School Board Will Ask Again for Extra Operating Millage

The Chelsea School Board voted unanimously Tuesday evening to ask electors once again to approve a 4¾ mill proposal on Nov. 2.

The millage proposal and other school problems were discussed for more than three hours at a public meeting attended by approximately 200 concerned residents before the Board reached its decision. The public discussion was held in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

The proposed millage includes an increase of 1¼ mills over the operating budget of the 1965-66 school year. Voters twice have refused to approve the 4¾ mill rate in elections held May 16 and June 13.

The Tuesday evening meeting was opened by Robert Daniels, who served as the moderator. He opened the meeting by commenting he hoped no one would go home with unanswered questions and encouraged persons to ask any question of any member of the School Board.

Robert Taylor reviewed the proposed budget and fielded questions from the audience regarding the proposed allotments.

He commented that school financing is always difficult because it must be based upon speculation regarding such indefinite items as the number of students expected for the following year and the amount of money which will be available from various sources.

The current school budget consisted of $890,500, Taylor said, and the proposed budget would total $1,036,000. Included in the additional proposed $136,500 would be $45,000 in salary increases negotiated by the School Board with the Chelsea Education Association, the elected bargaining unit for the Chelsea teachers, and $45,000 to pay the salaries of six additional teachers.

The six additional teachers includes one additional speech correctionist needed to provide shared services to St. Mary's school and St. Louis school, as required by a recent Michigan state law; an additional first grade and an additional second grade teacher, needed to alleviate a growing pupil-teacher ratio in the elementary grades; another industrial arts teacher to teach additional vocational education classes, including a course in graphic arts and auto mechanics; one more English teacher and one more general science-mathematics teacher. The school receives partial reimbursement on special education teachers and vocational education teachers.

Taylor pointed out that approximately 50 percent of the school budget comes from state aid and that only approximately 50 percent of the total budget is raised by local taxes, including the taxes on local industries.

Martin Miller drew applause when he stated that the requested millage placed an increasing burden on the senior citizens and termed it "the straw that broke the camel's back." Robert Rudd commented that the remedy for this problem lay in fiscal reform on the state level and that senior citizens cannot look to the school system for tax relief. He encouraged them to write to their State senators and representatives, rather than punishing the children of the Chelsea school district.

In response to another question from the audience, Taylor explained that the proposed millage is strictly for the operation of the schools and that no part of it would be used for construction purposes, which are voted and budgeted separately.

He went on to explain that fixed expenses, such as the fuel bill, which amounted to $23,000 during the past year, made it impossible to effect the cut necessitated by the refusal of voters to approve the requested millage without affecting the school program and the school staff. Since the School Board has entered into a legally binding contract with the teachers, they have no option of reducing salaries and the only way the budget could be cut would be to cut people.

Taylor compared the 1966 operating millage with surrounding school districts. His comparisons established the fact that only Saline operates on less millage than the Chelsea district. Figures for the various school districts included Saline, 13 mills; Chelsea, 13.72; Lincoln, 14.00; Milan 14.03; Manchester, 14.22; Dexter, 14.75; Whitmore Lake, 16.22; Ann Arbor, 19.99; Willow Run, 20.12.

In addition, school districts voted the following additional millage in 1966: Saline, 3.5; Milan, 5; Manchester, 5; Dexter, 5.5; Whitmore Lake, 5; Ann Arbor 10.87; Willow Run, 11; and Ypsilanti, 8.

Following this presentation, several members of the audience complimented the school board on maintaining low operating millage.

A member of the audience asked what the average salary will be for the teachers next year. Supt. of Schools Charles Cameron replied that the average salary for the academic teachers will be $6,927.

Another member of the audience pointed out that a local factory had advertised a starting salary of $7,200 a year for high school graduates.

Reuben Lesser, Jr., asked if the school athletic program was self-supporting. He was told that all the programs are self supporting except for salaries paid the coaches.

In reply to a question about what the coaches do in addition to their athletic duties, basketball Coach Terry Pokela replied that he, as well as the other coaches, had full teaching loads and other responsibilities in addition to their coaching duties.

Reuben Lesser, Sr., asked if the proposed business manager had been hired by the School Board. The School Board replied that he had not. A detailed description of his qualifications and duties was presented which drew the response, "If he'll do all that, you're getting a bargain at $10,000."

Another question from the audience asked why tenure teachers leave the school district. John McGill, one tenure teacher who has not signed a contract for next year, replied that one reason teachers leave is economical—"My pork chops cost just as much as yours"—and he hoped people would air their feelings but not take it out on the children of the school district by refusing to pass the millage.

Don Alber, out-going school board member, said that in his four years on the Board he has noted that when 10 teachers leave there are usually 10 different reasons.

Leonard Soloman, a Junior High teacher who has signed a contract for next year, said that some teachers leave because they do not believe the school systems have made the improvements the teachers want to see.

Ed Lewis commented that he would be happy to pay higher school taxes. Eldon Gorton added that he "wouldn't be happy but he would be willing" to pay higher school taxes.

Homer Kuhl commented that a democratic election had been held to elect two new School Board members and that the people of the school district should have faith in the decisions of their elected representatives.

An unidentified member of the audience evoked laughter when he commented: "You mean we've

The Rev. and Mrs. John Fall

ev. John Fall Appointed o Fill Administrative Post

The Rev. John Fall has been appointed administrator of the Chelsea Methodist Home by the Detroit Annual Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Rev. Fall was appointed following the retirement of the Rev. Irving J. Weiss, who was the administrator of the home for 10 years.

In assuming his new duties, the Rev. Fall commented:

"The Rev. Ed Weiss has done an excellent job for the physical planning of the facility to the point that future expansion may not be necessary. The job that lies ahead is to improve program activities at the Home."

The Rev. Fall holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Wayne State University, a bachelor of divinity and a master's degree in sacred theology from Oberlin College. His master's thesis dealt with church-social work and was entitled "Planning Retirement Centers." He has also studied at the Boston University School of Theology.

For the past three years, the Rev. Fall has worked at the Chelsea Methodist Home as an assistant to the Rev. Weiss. He came to Chelsea directly from the seminary.

In March, 1965, the Rev. Fall was appointed acting administrator of the Boulevard Temple Methodist Home in Detroit. He had been commuting back and forth since his appointment on June 18, when Rev. Gilbert Smith has been appointed administrator of the Detroit home.

As administrator, the Rev. Fall will interview prospective members of the Home, handle the day-to-day administrative affairs of the Home, take responsibility for the social, physical, medical and religious needs of the 15 residents and direct the staff of 87 employees.

Edward H. Terry, newly-appointed executive director of the Retirement Homes Corporation, will be the Rev. Fall's immediate supervisor.

A native of Birmingham, the Rev. Fall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marx S. Fall, now of Troy. He and his wife, Joanne, have two children, Mark 4, and Randy, 2. The Rev. Fall is a member of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Dansville Youth Dies Tuesday in Crash on M-52

A head-on car-truck collision on M-52 near Boyce Rd. in Lyndon township claimed the life of an 18-year-old Ingham county man Tuesday morning.

He was John T. Risner of Dansville. Driver of the truck was Walter Bauer, 68, also of Dansville.

According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office, Risner's car apparently crossed over the center line on M-52 near Boyce Rd. and struck a stake truck operated by Bauer. The cause of the accident was not known.

Risner was pronounced dead at 8:30 a.m. at University Hospital.

Legislators, Citizens Tour Proposed Reservoir Area

A special tour of approximately 15,000 acres under study by the Army Corps of Engineers for the proposed Mill Creek Impoundment and adjoining recreation areas was sponsored Sunday by the Mill Creek Research Council. The tour was the first this year. Four similar tours were conducted by the Council last summer.

A second tour is scheduled for July 17. Special invitations have been sent to area governmental officials but any interested resident may go on the tour if bus space permits.

The tour route includes both the northern and southern impoundment areas, and takes more than two hours to complete. Tour guide is H. Charles Powers, 12755 Scio Church Rd.

The tours begin at the Leonard McCalla farm, 481 S. Steinbach Rd., which will be inundated if the impoundment project is approved.

The tour graphically illustrates the economic effects the proposed impoundment would have on the Chelsea-Dexter area.

Nearly 000 persons will be displaced if the project is approved, according to spokesmen for the Mill Creek Research Council.

Ninety-three farms in Lima township, 15 in Scio township, seven in Dexter township and four in Freedom and Lodi townships, all of which are presently operating on a sufficient scale to be the source of the majority of the income of the operator, would be taken for the project. This includes 16,513 acres of farmland including 11,520 acres of cropland. Not included in these figures are farms which do not furnish a majority of the owner's income.

The tour guide, H. Charles Powers, who is also a member of the Chelsea School Board, pointed out that if the impoundment is built, the Chelsea School District would lose a large portion of its taxable land area, but only a small number of its students.

The value of all the agricultural products sold from the farms in the impoundment area amounts to more than $2 million per year, or 15.1 percent of the Washtenaw county total income from agricultural products.

Raised on the impoundment site are nearly 20 percent of the county's total beef cattle, approximately 20 percent of the county's sheep and lambs, 10 percent of the county's total swine production, and eight percent of the county's dairy cows.

A substantial portion of the county's total corn, wheat, hay and oats is also produced in the impoundment site.

Wheat grown throughout the proposed impoundment area is sold to Chelsea Milling Co., one of Chelsea's major industries, where it is used in making Jiffy Mixes. Wheat crops yield between 30 and 60 bushels per acre; corn grown throughout the area yields approximately 100 bushels per acre.

An industrial triangle on the Chelsea-Dexter Rd., which includes the Fortune Industries, Larrowe Elevators, Detroit Abrasives, the Lima Company and the Chelsea Heat Treating Plant has been included in one of the impoundment proposals.

The maximum water level for a large area of land on the Chelsea-Dexter Rd. near the Chelsea village limits is estimated by the Army Corps of Engineers to be one foot less than the height of the outfall, or, drainpipe, of the Chelsea sewage disposal plant. This, according to Research Council officials, could restrict Chelsea's growth by restricting future expansion of the sewage plant. The advisability of disposing of the village's waste water in a stagnant shallow body of water is also questioned by Council members.

A local contractor was quoted by Powers as saying that the proposed water level could, in the contractor's opinion, materially affect the storm sewer serving Chelsea's east side.

Powers pointed out that area farmers have been facing an increasingly difficult situation due to an increased tax structure which includes higher property

Fireworks, Ice Cream Social Slated Monday

Legion Post, Kiwanis Club Join To Provide Free Fireworks Display

An ice cream social and a fireworks display at the Chelsea Fairgrounds and rining bells in the afternoon will mark the Fourth of July in Chelsea this year.

The American Legion, with the aid of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club, will sponsor the annual fireworks display at dark at the fairgrounds. The Ice Cream Social will begin at 5 p.m. and serving will continue until 9 p.m. Hot dogs, barbecues, baked beans, sandwiches, ice cream and cake will be available at the social.

The Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Jaycees, VFW and their auxiliaries in Chelsea will join with the American Legion in a 2 p.m. ringing of bells and chimes chimes which will continue for four minutes.

The bell ringing will coincide with similar ceremonies throughout the nation, according to Commander Eugene G. Martin of Herbert J. McKune Post 31 of the American Legion. This feature has been planned by a local committee consisting of representatives of Herbert J. McKune Post 31 of the American Legion and the Kiwanis Club.

"The Committee asks all residents — every man, woman and child — to pause as the bells begin to ring," Commander Martin said, "and reflect upon the significance of Independence Day. Let us observe this momentous holiday in the same true spirit which inspired our forefathers to establish the independence which we have inherited. Let's mark this occasion as our contribution to a nation-wide expression of unity in support of our community's purpose to champion the cause of freedom."

Village President Donald Baldwin has issued a proclamation, calling upon the residents of Chelsea to join in the observance of the nation's birthday anniversary and to participate in the bell-ringing ceremonies. President Baldwin emphasized the committee's request of all residents to display the American flag on July 4.

Noxious Weeds Mowing Deadline Is Tuesday Within Village Limits

Duane Downer will be mowing the Village property and persons having lots to mow may contact him.

Good Farm Records Needed by Lenders

The average farmer is honest, ambitious but hates to spend time at a desk keeping records. This, says William Rupp, Grand Rapids banker and former county agricultural agent, must change.

"Bankers and loan agencies are asking farmers for good records so they can make sound loans," Rupp told an Agricultural Bankers' clinic recently at MSU.

Many successful farmers spend spare time in winter months developing credit statements that "mean something" to major creditors, Rupp reported.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Anticipated difficulty in bringing criminals to justice hopefully will be offset in Michigan by steps taken by the state police and legislature this year.

Many law enforcement officials complain that several U. S. Supreme Court decisions regarding confessions, interrogations and presentation of proof add obstacles to the already difficult job of getting evidence to convict criminals.

The first step was undertaken by the state police some months back. Efforts began to hire an attorney with police training in his background.

Aim in this addition to state police personnel was to keep policemen current on the legal implications of U.S. and state court decisions regarding their difficult daily job.

It had already become apparent, even before the latest U.S. High Court edict, that policemen would need more familiarity with the intricacies of the law if they were to remain effective in criminal proceedings.

Earmarked for a special computer operation, a $344,000 legislative appropriation is designed to help establish Michigan's hookup with a national communications network to exchange information on criminal activity.

Initially the computer will be set up to "remember" and distribute information about stolen cars and warrants issued in Michigan. Eventually it will provide police officers and the courts with descriptions of wanted criminals, unsolved crimes and prison records, all on very short notice.

One side benefit expected to be opened by use of the computer is that it will lessen the paperwork required of law enforcement officers, thus potentially freeing more men for the important work of prevention, detection and enforcement.

Bottled Danger

Boys will be boys. Figures compiled by the U. S. Public Health Service would lead one to believe it's almost sheer accident that many boys live to manhood.

In Michigan alone last year, the Service reports, some 10,087 people were involved in accidental poisonings. Of this number, 8,117 were children under five years of age.

Aspirin alone, found in almost every home, accounted for 16,494 of the poison accidents. Again well over half of these involved small children.

Household detergents and other cleaning compounds, vitamins and mineral preparations account for the bulk of the remaining accidents.

Curiosity of children can be a wonderful thing to watch. Unfortunately, the curiosity often involves tasting. It is often the carelessness of adults which transforms this curiosity to catastrophe when bottles clearly labeled, "Keep Out of the Reach of Children" are involved.

More Paper Work

A change in civil service hiring policies adds paperwork to the administrator's job, but may serve little other purpose.

The change requires the hiring agent to explain in writing his reasons if he does not take the person who ranked first in the civil service examination process for the position to be filled.

State agency heads have for years been given the names of the top three applicants in filling any position. They could choose any of the three, but could not go lower in the roster than the No. 3 spot unless one of the three was unavailable for work.

Change was instituted to meet objections of civil rights advocates who originally proposed that the rule of three be replaced by a straight regulation that the top applicant be hired in every case.

Civil service officials turned down this idea on the basis that in some cases job experience or personality factors entered into the selection process.

Under the new policy, the hiring administrator will submit his explanation for selecting, for example, the person ranked third on the personnel roster. Then the Civil Rights Commission will analyze the explanation to determine whether race was a factor in the administrator's decision.

Possible flaw in this idea is that both experience and personal evaluations are subjective ones. The able administrator could easily write an explanation which would effectively hide his racial bias if he were discriminating on this basis.

'Lights On' Safety Drive Pushed for July 4 Week-End

The Michigan State Safety Commission, at its June meeting, endorsed a state-wide campaign of "Lights on for Safety" in an effort to stem the increasing holiday carnage during the coming July 4 week-end period.

"Lights on," developed several years ago in Michigan, points up the need for extra care and "heads up" driving during peak holiday travel. The Safety Commission asks drivers to use their headlights in daytime driving beginning Friday, July 1, continuing through noon, July 5.

The Commission urges this for short distance driving, around the neighborhood or to the corner store and back. A large share of accidents happen close to home. With lights on, drivers will remind one another of their responsibility to each other. As soon as they switch on their headlights, this should be their signal to stay alert, drive defensively and "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

Pleasant summer travel begins with a safety check list, especially if drivers are planning holiday trips.

They was a full attendance at the session at the country store Saturday night. Even Zeke Grubb's preacher come by and set for a spell.

The good Parson reported automation had now got over into religion. He told the fellers they was gitting "drive-in churches" in some of the big cities and he had saw where some preachers was holding a "golfer's special" at 7 o'clock Sunday morning fer them that had to git on the golf course early. But he was of the opinion the real job of the church would always have to be done by people.

Bug Hookum warned the Parson not to be too shore about this matter, said he had heard they now got computers that can pick out the right bride fer a feller, figger the percentage of people that was left-handed, red-headed, been married three times and walked in their sleep.

Confidential, Mister Editor, Bug always adds a little to everything he hears.

Ed Doolittle reported he didn't know how they git such figgers but he had saw where a labor union made a survey and found the average man is now working till 10:36 ever morning to earn enough money to pay his taxes. They claimed he was only working till 9:45 in 1902. That's a hike of 51 minutes in four year and Ed allowed as how if Lyndon raised taxes it'll be around noon afore a feller can start working fer hisself.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't worrying none about Lyndon raising taxes. I still got a calender on the all and that calender tells me we got a election coming up in November.

Zeke Grubb said he wasn't worried none about taxes on account of he didn't pay much taxes, but he said these climbing prices had him shook up. He told the fellers he had saw in the papers where they had a $5,000 bull on display at one of the state fairs and he was shore he had a slice of this bull's brother fer supper the other night if the price per pound had anything to do with it.

The good Parson butter into say on account of folks was gitting all of them fringes from the Government, like Medicare, public parks, money to paypart of the rent and such things, we was living in the age of Santa Claus. He said he preached a sermon one Sunday about God not being dead and got no comment. The next Sunday he said he preached a sermon claiming Santa Claus was dead and the whole congregation complained, said he was ruining the young'uns.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Fire which started about 3 p.m. Monday night from an overheated potato frier caused the destruction of the Tower Cafe equipment, and the building is almost a complete loss. Chas. Mundhenk, owner of the cafe, stated that his loss would exceed $3,000 and A. B. Clark, owner of the building, says that damage to the building would exceed that amount.

In a front page editorial, the editor answers criticism of the volunteer fire department following the fire. The editor comments that "What Chelsea needs is a municipal building, with space for fire equipment, rest rooms, council rooms, and such other village agencies as would be deemed necessary. Then every fireman should have access to the building in getting equipment under way."

Cereal Leaf Beetles Found in County Fields

A recent survey of oat fields in Washtenaw county indicates cereal leaf beetles are on the increase, Dr. Al Dowdy, Michigan State University extension entomologist and Don Johnson, county extension agent, surveyed 72 fields in six townships.

The insect was found in the larvae stage in 18 of the 72 fields and one in the adult stage. The numbers varied considerably between fields, the largest number found in fields in the southern part of the county. Farmers wishing to check their fields should look for a snail like larvae, black in color ranging in size from pin head to ⅛ inch long. The larva feeds on the leaves, leaving only the skeleton of the leaf. The leaves look white in color when the feeding has taken place.

No fields checked warranted a spray program; however, Dr. Dowdy predicted in 1967 infestation could be such to warrant a spray program. By 1968 with normal weather conditions, the insect will likely become an economic threat to the county's cereal grain crops.

Turner's Alaska Capers

Editor's Note: Don Turner has arrived in Alaska. The following letter has been received from him which should be of interest to his friends in the area.

PART III

Sitka, Alaska

In the last report of my Alaska caper, which took place at Wrangle, I moved on to Petersburg, located on Mitcoff Island here in southeastern Alaska. Petersburg, with a population of 2,000 was founded by a Norwegian fisherman in 1898 and the predominent population is of Norwegian descent.

The people are friendly beyond anything one can imagine and one can't walk down the street without a friendly greeting from anyone you chance to meet—whether three years old or 80.

The principal industries at Petersburg are fishing and lumbering. Petersburg is famous for its shrimp as well as canned salmon. The beauty of Petersburg is something one has to see to believe. The town is ringed with snow-capped mountain fjords running in many directions.

Petersburg's fishing fleet is something to see when it's at dock and the sun is setting. I spent one day on a shrimp trawler and was real impressed by the operation and crew. They are out about 12 hours, starting at four in the morning. The boat is about 50 feet long with a crew of two—father and son.

The trawl, or net, is about 30 feet long and is dragged along the bottom for two hours then it is raised and the shrimp are taken out with a "brail" or huge dip net. Many forms of sea life are brought up with the trawl and these are picked out and returned to the sea. We took 2,800 pounds and it rained all day which retarded operations somewhat, but was considered average.

I became acquainted with a number of people. The picture is of a fellow who came to Petersburg some years ago as a barber. He is retired now but drives a truck for a dry-cleaning establishment for a pass time and I believe he has more friends than anyone I have ever met. He has had his beard for some time and looks like Santa Claus. This picture was not made in the "Malimute Saloon," but for atmosphere we had Keto of Keto's Cave make the shot on a polaroid. Keto is of Japanese descent but very willing to co-operate in our endeavor to be photographed together. I am posed with Charles Enos.

Don Turner and "Santa Claus"—Charles Enos.

With some degree of sadness I left Petersburg on the state ferry. "Matinuska" and arrived here at Sitka to start a whole new adventure.

I am greeted every day by the friendly people found all along the way in Alaska.

Sitka is famous for its history and was the capital of Alaska until 1966 when it was moved to Juneau. Sitka is in a setting of snow-capped mountains with Mt. Edgecumbe the tallest and resembling Mt. Fugiyama of Japan. Mt. Edgecumbe is a dormant volcano.

Sitka has several institutions. The old Pioneer Home is built on the former site of the Old Russian parade grounds and is operated by the state of Alaska. Puts me in mind of the Chelsea Methodist Home. Sheldon Jackson Junior College is a well-kept establishment operated by the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian church since 1878 and has an enrollment of more than 200 students. Mt. Edgecumbe High school is operated by the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs and has an enrollment of 700. They come here from all over Alaska and must be be one-fourth blood Indian to enroll.

There are so many points of interest here one can't describe them in one article, but the most prominent landmark burned last Jan. St. Michael's Cathedral stood in the town center and was the first church built by the Russians in the early 1800's. The Lutheran church across the street also burned, along with several business establishments. St. Michael's will be restored on the same site to look like it did before, but the Lutheran Church will be a new one built on the same site.

St. Michael's is Russian Orthodox. I had the pleasure to meet Bishop Amvrossy and Father Cyril. Father Cyril is originally from Yugoslavia and Bisop Amvrossy is in charge of all Orthodox Catholic churches in Alaska.

Church services are now held in the oldest building still standing in Sitka, the old Russian orphanage, and I took pictures of the fathers with their robes standing near the altar. They were very cooperative and after a small donation to their building fund they said a prayer and wished me luck on my journey.

In the next article I will include the remainder of my stay here as I go to Juneau from here and on to Skyway.

School Board Calls for Vote On Millage

got two Democrats on the School Board?"

In response to another question, Superintendent Cameron replied that federal funds are meant to be supplementary to the program, not supplanting the existing program, and that Title 1 and 2 of the Federal Aid to Education Act does contain a provision making a school ineligible for federal funds if per pupil expenditures are decreased by more than five percent.

Reuben Lesser, Jr., asked if separate ballots could be provided, one for the millage and one for the business manager. Taylor replied that the Board had never considered presenting separate ballots because it was impractical to select a staff and administration in that manner.

Robert Robbins pointed out that the school budget had been available for public scrutiny but apparently no one cared enough to come and examine it. Other members of the audience pointed out that the budget hearing was held during graduation week when many interested persons had other activities planned.

Ray Steinbach said that many people do not seem to realize that the defeat of the proposed millage means a big step backward and that the school would be hurt for many years.

LeRoy Heller asked if the school could be operated with an additional four mills.

Robert Foster, School Board member, replied that it could be operated on four mills or even less, but not the way the School Board thinks it should be operated.

William Rademacher, local attorney, received loud applause from the audience when he said that he thought the School Board had done a good job but that personalities had become involved because Superintendent Cameron, instead of the School Board, had become the spokesman for the schools and that Cameron received the brunt of criticism from the community for all school problems. He said the situation has given the impression that the Board is subservient to the administration instead of vice-versa, and that the integrity of the Board needed to be re-asserted. He complimented Cameron as a good administrator.

At the conclusion of the public meeting, the School Board retired to the board room to vote on the millage election.

At the same time the Board authorized school principals to hire their staffs for the coming school term.

Fortune Union Unit Elects New Officers

Robert Long has been selected by members of Fortune Industries Unit of Amalgamated Local 437 UAW-CIO to be the chairman of the group for the coming year. He was opposed in the June 21 election, which was held at the Union Hall, 113 S. Main St., by Ken Curty. Long received six votes. Seven ballots were cast in the election.

Joe Minix and Ron Minix tied in the election for two committeemen, and thus defeated Tom Stevens. Both men received four votes.

Boyd Keton was unopposed in the steward election. He received seven votes.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

The legislature has just completed the longest election year session in the history of Michigan. While assessments of the over-all result will vary, it is clear that the session's length bears no relation to its value. In terms of procedure, this session has been labeled "The year of the amended substitute."

There have been many, many bills that were introduced and then another bill substituted. This happened two and three times with the substitute carrying many amendments. This was indeed confusing, not only to the membership but also to the people who were watching various bills as they were introduced. The reasoning behind the many substitutes probably was because the work of many of the committees was poorly planned and very inadequate which necessiated complete new drafts of legislation at the last minute.

In terms of accomplishments, I will attempt in the weeks ahead to analyze what we did for each agency as I did last year. There were many things that should have been accomplished, in my judgment, that were not. Some of the most glaring failures were in the areas of Traffic Safety, Crime and Taxes. A comprehensive attact on highway slaughter was junked. Better tools for law inforcement and crime prevention were also denied and Michigan is still saddled with an outdated tax structure that penalizes low income families and new businesses.

During this session we saw four deadline extensions and many hasty inadequate considerations of major items. This, I believe, emphasize the need for some type of legislative reform. There are at least three groups which have been assigned to work on this and there is some talk of returning this all to consider procedural improvements, but so far nothing has been done.

There is no law of God or man which suggests that wealthy criminals should not pay the full penalty for their crimes.

State Birth Rate Continues to Fall

Lansing—The first four months in 1966 continued to show a steady decrease in the number of Michigan's births, according to provisional figures released today by the state health department.

The statistics, compiled by the Health Statistics and Evaluation Center, showed 49,348 births as of April. This represented a drop of 181 from the 49,529 reported for the same period last year.

Only February showed a singu increase in births from 1965, with 11,949 or 54 more than the 11,895 reported last year. The remaining three months all showed decreases.

The report showed a steady downward trend from 1964 when 52,417 births were reported, for the same four-month period. If the trend continues, the center said birth registrations will fall far below the high of 207,277 reported in 1957.

Last year, 165,483 births were registered, representing a drop of 8,485 from 1964.

CATHOLIC CENTERS

The three largest Catholic archdioceses in the world, the Catholic Digest reports, are Mexico City, Sao Paulo, and Chicago.

Boys' State Delegates Give Report

Chelsea's three delegates to the Wolverine Boys' State have returned home following the week-long session on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing.

The boys report that they were elected to several offices during city, county and state elections which are a part of the program designed to encourage leadership and participation in government.

Tom Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kern of 622 S. Main, was elected county treasurer; Robert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Jr., of 6666 Lingane Rd., was elected city fire chief; and Tim Meininger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Meininger of 107 Arden Lane, was elected to a city council. Smith and Kern were sponsored by the Herbert J. McKune Unit 31 of the American Legion and Meininger was sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

Milk Drinkers Enjoy all "Grade A" Under New Dairy Inspection Law

Michigan milk drinkers, who smack their lips over the cool white beverage at the rate of more than one billion quarts a year, now enjoy the most wholesome milk in history. Under their new milk law, which took effect July 1, all bottled milk will be "Grade A". The law is administered by the Dairy Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The entire delivery of milk, from pasture to delivery truck, is under rigid scientific control of department dairy inspectors. Previously, "Grade A" was available only through certain dairies who voluntarily met the standards.

Entire State Now Serviced by Local Health Depts.

Lansing — The long-sought-after goal of every Michigan county providing public health protection for its residents has been finally realized, according to State Health Director Albert E. Heustis.

All 83 counties are now serviced by approved local health departments, either singly, in pairs or combinations of three or four counties. A law passed last year by the Michigan legislature required that every county provide basic public health services to its residents, and it also increased the amount of state subsidies to the departments.

According to Dr. Heustis, 12 counties previously classified as "unorganized" (not served by an approved local health system) now provide health protection. They include: Gogebic, Marquette, Luce, Mackinac, Montcalm, Gratiot, Clinton, Iopia, Jackson, Tuscola, Lapeer and Huron.

The organization of the last 12 counties boosts the number of local health departments to 54 in the state. Before the final approval by the state health director, Michigan had 45 local health systems in operation.

"As a result of many local and state health worker's efforts, Michigan is now one of the very few states that has 100 percent coverage by local health departments," Dr. Heustis observed.

"This fact, and the added impetus of increased local and state funds will enable us to make increased headway against such longstanding public health problems as communicable diseases, waste disposal, food and sanitation. In addition, we will be able to exert more control over more recently emerging problems that include accident prevention, alcoholism, chronic illness, and air and water pollution."

Recognizing the difficulties of organizing the local departments, and recruiting trained staff members he noted:

"The establishment of statewide local health systems has given us a splendid head-start in greatly improving our public health outlook in Michigan. But I'm sure we all realize that a great deal of work is still to be done before we have complete local health protection. There is no question that we will achieve this goal."

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HAPPINESS

Ask fifty individuals what it would take to make them happy and probably more than half of them would suggest to you that a certain amount of money would certainly do the job.

This, of course, is not true. Money cannot buy happiness, as the line from many a song points out. Money can solve some problems — the financial kind. Money can bring pleasure, in the form of things that the heart desires.

Money won't buy good health. No amount of money can be used to guarantee a long life. Money cannot buy friendship. Money attracts people. People work for money. With money, you can hire a guitar player or a symphony orchestra. With money you can surround yourself with interesting, witty personalities. But, when the money is gone, so are they.

You can't buy happiness. You have to search it out. And with the proper perspective, you can find a measure of happiness, even if you still have a problem or two. If you have faith, in yourself, in the goodness of God, you'll meet your problems with determination and confidence.

SEVEN-DAY CANOE TRIP: Scouts from Troops 425 and 476 left Chelsea Saturday for a seven-day canoe trip to a national Scout camp at Boulder Junction, Wis. The trip will carry them through the famed Manitowish, Flourbeau and Wisconsin Rivers and countless lakes and streams nearby. The country abounds in the history of the Indian, the voyageur and lumberjack and wildlife, including the muskie, bass, pike, deer, porcupine, bear, eagle and loon. Larry Poertner and Vincent Stahl preceded the other Scouts by train for training to equip them to act as guides for the other Scouts. The crew is trying for a 50-mile award which requires a 50-mile trip on water and 10 hours of conservation work while on the trail. En route to the camp the group, traveling by car, went via Chicago, spending one night at Devil's Lake State Park; on the way home they plan to cross the big Mackinac Straits bridge and stay at the Hartwick Pines State Park on July 3. In the photo, left to right, are Lee Dickelman, Scoutmaster Ralph A. Frisch, Sr., and James Juergens of Troop 425, Larry Poertner, 476; Jim Craig and Bruce Haas of Troop 425. Not present for the photo were Wayne Stahl, Vincent Stahl, David Watson and Harold Baker, Scoutmaster of Troop 476.

Labor Shortage Hastens Cherry Picking Machine

Take a tree loaded with red-ripe cherries, clamp it firmly in the grip of a huge mechanical hand, spread out an apron below the branches, then rev up the engine, throw the clutch, and presto — the cherries are shaken onto the apron, to be rolled into containers untouched by human hands. That's essentially how a mechanical cherry harvester works.

The seriousness of the harvest labor situation is fast leading Michigan, number one state in cherry production, into mechanical harvesting of cherries, according to Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

To help cherry producers in their shift to machine harvesting, marketing specialists from the Michigan Department of Agriculture tackled a major problem that seems to be inherent in the tree-shaking style of harvest: grading. Evidently expert human pickers could remove most stems as well as injured, undersized and otherwise defective cherries. Without fingers, the machine seemed helpless to sort.

Yet, a fairly simple solution appeared through the study. A cherry sizing machine was designed to sort cherries into four size categories. Results obtained last season show that cherries graded into the two larger size ranges could be processed into Grade A cherries without further sorting. Nearly all defects such as pits, stems, skins, debris, bruised and poorly colored cherries just dropped through the size sieve.

Results of the Michigan Department of Agriculture study have been confirmed by federal researchers. If comparable results can be obtained in future grading tests planned, the trend to mechanical harvesting will be speeded, with resultant economic benefits to cherry growers and processors.

Mill Creek Area Toured . . .

taxes, a cut-back in extension personnel and 4-H funds, an increase in the cost of agricultural lands due to urbanizaton, the "cost-price" squeeze, and now the threat of impoundment.

Many farmers whose land would not be taken but who would have frontage on the proposed impoundment are also concerned about the undesirable effects of such a location.

Powers pointed out that several area farmers had constructed buildings designed to serve a certain number of acres and that if the acreage was decreased due to the impoundment the cost of upkeep on the existing buildings would be prohibitive.

Several productive fields of marshland reclaimed through tiling fields were also pointed out. Corn and soybeans are now raised on the fields, while other marshy areas have been planted with Reed's canary grass and other nutritious pasture grasses. The area contains little land which could not be converted to cropland if so needed.

Natural features of the land which would be lost if the impoundment is approved were also noted. These included ancient trees, wooded lands, and nesting grounds for sandhill cranes and herons.

Historic landmarks affected by the impoundment would include several old stone houses and other historic homes in the area, many centennial farms (a farm owned by the same family for 100 years or more is designated a "centennial" farm), and the historic Salem Lutheran church, on Scio Church Rd., more than half of whose parishioners would be affected by the impoundment project. (The church itself would not be flooded.)

Several of the farms in the area are now farmed by the third generation of the original farm families. Powers said the opponents of the proposed projects have been criticized for allowing their "sentimental" attachment to the land to stand in the way of the proposed impoundment.

The tour also emphasized recreational facilities already existing in the area. Included in the impoundment area is the Stoney Ridge Farm, a riding stable with facilities for 80 horses and which has 22,000 day uses each year; the Otto Lucht development on Four Mile Lake, which has room for approximately 70 trailer houses on the lakefront; and the Koch Trout Ponds.

The purposes for the impoundment project are flood control, low flow augmentation of the Huron River, to provide a future water supply for downriver areas, and recreation.

Opponents of the project questioned the use of the water for drinking, pointing out that a great many herbicides, pesticides and insecticides are used by farmers today. They also point out that no provision has been made for the removal of trees in the impoundment site, and that if flooded these trees will form tannic acid which will flavor the water.

The members of the Mill Creek Research Council also emphasize that all the more than 15,000 acres would have to be purchased at a fair price. One farm in the impoundment area recently sold for more than $600 an acre, in spite of the fact that the farm prices have been depressed due to the threat of the impoundment. Another two-acre plot sold for $900.

The sources of the water supply for the impoundment also are questionable, according to Council members, who point to a narrow stream of water, the North Branch of the Mill Creek, as the main source for the proposed impoundment. The members fear that vast portions of the impoundment would be covered with shallow, sluggish water or mud flats throughout most of the year.

State Senator Gilbert Bursley, (R-18th Dist.) State Representative Thomas Sharpe (R-51st Dist.) and State Representative Marvin Esch (R-53rd Dist.) spoke Marvin Esch (R-53rd Dist) spoke to tour guests and other interested persons gathered at the home of George Frisinger, 13450 Jerusalem Rd., at the conclusion of the tour. All had been previous tour guests.

Senator Bursley stated that he has been very interested in the proposed project and that he and Rep. Sharpe had joined in sponsoring the Local River Management Act which Gov. George Romney signed last week.

When asked his views on the proposed project, Senator Bursley said: "No action should be taken until all possibilities have been carefully evaluated. In the initial stages, the whole problem has not really been evaluated. I am very impressed with the high quality farmland and the fine homes in the area and believe it would be a misfortune to lose this type of farmland to an impoundment project."

Representative Sharpe told members of the Research Council not to get discouraged and complimented the group as one of the greatest examples of community organization he has seen. He commented that it is hard to keep a group fired up for a long period of time when legislation is pending. When asked his views on the Mill Creek project, Rep. Sharpe said he was definitely opposed to this proposal.

Representative Esch said he favored another alternative which would provide a comprehensive water system, co-ordinated between different governmental units for all of southeastern Michigan, including Detroit and the proposed Atomic Engergy laboratory.

Doctor to patient: "The heartbeat is a little faint, but I can hear the drip-drip-drip of your stomach acid!"

Christmas Seal Camp Renamed

The camp formerly known as the Christmas Seal Camp near Chelsea has been renamed.

It is now known as the Dr. Burt R. Shurly Camp. The late Dr. Shurly was largely responsible for the development of the camp 30 years ago and was the president of the Detroit and Wayne County Tuberculosis Foundation, which operates the camp for many years.

With frontage on two lakes, North and Wild Goose, water sports are of prime interest with campers, who receive instruction in swimming, diving, lifesaving and the proper handling of a rowboat. Other activities include hikes, overnight campouts and crafts instruction.

The purpose of the camp is to provide a month-long vacation for children from underprivileged homes in Detroit and Wayne county whose families have a history of tuberculosis.

Two hundred fifty boys arrived at the camp Wednesday, June 29, and will remain until July 4, and 250 girls are scheduled to be there 27 to Aug. 21.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

The 1966 legislature is just barely finishing its work before the end of the fiscal year. All appropriation bills must be passed and signed by the Governor in order that payrolls and expenditures may be met after the July 1 beginning of the new fiscal year. Frankly it is not good to drag things out so close to the final deadline.

This legislature has done much that is good. It has many very hard working and conscientious legislators but it is nonetheless open to some just criticism.

The repeated failure to meet deadlines is indicative of a lack of organization and leadership. Originally the session was supposed to recess April 15. Subsequent dates have been June 3, 10, 22, 28, 24 and 29.

There has been a lack of communication between the House and Senate. Legislation passed by one body would be rejected in its entirety by the other and substitute legislation offered. This confused even the Capitol press corps and that's going some.

There has been a record tendency to "legislate by conference committee." By this I mean that disagreements on legislation between the House and Senate were sometimes deliberately engineered by the majority party leadership in order to throw the bill into a conference committee where four legislators out of 148 could write a bill that would be offered on a take-it or leave-it basis.

The Senate also continued this year its practice of discussing a bill in committee of the whole and then having a final vote on it a few minutes or hours later the same day. This would be done by suspending the rules. More responsible legislation may be attained by handling these legislative processes on different days which was the intent of the legislative rule-makers. The House follows this practice and it is better than in the Senate. I have served under both systems and strongly endorse the idea of holding a bill over for final vote until another day after it has been debated on the floor a first time.

In the fiscal area the legislature has shown responsibility. The General Fund budget is ending up at about $952 million down over $50 million from projected spending a few weeks ago. The budget exceeds by about $30 million the Governor's proposals but revenues exceeded the Governor's estimates by some $20 million. So we still end up the year in the black and with a good surplus to take into the next fiscal year.

The legislature received a lot of criticism over its efforts to obtain a pay raise. I voted against the pay raise that has just been passed because I believe the legislature should take steps to improve itself before considering the pay question. These other actions could include a meaningful bill on conflict of interest for public officials, lobbying regulations, an ethics committee and improved legislative procedures and staff support. It was my feeling that premature action on a pay raise would remove the incentive to take these steps. You might eat the frosting off the cake and then not want to eat the cake itself. The pay raise was pushed and promoted by the Democratic Party but a few Republican senators and representatives voted for it. I was one of seven Republican senators voting against it.

Ann Arbor City GOP Organization Endorses Esch

The general board of the Ann Arbor City Republican organization Monday designated Rep. Marvin Esch as its preferred candidate in the Second Congressional District primary Aug. 2. Esch is opposed in that primary by former congressman George Meader who was defeated in the last election.

In making the endorsement, City Republican Chairman George Thorne said, "The feeling of Ann Arbor Republicans is overwhelmingly in favor of Esch. Recognizing this, the commitee felt it should designate Representative Esch as its preferred candidate."

Thorne praised Esch for what he called his fine record in the state legislature. He said that with his leadership abilities and valued assistance with Governor Romney's programs, Esch had proved that he was the type of candidate the committee felt would receive the support of the people in the Second District and offer them real representation in Washington.

Upon learning of the city's endorsement, Representative Esch said: "I am most honored, of course, to learn of the Ann Arbor City Republican's preference for my Congressional candidacy and the unity which it indicates. During the coming months I am dedicated to uphold the trust they have placed in me and to lead the party to a victory in the Second Congressional District in November.

Reports from

WASHINGTON

At present, there are 24 different phrases used by Federal bureaucrats, in addition to "top secret," "secret," and "confidential," to prevent the public and the press from seeing Federal documents. The basis of these phrases is Section 3 of the Administrative Procedure Act. The right of the public to have access to Federal documents which are not classified for reasons of national security has been discussed by many individuals for many years.

Last week, after 15 years of talking about the need for "freedom of information" legislation, the House of Representatives took action, unless a very specific reason exists for restricting release of the information. If any Federal agency disputes a citizen's right to see a document or file, this bill grants the U. S. District Courts authority to review the facts and power to order the agency to comply with the citizen's request.

The passage of this bill establishes the public's "right to know"—a right vital to the effective functioning of democratic government. Recent investigations have revealed continuing abuses of this right by some bureaucrats who have used the existing law as a shield behind which to hide, instead of honoring it. Examples of improper withholding of public information have ranged from official reluctance to divulge details on government contracts where there was no competitive bidding, to the Pentagon's insistence that the Pentagon's telephone book was classified.

The nine exemptions to free access of public records provided for in the new measure carefully define those situations where the people's right to know can be restricted in order to safeguard our national security. They are: National defense or foreign policy matters required by executive order to be kept secret; personnel rules and practices of any agency; matters exempted from disclosure by other laws; trade secrets and confidential commercial information; intra-governmental communications not available to a private party in litigation with the Government; personnel and medical files; investigative files of law enforcement agencies, except to the extent available by law to a private party; reports submitted by financial institutions to their regulatory agencies; and geological information about oil wells.

The "Freedom of Information" bill properly guarantees the right of citizens to know about their own government. It reasserts the principle that government records are public records and should be available for public inspection unless there is a valid and over-riding reason to the contrary.

Citizens in a democracy must be well-informed if they are to make intelligent decisions. In a free society, the people's right to know should never be left in doubt. Passage of this bill will facilitate the free flow of information between the people and their government: a process that is the main-spring of our system of government.

EARLY URBAN

Until about 1900, only one nation—Great Britain—was urbanized. Now all the industrial nations have mainly urban populations, and the trend to city living shows no sign of declining.

Soybean Planting Increases Each Year in Michigan

Time is still left for planting soybeans, one of the newer but important cash crops of Michigan.

This year, because of poor weather conditions and the necessity of late planting, farmers may want to consider early maturing varieties of soybeans in place of corn. Acme and Norchief are recommended varieties which are normally used north of a Saginaw to Muskegon line. Chippewa, Blackhawk and Harosoy recommended for the central area under normal planting. Hawkeye and Lindarin, with longer maturing periods, usually may be found in southern Michigan.

Robert McCrory, Washtenaw agricultural agent, believes farmers may plant Acme, Norchief, Chippewa and Chippewa 64 varieties as late as June 18 and under normal first frost conditions get a mature crop.

Each year the production of soybeans has increased. From 1960-64, according to Federal-State Crop Reporting Service, Michigan averaged 313,000 acres. In 1965, 471,000 acres were grown and a crop of 485,000 acres is anticipated for 1966.

Soybeans are best adapted to well-drained soils but adapt fairly well to soils of variable drainage. Sandy loam, silt loam, clay-loam or muck soils are also well suited to soybeans.

When preparing the land, tillage should be kept at a minimum between plowing and planting. Tests in Illinois and Michigan have shown a smoothig implement behind the glow, and planting immediately has given best results.

The agent suggests farmers fertilize according to soil test. The expected yield of 30 bushel per acre will take 135 pounds of nitrogen, 34 pounds of phosphorus and 60 pounds of potash. Special care should be taken to keep the seed from contact with fertilizer.

The agent advises farmers to use certified seed and innoculate the seed just before planting with the proper nitrogen bacteria.

Blood Donors Aid Munith Heart Surgery Patient

Organizations and individuals in the Munith-Waterloo area have pledged their support for a drive to replace 58 pints of blood needed by Lloyd Harr of Munith during two open heart operations during the past two years.

Harr suffered three heart attacks prior to June of 1964. The diagnosis was "aortic stenosis," an ailment in which up to 70 percent of his blood never passed through his heart. The second operation to correct this condition was performed last month.

The Waterloo and Munith Farm Bureaus, the Henrietta Helping Hand, Waterloo Needlework Club, Munith Methodist church, Nazarene church, Munith Parent-Teacher Organization, 4-H clubs and the Munith American Legion Post have all supported the blood drive, which was slated for Wednesday, from noon until 6 p.m., in Munith. The Munith Lions Club made the arrangments to have the bloodmobile in Munith.

Sandi Eresten, Daniel Ellenwood Wed Saturday at St. Mary's

An 11 a.m. ceremony at St. Mary's Catholic church in Chelsea united Sandi Jo Eresten and Daniel Thomas Ellenwood in marriage Saturday, June 5.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Eresten of Chelsea. Mr. and Mrs. George Ellenwood, also of Chelsea, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Father Francis Maliszewski performed the double-ring marriage ceremony.

The organist for the wedding was Mrs. John Dettling and the soloist was Mrs. Donald Doll. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding the bride selected a white floor-length gown of organza over taffeta with a full sweeping skirt and a large satin bow in the back at the waistline. Her two nylon star and sequin headpieces secured her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white orchids surrounded by stephanotis and green ivy.

For her role as maid-of-honor, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Susan Ellenwood, chose a short pale blue gown of chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. The bridesmaids, Darlene Bolanowski of Chelsea and Annette Eresten, sister of the bride, both wore short pale blue sheath gowns of lace over taffeta and both carried bouquets of pink carnations. All three honor attendants wore short veils attached to satin bows.

Homer Nixon of Chelsea served as best man and Emerson Wheeler, uncle of the bridegroom, and Alton Nixon of Chelsea assisted as groomsmen. Ushers were Steve Eresten, brother of the bride, and Richard Wood of Chelsea.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Eresten chose a black and white printed jersey sheath with white accessories and wore a corsage of pale yellow gardenias. Mrs. Ellenwood, the bridegroom's mother, chose a two-piece beige lace dress with beige accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

A reception followed the ceremony at the American Legion Hall at Cavanaugh Lake. Punch was poured for guests by the Misses Sandy and Sally Ellenwood, sisters of the bridegroom. The three-tiered wedding cake was made by a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Theresa Lee Baker, who assisted another of the bride's cousins, Mrs. Elinor Shanley, with the cutting of the cake. The guest book was attended by another of the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Sharon Ellenwood, Miss Judy Simmons of Manchester attended to the gift book and the gift table.

One gift in particular which was recorded was a white lace-trimmed sheet cake made for the bride and bridegroom by the Sisters of St. Louis school. An Italian wedding custom of handing out white almonds wrapped in net and white ribbon was observed and given to each guest by Miss Donna Blackwell and Miss Annette Eresten.

Among the out-of-town guests were the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo D'Andrea of Pontiac. Other guests attending came from Canada, Wisconsin, Flint, Detroit, Warren, Pontiac, Lincoln Park, Allen Park, Hazel Park, Hamburg, Manchester, Dexter, Ann Arbor and Chelsea.

The bride was feted at two prenuptial showers. One given by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Susan Ellenwood, and an aunt, Mrs. Mary Ann Eder, had approximately 0 guests attending. The other shower was given by the bride's sister, Mrs. Denise Sweeney, with approximately 35 guests attending. Games were played and refreshments served at both bridal showers and prizes were won by many of the attending guests. At Mrs. Sweeney's shower, every guest took home a small rememberance of the evening.

After the Friday evening rehearsal at St. Mary's Catholic church, the wedding party and families were all guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellenwood at a buffet luncheon.

Following a short wedding trip, the newlyweds left Monday evening to make their home in Odessa, Tex.

Fashion Notes

White shoes are in again. They are top style and the young-in-heart wear them with white fish net hose. They come in flats, small heels and medium heels. They are seen in the city as well as in the country and at resorts.

White is also popular in suits, hats and do gloves. Some white shoes have a facing of black—in fact black and white is a popular combination for summer garments and costumes.

If you know what a man does, you do not need to know what he says, to judge whether or not he practices his religion.

Gradual Increase Noted in Number Of Violent Deaths

A recent report from the office of the Washtenaw County Medical Examiner reveals a gradual increase in the past five years in the number of deaths resulting from accidents, poisoning and violence. Deaths from these causes increased from a low of 110 in 1961 to 153 in 1965.

During the same five-year period, more than two-thirds of the deaths from natural causes, have been in the category of diseases to the circulatory system.

A total of 1,486 deaths, as of December, 1965, have come under the auspices of the office of the Medical Examiner since January, 1961, according to Otto K. Engelke, M.D., chief medical examiner. Of that total, 825 deaths were attributed to natural causes; 670 deaths were attributed to accidents, poisoning and violence.

Of the 531 deaths due to accidents, 335 deaths resulted from motor vehicle accidents. Included in this category are pedestrian deaths in which motor vehicles were involved. The next highest number of accident deaths was 42 in the category of falling or crushing accidents, many of which occurred on farms. Drowning was third with 39 and burnings fourth with 38.

Suicides comprised slightly less than one-fifth of the total number of accidental and violent deaths from Jan. 1, 1961 to Dec. 31, 1965.

Both the number of medical examiner's cases and the total number of deaths in the county have remained rather constant for the past four years, according to Dr. Engelke. The percentage has ranged from 11.4 percent to 13.7 percent, as compared to an average of 20 percent for most metropolitan areas. The report points out that a very large percentage of deaths in this county occur in hospitals among patients under medical care, are well documented and therefore do not fall under the auspices of the office of the Medical Examiner.

Harriet Johnsen, Peter Jernquist Exchange Vows in Benton Harbor

Miss Harriet Kief Johnsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Johnsen of Benton Harbor, and Peter Bruce Jernquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harold Jernquist of Johnston, R.I., were married June 5 in Benton Harbor. The Johnsens are former Chelsea residents where he served for many years as superintendent of schools.

The ceremony was performed on June 25 at 2 p.m. in the Methodist Peace Temple in Benton Harbor.

Candlelighters were William Payne of Benton Harbor and George Cameron of Chelsea.

The bridal gown was of satin with a beaded bodice and chapel train. The bride's three-tiered elbow-length veil was caught with a satin rose and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride wore a cultured pearl necklace which was a gift of the bridegroom.

Her attendants were dressed in light blue taffeta brocade floor-length gowns with head-dresses consisting of a rose of the same brocade and matching veiling. For bouquets, they carried arrangements of greens.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of the University of Michigan and completed a master's of social work degree at the University of California in 1966. Her husband is a 1957 graduate of Moses Brown School in Providence, R.I. and a 1961 graduate of Haverford College in Haverford, Pa. He is a representative for The Gorham Co.

INSPECTED FOR WHOLESOMENESS BY U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE P-42

USDA A GRADE

Poultry Graded, Inspected for Housewife's Convenience, Safety

Housewives sometimes are confused by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's round inspection mark, and shield-shaped grade mark that appear on officially inspected and graded poultry. They ask, "What is the difference between the two marks? What do they stand for?"

The inspection mark is a symbol of safety, and the shield-shaped mark denotes quality, say marketing specialists at Michigan State University.

The Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA is responsible for inspecting all poultry passing through interstate and foreign commerce. The agency also conducts a voluntary grading service for processors and handlers on a fee-for-service basis. The agency applies the marks to poultry.

MSU marketing specialists say that the round inspection mark means that poultry, chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks or guineas—is examined by a Federal inspector to determine that it is wholesome. The symbol also means that it was processed in a plant meeting strict requirements of USDA for cleanliness, that it is not adulterated, and that it is truthfully labeled.

The shield-shaped grade mark shows that poultry has been certified by official graders under supervision of USDA. Poultry cannot be graded until it has been first inspected for wholesomeness.

U. S. grades for poultry are A, B and C. They are based on meatiness of a bird and freedom from defects. Poultry marked "USDA Grade A" is the highest table quality.

For further information, write to the Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, for single free copies of "USDA Poultry Inspection—A Consumer Safeguard," PA-300 and "How to Buy Poultry by USDA Grades," MB-1.

A picture is worth a thousand words, someone has said. In which case, take a look at these two pictures—and need we say more? No. 1: You in your prettiest dress with your hair at its worst. Picture No. 2: You in your faded house dress or your ill-fitting sweatshirt and blue jeans, but with your hair set beautifully. Which picture presents the more elegant you? the more poised? the more ready to face the day with a smile? If your answer is the one we think it will be, shall we put your name on the books for a standing appointment with one of our expert operators? Ring Lost in Florida Finds Local Owner

A ring lost on a sandy beach at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has found its way back to a Chelsea High graduate, Class of '66.

The class ring was discovered by Mrs. Charles Skipp of 1624 S.W. 4th Ct., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who wrote a letter addressed to "Principal, Chelsea High School, Chelsea, Mich."

In her letter, Mrs. Skipp wrote: "Asie from sentimental value I know these rings are not inexpensive and whoever lost it is quite upset. I am not looking for a reward. . . I merely want to find the owner.

"Rather than put it in the 'lost and found' I am first going to try to locate the owner myself. There are only two Chelsea's to my knowledge at present, your's and the one in Massachusetts . . . so I am contacting both of you.

"The ring has the initials WDA inside and the design is black and white (pearl) approximately as follows: (sketch)

"If you have any idea who this ring belonks to I would appreciate your getting in touch with him (it's a large size) and in turn I will forward it to him."

Charles Lane, High school principal, knew that William David Adams' ring had been lost and quickly contacted Dave. Dave, the son of Mrs. Eldean Eisele of 616 Flanders, is currently attending Ferris Institute in Big Rapids.

The ring had been lost in April when Mary Ann Elliott and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott of Ypsilanti, were vacationing in Ft. Lauderdale. Mary Ann had given the ring to her mother for "safekeeping" while she was swimming and the ring had accidentally dropped into the sand, where it remained until Mrs. Skipp discovered it earlier this month.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

June 7, 1966
Council Room

Regular Session

This meeting was called to order by Pres. Baldwin at 7:30 p.m.

Trustees present: Bollinger, Chapman, Crouch, Schaible, Storey and Weber.

The Minutes of the Regular Session of May 17, 1966 were read and approved.

A discussion was held with Mr. Edwin Oram and Mr. Cameron Buchanan regarding a proposed mobile home park within the Village.

Mr. Oram and Mr. Buchanan were advised that the proper procedure to follow is to apply for rezoning of the property in question, and to apply for a special use permit. A public hearing would be held in this regard. It was suggested that detailed plans should be submitted to the Council for study.

A discussion was held with Mr. George Palmer regarding the proposed construction of a parking lot adjacent to the Ford agency. Trustee Bollinger was instructed to work with Mr. Palmer.

Mr. Palmer expressed appreciation to the village public works crew, light and water department, police department and members of the civil defense organization for their fine co-operation while moving his residence from Main Street to Freer Rod.

A discussion was held regarding the 1966 street program. No official action at this time.

A discussion was held regarding the sanitary landfill. No official action at this time.

A discussion was held regarding the water main installation in Lanewood—No. 2. Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May are investigating, and will make a recommendation as soon as possible.

Trustee Storey informed the Council that the Jr. Chamber of Commerce has initiated plans for the construction of an additional shelter in Pierce Park. Plans are for the consruction of a 0x40 foot building.

A discussion was held regarding several requests for the possibility of an over-all spraying program for mosquitos and other insects. Several comments were expressed from the audience in opposition to any village-wide spraying program. Pres. Baldwin stated that during a discussion with representative of Durand, he was advised that a similar program was held in Durand seven years ago with very unfavorable results and that the city is still processing 17 damage claims. No action was taken on this request.

Pres. Baldwin appointed the following village residents as members of a village planning commission, 3-year terms—Wm. Freeman, William Chandler, Merle Barr, Jr.; 2-yr. terms—Lawrence C. Dietle, Robert D. Rudd, Dr. J. V. Fisher; 1-yr. term—Dan Ewald, Jack Merkel, George A. Staffan.

Motion by Chapman, supported by Storey to approve the planning commission appointments as presented by Pres. Baldwin. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Weber, supported by Crouch, to authorize and direct the clerk to issue checks in payment of bills as submitted. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried. General Fund: $9,313.26; Parking Lot Bond & Int. Acct., Chelsea State Bank: $495.00.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED AND IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, that the request from Donald D. McKinley for Mary S. Brady being dropped as partner with him on 1965 Tavern & SDM licenses held at 113 S. Main St., Chelsea, Michigan, be considered for approval. It is the consensus of this legislative body that the application be recommended for issuance.

Motion by Chapman, supported by Weber, that the aforesaid Resolution be approved as read. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE Municipal Maintenance Contract between the Michigan State Highway Commission and the Village of Chelsea for the period July 1, 1966 to June 30, 1965, is hereby accepted and Paul Bollinger is designated as Maintenance Superintendent on sections of State Trunkline Highways as shown on the Municipal Maintenance Map and Budget Sheets, said Map and Sheets being parts of the Municipal Maintenance Contract.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ The Farmer's Share

During the past couple of months or so, the price of food has been in the spotlight, and farmers have been pretty upset because Administration officials seem to blame them for those increases. It is certain, however, with farm prices averaging only 82 percent of parity, that farmers can't be blamed for inflation caused by food price increases.

Whenever farmers are blamed for retail food prices, they like to point out just what percentage of the retail dollar they actually receive. Currently, this over-all figure runs about 41 cents. This comes in a report recently issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the May issue of Marketing and Transportation Situation.

Although farmers get back only 41 cents out of every dollar the consumer spends at the retail level, a look at figures for individual items tells the real story.

The report shows that butter leads the list in giving the most money back from the dollar spent. For every dollar spent for butter, the farmer's share is 73 cents. Eggs rank second and return 66 cents.

Beef, lamb, pork and frying chickens return 61, 60, 59 and 55 cents, respectively, of the dollar spent by consumers.

Down on the lower end are those items that involve a

ANOTHER SNEEZE VICTIM

Southfield — When 12-year-old Carol Ryckman came home from school unable to stop sneezing, her parents thought she had a cold. Carol continued to sneeze every ten seconds and she can sleep only with the aid of sleeping pills.

TWINS ACQUITTED

Sydney, O. — Judge Rieck dismissed a traffic charge because the accused could not be personally identified. A deputy had cited Mitchell A. Dilbone, 18, for a traffic charge but was unable to identify him because Mitchell appeared in court with his identical twin.

Auto Accident Reports Point Up Defects

Lansing — A recent National Safety Council report points up the importance of uncovering vehicle defects in accident reporting, something that Secretary of State James M. Hare has espoused for years.

The NSC study, conducted by its director of accident data project, disclosed that mechanical defects are probably a greater factor in accidents than has ever been thought in the past.

In his comments, Hare noted: "I'm glad other persons interested in traffic safety are beginning to realize the importance of complete uniform accident reporting, a concept I have long supported.

"This goes hand-in-hand with a meaningful, rigid standards motor vehicle inspection program. Critics of vehicle inspection always ask . . . how many defective cars are involved in accidents? Truthfully I don't know. Traffic safety people estimate anywhere from 10 to 40 percent of vehicles involved in accidents are defective.

"Figures vary because there is no current system of measuring. Reporting accidents in Michigan seems to be proportional to the severity of the accidents. In many counties and cities, injury accident reporting is only partially complete, and non-injury accidents not well reported."

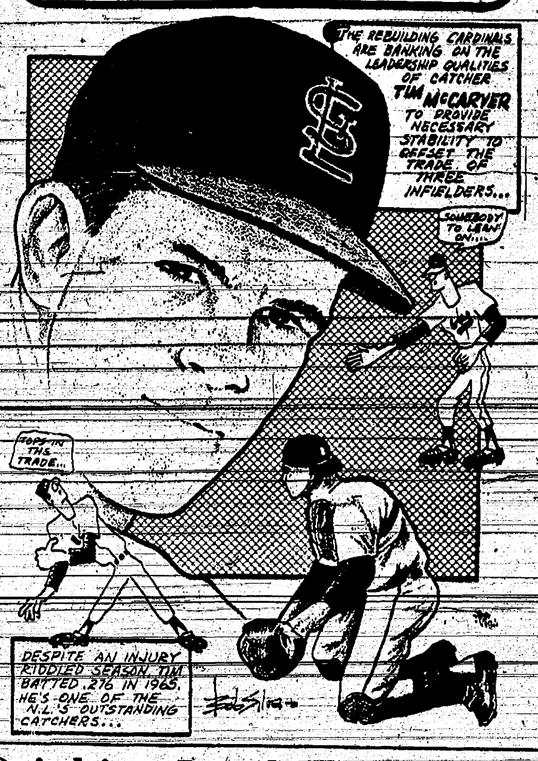

Hare said it was interesting to note that the NSC report conceded "improved accident reporting will show mechanical defects as a factor in a larger number of automobile collisions.

"Until now," Hare said, "vehicle failures have been largely overshadowed because major accident factors such as drunk driving, reckless driving, and excessive speed are usually much more apparent. Also, since the main job of the investigating officer is to enforce the driver sections of the vehicle laws, police tend to concentrate on the driver's mistakes.

YOUNG AT HEART

Methuen, Mass. — Mrs. May Kimball announced on her 89th birthday that if she lived to be 90 she was going up in a glider. Recently she achieved her ambition with an exciting twenty minute glider flight. Her remarks were, "Oh, how wonderful. It's so pretty."

Drinking Involved in Nearly All Holiday Traffic Fatalities

First look at an on-the-spot study of the 35 drivers involved in 25 fatal accidents that killed 40 persons on Memorial week-end shows that most of the drivers were: Under 25 years old. 2) Regular traffic law violators. 3) Driving on streets or roads familiar to them. 4) Not on holiday trips over 25 miles from home. Three injured have died since the survey was made.

These facts emerge from preliminary examination of an analysis by Automobile Club of Michigan, supervised by retired State Police Sergeant Mike Sibal.

The 25 drivers had an average of 6.1 moving violations and 10 definitely had been drinking, while 17 others were checked as uncertain, by-passing category "not known if drinking." Auto Club analysts feel drinking was the proximate cause of most deaths, along with driver error.

Average age of the violators was 23 years. More than half of those killed were involved in head-on collisions, with 28 percent single-car accidents.

No obvious mechanical defects were revealed in examination of cars involved, excepting one bald tire. It was on a car that traveled 115 miles per hour in a police chase before hurtling 100 feet through the air.

"It is doubtful if perfect tires would have helped," Sibal said.

"We will have a complete breakdown of this study early next week with recommendations on how July 4 week-end motorists can avoid these situations," Auto Club general manager Fred N. Fehm said.

"Most of us have had the impression that the motorist who drives a long distance from home on a holiday is the one in most danger," Rehm said.

"This was not so on Memorial weekend. Almost 2,750,000 motorists took trips without serious mishaps, while only 6, or 15 percent, of the 40 killed were as much as 25 miles from home on the holiday. It is not the holiday motorist, but the stay-at-home who caused most of the deaths," Rehm said.

SILENT RIDE

San Diego, Calif. — On a routine flight, Lt. Robert S. Richmond, 28, wondered why his twin engine Navy P-2 Neptune patrol plane was so quiet. A quick check revealed both engines had dropped off. He made a safe landing at sea and his crew of six was saved by a nearby U. S. Coast Guard cutter.

Study of Stars May Reduce Reports of UFO Sightings

Ann Arbor—A sharper look at some of the bright stars may reduce future Michigan reports of UFO's (Unidentified Flying Objects), suggests a University of Michigan astronomer.

Prof. Hazel M. Losh believes the recent sightings may actually have been the stars Arcturus, an orange star, or the "dazzling bluish star, Vega," or the bright planet, Venus.

"It is of special concern that we recognize some of the bright stars, especially as they come over the horizon," she says, "for lately some of the best known have apparently been confused with reported unidentified objects."

For instance, the orange star, Arcturus, rising about 25 degrees north of the east point, "reddish in appearance, and twinkling as it may due to the Earth's atmosphere, has been sighted and reported."

"It may easily be mistaken by the person unfamiliar with the skies, as a foreign object," Dr. Losh points out.

And rising about two hours later about 40 degrees farther north along the eastern horizon than Arcturus, is Vega "one of the most beautiful stars in the heavens—a dazzling bluish star in the constellation of the Lyre.

In the morning sky, the bright Venus may appear so bright as to suggest an unidentified object source to the layman as it comes over the eastern horizon from one to two hours before the Sun.

"On April 16, Venus and the waning crescent moon will again rise on the eastern horizon at about the same hour, and in the rising move in parallel arcs, just as they did on the morning of March 17, when they left long bright streaks on photographs," Dr. Losh points out.

"The identification of these streaks was questioned by many, but was explained by the rising of these two objects."

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, a scientific consultant to the U. S. Air Force, identified two pictures taken by Washtenaw County Sheriff's Deputy David G. Fitzpatrick early March 17 as time exposure trails of the rising crescent moon and the planet Venus. The pictures, showing two oblong, lighted objects in a darkened sky, were circulated throughout the world by press and television.

On April 16, Venus will be six degrees north of the moon, closer than its position of nine degrees the morning of March 17.

The planet Jupiter, riding high in the evening sky, is bright, "but not so likely to cause confusion," Dr. Losh points out.

The star Vega presides over a small but important constellation, long known as the Harp. The second brightest star visible from our latitude, surpassed only by Sirius the Dog-Star, Vega is known as the Harp in legends.

"Vega is of special interest to us," says Dr. Losh, "because it is in its general direction that we believe our Sun, dragging the planets along with it, appears to be moving. Not only is it the goal towards which our Solar system is moving, but it also is featured as a former and future Pole-Star taking the place eventually of our present Polaris, at the end of the handle of our Little Dipper."

Vega served in this capacity 14,000 years ago and in the course of another 12,000 years, it will again. Not a very distant object as distances go, the light from Vega takes only about 27 years to reach us.

"However, if our Sun were located at the distance of this star, it would be barely visible," Dr. Losh says. Vega also has the added distinction of being the first star to have its picture taken, a little over a century ago.

The star Epsilon Lyrae, located just below and to the left of Vega, is a good test for eyesight. It may be separated into two components by the unaided dye, practically the limit for naked eye resolution. But the telescope resolves each into two components—hence a celebrated quadruple star."

A youngster's definition of a virgin forest: "A big woods where the hand of man has never set as distances go, the light from foot."

Wallace Wins Cash Shopping Spree Award

George Wallace, 1234 Hein Rd., has been awarded a cash gift certificate as a runner-up in a state-wide "shopping spree" contest sponsored by a soft drink manufacturer.

The contest involves gathering groceries from the shelves of a food store within an allotted period of time. The current top Michigan shopper is William Humphrey of Lansing, who piled up $1,684.93 worth of free groceries during a 15-minute spree several weeks ago.

Wisdom is not necessarily shown by those who make no mistakes.

Congregationalists Find Two Ways To Get Relief from Heat

Two services were conducted Sunday for the First Congregational Church of the United Church of Christ congregation. The slim congregation at the regular 10 a.m. service were visitors, those who had other things to do or didn't feel like going to the outdoor worship and picnic later.

After the service began, the minister, The Rev. Robert Livingston noticed how many were suffering from the heat in the sanctuary. He suggested that the people "take up their hymnals and walk" to the classroom and dining area in the much cooler basement of the church. The service was continued there with the ushers setting the chairs and two volunteers taking the lit candles and the flowers from the altar and putting them on the church school altar downstairs. Visitors and members alike were better able to worship.

The Warren Spaulding farm was the setting again this year for the annual church picnic and outdoor worship service. The service began a little after 11 a.m. in the shade of the tall trees in the back yard. The parlor reed organ's music was piped out to the service by a public address system set up by Bryan Dyson. The shade and the breeze sweeping under the trees made the humid heat almost enjoyable for those quiet minutes of worship in the outdoors.

As families drove up to the Spaulding home, their first sight was the orange and white striped parachute rigged like a huge colorful parasol over the hollow square of white covered picnic tables. Andy Dyson had secured its use for keeping the sun off the group while eating with the hope that it might also be effective if it rained.

Games that were fairly quiet took most of the afternoon; shuffleboard, quoits, horseshoes, swimming, talking, and a lot of watching. Then when some thought it was too hot to move someone suggested the traditional volleyball game and were surprised that two teams volunteered to play on the lined court. The final excitement was the egg-toss which Max Hepburn judged was won by two tying teams at about 54 feet. Lionel Vickers and Andy Dyson were chairmen for the deacons.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

Recently a popular record called "Patriotism" was getting a big play. It talked (rather than sang) about the sad state of patriotism in the United States. What the song failed to understand was the meaning of patriotism itself.

Now, no one is going to knock patriotism. As far as I know everybody is in favor of it since it indicates qualities of loyalty and trust and faithfulness and dependability.

But patriotism also includes things like honesty and truth and, even, criticism. It's like a love affair. The lovers see all they consider good about each other. They also see a few things they would like to have different.

The suggestion that some things be changed is not looked on as an attack on the person or as disloyalty, but simply as a desire to bring out all the best they have to offer.

The coming of another Fourth of July ought to remind us of the need for patriotism and honesty in the discharge of the affection we have for the country.

It ought also to remind us of something that appears in the Old Testament about having "no other gods."

Uncritical patriotism results in our worshiping other gods. It leads us into idolatry of the worst sort and finally, destroys the very good it wishes to preserve.

THE COUNTRY PULPIT:

A Church Member But Lost

"Not everyone that saith unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven" (Matthew 7:21).

Jesus said, "My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me" (John 10:27).

Many will wail and cry in that day when they hear the all righteous Judge say, "I never knew you: depart from Me" (Matthew 7:23).

What a tragedy! Your cry may be, "What did my church do for me? Where are the pastors I sat under? I assumed they were the true messengers of God. They didn't say, 'Ye must be born again.' They merely asked me to join the church. They never mentioned the need of salvation, but always stressed church membership. Now I am told, 'Go into outer darkness, I never knew you.' Yes, going to hell, though a church member."

Your experience can be the same as thousands of others who trusted in church membership, but who at one time or another realized that Christ, not the church, went to the cross, suffered and died for them, and realizing that, they said, "Lord, be merciful to me a sinner, and save me for Jesus' sake."

There is a false belief among those who have never accepted Christ that death is the greatest tragedy. This, of course, is not true. The greatest tragedy will be witnessed at the Great White Throne Judgment, when those whose names are not found in the Book of Life with the redeemed are cast into hell's fire forever.

"It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Hebrews 9:27).

Physical death is bad, but spiritual death means punishment through eternity.

"All have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). Yes! Even church members.

"For the wages of sin is death" (Romans 6:23). Yes! But John 3:16 says: "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Romans 10:9, 10 also says: "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."

Grand Rapids Plans Banquet Before Farm Management Tour

The Agri-Hort Committee of Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce will hold a banquet on Tuesday, July 19, as a "pre-tour" social event for the State Farm Management Tour in Kent county July 20.

The dinner is planned to allow out-of-state visitors to get together prior to the 18th annual tour. It will be held in the Pantlind Hotel at 6:30 p.m. Tickets may be ordered through the Kent County Extension Office either by telephone or by mail.

Dr. Sylvan Wittwer, Director of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, will be the speaker.

The Michigan State University sponsored tour on July 20 will provide opportunities for farmers to visit as many as four farms and learn methods of operation which have made them successful.

The farms include the beef and fruit farm of George and Gerald Kober near Sparta; the Wesley Hessler potato farm, east of Rockford; the Kitson Farms, Inc., corn and egg production unit, also east of Rockford; and the Irvin Rodgers dairy farm near Alto.

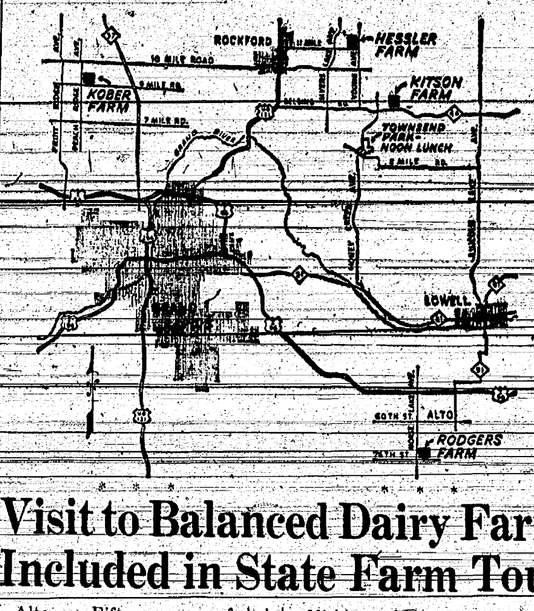

STATE FARM MANAGEMENT TOUR JULY 20

DR. BERG

The 18th annual State Farm Management Tour will be held on four Kent county farms Wednesday, July 20. They are: (1) the fruit and beef operation of George and Gerald Kober, Sparta; (2) the potato farm of Wesley Hessler, Rockford; (3) the dairy farm of Irvin Rodgers, Alto, and (4) the Kitson Farms, Inc., large-scale egg and corn production unit near Rockford. Farms will be open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with Michigan State University and Kent County Extension staff members available to discuss operations.

Speaker at the noon chicken barbecue in Townsend Park will be Dr. Sherwood Berg, Dean of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota and chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Food and Fiber. The public is invited.

Visit to Balanced Dairy Farm Included in State Farm Tour

Alto — Fifteen years of balanced, planned growth made through efficient management will be exhibited at the Irvin Rodgers dairy farm at the 18th State Farm Management Tour near here on Wednesday, July 20.

As many as 1,500 to 2,000 farmers from throughout the state may attend the state-wide event.

Starting with 18 purchased heifer calves and 107 acres of land in 1950 the southeast Kent county dairyman now has 150 head of dairy animals, 72 of them in the milking herd on his farm now 357 acres in size.

For the past 10 years, both milk production per cow and crop production per acre has made big increases on the farm at 10581 76th St. The herd milk production average is near 14,000 lbs.

Rodgers' farm is the only one of four being visited on the Farm Management Tour that has dairy animals.

Rodgers, 43, who has a wife, Flora, and two daughters, Marcia 14, and Lavonda 8, expanded the operation into a two-man farm with a hired man in 1960 so the family could have some "time off to enjoy life." And it was good that he made that decision. For a back injury that year necessitated an operation for Rodgers that prevented him from doing much of the dairy farm work for some time.

A native of Tennessee, Rodgers came with his family to the Caledonia area in 1939 when in high school. After finishing high school he farmed with his family until 1948 when he went to work for a farm machinery dealer.

From his earnings he bought his first land and 18 dairy calves in 1950 and in 1953 started milking cows and left his town job.

Expansion was gradual and improvements came as Rodgers could afford them. Since 1956 he has added a pole loafing barn for the cows, built on to the original silo, added another silo, constructed two corn cribs, and added to the pole barn. In 1964 he constructed a modern, double-4 herringbone milking parlor with bulk tank and automatic feeding.

An active Soil Conservation District director, Rodgers has followed recommended practices from both the Soil Conservation Service and the Kent County Extension staff. He is now a township supervisor and active Farm Bureau member. The Rodgers' family attend the Methodist church.

For 1966 he has planted 185 acres to corn for grain and silage, 34 acres to wheat and 89 acres to alfalfa and other forage.

In the future he plans to remodel some buildings and install 112 free-stalls for his herd and gradually expand through proving of his home-grown heifers to a 90 to 100 milking herd. He also anticipates building a roof between two long corn cribs and making the area into a machine shed.

Michigan State University agricultural economists say this farm is an example of planned investments that have been budgeted prior to purchase so they would pay their way. "Investments have been adequate to obtain efficiency, into a show place," remarked but the farm has not been made Ralph Hepp, MSU farm management specialist. He added that buildings were spaced to allow for expansion, if needed.

In addition to the Rdogers farm, three other farms are on the tour list. They include: the beef and fruit farm of George and Gerald Kober, 7816 Peach Ridge NW, Sparta; Kitson Farms, Inc., 9547 Belding Rd., Rockford—a large corn and egg production operation; and the Wesley Hessler potato farm at 11 Mile Rd. and Young Ave., Rockford.

At noon a chicken barbecue and program will be held at Townsend Park near Cannonsburg—close to the Kitson and Hessler farms. Dr. Sherwood Berg, Dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Minnesota will be the speaker.

The State Farm Management Tour is sponsored by the Michigan State University Extension Service and Agricultural Economics Department and the Kent county Extension office.

State Fair Offers Record Amount in Farm Premiums

The Michigan State Fair is offering $142,000 in agriculture and livestock premiums — the largest amount in history for the 1966 event Aug. 26 through Sept. 5 (Labor Day).

This is announced by Walter A. Goodman, general manager, who said 20,000 entries are expected compared to the 1965 all-time record of 18,500.

Deadline for entries is Friday, Aug. 5. Early submission of entries is urged.

The premium book—the handbook of information for all exhibitors—again will be issued in three sections: agriculture and livestock horse shows and home arts.

Robert McLachlan, agriculture exhibits director, said new exhibitors should indicate which section is desired when requesting premium books and entry forms from the Michigan State Fair, Detroit, Mich. 48203.

The premium books will reach former exhibitors by mail early in July.

State Police Planes Seek Out Speeders

Three Michigan State Police planes and regular marked patrol cars will team up for traffic law enforcement, chiefly speeding violations, on freeways and other main traveled highways beginning Monday, June 27, Col Fredrick E. Davids, director, announced.

This special air-ground traffic watch, under study for some time, it expected to be in full operation over the July 4 week-end.

However, this activity is planned as a long-range operation, not just as a holiday specialty. There will be no "courtesy" tickets issued as the program begins. Tickets will be given for all valid traffic law violations.

Twenty areas, three of them in the Upper Peninsula, have been selected for observation and enforcement to start the program. These locations were picked on the basis of high volumes of accidents and speeding violations and high fatality experience. Eventually other areas for special patrol throughout the state will be chosen.

With the co-operation of the State Highway Department, 660 feet or one-eighth mile sections of highways have been makred by painted stripes either on hard-surface shoulders or on the roadway itself. The white stripes are 18 inches by 48 inches. The marked road sections are not otherwise identified.

Motorists suspected of speeding will be timed by the plane pilot or his companion observer using a stopwatch with ready reference to speed tables figures as fine as tenths of a second.

The State Police planes will circle in the vicinity of the marked highway sections. Information on any violators will be relayed by two-way radio to officers in patrol cars parked near the areas in plain view. The planes, other than having State Police shields on either side of the fuselage, will have no other identification.

Observers in the planes also will report other violations they see to the patrol cars, such as improper passing or following too closely or other unusual circumstances.

Prosecutors and judges in the counties where the program will be operated are being given information on it by State Police officers.

The teams will be in action during daylight hours, weather permitting, with allowances for refueling of planes, shifting of observation areas and other routine needs.

Additional patrol cars may be assigned to the planes, depending on the volume of traffic and number of violations observed. Having an observer in each plane makes it possible to clock two motorists at the same time if circumstances warrant.

The State Police planes, all Cessnas, are based at Lansing, Traverse City and Marquette and are piloted respectively by Sgt. Morton C. Main and Corporals Chester A. Nottage and Leland D. Albright.

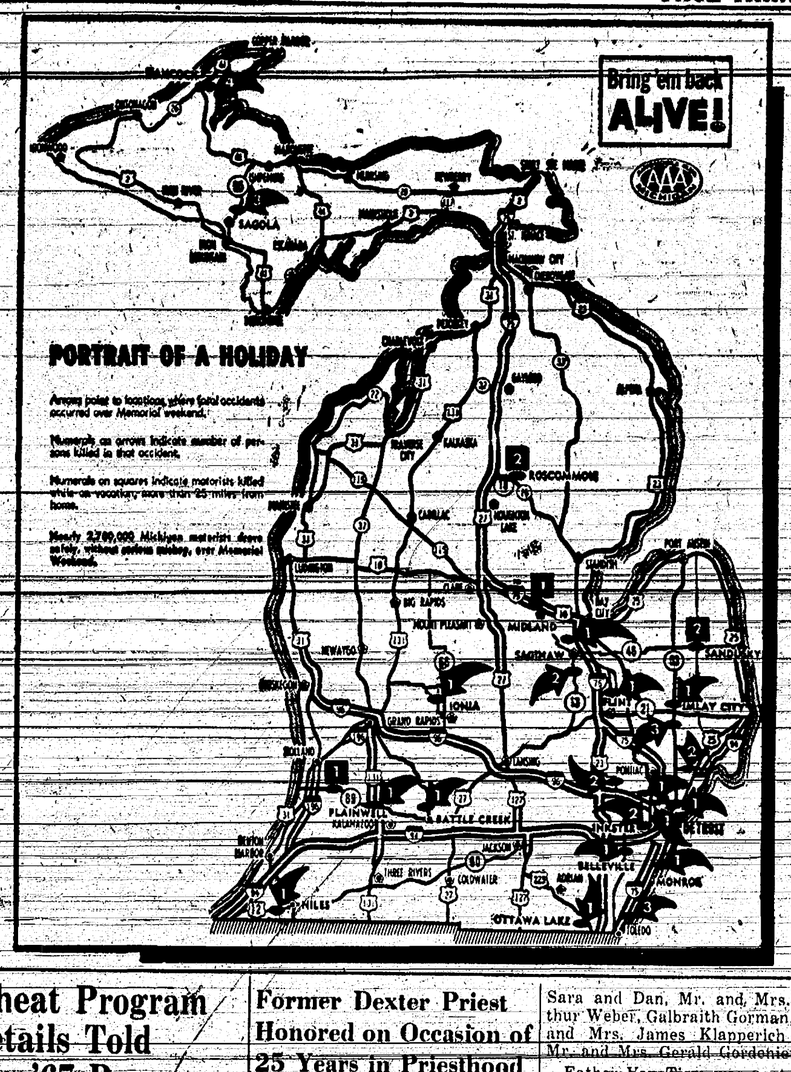

The East Lansing and Traverse City planes will be on the sky watch in the Lower Peninsula. The Marquette plane will patrol highway sections in the Upper Peninsula and some in northern Lower Michigan.

A sampling of results from other states for 1965 showed that Ohio made 5,603 sky watch traffic arrests in 2,750 flight hours during the year and Kansas averaged 350 arrests a month.

INGREDIENTS LISTED

Ever wonder why some items you buy at the grocery store have a complete list of ingredients while some list no ingredients at all? It's because the U. S. Food and Drug Administration has established recipes for a number of foods. If a manufacturer of mayonnaise, for example, follows the standard recipe in making his product he does not have to list ingredients.

Sweetened condensed milk is made from fresh whole milk. Part of the water is removed and sugar is added. In the final product, the sugar accounts for 40 to 50 percent of the total weight.

Wheat Program Details Told For '67 Program

The 1967 wheat program "will assure increased production of needed wheat and at the same time will bring producers more income," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said recently in announcing major provisions of the program.

Key factors in the 1967 program are:

1) Price-support loan level will be $1.25 per bushel.

2) Domestic marketing certificates on an estimated 520 million bushels will be valued at the difference between full parity as of July 1, 1967 and the $1.25 loan value. (This year's certificate value for the 1966 crop will be about $1.32 per bushel.)

3) Marketing certificates will represent expected production on 40 percent of the participating farms' farm allotments. These allotments will reflect the increased 1967 national allotment of 59.3 million acres, announced earlier this year. (For 1966, the allocation percentage was 45 percent on an effective national allotment of 51.6 million acres.)

4) There will be no acreage diversion program for wheat. The Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP) as it applies to wheat will be announced later.

5) Wheat may continue to be planted on feed grain acreage on farms participating in both programs and feed grains may be planted on wheat allotment acreage. Producers will be able to substitute wheat for oats and rye on the same basis as in 1966. If barley is included in the 1967 feed grain program, wheat may be substituted as in prior years; if barley is not included, wheat may be substituted for barley in the same way as for oats and rye.

6) A producer will have the option of planting in excess of his wheat allotment (by not more than 50 percent) and still be eligible for certificates and price support loans provided the excess production is stored and the farmer meets other terms and conditions similar to those in effect in 1966.

7) Program provisions regarding participation will be the same as in 1966 except that there will be no required or additional diversion.

According to Earl Doletzky, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, farm allotment notices for the 1967 wheat crop will be sent to producers on July 1.

Individual skills and abilities can be a real family resource. Labor costs add to the price of getting things done around the home. Instead of paying someone to do a particular job, consider doing it yourself if you have the skill. Many tasks about the home can be accomplished a little at a time, at your own convenience.

1888 Graduation Program Lists Five CHS Graduates

While remodeling their home at 9145 Sylvan Rd. recently, Mrs. Floyd Brand discovered a weathered scrap of paper which turned out to be a commencement program for the Chelsea High school class of 1888.

The program had been placed or slipped into the wall of the house below a window and had remained there undiscovered, until the remodeling necessitated tearing down the wall.

The program, printed by The Chelsea Herald Job Office, predecessor of The Chelsea Standard, listed five graduates for that year.

They were Belle A. Chandler, granddaughter of James and Robert Daniels, Kittie J. Crowell, mother of Nina Belle Webster, Fred J. Morton, Harry D. Morton, and Ada J. Prudden, a distant relative of Harry Prudden. The graduates selected "As the Labor so the Reward" as their class motto.

The ceremony was held 78 years ago June 22, at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall. A male quartet composed of Messrs. Ward, Cooper, Yocum and Kemp rendered "A Sailor's Life," "When My Ship Comes Over the Sea," "Off in the Stilly Night," and "Song of the Whippoorwill."

Each of the graduates participated in the program by reading an essay. Miss Chandler read an essay entitled, "The Importance of Trifles." Harry Morton presented the essay, "To Be, Not To Seem"; Miss Crowell's essay was "Perseverance"; Miss Prudden gave "The Power of Knowledge" and the title of the essay presented by Fred J. Morton was "The Silent World."

Professor Calvin Thomas of Ann Arbor gave the main address and conferred the diplomas.

The five graduates of the Class of '88 are all deceased today, and the Chelsea High school class of 1966 included 118 graduates.

Stanley Convicted On Deer Killing by Justice Court Jury

Darrell Stanley, 21, of 20437 Sager Rd., Chelsea, was convicted Tuesday evening of killing deer during the closed season in a trial before Dexter township Justice of the Peace Earl F. Doletzky.

Stanley's attorney, Leonard Young, filed a motion to appeal the conviction to the Circuit Court.

Sentencing included a $100 fine, $12 in court costs, 30 days in the County Jail and an additional 30 days if the fine and costs are not paid, and a three-year revocation of Stanley's deer hunting license.

The conviction arose from an arrest made Feb. 28 by Conservation Officers Donley Boyer and Donald Spicer of Jackson after receiving a tip from the Chelsea Police Department. The offense was reported to have occurred in Sylvan township.

Apprehended at that time was Robert B. Kuhl, 26, of 145 Park St., who was convicted April 18 of possession of deer during the closed season, and Stanley, who was charged with killing a 200-pound deer. The conviction was handed down by a five-person jury before Justice Doletzky. Kuhl was sentenced to $115 fine and costs, 10 days in the County Jail, and a three-year revocation of his hunting privileges. His attorney, Young, has also appealed that conviction to the Circuit Court.

Prosecuting attorney for the Tuesday evening trial of Stanley was Robert Creal, an assistant in the Washtenaw County Prosecuting Attorney's office.

Both sentences have been stayed pending the appeals.

Featherweights Best in Pillows

Featherweights are best when you're choosing pillows, according to Jean Schubel, textile specialist with the Co-operative Extension Service at Michigan State University. Of two feather pillows of the same size and plumpness, the lighter pillow is superior.

Here are a few simple tests suggested by Miss Schubel to use when you're shopping for pillows made of feathers.

Balance the pillow you are considering on the palm of your hand. If it droops, it means the pillow is skimpily filled.

To test the pillow's resiliency, lay it on a flat surface. Press down on the pillow with both hands then take your hands away. The pillow should immediately spring back into its original shape.

Also, check to see if the pillow flattens more than half its original thickness, Miss Schubel suggests. A pillow should buoy up your head, not smother it.

Kiwanis Club Hears About BTS Facility

The W. J. Maxey Boys Training School at Whitmore Lake was the topic of discussion at the Monday evening meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

James P. Liebeck, program chairman for the evening, introduced Harold Coolman, past lieutenant governor and a member of Ann Arbor Eastern Club, who told of the Division 6 program at the school. Each club in Division 6 takes turns at furnishing birthday cakes and presents for each boy who has a birthday during the designated month and also furnishing pop, ice cream, entertainment and recreation for the evening.

The Chelsea Kiwanis Club will be assigend a certain month later when they will have charge of a birthday party at the school.

Coolman then called on Joyce Hartweg and James Sherwood, members of the staff at the W. J. Maxey Boys Training School at Whitmore Lake.

They explained that they receive boys between 12-17 direct from juvenile courts, that the average time spent by each boy is 10 months and that the greatest percentage arrive at the school because of auto theft and breaking and entering. The majority of the boys are from broken homes.

The school acts as an academic high school and training school with the idea of rehabilitating the boys so they will be able to return to their parents, neighbors and community and fill their proper place in society.

This school was started in Lansing 52 years ago and has expanded to where there are 385 boys at present. The school has two camps near Grayling, which have a capacity of 50 boys each.

The Maxey Boys Training School is built in five sections or units—a reception unit, three cottages with a capacity of 150 boys each, and a special treatment unit which has a capacity of 100 boys.

The motto of the school is "Michigan out front in services to delinquent children."

In other business at the meeting, Vice-President Paul Schaible, Jr., who presided as President Floyd Fowler is enroute to the Kiwanis International meeting at Portland, Ore., remarked about the Motts Pot, which was presented to the Chelsea club last week by Past Governor Ralph C. Keyes. The Board of Directors voted to give this a six-month trial.

Each Kiwanian in Michigan is supposed to place a dime in the pot each week to raise $50,000 for furnishing some of the rooms at the new Children's Hospital at the University of Michigan.

Leonard H. Young of Ann Arbor Eastern played several piano numbers. Other members of the Ann Arbor Eastern Club attending the meeting were Lew Weeks, Carol Read and Harold Coolman.

Secretaky Paul Niehaus read a letter from Susie Knickerbocker thanking the club for the $50 scholarship to attend the University of Michigan Interlochen Music Camp next month.

M. J. Anderson, J. Raymond Steinbach, H. T. Moore, Thomas Smith and Walter Zeeb were to visit Onsted Club at Cambridge Junction Wednesday evening at 6:15 p.m.

Excess Highway Parcels Sold at Public Auction

Lansing — High bids for 13 parcels of excess state highway property offered at public auction June 23 totaled $39,070, the Michigan State Highway Commission announced today.

The auction was held in the Livingston county courthouse, Howell.

All bids must be approved by the State Administrative Board.

Among successful bids was that of Herman Weber and William Urquhart, Ann Arbor, who bid $18,100 for four acres of land on the Six-Mile Rd. and US-23 interchange, three miles south of Whitmore Lake.

WINNING CANOE CREW: Chelsea's Explorer Post 485 of the Congregational Church placed first and third in a May 22 19-mile canoe race down the Huron River. The first place crew, Tom Gardner and Ralph Frisch, Jr., captured a trophy, presented June 22, which the Chelsea Post will keep for one year unless they win the race two out of three years to become permanent holders of the cup. Members of the third-place team were Larry Blackwell and Jack Wilson. The canoe race started where the Huron River is crossed by US-23 and finished up at Camp Newkirk, Dexter. The Conservation Department estimates 8½ hours for the run by experienced canoists—winning time for the Chelsea top team was three hours and 33 minutes. Only seven minutes and 20 seconds separated the first four places. Members of the Explorer Post are, front row, from left: Paul Prinzing, Tom Gardner, Mike Wackenhut, Ralph Frisch, Jr., Doug Weatherwax, Dan Maurer and Jeff Reynolds; and standing, from left, are Sam Hoover, Bob Jacobs, advisor of the post, Larry Blackwell, Jack Wilson, Leonard Risner and Leslie Leggett.

THE LETTERBOX

To the Editor:

Reports of what was said and who said it, if that's important, appear other places in this newspaper. It only slightly concerns me here.

A long time ago one man, who thought that he had some particular talent, decided to build himself a tower that would reach the heavens. He enlisted the support of the community in building his tower.

And they built, only to discover that the heavens were higher than they thought.

The whole project collapsed in a confusion of language, bricks, mortar, and dreams.

The Biblical story is apt, not for the parallel of anyone attempting to reach the heavens, but for the confusion of language.

Two meetings were held in the community last night. One was a public meeting to air the millage issue and provide the school board with some direction for the proposed Aug. 2 election. The other was the school board itself in an attempt to make their own decision.

The first was characterized by short sightedness and irresponsibility by some, uncritical support of the school board and the school administration by others, sporadic applause by still others, and silence by many.

The issue, as it appeared, at least later in the meeting was "a business manager, assistant superintendent, if you will, for the Chelsea Public Schools, an item that makes up about 1 percent of the operating budget of the system. There may be other objections not thought important enough in themselves to junk the millage.

But this is the target. An office that any responsible business would have filled long ago is used as an excuse to satisfy the ire of some who can't see the extent of the damage they will cause.

If they will approve the millage with this out (as was said), but oppose the millage with this in, then they accuse themselves of petty, picayune petulance with no purpose but to harm where they have no ability to heal.

For them the citizen's responsibility to their most important and valuable community resource is lost.

The second meeting that of the school board, was, for the short time I was present, an exercise in futility. There was conviction that the budget was the best that could be presented, that the choice seemed a little other than to try once more to convince the people of this, that to do less would harm the schools in a way none of them felt should be done.

They're going for the whole package. I hope they make it.

James A. Craig.
