Nobody Loses, Everyone Wins in Village Vote

All 9 Independent Party Candidates
Sweep into Office...No Opposition

One hundred and fifty-six Chelsea voters went to the Village Council election on Monday to elect their representatives in an uncontested village election. No absentee ballots were received and no write-in candidates were listed in the returns. Election inspectors who counted the ballots were Sylvan Township Clerk Daniel Murphy, Mrs. Lewis Clark, Mrs. M. J. Baxter, Mrs. Henry Werner, Donny Talbot and Watson Hart. Equipment for the election was set up by Frank Lachowitz. The results of the election were certified Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. by the Village Board of Canvassers which includes William Chandler, Merle E. Palmer, chairman, and George Palmer, chairman. Newly-elected officials assumed office at the regular 8 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the Village Council. The new village president, Donald Baldwin, tallied 143 votes in the Monday balloting.

Plastics Firm In 24-Hour Production

Twenty-four hour production is underway at the Industrial Plastics Specialties Co., Chelsea's new plant.

The company, located in the former Tokheim Building next to the Community Fairgrounds on Old US-12, processes plastic for industrial use. Production started at the plant in October.

Products of the plant include sheet plastic and plastic parts made specifically for other industries.

The factory presently employs about eight people. A training program is planned for a future time.

Officers of the new enterprise, which has been financed in part by local investors, include Charles Friesner, president; Paul G. Schable, treasurer; and Donald Kenny, Ann Arbor, secretary. John L. Perkins is the plant manager.

Friesner recently received a letter from Gov. George Romney welcoming the new industry to Chelsea.

In the letter, Gov. Romney said: "The projected employment of Industrial Plastics Specialties Company will make a valuable contribution to the economy of the Chelsea area. I am sure you will find the co-operative attitude of this fine community an important benefit in the years ahead."

Mrs. David Beeman and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Riley of Glendora, Calif., who have been at the Orson Beeman home since last Friday, are leaving for California Thursday (today).

THE MIGHTY OAK is one of the trees on the new Junior High school building site which the committee planning the Outdoor Center hopes to save. Looking over the landscape plans for the center are, from left: Don Young, Arthur Schmunk, James Hoffmeyer, Randy Young, Terry Pokela, Tom Hodgson, Mrs. Raymond Steinbach and Trina Bentley. Mrs. Steinbach is the chairman of the committee.

planning the development; Hodgson is the naturalist from the Waterloo Recreation Area; and Miss Bentley is the student representative from the Junior High school. The committee walked over the area Sunday afternoon to get a preliminary view of what is already located on the site and what may be preserved before construction begins.

Big Expansion Plans Revealed By Dana Corp.

Addition Will More Than Double
Size of Present Plant Facilities

An expansion program which will greatly enlarge the size of the present Chelsea Products Division of Dana Corporation is planned.

Although plans for the addition have not been finalized, preliminary figures estimate an addition of more than 60,000 square feet to the present facility which will approximately double the size of the present plant. Included in the expansion program will be the installation of new production equipment and complete rearrangement of the production facility.

The Chelsea plant presently produces power take-offs and gear boxes. Similar expansion programs completed between 1950-55 included the acquisition of 40 acres of land, the addition of 10,000 square feet and rearrangement of the production equipment. The total cost of the previous programs was $732,000.

The Dana Corporation also announced expansion programs for plants in Toledo, O.; Reading, Pa.; Trenton, Mich.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Auburn, Ind.; and Richmond, Ind. Objectives of the Dana expansion programs are to increase production capacity, improve cost efficiency and upgrade over-all efficiency of operation. In the past five years, Dana Corporation has invested in its various plants more than $27 million in capital expansion programs. An additional $30 million will be spent in 1966.

Bus body bids were opened and turned over to the transportation committee for investigation. The transportation committee will report back to the board and bus chassis bids will be awarded at the same time.

THREE CHELSEA MINISTERS are shown discussing the Lenten program to be presented Sunday, March 27, at the Methodist church. "The Parable," a controversial movie will be shown in which Christ is depicted as a clown. The film was shown at the Protestant Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. There will be an opportunity to discuss the meaning of the movie after the showing. All area residents are invited to attend. From left are the Rev. Warner Siebert, pastor of St. Paul United Church of Christ; the Rev. John Smucker, pastor of St. Barnabas Episcopal church; and the Rev. James Craig, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Ministers Discuss Possible Local Council of Churches

The Chelsea Minister's Fellowship considered on March 8, what a local Council of Churches could do for Chelsea. The meeting was at St. Paul's United Church of Christ.

The breakfast meeting considered the problems of scheduling anything of a religious nature even in the important Lenten season. Two years ago the Lenten

Outdoor Nature Lab Planned On New Junior High Site

Plans are underway for the development of a "green island" on the site of the new Junior High school.

The "green island" would serve as an outdoor laboratory and would be located on approximately 35 acres adjacent to the proposed building and the present High school.

In addition to beautifying the grounds, the center would be designed for broad community use and to enhance the instructional program of the Chelsea schools, according to committee chairman, Mrs. Raymond Steinbach. The natural area would strive to preserve plant and animal specimens typical of the Chelsea area in a space where classes from kindergarten through twelfth grade, as well as community groups and private families, could observe and study plants and animals.

Incorporated in the center will be a pond with specimens of aquatic plants, fish, animals and birds; nature trails with trees and plants labeled; a geological representative stone collection; botanically-keyed tree plantings; a soil profile for the study of erosion, gully, and weathering; and plantings of vegetation and shrubbery to provide habitats for native birds and animals.

Other possible inclusions might be a weather station, bird feeders, a sidewalk with the solar system or other scientific data designated in the cement, a sundial, a telescope for the study of astronomy, bee hives, a soil plot for the study of soil types and effects.

The center would continue to develop through the years and would never be considered "completed," according to committee spokesmen. Through the years, children would be able to watch the growth of particular plants and trees. The youngsters could also plan for the development of future centers and committee members expressed the hope that eventually the children would maintain and run the center.

One of the purposes of the site is to instill an appreciation and understanding of native plant and animal life in children who may not otherwise be introduced to Michigan's natural beauties, Mrs. Steinbach said.

The cost of the center will be very minimal as most of the labor and materials will be donated by students and other interested persons. Another reason costs will be low is because every effort will be made to preserve what is already on the site.

Sunday the committee members walked over the area to see what is located on the site. They reported sighting numerous species of birds, small animals, examples of glacial deposits, a good example of the ecological succession in the plant growth from lowlands to higher lands on the property, and a small seasonal pond. The committee is hopeful that soil borings may be located in a spring area which would make possible a larger year-around pond. Plans are for a shallow pond abounding with plant and animal life. Soil borings will be taken by John Truett, soil conservationist for Washtenaw county. The committee has already joined the local soil conservation district.

Trees located in the building site will be transplanted if possible. Plantings of small native Michigan trees may be done this year, and the committee plans to obtain evergreen trees through the School Forest Act.

In April or May, an advanced biology class under the instruction of Terry Pokela will take an inventory of site resources, including land forms, geological features, vegetation, animals and birds, soil types, water and historic artifacts.

Mrs. Steinbach explained that the usefulness of the area will extend beyond the science classes, although it will provide an ideal spot for science projects and agricultural experimental plantings. The center will also provide a place for art students to sketch or paint, and shop students could participate by making signs, marking trails and plantings, and perhaps building an information booth. The pond could be a skating area in the winter, and a summer nature training program, possibly under the Chelsea Recreation Commission, could also be instituted.

The positions of fire chief, assistant chief and secretary-treasurer are subject to approval by the Village Council.

Longworth was also re-elected secretary-treasurer, a position he has held for a number of years. Don Alexander was elected to a three-year term as a trustee on the Fireman's Accident Fund and Don Hafner was elected to a two-year term as trustee to fill a vacancy.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING: Practical business experience is gained in various Chelsea business schools under a new program of vocational training at Chelsea High school. In photo, Karen Hopkins, seated, receives introduction into office routine at Palmer Motor Sales. Instructing her are Mrs. Dale Collins and George Palmer. Students participating in the program attend related classes in school and work part-time in the community. The purpose of the program is to provide the student with practical office training and to provide business with part-time help. Supervising the program is high school instructor Tom Morrison.

By Pat Guest and Bonnie Erskine

The standing ovation given the cast of "Brigadoon" is significant of the hours of work that went into the production. Filling the auditorium to capacity both nights, the audience was held in rapt attention while the tender love story of Fiona MacLaren, a Scottish lass, and Tommy Albright, a native New Yorker unfolded.

As Fiona, Sharon Bollinger's voice was vivid, controlled, mature and could have made up for any deficit she had in facial movement. She did use more facial expression than most of the other characters. Sharon's accent was well executed and she managed to carry it over into her singing, a difficult task. She held her character straight forward, level-headed personality even when she told Tommy that she loved him, a speech which might tend to be said sentimentally.

When Sharon sang "Waiting for My Dearie" her strong voice made the chorus sound weak. Her easy grace on stage was interrupted by the deliberate, practiced movements sometimes shown by other actors.

Roger Frisinger, as Tommy Albright, was a bit lacking in emotional carriage. His face was unmoved as he sang "The Heather on the Hill" with Sharon and again when he sang "It's Almost Like Being in Love." However, in his farewell scene with Sharon, Roger's face did register confusion and uncertainty, and again in the bar scene he made the audience aware of his sudden decision to break off his engagement.

Roger's vocal intonation somewhat made up for his general lack of facial expression. As he examined the family Bible, the audience felt his perplexity. Roger's voice was rather uncontrolled but his sincere, natural style seemed to compensate.

Brigadoon, a small Scottish village in the highlands, was affected by a miracle planned by Mr. Forsythe, the minister of the parish, and Mr. Lundie the local school-teacher. Bill Dehn, as Mr. Lundie, did one of the best jobs of capturing the Scottish dialect of any character. As the forgetful character that he was, Bill gave the audience the impression that this was completely natural to him. His speed and variations could have improved his speech somewhat.

The miracle provided that Brigadoon would appear for only one day every 100 years in order to prevent "evil spirits" from entering the village. Also included in the miracle was the idea that if anyone loved someone in Brigadoon enough to give up everything in his normal life, he could remain there. If anyone tried to leave the village and succeeded, the village would disappear forever. Two days after the miracle happened, i.e. 200 years later, two hunters, Jeff Douglas and Tommy Albright, stumbled on Brigadoon in the midst of a fair and were puzzled by the strange attitude with which Brigadoon greeted them. Jay Livingston, ably portraying the character Jeff Douglas, seemed as natural and relaxed in his different moods as if he were a veteran actor. Jay kept the play going, alleviating some of the heavily dramatic parts with bits of dry humor. Along with the good lines which Jay was given, he enhanced his character by using facial expressions.

However, through the kind attitude of Fiona and Meg Brockie, the boys became accustomed to Brigadoon. Becky Freeman in her role of Meg Brockie, a "general Scotch lass" even though given sparse straight, unthoughtful lines, made up for it in her two songs, "The Real Love Of My Life" and "My Mother's Wedding Day." Although she was not given the chance to prove her acting ability, she showed great potential in what opportunity she did have. At times, she was exuberant with spirit for her part and at other times, her voice was the only means by which she conveyed expression. But in many respects this was all she needed for her voice was strong, clear and as forceful as the part she was playing.

It happened that the New Yorkers had arrived on the day of a wedding between Charles Dalrymple, played by Wes Stinehelfer, and Jean MacLaren, played by Susan Knickerbocker. Wes Stinehelfer, the "hardy Scotch lad turned lover," fit his personality well. His voice was forceful and strong, though it lacked stability on the higher notes of his songs, "Go Home to Bonnie Jean" and "Come to Me, Bend to Me." The one fault that detracted from his appearance was his lack of controlled gestures.

In the scene at the fair when Jean MacLaren arrives, Susan had the audience really believing that she was in love. But as the day progressed she did not seem to keep this mood. The lines of the marriage contract were inaudible to many because of lack of force. On the whole though, her lines were spoken with clarity and had just a hint of a Scottish accent.

One of Susan's best features was her use of facial expression to convey emotion and feeling.

To complicate the happiness of the two lovers, Harry Benton, played by John Huelsberg, who also loved Jean MacLaren, was openly bitter about the marriage because it meant his staying in Brigadoon without ever having known true happiness. John Huelsberg was at a loss because of his reaction on the audience. His serious part as the lonely, rejected member of the village, suddenly became funny when he was carried back onstage with the blood streamer face. He did a wonderful job during the chase scene and in other parts. If only he had spoken slower and louder, his lines would have been more distinct.

As the wedding time grew nearer and Charles Dalrymple signed the MacLaren family Bible, Tommy became more mystified by the dates of Fiona and Jean's births which were in the 1720s. Fiona, not being able to explain the miracle, took the New Yorkers to Mr. Lundie's house where they learned about Mr. Forsythe's "contract with God." Everything at the wedding went well until Harry Benton appeared, did a sword dance with Jean MacLaren, Dalrymple, fought, and threatened to leave the village. A chase followed wherein the village men tried to prevent Harry's escape. During the chase, Harry fell, dashed his head on a rock and died. The men returned to the wedding explained Harry's failure to escape although they keep the facts from the villagers, including Harry's father, Archie Beaton, played by Mike Tarasow, and the girl who loved Harry, Maggie Anderson, played by Lauralyn Johnson. Mike Tarasow seemed rather stiff and unrelaxed, the probable reason being lack of prior stage experience. Even though many of his lines seemed practiced, lines in which he showed concern for his son were very genuine.

After the wedding, Tommy professed his undying love for Fiona and decided to stay with her forever in Brigadoon. As Fiona left the scene, Jeff sauntered in, confessed to the manslaughter of Harry Beaton and tried to dissuade Tommy from staying in Brigadoon. Tommy became confused and when Fiona returned, he told her that he wasn't sure of his emotions or of his acceptance of Brigadoon and that he must leave. In the touching scene that followed, Fiona swore everlasting love for Tommy and bid him goodbye as the day in Brigadoon came to a close.

Once again in New York, Jeff resumed his habitual drinking and Tommy went off to a farm in New Hampshire, postponing his marriage to Jane Ashton, played by Joan Dietle, who had been his fiancée prior to his trip to Scotland. Although her part was small, Joan Dietle did an excellent job of pretending she was mad at Tommy. Through gestures, she did a very realistic performance of a terribly hard task in that she had to mouth the words. Also, she either practiced the scene many times or had an unusually good sense of timing to come right back as soon as Sharon finished singing. Her part was small but executed well.

Tommy returns to New York and while talking to Jeff in a bar, Jane arrives. Jeff, after being ignored, staggered off stage leaving Tommy and Jane making plans for their wedding. But familiar phrases that Fiona had used kept Tommy thinking of her and he calls the wedding off. Calling Jeff from the bar, plans were made for a return trip to Scotland. Once in Scotland, they went back to the spot where Brigadoon had been in hopes that they would recapture what they had lost. Tommy, reluctant to leave, heard Brigadoon calling to him. Soon after, Mr. Lundie appeared, awakened from sleep and realizing Tommy's love for Fiona, took him to Brigadoon leaving a bewildered Jeff on stage as the curtain closed.

They were many minor parts which added much to the performance. Kinyon Gorton, as Angus McGuffie, and Brian Dyson, as Sandy Ben, did good jobs in their parts as townsmen. Their singing voices, however, were at times too quiet and didn't always carry over the orchestra. Bill White, portraying the bartender, Frank, kept the stage from looking unbalanced. His constant movement, the popular concept of a bartender, was done fluently and naturally.

The dancers, Donna Bolanowski, Susan Knott, Debbie Kuhl, Laurie Koenig, and Linda Shippy, with Judy Wiseman as choreographer, became part of the villagers along with the chorus. The dance in which Lauralyn Johnson as Maggie Anderson, flirted with Harry Beaton and Charlie Dalrymple was simple and fit into the tempo of the music.

The chorus, comprised of Peggy Dehn, Janice Koenig, CeCe Ritter, Tom Scholtens, Terry Tison and Doris Zaeh, was a well-balanced group in both volume and tone. They were a colorful group of villagers and added much to the performance.

In spite of the audience's lack of mood interpretation, especially during Harry Benton's death scene, and in the few outbursts of affection between the sweethearts, the characters accepted and portrayed their roles seriously and generally quite well.

The costumes for the play were obtained through a costume agency in New York and were bright and colorful but not consistent through the play. In the wedding scene, where costumes could have been somewhat more extravagant, the villagers' costumes varied from a peasant-like dress to a brocade dress. Also, the only costumes

Wrestlers Post 10-7 Record To Finish Third in League

The 1965-66 CHS wrestling team ended the season with a 10-7 record which was an improvement over last year's 9-6 performance.

The sophomore-laden grapplers finished second to Dexter in the regular dual meet season but the wrestlers held to the third spot over-all after a fourth-place showing in the conference meet.

At times the team consisted of as much as seven sophomores, three juniors and two seniors.

Bill Pearsall wrestled in the 95-lb. class for the Bulldogs. Pearsall finished his first year of varsity wrestling with a 9-7-1 won-lost record. Pearsall was also a third-place winner in the conference meet. Coach Richard Dusseau feels that Bill has a lot of potential but he lacks self-confidence.

Bill Lounsbury (103) was one of the few returning wrestlers who ever had any previous varsity experience at the beginning of the year. At the end of the year, Lounsbury had compiled a 10-4 record. Bill was one of the more consistent wrestlers throughout the year, commented Coach Dusseau.

Paul Stahl (112) was one of the first-year men who really impressed me," Dusseau said. Stahl had an 11-5-1 record and placed third in the conference meet. Stahl defeated some real good wrestlers during the course of the year. In his last dual meet Stahl defeated Silver of Fowlerville by a 3 to 1 score. It was Silver's second defeat in 22 matches.

Mike Funderburgh (120) was a junior and co-captain of the team. Funderburgh, who Dusseau says "hasn't reached his peak yet," sported an 11-4-2 record and was runner-up in the conference meet. Mike also provides the team with some leadership.

Mike Hendricks (127) a co-captain, had a 15-2-0 record and was the second-place finisher in the conference meet at 133 lbs. Dusseau says, "Hendricks had the best record on the team and has real potential but he lacks self-confidence at times."

Mark Lancaster (133) is a sophomore and first-year varsity wrestler who Dusseau thinks has good potential and will be a real good wrestler as soon as he gets more finesse to go with his spunk.

Ray Weiner (138) started to come along toward the end of the year and could have helped the team a lot more if he had a year's experience behind him. Weiner finished the season with an 8-9 record to his credit.

Lauralyn Boyer (145), sophomore and co-captain, paced the Chelsea wrestlers at the conference meet. Boyer was the only Bulldog grappler to become a league champion. "Boyer did a real good job this year though he didn't come up to everyone's expectations, he was injured a lot of the time," Dusseau asserted. Boyer had a 12-5-0 record at the end of the season.

Ron Watkins (154) was a third-place medal winner in the conference meet. When he was needed Ron came through with some important wins. "If he works, Dusseau said he can really help the team next season."

Paul Lancaster (165 and 180) had a 7-10 record in his first year of varsity wrestling. Paul has a lot of potential in Dusseau's opinion.

to carry the Scotch plaids were the boys' costumes.

The make-up committee did a fairly near perfect job on the actors. The only thing that was noticed was that for many of the girls who have very light skin, under the lights their skin was much lighter and more makeup should have been used.

The orchestra comprised of Chelsea High students and faculty members, did a very good job, except that in parts their music was too loud and it covered over the speeches of the actors on stage. The transition music between acts was very entertaining.

All in all, the play "Brigadoon" under the direction of Paul Schultz, went over well. For the most part, the actors seemed natural and relaxed and only in the fair scene did anything look staged at all. The many hours of work on the parts of the cast and crews paid off in the commendable production of "Brigadoon."

and he will be an asset to the team next year.

"Ray Worden (165 or 180) gave almost all of his opponents at least 35 pounds in weight and it takes something extra to go out there against bigger men and do the good job he did," Dusseau stated.

Gary Hopkins (11wt. or 180) had a 6-8 record at the end of the year. Hopkins was a third-place finisher in the conference meet and gave the best showing of all the Chelsea wrestlers in the 11wt. Rouge Regionals.

Jim Boylan (11wt.) also helped the team. Only a freshman, Jimmy won two of his three varsity matches. At the beginning of the year Boylan weighed in at 186 and was 8'2" tall. At the end of the season Boylan weighed 201 lbs. and stood 6'3 1/2" in height.

Mike Lounsbury was an asset to the team by coming to the team and winning some tough matches when the team had to have a win. McClear won three out of four varsity matches in the 130 and 145 lb. classes.

The Bulldogs are losing only two seniors this year compared to nine last year. The seniors are Ray Weiner and Gary Hopkins.

Returning to the wrestling scene for one more year are co-captains Mike Funderburgh, Ron Watkins, Paul Lancaster, Mike McClear, Bob MacDougall and Ron Montange. Co-captain Lauren Boyer, Bill Pearsall, Bill Lounsbury, Paul Stahl, co-captain Mike Hendricks, Mark Lancaster, Ray Worden and David Niles will be back for two more years. Jack Young, Howard McCalla and Jimmy Boylan have three years remaining.

Next year Coach Dusseau plans to schedule fewer dual meets and more tournaments. Next year and the year after are the years the Bulldogs should be at their strongest as championship contenders in the MacFiv league.

Questions & Answers

Why do cheese souffles in France always taste different from those made here at home?

The difference is mainly due to the cheese. In the United States, Cheddar or another sharp cheese is used. The French prefer something milder for cheese souffles and generally select Parmesan or Swiss cheese or both. Souffles made with these cheeses are considered to produce a lighter preparation, since they are lower in fat content.

MERKEL BROTHERS

THE COUNTRY PULPIT:
Religion
What is the point of Christianity?
What is the business of the Church, of its ministers and members?
It is to give men a vision of the glory of God!
Modern religion is not aimed at the glory of God but rather at the comfort of man. People ask, "What can religion do for me? What can I get out of it?"
The world needs something more than a spiritual aspirin tablet, because it is suffering from something more than a spiritual headache. It needs redemption, not just relief. It needs the grace of God, not just the works of man. In other words, it needs the vision of the glory of God in Jesus Christ!
Man-centered religion may be popular, but it will always be a failure. It is unable to solve the moral decline of our times and the answers to the real questions that face us.
But the message from God, the message of the Bible, is that man must obey God because God commands it—whether or not there are any present benefits that man must serve God for His own sake whatever the cost; that man must have faith, not because it will make him feel better, but because it is the only way for him to get back to God.
God doesn't exist for man's benefit, but for His own glory! Perverting religion into a man-centered cult of "peace of mind" and "positive thinking" is a wicked distortion of Christianity.
God has not only revealed His glory in this wonderful universe, but also in His becoming man in order to redeem us. The angels sang glory to God in the highest when Jesus was born on the first Christmas. The Son of God took on our humanity so that we might behold
His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. In Him, was life; and the life was the light of men; no man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him. (John 1:14,15)
What a great and glorious God we see in Jesus Christ! He lived and died here. He took our sin to save us from it. We may see Him and talk with Him and walk with Him and love Him as our Lord.
What kind of religion do you have? Whom are you serving—yourself or God? Whose glory are you seeking, yours or His? If you get the wrong answer, you just haven't seen the glory of God in Christ Jesus—the glory that saves the souls of sinners like you and me.

Congregational Church Trustees Choose Mrs. L. White Chairman
At their regular meeting last week the Board of Trustees of the First Congregational church voted to make Mrs. Laurayne White their chairman for 1966. The trustees who are the group elected at the annual meeting to be in charge of financial and material affairs for the United Church of Christ church, select their own officers and form their own committees. At an earlier meeting they chose Howard Anderson to be their vice-chairman, Edwin Dickelman their clerk and Merle Leach to be temporary chairman of the House Committee.

Newly appointed by the nominating committee of the church is Glenn Wiseman who was put in to fill the place of Charles Powers who resigned due to his inability to attend meetings this year. This makes the six members of the Board of Trustees as follows: Mrs. Laurayne White, Howard Anderson, Merle Leach, Max Hephurn, Edwin Dickelman, and Glenn Wiseman.

Other officers of the church are Mrs. Lewis Bernath, treasurer; Mrs. Franklin Gee, clerk; Mrs. Parker Sharard, financial secretary; Mrs. Larry Chapman, historian; Mrs. William Van Riper, church school superintendent; Mrs. Charles Lane, chairman of the deaconesses; Ray Peppers, chairman of the Christian education committee; and Robert Jacobs.

Just A Minute...
By the Rev. James A. Craig
Looking for a bargain? There's one coming your way Sunday, the One Great Hour of Sharing. You'll get a lot for your money.
The United Jewish Appeal, The Roman Catholic Bishop's Fund, and the Protestant One Great Hour of Sharing are attempts to emphasize the chance to do some particular good in the world during Lent.
Always observed on the third Sunday in Lent it is likely that each church will mark the day with at least a special offering.
And what does the money do? Through denominational agencies it will buy food and clothing for overseas relief, provide emergency funds in event of natural disaster, put up temporary shelter for refugees.
It will make possible the services of the Church in education and worship among minority groups and in isolated places.
There's more. The One Great Hour of Sharing offering will make money available to assist qualified students in graduate study in order that they might better work among their own people giving needed leadership.
And more. Recreational and cultural centers are provided for servicemen, sponsored by cooperating denominations, near bases in the U. S. and overseas.
All this in One Great Hour of Sharing. That is a lot for your money.

SUNDAY'S SERMON
How often have you heard someone make the remark, perhaps facetiously, "I may not always be right, but I am never wrong."
How comforting it would be to know that one could go through life without ever making a wrong decision, without being responsible for some act or word that brought discredit or disfavor to someone else.
We are not perfect, none of us. We cannot assume that something we want or something we say is right merely because we want it or we say it. We are human, subject to the weaknesses of human nature, prone, perhaps, to give ourselves first consideration under any circumstances.
It is generally true that the man who achieves some stature in life has a unique ability to evaluate his own strength and his own weaknesses.
And, it can only be true that all of us must stand tall and erect if we are going to say, "I was wrong."

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

March 1, 1966
Council Room

This meeting was called to order by Pres. Haselschwardt at 8:00 p.m. Invocation by The Rev. R.A.J. Livingston of the Congregational Church, Trustees present: Bollinger, Burg, Chapman, Schable, and Weber. Trustee absent: Crouch. The Minutes of the Regular Session of February 15, 1966, were read and approved.

A request was entered by Mr. Donald Hoffstetter of 102 S. Main Street for a variance to build a three car garage partially on the site of his present one-car garage. New foundations will be necessary. The new garage will extend approximately 20 feet eastward. Letter from the immediate neighbors, Mrs. Susan Williams and Mr. John A. Weber, were submitted stating no objection to the proposed variance.

Motion by Weber, supported by Burg, to approve the variance, as requested by Mr. Donald Hoffstetter. Roll call: Years all Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. Lynn Kern and Mr. Cameron B. Chanon regarding a proposed mobile home park, which would be located on the Kern property, immediately to the south of the Chelsea Fairgrounds. Further investigation will be held. Mr. Kern was advised to submit a request for annexation to the Village Council on March 15. Motion carried.

A discussion was held with Mr. John Thompson, representing the Chelsea McKune Library. Mr. Thompson requested village participation in the construction of a parking lot on the Staffan lot to better utilize the McKune Library. An investigation and further discussion was recommended.

A discussion was held regarding the funds receivable from the merchants for the Parking Lot Bond and Interest Account. Approximately $3,000.00 is due on this account. A contract offer will be made for collection.

A discussion was held regarding the need for approximately 21 new parking meters. Police Chief John Palmer was instructed to investigate and submit proposals to the Council.

The Council, acting as the Village Election Commission, approved the following village residents for election duty at the Annual Village Election to be held March 14, 1966: Mrs. Beatrice Clark, Mrs. Helen Baxter, Mrs. Henry Werner, Mr. Daniel Murphy, Mr. Dennis Tallant and Mr. Watson Hart.

RESOLUTION
BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the Village of Chelsea hereby make application to the Michigan State Highway Dept. for placing a banner above M-54 between W. Middle and Park Streets, stating "VOTE TODAY." Said banner to be placed March 14, 1966, and removed March 14, 1966.

The Village of Chelsea agrees to save harmless the Michigan State Highway Dept. and the Michigan State Highway Comm. against any and all claims for damages arising from operations covered by this permit.

Eisenbeiser, for the sum of Twenty-Five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars, the following described real estate located in the Township of Lyndon, Washtenaw County, Michigan known as:

Howard Haselschwardt, President.
George Winans, Clerk.

PLANNED BARN-BURNING—Rural Michigan probably needs 50,000 fires like the one above (left).
Lorn Smith, living west of Sandusky, burned down this old barn on his farm and replaced it with a small but efficient shed (right) he uses to house calves and machinery. The cost was less than $3,000.

Michigan State University agricultural engineers say many old, unused barns and sheds on some Michigan farms are both an "eyesore" and a fire and safety hazard.

They also say most farmers would find it more economical to make a "planned burning of old buildings rather than trying to remodel them.

The "planned burning" should be done when there is no wind, a low grass fire hazard, and someone is around to keep the fire from spreading. The local fire department should be alerted and may want to stand by.

Smith, a part-time farmer, who feeds out dairy calves for beef production, hooked a tractor into a couple of corners of the old dilapidated barn, to break it down for better burning. He said some other old structures on the farm would also probably be replaced after they were burned or torn down.

Bands Earn Top Ratings At Festival

Four Chelsea bands composed of 235 instrumentalists competed March 5 and March 12 in district band festivals and captured high praise for their performances.

The Chelsea High school band won top honors Saturday March 5, in the District Band Festival held in Chelsea. The High school band received a straight "one" rating, the highest rating possible, and will travel to Flint on April 23 to compete in the State Music Festival. The High school band competed against other class B bands.

The Chelsea seventh grade band also won distinction March 5 by winning three "one" ratings in performance and one "two" rating in as a "one" rating. The band competed in class D.

On March 12, the eighth grade band, directed by Bruce Galbraith, who also directs the Chelsea High school band, traveled to Willow Run. Competing as a class C junior high school band, the musicians brought home another "one" rating.

The ninth grade band, directed by Martin H. Gurvey, who also directs the seventh grade band, traveled to Saline on the same date. The ninth graders competed as a class B junior high school band and captured a "two" or excellent rating in stiff competition.

Approximately 1,000 students, representing 19 class B and C high school and class D junior high school bands, were in Chelsea March 5 for the Festival.

The bands performed March 5 before a panel of three judges: Lawrence Teal, a saxophone instructor at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor; William Fitch, professor of music at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti; and Ronald Omark, of Charlevoix, also a music instructor. The bands performed in the high school auditorium, after which they went to the gymnasium where they were judged in sight-reading skills by Robert Smith of Three Rivers.

Judge Omark complimented the High school band by commenting: "This band plays very well—it was a pleasure listening to you."

Of the seventh grade band, Judge Teal, professor of saxophone at the University of Michigan, said: "Band shows real promise and there are some good junior high players here."

Judges at Saline on March 12, before which the ninth grade band performed, included John Howard of Benton Harbor, Daniel Kyser of Western Michigan University, Floyd Mead of Midland and Pat Luoma of Flint.

In his comments about the band, Judge Kyser commented: "There are musical lines coming from this band."

Judging the eighth grade band at Willow Run on March 21, were Keith Steip of Michigan State University, Donald Bulloch of Western Michigan University, Ross Van Ness of Marshall and Clifford Lillyva of the University of Michigan.

Lillyva, a professor of cornet at the University of Michigan, commented of the eighth grade band: "This is an excellent group, systematically trained in the elements necessary for good reading."

The adjudicators rate bands at these festivals according to tone, intonation, rhythm and technique, using a rating scale of one through four for each category and then averaging these grades together for an over-all rating.

The comments of the judges in each of these categories are read to the band and are used to improve the quality of the band. The festivals thus serve as one of the best learning experiences that a band and the director can receive.

Other area schools judged March 5 at Chelsea were Dexter, which received four "one" ratings in performance and sight-reading; Dundee, which received four "one" ratings; and one "two" rating in sight-reading; and Stockbridge, which received four "three" ratings.

Recent cold weather has checked the talk about our winters getting warmer.

Council Briefs

Chelsea Village Council met Tuesday evening in the Municipal Building in a regular session. The Rev. James Craig gave the invocation. The new Village President Donald Baldwin presided at the meeting.

A resolution was passed directing a petition to the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors for the annexation of a parcel of ground as requested by Lynn Kern. The notice of the petition will be published in The Chelsea Standard on March 24, March 31, and April 7. The petition will be submitted to the Supervisors at their April 12 meeting.

Discussion was held with John Thompson, representing McKune Memorial Library, regarding a possible parking lot construction at the library site. President Baldwin instructed Trustee Schable and Steve Byllesby to investigate and bring a recommendation to the Council.

A request for a rezoning hearing of a parcel of land located on S. Main St. was submitted by the Chelsea State Bank. A public hearing will be held at the April 19, 1966 meeting. Notice to be published in The Chelsea Standard.

Discussion was held with Greg Auhell of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout, village sanitary engineers, regarding a summary of expenses necessary for an aerial survey and topographical study of the Chelsea area. This survey and study is in connection with the proposed area planning study necessary to determine the future needs of the village as regards sanitary sewers, storm sewers, land use study and aerial survey and topographical study of the Chelsea area as recommended by Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout. Motion that firm of Finkbeiner, Pettis & Strout be authorized to conduct a sanitary sewer survey of the Chelsea area upon completion of the aerial and topography study. Both motions approved.

A discussion was held with School Board Members Kusteron, Foster and Warren and Supt. of Schools Charles Cameron regarding the new Junior High school street, street lighting and sanitary sewer. Information was requested—President Baldwin instructed Trustee Schable and Bolinger to consult with Village Engineer Peter Kury regarding his recommendations as to streets and to meet with the school committee at the earliest opportunity.

Thomas Smith, village assessor, submitted the following assessment figures, as approved by the Board of Review: personal property, $2,076,150; real property, $3,289,200; total, $5,365,350. This represents an increase over 1965 in the amount of $448,040. Motion to accept the assessment valuation as presented, and that the millage for 1966 be set as follows: 13 mills for general fund; 1 mill for McKune Memorial Library; 3 mills for the payment of interest and principal on the sewage bond issue. Approved. This is the same as last year.

Motion was made to authorize the clerk to issue a check in the amount of $5,088.85 to City National Bank of Detroit for payment of bonds and interest due April 1 for the general obligation sewage disposal system bonds.

Motion to authorize the purchase of approximately 60 1/2 to 1 1/2 inch Norway Maple and London plane trees from the Low bidder, Cottage Gardens, Inc., Lansing, Mich. at $10 per tree. Carried. The trees mentioned will be planted by the Public Works Crew at specified areas in the village. Information regarding the need for trees in any particular area is desired and a request for a tree or trees should be submitted to the Light and Water office in writing within the next two weeks.

St. Paul's Preparing Building Fund Brochure
The project Executive Committee of St. Paul's nited Church of Christ has announced that as a result of a number of meetings during the past month and much outside work, a building fund brochure has been prepared. It is planned that the brochure will be in the mail to all members including those in college and in the service — by March 21.

The theme of the literature being prepared is "Vision, Reality, Hope." Interesting Sunday school young people in the project, a poster contest has been started. The young people are being asked to give their interpretation of the theme. An award will be given for the poster judged best in each department.

The brochure being prepared will answer many of the questions regarding coming goals and is expected to prove helpful in the April 11-17 activities when all members are to be contacted regarding problems while still located in the present church building and goals hoped for in planning the move to the new church now under construction on Old S-12.

MOSQUITOES
Mosquitoes don't need a pond to breed in. Often an inch or so of water that collects in a pocket in the crotch of a tree is sufficient. Beech and elm trees have a tendency to form waterholding pockets in crotches of limb and trunk.

GOOD FURNITURE
The tailoring of upholstered sofas and chairs often reveals their quality. Look for welting that's smooth, and straight and made separately, and for fabric designs that are matched at seams and centered. Cushions should fit snugly in the corners and square against an adjacent cushion.

Girl Scout Week Observed With Promises of Service

"Girl Scouting — A Promise in Action" was the theme of Girl Scout Week.

Village President Howard Haselschwardt proclaimed last week as Girl Scout Week in Chelsea.

In his proclamation, President Haselschwardt called upon all citizens of Chelsea to give Girl Scouts their continued interest, co-operation, and support so that increasing numbers of girls may benefit from the program.

Mrs. Wilber Worden, Neighborhood Chairman of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, and representatives of Chelsea Girl Scout troops, presented President Haselschwardt with a Promissory Note indicating a wide variety of services that the 253 Girl Scouts of Chelsea have promised to provide in the community this year.

The 12 Chelsea troops perform a variety of services for the community. Among their projects are such things as decorating the Christmas tree at the Chelsea Post Office and McKune Memorial Library, addressing envelopes for the March of Dimes, making trays for nursing homes, adoption of a "grandmother" at a local nursing home, making seasonal gifts and packages for Ypsilanti State Hospital, St. Louis School, and a school for the blind, planting flowers and performing other worthwhile projects in the community.

Guitar Lesson Series
Attracts All Age Groups

Recreation Commission guitar lessons are in full swing. The program is mostly oriented to the "beginner's" interests. There are classes for folk, rock and roll and contemporary music. The folk and rock and roll groups are divided quite evenly.

There are approximately 40 beginners and, for the first time, there is an adult class. In the beginning's class, the first 10 weeks are spent mostly on learning chords, strings and rhythmic. Intermediate classes are working on strumming, picking, and learning songs. Advanced groups are perfecting strumming, picking, and learning songs.

in new songs. The advanced groups are much smaller and more informal.

Jim Brignall, teacher and back bone of the program, commented by saying that the interest rate is good here and that many younger people are interested. Brignall also teaches in Willow Run where there is more of an adult interest.

AMERICAN MEN ARE GETTING TALLER. According to reports from national surveys, the American male now averages 5 feet 10 inches in height. That's 2 inches more than the average height for men in 1900.

Good luck rarely comes unexpected; usually, it is over-expected.

Part of the dollar gain per farmer results from the fact that there are fewer farmers in dairying. MMPA had 18,327 members supplying milk in 1936. They sold 987 million pounds of milk. With only 10,049 members supplying milk in 1965, they sold 1,049 million pounds of milk.

But these facts can take nothing from the excellent record that dairy farmers have set for themselves in marketing of their product through co-operation and bargaining skill.

When Robert Browning said, "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be," he could have been talking of the future of the MMPA. For great good for the dairy farmer was to come of the effort. Members recognize the past as 50 years of battle—a long battle for realistic prices for the dairy farmer's products. The record shows that the battle was well fought.

The Michigan Milk Producers Association was the key mover in establishing a "superpool" which made price bargaining on a broad scale possible. As little as 10 years ago, the average farmer received a gross of $4.022 for his year's milk production. In 1965, he received an average of $12,630 gross for the year. And of this figure, $1,272 was from negotiated premiums above the federal order price. Skill was blended with co-operation.

New Books in Library

Doris L. Sanborn, Librarian

The Embuzzer, by Louis Auchincloss. A novel about a respected member of the stock exchange who shocks society and the financial world when it is discovered he is an embuzzer. He tells his story as an embittered but not a repentant man.

The Equinox, by Carol Sacplir. A novel of Rome in the 2nd century in the time of Emperor Commodus. Here, love and friction are mingled to make history come to vivid life. There is a considerable part of the story given to the persecution of the then small and "obscure" sect, the early Christians.

The Paper Bullet, by Otis Carr. An engrossing tale of revolution and political intrigue in one of the turbulent Central American countries. The story told here emphasizes the insidious methods of Communism in taking over by "using" situations and twisting facts in news coverage to cause internal strife and revolution.

A Child Divided, by Henry Cecil. A novel centering on what happens when the parents of an adopted child find out that his natural parents want him back. Serious and thoughtful but with enough humor to keep his situation from becoming too overwhelming.

Morning's at Seven, by Eric Malpass. A delightful novel dealing with life, laughter, love and death within a family seen from the perspective of a seven year old boy, Gaylord. The story alternately tugs at your heart strings and jostles your funnybone.

There Is A Season, by Faith Baldwin. The story presented in this novel focuses on seven extraordinary days in the life of a clergyman torn between the ministry and medicine.

There Goes What's Her Name, by Virginia Graham. The courageous story of TV's mistress of ceremonies on the "Girl Talk" program. This autobiography combines wry, dry humor with inspiration and courage and the wisdom of experience.

Book of Negro Humor, by Langston Hughes. A panorama of our rich legacy of Negro humor which extends from New Orleans to Harlem. It includes ballads, blues, poetry and stories from Harlem and from the world of jazz.

The Invisible Scar, by Caroline Bird. Mrs. Bird writes a compelling history of what it was like during the "Great Depression." Those who knew it first-hand will be reminded of the ordeals now half-forgotten. This book relates the lasting impressions and the role this period of our history still plays in our daily life. Mrs. Bird says she wrote this book because she is afraid the depression is in danger of disappearing from our consciousness and the memory of it can serve us well in years yet to come.

This year's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, set for 6:30 p.m. Saturday, March 26, in Cobo Hall, will honor Senator Patrick V. McNamara. Mrs. Mary McNamara will be guest of honor at a 12:15 p.m. luncheon.

A luncheon activity will feature discussion on food for peace, economic opportunity, national and state health problems, and "America at Home and Abroad." Legislators and state representatives will be on hand for consultation on local and state-wide issues.

Tickets are available from Washtenaw county ticket chairman Mrs. Donna Zajonc, 4201 Clark Rd., Ann Arbor, and from the Democratic State Central Committee, 247 Book Building, Detroit.
