CHS Band Rated II in State Festival

Chelsea High School Band received a II rating in the three concert pieces played Saturday at the State Band Festival at Lansing. Their participation in the festival took place at Lansing's Everett High school.

Strong points mentioned were the band's sight reading and qualities listed as balance, dynamic contrast and musicianship.

In suggesting improvements one of the judge said "This band is well trained in technique and musicianship. You do a fine job and gave a fine performance except for a few minor details."

Another judge said the band made an excellent appearance, had good control dynamically and was responsive to the director.

In the judge's opinion the Chelsea band's strong points were sight reading "generally very good," and balance between winds and brass in the suite was good in the piano and mezzo piano passages.

The judge went on to say tha in the forte spots the brass became "a little hard" but was relatively accurate; however, the best feature, he said, was rhythmic poise and the intonation was reasonably good for reading.

Karl Woodson, Chelsea band director, said the Chelsea group drew, as judges, Harry Begian of Cass Technical High school, Detroit, and Stanley Shoemaker of Jackson Junior College.

Area Teachers Chosen By County MEA Association

Donald Young was named president of the Washtenaw County District of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) at a meeting held Thursday evening at Ann Arbor. Young is a teacher at Chelsea Junior High school.

Another Chelsea teacher, Mrs. King W. Hanna (Anne) who teaches in the elementary schools, was elected secretary and James Hoffmeyer, general science teacher at Chelsea Junior High school, was named to a one-year term as MEA Regional council delegate.

Other officers and delegates named include Leonard England, of Manchester High school, vice-president; and Mrs. Lucille Zemke of Dexter High school, treasurer; and Mrs. Lyle Engle (Lucy) of Dexter, Mrs. Gladys Feldkamp of Manchester and Mrs. Ruth Snell of Whitmore Lake, MEA Regional Co ncil delegates for one-year terms.

Gerhart Lesser and his son Alton returned Thursday after spending since the end of November at Boynton Beach, Fla.

JAYCEES TO INSTALL OFFICERS: Lyle Chriswell, at right, will present his gavel to the new Jaycee president, Ed Akin, when Akin is installed in office at ceremonies to be held Saturday evening at the Hotel Hayes, in Jackson. Chriswell is the outgoing president. Saturday's installation will be held jointly with the Jaycee Auxiliary whose officers are to be named this week.

Bethel Church OK's Building Program

Bethel United Church of Christ in Freedom township voted last Sunday to carry out a plan to provide space for a sunetuary annex, an addition to the dining hall, six class rooms, and a church office.

The new facilities will be housed on two levels, corresponding to the floors in the present stone structure. The main building is now approximately 80 by 40 feet, and the new wing will extend 50 feet westward, with a width of 40 feet. Only one of the church's smaller stained glass windows will need to be moved to make the addition possible. It is hoped that the front part of the new building can be faced with the same cut granite which distinguishes the older structure.

Some of those who voted for the addition were present when the congregation voted to build the present church in 1909. At that time the field stone was brought on horse drawn "stone boats", to be cut on the building site. More than 2,000 loads of stone were used.

Council Briefs

The Rev. Edwin Weiss, administrator of the Methodist Home, gave the opening invocation at the April 21 meeting of the Chelsea Village Council. The meeting was held in the Council Room of the Municipal Building with Village President Howard Haselschwardt presiding.

Residents of the southwest section of the village were present for a discussion of the possibility of constructing basements under the houses.

It was brought out by the Council that in 1955 the Village was forced by the State Health Department to submit a resolution stating that if the Health Department would approve the sewer system as presented, the Village would not allow construction of any basements under the homes in this area.

The Health Department was recently contacted and has issued a statement listing the rules which provide that basements may possibly be allowed under some of the homes in the area.

Further investigation has been directed by President Haselschwardt.

Discussion held with John Rae, an attorney, regarding the request of Alfred and Mary Machnik for annexation to the village of property southwest of the village, formerly known as the Ewald property.

Motion approved to table the annexation request to allow for further investigation.

Authorization voted for an expenditure of $470 for the purchase

Two Seek Re-Election to School Board

Petitions are being circulated to have the names of Robert Foster and Robert K. Taylor placed on the ballot for the June 8 School Board election to succeed themselves.

Foster, who is secretary of the board, is completing a four-year term in office.

Taylor was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation last year of Stuart R. Booker when he left the community to make his home in the South.

To date, petitions have not been requested for any additional candidates. Only two positions are to be filled this year.

Petitions are available at the office of the superintendent of schools or from the School Board secretary, Robert Foster.

Two weeks from Saturday (May 9, 1964) is the final date on which petitions may be filed for the June 8 election. Deadline is 4 p.m. on that date.

Real names must appear on the petitions and petitions for no more than two nominees may be signed by an elector since only two board members are to be elected.

To place a candidate's name on the ballot, petitions filed for him or her must be signed by at least 50 qualified electors of the Chelsea School District.

To qualify as a school elector, eligible to sign candidates' petitions and vote in the coming election, persons must be 21 years of age; a citizen of the United States; a resident of the state for six months; and a resident of the school district for 30 days.

Qualifications of a School Board member are defined by law as follows: "Any qualified voter in a school district whose name appears on the assessment roll and who is the owner in his own right of the property so assessed, shall be eligible to election or appointment to office in such school district: Provided, that where a husband and wife own property jointly, regardless of the name which appears on the assessment roll, if otherwise qualified, each shall be eligible to election or appointment to school office."

Two Chelsea Students Will Tour with Albion College Choir

Charles Cameron, II, a senior at Albion College, and Marilyn Pajot, a junior, who are members of the college choir, will leave with the choir Sunday, April 26, for the annual spring tour, going first to Grand Rapids and Grosse Pointe to give concerts before leaving for the east.

The choir will sing at various points and on Wednesday, April 29, at 9 a.m., will make a special appearance at the 1964 General Conference of the Methodist Church which will be in session at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Members of the choral group will be given an opportunity to visit Washington, D.C.

Cameorn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron and Miss Pajot's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Preifle.

Grass Fires Roar Over Hundreds of Acres Before Showers Come

Chest Board OK's Sullivan School Fund

At the Chelsea Community Chest meeting Wednesday, April 15, the treasurers report showed that sufficient pledges had been paid since the annual fund drive last fall to permit payment of 80 percent of the requested allocations to all member agencies.

On this basis, payments have been made as follows: Chelsea Social Service, $1,600; American Red Cross, $2,733.00; Huron Valley Girl Scouts, $1,400; Michigan United Fund, $1,920; Portage Trails Boy Scout Council, $1,520; Salavation Army, $400; Chelsea Band Instrument Fund, $400.90; Catholic Social Services $160; and Huron Valley Child Guidance Institute, $120.

In addition to these original allocations, an emergency allocation of $300 was approved at Wednesday's meeting for the Sullivan Special Education Center. The school is for retarded children and a report given by a specially - appointed investigative committee with Dr. Michael Papo as chairman, indicated to the satisfaction of Community Chest officials that the school is doing a very necessary job. The adequate care of these children in a continually expanding program has greatly outdistanced the funds in the 1963-64 budgets of its customary sources of support.

These sources include the United Fund, Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, Washtenaw Special Education Monies, Ann Arbor Public School System, and fees and tuition paid by parents.

It was pointed out that the Largest Blaze Started Thursday Near Four Mile Lake Crossing

A substantial rainfall in this area on Tuesday was welcomed by firemen and conservation officials who were plagued with grass and brush fires.

Firemen were called out nine times in the 24 hours beginning at 2:25 p.m. Thursday because of grass fires.

In addition, Chelsea firemen responded at 7:40 p.m. Friday when a foreign made compact car was wrecked on M-52 south of Waldo Rd. The car burst into flames after it was demolished when it went out of control. Owner of the car was listed as Mike Miottel.

Largest and most spectacular fire was one which was reported at 2:55 p.m. Thursday. It had started along the New York Central Railroad tracks on Dexter-Chelsea Rd. and burned over approximately 800 acres, including grass, brush, trees and utility poles before it was brought under control.

Billowing clouds of smoke from the fire were visible for miles and brought many volunteers whose help in fighting the blaze was invaluable, according to Chelsea's fire chief, James Gaken. He said area farmers brought tractors and plowed fire breaks under the direction of firemen and conservation personnel and other volunteers worked beside firemen until the blaze was finally brought under control.

The efforts of the firefighters were co-ordinated by radio from a Conservation Department four-wheel-drive truck in the woods which was in radio contact with a spotter airplane continually circling over the area.

At one time during the afternoon the fire jumped across Beach Rd. while fire trucks were pumping water onto the blaze.

The burned area extended north and east as far as Island Lake Rd.

Fire Chief Gaken said that in addition to Chelsea's trucks, equipment on hand during the fire included that of the Dexter Fire Department, Pittsfield Tonwship Fire Department and the Conservation Department.

Firemen were called back to the area shortly after noon Friday when fire flared up from logs smouldering from the day before. Fanned by high winds the fire spread quickly across the Joseph Zabinsky farm, 10875 Beach Rd. An old unoccupied house burned down and the roof of a barn caught fire but firemen succeeded in saving the barn and all other buildings in the danger area.

Chrysler Proving Ground sent its fire truck to assist in fighting the fire and remained on the scene with the Chelsea trucks until 6:30 p.m.

High winds both Thursday and Friday were a factor in the rapid spread of fire in the tinder-dry grass.

At 3 p.m. Thursday, while firemen were busily fighting the blaze east of Chelsea, another big blaze got started along the railroad track behind the houses on West Middle St. This blaze rapidly spread from the Chelsea Manufacturing plant property north to Sibley Rd. and for a time threatened to spread across Sibley Rd. Consumers Power Co. poles were burned, causing power failure at Chelsea Milling Co., Chelsea Products, Rockwell-Standard Corp. and the Chelsea Standard from 5 p.m. until midnight.

A shack near the railroad and an old slaughter house north of the track were burned and a number of trees were destroyed.

Thursday at 3:04 p.m. fire broke out along the railroad track from the Methodist Home west to the Garvey Rd. crossing.

Chelsea firemen had the use of the Chrysler truck all afternoon and until 8 p.m.

At 8:05 p.m., still on Thursday, Chelsea firemen responded when grass on the north side of Cavanaugh Lake Rd. began to burn and at 9:30 p.m. they were called again when utility poles along the railroad track were afire.

In addition to the several fire departments and the many volunteers who assisted in fighting the big fire Thursday afternoon, two large crews of firefighters were recruited from among the prisoners at the state's Camp Waterloo.

Safety Patrol Groups Attend Tiger Game

Eighty Chelsea safety patrol boys and girls, accompanied by eight adults, were guests of the Detroit Tigers at Friday's baseball game with the Los Angeles Angels at Briggs Stadium. The Detroit ball game is an annual treat for the Chelsea boys and girls who act as safety patrol members throughout the school year.

Although it was a disappointment to have the Tigers lose the game the youngsters enjoyed the occasion; it is something they always look forward to as a highlight of the year.

Girls in the group are those who are on safety patrol duty in the school's halls; boys served at outdoor positions at crosswalks, etc.

Adults who accompanied the group included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parsons, the Rev. James Craig, the Rev. P. H. Grabowski, Robert Benedict, Mrs. Charles Powers, Mrs. Donald Robbins and the elementary school principal, Arthur Schmunk.

Mrs. Rose Tuttle left Monday for Riviera Beach near Palm Beach, Fla., where she plans to make her home.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

When I announced a few weeks ago that Michigan would have a surplus of more than $60 million on June 30, one of our veteran capitol reporters commented:

"I've been waiting 10 years to write this story."

There can be no question that it is a big story.

How was a deficit of $86 million transormed into such a surplus in the short space of two years?

There are many partial answers —tight legislative control over state government, new taxes enacted two years ago, lower welfare costs, higher yield from long-standing taxes because of better over-all economic conditions.

But in brief, and most important, it is simply this: State government spending less money than it has available to spend. We made elimination of the deficit and return to pay-as-you-grow government our number one goal. But in restoring fiscal responsibility and public confidence in state government, we have not neglected the needs of our citizens. While we have been wiping out the deficit and building a surplus against the day that we will need some cash on hand, we have been making this type of progress:

—More money for education than ever before in Michigan history, including an unprecedented single year increase for higher education of 20 percent in operating funds, plus more help for elementary and secondary education.

—A state-wide scholarship program for deserving college students who need financial help, plus an expanded student loan program.

—An expanded community help program in mental health. More buildings and more specialized treatment for the mentally retarded and mentally ill.

—Help for young boys and girls in trouble unprecedented in the nation. We established youth-camps and expanded detention facilities, proposed a series of half-way houses to help juveniles in trouble readjust more quickly and more adequately to their society.

—More meaningful help for senior citizens, including a program to make 100,000 more of our older citizens eligible for medical and hospital assistance.

—Higher welfare payments and participation in new and expanded programs. We removed favoritism from our unemployment compensation program, strengthened this fund financially, raised unemployment benefits.

—We accelerated the construction program. Today, a massive building program is underway for education, mental health and other necessary functions, worth $200 million from drawing board to ribbon cutting.

A spending program? Of course it is. But the important thing is that we are spending less than we have available to spend.

In the sixties, we are making up for some of the things that weren't done in the fifties when Michigan government stood still and yet ran up a $110 million deficit and a payless payday.

While government is designed to serve the people, it cannot support them.

THE LONG SUNDAY AFTERNOON RIDE

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

$1 Million A Day

A 50 percent increase in fatal traffic accidents during the first three months of the year provides a tragic forecast for the year's end total. Michigan people now pay $1 million per day and 2,000 lives per year in accident tolls!

January is traditionally one of the worst months of the year for highway fatalities, but so are the three summer months and the final month or two of the year.

Thus, this year's high rate through both February and March, when traffic is traditionally lighter than most months, brings the call for a never-ending alertness on the part of every driver.

Weakened by amendment, Gov. George Romney's attempt to get a tighter grip on the drinking driver—be one way to cut down the highway slaughter, which used to be primarily a week-end occurence but now rises daily.

Another effective deterrent could be more stringent enforcement of all traffic laws. Motor vehicle inspection might help too, keeping cars in passable condition.

But it cannot be emphasized enough that the individual must be a willing participant in any traffic safety campaign.

Awareness of the dangers on the city streets, rural roads and interstate freeways must serve as a constant reminder that "stop" signs mean just that, and "yield" designations call for extreme caution.

The continually rising death toll points up the fact very vividly, however, that "right-of-way" is not always what it is meant to be.

A driver on a through street must be just as careful at intersections in case the hopm rettorist is not aware of the weapon wheelg.

TV Classrooms

Learning by television has been in the experimental stage in the Midwest since 1959. It will soon face the test of permanency. Some of the original supporters believe it cannot meet that test.

Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction, Inc., also known as MPATI, has been transmitting courses to Michigan students from two airplanes flying over Montpelier, Ind. It has been financed largely by Ford Foundation grants and operated under direction of Purdue University.

With foundation funds scheduled to be cut off in two years, the school subscriber-members to the program are seeking to determine its future.

School officials like Livonia Superintendent, Benton Yates, head of a charter MPATI member unit, are disenchanted with the program and are working through the Federal Communications Commission in an attempt to avert broadening the MPATI effort to a national network.

MPATI officials have filed for the use of six permanent television channels on the ultra high frequency range. Soon all television sets will be equipped with this range and FCC allocations of the bands are scarce.

Yates and other opponents of the MPATI allocation request see the prospect of a nation-wide airborne project as the possibility for many planes flying from coast to coast spewing out one set of "Big Brother" lessons to every student in American schools.

Local control of education is a dearly held tradition in each of the United States, and Michigan is no exception.

"With videotapes produced by a single organization and transmitted across the land, there is serious danger that we will evolve a single curriculum for the country," said Yates.

This, he comments, "would be stifling and it denies the fact that there are people with diverse needs, capabilities and interests for whom one curriculum would not work as well or be as satisfying as would another."

In addition to the "Big Brother" aspect of the projected nation-wide airborne classroom instruction, the FCC itself has noted a possible defect in the MPATI the past five years has included some interference to adjacent channels in the Midwest.

FCC officials say nine Michigan UHF channels would be rendered imperfect or unusable if the MPATI request was approved. The reception damage would be caused, the FCC said, to Benton Harbor's channel 72, channels 74 and 80 in Kalamazoo, 78 in Muskegon, 83 in Jackson, both 58 and 64 in Battle Creek, 60 in Lansing and 66 in Ann Arbor.

DOUBLE CRASH

Lafayette, Colo. — Dwight and David Peterson, identical twins, had identical wrecks while driving their cars behind each other. Dwight swerved off the road into a ditch and David, driving close behind, followed suit. David told police that he froze at the wheel and could not prevent following his brother.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading in the papers here a while back where a fellow named H. L. Taylor that is in the Kentucky legislature put a bill in the hopper to make all doctors write their prescriptions in plain English sos the patient would know what he was gitting and what he was taking.

I don't know how he come out with his bill but it wouldn't do no good. Man and boy, I ain't never saw a doctor's prescription that could be deciphered by a computing machine. I remember back during the war gitting a prescription from my doctor and taking it by the country store afore I had it filled. Some of the fellers figgered it was wrote in English, some said it was in Greek, some claimed it was Latin, and Clem Webster, that finished the 8th grade and is our outstanding scholar, allowed as how it was in all three tongues.

And you probably recollect about the feller that went to his doctor fer a checkup and the doctor give him a prescription. He put it in his card-case and fergot to have it filled.

Ever morning fer two year he showed it to the driver fer a bus pass to work. Twict it got him in the picture show, onct in the baseball park, and onct in to a high school football game. He got a raise at the factory where he was working by showing it as a note from the boss to the feller that kept the books. One day he fergot and left it on the mantle piece at home and his daughter picked it up and played it on the piano and won a scholarship with it to some music college.

They ain't nobody, Mister Editor, but a druggist that can read a doctor's prescription, no matter what language it is wrote in, and that feller was trying to do the un-do-able with his bill in the legislature.

And speaking of the un-do-able, the fellers at the country store Saturday night was gitting discouraged about ever having peace in the world in our times. People everywhere is having revolutions, uprisings, and little wars. It looks like the human race can't git along without fighting. Fer instant, Ed Doolittle said he had saw a piece in the papers where a war veteran died a couple months ago and the Government sent his tombstone. His kinfolks got in a conference over the proper way to erect it. Some wanted to put it on a cement base and some wanted to set it up as is. They got to throwing rocks and somebody pulled a knife and several of the kinfolks was now in the hospital. The Judge fined 'em fer disturbing the peace and suggested they set the stone up as is, but the kinfolks allowed as how they would have to hold another conference on the matter. See what I mean, Mister Editor?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet makes roads feel as smooth as the maps they're printed on

Run your finger over a map and find yourself a place to go. That's a preview of how it feels to get there in a Chevrolet.

We've put what we think is the best suspension system in its class under this great highway performer. A big husky coil spring at each wheel and double-action shock absorbers to soak up bumps. Over 700 sound deadeners throughout the chassis and that spacious Body by Fisher to blot out noise from road and wind.

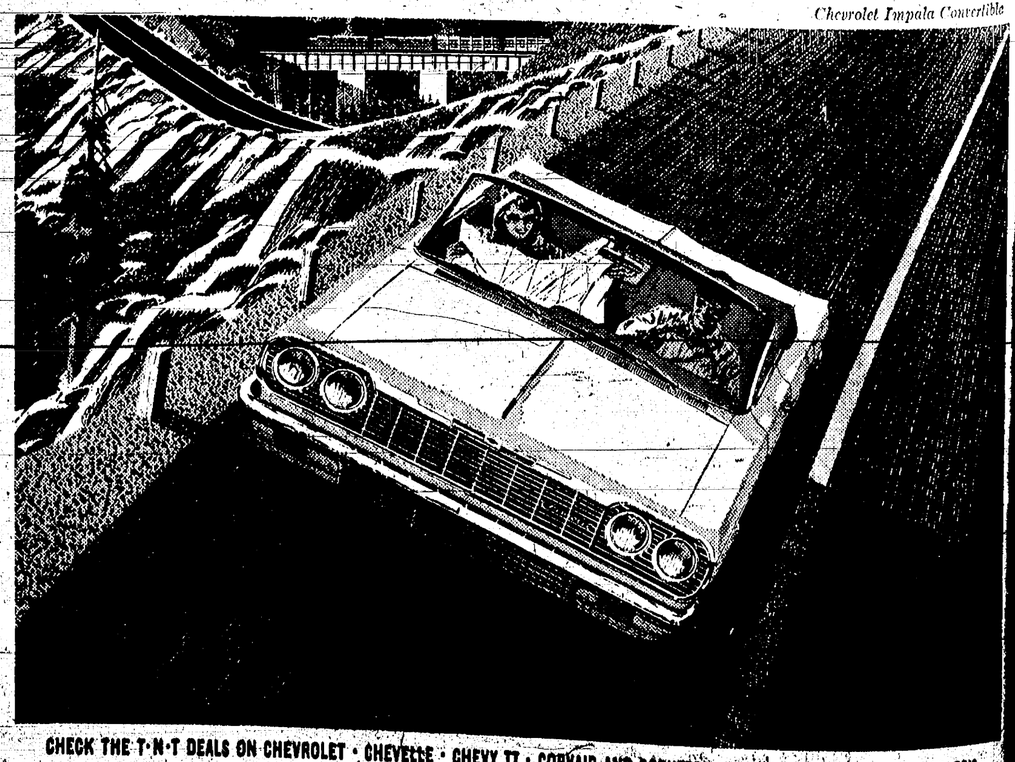

There's a lot of other Jet-smooth luxury, too. Wide seats with foam-cushioning front and rear. Luxurious wall-to-wall deep-twist carpeting (this year it comes with even the lowest priced Biscaynes). A choice of seven great engines, all precision-balanced for smoother running, with four smooth-shifting transmissions to match. Everything that makes Chevrolet the great highway performer it is.

So get out those road maps. And wherever you go, get off to a good start—during Trade 'N' Travel Time at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Improper Garbage Disposal Will Create Health Hazard

The melting of winter snow and advent of spring has started seasonal deluge of complaints telephone calls to the Washtenaw County Health Department ding piles of garbage and that have remained somehidden all winter.

accumulations of refuse in open or in unprotected containers, ides shelter and food for rats, ith summer and winter. In weather they also will be ding places and sources of for flies and other vermin ll. Piles or open containers fuse are a menace to the of a neighborhood as well nuisance because of their un- dor, unsightliness, and a fire hazard.

per storage of refuse is ex- y important in preventing eliminating rodents and flies. ge and trash should be in metal containers with fitting covers. Enough con- rs are needed so that they l overflow and prevent the from fitting properly. Cans be washed periodically with ater and detergent after ing.

is best to keep the refuse ers on platforms 12 inches above the ground. Oil drums ot suitable containers for ge or trash unless they have covers. Openings at the or top of the oil drums per- ats and flies to enter the and feed upon the food found ans and bottles.

the rural and suburban areas shtenaw county where reg- unicipal collection of gar- and refuse is not provided, l approved methods of dis- may be used. It is recom- d that the householder con- a reliable collection contract- remove the garbage and at regular intervals in the of the county where this is available. But, if this possible, and the house- elects to transport the himself, it should be taken properly operated sanitary fill. Dumping refuse along oadside is a practice that never be used.

kage grinding units in the are a convenience, but they d be used only if a septic system is large enough to the extra load of solid- s. The disposal of rubbish s a problem even when gar- is ground.

kage and rubbish may be d in a gas or electric incinerator which produces a high enough temperature for complete combustion. Open metal containers, sometimes used for burning garbage and trash, create a fire hazard and since the garbage never completely burns, they always smell bad and attract rats.

Where no collection service is available, garbage may be satisfactorily buried on one's own property for a time. A trench or hole should be dug about four feet deep and two feet wide. The garbage may be placed at one end of the trench, along with cans, bottles, and other refuse which is tamped or flattened with a post. Each layer of refuse and garbage may then be covered with six inches of earth after it is deposited. When the level is within 18 inches of the ground surface, the entire pit may be completely filled with earth.

Another important step in the elimination of rodents and flies is to clean up litter on your premises. This is a good time to do the things that have been put off all winter — clean up littered garages and sheds, dispose of materials and old furniture, and rake up dead branches and leaves.

Because the solution to garbage and trash disposal varies with each situation, you may wish to contact the Washtenaw County Health Department, Sanitation Office for additional help.

Growing Back Yard Walnuts

Michigan landowners can make a profitable move this spring by planting some Carpathian (English-type) walnut trees in their back yards. Trees that produce these thin-shelled walnuts can be grown throughout southern Michigan, and may be planted on a trial basis in the northern part of the state. They have few diseases, can withstand extreme cold, and yield delicious nuts in a relatively short time after being planted. Once in production, two of these trees can provide your family with a winter's supply of walnuts, and also form a supplemental source of food for wildlife. A full orchard may also bring some extra income. Young trees are available from members of the Michigan Nut Growers Association. Lists of these people may be obtained from Lee Somers, MNGA Secretary, Route 1, Perrinton, Michigan.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation

English Walnut Trees May Provide Interesting Hobby

For fun and for profit, you might do yourself a stroke of good business by planting a few English walnut trees in your back yard this spring, the Conservation Department suggests.

The trees in mind are not ones that produce hard-shelled black walnuts, but the Carpathian kind which produce thin-shelled nuts such as you buy at the grocery.

These trees can be grown throughout southern Michigan, and may be planted on a trial basis in the northern part of the state. They have few diseases, can withstand extreme cold, and yield delicious nuts in a relatively short time after being planted.

Once in production, two of these trees can provide your family with a winter's supply of walnuts. They will also form a supplemental source of wildlife food, a sure-fire attraction for squirrels.

Landowners with a few extra acres might consider planting a full orchard of these trees to earn themselves some additional income. This Michigan variety of nuts sells for $1 to $1.20 per pound.

Trees bearing Carpathian walnuts will start to produce within five to 10 years after planting. Like most plants, they respond most readily to good soil, but also will do well in soil of average fertility. The soil should be slightly sour and fairly well drained.

Young trees are available from several nurseries in the state, and from various members of the Michigan Nut Growers Association. Lists of MNGA members may be obtained from their secretary, Lee Somers of Route 1, Perrington.

When you send for seedlings, be sure they are grown from true Carpathian stock. In addition to be able to take Michigan's extremes of climate, these trees have several other good points.

Little troubled by pests and steady nut-producers from one year to the next, they are valuable for the generous amount of shade they give. Come autumn, their large leaves turn a marvelous yellow and gold.

And if you are lucky enough to outlive one of these trees, the wood produced from the trunk and main limbs is highly valuable and used for fine panelling, gun stocks, and other ornamental purposes. The stumps of such trees produce especially interesting "burled" effects and are eagerly sought by cabinet-makers.

If you already have a black walnut tree growing on your property, this may be used to start production of Carpathian walnuts through grafting or "topworking."

In this process, the top part of the desired plant is grafted on the root portion of the native or wild variety of the same plant. This plant will then produce the fruit or nuts of the top part. Thus, you may graft the buds or twigs of a thin-shelled Carpathian walnut to already-rooted black walnuts and these new tops will produce Carpathian walnuts.

Grafting is generally done in the spring, and top-working Carpathians onto black walnuts has its best chance for success if carried out when black walnut leaves are half-grown, usually May 15-30 in southern Michigan.

The Conservation Department has been top-working many trees throughout southern Michigan state game areas, hoping to broaden the availability of good nut-tree stock — both as a source of prime food for wildlife and for people who wish to collect nuts in the fall.

The Department also has developed a seed-source "orchard" of nut trees at its Rose Lake wildlife station near East Lansing. These trees will be top-worked to strains believed best for producing seedlings. Eventually, nuts from the orchard will be grown in Department nurseries on a production basis to provide improved seedlings for wildlife habitat development work and for reforestation purposes.

Robert Eder Accepts Position with Ag Dept.

Robert (Bob) Eder, formerly of Chelsea, who graduated from Michigan State University in March, receiving a bachelor of science degree, has accepted a position with the U. S. Department of Agriculture as an agricultural statistician. He has been assigned to work at Trenton, N. J., and will begin his duties there Monday, April 27.

His wife, Pat, and their son, Jerry, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bradbury. She and the baby will join him as soon as he has found living quarters for them.

Eder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eder.

Rose Queen Application Date Extended

Date for receiving applications for Queen of the Jackson Rose Festival has been extended to April 25, Mrs. Aycel Bunce, chairman of the Queen Pageant, has announced.

Applications have been received in approximate same numbers as in the past, however, a heavy rush of applicants as the deadline approached, promoted action by the pageant committee to extend the date for receiving applications.

Mrs. Bunce stated, "We want every eligible girl in Jackson county to be aware of the Rose Festival Pageant and the opportunity to participate in this annual community event. It is an honor which any girl would be proud, to be selected as a queen candidate and have the opportunity to take part in the pageant and the festival. We hope that by extending the date for accepting applications everyone who is interested will have ample time to get their application in.

Candidates must be between the ages of 18 and 25, single, and a resident of Jackson county. Candidates will be judged on their talent, such as vocal, dancing, musical, dramatic, etc. The pageant committee team of judges will also give consideration for personality, poise, intellectual, and visible beauty.

The successful candidate for queen will be crowned at the Rose Festival pageant to be held at the Parkside High School auditorium on June 13 as part of the Rose Festival week events. She will then appear with her court on Sunday, June 14, on the Queens float in the Rose Parade. The Queen will reign over festival events and activities at Ella Sharp Park as the week-long activities conclude the 1964 festival event.

Preliminary screening of applicants will be held in early May at the Moose lodge.

Applications may be obtained by writing to Ward Institute of Arts, 3310 Spring Arbor Rd., Jackson, or may be picked up at Rose Festival headquarters located at 145 S. Jackson St., Jackson. Further information may be obtained from either of the above.

The Jackson Rose Festival is sponsored by the Jackson Rose & Garden Society, Charles Ramsdell, president. The festival is under the direction of the Rose Festival Committee, L. J. Hilliker, executive director.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. Namara said that the United tes would pay nearly a million llars a week to help support a gram under which South Viet- would add up to 50,000 men its armed forces. This aid uld be in addition to the pres- aid bill of $500 million a year.

Be Courteous

Lansing — Courtesy on the road is not merely a nice gesture to others—it is often a matter of life and death.

Dimming your headlights for other cars at night is not only courteous, it could be the difference between having an accident or not.

Yielding the right of way to other cars and pedestrians saves many lives, too.

The Michigan State Highway Department urges all of us to make courtesy our code of the road.

1964-65 budget for Sullivan school will be supplemented by state funds which will become available because of recent changes in legislation.

Although the Sullivan school was not a member agency of the Chelsea Community Chest and has not in the past received any funds from it, the Community Chest board of directors voted unanimously to approve the $300 allocation since several Chelsea children attend the school and the school's program is considered worthy of assistance.

Freeways Save Money, Time for Trucking Firms

Grand Rapids — The president of one of the nation's largest trucking companies says Michigan's 1,100-mile freeway network saves his firm "thousands of dollars annually."

Lawrence Rahilly, president of Interstate System, said the freeways enable his firm to get maximum utilization of manpower and equipment, greater economy and speed of operation, and a reduction in accident exposure.

His firm's trucks travel more than 120 million miles a year in the 26 states in which it operates.

"Our average miles per hour in Michigan has increased about 60 percent because of the state's freeway system," said Rahilly.

"Before the freeways were built, our trucks averaged 33 miles per hour in night travel. That has now been boosted to 50 miles an hour.

"Not only has our productivity risen, but our customer relations have improved because of the better service we can now give them.

Expect To Find High Prices At New York World's Fair

More than 400,000 Michiganians will be among the 35 million tourists who flock to the New York World's Fair this summer, predicts Jerry E. Fisher, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager.

This is the largest number of Michiganians ever to attend any single attraction in history.

New York's biggest show of all time opens April 22, signaling the influx of tourists which will continue through Oct. 18.

The location is the original site of the 1939-40 World's Fair at Flushing Meadows, Queens, in the center of metropolitan New York. It's nine miles east of Times Square, opposite Manhattan, six miles from John F. Kennedy International Airport (formerly Idlewild) and two miles from LaGuardia Airport.

The Fair's bigness literally staggers the imagination. It is as large as your first county fair midway looked to you but wasn't.

Imagine a grassy, tree-shaded, fountain-splashed area 17 football fields long and 17 wide. Suddenly it is filled so no corner looks empty, with buildings varying in shape from a huge eggshell and a rectangular box to a graceful Oriental temple.

The Fair will provide a peek into future industrial and scientific miracles in everything from your home kitchen to space ship travel. It'll sell products and brag of U.S. accomplishments, offer fun and religion, food and fantasy, entertainment and education—all in liberal doses. In short, it'll sell the image of progress.

A visitor will be able to do everything from whizzing overhead on a monorail, looking down on the Fair, to scooting along on the ground in a private golf-cart-like vehicle. (Made in Michigan by Battle Creek's Clark Equipment Co.) One can eat a full 10-course meal for $15 or make do on a hot dog or hamburg. There are 113 restaurants, ranging from snack bars to the fanciest of eateries. Featured is everything from Hongkongburger (hamburger and noodles) served from a motorized rickshaw to a three-hour luau at the Hawaiian pavilion.

What'll it cost to see the Fair?

"The average tourist can expect to spend at least $20 to $22 a day," says Fisher. This doesn't include transportation. AAA estimates the average family of four, two adults and two children, using an automobile for transportation, can expect to spend approximately $350 for three days at the Fair. This includes expenses both ways. Those who want to do sightseeing around New York City can expect this to cost around $25 a day.

From Detroit, the distance to New York is 673 miles by the Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpikes, and by the Windsor-Buffalo-Albany route, 740 miles.

Driving time from Detroit via the United States is some 13 hours. By the Canadian route it's at least 15 hours.

Once in New York City, sleeping accommodations become the biggest daily expense. The average motel costs $18 to $24 daily for two persons, a hotel $14 to $34 for two.

Plan to spend at least another $3.50 to $4.50 daily for parking unless the motel offers this free. Fisher advises. At the Fair grounds, parking will cost another $1.50 a day.

"Motel and hotel accomodations should be made at least two months in advance," says Fisher. "And don't forget to make reservations along the route, both going and returning."

The Auto Club needs two weeks to make New York reservations, according to Fisher, adding that the prospective visitor should be ready to forward one to three nights lodging costs in advance to confirm reservations.

Where to stay in New York depends largely upon how the visitor gets there—by car, rail or air.

For those going by automobile, accommodations in midtown Manhattan, Flushing or Brooklyn are recommended. Those who want to see the sights of New York City in addition to the Fair should strongly consider Manhattan's advantages while LaGuardia or Kennedy air terminal accomodations are convenient for those who go by air.

Food is the second most expensive daily item. A light breakfast or lunch costs only 25 cents—if you like doughnuts and coffee. It jumps to $1.50 if you're partial to ham and eggs. Automatic lunches are available under $1. Just to be practical, however, put down $1.50 to $2 for lunch.

Dinner, as everywhere, is the most expensive meal. If you want to eat in one of New York's or the Fair's better restaurants, it will cost at least $10 a person. Other places a complete steak dinner costs only $1.19. But for an average dinner, figure around $2.50.

The day's expenses also should include transportation in and around New York City and admission to the Fair grounds.

From Manhattan the bus fare is $1 and the IRT subway 15 cents. From Brooklyn, the subway is 20 cents. Both LaGuardia and Kennedy airports will have limousine service for 50 and 80 cents respectively. These are one-way fares, one person.

The Flushing area is within walking distance of the Fair.

Upon arrival at the entrance, the gate fee is $2 for adults and $1 for children to age 13. Unless, of course, you've purchased admission tickets in advance of the opening at a discount.

Money spent at the Fair is expected to average $7.20 for each adult and $5.45 for children, AAA figures. This includes food, admission and 30 cents subway fare.

It all adds up—New York City will be a much-visited place this year between April 22 and Oct. 18. And there's an encore in store next year, from April 21 through Oct. 17.

"TOM JONES"

Selecting an Eighteenth Century novel, Tony Richardson, director, gives "Tom Jones" Twentieth Century treatment. It is an exciting film, not only for its superb acting but its extravagance of color and photography.

The story is about "Tom Jones," an infant left in the bed of a country squire. After much ado, the squire decides to keep the baby and raise him as his son.

Albert Finney, playing the part of Tom Jones, becomes a rowdy, roughneck who roams over the countryside, having himself a ball with the daughters of the "hired hands." When he tires of this, he is off to London for more excitment.

Besides Finney and Miss York, Hugh Griffith, Edith Evans, Joan Greenwood and Dianne Cilento are due much credit for making this movie different from the usual fare.

Detroit Freeways Prove Safer Than Surface Streets

Lansing — Detroit's Ford and Lodge Freeways were nearly three times safer during 1963 than six major surface streets.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said a study showed there were 1,335 accidents per 100 million miles driven on the six major arterial streets, compared to 395 accidents per 100 million miles on the Ford and Lodge freeways.

Thats a ratio of 3.4 accidents on major arterial streets for every one accident on the two freeways.

Mackie said the report, showed the ratio of injury accidents on the arterial streets was 2.7 for every one injury accident on the freeways and there were nearly three fatal accidents on the arterial streets for every one on the freeways.

The six radial streets included Grand River, Gratiot, East Jefferson, West Fort, Woodward and Michigan.

Ann Arbor Symphony Will Present Year's Fourth Free Concert Sunday

Described as a "double feature" event, the fourth concert of the season by the Ann Arbor Symphony is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, April 26. The concert will be highlighted by the first playing of a contemporary work and will also feature the presentation of the Ann Arbor Dance Theatre in two original modern dance works choreographed especially for this concert.

Chelsea area persons will be interested to learn that two Chelsea people are regular members of the Symphony and will be playing in Sunday's concert. They are David Sanborn, bass, and Mrs. James Hoffmeyer (Carolee), second violin.

Emil Holz, the Symphony's regular director this season, will conduct the Sunday concert.

The concert is open to the public without charge. It will begin at 4 p.m. and takes place in the Ann Arbor High school auditorium on West Stadium Blvd.

The Dance Theatre, Ann Arbor's newest community-based performing arts group, is made up of 25 adult dancers. It was organized last fall and gave its debut concert Jan. 18. Like the Symphony, it is financed by private subscriptions but is sponsored by the Ann Arbor Recreation Department.

The music work to be performed for the first time in Ann Arbor is the Concert No. for Orchestra (the "Arevakal" by contemporary American composer Alan Hovhaness.) To this 30-minute work the Dance Theatre will perform a novel dance drama with a cast of more than 20 men and women dancers, choreographed by Elizabeth Weil, artistic director of the Dance Theatre who is also instructor in dance at the University of Michigan. The second new work is to the music of J. S. Bach's "Little" Fugue in G minor, choreographed by Gay Delanghe, a U-M dance graduate and currently dance teacher.

Amazing how little it costs to put a roof over your head

Amazing? Most people are downright flabbergasted the first time they check out a new compact Dart convert. Pop goes the top. But the price just sits there low and easy to take.
It's even more amazing when you consider all that makes a Dart a Dart. Room, for instance. Size it up with knees, head, elbows, or luggage. You'll find large economy-size room—as much stretch-out and load space as in many standard-size cars. And there's large economy-size power to go with it . . . from a 170 cu. in. standard Six to an optional gung-ho 273 V8.
Amazing? You bet. It's what happens when a quality car maker builds a compact bigger and quicker and then tops it off with such good looks.

FEW HEAR RIGHTS DEBATE

Spectators came and went, but there was seldom more than a half filled gallery as the Senate's civil rights debate progressed. The Senate floor itself, seldom had more than a half dozen of the 100 members at any time listening to the long and often legalistic speeches.

GONE FISHING 'STEAD OF WISHING—In a flash back to last season, two happy trout fishermen take time out to compare their day's winnings, a nice-sized catch of rainbows. It's times like this they've been hankering for all winter long. And come April 25, they'll be able to get back to their fishing instead of just wishing. For this is the opener of another thrill-filled regular trout season in Michigan. It's a mighty big target date for other anglers, too. Except for black bass, all fish become legal hook and line catches April 25 throughout the state's inland waters.

Campground Directory Now Available To Help Plan Summer Trips

Already starting to plan your camping trips in Michigan this year?

You'll find a folder full of help in the 1964 Michigan Campground Directory which can be obtained free from the Conservation Department's Publications Room in Lansing.

The updated where-to-go guide again comes in the handy pocket-sized form, listing some 300 campgrounds with more than 12,000 sites at state parks, state forests, national forests, county and local parks.

Each listing gives directions to the campground, the number of sites available, and a brief note on recreational features, including sightseeing highlights. The directory also provides a thumbnail sketch of camping facilities and answers questions about fees, time limits, pets, and other rules governing the use of these public lands.

More students live on the Michigan State University campus than on any other campus in the nation.

Plans are being worked out with the Bridgewater Lumber Co. The addition, without educational furnishings, will cost about $49,000. Work is expected to begin by early fall.

Theodore Parker of Lima Center Rd., is chairman of the building committee. A canvass of the membership conducted recently brought in pledges of nearly $35,000 and the congregation has $11,000 in the savings fund for building purposes.

The Rev. T. W. Menzel has been pastor of Bethel church since 1948.

U.S. AND S. VIETNAM

The United States appears to have acknowledged that South Vietnam needs a single strong leader.

During his recent visit, Secretary of Defense McNamara made a point of demonstrating support for Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh. This was the wishes of President Johnson.

Significantly, Khanh accepts United States advice - something the patrician Diem often refused to do.

Curt Will Chosen Board Chairman By Supervisors

Curt H. Will of Ann Arbor was unanimously elected chairman of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors at the April meeting Tuesday, April 14. He is an appointed city supervisor and former Ann Arbor city assessor.

He was Ann Arbor city assessor from May, 1950, until July, 1959, and served for the next three years of that period on the Board of Supervisors by virtue of his office. He was reappointed to the board as an at-large supervisor in April, 1960, and has served continuously since then.

Supervisor Russell Hughes of Bridgewater township was elected vice-chairman. Hughes, of near Manchester, is in his eighth year as a member of the Board of Supervisors.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

Defense Spending Cut Coming . . .

Nothing is certain in the world political and international affairs, but the odds seem to favor a gradual downtrend in federal defense spending. The Administration's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 calls for a cut of more than $1 billion in defense expenditures. Some analysts foresee further cuts of up to $5 billion over the next five years.

The prospect of a reduction in defense spending raises a number of questions. The one which will be discussed here is its impact on the total federal budget and, through it, on the tax burden.

It is probable that the bulk of our citizens would elect to use any reduction in the defense budget as the basis of further tax reduction. It is clear, however, that a vocal and persistent group will regard the reduction in the defense burden as an opportunity to initiate or expand government programs in non-defense areas. They will base their pleas on an alleged need for roads, schools, parks, and welfare programs; on ill-effects that they can foresee for the economy if government spending is reduced; and on the need to offset structural dislocations that will accompany a reduction in defense spending.

The most likely course of events is that the issue will never be crystallized and debated in clear-cut terms. There is always a collection of new spending proposals "waiting in the wings." Fiscal limitations may discourage their enactment at present, but they could quietly move on to the stage as shrinking defense expenditures make room for them. If this should happen, the result will be that, while defense expenditures are falling, total government spending will either remain constant or continue to increase, without the nation ever having made an explicit decision in favor of this course.

Whether or not the problem is posed directly, however, it is certain to underly many discussions of our future economic growth. The nation can bear whatever burden is necessary to finance defense or other essential expenditures for a limited period. Nevertheless, in the long run our economic growth and further increases in our living standards will depend on the technological development, investment, and profit incentives that are needed to expand the private economy.

It seems clear, than, that an effort to shift the benefits of any reduction in defense expenditures to an expansion of non-defense projects is fundamentally self-defeating. Temporary gains for particular areas and individuals will be made only at the expense of the country's long-range growth. A better solution is to reduce our present tax rates, cut total government spending, and rely on the states and local communities to provide necessary community public services.

A further substantial tax reduction in this decade could do much more for the American economy than any alternative use of the funds released by declines in defense spending.

SENATOR RUSSELL'S BILL

Senator Russell (D., Ga.) proposed a $1,500,000,000 program to try to equalize distribution of Negroes throughout the United States. At present, the percentage of Negro population runs from 42 percent in Mississippi to one-tenth of 1 percent in Vermont and North Dakota.

Baseball Team Compiles 2-1 Won-Lost Record for Week

In the first league game of the season, Chelsea lost the baseball game to Pinckney, Tuesday, April 14. The score was 9-6, each team tallying seven hits and five errors.

Paul Boham pitched the first 4⅓ innings and was relieved by Gary Dresch who finished the game with Oren Wireman catching.

Jim Barker went all the way for Pinckney with Henry at catcher's position.

Pinckney came up with five runs in the second inning to go ahead, 5-1; but Chelsea came back to forge ahead, 6-5, in the fourth. Pinckney got the lead again in the fifth, 7-6, and then added two more in the seventh to win, 9-6.

Gary Dresch had three hits for Chelsea, including a triple, and Gordon Beeman, Gary White, Oren Wireman and Phil Boham added singles.

Thursday, April 16, Chelsea evened their league record, 1-1, as they defeated Saline, at Saline, by a score of 7-4. Gary Dresch was the winning pitcher, going all the way, with Oren Wireman catching.

Doug Robinett started for Saline but was lifted in the first inning after Chelsea scored two runs. Ellison finished as losing pitcher for Saline and Hal Cerensky was Salines catcher.

The big blow for Chelsea came in the fourth inning with the score tied at 3-3. Gary White unleashed a long bases loaded homer to insure a victory. White also had a double, driving in six of the seven runs, and Jack Crawford, Oren Wireman, Phil Boham, Dennis Stoffer, Barry Visel and Duane Schroen each added a single.

Chelsea had 7 hits and 3 errors while Saline had 3 hits and 2 errors in Thursday's game.

In a game that sounded more like a football score and one that the wind-had-a-lot-to-do-with-Chelsea pounded out a 25-8 victory over Stockbridge on Friday, Bill Harvey, a freshman, went the first five innings and picked up the win, with Phil Boham pitching the sixth and seventh. Oren Wireman again caught.

For Stockbridge Tom Zick started but was relieved by Curt Chillison in the first as Chelsea picked up 11 runs. Bob Adams did the catching.

The game featured five home runs, three of them with the bases loaded. Gary Dresch had a grand slam in the first and Barry Visel in the fifth with the bases loaded. Bob Adams hit a grand slam for Stockbridge in the fifth. Jock Crawford also homered for Chelsea and Bob Adams hit another for Stockbridge in the first.

Dresch had four hits for Chelsea, while Gordon Beeman, Gary White and Oren Wireman each had three.

At the end of the second week Chelsea's record stands at 2 wins, 1 loss, and this week's schedule has two conference games both at home—Dexter on Tuesday, April 21, and Manchester, Thursday April 23 (today.)

In Friday's game Chelsea chalked up 23 hits and two errors while Saline tallied eight hits and seven errors.

Swainson Addresses Washtenaw Democrats At April Meeting

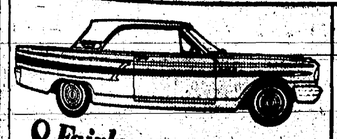

Former Governor John D. Swainson was the principal speaker at the regular April meeting of the Washtenaw County Democratic Committee Wednesday evening in the Ypsilanti Township Hall. Swainson, who withdrew from the 1964 gubernatorial contest because of health, will speak on the "Victory Formula for 1964." He is expected to take over Neil Staebler's post as Democratic National Committeeman to give Staebler more time for his campaign for Governor. President Johnson's campaign in Michigan will probably be directed by Swainson.

Plans were made at the committee meeting for the Democratic County Convention which will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 13 in Room 1 of the Washtenaw County Building. Delegates to the State Convention who will elect the delegates to the 1964 National Democratic Convention will be selected at that time. County Democratic Chairman Peter Darrow will announce the chairmen of the various county convention committees, selected by the Washtenaw County Democratic Executive Committee at Wednesday's meeting.

ADVICE TO McNAMARA

President Johnson has told Defense Secretary McNamara he wants him to stay out of the 1964 political campaign. Cabinet officers in less sensitive fields often are expected to pitch in and help win votes for the man in the White House. But the heads of the State and Defense Departments traditionally have tried to remain above the battle.

PULLING OUT THE RUG

It is one thing to announce the winds of change are blowing. It is another to allow them to bustle white colonialism out of a continent and blow that continent towards the rocks of violence, disintegration and black or red dictatorship.

America must accept its responsibility for the retreat of freedom in Africa. Our policy has been sterile. It has gone no further than dollar aid or panic reaction to situations set up by the foes of freedom. And we have failed to supply the moral steel without which freedom is subverted and lost.

Intimidated by fear of world opinion, we have engaged in a systematic campaign to drive our allies out of Africa. In the name of anti-colonialism we pressured Belgium to leave the Congo, and Britain to give up Zanzibar, long before these countries were ready for self-rule. We are pushing an anti-colonial policy in the United Nations that may win votes now but imperil liberty later.

A seemingly incredible ineptitude has blinded us to the Communist penetration of Africa. A Reuters dispatch February 6 said Peking's Jenmin Jih Pao, the Chinese Communist Party newspaper, hailed Premier Chou En-lai's African tour as a "spectacular success" ushering in a "new era in the development of Communist China's friendship and cooperation with African states."

On the same day the Christian Science Monitor's Washington correspondent reported: "One government policymaker even admits the Chou adventure analysis 'fell between the cracks in the State Department. No one felt he was responsible to counteract his (Chou's) tour.'"

The former U. S. Ambassador to Switzerland, Henry J. Taylor, wrote in the Los Angeles Times, February 7: "Famous Arab expert Wendell Phillips, author-explorer, told Washington officials the Red score in Zanzibar months ago. He knew the Castro-Sino-Soviet island-hopping plans and also spelled out in detail what would happen in Tanganyika and elsewhere in East Africa . . . The incredible pattern of misinformation and surprises, and the endless denials of the undeniable would be utterly impossible unless the Soviet had infiltrated our government, as proven in numerous other Western countries."

Hindsight is the melancholy gift of history to the shortsighted.

Recent events have shown up the weaknesses in post-war colonial policies of the West. It is true that no other empire has triumphed over all her enemies, as did Great Britain, and, after that triumph, handed back freedom to nation after nation, because she thought it was the right thing to do. But it is one thing to give nations their freedom. It is another thing to establish in them the quality of character and ideology that preserves and guarantees that freedom.

When Africans warned that after the British moved out the Communists would be sure to try to move in to fill the vacuum of power and prestige, and that a moral ideology should be established before the authority of military might was withdrawn, they were often ignored and their plans frustrated by the white authorities.

In Kenya, before Independence, Jomo Kenyatta, the present Prime Minister, asked for the MRA African film "Freedom" to be shown to his people. It is a film, made in Africa by Africans, which shows how lasting freedom must be based on a revolution of character which is the only answer to a revolution of bloodshed. For months the showing of this film was blocked by the white authorities. Finally the demand for it from Africans in Kenya, vigorously supported by certain newspapers, prevailed. It has been shown in Swahili and in English to three-quarters of a million Kenyans. Many of them attribute to this the fact that the elections were carried through without bloodshed. The news magazine Reporter, published in Nairobi, commented on "the large following" of MRA in Kenya and said, "Moral Re-Armament has done a great deal to stabilize our recent election campaign."

By contrast, white officials prevented the showing of the film "Freedom" in Zanzibar, and at the subsequent elections violence broke out and sixty people were killed. Today the island is in danger of becoming the Cuba of Africa. An effort was made one year before Kenya's Independence to increase the force of Moral Re-Armament in that country. The Kenyans invited and desired it. It was blocked by the bigotry and blindness of a few petty European officials.

"Freedom" was prevented by European authorities from being shown in Uganda for three years, in spite of the personal plea by African leaders that it be made available to their people. Requests for it to be shown to African contingents of the armed forces in East Africa were rejected. Yet it is the subversion of some African soldiers that has threatened the whole design of freedom for East Africa, when they could have been the moral as well as the military strength of their countries.

Now Britain's military help is being urgently sought. Is not this the moment for America and Britain to learn from the past and, in addition, offer them the revolution of character which alone can secure order and freedom?

Some nation which is supremely equipped by tradition and history has got to rise and answer the challenge of history, and say to the listening earth, "In our society we have answered the divisions that will destroy humanity. We have learned to live like sons and daughters of God, because we are guided by the living God. Our homes are united, our families are united, our men are faithful, our women are pure, our industries are honorable, labor and management both serve the community, both put people before profits, wages or hours."

A Negro said recently, "A civil rights bill will be passed by Congress. Legally my people are going to be given equality in the United States—eventually in South Africa, perhaps everywhere. But no laws can make men like myself trust a white man. I hate them. It is in my bones." He met white men who had changed. He met black men who had changed. He himself changed. He said that the power of Christ could end hatred in human hearts and bring answers that no politics and no laws, necessary as they are, can accomplish. He realized the truth that honest Communists and non-Communists now face together, that environment, education, legislation, welfare and wealth do not by themselves create the new type of man without whom humanity may destroy itself. God can—and will—if we let Him.

Events are moving at a colossal speed. The choice for Africa is the moral re-armament of the continent or Communist take-over.

For the Communist world the choice is moral re-armament or world war, for free men assuredly will never allow red imperialism to triumph on the earth.

Today the challenge to the Communist and the non-Communist world is to take up the supreme revolutionary task of this era: to remake the whole world and take humanity into the next great step of evolution.

We can decide to turn the tide of history before the tide of history sweeps us into the forgotten depths of its fathomless oceans.

We read that men cannot live by bread alone. A house built on sand cannot last. A civilization built on dirt cannot endure. If men believe we can last for long solely pursuing wealth, sex, comfort, dreading atomic desolation, in a climate which seeks to prove that evil is good, good evil, then men are mad. Those who concentrate on the purse and belly of the national economy but neglect the idea in the head and the answer in the heart, the soul and the spirit of nations, do so at their peril.

Moral Re-Armament is a plumb line through the heart of modern man.

It is a test by which individuals and society pass judgment on themselves.

Its Christian standards of absolute honesty, purity, unselfishness and love remain the challenge and the charter for the conscience of mankind. They embody the decencies of life which the common man everywhere instinctively wants and knows to be right.

We have faith in the common man. We believe that as the crisis of our times grows more acute and clear, he will accept the challenge, he will be willing to pay the price of change, he will understand that there is nobody more reactionary, whether Communist or non-Communist, than the person who wants to see the world different but refuses to become different himself.

The world-wide advance of Moral Re-Armament is paid for by hundreds of men and women who give from conviction and sacrifice. Many contribute regularly. If you wish to have a part, please fill in the coupon.

Foster Homes For Children Needed By Probate Court

Mrs. Helen Rutledge, director of the Foster Home Development project recently instituted by the Washtenaw County Juvenile Court in making a concerted effort to find foster homes for the children who come under the jurisdiction of the court for various reasons, More than two-thirds of the approximately 400 per month because of parents' neglect or because of parents' inability to provide a home for them.

The new foster homes development program is being financed for the current year by the Ann Arbor Area Fund (formerly known as the Foster Foundation) and by an appropriation of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Rutledge, who is particularly well qualified for her position because of her profession as a social worker, is interested in registering a number of homes which will meet the standards of the foster home development project, so that children may be placed quickly as the need arises.

She explains that the dictionary definition of the word "foster" is "to cherish, to sustain, to promote growth or development;" foster parents, then, are persons who, though not related by "ties of nature," share nourishment, nurture and sustenance and promote growth and development of children.

A foster child, for purposes of the foster home development program, is one whose own parents, either temporarily or permanently, are unable to provide him with proper care and he receives the "fostering" care from those one other than his own father and mother.

Mrs. Rutledge points out that the general function of the Juvenile Court, established by state law as a division of the Probate Court, is not for criminal proceedings; it has jurisdiction over children up to 17 years old and in some instances until they are 21. She says, by law, each child coming within the jurisdiction of the juvenile court "shall receive such care, guidance and control as will be conducive to the child's welfare and the best interests of the state."

The philosophy is to protect, guide and control children who are involved in anti-social behavior and to protect children whose parents neglect them or fail to provide a suitable or fit place in which to live. The aim is to correct the contributing conditions and to attempt to re-establish normal family life.

Since the majority of children under the care of the court come to the court's attention because of dependency and neglect it is important that these children receive help to correct conditions that may progress into delinquency.

Mrs. Rutledge said her aim, in keeping with the efforts of the foster home development project, is to let people know of the great need for foster homes, how they are used and what the people of the county can do to help.

She says a foster home may, literally mean survival for some children. It can surely help in preventing a child from becoming delinquent. It can be a wedge in breaking the seemingly endless chain of family breakdown that perpetuates itself, generation after generation.

Specifically, it can give love to an unloved child; it can demonstrate stability to a child who has never known steadiness; it can teach, by example, the meaning of wholesome family relationships.

It can give a child what ought to be his very right—a chance to grow and develop into a healthy adult.

The foster parent is paid for the cost of the child's care, clothing, medical expenses, etc.

In appealing to county residents to seriously consider the foster home project as a worthwhile and most necessary work that needs to be done for children she says the "fringe benefits" of the foster parents' "pay" include the satisfaction of giving something of yourself to someone who needs you; the satisfaction of putting your talents and skills to use in a worthwhile endeavor; a chance to really do something about a pressing social problem, instead of bemoaning the state of the world, and the reward of knowing that one has reached out and influenced another human being at a crucial point in his life.

Mrs. Rutledge lists the requirements for consideration of possible foster parents under the county's Foster Home Development Project by saying "You may be considered if your marriage is happy, you have good health, you have adequate space, you have a steady income, you are under 65 and you have patience, understanding and compassion."

Mrs. Rutledge said interested persons may write or telephone to her. Her phone number is NO 8-7511, Extension 277.

Those who may prefer to write may address their letter as follows:

Mackie Predicts Sharp Increase in Highway Needs

Dixon, I. — Michigan State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie recently urged America's newspapers to arouse public opinion now on the need for adequate needs of the 1970's.

"We are sitting on an earthquake of demand and we had better get ready for it now," Mackie told the annual Illinois Editor's Traffic Safety Seminar.

Mackie told the editors, gathered here to observe the 50th anniversary of Illinois "Good Roads Day," that automobile ownership will increase 64 percent by 1980, over 1960, and the mileage driven will be up 85 percent.

In urban areas, traffic volumes in 1980 will be more than double what they were in 1960, he said.

Mackie said highway departments throughout the U.S. should be planning now for new highways and improvements to existing highways which will be needed to accommodate the traffic needs of 1980.

"Today's streets and highways simply cannot accommodate the traffic volume that will be put upon them just 16 years from now," Mackie said.

"The American people have never been afraid of great challenges but the people cannot act unless they know the facts about what is going to happen in motor vehicle travel in the next decade and a half.

"It is here that I think the influence of the press on highway programs is most pronounced. The public can act only on what it learns to a large degree from the press. It will not be enough to report the crisis in traffic when it occurs in the middle 1970's. The need is to alert the public now while there is time to prevent the crisis from coming about."

Mackie said that if highway improvements are not planned now for the predictable traffic demand immediately ahead, there are two results which are absolutely sure to follow:

"We will have a slow down in our economic growth and we will have a step up in our traffic accidents," he said.

Mackie urged newspapers to "take a deep look at the adequacy of our streets and highways to meet the predicted traffic demands which are rolling on us at a rapidly increasing rate."

At the same time, he suggested that the highway departments and other agencies of government concerned have a responsibility to prepare for them now "and should be taken to task by the press if we are not doing so."

"I do not think it is possible for the highway needs of America to be met without the full support of a well-informed public," Mackie said. "And since the greater part of the public gets its information from the press, there is an inseparable relation between the level of information that the public has, and the way the press reports the news.

"The progress of our highway programs, therefore, and the consequent effect on traffic safety and economic growth, are directly influenced for better or worse by the flow of highway news to the public—its quantity, its quality and its presentation."

Eight 4-H Club Members Will Attend Citizenship Conference

Eight Washtenaw county 4-H members have been selected to attend the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C. from June 21 through June 27.

RACE BIAS AT BASES

A Pentagon-ordered survey showed there was housing discrimination against Negro service men in nearly 90 per cent of the military bases in the United States. Alfred B. Fitt, deputy assistant Secretary of Defense for civil rights said there exists discrimination in Northern bases as well as Southern bases.

BIG CHALLENGE IN RECREATION—Michigan's big push in outdoor recreation has put an all-time premium on land and water. Scenes and signs like these tell the gist of this challenge. In the wake of today's recreation explosion, there looms a rather wide gap between leisure-time demands and present facilities as seen last year when more than 43,000 families had to be turned away from state parks. The state parks bonding program has been a good "starter" in meeting part of the outdoor challenge, but a much bigger effort must be made to answer long-range needs. More work also needs to be done to provide sportsmen in southern Michigan with larger areas for public hunting. As the March 15-21—National Wildlife theme stated, "America Needs Outdoor Recreation—Act Now To Provide for the Future."

Saline 4-H Girl Wins Trip to American Institute of Cooperation

Cheryl Henes, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Henes of Saline was selected to represent Washtenaw county 4-H clubs at the American Institute of Co-operation which this year will be held Aug. 9-12 at the Michigan State University.

The sponsor of this expense-paid award trip is the Washtenaw Farmers' Oil Co. Cheryl was selected for this award on the basis of her outstanding accomplishments as a 4-H Junior Leader. A committee including Mrs. Clarence Reddeman of Chelsea, Donald Gill of Ypsilanti, Robert Bevier of Ypsilanti and Ed Schmok of Ypsilanti made the selection.

Cheryl will participate with more than 2,000 other young people from across the United States in the educational and recreational activities planned for this national event which will bring nearly 6,000 people to the Michigan State University campus.

Then, there are some people who think a joke must be bad to be good.

Leaflet Points to Heart Attack Dangers from Cigarettes

About 60,000 men die prematurely in the United States each year of heart attacks (acute myocardial infarction) associated with cigarette smoking, according to a new leaflet, "What Everyone Should Know About Smoking and Heart Disease," just published by the American Heart Association and its affiliates.

This increment of 60,000 "extra" deaths is approximately equal to the estimated number of men who die prematurely of all other diseases associated with smoking, including lung cancer, said Dr. Park Park W. Willis, III, president of the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund agency, which will distribute the leaflet free in Michigan.

The leaflet cites one population study showing that the heart attack rate in heavy cigarette smokers is three times higher than that of non-smokers, moderate pipe and cigar smokers and former cigarette smokers. The higher rate is accompanied by an average 70 percent increase in myocardial infarction deaths among cigarette smokers.

The pocket-sized leaflet asks and answers questions on the effects of cigarette smoking on the heart and blood vessels:

"Are cigarettes a health hazard for teen-agers?" Answer: Yes . . . the earlier one begins to smoke, the greater the risk in future years.

"Does cigarette smoking cause heart disease?" Answer: It has not been proved to be a direct cause, but studies strongly suggests that it contributes to or speeds up the development of blockages of the coronary arteries which lead to angina pectoris (an insufficient flow of blood to the heart muscle) or myocardial infarction (heart attack).

"Why is smoking especially dangerous for patients with diseases of blood vessels in the arms and legs?" Answer: It constricts blood vessels that are already narrowed and damaged by disease.

Dr. Willis, a cardiologist at the University of Michigan Medical Center, said the leaflet should strengthen the resolve of recently reformed smokers because the answer is "yes" to the question of whether quitting helps to reduce the danger of developing angina pectoris or having a myocardial infarction.

The leaflet also points out that "smoking is an added risk for people who are more susceptible to coronary artery disease, such as those with high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, signs of hardening of the arteries, a family history of heart attacks and strokes in middle age, or a combination of any of these conditions."

Aerial Surveys Help State's Roadbuilders

Lansing — The State Highway Department will make aerial surveys of more than 370 miles of Michigan highways this spring.

The aerial photographs must be taken during the period after all snow has left the ground but before tree leaves and foliage obscure ground contours.

The aerial photographs are used to help engineers develop plans for relocation of some highways and modernization of others.

How to control giant foxtail in corn

Atrazine 80W herbicide has set a new standard for weed control on millions of acres of corn . . . by solving both general weed problems and the difficult problems posed by weeds like giant foxtail. Giant foxtail must be controlled or it takes over.

Simple, effective control

Atrazine gives you a proved plan to use against this tough weed. An Atrazine spray followed by rotary hoeing or shallow cultivation can do the job.

Spray very small foxtail

For best results, spray Atrazine after planting, at the rate recommended for your soil type, just after the first flush of foxtail has emerged. Follow immediately with a rotary hoeing or shallow cultivation. This supplemental tillage is especially important on heavy clay or high organic soils. Under dry conditions, giant foxtail may germinate rather deep in the soil. So it is important that the Atrazine be worked down into the soil moisture zone where the roots of the foxtail seedling are located.

Details available

Ask your supplier about application rates for your soil type when you order Atrazine, or write Geigy. Plan to control giant foxtail easy, effective way.

U.S.—TURK MANEUVERS

Navy officials decided not to postpone the 6th Fleet maneuvers with Turkey regardless of the touchy Cyprus situation. The decision to go ahead was to avoid heightening the crisis atmosphere.

Informed sources said, it was also felt that joint maneuvers would enable the 6th Fleet to keep a close watch on the situation without inflaming it.

Retired Minister Discusses Universal Maturing Religion

Speaking on Wednesday, April 15 to the students enrolled in Great World Religions and English courses in Jackson Junior College, the poet, The Rev. Lloyd Frank Merrell said: "All major religions have been born of poetic sensitivity, their scriptures often rising to great aesthetic heights. One should be sympathetic to the generally accepted facts of all religions, seek to find what elements are common, formulate, a working synthesis, and since humans are social, get into a group, slough off petty differences and co-operate in working toward universal understanding and goodwill—which is the fundamental goal of commitment in any enlightened religion.

"Running like a golden thread through all the major religion are these factors: 'Live here and now; make people our chief concern; practice equality; work for freedom of thought and action; accept the findings, the methods and world view of science; have faith that together men have the intelligence, the skills and the will to end war and build security in a free and just world, and that research in the hands of men of goodwill can meet the challenges of hate and ignorance, hunger and disease.'

"It is of prime importance to realize that God is imminent as well as transcendant," the Rev. with a poem from his volume of verse, "Healing Symphony."

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

Boa-Constrictors are selling for up to $10 a foot. Some stores report the snakes are selling well.

Strange or unusual pets may not be to your liking, though they are to some. Gavin Maxwell writes of his pet otters in "Ring of Bright Water."

When his first otter died he wrote, "But Chahala's death, which seemed to me like an end, was in fact a beginning."

The satisfaction he discovered with a pet otter speaks eloquently of the satisfaction and joy for which we all search. Reading his book we claim for our own something of his happiness with them.

It doesn't end, it's always beginning.

We need not envy someone else's joy. Nor need we always think that the best we can know is in the past.

Happy memories are a priceless treasure though they buy only nostalgia, a half smile, a far-away look.

They are a world in which we can only visit, not live. They are an end, not a beginning.

Where we live Jesus' words need to be heard . . . "seek first his kingdom and righteousness . . ." They turn us to looking ahead, not behind.

They aren't an end, but a beginning.

Prayer: "O Master, let me walk with Thee. . ."

Dusk, those periods of the day around sunup and sundown, are found by safety experts to be particularly bad times for accidents. There's only one answer: drivers should be extra cautious at such times.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8.

The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas

The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas.

So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies.

There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Conservation Commission Grants Washtenaw Supervisors Approval on Park Development Plans

Lansing — Action was taken by the Michigan Conservation Commission last week to pave the way for development of a county park in the northwest of Washtenaw county.

The Commission voted to issue the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors a public use deed for 205 acres which lie north and south of Territorial Rd. in the Pinckney Recreation Area.

Some $5,000 to $10,000 will be spent annually by the county board to provide new recreational facilities on these lands. Immediate plans call for constructing roadside picnic areas, with more facilities to be added in later years.

Lands lying south of Territorial Rd. are marshy for the most part, while those to the north are hilly, scenic, and well suited for the type of development planned.

Fire Training School Slated In Ann Arbor

The University of Michigan Extension Service is offering its annual regional fire training school program at five Michigan centers during April and May.

A typical fire training school, such as the first one scheduled at Big Rapids, April 27-18, will draw more than 100 fire fighters from a radius of 50 to 100 miles around the city, according to Francis Hartman, supervisor of the U-M Firemanship Training Program.

Other fire training schools will follow at Ann Arbor, Kalamazoo Gaylord and Flint.

Chelsea firemen who plan to attend will go to the one at Ann Arbor which is scheduled for next Wednesday and Thursday, April 29 and 30. Location for the Ann Arbor sessions is the U-M Civil Defense Training Center. Sessions will be held each of the two evenings from 7 until 10 p.m.

Each session will feature these authorities: Bruce Parrott of the U-M Fire Training Program, on the topic "Training Today"; Detective Sgt. John Girocco of the State Police Fire Marhsal Division, "Latest Experience in Fire Investigation"; A. L. Livingston and Ron Bird of the Michigan Department of Conservation, "How Serious is the Grass Fire"; and Gerald Hall, Bay City Fire Department, "Resuscitators and Resuscitations in the Fire Service."

Fire training schools, which have been presented for the past eight years, are offered this year in co-operation with the State Department of Vocational Education, the State Police Fire Marshal Division, and the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Carol Cameron Completes Six Months Study in France

Carol Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron, has returned to her studies at Kalamazoo College after spending six months in Caen, France as a student in the college's foreign studies program. Caen, with a population of approximately 100,000 is in Normandy, in the northern part of France. It was 75 percent destroyed during World War II but has been completely rebuilt.

At the University of Caen Miss Cameron was enrolled in a course with French students studying art, history and literature.

During the Christmas vacation, she and her roommate, Marian Laetz of St. Joseph, visited in England, The Netherlands and Germany.

Christmas Eve they attended a Communion service at Westminster Abbey in London; then traveled by boat and train to Amsterdam where they were especially interested in seeing the birthplace of Anne Frank which is now a memorial museum.

Miss Cameron and Miss Laetz were in Berlin for the New Year holiday and attended New Year's Eve services at the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church.

During the three weeks immediately prior to her return home Miss Cameron traveled in Europe, spending a week in Rome where she was granted an audience with Pope Paul, visited the Catacombs and took a side trip to Pompeii. She also visited Florence, Italy and spent a week in Switzerland before going back to Caen.

During her six months in France Miss Cameron spent several weekends with friends in Paris, among them Kay Runciman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Runciman, who is studying there, and Mr. and Mrs. John Carter, social workers in Chicago when Miss Cameron was there last spring.

A rewarding experience, Miss Cameron said, was living with a French family during her six months in Caen—Monsieur and Madame LeFlaguais and their 16-year-old daughter, Christine.

Miss Cameron, a junior at Kalamazoo College, is majoring in French.

In business there is a time to gamble, if the stakes are right; the trick is knowing the right time.

Peoples are not equal and any one who confuses equal opportunities with absolute equality is o the deep end.
