Chelsea Products Local Vote Slated After Holidays

About 160 workers at Dana Corporation's Chelsea Products Division are not expected to vote on ratification of a new agreement until after the holidays, a union spokesman said Tuesday.

A tentative regional agreement was reached Dec. 6 between the United Automobile Workers and Dana and covers the firm's Chelsea unit and 10 other Dana plants, affecting about 6,000 workers.

A UAW spokesman in Detroit said a local level agreement had not been reached yet for the Chelsea workers. He said he understood that an issue was "wage inequities."

Terms of the national agreement are being withheld pending ratification. The union has said, however, that it was seeking a contract which followed the pattern of those reached previously in the auto industry.

Cagers Lose Two

Chelsea	9	15	20	12	56
Stockbridge	17	14	13	21	65

* * *

The Chelsea Bulldogs lost to Stockbridge, 56-65, Tuesday night has been chalked up to their inability to find the basket. The cold-shooting Chelsea team hit for 20 field goals of 66 attempts for 23 percent. A number of missed shots were lay-ups or otherwise close-in to the basket. Only Gary Dresch was able to hit the hoop with consistency, hitting six of 12 in the third and fourth quarters.

Stockbridge ran off to a fast 17-9 first quarter lead on the shooting of Mike Barbom and Rick Owen. Each scored six. Tom Wojcicki came off the bench to hit six of Chelsea's nine points.

The second and third quarters belonged to Chelsea. The Bulldogs started to score and rebound as they should. The combination of Wojcicki, Steele, Windell, Dresch and Targosw pulled the Bulldogs to a 44-44 tie at the end of the third quarter. Steele and Dresch getting 13 and 8 points, respectively, in these quarters. Steele also pulled down 10 rebounds and stole the ball for three of four fast breaks, 6-3. Windell also picked up 10 rebounds.

The fourth quarter spelled doom for the Bulldogs as they cooled off on thin shooting and Stockbridge warmed up. Before the quarter ended Stockbridge was ahead by nine, mostly because of free throws as they hit 11 of 14.

Stockbridge's Rick Owen was high man for the night with 22 points.

Tom Steele's 15 points made him Chelsea's high man.

This Friday (tomorrow) the Bulldogs meet South Lyon there. This will be a conference game.

The Christmas tourney will be Dec. 28, 29 and 30.

Congregational Members Become Tree Hunters

First Congregational church members had a busy Sunday with a Christmas tree hunt and Christmas family workshop, in addition to their regular church activities.

The senior high class met for an hour at 8:45 p.m. with Daryl Kuczer, and new members were received into the church by transfer: Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wojcicki and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tompkins.

After church came the annual Christmas tree hunt when 15 families gathered around the campfire made by Ed. Dickleman at Buetlers. They had a winter picnic before "taking to the hillsides" to search for the "just right" tree for each family. Karl Sanderson acted as treasurer, and Charlie Powers took the big church tree donated by Buetlers back to the church. Arrangements had been made by Parker Sharrard under the direction of Mrs. William Van Riper, chairman of Christian Education Committee.

Others joined the "tree hunters" later at the church to share ideas for making Christmas more of a family and creative time.

Dan Maroney showed how to make wreaths; Mrs. Richard Kern demonstrated paper-clip ornaments and kept all the children interested and busy; Mrs. Hilts helped some make paper chains; Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Van Riper, Mrs. Gee, Mrs. Johnson and others brought examples and demonstrated ideas and brought cook-

Chelsea	15	12	16	21	64
Dundee	20	23	22	17	82

* * *

A speedy Dundee team took the Dec. 11 basketball game from the Chelsea Bulldogs 20-15.

The rapid pace caused Chelsea players to miss a lot of close-in shots. They hit on 26 out of 83 for a 31 percent average.

The Bulldogs committed a number of errors, costing them several chances to shoot and turning the ball over to Dundee players who took advantage of the opportunity.

The score was close in the first quarter. In the second quarter, the Vikings displayed a fast break not seen by most Chelsea spectators, and, what is more important, to the ball players either. Thus the quarter ended with Dundee holding a 43-27 lead.

The third and fourth quarters were quite even as the Bulldogs started to come to life only to be subdued by the fine shooting from the outside by Bog Kroeger (21 points) and Ron Boldt (24 points), points).

The Bulldog coaching staff says they are looking for a combination of five boys who will click together, and also a capable floor leader who could settle the team down when the opposition is putting pressure on. They are holding out hopes for Dick Lauhon and Tom Wojcicki to take over this position in the future.

Tom Steele scored eight points and gathered six rebounds in the final quarter of the game which may rate him as a starter before too long. Charles Schmunk was Chelsea's high scorer of the game with 12 points.

The team of Tarasow, Clark, White, Schmunk and Lauhon were possible starters against Stockbridge Tuesday night, and tomorrow night the Bulldogs play South Lyon there. South Lyon defeated Dexter last Friday, 67-45.

Thank Offering Totals $134.18 for Benefit of CROP

Last week the ministers who participated in the Community Thanksgiving Eve service at the Methodist Chapel sent a check for $134.18 to Christian Rural Overseas Program. The thank offering at the successful co-operative event was to be donated to CROP.

The Lenten season is the next occasion when the community churches co-operate in an ecumenical service. The Lenten series of services will be held on Thursday this year in an effort to meet the needs and desires of the community. Most of the churches will hold their own Ash Wednesday services on March 8. The committee of the Rev. Craig and the Rev. Smucker reported that the five Thursdays before Holy Week and Good Friday are being planned by the Fellowship. Some new and stimulating ideas are being considered by the group. Tentatively the places scheduled are: March 11 at St. Barnabas, March 18 at St. Paul's, March 25 at Congregational, April 1 at Meth-

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

The challenges we face today in education, in Michigan or any of the other 49 states, must be met head-on at the state level. Our nation's 30,000 school districts cannot cope adequately with the mounting educational demands of our age without strong, properly-directed state leadership and support. The responsibility also cannot be foisted upon or assumed by the federal government. In the recent words of James B. Conant: "It is not in Washington but in our state capitols that efforts are most urgently needed to correct the shortcomings of our schools."

But the proof of this theory is in the readiness of our states to accept the challenge—to recognize current problems, and to seek solutions. It is a challenge that must involve everyone, citizen, educator and public official.

Let me cite a few problems facing us here in Michigan.

1. The population explosion we hear so much about is really a school population explosion. We have felt it first at the elementary and secondary school levels. Now that the crop of War II babies is beginning to storm our college and university doors. In 1951, we had in our nation 22 million youngsters between 15 and 24 years of age; in 1974, we will have 38 million. This 73 percent increase is by far the largest of any segment of our population.

2. More and more of the 17, 18, and 19 year olds involved are demanding something better than a high school diploma. Higher levels of educational and technical competence are demanded by our changing society. In Michigan we boosted higher education spending by 20 percent this past year, partly to prepare for an avalanche of about 100,000 new students expected between now and 1970. Even more is being asked by them for next year.

3. Another problem involves our need to adequately cope with the school dropout and the high school graduate seeking only advanced vocational training. The dropout problem will reach critical proportions in the next two years. In the next two years alone the teenage labor force will go up by about three-quarters of a million. And that graduate seeking some additional training has increased in such numbers that in Michigan our community college enrollment jumped 384 percent between 1953 and 1963, and will probably double from its present rate by 1970.

4. And then, money. Education demands more money than is available. Many states have both a sales tax and a personal income tax, and yet they can't keep up with the demands. And many states lack an adequate formula for school aid that will properly spread the financial responsibility for education between state and local government and at the same time insure equal opportunity for every child irregardless of the district in which he goes to school.

These are only a handful of the crucial problems before us. And the solutions? Well, I believe that no particular solution will ever be adequate until we apply ourselves to the meeting of three major goals.

First, we must put our state educational houses in order. We desperately need state-wide planning and coordination of all levels of education. Our new state constitution establishes a state board of education charged with the responsibility for the general planning and coordination of all education, including colleges and universities. The objective: to offer direction that will insure best and most prudent use of tax dollars and professional energies.

Second, we must establish as states what our relationship is to be with the federal government.

CHEER UP, WINTER'S STILL TO COME!

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Planned Delay

Michigan will wait at least another year before a new medical facility is started.

John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, recently announced that that institution would not begin a two-year medical science program next fall as originally planned. The opening date is not definitely set.

The MSU decision will meet with approval of the Michigan Coordinating Council for Higher Education. Council members, including MSU, agree that the state's existing medical schools should be raised to planned size before a third is established.

Although MSU's present plans are for an Institute of Biology and Medicine, within which the College of Human Medicine will offer two years of training, it could easily be developed into a full-fledged college of medicine.

There were three reasons for the MSU delay. First, the building program dropped substantially behind, mostly due to union-management differences beyond the control of the university.

Secondly, the administration does not at this point have the top-notch instructors they want to teach the technical courses. Teaching staff is a problem for the medical profession, and it was recently stated that there are 800 openings in the nation for medical instructors.

A third problem which was not completely solved involves the relationship between the Institute and local hospitals. The medical accrediting committee recommended that this understanding be well formulated before students were enrolled for courses.

It will be difficult for U-M to increase enrollment of its medical school without losing much of the training that is important to doctors, according to Dean William N. Hubbard, Jr. Wayne University shows promise of enrolling perhaps 70 more students per year.

If, as anticipated, the need for doctors grows more rapidly than this supply, the people of Michigan have an investment in MSU's Institute of Biology and Medicine that can quickly be developed into a first-class source of fully trained M.D.s.

16 Percent Unsafe

A big push can be expected in the 1963 legislative session to require periodic safety checks of all Michigan motor vehicles.

Safety check bills have been introduced for several years in succession without success, but next year may be the exception.

The continually mounting highway traffic death toll will certainly be one factor in this consideration but another major factor may be the latest national survey on the matter.

One vehicle in six in use today is unsafe to some degree, a study by the Auto Industry Highway Safety Committee indicates.

Of nearly three million vehicles checked on a voluntary basis in the study, more than 440,000 had "rejectable items" such as rear or front lights or signals, brakes, tires, steering, or exhaust system.

Projecting this to the more than 84 million registered vehicles on the nation's highways, the study means more than 14 million unsafe cars and trucks are in use. Some Michigan officials feel the figure would be even higher since this study was a voluntary one rather than a true sample test.

Nineteen states now require periodic motor vehicle safety inspections.

Winter Hazards

War must be declared, says State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis.

The war Heustis speaks of has no relation to international affairs, however. It is a limited war on the home front against carbon monoxide poisoning.

"An intensive educational campaign with constant repetition is the only way to prevent the annual toll of utterly needless deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning," he said.

Already this year several persons have been found dead in cars parked with the windows closed, the ignition on, gas tank empty and battery dead. The scene will unfortunately be repeated several more times during the cold season.

Carbon monoxide deaths, in cars and homes, occur at all times of the year but the majority happen in the winter, Heustis said.

Because carbon monoxide has no odor, it is known as the "silent killer".

"If everyone recognized that carbon monoxide is present whenever there is combustion, whether it's canned heat, gas refrigerator, furnace or automobile engine, and that to protect against it merely requires adequate ventilation, we could eliminate most of the accidental exposures," said the commissioner.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where silver was gitting so scarce in this country that the next Congress aims to pass a law fer the U.S. mint to make coins out of somepun else.

The Secretary of the Treasury has reported the Congress has called on him to offer a plan by April 1 fer the use of either stainless steel, copper, nickel, alumnum, or maybe zink fer making dimes, quarters and half dollars. He said his plan might call fer using a mixture of several of the metals. He didn't say nothing about going to wooden nickels and I reckon this was on account of lumber has got as high as silver and about as hard to git.

The Secretary claimed the shortage of silver was on account of people hoarding coins. He allowed as how they was now more than 4 million coin collectors in the United States, and them that wasn't collecting was just leaving their coins laying around the house in piggy-banks, cookie jars, on the mantleboard or in dresser drawers.

In a manner of speaking, Mister Editor, I reckon you'd have to say our coin and silver shortage was on account of we got too much prosperity in this country. Back in the old days a feller carried a snap-open purse in his pocket and if he had any coins he was using 'em ever time he went to the store. But times was so good now that the young generation never saw a snap-open purse and folks was just throwing their loose change in a jar or somepun and coming to town with folding money. Afore we had all this prosperity they wasn't many folks that could afford to stash away coins.

We was discussing this item at the country store Saturday night and Clem Webster allowed as how prosperity was gitting out of hand in this country. Fer instant, he was of the opinion we was going to have to come up with a substitute fer bread just as soon switched from silver to zink. He reported he had saw in his latest pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture where the retail price of bread had jumped 51 per cent since 1950, from a average of 14.3 cents per pound to 21.6 cents and they was fixing to stabilize the rice up another penny in 1965.

Farthermore, Clem claimed the price of bread didn't have nothing to do with what a farmer got fer his wheat. Counting the Guvernment hand-out, he said he was gitting about the same fer wheat under 14-cent bread as he was under the new prosperity price of 21 cent.

...I never figgered, Mister Editor, I'd live to see the day when we'd git too much prosperity, but I reckon happy days was here again.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

4 Years Ago...

Thursday, Dec. 8, 1960—

L. Philip Vogel, with his wife and daughters, Martha and Linda, are moving to Grand Rapids where he has accepted a position as division engineer of all Kroger stores in the western half of Michigan.

The Chelsea Congregational church voted unanimously Sunday to "accept the constitution" of the United Church of Christ; this is a formality in preparation for the merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches which becomes official in June, 1961.

Jack Howard of Troop 76, received an Eagle Scout award at a Boy Scout Court of Honor at Camp Kiroliex, Clear Lake.

Chelsea residents interested in toll-free telephone service between Dexter and Chelsea should send letters to that effect to the Dexter Chamber of Commerce for presentation to the telephone company.

Llewellyn H. Lehman graduated Tuesday from Michigan State University and on the same day was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the artillery branch of the U. S. Army. He and his wife, LaLonnie, will live at Fort Bliss, Tex., while he is enrolled for special officers' training there.

Thursday, Dec. 28, 1950—

At a meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's church after the Sunday morning service, it was voted not to accept the resignation tendered by the Rev. P. H. Grabowski but to plan to lighten his duties to make it possible for him to continue without endangering his health further.

Between 700 and 800 children of the community were guests of UAW-CIO Local 487 at its second annual Christmas party for youngsters.

The building at the rear of Dr. P. E. Sharrard's home on Garfield St. which he used as a dog and cat hospital was destroyed by fire Sunday.

Weddings this week: Shirley Williams-William Petsch; Marjorie Ferguson-Robert Daniels.

24 Years Ago...

Thursday, Dec. 26, 1940—

As a token of appreciation for the blessings we enjoy, it is suggested that everyone in Chelsea brightly light their homes on Christmas Eve from dusk to midnight as our answer to the blackout in European nations at war. The suggestion for the nationwide Christmas Eve lighting observance was made by Bernarr McFadden — not in a spirit of boastfulness but in humble thanksgiving for our freedom.

School children who participated in the Christmas program of the Lima Center PTA Thursday at the schoolhouse included Verle Steinaway, Jerald Heydlauff, Jerry Herrick, Rita Gross, Loretta Lindauer, Joan Pierce, Marilyn Schooley, Duane Luick, Pauline Schiller, Barbara Luick and Jacqueline LeClair.

More than 500 children attended the Christmas gift matinee sponsored by The Chelsea Standard at the Sylvan Theatre Saturday.

In the 24 Years Ago column (Dec. 28, 1916): The new boulevard lights were lighted for the first time Saturday night and proved highly satisfactory.

TROOP 77—

At Monday night's meeting, Girl Scout Troop 77 decided upon having a bake sale Dec. 22 at 9 a.m. at the old dime store building.

All Girl Scouts are to meet at 1 a.m. Dec. 21 at Mrs. Warden's home to address March of Dimes envelopes.

Tomorrow night, Dec. 18, there will be caroling at the post office from 7 to 8 p.m. for all Girl Scouts. At 8, Troop 77 will go to Sandy Severn's home for a party. Members are to bring a gift and food.

Today Troop 77 is decorating the post office for Christmas.

TROOP 82—

Girl Scouts of Troop 82 held a regular meeting Tuesday at the Congregational church and divided into patrols for refreshments brought by Betty Ann Morningstar.

Activity at the meeting included a "show and tell" program. Laurie Lancaster, who plays the French horn, explained how her instrument is made, how it works and its range.

Annette Eresten continued by flute and Jane Mann concluded with a talk and demonstration on the piano.

There was also discussion pertaining to a Court of Honor.

At their Dec. 1 meeting the girls had decided on the badges they will work for at home and at meetings. It was decided they would work on sewing as a troop badge requirement. The girls plan to make drawstring bags.

They also decided on the troop crest, the wild rose.

Patrol I decided on the name "Holly Hollanders."

Mrs Paul Mann and Mrs Alex Eresten assisted the leaders, Mrs. Hardy Morningstar and Mrs Robert Jacobs.

Refreshments were brought by Annette Eresten and Mrs Eresten shared in their serving.

Army Allows Holiday Leave for Enlistees

Sgt. Patrick Brizzi has recently announced the United States Army policy on Christmas leave. The program as explained by Sgt. Brizzi allows young men who are taking advantage of the Army's many opportunities to go into the service before Christmas, remain at home during the holidays and later report for basic training.

Sgt. Brizzi also announced the Army's new Aviation program. This permits a high school graduate who is physically qualified to enlist for flying status, become a rated pilot and an officer.

Sgt. Brizzi may be contacted at National Guard Armory in Ann Arbor for further information.

Making up a good Christmas gift list isn't always easy. We like to be sure to give everyone on the list a gift that will be used and appreciated.

Once we know what we want, however, the job need not be so difficult. Check the newspaper ads. Many of the items you need may be advertised, at prices that please.

Then, visit your local merchant and discuss your gift needs with him. If you are in doubt about what to give Uncle John or Aunt Susan, he may offer some helpful suggestions.

In any event, shop locally, where you are assured of quality merchandise, at fair prices, and where there is a guarantee of satisfaction with every transaction.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK
By GEORGE HAGEDORN

★ Never Underestimate the Powers . . .

Unnoticed by almost everybody except statisticians, a quiet revolution has been going on in the composition of the American labor force. The women have been moving in, and at a rate far faster than the men.

Since 1947 there has been a net increase of about 5 million in the number of male job-holders or job-seekers. (The labor force is regarded as including both those who have a job and those who are looking for one) But the increase in the number of female workers or would-be workers has been nearly 9 million during the same period.

When the increases are put in percentage terms the difference is even more striking. The male labor force has increased by 12 percent during the past 17 years, while the female labor force has increased by 52 percent.

Gradual Trend

The men still outnumber the women among that part of the population which goes out to work for a living. But their lead has been cut down substantially—from almost three-quarters of the total right after World War II to less than two-thirds of it at present.

The trend toward increasing participation by women in the economic world is not a sudden development of the last two or three years. It has been going on gradually but steadily over the entire postwar period.

And there are no clear signs that this development has by now run its course. About 80 percent of the males over 14 are in the labor force at present and about 40 percent of the females. Presumably there will always be more men working than women—although we say even this with hesitation. But there is no obvious reason to assume that female participation will stop at 40 percent.

Reasons Explored

One can only speculate on the causes of this phenomenon. The explanation that women have to go to work because of rising unemployment among their menfolk doesn't seem very convincing. The influx was just about as great when the unemployment rate was down around 3 percent as it has been more recently with unemployment over 5 percent.

One contributing factor has been the fact that the sectors of our economy where employment has been increasing are those which typically hire large numbers of women—retail and wholesale trade and the service industries. The predominantly male sectors lie manufacturing, mining and rail transportation have not, on the net, been penetrating new jobs.

Apparently large numbers of women want to supplement their family incomes and they are finding increasing opportunities for doing so. Either community prejudices against women working have declined, or else the women just don't care about them.

In any case, the striking economic growth of the last few years could not have occurred without the contribution of the working women. By a rough calculation, if the increase in the number of women in the labor force since 1947 had been only in the same proportion as the number of men, the annual national output would now be some $50 billion less than it is.

Could we have had the automobile boom of the 1960's, for example, without the increasing contribution of women to family incomes?

Romney Reports . . .

We need to determine as states a sense of direction in dealing with Washington. Co-ordination is as badly needed between the states and Washington, D.C., as between each state and its composite units.

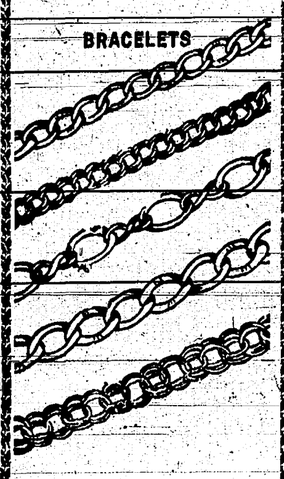

Third, and most important, we must have more citizen and educator involvement. Citizenship responsibility is as sorely needed in education as any other field of endeavor. Equally important, however, is the role of the educator. Educators must become involved in developing public understanding, participation and action. They have a much bigger responsibility than just tossing problems on the desks of public officials. They must be prepared to offer solutions and then join the battle for their resolution. Only if educators become properly involved in education will citizens do the same.

Modesty is usually only skin deep.

Don't even call this timepiece a watch. All the parts that make a watch fast or slow have been left out of it. AGRICULTURE in ACTION . . . . .

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ For the Record . . .

Farmers, being human, dislike keeping records.

Unfortunately, farm management these days is largely a matter of accurate record-keeping. Most agree that the time is long gone when a farmer can keep sufficient records to stay out of tax or economic trouble through jottings on the granary door.

Electronic processing has added new glamour and interest to the whole proceedings, but the giant brains do only as well as the material fed into them allows. It is plain that in spite of need, most farmers do not yet feel it necessary to keep "in depth" records for reasons other than income tax purposes.

Helping complicate matters are a number of "grey" areas that no amount of bookkeeping can accurately evaluate. How, for example, to separate farm business transactions from family business transactions? Farm work is as complicated and as diversified as all outdoors. Farmers themselves add to the confusion by living in the middle of their "factories" and by switching from work to play at a moment's notice.

Is a motor boat a tool of production? Surely it is, some times and some places. Is dog food a proper production expense? Surely, when Rover chases cows and guards the livestock it is. How about when the "care and upkeep" of that hound (or pack of hounds) runs into hundreds of dollars, with the dogs used for occasional hunting?

Much more basic are questions of net worth and "liquid" versus "frozen" assets. Enough farmers have become enough concerned about their status that groups such as the American Farm Bureau Federation have placed farm accounting and farm management services high on their list of things that farmers want most.

But do they want it badly enough to pay the price of truly accurate record-keeping? Past history has not been too encouraging. Most farmers are eager to know the actual cost of producing a bushel of apples or potatoes, but most will not do those things needed to come up with accurate enterprise-cost" accounting.

It goes against a busy farmer's grain to have to spend good work time allocating the quarts of gasoline and the tractor-tire-wear that should be charged against a specific field of corn. But the growing, real need to know their own net worth will hasten the day when farm bookkeeping becomes much more complicated than it is now, and much more accurate.

DEN IV, PACK 425—

Den 4, Pack 425 met at Mrs. Jack Merkel's home last week. The Scouts finished the gifts for their parents, and made favors for the folks at the Colonial Manor. Chuck Foytik, Dannie Thomson, and Danny Merkel were "denners."

VIET CONG CHECKED

The U. S. Air Force apparently is concentrating its aerial reconnaissance on the Laotian region through which men and supplies flow from Communist North Viet Nam into South Viet Nam. The area could be a target for U. S. and South Vietnamese air strikes aimed at choking off this supply route.

WREATHS AND SPRAYS

Do artificial wreaths and sprays look too tired to use again for the coming Christmas season? Then, sponge them with "dry" soap or detergent lather skimmed off the top of sudsy water. This softens the plastic, washes away accumulated dust, and makes decorations glisten. Launder ribbons in warm suds, press them under a layer of wax paper, and tie new bows.

As of Wednesday, 38 persons had entered the race for board of trustees of the proposed Washtenaw County Community College. The deadline for filing was yesterday. A special election to decide whether such a college should be built and to choose six members of a board will be held Jan. 15.

One of the 38 in the race is Paul Bosel, a Dexter man who is active in civic affairs, and who lives with his wife, Frances, and children, Jeffrey, Paula and Gretchen, on N. Delhi Rd. He is Credit and Collection Specialist for General Electric, and has served as representative to the community college committee from the Dexter Board of Education.

Bosel received his degree in Business Administration from the University of Minnesota where he was elected to the honorary fraternity, Beta Gamma Sigma. He received his first two years of college education at a community college in Crosby, Minn.

A resident of Scio and Webster townships since 1955, Bosel has been on the Community Chest board for much of that period, has served on the Board of Education's Advisory committee and on the fund raising committee for Dexter District Library.

Mrs. Florence Mayer of Chelsea was the first person to file her petitions for the board of trustees.

Another area woman in the race is Mrs. Elvira Vogel of Manchester.

Mrs. Vogel is a graduate of the State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls and participated in the Management Training Program in the Radcliffe College Graduate School.

For five years she was employed in the personnel department of Marshall Field and Co. in Chicago, Ill., starting as a job analyst and becoming a supervisor of the merit rating — wage analysis unit.

She is a past president of the Pleasant Lake Parent Teacher Association and of the Western Washtenaw Area PTA Council.

Mrs. Vogel is one of two members representing the Michigan Conference of the United Church of Christ on the board of trustees of the Fort Wayne Children's Home. She is currently serving as first vice president of the Women's Fellowship of the church and is a member of the national Board of Homeland Ministeries.

She represents Freedom township on the board of the Washtenaw charter of the American Red Cross.

The Vogels live at 11437 Pleasant Lake Rd. Freedom township, with their three daughters, Virginia, 13, Valorie, 11, and Sue Ellyn.

Former Dexter resident, David Senkpeil of Ypsilanti has filed, as has Saline attorney, Allan W. Grossman and several Ann Arbor residents.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

The roads were quite slippery several times last week. You have to watch out. Accidents result if you don't.

Someone noticed the days are moving by pretty fast. (Only eight more now). There's a lot to get done. You have to watch out. You won't get finished if you don't.

These days the youngsters are being warned to watch out. They aren't to pout or cry either.

For the space of nearly a month they are coerced into being good by the threat of Santa Claus passing them by. Somehow, no one is quite sure how, he knows whether they've been good or bad.

Children, being what they are, don't seem to change much even in December. They have a supreme faith in Santa's ability to look the other way.

But then I guess we all do—have a faith that the One who watches will look the other way. It's not that He doesn't know. He just doesn't pay attention.

But He does,
And He knows,
And He cares.

He cares enough that He provides some direction for us: He watches out for us.

That's what this Christmas business is all about. That's the why and the wherefore.

PAYS TO BE COURTEOUS

New York — Produce department manager of a New York City supermarket has learned in a profitable way that it pays to be courteous. William Diamondstein was left $10,000 by a satisfied customer. Mrs. Margaret M. Fraxer made the bequest to him because he always treated her with courtesy, the will explained.

Correct this sentence: "Don't breathe this to anyone, I' mnot supposed to tell, but I can trust you."

It takes two nations to fight but it takes many more to keep the peace of the world.

We often wonder whether politicians believe one-half things that we would like t

Wool Growers Urged To Keep Complete Records

Wool growers, particularly those who market their lambs in the fall, were reminded today about the importance of keeping ade- quate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program.

According to Max M. Kalmbach, chairman, Agricultural Stabiliza- tion and Conservation county com- mittee, the sales record for lambs sold should include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number and liveweight of lambs sold, plus the description "un- shorn." Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn, to discourage unusual shearings of lambs before selling.

The chairman also reminded growers that current marketings of wool and lambs through Dec. 31, 1964, will qualify for incen- tive payments under the wool pro- gram for the 1964 marketing year.

Growers are urged to file their applications for payment, support- ed by the required sales docu- ments, with the ASCS county of- fice as soon as possible after their fall sales are completed. While applications for payments on 1964 marketings may be filed no later than the end of January 1965, an applications may be submitted at any time between now and then.

Kalmbach said that lamb feed- ers particularly should keep ac- curate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment. Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a pro- ducer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's owner- ship.

Many Outdoor Events Spark Michigan Winter Season

Residents and visitors to Michigan are going to have a ball this winter.

As a matter of fact, many communities throughout the state have scheduled a variety of balls, festivals and carnivals as a tribute to the Michigan winter season and the fun that goes with it.

Depending on the area and its interest, many communities center their activities around specific wintertime subjects, but the backdrop for the complete snowy show is Michigan's beautiful, white winter wonderland.

Michigan is the natural gathering place for vacationers from all over the midwest who seek their particular brand of winter recreation. Whether they come for ice fishing, skiing, skating or any of the many other snow sports, communities are gearing to show them real Michigan hospitality.

Wherever people are drawn together by a common interest, Michigan folk see to it that some special observance is planned.

Beginning in early December and continuing through March, King Winter is saluted with many events and festivities in both peninsulas.

The first listing in the Michigan Tourist Council's winter Calendar of Events is the Perchville Parade ot Tawas City, December 5. Here, ice fishing is the dominant interest and the community gets off to an early start with a parade of fishing shanties which later will be used on Tawas Bay in Lake Huron by visiting fishermen.

One of the major tributes to this icy sport is held at Houghton Lake in mid-January with the staging of Tip-Up Town USA8 an event which annually draws thousands of visitors from throughout Michigan and the midwest.

Unique features of the festival, which is held almost entirely on the ice; includes the election of mayor and marshall of the city on ice and the selection of the winter queen. Not a beauty contest, the queen candidates are selected from the ladies who are actively ice fishing, and the finalist is chosen on the basis of personality and sportsmanship.

Prizes are awarded throughout the two-day event for fish catches and various other competitions.

A similar event is presented on Baw Beese Lake near Hillsdale later in January.

One of the longest events in Michigan's snowy country is the Petoskey Winter Carnival starting in late January and ending early February.

Speed skating championships, sled dog races, queens coronation, parades, entertainment and other events are scheduled during the two weeks of fun and activity.

Other events throughout the state sharing similar importance include the Winter Carnival at Lewiston; Ice Carnival, Pinconning; Winter Sports Carnival, Clare; Alpena Wintor Carnival, Alpena; Winter Sports Carnival, Grayling; Perchtown Derby, Monroe, and sled dog races at Lake City, Grant and other communities.

Many of Michigan's 80 winter sports centers have scheduled special gala weeks and weekends of carnivals, festivals and winter sports competition, in addition to their regular offering of outdoor winter fun facilities.

Complete listings of all of Michigan's winter events are included in the Council's December-March Calendar of Events. The publication is available free from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926.

"THE NEW INTERNS"

Not unlike the story of "The Interns," this film deals with a new set of interns and tells of the trials, work, heartaches and temptations these young men endure to become doctors.

George Segal plays the part of an ex-hoodlum who recovers from this sort of life and works hard to be a doctor. A fellow intern, Dean Jones, is in obstetrics and faces a real life problem when he learns he and his wife cannot have children. Michael Callan rounds out the principal characters as the perrennial juvenile and Romeo found in each class of enterns.

There are several nurses in the story. A social worker, pretty Inger Stevens who captures Segal's heart, is attacked by hoodums and a story within a story follows these two. Stephanie Powers is Jones' wife.

Not only does it reveal the interns' secrets, it also give a first hand account of emergency room cases.
