This Friday night Chelsea will play at Dexter as Dexter's homecoming foe. Dexter is undefeated in four games this year and has one of the best backs in the league in Dick Elsasser. Their line is the biggest in the league with a line from end to end going 165-243-204-228-170-192-171 and on defense going 189-204-243-192-171 161-170. "Their backs are as fast as ours and we must stop them before they turn the corner if we are to defeat them," Coach Jack Curl asserted.

"We know Dexter will be high for their homecoming but we remember the game here last year and we want to defeat them just as much as they want to beat us."

Two players who may not be able to play in the Dexter game because of injuries are Gary Houle and David McGibney, Curl added.

Blood Bank Nets 145 Pints From Clinic

The Chelsea Blood Bank Clinic Monday, Oct 11, was one of the most successful in Chelsea's history, according to Mrs. Dudley Holmes, local Blood Clinic chairman.

She reported that 150 donors came to the Congregational church basement and that only 14 rejected. She said this was a very low percentage of rejections compared to previous years. One hundred and forty-five pints of all types of blood were collected, making the clinic one of the most successful in recent years.

Mrs. Holmes expressed appreciation to the Congregational church for the use of the church facilities. She said that 11 beds were set up by the Detroit Regional Unit of the American Red Cross and that service was very fast and efficient.

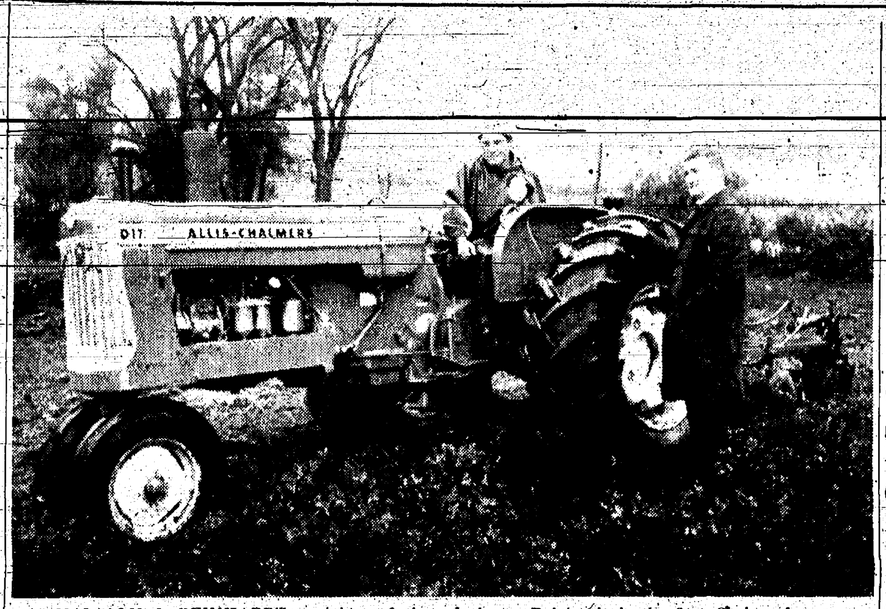

Dr. Joseph Fisher and Dr. Bruce Stubbs deserve special credit for helping to make the Clinic a success, Mrs. Holmes said.

Other volunteers who worked at the Clinic and deserve special recognition, according to Mrs. Holmes, include: Mrs. Leigh Palmer, Mrs. Lyle Haselswerdt, Mrs. Erwin Haist, Mrs. Chester Keezer, Mrs. Paul Schaible, Jr., Mrs. Godfrey Fox, Mrs. George Palmer, Mrs. Charles Burgess, Mrs. Wilbur Smith, Mrs. Leonard Eder, Mrs. Ray Franklin, Mrs. John Renner, Mrs. Robert Wagner, Mrs. Reuben Lesser, Mrs. Harold Spaulding, Mrs. M. MALCOLM J. REINHARDT, recipient of the Future Farmers of America American Farmer degree, discusses the award with FFA Advisor Gary Jackson. Reinhardt is the first Chelsea farmer to ever receive this honor. See story for details.

Malcolm Reinhardt Earns American Farmer Degree

Malcolm J. Reinhardt, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinhardt of Joslin Lake Rd., has become the first person from Chelsea to receive the coveted American Farmer degree of the Future Farmers of America, according to Chapter Advisor Gary Jackson.

The American Farmer degree is the highest degree in the FFA and is given at the national level. The degree can only be given to one member for each 1,000, therefore only 11 from Michigan receive the award annually.

Although 28 Chelsea farmers have received the State Farmers degree in past years, Reinhardt is the first to receive the national American Farmer degree.

The degree was presented to Malcolm yesterday at the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., before 10,000 members of the 400,000 member organization.

In the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt, local Advisor Jackson, and five members of the local chapter: Jim Bristle, Barry Boone, Larry Barnhill, Dave Clark and Doug Young.

Since so few members are awarded the degree, the quality of the recipients is extremely high, Jackson explained.

Malcolm is farming a total of 420 acres, all rented. He entered into a 50-50 partnership with his younger brother, Ken, in January of 1963. Since then they have gradually increased their investment in farming by purchasing new and used machinery and rented additional acres.

The two brothers now have over $10,000 invested, Jackson said. This includes a new tractor plus two others with complimentary equipment, a baler, a mounted corn picker and two combines. With this equipment, they do considerable custom work, Jackson added.

Malcolm and Ken have 10 feeder cattle, 30 acres of corn, 20 acres of wheat and approximately 250 acres of hay this year, Jackson said.

Malcolm started vocational agriculture, joined the Chelsea FFA chapter and received the State Greenhand award in 1958. He received the Chapter Farmer degree in 1959 and became a Silver Award State Farmer in 1962. He has been District Secretary, chapter sentinel, entered the public speaking contest and was chairman of the FFA agricultural exhibits at the fair and the seed corn sales.

"Malcolm is one of the top people to come from the local FFA chapter and the entire chapter is proud of his accomplishments," Jackson concluded.

Community Chest Campaign Underway To Meet $17,875 Budget

Old-Timers To Be Guests Of Kiwanians

Chelsea Kiwanians met Monday evening for dinner at the University of Michigan cafeteria where the club president, Don Turner introduced Dean E. Lidgard, assistant director of the hospital school. Lidgard showed the latest film made at the hospital school showing the children who are patients and some of their activities.

Stressed was the work being done by the teachers who are supplied under sponsorship of the Kiwanis clubs of the Michigan District through the Forney W. Clement Memorial Foundation, Inc. All Kiwanis clubs of Michigan contribute toward the project.

It was pointed out that through the project 6,000 children from all parts of the state, as well as from other states, find comfort and happiness and the opportunity to continue their school studies while hospitalized. There are classes from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The foundation has a similar project at the Mary Free Bed Children's Hospital at Grand Rapids.

Following the dinner the Kiwanians toured the hospital wards where the work is carried out—on

Heydlauff Hospitalized

Lloyd Heydlauff was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor Monday morning when he became ill at his place of business, Frigid Products, and it was feared he might suffer a heart attack.

Members of his family said yesterday that he is apparently responding to treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Heydlauff recently returned from an eight-day General Electric company-sponsored trip to Paris and Rome.

Campaign Workers Urge Everyone To Be Prepared When Solicitor Calls

Fund-raising for the 1966 Community Chest goal of $17,875 began Tuesday, Oct. 12, and will continue through Nov. 14

President George Heydlauff announced that co-chairmen for the 1966 drive are Fred Pearsall and Dan Murphy.

The co-chairmen are assisted by Robert Taylor, who is serving for the second year as industrial chairman for the drive; Brian French, professional chairman; Charles Cameron, Chesea school chairman; Robert Merkel, Wesley Howes, Frank Fredericks, Richard Kern, Al Ponhallegan, Richard Harvey, business chairmen; and Joyce Gardner, Mrs. Charles Lane, Barbara Dresch and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, residential chairmen, according to Community Chest President Heydlauff.

The Community Chest Board of Directors has issued a call for more generous contributions this year than ever before.

The contributions should be considered an investment in the future of Chelsea citizens and the Chelsea community, the Board of Directors stressed.

The $17,875 budget, if met, will support 13 member agencies, 11 of which directly serve Chelsea area residents.

Of the $17,875, $12,250 will be spent helping Chelsea area residents and supporting Chelsea area activities, according to William Tite, spokesman for the Board. The remaining $5,625 will return to Chelsea less directly but just as surely through Red Cross and United Fund Agency activities, he added.

The 11 local agencies aided by the Community Chest include: The Chelsea Recreation Council, which will receive $4,200 to support a year-round recreation program for the area youths as well as extra-curricular courses such as the guitar lessons now in progress. The Recreation Council also supports a major new undertaking in the Senior Citizens Korner Club, now occupying the first floor of the old bank building on the corner of Middle and Main streets.

The UAW-CIO Christmas party for Chelsea children will obtain $400 of its expense money from the Community Chest.

Chelsea Band Boosters will get $400 to purchase instruments needed to fill out the band where normal school funds are not available. The instruments purchased, not usually found in high school bands due to high cost, make available a broader selection to future band members and adds to the high quality of music Chelsea has enjoyed from its high school band. Last year a Holton sousaphone was purchased and in 1966 Band Boosters hope to obtain a contrabass clarinet.

Chelsea Social Service receives $2,000 to help maintain emergency services to destitute individuals and families.

Both Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts are allotted $1,050 to support council administration and services which in turn support the local troops and insure the high standards of training and good citizenship expected from Scouts.

The Salvation Army will gain $500 which returns to Chelsea families as Christmas food orders, Christmas toys, clothing through the Easter Dress Project as well as many emergency assistances and the well-known services for alcoholic and derelict individuals. Facilities maintained by the Salvation Army in the Detroit area, open to any...

NEW MATH MAKES DAD DIG:

Modern Homework Frustrates Parents

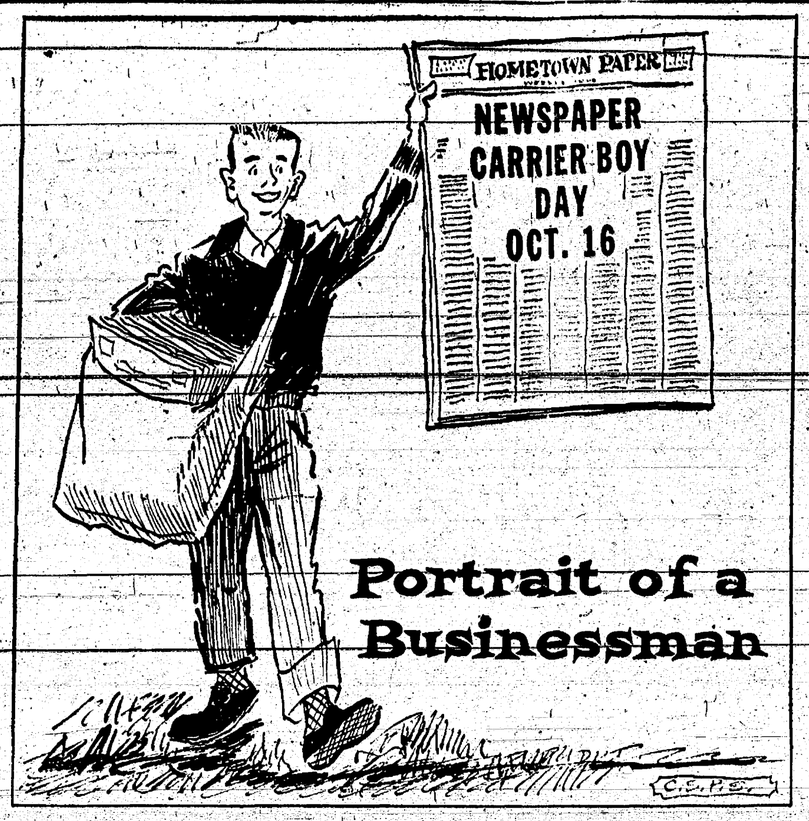

Yes, Virginia, modern math has come to Chelsea. Our elementary children are busy learning about sets, commutative and associative laws, mathematical sentences, binary operations, and so on. The trouble is, some parents are having homework trouble. The way that the teacher does it that way.

Dad and mom start to show how they learned it and find out that it isn't that way anymore.

It is a problem to keep the kids from getting a semi dad behind the barn trembling to have to go to school to drive teachers crazy with "Why?" First, have Johnny try to explain what it is he's trying to do, why and how it is supposed to work that way. He may not be able to explain it well, and may even confuse it a little, but he'll be trying very important. He is thinking. That is just what his teacher wanted him to do. You do too, so you and the teacher are ahead already. If you and Johnny don't understand it after he explains it, don't get mad. Just send him back to school the next morning to find out why from the teacher. Johnny will want to know because you want to know, and will be interested enough to find out. When he comes home that night, he'll have something to tell you, and you both will have learned something.

So you see there are two keys to helping the children out. First, ask them to explain why the problem works the way it does. This will make him think. It will make you think also. Seein the explanation. If you are interested enough to ask and listen to "why," Johnny will be interested too.

That's all. The homework isn't getting any easier, but it can be a lot less painful if you will listen to Johnny's explanation of "why."

Arson Ruled As Cause in House Fire

Arson was definitely the cause of the $25,000 blaze which destroyed a five-bedroom home under construction on Waterloo Rd. Oct. 1, according to Detective Lt. Erwin Hollis of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office.

How the blaze was set, till is not known but it definitely began inside the building, he said. He added that the sheriff's office has no suspects at this time but are continuing the investigation.

A $500 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arsonists.

The building, under construction by Goucher & Weber, was being constructed one and one-half miles east of Werkner Rd. at 13589 Waterloo Rd.

Completion date for the building was Dec. 15. The interior had just been readied for plaster and the exterior for siding and roofing.

The alarm was turned in about 10:30 p.m. by a neighbor who noticed the blaze. The building was a total loss.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

More Demands for state contribution to various government services which previously were financed locally are not exactly new. But a few new variations from familiar themes are being heard.

With the state rolling in dough, as compared with the past six or more years, more groups would like to share the pie. This is so despite the fact the experts say it will take only a few years for the present surplus to be eaten up by existing agencies through the rising costs of services.

Mental health, social welfare, higher education, elementary and secondary school officials all say the past years of austerity budgets have pushed needs to the critical stage and the gaps must be filled with the healthy surplus now on the books.

This select list can be magnified by the number of state agencies now in existence.

Community colleges have received considerable boosts in state aid the past few years. Legislators saw this approach as one way to possibly alleviate some of the problems of the four-year colleges and universities.

Now there comes forth a report from a national management consultant firm which says the state needs to make a concentrated financial push to bring Michigan's community colleges up to standard in the single area of libraries.

The New York firm says 12 of the 18 community colleges in operation at the end of the last school year had library collections below the minimum standards recommended by the American Library Association. Staff and facility problems also were cited as critical or nearly so.

Reflecting on the effect of this deficiency, the organization said inadequate library service results in the community and state being short-changed because it prohibits the community college from fulfilling its intended role in the higher education program.

The conclusion is that if the community colleges are to be a meaningful part of the higher education picture they must have adequate library facilities, staffs and books.

On another front, Michigan this year saw the state police organization get a good-sized boost in staff and general operating budget to help it do its job of traffic and crime control more effectively.

Now there arises the question of whether the state should throw some support to local police agencies as well. A number of law enforcement people at both the state and local levels support the idea.

Teaching groups have come to the state several times with a similar plea, contending that school standards could be enhanced by having a uniform salary scale.

The new suggestion calls for the state to financially contribute to police training programs and policemen's salaries.

Although details of the idea are still being considered, it might be presumed to take on a pattern similar to the state contribution plan now in effect for circuit judges. The state pays $15,000 a year per judge and circuit sets its own contribution, the highest now being $14,500.

Headlines sometimes bring to the public eye the function and purpose of private organizations. A good recent example was the work of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children as explained because of the case of the Troy child left by his mother at the Miami airport.

Most often, however, a person may have heard of groups like this but generally does not know anything more than the name and that its new local president gets his picture in the paper every year. One such agency is the Michigan Welfare League.

Some even think of this one as being a part of state government.

The self-description of the League relates that it is the "only state-wide organization concerned with the social welfare and health problems affecting all the people in Michigan."

This citizens organization, now in its 53rd year, annually selects what it considers to be the greatest problems in the health-welfare area, studies them and attempts to implement whatever ideas it considers valuable.

Some of the areas in which study has been concentrated the past few years have been poverty and people on relief, rehabilitation of the handicapped, community social planning, migratory labor, and unemployed youth.

Field services are provided by the League staff to localities through the United Fund and related local groups, planning councils and government agencies.

Assistance to an Otsego county probate judge in developing an approach to the handling of juveniles is one example of the field consultation work performed by the League.

The Michigan Welfare League is essentially financed by the Michigan United Fund. Smaller amounts of money also are raised from membership, conference and publication fees.

Avoid too much seasoning in food prepared for freezing. Many seasonings fade during freezer storage, some grow stronger, and some are distorted in flavor.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the U. S. Office of Education has give the University of Connectikutt $8,886 "To Study The Relation Of Thinking To Success in College." And, as them lawyers in the court house say, I was quoting it verbattum.

I have wrote to my Congressman to git the name of this feller that runs the Office of Education. I aim to put in a request for about $2,000 "To Study The Relation of Plowing to Farming." I figger these two items was first cousins in importance in the new Guvernment "Research Program."

And I was reading where some feller in Georgia, that was mad about his small town raising taxes, had wrote to the Appalachin doctors in Washington saying that when they git down to helping real one horse towns, his had ought to have a high priorety.

Incidental, Mister Editor, they was worse things than living in a one horse town, depending on the situation. I recollect reading onct where this banker in a small town walked down the block to a service station to git hisself a soft drink. Some rich city feller in a big car drove up to git some gas. He struck up a conversation with the banker. ("What's it like," he ask, "to live in a one horse town?"

"Well," said the banker, "it ain't too bad when you're the horse."

But gitting back to matters in Washington, I see by the papers where the Department of Commerce has ordered everbody working in this department to stop using the word "jobless." Automatical from now on, we ain't got no jobless folks in this country. Then that wasn't working was to be knowed as "disemployed." I reckon a feller that is disemployed is eating about as light as the one that is jobless, but the English language was in a new generation, as that soft drink commercial says.

I brung up these items at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle said they wasn't no excuse fer nobody being disemployed in the Great Society. Fer instant, said Ed, the papers was always talking about disemployed teenagers. He allowed as how any teen-agers could let his hair grow out, git hisself a untuned gittar, start singing through his nose and make the television circuit overnight.

Clem Webster reported he had saw a piece in the papers last week where teenagers in this country spent around 15 billion dollars last year. They bought half of all the cameras and records, one third of all watches and radios, and 53 per cent of all movie seats. They might be disemployed, said Clem, but they kept pritty busy plucking Papa's pockets.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Caprice Custom Sedan—with superb new Body by Fisher elegance inside and out.

Caprice Custom Wagon—with fine new look of hardwood paneling on sides and tailgate.

Everything it takes to create a distinguished luxury car has gone into these new Caprices.

Beneath the formal styling elegance that sets the Custom Coupe apart, for instance, you'll find thick wall-to-wall carpeting, comfort-contoured seats and the look of hand-rubbed walnut on the instrument panel, glove compartment and inside door panels. You can order a finely instrumented console, together with new Strato-bucket front seats.

In the Custom Sedan, a new Strato-back front seat is available with bucket-type contours separated by a fold-down armrest. And in the equally opulent Custom Wagons, offered in 2- or 3-seat models, you can even order carpeting for the cargo area.

Each model rides super Jet-smooth. And for incomparably smooth power, you can specify Chevrolet's advanced Turbo-Jet V8 in either a 396- or 427-cubic-inch version.

The price of it all? Somewhat more than you're used to paying for a Chevrolet. But less, as your dealer will happily confirm—than the select class of fine cars these new Caprices invite comparison with in every detail.

Congl. Church Plans Annual Lay Sunday

Layman's Sunday will be observed at the First Congregational United Church of Christ Sunday Oct. 17. Fourteen men have agreed to participate in the worship service.

Chairman of the event, Andrew Dyson, reports that the 13 other men agreed to take the parts in response to Sunday afternoon phone calls. He says that the Deacons, headed by William Tite, had decided not to try to give the service this year after trying to sign up several of the men of the church without any luck. Last year three men did the preaching but it was decided to ask different men each year. Efforts are still being made to secure an experienced layman from a nearby city.

Theme for the service, as selected by the Board of Deacons, is "The Role of the Layman in the Church." It is hoped that the service can also be on this topic. Ron Eder, deacon, will give the call to worship with Vern Parks, deacon, leading the Prayer of Invocation. George Marshall will read the Old Testament selection and Chandler Rogers will present the New Testament lesson.

The Pastoral Prayer will be led by three laymen, Ron Satterthwaite, Kenneth Runciman, and Sylvester Wojcicki.

The welcome and announcements will be given by moderator of the church, William Tite.

Max Hepburn will report on Brothers Around the World. Garland DeYoe will give the call to offering, and Andrew Dyson will give the Benediction. Ushers for the day will be Edward Visel, Paul Mann and Howard Anderson.

The Deacons hope that later in the fall the men director of Lay Life and Work, The Rev. Wallace Ault, Ann Arbor, will preach at the church. He is the closest professional connected with the United Church of Christ and as yet has had no opportunity to speak in the local churches.

The First Congregational church, located at 121 E. Middle St., has church and church school both at 10 a.m. on Sundays and is served by the Rev. Robert Livingston, minister.

Christine Doll Cited By Governor For Lifesaving

Christine Doll, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doll, 17410 Heim Rd., was presented a certificate of recognition Tuesday by Governor George Romney at his Lansing office for her "outstanding act of bravery in saving the life of Cynthia Nelson."

The incident occurred Sunday, Jan. 10 at Crooked Lake while Christine was a week-end guest of Cynthia Nelson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson.

According to reports of the happening in The Standard at the time the two girls decided to go ice skating Sunday morning. As they approached a sunken ice fishing shanty the Nelson girl plunged through the ice in the frigid water, approximately seven feet deep at that point.

Christine threw herself down on a solid section, and digging the points of her figure skates into the ice, stretched out her hands to her friend.

The Nelson girl had submerged once, and Christine's quick action was credited with saving her life.

At that time, the girls were seventh graders at St. Mary's school. Both are now in the eighth grade.

Cynthia's father is on the staff of St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys.

The certificate of recognition presented by the Governor to Christine Doll further states that she "displayed unusual presence of mind and courage without regard to her personal safety," in rescuing her friend.

Christine was among a group of young people honored Tuesday at Lansing. Those honored had been selected by the Michigan Youth Commission.

Each of the honored young people was accompanied by his parents.

In addition to her parents, Christine was accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Harry Lyons and by Cynthia Nelson, whose life she saved.

Former U-M Athlete Gives $1 Million Gift to $55 Million Program

Ann Arbor — A former University of Michigan athlete has pledged $1 million to the $55 Million Program.

The anonymous donor made the unrestricted gift for the national campaign "To Ensure the Vital Margin" of private support for the University.

National Chairman of the campaign, Regent Paul G. Goebel of Grand Rapids, says the $55 Million Program is the first of such size to be conducted by a tax-assisted university.

Community Chest . . .

one needing the service, include: Booth Memorial Home and Hospital, Eventide Home, Evangeline Residence for young business girls, the Alcholic Center and Men's Social Service Institution.

The Chelsea Community Chest will contribute $300 toward the Catholic Social Serivce $166,000 budget. Nearly half of the recipients of these services are not Roman Catholic. Services include child adoption services, foster home placement, children placements in special schools, maternity home placements and aid or couseling in all sorts of problems from marital, economic and personality to physical illness.

The Huron Valley Child Guidance Clinic for emotionally disturbed or severely retarded children will realize $150 of its 87,000 budget from the Chelsea drive. This agency also has an active program for prevention of these disturbances through mental health education and for better treatment by training of professional personnel.

The Michigan Children's Aid Society is another organization which serves Chelsea area residents needing child adoption services, child boarding care, unmarried parent services and special services for children in problem situations. The Chelsea Community Chest pays $200 toward the cost of these services.

The Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children has been allocated $200 for 1966 to provide services for parents of retarded children and to supplement the educational facilities in the public schools available to retarded children. The Association also provides training and further education for retarded adults, some of which have graduated from special schools, such as the Sullivan School.

The Board notes that the amounts paid to these agencies in some cases are far short of a "fair share" which Chelsea should contribute based on the various agency records of Chelsea residents receiving the services. The Community Chest Board also points out that a whole-hearted support of the 1965-66 drive could exceed the goal and allow additional payments to the agencies whose budget requests could not be met when establishing the Chelsea Community Chest goal.

The Board further urges that each individual consider the problems which would multiply in the community, the state and the nation without htese social agencies. When determining the amount to contribute, the Board requests that individuals consider the problems still apparent in the community and give more so that the good work can multiply.

The Board advises each citizen to investigate and be concerned about the problems around him and be aware of the facilities and orgaizations available to alleviate those problems.

"Give generously for the services being rendered and work toward more action to diminish and eliminate the afflictions and misfortunes of individuals in our community. The people your dollars are helping may someday include yourself," Board spokesman Tite concluded.

the 10th and 13th floors and the rooftop off the 13th floor—the tour guide being Sue Henderson, one of the teachers employed by the Forney W. Clement Foundation.

Next week's Kiwanis meeting will be held at 6:15 p.m. at the Congregational church. Guests will be octogenarians (and nonagenarians) of the Chelsea area.

ANIMAL GAMES

Certain young animals play games that are favorites with children. Lambs and gibbons like to play "follow the leader." Young otters and deer enjoy "hide and seek." Badgers prefer "king of the castle."

The majority of Coast Guard vessels, no matter what particular type, may be referred to as "cutters."

During the Korean conflict more than 75 percent of the officers and men in the Marine Corps saw combat.

THANK YOU!

Start every day with a good breakfast. Cereal and milk furnish good protein and a variety of vitamins and minerals. The variety of breads and cereals available are so widespread there is no reason for these foods to become monotonous at breakfast. Don't overlook waffles, pancakes, French toast, plain toast and sweet rolls.

Choose an interfacing the same weight as the garment fabric or a little lighter. Too heavy an interfacing will affect fabric texture; too light will be useless. Buy a lighter weight if you must make a choice.

If tree roots are clogging your sewer pipe, the wise thing to do is call a plumbing contractor. He'll reel a special auger into the line to cut out the growth. Don't try the job yourself. Improper use of the auger by an amateur can break the pipe and worsen the problem. If the tree roots haven't penetrated so far as to make cutting necessary, a chemical is sometimes flushed through the line to retard growth.

Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club Scholarship Benefit Game Set

The Kiwanis Club of Greater Ypsilanti will stage its first annual Kiwanis game on Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Briggs Field, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti. This grid tilt will pair Willow Run and St. John's of Ypsilanti.

The administration of the Scholarship Fund will be turned over to Eastern Michigan University with recipients being determined by the University. Students from all communities within Division VI of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International will be eligible. Communities in District VI are Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Willis, Belleville, Plymouth, Pinckney, Chelsea, Romulus, Saline, Dexter, Milan, Whitmore Lake, South Lyon, Brighton, and Howell.

Tickets are now available from Kiwanians in each area.

High school bands from the division area will also participate. Ypsilanti, Willow Run, Lincoln Consolidated, and Roosevelt bands will take part in this year's festivities.

The Kiwanis Club of Greater Ypsilanti, which has undertaken many youth projects in the past, already has contributed scholarships for four Ypsilanti students. It is hoped that through this combined effort many deserving young people will benefit who would otherwise not be able to further their education.

Better Pay Fido's License Fee, Penalty To Avoid Sheriff

The Washtenaw county treasurer's office has announced that a list of dogs believed to be without dog licenses for this year has been turned over to the Sheriff's Department. Owners of these dogs will be brought before the justice of the peace in their respective townships unless they have paid the necessary license fee plus the $3 penalty for late payment at the treasurer's office in Ann Arbor before they are summoned to appear in justice court.

Those who are brought before the court will be liable for not only the cost of the license and $3 penalty but may be assessed fines and costs, as well.

Female dogs licenses are $5 plus the $3 penalty and male dogs licenses are $2 plus the $3 penalty.

To obtain the licenses the dog owner must bring proof of the dog's rabies vaccination to the county treasurer's office in the County Building at Ann Arbor together with the license fee and $3 penalty.

DOOR PRIZES awarded at the Jaycees chicken barbecue Sunday went to Edward Beissel of Chelsea, and D. A. Cholewa of Detroit; who each won seven packages of assorted Jiffy Mix products; Betty Scherdt, Ann Arbor, who won a radio; and J. Hoffmeyer and Marlean Seitz, both of Chelsea, who won two tickets each for free meals. The above photo shows a portion of the long line of patrons waiting to be served about 1 p.m. A drizzly rain early in the day had dampened the charcoal pits and slowed the cooking somewhat which accounted for the slight delay some of the early diners experienced.

A fourth tour of the proposed Mill Creek Reservoir area will be held this Sunday, Oct. 17. Harold (Charlie) Powers will again act as tour guide.

Guests on these October Mill Creek Research Council sponsored tours are also treated to a fall color tour provided by the beauty of the shrubs and trees along the roads and fence-rows and by the variety of trees growing in the approximately 1,900 acres of farm wood lots in the proposed impoundment area.

Plans for the 17th tour include another stop at Homestead Acres, the George Frisinger home, 13450 Jerusalem Rd., at about 8:30 p.m. Everyone interested in meeting the tour guests is welcome to attend the social hour which on Oct. 10 because of the coolness of the weather, was held in Frisinger's big red theatre barn.

This week's guests will include representatives from various governmental units, particularly the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, and others who have a professional interest in problems of water supply and sanitation, land use, and recreation.

Several local persons attended the meeting sponsored by the Washtenaw County Planning Commission in Ann Arbor on Oct. 6. George Hubbell of Milford, consultant for the National Sanitation Foundation, reported on their study of future sewage disposal needs released in December, 1964. The study covered a 3,051 square mile area in the six metropolitan counties, a distance of 112 miles from the southwest to the northeast and ranging 50 miles northwest of the Detroit River.

It is expected that more than 8,000,000 persons will be living in this six-county area by 2020, he stated that his firm feels that the future growth and development of that area will require the use of an interceptor to handle the sewage and let the existing streams handle the surface run-off. He also believes that sooner or later the area will be using Lake Huron as a water supply source.

Attend Water Resources Council Annual Meeting

Mrs. Harry Denham, and Mrs. Leonard McCalla attended the annual meeting of the Michigan Water Resources Council in Lansing on Oct. 8. Speakers emphasized the growing problems concerning water supply and pollution and stressed that existing governmental bodies are going to need to learn to work together to handle the new problems created. They noted that people must become aware that water, now relatively cheap, will be more and more costly.

COLORFUL PAGEANTRY of England is stressed in the many scenes, similar to the one above, which are part of the first program of the Kiwanis-sponsored travel-adventure series of the 1965 season. The first program will be narrated by a speaker new to the Chelsea series — Thayer Soule. The travelogue will be presented Saturday evening at the Chelsea High school auditorium, beginning at 8 p.m.

First in Travel-Adventure Series Slated Saturday Night

The Kiwanis club of Chelsea is sponsoring its fifth season of "Travel and Adventure Series" with the first program scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 16. This first program features a speaker new to Chelsea — Thayer Soule — who will present an all-color film entitled "By-Ways in Britain."

Soule has photographed the charming attractions of England that not only include London, but the bustling midlands. His film expedition takes one over the winding roads, to the headlands, the sea, to fishing towns and ruined castles, green fields, rivers and sparkling lakes. The film depicts the green, enchanting countryside and the villages that dot the land with thatched cottages, mellow stone houses and lovely churchyards. Visits will be made to the cathedral city of Salisbury, the walled city of York and the mid-land centers of industry in Bampton, Morris dancers perform in the streets as they have for centuries. At Brockworth, giant cheeses roll down a roof-steep hill. In Sussex, the Railroad Preservation Society runs vintage steam trains on a five-mile line. Pageantry is also included such as the colorful State Opening of Parliament by the Queen.

Saturday's speaker has been taking pictures since he was "old enough to hold a camera," according to a resume of his experiences. He has made hundreds of appearances during the past 27 years in more than 70 countries and has covered a million miles of travel.

THAYER SOULE

Before entering the travelogue field Soule graduated with high honors from Yale University where he majored in languages, public speaking and geographical studies.

Remaining programs of the 1965-66 series are scheduled for Nov. 6, Dec. 11, Feb. 5, March 5 and March 26.

Fireplace Sparks Damage Cabin At Camp Crile

Sparks from a fireplace caused a fire at Camp Crile Friday, Oct. 8.

The fire occurred in the log cabin used for arts and crafts. No one was in the room when a downdraft apparently caused the fire to spread from the fireplace, according to Mrs. Lloyd Thompson, wife of the camp manager.

Lloyd Thompson, III, son of the camp manager, discovered the fire. The Chelsea Fire Department received the alarm at 1:16 p.m. and dispatched three trucks.

The fire was nearly under control by the time the fire department arrived, according to Fire Chief James Gaken. He said that a deliveryman from Hickory Ridge Dairies had turned a fire extinguisher on the blaze and nearly extinguished it.

The inner walls of the cabin, ceiling and door were scorched by the blaze.

Robert M. Eaton Elected Secy-Treas. For Yard-Man, Inc.

Robert M. Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Eaton, 160 E. Middle, has been elected secretary-treasury of Yard-Man, Inc., Jackson, following the annual meeting of shareholders.

He had been treasurer during the past year. He was elected by the board of directors.

At the meeting of shareholders of the lawn mower manufacturer James F. Winter, company president, projected a sales increase of about 20 percent during the present fiscal year and an even greater increase in after-tax earnings.

For the year ended June 30, 1965, Yard-Man reported net sales of $8,346,033 and net earnings of $93,767, equal to 20 cents a share on the outstanding common stock.

Other new officers elected include Rudolph A. Hanson, vice-president engineering; Dayton C. Buk, vice-president sales. Betty J. Brush was named assistant secretary and all other officers were re-elected.

Social Service Annual Report Shows Busy Year of Helping

At the annual meeting of the Chelsea Social Service held in the office in the Municipal Building on Monday, Oct. 11, all Board members were retained with the exception of the election of Donald Houle to replace F. W. Merkel, whose three-year term had expired.

Other members of the Board are Louis Burghardt, president; Mrs. R. W. Wagner, vice-president; Mrs Paul G. Schaible, secretary; Mrs. LeRoy Hoffman, treasurer; and Mrs. F. W. Eaton, Mrs. Arthur Schmunk, Charles Lancaster and Harold Jones.

Mrs. Louis Ramp was retained as director, with Mrs. David Colquhoun as assistant director.

The Chelsea Social Service is a Community Chest agency, receiving approximately 95 percent of its revenue from Chest funds. According to the treasurer's report prepared by Mrs Hoffman this money is spent entirely with Chelsea merchants for the benefit of needy residents of the Chelsea School District.

The largest single item of assistance is for food, with other expenditures being made for clothing, medical aid, fuel and transportation to clinics and public assistance agencies.

The report of Mrs. Ramp, the director, showed that 335 persons or families have received service during the nine-year period the office has been in operation. Eighty-four is the total number who have been helped this year, including 28 new cases, not previously known to the agency.

Mrs. Ramp reported 351 interviews, both with clients and with persons interested in the people served by the agency. This included talks in the office and telephone interviews.

The report also included an account of the operation of the dental program, whereby 23 needy children have received much needed dental work during the current year.

At Christmastime, 31 families, comprising 110 children and 54 adults, received gifts of toys and food. This program is carried out with the co-operation of the Salvation Army of Ann Arbor, also a recipient of Chelsea Community Chest funds. They contributed alone, through referral by the new toys for Chelsea distribution and provided for 36 adults, living Chelsea Social Service.

Community Calendar Questionnaire

All organizations in the Chelsea area are being asked to co-operate in a plan to formulate a "community calendar." Such a calendar would prove a convenience in planning future projects so that conflicting meetings or events would not be set for the same dates.

Every community club, church group and organization is asked to fill out the form below and mail it at once to The Chelsea Standard, 300 N. Main St.

A mimeographed copy of all the events scheduled will be mailed to each group responding. It is hoped that this will help each group to organize its own program to better advantage.

Boy Scouts Attend Week-End District Junior Leader Training Session

How to make peach cobbler over an open campfire was only one of many skills Boy Scout Junior Leaders from Chelsea learned this past week-end.

Scouts from Troops 425 and 476 participated in the Iroquois District of the Portage Trail Council Junior Leader Training Session at Camp Newkirk, Dexter, Oct. 8-10.

Sessions began last Friday at 6 p.m. and ended at noon on Sunday, Oct. 10.

Milan Troops 499 and 449 joined Chelsea Scouts at the camp, Chelsea Scouts attending from Troop 425 included Jim Juergens, John Craig, Ted O'Neill, John Bennett, Howard Treado and Ralph Frisch Jr. Troop 476 members included John Hepburn, Roger Hilts, Ray Worden, David Conklin and David Watson.

Saturday's learning sessions started out with a session on "How To Teach A Skill" by Robert Armentrout, Manchester scoutmaster of Troop 426.

Map reading and compass reading skills were taught by Wendell Young, assistant scoutmaster of Dexter Troop 428.

Cleon Sievers, Milan scoutmaster Troop 499, showed Scouts how to identify trailing and tracking signs and how to stalk game.

How to cook such delicacies as a whole chicken on a string, peach cobbler in a Dutch oven, kabob on a green stick, meals in tinfoil or coffee cans was demonstrated by Donald Posey, Milan scoutmaster Troop 449 and Carl Curtis, assistant scoutmaster of Milan Troop 449.

Following the demonstration, Socuts assembled their own kabobs of stewmeat, potatoes, carrots, tomatoes and cucumbers and cooked them over open fires built by each patrol.

Part of the cooking demonstration included a demonstration on different types of fires. The underground Dakota fire, the hunters' fire using two parallel logs, the altar fire which is built up off the ground with two poles lashed together and lined with sod and the tepee type fire, with sticks set in tepee shape, were demonstrated.

Personal first aid for "hurry" cases was taught by Herb McCalla, Milan, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 449 and also a member of the Neighborhood Committee for Cub Scouts.

Ralph Frisch, Sr., discussed swimming qualifications for first class rank and the eight-point defense plan for safe swimming.

A packs and packing lashing and knot-tying demonstration by Ron McNally, Manchester, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 426, Scoutmaster Armentrout, completed the Saturday afternoon sessions.

Ralph Frisch, Sr., Scoutmaster of Chelsea Troop 425 and also the leadership training chairman for the Iroquois District, showed Scouts how to make Irish stew out of carrots, peas, ground lamb, onions and boiled potatoes.

The Rev. Robert Livingston conducted 6 a.m. services for Protestant Scouts Sunday morning while Catholic Scouts attended services in Dexter.

After breakfast, Scouts had a rally which included tent-peg relays, a bird identification contest and troop flag judging.

Chelsea Troop 476 was awarded first place for the rally; Milan Troop 449 received the second place ribbon. Scouts were presented with certificates for completing the instructor course.

Scoutmaster Frisch commented that when the camp broke up everyone went away filled with enthusiasm.

"The week-end was well-worth the time," he added.

Other leaders attending the sessions were William Windle, district Scout executive, Harold Baker scoutmaster of Troop 476, and John Jacobs, Milan assistant scoutmaster of Troop 449.

THE COUNTRY PULPIT:

DO GOOD PEOPLE GO TO HEAVEN?

Yes, they certainly would go to heaven . . . if there were any good people! But the Scriptures plainly declare that there is not even so much as one good person on the face of the earth (Ecclesiastes 7:20, Romans 3:12). Morever, the very things that human beings call "righteousness" — morality, religion, philanthropy, pleasing personality — those are the things God calls "filthy rags" (Isaiah 64:6) because His holiness so far surpasses our righteousness.

No doubt you have said, "I believe that if I do the best I can and treat everyone fairly, I will go to heaven." Let us examine these claims to virtue. Be honest . . . do you really do the best you can? And now, complete and utter honesty, did you ever in all your life, even once, do the best you could? And did you ever treat everyone fairly? Then by your very own standard of what God would pass as befitting a person bound for heaven you have sealed yourself out and to hell!

Heaven is for bad people! — people so bad that saw themselves condemned before God, and fled to Christ, the Saviour. They trusted Him, and were delivered from God's judgment . . . But the good people, the ones who were so righteous in their own estimation that they did not need a Saviour are condemned to the blackness of hell forever.

God will not trade you eternal life for a tarnished bunch of shabby morality no matter how good you may regard it to be. He offers as an unconditional gift to you . . . without any return at all . . . eternal life simply confessing your sin, and receiving His dear Son into your heart as Lord and Saviour. "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans 6:23).

Don't try to earn everlasting life . . . don't try to prepare yourself for heaven. You would do a very bad job. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works" (Ephesians 2:8,9). Just turn yourself over to the Saviour, let Him prepare you, and let Him give you His free gift of everlasting life.

Believe . . . receive . . . rejoice. How simple it is! God planned it this way! "These are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through His Name" (John 20:31).

—Pastor Elmer S. Steenson.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

It looks as if the Amish at Camden will have to close their school. It's too bad, really. But the letter of the law has to be applied.

A long time ago one man chose to break the laws of his religious faith. When he was challenged about it he replied that "the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath."

There is a real danger in letting the man be made for the law in this case.

Attempts at compromise have exposed the conscience of the state in an unpleasant duty. What the law can't understand is that on this issue the Amish can't compromise.

It's a matter of holding to the convictions of their faith.

Here the line of separation between the Church and the State become smeared and uncertain. For all of the desire of the law to provide the best possible education for the state's children at this place the Amish have a right to decide what is the best education for their children.

It is a matter of their religious freedom. Too many people have been willing to sacrifice it.

Every one of us should be interested enough to ask whether we shall serve God or man—whether, indeed, we were made for the law or the law for us.

We prefer to believe that law was made for us. And that man's first allegiance is to his conscience and his God.

Read a book occasionally, even if you have to borrow one.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this 1966 Riviera Gran Sport.

You know how well your car's engine runs after a tuneup? Buick tuning has the same effect on the whole car. Not just the engine. The whole Buick. Everything blends with everything else. Styling. Performance. Ride. Handling. All tuned to work together in harmony. That's what the tuned car is. A Buick. Only Buick is the tuned car. (And every Buick is the tuned car.) What the tuned car is is a masterful blending of all the things that make a great car greater. The Riviera for 1966 is the tuned car. It features six-passenger seating, disappearing headlights, a silently efficient new ventilating system and the kind of roadworthiness you'd expect in a car that costs twice as much. (You can get a Riviera for your desk as well as your garage. Send $1 in check or money order to Riviera, P.O. Box 68, Troy, Mich., for an accurate 1/25 scale model '66 Riviera.) But Riviera's not the only tuned car. LeSabre is, too. And Wildcat. Electra 225. Special. Skylark. Sportwagon. See them all at your Buick dealer's. The tuned car may not mean much to you now. But then you haven't had a chance to drive one yet.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his ✓ Double-Checked used cars, too.

Vehicle Accident Claim Fee Buys Insurance Protection

Lansing — The "$64 question" in Michigan these days centers about the payment of $1.00 . . . the sum which all persons with liability insurance will have to pay into the state's new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund when they begin registering cars and other motor vehicles Nov. 1.

The question is usually about the same—"Why me?" Why do I have to pay when I already carry liability insurance?"

The answer is simple, according to Secretary of State James M. Hare. "The dollar actually buys insurance protection."

Hare said the $1.00 fee along with the $25 from each uninsured vehicle owner will be used to finance the Fund from which innocent victims of accidents with uninsured drivers will be able to draw upon when the claims are filed starting Jan. 1, 1966.

"The dollar paid into the Fund actually protects the insured motorist against accidents with negligent uninsured drivers."

"It protects against contingencies such as personal injury in accidents with hit-and-runners and persons driving stolen vehicles; and out-of-state uninsured drivers who are involved in Michigan accidents."

Hare cautioned against dropping the private uninsured protection rider, however.

"The Fund and the rider offered by private insurance companies compliment one another," Hare said. "One covers any contingencies in Michigan, while the rider offers complete protection outside the state.

"With most persons traveling outside Michigan these days," Hare said, "my advice is to continue or buy the private option." There is legislation which would make such coverage mandatory.

Hare said one of the main intents of the Fund is to force as many uninsured motorists as possible into the insured category.

"Percentage is about 85 percent insured as near as we can presently calculate," says Hare. "Most funds of this type have resulted in about half of the uninsured getitng into the insured class which would bring Michigan to more than 90 percent insured drivers.

"Im hopeful of getting it even higher than that," Hare said.

He said he doubted that too many of the "high risk" drivers would buy insurance. "Actually, the $25 they will be paying into the Fund is a small part of what they would pay for complete liability coverage. Being a realist, I doubt that many of these people will become insured.

"Persons who drive without liability coverage are taking a terrible risk," Hare said. "They are gambling with their future solvency . . . because a bad accident could mean that they would have to pay back into the Fund hundreds and perhaps thousands of dollars."

Fall Color Near Peak in Central Lower Michigan

Michigan's spectacular autumn color show is at its best in northern lower Michigan and is rapidly nearing its peak in the central part of the state, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Colors in these areas are expected to be at their best for the next week to 10 days as the foliage change continues southward, reaching a peak in southern reaches of the state in mid to late October.

The Tourist Council said also that areas of brilliant foliage are still reported in the Upper Peninsula.

Michigan autumn vacationers will find a variety of events throughout the state, including: Luce County Fall Harvest Show, Newberry, Oct. 14-16; Red Flannel Day, Cedar Springs, Oct .16; opening of pheasant season in lower Michigan and the small game season in southern lower Michigan, Oct. 20; Natioanl Corn Picking Contest, Adrian, Ict. 21-22.

Adding spice to a week-end color tour are hundreds of high school and college football games throughout the state. Camping, canoeing and hiking aare among other popular outdoor activities of the season.

Free copies of Michigan autumn vacation planning literature, including the Michigan Color Tour Guide and the Michigan Calendar of Events, may be obtained by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing.

Students in the College of Architecture and the School of Natural Resources are following up an idea of Guy Larcom, city administrator. He asked "What could the Farmer's Market area be in the future?" as the class project question. A similar U-M seminar last year developed a plan for Reed City which the community likes and is working to put into action.

Feed Grain, Wheat Diverted Acres May Be Grazed

Frank Light, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, has announced that farmers who diverted acreage under the 1965 feed grain and voluntary wheat certificate programs now may graze this acreage without losing program benefits. The starting date for such grazing was Oct. 1, 1965, marking the end of the six-month period during which the "no grazing" provision effect under the diversion programs.

Light stressed, however, that this program relaxation regarding use of this acreage applies only to grazing the feed grain and wheat diverted acres. Hay on such acreages still may not be harvested.

Light also stressed that land under the Conservation Reserve Program may not be grazed or harvested through the whole year.

Michigan farms participating in the 1965 feed grain and wheat certificate programs number about 55 to 60 thousand.

UNICEF Halloween Funds Help Children in Many Lands

Chelsea youngsters have an opportunity to help sick and hungry children in far-away lands Oct. 30 by participating in the annual UNICEF Halloween collection.

The collection is scheduled between 5 and 6:30 p.m. to coincide with the village trick or treat hours, according to Mrs. Lawrence Dietle, publicity chairman for the Chelsea Area United Church Women, who are sponsoring the collection.

Children will receive the official black and orange UNICEF boxes in Sunday school at the various churches on Oct. 24, she said. She added that boxes will also be available at the McKune Memorial Library on Thursday, Friday and Saturday preceding the collection.

Chelsea youngsters participating in the UNICEF drive may accept treats as well as donations, Mrs. Dietle stressed.

Fifteen years ago the United Nations Children's Fund wound up its emergency aid to post-war Europe and undertook long-range programs for children and mothers in the underdeveloped world.

And 15 years ago, American boys and girls first devoted their trick and treat collection to helping children in other countries.

According to literature from the UNICEF headquarters, a penny can mean the vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis; a nickel can provide the penicillin to cure two children of yaws, an ugly, crippling tropical disease; a quarter buys enough antibiotics to save two young victims of trachoma from blindness; 50 cents provides enough DDT to protect seven children from malaria for a year; 75 cents buys the sulfone to treat a young leprosy victim successfully for three years.

In the field of nutrition, UNICEF reports that the figures are equally dramatic. One penny will provide five glasses of milk and 15 cents will buy a three-months supply of vitamin capsules for a child or a mother suffering from malnutrition.

UNICEF also supports a network of 7,000 Mother and Child Centers which cater to about 70 million people. These centers are mostly active in the fields of midwifery, child care, sanitation and disease control, and are often the only link with modern medical and nursing practices.

Through the efforts of UNICEF, manual arts and agricultural techniques are also brought to countries where less than half of the primary school-age children are in school.

Woman's Club Studies Books About Africa

Woman's club members at their meeting Tuesday evening in the club room of McKune Memorial Library, had a program on the topic, "The Continent of Africa." Mrs. Byron Soule was the program leader for the evening.

She quoted from three books— "New Nigerians" by Mora Dickson; "An Adventure in Search of African Art-Sanamu" by Robert Dick-Read; and "African Sketch Book" by Federic Franck.

Mrs. Soule began her program by describing places and people on the east coast of Africa and continued with the theme across to the west coast.

She mentioned a Nigerian school for men and boys, the students being sent there by their employers for a month's study in meeting crises. Also mentioned was the fact that the majority of the people in the inland areas have never seen any large body of water.

Contrasts noted were a modern nine-story hotel in western style surrounded by native huts and squalor.

In the Dick-Read book, Mrs. Soule said, is a discription of a monastery hewn out of the rock on top of a high hill which can be reached only by climbing a rope.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the library, itself, on Oct. 26, the program topic being "Use Your Library."

Business at Tuesday's meeting included discussion of the club's rummage sale Oct. 22 and 23. Members were asked to bring their rummage sale contributions to the Sylvan Town Hall on Thursday, Oct. 21.

It was voted to have the club president, Mrs. Robert Livingston, appoint a committee to make a study of projects which the club might undertake this year.

Mrs. Vivian Dancer was accepted as a new member of the club at Tuesday's meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. D. L. Gadbery and Mrs. Harold Spaulding.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

★ 1965 Public Health Legislation . . .

Reviewing the number of newly-adopted health measures, there are numerous actions of the 1965 legislature which should prove very gratifying — to the State Health Commissioner, to local health departments, and to the general public.

For one thing, the legislature approved a $2.7 million increase in the public health budget—bringing the total allocated for the 1966 fiscal year to $20.5 ...ion. Several items account for the substantial increase over last year's budget, among which are increasing the state's reimbursement to hospitals for the care and treatment of crippled and afflicted children from 80 to 90 percent; increasing from $4 to $6 the state's daily subsidy to counties for the care of tuberculosis patients; a $300,000 appropriation for follow-up attention and treatment to dischanged tuberculosis patients; and $833,000 increased state aid to county and regional health departments.

Other legislative actions in the field of public health included the passage of laws to:

—Require tuberculin testing of children entering school for the first time, except in those instances where it conflicts with religious convictions, etc.

—Require public schools to give instruction on the harmful effects of tobacco upon the human system inasmuch as an estimated one-third of all young people are regular smokers by the time they leave high school. (Such instruction is now given on alcohol and narcotics).

—Provide for the State Health Department to license, inspect, and regulate garbage and refuse disposal areas.

—Authorize the State Health Commissiiner to enter into agreements with other governmental entities for the use of Copper Country Tuberculosis Sanatorium for research to advance the state's effort to detect and control tuberculosis.

—Reorganize the Michigan Advisory Hospital Council to bring it into conformity with recent changes in federal grant-in-aid legislation, under which local communities are assisted in the construction of health care facilities.

—Require all counties to provide public health protection services, either through their own department or by joining with one or more neighboring counties to form a district health department. (There are presently 71 counties served by local health departments and 12, which have a combined population of about one-half million, which are not.) Also, this new law increases the amount of state financial aid from $5,000 per county to a minimum of $7,000.

—Require local health departments to provide equal health treatment to elementary and secondary school children in non-public schools, provided the parents or guardians involved have no religious objections.

—Create an air pollution commission within the State Health Department, with a companion bill allowing property tax exemption for facilities installed by industries to control air pollution.

Other measures relating to public health which have been more fully covered in previous columns include such items as making the State Health Department responsible for registering nursing homes caring for fewer than four patients; requiring PKU tests for newborn infants to detect evidence of possible mental retardation; inspecting and licensing of migrant labor camps; expanding rheumatic fever control work through an appropriation of funds therefor etc.

As a result of legislation passed this year, Michigan will take a big step forward in the prevention, detection, and control of disease and will become one of the very few states in the nation with 100 percent coverage by local health departments.

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Finances, Freedom

Which problems are Michigan's young farmers most worried about?

If the subjects of a recent series of "young farmer" meetings are an indication, today's rural young married are worried about finances, freedom to operate their businesses and possible long-run, bad effects of current farm programs—and in about that order.

Meeting at 11 different places over the state, nearly 200 of these beginning young farmers studied and discussed questions which they considered to be pressing at this time. The subjects selected by seven of these groups, sponsored by the Family Program Department of the Michigan Farm Bureau, was the "effect of present farm programs on starting farmers."

Those in the meetings appeared to feel that one of the very serious effects of any program of allotments and quotas is the blocking of opportunities for expansion. They agreed that this is especially serious for the beginning farmer who must begin small and grow as he accumulates finances and equipment.

Wheat quotas force me to try new crops which are not suited to my land," said one young man in the Fremont area. "If I can't get sufficient allotments of crops which are adapted to my farm, I am forced to go to other crops for which there is a market. In my case, I tried vegetables for processing, but they are poorly suited to my conditions. Where can I go from here?"

Political manipulation of farm for economic side effects came in for a heavy share of the discussion at the meetings. Several young farmers were of the opinion that the welfare of agriculture appears to run a poor second to political desires of most Congressmen to be re-elected.

Among examples are current debates over sugar quotas with the House Committee on Agriculture stressing political implications of avoiding the rich American sugar market among American and foreign suppliers rather than considering what the market can mean to domestic growers.

Despite pleas by Michigan and other U. S. farmers for a larger share of the market quota, the committee continues to turn a deaf ear.

Pinckney All-Stars Down Hell Cats in Rough, Tough Contest

The mighty Hamburg Hell Cats went down to a 7-6 defeat in the Saturday night, Oct. 9, battle with the Pinckney All-Stars.

A large crowd watched one of the roughest football games ever staged in Pinckney.

The Cats hit pay dirt in the second quarter on a short pass play from Bennett to Joe Kowalski. The extra point was blocked.

The All-Stars scored in the third quarter on a long 52 yard pass play from Barker to LaBelle. The conversion by Andy Darney was good.

The All-Stars will play again on Oct. 23. Bob Schinder, Dexter, is a line backer for the All-Stars.

U-M Researchers Discover Charged Ions Cause Heart Beat

Ann Arbor — Charged ions, not good-looking girls, chemicals or exercises, make the human heart beat, researchers at the University of Michigan have discovered.

Dr. Maynard M. Dewey, associate professor of anatomy, says the discovery, that cells communicate electrically, holds important implications for heart research. Researchers observed that cell membranes in the heart fuse at a point they called a nexus, using an electron microscope.

U-M investigators believe the nexus concept may prove valuable in understanding the action of the central nervous system.

U-M Jazz Band Will Present Free Concert Monday

The University of Michigan Jazz Band will present a concert Monday, Oct. 18, at 8:30 p.m. at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor. This will be the first U. S. appearance of the 18-piece Jazz Band since its highly successful Latin American Tour. Admission to the concert is free.

The concert will include many of the selections which the band performed on tour: modern jazz, dixieland, drum features, and even a jazz version of the Beatles' "Hard Day's Night." The Band's director is Bruce W. Fisher, a senior in the School of Music, who comes from Tulsa, Okla. Featured soloists will be Tom Asboth, alto saxophone, Rob McGregor, trumpet, Don Gillis, piano and Geoff Smith, drums.

During the Jazz Band's tour of 15 countries in Latin America and the Caribbean, the gruup played a total of 100 concerts, and reached a radio and television audience estimated at two million people. The tour was sponsored by the United States Department of State, and extended from January to May of 1965. Prior to the conclusion of the tour, the Band was stranded for several days in the Dominican Republic because of the recently-settled revolution there.

The Band was enthusiastically received by Latin American audiences and critics. An example of critical acclaim is the following, quoted from the Caracas, Venezuela Daily Journal: "An exciting band with drive and big-band brilliance. Is soloists could well b... brilliant jazz futures before th... It is as good as many professio... bands in the United States."
