The Chelsea Bulldogs and Dexter Dreadnaughts will battle at 6 p.m. tonight to determine which team will capture the 1965 Dexter-Holiday-Tourneau men's championship. It will be the first encounter of the two teams this season.

The Bulldogs and Dreadnaughts

defended the championship competition after Dexter overcame

Stockbridge, 79-60, and Stockbridge, 72-64, and Chelsea overcame

Ypsilanti St. John, 87-88.

Lincoln, 88-78.

Ypsilanti St. John and Milan

were eliminated in the consolation tourney.

Finals will be decided at 8:15 p.m.

on Jackson St. Mary and Milan.

Other games on today's agenda

include Brighton and Ypsilanti St.

at 4:30 p.m., and Stockbridge

Lincoln at 8 p.m.

Summaries of the tournaments

beginning Monday and Tuesday evenings follow:

Dexter Quells Celts

Dexter came from behind to defeat the Jackson St. Mary Celts

6-15 p.m. Monday game. The Celts led the Dreadnaughts, 33-

at half-time, and kept pace

with them throughout the third quarter which ended with Dexter leading, 50-49. Taking the bit between their teeth, the Dexter cagers

were away in the fourth quarter,

scoring 29 points and outdueling

Celts in rebounding and shooting

and by employing many fast

breaks. Tom Haight, Ron

and Earl Miller controlled

the boards in rebounding through the game.

Top scorers for the Dreadnaughts were Haight, with 26

points, and Mull, who racked up

20 points. Other Dexter cagers who were Jon Crocker, Mike

McIntyre, Earl Miller, Herb Gay

Bill Ratliff, a sophomore

who was just brought up to the varsity team, played in four quarters. Jim Smith led Celts in scoring, with 21 points, and Terry Conklin and Terry Robie each tossed in 12 points. The game ended with Dexter winning with 21 fouls and the Celts

counting for 21 fouls.

Panthers Trounce Brighton

The Stockbridge Panthers

defeated the Brighton Bulldogs in opening game of the tournament.

Monday at 4:30 p.m. Final score stood at 83-58, in a game

dominated by fouls, errors and mistakes. The Panthers had tools as compared with Brighton at the end of the play.

High-point men for the Stockbridge cagers were Rob Socio with 14 points, Rick White with 14 points, Dave Mills who scored 12

points and Ron Collins who added

points to the Panther total.

Herbet proved to be the Bullstrongman as he added 17

points for Brighton.

Chelsea Routs St. John

The Chelsea Bulldogs outdistin-

guished the Ypsilanti St. John Crusaders, 87-65, during the 8 p.m.

day game. Chelsea's Tom W-ooley and Gary Houle turned in best performances to date,

the Crusaders slipped behind the first quarter, 22-0, and fully recovered. The Crusader team, composed almost entirely of sophomores, includes Greg

Rich, who was high-point man in the game with 28 points.

During the third quarter, the cagers outscored the Crusaders

by eight field goals in for a total of 34 points. Chelsea added only points in that quarter to end

the game with a 64-57 lead.

Twenty-seven fouls were added to Chelsea's tally during this game. Wolicki fouled out in the fourth quarter after scoring 10 of his 20 points during the first half of the game. Gary Houle also topped in 20 points for the Bul-

dogs.

Other scorers for Chelsea were

Mike Tarasow, 14 points; Don

Salyer, 11 points; Jim Orbring,

7 points; Dave Clark, 5 points;

Wes Steinbacher, David Blaess,

Jim Elftoft, and Tom Kern, each

with two points; and Larry Porath and Dan Parsons with one point each.

Andy Chapel made 19 points

for the Crusaders and Jim Blak-eman made 12.

Lincoln Defeats Milan

The most exciting ball game of the evening came when the Lincoln Railsplitters and Milan Big

Reds clashed at 9:45 p.m. Monday.

Lincoln dominated the first half of the game but the second half was close all the way with the score tied 48-48 with only 13

seconds remaining in the game.

Joe Cole of the Railsplitters was fouled while making a shot, missed

the free throw but took the rebound to score again and put the Lincoln cagers 10 points ahead of Milan.

Lincoln's top scorers were

Jim Staniford, Steve Shukaitis and

Colt Harry Mackham and Arnold

Potovsky were top scorers for the Big Reds. Both teams controlled the fouls and the game ended with

Lincoln having 13 fouls and Milan 17.

Milan Frazzles St. John

Milan grabbed the lead at the beginning of the first quarter in their 4:30 Tuesday afternoon en-

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director
Michigan Department of Public Health

Would you believe that laughter is a medicine?

It seems to me that many people think health is a pretty somber and gloomy business. And that bothers me because I believe that laughter and humor are vital ingredients to good health. Laughter, I just about the cheapest luxury we can enjoy, and it's one of the best medicines, too. In fact, sometimes I think that the ability to laugh with others and at yourself, when necessary, is a lot more helpful in the long run than many of the so-called wonder drugs.

Now, of course, I realize that it's important to give people the latest and the most accurate information which we have regarding sickness and health. But I also realize that everyone is an individual, and that in this country, at least, he has the right to make a free choice. As long as an individual does not injure the health of others, he may ignore my advice.

Of course, the important thing is that, in order to make a choice like that, he must know all the facts. That's why we in the state health department are so much importance on health information and health education. That's why we spend so much time warning you about this or that disease and caution you about hazards to your health.

But sometimes I wonder if in the process of giving out health information, we might be in danger of creating a generation of hypochondriacs — people who are absolutely sure they have the latest disease.

Yes, there is a danger in describing the symptoms of diseases, talking about them too much. By doing so, we can create worry and generate anxiety in some people that is a lot more dangerous than many of the diseases themselves. That's why a sense of humor — maybe even better, a sense of proportion — is very important to good health.

Sure, there's a lot of diseases and there are a lot of hazards which might affect us, but gosh, if we let ourselves get all worked up about everyone of them, we would end up afraid to cross the street because we might get hit by a car, or even stay in the same room with another person because we might get some germs.

And with that thought, as State Health Director, I extend to you all my best wishes for happy and healthy as well as prosperous — New Year.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS BY LINDA NORRIS

BY LINDA NORRIS

Capitol Records has several albums out paying tribute to one of its greatest stars, the late Nat King Cole. In The Nat King Cole Song Book, the Hollyridge Strings and Stu Phillips offer a musical tribute with instrumental versions of some of his biggest and most unforgettable hits: Nature Boy, Mona Lisa, Too Young, Ramblin' Rose, The Christmas Song, Answer Me, My Love, Those Lazy, Hazy-Crazy Days of Summer, Somewhere Along the Way, Pretend, It's Only a Paper Moon, and others.

Nat first organized his trio in 1937 but it wasn't until 1943 that the group became one of the most popular triosomes in the country. Between 1944-48 the King Cole Trio was repeatedly named best small combo in the country in magazine polls. In Capitol's release on Nat King Cole Trio, all the songs but one feature the group that consisted of Nat on piano, Oscar Moore on guitar and Johnny Miller on bass.

These men recorded the group's first great nationwide hit, Straighten Up and Fly Right in 1945.

The songs on the LP date back to '43. Gee Baby, Ain't I Good to You, Embraceable You, Body and Soul, The Man I Love, I'm Through With Love, You Call It Madness, Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, I'll Never Be the Same, These Foolish Things, Moonlight in Vermont and For All We Know.

Both albums are well worth having to remember an era of good music and real talent.

In Red Roses for a Blue Lady, Wayne Newton follows his single hit with an album of the same name that contains 10 other songs in addition to the smash title tune. Also following a single success, Peggy Lee does an album based on her solo hit, Pass Me By with interpretations of several other recent hit songs.

About one-fourth of Kalamazoo College students take part in a variety of College-arranged off-campus programs throughout the year.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

and adopted in the first general election following."

Little doubt exists in anyone's mind that the present document is a cure-all, or that any Constitution can be.

"Let us recognize that a Constitution is a basic document which sets guidelines for the structure and operation of government," reminds Reed. "We can expect with Michigan's rapidly changing economy and increasing population, that amendments to the Constitution of 1963 will be offered and adopted."

He relates that a fruit farmer in western Michigan told him the Constitution can be blamed for the loss of rural legislative representation, government reorganization, and payola in government to list just a few.

Most notable currently are the ones arising in view of the recent renewal of the legislative apportionment matter. The return of the Supreme Court ordering renewed deliberations by the State Apportionment Commission has developed many offshoots.

Many people are blaming this problem entirely on the language in the Constitution, although it was adopted before the precedent-setting decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court regarding one-man, one-vote theories.

A good example was related in a Lansing area store's camera department. A clerk noted he sold one brand-of-camera, ranging in price from about $5 to $12 to 14 people on a single morning before Christmas. Multiplying this times the various other sports gadgets, home appliances, toys and clothes for the many days of holiday shopping gives an almost inconceivable amount.

Business was never better, but this kind of boom means many things to many people. To State Police and many businessmen this kind of heavy spending causes headaches as well as joys. Extension of the biggest headache can reach everyone in time. This is the bad check problem.

State Police note that their department's fraudulent check section has experienced increased activity as great, if not more so, as the good times being enjoyed by the ease without working on the other.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was disagreed with Ed and Zeke, claimed both was needed for all the folks in the country that was suffering from bad luck. But Ed claimed everybody living off the Government these days was pleading hard luck. He said he could recollect his Grandpa saying that when he lived in Georgia he had a solid run of 9 straight years of the hell wave, the Seven Years Itch, and 5 years of drought and still managed to feed his family without asking nobody for nothing. Of course, admitted Ed, his Grandpa probably throwed that Seven Years Itch in there for good measure, but them was the days when Americans was too proud to beg.

I reckon I'd have to go along with Ed in this matter, Mister Editor. I've had some bad luck myself, but I ain't never took no welfare handouts. I recollect once during the depression when I bought a suit with two pairs of pants and burnt the tail of the coat the first time I wore it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

State Licensed and Bonded

merchants. Check processing in the section has jumped almost 3 percent over last year.

The average person might think this is really no problem for him.

After all, he is honest and wouldn't think of giving a merchant a bad check. But he does want to occasionally make a purchase by check.

The estimated business loss from bad checks in 1964 is estimated at $1.3 million, of which State Police see only a small percentage. Continued prosperity boosts the estimate higher each year.

Like the auto insurance situation, fast becoming an acute cost problem here in Michigan, the bad check business can have implications for all. Businesses have the option to raise prices to offset their losses or even refuse all transactions except for cash.

LICENSE FEE PLUS

Waiting lines for license plates are sure to be worse this year than ever, and for good reason.

With the new fees imposed for an uninsured driver-accident fund, it is certain that the motorist who does not carry insurance will be in no hurry to part with $35 in addition to the regular registration fee.

The insured auto owner, however, may find himself in lines unmatched even in post offices during the Christmas rush if he waits until near the Feb. 28 deadline for registration. He will pay just $1 over last year's fee for the new fund.

License plates went on sale in November but the early weeks of vehicle registration showed relatively low sales. In this case, forewarned is ready to wait.

stantial price hikes in key areas, but selective price rises will occur.

28. Industrial commodity prices should remain firm to higher, particularly in the first half of 1966.

The primary bulwark against a price runaway is competition,

which should be basically more effective than government influence.

29. I look for an increase in domestic competition in 1966. This should become more evident as the business upthrust tapers off. Also,

we must not forget foreign competition. With many nations feeling the pinch of a dollar shortage,

they will work to remedy this by increasing their sales here.

30. Business in 1966 need four no major labor tie-ups. Strikes,

however, may well be numerous

among the secondary labor units.

31. I look for business failures to increase, both in numbers and in dollar liabilities. This will be due to keen competition, excesses of debt and inventory accumulations, unwise credit extensions,

and careless management.

32. Of greater concern to me is the steady climb in non-farm real estate foreclosures; I expect a further rise in 1966.

Squeeze on Business Profits:

33. Business profits in 1966 will not advance as sharply as in the past two or three years. The squeeze is on in profit margins;

hence I look for a tapering off in the rate of corporate profits, although I foresee no dramatic sharp-ping while activity holds near peak.

34. Looking at the farm sector,

I see no radical change from the excellent 1965 year. Barring a crop failure or severe drought,

farm prices, at worst, should shake only slightly lower.

35. Farm equipment manufacturers should enjoy good business in 1966. This goes also for fertilizer and pesticide producers.

36. The important building and construction lines should hold their own in 1966, but their dollar

volume may be due largely to

be the time for illegal speculation and gambling in the stock

market. Above all, let me remind

readers of the dangers of using

borrowed money to buy stocks.

Those who "go off the deep end"

may well regret it before very long.

37. Those who invest (not speculate) on the basis of growth will sleep better nights. I have in mind

the expanding population, rising incomes, scientific advances, greater leisure, and above all the influence of The Great Society.

Higher Stock Dividends:

38. Investors should be pleased with cash dividend payments in 1966. I forecast they will show another increase; I would also expect a rash of stock dividends and stock splits, particularly in the first half of the year.

47. If businessmen, consumers, and investors do not act voluntarily to keep inflationary presures and speculation from getting out of hand, the monetary authority may be forced to raise margin

requirements on stock purchases,

and perhaps tighten credit further.

48. Look for somewhat lower bond prices in 1966. Although we are not in immediate danger of credit exhaustion, the banking system is under some strain from the rapid expansion of credit in recent years. My advice is to buy bonds which mature in five years or less. The time to buy good long-term bonds will come when the market has recovered.

Mill Creek Research Council Reviews Year's Activities

Members of the Mill Creek Research Council (MCRC) recently reviewed the activities of the council during the past seven months. The group first met in May, 1965 and expects to be registered as a non-profit corporation with the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission early in 1966.

Local residents organized to better study the Mill Creek reservoir project and all its ramifications.

Because conditions will remain static, well-located sites for homes and industrial and commercial complexes will do well, but study of local conditions is imperative.

38. Hence, I forecast that real estate conditions will remain stable.

Well-located sites for homes and industrial and commercial complexes will do well, but study of local conditions is imperative.

39. I predict a further increase in farm land values in 1966. With costs still rising, the physical size

of farms must expand so operators can benefit from mechanization. This places a premium on well-located land in the important and larger agricultural regions.

40. The steady advance toward further automation should make further progress in 1966, helping industry to cope with rising operating costs and shorter work

weeks.

Stock Market Caution:

41. Trees do not grow to the skies; neither does the stock market rise unendingly. While I forecast that the stock market, as measured by the Dow-Jones Industrials—can surpass the high point of 1965, I anticipate a volatile 1966 market with a good chance of a drop-off, a real possibility sometime during the year.

42. Even though the stock market may push to new highs, no

further advance may not be large percentagewise. If business and corporate profits show a tendency to taper off, the fundamental basis for a worthwhile advantage will be removed.

43. Speculative enthusiasm and inflation fears can be expected to

market during the course of 1966.

The urge to make a quick buck

is increasingly evident.

44. I forecast that 1966 will not

be the time for illegal specula-

tion and gambling in the stock

market. Above all, let me remind

readers of the dangers of using

borrowed money to buy stocks.

St. Mary dominated play the entire game but was bothered considerably by a zone press by Brighton in the final quarter. Postman Jim Smith paced the St. Mary attack with 26 points — 16 in the third quarter. Other high scorers for St. Mary were Joe

Carol A. Dancer, James Collins Repeat Vows Wednesday Night

Carol Anne Dancer and James A. Collins exchanged wedding vows at a ceremony performed at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 29, at St. Thomas Catholic church, Ann Arbor, by the Rev. Fr. Stanley Nitoski.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Dancer, 152 Ovchard St., and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Collins, 555 Chandler St.

The bride entered the sanctuary wearing an empire style gown of white peau-de-soie with a jewel necklace and a removable full circle train which was attached at the high waistline with a matching fabric bow extending to long narrow streamers.

The slender skirt sparkled with crystal dots while peal-and-crystal-embroidered alencon lace was used lavishly on the long-sleeved bodice and on the train. Crystal embroidery also outlined the jewel neckline.

The bride's veil was shoulder-length and was held in place with a crystal headpiece. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of red roses and white stephanotis in ivy.

Lee Anne Owings of Plymouth, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Rita Ramp was maid of honor.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ralph Owings of Plymouth, Mrs. Thomas Dunlap and Mrs. Stanley Dyer, Jr., were bridesmaids.

All the bride's attendants, including the flower girl, were dressed alike. Their floor-length crepe skirts were white while red velvet was used for their long-sleeved bodices. They wore matching red velvet bows as headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of red carnations, holly and ivy finished with a white velvet bow. The flower girl's bouquet was a miniature replica of those carried by the bridesmaids.

David Collins of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, assisted as best man while Ronald Warren of Lansing, Victor Blecharczyk of Dearborn and Thomas Brooks served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was held at Holiday Inn, Ann Arbor. Mrs. Norman Ward of Eaton Rapids was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Gary Bentley and Mrs. Ronald Warren presided at the reception.

The Day After Christmas

Twas the day after Christmas and all through the store
The place was a shambles from ceiling to floor
The items were put in their cases with care
knowing the customers soon would be there.
When all of a sudden
we heard such a clatter
We threw down our dust cloths
to see what was the matter.
Twas only the customers
coming in shifts
To return or exchange
their nice Christmas gifts.
Some too dull, some too bright nothing seemed to be just right
that's right.
We smiled and we nodded
saying "Surely you might."
To ourselves we were thinking
"Good Grief!" and "Good Night."

A HAPPY NEW YEAR TO ALL

School Cafeteria Is Booming Business

Mrs. Duane Weiss, speaking for the staff at the Chelsea school cafeteria, describes food service as the biggest growing business of today because "people do have to eat."

She goes on to mention that when the staff of workers prepares the noon meal, they take into consideration not only the taste of the food but how attractive the meal will appear on the individual trays.

The government, which supplies commodities for the school lunch programs, requires school cafeterias to include certain types of food in each day's noon meal and these commodities must be used as they become available. Mrs. Weiss points out that without these commodities, the school lunch program could not survive without greatly increasing the cost of the meal.

Mrs. Weiss said that many parents are familiar with the complaint of their children who say, "I don't want any of that—don't put any on my plate." The same statements also are heard at times at the cafeteria and some of the foods required as part of the menu by the government are not accepted by the students—principally vegetables and certain fruits.

Even though students say they "don't like this" or that, the cafeteria workers must include it in the required amount per serving, according to regulations governing the eligibility of schools to receive all government-provided commodities.

Mrs. Weiss, cafeteria director, said she and her staff try hard to make the food they must serve as palatable as possible. "It is our hope," she said, "that they (the students) will learn to eat the vegetables and fruit necessary for a balanced diet." She said the government regulations are set up with that in mind—a balanced meal for the noon-lunch programs.

The cafeteria has a so-called "Type A" lunch which is described as an educational program to help students learn the elements of a balanced meal. "We hope most of the students enjoy their lunches," Mrs. Weiss said, "because we certainly try to make them as tasty as possible." In conclusion Mrs. Weiss pointed out that a total of 3,418 lunches were served in Chelsea schools during Christmas week.

Working at the Chelsea High School cafeteria with Mrs. Weiss are Mrs. Lorenzen Wenz, Mrs. Ralph Frisch and Mrs. Herman Ashley. The four women prepare all the food served at the high school and at North and South Elementary schools.

THE COUNTRY PULPIT:

Is It The Night Before Christmas?

SOMEDAY, perhaps far sooner than we think, the One whose birth we celebrate at Christmas will come again — not as the Saviour to bear men's sins, but as Sovereign, Judge and King. And in this sense at least the world will know another Christmas.

No chain of happenings in history will ever have been so final or far-reaching. Believers will be caught up to be with Christ; the world will reel beneath the impact of great judgments and, later, our Lord will begin His thousand-year reign on earth.

But before the Christmas still-to-come there will be a time of world-wide spiritual darkness. Perilous times will come, sin will reach new depths, evil spirits will intensify their unseen oppression. The Bible speaks clearly of these things.

Will Christians sense the coming of this night before the second Christmas? Trends in our day — word conflicts and tensions, the dramatic increase in knowledge and the rise of the nation Israel to mention but a few — suggest that the night may well be drawing near. But now we wait.

Israel waited, too, through slow-moving centuries for Christ's first coming. The flame of hope died out within the breasts of many. But God's clock ticked on and at the appointed time He came. God's clock is ticking now. With every second the Christians still to come is drawing nearer.

What time is it as 1965 gives place to 1966? We cannot know, but one conviction should grip us as we think about these things: It is not time to be mere bystanders in a world of need or live as those who have no inkling of the future.

If the world is growing darker, if the difficulties of living for Christ are greater, we should not be discouraged. In some respects the very darkness of our times increases the opportunity.

Many feel, for example, that people today are in the grip of an all-pervasive lack of purpose. Yet it would seem that not a few are turning toward the gospel because of the very aimlessness of their lives.

Other problems may likewise have an encouraging side. The flames of persecution touch Christians in many parts of the world today. Indeed the thoughtful believer can see the approaching shadow of times when any Christian may suffer who does not fall in step with world religious movements. Yet the fact remains that where persecution rears its head today the Church is purified and its outreach sometimes widened.

Again it does seem that the love of many is waxing cold? If so, the fact remains that even a Gideon's band of fire Christian today has incredible opportunity to reach out through such modern media as television, radio and gospel films. Faithful churches, mission boards and other existing organizations may well find that their greatest ministry lies ahead.

Such considerations bring us back to our basic questions: Are we now approaching the night before the second Christmas? If so, it is useless to think that living for Christ in the year ahead will be more simple or more easy. But if the night is near or even fast-approaching, these are unequalled times in which to watch and pray and serve courageously.

Meanwhile we have this blessed certainty: "the greatest Christmas is drawing nearer every moment."

1 Thessalonians 4:14-17—

"For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so then also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with them."

"For this we say unto you by the Word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep."

"For the Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first."

"Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we even be with the Lord."

County Soil Conservation District Will Elect 2 Directors

The annual meeting of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District will be Jan. 6 at 8 p.m. in the Rural Activities Building on the Farm Council Grounds located at the intersection of the Pleasant Lake and Saline-Ain Arbor Rd's.

Two directors will be elected at the meeting. Candidates submitted by the nominating committee to fill the two vacancies are: Maynard Leach, Manchester township; Don Linpert, Manchester township; Orrin Girbach, Pittsfield township; and Raymond Schultz, Ypsilanti township. Further nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting.

With the co-operation of the Land Bank and the Production Credit Association the Soil Conservation District Board has obtained an outstanding speaker for the occasion, Henry Schriver of Grafton, O. Considered one of America's foremost farmer-philosophers, Schriver offers "food for thought" seasoned with a dash of wit and served up in rhyme—an exciting, informative and entertaining evening.

Henry is a dairy farmer by occupation but his gift of gab has caused the Plain Dealer of Cleveland to label him as the busiest spokesman for agriculture in the entire midwest. He is known from coast to coast for his true life stories of how a farm family, their neighbors and their voluntary organizations can work together to get things done. It is a true story of the joys and trials of rearing a large family, the ups and downs of farm life and his firm belief in a do-it-yourself America and the part that cooperatives must play in that system.

Born on a farm in Belding, O., Schriver graduated from Ohio State University in agriculture and now is an active community leader in Lorain county. Active in both educational and religious organizations, he also was a member of the steering committee for the Lorain Soil and Water Conservation District and a two terms member of the District Board. In addition, Schriver participates in local and national farm organizations and has received numerous awards such as the one for excellence of his agronomy program from his local Soil Conservation District and membership in Gamma Sigma Delta, the National Honor Society of Professional Agriculture.

This enthusiastic and colorful speaker for agriculture has had the unprecedent honor of appearing on the program of the American Institute of Co-operation for four consecutive years and has spoken to hundreds of farm business and youth groups all across America.

The chairman urges producers to make sure that all details of the 1965 sales are completed not later than Dec. 31. This includes passing title to the buyer, delivering the wool or mohair to the buyer either physically or through documents transferring control to the buyer, and having available all the information needed to determine the buyer's total purchase price. Sales slips should be checked carefully for accuracy before filing at the ASCS county office.

Applications for the 1965 marketing year payments may be filed with the ASCS county office anytime between now and Jan. 31, 1966. To avoid any unnecessary late-filled applications, be sure to complete an application for payment before Jan. 31, 1966. Payments for the 1965 marketing year will be made sometime in April, 1966.

The schedule is as follows:

A Standard First Aid Course will be taught at the Center beginning Monday, Jan. 10, from 2 to 4 in the afternoon, running for five consecutive weeks and to be taught by volunteer instructors Ruth DeForge and Constance Merriman.

A Standard First Aid Course will be taught at the Center beginning Wednesday, Jan. 12, from 7:30 to 9:30 in the evening, running for five consecutive weeks and to be taught by volunteer instructor Jim Secret.

An Advanced First Aid Course will be taught at the Center beginning Wednesday, Jan. 1, from 7:30 to 9:30 in the evening, running for eight consecutive weeks and to be taught by volunteer instructor Robert Schoenberger.

Farmers' Week Opens on MSU Campus Jan. 31

Farmers of Michigan will view the future at the 51st annual Farmers' Week on the campus of Michigan State University starting Jan. 31.

Theme for the event will be "Rural Michigan... Now and in 1980." Many thousand Michigan farmers, homemakers and young people will be on the East Lansing campus for a comprehensive, forward-looking view of rural Michigan as it is expected to be in 15 years.

Since January, 1964, scientists at MSU have been working with industry and rural leaders on "Project '80," an analysis of Michigan's rural potential by 1980. Projections have been made to 1980 for population, family living, crops, livestock, dairy plus demands on industries and services which serve the rural community.

These projections will be offered to visitors at Farmers' Week through the combined efforts of various departments at the University. Visitors will see and hear of the many changes that will result in fewer but bigger farms and more mechanized operations. It will be emphasized during the week that even though rural Michigan plays an important part of the world today through its agricultural exports, it can be even more important by 1980.

Complete programs will be available in early January. Copies may be obtained from county offices of the Co-operative Extension Service or from the Bulletin Office at Michigan State University.
