Boy Scouts Leaving for New Mexico

Thirteen Chelsea Boy Scouts and four Scoutmasters are leaving for Philmont Scout Ranch, New Mexico Saturday. They will spend 10 days of their 12-day stay camping, and roughing it in the Rocky Mountain national scout camping area, roughing it, carrying all their equipment on their backs. The program includes horseback riding and burro packing.

Scouts in the expedition, averaging 14 and 15 years old, include Mike Grob, David Pickell, Ralph A. Frisch, Jr., Ron Morley, John Potts, Ralph Thomas, Gary Larson, Brian Policht, Bruce Haas, and Scoutmaster Ralph A. Frisch, from Troop 425; Paul and Wayne Stahl, Ken Reinhardt, Lloyd Hafner, Scoutmaster Harold Baker and Alvin Reinhardt, former scoutmaster, from Troop 476; and Darrell Larson, a committeeman for Troop 425, who will be the adult first aider. With them will be Ken and Brad Burkhardt, of Explorer Post 111, Ann Arbor.

Frisch, who spent a week in Philmont last year, will take charge of the group as leader. "This is a rough trip," he said. "All the food and equipment they need must be included in their packs—even the purifier for water which they take from the mountain streams. The saying goes, that they go in as boys and come out men. But they're all eager to return for another wilderness survival expedition." The Chelsea group will travel by train from Chicago to Reton, N. M. Philmont comprises 137,000 acres of rugged western country on the slopes of the Sangre de Cristo Range of the Rocky chain, near the Mexican border.

Citizens Study Alternatives To Reservoir

Alternatives to the Mill Creek impoundment under study by the Army Engineer Corps were presented by Mrs. Harry Denham of W. Liberty Rd., at a recent meeting of the Mill Creek Research Council. Some 100 persons attended the meeting held June 17 at the Lima Community Hall.

That there is a very real need not only for greater quantity but also for improved quality of our metropolitan area water supply was stressed by Mrs. Denham. If population growth and industrial expansion take place as predicted in the Huron River watershed area, water provided by the proposed Mill Creek project would need to be supplemented all too soon and at additional cost from the Great Lakes. Pipelines already extend from Lake Huron, five miles above Port Huron, to Willow Run.

Water from this source, which is handled by the Detroit Water Board, could also be made available in the Ann Arbor area at a relatively small cost compared to an impoundment project. The Detroit Water Board (not a city department) includes a representative each from both Macomb and Oakland counties, one from the Wayne county area outside of Detroit, and four from Detroit.

Pollution is a water problem of which we are becoming increasingly aware. In a report on sewage and drainage problems prepared for the Six-County Metropolitan Area Supervisors Inter-County Committee by the National Sanitation Foundation and released in December, 1964, the recommendation was made that a pipeline system be built to carry the liquid effluents on to Lake Erie, by-passing the Huron River entirely. Dance Recital Will Benefit Crippled Children's Society Pupils of the Susan Deanne School of Dance will present its first annual dance recital Saturday, June 26, at 8 p.m., in the gymnasium of Chelsea Junior High school.

All donations for the benefit performance will be accepted at the door. Everyone is invited to attend.

Bethel Church Welcomes Missionaries

The Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Whitehead will be welcomed home on furlough after a term of service in Hong Kong. They will be presented at Bethel United Church of Christ, (home church of Mrs. Whitehead) at the Mission Festival on Sunday, June 27. Mrs. Whitehead is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Manzel of Bethel church.

The Whiteheads went to Hong Kong in January, 1961. The scope of their work included the transportation of an older village congregation into an industrial mission on the outskirts of the rapidly expanding city of three and one-half million. They worked with a group of nurseries for children of working mothers (opened 12 hours per day) in addition to various educational projects for youth and adults. During their present furlough they will study at the University of Michigan and at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

The Mission Festival will begin with a morning service at 10 o'clock, followed by a reception and coffee hour. An evening service will be held at 8 p.m., at which pictures will give a brief review of their work in Hong Kong.

Bethel church is now preparing to celebrate its 125th anniversary, the main feature of which will be the dedication of a church addition and an educational unit. A history of the church will be published in time for the anniversary events in October, written by Emerson Hutzel.

According to Police Chief John Palmer, some 315 bicycles were registered last Saturday. He estimates that there are between 600 and 700 bicycles in the area. Chief Palmer also cautions all parents to make certain that each bicycle is properly equipped with a headlight and rear red light or reflector for greater safety. Those and other safety precautions are clearly indicated in Ordinance No. 65, which was passed last October by the Village council. The fee for registration is 50 cents. It is valid for one year. REPORT from WASHINGTON

★ How Shall the Votes Be Counted?

Every citizen, when he leaves the polling booth, is entitled to a little glow of satisfaction at having made his influence felt—having voted for candidates whom he believes will best represent his views.

It is easy for anyone to assume his vote has been counted as equal to all others. After all, if you have voted once and everyone else has voted once, doesn't that make everyone equal?

The answer, not necessarily. But voters can be different and the malapportioned vote, like watered whisky, may appear unchanged while actually having its effect significantly reduced.

The United States Senate, in which I serve, is a clear example of intentional malapportionment. Michigan, with a population of eight million, sends two Senators. Alaska, with a population of 250,000, sends two Senators. Not a very good break for the Michigan voter.

But the U. S. Senate was necessary to the formation of the nation. The 13 colonies were independent units and the smaller ones refused to join any union unless the Constitution assured them of an equal voice in at least one body of Congress.

So it was finally decided that the U. S. Senate system, however undesirable from the viewpoint of pure democracy, had to be accepted if there was to be any federal system at all.

The question now is whether state legislatures should be allowed to copy this system. Should 200,000 urban and suburban residents, for example, be represented by one vote in a state Senate while, say, 50,000 rural residents get an equal voice?

Last year the Supreme Court answered no. It ruled that both houses of a state legislature must be chosen on a one-man, one-vote basis.

Now there is a strong movement in Congress to overturn this ruling. Those who disagree with the Court are proposing a Constitutional amendment that would allow one state house to apportion on the basis of land area if the plan were approved in a referendum.

Basically, the issue stems from the rapid growth of the nation's cities and suburbs and the understandable desire of rural areas to conserve their diminishing political power.

In the North, the Republicans would be the beneficiaries of such an amendment because Republican strength is largely in the country-side. In the South, where Republican strength is centered in the cities, the Democrats would stand to gain most.

Debate on the matter is likely to begin in the Senate shortly and I hope you will follow it closely even though the arguments sometimes seem tedious and easily dismissed as political squabbling, because the principles are important.

Advocates of a Constitutional amendment will argue that the people of each state should be allowed to decide how their legislatures are to be apportioned.

Opponents counter that there are certain constitutional guarantees that should not be tampered with by any majority, should not ever be made the subject of political campaigns.

These include the right to life, liberty and property; to free speech; freedom of worship; and the right, under every possible circumstance to an equal voice at the polls.

They add that the federal government's role in urban and suburban affairs can only be diminished if the state governments have a greater concern for this fast-growing section of their constituency.

No office-holder, whose numbers both rural and urban constituents can take a position on this one without suffering some political damage. Yet, citizens deserve a fair explanation of the issue and an idea of how their representatives stand on it.

In my opinion, the one-man, one-vote principle is a sound one. I think each citizen should have the same voice regardless of what part of the state he moves to. And I believe no majority—even all voters but one—should be permitted to deprive that one remaining citizen of his equal voice.

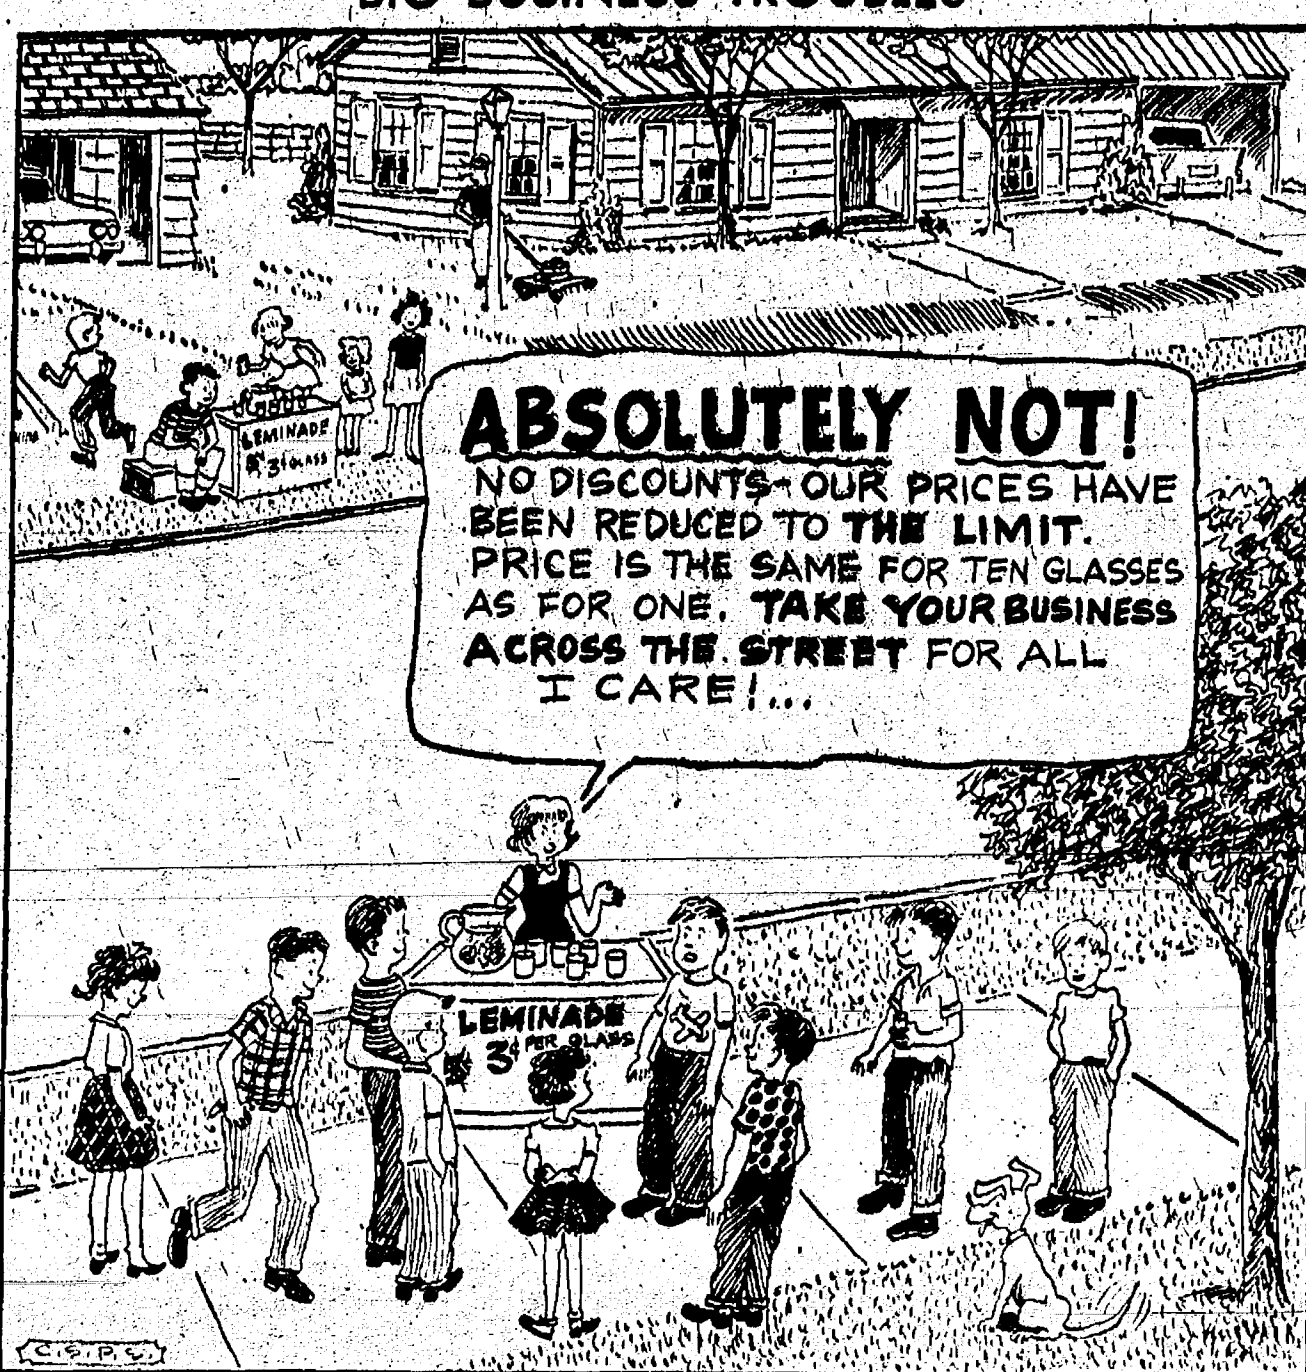

And while the following statement is bound to bring a small avalanche of disapproving letters, it nevertheless should not be secret.

When the Constitutional amendment proposal comes up for Senate action, I intend to be among those who fight it.

Growth Expense

Record budgets no longer are a rarity in Michigan government, and probably in most other states, because a new record in state spending is set each year.

The basic reason for this phenomenon is easily grasped by most people. As communities grow, more services are needed, and even a given set of operations can rise in expense from one year to the next.

Extent of Michigan government's growth is a little more difficult to fathom, unless all data are available for comparison. Such a full study of state government growth was made recently by the Citizens Research Council.

To the layman, the Council's study spells out clearly where the so-called record budget expenditures have gone in the past 10 years.

This year, for example, Michigan budgeted $191 million for 84 agencies and services which were not in existence in 1957. The budget for the new fiscal year may add 14 more new programs at an estimated $7.6 million annual cost.

For the fiscal year starting July 1, the Council estimated the 84 units new in the past decade and the proposed 14 others would require about $204 million. So it may be seen the cost of operating the relatively new programs is going up considerably more than the amount required for the totally new ones.

Expansion of departments and agencies which existed before 1955 are not included in the Council study, but would add many more thousands through new functions and duties given to divisions of long standing.

"New programs and services appear regularly in annual general fund appropriations," the analytic council notes. Even in the cash crisis years new programs were added. After a peak of 20 new services started in 1960, state expansion has ranged from 2 to 17 programs a year.

Areas of activity have varied as greatly as their numbers. Most recently the new programs have been in the areas of education, mental or public health, welfare, safety, economic expansion and licensing of professional or vocational groups.

The Council notes that some programs are self-supporting; others get contributions from the federal government. Still a third category depends totally on state funds for operating. All have one feature in common: they contribute to a rapidly rising state budget and payroll.

Care for More
 Special education offerings by Michigan schools are one of the reasons Michigan school systems are way ahead of other states.

There are presently very few districts in Michigan which do not have some kind of special education service operating or planned for the near future. Despite the size of the state, few students who need these services are very far from well-established programs.

Special education facilities range from those for the physically handicapped, the mentally retarded, and the emotionally disturbed, to the visiting teacher and school diagnostic programs.

Children requiring special attention in the classroom vary considerably. Some are slow readers because of vision or hearing deficiencies, while others have much more serious problems.

The physically handicapped programs, covering the widest range of individual problems, served more than 75,000 students in the school year just ended. Crippled, cardiac, epileptic, deaf, blind, homebound and hospitalized students, benefitted from these programs.

Another 27,000 students were enrolled in various programs for the mentally retarded. The program for emotionally disturbed youngsters just completed its third year statewide but an estimated 700 students were involved, about 300 more than last year.

Visiting teacher and school diagnostic services were extended to about 24,500 this past year. The biggest portion of this number, probably all but about 225, was part of the visiting teacher program.

Lights on Safety
 A standard plea comes forth from the governor's office periodically for a "light the way to safety" campaign.

The occasions for the plea are the various holidays when the bulk of Michigan motorists take to the roads for long trips. Memorial Day, Independence Day and Labor Day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's are the primary occasions.

Over the period that Gov. George Romney has been in office, the number of cars on the road in daylight with lights on has stead-

Known affectionately as Old Glory, the red, white, and blue flag of the United States is rippled in the breeze all over the world and upon the Seven Seas. During these past 188 years countless men have followed the flag into battle, have died in the defense of it, and been borne to their graves in a flag-draped casket.

To every loyal American, the Star-Spangled Banner is a symbol of the greatness of our nation, a mute reminder of the virtues, the bravery, the sacrifice of the men who made it great. Who has not thrilled to the sight of Old Glory and said to himself, "Long may it wave o'er the land of the free."

And the home of the brave. There is another flag—we may honor today, the flag of Christ, generally displayed in our churches along with the United States flag. Under this Christian banner, soldiers of Christ have penetrated to the farthest corner of the earth, taking the gospel to those who know it not. This Christian crusade has its home just as have those who march under the Red, White, and Blue. These soldiers, engaged in spiritual warfare, are truly Soldiers of the Cross. To them we sing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers, Marching as to war, With the Cross of Jesus Going on before."

Monza Sport Coupe with up to 140 hp available for more size (180 hp available in Corsa models)

Corvair by Chevrolet

It's stylish, sporty and available with up to 180 frisky horsepower. See below what car experts say about its unique engineering and handling. Then see your dealer and see what a wonderful buy you can get right now!

Hot Rod
 "On tight corners... will hold its own with anything on the road."

Sports Illustrated
 "On test runs at GM's Michigan proving grounds the Corvair started and stopped with no dipping, and it cornered—even at wild speeds—with smooth intent and no sign of sway."

Motor Trend
 "Not counting the Corvette, Corvair has the closest thing to performance handling characteristics you'll find on this side of the ocean, with no sacrifice in ride qualities."

Car Life
 "We'd feed the Corvair into the turn with increasing force on the steering wheel, applying as much power as was available, and come scorching out the other end of the curve without so much as a tail wag."

Sports Illustrated
 "...a new American sports car that will be eminently acceptable at rallies but that can, in the American manner, double at church picnics."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellows at the country store Saturday night was about half agreed you can't build a Great Society in a country where nobody can tell what time it is.

Zuke Grubb claimed his favorite television programs was operating on about four different time systems, depending on what city and state he had tuned in for the moment. He was of the opinion half the country was saving a little daylight while the other half was losing half its mind. He allowed as how it has even got his chickens confused, reported his rooster had taken to crowing at 3 o'clock in the morning and some of his hens were saving daylight by laying bantam eggs.

Isaac Cornfodder reported the situation wasn't bothering him none, said they was a crack in the east wall of his bedroom and he just waited till the sun come through the crack afore he got up in the morning. Furthermore, Isaac said he didn't work by the clock now, just worked till he got tired, which was about noon on a heap of days.

Ed Doolittle, that blameworthy thing from the Seven Deadly Sins to the high-price of potatoes, on politics, claimed all this scandal about the time of day got started back under the New Deal when Franklin Roosevelt was trying to put a chicken in ever pot. He allowed as how Franklin figured the earlier he got the chickens up the quicker he could get 'em in the pot.

Personal, Mister Editor, I knowed daylight saving time got started back during World War I by Woodrow Wilson when they was trying to save fuel, but I didn't want to spoil Ed's misery, so I just stayed quiet. Anyhow, Woodrow was a Democrat and Ed would have took it from there and come on down to Lyndon Johnson.

Furthermore, I think a heap of the fellows at the store enjoys being miserable. They ain't never happier than when they was miserable about somepon. Of course, we got some that gits more miserable than others. For instance, when Bug Hookum is miserable he is miserable all over, but when Ed gits miserable it's only when he's thinking about Lyndon, the Democrats and the Great Society.

I reckon, Mister Editor, most folks is like that, editors fer instance. Sometimes I think you fellows was miserable all the time, judging from the editorials you write. And all wimmen was mostly miserable, and when wimmen gits miserable, they gits miserable all over. It's likt the toothache with em, when one toothaches they all aches. My old lady, fer instance, got up this morning mighty miserable because I ain't mowed the lawn in a month. When I gits mowed next month she'll be gits miserable about somepon else. A happy feller can't win.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

WELCOME ABOARD, WATER USERS.

Here's a timely tip for fishermen and anyone else looking for places to launch their boats: There are more than 700 sites developed and maintained throughout Michigan by the Conservation Department which offer public access to waters. Each of them provides a spot to park cars and launch boats, and some include toilets, pumps, and wells. Also, short-term camping is available at a number of sites where facilities, size, and location are suited for this extra use. To find where any of these 700 public entry points are located, write the Department's Publications Room in Lansing for free copies of the "Michigan Water Access Sites."

By Lee Smits

What happens to a fish after it has been tricked by bait or lure, hauled from its habitat, reduced to possession? Is it treated with proper respect, cared for until consumed, appropriately cooked and sufficiently appreciated when depoured?

In too many instances—No! Unlike game, which is improved by judicious aging, fish is better the fresher it is. I claim no special skills in catching fish, but when it comes to eating fish, I yield to no man. My favorite is yellow perch (NOT in filets. Removing bones removes some of the flavor.) I doubt that any saltwater species equals the best of our Great Lakes fish.

So much for personal prejudices. Now let's examine some of the typical mistakes made with fish between water and table.

A fish is landed. If you can't keep it alive and frisky, kill it. Dragging fish around on a stringer is a poor idea.

Your fish will retain its flavor only if it is kept cool. Toting ice or dry ice along as you fish pays off.

If you put fish on ice make sure that the ice container drains freely so that the fish won't be soaking in water. Enclosing fish in plastic containers before you pack them in ice is a sound idea.

If you keep fish in deep freeze you are likely to sacrifice some of the flavor. "Flash-freezing" is said to keep fish in prime condition. It requires temperatures considerably below zero.

Those who place fish in milk cartons filled with water before storing them in a home freezer report good results. Fish encased in ice do not lose their texture or become mushy.

Sportmen with experience in storing fish tell me that all species should be skinned before freezing. Any fish from muddy water should be skinned. Skinning devices are advertised, and they work well.

Now for some ways to cook fish, including methods overlooked by the average fisherman, such as poaching and boiling. To poach fish—and for the trout-salmon family it is the ideal method—bring salted water to a rolling boil. To bring the fish to the table unbroken, place on plate or platter—in chunks if the fish is a big one—place plate on dish towel and lower into water. Cut down heat so that water is at a low simmer for about 20 minutes. When you can easily pull out a fin, your fish is poached. There are tasty sauces to go with poached fish. If you have a sauce in mind, put a few bay leaves in the water. Boiling starts off like poaching with plenty of salt in the water. After a rolling boil is reached, put fish in water and let the boiling resume for just eight minutes. This method was made famous by the Elks Lodge of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Wrapping fish in aluminum foil with butter and seasoning, maybe with slices of tomato, and cooking slow is a sure-fire method for the camper or backyard chef.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's home service department has assembled a fascinating assortment of tested fish recipes—yours for the asking, at any of the utility's offices.

Mr. Smits' column is presented through the courtesy of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vogel and daughters, Martha and Linda, of Grand Rapids, spent the week-end with relatives here. Their daughter, Linda, remained to spend some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hoffman.

Friday night dinner guests of Mrs. Emma Seitz were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Howell and family, of Jackson, and Mr. Howell's father, Louis Howell of Lynnbrook, N.Y., who came to Michigan to attend the graduation Thursday of his granddaughter, Karen Howell, at Parkside High school, Jackson.

It's surprising how few breaks really deserving people sometimes get.

Holiday Week-End Toll Higher Than Normal Period

There were 297 persons killed in summer week-end traffic accidents in Michigan last year, an average of 21.2 deaths for the fourteen 54-hour periods covered in a special study by the State Police safety and traffic bureau.

The average was almost two deaths higher than that of 19.4 for all 52 week-ends of the year, lending statistical support to the need for greater care in summer driving when increased recreational and vacation traveling adds to the potential for accidents.

The worst week-end period, not only for the summer but for all of last year, was from 6 p.m. July 3 to midnight July 5 with 36 deaths.

Two periods, June 12-14 and July 24-26, each had the second highest summer week-end toll of 28.

Three summer week-ends shared the low toll of 13—June 26-28, July 31-Aug. 2 and Aug. 23-25. In contrast, the year's lowest 54-hour week-end toll was six during Nov. 20-22.

The State Police study showed the summer week-end deaths averaged one every two hours and 33 minutes. By comparison, the average for all week-ends was a death every two hours and 47 minutes while the year's week-days, Monday through Thursday, averaged a death every five hours and 22 minutes.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

The Democrats, now running things in Lansing, are about to place the legislature in control of pari-mutual betting at the horse racing tracks in this state.

Just how are they proposing to accomplish such an outlandish and clearly unconstitutional feat? The answer is simple—with votes. With enough votes, almost anything is possible—and the Democrats have more than enough in both chambers this year—controlling the House by a 77-37 majority and the Senate by a 25-15 margin.

There seems to be no end to the unbelievable things which are taking place here under our capital dome. This week, 62 Democrats—without a Republican support—adopted an amendment to a bill which would provide that its newly-created legislative auditor take over the administrative function of performing daily audits of each race at all privately-owned and operated Michigan tracks. The amendment goes on to provide that the auditing shall be performed by a private auditing firm appointed by the auditor, and that the expense of these audits shall be paid for by the state—or to put it a little more bluntly—by YOU, the taxpayer.

Even the Attorney General, in an opinion rendered in February, 1964, pointed out that his review of constitutional deliberations clearly indicated that the legislative auditor, to be appointed by the legislature under Michigan's new constitution, could not get into the kind of work which the internal accounting department and the controller in a business do during the year—that is, checking payments that are going out to make sure they are proper and being used for the purposes intended. In other words, when the year is finished, the post audit function of the legislative auditor would occur—and he would then review the operations to determine whether they had, in fact, been conducted according to law and in the manner prescribed by the legislature.

The new constitution, adopted by all of the people of this state, very specifically provides that the legislative auditor shall be assigned no other duties than those set forth in that document.

This amendment could open up a whole Pandora's box of unlimited and costly operations. Conceivably, equipped with subpoena powers, the legislative auditor could be running in and out of private business offices—leafing through books—checking on collections of such state taxes as the corporate franchise tax, sales and liquor taxes, business activities tax, etc.—and could be engaging in countless other administrative, not auditing, functions—and all at state expense!

This unheralded grab for lucrative political patronage is patently unconstitutional. With the legislature's auditor in control of all who have dealings with the state, and with all state departments and agencies, legislators can be assured of "red carpet" treatment wherever they go.

This is not the first time that the Democrats have endeavored through legislation to circumvent the requirements of the constitution—and it probably will not be the last.

Wake up, Mr. Citizen—before it's too late!

Water Accidents Jump Sharply Over Last Year

Water accidents are on the increase in Michigan.

Eighty-three persons have died in 104 water accidents in the first five and half months this year, respectively increases of 24 and 30 compared with the period up through June 12, in 1963, according to State Police provisional figures.

In addition, 43 persons have been injured in water mishaps. The breakdown on 82 of the deaths on which official reports have been received includes 14 boat passengers, eight boat operators, 11 swimmers or waders, 15 who fell from bridges, banks, docks or piers, 13 who fell through ice, and one skin on scuba diver.

Vigilant supervision of children at play in or near water and proper attention to safety rules when boating, the State Police emphasize, can help hold down the water accident toll which reaches its peak during the warm weather months in Michigan. Last year 290 persons lost their lives in 608 water accidents in the state.

LET'S PRETEND

It's fun to live in the world of make-believe — If you're very, very young.

When one grows older, pretending must give way to reality. The homemaker is concerned with providing the best possible for the family, usually with restrictions imposed by a budget. This leaves little room for guesswork or carelessness.

The wise homemaker knows that the local business community is geared to meet her every need. Whether she wants to buy, to rent, or to repair, someone in the community is anxious to serve, eager to please.

Whatever your personal needs, look first to the local business scene. You'll always be glad you did.

Anna Sue Paul, Larry Lehman Wed Vows at Waterloo Church

Deanna Sue Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane F. Paul, of Grass Lake, became the bride of Larry Earl Lehman son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hannebald of Stockbridge at St. Jacob Evangelical Lutheran church in Waterloo Saturday.

The Rev. Andrew Bloom performed the 5 o'clock ceremony. "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Mrs. Albert Schlenker of Munith.

The gown of silk crepe, featuring an empire line with a rolled collar and cathedral train, worn by the bride was designed and made by her. She also made her veil of silk illusion and the crown of seed pearls. Her floral arrangement contained calla lilies and ivy.

Honor maid Janet Alexander and bridesmaids Dawn Christine and Deborah Lee Paul, sisters of the bride, chose gowns of aqua chiffon over taffeta. Cabbage rose headresses to match and bouquets of pink roses with lilies of the valley completed their costumes.

Gary Sweet of Stockbridge, was best man. The guests were seated by Charles Adams of Leslie, and Thomas Hodgson of Ohio.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Paul appeared in a blue silk linen sheath with organza overblouse, matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage. Mrs. Hannebald chose white accessories and pink roses to go with her sheath of mint green lace.

Following a reception in the church parlor, the newlyweds left for a trip to the Upper Peninsula. The bride is a recent graduate of Grass Lake High school. Her husband just graduated from Michigan State University.

Karen Janet Keezer, Gary Koch Are Wed Saturday at St. Paul's

A gown of lace over taffeta with sequins edging the three-tiered skirt, which extended into a chapel train, was worn by Karen Janet Keezer for the double-ring ceremony which united her in marriage to Gary Wilbert Koch at St. Paul's United Church of Christ Saturday. Her illusion veil was secured by a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried white roses and a Stephanotis corsage.

Upon returning from a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, they will make their home at 6750 Lombardy Dr.

Both the newlyweds are graduates of Chelsea High school. The new Mrs. Koch is employed at Arlan's. Her husband works at the Larowe Feed Co.

The Rev. Robert A. J. Livingston conducted the 2 o'clock ceremony. "O Promise Me" and "Because" were sung by Robert Schneider of Conway Rd. The organist was Mrs. Lawrence Riemschneider. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Keezer, 202 Wilkinson St., was given in marriage by her father.

Her sister, Linda was her honor maid. She and the three bridesmaids, Kay and Karen Buss, and Lynda Koch, sister of the bridegroom, appeared in gowns of light olive satin brocade and matching jackets. Their headresses were veiled bows in a matching color and they carried cascading arrangements of blue daisies and white carnations.

Best man to the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Koch, 695 Fletcher Rd., was his brother, Ronald. Seating the guests were Edward Keezer, cousin of the bride; Duane Bolinger, cousin of the bridegroom; and David Feldkamp.

Mrs. Keezer chose a royal blue sheath with matching jacket, accented with white accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses. A similar corsage was worn by the bridegroom's mother with her jacketed silk frock in a blue and white print and white accessories.

Approximately 150 guests attended the reception which followed at the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Ora Smith of Morenci, Mrs. Donald Keezer and Mrs. Donovan Sweeney, all aunts of the bride; Mrs. Rudolph Bollinger and Mrs. Leon Koch, aunts of the bridegroom; Nancy Tarwilliger and Mrs. Richard Stillion and Mrs. Glen Steinman; the latter two from Ann Arbor.

In charge of the guest book were Roberta DeVine and Evelyn Rothfuss while Barbara Bernath and Cheryl Lehman had charge of the gifts.

THE COUNTRY PULPIT
"THE RELIGIOUS MERRY-GO-ROUND"
You may have lots of fun riding a merry-go-round, but it won't take you anywhere. Many are trying to make heaven their home, by riding merry-go-rounds, too, but getting nowhere.

GOOD WORKS cannot save. Depending on good works is just like riding a merry-go-round. You may enjoy the ride, but the Bible says it is "NOT by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us." Titus 3:5

RELIGION cannot save. This merry-go-round may cause you to feel that you are heaven-bound, but remember, the Lord Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." John 3:3

SINCERITY cannot save. You might be sincerely WRONG.
You must be sincerely RIGHT. This ride gives you a false sense of security. The Bible says, "He that hath the SON hath life"; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." 1 John 5:12

If you were to die today would you go to heaven, or are you just riding a merry-go-round? You might ride the merry-go-round of religion, good works and sincerity but they will never bring you to heaven. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8, 9

You need CHRIST. He demonstrated His love by shedding His blood on the cross for you. He is now alive, in the same body of flesh and bones in which He was crucified and buried. In HIM, the Risen Lord, there is salvation for you. You must receive HIM to be saved. Do it now, before it is too late.

As many as received Him, to them gave He, the right to become the children of God.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

A field mouse, in a terrible hurry to cross the highway, almost crossed it for the last time.
Halfway into the lane of traffic a car zoomed over him.

He raised himself on his haunches, looked bewildered, and ran back to the place where he began.

He was much like we are too often.

We begin with the best of intentions to get something done; although, the way some unexpected interference causes us to lose our bearings.

We aren't sure what to do with,
or about it.

As a result we turn around, looking bewildered, and run back to where we began.

Not only is this our experience, it is the experience of the Christian Church as well.

Every once in a while it discovers that its gospel requires it to protect an injustice. For Ames it was the poor abused by the rich.
For Isaiah it was a nation with a wrong idea of its position in the world. For Jesus it was the substitution of a set of rules for a religion.

For us it may be race relations or war.

The opposition that challenges us when we are willing to attempt a stand sometimes finds we are paper tigers, or field mice.

All we can really stand still for is to find out direction again and push on till we cross the road, our mission completed.

Beulahland Bible
Conference Starts
Sessions Sunday

Beulahland opens its 19th Bible Conference session Sunday, June 20 with two weeks of intensified Bible study with two of the nation's outstanding Bible teachers.

The first week of conference opens on Sunday afternoon June 20, at 3 p.m. with Dr. Arthur Steele as the speaker. Dr. Dautel is president of Shelton College located at Cape May, N.J.

The second week Dr. Hall Dautel will be the speaker. Dr. Dautel has written more than 60 hymns and choruses and is recognized as one of the best organists of our time. He is a member of "American Guild of Organists." He holds administrative offices in the "General Association of Regular Baptist Churches" and is trustee of the "Baptist Bible Seminary," Johnson City, N.Y., and is also a member of the council of "Baptist Mid-Missions." Dr. Dautel will present special numbers on the organ nightly.

All of the speakers have served faithfully in official capacities in the "American Council of Christian Churches" and are promoters of the "Twentieth Century Reformation" movement led by Dr. Carl McIntire.

The public is invited to attend all services. Churches are urged to bring delegations. Services are held each Sunday at 3 and 7 p.m.
and each night during the week at 7:30 p.m.

Beulahland is an independent conference and stands in opposition to Modernism, Compromise, and Ecumenism. All speakers are known for their firm stand for God and for our American way of life.

The tabernacle is located on Whitcomb Rd. just south of East
M-36, three miles east of Pinckney on the grounds of Happy Day Camp. For full particulars, call the director, W. C. Standridge, Pinckney.

New System of 4-H Judging Wins Favor

Lexington, Ky. — Enthusiasm for a new 4-H dairy judging procedure which places emphasis on evaluating the 4-H members knowledge of his project was reported here this week.

The new system of evaluation was initiated in Kent county, Mich. in 1963 and '64. The 4-H member, besides having his calf judged for fitness and condition, was interviewed by trained judges to find out what he or she knew about his or her project.

In a paper presented before the American Dairy Science Association, Robert C. Knisely, Kent county dairy extension agent and Louise J. Boyd, Michigan State University dairy scientist, reported that the evaluation was actually a learning experience for the member. During the interview, constructive criticisms were made and every member was told why he received an A, B or C rating.

The response and acceptance of members and leaders have been very favorable," commented Knisely and Boyd. "The quality of the projects has improved considerably, because the members and leaders know what improvements are desirable."

The interviews were conducted at the county 4-H fair on the day preceding the dairy show. No set number of points was given to the individuals because of their variation in age and experience, but a breakdown in the ratings would look like this: 25 percent for the condition (feeding and grooming) of the animal; 25 percent on the member's knowledge of the project; 20 percent for showmanship; 15 percent for the member's appearance; and 15 percent on the animal's type (body conformation).

This personal interview was in addition to a conventional dairy show held the next day.

Knisely and Boyd say this new method of evaluation is an improvement over most 4-H judging methods which place emphasis only on body conformation of the animal, fitting and showing.

RED-LIGHT HOLDUP
Kansas City — Having withdrawn $11,200 from a bank, a supermarket owner and his manager were robbed at a busy intersection.
When James T. Smith, owner, stopped at the red light, two bandits got out of the car in front and back of their car, robbed them, then fled in the car ahead, leaving the other car which was stolen.

Electronic Supermarket on Display At Bell System's World's Fair Exhibit

An "electronic supermarket," showing how the housewife of the future may do her shopping by telephone, is one of the attractions in the Bell System's exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Fair visitors can see how tomorrow's housewife may shop from home for groceries using a Touch-Tone pushbutton telephone and Picturephone. A visitor selects various items displayed via Pic-turephone from the model store.
As she taps out numbers on the pushbutton phone, the groceries drop from racks to shipping conveyors. The electronic marvel simultaneously keeps a running inventory and orders more merchandise from a warehouse to restock the shelves.

The display, among more than 40 found in the "floating wing" pavilion, also details how the housewife may operate household appliances by telephone while away from home. Other futuristic time-saving uses of the telephone star II in orbit, an actual Telstar satellite, a display honoring Alexander Graham Bell, and a museum featuring fairs and telephones of yesteryear.

A 14-minute ride takes fair visitors through a show depicting communications of the past, present and future.

"THE RELIGIOUS MERRY-GO-ROUND"

You may have lots of fun riding a merry-go-round, but it won't take you anywhere. Many are trying to make heaven their home, by riding merry-go-rounds, too, but getting nowhere.

GOOD WORKS cannot save. Depending on good works is just like riding a merry-go-round. You may enjoy the ride, but the Bible says it is "NOT by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us." Titus 3:5

RELIGION cannot save. This merry-go-round may cause you to feel that you are heaven-bound, but remember, the Lord Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." John 3:3

SINCERITY cannot save. You might be sincerely WRONG. You must be sincerely RIGHT. This ride gives you a false sense of security. The Bible says, "He that hath the SON hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." 1 John 5:12

If you were to die today would you go to heaven, or are you just riding a merry-go-round? You might ride the merry-go-round of religion, good works and sincerity but they will never bring you to heaven. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8, 9

You need CHRIST. He demonstrated His love by shedding His blood on the cross for you. He is now alive, in the same body of flesh and bones in which he was crucified and buried. In HIM, the Risen Lord, there is salvation for you. You must receive HIM to be saved. Do it now, before it is too late.

As many as received Him, to them gave He the right to become the children of God.

New System of 4-H Judging Wins Favor

Lexington, Ky. — Enthusiasm for a new 4-H judging procedure, which places emphasis on evaluating the 4-H members knowledge of his project was reported here this week.

The new system of evaluation was initiated in Kent county, Mich., in 1963, and '64. The 4-H members, besides having his calf judged for fitness and condition, was interviewed by trained judges to find out what he or she knew about his or her project.

In a paper presented before the American Dairy Science Association, Robert C. Knisely, Kent county dairy extension agent and Louise J. Boyd, Michigan State University dairy scientist, reported that the evaluation was actually a learning experience for the member. During the interview, constructive criticisms were made and every member was told why he received an A, B or C rating.

The response and acceptance of members and leaders have been very favorable," commented Knisely and Boyd. "The quality of the projects has improved considerably, because the members and leaders know what improvements are desirable."

The interviews were conducted at the county 4-H fair on the day preceding the dairy show. No set number of points was given to the individuals because of their variation in age and experience, but a breakdown in the ratings would look like this: 25 percent for the condition (feeding and grooming) of the animal; 25 percent on the member's knowledge of the project; 20 percent for showmanship; 15 percent for the member's appearance; and 15 percent on the animal's type (body conformation).

This personal interview was in addition to a conventional dairy show held the next day.

Knisely and Boyd say this new method of evaluation is an improvement over most 4-H judging methods which place emphasis only on body conformation of the animal, fitting and showing.

RED-LIGHT HOLDUP Kansas City — Having withdrawn $11,200 from a bank, a supermarket owner and his manager were robbed at a busy intersection. When James T. Electronic Supermarket on Display At Bell System's World's Fair Exhibit

An "electronic supermarket," showing how the housewife of the future may do her shopping by telephone, is one of the attractions in the Bell System's exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Fair visitors can see how tomorrow's housewife may shop from home for groceries using a Touch-Tone pushbutton telephone and Picturephone. A visitor selects various items displayed via Picturephone from the model store.

As she taps out numbers on the pushbutton phone, the groceries drop from racks to shipping conveyors. The electronic marvel simultaneously keeps a running inventory and orders more merchandise from a warehouse to restock the shelves.

The display, among more than 40 found in the "floating wing" pavilion, also details how the housewife may operate household appliances by telephone while away from home. Other futuristic time-saving uses of the telephone are shown in an exhibit on electronic switching.

New exhibits include a tracking map charting the location of Telstar II in orbit, an actual Telstar satellite, a display honoring Alexander Graham Bell, and a museum featuring fairs and telephones of yesterday.

A 14-minute ride takes fair visitors through a show depicting communications of the past, present and future.

"It's not the color of our skin, but the course of our lives that is important," Howard told Fisk University students.

"Men and women now have got to arise with the guts to say: 'We will become part of a revolution where we give everything to bring the whole world under the control of a living God.'"

Peter Howard, head of the world program of Moral Re-Armament was a new type of revolutionary who grasped the ideological issues of the age.

PETER HOWARD

CHALLENGES AMERICA

"I cannot understand why for years now we have suffered these men in Peking and Moscow to plan every day for Mr. and Mrs. U.S.A. but failed to give Mr. and Mrs. U.S.A. an intelligent passion to plan to capture the millions of Moscow and Peking. Surely to heaven free men under God can create a revolutionary pattern of society that all men will recognize and join. I believe that 'Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven' is a concept far more revolutionary than anything Karl Marx or Hitler, heaven help him, thought of, if it is a commitment and not just a pious drone."

Peter Howard, world leader of Moral Re-Armament, British author, playwright and political columnist, died on February 25, 1965, in Lima, Peru. For 25 years he gave his life to an idea which has caught the imagination and spurred to action men of every age and rank in the task of remaking the world.

In a Congressional tribute to Howard, Speaker John W. McCormack said, "Few if any citizens of other lands have rendered the American people services comparable to those of Mr. Peter Howard."

Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Cardinal Bea, and former Chancellor Adenauer were among the hundreds who sent cables to Mrs. Howard.

His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, in his foreword to Peter Howard's published speeches "Design for Dedication," says, "His words are a challenge for all. They bring an extraordinary clarity about America and the world that is most welcome."

ON RACE AND RIGHTS

Speaking in Atlanta, Georgia, on the topic "What Color Is God's Skin," Howard said, "I do not say, 'Be patient,' I say, 'Be passionate for something far bigger than color.'"

"The different races in America are her strength and glory. They can be her supersonic missile of revolution in the modern world. They are no handicap. They are an asset that no other country possesses. Supposing America, with her Negro and Latin American and Caucasian and Indian minorities, were able to proclaim in honesty to the listening earth: 'Come and see how all men everywhere are meant to live. We need you all in our bid to change world history which is the destiny of our age. In this dangerous, essential task, black men, white men, all men are needed.'"

Speaking to the students of Tennessee State University in Nashville, Howard said, "After civil rights what? I believe the answer is a world revolution to establish what is right, not just for the Southern states, not just for the United States, but for the whole of God's longing, hoping, suffering, torn earth. I believe if that aim came out of the heart of the free nations and was real, people on both sides of the Iron and Bamboo Curtains would say, 'Thank God! We've always wanted to hear it and for the first time that voice has spoken from freedom.'"

ON VIETNAM

Speaking before the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, Howard said, "At this moment, in paddy fields and swamps, jungle darkness, slime, stench and mud of fetid rivers, Americans, Vietnamese, villagers and soldiers are putting to the test with their blood and suffering whether freedom shall or shall not endure in Vietnam. Without expressing views about the policies of character of Diem or the Nhus, one thing is certain. The United States, for the first time in the history of the country, encouraged the overthrow in time of war of a duly elected government fighting loyally against the common Communist invader. The bill for that deed has yet to be presented. But be absolutely sure the bill is coming in."

"What can be done? An all-out-bid to win the war might mean an armed confrontation between the United States and Red China with the risk of a holocaust. I think that would be lunacy. Neutralization of Vietnam and the withdrawal of American forces, which many people now are strongly advocating, would mean in effect the rapid communization of that part of Southeast Asia, and damage to the prestige of the free world which will affect America's status in every part of Asia."

"There is another possibility. I cannot claim that it is an original idea. It was suggested to me by the late President Diem shortly before he was killed. It was, and I quote: 'A massive saturation program of Vietnam by Moral Re-Armament.' Diem wished to use films, literature and traveling teams of ideologically trained men for the purpose. He believed this program would answer division and corruption in the South and put the North ideologically on the defensive, instead of always being on the attack. He said the people in the North were hungry for a revolutionary concept coming out of the free world which would include them. If we could give them that, he said, they would desert Communism in the thousands. He may have been wrong. But he may have been right. We have not tried."

ON COMMUNISM

"Communism is the worship of materialism—the worship of rubles or dollars, the worship of human flesh and human brain, the worship of success or recognition, the worship of heroes whether they are dressed up as dictators or presidents. It is putting man first. Communism is the denial of God. It condones the immorality that springs, and springs only, from a disbelief in Him."

"I want to say about Communism—the only intelligent action for those who love liberty is to create a revolution bigger than Communism that needs everybody for its fulfillment. So you can say to the Communist, 'We want to revolutionize the world. We are revolutionizing the world, come and help us do it in the right way.' That is the only synthesis that will get the Marxist out of his dilemma. And in the next month, and six months, you have got to match in America the revolutionary passion and relentlessness of men determined to take over Latin America, take over Asia, and not, repeat not, leave the United States and Canada to stew in their own juice."

ON MODERNIZING MAN

"The modernization of man is the great task of our time. Man has become a scientific and technological giant but remains a moral and spiritual pigmy. We can no longer live safe and free when we allow prehistoric emotions of hate, fear and greed to divide us. The world will be modernized and rebuilt by those willing to match this revolutionary age by a revolution in their own aims and living."

"Everybody wants to see the other person change. Every class, every nation, every color wants to see the other class, nation or color change. But everybody is waiting for the other to begin. We believe that if you want to see the world or your country or even your home or school different, the most practical place to start is with yourself and then give it to the other fellow. We think there is nobody more reactionary than the person who, by and large, is out to make his own way in the world and hopes that somebody else will look after the rest of the world."

"We believe in absolute moral standards—honesty, purity, unselfishness and love. I'm a very ordinary man. But I do have standards to which I trim my life. There is a thing called the North Star. It's been up in the sky for some time. Nobody has yet recorded any vessel or ship reaching that star, but for centuries captains of vessels have got a fix on that star, known from it where their vessel is in the ocean and where they have to steer setting a new course."

ON AMERICA

"America, despite her valor and generosity, is becoming a pacifist nation. Her passion to be uninvolved extends from her foreign policies to a permissive idleness that allows students to gain control of campuses by rioting or for thugs to beat up people in the streets while bystanders watch and walk away. We must learn in 1965 that we cannot obtain victory without the desire for it, endure defeat without the disaster of it, secure peace without the price of it, or wage a war of ideology without the ideology to win."

"I give fair warning that the God of the Old Testament is abroad in the world again today. Those men and nations who heed His voice and obey His will will be blessed in their generation. But those who rationalize moral relativism, who declare that the end justifies the means, who refuse to stand for the right but attempt to come to terms with what they know is evil at home and overseas, will have to reckon with more than the fleeting favor or disfavor of humanity. They will have to reckon with the everlasting justice and wrath of the Almighty."

"America divided and confused may condemn humanity to the false alternative of a Red world or a dead world instead of offering the choice and challenge of a world rebuilt. America, once again a land which believes the proud boast of her dollar bill, 'In God We Trust,' can turn the century Godwards."

"I believe that Moral Re-Armament is the revolutionary issue of our time. It is the next step for America and the world."

THE LANSING REPORT

senator
GIL BURSLEY

1965 legislature is concluded. Regularly scheduled session begins Sept. 14 for a look at the state of Michigan and other issues requiring attention.

It is expected the Democratic majority is pointing to the House's constructive measures by the legislature and they wish to take credit for the passage of the bill. Republican minority promises, however, are to be made in the House and the fiscal year-end programs.

As might be expected there will be a fight over the House's find, as a Republican, the Democratic majority leader, Ray Dzendzel has been honest and fair. I also expect the Democratic Appropriations Chairman, Senator Garfield, has demonstrated confidence in the taxpayers' money and the House's mastery of his job.

On the whole, however, I'm not happy with this session. The fiscal surplus built up in 1964 will be wiped out in 1965 because of a great many appropriations over revenue. Democrats in the House and school aid by $40,000,000. The Governor's recommendation that he ducked out on fiscal Governor Romney chooses to say items in appropriation might well vote to sustain such a veto in the interest of achieving fiscal integrity.

By the time this column appears in print I hope the Sunday liquor bill will have been finally defeated. It has passed the House and been reported out of committee in the Senate.

The legislative pay raise and most other recommended pay and pension increases have been cut out largely through votes of the Republican minority and because of outraged public protests.

Last week the Senate approved the School Aid Bill (H.B. 2180). This will mean added state support to all school districts in this area.

The Senate also passed a bill which I have been sponsoring for the past three years. It provides for the licensing and registration of physical therapists and will both upgrade standards in this profession and protect the public against unqualified practitioners.

We approved a bill which will mean a second Probate Judge in Washtenaw, Ingham and Saginaw counties.

A legislator's duties take him to many interesting functions outside Lansing. Last week I had the privilege of testifying before the Foreign Trade Zone hearing in Bay City; of presenting a resolution of congratulations from the Senate on the 1st Centennial of Ann Arbor's Second Baptist church; of addressing Wolverine

Man's Best Friend May Cost More Than Baby for Some

New York — Afraid you can't afford to have a baby? It's cheap, compared with having a dog, says Harry Golden in an article in the July issue of Pageant magazine. Americans are supposed to be practical people, but they spend more than $530 million a year just feeding their canine friends, to say nothing of the half million a year being spent in New York City alone for Fifi's cosmetics and toiletries.

And what do they get for their expenditure? Mainly the dubious privilege of taking the dog out early in the morning or late at night, for man's best friend usually feels the urge for an airing at the most inopportune times—for instance when his so-called master is just ready to climb into bed.

But to the dog owner, it's all worthwhile, even if Laddie's food does cost twice as much in a year as the average infant's. For the dog has become a status symbol in our society, says the Pageant article. Anybody can have a baby, but it takes a really successful man to afford the upkeep of Mr. Conspicuous Consumption, man's canine pal!

New Michigan Guide Spotlights Historic Sites

Produced through the John M. Munson Michigan History Fund, the attractive map and guide points out all of Michigan's historic sites, museums and historic buildings.

Included in the publication are listings and locations of more than 200 historic sites, and markers, over 40 historic buildings and 53 historical museums. In addition to the Michigan map, inset maps of downtown Detroit and other historic communities are provided.

Information on Centennial Farms, regional tourist associations, tourist information centers and pictures of historical attractions are also contained in the publication. Copies of the Michigan Historical Guide are available without charge by contacting either the Michigan Tourist Council or the Michigan Historical Commission, Lansing.

Taylorsville, N.C. — A judge gave a father the choice of whipping his son publicly or letting him go to jail. The youth's father declined the offer of whipping his son in public. The youth will serve two 12-month terms for breaking and entering and leaving the scene of an accident.

Bald Heads May Not Be Necessary

New York — "Two recent medical breakthroughs not only promise — but actually provide — new hair for the hairless," states an authoritative article in the July issue of Pageant magazine. "But the public has been deceived and misled so often in the past that they've ignored them."

One method, discovered accidentally by Doctors Kligman and Papa of the University of Pennsylvania's department of dermatology in 1964, is especially dramatic, according to Pageant, because it is the only method ever discovered which can grow hair on the head of a completely bald man. The technique involves rubbing the hormone drug testosterone on the bald scalp. It has been successfully tested on institutionalized men, ranging in age from 29 to 78 years, without any adverse effects. Doctors Papa and Kligman, states the article, are now engaged in a follow-up study on a group of younger men, all of whom suffer from premature baldness.

Another successful experiment in growing hair on a partially bald human head was announced by Dr. Norman Orentreich, professor of dermatology at New York University's Post Graduate School. Dr. Orentreich's method involves transplanting hair from a hairy area of the head to a non-hairy area. It is done under local anesthesia and the method has proven 90 percent successful. The new hair has grown at the same rate as, and has blended in with, the surrounding hair. The technique has been used with equal success by other physicians and has been called by one of them "a dramatically effective way of permanently redistributing the scalp hair in such a way as to improve the loss of hair from baldness."

Returning to Dr. Papa, whose statements about his anti-baldness project range from enthusiasm to scientific detachment, he says modestly, "Up to now baldness was considered hopeless. Now I'm sure it isn't. Men can grow hair."

And the always conservative American Medical Association concludes its official statement on the Baldness Breakthrough with the comment "For physicians and patients alike, the present study brings hope, and a caution for patience."

There's an old saying that money isn't everything, but there are few troubles that a little money can't lighten.

Opportunity Loans Available To Aid Farm Progress

A new program of small loans coupled with farm management assistance is now open to farm families with limited incomes in Washtenaw county, Carl L. Robinson, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, said today.

Robinson said farmers in Washtenaw county may participate in the program to develop higher returns from their farming operations.

Loans up to $2,500 are available to farm families with limited incomes who cannot qualify for financial assistance under regular loan programs of Farmers Home Administration or private lenders. Opportunity loans are aimed at helping farm and rural families earn more income through their own enterprises, Robinson said.

Loans to farmers operating small, limited income farms may be used to purchase livestock, machinery and equipment, construct or repair farm buildings, pay annual operating expenses for seed, feed and fertilizer, refinance real estate debts and purchase land.

The loans also may be used to buy shares in small co-operatives that serve rural people.

Loans are repayable over periods of up to 15 years. They carry an interest rate of 4 1/2 percent.

To qualify for loans to finance agricultural enterprises an applicant must be a farmer and have earnings that are too low to cover basic family living needs. In addition, he must be unable to obtain credit through other sources, including regular loan programs of the Farmers Home Administration. Farmers Home Administration county supervisors will assist borrowers in planning farm operations and management of loan funds.

In addition to loans for farming, Farmers Home Administration may now make loans for non-agricultural enterprises that will produce added income.

The agency also administers other rural economic opportunity programs, including loans and technical assistance for small co-operatives serving rural families who have limited income and little debt-carrying ability.

Additional information on loan programs under the Economic Opportunity Act is available at the Farmers Home Administration office in the Post Office Building, 220 N. Main St., Ann Arbor.

Compulsory Liability Insurance Drawbacks Cited for Kiwanians

Merlyn Keller, an officer of an insurance firm from Ann Arbor, was the guest speaker at the Monday dinner meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis club at the Congregational church. His discussion centered around the disadvantages of a state-enforced compulsory automobile liability insurance measure, which to date is effective in only three states.

Giant Good Luck Piece

A four-leaf clover, nearly four inches across, was found in his lawn by Lorán Vickrey, 115 Madison, this week. He hopes this is an omen of good luck of a proportionate size.

TOURIST COUNSELOR: Toni Venier, 19, MSU student from East Lansing, is one of 36 counselors who this summer will serve tourists in seven Travel Information Centers operated by the State Highway Department. Early activity indicates visitors at the centers will increase from 370,000 last year to about 600,000.

Highway Travel Counselors Busy Boosting Michigan

Lansing — Brown-eyed MSU junior Toni Venier is one of 36 Travel Information Counselors who this summer will be very busy indeed boosting Michigan's beauty.

They are headed for a bang-up record summer that bodes an upsurge in Michigan tourism, early reports indicate.

Stationed in Travel Information Centers at seven locations—five of them near state borders—the counselors are the first person-to-person contact for many travelers from out-of-state vacationing here for the first time.

Qualified through civil service examination, the counselors are employed by the State Highway Department to make touring Michigan easier, more pleasant.

Like Toni, 26 of the counselors have completed either two years of college or have had two years of public contact work experience. The others, more experienced, are supervisors.

As of June 12, the Travel Information Centers tallied a total of 38,914 visitors compared with 23,852 as of June 13 last year. Ray Miller, assistant director of the Motorist Services and Reports Division, said:

"On this basis, we anticipate a 50 to 60 percent increase in total volume during the vacation season in the number of visitors at our centers," he said.

Travel Information Counselors like Toni handle every conceivable type of inquiry about the state. Whether stationed at New Buffalo, near the Indiana border, where she is assigned, or at Mon-

THE LETTERBOX

The Mayor & Council of Chelsea, Chelsea, Michigan

Dear Sirs:

On June 1, 1965 between the hours of 3 and 4 a.m. we had the privilege of meeting one of the most considerate and courteous police officers in our experience.

We became lost while attempting to find our favorite bass lake. Your officer on duty was kind enough to get out of his way to show us a time saving route on his map.

Also he made our trip a most memorable one and has increased our respect for law enforcement officers.

Thank you Chelsea, we remain... Sincerely yours, Sam Cottone, Bill Baranowski, Will Armstrong, Wyandotte, Mich.

P.S.—The bass were not quite as kind to us. (Ed. Note: Clyde D. Myers, officer who handled this.)

Girl Has Real Problem -- She Talks Too Much

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am sixteen years old, and have a very difficult problem. Speaking frankly, I am very friendly and very forward toward others. I have made many friends, but have lost quite a few, because after knowing someone for a while, I begin talking too forward, too loud, and making foolish remarks without thinking. I have read many books talking too much and too loud, losing friends as fast as they make them — with the friends they lose being the ones 'out of step'.

There's a saying you would do well to remember: "Always be sure your brain is in gear before opening your mouth." Or, think as well as talk.

There is nothing wrong with being friendly. And, the ability to make friends is a great asset. You can keep these friends if you learn to be a good listener as well as a good talker. This is no difficult. Develop an interest in your friends, their likes and dislikes. Ask them about their hobbies, their opinion on music, books, school, entertainment, and then sit back and listen. You'll discover there is as much "fun" in listening to others as in having others listen to you.

OUR REPLY: The fact you have recognized that you have a problem is an important first step. Many individuals go through life

"Seems like everybody who is anybody is driving Chryslers these days."

"SURE, that's why I'm driving one."

More and more people are moving up to Chrysler. Their reasons should be important to you. One is looks. Chrysler's got style. It's clean. Distinctive. Different from all the "look-alikes." Another is price. Seven Chryslers are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars. Yet, all are full-size. And the small monthly difference includes power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, big 383 cubic inch V-8, radio, heater. The works. Come in. Move up to Chrysler. It's easy.

See us. We deliver.
