the great struggle in our country, so that we feel he is participating in the bringing of new life and freedom to it."

"This is his birthright, he he Negro or white," said Edith M. Leavitt, general secretary of the YWCA of the U.S.A., at a recent MSU conference.

Jesus' instructions on how to pray will be brought out in this Sunday's Bible lesson. The subject is "God the Preserver of Man."

Golden Text: "The Lord is high above all that call upon him in truth. The Lord preserveth all them that love him" (Psalms 145:18,20).

Theologian Calls for Action By Christians

East Lansing — The main revolutions which are shaking our foundations today—race, peace, scientific and religious — spring out of the impact of the Christian faith on the world.

This is the opinion of Dr. Harvey Cox of the Andover (Mass.) Newton Theological School.

"Therefore, it is hardly cricket for Christians, even though they may be buffeted, bewildered and befuddled by a fast-changing world, to stand aside or get off the firing lines," he told a YWCA conference at Michigan State University.

Dr. Cox said we need more action programs by the YWCA and other agencies, and warned that unless there is a radical change in the understanding of the Christian ethic, a whole generation of young people will be lost.

better highways create jobs

Michigan's growing system of safe, new freeways is contributing importantly to the dynamic drive to attract new industry into the state.

Businessmen searching for new plant locations or opportunity for commercial development know that modern transportation facilities are an essential requirement. Now, more than ever before, Michigan's economic growth is dependent upon improved highways.

Any curtailment of the highway improvement program risks a slowdown in economic expansion. Your support of a good roads program will help Michigan grow and provide needed new jobs.

Industry wants dependable, all-weather highways to move materials and products. Concrete pavements are first choice to provide the load-carrying capacity required. Durable and smooth-riding, concrete roads give longer service with minimum maintenance. And this means tax economy to both industry and pleasure drivers.

When you see a new concrete highway, you know Michigan is moving forward—and new industry and more jobs are soon to follow!

County Deanery Meets Sunday at Ypsilanti Church

Fifteen women of St. Mary's parish attended the Washtenaw County Deanery meeting Sunday at St. John's Catholic church in Ypsilanti; they formed the largest group of any of the parishes represented and thus, for the third time in succession, were awarded the attendance trophy, a Madonna statue which they are permitted to hold until the next deanery meeting.

Chelsea women who attended are Mrs. Lawrence Dann, Mrs. Joseph Merkell, Mrs. Howard Gilbert, Mrs. Joseph Laban, Mrs. Henry Werner, Mrs. Wayne Harvey, Miss Nina Greening, Mrs. Leon Chapman, Mrs. Joseph Hafner, Miss Monaden Carpenter, Mrs. Arthur Paul, Mrs. Del Erickson, Mrs. Dennis Guinan, Mrs. James Gaken and Mrs. Arthur Patterson.

A program was presented at the meeting Sunday by students of St. John's High school.

It was announced that the annual day convention of the National Council of Catholic Women of this area will be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit, March 1 and 2. Theme of the convention is to be, "Now Is The Hour" with reference to Pope Paul's message to Catholic laity as related to apostolic work.

Suggestions were made at the meeting that women, in pairs, volunteer to visit out-of-state Catholic women who often are patients at the U. of M. Hospital. Volunteers for this service should contact Mrs. Keyes at the hospital, it was pointed out.

Deanery women who have free time for some volunteer work were reminded that veterans' hospitals are always in need of scuffles and ditty bags. In Chelsea, Mrs. James Gaken has regulation patterns for these items which she will give to anyone wishing to make them.

The next Washtenaw County Deanery meeting is to be held at St. Ursula's parish, Ypsilanti; however, the date has not yet been set.

A foolish idea a day keeps the mind working at least.

Christmas Trees Available To Suit Every Taste, Need

Wondering about the kind of tree your family should get for Christmas this year?

Much will depend, of course, upon your tastes and needs, but Conservation Department foresters have a few general guidelines to offer that will help you select the "right" Yuletide tree.

Anyone who places a high premium on getting a tree that won't shed its needles too quickly will find that most pine species make the best buys. Scotch pines, the No. 1 species on Michigan's Christmas tree list, is especially good for holding its needles.

Balsam fir, once considered the "Christmas tree," will be the pick of tradition-minded families and those who like the fragrance of pine.

Apartment dwellers who want small, table-size trees are advised that spruce and balsam generally offer better quality.

Department foresters stress the importance of selecting trees which have been cut recently enough to last through the holiday season if they are given proper care. With spruce or balsam, it's wise to set the trees in water and in a cool place until you're ready to trim them with decorations.

Whatever the type of tree you choose, make sure the "handle space" is ample. This will rule out the need of later cutting off lower branches to get the proper mounting length, at the risk of ruining the tree's balanced size and shape.

Las Animas, Colo.—Members of the armed services cannot give up the boyhood prank of snitching melons.
The latest method to be used was two big army helicopters landing in the watermelon patch. Ed Wilkins and a man jumped from each grabbing a melon off they flew. Mr. Wilkins said he didn't have time to "shake a fist" at them.

Year-End Nears for 1963 Wool Payment Program

The 1963 wool program incentive payments to be made in the early spring will cover only wool from unshorn lambs which were marketed from April 1, 1963 through Dec. 31, 1963. Max II, chairman of the Washington County Agricultural Station and Conservation Committee, reminded growers today that payments will have until Jan. 31 to file their applications for payment. Payments to producers will follow the same methods as in previous years. Shortage payments will be equal to a percentage of each producer's returns for wool sales. The percentage to be announced later, will be that required to raise the national average price received by all the producers for short wool during the marketing year to the incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

Lamb payments will be made to each producer who sells lambs that have never been shorn. The payments will be at a rate per hundredweight of live animals marketed to compensate for the wool on them on a basis comparable to the national average incentive payment per pound of shorn wool.

The chairman emphasized the importance of keeping adequate records on sales, which must support the information on payment applications. It is important that all sales receipts should show name and address of buyer, date of sale, name and address of producer, net weight of wool sold, and not proceeds received after normal marketing deductions. It is very important that all purchases of unshorn lambs from which wool was shorn or unshorn lambs sold be declared when completing an application for payment.

Applications for payment may be filed at the county ASCS office, Huron-Van Wyck Research Park, 15 Research Dr., Ann Arbor, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Changes Noted in Provisions of 1964 Feed Grain Program

There are provisions for establishing "new farm" bases for the feed grain program.

A new farm will not be eligible for division or price support payments the first year; however, if the type of farming has changed, the farm is now being operated by a different person, it is possible to apply for a "new farm base." A request for a "new farm base" must be completed and filed in the County ASCS office by Feb. 1, 1964. Forms on which to file these bases are available at all county ASCS offices.

In order to be eligible for such a base the following conditions must be met:

- (1) The farm presently does not qualify for an old farm feed grain base.
- (2) Neither operator nor owner owns or operates another farm which qualifies for an old farm feed grain base or for which a new farm application is filed.
- (3) Committee determines that available land is suitable for production of the feed grain for which a base is requested and the continuous production of such feed grain will not result in an undue erosion hazard.
- (4) Operator has adequate equipment and other facilities readily available for the successful production of the feed grain on the farm.
- (5) Operator expects to derive 50 percent or more of his livelihood in the current year from the production of agricultural commodities.
- (6) The applicant has at least two years' experience in production of a feed grain in the last five years. Experience may be as owner, tenant, hired hand or member of family assisting in production of a feed grain.

The new Operations Center of the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be used as a sub-center of the Detroit regional blood program starting in February, Chapter Chairman, James M. Davis, announced today. "While we are most appreciative of the Bloodmobile service which has permitted us to collect blood throughout our county for the past 10 years," Davis said, "we have needed in our own county a central location to which people could come at least once monthly."

With the completion of the Red Cross Operations Center at 2729 Packard Rd. in Ann Arbor, space was designated to permit the sub-center to be used for blood collection. Even before the building was dedicated, it was necessary to use this building for blood collection for the various Ann Arbor industries. More than 1,000 persons were processed there in a single week.

Dr. A. James French, chairman of the blood program, pointed out that persons who are unable to give blood at the regular date of their group may go to this center. It is now planned that the Center will be open for blood collection the second Friday of each month and additional days as needed. Dr. French said, "This is equally important in view of the expanded need for heart surgery

Sale of Michigan Christmas Trees Will Pass 4 Million

Michigan's sale of Christmas trees will boom over the four million mark this year as a result of drought conditions which hit the country's northeastern states during last spring, according to the Conservation Department.

The sale of trees which were scheduled for the market this season is expected to make their new growth in that part of the nation because of extremely dry weather. Consequently, the state supply of Christmas trees has been drawn into the picture to help fill the gap. Most of the increase in Michigan's out-of-state market is coming from Texas, Kansas, California, and Iowa. As in the past, sizable shipments are being made to neighboring states including Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

The state's sale of Christmas trees, particularly those of the plantation-grown, high-quality type, has been steadily increasing in recent years. In 1962, nearly three million were sold in Michigan for an all-time high.

Chelsea Slated To Exchange Mayors With Lake Linden

Pairings for the 1964 Exchange of Mayors Day, were announced this week by William G. Kirby, chairman of the Mayors Exchange Committee for the annual Michigan Week observance the week of May 17. Mayors Exchange activities take place on Car Government Day of Michigan Week, which is Monday, May 18. This is the 11th annual observance of the exchange of mayors.

Kirby, in announcing the exchange pairings, said "nowhere else in the world is there anything like Michigan's exchange of mayors. Its purpose is to make communities, big and little, better acquainted with one another and to build and to demonstrate the neighborliness of Michigan towns."

The pairings show Chelsea is to exchange mayors with Lake Linden, a community with a population of approximately 1,800 and located in the extreme northwestern part of the Upper Peninsula in the Keweenaw Peninsula.

Dexter is paired with Dansville, north of Stockbridge; the population there is listed as approximately 450.

Other area pairings are Grass Lake and Walker; Manchester and Kingston, a community of approximately 450 in the Thumb area; Stockbridge and Eaton Rapids; and Ann Arbor and Kalkaska, a community of 1,325 in the northeastern part of the state, near the Grand Traverse Bay area.

It was explained that if distance or some other obstacle is too great a handicap, the committee will try to arrange another pairing for the communities involved; however, as it stands at this time the pairings for this area are as noted here.

The drawing took place at Lansing Friday and was conducted by Gov. George Romney with the assistance of members of the state administrative board and members of the Michigan Week committee.

Early Season Ice Can Be Dangerous

Winter's ice on lakes and streams is a long-awaited treat for many youngsters but it can also be a threat to their lives early in the season, the State Police point out.

In some areas early winter ice may look thick and safe enough to walk and slide on but actually may be too thin to hold up under a youngster's weight.

Because of this danger, parents are urged to caution their children against venturing on lakes and streams without first determining if the ice is thick enough. Ice on top of deep bodies of water should be several inches thick, preferably about four, to assure safety.

Even where lakes and streams are judged safe and are used for skating and sliding, there should be provision for rescue in event of a breakthrough which may be caused by surface pressure cracks or where ice may be made thin by water currents underneath.

Long branches, poles, ropes or a ladder should be available to reach a person who has broken through.

Caution in crossing ice is urged as well for hunters, fishermen or other outdoor fans who travel over frozen lakes or streams during their outings.

At least 12 persons drowned during 1962 when they fell through ice in Michigan. The toll of the year before was 13.
