Mothers' March Slated Tuesday To Aid Dimes Fund Campaign Reaches Nearly One-Third Of Goal As Volunteers Speed Efforts

The March of Dimes campaign is off to a brisk start with nearly $1,000 already in the coffers. An official goal for Chelsea has been set at $3,000. The goal is $300 more than Chelsea residents contributed to the campaign last year.

The campaign will conclude with the Mother's March on Feb. 1. Chairman of the 1966 campaign is Mrs. Silas Hopkins.

The campaign received a considerable boost this past week when the Jaycee Auxiliary sponsored a spaghetti dinner which netted nearly $500 for the campaign against birth defects. $317 were added to the benefit when individual members of Chelsea bowling leagues contributed $1 for three games during the week of Jan. 17-21. See separate story. The total collected in the bowling benefit is $39 more than the amount raised by bowlers during two weeks of 1965.

PTO Studies Job Training For Students

Job Training for Non-College Students was the topic of a panel discussion at the Jan. 19 meeting of the Parent Teachers Organization at the High school cafeteria. Robert Daniels, moderator, the panel which consisted of Harvey Lacey, past president of the local P.T.A.; Don Baldwin, personnel manager of Rockwell-Standard; Ed Orlowski, superintendent of maintenance at Rockwell-Standard; and Ted Blake, vocational educational director for Dexter, Manchester and Chelsea.

Blake defined vocational education as education designed to equip a student with skills that will fit him for the vocation of his choice. Members of the panel questioned where non-college graduates from Chelsea go. Blake said a survey showed that 80 percent of these students still live within a 20-mile radius of Chelsea. Reasons why these employees are not working in Chelsea were discussed and it was suggested that perhaps they did not know about existing opportunities in Chelsea.

Ways in which the school system could help industry and vice-versa were discussed. Suggestions included: tours of local shops, teaching vocational students about the philosophy of business and specific skills, such as how to read a meter. Junior achievement projects were mentioned as another good way to promote business training. A great deal of discussion ensued on junior achievement projects and members declared it would have to be a community undertaking.

Safety Week Slated in All Local Schools

Car and pedestrian safety is the theme of the safety week activities planned for Jan. 31 through Feb. 4 in Chelsea schools. The activities are sponsored by the Journalism class of Chelsea High school.

All Chelsea schools, including St. Mary's Catholic school, North and South Elementary schools, the Junior High school, the High school and the Methodist church, will participate in a poster contest. Winners will be selected from each school.

Saturday a wrecked auto will go on exhibit in front of the High school. The auto will remain at the High school during the week to emphasize highway safety.

School assemblies also sponsored by the Journalism class, will also be held in each of the schools. The grade school students will see a skit on pedestrian safety. High school students will see a movie on car safety and driving and the Junior High students will hear about safety on bicycles.

Area Bowlers Add $317 to Dimes Fund

Chelsea bowlers helped make the 1966 bowling for the March of Dimes one of the most profitable ever.

Twelve leagues participated in the bowling benefit. Of the 12, only the Chelsea Industrial League, consisting of the following six teams: Chelsea Frontiers, 1, 2 and 3, Central Fibre, Chelsea Milling and Chelsea Lanes — bowled 100 percent for the March of Dimes.

The participating leagues raised $317 by contributing $1 for each three games during the week of Jan. 17-21.

Bowlers received a 70 percent handicap, dropping the ladies during the week's bowling was Janet Hutzel of The Chelsea Women's Bowling Club, who bowled 537 with a 96-point handicap to total 639; Mary Lou Westcott from the Chelsea Women's 3-bureau League who bowled 562 with a 75-point handicap to total 637 points; and Dorothy Erenman from the Chelsea Women's Bowling club who bowled 480 with a 135-point handicap to end up with 624.

Trophies for the top bowlers, contributed by Ed Greenleaf of the Chelsea Lanes, will also go to Clarence W. Lake of the Senior House League who bowled 637 with a 72-point handicap to end up with a 709; Gerald Roberts of the Guys 'n Gals team who bowled 555 with a 144 handicap to total 699; and Larry Damm of Chrysler Proving Grounds who bowled 626 with a 67 handicap to total 693.

Congratulations were extended by Greenleaf to the local directors of the Women's Bowling Association: Mrs. Otis Johnson and Mrs. Maynard Poertner for participating with the Jaycee Auxiliary in making a success of the bowling. Mrs. Ron Branham was the Jaycee co-chairman for the bowling and Mrs. Silas Hopkins is the general chairman for the March of Dimes in Chelsea.

200 Students Here for Star Band Try-Out

Over 200 instrumentalists from 65 schools gravitated upon Chelsea Saturday morning to compete for seating positions in the All-Star Band scheduled to appear in concert in Chelsea on Feb. 20.

Tryouts were conducted by band directors from the various schools, who met with groups of students in different High school classrooms. Directors conducted tryouts on instruments they had majored in while studying music in college. To insure impartiality, directors turned their backs while the various students played the music.

The seating positions assigned are provisional. Final tryouts will be Feb. 19, when band members meet again to practice before the big concert on Sunday, Feb. 20.

Chelsea musicians were assigned the following seats in the All-Star Band composed of students from class AA, A and B: David Blaess, third chair trombone; Marianne Edwards, second bassoon; Carolyn Wilkerson, second flute; John Collins, fifth chair baritone; and Kinyon Gorton, ninth chair clarinet.

Two bands, each composed of more than 100 instrumentalists and conducted by outstanding guest directors, will perform in a public concert on Feb. 20. The All-Star Band event is sponsored by Lansing Conservatory of Music.

Members of the Chelsea Band Boosters have been mobilized to handle various aspects of the band meet. Mrs. Charles Balze was chairman of the donuts and coffee session Saturday.

Mrs. Parker Sharrard will arrange housing for as many of the students as will need places to stay. Anyone having space to house visiting students should contact Mrs. Sharrard. Mrs. Edwin Sutter is chairing a committee working on registration of the participants and Sylvester Wojcicki is in charge of the hour-long Saturday night party for All-Star Band members and members of the Chelsea band.

Food will be one of the biggest jobs and Mrs. Loren Koenigster, Mrs. Dan Ewald and Mrs. Herman Ashley will tackle arrangements for Saturday noon cafeteria, the Saturday luncheon for directors and the Sunday afternoon banquet for bands and directors, respectively.

CD Tornado Safety Meet Slated Tuesday

Area Residents Urged To Attend 2-Hour Session for Self Protection

Three Chelsea civil defense volunteers traveled to Onsted Friday evening to talk to approximately 30 people who were directly involved in the Palm Sunday tornado in 1965.

The three from the Chelsea vicinity are Elwyn Beach, director of civil defense for the Chelsea-Manchester area, and two unit civil defense volunteers, Cecil Cady and Lloyd May.

The tornado victims told their experiences before, during and after the tornado struck. Many of their comments and suggestions will be presented to people in this area on Tuesday evening, Feb. 2, when the local and county civil defense offices combine efforts to inform Chelsea area residents in tornado safety.

The public meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the High school cafeteria. Local civil defense officers hope to have at least one member of every family instructed in the tornado safety rules.

The two-hour session is part of a county-wide effort to give the public the maximum amount of information. Sessions have been held or are planned for Manchester, Dexter, Chelsea, Milan, Saline and Ypsilanti township.

The purpose of the course is to increase the safety of the citizens, to reduce property damage and to improve the speed of recovery. Although there is really no way to "get ready" for a tornado, there are five reasonable steps that a family can and should take, according to the Washtenaw County office of Civil Defense. The five steps are to know what a tornado is, what a tornado's usual habits are, what a tornado's damaging effects are, what to do if a tornado strikes and how to understand the meaning of tornado reports, forecasts and warnings.

Outstanding Young Men To Be Chosen

The Jaycees will honor outstanding young men at their annual "Bosses" night banquet Feb. 1.

Jaycees are dedicated to the principle of "Leadership training through community service." What group better serves our community than the teaching profession?

The Chelsea Jaycees are well aware of the need for honoring the best young people in this vital profession and plan to select the outstanding young educator of Chelsea. The local search is part of a nation-wide Jaycee program to spotlight the achievements and dedication of professional educators, both male and female, between the ages of 21 and 30.

Also, awarded that night will be the Distinguished Service Award to the man who has contributed to the welfare of the community, showed signs of leadership and given evidence of progress in business life.

Proving Grounds Local 1284 Vote Calls for Strike

A strike vote taken Friday evening by members of United Auto Workers Local 184 at Chrysler Corporation's Proving Grounds tallied 222 positive to 21 negative votes, according to Ray Carline, vice-president of the group.

The vote was taken to settle some 80 or more alleged grievances concerning bargaining issues.

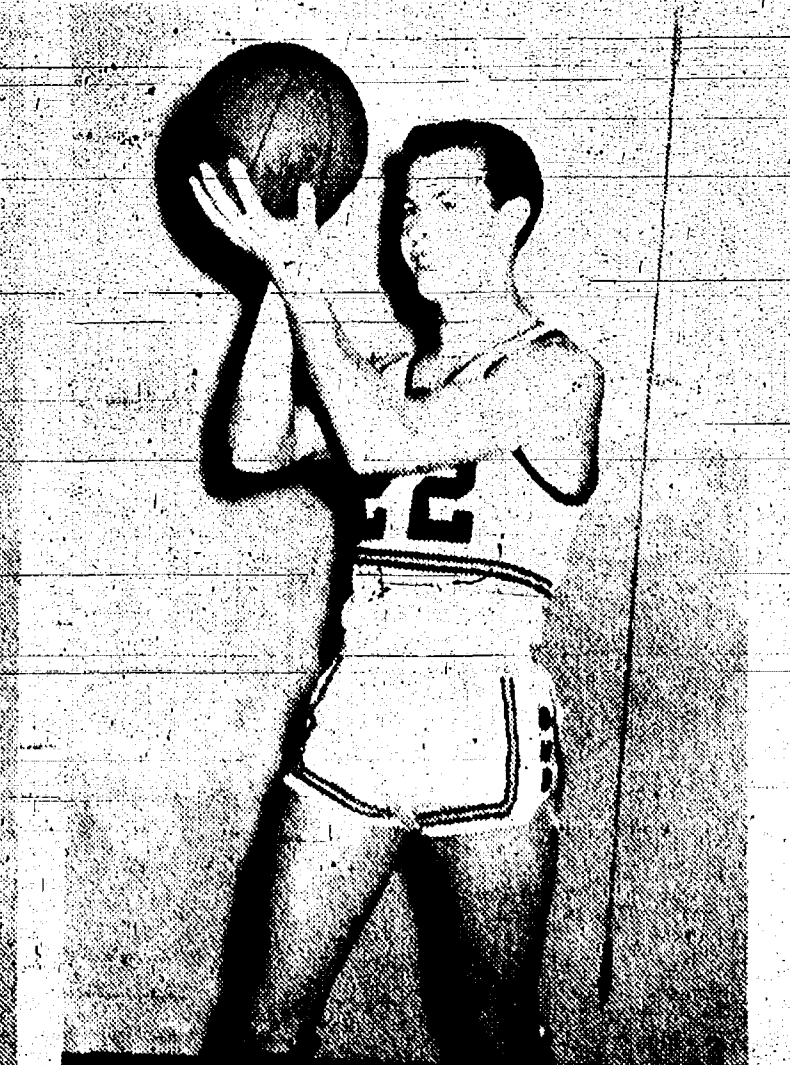

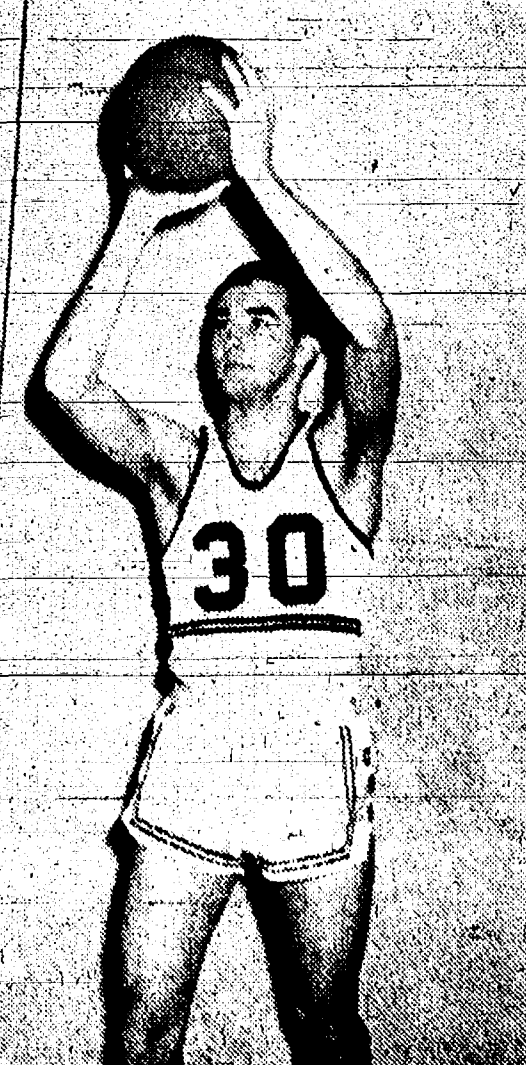

Authorization for the strike was received from the executive committee of the UAW International Union in Detroit on Jan. 12. According to law, a series of seven meetings between union officials and management must proceed any strike by union members. The first meeting was Tuesday.

Knitting Classes Change To Thursday Evenings

The knitting classes, under the sponsorship of the Chelsea Recreation Commission, will meet on Thursday evenings in the High school home economics room. Persons interested are asked to note the change of day. The classes were originally scheduled for Wednesday evenings.

Eleven members are now enrolled in the classes, taught by Mrs. Dan (Clara) Ewald. Anyone interested may still enroll. Sessions begin at 7:30 p.m. and last for two hours. Fee for the class is $1.50 payable at the next session.

Cagers of the Week

CENTER David Clark, 6'1", 165-pound senior, leads the Bulldog squad in rebounding with 100 rebounds in 11 games. Putting in his second year on the varsity squad, Clark played 57 quarters last year and averaged 6.9 points per game — this year his average is 14.5 per game. Clark has a good jump shot from the foul line and side, can drive but frequently hesitates too long. A good defensive man, Clark often attempts to steal the ball. Clark played end on the varsity football team this year but sat out last year with an injury. He played on both the Junior Varsity basketball and football teams during his freshman year. Secretary of the local FFA chapter, he is a member of the Athletic Board and attended Boys State in 1965. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Clark, 15885 W. Old US-12.

FORWARD Don Salyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salyer of 20071 Old US-12, is a 5'9", 150-pound junior. One of the starters all season, this is Salyer's first year on the varsity squad. Salyer is a good rebounder for his size, has no trouble grabbing the rim with both hands. He has a good jump shot but lacks confidence in it, is a fair passer. He plays a good defensive game and will be guarding Dundee's Bob Kroeger tomorrow night. Salyer played varsity football as a halfback and is a good prospect for next season. A track man, Salyer lettered as a freshman and sophomore with his performance in the broad jump, high jumps, relays and 220-yard dash. He is a conscientious student and has maintained a good scholastic average.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

Recently during a speech in the state capital, Governor Romney reported that the state's new juvenile delinquency law, which took effect Jan. 1, 1965, has been successful in reducing the number of juvenile delinquents in the state.

These reports mark a historic new departure in the state provision of effective juvenile and delinquency programs for treating and rehabilitating juvenile delinquents. The new law, which took effect Jan. 1, 1965, has been successful in reducing the number of juvenile delinquents in the state.

The Corrections Department now has adequate facilities which it can designate at present for "youthful offenders," but additional facilities may be needed in the future. The Corrections Department now has adequate facilities which it can designate at present for "youthful offenders," but additional facilities may be needed in the future.

Also I will seek a new "Alternative Sentencing of Minors" law, which will give Circuit Judges the option of handling 17-21 year olds in civil "youthful offender" proceedings. Under present law, only criminal proceedings are available for handling these older minors.

Under my proposed 17-21 year olds, whom Circuit Judges choose to handle in civil proceedings would be committed to the Department of Corrections, which would place them in specifically designated "youthful offender" facilities.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Same Old Ways
Observing the legislative process closely year after year often makes one wonder whether this function of civilization has fallen behind other segments.

In this area, the adage of "nothing new under the sun" seems to hold fairly true despite constant change in other elements of society. Colored television and computer advances in the electronics field, new fabrics in merchandising, faster methods of cooking, etc., these tell in vivid pictures of the advances being made.

In the state legislature, however, much the same processes are being used today as were in vogue 100 more years ago. The subject matter under discussion points up the lag also.

Hardly a year has gone by in recent memory that someone hasn't blamed the Conservation Department for allowing hunters to kill off too many deer, either bucks or does.

We're told taxes won't be on the agenda this year, but that won't keep fiscal reform out of off-the-floor discussion. It can be assured, then, there is the all-too-familiar subject of compensation of legislators. Even on the first day of the current session there were bills introduced to provide possible action in this area. There's also the decade-old subject of the "Right" Time.

Timing is all-important in politics. Every politician and adviser knows this. But judgments are required to determine whether the timing is right, and this is where politicians and advisers sometimes disagree or go wrong.

Detroit's young mayor apparently has decided that "Right" time is now. He seems to care little about what is being done.

Actual, Mister Editor, I can see the point. Ed's doctor was making it. It might be that $3 was a little high for this point, but it was a pretty good one. I heard a doctor say once that he didn't have half as much trouble treating the disease as he did treating the patient.

I recollect here a few years back my old lady going to the doctor. She was having awful pains in her chest. The doctor examined her and couldn't find the trouble and made the mistake of telling her he couldn't. She came home half-mad and half-scared to death. She said either the doctor didn't know nothing, which made her mad, or she had some disease so terrible the medicine profession hadn't even heard of yet, which made her scared. I learned right then, Mister Editor, the difference between treating the disease and treating the patient.

They was a heap of ways of making crazy things in life look sound and logic, and sooner or later the fellers at the store fingers 'em all out. It makes me recollect the story about the fellow that told his neighbor he had got $1,000 for a bird dog. When his neighbor ask him if that wasn't a heap of money to get for a bird dog, he explained he didn't exact get the $1,000 in money; that he had traded the feller the bird for two $500 cats.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

The "E" award is famous as an honor given in recognition for the excellent performances of Naval duty.

In primaries, rather than the youngest voters.

Most interesting in either a McNamara or Williams-Cavanaugh primary would be the question of where the Democratic Party leadership will stand. For all intents and purposes the party usually stays neutral in a primary fight, but it would be expected the allegiance will be to the politician who has followed the unwritten rules of the game.

Lying idle in Michigan backyards, attics and cellars are potential guns, cartridges, tanks and parts of bombing planes, citizens were told as a drive for waste metals needed for defense production got underway.

The January meeting of Lafayette Grange, held on Tuesday evening at Lima Center Hall, was turned into a celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Bouter, who on Sunday observed their 25th wedding anniversary. Red, white and blue candles decorated the table.

REMEMBER

From Mrs. Fred Bohumil, Kansas City, Mo.: I remember when my husband and I had our first Model T Ford. It was our prize and the envy of all our friends. He had to crank it to start and put the curtains up when it rained.

In 1920, we decided to take a trip to Colorado. It took us a week to get there. We slept the first night on the banks of the Neosho River and had to have the cylinders worked on the next morning in Neosho Rapids. There were no motels or cabins in those days.

We were fortunate enough to stay in two hotels in Kansas, but mostly we stayed in camp parks which had open ends and outdoor toilets. It rained every day on and off and the rivers and creeks were flooded. The roads were all mud and sometimes we had to drive through pastures. One day several cars, including ours, had to be pulled out of the mud.

At Deerfield, Kansas, we slept on the floor above a garage which had a tin roof and the hall was terrible.

Martin Miller Retires From Road Commission

Martin E. Miller of 525 McKinley St., retired Jan. 19 from the Washtenaw County Road Commission. He has been engaged as representative and inspector of the Washtenaw County Commission on its new four-building central facility complex since ground-breaking on Nov. 4, 1964, and was building superintendent during the first days of the operation of the complex.

He was engaged in commercial construction before joining the County Road Commission and at one time operated a funeral home in Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are planning a trip to Florida in April and vacation in some of the Eastern states later in the spring and summer.

It's about time to try to remember those resolutions you made January 1, 1965, if you recall any of them, make them again for 1966.

SPAGHETTI DINNERS, served to 80 people by members of the Jaycee Auxiliary and the senior Girl Scouts, aided the March of Dimes campaign in Chelsea. The dinner at the Jaycee Hall took place Jan. 26, consisted of spaghetti, tossed salad, hard rolls and butter, and home-made pies donated by the Jaycee wives. Ed Akin is served here by Mrs. George Ellenwood, while his daughters, Debra and Diane, wait to add butter and tossed salad to his heaping dish. The benefit added $50 to the March of Dimes coffers.

Project 74 Seeks Ways To Improve, Expand Juvenile Court Services

The year 1974 is a long way off, but a group of concerned Washtenaw county citizens has had that target year and some of the problems it is expected to bring very much in mind since the fall of 1964.

Residents of all areas of the county are members of the team known as Project 74. Mrs. Dudley Holmes of Chelsea is the Chelsea area chairman. Their objective is to learn what is and will be needed by 1974 to help the hundreds of neglected and delinquent children who come every year before the juvenile division of Probate Court.

A 1963 study, with all public and private agencies in the county co-operating, showed that there were then 1,350 children in Washtenaw county known to be neglected or abused by their parents. In 1964, 974 delinquent and 77 neglected children were brought to the attention of the Court by complaints of police, schools and neighbors.

With county population snow-balling every year, and the percentage of children in the total population growing even faster, the number of children up to 17-years old needing court attention could rise by as much as 500 to 700 by 1974.

With the knowledge that the court does not now have the facilities and people it needs to work with today's caseloads, Probate Judge John Conlin's Citizens Advisory Council set about to learn exactly what is lacking or should be changed now and what will be needed for the future.

The Council elected as co-chairmen of the citizen's project Mrs. Josselyn Van Tyne and Leon Roach, both of Ann Arbor, and appointed Mrs. Robert (Sally) Noyes a referee and supervisor on the court staff, to be director of the technical study.

Then citizens from throughout the county were asked to participate by bringing the knowledge of their community's needs, in order to learn of county-wide needs, to inform the people of the county and to seek their support for

Each member remarked that they had seen or done the very things shown. Mrs. Stoll said homemakers could prevent home accidents by first having a home check-up, in which danger areas would be spotted. Second, those areas must be cleaned out and fixed up to eliminate the danger potential. Third, professional help with home repairs, especially where appliances are concerned, must be sought.

The next meeting is dated for Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. P. Harker. The lesson, entitled "Fit for Fashion," will be presented by Mrs. J. Satterthwaite and Mrs. Frank Sweeney.

Ann Arbor Relaxes Residence Requirements In Recruiting Firemen

In the past the City of Ann Arbor has required its firefighters to live in or almost in its city limits. Now as a result of a manpower shortage, Ann Arbor is allowing its firefighters and recruits to live within 10 miles of its city limits. This ten-mile area includes all of the Village of Dexter and the area approaching Chelsea up to Fletcher Rd.

The City of Ann Arbor is currently ten firefighters below its authorized allowance. It has a new station to open on Feb. 15, and it must acquire more firefighters by that time.

Applicants for appointment to the Ann Arbor Fire Department must be between 21 and 35 years of age, be at least 5'8" in height, have a high school diploma or its equivalent, and be physically fit. Starting salary for Ann Arbor Firefighters is $5,278.

New Books at Library

A THOUSAND DAYS, by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. — A permanent and indispensable contribution to the understanding of the Kennedy administration. Two main themes run through this eloquent book: First, the alive, alert personality of John F. Kennedy; and secondly, the relationship of the president to the United States government as a whole. An enlightening and informative book written by a skilled historian; a man who was close to John F. Kennedy.

LAUGHING WHITEFISH, by Robert Traver — A story with Michigan locale; this is the novel about a young lawyer in Marquette whose first client is a lovely Indian girl, Laughing Whitefish. An account of bitter litigation between the Indians and the white men who swindled them out of their property.

MISSION WITH LEMAY, written by General LeMay with MacKinlay Kantor. An autobiographical work of a man who has become a legend in his own lifetime. No light and airy reading this, but well worth the reading time. It has been noted as one of the best books ever written on flying, and gives fine explanations of military logistics and upper echelon military life.

WATERS UNDER THE EARTH by John Moore — A fine novel beautifully written about an English country squire's family in the 1950's living on their old family estate. A nostalgic tale of English countryside, and of social change which the old aristocracy cannot hold back.

THE LOCKWOOD CONCERN, by John O'Hara — A familiar O'Hara setting, Gibberville and Swedehaven, for this novel involving three generations of a family in relentless pursuit of social prestige. Typically John O'Hara for those who like his style of writing.

MARRIAGE OF KATHERINE, by D. E. Stevenson — A romantic novel of warmth and humor. With Scotland for a setting, characters Katherine and Alex MacLaren are delightful new creations in this latest novel of Miss Stevenson's.

WATCH ON THE WALL, by Hallie Burnett — A young New York lawyer—girl vacations in Berlin; becomes involved in a U. S. Military Intelligence attempt to rescue her former husband from the Communist zone of East Berlin. Action, adventure, color and romance.

LOST EMPIRES, by J. B. Priestley — This latest novel of J. B. Priestley is a refreshing fiction; the story of a nomadic troupe of entertainers in the Empire theatres of English Variety Stage in those years just before World War I. A few tears, a lot of laughs and a delightful story of a vanished era.

A CRACK IN THE SIDEWALK, by Ruth Wolff — A light fiction family story with a touch of romance. The main character, a young girl who finds a better life than she has known by becoming a folk singer.

State To Register Craft During Detroit Boat Show

Thousands of Michigan's motorboat owners will be able to purchase their new, 1966 through 1968, watercraft registrations during the eight-day run of the 8th annual Michigan Boat Show, opening Jan. 28, at the Detroit Artillery Armory.

"This is the beginning of a new three-year registration period," explained Secretary of State James M. Hare, "and every motorboat in Michigan, from puddle jumpers to 75-foot pleasure yachts, must display the new yellow decal to operate legally in Michigan's waters." To accommodate boaters, the Watercraft Division will man a registration and boat plate sales booth at the show.

Hare also said that boat registrations may be purchased at all license plate branch offices at the same time auto license plates are applied for, saving many a "second-trip."

"We estimate," Hare said, "that there are a half-a-million motorboats operating in Michigan's waters although registrations barely topped the 400,000 mark during the just past registration cycle." He issued a stern warning that increased water safety and law enforcement by county officials would bring stiff penalties to boaters caught on Michigan lakes "without valid registrations for their craft."

In an era when happenings are so fast that we must have a "right now," certainly instant grooming is no less important. "Heading" the good-grooming list is attractive hair. Sometimes we love to luxuriate at the beauty salon. Sometimes we honestly don't have the time. That's when we want to top our own tresses with a wig that prepares us for almost any exigency. Child Study Clubs Hold Joint Meet Tuesday Evening

Members of Kinder Klub, Modern Mothers, Suburban Mothers and the Chelsea Child Study Clubs held a joint meeting at the Junior High gymnasium on Tuesday, Jan. 25. Thirty mothers were present. Mrs. Nancy Picklik, Chelsea High school physical education teacher, led the group in exercises to music. Volleyball and basketball were played later in the evening. Boxed refreshments, brought by each member, were exchanged.

Planning the evening's program were the program chairmen: Mrs. Ronald Eder of the Kinder Klub, Mrs. Errol Jones of the Modern Mothers, Mrs. Louis Foreman of Suburban Mothers and Mrs. Marion Dietle of the Chelsea Child Study.

Speaker Finds Lack Of Motivation In Many Young People

The Chelsea Woman's Club met Tuesday evening at the McKune Memorial Library. Sixteen members were present. President Mrs. R.A.J. Livingston opened the meeting.

At the last meeting of the club Supt. of Schools Charles Cameron had mentioned that the young people of today seem to lack motivation to be seriously concerned with their education and training for a skill, trade or profession, in preparation to take their place in adult society.

The speaker for this meeting was the husband of one of the club members, Ray H. Peppers, director of education at Cassidy Lake Technical School. Peppers cited many cases at the school who are residents there as a result of poor use of leisure time, lack of communication in the family or, as Supt. Cameron had stated, just no motivation to get ahead. Peppers stated that the problems of these men are many, but the difficulty is in finding the answers.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8 when Mrs. Sidney Beckwith of Stockbridge will talk on antiques and the development of the farm museum at Waterloo.

Mrs. Thomas Smith and her daughter, Shirley, were hostesses.

HOUSECLEANING TIPS

In cleaning the house, keep safety in mind at all times. Precautions range from testing water temperature before dipping your hands in a sink to keeping hazardous household chemicals out of the reach of children. If you're cleaning the kitchen vinyl, don't leave the pail where someone can trip over it.

Ninety-four percent of Kalamazoo College freshmen ranked in the top third of their high school graduating classes.

Quick Action By Neighbor Prevents Serious Fire Loss

A grease fire which started in a pan on a stove at 206 North St., Sunday evening, received prompt attention when a neighbor, Elton Borders of 210 North St., saw the flames.

Borders called the Chelsea Fire Department at 6:31 p.m. while his son, Ron Borders, 26, ran to the Chelsea Milling Co., where he borrowed a fire extinguisher and put out the fire. Chelsea Milling Co. owns the house, which is rented to Ross Marshall.

The fire burned a hole in the linoleum and scorched the ceiling, according to Fire Chief James Gaken. He said that the Borders had extinguished the fire by the time the fire department arrived, and the department cleared the smoke out of the building with exhaust fans.

Grass Lake Youth Struck By Ricocheting 22 Calibre Rifle Bullet

Donald D. Harat, a 14-year-old Grass Lake resident, was treated at University Hospital Monday evening after a 22 calibre rifle bullet ricocheted off a piece of metal and struck him in the thumb and finger of his right hand.

The incident occurred in the Waterloo township dump in Jackson county, where his brother, Henry, was apparently firing at tin cans approximately 115 feet away from where Donald was standing.

OPEN HOUSE Sunday, Jan. 30, will honor Mrs. Mabel Artz on her 90th birthday. Friends and relatives are invited to call on Mrs. Artz at the home of her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Artz, 4450 Clear Lake Rd., between 2 and 5 p.m. Spry and alert, Mrs. Artz models one of the dresses she stitched herself, something she has been doing since she was 11—79 years ago.

Open House on 90th Birthday

Spry and alert as she prepares to celebrate her 90th birthday, Mrs. Mabel Artz recently reminisced about her life in Chelsea. She will be 90 on Monday, Jan. 31.

Mrs. Artz was born in Chelsea in 1876. Her father, Thomas Leach, was a shoemaker who made and repaired shoes in a little shop on W. Middle St. She has lived in Chelsea her entire life, with the exception of three years spent on a farm near Waterloo shortly after her marriage to Fred Artz. He died in 1939. Mrs. Artz has lived at the Methodist Home since May 1964. The village has "grown lots" since those early years, she said. There were no factories, no water, no electric lights. Many of the streets are the same, but have been expanded and are busier today. Social life revolved around the churches.

Mrs. Artz commented that "The lucky boy and lucky girl are those who know how to work." She said many young people today don't have a chance to work and the parents are not as strict with children. Her advice for a long, happy life is, "Don't think about how hard a task is, but rather about how good it would be to be able to do it, and then after it's finished, thank God for being able to do it."

Well-informed on current news, Mrs. Artz is a regular reader of the Reader's Digest and The Christian Herald. She says she enjoys hearing the news but often "I don't like what I hear."

Her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Artz, will honor Mrs. Artz at an open house at their home 4450 Clear Lake Rd., from 2-5 p.m. on Sunday. Friends and relatives are invited to visit with her there.

Secretary Niehaus announced that three of the members had attended the Michigan District Mid-Winter meeting of Kiwanians at Motor Inn in Kalamazoo. They are Don Turner, past president; Floyd Fowler, president; and Niehaus.

An inter-club meeting Tuesday at Webers in Ann Arbor with the Western Kiwanis Club was attended by Turner, Kenneth Runciman, Clare Warren, Wallace Wood and Niehaus.

For the bowling schedule, members are to call George Stettin. Program chairman William Rademacher introduced the speaker for the evening, Ross Campbell, who graduated from the University of Michigan Law School and has been practicing in Ann Arbor. He also has been a referee for juvenile delinquents in the Probate Court. He gave an informative talk outlining the several reasons for juvenile delinquency and the treatment necessary for rehabilitation.

SPORTS CORNER

Wrestlers Pin 2 Opponents

Chelsea wrestlers added two more victories to their season record during the past week when they defeated South Lyon, 27-21, in a league meet and pinned back Stockbridge, 36-14, in a non-league meet.

The Jan. 20 victory over South Lyon, in the Chelsea grapplers in a deadlock with Dexter for the top spot in the Mid-Pine League. Clinton and Whitmore Lake are tied for third place and South Lyon, winless, is at the bottom of the heap.

Winners by pins in the South Lyon meet were Mike Funderburgh (120), Mark Lancaster (133), and Paul Lancaster (165). Decisions were granted in favor of Mike Hendricks (127), Ron Watkins (154) and Gary Hopkins (heavyweight).

In the decisive defeat handed Stockbridge Tuesday evening, Chelsea mat men totaled five pins. Overpowering their opponents were Bill Pearsall (95), Bill Lounsbury (103), Loren Boyer (146), Paul Lancaster (165) and Ray Worden (165). It was Lancaster's fourth pin in as many meets. Decisions were won by Mike Funderburgh (120) and Mike Hendricks (127), and Gary Hopkins (heavyweight) won on a forfeit.

Coach Richard Dusseau commented that he hoped the team would continue at the same pace through the next four weeks of the season. The grapplers will meet Whitmore Lake tonight in an away game. On Feb. 1 they will come face to face with their top rivals, the Dexter wrestlers, in a meet at Chelsea starting at 7 p.m. Both contests are league meets.

It is comparatively easy to find an excuse for not doing what you do not wish to do.

Bulldogs Sharpen Sights But Lose To Saline, 80-78

Good Team Effort Falls Short in Warm-Up for Contest With Dundee

Playing their best offensive game since the Christmas Tournament, the Chelsea Bulldogs still were unable to pull out a victory Friday night against the hot-shooting Saline Hornets — the final score read 80-78.

The Bulldogs will face the league's best shooter, Bob Kroeger, tomorrow night in Chelsea when they battle the number one league team, Dundee. Kroeger is carrying close to a 25-point average. The Dundee cagers have a 4-1 season record.

Saline jumped to a first quarter lead of 24-19 and were never headed. The Hornets took 18 shots in that quarter and scored on 11 of them, for a nifty 61 percent average.

The Bulldogs hit on eight of 20 for a 40-percent average. David Clark, Mike Tarasow, and Tom Wojcik scored five points each for the Bulldogs. Neil Still and guard Don Drake hit on six points each for the Hornets.

The Hornets continued their hot-shooting ways in the second quarter as they racked up 25 points in 18 for Chelsea, and went into the half-time with a commanding 49-37 lead.

The nemesis for Chelsea was Saline's Don Drake who made some spectacular shots from outside the foul line. He scored 13 of Saline's points in that quarter. At half-time his total was 10.

The Bulldogs applied some better defensive strategy in the third quarter as they whittled the 42-point Saline lead down to seven points at the end of the quarter, mainly on the fine shooting by Don Salyer, who wished in nine of Chelsea's 20 points in jump shots from the top of the foul circle. Four points each by Tarasow and Wojcik assisted the Chelsea comeback. The Chelsea front line of Clark, Tarasow, and Bill Harvey controlled the boards in the third quarter. Drake scored seven more for Saline.

The final quarter action was fast and furious. With approximately two minutes remaining the Saline lead was cut to two points. But the Bulldogs were unable to score the tying points. Foul shots, lay-ups and jump shots refused to go in until Saline scored two more points to increase their lead to

JV Cagers Trampled By Little Hornets

The Saline Junior Varsity, with a starting line-up of five players more than six feet tall, out-bounded and out-shot the Little Bulldogs to hand them a stinging 80-47 defeat last Friday night.

The bigger Saline team was in control of the game from the start as they jumped off to a 22-9 lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 40-18 at half-time and moved to a 69-30 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Larry Gaken was the top scorer for Chelsea with 12. Freshman Craig Houle added 10, while Ken Blaess collected 8, John Lixey, 7, Gary Larson 3, Mike Lehmann 2, Mike Schnaidt 2, Jim Boham 2, and John Freeman 1.

Saline out-rebounded the Little Bulldogs, 48-31. John Lixey topped the Chelsea rebounders with 10. Larry Gaken added 9, Gary Larson 3, Craig Houle 2, Mike Schnaidt 2, Jim Boham 2, Dan Clark 2 and Mike Lehmann 1.

The next game will be with Dundee at Chelsea on Friday Jan. 28 (tomorrow). JV games start at 6:30 p.m.

OILY FOOD
Oil companies are seeking to develop low-cost food from petroleum. Germany made fats from petroleum during World War II to feed forced labor groups, but they were neither safe nor tasty. Now oil producers are hopeful that petroleum can be turned into agreeable food to alleviate the world's protein shortage.

Never bother about trying to appear smart; put your energy into being smart.

OUTDOOR SKILLS, including cooking over an open fire were practiced Jan. 15-18 when Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 476 joined scouts from Dexter, Saline, Whitmore Lake, Brighton, Livingston county and two other Chelsea troops at the Pinckney Recreation area north of Chelsea. Observers report that the boys were "everywhere," scraping the snow away, pitching tents on the frozen bare ground, spreading straw and ground cloths and arranging sleeping bags for the night. Waiting for their dinner are standing, from left, Vern Parks, Scoutmaster, Bill Baker, Council Camp Committee member, Bill Clarke from Ann Arbor and Rolly Spaulding. Seated, from left, are Pat Quigg, Dan Spaulding, Bruce Parks, Rickie Foytich, Floyd Hafner, David Watson and David Heydlauff. Just A Minute . . .
By the Rev. James A. Craig

Nuclear bomb testing, at least in the atmosphere, has been discontinued by the two nations most highly developed in his kind of weapon. Apparently it is felt by these governments that little if anything of significance is to be learned by such testing.

The "fallout" from the tests still lingers, however. And there is a group that is trying to learn what its effect is on human beings. One way they are attempting to discover radiation effect is an examination of baby teeth. A Committee for Nuclear Information has been established with its headquarters in St. Louis, Mo. People are urged to send their children's baby teeth to them with information concerning the date of the child's birth, where he lives, how old he was when the tooth came out, and so on.

More details may be secured from the Committee at 6504 Delmar Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. Or the teeth may be sent to Operation Tooth, 1307 S. Forest, Ann Arbor.

It seems like very little to do that will add some significant information to the spread of fallout from previous tests and give a measure of its effect on people. And it is one more way in which the citizen can take part responsibly in the affairs of his country.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

TIME TO HELP

How often along the pathway of life have you ignored a friend or a fellow human being beset with difficulty because you "didn't want to become involved?" How many times have you been a silent witness when but a single word would have met a great need?

Too often, nearly every one of us are found guilty of drawing about us a protective shell of ignorance or silence because we fear even a little damage to the private world in which we live. We cannot take the world as we want it or like it was a cake or a pie, cut out the piece that we want for our very own. We share the world with others. We need not share the troubles of every other citizen, nor worry about problems that are not our very own. But we should recognize the time to help others, for we all shall surely one day stand in need.

Not all the comic characters are to be found in the comic books.

Chelsea Elementary SCHOOL NOTES

Fifth graders at both schools heard some of the sixth graders explain their science projects which they have entered in the Science Fair at the Junior High school. We thank Mr. Young for bringing the children over.

All fourth and fifth graders have a "recreation period" after school hours. About 200 girls and boys are participating. At South school Mr. Hines has the fourth grade boys and Mr. Sweet the fifth grade. At North school Mr. Ford is working with both the fourth and fifth graders. We thank these people for donating their time.

At the North school we hear the familiar "Honor Your Partner." Mr. Benedict has the 50 fifth graders square dancing. They have learned and enjoyed many different squares.

On Friday, Jan. 28, there will be no school for the children. This will be the end of the first semester.

Finality

Five more minutes. "Check your papers," our instructor warned as time was running out on the examination. Then, "Time is up. Prepare to hand in papers."

And with finality, "Pass all papers to the front of the room." No more chance to check answers. Nothing to do but face the results, good or bad.

In later years as a newspaper reporter I met the same kind of finality in the paper's deadline. I liked to give a story a last going over, but the deadline was inflexible.

The deadline was the moment beyond which there was no further chance. If I had missed an important detail, or if a reporter on a rival paper had written a better story than mine, it was too bad for me. It then was too late to add or to change anything.

Life has many such deadlines, from school days to its final hour. In an examination we knew how much time we had. On the newspaper, we knew the deadline.

But as to life itself, we do not know whether we have years, hours or minutes. God mercifully gives us opportunities to correct mistakes, to start over, to make today better than yesterday. Yet the end is coming. We do not know when. And when He calls "Time" our work must stand and we must face the results.

The Bible says, "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment."

For the person who has trusted in Jesus Christ as his Saviour, the judgment will be an appraisal of his service for his Lord. He will then "receive a reward" for faithfulness, or "suffer loss" if he has failed. But in either case he will still be with the Lord to enjoy eternal life.

For the unbeliever, however, judgment will bring the sentence of eternal separation from God and from loved ones as well as from all that is good.

If you are yet unaved, the crucial question is how can you avoid this eternal separation. The only reasonable response is to turn in repentance and faith to Jesus Christ, the Son of God. Who gave His life to pay the penalty for your sin. Ask forgiveness in His Name; then turn your life over to Him and let Him direct it. For the Bible says, "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus."

And Jesus Christ Himself said, "I am come that they might have life." "For I go to prepare a place for you . . . that where I am, there ye may be also."

And one of His last prayers was "Father, I will that they also, whom Thou has given me, be with me, where I am."

Will you be among those with Him in the life to come?

Reports from

WASHINGTON

Fly-By-Night Insurance Operators

Recently I received a complaint from the parents of a young man who is now serving in the United States Army. He had to do the solicitation of these people by out-of-state insurance companies not licensed to do business in Michigan. I immediately started an investigation of this situation, with the Department of Defense, in Washington. The facts uncovered in that investigation will be of interest to many of our area. I am there-fore passing the story along to you, with the hope that you look carefully at any insurance solicitations which you receive, particularly in the mail, purporting to offer special insurance benefits for service-people and their parents.

Unfortunately, some states are laxly careless in their regula-tion or lack thereof of insur-ance companies based within their boundaries. Such lack of proper regulation, of course, encourages companies with unfortunate prac-tices and methods to locate in these states. Apparently Arizona is presently one of the states which, through lack of adequate regulation, is currently encourag-ing companies that do not meet the normally high standards of the life insurance industry.

Service men and their parents have been receiving, deceptively, solicitations from Arizona insurance companies, claiming to "norm" the audience about "gov-ernment-sponsored" life insurance. These companies have carefully de-signed its sales envelope to look like an official Department of De-fense envelope, marked "Import-ant business" and "New regula-tions for government life insur-ance enclosed." No regulations about government insurance were enclosed, rather a fraudulent ad for "permanent" insurance. The act is that what the company of-fers is a very high-premium non-terminable "term" policy which will be useless in five years unless converted to an unspecified policy at the end of that period.

One of these companies has been in operation for only four years. It is only "military policies," is licensed to do business only in Arizona, and has total assets of only $60,000. In contrast, many of the companies that sell and service their life insurance pro-grams through local agents, and are licensed in the State of Michi-gan, have assets of hundreds of millions of dollars.

The Department of Defense has formed a unit that they are very concerned about the increasing number of questionable companies offering life insurance by mail. A life insurance industry advisory board has been established to help the department distinguish between the bona fide and established com-panies and those which prey on servicemen and their families. I urge you to thoroughly investi-gate any company that offers by mail to insure your son or daugh-ter in the service.

Donald B. Sexton Spends Christmas in Japan With Ship's Crew

SS Benner - Sonar Technician Third Class - Donald B. Sexton, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abetua L. Sexton of 1231 Ridge Rd., Chel-sea, Mich., spent Christmas in Sasebo, Japan, while serving aboard the destroyer USS Benner. Prior to pulling into Sasebo, the ship supplied gunfire support for U.S. and South Vietnamese troops, and participated in rescue opera-tions of U.S. pilots who were forced to abandon their aircraft in the Gulf of Tonkin following flights against the Viet Cong.

During the visit to Sasebo, Ben-ner's crewmembers donated blood for wounded G.I.s fighting in Viet-nam, participated in various ath-letic events and participated in a Christmas party for Japanese or-phans.

Jackson Road Businessmen Discuss Proposed Reservoir

John E. Kinney of Ann Arbor was guest speaker at a meeting of the Jackson Road Business Asso-ciation held at the Industrial Tec-tonics plant, Monday evening, Jan. 24.

The Mill Creek Research Coun-cil, which had been asked by the Association to provide additional information on the proposed Mill Creek Impoundment project, in-vited Kinney to speak. Kinney is a sanitary engineer, consultant on water supply, management, and pollution, and has had 25 years experience in the field of water management.

The speaker, who was intro-duced by Robert Holliday who had been introduced by John D. Good-all, Association chairman and host for the evening, discussed multi-purpose reservoirs and their role in solving water problems.

The communities in the Huron River basin are believed to have enough water to supply their an-ticipated needs until 1985; so therefore, there is time-time to gather facts, to fully consider al-ternatives, and to make an intelli-gent decision without selfish in-terest and based on long-term values, said Kinney. If an unwise decision is made now, our children will have to live with it.

He believes that if water sup-ply is important and if local con-trol is important, then local areas should make their own studies and pay their own way, so that they can then make their own decisions, and in the end have control. He believes that the principle behind the establishment of the Huron River Watershed Council to be a sound one.

Kinney questioned whether mul-ti-purpose reservoirs can provide entirely satisfactory solutions to all of the needs for which they are designed; alternatives should be fully considered in terms of each specific need. Flood control, low-flow augmentation, water sup-ply, recreation, and wild life habi-tation are some of the reasons given for a single multi-reservoir. For instance, a reservoir de-signed for flood control must be drawn down, releasing water after rains in order to catch and hold the next set of showers, thereby immediately lowering the water level and decreasing aesthetic ap-peal.

Also he questioned low-flow au-gmentation theories relative to the current practice of using as a standard of purity four parts of oxygen per million parts of water, (four pounds oxygen to each one million pounds of water day in and day out, when the actual need for fish life is four, five, or more parts per million during the spring spawning season and two parts per million during the balance of the year.

Regarding water supply, he be-lieves that current concern over the lack of an adequate water sup-ply is not based on the facts. To-day we are actually consuming 60 billion gallons of water daily, mostly for crop production. 515 billion gallons is all the water that is available, but right now we are using 2,000 billion gallons per day through re-use by hydro-electric plants. He then told of an air conditioning system that satisfac-torily re-uses sewage effluent for cooling purposes; that in the fu-ture there will be much more re-use and re-circulation of water for water supply.

We have two sources of water, surface and underground; the un-derground water supply in the United States is 34 times the runoff of all the rivers. It is possible, Kinney said, to pump and pipe water cheaper than you can amor-tize impoundments. We already have the technical ability to uti-lize these vast underground sup-ply-and-to do geological surveys by aerial mapping.

He said that Ann Arbor is ex-ceptional in its intelligent ap-proach to water supply, drawing three-fourths of its needs from un-derground sources (wells and re-lying on surface supplies (Huron River for the rest. Its location is ideal for tying into the Metropoli-tan water system being designed to use Lake Huron water; there-by taking advantage of the vast, indispensable surface supplies sur-rounding Michigan. Jack Bradbury Will Receive Farm Managing Award

Jack Bradbury of 9890 Easton Rd., has been selected for special recognition for accomplishments in the farm business by the Michi-gan Co-operative Extension Ser-vice.

John C. Doneth, extension spe-cialist in agricultural economics, in announcing farmers to be recog-nized at the Farm Management Banquet on Feb. 2 in East Lan-sing, included Bradbury for hav-ing the highest number of lambs raised per 100 ewes in Washtenaw county.

Farmers will be recognized for special accomplishments which are important farm management fac-tors associated with farm success. Factors receiving special recogni-tion are highest crop production value per tillable acre, highest farm labor efficiency, highest gross income per $100 expense, highest dairy product sales per cow, highest egg sales per hen, highest gross income per $100 of feed fed on hog farms, highest gross income per $100 of feed fed on beef feeding farms, highest lamb sales per 100 ewes and high-est financial returns per fruit grower. Others from Washtenaw county to be honored are Robert L. Bevier for highest labor efficiency and David Gordon for highest dairy product sales per cow.

Twenty farm co-operators will receive special recognition as farm managers of the year. These men, selected from the 1,270 co-op-erators enrolled in the Michigan State University Farm Manage-ment Educational program, rep-resent the top one and one-half percent in management efficiency. The selection, based on three-year farm operating results includes farmers from 19 counties repre-senting a wide range in type and size of farm.

Included among the farm man-agers of the year are the Gill Brothers of Ypsilanti, who op-erate a 452-acre, four-man, 140 milk cow dairy business. Donald and Stanley Gill have been aver-aging 100 bushels of corn and 20 tons of silage per acre with milk production per cow over 13,500 lbs. According to information from the extension service, this sound, well-managed dairy business has grown from a 40-cow stanchion operation in 1955 to the present modernized setup.

A third group of farmers to be recognized at the banquet are 25-year participants in the program.

People who get tired and con-sequently postpone their work have weak minds.

Leon Eisemann Is Promoted By Ann Arbor Bank

Eisemann, 33, joined the bank in June of 1949, leaving temporar-ily to serve in the army during the Korean crisis. He is a 1949 graduate of Chelsea High school, holds a standard certificate from the American Institute of Bank-ing, and is attending the Univer-sity of Wisconsin Graduate School of Banking sessions. He formerly held the rank of assistant cashier with the bank.

His wife is the former Margery Ball of Dexter. They make their home at 330 Barber Ave., Ann Ar-bor.

His appointment was one of three announced last week by Ann Arbor Bank President Joseph B. Foster. The three officer promo-tions were made at the bank's board of directors regular meet-ing Jan. 13.

Others promoted are George R. Thorne Jr. and James C. Riecker.

George R. Thorne, Jr., of the bank's mortgage department was promoted to the position of vice-president. Prior to his association with the bank, he had been local representative for the North-west Materials Corp., and had been with the John W. Galbreath Co., in Columbus, O. These activi-ties were in the areas of mort-gages, urban renewal and commer-cial real estate. Thorne, 35, is a graduate of Ohio University and attended Ohio State University Law School. He lives at 1540 Wal-tham Dr., Ann Arbor.

James C. Riecker was promoted to the position of assistant vice-president, also. Riecker is in charge of the bank's personnel, advertis-ing and public relations programs and has been with the bank since 1962. He formerly held the rank of assistant cashier. (Ohio), serving with those companies in Ohio and Pennsylvania. He received a de-gree in economics from the Uni-versity of Michigan in 1956 and has attended their Graduate School of Banking. Riecker, 31, lives at 2100 Devonshire Rd., Ann Arbor.

THE LANSING REPORT

GIL BURSLEY

How to best serve the 230,000 Michigan citizens residing in my state senate district is a constant challenge. The area is large. Peo-ple have problems from the Ohio line in Lenawee county to Whit-more Lake on the northern edge of Washtenaw county. They write me great numbers of letters both at my home and at the State Capitol in Lansing. Without a private office and with a shared secretary in Lansing it is diffi-cult to do the job as efficiently as one would like.

Aware of our limitations respon-sible legislators in both parties are constantly seeking ways and means to better serve their constituents. My personal goal is to see that every letter gets answered and that periodic newsletters reach all citizens who have at any time written me.

One theory upon which I have always operated is that the bet-ter informed a legislator is the better able he is to vote intelli-gently upon legislation and to re-spond helpfully to citizen inquir-ies. Stated in simple terms this appears obvious but it is some-times overlooked when the myriad of detail piles up.

Two years ago while in the House of Representatives I joined with Representatives Harry De-Maso, a Republican and Representa-tives Joe Snyder and E. D. O'Brien, Democrats, to form a Bi-partisan Breakfast Club or as some of us called it the "Friend-ship Breakfast Club." We had breakfast meetings every Thurs-day morning at 8 a.m. at the Eagles Restaurant in downtown Lansing and would have as our guest a top-level Department Di-rector or Administrator. After eating we would have half to three quarters of an hour off the record discussion on the operation and problems of the particular de-partment. We had such guests as the Secretary of State, the High-way Commissioner, the State Health Commissioner, the State Police Commissioner. We averaged 15-20 legislators each week which was small enough to permit a good exchange of views. Person-ally, I learned a lot at these meet-ings and also developed a closer rapport with some of my House colleagues.

Several of us in the Senate are now attempting a similar program. We meet for a "dutch treat" sup-per at 6 p.m. on Monday evening and are able to be in our seats for the start of the session at 8 p.m. Last week we had as our guest Bernard Houston, director of So-cial Welfare and this week Gus Harrison who has long been re-sponsible for the state prisons. Both gentlemen were, as usual, most informative.

I was able to obtain a limited supply of leaflets from Bernie Houston on various programs ad-ministered by his department. They are available on a first-come first-serve basis to those writing game at the State Capitol. Leaflets cover "Old Age Assistance," "Protective Services in Michigan," "Aid to the Disabled," "Aid to the Blind," "Aid to Dependent Children," "Medical As-sistance for the Aged," and "Fam-ily Planning."

Future Recreation Potential Of Mill Creek Area Studied

Roman H. Koenings reviewed a preliminary report of the recreational potential of the proposed Mill Creek Reservoir Project for the Huron River Watershed Council on Jan. 20 at the Ann Arbor City Hall. He is regional director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, United States Department of Interior. This report has been submitted by the bureau to the Army Corps of Engineers, Detroit office.

That this is a preliminary report and subject to many changes was emphasized repeatedly by Koenings, especially with regard to boundary lines.

The Bureau of Recreation report presents an alternative plan to the Army Corps of Engineers preliminary plan for managing the water flow from the pool north of 1-94 and a pool west of a dam which could be constructed at Gunther Rd., holding water in these pools until after the summer recreation season.

The Bureau anticipates this would provide an estimated 1,350,000 user days as compared with 240,000 under the Corps plan. The new proposal requires taking 2,300 additional acres and would increase costs approximately $5.5 million. This additional acreage would provide two beaches, a group and a family camp-site, a nature study center, golf course and winter sports area.

In order to handle the huge volume of traffic, he said that changes would need to be made in 1-94 in the expressway exit ramps and in the local road system. $1.2 million of the estimated $5,000,000 would be needed to provide for 28 new miles of road within the park itself.

According to Koenings, recreation would be classed as a secondary benefit of the project, ranking behind flood control, water supply and lowflow augmentation. If equal recreational facilities at less cost could be found elsewhere, this would be done instead.

During the question period which followed Koenings' talk, Mrs. Harry Denham, delegate from Lima township, noted that according to the approximate figures the draw-down by Aug. 31 on the largest pool of 5,000 acres, south of Jackson Rd. and east of Gunther Rd., would be to 1,900 acres, leaving 3,100 acres or nearly three-fifths of the pool as unsightly and otherwise undesirable mud flats in an average year (one out of two).

In a dry year there would have been a need to uncover 400 acres from the other pools. She also noted that every year in the fall that the two pools held stable during the months before Labor Day would also be drawn down.

The policy of the government when comparing projected benefits for water derived from an impoundment project such as this on the basis of value for 100 years and the production of the soil for one year based on current values was questioned by Mrs. Denham.

Mrs. Arthur Kuhl, Lima township resident, noted that there is much more concern evident for future water needs than for food needs. She said that much land is being taken now for other uses than agriculture and in such a way that it can never be reclaimed for food production.

Koenings said the area under discussion was not considered agricultural anyway. He then quoted from the 1965 Agricultural Act showing that because of overproduction Congress was making provisions for retiring millions of acres of crop land (not just any land) each year.

William Gable, technical advisory committee member, noted that whether we like it or not, eventually there will be changes in the countryside from agricultural to other land uses.

Council delegate Louis Driver from the Kensington Park area, located in Lyon and Milford townships of Oakland county and Green Oak township in Livingston county, said that recreational facilities are important, but that the Park has created new problems for local residents; that although there has been additional compensation to the township that higher taxes have become a problem for the remaining residents. Also he said that costs for law enforcement problems, (four constables instead of one) and added road maintenance and litter pick-up had increased tremendously.

Ann Arbor delegate, Guy C. Larson, raised the important question of finance. He noted that the area which would be serviced by the reservoir already has enough financial problems without the additional cost of providing recreation for the Metropolitan area. In reply Koenings said that these costs could be assumed by several other governmental agencies; such as, the Huron-Clinton Park Authority.

Mrs. Leonard McCalla, Lima township, questioned the figure of 20,000 user day for winter sports in the Jerusalem hill area. She said that there was not one day last winter when the hill was suitable for sports. When asked if he had seen the area, Koenings said he had never seen it, but said that the Huron-Clinton Park Authority had studied it.

David Bacon, also from Lima township, said that winter sports facilities should be built where children live so they can walk there by themselves. He also mentioned that several commercial ventures in this part of the state have not proved too successful. The plans of the Bureau of Recreation are for a family-type area with sports other than skiing, said Koenings.

A final comment from Driver was that in planning these parks tourist trade to the area is stressed. In reality, these parks are so close to Detroit and nearly Everyone that uses them come with a lunch, stays all day, and goes home at dusk. A gas station in the area is lucky if they, "the tourists," stop for gas.

The recreation recommendations were prepared jointly by the Bureau of Recreation, of which Koenings is director, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, and the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Other Watershed Council business included the acceptance of the resignation of executive secretary Robert Carpenter; a discussion of the selection of a new executive secretary; and plans for a different office location, a move from the court house to the old road commission office which has been purchased by Ann Arbor.

The next meeting will be Thursday evening, Feb. 17.

BUDGET AND VIETNAM

It is assumed, with the mounting costs in the Vietnam war, the President's proposed defense budget will get approval from Congress next month. The Administration may ask for supplemental funds to boost the $1,700,000,000 already appropriated.

Sign-Up Schedules Set for Crop Diversion Programs

Mrs. Carolyn Stump, county office manager, Washtenaw ASCS county office announces that the recently announced Cropland Adjustment Program authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into agreements with farmers to divert cropland normally used for the production of feed grain, allotment and non-allotment crops to conserving and recreational uses.

The agreement may be for 5 to 10 years at your option. Annual adjustment payments will be made for the acreage placed under agreement. Cost-share payments are authorized for the establishment of approved conservation and recreation practices. Requests will be considered on a first come basis. Washtenaw county at the present time has 35 requests for agreements on file.

A farm fulfills the qualifying requirement if the owner or owners sign an agreement and divert at least one entire acreage allotment, such as a wheat allotment or the entire feed grain base. Additional cropland may then also be diverted. In fact once the farm qualifies all land currently used for crops on the farm may be diverted for payment.

The Wheat and Feed Grain Program adjustment period will begin Jan. 21 and continue through April 15.

The designated acreage for the program, Wheat, Feed Grain and Cropland Adjustment, must be maintained for the duration of the agreement in such a manner as to prevent erosion and to control weeds, insects and undesirable rodents. No crops may be planted for harvest or harvested on the designated acreage. Signs must be placed with acreage allotments and the feed grain base for the farm under agreement, as well as permanent signs in the field to indicate the program. The Washtenaw ASCS County Office must be notified of any change in the designated acreage.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Ashtenaw ASCS county office manager, Carolyn Stump, announced that the county office has received a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide a fat-free diet for the county's fat-overweight children. The diet is a low-fat, high-protein diet which is designed to help the children lose weight and improve their health. The diet is available to children who are overweight and who are under the age of 18. The diet is provided at no cost to the children. The diet is available at the county office and at the county's health center. The diet is available to children who are overweight and who are under the age of 18. Ross Campbell Files Petitions for Probate Judgeship

Ann Arbor — Ross Campbell, Ann Arbor attorney, today took out petitions for the post of second Judge of Probate the first prospective candidate for this newly authorized position in Washtenaw county.

In addition to his private law practice, Campbell has served for nearly three years as a Referee hearing and recommending disposition of delinquency cases in the Juvenile Division of the Probate Court by appointment by Judge John W. Conlin. Conlin is the county's only judge of Probate at present.

Last summer the Michigan legislature authorized a second probate judgeship for Washtenaw county to help handle the expanding duties of the Probate Court. That action culminated a bi-partisan effort to cope with the mounting caseload of the Juvenile Division of the court.

The Probate Court has been handling more than 2,300 cases each year. A large portion of the work involves protection of abused and neglected children and control, correction and rehabilitation of delinquent children. Judge Conlin has stated that the new judge will head the Juvenile Division of the court and that the new judgeship will be primarily a juvenile judgeship.

Campbell, a West Pointer, is a member of the Special Committee on Juvenile Problems of the State Bar of Michigan, a consultant to the Law Committee of Project 74, which is studying the needs of the juvenile court, and a faculty member in the Juvenile Court Hearing Officers Training Program of the Institute of Continued Legal Education. He is the author of a recent State Bar Journal article on practice in juvenile court and has spoken extensively to local civic groups on the causes and correction of juvenile delinquency.

Campbell said, "The second judgeship, plus the unique scientific and social resources of our county and the enlightened attitudes of our residents, gives Washtenaw county an opportunity to become a national leader in preventing and correcting juvenile delinquency and child neglect."

Voters will select the new Judge of Probate next November.
