xpenses at the camp are paid tially by the students attend- and partially by the Chelsea Band Boosters, who pay approximately one-half the costs plus insurance and other fees.

The name of the camp on Torch Lake is Maplehurst Camp, which is used by various groups as a summer camp and is a winter ski resort. The Chelsea band group will be the only group present during the week. All meals, dishwashing, waterfront supervision, and other services are provided at the camp. Students will be housed in modern cabins.

Those attending from Chelsea will travel to Maplehurst by school bus.

A busy schedule is planned for the week-long camp, including five and one-half hours of marching drill and instrumental practice daily. The practice sessions are broken into a two-hour session each morning, one hour each afternoon, and more practice in the evening. This gives the participants ample time to enjoy the lake, baseball, football, badminton and other sports. Other activities, such as skits, a dance, hot dog roast, are planned for each evening.

The music practice sessions will be especially important for the Chelsea bands this year because the group is scheduled to make several important appearances shortly after school starts, according to Director Galbraith.

The Chelsea Band will be featured at Tiger Stadium on Sept. 11, when they present a five minute performance during the Detroit Lions-Chicago Bears game. Their solo appearance will be televised.

The band will also be one of 36 bands participating in the Michigan State Band Day in East Lansing on Sept. 17. The number of participating bands is limited to 36 each year, who perform in set formations.

The University of Michigan in Ann Arbor will feature the Chelsea Band as one of four bands on PURCHASED BY FAIR BOARD: This 990-pound Black Angus 4-H steer was purchased last Thursday evening by the Chelsea Fair Board to be given away in conjunction with the Chelsea Community Fair. The animal was fattened by Loren Heller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heller, shown holding the steer's halter. With Loren is Everett Van Riper, fair vice-president and co-ordinator. The steer, shown at the Washtenaw County 4-H Show, was purchased for 27 cents a pound. The name of the winner will be announced Saturday, Sept. 3, at the Chelsea Fairgrounds.

Gas Co. Lines Extended to Fletcher Rd.

A new gas line is being installed along Old US-12 by the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

The new line will extend eastward from Freer Rd. to Fletcher Rd., then north on Fletcher Rd. to the William Thomas Co. The line is expected to be in operation within the next week or two, according to Michigan Consolidated spokesmen.

The new installation connects to a line extending down Freer Rd. to Old US-12 which was installed last year. At that time, lines were laid along Freer Rd. to Old US-12, west to Main St., and south to the Chrysler Proving Grounds.

The new connection will make gas service available to anyone along the new line, according to the company.

Pfc. Doug Rowe Deluged with Mail in Vietnam

Pfc. Douglas K. Rowe had a happy 20th birthday this year even though he had to celebrate it while serving with the U. S. Army in Vietnam.

Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rowe of 18530 Bush Rd., Chelsea, and a 1965 graduate of Chelsea High school. He is stationed 45 miles southeast of Saigon.

His birthday was on July 29, and friends and relatives back home made sure he wasn't forgotten. They deluged him with letters and cards and packages.

The mail clerk was quoted as saying, "Doug really hit the jackpot by receiving the greatest amount of mail delivered to any one person by me as long as I have been in the service. I couldn't believe my eyes and had to count them—in all there were 45!"

The mail clerk added jokingly that he would be glad to continue to deliver the packages as long as Doug was willing to share the contents with the other soldiers.

Doug wrote to his parents stating that he wanted to thank everyone who sent him cards and letters and remembrances on his birthday.

Enter Floats Now for '66 Fair Parade

Organizations wishing to enter floats in the 1966 Chelsea Community Fair Parade scheduled for Sept 3 are urged to contact Dave Longworth at 475-7328 as soon as possible.

The 1966 parade will begin at 1 p.m. sharp this year, an hour earlier than in years past. The Chelsea Fire Department is making the arrangements for the 1966 parade. The present plans are to follow the usual parade route through the village—beginning on East St. to E. Middle, then to Main St., south on Main St. to Old US-12 and west to the fairgrounds.

This year, the floats will be on display at the fairgrounds following the parade. Prize winning floats will be designated, and fair visitors will be able to examine the floats.

Six prizes will be awarded for winning floats this year. Three prizes will be awarded in the adult division and three in the school age division.

In addition to the floats, the Chelsea Fire Department is expecting a variety of marching groups, antique cars, two groups of clowns, various horse and rider groups, the Chelsea Marching Band and the Waterloo Band, and a horse-drawn fire apparatus from Whitmore Lake.

Persons wishing to enter the parade are asked to contact Longworth or to mail the following information to the Chelsea Fire Department: name of organization or individual, address, entry, telephone number.

For many years, parades in Chelsea were planned by the late George Atkinson, who became known as "Mr. Parade" in Chelsea. Atkinson also served for many years on the Chelsea Fire Department.

Destructive Vandalism Plagues Area

A rash of destructive vandalism and break-ins in the area have been keeping Washtenaw County Sheriff's officers occupied and making area residents uneasy during the past week.

Sometime during the evening of Aug. 2, three Chelsea area teenage boys did damage estimated at between $400-$600 to a miniature railroad which D. A. Drew, a 58-year-old former fireman with the Michigan Central Railroad, had spent 12 years planning and building.

When asked by Sheriff's officers why they had maliciously damaged Drew's property, one of the boys replied: "We had nothing else to do at the time."

Drew's miniature narrow gauge railroad tracks circle a small lake located on 20 acres of his 150-acre farm at 19130 North Territorial Rd. in Lyndon township. A miniature steam engine pulls several miniature cars which are hooked to the engine and which have space for passengers.

The vandals derailed the engine, rolled the coal car into the lake, and stole the bell, whistle and several other fixtures, all of which are made of brass.

Three suspects, two 16-year-olds and one 15-year-old all area residents, admitted to Sheriff's officers that they had done the damage and that they had the missing parts. The three boys are to be contacted by the Juvenile Court for further dispensation.

Several area businesses have also reported break-ins during the past week. Paul Duckworth of 13710 Edgewater, Gregory, reported that someone gained entry into the Ashland Service located on 7130 Dexter Rd. during the evening of Aug. 2.

Entrance to the building was gained through a rear door on the east end of the building, according to the report filed by Washtenaw County Sheriff Deputy William J. Young.

Stolen from the garage were a chest of tools, three whitewall tires and one blackwall tire with a total value of $212. Included in the chest of tools were screw drivers, crescent wrenches, open end sockets, a channel lock and an air chisel.

Deputy Young reported that the subject apparently wore gloves as no fingerprints were found at the scene.

The same evening, the Washtenaw Crop Service at 885 Parker Rd. was broken into and several pieces of office equipment were taken according to Sheriff's officers. Entry was gained through the front door on the west side of the building.

A wide carriage typewriter, a check protector paymaster, an adding machine, calculator, two scoop shovels and a Magnavox AM-FM radio were reported missing by Robert Kushmaul. All the objects were taken from the front office, and the back office of the manager had been disturbed.

The Wencil Gulf Service station at 14050 North Territorial Rd. also reported the loss of a radio and tools when a thief forced open a westside window in the building during the evening of Aug. 2.

At 1:20 p.m. on Aug. 8, Bob Koch of 12255 Scio Church Rd. reported that a toolshed located at 1771 Lima Center Rd. had been broken into. Dale Hepburn of

Sidewalk Days Slated Next Week

Chelsea's 10th annual "Sidewalk Days" sale will get underway next Friday and Saturday, Aug. 19-20, when Chelsea merchants will move outside with special bargains for shoppers.

The downtown business area will become an open air market reminiscent of Chicago's famous Maxwell Street, where goods are customarily displayed on the sidewalks, on those two days.

Approximately 30 local merchants will offer merchandise including furniture, appliances, yard and workshop tools, clothing, groceries and hardware at special savings during the gala event.

In addition to savings on summer merchandise reduced for clear-

Leo Borders Memorial Fund Started

A "Leo Borders Memorial Fund" has been established at the Chelsea State Bank to aid the family of Deputy Leo Borders.

The account was established following a suggestion that each wage earner in the county contribute $1 toward aiding the family of the law officer, who lost his life while on duty with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's office.

Washtenaw county provides no life insurance for sheriff's deputies. Sheriff Douglas Harvey is currently negotiating with the County Board of Supervisor's Ways and Means Committee in an attempt to gain life insurance coverage for members of his department.

Several sheriff's officers have pledged overtime pay and other salary payments to benefit Mrs. Borders.

Sheriff Harvey has announced that contributions may be sent to him for a memorial fund similar to the one established at the Chelsea State Bank. Approximately $2,000 was reported in the account by Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Borders will receive Social Security benefits and Michigan Workmen's Compensation payments for herself and her daughter. A life insurance policy which Deputy Borders had taken out with the National Sheriff's Association had lapsed in June.

Funeral Held Here for Deputy Leo Borders

Sheriff's Honor Guard Marches In Solemn Procession to Cemetery

Leo Borders, 28, who died Aug. 3 as the result of an accident while on duty with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, was buried Sunday in Chelsea.

Fifty uniformed men and five uniformed women from the Sheriff's Department and police officers from a dozen different agencies attended the 2 p.m. funeral at St. Paul United Church of Christ. The Rev. Warner Siebert officiated at the funeral.

Sheriff's Deputies formed an honor guard and marched in a solemn procession beside the body as it was transported from the church to Oak Grove cemetery. Deputies had also taken turns acting as an honor guard at the Burghardt Funeral Home during the time preceding the funeral services.

LEO BORDERS

Silence blanketed the village as the procession made its way through the village. Sheriff's officers commented that only the snap of their heels, the creaking of their leather holsters and the tolling of the church bells could be heard from a village normally bustling with Sunday traffic to and from surrounding lakes. Stopped cars lined the funeral route in respect for the fallen officer.

Borders was killed when the 1966 county-owned Plymouth which he was driving went out of control at 7:42 p.m. as he was pursuing a speeding vehicle on the Dexter-Pinckney Rd. near McGregor Rd. at Portage Lake in Dexter township. The crash came after a 10-mile pursuit of the speeding car.

According to the accident report filed by Sheriff's officers, Borders appeared to be driving at approximately 60 miles per hour when the car went off the west side of the road and careened into a ditch for approximately 111 feet before striking a tree, bouncing for approximately 22 feet, and coming to rest on its wheels against a second tree.

The gasoline tank of the sheriff's vehicle ruptured and the car burst into flames. Deputy Borders apparently died instantly and a second Sheriff's officer who was in the vehicle with him, Stanley McFadden, was released Monday from University Hospital where he was taken for treatment of face and body lacerations.

Arrested on charges of manslaughter was the driver of the vehicle which Borders was pursuing, Steven J. Lirette, 23, of 4935 Waters, Lodi township. He is reported to have a long record of traffic violations. According to Secretary of State records, Lirette has had 22 convictions since 1960, including 10 for either reckless driving or speeding.

Last December his license was indefinitely suspended because he was listed as a "habitual reckless driver." The suspension was in effect at the time of the accident in which Borders was killed.

Deputy Borders made his home at 333 Elm St., Chelsea. He was

THE THOMAS COMPANY will double production capacity with the addition of this 40 x 100 foot annex. The addition houses the automatic screw machines, shown here, which are each operated by an employee when they are in operation. Gale Rouse of 151 Park, makes adjustments on one of the machines housed in the addition.

Addition to Thomas Co. Plant Double Production Capacity

The William Thomas Co., 1035 N. Fletcher Rd., is now occupying a new addition to its building which will approximately double production capability, according to Miladore Liebeck, president and general manager of the firm.

The 4,000 square foot addition will enable the plant to meet existing production quotas, Miss Liebeck stated. The firm's sales rose over 30 percent last year.

In making the announcement, President Liebeck said the new facility will provide for more efficient production methods and allow the addition of new equipment and personnel. The firm currently employs 15 people.

The new cement block and steel addition is being wired to accommodate the automatic screw machines which have been installed in the room. Several of the firm's employees went on vacation while the move was made and while the older portion was painted and the office area remodeled. Gas heating is also being installed. Work is expected to be completed in August.

Included in the addition is a large storage area connecting to the building through fireproof doors.

The additional area will allow the original plant to be used as a secondary operation machine room as well as headquarters for Planchets, Inc. Both companies have nation-wide sales.

William Thomas Co. and Planchets, Inc., both of 1035 N. Fletcher Rd., Chelsea were acquired by Gelman Instrument Co. of Ann Arbor in July, 1965, in an exchange of stock. Both companies are now operated as wholly-owned subsidiaries of Gelman Instrument.

The Thomas firm manufactures many of the components used by Gelman, and also manufactures components for many other national companies including Radio Corporation of America, Clinton Engines and Chelsea Products, Division of Dana Corporation.

Thomas founded his own company after he had been plant superintendent at Federal Screw Works for 14 years. Thomas died on Feb. 26, 1964, and on July 1, 1964, an announcement was made that the company had been pur-

JUNIOR BATMEN: Mrs. James Ihrke, teacher-director of Project Head Start, adjusts blue mask for a Batman fan. Mrs. Ihrke is the speech correctionsit at Chelsea during the regular school year; the second teacher, Mrs. Jack Ford, taught second grade at North school last year. Assisting with the program are Mrs. James Wellman, second grade teacher at North school, and serving as aides are Larry Blackwell, Star Brown, Mrs. William Lawrence, Mrs. Wilbert Reffitt, Bob Towers and Tom Gardner.

Head Start Pilot Project Completing First Session

The noisy sounds of happy children at play spill out of the two kindergarten rooms at South Elementary school this summer.

Perhaps that fact doesn't seem significant to most area residents, but to the teachers and assistants in the Project Head Start pilot project in Chelsea, the gleeful sounds are a minor victory.

The teachers recall the first days of the program. The children, they say, were quiet, withdrawn, shy. They sat demurely and provided wouldn't play with the toys new friends, they exuberantly dis-

Now the children bubble over with curiousity and questions. They have learned to know each other and when someone is absent they all want to know why. Amid happy chatter with their new friends, they exuberantly discover how to operate toys and playground equipment and are delighted by each new discovery.

Mrs. James Ihrke, the director of the Chelsea project, believes the children have shown a remarkable development which will make their transition to kindergarten this fall easier.

The transition will be easier because the children have developed language skills and verbal communication, as any casual visitor to the classroom can hear. These skills have been developed through contact with other children the same age, through "show and tell" activities and dramatizations.

The children have also grown emotionally, physically and mentally, according to their teachers.

They have learned concepts which may seem trivial to an adult, but which can be very real stumbling blocks for a small child.

Many Head Starters are from rural areas. Their background of experiences has generally been very different from urban children who will be in their full kindergarten classes. The Head Start program also attempts to provide a backlog of experiences similar to those many children acquire through a nursery school program.

The children in the Chelsea project come from throughout the western portion of Washtenaw county, including Manchester,

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

Last week I reported the informal reply of the Director of the Michigan Municipal League to my question: "What do you consider the three most important acts of the present legislature? And Why?"

Today let's look at the comments of the Executive Director of the Michigan State Medical Society who quite logically confined his answers to matters directly or indirectly pertaining to health.

I quote his remarks:

"1. Passage of the Executive Reorganization Act of 1965, a monumental and extremely significant task directed by the Constitutional Convention. Its streamlining of government will benefit the citizens of Michigan for a long time to come. There are changes which should be made in the organization of some of the departments, such as that of the Department of Licensing and Regulation.

"2. Refusal of the legislature to establish a separate school for osteopathic medicine. Not only would the passage of such a bill seriously have dis-serviced the people by committing vast sums of money to a wasteful project and perpetuated an artificial schism among physicians, but also itwouldhave physicians, but also it would have had the effect of destroying the separateness of educational planning from the legislative process. I believe that this separateness is as necessary for education as it is for civil rights and civil service."

"3. The adoption of a sane, yet responsive, program to implement Medicare and Medicaid. Whereas some states rather impulsively adopted programs so initially vast as to jeopardize the ability of the health purveyors to deliver, Michigan has moved with deliberate speed."

Might I say in commenting on these remarks that I, too, was very much opposed to the separate osteopathic college. At the same time I recognize the fact that osteopaths are performing tremendous service to the citizens of Michigan through family physician activities. They deserve proper credit for this role.

As to Medicare, my only comment is that I am very much afraid that the state is taking on a new program that will soon be one of the most costly we have. It may be meritorious but let's keep our eyes open to the ultimate fiscal implications.

Scout Executive Joins Staff of Portage Trails

Richard H. Dansingburg, formerly of Minneapolis, Minn., has been employed by the Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, as a member of the Council Executive Staff, according to Council Scout Executive, Clarence Doud of Ann Arbor.

The new scout staff man and his wife Brenda and two daughters, Jodi Lyn and Julie Jo are moving to Ypsilanti and will reside at 95 Juneau.

He participated in all three programs of Scouting as a boy, attaining Lion rank as a Cub Scout and Eagle rank as a Boy Scout. For six summers he served on a council camp staff and also as assistant scoutmaster and scoutmaster for one year.

He was in the U. S. Navy for four years and worked for the YMCA for a summer. He attended the University of Minnesota for two years and then after two additional years graduated from Springfield College with a B.S. Degree in Recreation and Youth Leadership. While in the Navy, he had the unique experience of being the Scoutmaster of the most "western" troop in America on an island in the Aleutian Chain of Alaska called Adak.

Since July of 1961 Dansingburg has been employed as a professional scouter in the Viking Council, BSA, at Minneapolis, Minn.

He reported to the Council Service Center, 2163 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor, on Aug. 8.

Slow "Action"

Wheels of government often move exceedingly slow. Witness a case which was heatedly debated two years ago and now flairs anew.

Early in 1964, the State Civil Service Commission began fighting to get the larger Secretary of State fee branches under its jurisdiction. These are the offices which distribute auto license plates.

For decades, the Secretary of State has been blessed with one of the largest patronage organizations in these fee branches. He decides where branch offices should be and who should manage the offices.

Contention of the Civil Service Commission is that the largest of these, primarily in large metropolitan areas, employ several full-time people and do a volume of business which warrants their inclusion under the civil service setup.

The Commission ordered fee payments stopped as of June 30, 1964 to the selected large offices. Civil Service examinations were given and over 100 top rankers on the written test were interviewed orally shat spring to allow the Commission to establish a roster of available managers.

When the state treasurer failed to stop the payments, the Commission took the case to the Ingham County Circuit Court.

Jurisdiction of the case in the Circuit Court was challenged by the Secretary of State, who contended a decision on the matter should come from the new Court of Appeals.

Thus, a two-year stall occurred until recently when the Court of Appeals decided the question before it. The question, however, simply meant the renewal of the basic issue of whether the large fee offices to Civil Service salary pay basis.

The Court of Appeals decision said only that the Circuit Court did have jurisdiction in the matter.

Thus, a fight which was almost forgotten will start anew. How long it lasts could be considerable because Circuit Court dockets throughout the state are heavy and the Ingham county bench is no exception.

No doubt any decision at the Circuit level will be appealed by the losing side so it could be a good many years before a final decision is known on whether certain license plate offices will be brought under Civil Service.

Student Help

Despite a late start, an undetermined number of fall freshmen in Michigan will get state assistance with the high cost of attending private colleges and universities.

Questions of church-state separation were sharply debated before the legislature gave approval to a $3.5 million appropriation which became law Aug. 1. It provides scholarships to students at private schools recognized by the State Board of Education.

Some 40 institutions would be included in the eligible list, most of them church-related.

Students could be eligible for scholarships under the new law if their family's income was $10,000 or less, with smaller amounts being available to youths from the higher income families.

With just over a month to mull over an estimated 7,000 applications, officials in the Department of Education anticipate little difficulty in distributing the $100-$500 grants provded under the law.

Support for the schoarship program was based largely on the idea of encouraging students to enroll at privatecolleges and possibly relieve some of the pressure on the public institutions. Enrollments at the private schools had been dropping in recent years.

Hat and Ring

Hardly a day goes by without some national columnist mentioning the name of Michigan's Governor in speculation about the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Gov. George Romney isn't very vocal on the possibility one way or the other, but his out-of-state appearances are becoming more frequent, one mark of a potential candidate.

Unlike Pennsylvani's Gov. William Scranton and California hopeful Ronald Reagon, the Michigan executive has made no positive statements recently putting himself out of consideration.

Many observers commented that he was inadvertently letting his presidential aspirations show in some of the appointments he made under the reorganization of state government last year and early this year.

Several key supporters were placed in departmental jobs, the self-appointed forecasters said, simply to keep them close at hand until the time would be right to switch them to full-time campaigners.

The same observers watched and listened closely to see Romney's approach to his current year campaign. It is customary for a candidate to avow he is running for "this job and no other." Since the Governor will be elected to a four-year term in November, Romney's wording on any such statements will be scrutizined with equal interest by both his supporters and his opponents.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the U. S. Public Health Service wasted $10 million dollars worth of drugs last year. This medical expert, a feller named Dr. Howard Rush, said these drugs went to the bad while they was laying on storage shelves in 2,000 Civil Defense stockpile locations around the country.

I ain't going to tell Ed Doolittle, about this item, Mister Editor, on account of Ed is trying to git ready for his golden wedding anniversary and has got all the troubles he can stand. But those kind of news items makes a taxpayer mighty mad.

Incidental, the papers was full of interesting items last week. Some of them makes a feller mad and some of them makes him glad. I reckon that's the proper way to run a newspaper. I recollect the editor that said he tried to keep half his subscribers mad and half of them glad and then swap ends onct a year.

Some of the most amusing items you see in the papers these days was about cases in court. For instant, I was reading where they had these two fellers in court fer being drunk and running their car off the road and tearing down part of a farmer's front porch. When the Judge ask which one of them was driving, they both swore that the best they could recollect they was both in the back seat at the time. We got a heap of them kind of drivers today and they ain't much car manufacturers can do about it.

And they was this piece in the papers yesterday about this woman in Miami filing suit agin a shoe store fer $25,000 damage on account what a pair of shoes she bought 15 months ago done to her feet. You know, Mister Editor, and I know they ain't no woman that wears one pair of shoes 15 months, and if I was on the jury I'd throw her and shoes both out of court.

Another court item I was reading give me a kick. They was having this damage suit over a wreck and the Judge ask one driver how fast he reacted when he was confronted with the other car. The feller told the Judge he wasn't confronted, he was "rear-ended."

But you git some mighty good filosophy if you read the papers regular. I reckon they ain't no perfession more interesting than being a editor, special in a small community where it's hard to swap them two ends onct a year.

Speaking of filosophy and editors, I see where a newspaper feller in Boston says he's thankful for life tas he finds it. With the heat wave gitting to about 100 degrees, he said it could be worse. "When it's over," he allowed, "I won't have to shovel it off the sidewalk."

Yep, newspaper folks, Mister Editor, has to be good filosophers.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Two Saws Taken From Scout Camp

Sometime during the two-week period prior to Aug. 6, an eight-inch Skilsaw valued at $80 and a hand saw valued at $7.50 were taken from the Newkirk Boy Scout Camp at the edge of the village, Cy Welsh, ranger for the camp, reported he had used the items two weeks before, and had had no occasion to look for the saws until he discovered them missing last Saturday afternoon.

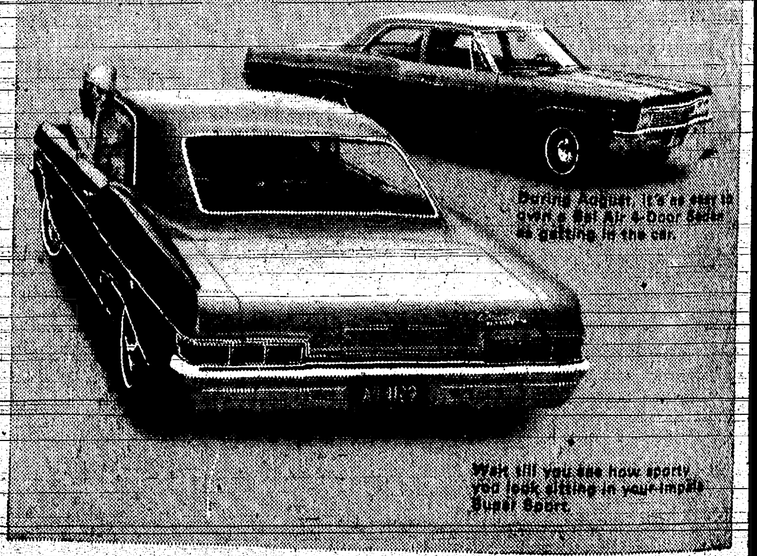
Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?



In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.

2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money—another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.

3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why . . . with buys that are better than ever.

4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble

5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.

6. Make your summer driving safer by driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.

THE LETTERBOX

In this day and age when so much is said against the small majority of teens who cause trouble, we wish to praise and compliment them on their behavior at the recent Red Lamb Benefit Dance. Despite the fact that we were long on teens and short on chaperons, the crowd was very well behaved, without any incidents from the teens attending the dance.

We have worked with teenagers for the past year and have great faith in them. This faith is reaffirmed, with every passing event.

We've heard so much lately about man's inhumanity to man; but when a group of teens show adults that they can have compassion for others the world will surely benefit from them.

In this small way we want to thank each one of them for their wonderful co-operation!

—Jerry and Markella Satterthwaite.

To the Editor:

Your Government and mine.

The Village Council passes an ordinance that all dogs must be confined or on a leash. Why doesn't the Council instruct the police to pick up all dogs that roam our streets, not on leashes.

The Council has charge of the streets.

Our state passes a weed control law. All noxious weeds should be cut on or before the 10th of July. How about all the weeds along our township, county and state and even U.S. highways?

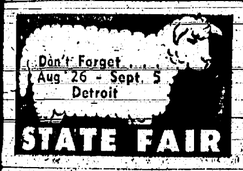
Our Government tries to control the use of our land on the inside of the right-of-way fences, when it comes to signs, etc. They can't control what they should control, is there any wonder people do not obey our laws, when our officials do not abide by their own laws that are in effect.

Mrs. Johnson will not beautify America under these conditions.

A Veteran of Foreign Wars.

SMART POLICEMAN

Chattanooga—When police Capt. Bill Nelson came upon a house being ransacked by burglars, he raced to the back yelling, "I'll cover this door." He yelled the same at the window, then went to the front door and ordered them out or he'd turn the dogs on them. The burglars filed out with their hands up.



Zoning Study Undertaken by Village Plans Commission

At the regular Aug. 4, meeting of the Chelsea Village Planning Commission, Fred Barkley of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission went over some aspects of the present village zoning. He suggested that a study of the zoning and zoning ordinances would be a good beginning for the Planning Commission.

Chairman J. V. Fisher appointed two committees — one to look into the zoning ordinance with regard to side yard requirements for industrial areas abutting land zoned for other uses, and the other committee to compare the present zoning map with the actual use of the land with the possibility of rezoning some properties to their actual uses.

The Chelsea Village Planning Commission was authorized by the Village Council on May 3, 1965, when an ordinance establishing a Village Planning Commission was passed. President Don Baldwin then appointed nine commissioners as required by the state enabling act. The nine men are Merle Barr, Jr., William Chandler, and William Freeman, all for three-year terms; Lawrence Dietle, Dr. J. V. Fisher, and Robert Rudd, for two-year terms; Daniel Ewald, John Merkel, and George Staffan for one-year terms.

After these first appointments all future commission terms will be three years in length. Planning Commission members serve without pay.

The Planning Commission acts in an advisory capacity to the Village Council in helping the planned and orderly growth of the Village.

At their first official meeting on July 20, Dr. J. V. Fisher was elected chairman; Robert Rudd, vice-chairman, and William Chandler, secretary-treasurer. Regular monthly meetings will be held on the first Thursday of each month in the Village Council Chamber. All regular meetings of the Planning Commission are open to the public. The next meeting will be Sept. 1 at 7:30 p.m., in the Village Council Chamber.

Planchets, Inc., which shares quarters and personnel with the Thomas Company, is a mail order distributor and manufacturer of disposable laboratory and medical items. It specializes in small metal dishes called planchets, which are used in radio-chemical and general laboratory uses. Laboratory items imported from Great Britain are also sold through Planchets, Inc.

Gelman Instrument Co., which owns both companies, was organized in Chelsea eight years ago by its present president, Charesl Gelman. The firm started on a part-time basis in the basement of the David Beach house at 233 Jefferson St. Located at 108 N. Main St. for five years, the company at the time it left Chelsea occupied three buildings on Main St. and employed about 40 people. Three years ago Gelman moved to Ann Arbor to a new 15,000 square foot plant which was expanded in 1964 to 20,000 square feet.

The Gelman Co. and its subsidiaries now employ a total of more than 140 people. It manufactures air pollution measuring equipment, membrane filters, clean room accessories used by the aerospace industry and an allyteil laboratory equipment for electrophoresis and chromatography used by medical schools, industries and analytical chemists.

In addition to the W. A. Thomas Co. and Planchets, Inc., the Ann Arbor Science Publishers, located on Old US-12, is a third wholly owned Gelman subsidiary. Hal Lewis of 315 E. Middle St., Chelsea, is the publisher in charge of this division.

Livingstons Return From Vacation Trip

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert A. J. Livingston and son, Kent, returned home Saturday evening from their vacation in New Hampshire.

The Livingstons left Chelsea on July 21 for Lake Winnepausauke, N.H. The Rev. Livingston attended a conference at Deering from July 25 to Aug. 4 entitled "Religion, Arts and the Creative Process." Mrs. Livingston and Kent stayed at a nearby farmhouse owned by her mother.

Highlight of the trip, in addition to the conference, which the Rev. Livingston described as very stimulating, was a day spent at Hampton Beach on the Atlantic Ocean.

JACK C. FITZSIMMONS of 14165 North Territorial Rd., Chelsea, participated in a special Flight Training Clinic at Bishop Airport in Flint recently. The three-day clinic, co-sponsored by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, the AOPA Foundation, and the Mott Adult Education Program of the Flint Board of Education, offered five courses designed to upgrade the pilot's capabilities. Fitzsimmons successfully completed the 360 degree Rating course during the July 28-30 course. This course gives the pilot basic capability in piloting a plane solely by reference to flight instruments within the cockpit. The 87 participants came primarily from Michigan but also included two Kansans. James D. Ramsey, director of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, stated that pilots participating are improving their pilot capabilities, thus insuring greater safety and a better utilization of their aircraft. A similar clinic is planned for 1967 by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission. Further information may be obtained from Ward J. Mayrand, supervisor of aviation information, Lansing telephone 489-2421.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

PART I

The most important public act passed by the legislature this year for education was the State School Aid Act. This act allows the state to participate in a share of the operational costs of school in all school districts throughout Michigan. The total educational cost for this year is approximately $500,000,000 plus teacher's retirement which is $89,000,000.

The average amount received for State School Aid is approximately 55 percent of the total operational costs of school, with property taxes making up the balance, or about 45 percent of the total costs. In comparing this School Aid Act with that of a year ago, the increase is $48,555,330. Last year the state raised $450,040,000 for schools and this year the figure is $498,595,330. It was hoped that with this increase in the School Aid Act there would be some relief for the local district on extra voted millage; however, it appears that much of this increase will be eaten up by increased salaries. Education does come high, and for this reason this legislature must come up with an adequate tax reform program this session to take some of the burden from the local property tax for school operation.

It is estimated that 2,012,000 students will be enrolled in the next school year, an increase of 44,000 over 1965-66. Such staggering figures are hard for the average person to comprehend but we cannot back away from our obligations and avoid talking about the subject. The 500 local school districts do afford every voter the opportunity to take an active interest in education and thus serve as a protection against differences that often follow when local control is neglected.

State Funds Appropriated for Higher Education

The 1966 legislature approved Public Act No. 313 which took effect July 19, 1966. This Act authorizes state tuition grants to full-time Michigan students, in private non-profit colleges and universities in Michigan, who have tuition costs for one semester of over $240 for under-graduate students and $350 for graduate students. This appropriation amounts to $3,500,000 and includes $65,000 to the Department of Education for administration of this program.

Public Act No. 141 that became effective June 24, 1966, reduced the Michigan resident time requirement from three years to 19 months to qualify for a state scholarship.

Public Act No. 155, which became effective July 1, 1966, appropriates $100,000 to the Department of Education to be allocated to school districts for granting financial aid to teachers who wish to qualify as Special Education Teachers.

Public Act No. 285, effective July 12, 1966, appropriated $7,685,500 for construction of projects at community colleges in the fiscal year 1966-67. You might be interested to know that Michigan presently has 77 colleges and universities. This number includes 48 privately operated institutions, 18 junior and community colleges, and ten state supported colleges and universities. In addition, there are four branches of these state universities: MSU Oakland University branch at Rochester; two branches of the University of Michigan, one in Flint and one in Dearborn; and, one branch of Michigan Tech at Sault Ste. Marie.

Also established this year was the new Saginaw Bay State College. We appropriated $431,473 for operational costs for this new school which will have 150 students to start with. A $272,000 building has been erected which in the beginning will be used for temporary classrooms and later, as the campus grows, will be converted into a maintenance and storage building. We appropriated $723,000 for general campus improvement and another $200,000 for landscaping. According to the experts this is a well planned program and should result in an excellent institution for the Saginaw Bay area.

The total cost of higher education, including community colleges for the 1966-67 year is $263,102,000.

I will continue this Educational Summary next week.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Vail

★ Pigs and Politics

It may not be apparent to most people but there is a definite connection between pigs and politics. At least that's the opinion of swine producer, Dean Pridgeon, who believes in mixing the two freely. Pridgeon considers himself a full-time pork producer, and not one who drops in and out of the business when prices fluctuate. At the moment, there are about 2,500 head of hogs on the Pridgeon acreage near Montgomery, Branch county.

Such numbers of animals to care for has not curtailed his activities in a variety of leadership roles, including service as vice-president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, and as chairman of his county political party.

"This is an election year, and everyone should feel strongly about politics. First off, every citizen should be active in his party. Farmers particularly need to become more active. Many of us consider the farmer as one of the truly free enterprisers left, the kind of man who owns and controls his own acres and destiny. And the only way he will keep this right is through exercising his political know how," Pridgeon contends.

To be especially stressed, in his opinion, is the matter of campaign money. "Few farmers now contribute to party politicis. This is wrong and such attitudes need correcting. Farmers must learn what others have long since known —that good laws begin with selection of good lawmakers. It takes a lot of money to operate even a relatively simply campaign —thousands of dollars. I feel that farmers will only become truly effective in party politics when they recognize the financial facts of political life and begin to contribute substantial sums toward the electio of their chosen candidates," he said.

That's where the connection comes between pigs and politics, in Pridgeon's mind. He thinks that all farmers should contribute—be willing to sell some livestock, if need be, to participate in campaign contributions.

"A political party is going to respond to the people that put up the money. It is as simple as that—and if we can somehow convince the average individual that this is his responsibility, then I am positive that the parties will be responsible . . ."

Democrats Plan Legislative Rally Next Tuesday

A legislative kick-off campaign rally will be held at Camp Tamarack next Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 7:30 p.m. for Democratic legislative candidates.

Camp Tamarack is located on Clear Lake Rd. off I-94.

Swimming, dancing and picnic foods will be available for a small charge. The public is invited.

Democratic candidates who will be present are George Wahr Sallade, who is running for the Michigan Senate from the 18th district; Wallace Franklin, 53rd district candidate for the Michigan House; Lloyd Hendee, 51st district candidate for the Michigan House; and Charles Gray, 52nd district candidate for Michigan House.

Persons in charge of arrangements include Mrs. Ruth Sauve, general chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Davenport and Mrs. Fran West, tickets; all of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Beverly Steele, Saline, tickets; Mary Lou Randolph, Bill Wagner, Vesta Svenson, Juanita Mansfield, all of Ypsilanti township, tickets.

Firemen Answer Minor Fire Calls

Several minor fire calls have occupied the Chelsea Fire Department during the past week, according to Fire Chief James Gaken.

Last Wednesday afternoon Aug. 3, firemen were called to the home of Mrs. Mike Misailedes on North St. at 3:30 p.m., when food cooking on the stove caught fire. The fire was quickly extinguished and no damage was done.

Friday afternoon the firemen responded to a grass fire at 4:32 p.m.

A cloth under a sterilizer at the Chelsea Medical Clinic began smoldering Saturday afternoon and filled the clinic with smoke. Dr. Jerry Waldyke notified the Chelsea firemen at 3:08 p.m. Damages were confined to the sterilizing device and the towel, Chief Gaken stated.

Later the same afternoon, firemen were called to extinguish a grass fire near the railroad.

SPENDS 3 DAYS IN TUB

Billings, Mont. — Mrs. Gina Korly called police when she failed to see her neighbor in three days. She told police that she had a key to the house but the doors were bolted on the inside. They found Mrs. Bess Rassmussen, 85, in the tub too weak to get out. She kept warm by running warm water in the tub.

PEARLS of WISDOM

Persuasion —If you would win a man to your cause, first convince him that you are his sincere friend.
—Abraham Lincoln.

Power — Human nature being what it is, power is always abused. It is to the best interests of society, therefore, to see that no individual or group gets too much power or retains it too long.
—Waldo Lee McAtee.

Statesmanship—A disposition to preserve, and an ability to improve, taken together, would be my idea of a statesman.
—Edmund Burke.

Committee — If you live in a town run by a committee — be on the committee.

Cheryl Lee Lehman Injured in Auto Crash

Cheryl Lee Lehman, 20, of 5965 Sibley Rd., Chelsea, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor following a two-car collision on Aug. 4 in Ypsilanti township.

The collision occurred at 4:30 p.m. at the intersection of Stoney Creek and Textile Sts. Miss Lehman, driving a 1963 Chevrolet owned by Doris Lehman of the same address, was headed east on Textile Rd. at approximately 10 miles an hour when her vehicle and a 1965 Mercury driven and owned by Bornitta Florence Smith, 42, of 10055 Henry, Maybee, Monroe, collided. The Smith vehicle was headed south on Stoney Creek at approximately 40 miles per hour. Both drivers were taken to the hospital.

According to the report filed by Deputy Ray Couch of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's office, Miss Lehman pulled from a stop sign at Textile Rd. when the accident occurred.

Noodles are made from the same basic ingredients as macaroni and spaghetti. In addition, the law requires noodle products to contain a maximum of five and a half per cent of egg solids.

ROBERT BENEDICT

GEORGE SCRIVENER

Chelsea Teacher Exchanging Posts with English Educator

Another first will be recorded this fall when the Chelsea schools open.

Chelsea will be host to the school district's first exchange teacher, George Scrivener, of Thaxted, England.

While Chelsea is greeting her visitor, Robert Benedict, fifth grade teacher at North Elementary school for the past three years, will take up teaching duties at the Thaxted County Primary School in England.

Benedict, his wife, Gaynor, daughter, Michal Ann, and son, Robbie, who have been living at 544 Howard Rd., will leave Chelsea next Monday, Aug. 15, for New York City. They will board the Statendam, a Holland-American Lines ship, on Aug. 19, for the voyage to England.

The Benedicts are scheduled to arrive in Southampton on Aug. 26. From Southampton they will proceed to Thaxted, which is approximately 40 miles northeast of London, where Benedict will be teaching a class of 10- and 11-year-olds.

The one-year teacher exchange will mean that Benedict will be teaching from Sept. 1, 1966, to the end of July, 1967. The Benedicts plan to return to Chelsea in August, 1967.

The Benedicts will be living in the Scrivener home in Thaxted during the exchange. The address abounds with local color. Friends wishing to correspond with the Benedicts may write to them at:

Dove House Yard
Fishmarket Street
Thaxted, near Dunmow
Essex, England

Their English counterpart, who is married, will not be accompanied by his wife and family during his sojourn in Chelsea. He will be living with the David Colquhouns at 515 McKinley St.

While the Benedicts are absorbed in life in "Jolly Olde England," fifth graders at Chelsea's North Elementary school will have an opportunity to pick up an English accent.

For Mrs. Benedict, the journey to England will be a homecoming. She was raised in Blackpool, England, approximately 250 miles north of where the Benedicts will be living. Her mother and sister, and "dozens" of cousins and other relatives still reside in Blackpool. Michal Ann and Robbie will meet their Grandmother Tomlinson for the first time during this trip. Mrs. Benedict met her husband when he was stationed in England with the U. S. Armed Forced from 1953-56.

Benedict has been working on arrangements for an exchange for the past two years. He will officially be under contract with the Chelsea schools, who will continue to pay his salary, but has been granted permission by the Chelsea School Board to participate in the exchange program for one year. Scrivener will be paid by his school in England.

In addition to travels throughout the British Isles, the Benedicts are hoping to tour parts of Europe during school vacations.

Benedict taught school for five years in Prince Georges county, Maryland, before coming to Chelsea. He has a bachelor of science degree from American University in Washington, D.C. and a master of arts degree from the University of Maryland.

When he learned that he would be coming to Chelsea, Scrivener wrote to Superintendent of Schools Charles Cameron:

"I am so much looking forward to working with you and hope to be of some service to your school and community. I am delighted I am joining your staff at North School in September."

Scrivener is the headmaster of the Thaxted County Primary School which has an enrollment of 255 boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 11.

He attended Bede College at Durham University and has a teachers certificate from the Minister of Education. He previously was assistant and deputy head at the Redder Court School and principal of the Harold Wood Evening Institute.

In addition to his educational profession, Scrivener has been a producer in amateur theater from 1930 to the present.

Exchange teachers are selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships under the Mutual Education and Exchange Act, part of the Fulbright-Hays Act of 1961, which is administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The British teachers will be in New York City Aug. 16-17, where they are scheduled to meet their American counterparts before going to Washington, D.C. for orientation. Approximately 100 U.S.-England exchanges will be taking place this year.

Teachers from approximately 130 countries participate in the exchange program. The exchange teachers, including the American counterparts, hope to gain a broader understanding of the way of life and the education system of the host country.

Former exchange teachers have found the visits of value in developing an understanding of not only the host country's educational system but also the home system.

Teachers are given an opportunity to talk to students and to observe activities in various types of schools, an opportunity which is interesting for the children as well as professionally valuable for the teachers.

American teachers have an opportunity to observe other schools in session before assuming teaching duties in order to facilitate their adjustment to their host country.

Good Roads Officials Meet Wednesday With County Group

Representatives from the Michigan Good Roads Federation met Wednesday morning with members of a county co-ordinating committee at the Washtenaw County Road Commission offices.

The three representatives from Lansing were James M. Telford, president of the Michigan Good Roads Federation; Douglas Graham, director of the Federation; and Seward Cushman, publicity director of the Federation.

They discussed the program and the needs of Washtenaw county with members of the local group. Co-ordinator for Washtenaw County is M. J. Anderson.

THE QUEEN AND TAXES

London — The new payroll tax may hit Queen Elizabeth. Having an enormous staff at Buckingham Place and her three royal homes, she will be assessed an extra $3.50 a week for each man and $1.74 for each woman on her staff.

The Michigan Library for the Blind is a section of the Library Division of the Michigan Department of Education.

Sen. Bursley Meeting With Gov. Romney At Mackinac Island

State Senator Gilbert Bursley will be a guest of Governor George Romney at his Mackinac Island residence Wednesday through Saturday this week.

Senator Bursley and a few other Republican leaders from the Senate and House will be meeting in all-day work sessions with the Governor to discuss items of legislative concern.

There are bills still in conference committees to be taken up at the Aug. 22 session of the legislature. There are such problems as Detroit school money needs; public employees strikes; I-96 and other highway matters; possible constitutional amendments; and vetoes that are currently before the legislature.

Band Group Performs for Kiwanis Club

The second Ladies Night picnic of the season was held by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Heydlauff at Cavanaugh Lake. Seventy-five Kiwanians and wives were present.

Ada L. Anderson of Manistee, mother of Phyllis Daniels and Donna Palmer, was a guest at the picnic. Her husband was a past Lt. Governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International.

Clare Warren, program chairman, presented Bruce Galbraith, Chelsea High school band instructor, who directed the following group in several Dixie land and minstrel selections: Susie Knickerbocker and her friend, Debbie Obsniur of Detroit, clarients; Russell Maurer, slide trombone; Ralph Johnson, bass; Roy Holliday, snare drum; Michael Funderburgh, Robert McDougall and Karen Leach, cornet.

A card was read from the Alaska Kid, Don Turner, saying he was waiting at the Fairbanks airport for Ralph Guenther, who had been somewhat delayed by the airline mechanics strike. A tourist paper which Turner sent was also enjoyed by the group.

The meeting quickly broke up due to a sudden gusty wind and raindrops.

Two Youths Return From European Tour

Joe Fisher, son of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Fisher, and Bill Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marsh, returned Aug. 1 from a three-week tour of Europe.

They flew to Europe via BOAC, which was unaffected by the airline strike, and toured England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France before returning home. One highlight of their trip was a trip by boat down the Rhine River.

The Youth Tour included 30 persons. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Keen. He is the wrestling coach for the University of Michigan wrestling team.

NEW HORSE BARN: Under construction at Chelsea Fairgrounds is a new 150x30 foot horse barn. The barn, financed by state funds as well as fair funds, will contain room for 52 tie stalls and six box stalls and a tack room. The structure will be ready for use at the Chelsea Community Fair which begins Aug. 31.

New Horse Barn Erected On Community Fairgrounds

Planning is underway for a "bigger and better" Chelsea Community Fair scheduled to begin Aug. 31 and run through Sept. 3.

A feature of the 1966 fair will be a large horse barn now under construction south of the arena on the fair grounds. Construction work is by George Merkel Contractors.

The horse barn measures 150x 30 feet and contains 52 tie stalls, six box stalls and a tack room. A 10x20 cement wash rack will be constructed outside the structure.

The pole barn contains heavy wood siding to a height of approximately four feet, with aluminum siding on the roof and sides. Seven roof ventilators and 14 skylights will provide ample ventilation and light. The building will be equipped with electricity inside and running water outside.

Huber Mason and Merle Sibley are in charge of the horses and the horse show this year. Two new divisions have been added to the horse show this year — English horsemanship and English pleasure. This year, a trophy and a ribbon will be awarded for the grand champion horse and a ribbon will go to the reserve champion horse. As in years past, a showmanship trophy will also be awarded in the horse division.

Similar awards will also be given for the grand and reserve champion ponies.

In previous years, some exhibitors have been discouraged by the crowded livestock facilities, according to Fair Board President David Rowe. Last year, nearly 30 horses had to be turned away due to lack of space. Rowe added that he hoped prospective 1966 exhibitors would take advantage of Chelsea's new Community Fair facilities.

Approximately 20 horses were housed in the livestock barn last year. This space will now be used for dairy and beef cattle, sheep and hogs.

Tents have been rented in past years to house some of the livestock exhibits. Rowe explained that the rental for these tents ranged from $700 to $1,000 per year, which made the construction of a permanent structure especially attractive.

The estimated cost of the building is $9,500, Rowe said. Of this total, the state of Michigan will pay $4,750, which will be Chelsea's allotment for 1965 and 1966 of a special state fund. The revenue comes from the Michigan Department of Agriculture Fair Division, which receives the money through a special assessment of one-half penny on each $2 bet placed at the horse racing tracks in the Detroit area. This assessment totals $1,750,000 per year and is set aside to help pay construction costs for permanent community fair structures.

Rowe said that he was notified June 15 that Chelsea had not used its allotted $2,500 for 1965. In order to receive the money, construction needed to be underway on a permanent building by June 30.

The Chelsea Fair Board went into action on a crash program. They selected a horse barn because nearly 30 horses had to be turned away last year due to lack of facilities and because construction on a horse barn could be started quickly.

Construction on the building began June 29, thus qualifying the building for the 1965 portion of the state money. The 1966 portion was also applied, thus bringing the total state aid to $4,750. (The state fund pays $2,500 a year or one-half the construction costs, whichever figure is lowest.)

He emphasized that the Fair Board is counting on a large turnout at the 1966 Fair to help allay the construction costs on the new building. The fair property was mortgaged in order to pay the construction costs.

With the addition of this building, the Chelsea fairgrounds now contains a permanent kitchen, merchants building, livestock barn, horse barn and arena.

Architect for the new barn was Arthur Lindauer, Dick Kiss did the excavation work; plumbing was by Rowe Plumbing; Ray Steward did the electrical work.

The cement work for a 10x20 wash rack outside the livestock barn and a 10x20 approach at the east end of the merchants building, designed to prevent flooding, is being done by Leonard Quigley.

Mark McKernan is painting the bleachers in the arena, and also the doors on some of the other buildings. Gray paint is being used on the bleachers.

Attendance High At Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp

Attendance at Bruin Lake Scout Camp has been run high all summer.

Troops from throughout Portage Trails Council have making use of the facilities ing these past few weeks, ing Chelsea's Troop 476.

Several troops have taken trips from Bruin Lake to ou campsites, where they have the night and cooked all meals.

A highlight of each week's gram is three meals cooked o the open by each Troop. meals are prepared from d drated foods especially desi for this type of camping. The units are light in weight and to pack and transport.

Campers are working on requirements toward scout-ra including numerous out-door badges, while camping at Lake.

Approximately 150 volu leaders from throughout the C cil area attended the annual gram Launching Roundtable adult scouters in Washtenaw Livingston counties on July Troop 476 from Chelsea, under leadership of Max Hepburn, pared the meal for the Ro table.

Visitors are always welcome the Bruin Lake Boy Scout C and with 24 hours notice, arrangements may be made to s visitors in the dining hall.

Mrs. Ray Franklin Expected Home This Week

Mrs. Ray Franklin, of 18 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., who been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital since July 31, is reported to be feeling much better and hoping to be home by this week-end.

Under consideration for future construction work at the fairgrounds is an expanded and remodeled kitchen and addition dining area to provide faster service. Some work will also be done at a future date in the arena area.

1966 Fair Board officers are David Rowe, president; Everett Van Riper, first vice-president; Jack Fowler, second vice-president; William Blaess, past president; Ed Keezer, secretary; Harold Moore, treasurer.

Organizations wishing to enter floats in the parade should contact David Longworth at 475-7328. Queen candidates are asked to call Mrs. Richard Irwin before Aug. 22. She may be reached at 475-8051 after 6 p.m. on week nights or all day Saturday.

Tips from the STOP & SHOP CHEF Questions & Answers

Is there any rule for using garnitures? When, for example, should one use parsley and when watercress?

There are no hard and fast rules for garnitures. Keep in mind only that a garniture is meant to enhance the appearance of a preparation, not to overwhelm it. In short, keep it simple. In restaurants, watereress is generally used as a garnish for grilled meats, parsley as a decoration for fish and meats that have been sauteed or poached. But there is no reason why they may not be used interchangeably.

Linda Prentice Reports on EUB Youth Convocation in Colorado

Linda Prentice, delegate to the Youth Convocation at Estes Park, Colo., recently, gave her report Sunday morning, Aug. 7 during the joint worship service of the North Waterloo and Village EUB churches held at the Village church.

Miss Prentice was chosen as a delegate by members of the Youth Fellowship of which she is a member. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Prentice.

Linda was one of a group of 70 of Michigan delegates and 10 adult leaders who left Lansing Faith church by bus Wednesday morning, July 20. At 12:30 they stopped at St. Joseph where they met another group of 80 delegates also traveling by bus, to the Convocation in Estes Park.

Traveling through Indiana, Iowa, and Nebraska, they arrived at Estes Park at 4:30 Thursday after nearly two days of travel. During the trip the group composed two songs "EUB Delegates" and the other "Green Berets" because of the green berets they wore with "Michigan" written across them.

Opening session of the convocation began at 7:45 p.m. Thursday with a welcome and worship service followed by the movie, "The Parable." Communion was then served. Closing the service was a drama based on the theme "Called To Be" presented in five parts and portrayed by eight actors.

Breakfast was served every morning at 8 a.m. Sessions began at 9:30 a.m. in which a part of the drama was presented each day. 177 discussion groups of 15 members each met following the presentation to discuss the book "Called To Be," the movies shown and issues brought up during the discussion periods.

Saturday evening church union discussion was held followed by a folk music concert.

The convocation was brought to a close Monday morning, July 25 with a service of praise.

The Michigan delegation left Estes Park by bus at 10 a.m. following the service, taking a tour through the Rockies, stopping at Hidden Valley National Park for lunch.

The delegates arrived in Lansing Tuesday evening following a stop in St. Joseph where they had dinner and a three and one-half hour ride to Lansing, arriving at approximately 8:30 p.m., where they were met by their parents.

Linda closed her report with a thank you to all who made it possible for her to attend the convocation.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

Have you ever watched people looking at a painting of the sea? They seem entranced by its latent power, by its calming influence, by its ability to absorb whatever it is that bothers them.

It never appears the same twice. Crashing against the rocks of the shore, its waves will, one time thunder and another time sound like water from a tap splashing against a sink.

Its colors change, and its moods. It can reflect our gloom or lighten our hearts.

Jesus, as you may recall, did a lot of his teaching by the sea. Though we may not think of it as much of a sea, it still captured the qualities of oceans.

There people could think, could listen, could hear in the quietness brought to them by the water what he had to say about what their life meant — and ours means.

They could leave with their minds refreshed and their thoughts quieted by the gentleness of waters. They could leave also with a new conviction of what living was all about stirred by the restlessness of the waters. They could leave with a decision to look once more for the righteousness of which this man spoke, their hearts moved by the gentleness and restlessness of his words.

"They walked by the frolicking sea and the billows were dancing so lightly" Drachmann wrote. Jesus brought the joy of the sea to the lives of people by reminding them they had nothing to fear, finally.

Mrs. Rank Home After 7,000-Mile Western Tour

Mrs. Inez Rank of 14980 W.US-12, Grass Lake, returned home July 31 from a three-week tour of the western states which covered over 7,000 miles.

The tour, a "Western History Tour," was offered by Central Michigan University for college credit. A chartered bus carried the 32 participants and the tour guide, Prof. John Cumming of CMU.

The group left Michigan on July 8 and traveled to Nebraska; Salt Lake City, Utah; Reno, Nev.; through Donner Pass; San Francisco, Sacramento, the Monterey peninsula, Yosemite National Park, Los Angeles, San Diego, Calif.; Tijuana, Mex.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Hoover Dam and the Grand Canyon; Gallup, N.M.; across New Mexico, crossing the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles; Tulsa, Okla.; St. Louis, Mo.; and then back home.

Highlights of the trip included a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Altshuler in San Francisco. Mrs. Altshuler is the former Joyce Crawford of Chelsea. Mrs. Rank said she also enjoyed the visits to the old Spanish missions which line the southern California coastline, including San Juan Capistrano, San Juan Batistia, and 26 others.

The group took a side trip on what is said to be the longest original narrow gauge railroad in the world, running from Durango, Colo., to Silverton, and back again.

Merger Vote of Churches Due at EUB Conference

Voting on the much discussed consideration of union with the Methodist Church will highlight the 41st quadrennial General Conference of The Evangelical United Brethren Church meeting in the Chicago Conrad-Hilton Hotel, Nov. 8-17.

Although the special session of the Methodist General Conference will meet concurrently in the same hotel, the two top legislative bodies will remain separate with no joint sessions or worship services being scheduled.

Approximately 400 delegates, half ministers, half lay members of the EUB Church will meet in the Grand Ballroom; Methodists will meet in the International room.

The EUB General Conference will include the usual variety of program and necessary business throughout the 12-day period while the Methodist session will be called specifically to consider the union.

Opening worship service of the EUB General Conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. Nov. 8, with senior Bishop Reuben H. Mueller presiding.

Dr. Paul Washburn, executive director of the Commission on Church Union, will present the report of that body on the afternoon of Nov. 8. During the following three days, General Conference delegates will focus attention on the plan of union. Voting on the plan of Union is tentatively planned for Thursday afternoon, Nov. 10.

THE COUNTRY PULPIT:

What Is This Salvation Business?

Why do I need to be saved? and from what?

Those are good questions, my friend, and I believe I can answer them for you if you are interested enough to spend three minutes in reading this article.

Salvation, or being "saved", is necessary only when something of value is being wasted or lost. We think of "saving" money, and you have doubtless heard of people who were drowning, or lost in a forest, or even trapped in a burning building, who needed to be "saved" from their peril.

But how does a person who sits comfortably at home or in his office need to be saved? How does a person who walks in the familiar streets of his home town need to be saved? And the person that could ignore his surroundings long enough to read this article . . . how is he in any danger, or need of being saved?

What would you see if you looked through God's eyes at your own heart? You would see the same thing that God says is in every human heart: selfishness . . . and sin. Although this is no cause for alarm to you, those sins of yours have separated you forever from God and the blessings of an eternal life with Him. God's Word tells us that because we have disobeyed His holy law, so plainly revealed in the Scriptures, the whole world is guilty before Him. (The Bible, Romans 3:19). Not only is everyone guilty before God, but the sentence for your guilt has already been passed. We read in John 3:18, "He that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." This is the reason that you, personally, need to be saved. You are in danger of the eternal death of your soul, which would be the just payment for your sins (Romans 6:23).

You may wonder if a God of love would do such a thing as sending you to eternal punishment. According to God's Word, He will do that very thing if you reject the only means of salvation (there's that word!) that He has provided, for God has indeed made it possible for us to escape, or to be rescued, from the doom that surely awaits us otherwise.

It is wonderful to realize that God saw us in our lost condition and threw to us the eternal-life preserver, and that all we must do is to recognize our hopeless plight and lay hold of what He offers us. "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever (that's you and me) believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

God gave us His Son in a very special way, for He sent Him to earth to die in our place. "For Christ also hath once suffered, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (I Peter 3:18).

Perhaps you want to know, "What must I do to be saved?" God's answer is, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved . . . " That's God's promise; will you take Him at His Word?

Short Wait for Turkey, Deer Permit Applicants

Lansing — Michigan hunters planning to apply for anterless deer and wild turkey shooting permits will have to hold back until early September, the Conservation Department advises.

That is when the Department hopes to complete delivery of hunting licenses and anterless deer permit applications to some 4,000 dealers throughout the state. Without these licenses and forms, hunters are unable to submit valid applications for the special deer and turkey permits.

Sportsmen applying for some 143,000 anterless deer permits which are available for this fall will again be required to first buy their firearm licenses, resident or non-resident. They then must fill out special application forms and mail them to the Department's Lansing office.

Postmark deadline for these entries is Sept. 30.

Small game licenses are required of hunters before they apply for 900 turkey shooting permits. Applications for these permits must show each hunter's small game license number. They are to be made on regular postcards and mailed to the Conservation Department's Lansing office.

They must be postmarked not later than Sept. 23.

If anybody can make a move that will insure peace for the world, the people of the world will thank him.

Lamb Feeder Short Course Scheduled

Interest in winter lamb feeding in Michigan has had its "ups and downs" in recent years. But Bob McCrory, Washtenaw Agricultural Agent, says state figures on inshipments of feeder lambs showed an increase of nearly 20 percent in the first six months of 1966.

Michigan hit a low of 11,000 feeder lambs in 1958, bounced back to 50,000 head in 1964 and then took another drop in 1965.

To provide livestock men interested in lamb feeding with the newest research information on management and feeding practices, the Michigan State University Extension Service is holding three one-day Lamb Feeder Short Courses. The one for this area will be held on Aug. 17 at the Legion Hall in Tecumseh. The meeting will be from 2:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. with a lamb dinner being served.

The following topics will be covered by MSU lamb feeding authorities: Future outlook for ewe flocks and lamb feeding in Michigan; price outlook for feeder lambs; using lambs to clean up cornfields after corn picking; use of implants to increase gains and improve feed efficiency; keeping feeder lambs healthy; feeding practices and review of recent research results on lamb feeding from many experiment stations.

Animal husbandrymen Graydon Blank and L. H. Blakeslee; Veterinarian C. C. Beck and Agricultural Economist David Cole of the MSU staff will handle the sessions.

Further details on the meeting may be obtained from the Washtenaw county extension office where reservations for the dinner may be made.

State Examiners Now Doing 60% of Driver Licensing

Lansing — Driver licensing by state examiners . . . being conducted in 15 Michigan counties . . . now serves about 60 percent of the state's nearly 4½-million drivers.

Although the state operates only 23 stations out of a total of 150 in Michigan, Secretary of State James M. Hare noted that "many of the stations are large ones in heavily-populated areas.

"Hardly a week goes by that some local stations . . . operated by sheriffs and local police departments . . . do not go out of business or indicate that they are planning to quit in the near future," Hare said. "As they leave the business, the state takes over."

Counties served completely by state examing stations are Alger, Barry, Charlevoix, Delta, Hillsdale, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Roscommon, and Washtenaw.

With seven stations in the City of Detroit and one in Hamtramck, Wayne county now has state examining for the most part. Macomb county has stations in East Detroit and Warren. Oakland county has only one station in Oak Park which opened recently but plans call for additional stations in both Macomb and Oakland.

Concession Stand Broken into at Scio Drive-In Theatre

Pearl Lilly reported to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department that the concession stand of the Scio Drive-In Theater on Jackson Rd. was the target of vandals over the week-end. Sunday afternoon it was reported that the door was forced open and articles were tossed from a medicine chest which was within reach of the entrance.

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director
Michigan Department of Public Health

The subject of suntanning is one that usually stimulates wide differences of opinion. On the one side are the sun worshippers, who insist that because some sunning is good—more must be better—and on the other side are those who condemn the practice altogether, pointing to its potential dangers.

Well, both of these opinions are wrong. In reality, like many other things, the best thing to say about getting a suntan is to practice moderation. There's nothing really wrong with getting a tan as long as it's not overdone. There are, of course, a few people who have particularly sensitive skins and should avoid the practice—but this is not the general rule.

Science is learning more about suntanning and sunburning every day. It's understood, for example, that it's the invisible, ultra-violet radiation from the sun that causes the tanning and burning, rather than the visible light. Recent experiments with manikins coated with light-sensitive chemicals demonstrate that sunburn may occur even without exposure to direct sunlight. Socalled "skyshine" or scatter-radiation from the sky itself, plus reflected radiation are sufficient to do the job alone.

But because exposure to ultra-violet light is so potent, is no reason to condemn sun bathing altogether. (Not only does a reasonable amount of sunning give one a tanned, healthy look, but it helps to form vitamin D in the body.). However, too much exposure, on the other hand, will form a toxic substance.

The best tan is achieved by short day-to-day periods of exposure, rather than by longer weekend-by-weekend periods. Repeated or so-called "chronic" over-exposure, over longer periods should be avoided to prevent premature aging of the skin. The incidence of skin cancer also is measurably greater among folks subjected to chronic over-exposure.

Suntan oils and lotions containing ultra-violet screening agents are very helpful in protecting you against the sun's rays. Such preparations contain chemicals which screen out a large part of the ultra-violet radiation to protect the deeper layers of the skin.

Limit the time of exposure to 15 minutes of sun bathing daily until your tan starts to deepen. Early morning and late afternoon are the safest times, when more ultra-violet light is blocked by the earth's atmosphere.

Please remember, the best tans always come in small doses.

Suspended Driver's Licenses Are Now More Difficult To Reinstate

Lansing — Errant Michigan drivers who have their licenses suspended or revoked for any reason will be treated like beginning drivers from now on.

They will have to take tests normally given to beginning drivers including written, vision, road sign, and road tests before their licenses may be restored.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said the new program would be implemented starting Aug. 1 in compliance with a new law passed by the legislature during the past session.

He estimated the program would involve about 50,000 drivers in Michigan a year. Suspensions and revocations for excessive points or under the financial responsibility law will have to undergo tests under the new law, he said.

To get something out of a sermon, one must take himself within the range of the speaker.

Children's Summer Play Should Help Their Development

What are these summer days like for your children? Are the days planned to have real meaning for them?

Most of a child's day is spent in play, notes Mrs. Helen Fairman, Extension Home Economist for Washtenaw, Monroe, and Lenawee counties. Through it he learns many things. Ideally, children's play should contribute to their physical, emotional, and social development.

Mrs. Fairman makes the following suggestions for making summer days with small children more enjoyable.

Make it easy for children to help themselves. A sturdy stool or steps in the bathroom and a low rod for their towel and wash cloth lets them help themselves while freeing you to do other things. Also, select clothes that are easy for children to manage themselves. But most important, remember to help children only when they seem to need it.

Small children also can help you with some small task throughout the day. Through helping, children learn what work is like and what adults are like as they work.

On rainy days, when children's outdoor play is limited, Mrs. Fairman suggests letting them ride their tricyles in the garage.

On a nice day when children are tired of the old games, you might try giving them a simple barrel. This gives them something to turn somersaults over, climb in and out of and roll around. Such activities help children use their arms and legs. Large cardboard cartons make wonderful toys too. With a little imagination they become a train or a house or whatever fits into the spirit of their play.

A mid-morning snack helps children relax if they have become too excited. It also gives you a chance to sit down and relax with them. Children will probably make less demands on you at other times if they have the firm feeling that you have given them some of your time.

Encourage your children to play by themselves some of the time. This helps them to become imaginative. Young children need supervision in their play but not interference or constant direction.

Since children tire quickly of any one kind of play, allow for frequent changes during the day, Mrs. Fairman concludes.

FAMILY INCOME

Median family income in U.S. metropolitan areas in 1964 was $7,300, some 40 percent higher than the $5,200 median for families in non-metropolitan parts of the country, according to the Bureau of the Census.

BEST PAINTS

The cost of paint to cover the average house is usually a small faction of the total cost of labor and materials. It is good economy to buy a quality product in order to lengthen the time between repaintings and thus reduce labor costs.

WILL MARRY: The engagement of Margaret Ritter to Thomas Beller was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ritter, Jr., at a dinner given July 31 in their honor. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beller of Warren. He is a graduate of Warren High school and Eastern Michigan University where he was affiliated wth Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and is the manager of Domino's Corp. in Ypsilanti. She is a 1964 graduate of Chelsea High school and is attending Eastern Michigan University. No wedding date has been set.

Ex-Area Scout Executive Has Book Published

In a book entitled "The Scout Law in Action" to be published Sept. 12 by Abingdon Press, Walter MacPeek, national staff member of the Boy Scouts of America has gathered numerous episodes and incidents illustrating the 12 points of the Scout Law.

Local Scout leaders are looking forward to the arrival of copies of the book here. It will carry a foreward by Chief Scout Executive Joseph A. Brunton, Jr., in which he says: "Only when a Scout lives up to Scouting ideals—does his best to obey the Scout Law"—can he gain the best that the program has to offer him. This part of the Scouting way of life, more than any other, helps make him a citizen of character."

In 13 chapters the author and compiler presents more than 100 selected incidents related to the 12 points of the Scout Law.

"Boys need to have concrete incidents to help them better understand some of the elements of conduct suggested by various points of the law. We need to be able to visualize boys and men who are trustworthy, loyal, and helpful. We need to embrace the concepts of friendliness, courtesy, and kindness from all possible angles. We need to analyze and weigh the various facets of obedience, cheerfulness, and thrift in everyday life. We need to better understand how a boy or man demonstrates bravery, cleanliness, and reverence in his daily life," MacPeek points out.

MacPeek served as scout executive in Washtenaw and Livingston counties 1934-47 and is remembered by many friends in the Dexter and Chelsea communities.

Guests were Waly Clark and Tami MacDonald.

Good and bad habits were discussed among the group.

Club 15 met again on Aug. 8. The girls all went to the Dairy Queen where Mrs. Hineline waited on them. They then returned to Mrs. Nutt's home, had their pictures taken, played records and jumped on the pogo stick.

And then there was the fellow who drank to steady his nerves and who got so steady he couldn't move.

37,000 New Classrooms Constructed in Last 10 Years

Lansing — Michigan's public and non-public schools have built more than 37,000 new classrooms during the last 10 years.

During the same period, Michigan public school districts sold school bonds totaling nearly $1.4 billion. Most of these funds were used to build new schools.

Marilyn Jean Kelly of Ann Arbor, a member of the State Board of Education, said nearly half of all children attending public schools next fall and 30 percent of those enrolled in non-public schools will be housed in facilities 10 years of age or newer.

Miss Kelly said public school districts sold bonds totaling $247 million during the past 12 months —an all-time high for one year— to finance construction of new buildings, additions and remodelings.

"Although Michigan requires" about 2,300 new classrooms each year to meet the annual increase in public school enrollments, the construction rate during the past school year indicates that obsolete facilities are being replaced by many school districts," Miss Kelly said. "Additional facilities are being added, too, in order to increase the comprehensiveness of program offerings.

"The State Board of Education anticipates this high construction rate will continue and that the proportion of classroom construction at the high school level will materially increase."

Last year, 1,864 new public high school classrooms were built compared to 1,761 new elementary school classrooms.

Turner's Alaska Capers

Editor's Note: Don Turner has arrived in Alaska. The following letter has been received from him which should be of interest to his friends in the area.

Part Six
Fairbanks, Alaska
July 31, 1966

Since the last report on my Alaskan Caper, which included Skagway, I have travelled many miles. To follow this part of my caper one can get a better idea of where I have been if you have an Alaska road map.

The highway called the Haines cut-off, which runs from Haines, Alaska, to Haines Junction in the Yukon Territory of Canada, has 40 miles of pavement and the remainder of the 158 miles is over some of the roughest gravel roads one can find anywhere on earth today. I think it should be renamed the "proving ground." Any vehicle that makes it in one piece has to be well put together.

This road connects with the Alaska Highway at Haines Junction and the Alaska Highway from that point to Tok Junction is little better. From Tok Junction, the roads are paved here in Alaska and from Tok Junction to Anchorage the highway is called the Glenn Highway and for the most part is a smoothly paved highway.

At a place called Glennallen I took the Richardson Highway to the port of Valdez which has a population of 1,200 and was nearly destroyed by the earthquake in 1964. A new city is being built and the old one will be destroyed as soon as the new one is completed.

Valdez is called the "Switzerland of Alaska" and is completely surrounded by snow-capped mountains which makes it really beautiful. It is the birthplace of Alaska's Governor, William Egan, who once owned and operated a grocery store here.

It was from C. J. Egan, the Governor's brother, that I gathered some of the history of Valdez. He lives here at the old city.

From Valdez, I retraced my route to Glennallen and took the Glenn Highway to Palmer in the heart of the Matanuska Valley. Palmer is a typical farm town and may be compared with Chelsea or the neighboring towns of Washtenaw county. Dairying and gardening are done here in the valley.

I visited the farm of Byron Hallembek. The Hallembeks have a Brown Swiss herd, a modern milking parlor and bulk tank set-up as up-to-date as any in the country. They grow certified seed oats and barley. I think the Hallembeks were mentioned in the Hoard's Dairyman Magazine sometime last spring.

I also visited the Max Sherrod farm. Max is the largest vegetable grower in the valley and sells most of his produce at a roadside stand just outside of Palmer. Max has a brother living near Dexter.

From Palmer I drove to Anchorage, a bustling city of 50,000 population, not counting the military. Here I visited Dean Fowler and family. Dean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fowler of Dancer Rd. I also visited Jerry Schiller at the Elmendorf Air Force Base. Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schiller of Fletcher Rd.

Leaving Anchorage, I traveled the Sterling Highway to the port of Homer and out on the spit which runs out into Kachemak Bay. I spent the night out on the spit and was quite uneasy as this spit was nearly lost during the earthquake and could sink into the sea if another quake should occur.

Modern motels and restaurants are being built on this spit and there are two crab canneries in operation. They process King Crabs, and ship them to all parts of the lower U.S. Here I was given two large King Crab legs just freshly cooked, and one can't describe the flavor of these luscious morsels when fresh from the sea.

Enroute to Homer I stopped at the Cooper's Landing Resort where the Russian River flows into the Kenai River. Here the Sockeye Salmon run in great numbers and it is here one is allowed to fish for them. You are restricted to flys only, and must use a small hook, but one can get his limit of five in no time if you can find room on the stream to cast a fly. I saw hundreds of people standing elbow to elbow fishing and what a snarl this proved to be. Everytime someone hooked a fish he had several other lines tangled up with his and at times one couldn't tell who had the fish. But no one seemed to mind the snarls and were friendly and good-natured.

I found a stretch of stream that was not too populated and on the first cast I hooked a Sockeye weighing nine pounds! What a bttttle this proved to be! In all my days of fishing I have never witnessed anything like it. It was like a bucking bronco at a rodeo. It was an hour later before I got him close enough to shore where another fisherman gaffed him for me, or I would never have landed him. I was using light tackle—the same as I use for bass in the lake at home—and with the swift current in the Kenai River the salmon had the advantage.

The Sockeye Salmon is the real red-fleshed salmon and is really delicious. After dressing my salmon I gave most of it to a family who just arrived at the resort and hadn't had their full of salmon. I fryed a portion of it for my dinner after rolling it in "Jiffy" Corn Meal Muffin Mix. Aside from making good muffins and pancakes, Jiffy mix makes a real good thing to roll fish in before frying. Maybe I have discovered a first! Maybe it was because the product mentioned was from home, anyway the salmon tasted more delicious than any I had before.

From Cooper's Landing I went to Seward, a seaport with a population of 2,000. Seward was hit by the earthquake but only the waterfront was destroyed and that is built new and in operation.

Seward is historical. It was here the Alaskan flag was designed by a 13-year-old school boy, Benny Benson. Benny's design won in a contest sponsored by the American Legion in 1927. His was chosen out of 142 entries. Seward is the home of the Phoenix, the first ship built on the northwest Pacific Coast by the Russians in 1791.

From Seward I traveled to Fairbanks. The population of Fairbanks is 20,000 and the town was founded in the early 1900's following a gold discovery. There are many attractions here, including the Alaska University.

At Ester, where gold was first discovered, is the famous Malemute Saloon described by Robert Service in his poem, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew." This is a real tourist attraction. The bartenders dress like they did in the days of '98 and serve beer in the big glass shakers. There is sawdust on the floor and they give a play that goes along with the days of '98.

The sign I am holding in the picture was made from a survey stake and the fellow that carved this sign did so on a bet. He bet he could make both ends of the stake meet without breaking the stake.

FLASH! — Ralph Guenther arrived here Aug. 2. He had quite a struggle getting here and came in one day late from what we planned, so we changed some of our plans and went gold prospecting this morning.

Well, not really prospecting but we did find a gold mine in operation and did a little panning at the place of operation of some real nice Alaskans. We didn't get all the gold shown in this pan, but the owners of the operation loaned us this pan and gold to make this picture. Their names are Walter and Ruth Roman. The true hospitality of the Alaskan people was shown in letting us make this picture.

The value of this pan of gold at today's gold price is about $3,000. This gold is of gem quality, all graded to size and for jewelry making is worth many dollars more than just gold dust. The large nuggets are about the size of golf balls.

The object to the right of Ralph's shoulder is a mastodon tusk and is some 50 thousand years old. Found in the gravel here at this gold operation, it weighs 150 pounds and is worth $18 a pound as jewelry material. Can you imagine the size of the animal that carried a set of these tusks?

The Chelsea Prospectors,
Don Turner and
Ralph Guenther.

PROSPECTORS Turner and Guenther hold $3,000 in gold nuggets. Mastodon tusk lies in right background.

SURVEY STAKE was carved by miner who bet he could make both ends meet without breaking the stake.

Bruin Lake Camp Earns 'A' Rating

Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp hoisted a new flag Thursday morning as the result of a camp inspection carried on by regional and local officials Thursday afternoon and evening at the camp. This is the fourth year in a row that the excellence of the camp has been recognized with an "A" rating.

The "A" rating, received by the camp was especially high in that 99 out of 100 categories included in the inspection received approval. The one point taken away was because of an insufficient number of hot water shower heads for a camp of more than 200 boys. Plans to enlarge the shower building had been adopted by the Camp Committee during the winter and will be accomplished prior to next year's summer camp, according to Don Hackney of Dexter, camp committee chairman.

Visiting officials for the inspection were Samuel Foust, deputy regional executive from the Region 7 Boy Scout office in Chicago, and Earl Johnson, member of the Region 7 executive committee from Fremont.

The inspection party of 19 people included Dr. V. L. Van Duzen, Ypsilanti, chairman of the Council Health and Safety Committee; Duncan C. McCarthy, Ann Arbor, vice-chairman of Health and Safety; Harold Baker, Half Moon Lake, deputy camp committee chairman; Roland Spaulding, Chelsea, District 4 committee, chairman; Harold Houk and Glenn Seaver, Ypsilanti members of the camp committee; Bill Ladner, Howell; Mervin Smith, Eugene W. Kelley and Dan Ling, Ann Arbor; Joe Doud, scout executive; Bill Windle, and Ralph Raiford, camp director and assistant camp director, respectively.
