Bulldogs Lose To Dexter in Final Quarter

The Chelsea Bulldogs absorbed their sixth defeat at the hands of the Dexter Dreadnaughts last Friday night, Jan. 8, by the score of 62-47.

Dexter jumped off to a quick 21-5 lead in the first quarter before the Bulldogs could get rolling. Good rebounding and fast breaking gave Dexter their 21 points.

At this point substitutions were made in the Chelsea line-up with Charles Schmunk and Gary White going in to stop the rebounding edge. Before the close of the first quarter, Chelsea had whittled the lead to 21-11.

The second quarter belonged to Chelsea as they picked up 15 points to Dexter's 8. Ed Windell played superbly in this quarter scoring eight of his 12 points and getting six rebounds. The score at the end of the half was Dexter 29, Chelsea 26.

The third quarter also belonged to the Bulldogs. The combination of Tom Wojcicki, Charles Schmunk, Gary White, Ed Windell and David Clark out-rebounded and out-shot Dexter. With two minutes remaining in the quarter Chelsea had pulled ahead to a 38-32 lead.

Then the roof fell in. Dexter scored eight quick points on a loose Chelsea defense, while Chelsea scored but one point. The score at the end of the third quarter was Dexter 40, Chelsea 39.

The last quarter was a disastrous one for Chelsea. Dexter scored 22 points to Chelsea's 8 to turn the game into a runaway. Poor play by the Bulldogs gave a once again hot-shooting Dexter squad the victory, 62-47.

Top scoring for Chelsea was as follows: Tom Wojcicki, 14, Charles Schmunk, 14, and Ed Windell 12.

Dexter scoring was paced by Ron Mull with 18 points.

The inability to maintain a lead, or sustain a rally has been the Bulldogs' biggest problem this year. With the return of some of the injured veterans, Coach Terry Pokela hopes to correct this situation.

Friday, Jan. 15, the Bulldogs will meet Lincoln in the Chelsea High school gymnasium. Game time is 6:30 for the Junior varsity.

CHS Dramatics Club Needs Period Clothes

12-Year-Old Girl Rescues Friend in Fall Through Ice

Christine Doll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doll, was staying the week-end at the Nelson home. Sunday morning the two girls decided to go ice skating. As they approached a sunken ice fishing shanty, the Nelson girl plunged through the ice in the frigid water, approximately seven feet deep at that point.

Christine threw herself down on a solid section, and digging the points of her figure skates into the ice, stretched out her hands to her friend.

The Nelson girl had submerged once, and Christine's quick action undoubtedly saved her, as she pulled the floundering girl from the water. Miss Nelson suffered no ill effects from her dunking. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson. The girls are both seventh grade pupils at St. Mary's school, Chelsea.

JV's Defeat Dexter With Late Rally

Hitting 38 percent of their field goals and 45 percent of their free throws, the Little Bulldogs defeated the Dexter Junior Varsity, 52 to 44, last Friday.

In a tight game that saw the lead change hands several times the Bulldogs scored 15 points while holding Dexter to 6 in the final quarter to earn the victory. Half-time score was Dexter 24, Chelsea, 23.

Rebounds played an important role in the victory. Chelsea outrebounded Dexter 42 to 28, with Dan Parson collecting 13, Bill Harvey 10, John Lixey 6, and Rick Salyer 6. The edge in rebounding allowed the Bulldogs to retain ball control, especially in the second half.

High scorer for the Little Bulldogs was Don Salyer with 14 points on six field goals and two free throws. John Lixey added 12, Bill Harvey 9, Tom Kern 9, Dan Parsons 5, and Rick Salyer 3.

Good team hustle and desire to win have greatly helped the Junior Varsity to come from behind to win their last two games. Their record is now 3-3.

The next Chelsea game will be against the Ypsilanti Lincoln Railsplitters tomorrow night (Friday) at the High school. The Junior Varsity game starts at 6:30 p.m.

Jaycee Week Proclaimed By President

Village President Howard Haselschwardt proclaimed Jan. 17-23 as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week" in Chelsea and asked local organizations to co-operate in the observance.

He said the purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they are doing and emphasize that the Chelsea Jaycees have done an outstanding job in the fields of community development and leadership training.

During Jaycee Week observance here, the U.S. Jaycees will be recognizing America's 10 outstanding Young Men of 1964 in Santa Monica, Calif., with national Jaycee President Stan Ladley making the presentations.

The week celebrates the founding of the Junior Chamber in 1915, when Henry Giessenbier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter, according to local Jaycee president Ed Akin. The movement spread so fast that in 1920, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce was formed with 24 cities represented. The Chelsea Jaycees were formed in 1954.

Since their charter, they have taken the project of expanding and developing Pierce Park. They have cleared more area, trimmed out dead trees, and furnished additional playground equipment.

Rubinoff Concert Set For Tonight

When Rubinoff appears in Chelsea in a program of popular concert music, he will play on one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romanoff-Stradivarius Violin insured for $100,000.

The violin is famous for its silken, lustrous tone, its full range and almost unbelievable depth. Made in 1781, by the master of all violin makers, this particular "Strad" eventually found it's way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one time rulers of Russia, and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family. During the revolution, it was smuggled out of Russia and eventually was purchased by Rubinoff.

Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and the risks that beset any treasure of such vast value, the Stradivaius is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times. The ancient instrument still retains the original varish and is the heme of perfection in musical instruments.

An interesting fact is that during certain passages of "Warsaw Concerto" Rubinoff exerts as much as 60 pounds of pressure on the violin. It takes tremendous strength of highly developed muscular action to draw certain tones from one of the world's most delicate instruments.

Rubinoff will appear at Chelsea High school auditorium Thursday (today) at 8:15 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or from any Kiwanis club member.

Voters Asked To Authorize 1.25 Mill Levy, Elect 6 to Board of Trustees

Tomorrow a special election will take Washtenaw county voters to the polls to decide whether a community college should be built in the county, to authorize a maximum taxation annually of 1.25 mills ($1.25 on each $1,000) assessed valuation, and elect six from a 38-person slate of candidates to serve on a Board of Trustees.

Polls will be open as usual from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. at all polls: Sharon Township Hall, Freedom Township Hall at Pleasant Lake Rd., corner Lima Center Rd., Dexter Township Hall, corner Dexter Townhall Rd., and Twigley Rd., Sylvan Township Hall, Lima Community Hall, and Lyndon Township Hall, corner North Territorial Rd., and Old M-92.

If the proposition is passed, the six trustees elected will have the responsibilities to set policy, determine curricula, prepare budgets, levy taxes and construct physical facilities, among others. They will serve without compensation until Jan. 1, 1967, in the challenging job of starting a college to meet the specific needs of Washtenaw county.

One half the cost of building and site may be paid for by the state as has been done in the 21 other community colleges (junior colleges) that have sprung up the past few years throughout Michigan. Nearly every county surrounding Washtenaw already has or is building such an institution.

An extensive survey was made under the auspices of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce long before the community college project was proposed. The "Citizens' Survey of Washtenaw County Community College Possibilities" revealed that some three out of 10 high school graduates would be attracted by a community college. It further showed that 63 percent of youth with no college plans would be interested in advanced education of a technical or trade nature.

The fact that students live at home, pay a small tuition, and have few driving miles when they may attend a college nearby attracts those whose financial problems keep them from a higher education at present.

The problem of other students is that their high school academic records are not good enough to get them admitted at the University of Michigan or Eastern Michigan University. Fifty Ann Arbor graduates are enrolled in Jackson Community College where they must pay higher tuition than residents of Jackson county and this college can admit no more students from outside its areas. Others attend Community Colleges in Livonia, Dearborn and Battle Creek.

It is expected that the college would offer a liberal arts course equivalent to the first two years of a four-year institution for those students who may want to transfer. It will also offer business education on a different level than that now offered at Cleary College. Further it will no doubt pro-

Out of a field of 38 candidates for trustee there are but three from the western Washtenaw county area. These are Mrs. Florence Mayer of Chelsea, Elvira Vogel of Pleasant Lake, and Paul Bosel of Dexter.

Mrs. Mayer, who operates the A. D. Mayer Insurance Agency, is a former Chelsea High school teacher and Chelsea School Board member. She has been a resident of Chelsea for nearly 30 years.

While serving on the School Board, and for a year afterwards, she was a member of a committee who made a survey of all Washtenaw county schools. She also served on Curriculum Committees for the Chelsea Junior and Senior High schools.

In September 1963, she was named to the Citizens Implementation Committee for a Community College, a post she still holds.

Mrs. Mayer graduated in 1936 from the University of Michigan and then taught for three years in Chelsea High school. She has served for 15 years as a substitute teacher.

Out-county persons interested in the promotion of a community college urged Mrs. Mayer to become a candidate for trustee as they feel it is important to have representation from this area on the board of trustees.

Mrs. Mayer was a founding member of the Chelsea Parent Teachers Association, president, and chairman of the camp committee for Chelsea Girl Scouts for 10 years, and secretary of the Chelsea Community Chest for three years. She is now active in the drive for funds of the county Humane Society.

Mrs. Mayer has a daughter, Mrs. James R. Grau, and a son, Daniel a senior at Oberlin College, Oberlin, O.

Mrs. Mayer, when contacted this week, expressed a fervent desire to see the Community College idea become a reality in Washtenaw county.

Mrs. Elvira Vogel of Manchester is another area woman in the race. She is a graduate of the State College of Iowa, and participated in the Management Training program in the Radcliffe College Graduate School. For five years she was employed in the personnel department of Marshall Field and Co. in Chicago, beginning as a job analyst and becoming a supervisor of the merit rating-wage analysis unit.

She is a past president of the Pleasant Lake Parent-Teacher Association and of the Western Washtenaw Area PTA Council.

Mrs. Vogel is one of two members representing the Michigan Conference of the United Church of Christ on the board of trustees of the Fort Wayne Children's Home. She is currently serving on the board of the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The third area person in the race is Paul Bosel, a Dexter man

REACHING FOR THE STARS: 'Twas a fight to the finish, but not for the light fixture these basketball players appear to be interested in — instead, for the victory last Friday night when Chelsea and Dexter met for the first time on the court since the formation of the new Southeastern Conference this year. Dexter Dreadnaughts defeated the Bulldogs in a hard-fought battle that wasn't determined until the final quarter when the score reached 62-47. Chelsea's Ed Windell is No. 51. An unidentified Dexter man seems to be balancing on Ed as Dexter's Doug Dunham flies into the act. Mike McIntyre's face (No. 32) is hidden from the camera. Tom Steele of Chelsea is shown at left.

Congregationalists Elect Officers at Annual Meeting

Sunday afternoon after a pot-luck meal at the First Congregational church the annual meeting was called to order by Moderator Merle Barr, Jr.

The opening devotions were conducted through use of a tape recordings by denominational president, Dr. Ben Herbster of New York City. Minutes were read by acting clerk, Mrs. Marie Schneider in the absence of Mrs. Lura Geddes.

Printed reports of the various groups and organizations connected with the church were distributed by Mrs. Lucille Olson and Mrs. Cecile Bernath who had done the work of compiling and printing them. Presidents and chairmen were allowed to highlight one item in their report orally and a few questions were asked.

The Deacons pointed out to the congregation that the work of a church can be organized into six areas, Worship, Growth toward Spiritual Mathurity, Social Action and Community Service, Missions, Christian Education, and Christian Fellowship. Then they recommended that in the coming year the emphasis be placed on the area of Christian Fellowship. To implement this aim it was decided to hold more church fellowship meals and they will consider an Anniversary Dinner, a Father-Son, Mother-Daughter, and a Fall Supper during the coming year. They also decided to have hosts or welcomers at the door each Sun-

Union Ratifies New Contract With Rockwell-Standard

Workers at the Rockwell-Standard Corp. plant here Wednesday afternoon ratified the new union contract as did the Ann Arbor plant and one other group Tuesday. Confirmation from the other five plants involved in the national agreement that they too have ratified the agreement may mean employees return to work today.

Picketing continued Wednesday after 200 employees walked off their jobs last Friday, objecting to the lack of a company union contract.

Negotiators of the United Auto Workers Union and Rockwell-Standard reached a tentative agreement in Pittsburgh Sunday on a three-year contract for the firm's eight regional plants all of which were struck simultaneously last week except the Ann Arbor plant.

Robert G. Wingerter, president of Rockwell-Standard's automotive divisions, said the company and the UAW "had been close to a new agreement when the union elected to strike."

All of the affected plants produce axles, transmissions, universal joints, seats and suspension springs for the automotive industry.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

"Michigan—Dynamic in World Progress," is the theme of this year's Michigan Week, which will be officially observed May 16-22. It is my hope that Michigan citizens will start now to emphasize this theme and continue throughout the coming year.

All Michigan businesses and industries, labor organizations and public and private institutions should carry forward programs to highlight the importance of the State's contributions and influence throughout the world in all fields.

Michigan is a large distributor of mail that goes to all parts of the world. We can use the theme on letterheads, envelopes, bulletins, pamphlets, advertising material and publications at no extra cost to the individual or institution. I hope that this can be started at once.

Our state is moving forward. We have again assumed our rightful place among the states and are leading all of them in such field as personal income, economic expansion, highway construction, educational opportunities and human rights. During 1965, we must let the world know more about the greatness of Michigan.

We can all point to the contributions our own people in communities everywhere are making in world progress through international trade, various types of foreign services, education of foreign students and the world-wide distribution of Michigan products that are helping to raise the living standards of people everywhere.

Our industries, centers of science and research, educational institutions and the many skills and talents of our people have made and are continously making great contributions to the betterment of mankind.

As the arsenal of democracy in war and industrial leader in peace, our contributions to feedom of people around the globe have been many fold. What we do here in Michigan is improving the knowledge and well being of people in almost every nation on earth.

"Michigan — Dynamic in World Progress" can be highlighted on posters, signs, cards and stickers; through photos, slides and displays; in speeches before clubs and other meetings; in newspaper and on radio and television, by award and recognition ceremonies, and in the wide publication of facts on Michigan's role in world affairs and commerce.

In carrying forward the Michigan Week theme all during 1964 we will give full recognition to the industries and institutions of our state, and to the men and women who are doing so much in many fields to improve social and economic condition around the world.

Old Timers Busy

Lack of experienced Senators in the majority party may mean trouble for progress of legislation this year in that chamber of the Legislature.

Democratic leaders lined up their committee chairmen before the Jan. 13 start of the session, but face an important education job before the committees can be fully effective.

With only seven Democratic Senators returning to office this year, Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit had to fill 12 of the 20 committee chairmanships with freshman members.

Three of these 12 posts will be filled by men who previously served in the House and are familiar with the peculiarities of Michigan's legislative committee system, but the other nine are completely new to state-level government.

Dzendzel gave the most important committee chairmanships to veterans. Freshman Senators, however, will head such working units as elections, labor and taxation; three committees which do get a flood of important bills each session.

Presumably the seven veteran Democratic Senators will be placed strategically on these committees to assist the new chairmen in maintaining smooth operation of the all-important consideration required in the chamber's working units.

Fine Records

State government lost two top officers when members of the U.S. House of Representatives were sworn in this month. Each was at the top, both from the standpoint of position and performance in his job.

The two were Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, elected in the new 7th Congressional District, and Auditor General Billie S. Farnum, winner in the 19th District.

In Mackie's seven years as Highway Commissioner, Michigan saw completion of more than 1,100 miles of freeways and modernization of another 6,000 miles of other state roads.

This performance put Michigan in No. 1 rank in the amount of interstate freeways open, with 75 per cent of the state's planned system. The national average for completion at years' end was 40 per cent.

Both Democrats, Mackie and Farnum were not primarily known for their party affiliation during their respective terms of office. This is to their credit as both jobs require objective treatment.

Farnum was appointed to his post late in 1961 while serving as Deputy State Chairman of the Democratic Party. Prior to that time he held several appointive positions.

He was elected to a full term as Auditor General the following year and forthwith began a series of routine audits of state departments and agencies which drew criticism to him.

Agencies which were not complying to the letter of the law where state funds were concerned were publicly chasitzed and told to correct the erisnt pratices.

These included major departments, colleges and universities and, most recently, the Michigan National Guard.

The criticism fired at Farnum for these public disclosures of alleged improprieties generally was based on the idea that he was trying to bring discredit to the agencies and glory to himself.

Despite this criticism, it was generally agreed the Auditor General's reports were based on law and sound business practices and that he was wholly within his jurisdiction in seeking correction of exceptions to these practices.

Replacements for Mackie and Farnum are recognized men of proven ability. Huward E. Hill, named acting director for the Highway Department, has been with the operation since 1958 and has a reputation as a fine administrator.

Allison Green, Tuscola County Republican, replaces Billie Farnum as Auditor General. He was Speaker of the House in the last session, and has a long record as a keen student of government.

Both of them have high standards to maintain if they are to operate at the levels of their predecessors; and there is nothing to indicate they will not.

College Jobs

A job for every college student who wants one. That's the new informal guarantee by Michigan State University. The administration is talking about a bona fide, real job paying at least $1.25 per hour and 10 or more hours per week. Most of these are in food handling, clerking positions or in university buildings.

MSU is making an advantage of a disadvantage. There are several reasons for the current circumstance. Many students who would have had to work to stay in college a generation ago can get scholarships today. The general increase in living standards means more parents can better support students than previously. The ever-present tendency of students to live college life to the hilt, which leaves little room for extra work, has not abated. The larger institutions have more jobs than previously. College work is harder and pressures are higher than many years ago that some students must use all available time for study.

The special invitation has significance to bright students who don t have enough help from their own sources to attend college. It means that those who are willing to work can help themselves get an important education.

Average State Tax Equalization Factor Reported To Be 2.095

The average state equalization factor for Washtenaw county is 2.095 according to George Kotishak, equalization director for the county, at a meeting with representatives of the Citizens Committee for a Washtenaw County Community College.

While Kotishak was unable to arrive at an average local assessment on a county-wide basis, Walter Lahde, tax assessor for Ann Arbor, reported that 13,273 improved residences in Ann Arbor were valued locally at $62,777,800 for an average of $4,730. Lahde stated that the average value of improved residences for the county would be somewhat lower than the figure for Ann Arbor.

The equalization factor is a necessary complication in the life of Kotishak. It is necessary because some local assessors value their properties at one-quarter of market value, others at one-third to one-half of market value. The state requires that these differences be eliminated by multiplying local assessed value by an equalizing factor.

On Jan. 15, all registered voters will be asked to vote to establish an all-county community college district, and to approve a maximum levy of 1½ mills, which would cost the average home owner less than $12 per year.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see where one of them Washington column writers says our Congressmen was now the highest paid Guvernment officials in the history of the world up to this time.

Starting the first of this month, he said, they was now gitting that new salary of $30,000 a year, plus all the extras. And he reported them extras was out of this world. He claimed if the rank and file of the American people knowed the true story of them extras they would holler so loud it would dry up the Mississippi River and shake Pike's Peak loose from its foundation. That was mighty strong language, Mister Editor, and I think we better take a look at some of the items he mentioned.

First off, he reported, our Senators and Congressmen has been on the medicare program for years. The Army and Navy has got two of the finest hospitals in the world in the Washington area and them and their families use both places fer about nothing flat.

They git $3,000 a year off their taxes for living expenses on account of they was away from their legal residence back home. But they git 20 cent a mile fer ever trip they make home and git two "official" trips home when all expenses was paid.

Farthermore, they git $2,400 fer writing paper and envelops and $500 a year for stamps. And they git 333 hours of long distance phone call money and 100,000 words of telegrams free. They send all official mail free, so that $500 in stamps is for personal mail. Each member is entitled to office space at two locations back in his district, and he gits $1200, a year fer this, and $600 a year fer expense to run these offices. A heap of them, he said, rents offices in their own buildings, and one feller rented his own front porch fer his office. They git a Guvernment $20,000 insurance policy fer $129.96 a year. And they git 9 clerks, with a top pay of $18,035 per clerk to help out in the Washington office and a heap of the clerks was kinfolks. And when the Congress was not in session, they take the kinfolks on vacation trips fer "business purposes" free to all points of the globe. He said some of our Congressmen didn't abuse these privileges but they was as scarce as overcoats in a nudist camp.

Also, he allowed, the Guvernment runs 14 eating places on the Capitol grounds at a cost of $300,000 a year to the taxpayers where our Congressmen gits the best food fer about nothing. He said they was one sign of economy here, the dinner has gone up from 90 cent to $1.15 under the Johnson administration.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

SIZE IMPORTANT

The life of an adequately-sized water heater is much greater than that of an undersized one. An overworked unit will oxidize and corrode much more rapidly, often meaning replacement years before a larger heater would require it.

Next time you're feeling low, come on in and plunk yourself down in the bucket seat of a Chevelle Malibu Super Sport. Flick the ignition—bring that special-order 350-hp power plant to life. Then go find a road and try not to smile.

We think it's the greatest pep pill since weekends—and that goes for the other Chevelle V8's too. The 195-hp. And the 250- and 300-hp jobs we can order for you.

And of course if power doesn't sell you right off, maybe Chevelle's short turning radius and overall handling ease will. Or its Full Coil suspension ride. Or its all-vinyl, carpeted interior. Or maybe it's just plain old Chevelle value.

Hepatitis Case Reported in Dexter Area

Dexter is one of three county areas in which infectious hepatitis cases have been reported to Dr. Otto K. Engelke director of the Washtenaw County Health Department. Milan and Whitmore Lake are the other communities where a total of seven cases of the disease have been reported since Thanksgiving.

One of the seven cases was in Dexter, while five were in Milan. During all of 1964, 44 hepatitis cases were reported in this county, compared to 26 during 1963.

Infectious hepatitis, while seldom fatal, is often debilitating and is costly because the recuperative period may run 4 to 8 weeks, especially for adults. The disease is usually much milder for children.

Symptoms of hepatitis include loss of appetite, nausea or vomiting, fever, muscle pains, abdominal distress and sometimes jaundice.

Dr. Engelke urged that individuals notify their physician if any of these symptoms are noticed.

Gamma Globulin injections may be recommended by physicians for the family contacts of a person who has hepatitis. Gamma Globulin does not prevent hepatitis—it may make the disease milder. Gamma Globulin injections will not prevent or curtail an outbreak of hepatitis. Its use for other than close family contacts is not recommended by Health authorities.

No vaccines are available for the prevention of Infectious Hepatitis.

Hepatitis is an inflammation of the liver caused by a virus. It may be transmitted from person to person through fecal contamination of drinking water, food or utensils.

Dr. Engelke stressed that protective measures are extremely important in the prevention of hepatitis. "These can be accomplished," he said, "by a high standard of personal cleanliness and home sanitation." Hands should be washed thoroughly after toilet use, before eating or preparing food and dried on an individual disposable towel. Eating utensils and glassware should be thoroughly cleaned.

Safe sewage disposal is essential, preferably by means of a public sewer or a septic tank system in perfect operating condition.

Dr. Engelke said that strict quarantine for people with known cases of hepatitis is not emphasized because many contagious cases of the disease are so mild that they are not seen by a doctor and are not diagnosed.

Because these subclinical or mild cases of hepatitis in the community outnumber the diagnosed cases it is useless to quarantine or close schools or institutions. Also schools and institutions generally have well-operated food operations and lavatory facilities.

Health Department Sanitarians are checking the schools in Milan and elsewhere to be certain that these facilities remain above reproach.

Two Men Injured In Crash on Old US-12

Two men were injured, one only slightly in an accident Tuesday afternoon at 1:35 p.m. near a service drive in front of 12980, on Old US-12.

William Hoppe Earns Promotion With State Conservation Dept.

The promotion of William Hoppe from Forester Trainee at West Branch to Assistant Area Forester for the AuSable State Forest at Grayling, has been announced by C. Troy Yoder, Region II manager, Department of Conservation.

Hoppe, 27, began working as a forester trainee, in May of this year. He attended Chelsea High school, Jackson Junior College, and is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He and his wife, Shirley, and his son and daughter will reside in Grayling.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Pickle Problem

Everyone who likes pickles (and who doesn't) has a stake in current efforts by Michigan pickling cucumber growers to get their product sold on a grade-basis.

The apples, peaches and red-tart cherries you buy, the potatoes and dry beans that reach your grocery, have all been sold to processors on the basis of standard grades. Most of these grades were established years ago, and set measures for quality that assure shoppers of a consistently good product for the cash she pays.

Michigan is the number-one producer of fine cucumbers grown for pickling purposes, but oddly enough, grade standards have never been established within the state. But "pickle" farmers are becoming concerned about the rapid growth of the pickle industry in another state where quality standards are used.

For example, last year Michigan produced one-third of all the United States. But also last year, North Carolina growers who operate under state standard grades, outclassed second-place Wisconsin to edge closer to the top spot.

The Market Development division of the Michigan Farm Bureau, long-time champions of improved market conditions for Michigan's pickling cucumber growers, maintains that grades standards are necessary for the state to hold its preferred position in the industry.

Unlike nearly all other agricultural commodities produced in the state, the marketing of cucumbers to pickle processors is so confusing that the price and other terms of sale cannot be reported in an understandable manner.

Currently each pickle processor sets his own grade sizes and backs them with his own price schedule. A standardized grade, recognized by the State Department of Agriculture, would cause each processor of pickling cucumbers to buy on the same uniform scale—and to then offer the price that he feels competition will allow.

"Grade standards will provide a form of communication, a common trading language understood by both buyer and seller. They will improve the operational efficiency of the marketing system," asserts Noel Stuckman, Farm Bureau marketing specialist.

Stuckman contends that everyone will gain from such standardization, the consumer, the processor and the farmer who produces the pickles in the first place.

Careful driving pays dividends not to the other fellow, but to you.

50 Years of Agriculture Featured at Farmers' Week

The first week of February will begin the 50th annual pilgrimage for farm families in Michigan. They'll pack the kids in the car and be off to the Golden Anniversary of "Farmers' Week," Feb. 1-5 on the Michigan State University campus.

There each farm family will join with about 50,000 other persons attending this unique event.

Featured will be exhibits comparing agriculture of 50 years ago with the modern, scientific farm and home of today. Twenty MSU departments and 10 farm associations and groups will exhibit the products which this year's theme: "Golden Anniversary—From Progressive Past to Forward-Looking Future."

Events include livestock judging contests, the latest research into livestock, farm economics, farm crops and soils, farm recreation, natural resources, muck crops and many more.

In all, nearly 400 authorities from throughout the country will appear to report on everything from nut growing and tractors to food from "Mother Hubbard's Cupboard, 1965."

Movies will be shown on such topics as "Honey," "Russia," and the "Missouri Rabbit."

Visitors will be able to view the new Abrams Planetarium and the new Biochemistry building in the science complex. The new Beef Cattle Research Center on the MSU farm will be open for observation. And the Endocrine Research unit of Animal Husbandry Department, which has the only boar stud especially built for swine artificial insemination in the country, may be viewed.

Outstanding displays include 50 years of farm mechanization by the agriculture engineering department.

For the young, 18 career areas will be explored in panel discussions. And 14 4-Hclubtalentacts sions. And 14 4-H club talent acts will perform.

Featured speakers for the Week will be MSU President John A. Hannah and Tran Van Dihn, former ambassador from Viet Nam to the United States.

Farmers' Week Programs Have Answers for the Homemakers

Do you want to know more about tionships by members of the MSU parent-teen relationships? Are you curious about family life in other countries? Are you looking for information about new fabrics and new foods?

If so, the homemakers programs for Michigan State University's 50th Farmers' Week, Feb. 1-5, can answer some of your questions. Anyone may attend Farmers' Week on the MSU campus in East Lansing. All the educational exhibits and events are free.

Monday, Feb. 1, features a look at Michigan Farmer magazine with Marilyn Horvath providing sidelights about what it's like to be home editor of this state publication. Mary Jackson, American Dairy Association, will discuss, "What's Happening to Dairy Foods?"

Tuesday's program is a triple-dip for homemakers: a hat show; a discussion of parent-teen rela-

Department of Home Management and Child Development; and a presentation on what's new in fashion, fabrics and color.

Radio personality Ted Malone and Monte Flett of the National Livestock and Meat Board highlight the Wednesday morning event, "Of Meat and Might." Here, homemakers can learn about meats and physical fitness via a program that combines live performers and closed circuit television. The TV screen will help the audience see close-up what is happening on the stage of the MSU Auditorium. (For free tickets to this special event, contact your county Extension office or write to Mary Zehner, Department of Agricultural Economics, MSU, East Lansing.)

"Mother Hubbard's Cupboard 1965" is the title of an afternoon program also using the closed circuit TV. Theodore F. Irmiter of the MSU foods and nutrition department will tell about foods of the future and evaluate today's convenience foods.

On Thursday, homemakers can learn about family life as it is in Taiwan and behind the Iron Curtain in Russia and Poland. Charles Morris, Newaygo landscape architect, will provide landscape design ideas for homeowners. And, homemakers can get information about proper dress for special occasions at an afternoon fashion show.

Complete Farmers' Week programs will be available in early January from your county Extension office or from Bulletin Office, 10 Agricultural Hall, MSU, East Lansing.

day, to again institute regular Church Council meetings—where two representatives from each board and fellowship group help plan and co-ordinate the program of the church during the year. It was also planned that the Council would appoint a representative group to study the church constitution.

The Deacons suggested and the congregation approved an amendment to the constitution (read in church the last three Sundays) which brought the number of Deacons to 9, Deaconesses to 9, and Benevolence Committee to 6, making possible a smoothly-rotating three-year term for all members. The final item before the election was the recommendation by the Deacons that the church be listed as one with "open membership." As there was no objection, this will be done, indicating that all people of whatever race, ethnic origin, or financial status are welcome to worship and become members of First Congregational church of Chelsea.

Ron Eder recommended that additions to his nominating committee report be made to make it a real election, but there were none. He reported that he was pleased that it was much easier to get people to run for office than in recent years. Moderator Merle Barr conducted the vote for a unanimous election of the slate of candidates and 24 offices were filled.

Deacons elected are Parker Sharrard, Kenneth Runciman, Richard Smith and Andrew Dyson. Those completing their three-year terms are Vern Parks, Robert Jacobs, William Tite, Merle Barr, Jr., Ron Satterthwaite. A. D. Anderson's term vacated by his resignation last summer, is now filled by Dr. Sharrard.

Deaconesses completing the nine-member board are Caroline Brooks, Dee Wagner, and Mary Beal. They join those who are completing their three-year terms Mrs. Hazel Spaulding, Lillian Sanderson, Beulah Knott, Doris Lehman, Lillian Riihimaki, and Betty Eder.

Trustees put on the board on Sunday are Merle Leach and Charles Powers, with the latter returning for a second term. They join William Chandler, Howard Anderson, Mrs. Lauryne White and Edward Visel on the six-man board.

Committees also were brought up to full manpower again by the election Sunday afternoon at the Congregational Church. The Christian Education committee added Ray Peffers and Mrs. Jerry (Markeita) Satterthwaite to Mrs. Merle (Ruth) Leach, Mrs. Al (Blythe) Johnson, Mrs. Dan (Patricia) Maroney, and Mrs. George (Lois) Marshall.

The Benevolence committee added Mrs. Darwin (Cora) Downer and Mrs. Lee (Sylvia) Ferguson to Mrs. Lucille Olson, Mrs. Vern (Gladys) Parks, Mrs. Elba (Lelia) Gage, and Mrs. Elmer (Helen) Lindemann.

The nominating committee added Vern Hilts to George Frisinger and Mrs. Walter (Helen) Wolfgang.

The auditor for 1965 is Paul Mann.

The Correspondents for Youth is Miss Judy Wiseman, for Women is Mrs. Geno (Mary Ann) Coltre, for Men is Parker Sharrard, and for children is Mrs. Al (Blythe) Johnson.

The United Church Herald representative is Mrs. Richard (Mary) Sober, and it was decided that delegates and alternates to the State Conference meetings and Ann Arbor Jackson Association meetings would be elected later.

President of the United Church of Christ denomination the Rev. Ben Herbster, spoke to the group of about 50 members by tape recording, thanking them for their part in the support of the wider ministry of the church.

The printed annual reports of the clerk, deacons, deaconesses, the board of trustees, the financial secretary, the treasurer, the finance committee, the organ fund, the christian education committee, church school, vacation bible school, stewardship project, music committee, benevolence, memorial, Pilgrim Fellowship, Women's Fellowship, Friendly Service, Esther Chat 'n' Seau, Ruth-Naomi, Rachel Chapters and Men's Fellowship, aims and goals committee, Girl Scouts, and a listing of special events for the year were included along with the minister's report.

Concluding the annual meeting were colorful slides taken by the Rev. Livingston picturing the major events of the church year and also of the town. When the minister was through with this 1964 history the moderator dismissed the meeting.

Mrs. Walter Wolfgang arranged the coffee, cold drink and butter for the meal, and Donita Dyson was in charge of a nursery.

Gelman Instrument Expands Research, Engineering Staff

Expanding research and engineering work in the medical and air pollution control fields has brought about the addition of four professional people and the promotion of a fifth at the Gelman Instrument Co., President Charles Gleman announced this week. All five persons are Ann Arbor residents.

New management appointments go to Thomas A. Jameson, 2876 Maple Rd., as manager of chemical engineering-manufacturing, and to Alfred E. Graf, 75 Morgan Rd., manager of mechanical engineering.

Richard D. Keefer of 285 Brookside Dr., was named project engineer, and Mrs. Beulah Dickason, 516 Walnut St., is the company's new medical research biochemist. James Belote of 2755 Kimberly Rd., was promoted from senior draftsman to design engineer.

Jameson was formerly manager of high temperature materials and of the nuclear department at American Metal Products, holds a BA degree from DePauw University, ABS in chemical engineering from Purdue and a master's degree in chemical engineering from the University of Michigan.

The former chief engineer at Argus, Inc., Graf attended the University of Michigan college of engineering.

Formerly project engineer at the U-M Cyclotron laboratory, Keefer graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in physics; Mrs. Dickason holds an RN, and a chemical engineering degree from the University, and previously did medical research in the gastroenterological section at University Hospital.

Before joining Gelman three years ago, Design Engineer Belote was a Bendix Systems layout draftsman and a designer in the department of mechanical engineering at the University, where he had previously studied.

Twenty persons now staff the Gelman research and engineering department, compared with about half that number when the Ann Arbor plant opened 18 months ago.

New filters are being developed for maximum strength, yet with pores ranging down to one-millionth of an inch; new medical instruments, materials and techniques are being made more accurate, versatile and easy to use; new bacteriological filters are sterile, grow healthier bacteria than before and previously unheard of chemical resistance is being built into the filters manufactured in the Ann Arbor plant for the aerospace, petroleum and chemical processing industries, Gelman states in explanation of his research expansion.

Air pollution control continues to be an expanding field, as the pharmaceutical industry joins the aviation, missile and electronics industries in using "clean rooms" where Gelman filters and instruments are used widely to help prevent even the slightest particle of dirt from coming in contact with the materials or parts being manufactured.

Community College Election

vide courses in nursing, health science technologies, pre-teaching, pre-engineering, electricity —electronics, drafting and design, commercial art, mechanical technology and industrial arts.

Who will be employed to teach in the proposed community college must also be determined by the trustees. Most similar colleges have a general minimum requirement that teaches have master's degrees in their fields of specialization. Some persons teaching in the occupational programs, including nursing, technical and trade courses, are hired with bachelor's degrees and certain employment experience.

Locally a community college has been endorsed by the Dexter Jaycees, Jaycettes, the Chamber of Commerce the Parent-Teacher Association and the Board of Education.

In Ann Arbor, among those endorsing the college are the Washtenaw County School Officers Association which represents school boards, the county school superintendents, the Intermediate School District board, several PTA groups, the EMU Faculty Council, The Ann Arbor City Council, the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, the Washtenaw County AFL-CIO Council, Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce, and numerous civic and church-related groups.

All urge a "yes" vote on establishing the college, and authorizing charter millage of 1.25 mills for operations, and election of a qualified representative six-member board of trustees on Jan. 15.

CARD OF THANKS

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

★ Capital . . . Human and Material

Economic experience and economic theory both teach that the essential prerequisite for the progress of a nation is the accumulation of capital within its borders. Until recently, the emphasis was laid on the accumulation of physical capital—the tools and equipment which make human labor more productive than it would otherwise be.

It is pointed out that capital formation of this type depends on the ability of a country either to provide its own savings through cultivation of the virtue of self-denial, or to attract savings from abroad by creation of confidence in the stability of the country's institutions. The growth of the United States since its inception was the result of a combination of both conditions. The difficulties currently experienced by the underdeveloped nations are the product of their failure to acquire sufficient capital through either route.

Can Be Misleading

More recently the emphasis has shifted to the gains to be realized from the development of "human capital." By this is meant the fund of skills, attitudes and motivations which reside in human beings as such, rather than in the physical possessions over which they have control. The moral drawn from this, for guidance in decisions on national policy, is that a dollar spent in improving the health, education or working skills of the people may yield a higher return than a dollar spent in the ordinary sense—new productive plant and equipment.

The new emphasis on human capital is well taken, but it can also be misleading. No one can deny that the fate of a nation, in the long run, depends more on the quality of its people than on the quantity or quality of its material assets.

Latent Contradiction

But human capital cannot be created by fiat. We cannot pour human capital into people simply by a central decision that we will spend so many tax-collected dollars each year for health, education or welfare. The most precious form of human capital is described by the old-fashioned word, "character." No one, as yet, has found any way to buy this with dollars.

At the risk of seeming corny, we may point out that when the Mayflower landed at Plymouth Rock it carried a heavy cargo of human capital. The capital was not in the technological skills or higher education of these early immigrants. By the standards of their time they were quite ordinary in those respects. They were extraordinary in their faith, determination, and their recognition of the personal responsibility of each individual for the consequences of his own actions. It was this kind of human capital that grew, by compound interest, into the kind of society that the United States became.

There is a latent contradiction in the idea that government-financed accumulation of human capital can contribute to the creation of a better world. The habit of relying on Big Brother represents depletion, rather than accumulation, of human capital.

Never pay any attention to political gossip that must be peddled in whispers and on the basis of strictest confidence.

You might find another car as new as the Delta 88.

But not this year.
This is Oldsmobile's Delta 88. It's unique. Unique because it's new. New clear through.
Styling is new. So new, not a line nor a highlight was borrowed from last year.
Power plant is new. Super Rocket V-8 is the biggest in Olds history: 425-cubic-inches big, up to 370-horses strong.
Transmission is new, too. Turbo Hydra-Matic, available on any Delta 88, provides up to 40% more torque from a standing start, superlative performance at all speeds.
New styling. New engine. New transmission. This year, only Delta 88 lets you have all three, all new. Other cars have a lot of catching up to do.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

DEN 14, PACK 435—

First we collected dues at the Jan. 4 meeting while Cubs were still arriving. When Den 13 came, we walked to the library to look up books about inventors and their inventions, explorers and pioneers. Mrs. Layher helped Mrs. Bucholz.

At the Jan. 11 meeting we opened by collecting dues. We voted for a person to have our skit about. The first time, we voted on Franklin Roosevelt, Tom Edison and Daniel Boone. We had a tie on Tom Edison and Daniel Boone, each getting three votes. We had to vote three times before we decided on Tom Edison. For dinner, we elected David Layher and assistant dinner, James Gullet. We played Simon Says. We ended our meeting with the Grand Howl and Living Circle.

SHALL WE DANCE? Neither Charles Schmunk (15) of Chelsea nor his colleague, David Clark (11) have any such intention. That isn't a ballet position that Ron Mull (40) of Dexter holds either. Like Gary White (13) (Chelsea) each has his eye on the ball at the Friday night battle between the two teams at Dexter. The Dreadnaughts scored another victory over their traditional "enemy" by taking the Bulldogs, 62-47.

Service Club Elects Board Members

Washtenaw County 4-H service club elected three new members to the governing board of nine for the year of 1965. To replace the retiring members, Ron Kuhl, Manchester, Nancy Brewer, Ann Arbor and Velma Wiseman, Chelsea, the new members Allen Broesamle, Chelsea, Ralph Diuble, Ann Arbor, and Sue Gilloz, Manchester, were elected at the Dec. 20 annual meeting.

At Service Club Board meeting held Jan. 7 officers were named. During 1965, the president will be Ralph Diuble of Ann Arbor; vice-president, Rena Girbach of Saline; secretary, Jan Schneider of Ann Arbor; and treasurer, Mrs. Lawrence Zeigler of Ann Arbor.

The business of developing one's personality is more important than that of regulating others.

Road Commission Employees Threatening Strike Action

A strike has been threatened by Local 453 of the Michigan State Employees Union unless two men who have been fired are rehired by the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

The strike vote was taken in protest over the firing on Dec. 15 of Carmer Slocum of Chelsea, foreman of the county's dead tree removal crew and president of Local 453, and Herbert Linke of Ypsilanti, an assistant yard foreman.

The two were fired after they refused to sign a statement pledging "not to belong to any non-management organization that would conflict with their duties."

Robert Grosvenor, state president of the union, hopes to meet with the Road Commission this week to discuss the threat.

Grosvenor said the men were fired when they insisted on being represented by legal counsel at a meeting set up to discuss their refusals to sign.

Road Commission Supt.-Manager Howard G. Minier said 28 of the county's 31 foremen and assistant foremen signed the statements. One assistant foreman who declined to sign accepted a demotion instead in order to retain his union status.

Minier said the statements were required to avoid "conflicts of interest" because the foremen and assistant foremen supervise and evaluate the work of both union members and non-members.

Grosvenor said the union claims that the firing of Slocum was illegal under the state Veterans' Preference Act, which sets up seven specific conditions under which veterans may be fired. He said "unsatisfactory and unco-operative attitude," the charge made by the Road Commission in dismissing Slocum, is not one of the stated conditions under the act.

He said that firing of Linke will be appealed to the state Labor Relations Board on the basis that his dismissal was in violation of general work policies adopted by the Road Commission in 1959. Linke is not an armed forces veteran.

Slocum had been a commission employee for 15 years and Linke for nine years.

Minier said the Road Commission does not object to its employees belonging to any unions, but it does object to foremen and assistant foremen belonging to the same union as the men they are supervising.

He said commission employees are represented by three separate organizations, including Local 453 of the State Employees Union, and some employees, belong to no organization.

"The firing of Mr. Slocum and Mr. Linke was a management decision," Minier said. "It was based on their refusal to co-operate with the procedures established by the Road Commission to discharge its responsibilities to the people of Washtenaw County. We cannot allow this union or any other to take over that responsibility."

Grosvenor said he will seek the full reinstatement of Slocum and Linke in his meeting with the commissioners next week.

"The strike vote is a last resort," he explained. "It is the only tool we have to bring pressure to bear where our position is being ignored."

Grosvenor expressed hope the grievance involving the two fired employees can be settled without a strike. He said there are no other issues connected with the strike vote.

Minier said that the commission's action in firing the two men was taken after careful deliberation and will stand.

"This was not a hasty action," he said. "It was a difficult decision, but one that had to be made."

Minier also expressed hope a strike can be averted, but said the commission is making preparation to meet all emergencies if a strike should be called.

"We fully intend to fulfill our responsibilities to keep the highways in Washtenaw county as safe as possible in any storm," he said.

The Road Commission is responsible for snow and ice control on state trunklines in the county, as well as on all county primary and secondary roads.

County Democratic Committee Endorses Community College

The Executive Committee of the Washtenaw County Democratic Committee has adopted a resolution urging support of a Washtenaw County Community College.

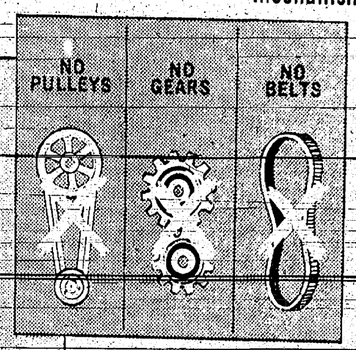

In asking voters to support the Community College on Jan. 15, the committee resolution took note of "ever-increasing school age population in Washtenaw county which needs the opportunity for education beyond the high school level. The type of education needed for these young people is currently not available to them."

COMING IN PERSON — Rubinoff and his violin will appear in a popular concert at Chelsea High school auditorium Thursday evening (tonight) at 8:15 o'clock. His appearance here is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea with proceeds earmarked for use in the club's community projects. Tickets are available from any Kiwanis club member or at the door.

Rubinoff and His Violin Set Fast Pace in Daily Schedule

When your see and hear Rubinoff and his violin in concert here today at the Chelsea High school auditorium, at 8:15 p.m., you will share one day out of the nine months he spends each year touring the nation. These nine months will add up to some 125 cities visited, 250 matinee and evening concerts played with an additional 1,250 free performances at service club luncheons, hospitals, radio broadcasts, and with at least 1,000 of these free appearances before students in school assemblies.

Tickets for tonight's concert, will be available at the door or from any Kiwanis club member.

A day with Rubinoff is a whirlwind of activity—he is up at four and five o'clock in the morning and as a rule travels 100 or 200 miles before breakfast. Week-ends are usually spent in cross-country train and plane flights. If the schedule permits, he will visit four or five churches on Sunday morning. Red Oak, Ia., holds the record for the most churches visited in one morning. The Ministerial Association there presented him with a beautiful Bible in recognition of his playing for seven churches.

To start his day Rubinoff arrives for a hurried greeting with sponsors, perhaps a picture for the local press, and then he is off to an escorted tour of practically the whole city's school enrollment for school assemblies with only breaks of five or 10 minutes between for transportation. Almost without exception he is invited as guest speaker for a service club luncheon, but winds up "fiddling for his lunch". The Student Matinee follows in the afternoon with an hour or two spent autographing for his young friends after the concert. Next routine is an interviews for the local radio station and by then it is time for a change into full dress, dinner, and the big event of the day—the evening concert.

An ironclad rule with Rubinoff is to be at the auditorium an hour before the audience assemblies for practising on his beloved Stradivarius. The Maestro is often questioned as to why he has to practice after having played the violin for 50 years. His serious reply is that with all the many appearances he makes, that still does not allow him time to polish and perfect individual notes and passages. Difficult exercises also keep his fingers flying at the effortless speed maintained for hours at a time. Even in is automobile or on the train, Rubinoff either uses his Strad or his specially built pocket fingerboard to keep up with his rigid practice schedule.

With all this Rubinoff still finds time for collectors hobby of antique glass, dictating letters, long distance telephone calls, and enjoying life in general. This famous artist spends his days at a terrific pace, but he wouldn't trade it for any other life. Each morning he looks forward with fresh enthusiasm and boundless energy to the new day to be shared with new friends in new places.

Ski Injuries Occur Mostly To Beginners

Ann Arbor — If you didn't learn to ski at an early age, niversity of Michigan orthopedic surgeons advice: "Take it easy."

They caution older beginners not to try to master too many new tricks at once.

Beginners, and out-of-condition skiers, suffer the majority of injuries on the slopes, says the U-M doctors.

Legs, ankles, and knees are apt to be involved in minor ski mishaps. Broken ankles and torn ligaments in the ankle and knee, which result from twisting, will probably be seen more frequently this winter because of increased interest in the sport, they note.

Less common skiing injuries seen in hospitals and doctors' offices involve the hands, arms, hips and back. And broken toes are rare because of the good protection provided by most ski boots.

But if you are injured on the ski slopes this winter, there's a good chance you will be back on your boots next year.

According to the U-M surgeons, ski injuries may be "temporarily incapacitating, but are seldom permanently damaging."

290 Lives Lost in Water Accidents

Michigan's 605 water accidents in 1964 claimed 290 lives and injured 228 persons, the worst water toll in five years, according to State Police provisional figures.

Only in 1959 were there more drownings but the 325 deaths charged to that year included 37 suicides, a classification dropped in 1961 as an accident category.

The number of accidents set a new official record and tops the previous high of 560 in 1961. The State Police in 1958 in accordance with a new law began official compilation of Michigan water accident statistics reported by all police agencies.

Last year's number of injured was second only to the high mark of 231, also set in 1961.

Of the accidents, 261 caused fatalities while 173 resulted in personal injury and 171 were property damage only.

Compared with 1963, deaths were increased by 46 or 19 percent over 244, injuries were up 12 or six percent from 216 and accidents showed a rise of 65 or 12 percent over 540.

In the breakdown of the deaths, the 144 involving swimmers or waders was an increase of 49 or 50 percent over 95 in 1963.

The breakdown included 41 who fell from bridges, banks, docks or piers, 40 boat operators, 38 boat passengers, 13 who fell through ice, nine who attempted to rescue others, three skin or Scuba divers, one water skier and one who fell into a tank or well.

Auto Accidents Cost More Today For Everyone

It costs more to have an automobile accident these days.

Ten years ago, the cost of replacing one front fender of a popular-make car cost $24.50. Today, the same repair job would cost $45.65—or an increase of 86 percent.

In 1954, the average expense for spending one day in a hospital, including all medical services, amounted to $19.95. If you experienced an auto accident tomorrow and were confined to a hospital bed, the cost would be about $36.83 per day—an increase of 85 percent.

These figures, computed on national averages, indicate the mounting expenses which must be met by insurance companies throughout the country," according to N. L. Vermillion, administrative vice-president of the Farm Bureau Insurance Group, headquartered in Lansing. "Rising costs of medical care and repair of damaged property, combined with the sky-rocketing costs of replacing income lost as a result of an accident are forcing the insurance industry to adjust rates for auto protection.

The insurance official continued by stating that the constant increase in severity and frequency of auto accidents will continue to affect insurance rates. Michigan drivers, for example, reported 198,075 motor vehicle accidents during the first nine months of 1964. This constitutes a 10 percent increase over the comparative period in 1963.

Total cost of Michigan's traffic accidents through mid-November last year has been estimated at $330,000,000.

400,000 TRUCKS IN MICHIGAN

There are more than 400,000 trucks of all types registered in Michigan, which places the state seventh among all states. California and Texas lead, each with more than one million truck registrations, followed by Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and Ohio.

CLUB 15—

Club 15 met Monday, Jan. 11, at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Clarence Nutt.

The girls celebrated a birthday party for their club sister, Teri Lee MacDonald. "Happy Birthday" was sung while she opened her gifts. A birthday cake and Kool-Aid were served. Guests at the party included Teri's mother, Mrs. Nancy MacDonald and her two sisters, Tami and Tori. Suckers and noisemakers were given to each one. All members, except one, were present.

Legs have always been important. Years ago, reporters used them to get news; nowadays, photographers depend upon them for their art.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

A few reminders are still around to be seen. For the most part Christmas is past. Here and there, however, there is still a forlorn reminder of the recently passed, and not lamented, holidays.

We're too busy to pay them much attention.

That season is gone, this one is going, the next is coming too fast. Some store windows demonstrate the fact. Spring fashions clamor for attention. More people are beginning to think about vacation.

Looking ahead, planning ahead, is not only an American pastime it is an American obsession.

The danger with this is that we get so involved in planning for a day not yet arrived that we forget to use well the day we have.

But, then, it's nothing new. People have been doing it a long while.

Usually we've been a little worried about how well our plans will succeed. Some have worried so much the load became difficult to carry. Some others break down under their worrying.

A voice from long ago speaks to us. "Take no thought for tomorrow," he said. "Tomorrow will have enough cares of its own."

The speaker—Jesus of Nazareth.

Lord, let us listen.

There are very few young men, starting out in life, who do not believe that, within a few years, they will be rich.

Junior High Pilgrim Fellowship Holds Organizational Meeting

Tuesday at the First Congregational church seven Junior High young people gathered with the Rev. Livingston to talk about organizing a youth group for their age. At first they made folded paper gliders of a new design. Then Jacquie Bailey served cookies and Kool-Aide she had made in the kitchen. Following this the Rev. Livingston presented a 10-minute "sample" program on parent-youth relations with about half of its discussion. Then Marsha Johnson helped report on some of the possible program topics that had been thought of by a planning committee.

The group decided to study another denomination at the next meeting and then at another meeting perhaps go visit the local church. Maxine Gee was put in charge of working out the details with the Rev. Livingston. Refreshments will be in charge of Marsha Johnson, Pam Czarnecki will have recreation, and Roger Hilts and Kent Livingston will have brief devotions. They decided to meet in two weeks at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26. All Junior High students are welcome.

Police Chief John Palmer reported that the first phase of the bicycle education program was initiated this week in all sections of the school system with the exception of the high school. Information bulletins will be issued to the high school in lieu of the lecture program.

Many favorable comments have already been received by Council members from parents of young children and from the school teachers and administrators. Some objections have also been voiced to the bicycle ordinance as such.

A discussion was held with Civil Defense director, Elwyn Beach, regarding the possible acquisition of an emergency hospital unit to be stored and used by the Chelsea area should a disaster occur. No official action was taken at this time.

Petitions were submitted to the Village Clerk on December 15, 1964, by Mr. Frederick H. Schumm requesting that the Council submit to the electorate at the next general election on March 8, 1965 the question of the sale of spirits for consumption on the premises in addition to beer and wine. The Clerk informed the Council that more than a sufficient number of qualified and registered voters have signed the submitted petitions.

Notice of submission of said petitions must by law be published in The Chelsea Standard not later than 10 days after receipt of such petitions.

Pres. Haselwschwardt reported on a meeting held with Col. Miller, Civil Defense Director of Washtenaw county, regarding radio equipment now available to the Village through matching funds from Civil Defense. Col. Miller's office will be instructed to contact the Motorola Co. for a firm committment for the proposed radio equipment.

A check in the amount of $2,475.00 was received for the 1961 and 1962 merchant contribution to the Parking Lot Bond and Interest Account. William Tite Is Moderator Of Church

Tuesday night the Deacons of the First Congregational church held their organizational meeting at the parsonage and selected William Tite as their chairman. This responsible position is doubled in importance because the Chairman of the Deacons is automatically the Moderator of the church. Thus Tite is the lay head of the church, conducts all church business meetings, and convenes any regular or special meetings of the congregation.

Other assignments by the Deacons were the appointment of Robert Jacobs as vice-chairman along with his "area of interest" in Christian Education, and the selection of Ron Satterthwaite as clerk with Fellowship Groups as his area. The "area of interest" for the other Deacons are as follows: Merle Barr, Christian Living and Social Action, Vern Parks again on Membership Lists and Involvement of Members, Dick Smith on Stewardship and Benevolence, Ken Runciman on Sacraments, Parker Sharrard on Publicity and Prospects, and Andy Dyson with Public Worship and Private Devotions as his "area of interest."

The meeting, which started at the Parsonage, moved shortly to the home of Robert Jacobs who could not secure a baby sitter. The caravan pulled up there bringing with it Mrs. Livingston's coffee, cookies, cups, etc.

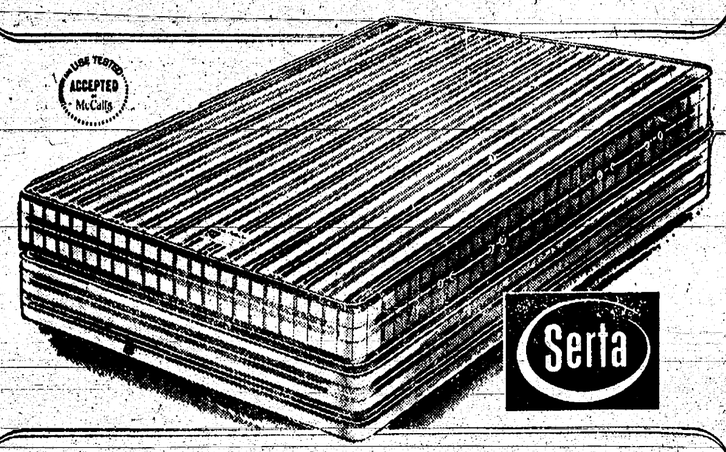

The Deacons wanted it made clear that the "areas of interest" mainly refers to the area of church activity that each Deacon will report on and keep contact with during the year. They plan to spend some time next month on the Deacons' part of the 1965 budget. This meeting will be at the regular meeting time, 8 p.m., on the first Thursday of each month. The Deacons expressed appreciation to Barr for the fine job he did last year as chairman and moderator of the church.

Tomorrow Will Be Too Late

Peter Howard

By Peter Howard

In the past month Peter Howard, British author, playwright and political commentator, has spoken at the following seventeen universities and colleges—Amherst, Dartmouth, Fisk, Iowa State, Macalester, Marylhurst, Montreal, New Brunswick, Oregon State, Puget Sound, San Fernando Valley State, Seattle, Stanford, Tennessee State, Vanderbilt, Western Michigan and Wyoming.

They represent Ivy League and modern campuses, Negro and women's colleges, East Coast, West Coast, South, mid-Western and Canadian. He has received invitations to address 53 other colleges as soon as possible.

Everywhere the story has been the same—a generation thirsty for the reality of a mighty purpose. The bursts of applause, standing ovations, cross-fire of eager questions, testified to the response to Mr. Howard's theme—the modernization of man to match the perils and opportunities of the age.

Peter Howard is in charge of the world program of Moral Re-Armament. Here is the substance of what he has said to American youth.

Peter Howard addressed 17 universities and colleges in his 19,000-mile tour of the United States and Canada.

We are living in a time of tremendous opportunity in the world, and also of very great hazard and danger. You have what is called "proliferation". First, the proliferation of the bomb. America has the bomb, and I thank God for it. I hope never in your lifetime, or mine, does any power have to use it. Russia has the bomb. China has exploded what is called an "unsophisticated" bomb. France is perfecting a bomb. My country has some kind of a bomb. Israel says she is going to make a bomb, and so does Egypt. Sukarno says next year he will have a bomb and it is possible, because America gave him a reactor from which bombs can be made.

What is the reaction of free society to the proliferation of the bomb? It appears to me to be the proliferation of division. We are more divided than we ever were before. Broken homes have come to be accepted as common. There is color war, class war. Even now there is an intense division growing between youth and age. Division is not a very intelligent reaction to the proliferation of the bomb.

Secondly, you have the proliferation of population. Those of you who live to the year 2,000 will live in a world where 6,000,000,000 fellow citizens live with you. It means at the same time we have to double the food production of the world.

What is our answer? It is a proliferation of impurity. Premarital indulgence is increasingly accepted. All standards are being pulled down. It seems a highly unintelligent answer to the proliferation of population.

Thirdly, you have the proliferation of evil. The vast powers of Russia and China say their aims can never succeed until the myth of God is removed from the mind of man, and that "our morality is wholly subordinate to the class struggle." Of course Lenin's conception of morality simply means, "What suits us is right and what suits them is wrong." It is relative morality. Once you adopt that system of morality what do you have to say to a Hitler or a Stalin? You have your relative standards and they have theirs.

In modern society we try and answer the proliferation of evil with the proliferation of what is called "the new morality", which simply means the old immorality. I don't think it is a very intelligent answer.

The Way America Goes

The future of our liberty depends on America. The world will go the way America goes. If America submits to the way of totalitarianism across the face of the world, if America goes to war, we shall all be destroyed. If America patterns a revolutionary society big enough to include everybody in the rebuilding of the world, and lives with a discipline that changes everybody — Communist and non-Communist, white and black, Right and Left — I think we shall see the rebirth of civilization, perhaps the rebirth of what used to be called Judeo-Christian civilization. I am sure that is the only intelligent reaction to the proliferation of the bomb, of population and of evil.

I am passionately FOR America. But I would like as a friend to describe what I see about some failures of American policy. Take China. There was a gentleman there called Chiang Kai-shek. He was in charge of China and he fought bravely. We, the Americans and the British, insisted that Chiang Kai-shek take Communists into his government. We withdrew armed support from Chiang Kai-shek. He went to Formosa. Now in his stead you have a Communist regime. Chiang Kai-shek may have done many things which were wrong. Personally, I think he was smeared in a masterful way across the world. Are we sure the regime which supplanted him was better for the future of man?

A friend of mine saw Chou En-lai last year. He told me, "I discussed the danger of atomic war. Chou En-lai said to me, 'War is not only inevitable but necessary if Communism is to triumph. And we are willing to risk three hundred million lives in such a war.'"

Then, there was Batista in Cuba. He was all the things we most dislike. Corruption. We tut-tutted at him and pulled him down and brought in that great agrarian reformer, Castro. People I know in New York financed him with four million dollars. People hoped to do big business. But I am not sure, in the light of history, whether it was a very notable advance to put down Batista and install Castro.

In answer to that, I have just been invited to go to Latin America this next year because they say Moral Re-Armament is the one answer to Castroism. They say their "culture is being torn up by the roots. Our people will no longer listen to the West. They do still listen to Moral Re-Armament." We do not have the resources of government. But we are going to do our best.

There was a gentleman called Diem. I knew him. He was five foot high, a proud little man. He only spoke French. You had to make your way with him. He said to me, "Can you help me with the Americans? We know we owe everything in Viet Nam to America — they built roads, schools, libraries — but they will not listen to anything I try to tell them about my country."

Diem may have had difficult female relatives, but he was one of the best friends your country had in that part of the world. He appears to have been about the one man able to hold some measure of stability in Viet Nam. He was killed. The story was told in the United States that he persecuted the Buddhists. I was glad to see, after he was killed, that Mr. Phillips, a distinguished member of the U. S. State Department, had the grace to admit there had been no religious pressure or persecution under Diem.

There is a gentleman called Tshombe. Any person must be appalled at the savagery that is going on in the Congo. When Tshombe was in top political power, the U. S. smeared him and chased him out of the country. If that was right, what is he doing running the country with U. S. help today?

Stubborn Fools or Wicked Men

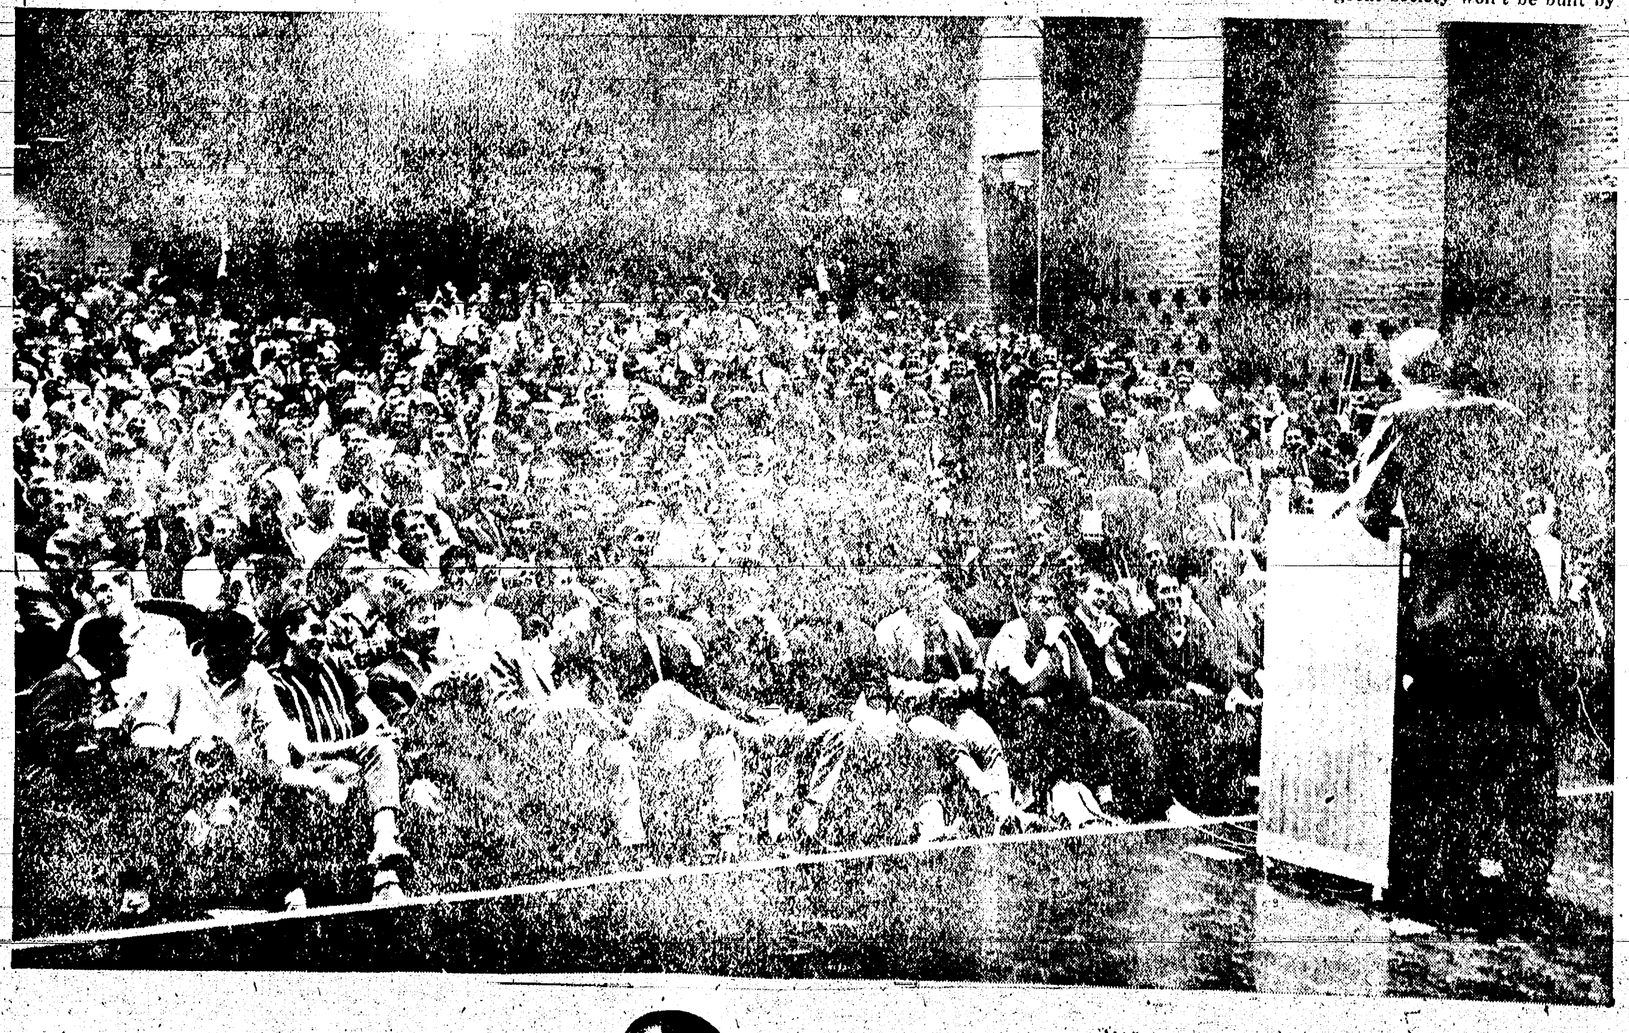

Mr. Richard Nixon wrote an interesting article in the November issue of the 'Reader's Digest'. In that article he tells some of the story of the Cuban crisis and he writes about particular elements in the State Department. Reading that important document, as a foreigner, I come to one of two conclusions: Either there is a section of the State Department that is run by crass idiots and stubborn fools, or by wicked men. If I were an American, I would tell Mr. Nixon to put up or shut up, because if what that man says is true, it is deadly dangerous. If what he says is not true, he is deadly dangerous.

Our lack as a free society is an ideology — a world goal far bigger than anything concocted by Communism or the filthy apparatus of Fascism, and the discipline to pursue it of our own free will. I take "Thy Will be done on earth as it is in Heaven" seriously, not as a pious hope, but as a passionate commitment. If we do that, we shall inherit a world remade.

Can't we take it on together and start living on the basis of what is right, not who is right? It would have to be demonstrated. A campus could show it, a state could show it. Then they could talk to President Johnson with his dreams of a Great Society. Because a great society won't be built by landscaping the country. I am bound to tell you that a great society is only created by great people. Big purses don't make a great society; big welfare schemes don't; laws, however important — and they are important — don't make people great. What makes people great is greatness of character, people free from the selfishness, the fears, the hates and the greeds that have made so many nations small in the midst of prosperity and power.

I firmly believe that Moral Re-Armament is the revolutionary issue of our time. It is the next step for America and the whole world. If you happen to believe in God, you can call it God's weapon for the hour, and God's philosophy for the century. If not, then call it plain common sense. It is neither left nor right. It believes in sound homes, teamwork in industry, unity in the nation, and a rebuilt world as the normal commitment for every man, woman and child in a free society. It declares that the only sane people in an insane world are those who will start to live today as mankind must live if we are to survive; caring enough to share enough so all men have enough; daring enough to cross the barriers of language, race and narrow nationalism that divide the earth. It believes in love of home, love of homeland and love of humanity, a love strong enough to pay the price of seeing all those places — home, homeland and humanity — become different.

Young Americans who take up this task will be the Washingtons and Lincolns in this age of staggering danger and opportunity. They won't only see those who inherit the earth from them rise up and call them blessed, but they will have the time of their lives in doing it.

Merganser Duck Is Versatile

The American merganser — one of Michigan's handsomest ducks — dives like a submarine and comes back to the surface the same way, says George Hunt, University of Michigan assistant professor of wildlife management.

"He does this by holding his feathers tight against the body and squeezing out any air that might be captured in the feathers. This makes his body heavier," Hunt explains. "The merganser shares this ability with loons and grebes."

The streamlined, fish-eating merganser has a slender bill, hooked at the end, and a slim head. The female, unlike the male, has a crest on her bright brown head. The merganser's back and wings are gray, the lower part of the neck, breast and belly, white.

In Michigan you will find these birds usually nesting on streams, lakes or marsh areas. For a nesting spot they prefer the hollows of trees. But if trees are not available, they will sometimes use cliff crevies or nest on the ground.

Mergansers may be seen anywhere in Michigan during any time of the year, Hunt says. In the winter they are just as apt to be seen on salt water as on fresh water areas.

"This duck doesn't breed until two years of age," says Hunt. "They usually lay around 10 eggs, and incubation lasts four weeks.

"Spring courtship displays are rather attractive," says Hunt. "Around six males will line up and swim back and forth before a like number of females. There are also various diving performances with the males rising the head and bill, then lowering the head forward and kicking the water with their feet."

This is a migratory species, says Hunt, and travels anywhere from Alaska down to the Gulf Coast, usually seen in groups of 12 to 50. But if the food supply is good, you might see scattered thousands of these birds over a 10 or 20 square mile area.

JUSTICE COURT

Dallas L. Green, 33, of Belleville, appeared before Justice C. A. Rogers of Sylvan township, pleaded guilty to having a loaded gun and paid $25.00 fine and costs.

Mac Coleman, 65, of Detroit, pleaded guilty before Justice David A. Doig, Dexter township, of killing raccoon in closed season. He paid $18.00 fine and costs.

During 1964, members of the U.S. Coast Guard were responsible for saving nearly 3,000 lives and rescue of ships and cargo valued at more than $2.1 billion.

Detroit Tiger Outfielder Al Kaline's major league lifetime batting average fell two points to .307 when his 1964 average dropped to .293.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

FIRST GRADE, Mrs. Smith—

Our class welcomed a new boy this week. His name is Scott Green. Scott came from Leslie.

For January the children have made snowmen to decorate the bulletin board.

The boys and girls are learning to tell time by the hour. For this project each child has a clock face made from a paper plate. This class is enjoying this activity.

THIRD GRADE, Mrs. Bonner—

Nothing is better than warm bread right from the oven dripping with butter and home-made jam. At least that's what Mrs. Bonner's class thinks.

We have been studying how we get the foods we eat. This week we learned about bread and decided to make some.

The class was divided into mixers, kneaders, and servers. Almost everyone had a chance to knead the bread. The whole class went down to the foyer to watch and smell the bread bake. Despite the antiquated oven, the children decided it was the best bread they had ever eaten.

Special thanks are due the parents who sent such wonderful home-made jam and jelly.

FIFTH GRADE, Mrs. Winkle—

Mrs. Winkle and her room welcome a new boy to their fifth grade. He is Joseph Green from Leslie. He tells us that in Leslie their fifth grade had only the noon recess. (Something to dwell on isn't it?)

If you are interested in United States historical events, this is for you. The events for January are being produced day by day on the bulletin board in the front foyer at North Elementary. This is being done by the class as a whole.

KINDERGARTEN, Mrs. Jacobson—

The Kindergarten is beginning a unit on self-understanding. Objectives are to make children more familiar with emotions such as happiness, sadness, love, anger and fear, and to teach that we can have control of others' emotions as well as our own. This unit was carried out in various ways.

Discussion—"What can we do to make mother happy?" "What makes classmates angry?" Pictures were shown and the children discussed expressions on people's faces and tried to explain why they may look as they do.

In Art we made self portraits for better awareness of individual physical appearance. We had drawings of people and had to tell how that person felt by looking at the expression on his face.

In Music, the children tried to recognize different moods of music and encouraged creative self-expression.

In Dramatics, we had small group presentations. We dramatized situations envolving emotions.

FIFTH GRADE, Mrs. Vonk—

Thursday, Mrs. Vonk enjoyed a slice of home-made bread made in school by Mrs. Bonner's third grade class. She had to eat it right in class and her face became as red as the strawberry jam on the bread. We all drooled but thought it was kind of Mrs. Bonner's class to let her taste it.

We began an English unit on writing Social letters which included cheer-up notes to others. We related stories about people we know who go to visit sick people and say things like "Oh don't worry about your borke leg, I know Mr. Smith who had the same thing and he still limps today!" Or they might say, "We're here to cheer you . . . . You know my neck aches lately, do you suppose I'm getting a cold in my neck?" We decided if we go to visit for the purpose of bringing cheer, we had better remember CHEER not JEER.

We are going to use what we learned regarding the five parts of a social letter by writing to Jeremy Birman, our friend who returned to Australia just before Thanksgiving.

Some of you may wish to correspond with the Birmans also. We would like to encourage you to do this. Perhaps they might decide to come back. Their address is 124 Kintail Road, Applecross, Western Australia.

EXTRA NOTICE We are having an assembly at North School, Thursday, Jan. 14. It will be at 10 a.m. All grades will be attending. The special feature: Mr. Rubinoff and his violin.

Area Resident Fined on Charge of Killing Deer During Closed Season

John Graybill, 36, 4859 Dexter-Pinckney Rd., was arraigned Monday on a charge of killing and possessing deer during a closed season. Graybill, a car salesman, stood mute before Justice of the Peace David Doig. A trial date will be set later.

Graybill was arrested by Conservation Officer Don Boyer after deer meat was found in Graybill's house. Boyer and sheriff's officers had a search warrant with them when they discovered the illegal meat.

Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship Prepares For Youth Sunday

Changing the name for the topic from "Songs for a Small Planet" to "Is God Dead?" the senior Pilgrim Fellowship of the First Congregational church decided to use on Youth Sunday the material brought by Tom Sharrard and prepared by the Youth of the National Council of Churches for Youth Sunday. This day is the last Sunday of January in each year, and often young people conduct the entire service.

The group decided to hold another meeting this coming Sunday to really discuss the meaning of the topic which has to do with Science and Religion. Come share opinions at the 6:30 meeting at the church, Sunday, Jan. 17.

Arlys Wiseman conducted the worship.

Selfishness is synonmous with anti-religion.

BIG RBI MAN

In five seasons with the Detroit Tigers, first baseman Norm Cash has driven in a total of 462 runs, an average of better than 92 per season.
