Only One Party Listed On Ballot This Year For Village Election

Plant Owner W. A. Thomas Succumbs

Funeral services for William A. Thomas, founder and owner of the Wm. A. Thomas Co., since 1947, were held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Staffan Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul M. Schmale officiating. Burial took place at Oak Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Thomas died Wednesday at his home, 1025 N. Elmhurst Rd., following an extended illness. He was 69 years old.

Before organizing his own firm he had been plant superintendent at Federal Sewer Works for 14 years.

He was president of Planets, Inc., and a member of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association. He was a member of Hamilton Chapter No. 62, RAM, and Yonondio Lodge No. 103, F&AM at Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. Thomas was born Sept. 16, 1894, at New Bedford, Mass. On June 28, 1930, in Rochester, N.Y., he was married to Violet Pohorly, who survives. He worked at the Davenport Machine Tool Co. in Rochester until coming to Chelsea to become plant superintendent at Federal Sewer Works.

Surviving, in addition to his widow, are one daughter, Mrs. David L. Johnson (Dorothy) of St. Joseph, Mich.; two brothers, Roland of Irvington, N.Y., and Stephen of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Memorial contributions received by the family were designated for the American Cancer Society.

People's Party Withdraws After Appeal to State

Next Monday, March 9, is election day.

It was pointed out that in spite of the fact that there is no opposition for the entire Independent party ticket voters should cast their ballot in order to keep their voting eligibility status and to register a vote of confidence for the candidates.

Howard Haselschwardt, who has been on the Village Council as trustee, heads the ticket for the office of president to succeed Robert Daniels. Daniels has been president the past three years and did not choose to seek election to a fourth term.

Others on the Independent party ticket are George Winans, clerk; Wallace Wood, treasurer; Thomas Smith, assessor; J. V. Burg, Jr., Duane Crouch and Frederick Weber, trustees; Jean Eaton and John Thomson, library board members.

All are incumbents with the exception of Weber and Crouch.

Weber, who is 33 years old, is a veteran of two years' Army service (1953-55) in the European area with the rank of corporal. He attended the University of Detroit for three and one-half years after his graduation from Chelsea High school in 1949 and from 1968 until 1962 he owned and operated Weber's Dairy Bar. He is now employed by William C. Weber, Contractor.

Weber is married to the former Sandra Buchler and has an 18-month-old child. Their home is at 175 Orchard St.

Weber is a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and the Chelsea Knights of Columbus. He was born in Chelsea and has always lived here.

Crouch, with his wife, Marie, and their two daughters, five and seven years old, lives at 801 Fland. St. Born at Grass Lake, Nov. 5, 1924, he is now 37 years old. He graduated from high school in 1944 at Grass Lake. He has been a member of the Methodist church for 25 years and has served as secretary of the church's Official Board.

Crouch served in Japan while in the Army for two years. He was discharged with the rank of staff sergeant and is a member of the American Legion. He has been employed the past 14 years in the sales department of Southeast Tools.

Because it was learned from the State Board of Elections after the People's party caucus Feb. 17 that the People's party could not legally name candidates, the three men named to run for the office of trustee withdrew their names.

The State Board of Elections, when consulted on the matter by the three men—Alex Smith, John Smucker and Joseph Scott—stated that if a party does not place at least one candidate on the ballot at the previous election, then that party is no longer a legal party.

There were no People's party candidates on the 1963 ballot.

The polls will be open Monday, March 9, from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m., with the election scheduled to be held at the Sylvan Town Hall.

HOWARD HASELSCHWARDT For President

Church Youth Group Elects First Officers

The youth of seven Chelsea area churches organized to co-operate on a minimum ecumenical program. They adopted a constitution or a working agreement which may be changed after a trial period but which will hold them together in the meantime.

Officers elected for the balance of this school year are president, Beverly Windell; vice-president, Mike Sholtens; secretary, Jane Faust; and treasurer, Sandy Osborn.

The purpose is to stop the shameful flow toward an increasingly fractured church. The more than 200 denominations are as discouraging in the minds of these church youth as the fact that they see and feel more competition than co-operation between them.

"Unity in Diversity," a phrase that comes from the World Council of Churches.

Model Circus Bandwagon To Be Seen at World's Fair

Charles Spencer, an active member of the Circus Model Builders association, was chosen by World Fair committees as one of 600 circus modelers invited to exhibit old-time circus equipment at the New York World's Fair which opens April 22.

Spencer's exhibit is a miniature circus wagon he has been working on the past three months. A replica of the original Gollman Brothers Circus bandwagon. The original wagon was built for the Gollman Brothers circus in 1908 and went with the circus equipment when it became the property of the American Circus Corp., and later, the Christy Brothers circus. Still later, the wagon was used on a national radio bandwagon program.

Three years ago the Circus World Museum at Baraboo, Wis., secured the wagon and restored it for display. It has been described as one of the most colorful wagons ever used by the circus.

Spencer's bandwagon will be on display at Strieter's Men's Wear to give Chelsea residents a chance to see it before it is shipped to the World's Fair.

At the fair it will be included in the display at the Continental Circus which includes models of wagons, animals and all types of circus equipment built to scales of one-quarter inch to one inch.

19 Cattle Die In Fire on E. Heim Farm

Wednesday of last week, the Chelsea Fire Department was called at 3:34 p.m. to the Earl Heim farm on Heim Rd., when Mrs. Heim saw smoke coming out of the new barn constructed after buildings on the farm were destroyed by fire three years ago.

Mr. Heim was away when the fire was discovered and Mrs. Heim turned in the alarm to Chelsea and Manchester fire departments. Grass Lake firemen were also on the scene.

Barn doors had remained closed until firemen arrived and this prevented the fire from spreading, thus saving the building; however, the dense smoke from burning hay and straw in one corner of the barn resulted in the death of 19 head of cattle. Five of the cattle were dead when firemen arrived; others died later, and the remainder had to be slaughtered.

Chelsea Fire Chief James Gaken commented, "area farmers for 'pitching in' to help firemen move tons of hay in order to keep the flames from spreading. Chief Gaken said approximately 40 men were at work, moving the hay quickly out of reach of the flames.

Friday, Chelsea firemen responded when a car on I-94 near Pierce Rd. was discovered to be ablaze. Gaken said the car, owned by Isaiah Simmons of Ypsilanti, was extensively damaged.

Sunday forenoon, Chelsea firemen made their first grass fire run of the season. The call came from the Jay Weinberg farm on Old US-12 where burning rubbish set the grass on fire. There was no serious damage.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Billy Graham Has Courage

Evangelist Billy Graham is one of the most dynamic personalities of the day in the eyes of a great many people. His name is a household word in many capitals of the world, as it is in the mountains of his native North Carolina. He has become friend and confidant of presidents and kings, as well as a counselor of the common man. It's not surprising then, that politicians casting about for a glamorous name seek to lure Graham into this year's presidential campaign. That move fits the pattern in a time when big-name football coaches and astronauts are trying to translate their popularity into high, elected public office. Graham has recently brushed aside political temptation if indeed any was involved for him. His answer to political pressure was: "I would rather be a preacher of the Gospel of Jesus Christ than hold any political office in the world."

'Please Omit Flowers'

Human beings resent being told what to do and what not to do. "Keep Off the Grass," "No Smoking," and other such instructions, give us the urge to do what is forbidden—when we might not have thought of it otherwise. Yet these particular admonitions are firmly grounded in concern for the welfare and propriety of others. They, therefore, are reasonable and proper. But the mandate "Please Omit Flowers," to our mind, is not reasonable or proper. It seldom expresses the specific wish of the friend we have lost. More often it is the idea of the survivors, who undoubtedly are influenced by well-meaning friends. This request fails to consider our feelings. It does not allow us the freedom to express our own sentiment in the best way we know how. When we are at a loss for words what else can best express what is in our hearts as simply, as unobtrusively, and as effectively as flowers? We send flowers to convey the warmth of our friendship, respect and love for the departed, and to express to survivors our desire to share their burden of grief—to lend them what support we can. The request that, in lieu of flowers, we make a donation to an organization or fund of their choosing—does not remove the hurt of our frustration and rejection. It may, in fact, aggravate the "Please Omit Flowers" dictum if it implies that we are expected to make substantial gifts. The flowers we are asked to omit might have been from our own garden, wild flowers from a fallow field or roadside, or the simplest spray, wreath or bouquet from a florist. In any event, the language of flowers is not that of the stock market or the stock yards. It is more subtle. It is more discreet, more tender and more perceptive than that of poets. A human right we seldom speak of is that of being sentimental. Yet, it is a cherished right, a right involving freedom of expression. When we are told, "Please Omit Flowers," we cannot help but feel just as wounded as if the message had read, "Keep Out—This Means You!"

The experience gained by hard knocks is never fully appreciated until after the soreness has disappeared.

Truck Weight Restrictions

The Washtenaw County Road Commission deems it necessary to preserve the roads under the jurisdiction of this Board and by virtue of the applicable sections of the Michigan Vehicle Code being Act 300, Public Acts of 1949 as amended, we impose springtime axle load restrictions effective 6 a.m. Wednesday, March 4, 1964.

More than 3 1/2 feet, but less than 9 feet	9,750 pounds	8,450 pounds
When less than 3 1/2 feet, the combined weight shall not exceed	13,500 pounds	11,700 pounds
Maximum load on any wheel shall not exceed:	525 pounds	450 pounds

MAXIMUM TRUCK SPEED

No truck, tractor or tractor with trailer, nor any combination of such vehicles with a gross weight loaded or unloaded in excess of 5,000 pounds shall exceed a speed of 45 miles per hour, which shall be reduced to 35 miles per hour during the period when reduced loadings are being enforced.

Voting Changes
Amendment of Michigan's new Constitution appears now as a strong possibility of this spring and summer. Gov. George Romney, one of the authors of the document which took effect in January, at first was opposed to any move to change it this year. Now, however, he admits there may be some areas where change might be desirable. Sections of the Constitution under serious study for the possibility of amendment deal with the voting age, county officers' terms, legislative terms, and legislative apportionment. Proposals to change the Constitution require two-thirds approval in both legislative houses and then agreement by the people at the voting booth. The 18-year-old would gain the right to vote and legislative redistricting would be put off for another two years under present proposals gaining most attention. Serious study of the former is prompted largely by a group of youths in Central Michigan who would gain franchise if the Constitution were changed to lower the voting age. Concentration on the redistricting problem has taken on many faces, prompted by failure of the eight-member Constitutionally-created Apportionment Commission. The bipartisan commission held out hope to the last that it could reach agreement on a plan to divide the state into equitable House and Senate districts within guidelines in the new Constitution. This lack of agreement, the Commission's various plans went to the State Supreme Court. As the wheels of amendment and the law move exceedingly slowly, these wheels do not defer the issue to legislative action. Aerial photos have been in use for highway planning for many years, but the space age may change the method of obtaining these tools. State Highway Department planners now predict that in a very few years, satellites will be used for land surveying, just as they are now used in experiments for navigation. Like navigation problems, land surveying is complicated by the fact that the measurements are made on the curved surface of the earth. Thus, straight lines aren't straight very long. Stretches of road over several miles require designing corrections to account for the curvature of the earth. Satellite surveying would help simplify the designer's problems, department engineers say. Aerial photography, or photogrammetry as it is known as used for land surveying, has come a long way over the years. It was first done, even before the airplane, by using kites. Historians note that aerial photography became a highly refined process during World War II. Department officials say the next several years and the use of satellites will bring the process even closer to the status of a science.

Flag Form
Michigan's flag is familiar to only a few people in the state, but it need not be so. The state banner, like the Stars and Stripes, is designed for regular use by anyone and everyone. Rules for its proper display are very simple, either alone or with the American flag. History of the flag is short. It goes back 127 years to the day when Stevens T. Mason, Michigan's first governor, presented his own design to the state militia, Brady's Guards, in Detroit on George Washington's birthday. Mason designed the flag as a blue field with a portrait of him on one side, the state coat of arms, a soldier and a lady on the other. This design was changed in 1865 to one with the state coat of arms on one side and the U.S. emblem on the other. The field of blue has been maintained to the current day. The third change produced the

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: This "adult education" class they been putting on everywhere final got down to the country store Saturday night. The feller that runs the store pasted a map of Asia up on the wall. He allowed as how he was getting tired of hearing the fellows argue if this or that country was in South America or Africa when it wasn't in neither one. You will recall here a while back Zeki Grubb was claiming Vietnam was in South America while most of the fellows claimed it was in Africa. This is to report, Mister Editor, that it is in Asia and all the fellows could see it plumb good on the map Saturday night. Incidental, this is the first time they has been any remodeling or redecorating at the country store since 1927 when somebody pasted a picture of Lindbergh on the meat counter. That big color map of Asia give the place some class and I'm expecting the price of bread to get adjusted 'up about 2 cent more on the loaf. Zeki come across this country of Cambodia on the map and this called for some discussion. Zeki ain't much on maps but he carries in his head all the latest figures on foreign aid. Zeki is one of them fellers, Mister Editor, that thinks big and way out. He can tell you the import duty on cotton and give you the figures on how much wheat we exported to the world in 1963, but he couldn't tell you to save his life the local tax rate for 1964. Well, anyhow, Zeki got purple around the ears when he come across this Cambodia country. He reported this was the country that took our aid money for 8 long years to the tune of $365 million, built roads, factories and schools with it, then joined up in December with Russia and tried to get our military base out of the country and be on our way. Some fellers was all agreed that the Government does some funny things with the taxpayers money. Furthermore, claimed Bug Hookum, things was getting worse instead of better. Bug allowed as how he was looking any day now for one of them Government research men to find out why a chicken crosses the road. Clem Webster bring out a clipping he cut from the papers and showed it to the fellers. It reported the Chinese Reds was claiming "Comrade Nikita is a psalm-singing buffoon" and that he is reading the Bible. Clem said them Chinese got shoe-pounding mixed up with psalm-singing and it was agreed by all that ole Khushy ain't guilty and ain't qualified yet for Sunday School teaching. It was voted unanimously to paste this clipping over Cambodia on the new map and cover up that $365 million rat hole. Yours truly, Uncle Lew.

Peace Corps Placement Tests Slated March 14
The Peace Corps has announced that the next Peace Corps placement test, required of all applicants interested in serving overseas, will be given Saturday, March 14 at approximately 10 a.m. in principal cities throughout the United States. The tests will begin at 8:30 a.m. local time. For this area tests will be in Ann Arbor in the Civil Service Room of the U. S. Post Office, Downtown Station, 220 N. Main. More than 5,000 qualified applicants are expected to begin the tests this summer, said Shirley, Director of the Corps. The most critical demand, he said, was in the field of agriculture, health, engineering, construction and education. But the Peace Corps, he also needs people skilled in civil education, home economics, architecture, geology, social and several hundred other areas to fill additional requests for the 40 countries where the Corps is now working. The two required tests, the English Aptitude Test and the Language Aptitude Test, about one and one-half hours each, are given in English. Applicants who have proficiency in French or Spanish are asked to remain for an additional one-hour language test. Knowledge of a foreign language is not a requirement for the Placement Test or for Peace Corps service. Applicants are advised that the Placement Test is used, together with other factors, in finding the most appropriate overseas assignment for each applicant. Therefore it is "non-competitive" and are not passing or failing. Scores are not released to applicants, and no applicants make the test more than once. To take the Placement Test, applicants should bring with a completed Peace Corps Questionnaire. If they have not mailed it to Peace Corps headquarters in Washington, D.C., they may obtain one from most post offices, college Peace Corps officers, or the Peace Corps, Washington, 20525. Applicants who have submitted a questionnaire are asked to remain at the test to complete one immediately following the test. Basic requirements for applicants are that they be U.S. citizens at least 18 years of age. There is no upper age limit. Married couples may apply, but have no dependents under college degree is not required. College or vocational training creates an applicant's contribution. Liberal arts graduates with no special training are often used as teachers in community development work. Advertising is the primer pump of business—if you see head, you will know the works.

CHEVELLE! by CHEVROLET—a great highway performer

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

Chevelle means performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8—and optional extra cost, a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, a new 327-cu-in. V8! But more, Chevelle's performance means that the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride.

Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide® 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options. Knowing all this, what's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

Should Holding Two Jobs Be Forbidden?

One of the intriguing facets of the employment statistics was revealed in a Department of Labor study showing that in 1963, about 3.8 million men held two or more jobs. This is popularly called, contributes to unemployment. Union spokesmen and others, have sometimes argued that the practice should be restricted or discouraged. But this raises two questions.

First, the question of individual freedom: should the state (or anyone else) intervene to tell a person how many jobs he may hold? Second, the question of fact: would a restriction on moonlighting actually increase the number of employed persons? The advocates of a limitation on multiple job holding apparently give an affirmative answer to both these questions. This seems to be based on the conception that there is just a certain amount of work to be done. Hence, according to this view, job opportunities are limited and equity demands that they should be rationed among the nation's work force.

Unemployment, when it occurs is due to artificial interferences with the mechanism for balancing supply and demand in the labor market. It is not due to an inherent limitation on the amount of work to be done. In a free society it is up to every individual to make the choice between work and leisure for himself. It is just as outrageous to forbid an individual to work as long as he wants as it would be to compel him to take another job when he is satisfied with the income he has earned from the first.

It is hoped that those holding a second job are not to be subjected to disadvantage and hastily conceived legislative proposals similar to those recently aimed at overtime work. History recognizes that individuals with more than normal ambition and energy have been a driving force in the development of our country.

DUMMY NOT DUMB
London — A four-man gang was surprised when Detectives of Scotland Yard's flying squad arrested them as they raided a clothing store. The signal had been given to the cops by a detective standing in the store window posing as a tailor's dummy.

MARINES NEAR CYPRUS
The United States has twice as many Marines as usual in the Mediterranean, it has been reported. There are about 3,400 Marines and two amphibious task forces available for use in Cyprus if a decision is made to send in a NATO peacekeeping expedition. Such a move has been rumored but not confirmed by President Johnson.

★ Yankees Again?

Washington, D.C.—Ralph Houk was in a talkative mood recently and looked at the pennant race in the American League. He saw a number of teams who might challenge the Yankees in 1964.

Houk, of course, thinks the Yankees will win, as usual. But he says the league is not a weak one and that a number of clubs could make a battle for the flag. He named Detroit as the team which had improved most, through trades.

Houk said if Bengali pitching was strong, the Tigers might be contenders. He liked the middle of the Detroit infield, with Jerry Lumpe at second.

Houk says Chicago will be tough, that Senor Al Lopez has a potentially fine pitching staff. He thinks Minnesota will be tough, and points to the power the Twins have displayed in the last two seasons.

Houk thinks the key to Yankee success in 1964 lies in pitching. He assumes the hitting is sound. The big question mark for New York, then, must be Whitey Ford. He is the Yankees' bread-and-butter pitcher. He has won the big games for the Yankees for many years, both in the season and in the World Series.

Should Whitey, now a coach as well as a hurling star, lose any of his former brilliance, it's problematical whether a younger pitcher could take up the slack.

For he has been the key competitor when the Yanks had to win. And until 1963 he won the big Series games.

In the classic last October he lost to Sandy Koufax in Los Angeles opening day. In the fourth game, with the Yanks down 0-3 he had to win. He pitched two-hit ball, lost. It was unusual.

A legitimate question is how long he can go on, as the master pitcher for the Yanks, and whether he is losing some of his stuff. The answer to that question might decide the pennant this year.

Mild Winter Saves $1 Million on Highway Maintenance Costs
Lansing — The Michigan State Highway Department reports it may save up to $1 million this year on winter maintenance.

That's how much has been saved so far this winter, which has been one of the mildest in recent years. "This savings could be wiped out between now and the end of March, but we are keeping our fingers crossed that March will be no worse than it normally is," State Highway Commissioner John C. Mickie said.

Mickie said the biggest saving so far this winter has been in the use of salt and calcium chloride and in payment of overtime.

Salt usage is down an estimated 35,000 tons compared to last winter while about 700 tons less of calcium chloride have been used to keep freeways and other state highways clear of ice and snow.

AN UNCOMMON ATHLETE

Recently, we received a rather unusual letter. It came from an athlete, Bill Bradley, Princeton's All America basketball star. Bill knew that Sport Magazine was preparing an article on him, that it was being written by Easy Ed Macaulay, the former pro great with St. Louis and Boston. The purpose of this letter, wrote Bradley, was to briefly explain our friendship and my debt to him for the hours of personal attention which he has given to me.

Bill told how he had been helped as a 14-year-old by Macaulay, how he had been taught some of the "tricks" of basketball, and some larger lessons dealing with teamwork. Then Bill-Bradley concluded: "I would like to say to him publicly, 'Thank you,' for being a teacher and a friend to a boy who is grateful for being associated with such a fine coach and individual as Ed Macaulay." A rare tribute by a rare type in the world of sports.

THE DICK BARNETT DICTIONARY

Dick Barnett is a cool, cool type who plays a cool, cool game of basketball for the Los Angeles Lakers. He also has a unique command of the English language. In the March issue of Sport, he is quoted as follows: "A good basket is 'a darlin' shot.' When his shooting slump, he says, 'My jumpers on vacation.' When he is alone in his room he will call a teammate and flip a pack of cards into the telephone speaker and say, 'Hey, darlin'. They're playing' the national anthem.' Once when coach Fred Schus said there, 'Don't you worry, coach, darlin'. You come check. That bed will be there.'"

Watching Larry Morris run the key interception of yards in the National Football League championship game, 250-0, a unit teammate, Fred Williams said, "Larry, you started out like Jesse Owens and you finished up like Fred Williams."

Cassius Clay, who was scheduled to be introduced by Sonny Liston on Feb. 25, was asked by an admirer, Jack Pary, if the public image of Cassius was a true one. "Now," Cassius said, "I just put that on, to make 'em mad, and they hate me. They hate me and come and see me. Gonna be a two million dollar gate."

The abstract search for truth doesn't stand a chance when it collides with the organized pressure of a selfish group.

MAYOR FOR TWO DAYS
Adairville, Ky. — Two days after he became mayor of a town of 800 people, Ray McKinney resigned. Being the only druggist in the community, he explained that he was too busy to look after a $500,000 project for construction of a new water system. McKinney asked the town to take back the former mayor Jimmy Pettis, an undertaker.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

"OK. So everybody needs the Church. But its gotta' be for more than keeping warm. If you look around there are plenty of dead coals in the Church, even. Somehow their fire went out."

"It sure did. Probably because nobody took them seriously."

"You know—the person who always takes himself seriously is the one we keep away from. We cannot feel comfortable with him."

"No matter. Some time or other everybody needs to be taken seriously. Where is it gonna be? And when?"

"We get nothing but trouble taking our selves seriously. Anybody knows that. But sometime you need it."

"Well here's a place where it is. (Or should be). Here's the place where people will listen to you like you're somebody rather than just a decoration. Ever have anybody look at you like they wish you'd fade into the woodwork?"

"Church people do that too."

"But not if they know what they are there for. Then they listen to you. Then they try to understand you without dumping their problems on your back. It's good to know you can talk. It's good to know you can be yourself."

"But not in any Church I know."

"Sure, even there. There's some to go yet. But give time and a little help they'll make it. Remember, they're people too."

Prayer: Lord, help us not to stand in our brother's way. Amen.

Advance Payment Offered in ASC Feed Grain Program

Producers who take part in the ASC Feed Grain Program may receive advance payment of the price of grain at the time of the diversion of grain to the program. The advance payment provision should be of substantial benefit to growers who can use some extra cash during the spring planting season.

As in 1963, the 1964 Feed Grain Program offers participants a payment for diversion of eligible crops and a price support payment on the normal production of the 1964 feed grain acreage. Participating growers will also qualify for price support loans or purchase agreements on their entire production from the feed grain acreage.

The acreage of corn, grain sorghum, and barley has been combined into one total feed grain base for each farm, and a producer may divert one or more of the feed grains in the total base. His diversion payment will be made at the per-acre rate applying to the grain diverted. The minimum diversion under the program will be 20 percent of the farm's feed grain base acreage.

While participation in the 1964 Feed Grain Program is voluntary, the price support payment and loans as well as the diversion payments will be available only to growers who carry out the program's provisions.

Sign-up for the program will continue at the ASCS County Office through March 27.

Secretary of State James M. Have said the branches collected a record total of $156,920,745 in weight, sales, and use taxes and that the offices filed a high of $191,872 revenue transactions.

Ideas Given To Look for in Basic Cookbook

What do you look for when choosing a cookbook—that "bible" of food buying guides, recipes and meal planning suggestions for the new homemaker?

Mrs. Alice Epple, Extension Home Economist with the Michigan State University Co-operation Extension Service, has drawn together a list of ideas that may help you choose a basic cookbook that is really basic.

Here are some questions to think about:

1. Is the author a qualified authority? Is the information unbiased or has the author promoted specific brands and products? What's the purpose of the book? Some cookbooks are written with "special diets" in mind and are not especially adaptable to normal diets for healthy people.

2. Is the cookbook well organized? Does it have a table of contents and does the index help you locate a recipe quickly? If the cookbook is arranged by menus, recipes should also be listed alphabetically by type (salads, desserts and breads, for example) to make it easy to find recipes. When recipes are organized by menu, it is difficult to compare ingredients and recipes at a glance.

3. Are the pages made of sturdy paper to withstand daily use? Does the book open easily and lie flat? Has space been provided for writing in new ideas and recipes? The loose-leaf type of book allows the addition of new pages.

4. Is the cover durable and easy to clean?

5. Are the recipes easy to read and understand?

Mrs. Epple points out that the basic cookbook should also contain general information helpful in food preparation. This often includes:

- A list of standard equipment and utensils for a well-equipped kitchen.
- A list of equivalent measures for measuring techniques as well as substitutions that might have to be made, such as using cornstarch instead of flour as a thickening agent.
- A description of measuring when using the recipes in the book.

—A description of common ingredients—that point out the differences between various types of baking powder, flour, flavoring, fat and other cooking staples.

—A description of definitions and time tables for cooking.

—Buying tips.

—Basic principles of cookery.

—Reasons for failures.

—Illustrations or clear descriptions of the finished product.

—Pictures that show how to do it.

—Descriptions of various types of meal service, including ways to serve and formal and informal table settings.

—Suggestions for preparing food in quantity.

Mrs. Epple says the basic cookbook may also include suggestions for meal planning, calorie counts of common foods and guides for providing well-balanced meals.

Lansing — A pair of all-time revenue records were chalked up by officers of the Secretary of State during 1963.

Delegates Chosen To 8th Annual 4-H Leadermete

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lutchka of South Lyon and Mr. and Mrs. George Macomber of Ann Arbor will be Washtenaw county delegates to the eighth annual 4-H Leadermete being held at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center from March 7 to 8.

They are among 300 leaders selected from every county in Michigan. Sponsored by the State 4-H Council and the 4-H Club Foundation, this year's Leadermete is based on the theme, "A Waking Field."

Major emphasis throughout the program will be the role of 4-H in this decade and the goals it must achieve in the future.

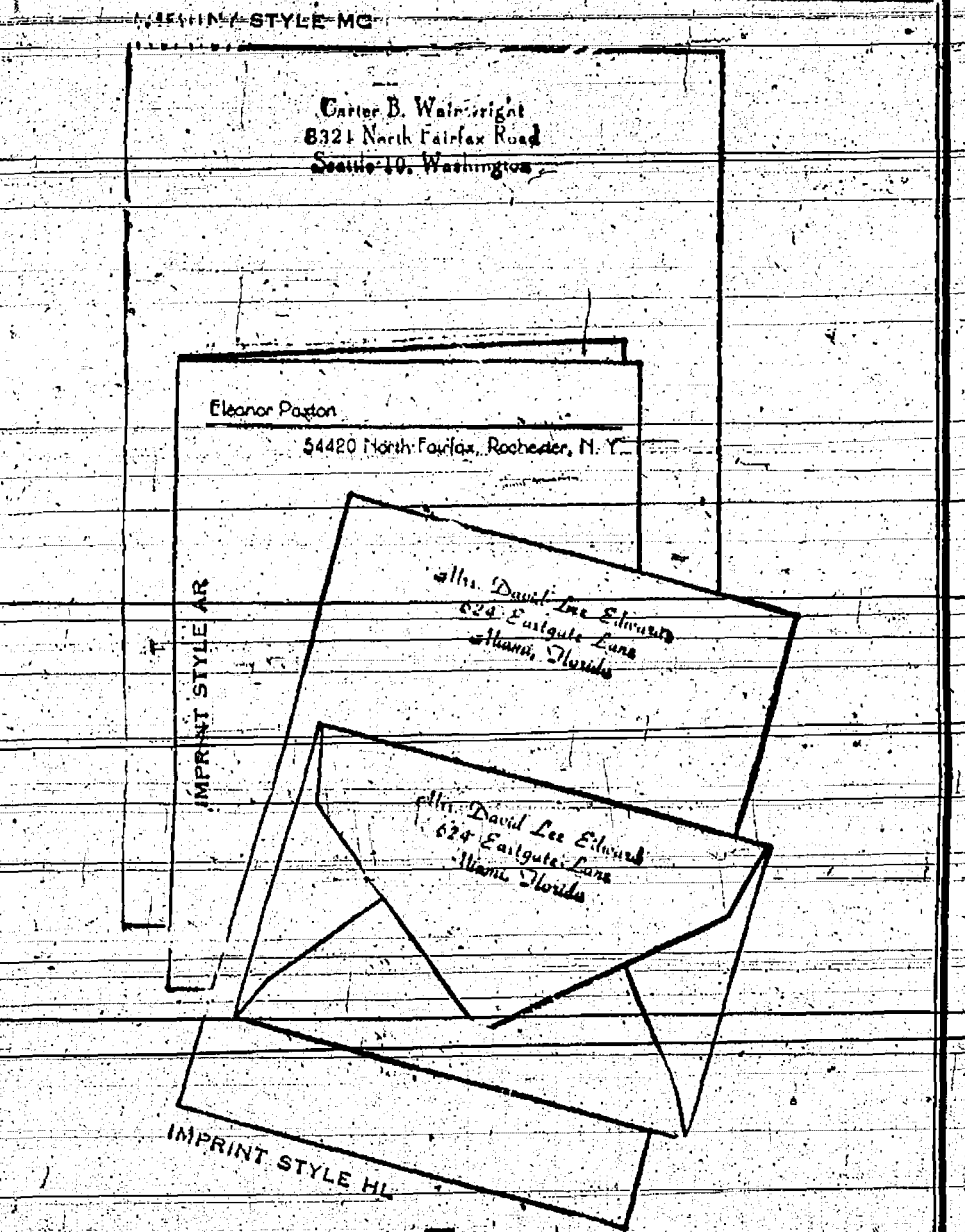

Dr. Russell G. Marby, Assistant Director of Extension, 4-H Club Program, will identify the critical issues facing Michigan's youth and what is being done to meet these challenges. He will describe the role of 4-H in science, careers, and in helping youth be effective citizens.

Featured speaker at the annual 4-H Leadermete-banquet Saturday evening will be Dr. Leroy Augenstein, chairman of the biophysics department at Michigan State University. He will speak on "Goals for a Decisive Generation."

In addition to these speakers, leaders will participate in discussion groups, analyze their own 4-H program, and tour the MSU campus.
