Dexter Wins District Cage Tournament

Willow Run Fan Stabs Ron Mull In Wild Melee After Final Game

Dexter's Drednoughts were crowned District 37 Class II champions Saturday night with a stunning 67-65 upset of Willow Run.

Willow Run had been established as one of the pre-tourney favorites along with Tecumseh and Judging from the way they were run over Chelsea Wednesday night, 95-65, and Tecumseh Friday night, 68-62, the pre-tournament predictions looked like a sure bet. Dexter had not looked very sharp in defeating Lincoln 55-51, and Saline, 55-50, to move into the final match with Willow Run.

But the boys from Dexter were not to be denied a victory as they outlasted, outbounded, outshot, and outplayed the Flyers throughout the game.

The sharp dribbling and passing of Doug Dunham, the Dexter guard, kept Willow Run off balance all night. The famed Willow Run press willed as Dunham maneuvered his way up the court. Time and time again he found either Earl Miller, who scored 20 points, or Ron Mull open for easy baskets. Mull scored 15 points.

The work of Mike McIntyre, Dunham's partner in the backcourt, must be recognized also. He collaborated with Miller on the famed screen and roll play for four or five easy baskets.

The problem of getting rebounds against the great jumpers, like Dishmond Spall and Thomas, was solved by Dexter's Mike Crocker, Miller and Dunham actually dominated the boards. A tremendous effort was necessary and they carried it out. Willow Run did not have one of its better shooting nights, hitting on only 35 percent to Dexter's 43 percent. The constant pressure of the Dexter zone de-

The programs for the series promises to be varied and of interest to everyone, with suitable music of the season.

Legion Post Preparing For Birthday

A big birthday celebration is being planned by Legionnaires and the Auxiliary of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 81 here in conjunction with the American Legion's 46th anniversary, March 15-17, Post Commander Elton F. Guenther announced today.

Participation of the Legionnaires of Post 81 in this year's anniversary celebration will add to the festivities of some 16,000 community organizations of the Legion, throughout the nation and in several overseas countries and territories, to make the observance the world's largest birthday party.

The American Legion was founded in 1919 in Paris, France, shortly after the close of World War I hostilities, by representatives of the various outfits which made up the American Expeditionary Force.

The organization now consists of veterans of World War I, World War II, and the Korean War.

Post Commander Guenther reported that a committee, headed by Eugene C. Martin has been appointed to make all arrangements for the anniversary celebration.

Highlighting the observance will be a birthday on the night of March 20, at the Legion Home at Cavanaugh Lake, Commander Guenther said.

Girl Scouts Are Celebrating Organization's 53rd Year

Sunday, March 7, started the 53rd year of Girl Scouting in the USA. The theme of all Girl Scouts this year will be "A Bright Future." There are three and three-quarter million Scouts who are endeavoring to bridge the gap from young girlhood to adulthood in an honest belief that the well-educated and well-adjusted girl of today is the responsible citizen of tomorrow.

March 12, the anniversary of the founding of the first Girl Scout troop in Savannah, Ga., by Juliette Gordon Low, who founded the Girl Scout movement in the USA, is celebrated by all registered Scouts and adults.

This year, the Girl Scouts are paying special attention to the "bridges" which give over-all continuity to their program. This program adapts activities related to the arts, the home, and the out-of-doors; and, to the changing interests and needs of girls from seven through seventeen years of age as reported by a special study conducted by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center. From this report came the four-age level program and the master plan of "bridging" — and helping girls go from the Brownies to Junior to Cadette to Senior age level with related interests in their age groups.

Sunday, March 7, was Girl Scout Sabbath. Throughout the week-end, girls attended religious services in uniform — as a demonstration of the Promise to do their duty to God. Scouts are encouraged to practice their own faiths and to respect the religious convictions of others.

Supplementing this Girl Scout Promise are the 10 Laws: courtesy, thrift, cleanliness and friendship. The Promise and Laws provide Girl Scouts of all faiths and backgrounds with an easily understood

7-Year-Old Danny Bauer Undergoes Heart Surgery

Danny Bauer, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bauer of 2405 Meridian Rd., Wilkerson, entered University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, last Friday for open heart surgery on Tuesday.

Danny's grand mother Mrs. Irene Proctor reported Tuesday evening that he came through the operation in fine shape and now depends on his heart and health to take him the rest of his life.

Widening leading to his heart were clamped off and a heart-lung machine breathed and circulated the blood for him while doctors opened his heart and corrected his faulty valve. Doctors recommended this operation for Danny if he is to live past his teens.

Danny is as normal and as healthy as a looking boy as ever. He is in the first grade and works very hard at school. He has all seven-year-olds' games. At least he did until April last year. At that time Danny had a pain in his chest and his mother, Mrs. Walter Bauer, took him to see a specialist in Lansing.

The diagnosis was aortic stenosis. Aortic stenosis is a narrowing of one of the valves in the heart. To force blood through the narrowing (Continued on page five)

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Because of the importance of this matter to all the citizens of Michigan, I want to quote for you the substance of the letter I sent House Speaker Joseph J. Kowalski and Senate Majority Leader Raymond D. Dziedzic concerning their rejection of my proposed special appropriation bills.

"I believe it would be most unfortunate to take such action at this time, and that the action proposed is both unnecessary and undesirable. The proposal of the Democratic Caucus could have such serious implications for Michigan's hard-earned fiscal integrity that I believe it is important that this matter be thoroughly discussed before further action is taken. There appears to be a serious misunderstanding of what the constitution requires and perhaps a lack of understanding of the reasons for the improved procedure.

The proposed Democratic Caucus action would in effect discard these key elements of the budget-making process which are desirable and important regardless of the constitutional requirements.

It would return to the old system by which Michigan dropped into a period of fiscal chaos and as a result of which the people called a constitutional convention.

I would call your attention to these fundamental points which I urge you to carefully consider.

First. The last session of the Legislature was able to follow the new constitution and adjourn in the late spring, even though my budget bills were not available as early as this year. I understand the Senate Appropriations Committee is well ahead of its pace of last year.

Second. There appears to be considerable misunderstanding of the constitutional limitations imposed upon consideration of other legislation. There is a misconception that until the Governor's budget bills are accepted or rejected no bill involving money to accomplish its purpose can be considered. This is not true. Any bill which deals with an item listed in the Governor's budget bills can be fully considered and passed ahead of the Governor's budget bills. This was spelled out by the State Attorney General in Opinion No. 4352, July 27, 1964. Furthermore, any bill not requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose can be passed at any time. Adherence to this sound improved legislative procedure will not interfere with the orderly accomplishment of the legislature's work. In fact, 90 percent of the bills introduced so far can be enacted under the improved budgeting procedure as established by the Attorney General's opinions.

Third. Other states have constitutional provisions substantially similar.

Fourth. It is unquestionably sound procedure to have appropriations for existing state programs determined before new programs involving new expenditures are enacted. Clearly it is desirable to know the overall budget and revenue impact of an entirely new program before it becomes law. Legislative action on Senior Citizens Homestead Exemptions before enactment of the overall budget has been mentioned. Enactment of such an entirely new program as costly as this one is exactly the point a program with fiscal implications impossible to measure unless viewed as part of the total budget and revenue picture.

The issue of orderly budget making and legislative procedure with responsibility clearly established far transcends you or me. The basic intent of this constitution is to require the Governor to submit specific budget recommendations to the Legislature and then to have the Legislature first consider these recommendations on their merits and not as mere procedural matters.

Dividend, Interest Income Now Reported On Regular Form 1040

Michigan's Federal income taxpayers who have dividend or interest income to report won't need to file a Schedule B this year. This information may now be reported on the regular Form 1040, according to R. L. Nixon, Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue.

The second side of the single page Form 1040 has space for dividend and interest income data. Previously this information had to be reported on the separate Schedule B.

Nixon said that many Michigan taxpayers are asking for Schedule B's when they don't really need them. Only Form 1040 is needed to report dividends and interest.

TIME FOR THOSE WINDY MARCH DAYS

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Presidential Thoughts

National political aspirations in Michigan's second-term governor are becoming stronger, according to an increasing number of Capitol observers.

Much of the conclusion is based on a combination of factors. One is Gov. George Romney's recent position statements on national and international matters.

He avoided any such statements like the plague during his first term.

Frequency of the Governor's acceptance of bids to speak at events outside his home state is another. It still being early in the legislative session, Romney appears to have spent nearly as much time outside as in Michigan since his inauguration.

This is nearly opposite his first-term policy of accepting a minimum of invitations to speak in other states.

Still a third cause for speculation about Romney's hopes in 1968 was his recent decision to personally participate in "Operation Europe Tour."

This long-planned event will take the Governor, Secretary of State James M. Hare, legislative and business leaders on a 10-day trip abroad in an attempt to widen Michigan's business outlets.

It was reported with apparent sound foundation back in January that Lt. Gov. William Milliken would be the Governor's official representative on the trip.

As fully apparent to the chief executive's chair and a leading businessman in Traverse City, Michigan, was seen as a wise choice.

The spotlight covering the rather unique tour venture now will fall on Gov. Romney, increasing his national and international exposure.

Balance Needed

Michigan's new legislative auditor faces a tough job in the early months of his tenure.

Appointed strictly on partisan basis and although he meets the Constitutional requirement of being a certified public accountant, Albert Lee must now view his work on a strictly non-partisan basis if he is to succeed.

The Constitution gives the legislative auditor the responsibility of auditing the executive branch of government and the privilege of complete independence from the executive branch.

Less than a straightforward approach to the job could easily result in a questioning of findings by opponents.

Since part of his responsibility is job performance audit, it goes without saying that his facts must be accepted by all if his recommendations for improving program performance are to be considered for their merit.

With an eight-year term ahead of him, the new appointee may see service under both parties. Where he now has been appointed by a Democratic legislature while a Republican governor is serving, the tables could easily be turned completely during his tenure.

This makes it all-important that he drop any partisan inclinations from the start. Failure to do this could make his job much more difficult if and when any power changes occurred.

Fewer Deaths

Traffic deaths on Michigan roads during the first two months of this year were nearly 20 percent below the horrible record set in 1964, but officials emphasize this encouraging drop should prompt new diligence.

The official 1964 death count for Michigan was 2,001 persons. This represented an increase of 13 percent over the previous year.

The shocking toll last year prompted Gov. George Romney to make traffic safety legislation a major goal in his current program.

He has called for mandatory driver training for all ages, greater uniformity in accident reporting, stricter law enforcement, an increase in state police manpower, and a controversial change in the alcohol-test law.

These and other recommendations, culled from the views of many experts in the traffic safety field, would initially cost more than $3 million, Romney has said.

The Governor has become one of the many state officials who say, as he puts it, "The fulfillment of our public responsibility demands that we take immediate and informed action to stop Michigan's highway carnage and the 'massacre of the innocent.'"

Most who share this view contend that the action must be taken now, regardless of cost and despite the encouraging drop which has occurred in traffic deaths so far this year.

Many parents learn much by helping Junior with his lessons.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The boys at the country store Saturday night was discussing hogs and farmers. The storekeeper claimed we was discussing 'em in the proper order, hogs and farmers, and allowed as how hogs and farmers fitted together pretty good. But as a general rule, us fellers don't pay no attention to the storekeeper. He never did zit across the New Frontier and he thinks the Great Society is a branch of the U. S. Welfare Department.

Anyhow, Ed Doollittle reported he had saw a piece in the papers where a couple of hog experts was claiming the left ham of the hog was twice as good eating as the right ham. First off, they said a hog raises his right hind foot to scratch his right side and this exercise makes muscles in the right ham. But when he scratches his left side he always rubs it agin a tree or fence post. Farther more, they claimed, when a hog takes his rest he always lays on his right side, making that ham tougher.

The fellers at the store was pro and con on the subject. Ed said if it turned out them two experts was right, he aimed to start charging about 10 cent a pound more for left-handed hams. It was voted to write to our Congressman and see if he can't get the U. S. Department of Agriculture to make one of them science surveys they make on everything from the work production lead of quitters and teds the hog market. The fellers figured the Agriculture Department could do this job fer around $10,000 and this was about $2,000 less than they spent studying the love life of the Peruvian toad frogs.

Willow Run led by 12 at half-time, 36-24, but Tecumseh pulled into the lead at the third quarter, 45-44. Heroics by Calvin Hicks and Tim Thomas in the dying minutes of the game saved Willow Run. Hicks scored five points in the last 50 seconds and Thomas 13 points in the final quarter on a twisted ankle.

U.S. BASES ABROAD

The U. S. still maintains more than 400 major military bases abroad. The advent of bigger transport planes, floating depots and faster seaplanes may lead to the closing of many European bases in the next few years. This is under Defense Secretary McNamara's plan to economize and stem the outflow of gold.

Saturday's Kiwanis Travel Film Features Puerto Rico

James Metcalf, photographer, adventurer, lecturer, pilot and chemist, will present his latest chavologue production, "Wings to Puerto Rico," Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium. He will appear on the "Travel and Adventure Series" that is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

James Metcalf has been in the photographic profession for almost 20 years, a background unique in the travel-film field. He majored in chemistry at the University of Michigan, later studied commercial photography, graduating from the professional school at Winona, Ind. During World War II he traveled extensively for the Army Ordnance Corps, producing technical manuals and training films. His camera assignments have taken him into Canada, Yucatan, Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Cuba, Venezuela, Colombia, the West Indies, and to many other places. He flies his own Cessna Skyhawk on his photographic missions.

"Wings to Puerto Rico" is an all-color travel film of an interesting part of the Caribbean that is one of the dependencies of the United States. Recent years have seen an aggressive development program pursued by the Puerto Ricans—"Operation Bootstrap"—which has transformed this mountainous island from an unattractive area to a proud showcase and tourist mecca.

In the Capital City of Old San Juan a visit is made with the city's Lady Mayor Dona Felisa Rincon and with Governor Luis Manos Marin. Then to Laurence Rockefeller's Dorado Beach Hotel, with its championship golf course with Chi-Chi Rodrigas. Puerto Rico has many resorts, such as Mayaguez, Aguadilla, Ponce, and the beautiful El Conquistadore at Fajardo. Then to the Bain Forest at El Yunque and to Luquillo Beach and the fiesta of Lolois Aldea. The booming industries of Puerto Rico are shown in detail, including: the great sugar industry, the rum industry, Esso's huge cracking plants, rug weaving artists at the famed Vosker Company, the Stokie Van Camp pineapple fields, and the second largest tuna canning industry in the world.

On Moña Island, a primitive dependent of Puerto Rico, are found a colorful underwater world, skin diving and a performance by Jim Thorne, the celebrated skin diver and writer of Saturday Evening Post fame. This film carries the viewer from the mysterious depths of a tropical sea to the modern Puerto Rico, and up to 8,000 feet to a magnificent view of this jeweled island from the air.

Learn to get along with people; you'll have to associate with them until you die.

Girl Scout Senior Banquet Held Monday Evening

By Kathy Foster
 "The Promise in Action" was the theme of Girl Scout's senior banquet which was held Monday, March 8, at Forsyth Junior High school in Ann Arbor. The program consisted of a dinner planned by the girls of each individual troop.
 Each troop had various menus for their mothers and guests. Troop 279 had the presentation of the colors which opened the ceremony. Mistresses of ceremonies were Nancy Denyer and Pam Warren. Official song leader was Julie Steiner. After dinner important guests attending the banquet were introduced. Each girl then turned in the amount of the age in pennies according to the usual presentation to the Juliette Low fund.
 After a song session of Girl Scout songs awards were given out to the girls who had earned them in the past. These included five- and 10-year pins, the 4-10 Bars.
 Girls who would be attending Round-Up this summer were also introduced.
 It was announced that each troop in District 3 had at least one representative from their troop. Troop 89 presented a skit consisting of their services to their community.
 Miss Judy Balfe showed slides that were taken on her trip to Washington State, these slides were enjoyed by the group. Troop 122 entertained with more music, which included folk singing. Retiring of the Flag and Taps was Troop 77's job in the ceremony.
 Habit is necessary to the functioning of man. Acquire good habits and make the rule of nature your ally.

Open Heart Surgery Done On 7-Year-Old Danny Bauer

 row passage the heart must pump extra hard. Danny's heart works harder when he is resting than other boys' hearts do when they are going full force.
 In January Danny went to University Hospital in Ann Arbor where a team of specialists inserted tubes into his heart through arteries in his arms. While he lay strapped on a bed for five hours they took pictures through the tube and ran tests on the pressure inside and outside his heart.
 Open heart surgery has been used for about 10 years with amazing success. Medical records show a 99 percent survival rate for patients with aortic stenosis who have surgery.
 Danny's doctors will not predict a complete recovery but they do expect a 100 percent improvement in his blood flow.
 After the operation he will be fed intravenously for four days and be attended 24 hours a day by nurses during that time. Officials at the hospital say that a minimum of 14 pints of blood will be needed for Danny's operation.
 Danny's mother is the former Jayne Proctor, daughter of Mrs. Irene Proctor and Kenneth Proctor, and his father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, Jr., all of Chelsea. Danny has four brothers and one sister who are waiting until he gets well again so he can run and play with them as seven-year-olds should do.
 Danny is on 10th floor east, room 4 at University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor.

AGRICULTURE In Action

by M.L. Wood
 We Beg To Differ.
 It is not all unusual for the suggestion to be made that all farmers and farm organizations "get together" and work toward common causes.
 Usually too, the suggestion comes from sincere, if naive people, who are at a complete loss as to how to bring all this about. Adding to the pressure for such unity are those lawmakers who claim that the farmer's voice is so confused that actual needs are hidden from Congress under a welter of conflicting ideas and words.
 Surely there can be no argument with the goal of a united front for agriculture, providing that such unity is a voluntary thing, achieved without coercion or compulsion. Any other kind of unity is repugnant to farmers, and is actually contrary to the basic concepts upon which our nation has been founded.
 One farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, scoffs at the idea that farmers are not speaking with a united voice, pointing out that nation-wide membership in the organization now numbers six out of every eight commercial farmers. "Since when is not three-fourths a majority?" these farm leaders ask.
 In Lansing state Farm Bureau officials add that there are more areas of agreement between Michigan's major farm groups than there are areas of conflict and that basically all farmers are aiming at the same goals. Chief among them is improved income for agriculture. The most evident point of disagreement is how best to get this improved income.
 Beyond this are many other issues, on which all farm groups can work with harmony. Topping the list is reapportionment, with little argument among rural people about this issue. Most feel that if the present trend in reapportionment is allowed to continue the nation's most basic industry will be denied legislative representation in proportion to taxes paid and other contributions to the national economy.
 Farmers say their concerns with reapportionment are tied to support for constitutional government, and that this is not a matter of city-versus-country.

LYNDON TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Floyd Balmer and daughters, Irene and Mrs. Gary Rodrick and her two daughters, spent the week-end with the former's mother, Mrs. P. G. Crockett of Beaverton.
 Floyd Balmer spent Sunday with his sister, Dola Balmer, near Hudson.
 Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Balmer and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer attended the funeral Tuesday of Vester Schaffer who died Saturday near Hudson.
 Tommy Shanahan spent the week-end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Shanahan. Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bott of Harrison are spending a week here with their sons.
 Norman Bott entered St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor last Thursday for surgery on Monday.
 Mrs. Charles Fuhrman and son, Mark and Mrs. Netti Hall were Thursday evening luncheon guests of Nancy Jackson of Ann Arbor.
 Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills called on their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thomas of Jackson.
 Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mosier and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fletcher and daughter, of near Stockbridge, called Sunday on the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Mosier.
 Tourism is a $727-million annual business in Michigan. It brings nearly $50 million each year into the state treasury in taxes and license fees.

Father-Son Banquet Held at Salem Grove Methodist Church

Approximately 60 fathers and sons were in attendance at the banquet held at Salem Grove church on Saturday evening.
 The father and son banquet had been planned for Saturday evening Feb. 27 but had to be postponed because of weather conditions.
 Following the ham dinner a program was presented with Gale Artz acting as master of ceremonies and Russell Beaman as guest pianist.
 The invocation was given by Allen Broesamle, toast to the fathers, by Duane Bohne, of Edmore, and the toast to the sons by Paul Feltes. Music was by Dean Schweinfurth, Robert Rentschler and Roy Broesamle. The Rev. George Nevin, pastor of the church, gave a very humorous and entertaining talk. Mrs. Paul Feltes and Nina Wahl were in charge of the supper, and the program committee of the Woman's Society of Christian Service planned the entertainment.

STOP children from playing... with poison

THIS YEAR, 500,000 CHILDREN WILL SWALLOW MEDICINES AND HOUSEHOLD PRODUCTS WHICH CAN BE POISONOUS. 500,000 ADULTS ARE RESPONSIBLE!

Carelessness causes these accidents

USE THIS GUIDE TO POISON-PROOF YOUR HOME

- Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet.
 Even if you must leave the room for only an instant, remove the container to a safe spot.
- Store internal medicines separately from other household products.
 It's too easy to make a mistake.
- Keep household products in their original containers.
 Cups, drinking glasses, and soft-drink bottles mean food and drink to a child.
- Be sure that all products are properly labelled.
 Read the label before using.
- Always turn on the light when giving or taking medicine.
 Many containers look and feel alike in the dark.
- Avoid taking medications in the presence of children.
 Youngsters tend to imitate adults.
- Refer to medicines by their proper names.
 They are not candies.
- Clean out your medicine cabinet regularly.
 Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain, rinsing the container in water, and then discarding it.

Charles Trinkle Reported Improving Following Accident

Mrs. Charles Trinkle reports that her husband's condition is much improved after the accident on the farm early Wednesday morning, March 3. In the accident Trinkle's leg became caught between the auger and a piece of angle iron on the silo which he had climbed to unplug the mechanism.

Muscles, tendons, cords and veins are gone from his leg but the main artery to the foot is intact—so there will be no stiffness of the foot.

The doctors said they will start skin graft as soon as the healing has progressed sufficiently.

The hand that Trinkle used to help free himself was badly scraped but is much better and is healing nicely. Five and one half pints of blood have been used to date in the treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Trinkle are pleased with the help everyone has given them, from both the Chelsea and Dexter areas, to keep the farm operating and in many other ways.

Bid Awarded on New Dining Unit For Cassidy Lake

The State Administrative Board last week approved a $254,800 bid for the construction of new kitchen and dining facilities at the Cassidy Lake Technical School of the Michigan Corrections Department.

Gus Harrison, Director of Corrections, announced that work would begin soon on the new structure, designed by Lansing architects, Lattala and Nuechterlein Associates.

The building features wood and faecbrick exterior and fronts on the 40-acre lake from which the camp gets its name. Facilities for storing, preparing and serving food to the school population of some 250 persons are included in the 11,700 square foot floor plan of the building.

Located in Washtenaw County near Chelsea, the school — one of the first of its kind when founded in 1944 — is a former National Youth Administration facility.

Young men assigned to the school are selected on the basis of desire to become useful members of society and ability to benefit from the school's educational programs. Auto mechanics, wood-working, machine shop and welding are taught in campus-like surroundings, devoid of physical security features typical at most corrections institutions.

It is expected that the contractor, Goodrich-Hazen, Inc., will begin construction in early April.

Mrs. Albert Fletcher and children, Marta and Marty were called to Royalton, Ky., by the serious illness of her sister.

Senator Philip A. Hart's Report from Washington

What Is the Truth in Packaging?

It is unlikely that the logic of these newsletters over the past several years has been so overwhelming that every reader is also a supporter.

But, no Senator can begin his first post-election piece without feeling a glow of gratitude and a desire to say thank you to whom-ever his supporters may have been.

So, perhaps the best way to put it is like this: While I am not sure how grateful you are to receive these letters, I am certainly very happy for the renewed chance to send them out.

For the Democrats in Congress this year, there is a spirit of anticipation and excitement usually found only in spring training camps.

Medicare is a virtual certainty. There is an excellent chance of even more effective water pollution control legislation.

Moreover, the President has also strongly endorsed consumer legislation, particularly the Truth in Lending bill and my Truth in Packaging bill.

But the opposition forces are mobilizing, too. Tucked back in the appendix of our official hearing record is a speech made some time ago by Paul Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

It seemed to some of us that an interesting story might be done on the thousands of letters that have come into this office from indignant consumers, each of them with some personal defeat in the supermarket.

The answer came from Gardner Cowles, Look's editor-in-chief. "That the public does not feel as strong reform in the area," Mr. Mortimer was discussing.

Mortimer makes it clear that he is particularly uneasy about the Truth in Packaging bill. It is a ferret phase of the program will change," Howard E. Hill, acting director of the State Highway Department said.

Did the editors get the message? Well, here is an article from the March 26 Look magazine. It is by Charles Mortimer, chairman of General Foods Corp. "Let's Keep little urges."

State Continues Role as Leader in Road Building

Lansing — Michigan continues as a leader among the states in new highway construction, a Budget — Public Roads report issued recently reveals.

The state ranks second in two categories — miles of new highway completed and percentage of total program completed.

At the end of 1964, Michigan's 770.4 miles of new highway completed as part of the National System of Interstate Highways was topped only by Texas' 1,087 miles.

But in percentage of total program accomplished, Texas, with 43 percent of its program completed, lagged far behind Michigan, which now has 78 percent of its planned 1,081.6 miles already open to traffic.

Oregon, with 79.2 percent of planned construction finished passed Michigan in this category. In the Pacific Coast state, however, one-quarter of the completed mileage was in improved roadways.

In Michigan, only five of the 780.3 miles of total highway opened under the Interstate System are in this category.

"As other states accelerate their highway building programs, we can expect that percentage rankings among the states in different phases of the program will change," Howard E. Hill, acting director of the State Highway Department said.

James R. Beske, executive vice president of the Michigan State Highway Dept., said Michigan's highway program is "one of the best in the country."

"Anybody who constructs a weekly column is grateful for a custom that permits him once in a while to grab a scattering of minor items and hook them together into a column, as I will now proceed to do.

The item that should be of most interest to Michigan people concerned with the outdoors was garnered in conversation with Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the game division of the Conservation Department.

Ruhl was happy and well he might be, to say: "We got quite a lot of letters about a deer hunter shooting a 110-pound wolf in Goshic County. People seemed to think that, with the bounty taken off, Michigan wolves are legally protected. We were asked why the man who shot the wolf wasn't arrested.

"Well, there is no law against shooting a wolf, and it is pretty hard to imagine a deer hunter passing up the opportunity. However, what is most encouraging is this; the letters complaining about an open season on antlerless deer. We expected a certain amount of complaint about deer harvesting, but we didn't realize that people who thought it was wrong to shoot a wolf outnumbered people who are willing to see Michigan deer proceed to eat themselves out of house and home. At least more pro-wolf people were impelled to write letters. Not too many years ago it would have been very much the other way around."

Common sense harvesting can maintain Michigan's deer herd at a high level for years to come. The 1964 buck kill was the highest since 1952, 80 percent above 1963. Nearly 50,000 antlerless deer were taken, an increase of 50 percent over 1963, 11,000 of them males. Sound game management policies need public support, which seems to be increasing.

A timely hint for keeping fish in deep freeze comes from A. Warren Woughter of Detroit. All fish, says Woughter, should be skinned if they are to be kept any length of time. (Trout need skinning more than any other species, he says, to remove excess fat.) To follow the Woughter directions fish caught through the ice should not be permitted to freeze before they can be skinned. Many fishermen are enthusiastic about the milk container freezing method. Place fish in carton filled with water and freeze. Or, wrap a sizeable fish in layers of paper towel, soak and freeze.

Inquiry from Jerry Johnson, of The Gazette staff:

"While driving near Ann Arbor with gas company photographer Ed Sokolowski, we noticed what appeared to be a black circle moving about in the sky. For a moment I felt like the prophet Ezekiel who saw the wheel way up in the middle of the air.

"The circle turned out to be a flock of small birds doing their best to get away from a hawk. We stopped and watched for about five minutes until the flock disappeared from view still pursued by big brother.

"The utter helplessness of the small birds impressed us. The hawk would climb up into the fluttering, crying pack from below, drop back through the flock and then repeat the maneuver. Each time he attacked the birds would compress themselves into as tight a ring as possible.

"I wonder if hawks are able to eat while in flight or was this just killing for the thrill of the chase?"

Birds of prey do not feed on the wing, so, it is probable that while you were watching the hawk, it didn't make a kill. Hawks kill by diving from above. It would seem that the flock of small birds had an effective defense system. The diving hawk would strike at the dense formation. The small birds would scatter, and the hawk would miss its stoop."

That's the best guess I can come up with. One time I watched a trained falcon loosed in open country near Washington. It was late afternoon, nighthawks were flying. It is hard to imagine a more agile flyer than these birds, which are not hawks; and which gobble insects on the wing. Two or three nighthawks immediately pursued the falcon, flying close to their dangerous enemy a foot or so above her. We were puzzled at first, then we realized that the strategy of the nighthawks was to prevent the falcon from getting above them, in a position to make a kill.

Which raises a perplexing question—do animals learn a technique of that kind, or is it an instinctive action?

I was a kid, with a flock of white rabbits, just weaned. I had my rabbits out on the lawn, feeding. A cocker spaniel charged

Top Air Cadet Named

A cadet from the Ann Arbor Squadron of Civil Air Patrol was named the outstanding CAP cadet in Michigan recently. Cadet First Lieutenant Russell Schoof tied for the honor with another cadet at the 1965 Michigan Wing Special Activities screening held at Selfridge AFB. This is the second straight year that Schoof has achieved this distinction.

Cadet Schoof joined CAP three years ago in Northville. He came to Ann Arbor last fall as a freshman in aeronautical engineering at the University of Michigan. A new squadron was formed and Schoof was named Cadet Commander. Last summer Cadet Schoof spent four weeks in Austria as a guest of the National Aero Club of Austria on the CAP-sponsored International Air-Cadet Exchange. The IACE is a youth exchange between aviation groups in 22 countries in Europe, Latin America, and the Middle East which takes place each summer. The 140 foreign visitors are the guests of CAP and the Air Force while in the U.S.

Since cadets may participate in the IACE only once, Lt. Schoof will go on the Jet Orientation this summer. This consists of a week at Perrin AFB in Texas with 36 hours of ground school and proficiency training and six hours of dual instruction in a T-33 jet trainer. One cadet from each state attends.

The local squadron under the command of First Lt. L. James Hollaway, meets each Wednesday at 7 p.m. in North Hall, the U. of M. ROTC building. There are now several openings for both cadet and senior members. Persons interested in joining Civil Air Patrol may call Lt. Hollaway at O 8-7400.

Census Bureau Computers Type Local News Story

Electronic computers at the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census are extracting retail trade data about each county in the United States from tabulations of the 1963 Census of Business, inserting the figures in news stories, typing out the stories at eye-blinking speed, and addressing a story to each one of 16,000 news outlets in the Nation's 3,000 counties. Three elements are used to produce these "machine-made" news stories: 1. Statistics for 1958 and 1963 on number of establishments, their kind of business and location, their sales volume, employment, etc. This information is stored in machine "memory" and is part of the process of preparing the 1963 Census of Business Reports. 2. The names and addresses of the newspapers and broadcasting stations, coded county-by-county. 3. A set of instructions which causes the computer to select statistics concerning each county, print the statistics at the proper points in a news story, and address the story to each newspaper or broadcasting station in a county. The news stories, accordingly, emerge as by-products of the process of preparing statistical reports from the Census of Business. Although the series will total more than 6,000 stories before it is completed it will require no additional personnel. The stories about retail trade will be followed by a series of stories about service trades in each county. The Census Bureau pioneered in the use of electronic equipment to tabulate data and to prepare statistical tables, beginning in 1951, but this is the first time such devices have been used to prepare news stories. THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

People ask me what was meant by the Senate action last week in killing Governor Romney's budget bills. The explanation is that the Democratic majority is that it was for procedural purposes; that under the new Constitution legislators must accept or reject the Governor's proposed appropriation bills before passing any new spending bills of their own. As some of the majority party are very eager to pass a few pet measures such as homestead tax exemption for the aged they had to take action on the Romney budget first or wait until many weeks later for their own private projects. It always takes time for the Appropriations Committee to give responsible consideration to budget bills hundreds of pages in length and totaling three quarters of a billion dollars. As a member of the Appropriations Committee I voted to keep the Governor's budget in committee so we could continue hearings in a fiscally responsible fashion. On the floor I voted in support of the Romney bills. They were defeated on a straight party line vote and almost identical bills are being reintroduced by individual senators. These new bills, however, will no longer have constitutional priority. I think this Senate action was wrong for 3 reasons: (1) It circumvents and sabotages the new Constitution. As lawmakers we shouldn't be setting the bad example of seeking out loopholes in the law. Actually the 1964 Legislature operated under the new Constitution and had no problem coming out with a responsible budget. (2) It starts a new and bad precedent. We can expect succeeding Legislatures to automatically kill the governor's budget bills and then reintroduce them under their own names. This could happen with either party in power once the precedent facilitates the easy future course of action. Such procedure makes a farce of the legislative process. (3) It is definitely irresponsible from an overall fiscal standpoint. We may be in the position of passing tens of millions of dollars of appropriation bills and

Internal Revenue Service Report Shows 1964 Tops in Tax Collections

Detroit—Last year was a record year for tax collections as well as for tax refunds according to the annual report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue released today. Federal tax receipts climbed to an all-time high of $112.3 billion in the 1964 fiscal year and refunds reached a record total of $7.2 billion. The number of returns also hit a peak at 42.1 million. Approximately two out of every three taxpayers in 1964 received a refund. Another record set in 1964 was for the number of all types of federal tax returns filed. The total was over 100 million for the first time in history. The major source of federal revenues in 1964 continued to be the income and profits taxes on individuals and corporations. These taxes accounted for 70 percent of the total collections and brought in revenues of $78.9 billion. This total was up $3.6 billion, or nearly 5 percent, from the previous year. Collections from other major tax sources were as follows: employment taxes, $17 billion; estate and gift taxes, $2.4 billion; and excise taxes, $14 billion. The 1964 tax law cutting individual and corporate income tax rates came too near the close of the fiscal year to have an appreciable effect on 1964 tax collections. The report, however, has a table comparing collections before and after enactment of the tax cut with collections in comparable periods of the previous year. Progress continued in the conversion to an Automatic Data Processing system for handling tax returns. Two new service centers were opened in Austin, Tex., and Cincinnati, O., and three existing service centers were converted to ADP operations during the year. With two other service centers already part of the ADP system, the report states that in the 1965 fiscal year all centers would be part of a nationwide system. Although only partially in operation during 1964, the ADP system made significant contributions to the success of Internal Revenue's enforcement program. It was used for mathematical verification of tax returns, identification of multiple returns, and collection of delinquent taxes. A record $2.55 billion in additional tax and penalties was assessed in 1964 through Internal Revenue's enforcement program. During the period covered by the 1964 report, Mortimer M. Callin was Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Deputy Commissioner Bertrand M. Harding was Acting Commissioner for the interim period following Callin's resignation and before the recent appointment of Sheldon S. Cohen as Commissioner. In addition to narrative discussion of a wide range of tax administrative developments in 1964, the annual report contains detailed statistics of returns filed, revenue collections, source and by districts, and data on enforcement and other activities. The report, Publication No. 10, is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402. The price is 70 cents.

Average Driver

Lansing - How close are you to being the average motorist? The average suburban commuter drives 6 1/2 miles to work. His wife - if she is lucky enough to have a second car - drives four miles for shopping. The average family drives miles for medical and dental care, and 4 1/2 miles for recreational activities or church. The average pleasure rider drives 276 miles. Nobody in the world is interested in good excuses you have for not accomplishing something.

Our Michigan projects are on display. We have about six to eight projects "glazed in." In the foyer of North School is a glass show case which can be lit up.

Our plaster map of the United States is about half complete now. We have just finished the North Central States Unit which was composed of thirteen states alone. We will soon begin painting it.

In Art we are learning to sew. The boys did not care about this first but many are really working at it now. We began with a sampler; practicing many kinds of stitches.

Then we are going to select any or all of the stitches we do best and create a design on burlap. Some of us want to make place mats and fringe them for our mothers.

Our teacher bought flower seeds from Larry Jones, a boy scout. She has asked Larry to plant them in plastic cartons. Maybe we will be messengers of Spring - who can tell?

We all enjoyed our "unexpected" vacation but the more we had the more we wanted! It seems good to be back in the classroom. This comment was overheard: "I didn't like those soap operas on T.V. anyway!"

Today, Thursday, March 11, marks the official opening of the annual membership drive of Washtenaw county Democrats.

This year's state-wide drive has been named the John F. Kennedy Memorial Membership Drive, in honor of our late President.

Included with all memberships are a specially designed JFK lapel pin and a one-year subscription to the publication, The Michigan Democrat.

Sallade has also appointed John McGill, 160 Island Lake Rd., Chelsea, as the out-county membership chairman. Other area membership committee appointments include the following individuals: Simsar, for the City of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Mildred Stodard, 408 Emerick, Ypsilanti, for the City of Ypsilanti; Gerald Fugate, 9 Edison, Ypsilanti, for Ypsilanti township; and Michael Alpha, 7870 Willow Rd., Milan, for Augusta and York townships.

County Democrats are hopeful that the successes in last year's general election and their own hard work will make this year's drive the biggest ever.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Creswell's Second Grade

George was a brave man and he was a rich man. We like to celebrate his birthday. It is a way to say thank you.

You lived a long time ago but you made our country a good place to live. We can now read and find out about you.

How To Be Clean and Neat: When you get up in the morning you should clean your finger nails. You should eat a hot breakfast. You should brush your hair. After breakfast you should brush your teeth, then you should get dressed.

Take it from the second graders: A little knowledge about George Washington and little household hint on cleanliness.

Mr. Benedict's Fifth Grade

We have received more answers from our pen pals in England. Each of us has a person to write to now. We are finding out more and more about the kids our age in England, and know more about what they are interested in. They seem to want to know more about us, and are very interested in our lakes and climate here in Michigan.

We are studying weather in our science class on TV to help us with our study of weather. We have made our own barometer to study changes in air pressure and our own hygrometer to study humidity. We have found out that we can use a human hair to tell the amount of moisture in the air, so we are using a hair from one of the children in the room. We also are working in groups on different weather subjects and are keeping our own charts of daily weather conditions.
