Foster Homes Needed By Probate Court

A letter from Mrs. Helen B. Rutledge, foster home supervisor for the Washtenaw county Juvenile Court gives us a look in on some of the many children that need a home—and understanding.

Mrs. Rutledge says she has had to say "no" so frequently in the past few weeks to case workers who need foster homes for the children whom the Court tries to help because — "we just don't have any."

Foster family care is one of the most effective tools the courts have but they will never have enough. There is a need for a home for a brother and sister, ages six and seven who have moved so many times that they can only protest by being "hard to manage."

Minute Meditation Telephone Service Started in Chelsea

In last week's issue of The Standard, there was an advertisement stating that an "M.M." program would be coming to Chelsea on April 1. And it's here.

Cooper's Travels to Alaska Seen in Kiwanis Travel Film

The sixth and final travelogue for this season presented by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea in the Chelsea High school auditorium will be presented Saturday, April 3, at 8 p.m.

The little boat heads into the open sea to make interesting visits to the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, to a salmon fishing fleet and to see king crab fishing, sport fishing and the logging in Alaska's forests. Along with these scenes are some of the greatest wild life scenes ever filmed, a touch of history—Alaska's past, present and a peek at the future. It makes a visit to the Aleutian Islands and the Pribilof Islands and tells the astounding story of the prized fur seal. It is a story of a truly different vacation.

DON COOPER

Oklahoma' Production Wins High Praise from Reviewer

Last Friday night, March 26, it was privilege to spend one of the most memorable and satisfying evenings ever spent at the Chelsea High School.

The occasion was a two-act opera or "light operatic" endeavor presented by the Senior Class, assisted by the High School Drama and Dramatics Club.

In the past, other operettas have been presented and probably with equal ability. But never a popular play such as "Oklahoma," so consequently not with the attention focused on it as in this case.

In Act I, Laurie, played very well by ingenue Audrey Hayes, presented a sweet country girl with definite ideas on moral principles. She handled her solos with assurance and clearness, deserving a case of strep throat. A real operatic?

Her hero, Curley, played by the traveling salesman, almost every scene he was in. As a handsome, suave, man about the town, he charmed the females of the play (and in the audience).

Special Movie Showing Arranged for Boys From St. Louis School

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

In view of recent developments in the legislature in regard to Senator Citizen's Homestead Exemptions, I believe it is important at this time that there be complete understanding of the impact of such legislation if enacted at this time.

I am in full accord with the objective of developing an adequate program of property tax relief for our senior citizens. It is for this purpose that I appointed a blue-ribbon committee, chaired by Alfred Ploham, which will be submitting its recommendations no later than April 15. I have repeatedly pointed out the desirability of a waiting committee's advice and recommendations are counsel proceeding upon a course of action.

But there are additional considerations even more fundamental in character to this issue. Fundamental to the welfare of every citizen of Michigan is the protection of our reputation for fiscal integrity on which our ability to meet the needs of all the people depends.

At every available opportunity in my communications with members of the legislature, I have pointed out the necessity of avoiding a course of action that will plunge this state back into deficit. The warning has been repeated primarily to the area of state spending where my recommendations for the coming fiscal year are related to foreseeable minimum need of the subsequent year, leave no room for significant increases without being prepared to take tax action.

Now we have a proposed Senior Citizen's Homestead Exemption bill before the Senate, passed by the House of Representatives and originally described by its authors as costing $18 million. Recent examinations of the bill by experts indicate it could cost as much as $40 million.

It must therefore be obvious that the addition of an entirely new spending program of such magnitude to already record budget recommendations cannot be accomplished without making additional revenues necessary this year. Thus far there is no genuine evidence that those supporting the senior citizens relief legislation are prepared to raise the revenue required to pay for it.

A cause for equal concern at this time is the budget procedure or the lack of one—followed by the House.

Consideration of this bill at this time was made possible by circumventing earlier sound budget procedures defined by Michigan's new Constitution. Thus an accurate determination of the impact of this entirely new program on the state's financial picture and our ability to meet the needs of the people without again losing our state's fiscal reputation cannot be made. The executive budget bills are still being studied but have not been acted upon.

To compound this situation, the normal function of the House Ways and Means Committee to study and analyze budget bills has been bypassed to this case.

There is no need for such rapid action. Nothing is to be accomplished for our senior citizens by immediate passage of this bill. Fulfillment of the commitment by legislative leaders that prompt action would be taken on regular appropriation bills would still permit action on senior citizens' property tax relief early enough to make it effective at the time intended in the proposed bill. And there would be ample time for each action following receipt of the recommendations of the Ploham study committee.

I therefore urge the legislature to reconsider the course upon which it has set itself and to reverse the potential impact on the whole state of the proposed action. I am certain that those lawmakers sincerely seeking relief for our senior citizens want to see such relief accomplished in a way that will not threaten the financial integrity of our state and our ability to meet the basic public service needs of all the people.

I am sure most senior citizens do not want the meeting of their needs to undermine the ability of the state to meet the needs of all citizens.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Too Much
 Veto numbers could easily reach new highs in the next two years of state history.

Whether this occurs probably will depend largely on how much legislative reversing the Democrats do.

Already at least one reversal has been started. A bill to repeal the two-year voter registration law and restore Michigan to a four-year registration system is better than half way through the legislative process.

Bitterly fought by Democrats when they held the minority position, the two-year registration law just took effect for the last election.

It was an improvement, then, controlling Republicans said, because it would help clean out dead wood in clerks' files and prevent vote fraud practices.

Democrats said the two-year system was designed to make it more difficult for the many people who normally vote only in presidential years. Most of these, they said, were Democrats.

Work began early in the current session to restore the four-year system. It progressed rapidly through the legislative process. This is but one area of legislation bitterly opposed by the Democrats in past years when they were in the minority.

Reversal of this election law and others in the fields of workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation would presumably draw a veto from Republican Gov. George Romney.

It would seem a shame if much legislative work time were wasted on reversal legislation the majority party knows would be vetoed. Such action might well provide good campaign material but concentration on such matters would hardly provide the public service expected of state lawmakers.

Budget Problems
 A difficult task lies ahead for Michigan's state-supported colleges and universities.

It has several times been proposed that all 10 institutions join together in submitting a lump sum budget request to the legislature.

Now a Governor's study committee proposes that not only this be done but also that the budget request cover a two-year period rather than being an annual appropriation item.

Difficulties are many in both proposals, which is one of several reasons the unified budget has not been accomplished already although it was first proposed several years ago.

A two-year budget plan possibly could be workable soon because of the high degree of accuracy in predicting future enrollment and cost factors. Presumably the institutions would be allowed to seek supplemental funds during the biennium if such a plan were effective.

Several state agencies now come back to the legislature every year for a supplemental appropriation although they are on a single-year budget operation.

The consolidated budget plan, however, still has many problems to be ironed out.

Standards for judging per-student costs are not uniform at the various institutions and some officials think this one point is enough to prevent total agreement on budget request methods among the 10 autonomous colleges and universities.

At this time the Michigan Coordinating Council for Public Higher Education, comprised of members of all the schools, is heading the effort toward preparation of a single budget plan.

Warren M. Huff, chairman of the council of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, is optimistic that all problems can be worked out in time to submit a unified budget request to the State Board of Education next year.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was giving Ed Doolittle a birthday send-off. Ed reached the three score and ten mark Thursday and the fellers was taking note of the event.

Actual, what they give Ed was a hard time. Clem Webster, for instance, said the Lord had to be mighty forgiving to let a feller live to be 70 when he had voted the Republican ticket for 49 year. It was all in good fun and Ed was enjoying himself and had an answer for all the cracks the fellers was taking at him, along with a few observations he ask to git on the record.

First off, Ed that is a strong Baptist, allowed as how if John, the Baptist had lived in these times he would've been a shouting Republican, might even have run for President. Ed said making it to 70 was sorter like a horse pulling at the molasses mill, going round and round. He was getting the job done, but like old Dobbin, it was beginning to tell on him as the years rolled by.

Zeke Grubb ask Ed if he thought he'd make it to 80 and Ed said he was like the old widower taking the marriage vows for the fifth time. When somebody ask the widower if he thought he'd make it to 80, Ed said, "Always have, always have." Ed was shore he'd make it to 80 provided President Johnson didn't give him too much medicare and the Democrats didn't put no age limit on a feller in the "Great Society."

Somebody ask Ed the usual question about what he figured was the secret to his long and healthy life and Ed had an unusual answer. He reported he had quit eating hog meat about 10 year ago. He was of the opinion freezer lockers would add a heap of years to a feller's life in the future. In the years after we had freezer lockers, reported Ed, he had eat so much canned sausage and hot meat that, if he'd have had to have a operation, it would have took a hog doctor to do the job. Nowadays, allowed Ed, folks fill up their freezer locker with veal, fowl, venison and such items.

Everybody was mighty happy, Mister Editor, to see Ed make it to 70 and it was a enjoyable session. Furthermore, Ed got in the last crack. He said he just wanted to live to see the day the Democrats could find out what their policy was in Viet Nam and he figured that would carry him over the century mark.

I have knowed Ed for 50 year and he has been a mighty good citizen. Him and his old lady has raised a fine set of younguns. They got one daughter working in the city that calls dinner "lunch" but they was always one black sheep in ever family. And Ed is one of them old time fellers that carries his change in a snap-open purse. I ain't never saw one of them kind of fellers on relief.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Stewarts Return from 70-Day Conducted Tour of Africa

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stewart of Chelsea and Mrs. Stewart's sister, Miss Ruth Foster of Grass Lake left Jan. 12 for a tour of Africa. They were gone 74 days in all, 70 days on the actual tour. They flew from New York to Dakar, a small republic in the country of Senegal, and met a group of 20 more Americans on the tour conducted by Santa Ana Travel Tours. Their trip took them down the west coast of Africa to the Cape, then the southern coast (Republic of Africa) and then along the east coast. They were in five different game-reserves and stayed in hotels and "rondovas," adobe houses with thatched roofs, but which were reported as being very comfortable with twin beds and all the comforts of home. Three days were spent at Kruger National Park, the largest one in the world, 2,000 square miles. Every kind of animal may be seen here and they are protected by guards. The group traveled by bus or plane for any distance at all but when on shorter trips they rode in cars, four persons to a car and the tops would open so one could stand up and take pictures without getting out of the car. This proved to be a good idea because Stewart says one picture he took of a lion, the animal stood looking at him with his mouth open. In another picture of a rhino the animal decided he liked the idea and came up and rubbed the side of the car with his big horny head. Two days were spent at Luxor in Egypt and a visit made to King Tut's tomb. The group headquartered at Nairobi, an independent state of Kenya and from there flew out and stayed overnight in a place called the "tree tops." It was actually a hotel built in the trees with 32 bedrooms, good beds, bathrooms, waiters, running water and all the comforts one would expect in a large hotel at home in the United States. A veranda circled the hotel and from there it was possible to look down and take pictures of the animals that came up around the trees to get the salt that is placed around on the ground for them. Some of the many animals seen are, wart hogs, wild beasts, lions, buffalos, elephants and impala (deer). At Murcheson Falls on the Nile River, north of Nairobi, where the Stewarts stayed, the elephants would walk into the yard and one day a wart hog came upon the porch of the hotel and looked in the window where Stewart was taking a nap. The wart hog is very wild, Stewart said, so after a shout and some noise he ran back into the jungle. A trip was taken on the Nile so that pictures could be taken of the alligators along the banks and the hippopotami and elephants

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Eaton called on Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Paul in Wickenburg, Ariz., on their way to California, March 14. Arthur Paul has returned from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a two-week confinement and expects to return to work next week. Mrs. Anna Werner returned Monday after spending several days with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lyons and family, of Kalamazoo. A birthday party for Walter Schittenhelm was given for him at his home Sunday, March 28, by his children, Mr. and Mrs. John Schittenhelm and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bauer and family, and Elaine and Eileen Bristle. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pfeifle attended a concert by the Albion

College Choir, March 28, at the Goodrich Chapel in Albion. Their daughter, Marilyn Pajo, sings in the choir, which will leave Sunday, April 4, to go on tour of the eastern part of the United States. The last concert will be given on April 11, in Christ Church in New York and the choir will return to Albion shortly after that. A. W. Lyons, Jr., grandson of Mrs. Anna Werner has returned to the states after 18 months in Korea.

Michigan Ranks High in Use, Sale of Outboards

Lansing — Michigan maintained its No. 2 position in the nation during 1964 for the number of outboard motors sold and in use, according to a joint report of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers and the Outboard Boating Club of America.

This state, in finishing behind leader New York, had 464,000 outboard motors slipping boats over its waters last year. Its estimated sales of these units increased to 27,200, a figure also topped only by New York.

Detroit marketed 11,100 of this total to rank third-highest among the country's 50 top cities for outboard motor sales. Flint placed 31st with a sale of 2,000 units while Grand Rapids tied for the 48th spot with 1,300.

Nation-wide, boating hit a new peak in popularity during 1964 as a record 7,700,000 pleasure craft plied waterways of the 50 states. Expenditures on boating also reached a high-water mark last year, totaling $2.6 billion.

POTENTIAL CAMPSITES and frontier type living abound on the shores of Wright's Lake shown here. The lake is included in the 650-acre site acquired by Portage Trails Council for development in future years as additional camping property to serve this area.

Scout Council Buys Campsite

Portage Trails Council completed a six-year search for a campsite to relieve the increasing demands on Bruin Lake in the purchase last week of 635 acres within a three-hour drive of Council headquarters in Ann Arbor.

The new campsite near Evart in Osceola county, Cadillac-Clare vicinity, is on Route 10. The 90-acre lake on the scout property cannot be seen from any road. It is a deep lake, according to Joseph Doud of Council headquarters, and has "a good marl bottom with the possibility of beaches on three sides." The spring-fed lake has held its water through the drought, Doud explained, and it had remained in the same family for the past 40 years. The Council will have complete control of the lake. For the first few years, the site will be a rough pioneer type camp and offer the Council immediate relief from over-crowding at Bruin Lake. Bruin already has two groups on the waiting list for this summer as all sites are spoken for. The committee added a new site last year, giving them eight. This could be increased to 10, but the projection picture indicates this would be nowhere near sufficient for scout needs. Bruin Lake site includes 99 acres as compared to the 685 at the new site.

At the new site, the Council expects eventually to make three summer camps which could handle 600 boys. Doud calls the long-term venture "nearly perfect." It is expected to suffice for 50 years. Rock Martin, Finance Chairman of Portage Trails Council which includes four scout districts in Livingston and Washtenaw counties, said the purchase price was $128,000. A capital funds campaign to raise money for the purchase is not to be launched this year, but "a limited number of friends at this time" will be contacted in order to get the down payment and other immediate funds needed, amounting to $80,000.

Island Lake Farm, including Wright Lake, is being purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Tusch of Los Altos, Calif.

Camp chairman and Council vice-president Don Hackney said "Wyeth Allen, a member of the Regional Executive committee, as well as the Council Executive Board," and Robert Langford of Ann Arbor headed up the most recent effort (to acquire a campsite).

Hackney and Col. Eugene W. Kelley of Ann Arbor, Scout Commissioner, were the first Council officers to see the site and reported to the board that Wright Lake was by far the best site yet seen.

The Muskegon river flows nearby, and its scenic canoe trails will prove an additional boon to high school boys in Troops and Explorer Posts, Sea Scout Ships and Air Scout Squadrons.

Hackney is appointing a sub-committee of the camp committee to draw up policies and standards for the operation of the camping reservation.

The new site is expected to be in use this spring and summer to such an extent as limited time and facilities justify, according to Scout Executive Clarence Doud.

CLEAR COATING

If the front of your home is of colonial brick and limestone and is exposed to gas and fumes from Diesel trucks running up and down the street, you should consider clear silicone coating for the brick and limestone. This prevents the discoloration from Diesel fumes and also retards the penetration of moisture.

Sportsman's Show Opens Saturday

The annual Detroit Sportsman's and Vacation Show will again be held in the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum, opening Saturday, April 3 and running for nine days through Sunday, April 11. It was announced by Thomas E. Durant, producer.

"Many new attractions, and more exhibitors than ever before, will make the 1965 Sportsman's and Vacation Show the finest ever seen in the Greater Detroit area," Durant stated. He also predicted that new records would be set again for attendance for a Sportsman's Show.

The highlight of the exposition will be the "Parade of Outdoor Champions," the highly-popular, crowd-pleasing stage and water tank show presented twice daily in the center arena. The show starring John Bromfield, Hollywood movie star and TV's "U.S. Marshall" and "Sheriff of Cochise," will have a fresh new format around a king-sized cast of stars. Bromfield carrying the title of "Mr. Sportsman" will be master of ceremonies for the stage show.

Among the outstanding attractions to be presented are the Quebec Rolling Brothers from Quebec City, Canada, the northwoods champion log rollers and canoe fillets; Chief Thunderbird, a full-blooded Seminole Indian, will wrestle a live alligator from the Everglades, Fla.; Paul Ruddick, of Southern California will put his English Springer Spaniels through their remarkable retrieving acts; Joe Jackson, Jr., celebrated tramp bicyclist and pantomimist, will perform his specialty act. Many other outstanding acts will be added to the program and announced in the near future, Durant stated.

Other exhibition features include: Travel and Vacation hall, with several foreign countries exhibiting; resort areas represented by stunning exhibits; live and stuffed animals; guides and other interesting personalities; a huge area of vacation trailers and campers; boats and marine accessories; a wide array of tents and camping equipment; and a "sportsman's paradise of do-it-yourself exhibits."

Girl Scout Group Meets To Prepare for Summer Roundup Trip to Idaho

Selected girls met at Hilltop Lodge in Ann Arbor Saturday, March 13, to further their training for the Roundup in Coer de 'Aien, Ida.

This turned out to be an informal get-together with "pot-latches" on the agenda. These are little mementoes the girls will be trading with other girls they meet at the Roundup. Samples were brought to the meeting to compare. Usually the "pot-latches" pertain to where you are from and the history of your home town. A special ceremony takes place at the actual trading of these swaps with girls with whom you have become good friends.

The girls were busy attending patrol and court-of-honor meetings, with equipment being prepared for the campout in April at Lyndon campsite.

Guests arrived and after lunch and a song fest girls had a meeting about Idaho which included a movie called, Coer de 'Aien, Ida. The girls were fascinated with the beautiful scenery and scenes of places they will be visiting this summer.

More song singing and the meeting was closed with the flag ceremony.

Time is getting short and the girls minds are filled with what to pack for their trip and the time is one step closer to fulfilling of their dreams.

Underwear this season is not only fancy but unusual. One piece stretch garments have lace inserts around the waist and between the busts. Many of the bras are lace trimmed and pants have lace ruffles.

NEW Patterns for Spring

Armstrong Vinyl is made by a unique process of design reproduction called rotogravure. This modern method of color printing can photographically duplicate the beauty of virtually any pattern and color in an wonderful, low-cost vinyl floor covering. Because of this modern method of manufacture, every styling in Vinyl Accolon is outstanding in beauty, depth of color, and pattern dimension.

Armstrong Vinyl is made to give long, satisfactory service. Its heavy base is vinyl-treated to give the floor covering extra body and resistance to moisture. The colorful printing inks that make up the pattern are vinyl, too. They're brighter, crisper, and have exceptional fade resistance. To further seal in the beauty of design and color, the entire surface is covered with a thick coat of tough, clear vinyl. This forms a rugged wearing surface which resists scuffing and the punishment of children's play.

Capt. Knickerbocker Now in Viet Nam As Instructor Pilot

Valparaiso, Fla.—Captain Stanley P. Knickerbocker, son of Mrs. E. M. Knickerbocker of 429 W. Middle St., Chelsea, Mich., has completed the combat operations course at Hurlburt Field, Fla.

Capt. Knickerbocker reported that during the combat and survival course they dined on spider monkey and iguana while in the jungle. He said the monkey was "tough" but the iguana tasted like chicken. They were told that any animal covered by fur or hair is edible — including rats.

Captain Knickerbocker is now an instructor pilot at Bien Hoa, Viet Nam.

The course was conducted to better acquaint selected officers with current concepts and developments in joint air and ground operations, including close tactical air support for combat ground troops.

The captain is a graduate of Chelsea High school. He received his BS degree in education from the University of Michigan and was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps program there.

His wife is the former Dianne C. Weevie of 27754 Santa Ana Dr., Warren, Mich.

Corpsman Robert Weir Serving at Naval Hospital in Saigon

Saigon, Viet Nam —Hospital Corpsman Third Class Robert J. Weir USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Weir of 902 McKinley Rd., Chelsea, Mich., is serving at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Saigon, Viet Nam.

The hospital is the major medical installation of the U. S. Military Assistance Command in South Viet Nam and is the only

Navy facility in the world treating combat casualties direct from the battle area.

During 1964, 2,119 patients were admitted and nearly 35,000 were cared for as outpatients.

The main building was converted a year and a half ago from a five-story apartment house into a 100-bed hospital. It is surrounded by a high fence and guarded by U.S. military policemen, Vietnamese soldiers and Saigon police, making it one of the most protected U.S. installations in Saigon.

The hospital has received many letters of appreciation and commendation from former patients and U.S. officials in Viet Nam. The response and efficiency of the hospital's staff is best summed up by this eye-witness account of a Navy lieutenant commander who was a patient there on Nov. 1, 1964, when casualties began arriving from the Viet Cong shelling of Bien Hoa airbase.

In a letter to the commanding officer of Headquarters Support Activity who is in charge of the hospital, he wrote:

"... during the early morning hours... the response by the staff... to this emergency was something to behold. The doctors, nurses and corpsmen responded in a manner consistent with the highest order and traditions of the Naval service.

"These people put forth one of the most superior performances that I have ever witnessed. There is no question in my mind that the lives of several of the casualties were saved by the performance of the hospital's superb team. "It was truly a team effort in which no one person stood out above the other; only because every man and woman performed far above that which one might normally expect."

SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

Third Grade, Mrs. Fulke—
In Science we have been working on a unit entitled "The Earth You Live On."

We drew pictures to illustrate the different types of land such as mountains, seashore, jungle, desert, hills, valleys, islands and woods.

On our reading table we have a display made up of articles from foreign countries. The following articles, James Storey, two robes from Japan, wooden figurines from Brazil; Denise Muto, picture album from Canada; Michael Murphy, knife from Germany; Randy Kochen, ash tray from Cuba; Dale Kotten, two ash trays from Italy; Brenda McGuire, cigarette case from Korea, a ring from Germany; Debra Rooke, a fan from Italy; Lawrence Dall, picture painted on silk from Japan, a doll from Italy; Kathryn Sannes, coins from England, France and Japan; Steven Schanz, a ring from Korea.

Most of these articles were brought home by the children's father's from countries in which they served while in the armed forces. It was interesting to find these countries on our world map.

Mrs. Kerr, Fifth Grade—
In connection with our English unit on letter writing, Mrs. Kerr's class has obtained pen-pals from several countries and also from some areas in the United States. We now are able to put our letter writing into practice as we correspond with these students and learn about their many different customs.

Also to learn more about these different countries we took a trip on Tuesday to the McKune Memorial Library in order to obtain more extensive information about the particular country in which each student chose to study.

We also have an aquarium set up in our room. It contains guppies. During these past weeks new baby guppies have appeared.

Mrs. Hanna, Second Grade—
The children in Mrs. Hanna's class are continuing the unit on space. The children enjoyed watching the Gemini project on television last week when the astronauts made the three orbital trip into outer space.

We have learned to make all of the small alphabet letters in cursive writing and are now learning to make the capital ones. It is nice to be able to do almost all of our work in writing now.

94-Year-Old Man Able To Travel Without Trouble

William Yocum of Freelandville, Ind., father of Mrs. Herbert Paul, observed his 94th birthday last month. This is quite a milestone in itself. But not enough for Mr. Yocum.

As soon as the snow cleared after his birthday, he made his annual five-mile trek from Freelandville to Wespahalia. It took him an hour and 40 minutes.

13 cars passed him. Only one stopped to ask if he wanted a ride. He asked the driver whether he was a Republican. The man answered, "You bet I am. As a rule the Democrats don't ask anybody to ride on the highway." Mr. Yocum couldn't understand that theory. He said, "I don't see why. They are good people the same as the Republicans."

Mr. Yocum not only has great confidence in both political party members, he has plenty in himself. Mrs. Paul said her father comes to Chelsea a couple of times a year, and the last time he drove the 365 miles back to Freelandville by himself!

DREAM COMES TRUE

London — To say the least, Mrs. Joan Dare was surprised when her husband, a used car dealer, drove up in front of their home in a 12-ton flaming red fire engine which he had just bought. She watched as her beaming husband and neighborhood children began operating the 120-foot ladder. Dare's explanation, "I always dreamed of owning a fire engine."

JOKE, NO JOKE
San Leandro, Calif. — Thinking he would tease his wife, James Urganites left a note stating he was leaving her. Mrs. Urganites was so upset by the note that she committed suicide.

★ Consumer Confidence

Springtime is a season of optimism on Michigan's farms. It is a time of readying machinery for periods of concentrated work—a time of planning and getting set to plant.

Those who grow fruits and vegetables look upon spring as decision-time. How were conditions for last year's crop? What fertilizer tonnage will we need? How about seed?

Big as these questions are, far greater is the matter of markets. Some specialists say that the big-city housewife these days "tests her table" from as much as 1,000 miles away, meaning that fresh produce comes to her daily from such distances.

To compete with such efficiency and demand, local producers have been busy organizing a sort of "Duncan Hines" marketing association, one that pledges members to quality standards of the type that will further inspire public confidence.

A non-profit organization of roadside market owners who voluntarily agree to open their markets to periodic inspection by authorized personnel through the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the group is optimistic about a future tied to public acceptance through quality-control.

Taking the name "Michigan Certified Farm Markets"—each member of the new Association will display an easily identified sign bearing the "Certified" wording, and with it will pledge support to a substantial list of membership qualifications. Topping the list is the agreement to produce at least 50 percent of the fruits, flowers and vegetables offered in the market, which must itself be a permanent or semi-permanent type facility.

In other words, these will be local market operators, offering a majority of locally grown produce, which will be in inspected facilities, plainly priced and accurately described.

Members agree to "offer only high-quality merchandise in good condition, use no false or deceptive statement, adhere to the highest standards of honest advertising."

In short, the Certified Market operators intend to build business volume in the only solid way that it can be built—through customer confidence based on the good will and understanding of the general public.

A happy spirit is the greatest possession that comes to man, regardless of his wealth or lack of it.
