Holiday Cage Tournament Starts Monday

Four New Teams Enter Event To Make Competition Tougher

The 1964 Chelsea Holiday basketball tournament starts Monday, Dec. 28 through Dec. 30 with the tournament winner to be decided at the end of the 9:45 game Wednesday evening.

There are four new teams in the tourney this year: Milan, Willow Run, East Jackson and Monroe Jefferson. Willow Run appears to be the strongest newcomer. They play in a class A league which includes Hamtramck and River Rouge. A player to watch for Willow Run is Al Dishman, a sharpshooting forward, who was an all-stater as a Junior.

Milan is always a strong team and will give any tourney team a tough game. They are paced by big Bob Plasters and guard Ken Head. East Jackson is sporting a 2-2 record in the tough cascade conference coming into the tournament. Forward Terry Van Antwerp and center Jim O'Reilly are two boys to watch for East Jackson.

Monroe Jefferson is a new school and plays a tough schedule in the tough River Detroit area. They are a good team with explosive potential. The returning teams to the tourney are: Leslie, Stockbridge, Jackson St. Mary and, of course, Chelsea.

St. Mary will play Chelsea in the 7:30 p.m. game round-up. Chelsea defeated by this same club earlier this year. St. Mary is led by Jerry Stark and 6'7" Steve Lee. The most potent player for St. Mary is guard Joe Filip, who was one of the leading scorers in the area last year. St. Mary is unbeaten with a 3-0 record.

Stockbridge will play East Jackson in the first game of the tourney at 4:30 p.m. Monday. Stockbridge is sporting a 3-1 record. They have fine outside shooting in guard Rick Owen and forward Jon Mills. Stockbridge defeated Chelsea earlier this season.

Leslie comes into the tourney with a 2-2 record. Their win over Stockbridge was the only loss Stockbridge has felt thus far.

There is a new innovation in the tourney this year. Where in the past only a championship and a consolation trophy was awarded, this year a runner-up trophy will be presented to the team that loses out to the champion of the tournament.

It is predicted that this will be the best Christmas tournament in its six years. Strong teams promise to provide some good action.

The Christmas tourney starts out with a 4:30 p.m. game between Stockbridge and East Jackson followed by a 6:15 p.m. game, Willow Run vs. Monroe Jefferson. The winners play against each other at 9:45 p.m. Dec. 29 to determine the team that will play off the championship. This winner is called the "E" winner.

Meanwhile Jackson St. Mary plays against Chelsea at 8 p.m. Monday while Leslie plays Milan at 9:45 p.m. that night. The two winners will clash at 6:15 p.m. Dec. 29 to determine the team that battles to the end for tournament winner. The winner of this match is known as the F winner.

The final play-off takes place at 9:45 p.m. Dec. 30 to determine the championship.

Bulldogs Win First For Season

Chelsea Bulldogs won their first game of the year from undefeated South Lyon Friday night, 56-54.

The Bulldogs managed only six points in a slow-starting first quarter while South Lyon scored 11. Poor shooting was held responsible for the small point total as both teams played deliberate ball, seeking out the opposition's weaknesses.

The Bulldogs in the second quarter moved the ball up the court fast to prevent the Lions' zone defense from getting set. A half-court pressing defense also was applied by the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs' constant hustle and drive did upset the South Lyon strategy. Chelsea had scored 15 points to South Lyon's 11 before the end of the quarter leaving South Lyon with only a one point lead at half-time.

Tom Steele scored 11 of his 17 points in the third quarter on some good faking and driving. By the end of the quarter, Chelsea was ahead, 38-36.

Termed a "barn burner" the final quarter saw both teams chalk up 18 points to maintain the two-point Bulldog lead to victory.

Some clutch shooting by Charles Schmunk put the Bulldogs into a two-point lead, 55-53, with one minute remaining. The Lions then scored on a foul shot to make the score 55-54. The Bulldogs then stalled the next 50 seconds behind some good dribbling by Gary Dresch. In order to get the ball the Lions intentionally fowled Tom Wojcicki, who promptly dropped in a foul slot, to make the final score 56-54.

The Chelsea victory was made possible by great spirit and hustle. This hustle allowed the smaller Bulldogs to outrebound the taller Lions, 48-41. Tom Steele, 5'10" tall, pulled down 11 rebounds, as did Ed Windell. Dave Clark, grabbed 6 rebounds and Charles Schmunk, 7. The thorn in the Bulldogs' side was Tom Duncan, who scored 24 points and got 15 rebounds.

Also, the defense of the Bulldogs finally came into its own.

Holiday Mail Service Set For Saturday

Most of the nation's 590,000 postal employees will get a three-day Christmas week-end and at the same time the Government will save an estimated $8 to $4 million, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski announced today.

In a directive to all postmasters, Gronouski suspended normal mail deliveries on Saturday, Dec. 26. This will give an extra day off to most of these employees who normally work that day.

Ordinarily, those regular employees who work Saturday would be due a compensatory day off the following week. By granting them relief from work Dec. 26, the necessity to pay substitute employees to replace them during their compensatory leave day is eliminated.

Past experience has shown that by noon on Dec. 24, post offices throughout the nation have been cleared of holiday and business mail.

Young Man Drowns in Fall Through Ice

Heroic Rescue Attempt Fails To Save Life of Stanley Hand, Jr.

Stanley Hand, Jr., 21, of 13096 North Territorial Rd., Dexter township, drowned Sunday afternoon in spite of courageous efforts by an Ann Arbor man to save him.

Hand's body was found in about 45 feet of water almost four hours after he plunged through thin ice while trying to cross the small lake which is just off Hankerd Rd. in Dexter township.

Sheriff's Detective Sgt. Dale J. Hoffman said Hand apparently went hunting in the Pickerel Lake area about 1 p.m. Sunday. He carried a shotgun and had his hunting dog with him when he parked his car at a state fishing site at the southwest edge of the lake.

Sheriff's men said from tracks left in the snow they concluded Hand had first walked half way around the lake on the shore with his dog and then apparently decided to return to his car on the opposite side. But instead of returning via the shoreline, Hand started out across the lake ice, officers surmised.

Deputies said although some parts of the lake can hold the weight of a man, many sections of it Sunday had ice only a few inches thick. There was open water on one part of the lake, sheriff's men said.

Hand walked about three-fourths of the way across the lake and was about 100 yards from the shore where his car was parked when the ice broke and he plunged into the frigid water. He managed to stay afloat, and as he thrashed about in the water, his cries attracted the attention of Robert Miller, 41-year-old industrial engineer of 1433 Covington, Ann Arbor.

Miller was riding through the Pickerel Lake area with his family when he spotted Hand's dog racing around on the ice and barking. He saw Hand's shotgun on the ice and then observed the man struggling for his life.

Miller stopped his car, told his wife, Elizabeth to call the Sheriff's Department, and then with his son, Charles, 13, ran to the edge of the lake.

With an axe he had with him, Miller quickly cut down two small trees and lying on his stomach started edging out on to the ice. Sgt. Hoffman said Miller reached a point about 10 feet from Hand and shoved the trees to the struggling man.

STANLEY HAND, JR.

Miller told deputies that Hand shouted to him:

"Get me out quick! I'm very tired."

Miller fell into the water as Hand grabbed for the trees. Hand then sank while Miller managed to stay afloat, shouting to his son, Charles to get him a jacket. His father directed him then to crawl on his stomach out to where Miller was in the water. Miller made the jacket into a makeshift life preserver, but he was still unable to climb out of the water onto the ice around him.

At this point Harold Green and Asa Walker of Ann Arbor rushed to the scene. Green got a rope from his car, and Miller's son crawled out on the ice to his father a second time. He edged out on the cracking ice until he got colse enough to toss his father one end of the rope. Miller grabbed it.

The boy crawled back to shore and moments later Green and Walker were pulling Miller out of the water and to the shore.

By that time sheriff's officers had arrived and members of the department's civilian Water Recovery Team were summoned to the scene. The divers searched in vain for Hand's body.

The Sheriff's Department boat was brought to the scene and deputies smashed the ice with oars in foot-by-foot progress out to the drowning scene. Grappling hooks were lowered and Hand's

A graduate of Michigan State University, Blake has his master's degree in Vocational Education. He has been teaching for 10 years, eight of them as a director in this field. At present, Blake is with the L'Anse Creuse school in Mt. Clemens in this capacity.

His first move when he comes to the area will be to conduct a survey of needs, and businessmen will probably be contacted this winter or early spring.

The vocational education department will provide for students to go to school half-days and work at a vocation such as electronics, mechanics, or some other trade the other half of the day. It will prepare non-college-bound students for employment upon graduation as they will receive practical instruction and get experience on the job while in high school.

The Blakes plan to settle in one of the three communities.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

As we approach Christmas, 1964 and the close of another year, we find that many changes have occurred in the world since a year ago at this time.

There were times during the year when major events seemed fairly to tumble one upon another. The news often broke fast, permitting little time to weigh and assess one event when another, hard on its heels, occurred.

Christmas should not become merely one more event in a crowded year. This day of Christmas, and the meaning of Christmas, is too important to simply consider "just one more holiday," different from the others because the exchange of gifts is involved and because so much advertising and publicity is centered on the artificial aspects of Christmas.

The commercialization that is so much a part of Christmas every year is much criticized and probably rightly so. Now ,even the criticism of the commercialism of Christmas is a part of the Christmas Season.

We sing the songs of Christmas and we go through the motions of proper observance but in the frenzied activity of this Season, the Message of Christmas is, nevertheless, often overlooked.

The Message of Christmas is hope. The birth of Christ, God's Son, was intended to give men hope.

The Message of Christmas is love. Christ preached love for one's fellow man continually during his life on earth. The angels attendant at Christ's birth sang hopefully of "peace on earth, good will toward men." And until peace on earth becomes reality we can hope for peace and work to achieve peace.

At year's end we assess and evaluate what we have done and where we are going. Did we keep the peace? Did we extend the boundaries of human rights to include all citizens, regardless of skin color, religion or national origin? Did we face, honestly and squarely, the needs of people?

It is with hope that we face the future, with all its problems and with all the demands the future will make. And it is with hope that we enter the future's unfamiliar territory, those landscapes dotted with question marks.

Christmas is a time to humbly praise God for his blessings and to give thanks to God for the Gift Eternal.

If any sincere person fears that the true meaning of Christmas has been lost, he need not look far to find it. It is in his heart.

What Christmas really is . . . to any person . . . is what is in his heart on that day.

It is a pleasure for me to send Holiday best wishes to all the citizens of Michigan. May each of you enjoy a most Merry Christmas and a prosperous and Happy New Year.

SEASON'S GREETINGS TO EVERYONE

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Needed Improvement

Change appears to be the theme for the New Year in state government.

In addition to the face-lifting being given the State Capitol building, new construction of government offices, and high turnover and change of majority control in the legislature, Democrats now say they propose another major shift:

To provide additional secretarial help and four-man office units for state lawmakers. The proposal will be a welcome change from several standpoints.

Visitors to the legislative chambers, particularly school children, expect a certain businesslike decor and decorum. Many have been heard to ask tour guides if the lawmakers really paid attention to what they were doing, or whether the desks were "always so cluttered."

In the past, committee chairmen generally were the only members who had facilities other than their desks, to store mail or other material essential to conscientious fulfillment of their jobs.

Sometimes members attempted to use session time to answer mail by hand or dictate letters, because this was the only time they could get a secretary. This was caused by an approximate 7-to-1 ratio of members to secretarial staff for each party.

Democratic House Speaker-elect Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit said he hopes to have provisions for legislative office space within the Capitol ready by mid-January, shortly after the 1965 session starts.

"For 16 years I have been coming up here and have had to interview constituents and conduct business at my desk on the House floor," he noted.

A legislative office building is in the planning stage for future construction, but Kowalski said he does not want to wait any longer. Presumably he also means he wants something done while he is in control of House organization.

Once accomplished, it is assumed a return to Republican legislative control would not mean a reduction in the added clerical staff and office facilities since both parties would benefit by it.

Needed Replacement

Strong popularity of new license plates, especially after three years, is evidenced daily on roads throughout the state.

The best evidence, however, is seen in the records of the Secretary of State's office, which is responsible for distribution and sale of license plates.

In the first month of sales, license offices throughout the state had sold more than a half-million plates to set down a sharp hike in the previous record.

The two lines required for "Water-Winter Wonderland" is resented by some. It has been suggested that only one line be used for this ad plug. Or that some plates list "Water Wonderland" and others "Winter Wonderland." Perhaps the words could be alternated on plates for front and back of each car.

With 10 years in his present position, Secretary of State James M. Hare said he "never saw anything like it before." The same sales mark was not hit last year, when only tabs were sold, until five weeks later.

At the first-month sales rate, the traditional long lines in late February could be avoided barring a January sag, Hare said.

The strong sales appeared to be attribuaable once again, as in 1959 and 1962, to the fact that new plates were available to replace the bent, rusted and sometimes just plain worn out old ones which had been tagged in the intervening years.

Minimum Wage

Most of Michigan's new laws enacted by the 1964 legislature took effect Aug. 28, some 90 days after the session ended.

Perhaps one of the most important laws, in terms of long-range impact, does not become effective until Jan. 1, 1965. This is the state's minimum wage law.

In making Michigan the 34th state with some kind of minimum wage standard, legislators set the 1965 rate at $1 an hour to cover an estimated 100,000 not previously covered under Federal regulation.

In the two successive years, however, the state minimum hourly rate will be hiked to $1.15 and $1.25, respectively. Greatest impact will be the so-called service industries: hotels, motels, dry cleaners, laundries, gas stations and retail stores.

Seasonal employees, on the farms as well as in the tourist industry, will be covered in many cases. The law provides the minimum wage for any employee who works more than 13 weeks a year for a person hiring four or more employees at a time.

Exceptions to the minimum wage are many in the law as enacted this year. But once on the books and in use, it is expected annual changes will be attempted to increase the coverage to the maximum number of Michigan workers not covered by the Federal standards.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was in the proper frame of mind fer the spirit and joy of the Yuletide season. As a general rule most of the sessions contains a heap of ifs, and, buts, and provideds, but Saturday night everbody was taking a stand for peace on earth and goodwill toward man.

Even Ed Doolittle, that has voted the straight Republican ticket for 50 year and ain't quite got his health back from the Goldwater backslide, was speaking about Democrats in the spirit of Christmas and fergiveness. He said they was all good loyal Americans, but he did go on to say if they didn't quit voting so heavy they was going to ruin the country.

Clem Webster brung up the fine point that they was a difference between Christmas spirit and Christmas joy. Fer instant, said Clem, it's gitting so you can tell how much folks was enjoying theirselves during the Christmas holidays by how many of them gits killed in automobiles, and it looks like they was having more and more enjoyment ever Christmas. This was the season, claimed Clem, that makes a heap of folks drive so fast and reckless they won't be with us next Christmas. He figgers fast driving causes about half the wrecks and drunk driving the other half. He was of the opinion a good rule of the road, special at Christmas time, was not to git in no hurry and not git in your cups and automoblle at the same time.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw in the papers where a preacher in Georgia announced the offering in the collection plate last Sunday come to $16.25 in money and 17 Goldwater buttons. They ain't no better sign, allowed Zeke, that all is now fergot and fergive and the Christmas spirit was amongst us.

Josh Clodhopper was pointing out another blessing we always git at Christmas time. Our Congressmen and Senators has all left Washington and them that ain't took all their kinfolks on a free trip to some warm foreign country was at home working on their political fences. Josh figgered the money it would cost fer them vacation trips would about balance off again what it costs to run the free restaurants and private dining rooms in the House and Senate. Anytime, allowed Josh when the taxpayers could break even between the Congress and a dollar it was time fer great rejoicing in the land, Christmas or no Christmas.

Serious, Mister Editor, the felloers at the store was all good church-going, tax-paying, loyal Americans and they wasn't a man amongst them that wouldn't give Uncle Sam the shirt off his back—if Uncle Sam come and took it.

And I am shore all of them joins me in wishing fer you and your fine readers and advertisers a MERRY ,MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Let us rejoice at Christmas,
the Day of His birth. May we ever be blessed by the wonders of the first Holy Night.

Drowning Victim . . .

body was located by Uniformed Deputy David Severance in the first sweep of the area.

Hand was the eighth person to drown in Washtenaw county this year and the first winter drowning in several years.

Miller, although chilled through and suffering from a gash in his hand cut by the ice, was not hospitalized.

Deputies praised Miller's courage in the rescue attempt and said his son's efforts along with those of Green and Walker saved Miller's life.

JV Cagers Split Last Four Games

Chelsea 43, Jackson 39

After an opening defeat the Littel Bulldogs came back with a 43-39 victory over the Jackson High school sophomore team.

Following a slow start that found them behind, 8 to 6, the JV's scored 13 points in the second quarter on some good shooting by Bill Harvey, Dan Parsons and Tom Kern and strong rebounds by Harvey, Parsons and Jim Henry.

High scorers for the game were Dan Parsons with 16 and Bill Harvey with 12. Harvey collected 18 rebounds while Parsons added 14.

Chelsea 48, Dundee 57

A 29 to 23 halftime lead vanished under a pressing defense by the Dundee Junior Varsity and the little Bulldogs lost their second game, 57 to 48.

Rick Salyer and Tom Kern led the first half surge with 7 and 8 points, respectively. However, three starters fouled out in the third period and Dundee was able to score 18 points to take over the lead.

High scorer for the game was Tom Kern with 14.

Chelsea 45, Stockridge 51

A third quarter surge which brought the JV's from an 11-point deficit to a tie fell short as the little Bulldogs lost their third game, 51-45 to the Stockbridge Little Panthers. After trailing 34 to 23 at halftime the JV's scored 13 points while holding Stockbidge to four-points. Early in the fourth quarter the little Bulldogs tied the game at 43-43 and appeared headed for a victory when some fouls erased a one-point lead.

High scorers for the game were: Don Salyer with 22, and Dan Parsons with 8. Bill Harvey grabbed 14 rebounds while Parsons hauled down 10.

Chelsea 64, South Lyon 63

Using some hot shooting and a pressing defense the Chelsea Junior Varsity overcame a 13-point halftime lead by South Lyons to win the game, 64-63, in overtime.

Hitting on 33 percent of their field goal attempts and a hustling defense were the keys to the little Bulldog's second victory.

Trailing 36 to 23 at halftime the JV's scored 19 and 17 points in the third and fourth quarter to draw to a 59-59 tie at the end of regulation play. With some key help from substitutes, the 13-point South Lyon advantage slowly disappeared. The JV's outscored the Lions, 5 to 4, in the overtime period on two field goals and a free throw.

Rick Salyer hauled down 10 rebounds while Bill Harvey added 9.

The scoring was evenly balanced among five players Salyer and Dan Parsons each scored 14, while Harvey added 11 and Don Salyer and Tom Kern each collected 10. Paul Lancaster adder 4 and Kim Flintoft 1 in the wining effort.

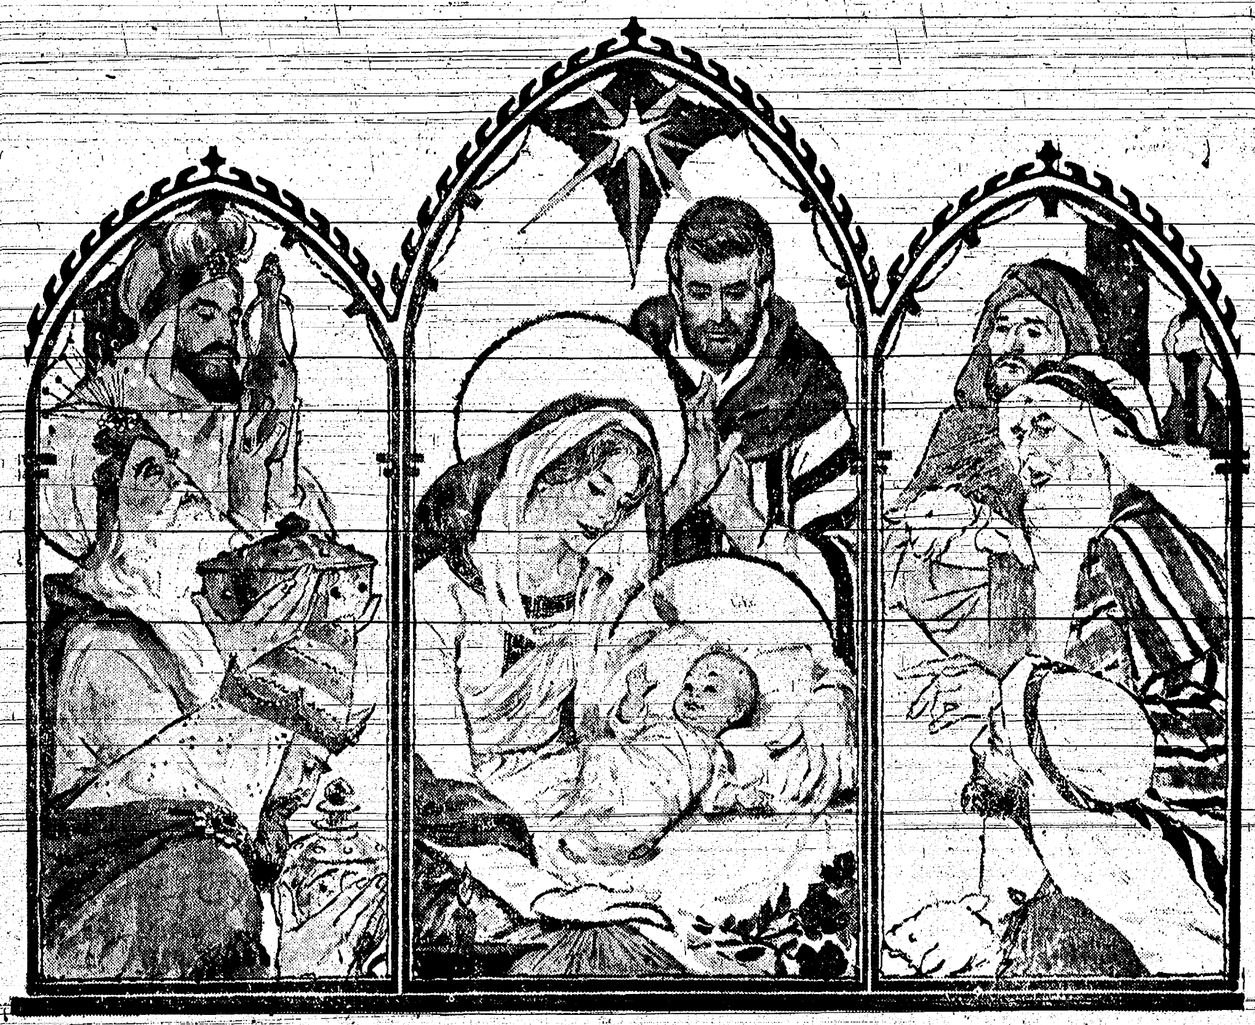
CHRISTMAS GREETINGS



"Unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." To humble shepherds keeping watch over their flocks in starlit fields, the triumphant message of the herald angels burst forth in fullest glory. And for the Wise Men from afar, the brilliant light of a Star shone in the heavens, guiding them on their way. Then to the sacred manger, shepherds and Wise Men came, to worship and rejoice. Each year, as we hear the Christmas story and welcome anew the Christ Child in our hearts, we find a new meaning for life, a new hope for the future. For Christmas is not an ancient tale of bygone time. Christmas lives. Christmas is now. Christmas is ever wondrous, ever radiant with joy and promise. May all its blessings be yours.

Holiday Mail

The Postmaster General said regular "holiday" schedules will be observed by all post offices on Dec. 26, with two-hour window service being provided for firms that normally call for their mail. With this exception, no other post office window services will be provided. Post Office lobbies will also be open on a "holiday" schedule.

Deliveries of gift parcels, special delivery mail, and perishable articles will be provided, Gronouski said, and a sufficient number of employees will be retained to perform the necessary distribution of incoming and outgoing mail. The order does not affect deliveries by rural carriers.

All mail deposited in lobbies and collection boxes will be picked up on a "holiday" collection schedule and dispatched as usual.

In case there is an unusual heavy backlog of mail on Dec. 24, in any Post Office, the Regional Director may make exceptions and permit normal Saturday service.

White House Guides Yule Traditions

Many of the cherished traditions which make Christmas merrier in the United States had their start in the White House.

George Washington, first President of the United States, surrounded himself with family and grandchildren at cheerful Christmas parties, and set the theme of a "Merry Christmas" for his country. Washington also furthered the use of American holly as a decoration by growing the glossy-leaved tree on his estate at Mount Vernon.

Andrew Jackson was fond of giving large, colorful parties for young and old on Christmas Day. Frozen ices, a novelty at that time, were served, and there was a small, frosted pine tree, surrounded by toys.

Franklin Pierce introduced the modern Christmas tree to the White House in 1850.

Benjamin Harrison, in 1889, told reporters he planned an "old fashioned Christmas" including a Christmas tree, for his family, and urged others to join him in observing the custom.

Conservation-minded Theodore Roosevelt once refused to allow a Christmas tree in the White House. His son, Archie, smuggled one in, however, and the President finally relented.

First lighting of the National community Christmas Tree at the White House was observed in 1923 when Calvin Coolidge was President.

Smiles Brighter, Hearts Lighter As World Greets Christmas

Season's Sights, Sounds Proclaim Joyful Season

By ANA MANG

It's Christmas, time to greet a friend, wrap a gift, help the needy. It's Christmas, time to sing a carol, light a candle, trim a tree. It's Christmas, time to send a card, surprise a neighbor, delight a child. It's Christmas, time to welcome visitors, spread good from food to fellowship.

Most of all, it's Christmas, time to say a prayer, count many blessings, rejoice. It's Christmas, time to celebrate anew the very first Christmas of all, the Birthday of Christ.

It's Christmas, and throughout this community the sights and sounds of a joyful, festive season appear. All through the town, twinkling lights, fragrant flowers and greens and a myriad other decorations show to every beholder the glad spirit of Christmas. Bells ring out and voices sing out, proclaiming the wonderful news.

Christmas is here. And because Christmas is here, steps are lighter, smiles are brighter, hearts are merrier.

On the way to Christmas, there may have been hours when everything seemed just too hectic—too many plans to make, too much to do, too little time. But as the great day arrives, there is time to pause, to see and to treasure the glow and the glory of Christmas. Then it is clear that every moment of preparation, every personal effort to make Christmas more complete was indeed well worth it.

Most Memorable

No two Christmases are ever alike—but this one, surely, must be the most memorable of all. Each year it seems so, and each year it's true. Every Christmas is more delightful than the last, if only because it is enriched by one more memory of Christmas past.

Memories and traditions mount up to make the Christmas customs of today. Most such customs began so long ago that their exact and accurate origin is hidden in the mists of time, and several theories may be put forward to explain why and how each custom developed.

Happily, the wealth of legend and lore woven about Christmas is pleasing rather than confusing. Especially at this season, a touch of the magical and mystical is more to be welcomed than a deluge of precise factual detail, and one of the special charms of Christmas customs is the hint of mystery surrounding them.

For Decoration

Candles, apples, colored papers —these were among the early tree ornaments.

Later, individual countries developed their own tree-decorating ideas. Straw windmills and birdcages appeared on Lithuanian trees, while the Poles devised ornaments from feathers and ribbons.

Tree decorations contributed by Scandinavian countries were as various as fish nets and miniature flags.

The modern array of tree ornaments is vast and imaginative, but even so many families like to add their own personal, "old-fashioned" touch to the tree, with decorations such as paper chains and strings of popcorn or cranberries.

Lighting Candles

Martin Luther, the Reformation leader, is creditad by some legend collectors with decorating the first lighted Christmas tree. He lit candles and placed them on the boughs of an evergreen—a custom that would be frowned on today, when fire safety is the rule in Christmas decorating.

By lighting the candles and decking the tree, he hoped to show his family some small reflection of the glory and inspiration of the heavens on the first Holy Night.

Why A Tree?

Why a tree at Christmas? One early legend says that all the trees burst into bloom on the night Christ was born.

Folk tales of ancient times tell of a huge tree in a forest, lighted with many candles, some of which were straight and some bent. At the top was an Infant with a halo.

The tree was meant to represent humanity, the candles, people good and bad; and the Infant, the Baby Jesus.

Another explanation links today's Christmas tree to ancient feasts of the winter equinox, when trees were adorned with trinkets.

St. Boniface, an English missionary to Germany, is said to have told converts that the fir should be their holy tree, replacing the oak, sacred in Druid tree worship and thus beginning the custom of a decorated fir.

Many are the legends, but one thing is certain. Nowadays Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without the tree.

Stocking Up Starts With Santa

Santa Claus, envisioned today as a jolly, cheerful man with an affinity for children, was a romanticist too, according to legend.

The first Santa Claus, St. Nicholas, started the custom of hanging stockings by the chimney when his romantic heart was touched, and he gifted a bankrupt merchants' three marriageable daughters with gold for their dowries.

Desiring anonymity, he tossed the three bags of gold through the window, or, as some tell it, down the chimney. One of the bags landed in a stocking which had been hung up to dry on the mantelpiece.

Hanging up stockings thus became part of the holiday ritual.

Most people are a little smarter than they seem.

Survey Shows Dollar Impact Of Deer Season

Lansing — Michigan deer hunters spent more than $13 million on food, lodging and recreation during the 16-day season, according to preliminary figures from a Central Michigan University research study.

The survey of Michigan's overall tourist and recreational travel picture is being conducted under a special $78,000 grant by the Michigan Legislature. The CMU Center for Economic Expansion is responsible for the study which is being co-ordinated with work being conducted at other Michigan universities.

"Our preliminary survey of the impact of Michigan's deer season is based on more than 2,700 interviews among the some 450,000 hunters and covers every type of accommodation," said Charles R. Owens, survey director.

"The dollar figure does not include money spent on transportation, equipment and license sales."

"We found the average party to be about four persons who hunt some five and one-half days. We also found that the average hunter spends about $30 during that five and one-half days."

The 15-month-long survey will cover every season and is designed to give tourism officials a measuring stick to more accurately determine the value of Michigan's tourist industry.

"The preliminary material which the Central Michigan study has developed has already given us some new insights into our industry and we are confident that the completed study will be of great value," said William T. McGraw, director of the Michigan Tourist Council.

"In some cases the preliminary work appears to confirm previous Council research done on a limited scale. In other matters it is pioneering new areas which the industry previously has been financially unable to study," he said.

The CMU survey work got underway early in 1964 and results will be available by the end of 1965.

SIGHTING ROBINS

Popular motif on early Christmas cards was the English robin—possibly because English postmen, who delivered the cards, in those days wore red uniforms and were often called "Robin."

FRANCISCO STUDY CLUB

Francisco Study Club met Dec. 10 at home of Mrs. Austin Artz Clear Lake Rd.

Guests were greeted by Santa Claus near the chimney top and with lighted Christmas tree indoors and holiday decorations everywhere.

Guests were seated around a festive decorated dining table for a special Christmas luncheon prepared by the hostess.

After luncheon the guests opened their "secret pal" gifts which also revealed the identity of the donor.

The afternoon was spent in games and each guest received a prize. New "secret pal" names were drawn for next year.

Mrs. Jerry Satterthwaite reported that Mrs. Leroy Feldkamp has accepted the invitation to the January meeting and will bring her craft ideas to show. She also indicated a willingness to help the group in any way should there be a special interest shown in a craft.

The Ypsilanti State Hospital party was again rated as a huge success. The patients in Ward B-42 were overjoyed with the games, prizes and refreshments. One particular man was asked, upon taking his 18th cupcake, if he weren't afraid of becoming ill after all his eating. He said that if he was it would be worth it. His expression summed up the attitude of all the patients who participated. Each year we are again reminded of the needs of those who are institutionalized and just how much "good-will" can come from a little effort.

A motion was made by Mrs. Edwin Lantis that the box of candy remaining from our sale should be given to Mrs. Darrel Satterthwaite for her fine job completing the arrangements during the sale.

Mrs. Earl Tison and Mrs. Darrel Satterthwaite indicated their willingness to teach the January lesson entitled "Teen-age Drivers" and "Driving IQ."

Mrs. Arthur Stoll read an appreciative letter from William S. Cook, director of Community Relations at Ypsilanti State Hospital. He assured the group that its visit was most appreciated.

The group also enjoyed a Christmas card sent by a former club member, Mrs. Earl Kuhl, who has moved away.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Paul with Mrs. John Laraway assisting as co-hostess.

Correction . . .

In the Episcopal Church Womens social activities report last week it erroneously reported Mrs. J. Robards as vice-president. Mrs. Robert L. Foster is vice-president and Mrs. William Willard is treasurer.

May the Christmas spirit of Peace on Earth come to dwell in the hearts of all.

Stanley F. Hand, Jr.

Services Held Yesterday For Drowning Victim

Funeral services for Stanley F. Hand, Jr., 21 of 13996 W. North Territorial Rd. in Dexter township who drowned Sunday afternoon were held at 2 p.m. yesterday at the St. Paul United Church of Christ in Chelsea.

He graduated from Chelsea High school in 1962, where he was on the football team.

Mr. Hand also had attended Michigan State University. He was a member of the St. Paul United Church of Christ and had sung in the church junior choir.

The fine defensive play of Tom Wojcicki, Tom Steele, Charles Schmunk, David Clark, Ed Windell, and Gary Dresch cannot be overemphasized.

Injuries continued to plague the team. Besides Jim Cameron being out with a broken hand; Mike Tarasow missed the South Lyon tilt with an infected foot. Tom Wojcicki has been playing on a badly sprained ankle all season, Charles Schmunk's knee still bothers him when he applies too much pressure on it. David Clark injured his knee in an automobile accident early this fall and also twisted his ankle in the Dundee game. Jim Ortbring will miss the first half of the Bulldog season because of disciplinary reasons. Gary Dresch is playing with painful shin splints. The list continues to mount as the season progresses. The few days before the Christmas tourney should give some of the injuries a chance to heal.

The most points ever scored in one game were the 103 South Lyon made in 1960. The three-game biggest-scorer was Chelsea in 1963 when they made 242 points.

The most total points ever scored in a game was in a South Lyon-Pinckney game where South Lyon made 103 and Pinckney, 74 points, bringing the total to 177.

Key Club faculty advisors are Fred Mills and Jim Bedford. Bob Daniels is the representative from the Kiwanis Club.

Other projects planned for the future are a sledding party for children 6 to 12 and some other building projects at the high school.

Warning Issued About Thin Ice On Area Lakes

A warning that ice is dangerously thin on almost all lakes in the Pinckney Recreation Area was issued Monday by area manager Norman Roeske of the Conservation Department. The warning followed a drowning at Pickerel Lake Sunday.

Roeske said there are about 30 lakes in the recreation area and almost all are deep and spring fed. None is regarded as safe for ice fishing, the maximum ice thickness being estimated at three or four inches he said.

Some of the Lakes with more active springs have open water in spots and are not expected to be safe for ice fishing until an extended period of below freezing temperatures sets in, Roeske added.

Christmas Rush Nearly Over for Tree Growers

Lansing — Michigan growers are finishing their own Christmas rush and, by the time it's all over, they are expected to set a record in sales by supplying about four and one-half million trees during this year's yuletie season, the Conservation Department estimates.

Their biggest market, of course, is right here in Michigan where families will buy more than three million trees. Of this total, about 85 percent will be state-grown, with the remainder made up largely of Canadian imports and shipments of douglas fir from the West.

Boosting Michigan sales again this season will be demands from the nation's northeastern states where continued drought conditions have cut into that region's Christmas tree crop. The high quality of Michigan trees shipped eastward last December has triggered a decided upturn in state volumes ordered from that part of the country.

Other major outside markets for Michigan's Christmas trees include the southwestern states, Iowa, Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

Scotch pine will account for better than 65 percent of the trees bought in Michigan. Other popular species will include spruce, balsam, and douglas fir.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

The brilliance of a star. The lilt of a happy song. The quieter nighttime noises. The simple familiar scene of the creche.

All these are a part of Christmas too.

They are sometimes lost in the other part - the shopping, the entertaining, the decorating, the excited children, and for them, the too long days.

Today wraps it up, doesn't it? Tonight and tomorrow—then a blessed relief from Christmas pressure. Nothing is left to do but look for lost pieces and repair broken toys.

In a few days the decorations will go and the house return to "normal."

But "normal" is different now. It has been ever since the first Christmas.

What changed it? Probably the fact that God now moved in a different way among his people. The formal language of the Church call it "Incarnation." What it really means is that "God is with us."

Now that he is nothing is the same as it was. No longer hidden from our eyes, he knows what our life is like. "Ours was the pain he bore, the sorrow he endured."

That's why the street decorations; that's why the tree; that's why the gifts; that's why the happy song.

Merry Christmas.

Bully for Them!

Lansing — There's a lot more to being a conservation or fire officer than just protecting Michigan forests, waters, and wildlife—important as these responsibilities are.

Take it from conservation officer Earl C. Helms and forest officer Hugh H. Nolan of Alpena. Recently, while on patrol, they were called upon by a local farmer to get his large, snorting bull back into the barn at the wee hour of 2 a.m.

It took some doing, but they got the job done. Drawing a breath of relief, officer Nolan reflected, "This was one time I was glad we carried pistols." Jokingly, he added, "I wasn't afraid though because Helms is very good at shooting the bull."

Fishing Licenses, Park Permits for 1965 Mailed To All Local Dealers

Lansing — Michigan's 1965 fishing licenses, trout stamps, and state park vehicle permits are now on sale throughout the state at same-as-before prices, the Conservation Department reports.

Distribution of licenses, stamps, and copies of next year's fishing rules was completed last week to about 4,000 local dealers. At the same time, the Department finished mailing annual entrance permits to each of Michigan's state parks and to nearly 1,000 license dealers in neighboring areas of these public recreation facilities.

New fishing licenses and stamps will be valid from the time they are purchased through the end of 1965. Anglers may still fish on 1964 licenses and stamps during the rest of this month.

Fishing fees include $2 for the annual resident license; $5 for the annual non-resident license; $4 for the 15-day non-resident license; and $2 for the trout stamp.

Vehicle owners with 1965 permits will get the green light to enter state parks during December as well as throughout next year. Each permit bought at a state park costs $2. License dealers are authorized to collect an additional 15-cent fee to cover handling.

Charles K. Spillman, Michigan State University agricultural engineer, recommends a minimum of 150 cubic feet per animal when building lagoons for disposal of hog manure. For 100 animals this could mean building a lagoon 50 feet by 60 feet and at least 5 feet deep, at a cost of about $400, he says.

Dolls Play Dual Role

Used Today As Christmas Toys, As Religious Symbol

On Christmas morning, little girls throughout the land will lovingly cuddle new dolls and declare to one and all how wonderful a gift they have received. At the same time, beautiful creche dolls will be displayed in churches and homes as part of the Christmas setting.

This dual role—as toy and as religious symbol—is a function that dolls have filled for centuries, according to Encyclopedia Americana. And it is generally believed that the first use of dolls was religious, rather than for entertainment.

Historians report the doll originally was used as a representation of human figures in religious sanctuaries. The word "doll" itself, in fact, is derived from the Greek word "eidolon," meaning "idol."

Archaeologists have unearthed dolls in the ruins of tombs thousands of years old. And their presence in the tombs is assumed by some historians to mean the objects were included as idols.

Among some ancient societies, dolls were thought to possess mystical powers. Many primitive tribes included such figures in burials as a spirit to keep the the deceased company in another world. Today, in addition to the creche dolls of Christendom, dolls hold a religious importance in the Orient, where annual doll festivals are held to celebrate the birthday of Buddha.

As toys, dolls have existed for centuries. The earliest toy dolls known were discovered in the near East and Greece. These primitive dolls were made of clay, stone or bone.

Typical was the legless paddle doll of ancient Egypt which was made from a single, flat piece of pottery or wood.

Although dolls today may be extremely complex and filled with electrical gadgets, dolls of the 17th and 18th centuries frequently were even more elaborate.

They became so elaborate, in fact, that they were sent to court, and in times of war special dispensations were made to assure their safe transport to a peaceful refuge, like works of art.

Christmas Customs Vary Widely Around World

Some people enjoy a White Christmas, while some people go swimming or picnicking on December 25. Some people say it's traditional to serve turkey at the holiday feast, while some people favor a Christmas goose, and still others contend that carp or fried eel is the very thing for a tasty Yuletide dish.

Around the world, Christmas customs vary, but on one point nearly all are agreed. It's a season to celebrate.

In the United States and Canada, the "melting pot" origins of the population result in a medley of Christmas traditions from all over. Americans and Canadians from Central Europe still prepare their traditional Yuletide foods with carp, while those from Italy might hanker for some Christmas capitoni, made with fried eels.

Especially during a severe winter, residents of the Northern U.S. and Canada would be glad to change places, or at least change weather, with those Australians, South Americans and others who enjoy summer activities at Christmas.

On the other hand, North Americans have made their own contributions to Christmas around the world. For instance, there's Santa, white-bearded and red-suited, who is now replacing St. Nicholas and other Yule gift givers in many countries.

In Greece . . .

Young people of Greece foretell their romantic future at Christmas by tossing olive leaves on the burning Yule log. Tradition decrees that if the leaves, symbolizing the girl and man, curl toward each other, the lovers can expect their happiness to be long-lived.

If the leaves burn apart, their romance may be fraught with difficulties. The best result, however, is if the leaves burn to a crisp. This means their love is deep and all-enduring.

In Japan . . .

December 25 is not a national holiday in Japan, but you'd never know it from the colorful store decorations and the happy squeals of youngsters gifted by "Santa Claus San."

Department stores may have as many as 100 Santas.

In Germany . . .

The celebration of a West German Christmas is filled with tradition, foremost of which is the Christmas tree, dating back 400 years. Until recently, trees were trimmed with candles, and although artificial lighting for tree ornaments has been introduced, the candles are still preferred by many.

Rudolph of the Red Nose Adds To Fame of Santa's Eight Reindeer

"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On Comet! on, Cupid! on,
Donder and Blitzen!"

Here, just as Santa said them, are the names of the "eight tiny reindeer" who drew his "miniature sleigh," according to Clement C. Moore in his poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

But, since Moore wrote his poem in 1823, Santa must have added some new reindeer. It's certain that he has at least one famous sleigh-puller not mentioned in the poem—the red-nosed Rudolph.

Rudolph made his first public appearance in 1939, in the song, "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," with words and music by Johnny Marks.

The story of Rudolph, whose red nose made him first a joke and then a hero, seems to have the indefinable appeal that makes a Yuletide tradition. As the other reindeer in the song predicted, when Rudolph's red nose led the team through a dark, overcast Christmas Eve, it seems likely he'll go down in Yuletide history, a permanent part of the legend and lore of Santa Claus.

SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

As usual during this Holiday season all the rooms are preparing for Christmas. Gifts have been made, rooms are decorated and the children are awaiting the party on Friday.

On Thursday, Dec. 17 between 10 and 11 a.m. the Christmas program was held. Mark Thomson was the announcer.

PROGRAM

Kindergarten Rooms — "Away in a Manger," Santa's Helpers.

First Grade, Mrs. Benford—We Wish you a Merry Christmas.

First Grades, Mrs. Kelly and Miss Gower — "Up on a House Top", "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer."

Second Grade, Mrs. Hanna —"All I want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

Second Grade, Miss Miller — "Bring a Torch Tonight Isa-the Halls."

Third Grade Rooms — "The Twelve Days of Christmas."

Fourth Grade Rooms — "Sweetly Sleeping in A Manger," "I Saw Three Ships." Mrs. Hudgin.

Fourth Grade Room, Miss Tiedman — "Christmas Lullaby, "Deck the Halls.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Kerr — "What Child Is This," "Good Christian Men Rejoice."

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Lange—"Pat-Group singing led by Mrs. Schultz.

First Grade, Mrs. Kelly—

Mrs. Kelly's First Grade has been busy making cookies of flour, salt and water. The shapes of Christmas trees, Santa faces and gingerbread men were very pretty when painted. Even if they can't be eaten, we think they will look nice on our own Christmas trees. The room is all decorated and ready for the Christmas party.

Mrs. Hanna, Second Grade—

The boys and girls have been busy preparing for the Christmas Season. They decorated the room with Christmas trees, snowflakes and paper chains. They made cards and gifts to take home to their parents. At the party gifts were exchanged, games played and songs sung. Our room mothers, Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Schiller had treats for all of us.

The Kindergarten Rooms

The afternoon kindergartens participated in a treat for the residents of the Methodist Home. The children were taken to the home by bus where they sang Christmas Carols.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Kerr—

Mrs. Kerr's class has been making various Christmas decorations and gifts. The ideas for these things were contributed by several members of the class. Some of the things made include: plastic piggy banks made of bleach bottles, angels made of flower pots and several center pieces. The class also made surprises for their parents.

Our room decorations have been supplemented by Robert Rudd, who brought our Christmas tree, and by Kenny Herrst who brought an unusual wreath made of plastic bags.

Also, our bulletin board committee decorated a board with Merry Christmas and Happy New Year in several different languages, including French, Spanish, and Greek.

SINK SIZE

A sink is the most used item of equipment in the kitchen. A housewife spends more than half her kitchen time there. In choosing a new sink, the important consideration is to get one that is big enough. The ultimate in convenience is a double-bowl or new triple-bowl unit with drainboards. Manufacturers now match sink and cabinet doors for a striking ensemble effect.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

We take great pleasure in sending you our every good wish for Yuletide happiness, and the best of health and success in days to come.

Seeking Yule Log Was Family Affair

The traditional Yule log survives today more in art, song and story than as an actual "blazing Yule." After all, not every home has a fireplace nowadays, and even when a fireplace exists, its proportions are usually far from sufficient to accommodate the Yule logs of yesteryear.

During ancient times in England, however, it was a solemn family ritual to select the log, dry it and burn it according to custom. Logs from fruit-bearing trees were preferred.

The whole family went along to select the log, as this was thought to bring good luck for the coming year, and to frighten away any witches.

If the log burned out quickly, or did not burn brightly, it meant bad luck ahead.

On Christmas morning, the children of the household beat upon the log and called for gifts to come forth. They were scolded by their parents, sent outside and, after a time, called in to open the gifts which had been set near the log.

CHS Business Club Visits Chelsea Milling Data Processing System

Twenty-eight members of the newly-formed Chelsea High School Business club recently visited the data processing system at Chelsea Milling Co. The tour was guided by Dudley Holmes and William Travis. Operations of data processing were explained to the students followed by refreshments.

The primary objective of the High School Business Club is to attempt to provide additional experiences and observations for students who have exceptional interest in this phase of their education. Their sponsor is Tom Morrison, high school commercial teacher.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

NORTH ELEMENTARY HONOR ROLL
Dec. 2, 1964

5th GRADE—

"A"—Cynthia Chandler, Charles Lane, David Porath.

"B"—Jeremy Birman, Garry Collins, Patty Eisele, Terrie Eisemann, Sheree Freeman, Daniel Gaunt, Maryann Hoss, Danny Hoover, Larry Hopkins, Gregory Howard, Leslie Irving, Larry Jones, Karen Keleman, Dennis Landwehr, Janice McGaw, Robert Mester, Mary Niehaus, Joan Piatt, Michael Reilly, Cynthia Reynolds, Karen Schafer, Kathryn Schafer, Dean Schoenberg, Janet Sibley, Betty Snyder, Norbert Weber, Wayne Welton, Cheryl Wilkerson.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Winkle—

We are now making booklets on foods so we can learn why we should eat a variety of foods each day instead of just meat and potatoes. Confidentially, this is really going to be hard during this season of the year — don't you agree?

Fourth Grade, Mrs. Black—

We have just completed a pioneer unit in our reading books. We have seen filmstrips and have colored pictures of the "olden days".

We made Christmas mobiles to hang in our room. We are learning several Christmas songs.

Deborah Gipson had a birthday on December 8th and brought a treat for us. Next week, Paula Haas will have a birthday.

Richard Metcalf is a new student in our room. He came from Ohio.

Third Grade, Mrs. Grau—

The past two weeks our class spent getting into the Christmas spirit. We listened to many Christmas records brought in by various members of the class. We learned to sing "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

Everyone in the class helped decorate our room. A large Christmas train filled with toys ran across one of our bulletin boards. We spent one day making our own Christmas cards for members of our families. We also made a Santa Claus to be taken home and to be used as a Christmas decoration.

Many Christmas stories were read aloud with a special emphasis on learning how Christmas in other lands is celebrated.

Third Grade, Mrs. Bonner—

This week we have been practicing our song for the Christmas "Song Fest". The two third grades will sing "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" with appropriate pantomine.

Fifth Grade, Mr. Benedict—

In our grade we used a beef and a rabbit heart to help us study the circulatory system. When they were cut open we saw the chambers of the heart. The veins and arteries leading to and from the heart and the valves between the chambers. We learned that our human heart is very much like these hearts.

Mr. Benedict's class is also learning square dancing. During some of these cold noon hours we have been staying in part of the time to learn. The other North School fifth grades are planning to get in on it, too.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Vonk—

Christmas is almost here. The class is giving of themselves this year. "Strange" you say? Not really — you see we usually forget the "older folks" at Christmas time. But not this year — no sireeeee! All of us are taking our 50 cents and throwing it into a basket — a fruit basket, that is. Six fruit baskets to be exact. We are forming a production line and each of us will be responsible for one item. The baskets will be covered with Saran Wrap and topped with a red bow.

You will see an unusual procession caroling up and down McKinley St. Friday afternoon. You see — we'll be delivering our goodies to those "older folks".

Maybe we have a little Thanks-Giving left over — spirit, that is!

A joyous season to all of you from all of us.

Items at A Glimpse:

A new student in Mrs. Vonk's room, Michael Rossbach, comes from Traverse City.

An additional new student in Mrs. Vonk's room, Skeets Worden, is from Ohio.

School Officials Study Ford Motor Data Processing

Superintendent Charles Cameron and high school commercial teacher Thomas Morrison spent an afternoon at the Ford Motor Co. Rawsonville division. Their host was John Gray, supervisor of "Systems and Data Processing" for the general parts division of Ford Motor Co.

The visit was an effort to determine what equipment would be needed to install an effective data processing course in the Chelsea school system. Schools that install this equipment and erect buildings that house it, shall receive funds for this purpose through the new vocational act. This installation is planned in the addition to the high school, which depends on the Feb. 24 bond election.

Gray revealed the operations of data processing and automation and gave the educational requirements of each function. The basic elements that were revealed were: Coding, computing, sorting, summarizing, and communication. He also discussed binary arithmetic and digital computing. He then conducted a tour of the operations in his division.

"Ace" Scherer, Ford's in-service training instructor, explained their training methods for induction, retraining and upgrading. "Ace" is leaving for England to assist in the Ford Division in that country. Salaries, policies were also discussed.

Message of Christmas Lives Anew

"And lo, the Star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was." Matthew. 2:9.

"And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger." Luke 2:1.6

From two who became His disciples come the words that tell the story of that Holy Night, the first Christmas. Matthew the tax collector wrote of the Star that shone in the east, and of wise men who followed it to find and worship Him.

Luke the physician wrote of shepherds watching in the fields and herald angels singing in the heavens.

At church services during this Christmas season the words of the tax collector and the physician will be read and studied once again, with everdeepening meaning.

And as the story is told anew, it is also reflected in the many observances of Christmas, both in churches and in homes.

The joyful sound of carols harks back to the first of all carols, the words of the heavenly host, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

The glow of candles symbolizes the birth of Christ as the Light of the World, and it also mirrors the eternal gleam of the Star of Bethlehem.

The spirit of giving takes guidance from the gifts of the Wise Men, who brought gold, frankincense and myrrh to Him.

Above all, at Christmas, mankind experiences once again the reverence, wonder and rejoicing of the wise men, of whom Matthew says,

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshipped Him."

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

"Unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." To humble shepherds keeping watch over their flocks in starlit fields, the triumphant message of the herald angels burst forth in fullest glory. And for the Wise Men from afar, the brilliant light of a Star shone in the heavens, guiding them on their way. Then to the sacred manger, shepherds and Wise Men came, to worship and rejoice. Each year, as we hear the Christmas story and welcome anew the Christ Child in our hearts, we find a new meaning for life, a new hope for the future. For Christmas is not an ancient tale of bygone time. Christmas lives. Christmas is now. Christmas is ever wondrous, ever radiant with joy and promise. May all its blessings be yours.

Greeting Cards Chronicle Manners, Customs, Events

It all began in 1843 when John Calcott Horsley, a prominent London artist, drew the first Christmas card. Horsley's pioneering greeting was a tryptich, a prime example of contemporary recording. The central panel showed a jolly family with young and old tipping toasts from brimming glasses, while the two side panels gave a sobering effect with scenes of the poor being clothed and the hungry fed.

From that time on Christmas cards have faithfully chronicled the manners, customs and events of their times.

One Christmas card collection, that of Norcross, Inc., card publishers, houses hundreds of cards that capture for posterity the fads and foibles, changes and evolution in sports, fashions(modes of transportion ,current events, filial love, amusements, even children's pastimes and music making.

According to Miss Esther Mooney, who is a curator of the collection, many of the cards are gems of social comment.

"In an English card of 1892," said Miss Mooney, "the formality existing between children and parents in that Victorian era is quite clearly expressed by the artist. He depicts a little girl on bended knee at her mother's feet solemnly offering her a Christmas bouquet. Just 40 years later, a Christmas card of 1930 shows how relaxed filial relations had become with its breezy greeting that says, '3 cheers 4 a Merry Christmas and you, Dad!'".

Christmas card artists have always been quick to pick on innovations as subjects.

The advent of the horseless carriage was duly recognized in a card of 1910. Cut out in the shape of a car of that vintage, it cheerfully puns:

"You 'Auto' be Happy
As you, on Pleasure's
Motor-car
Steer merrily thro' Christmastide. . .
Speed gaily as fun always
"Auto!'"

And in 1950, the early days of television were noted in a Christmas greeting which shows Santa tuning in TV.

An historic event is frequently the inspiration for a Christmas card. When Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, the artist drew his "Spirit of St. Louis' flying over New York on a 1927 Christmas card.

During World Wars One and Two Christmas cards became unblushingly patriotic. Verses like "On Christmas Night . . . With Holly Berries Gleaming Bright, Our Thoughts fly true O'er Ocean Blue and take a Christmas Wish to you" on a 1917 card brought balm to homesick doughboys.

Personalities who were household words of their times often popped up in Christmas cards. A topical card of 1934 offered five famous faces for the price of one. it showed the Duke of Windsor (then the Prince of Wales), Mussolini, Garbo, Chevalier and Mae West all wishing the lucky recipient seasonal greetings in their own particular style.

In 1959 Christmas cards entered the space age when Soviet ambassador Mikhail Menshkov decorated his season's greetings with pictures of three Lunik satellites. And after John Glenn's space flight, American card companies came out with a spate of cards that featured space ships, orbiting Santas and rockets.

In the prosperous 1960's Christmas cards have blossomed forth with a rash of current status symbols. Victorian cards showed the magic lantern or the pinao every well-to-do Victorian home possessed.

On Christmas greetings of today, it's the transistor radio and the stereo hi-fi, the set of golf clubs or the scooter, elegant ladies in furs and golden Cadillacs that mingle with the holly and mistletoe.

Douglas Fir Called Superior Christmas Tree

Buyers of Christmas trees are in for a pleasant surprise this year if they buy a Douglas fir.

A native to the Rocky Mountain and West Coast areas ,the Douglas fir is relatively new to Michigan growers. But it's called a "superior tree" by T. D. Stevens, professor of forestry, Michigan State University.

The MSU researcher says that Douglas fir has excellent needle retention, fragrance, soft short needles, and keeps it shape and color well.

In comparison, pines retain their needles as long but are not as fragrant. They need more shearing and shaping by the grower.

Although Douglas fir costs more, Stevens thinks consumers are willing to pay more for a better tree.

The higher cost arises, in part, from the fact that Douglas fir grows slower than many trees. For example, it takes 30 to 40 percent longer to grow into a full-sized Christmas tree than Scotch pine.

Stevens and Walter A. Lemmien, resident forester at the Kellogg Forest in Kalamazoo, recently completed a nine-year study of two strains of Douglas fir trees grown from seed produced in Montana.

The researchers found that the Northwestern strain grown from 1952 and marketed in 1960, produced trees that were 80 percent salable. A greater number of the Northwestern variety were Premium and No. 1 grade trees, and its total cash value was greater than the Southwestern strain.

They also found that some strains of Douglas fir are unsuitable to Michigan's climate if seed originated on the West Coast. They concluded that the Rocky Mountain strain is best adapted to Michigan's climate.

Iesous'

"Iesous ahatonhia!"

These words of joy and exulation come from Canada's first Christmas carol.

If they seem somewhat incomprehensible, the explanation is simple. They are written in the language of the Huron Indians. The meaning is, "Jesus is born!"

The carol of the Huron nation was written by Father Jean Brebeuf, Jesuit missionary who came to the land of the Hurons in 1626.

Father Brebeuf worked with the Hurons in the Canadian wilderness for 23 years, helping them and composing for them a poem in their own language. Then, during an attack by the Iroquois, he was captured and tortured to death.

In his martyrdom, his words live on, for the Hurons remembered their carol, "Iesous ahatonhia!"

Salmon Eggs Flown in for State Lakes

Lansing — An airborne shipment of 200,000 fertilized kokanee salmon eggs arrived at Pellston last week-end from Soap Lake, Washington, carrying with it the Conservation Department's hopes of establishing a new brand of sport fishing in Michigan.

The eggs, which at a cost of $730 could turn out to be one of the Department's best investments in future fishing, were rushed to the Oden state fish hatchery near Petoskey for hatching and rearing to fry size.

Come next spring, the tiny fish will be planted in Higgins and Torch lakes, along with a larger number of fry-sized kokanee salmon which will be reared this winter from a supply of Colorado eggs.

Early this week, a crew of Department fisheries men teamed up with members of the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department in an effort to collect 2½ million eggs from spawning kokanee in the western state's Granby Reservoir.

The eggs were immediately taken to a Colorado hatchery and will be held there until they have "eyed up," which should take between six weeks and two months.

Upon reaching the eyed stage at which they will be less vulnerable to mortality losses during shipment, the eggs will be air-lifted to this state for raising at the Department's Wolf Lake and Harrietta hatcheries.

Last week-end's shipment of eggs from Washington increases the planting program's chances of success by providng the state with a slightly different strain of salmon than will come from Colorado.

"This secondary source of eggs from Washington gives us a sort of safety valve if things don't pan out with our prime source from Colorado," explains Dr. Howard A. Tanner, chief of the Department's fish section. "It is entirely possible that one of the two strains may prove more adaptable to Michigan than the other."

Another 500,000 eyed kokanee eggs are headed for Michigan this month from the State of Washington in exchange for 100,000 lake trout eggs which exceed trout rearing capacities at state, federal, and Canadian hatcheries in the Great Lakes area. The incoming eggs will go to the Department's Oden hatchery.

As plans now stand, Higgins and Torch lakes will be stocked with kokanee fry during each of the next four springs in a bid to build up brood stock, which the Department can tap for eggs.

If the Departent can develop its own source of eggs, the long-range goal is to plant lakes Michigan and Huron, and several large inland lakes wiih the imported fish.

ASC County Committee Named for '65

Farmers elected last week to serve as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee for the following year include: Earl Doletzky of Dexter township, chairman; Raymond Girbach of Saline township, vice-chairman; LeRoy Braun, of Northfield township, member; Donald Baldus of Webster township, 1st alternate; and Lawrence Stein, of Scio township, 2nd alternate.

The election was held at a county convention Dec. 17, at the County Building, Ann Arbor. Electors were farmers chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC community committee elections throughout the county.

Chairman Max M. Kalmbach points out that the ASC county and community farmer-committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the National Wool Program, the Sugar Program, commodity loans, and storage facility loans.

The ASC county office at Ann Arbor is the headquarters for the county committee, and serves as the farmers' local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committees.

AGRICULTURE In ACTION .....

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Move To Amend

Michigan farmers have received national support in their bid for three amendments to be added to the federal Constitution. These, if ratified by a majority of the states, would become Amendment 23, 24 and 25 to our basic document.

The first calls for a guarantee of the right to offer prayers and to read the Bible in public schools and other public places. The second guarantees the right of states to apportion one house of a "bicameral" (two-body) state legislature on the basis of factors other than population. The third amendment deals with electoral college reform.

In early November, all of these proposals were endorsed by Michigan farmers in policy-making sessions of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Recently, the voting delegate body of the American Farm Bureau Federation, meeting in Philadelphia, backed all three proposals with their nationwide strength of 1,617,455 farm families.

In the school prayer issue, the farm leaders stated that participation in public prayer and Bible reading should be on a voluntary basis. They said that any law, at any level of government, which would require a person to perform a religious act against his will, would be contrary to the provisions of the Constitution. However, they contend that recent Supreme Court rulings have removed the right to free exercise of prayer within schools.

The Electoral College resolution provides that two presidential "electors" in each state shall be elected on a state-wide basis and the remainder from Congressional districts as determined by state legislatures. Currently, the stipulation is that a number of electors equal to the number of each state's Congressional delegation be elected.

Concerning apportionment, the Farm Bureau officials stated that legislative representation on both area and population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances vital to a representative republic. The leaders urged state Farm Bureaus to seek enactment by their state legislatures of petitions to Congress calling for a Constitutional Convention to consider this issue.

When Christmas Groups Gather, It's Game Time

Everyone's a child at Christmas time, and that's why there's nothing as much fun when family and friends gather as game-playing. Since Christmas groups usually include both children and adults, games that both can enjoy are best.

The following games can be played with no special equipment, other than that on hand.

Charades . . .

Christmas charades is a lively game that the whole family will enjoy.

Divide the group into two teams. Individual members of teams are then called upon to act out a word, character, phrase, scene or situation — and since it's Christmas, all the charades should have Christmas overtones.

Subjects are supplied on a slip of paper by the opposing team and then passed on to the "actor." From here on, it's his job to see how quickly he can get his teammates to guess what he is acting out.

"The Night Before Christmas," "Jingle, Bells," "A Partridge in a Pear Tree," and "Filling the Christmas stocking "are just some of the many, many subjects that can be used.

Word Play . . .

A popular pencil and paper game is called "word play." The object of the game is to see how many words can be made from a phrase such as "Merry Christmas to All." A time limit is set, and the rule is that no letter can be used in any word more often than it appears in the phrase.

In other words, words made can include no more than one "e," "i" or "o," while they could contain as many as two "m's" or three "r's."

Since word play involves competition among its players, it's advisable to allow the children to compete against one another, while the adults battle it out among themselves.

Santa's Sleigh . . .

"Santa's Packing His Sleigh" is a quiet Christmas game that provides fun and hearty laughter. It starts simply enough with one member of the group saying, "Santa's packing his sleigh, and he's bringing a toy dog."

Then each person repeats the sentence, adding another gift to Santa's sleigh. The object of the game is to repeat correctly, in order, the complete list of gifts in Santa's sleigh — and it's harder than it sounds.

As the list gets longer and longer, more and more players just can't seem to remember the whole list and its order, so consequently they drop out, until only one is left.

Science Fair Dates Set for April 9-11

More than 800 area high school students will put their science talent to work in competing for hundreds of dollars worth of prizes in the seventh annual Southeastern Michigan Science Fair next April 9-11.

The Science Flair co-ordinating office announced the date and said the fair would be held in the University of Michigan's Intramural Sports Building in Ann Arbor as it has in the past.

Prizes will include scholaships, books, (including two sets of encyclopaedias); medals, ribbons and citiations. In addition, the top boy winner and top girl winner in the senior division (for grades 9-12) will be awarded expenses-paid trips to the National Science Fair to compete against winners from all over the United States.

The National Science Fair, with which the Southeastern Michigan Fair is affiliated, is to be held in St. Louis, Mo., May 5-8.

The local competition is open to high school and junior high school students in six counties in this area, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw. Last year, 282 such students took part—nearly double the number at the first fair in 1950.

Materials informing students how to prepare their projects have been sent to science teachers and and senior high school in this administrators in every junior fair's region.

The Southeastern Michigan Science Fair is sponsored by three organizations, the Ann Arbor Exchange Club, the Ann Arbor News and the University. Its entire support comes from contributions raised by Exchange Club members from business and industry in this area.

Co-ordinating work and judging is voluntary and is done by businessmen, scientists and engineers from nearby organizations.

Top winners of last year's fair were Erwin Stierle, 15-year-old Ann Arbor High school sophomore, who entered a field ion microscope, and 16-year-old Jeanine Piatkowski, then a junior at St. Thomas High school in Ann Arbor. Her entry was a mathematics project entitled "A Study in Loci and Geodesics."

Last year was the second in a row a sophomore won the top prize in the boy's senior division. In the previous year, Mark Bertoni of St. Thomas High school won the top prize.

Potential entrants were urged to get their projects under way. They were also reminded by the co-ordinating committee that only one exhibit may be entered by each student, and that group projects are nnot permitted.

It was also emphasized that live animals may not be exhibited.

Tiny Christmas Card Mailed Piggy-Back With Newsletter

What is probably one of the longest narrow cards around this Christmas season is one mailed at the Chelsea Post Office this week. It was not of legal size to mail so its designed enclosed it with a touch of paste inside a newsletter sent out to all the members of his church, First Congregational church of Chelsea.

The Rev. Robert Livingston's iggy-back card is about 8 inches long but only 1¼ inches wide, a real slim-jim! Parishoners remember that last year the Livingston's card was about 2 by 1½ inches, sent in the same way.

The length of the card and its size are used as a part of the point of the sentiment of the card by pastor Livingston. The front has a small star up at the top, two rays of light going down to the manger at the bottom, and asks the question, "Does it all seem a long way away?" Inside it says, "If you feel that the warmth, and light, and love of that first Christmas aren't for you . . . you are mistaken! That's what it's all about! God cares even about a tiny thing! Mary Believed it." The Long and tiny card tells that Christmas is close and important for all.

This is the same church that has the custom of going on a Family Christmas Tree Hunt and Winter Picnic. The families who wanted to participate gathered an hour after the services two Sundays before the holiday and drove together out to a grower who let them come out early and build a fire and select their trees at a wholesale price. Families, after eating the stand-up picnic around the fire, go out together looking for the just-right tree for their living room. They saw it down, drag it back, and tie it on the car. Families who have begun this custom enjoy it so much that no weather can stop them. One family was telling abut 20 below zero temperatures, and another told about an ice storm.

This church group went back to the church after the tree-hunt and participated in a Family Christmas Workshop. The Christian Education Committee had arranged refreshments and people to teach home-made decorations and holiday ideas. Some of the group built a stand for the big Church tree and put on the lights. All agree that the family emphasis is one of the most important at Christmas.

NO IBM DATES

Cincinnati — Coeds at the University of Cincinnati have turned thumbs down on having a machine pick their dates. Plans were to have students fill out questionnaires and have a computer match "ideal" couples. The girls said they thought they were a better judge of character than the machines.

The Chief of Police says there will be no holiday for traffic law enforcement here. Traffic tickets, if deserved will be handed out by his men throughout the holiday season. This only proves they really mean it when they "Merry Christmas and Ha New Year"—because holidays be happy only where traffic are obeyed and where people drive and walk in safety.
