RECORDS MORE THAN A CENTURY OLD were discovered in the Sylvan township safe, located in the township hall, when the false floor was removed last Saturday by Maurice Hoffman, township supervisor, Claribel Hoppe, township treasurer, and Gerald Roberts, Washtenaw county examiner. The plank floor, which rested on the iron bars shown in the photo, covered a deep space which was crammed full of old books, assessment rolls, tax rolls and accounts of the state legislature. Supervisor Hoffman examines one old tax roll found in the storage area.

HISTORICAL TREASURE:

Sylvan Township Records Found Dating Back to 1851

Housecleaning in the Sylvan Township Hall last Saturday brought to light an unexpected treasure of ancient township records, many of them more than a century old.

The old records were discovered when Maurice Hoffman, township supervisor, Claribel Hoppe, township treasurer, and Gerald Roberts, Washtenaw county examiner, decided to go through the large walk-in safe to see what records needed to be saved.

The story actually began when Hoffman discovered that no one could remember the combination to the safe. Only two former township clerks are still living, Richard Kern and Robert Foster, and neither could remember the combination.

It seems as though each successive township clerk had had a secret hiding place in the office where he had jotted down the safe combination, but the township office was recently redecorated and all the jottings were painted over.

Thse safe, used to store old tax rolls and assessment records, is used infrequently and consequently no one realized that the combination was missing.

Hoffman, after conferring with Roberts, called an Ann Arbor company which soon figured out a new combination for the safe.

When the safe was finally opened, the three safecleaners noticed a space between the planks of the safe floor.

Upon investigation, they discovered a large old trunk stored in an area under the floor safe. Opening the trunk, the trio discovered old records, all of which were over 90 years old, all dating before 1876.

Other books and records were also found in the area below the false floor of the safe, and by the time the three had brought them out to examine them, the township office was filled with stacks of books.

Roberts explained that all the records will be disposed of in accordance with instructions from the Michigan Historical Commission. Tax rolls and assessment rolls must be kept permanently in the township; however, most other township records must be kept for only seven years.

Included in the find were records of the Michigan State Legislative acts dating back to 1851-52. Hoffman commented, that pending approval by the township board, the records will be turned over to the McKune Memorial Library historical collection. The library will then be able to decide what they would like to keep here and what should be turned over the division of archives of the Michigan Historical Commission.

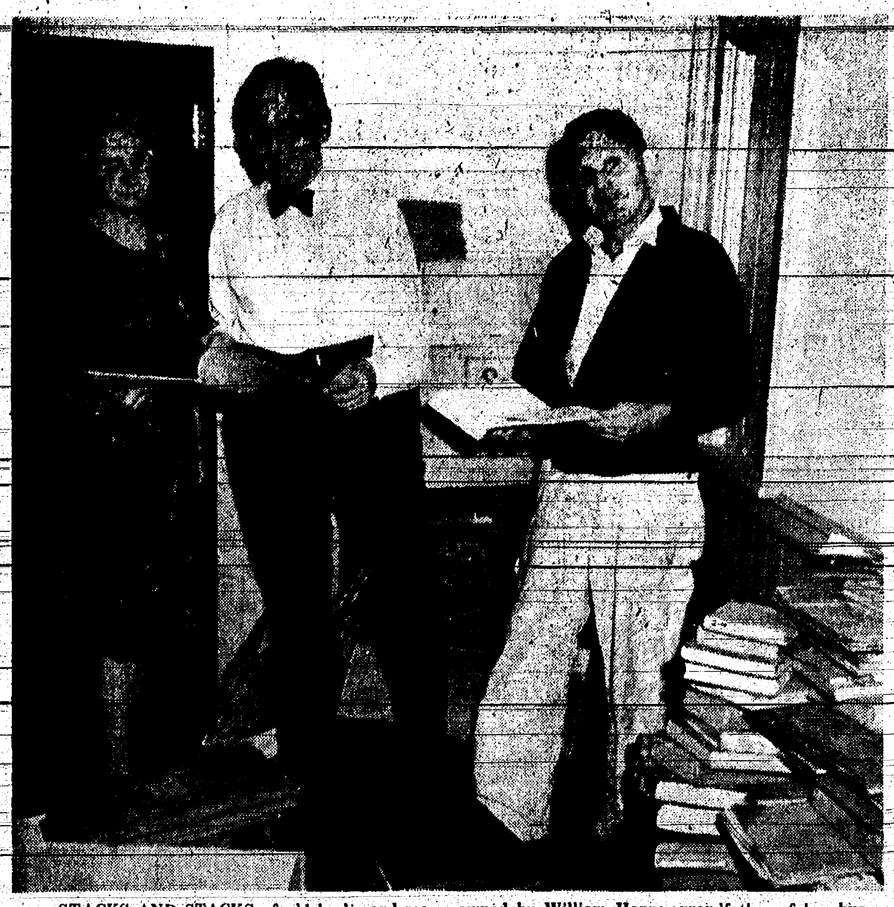
In like manner, all records belonging to the Village of Chelsea will be turned over to the Village Council for deposit in the McKune Memorial Library or other historical depository.

Among the tax records, Mrs. Hoppe discovered the 1866 tax rolls, in which her husband's grandfather, William Hoppe, who in 1866 owned 153 acres in Sec. 17 and 20, on which Mrs. Hoppe today lives, paid a grand total of $24.92 in taxes.

Among his taxes were $5.62 for school taxes, $15.63 for county taxes and $3.67 in township taxes.

Taxpayers moaning over the comparison to their high taxes of 1965 can take consolation in one figure, which Supervisor Hoffman was quick to point out. Township taxes on the same property today are approximately $1.67, a savings of $2 over the 1866 figure.

Monday, Oct. 10 Is Final Day To Register For Nov. 8 General Election



STACKS AND STACKS of old books and records, shown in the foreground, many more than 100 years old, had been tucked away under the floorboards of the Sylvan township safe for decades before coming to light Saturday. Claribel Hoppe, township treasurer, discovered that her farm, according to the 1866 tax roll she is holding, was owned by William Hoppe, grandfather of her husband. The 153-acre farm, located on sections 17 and 20 of Sylvan township, resulted in a tax bill of $24.90 one century ago. Gerald Roberts, Washtenaw county examiner, center, and Maurice Hoffman, right, township supervisor, study the old records.

The fatal accident occurred as Mrs. Menge was driving the 1960 Chevrolet owned by her husband, Norval of 15405 Osius Rd., Chelsea, east on Waterloo Rd., approximately four-tenths of a mile west of Cassidy Rd., according to the report filed by Washtenaw County Sheriff's Officers. The Lyndon township double fatality occurred about five miles from the Menge home at approximately 10:20 a.m.

A witness said that the car was going approximately 70 miles per hour when the driver went off the south side of the road on a slight curve, traveled approximately 255 feet out of control and hit a tree broadside. Because of the rain, the roadway was slick and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's report also mentioned that the tires on the automobile were defective.

Investigating the accident from the Sheriff's office were Deputy Speiss, Corporal Lewis and Kerr.

Double funeral services were held Sunday at 1 p.m. at the Burghardt Funeral Home in Chelsea, with the Rev. Harold Mann officiating.

Anniversary Program Set in Home Chapel

Two Former Administrators Recall Highlights in Growth to Present Size

The Chelsea Methodist Home tomorrow celebrates its 60th birthday. The anniversary will be appropriately observed with a special program in the Methodist Home Chapel beginning at 2 p.m.

Addresses will be presented by the Bishop Marshall R. Reed, who will speak on "This Remarakble Century," and Dr. George H. Palmer, executive director of the East Wisconsin Methodist Homes, who has selected as his topic "With Years A Richer Life Begins."

Following the program in the chapel, refreshments will be served in the Home dining room by the Retirement Homes Friends.

Included in the official anniversary observance will be the dedication of a plaque honoring all the former Chelsea Home administrators.

Recently, two former administrators who now reside at the Home reminisced about their terms as administrators.

He Sold the Cow

The Rev. Leroy Lord became administrator of the Chelsea Methodist Home in 1940 after serving pastorates in the Detroit and Pittsburg Conferences.

One of his first official acts, he commented, was "to get rid of the cow." Milk used at the Home when he arrived came from a milk cow housed in the Home barn, which has since been remodeled into a house. The Rev. Lord, concerned about the use of unpasteurized milk, sold the cow and began ordering milk from a local dairy.

Less than two months after the Rev. Lord had assumed his duties in Chelsea, Sebastian Kresge, Paul Voorhies and Howard Baldwin visited the Home and within two weeks had offered $100,000 for a new wing.

The gift was contingent upon the Home renovating and fireproofing the older buildings, however, and the Rev. and Mrs. Lord recalled conditions as all the wood-lath plaster was replaced with metal-lath plaster and stairways made fireproof. Eight first floor bedrooms were torn out to make the present lounge, the offices enlarged, the library located on the second floor, and the porches in the north and south wings made into sunporches. At the same time, the wiring, plumbing and heating were replaced to conform to modern standards.

During this difficult period, 60 occupants of the Home had to be moved at least twice and some three times. In some cases, the Lords recalled, two patients were placed in a single room and some were even billeted at the ends of the corridors. Everyone at the Home was on the go, moving members, furniture and belongings back and forth.

The most remarkable aspect of this shuttling back and forth and the disruption it caused was the fact that not a single death and very little sickness occurred during the year and one-half involved.

Walls Bulged

Nothing had been done to the older buildings since their construction, and brickwork around the windows and dormers had begun to crumble and in at least two places the walls had bulged and had to be torn out and rebuilt. The bricks at the top of the chimney on the main building had also crumbled and had to be torn down to the roof and rebuilt.

When the construction work was finished, the entire Home was refurnished throughout. The Rev. Lord and the Rev. Harvey G. Peace traveled over the conference raising the necessary finances for the remodeling campaign.

Other changes occurred during the Lord administration. For example individual 20-ft. garden plots were made available for members. The plots, assigned each spring, still provide fresh vegetables and flowers for use in the Home.

When the Lords arrived at the Home, they discovered that their '39 Chevy couple was the only mechanized transportation

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

Civil Rights has been receiving a disproportionate amount of publicity in the nation's press and on the air.

I would like to make a few personal comments on the subject.

First, I emphatically desire that our American society so evolve that all citizens have equal opportunity and that all forms of discrimination become a thing of the past. This is the morally correct goal. We must attain it.

Let me add that my own experience as a U. S. Foreign Service officer in the Congo and French Equatorial Africa from 1955 to 1957 made it abundantly clear to me that the United States voice in world affairs would never attain its true position of leadership until we could in effect practice what we were preaching.

Second, in moving towards this goal—and we must step right along—we must remember that all citizens have rights — that there are many minorities—and that a solution doesn't mean giving any one group more than its fair share of opportunities. I see evidence in some cases where the pendulum is almost swinging too far. We must all remember—regardless of the color of our skin or of the church we attend—that hard work and a Christian regard for our neighbor's rights cannot be replaced with easy solutions and massive give-away programs. Civil rights means equally civil responsibilities.

Legislators must remember that correcting an inequity to one group can create a new injustice to others. This is true in fiscal reform. It is true in the civil rights area. The rights of all citizens must be safeguarded.

In Michigan I feel we have a highly constructive posture in the civil rights field with our constitutionally created Civil Rights Commission. We are the first of the 50 states to come up with this formula. The legislature for its part is charged by the Constitution with the giving the Civil Rights Commission the tools to do the job of investigating discrimination complaints and of taking corrective action.

I have played a leading role on this subject in the State Senate introducing last year Senate Bill 380 which led to the stablishment of the Civil Rights Commission's present nine branch offices and $643,000 budget.

However, to do the job assigned it by the Constitution, the Michigan Civil Rights Commission must be given added personnel and funds to investigate the six months backlog of cases it has on hand. I have requested legislation be prepared for introduction in the next session to provide for increasing the authorized number of field representatives (investigators) from 20 to 50 and to provide for six additional branch offices with one possibly at Ypsilanti.

I believe the branch office concept essential because many of those persons claiming discrimination have neither the money, time, nor ability to travel a great distance to some strange bureaucratic headquarters.

Michigan's Civil Rights Commission presently has a highly competent director and efficient field representatives. They handle an average of 44 cases annually as opposed to California's 40, Pennsylvania's 12 and New York's 18.

But with enough staff to handle the backlog of cases and with branch offices to nip complaints in the bud, I feel we will be removing pressures that may build up in some of our communities and lead to civil distrubances that all deplore.

I think that the State Government with a constitutional "model" in its Civil Rights Commission can effectively handle these problems in Michigan. As a legislator I would want to see the Commission receive the necessary support and policy direction to do the job. I know that Governor Romney shares my views on the subject.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Old Issue

With 1970 coming faster than you realize, comes the national Census and shortly thereafter the required state legislative apportionment.

"Apportionment" become almost a household word in the last go-round in Michigan. This was due largely to changes in the state Constitution and decisions handed down by the state and U. S. Supreme Courts regarding the one man-one vote principle.

The change in the Constitution provided for an eight-man bi-partisan commission, with the members selected by the powers in the two majority political parties.

Even without the precedent-breaking Court decisions, it was clear that Michigan's new apportionment commission system was not designed to be independently effective.

Even with the provision for taking plans to the Supreme Court if agreement did not come from the eight commissioners, flaws in this section of the new Constitution were evident.

There will most assuredly be several ideas proposed for making the post-1970 apportionment work more quickly and smoothly.

One such method has already been put forth. But since the pressure is not yet on for action in this area, it has not been fully considered.

Apportionment would still be a big job under the proposal put forth early this year by a bi-partisan group of House members.

Under their plan, each Congressiona district would be cut into two nearly equal population districts to elect Michigan's 38-member Senate. Then each of the Senate districts would be divided into three, to provide a 114-member House of Representatives.

Apportionment would start in the legislature with this body setting the boundary lines for the Congressional seats. Then the division of these into Senate districts and those into House districts would revert to an apportionment commission fairly comparable to that currently provided for in the Constitution.

Retaining the bi-partisan commission could continue to be a problem despite the fact that initial division of the state would be accomplished before its job begins.

Constitutional amendment, requiring a two-thirds vote in both houses and approval by the people, is necessary before this or any other new apportionment method could be used.

It Really Works

Citizen participation in government has been a key phrase in Gov. George Romney's speeches since he first came into the public spotlight.

An example of the usefulness of citizen participation may be readily found in the State Mental Health Department.

This department reports that there are well over 5,000 volunteers actively working in state hospitals for mentally ill and retarded and at community clinics throughout Michigan.

Time spent by these volunteers varies considerably, but it averages nearly 3,000 volunteers providing over 16,000 hours of service each months.

Major contributions of the volunteers may be seen in the form of new chapels at Traverse City and Kalamazoo State Hospitals, and park and recreation areas at Kalamazoo and Lapeer.

These tangible evidences of volunteer efforts represent fund-raising and individual financial contributions.

As importnat, if not more so, is the contribution of time by the volunteers.

Department Director Dr. Robert A. Kimmihe notes that the volunteers provide a strong supplement to staff efforts and in many cases give services which the staff is unable to provide.

"Because volunteers are not paid and in most cases are not highly trained, it is possible for them to establish a relationship with patients which is more effective and more personal than is often possible for a paid worker," says Kimmich.

While all the volunteer efforts are important and greatly appreciated by department personnel, Dr. Kimmich reports that perhaps the most important result is the volunteers' impact on the patients served.

"The patients are usually aware that the volunteer is making this effort for no reward other than the benefit he brings to those he serves, and this certainly is the highest motivation of all."

Color Tour Time

The Hell Chamber of Commerce has recommended the week-end of Oct. 8 for Color Tours through the Livingston and Washtenaw county countryside.

The trees of Heaven will add a Flaming Scarlet and Crimson, to the riot of color in the Hell area during this period and the Cider Mill at Dexter and the dam at Hell, Mich., are recommended stops for the rambling tourists.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR

The fellers at the store Saturday night was dealing in high finance and trying to keep everthing in round figgers.

Clem Webster of the Great Society was trying to balance the national budget. He reported he had saw where the Guvernment had saved $11 million last year by buying less typewriters and not buying no more filing cabinets.

Ed Doolittle said he was mighty glad to hear the Democrats had found out they was more to economy drives than cutting out a few lights at the White House. He allowed as how, now that they was operating less typewriters and filling up less filing cabinets, they might cut down on hiring new Federal employees from the present rate of 675 a day to around the 500 mark.

Farthermore, reported Ed, he was in hopes the Neighborhood Youth Core, that has spent $290 million up to now to train 1,061 people, could cut the cost per graduate from the present $270,000 to maybe around $100,000 even. He said the Job Core folks has announced they had cut the cost fer one trainee down from $13,000 to around $10,000 and this was mighty encouraging. He perdicted that in another 10 year they would git it down to where it was as cheap to git a Job Core degree as to git one from Harvard.

And while the fellers was in the middle of trying to git the Federal budget trimmed down, Zeke Grubb's preacher come by to git some pipe smoking tobacco. He got to talking and reported his daughter was fixing to git off fer college. The college had wrote him that the rising cost of everthing has forced them to hike their fees another 10 percent. He said he had took to worrying about how he was going to put that girl through college and got to smoking too much and now he's worrying one day about gitting cancer and the next day about raising that 10 percent.

Ed butted in to say that from the best he could recollect the $600 tax deduction the Guvernment set up fer ever child in 1930 was the only figger holding steady in Washington. He said the Guvernment could spend $10,000 a year fer each youngun in the Job Core, but the taxpers that coughed up the money couldn't take but $600 off fer educating their own children.

The good Parson allowed as how Ed had a good point there, claimed most country preachers was eligible fer the poverty program anyhow and he was serious considering just letting the Guvernment educate his daughter.

Personal, Mister Editor, if I was the Parson I'd put my wife in the Women's Job Core, my daughter in the Neighborhood Youth Core, git me one of them $100 a day "consultant" jobs and cut down on the smoking.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

eight minute solo performance after the game. The other bands were Linden, Marshall and Belleville.

Following the performance, William D. Revelli, director of bands at the University of Michigan, complimented the Chelsea Band on their performance.

Boy Scout Group Enjoys Canoe Trip

Twenty-two Chelsea Boy Scouts participated in a canoe trip on the Au Sable River over the weekend.

Accompanying the Scouts, who were all members of Troop 476, were Vern Hilts, Bob Daniels, Alvin Reinhardt, Dick Watson, Robert Roy, Max Hepburn, Arley Lofquist, Vincent Stahl and Scoutmaster Bill Baker.

The group left Chelsea at 6 p.m. Friday evening. They drove to the canoe labor base, located about 12 miles east of Grayling on the south branch of the Au Sable River and camped overnight at a campsite.

Saturday morning the canoers drove to Roscommon where they picked up the canoes at a canoe livery. They left Roscommon at approximately 10 a.m. and canoed the 25 miles back to the base in 14 canoes, with two boys in each canoe.

The Scouts had lunch on the river and stopped at the ruins of an old castle, as well as a chapel dedicated to a Mr. Mason, who donated acreage on the banks of the Au Sable to the Michigan Conservation Department.

The evening meal was cooked at the base camp when the Scouts arrived at 4:30 p.m. Following breakfast and church services at the camp on Sunday morning, the Scouts canoed to McMaster's Bridge, which is located approximately 15 miles further downstream on the main branch of the Au Sable. They arrived at the bridge at approximately 1:30 and motored back to the Chelsea Sunday evening.

St. Mary School Association Elects

Their committee includes Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Joseph Ottoman, Mrs. Clarence Ottoman, Mrs. Robert Keiser and Mrs. Rybka. The second Thursday of October was selected as the date for the hot lunch program.

Sister John Edna spoke about the possibility of shared facilities with the public schools. She urged all interested parents to attend the meeting Monday evening in the High school library. She stressed the great co-operation St. Mary's has received from the public schools.

Howard Trendo will begin a recreation class for boys in grades 5 through 8 on Wednesday evenings between 6 and 7:30 p.m.

It was announced that the girls may wear cardigans with their school uniforms.

Forty new desks have been purchased for the school at a cost of $1,006. Sister John Edna commented that she would like to see money set aside to purchase new desks for the new classrooms which will be available when the church is moved to the new sanctuary.

Sister Roselyn's fifth grade won the attendance banner.

The meeting closed with a prayer led by Sister Rose Sharon. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. James Schnaidt.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8 instead of the first Tuesday of the month.

Safety Tip

Lansing — The Michigan State Highway Commission says the safest time to start out on a long trip is in the wee hours of the morning, when the traffic and the accident rate are at their lowest.

CAPT. DOUGLAS COLLYER

Douglas Collyer Earns Promoiton To Army Captain

Douglas C. Collyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Collyer of Cavanaugh Lae, was promoted to the rank of captain in the United States Army on Sept. 14. He is assigned to the Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE) in Paris, France. SHAPE, which is the supreme NATO military command in Europe, is presently in the process of moving its headquarters to a site near Brussels, Belgium.

Captain Collyer, with his wife, Naida, is now on temporary duty in Brussels, where he is a member of a special team of officers appointed to discuss and plan the move of Shape with the Belgian Ministry of Defense.

Douglas graduated from Chelsea High school in 1958 and Central Michigan University in 1962, where he received a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant and reported to the Adjutant General's School at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., and later assigned to duty at Ft. Erwin Calif. He left for Paris in July, 1965, where he was assigned to the NATO headquarters.

Fire in Apartment Over Store Building Quickly Snuffed Out

A fire of undetermined origin broke out at approximately 12:10 Wednesday noon inside a closet in an apartment located at 111 S. Main St., above the Kusterer Food Market.

The Chelsea Fire Department responded by sending three fire trucks to the scene, according to Fire Chief James Gaken.

Although no estimate of damages was available at press time, Chief Gaken said that all the clothes in the closet were destroyed by the fire and that the apartment suffered some smoke damage.

The Chelsea Fire Department quickly brought the blaze under control but stayed to mop up water and clear the apartment of smoke. The clothes were removed from the closet to prevent any further fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daniels are the tenants at the apartment. They apparently were not at home at the time of the fire.

You can't convince an editor that "no news is good news."

PP&K Event Registrations Due by Friday

Lyle Chriswell, competition director for the Chelsea Punt, Pass & Kick competition open to boys 8 through 13, has warned that only a few days remain in which Chelsea area boys may register for this event. Top performers stand a chance of winning a Washington, D.C., "Tour of Champions," plus an appearance at the annual National Football League Play-Off game in the Miami Orange Bowl on Jan. 8, 1967.

Registrations will close Friday evening, Oct. 7, Chriswell pointed out.

Headquarters for PP&K registration is at Palmer Motor Sales. There is no charge and no special equipment is needed. Competitors will vie with others their own age in punting, passing and place-kicking distance and accuracy. There is no body contact.

Awards in the Chelsea competition this year are distinctive Medals of Achievement on plush velvet ribbons. First-place medals are blue, second-place awards are red, third-place medals have a white motif. There will be 18 medal awards in all.

Zone winners, determined by comparing scores of all local winners, will meet in a district competition. The 28 district champion boys will vie for 90 area championships. The 90 area winners will meet in division events to determine 12 national finalists. National finalists and their parents will go on a "Tour of Champions" to Washington, D.C. This will be followed by a trip to the annual NFL Play-Off game in the Miami, Florida Orange Bowl where national winners in each age group will be determined by a half-time competition in the crowded stadium.

The Chelsea Punt, Pass & Kick competition is sponsored by Palmer Motor Sales, with the Chelsea Jaycees as co-sponsor. The program, in which 715,817 boys took part last year, is sponsored nationally by Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League.

Firemen Answer Several Minor Calls

Chelsea firemen answered several minor fire calls during the past week which resulted in very little damage.

Saturday evening they were called to the home of the Richard Borden family, 315 Garfield, when fire started in the fireplace flue. Everything was under control when the Fire Department arrived, according to Fire Chief James Gaken, and no damage was reported.

At approximately 1 p.m. Monday afternoon a fire truck was sent to the vicinity on Harr and Beeman Rds. to fight a grass fire which had started on state-owned land.

At 6:20 Monday evening, the fire department was called to the Chelsea Trailer Park, where an overheated furnace was reported in one of the trailer houses. No damage was reported.

The reason some people have so few friends is that they think a friend should give them something for nothing.

Jim Speer Burned In Furnace Flare-Up

Jim Speer, 421 W. Middle St., received second and third degree burns on his hands, arms and face Wednesday evening.

The furnace in his home had been converted to a gas furnace but apparently no safety valve had been placed on the furnace. The furnace had gone out, according to reports, and when Jim pushed the reset button gas which had accumulated in the furnace exploded.

He was treated at a local physician's office and has been recuperating at home. Jim is employed at Chelsea Products.

Injury Victim Awarded $130,000 From Defendants

An out-of-court settlement totalling $130,000 was recently agreed upon by litigants in a lawsuit stemming from an accident which occurred July 12, 1965.

The accident involved Lester Shoemaker, brother of Francis E. (Gene) Shoemaker of Chelsea. Lester was walking along the shoulder of a roadway when he was struck and seriously injured by an automobile driven by Roger Peet of Chesaning, Mich.

The lawsuit was brought in Jackson county Circuit Court against the Farmer Peet Packing Co. of Chesaning and Roger Peet, son of Douglas Peet, president and owner of the Farmer Peet Packing Co., by Francis E. Shoemaker, guardian of Lester, and Janice Shoemaker, wife of Lester. Lester, who is 31, is recuperating at the home of his brother at 138 Orchard, Chelsea. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shoemaker have four daughters.

The agreement was settled with $115,000 going to Gene Shoemaker as Lester's guardian, and $15,000 going to Mrs. Lester Shoemaker.

Lester will begin vocational rehabilitation training under the Department of Public Instruction, in Jackson.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs were Rosenburg, Painter, Stanton & Bullen.

Octogenarian Night Set by Kiwanis Club

David Rowe, president of the Chelsea Community Fair Board, briefly told of some of the highlights at the 1966 fair Monday evening when he spoke before the Chelsea Kiwanis Club.

The net profit at the 1966 fair was $3,000, which will be applied toward the cost of the new horse barn built this year, Rowe said. State aid derived through a half-cent levy on every $2 bet placed on the horses at the Detroit Raceways, will also help pay for the new building.

Three innovations which Rowe said resulted in the betterment of the Chelsea Fair included a building and grounds committee, a rules committee and a new horse barn.

He commended the fact that the first day of the fair was taken over almost completely by Kiwanians as the Kiwanis Kids Day and recognized Kiwanians Floyd Fowler, H. T. Moore and Anton Nielsen, who are Fair Board first vice-president, treasurer and director, respectively.

A resolution was passed by the Kiwanis Club that David Rowe be recommended to act as president for the year 1967.

Rowe was introduced to the Kiwanis meeting by Walter Zeeb, program chairman of the Monday evening meeting.

In other business, the club heard George Heydlauff report the net profit of $240.25 on the Hole-In-One contest held July 29-30.

Treasurer John C. Dettling presented Paul Mann with a check for $5 as a third-place winner in the golf contest. Mann endorsed the check and placed it in the "Motts Pot," a container in which every Kiwanian in the state of Michigan is to place a dime each week to help furnish a mammoth addition to the children's hospital at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Paul Mann asked that all members report to him all men 80 or older so he will have a complete list of all octogenarians for the Octogenarian Night to be celebrated at the Oct. 17 meeting.

Secretary Paul Niehaus read a resolution of incorporation of the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

President Fowler brought to the attention of the club the $1,490,000 bond issue for the juvenile court building which is to be voted on in the coming election. He also announced a sixth division inter-club meeting to be held Oct. 5 at Gondola Ypsilanti, sponsored by the Greater Ypsilanti Kiwanis Club.

Pete Schaible, Jr., gave a report on the Kiwanis State Convention held at Grand Rapids on Sept. 18-20.

Raymond Stembach, chairman of the travelogue series, reported on the progress of the ticket sales. It now appears that the sixth season of the travel series films will be a certain sell-out by this Saturday's opening presentation. Club officials urge anyone who desires tickets and those who have promised tickets to conclude their purchase by Saturday.

Wallace Wood introduced Edwin J. Oram as his guest, and Clare Warren had as his guest George Scrivener of England. Arthur Faist, a former resident of Chelsea and now a Kiwanian of Lynwood, Calif., was introduced by Louis Allen.

HEAD COUNT

The total U. S. resident population as of June 1, 1965 was 193,644,000 — an increase of 2,492,000 or 1.3 per cent over June 1, 1964, according to Census Bureau estimates. The new figure represents an increase of 14,320,000 or 8.0 percent since April 1960.

DANA RETIREE: Brewster Peabody, center, retires after 20 years at the Chelsea Plant, Division of Dana Corp. He started work on Sept. 6, 1946, holding such jobs as hand screw, milling machine, and inspector since 1959. He plans to repaint the interior of his home at Cavanaugh Lake this fall. In the winter he will take a month's trip to Florida with his wife. She also retires in a month from the Post Office in Chelsea. He was presented with a white bible from Amalgamated Local No. 437, UAW-CIO; a check for $150 from the employees' benefit fund, a lighter from the men in the Inspection Department, and a black dinner jacket from the company. In the photo, from left to right, are Donald Neff, personnel manager; Donald Houle, chairman of the Pension and Benefit Committee; J. L. 34 Years Ago...

Thursday, Sept. 29, 1932

An enjoyable event of the past week was the reception given last Thursday evening at the Congregational church for the members of the faculty of the Chelsea public school. The Rev. A. E. Potts led community singing, and gave the address of welcome, after which Superintendent E. Y. Poore graciously responded.

The Rev. Fred Matthews, who has successfully served the Chelsea Methodist church and the North Sharon Community church the past year, has been returned to these two charges for another year.

That a Federal Aid highway will be constructed north of Chelsea to Mason in the near future is virtually assured, according to the information advanced by officials of the State Highway Department at Lansing.

Mrs. W. R. Mayer of Munith was the speaker at the Sunday morning service at Salem Methodist Episcopal church. Following the service the congregation repaired to the home of the pastor, the Rev. Henry Lenz, to witness the planting of the George Washington Bicentennial tree, a Siberian elm, donated by the Rev. and Mrs. Lenz.

A joint meeting of the township boards of Sylvan and Lyndon, consisting of Supervisor, T. H. Bahnmiller, H. F. Brooks and Walter Tices, H. F. Brooks and Walter Riemenschneider of Sylvan, and Supervisor James Howlett, clerk Dennis Guinan, Justices Theo. Mohrlock and John Mester of Lyndon, met Monday evening. The meeting was called to act on a petition of Ransom Armstrong and other freeholders asking that certain parcels of land situated in the fractional school district No. 14 of Lyndon be set over into school district 2, Sylvan.

Henry Notten of Francisco was pleasantly surprised Tuesday evening when his children and their families gathered at his home in celebration of his 85th birthday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Loveland and family, Mr. and Mrs. Erle Notten of Sylvan, the Rev. Henry W. Lenz, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Notten and children of Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dancer and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Helninger and daughter of Lima, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Notten of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rentschler of Waterloo.

Ritterskamp & Young, local local growers of choice vegetables and fruit, have rented the Collins building in South Chelsea and are announcing the opening of their new store in an advertisement in the classified column of The Standard.

Three Area Accidents Investigated

Washtenaw County Sheriff's officers investigated three area accidents recently.

On Wednesday, Sept. 28, a one-car accident on the Dexter-Pinckney Rd. one-fourth mile north of Fleming Rd. occurred at 9:55 p.m. Driver of the 1966 Chevrolet was Stephen Burton Bell, 23, of 11025 Fairview, Pinckney, who was momentarily unconscious after he lost control of his car while attemting to pass another car.

Bell told sheriff's officers that tempting to pass another car.

Bell told sheriff's officers that he applied his brakes, skidded 129 feet to the ditch, skidded another 90 feet in the ditch and glanced off trees, before coming back into the roadway in the southbound lane.

The report filed with the Sheriff's office by Deputies Foster and Preston stated that he was driving approximately 60 miles per hour in a 45 mile-per-hour zone and that he had been drinking.

A two-car accident occurred Oct. 1 at 1 p.m. on Werkner Rd., one-fourth mile south of Lindley Rd. in Lyndon township. The left side and front of a 1958 Ford, owned and driven by John W. Esch of Eaton, Mich., were damaged when Thomas M. Steele of Chelsea, 17, lost control of the 1966 Chevrolet he was driving as he was negotiating a curve.

The Steele vehicle "side-swiped" the Esch automobile, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Officer report. The report quoted witnesses who said Steele had crossed the center line and was driving at approximately 70 miles per hour as he headed north on Werkner Rd. Esch was headed south at approximately 50 miles per hour.

Officers reported that Steele was arrested and that his drivers' license has been suspended.

A car-bicycle collision occurred Saturday evening at approximately 5:05 p.m. on Old US-12, near the Freer Rd. intersection. The right rear and right front of a 1964 Buick, owned and driven by Russell R. Maurer, 47, of 224 Jefferson, Chelsea, were damaged when the automobile struck a utility pole. According to Deputy Foster of the Sheriff's office, Maurer was headed west on Old US-12 and the bicyclist was traveling from the south to the north side of the road when he steered his bike into a U-turn without seeing the approaching automobile. The bicycle was struck a glancing blow before the car struck the utility pole.

Driver of the bicycle was Daniel Foytick, Jr., age 9, of 13425 Old US-12.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

★ County Board of Supervisors, Apportionment

PUBLIC ACT 261 — This act establishes a county apportionment commission in each county to apportion the county into not less than five nor more than 35 supervisor districts of equal population as follows:

County Population under 5,001, not more than 7; 5,001 to 10,000, not more than 10; 10,001 to 50,000, not more than 13; 50,001 to 600,000, not more than 21; over 600,000, 25 to 35.

The first apportionment must be completed on or before May 15, 1967. Each subsequent apportionment must be completed within 60 days after the publication of the latest United States official decennial census figures.

Upon the effective date of this act, the boards of supervisors in counties with a population of less than 75,000 have a maximum 30 days to apportion their county into supervisor districts in accordance with this act. If the board fails to apportion the county within the 30-day period, the county apportionment commission shall proceed to apportion the county.

Composition of the County Apportionment Commission—

The county apportionment commission shall consist of the county clerk, the county treasurer, the prosecuting attorney, and the statutory county chairman, or representative of the party in counties without a statutory chairman, of each of the two political parties receiving the greatest number of votes cast for the office of secretary of state in the last preceding general election.

The clerk shall convene the apportionment commission and they shall adopt rules of procedure. Any three members of the commission shall be a quorum sufficient to conduct business. All action of the apportionment commission shall be by a majority vote of the commission. All meetings of the commission shall be open to the public.

Apportionment Guidelines—

The county apportionment commission shall be governed by the following guidelines listed in the order of their importance:

1. All districts shall be single-member districts and as nearly equal in population as is practicable. The latest official published figures of the United States official census shall be used in this determination. In cases requiring division of official census units (such as township), however, an actual population county may be taken to make the division and meet the population standard. Other governmental census figures of total population may be used if taken subsequent to the last decennial United States census and the U.S. census figures are not adequate for the purposes of this act.

The secretary of state is required to furnish the latest official published figures to the county apportionment commissions after this act takes effect and within 15 days after publication of subsequent United States official census figures.

A contract may be entered into with the U.S. census bureau to make any special census if the latest U. S. decennial census figures are not adequate.

2. All districts shall be contiguous.

3. All districts shall be as compact and as nearly square as is practicable depending on the geography of the county area involved.

4. A township shall not be combined with any city or part of a city to create a single district unless such a combination is needed to meet the population standard.

5. Townships, villages and cities may be divided only if it is necessary to meet the population standard.

6. Precincts may be divided only if it is necessary to meet the population standard.

7. The residents of state institutions who cannot by law register in the county as electors shall be excluded from any considerations or representation.

8. Districts shall not be drawn to effect partisan political advantage.

FILING OF APPORTIONMENT PLAN—

The apportionment plan approved by the commission shall be filed in the county clerk's office. The plan shall become effective at the time of filing and copies of the plan shall be forwarded by the county clerk to the secretary of state for filing. The plan shall be made available to any registered voter of the county at cost.

PETITION COURT TO REVIEW PLAN—

Any registered voter of a county may petition the court of appeals to review the apportionment plan to determine if the plan meets the requirements of state laws. The court may be petitioned within 30 days after an apportionment plan has been filed for his county. Any findings of the court may be appealed to the supreme court.

FAILURE TO SUBMIT PLAN—

If the apportionment commission fails to submit a plan within 60 days but not less than 30 days after the latest official published census figures are available, any registered voter of the county may submit a plan to the commission for approval. The apportionment commission may be granted additional time by the court to submit a plan for good cause shown upon petition from the commission.

The commission shall choose the plan from among those submitted that meets the requirements of state laws and file the plan in the county clerk's office within 30 days after the deadline for the filing of the commission's own plan or any extension granted for filing a plan by the appellate court.

After the apportionment plan has been found constitutional and all appeals have been exhausted according to the provisions of this act, the plan shall be the official apportionment plan for the county until the next U. S. official decennial census figures are available.

TERMS OF SUPERVISORS—

The electors of each established district shall elect one county supervisor to the county board of supervisors. There shall be no representation on the board of supervisors other than that established by provisions of this act.

The term of each supervisor shall be concurrent with that of state representatives as specified in the constitution.

QUALIFICATIONS OF CANDIDATES—

Candidates for the office of supervisor must be residents and registered voters of the district which they seek to represent. They must remain residents and registered voters in the county to hold their office if elected.

Nominations and elections for supervisors shall be by partisan elections. To appear on the primary ballot, candidates must pay a $100.00 filing fee or submit nominating petitions with the county clerk bearing signatures of qualified and registered electors within the district equal to at least 1 percent but not more than 4 percent of the number of votes cast in the district by his party for the office of secretary of state at the last general election in which a secretary of state was elected.

The deadline for filing nomination petitions or filing fees shall be the same as those for candidates for state representative.

FILLING VACANCIES—

If a vacancy in the office of supervisors occurs as a result of death, resignation or removal from the district or office, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the county board of supervisors within 30 days. The appointee must be a resident and registered voter of the district. He shall serve until the vacancy is filled by election at the next general or special election for the unexpired term of office and until his successor has been elected and qualified.

REPEAL OF PRESENT LAW—

The present law regarding representation of cities or boards of supervisors is repealed (CL 117.27)

Compensation of Apportionment Commission

Members of the board of supervisors shall receive such compensation as fixed by a resolution of the board. Changes shall become effective only when members of the board commence their terms of office after a general election.

In signing this act, Governor George Romney announced he would ask the Michigan Supreme Court for an advisory opinion on the constitutionality of the act. "As this bill reached my desk, it confronted me with two significant facts: First, the action of the legislature in this matter; and Second, the recent inconclusive status of the question of equal apportionment of boards of supervisors resulting from four-to-four split decisions of the Supreme Court in two separate cases." Attorney General Frank J. Kelley was requested to prepare the necessary papers to be presented to the court.

The governor initiated his action under Article III, Section 8, of the constitution which reads: "Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date." The act does not become effective until 90 days after sine die adjournment.

WIRING CHECK

Not enough and overloaded outlets, wires under rugs and over doorways, unsafe extension cords, lights that dim, fuses that blow, television pictures that shrink—these are among the signs that mean it's time to have an electrician check the electric system in your house.

JUNGLE GEM

Angor Wat, the vast complex of temples near Siem Reap in Cambodia, was discovered by accident in the 1860's. Its 60 square miles of shrines and massive statues were freed from the dense jungle and are now a national monument open to visitors from North America.

Nadine E. Brown, Larry Memmer Speak Vows in Grass Lake Church

Nuptial vows were repeated Saturday afternoon in the Grass Lake Methodist church by Nadine E. Brown and Larry W. Memmer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Archie Donigan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Kendel Brown, formerly of Chelsea, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Memmer, all of Grass Lake.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a sheath style empire gown of ivory crepe with a chapel train accented by peau de ange sleeves and lace bordered skirt. A full-length veil was secured by a pillbox of matching lace and she carried a bouquet of ivory pompon mums.

The bride was attended by Miss Carol Eschelbach with Judy Lesowski and Janet Alexander, all of Grass Lake, as bridesmaids. They were attired in A-shaped gowns with green brocade tops and moss green crepe skirts. Their flowers were pompons of bronze and yellow pompon mums and they wore garlands of pompon mums in their hair.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Roger Memmer, of Grass Lake, and groomsmen were Dennis and Chris Tiel, both of Chelsea. Guests were seated by Ronald Zick, cousin of the bridegroom, and David Meyers, both of Grass Lake.

The flower girl was Miss Jackie Lamb and the ringbearer was Russel Wurster, both of Manchester and both cousins of the bride.

The soloist was Mrs. Ronald Thatcher and the organ music was provided by Mrs. Forrest Cook.

Mrs. Brown wore a mint-green dress with beige accessories and a corsage of bronze mums. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Memmer selected a gold two-piece silk suit with cocoa accessories and bronze mums.

A reception was held in the Grange Social Hall after which the couple left on a wedding trip to northern Michigan. They will reside at 220 Simpson St., Grass Lake. He will complete his studies at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo in June. She is employed at the Bain Corporation in Grass Lake.

The bride was honored at two pre-nuptial showers given for her by Miss Carol Eschelbach of Grass Lake and by Mrs. Walter Meyers and Mrs. Beeman Zick, both of Grass Lake.

Club and Social Activities

LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the American Legion Home on Tuesday evening, Oct. 4, with 23 members present. A lunch was served by Mrs. Bill Blaess, Mrs. Charles Spencer and Mrs. George West.

The next meeting will be held at the Congregational church on Nov. 1, Tuesday.

LYNDON FARM BUREAU

Lyndon Farm Bureau met Saturday, Oct. 1, at Lyndon township hall with seven families being present. A pot-luck supper was served.

The business meeting was opened by the chairman, Max Kalmbach followed with a presentation by Mrs. Emory Pickell and Mrs. Buelah Boyce of the Women's Committee on "Wills and Probate Court."

Next meeting will be Saturday, Nov. 5 at Lyndon township hall.

Fashion Notes

The well dressed person is the one who selects from current styles only those most becoming to her. The current female fashion is on youth fashions that are feminine and elegant. Softer shapes are closer to the body in natural lines, bias cuts, and easy pleated skirts. These silhouettes require supple, drapable fabrics.

Two-piece dresses for little girls with caps made of the same material are smart.

Michigan ranks 10th or higher in production of more than 20 major crops, although ranking only 22nd in land area.

Tri-County Meeting Slated at Ida for Extension Groups

Homemakers from Washtenaw, Lenawee, and Monroe counties will meet in Ida from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Oct. 13. The Ida EUB church and the Peace Lutheran church have made their facilities available to the Extension Study Groups who will be attending three classes.

"Money! Money! Money!" will be taught by Miss Lucille Ketchum, Extension Specialist in Home Management, Michigan State University. The group will study family resources and look at a modern approach to family budgets—an approach based on family values—what kind of living a family wants to get for its money—rather than a "standard" budget on percentages.

"The Teen-age Mind and You" will be taught by Dr. Eugene Peisner, Extension Specialist in Family Life, Michigan State University. This group will study teenagers and their problems. What makes teen-agers tick? What can adults do to understand them? How can we influence their development? The discussion will emphasize the total relationship of the community, family and teenagers.

"Who is responsible?" will be taught by Sam Mitchell, Farm Bureau. How liable are you and your family? What can you do to protect yourself? Discussion emphasis will be on liability laws and how they apply to families.

COMPLETES HOT HIKE

Los Angeles — Jean Pierre Marquant has completed a 102-mile hike through Death Valley. The 28-year-old former paratrooper appeared to be in good condition at the hike's end except for swollen and blistered feet. He was met each day and given food, drink and clothes.

TOO MANY WIVES

Vacaville, Calif. — A barber, Robert Swartz, has admitted marrying six wives, but he got only one divorce. The 60-year-old man said that he kept getting married because he "wanted to be wanted." Several of his wives have filed bigamy charges.

Plan Meals In Advance, Cut Confusion

Meals hum-drum lately? Food costs beyond amounts budgeted? Never time enough to put a really good meal on the table?

Planned-in-advance meals may help, according to Mrs. Helen Fairman, home economist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Washtenaw, Monroe, and Lenawee counties.

"A general plan for all meals prepared for a week in advance saves time, money and helps avoid dreary, repetitious meals," she says.

Mrs. Fairman suggests having well in mind the amount of foods needed daily by the family. Their needs may be divided into basic food groups milk and milk products; meat, poultry, fish, eggs and dried beans and peas; vegetables and fruits; and bread and cereals. You may notice that supermarkets are organized somewhat the same way.

In making your plans, it's easiest to start with main dishes. Select other foods to complete the meal, Mrs. Fairman suggests. Remember to balance the meals . . . nutritional requirements, time requirements and expenses.

If a main dish is complicated, plan a simple dessert. If one item takes a lot of time, serve a couple of quick dishes to offset it, or you'll end up spending the entire day in the kitchen.

"Meals are most appealing when they're pleasnat to look at, as well as good to eat," Mrs. Fairman says. "To make each meal more satisfying, plan for variety in color, form and shape, texture and temperature of the foods."

By planning ahead, you can more easily balance low-cost and high-cost items in the menu to stay within your budget. Planning ahead means you're more likely to avoid last-minute shopping that lets extra expenses creep in.

But Mrs. Fairman cautions, "Keep your planning flexible enough so you can take advantage of good buys and plentiful foods."

Young Trees Offered For Reforestation on Private Lands in State

Lansing — More than six million young pine and spruce trees are now on sale through the Conservation Department's Forestry Division in Lansing to promote reforestation plantings on private lands in Michigan this fall and next spring.

Landowners seeking planting stock for raising future timber crops, controlling erosion, or providing farm windbreaks may order from the Department's large supply of trees, more than half of which are red pine seedlings and transplants.

Under a standing Department policy to encourage only reforestation projects, trees will not be sold for landscaping uses.

In an effort to offset rising production costs, the Department has been forced to make modest increases in its stock prices. These increases range from $1 to $4 per thousand trees.

Stock price lists and order blanks are available from the Department's Forestry Division in Lansing or from offices of its field foresters and county extension agents.

LONG-LOST RING FOUND

Hayward, Calif. — Mrs. Bob Bomnel lost her engagement ring ten years ago when she packed to moved. Some of the boxes were stored in her mother's home. Mrs. Mae Giannatti recently opened one of the boxes and found her daughter's ring in an old purse.

Methodist Home Birthday

at the Home (a horse shared the barn with the milk cow.)

Since the Home had no chapel at that time, it was necessary to call the First Methodist church each week to see what members of the church were willing to provide transportation for members at the Home who wished to attend church services. Later funerals and Sunday services were held in the lounge.

Today, the Chelsea Methodist Home has two station wagons for its use and a colonial-styled chapel where serivces are held each Sunday at 8 a.m.

It was during the Lord administration that the front drives were added, and the statue entitled "Christ and One World" and its reflecting pool were installed.

Another vigorous money raising campaign was launched in 1947 when Ora C. Kimball offered the Home $100,000 toward another wing, which meant that at least an additional $100,000 had to be raised from the churches.

When the campaign ended the Rev. Lord notified the Board that he wished to return to the pastorate.

A personal tragedy had intervened. In 1944, the Lord's only son, Major Herman M. Lord, a medical doctor in charge of a field hospital, was killed in action in Aachen, Germany. His loss was a very difficult blow for the Lords, complicated by wartime delays and uncertainties.

When he left the Home in 1948, the Rev. Matthew Betz assumed the administration. The Rev. Betz today resides at the Home.

Expansion Continued

Additional building during the Betz administration included the Kimball wing, which gave the Home an additional 48 rooms. The assembly room provided a place for programs, luncheons and visiting groups. The cost of the Kimball Wing totalled approximately $400,000.

A chapel seating 176 worshippers was dedicated on May 25 1952, and the duplex home for, retired ministers and their wives, presently occupied by the Rev. and Mrs. Westerman and the Rev. and Mrs. Merrill, was also built.

The new superintendent's home was started during the Rev. Betz's administration, but it was not completed until the Rev. Edwin Weiss became the administrator.

The Rev. Betz recalls that a flu epidemic during his administration resulted in as many as 80 people needing nursing care at the same time.

On the brighter side, he organized a choir of 12-14 members of the Home who provided music for the Sunday morning chapel services, and installed television sets in every sun parlor.

Upon his retirement in 1957, the Rev. and Mrs. Betz made their home in St. Petersburg, Fla., until they decided to move into the Home in 1962. Again, a personal tragedy occurred when Mrs. Betz died while arrangements were being made for them to enter the Home.

Perhaps the most graphic illustration of the Home's metamorphosis may be found in reading the early newspaper accounts of the Home.

Chelsea Site Selected

According to a 1906 account in The Chelsea Standard, the "Emily Glazier Old People's Home" came to be located in Chelsea because the Hon. F. P. Glazier relayed to the board of trustees, through his pastor, the Rev. J. Ryerson, the "delightful surprise they had been praying for, naming that he would convey a block of land, consisting of about 16 acres, $5,000 toward a building and $500 a year for 20 years if the home was located in Chelsea."

The gift was later changed somewhat and enlarged, with his mother, Mrs. Emily Glazier, adding $5,000 and his wife giving a stone gateway leading into the grounds.

An additional $1,250 in subscriptions was raised by the Rev. Ryerson from other Chelsea citizens, and on Oct. 11, a "Sod-breaking Day" was held. A large delegation from Detroit, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and other towns arrived in Chelsea to watch the Hon. F. P. Glazier and his mother cut the first sods and the Rev. Dr. Reed, the Nester of Detroit Conference, turn a sod on behalf of the Conference. At that time, $20,000 had been pledged or was already in the hands of the Conference for construction of the Home.

In November, the contract was let to Rickman Bros. of Kalamazoo for the building, which was scheduled to be finished by July 1, 1907.

The December, 1906 account further stated that "the stone gateway given by Mrs. F. P. Glazier is now being erected by Koch Bros., and when finished will without doubt be one of, if not the finest gateway in the State of Michigan. In addition to is previous gifts the generous donor will at his own expense lay out the ground in a beautiful park with drives and walks. This work is already contracted for by Essens & Co. of Detroit."

First Building Dedicated 1907

The first building was dedicated on Oct. 31, 1907, with the total value of the plant reported at $40,000, although the actual cost was $27,500. The building was described in newspaper accounts of the period as a four story building including the basement, and was 100 feet long by 40 feet deep. It was built of paving brick, sandstone trim and red tile roof and contained 40 rooms, 24 single and 16 double rooms.

Among the noteworthy features of the building were the fact that it was to be lighted by electricity and heated by steam. "City water and every comfort will be provided, all of which will go to make it one of the most beautiful and delightful homes in the nation," the account added.

The location of the Home was also considered a great asset, for "It is so situated that it will have pass by it 30 electric cars and 22 passenger trains daily, furnishing to the Old People one of the most marvelous panoramas of changing scenery to be found."

At the time of the dedication, the building housed 12 permanent and six transient residents and "a more congenial and contented family could not be found." The Standard also reported that before many months, "there will be 50 people living in the building."

The first residents of the Home lived in temporary qaurters at a ing. Dr. and Mrs. Seth Reed served as superintendents during the first year, and were succeeded by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Saunders, as the first official superintendent and matron in the new Home.

Today, 210 residents are housed in the Home, and the size of the staff has grown from two persons to 87. During the intervening years, additional buildings and wings were added to the Home in 1915, 1926, 1942, 1949, and 1962. In 1952, the Kresge Chapel and the retired ministers cottage was completed, and in 1957 a new residence for the administrator was dedicated.

Dr. Lane Has Puppies That Need Good Homes

Puppies, puppies, everywhere apparently is the situation at the veterinary hospital located at 636 N. Main St.

The Chelsea police picked up a black cocker spaniel on Oct. 1 and took her to the hospital, where she later delivered seven strong, healthy puppies in shades of black and white.

W. C. Lane, D.V.M. owner of the hospital, says that they usually turn dogs over to the Washtenaw County Humane Society after several days, but since this is a particularly nice litter of puppies he would hold them longer to give anyone wanting a puppy an opportunity to contact him.

SO THOROUGHLY YOU'LL HARDLY BELIEVE IT — TURBO-ACTION AGITATION — The unique HOOVER energy disk, located on the back of the washer tub, actually surges water through the clothes. This remarkable wash action gets clothes really clean.

SAVES UP TO 100 GALLONS OF WATER — 100 GALLONS — SAVES $$ ON WATER — Uses only 1/3 the amount of water that most automatics use. Saves up to 100 gallons every 3 loads.

WITH 1/3 CUP OF DETERGENT — SAVES $$ ON DETERGENT — The washing action is so efficient, it needs less detergent than the agitator or tumbler-type washer. It has a SUDS-SAVER, too!

IN 4 MINUTES — WASHES FAST — The HOOVER washes a full load of laundry in four minutes or less, in a gleaming lifetime stainless steel washtub.

RINSES AND SPINS DRY IN 2 MINUTES — DRIES IN SECONDS — The clothes are spun at the amazing speed of 2,000 RPM, this enables the washer to extract soap or detergents that can't be rinsed out. Laundry comes out really damp-dry.

NEEDS NO PLUMBING — NO PLUMBING NECESSARY — Needs no plumbing, needs no installation. Just roll the HOOVER to any sink, slip on the hose and start washing. Pump empties washer automatically.

SERVICE — EASY TO SERVICE — No gears or complicated control panels. Truly a do-it-yourself washer. Belt replacement is a breeze...less need for costly service.

Tips from the STOP & SHOP CHEF Questions & Answers

Is it possible to revive limp celery and make it crisp enough to be served raw?

Crisp as the celery once was it will be again by combining the limp stalks with segments of potato, covering the vegetables with ice-cold water, and keeping them under refrigeration for about one hour. Use a large potato, washed but unpeeled, and cut it into six to eight segments. The celery stalks should be separated.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

Earlier this year John C. Bennett had published a book with the title "Foreign Policy in Christian Perspective." It isn't the first time Bennett has dealt with the subject.

Nor is it the first time such a book has been published.

The title gives some reason for reflection if only because the nominally Christian people of this county and the world are so little inclined to put foreign policy in any kind of Christian perspective.

Our perspectives are usually patriotic or political or personal or peoyish or some combination of these.

Whether we say so or not, our opinions are often like those expressed recently in letter boxes in newspapers. "Let the Church be the Church" they say.

This idea of the Church is that it has only to do with Sunday things like polished shoes and sister's new dress and brother's clean shirt and an hour of quiet while the kids are at Sunday School and God, whom no one has seen and who is, some claim, dead.

This idea of the Church is that it ought to be silent unless and until it can offer some positive alternatives to the problems of the world forgetting all the while that it has been doing just exactly that for 2,000 years and more.

No, Bennett is nearer the truth. He sees that the Church and, more particularly, the Christian has to look at the whole world through the eyes of faith.

Not just Sunday and not in dumb resignation.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

WHAT PRICE?

The skeptic has been heard to say that "every man has his price." And, the implication is that every man can be led to turn his back on conscience for a "price" — money, fame, flattery, depending upon his personal weaknesses.

How strong do you hold to a principle? What is your price? Can you hold to a purpose, cling to a belief, deny recognition or profit merely because conscience tells you it is the thing to do?

If, indeed, "every man has his price," for some men the price must be justice, fair play — and truth. These things the skeptic may refer to as "ideals." But they are realities. The man who has learned to struggle with his conscience has also learned that peace of mind and happiness are not for sale at any price in the public market places.

In the final analysis, the best of life is not what you have and not what you claim to be; it is what you are, it is the final destination of the footprints you leave upon the sands of your lifetime.

GIRL SOOUTS

TROOP 98—

Girl Scout Troop 98 met Oct. 3. Refreshments were served for each patrol. The eighth graders then talked about a place to go on a trip. The patrol then discussed challenges and made final plans for the dedication of the seventh graders next week. The A-Go-Go's had the closing, in which they sang, "All Night and All Day," and then did "Taps" with the squeeze.

Zip-A-List Project Will Help Mailers

Residents in the Chelsea postal area will be offered an opportunity to ZIP Code their mailing lists during October, Postmaster Richard Schaules announced today.

Letter carriers will deliver "no postage needed" cards to all rural delivery stops beginning Oct. 10, the postmaster said. The cards will have blanks for addresses used most often, but for which individuals do not know the proper ZIP Codes.

In Chelsea with one ZIP Code assigned, only an out-of-town card will be delivered since all local addresses will have the same ZIP Code.

"This is a good time to get the ZIP Codes missing from your lists," Postmaster Schaules noted. "This Christmas, ZIP Code will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on-time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks.

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post Office personnel will add the proper ZIP Codes and return the cards to the senders.

President Johnson has proclaimed Oct. 10-15 as "Zip Code Week" to promote greater usage of ZIP Code.

Postmaster General O'Brien announced May 19 that steps are being taken to make ZIP Codes more accessible to the mailing public. The present program resulted from a search for the most effective method to get the codes in the hands of private mailers. A poll conducted by Elmo Roper & Associates earlier this year found that about half the population is using ZIP Code. Of the remaining half who are not, 80 percent said the reason was that they did not know the ZIP Codes for the people to whom they write.

Previously, the Post Office Department has embarked upon an extensive effort to help volume mailers convert their lists to ZIP Code.

"The Roper poll strengthened our conviction that the public generally is ready and willing to cooperate with business mailers who will be pre-sorting their second and third-class mail after Jan. 1, 1967," O'Brien said. "I am convinced that the ZIP-A-LIST project will go a long way toward accomplishing our goal of ready availability of the proper ZIP Codes in the home."

Local cards will be printed with blue ink and out-of-town cards in red.

Addresses which cannot be ZIP Coded because of insufficient or improper addresses will be forwarded to the city indicated on the card, if legible, and the code will be added there.

Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards, the postmaster said. ZIP Codes represent delivery areas, for the postal services, not individuals.

During the summer, a "dry run" of the ZIP-A-LIST project was conducted in Columbus, O., Richmond, Va. Information gained from these tests is being incorporated in the national program.

Letter carriers throughout the Chelsea area will deliver two cards to every residence, Postmaster Schaules reported.

Each card will have spaces for addresses the householder wishes ZIPPED.

After placing their uncoded addresses on the cards, preferably printed legibly, they must be dropped into any letter box or returned to their letter carriers. The Chelsea Post Office will add the appropriate ZIP Codes and return the cards to the mailer.

"No postage is needed," Schaules said.

In addition to the cards for addresses, a special notice advising each resident of his local ZIP Code number will be delivered.

Postmaster Schaules emphasized the importance of including a return address on the front of the cards so they may be returned after the addresses have been coded.

Additional cards will be available from your letter carrier or postal delivery station.

Vice-President Will Speak in Monroe Today

Vice-President Humphrey will visit the City of Monroe, on Thursday, Oct. 6 specifically to dedicate the Lillian Stewart Navarre Branch Library, and to initiate the demolition of the old Monroe Community Center to make way for the construction of the new Art Lessow Community Center on the same site. The construction of both new buildings was made possible through the dedicated work of community leaders in Monroe, who asked the aid of Congressman Weston Vivian in obtaining federal funds.

Working closely with Mrs. Karl Daume, Congressman Vivian helped to secure a federal grant of $30,546 to assist in financing the Lillian Stewart Navarre Branch Library. Last January Monroe City Mayor Morton Cohn, Community Center Board President James Rostash, Edward J. O'Leary, chairman of the Center's building fund committee, and C. C. (Al) Cappuccilli, director of the Community Center, made application for funds to aid the construction of the new Community Center. In August, Congressman Vivian announced that a grant of $174,733 had been made by the Neighborhood Facility Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the remaining one-third of the construction cost to be paid by the City of Monroe.

The public is invited to attend these events.

Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice Is Hereby Given that I will accept registrations Wednesday, October 5, 1966 at my home, 11380 Roepcke Rd., from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and on any other day that I am home, and at Lyndon Township Hall, 1715 North Territorial Rd., on

Monday, October 10, 1966 - Last Day

The Thirtieth day preceding said Election

As provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954.

From 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on each said day for the purpose of REVIEWING the REGISTRATION and REGISTERING such of the qualified electors in said TOWNSHIP, CITY or VILLAGE as SHALL PROPERLY apply therefor.

The name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Umbrellas are good as umbrellas, but they make lousy parachutes.

You are a clear thinker?

Let's see. On what basis do you think that you are a good person and leading an acceptable life?

Here are a bunch of umbrellas:

1—I'm a good citizen.

2—I take care of my family.

3—I help the poor.

4—I had Godly parents.

5—I belong to the church.

6—I do the best I can.

7—I'm as good as most others.

Real fine umbrellas. They may even look like parachutes. Each is good in itself. The simple fact is that they aren't enough. They won't make you acceptable in the eyes of God. And He's the only judge that really counts. These things won't save you.

What will? Not anything you can do. (Did you notice that all the umbrellas start with "I"?) Only a person can save you. That person is Jesus Christ.

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. (John 14:6)

And this is his (God's) commandment. That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ. (I John 3:23)

Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. (Acts 4:12)

It takes the grace of God to believe this. We like to trust in ourselves and our own umbrellas. Pray that the Holy Spirit will give you the eye of faith to see that this is the only God-given way of salvation.

Do you really want to be successful, overcome the world?

Who is he that overcometh the world but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God? (I John 5:5)

Doesn't seem logical, does it? Parachutes don't look like much, either. But they are parachutes . . . You can trust them. They will save you.

And umbrellas? They make lousy parachutes.

Turner's Alaska Capers

Editor's Note: Don Turner arrived in Alaska early in June, and has been reporting his observations of the 49th state for Chelsea Standard readers. The following article was written before he started down the 1,000-mile Alaska Highway.

PART EIGHT

Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, Canada

Sept. 12, 1966

Leaving Fairbanks, Alaska on Aug. 29, I drove Southeast on the Alaska Highway to the Richardson Highway at Delta Junction, then south on the Richardson Highway to Paxson.

Here I drove west on the Denali Highway to Cantwell, then took the highway into Mt. McKinley National Park. This highway is a continuation of the Denali Highway but becomes narrower as you get into the park. The Denali Highway is gravel—a good hard road but rough in spots.

On this road I had my first puncture—not in the tire but in the gas tank.

One of the front wheels threw a stone which, after ricocheting several times from frame to axle, finally came to rest on the gas tank and put a hole in it.

I finally limped into Cantwell, and after some talking I finally convinced a garage man to fix it that day in time to reach the park before dark.

Mt. McKinley National Park is beautiful at any time of the year but at this time of year its beauty is hard to describe. The vegetation of all the land takes on a reddish cast and at different angles the sun produces a vividness that is hard to describe.

Mt. McKinley is the tallest mountain on the North American continent, 20,320 feet tall and all snow covered—a really beautiful spectacle when the weather is clear.

Many tourists traveling in the park never see the mountain, and seldom do you see the highest peak. Mt. McKinley makes her own weather and although the rest of the park may have clear skies the mountain will have a cloud over her face. I considered myself fortunate to see and photograph it at 6 a.m., with just the very peak having a small cloud over it.

The wildlife in the park has no fear of man. They haven't been hunted for some time and have become quite tame.

The caribou had migrated through the park in late July, according to the rangers of the park, but there were several hardy stragglers going through while I was there. Some had large antlers and were just shedding the velvet from them.

I saw a number of large moose and several large grizzly bears, one so close to the road I could almost reach out and touch him, a practice not recommended by the rangers of the park.

The rangers say it leaves too many one-handed tourists.

The road from the entrance to the far end of the park is 84 miles. There is no place to get gas or repairs if you run out of gas or break down.

The park rangers will assist anyone in trouble, but one should carry extra gasoline if you spend any time in the park.

I found my gas gauge was below the halfway mark when I got to the end of the road in the park. On the steep grades and stopping and starting to photograph I used more than I thought I would, so at Camp Denali, a private camp just outside the park, I talked the manager into selling me five gallons at 90 cents a gallon. This gas was brought in for emergency purposes for their guests.

Each night the mountains of the lower elevations were getting more snow-covered, and when I left the park it was snowing. The Park closes Labor Day and on Sept. 1 I left Mt. McKinley Park as winter was just around the next mountain.

My next stop was Tok Junction, a small but friendly place at the junction of the Glenn Highway and the Alaska Highway. Tok has several motels and eating places and the U.S. customs office is located here.

The information center is one of the best I have ever seen and is run by a very charming lady, Mrs. Mary Grange. She and her husband have done much to promote Tok and even arranged barbecues and entertainment for the trailer caravans that pass through Tok Junction. There is a small museum in the Tok information center and free hot coffee is served to all who stop there.

From Tok Junction, I drove to Tetlin Junction and then on the Taylor Highway to the Yukon border, or to the 60-mile highway that leads to Dawson City. The scenery on this highway is beyond belief, especially in the autumn. The poplar and birch trees had turned a crimson red and all the land had taken on a golden hue.

My first glimpse of Dawson City from across the roaring Yukon River on that beautiful autumn day I shall never forget.

With the trees all in full color and the hills surrounding the city reflecting their golden colors into the waters of this great river, I imagined God had made that day just for my arrival.

I have read many articles and books written by some of our great authors about this famous city, and that day seemed to reflect the gold of her colorful past.

Gold mining still goes on to some degree in the Dawson City area, but most of her streams have been gleaned of this precious metal by the huge gold dredge that have been working the vicinity for the past 50 years.

Dawson is somewhat a ghost town today compared to the days of '98 when some 30,000 people inhabited the area in search of fortune.

I met many interesting people at Dawson City and found all the people to be the same friendly sort that I had met in the state of Alaska. At one of the local stores I met Mrs. J. Butterworth, who gave me a lot of information pertaining to the Dawson City area. Mrs. Butterworth is one of a group of 11 housewives who take turns writing a local newspaper, called the Klondike Corner.

Dawson City has a Kiwanis Club and I stayed for the meting on Tuesday, Sept. 6. I was asked to give a 10-minute talk as part of the program. The president of Dawson City Kiwanis club is a Canadian Customs officer.

While at Dawson I visited a gold mine operated hydraulically. This is done by piping water under high pressure through a nozzle aimed at the banks of streams and hills, washing them down into a sluice box or trough with cleats on the bottom.

The gold, being heavier than the rocks and mud, falls to the bottom of the sluice box and is caught by the cleats on the bottom of the sluce. Every few days they shut the water off and remove the gold; this is referred to as clean up.

The owner of this operation is Guss Heitman of Dawson City. Guss came to Canada from Germany in 1952, a real friendly fellow, and over a cup of coffee in the mining shack I learned from him something about the operation.

His claim is one of the last in operation in the Dawson aren and he will have it all worked out by next year.

Dawson City was the capital of the Yukon Territory until 1958 when it was moved to Whitehorse, a city of 7,500 population today. The old parliament building now is used as a museum.

A lot of old historical landmarks are in a state of disrepair and the local Kiwanis Club has a move going to raise funds to repair and restore some of the old buildings. I wish them luck in their project. It's a shame a city so famous and colorful should fall by the wayside.

In leaving Dawson City I traveled 340 miles on a gravel road to Whitehorse. Here I made plans to ride on the White Pass and Yukon Railroad which runs from Whitehorse to Skagway, Alaska. The distance is only 110 miles but takes better than seven hours by railroad.

This is a very fascinating trip, winding through the mountains with breath-taking scenery all the way.

The railroad was built during the gold rush days and is a narrow guage that bumps and sways all the time, but gives one the feeling of living in the past.

At Skagway, Alaska, I met people I had made friends with some two months ago and made some more. I stayed at the Golden North Hotel, which was very plush and popular in the days of '98 and is still furnished with some of the original furniture. The plumbing and mattresses are modern, so I spent a delightful and restful night there.

The rooms in this hotel are named in honor of the prominent people of Skagway, who helped build the community.

In talking to the owner, I found a friend of mine, the late Dr. Dow Baxter of Ann Arbor, doctor of forestry, had made the Golden North Hotel his home in his many trips to Alaska. Dr. Baxter was well-known and well-liked by all of Skagway. He taught at the University of Michigan for a number of years and gave lectures in many parts of the world.

On the route back from Skagway I met two young Australian fellows who were working their way across Canada and the United States. I camped beside them last night and we had a long chat. It brought back memories of my three years spent in their country during World War II.

From Whitehorse I will drive over the Alaskan Highway toward home. The events of that trip will be included in my next article.

WASHERS FOR DOLLARS

Statesville, N.C. — A woman walked into a bank, gave the teller two rolls of quarters and asked for $20 in paper money. Later the bank manager discovered the rolls contained iron washers with a quarter at both ends. The bank lost $19.

Two coats of primer sealer and one coat of gloss enamel should be used to cover an unpainted shower wall for best results. If the wall has been painted, a single coat of gloss enamel will produce satisfactory results.

Auxiliary Services Group Will Meet With St. Mary's

A meeting of the auxiliary services committee, concerned with services shared between the Chelsea public schools and St. Mary's parochial schools, will be held Monday evening, Oct. 10 8 p.m., in the High school library.

The meeting will be attended by members of the auxiliary services committee, the Board of Education for the Chelsea School District, representatives of St. Mary's School Association and Father John Zwers, superintendent of parochial schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit. All interested persons in the school district are invited to attend the meeting.

Under discussion at the Monday evening meeting will be the possibility of shared facilities, as distinguished from shared services. Possible facilities which might be shared include special equipment such as the home economics room, typing room, physical education facilities, language labs, of band equipment. Under such a plan of sharing, the Chelsea School District would be eligible for state aid to cover the costs of the program.

First Kiwanis Travelogue Scheduled Saturday Evening

THAYER SOULE

Kiwanis club of Chelsea, sponsoring its sixth annual travelogue series, opens the series at a program scheduled for Saturday evening Oct. 8, when Thayer Soule makes a return appearance. He will present a program on the topic, "Rainbow Lands of Central America". This program, as well as the remaining ones in the series of six, will be held in the Chelsea High school auditorium. All are scheduled for Saturday evenings.

Succeeding program dates are Nov. 12, Jan. 21, Feb. 18, Mar. 18 and Apr. 29. Topics include "Canadian Sketches," presented by Robert Brouver; "The Grand Tetons", by Julian Gromer; "The Valley of the Rhine", by Clifford Kamen; "Grecian Interlude", by Gerald Hooper; and "The Alpine World", by Eric Pavel.

In the first program, Saturday, Oct. 8, Soule explains that for the first time the exotic lands between Mexico and South America can be reached by car. Although long accessible by plane and of great importance to the United States, they are still relatively unknown even to experienced travelers. In four key countries of colonial heritage, two decades of constant change have produced whole new horizons for the future plus a challenge to Uncle Sam in both trade and politics, right in his own back yard.

The four countries are Panama, Costa Rica, El Salvador and Guatemala.

Soule has known Latin America intimately for more than 25 years, has watched it grow, change, and come of age. In this, his fifth trip to Central America, he keeps a sharp lookout for the new and different.

In addition to being a master craftsman with the camera, Soule has a fluent command of Spanish, and bases his commentary on dozens of interviews as well as personal experience. His is an absorbing report on a region where the United States has a huge investment in capital and prestige and should provide a most interesting and entertaining evening.

Handy Phone Numbers

It's a good idea for every family to keep the phone numbers of essential services near the phone, and every member old enough to use the phone should know where that spot is. Numbers should include the family doctor, police, fire department and plumbing contractor.

Diverted Acres May Be Grazed Starting Oct. 1

Farmers who diverted acreage under the 1966 feed grain and wheat programs will soon be able to graze this acreage without losing program benefits, Mrs. Carolyn Stump, county office manager, Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office announced today.

The starting date for such grazing will be Oct. 1, marking the end of the six-month period during which the no-grazing provision was in effect under the diversion programs.

Mrs. Stump stressed, however, that this program relaxation regarding use of the acreage applies only to grazing the acres diverted from commodity production. Hay on such acreages still may not be harvested.

Land diverted under the Conservation Reserve Program may not be grazed or harvested through the entire year.

Michigan Hunters Start Annual Fall Trek to Woods

Lansing —Michigan's first big volley of fall hunting action for 1966 cut loose with a bang and a twang on Oct. 1, the Conservation Department reports.

On that red-letter day for sportsmen, gun hunters opened fire on small game and geese in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas and archers swarmed afield with deer on their state-wide target list. Meanwhile, bears offer big shooting stakes for both gunners and bowmen above the Straits.

For upwards of 175,000 sportsmen expected on the state's hunting front Oct. 1, the outlook for action was about the same as last year, generally good.

Conservation Department field reports indicate that ruffed grouse hunting in the northern Lower Peninsula should be at least as good as last year when about 224,000 of the birds were bagged in that region.

Department game men look for the region's best pat hunting in Alpena, Montmorency, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Manistee, Lake, Osceola, Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, and Isabella counties.

Failing to measure up to last fall are ruffed grouse populations in the Upper Peninsula which appear to have slipped the most in the west end of the region. In 1965, an estimated 210,000 pats were taken above the Straits.

Woodcock hunters should chalk up another high kill, close to last season's take of nearly 83,000 timber doodles in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsulas. These hard-to-hit targets seem as plentiful in the state's two northern regions as they were a year ago.

Sharp-tailed grouse, which come under the gun in only seven counties of the Upper Peninsula, are again scarce this fall. Under a change made this year, Drummond Island and Iron and Menominee counties have been added to the upper region's closed area for hunting these birds.

In other small game action opening Oct. 1 in Michigan's two northern zones, squirrels and rabbits will also draw the fire of hunters. Also starting on that lay in parts of Menominee and Delta counties is a limited pheasant season which will make a brief run through Oct. 10.

This fall's prospects shape up closely with 1965 for archery deer hunters, who harvested more than 2,100 whitetails last season.

Deer populations, up in some areas and down in others, are about on the same over-all level with last year's in the northern two-thirds of the state. In Michigan's southern farm-belt, the deer herd has continued to grow, which means that bow-and-arrow enthusiasts should find more whitetails flashing in this part of the state.

For the second straight year, bears will be protected from all hunting in the Lower Peninsula because of their low population below the Straits.

Beginning October, 1, firearm hunters and archers can take aim on bears in the Upper Peninsula except in Keweenaw county. Latest word indicates there are as many bears in the Upper Peninsula, as last year, and possibly more.

The opening day picture for goose hunters in northern Michigan depends strictly on the whims of the weather. Freezing temperatures are needed in Canada with in the next few days to push the birds south.

Fall goose flights through Michigan are expected to be on a par with those of 1965 when 18,000 of the big birds were bagged in the state.

Michigan hunters are reminded of new restrictions which ban goose shooting on Beaver Island and in a 165-square-mile area bordering Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft, Luce, and Mackinac counties.

The new closed area around the refuge is bounded by Highway M-28, Creighton Truck Trail, High-water Truck Trail, Riverside Truck Trail, River Road, Highway US-2, Manistique Lake Road, Luce County Road 135, Luce County Road 98, and Old Seney Road.

Under a boundary adjustment made between the northern and southern Lower Peninsula zones this year, the west side of Saginaw Bay will not open to goose hunting until Oct. 10. This marks the starting date for the goose season in southern Michigan and the statewide opening of duck hunting.

Prior to the recent change the western portion of Saginaw Bay was part of the northern Lower Peninsula zone and, consequently goose hunting opened there Oct. 1.

Starting time for goose shooting on Oct. 10 is 10 a.m.

Watershed Council Asks Members for Water Use Plans

The executive committee of the Huron River Watershed Council voted Thursday, Sept. 29, to ask its member units of government to submit recommendations for a co-operative water use and development policy for the Huron River and its tributaries. The committee asked that preliminary recommendations be submitted at the next Watershed Council meeting on Oct. 20.

Specifically, counties, cities, villages and townships in the Huron River Basin will be asked to take tentative positions with respect to waste water disposal, community water supply, recreation, irrigation (including sprinkling), stream flow and water management and data needs.

Following submission of these statements, future Council meetings will be devoted to developing a co-operative water-use policy acceptable to river basin communities. Current members being asked to submit statements are the villages of Chelsea and Dexter and the cities of Ann Arbor, Belleville, Brighton, Flat Rock, South Lyon, Wixom, Ypsilanti; and the following townships: Ann Arbor, Berlin, Brownstown, Dexter, Green Oak, Hamburg, Lima, Lodi, Scio, Superior, Van Buren, Webster, Ypsilanti.

Non-member governments that are concerened and affected may also submit statements. Suggestions of water-using industries and private groups will be accepted and included in the material for review and discussion. For further information call or write the Council Office.

Goals Lead to Better Scout Programs

To ensure better Scouting for boys in the Iroquois District Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, all Scout units will review their goals for the year during September, according to Rolly Spaulding, Iroquois District chairman.

Each Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troop, and Explorer post sets annual goals at the time it applies for a charter from the Boy Scouts of America. Recognition as a part of the national Breakthrough for Youth program is given to a Scout unit that attains 75 percent of its goals, Spaulding explained.

Among the goals are trained leadership, membership large enough to make the activities of the Scout unit meaningful and exciting to every boy, a well-balanced program, adequate finances to make the program a reality, and individual and Scout-unit service projects.

Cub Scouts packs set specific goals related to the use of the den method; Boy Scout troops establish patrol method goals; and Explorer posts carry out a program using the committee method under well-trained boy leaders.

Goals are also set for Cub Scout outdoor activities, Boy Scout camping, and Explorer superactivities, Spaulding said. Definite objectives are also determined by each Scout unit related to the advancement or recognition program for boys.

Boy Scout activities such as skill events participation in a council show, Boy Scout Week celebrations, and troop patriotic or heritage demonstrations are also listed in the troop goals, Spaulding said.

Of the Scout units that will re-register this fall, many have already reported that they will attain the goals they set last year.

Production Record Told For Burmeister Holstein

Brattleboro, Vt.—Leo-Bur Pontiac Lassie 5691971, a two-year-old registered Holstein cow, owned by Leonard Burmeister, Ann Arbor, has produced a noteworthy record of 20,170 lbs. of milk and 625 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.

This level of production may be compared to the average U. S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 7,880 lbs. of milk containing 285 lbs. of butterfat.

Michigan State University supervised the production, weighing, and testing operations.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Woell

★ Grape Growers Have Problems, Too

The price of new crop grapes has dropped in some instances to around $60 per ton in Michigan, and growers are stompin 'mad. They have production figures to show that it takes $80 to $100 to reach the break-even point on costs and anything under such prices represents a loss.

Adding to the problem is the fact that only a few areas of Michigan are suited to grape growing and that it is a "labor intensive" crop—one requiring considerable hand work and care. Further, Michigan's grape growers have not yet developed an effective "voice" for their industry, which last year produced 75,000 tons of processing grapes from about 4,000 vineyards.

Now, from all indications, the grower's voice is developing and apparently it will be a strident one. At recent meetings in the grape areas (Berrien, Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Allegan, Cass and St. Joseph counties), producers have only one thing at the top of their minds and on the tip of their tongues. Michigan grape prices, they say, are the lowest in the nation. Michigan grape farmers cannot stay in business under these conditions. When they drop out, everyone will lose—growers, processors and consumers.

A new factor in the price picture is the Michigan Agricultural Co-operative Marketing Association (MACMA), which has established a 'Processing Grape Division" to deal on behalf of growers in matters of price and other terms of trade.

As in the case of many farm commodities, even in years of stronger prices, grapes represent a low raw product cost to processors, and relatively high-value manufactured end-products such as juices, wine, preserves and flavorings.

Not considered particularly funny in the grape area is the children's joke about what the grape said when the elephant stepped on it.

The tag line is "it didn't say anything—it just let but a little whine" (wine).

Michigan grape growers feel they've been given the elephant-foot treatment by processors this year, but instead of whining about it, they're getting geared to go for higher prices in 1967.

Said one grower, "next year prices must be reasonable—$100 to $125 per ton, or we will be out of the grape business in Michigan. It's as simple as that."

Safety Tip

Lansing — You cannot tell the condition of a tire by looking at it. The State Highway Commission recommends that before a long trip, you have an expert remove your tires and inspect them. It could save you a blow-out and an accident.

Michigan's unlimited supply of water is a fabulous natural resource. No state has greater water resources than Michigan.

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director Michigan Department of Public Health

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet"—is a saying familiar to all of us. Now, while it's true, of course, that roses would smell just as sweet even if they were called "golbs," let's say, I for one, wouldn't be quite so fond of them.

Names after all, do have character and even personality, and they also usually have some pretty specific meanings. All of which leads me to the subject of medical names and how much trouble they sometimes cause.

Medical terminology, unfortunately is based in large part on Greek and Latin derivations—as a result, it tends to become confusing and even sometimes completely misunderstood by many folks.

For example, many people seem to think that a doctor is one thing, and an osteopath another. Now, while there are differences, the fact is that both are doctors of physicians who practice medicine. The most commonly accepted doctor is the one who has an M.D. degree from a medical school. An osteopath is also a practicing doctor who happens to have a D.O. degree from an osteopathic college.

Another kind of doctor is the chiropractor who believes that disease is caused by abnormal functions of the nervous system.

His treatment is limited to adjusting, by hand, misaligned or displaced vertebrae of the human spine and the procedures preparatory thereto. He is not permitted to perform surgery or to prescribe drugs or medicines to treat disease.

People sometimes confuse the chiropractor with the chiropodist and perhaps for this reason, among others, the chiropodists have changed their name and are now called podiatrists. These podiatricians—but pediatricians, of course, are M.D.'s who have gone on to specialize in the care and treatment of children.

Finally, there's the very confusing matter of interns and internists. Both words sound much alike that many folks tend to think they're the same. Actually an intern is someone who has just graduated from a medical school and is serving a type of apprenticeship in a hospital before he becomes licensed to practice medicine. The internist, on the other hand, is a doctor of medicine who has been licensed and who has then gone back to school for several years of additional training and who is therefore a type of advanced physician specializing in medical as contrasted with surgical diseases and conditions.

Indeed, what's in a name?

State Parks Attendance Past '65 Total

Lansing —With their 1966 season not yet over, state parks in Michigan have already entertained more recreationists this year than they did in all of 1965, the Conservation Department reports.

Latest figures show that state parks had hosted about 14.8 million daily visitors, including a record 312,550 camping families, through Sunday, Sept. 4, of the Labor Day week-end.

This year's daily attendance tops the 1965 year-end total by 1.3 million people. More than 6,000 additional state park camping permits have been issued than by the end of last December.

Compared with last year's figures for the first part of September, daily attendance is up 22 per cent. Camping use is 34 percent ahead of the year-ago pace.

Approximately 55,700 camping families have been turned away from state parks, some two percent below this point in 1965.

State parks in all three of the Department's administrative regions have exceeded last year's use.

Those in the southern Lower Peninsula have been the top crowd-getters with slightly more than nine million daily visitors and 102,700 camping groups. Another 4.1 million day users and 139,000 camping families have flocked to state parks in the northern Lower Peninsula.

In the Upper Peninsula, state park daily attendance stands at 1.7 million. The region's camp permit total is 70,850.

Michigan has no community more than six miles from an inland lake or stream.

HEART RISKS & YOU

You Can Cut the Chances Of Having a Heart Attack

The Michigan Heart Association is offering the people of Michigan a series of weekly articles on risk factors, habits and conditions which for reasons that are still mysterious are associated with an increased danger of heart attack and/or stroke.

These articles have one purpose—to convince everyone it is essential and important that they rid themselves of five risk factors which can be changed or checked.

An additional group of risk factors are, for the most part unchangeable.

Research shows that, whatever the factors, the more of them an individual has the greater is his danger of suffering heart attack and/or stroke.

This is why, the Heart Association says, the goal of reducing risk factors is so valuable, so well worth whatever effort it takes.

The preventable factors are:

Cigarette Smoking—Twice as many smokers suffer heart attacks as non-smokers; the greater the number of cigarettes, the greater the danger.

Physical Indolence—While it is impossible to measure this factor, researchers have determined again and again that persons who regularly exercise, play golf, walk and keep physically fit have fewer attacks. Those they do have are often less severe.

Overweight—The insurance mortality tables tell this story: the greater the amount of surplus fat a man carries, the higher his premium.

Elevated blood pressure—A medical condition which can increase risk four times; the higher the pressure the greater the risk. A medical examination is needed to discover high blood pressure, which usually can be checked by modern medical techniques.

Elevated level of blood cholesterol—Risk is tripled for men whose level is 20 percent higher than normal. Diet, especially avoidance of saturated fats (fats solid at room temperature), can often reduce this figure to a safer level.

Some of the risk factors are immutable:

Age—A man 50 years of age has four times the risk of a 30-year-old man.

Sex—Men get from six to 10 times as many attacks as women. After menopause, women lose some of this advantage, but not all. This probably is the reason women live longer than men.

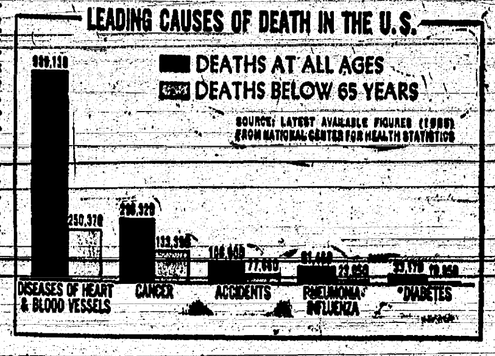
Heredity—Persons whose relatives, especially brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents, suffered attacks while comparatively young are greater risks.

Diabetes—The need to discover this disease before its consequences become serious is a compelling reason to have regular medical checkups. For diabetic patients, the answers lie in getting and following expert medical advice.

Vital capacity—This is the volume of air an individual can take into his lungs, as measured during exhalation. The lower the proportionate amount, the greater the individual's risk.

Electrocardiographic Abnormality—Reveals changes in the electrical currents generated by the heart and, if abnormal, indicates a risk more than doubled.

These articles are part of a general campaign against risk factors scheduled this fall by the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund agency.



Cong. Vivian Speaks at Open House for Gelman Instrument Co. Plant Addition

Ann Arbor — U. S. Representative Weston Vivian, in a dedication address at the new expanded facilities of the Gelman Instrument Company here Saturday evening, told a large group of local businessmen and dignitaries that the federal government is not only aware of air pollution problems, but is ready to provide assistance in protecting Americans from this growing hazard.

Commenting on a bill currently being debated on the floor of the U. S. House of Representatives regarding a current 16-month suspension of the 7 percent Investment Credit provision of federal corporate income tax laws, Congressman Vivian noted that he has strongly urged all members of the House and Senate to maintain this provision for a single category of investment, the installation of air and water pollution abatement equipment. "The present environmental pollution situation is sufficiently serious nationwide that, in my opinion, no step ought to be taken which would in any way discourage installation of needed pollution abatement facilities," he commented.

Congressman Vivian then reviewed recent legislation concerning air pollution abatement, noted increasing public awareness of the problem, and stated that a start has been made both nationally and locally toward alleviating air pollution. He cited pioneers in air pollution such as Charles Gelman, president of the Gelman Instrument Co., who developed many of the samplers and monitors currently in use in the field. The company has the most complete range of air sampling instrumentation available.

Congressman Vivian went on to point out that there has been much local civic awareness of pollution for several years. In this regard, Ann Arbor is the ideal location for the Gelman plant. It is fitting that the leader in contamination control instruments, accessories and membrane filters for sampling procedures should be located in an area where there is acute awareness of the health hazards of pollution.

The new 19,000-square foot Gelman facility doubles the previous area of the modern two-story plant, built in 1963. A 5,000 square-foot addition was completed in 1964. Prior to 1963, the company was housed in rented quarters in Chelsea, 14 miles away. Congressman Vivian noted that this phenomenal company growth was a further indication of increasing public interest in air pollution.

In addition to air sampling instruments, Gelman is a major manufacturer of electrophoresis and chromatography apparatus for use in analytical and hospital laboratories and clean room accessories for electronics nd aerospace industries. The company's membrane filters are used in water pollution studies as well as for air sampling. They also have many uses in laboratories. Gelman products are distributed in the U.S. through a network of five multi-city laboratory dealers and 28 industrial representative organizations, and internationally by more than 40 companies in every major country in the free world.

Red Cross Appoints New Safety Head

Richard D. Muhs, of St. Paul, Minn., has been appointed director of Safety and Youth for the Washtnaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross, it was announced today by W. de St. Aubin, executive director. Muhs filled the position formerly held by Edmund Herndon, who became Safety Coordinator for the state of Michigan.

We are especially pleased, St. Aubin, said, that Muhs has had varied experience as a youth director and general secretary for the YMCA, a volunteer water safety instructor over a five-year period and experienced in hotel management. A graduate of George Williams College in Chicago, Ill., with a specialty of group work, Muhs also did graduate study at the University of Minnesota.

Under the guidance of volunteer chairman Dr. John Shoemaker of First Aid, Robert Willoughby of Water Safety, and Kenneth Greer in Youth, Muhs will be responsible for aiding and directing one of the largest safety programs in the Middle West.

Last year the Washtenaw county chapter of the Red Cross issued 6,000 certificates in water safety and first aid and trained 148 volunteens for service in hospitals in addition to numerous other youth projects.

Muhs and his wife Lorraine and son Richard, Jr., live at 922 Raymond St., in Ann Arbor.

Old License Plates Often Turn Up in Strangest Places

Lansing — Old license plates often turn up in the strangest places.

Here are a couple of "fish" stories related by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The first involves Raymond Derusha, Jr., Rexton, in Mackinac County. It seems that Derusha was digging for fish worms in his back yard and came upon this license plate in the ground.

After cleaning the dirt off, he found the plate—vintage 1910 . . . was in excellent condition. This was the first year Michigan began issuing license plates.

Or take the case of Bernard Endres, who lives near Traverse City. While fishing, Endres hooked into a 1914 plate in the Boardman river.

Hare said he had asked both Derusha and Endres to donate their "finds" to the state for its display.

"We have plates from every year dating back to 1910 and before that time to the dashboard disc and the homemade leather plates, but we still have need for plates in good condition to fill out our collection," Hare said.

He cited a need for the porcelain plates from 1910 through 1914, and the years from 1915 through 1930.

Experts Predict No Radical Changes in Cars of Future

Lansing — If you are one of those far-sighted people who are looking forward to trading in your "old clunker" piston car on a nuclear-powered air-car and floating awy on wafts of luxury, forget it.

A technical report prepared by the Michigan State Highway Commission for the Michigan State Resource Planning Program predicts the car of the future will be much the same as the one you now drive.

It will be about the same width and length, roll on rubber tires and probably will be powered by a piston engine.

Why no change?

The present size standards of 12 to 19 feet represent the extremes in length, say the researchers, and anything less than 12 feet would be too small and more than 19 feet would be unmanageable.

Pneumatic rubber tires will be retained for one fundamental reason—their ability to guide the vehicle on a chosen course. The felxibility of the rubber tire tuilizes forces to reduce side drift and to aid when turning a corner.

A car floating above the ground, engineers say, would not have this ground-force contact, and would swerve in wide arcs when turning.

The tires of the future will be greatly improved as to strength and tread, to further aid this directional control.

According to the report, the future car will still be powered by an engine using petroleum fuel of some sort. Nuclear power was ruled out because the lead shield needed to keep radiation within the power pack would be far too heavy to be practical and fear of radiation escaping would scare potential buyers.

The report states that despite the few diesel-powered and turbine-powered experimental cars operating, these two do not pose a threat to the gas-piston engine.

The use of electric power for propulsion is a possibility, however, if a small economical unit is developed. The electric cell would not pollute the atmosphere.

What is certain to improve, the report states, is the driver safety aid elements. Such equipment as alarms to wake dozing drivers and systems utilizing standard car radios to warn divers of hazardous road conditions are in experimental stages now.

Students Go For Shuttle Bus Service

Ann Arbor —Local commuters? That's what many students at the University of Michigan have become.

They are commuters, says William J. Perigo, assistant to the U-M director of student community relations, due to the development by the University of student parking lots near the campus with a bus shuttle service.

"Registering an automobile," points out Perigo, "has not in the past entitled the student to any parking, and for years it has been a matter of spending a great deal of time hunting for a place to park.

"On an experimental basis we set up two lots where students with cars bearing the normal registration permits would be allowed to park and arranged for bus service to campus," he said.

With the ever-increasing number of cars on campus and the considerable amount of constructin projects blocking city streets in the area, students have begun to take advantage of the provided facilities.

Buses to and from the parking areas run every 8 to 10 minutes, and as many as 732 persons have used the service on a given day.

The success of the program has lead to the planning stages of other commuter lots near the campus.

"The students have found the commuter lots a much easier way to park," says Perigo. "As the campus becomes more and more enclosed, I think commuter lots will be the way of parking."

There is a commuter lot located near the U-M rink just off Hill St. between Division and Hill, and two lots at North Campus, one North of the North Campus Commons, and another South of the Printing Department.

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS

BY LINDA NORRIS

Ever since he first started recording, Ernie Ford has been among the top singers and sellers of religious and inspirational music in the world . . . His Hymn album was one of the largest selling religious LP's of all time with more than 2,000,000 copies sold . . . Now Ernie comes up with another album of hymns . . . None of the 11 religious songs on the album have ever before been recorded by Ernie . . . Jack Fascinato arranged and conducted with the Jack Halloran Singers providing accompaniment . . . The hymns, in addition to the title song, are Crown Him With Many Crowns, Beneath the Cross of Jesus, Come, Thou Almighty King, I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord, The Beautiful Garden of Prayer, Lead, Kindly Light, Grace, Greater Than Our Sin, The Name of Jesus, Jesus, Lover of My Soul, Saviour, Again To Thy Dear Name.

Sonny James' first inspirational album, Till the Last Leaf Shall Fall, features 11 of the country singer's favorite religious songs . . . The title tune was the first religious song he ever recorded and is one of his most requested songs at personal appearances . . . Others, An Open Field, He, How Great Thou Art, The Bigger We Are, When They Ring Them Golden Bells, Peace In My Soul and four others.

Fresh green asparagus is an elegant vegetable of delectable flavor and tenderness. In addition to its appetite appeal, it provides good amounts of vitamin C, vitamin A, iron and other vitamins and minerals. It is very low in sodium, low in calories — 53 per cupful of cooked cut spears.

Those who contribute to the support of the churches rarely criticize them for not doing anything.

LAST WEEKS ANSWER

[Puzzle grid and last week's answer grid.]

Children aren't the only ones who track mud into the house—everyone does when the weather is bad. Many homemakers take care of the situation with a mudroom, located at the back or side entrance, usually with at least a lavatory and water closet. The mudroom traps mud before it gets into the living area of the house.

Greenspan Agreement Sets Stage for New Arenac Wildlife Area

Lansing — Officials of the Michigan Department of Conservation and U. S. Department of Agriculture last week entered into a "Greenspan" agreement under which about $7,000 in federal funds will go toward the purchase and development of a new 147-acre wildlife area in Arenac county.

The Greenspan agreement, first in the nation, is linked with the Cropland Adjustment Program aimed at converting surplus croplands to public recreational uses and conservation practices.

The 147-acre tract to be purchased and dedicated as the Wigwam Bay Wildlife Area fronts on the Pine River and Saginaw Bay about five miles east of Standish.

Immediate plans call for planting wildlife food plots in the area next spring to benefit waterfowl and pheasants. A parking area and boat ramps also figure in the first order of development work to be done there.

Total purchase price of the new wildlife site is about $36,000.

The Hi-Light

Edited by Students of the Chelsea High School Journalism Club

The kick-off for most important game to be played on Chelsea's football field in the 1966 season, will occur at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 14.

With Cindi Hercules and Russ Mauer chairmen of the event, the seniors have been viciously working on making homecoming a success.

At half-time the queen candidates will be driven down to the football field to be introduced. The new queen, elected by the varsity football team, will be crowned by last year's queen, Sharon Stahl.

The candidates for this year are: Freshman - Barb Harvey, Connie Taylor; sophomore, Sara Lindauer, Connie Parker; juniors, Wanda Salyer, Faye Policht; seniors, Karin Tandy, Anita Wenk.

At 8:30 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 29 the halls of the office were flocked with juniors eagerly waiting to acquire their class rings. Everyone who claimed one, seemed overjoyed with the fact that now they were juniors and the rings were symbolic of that and impending graduation.

After much discussion and deliberation the senior class has decided to continue having their pictures taken at Guenthers.

The construction workers have informed us once again on a date for the new additions will be completed. As it stands now, they should finish around the first of November and at the very latest by Thanksgiving.

Tonight, Sept. 30, will be our last away game for awhile for CHS varsity football players. Next Friday night Oct. 7 will be the first conference home varsity game. The team will be playing against South Lyon.

Bulldogs Lose League Game At Dundee

Will Face South Lyon Here Friday Evening In First Home Game

Chelsea Bulldogs traveled to Dundee Friday night to play the Vikings in a Southeastern Conference game. The final score was Dundee 26, Chelsea 0.

Chelsea kicked off to start the game, with Dundee returning to their 33-yard line. The Bulldogs, led by Jeff Hitchingham and Bill Harvey, held the Vikings to no gain and forced a Dundee punt. Chelsea took over on their own 26-yard line. After two running plays netted only two yards, Bill Harvey lofted a long pass intended for John Bergman but had it intercepted by Dundee. From Chelsea's 26-yard line, the Vikings took nine plays to score with a pass of 18 yards coming on a fourth and 16 situation.

Chelsea returned the kick-off to the 34 and tried three unsuccessful passes and was forced to kick. With Danny Allen booting a beautiful 45-yard kick, Dundee now played ball control, plus two 15-yard penalties by Chelsea, traveled 67 yards in 16 plays to score their second touchdown.

Dundee scored their third TD on the next punt with their halfback returning a Chelsea punt 61 yards and ending the scoring for the half.

The second half started with the Bulldogs moving on offense for two first downs only to stall and have a pass intercepted by Dundee. During the series Ron Montange, Tom Bowling and Craig Houle shared the running duties.

Chelsea's offense picked up somewhat in the next series with the Bulldogs moving to two more first downs with the big play being a 35-yard pass from quarterback Bill Harvey to John Bergman. But unable to sustain the drive, Chelsea was forced to punt. Chelsea's defense again held the strong Vikings, being led by Greg Stephens, Larry and Mike Gaken, Gary Ellenwood, Mike Harvey and Co-Captain, Larry Porath.

Chelsea has still to score a point this year. Although the Bulldog defense has given up 50 points, the defense has been encouraging.

The Bulldogs play their first home ball game Friday, playing host to South Lyon. South Lyon's record is the same as Chelsea's 0 and 3. South Lyon has scored 44 points and given up 75 points, losing to Dexter Friday, 33-19.

The contest Friday night will bring together Chelsea's 1965 football co-captains as Phil Bareis' Bulldogs meet Bob Keezer's South Lyon Lions.

The Dundee film will be shown Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Audio-Visual room.

JV Gridders Drop Dundee Game in Rain

The Chelsea Junior Varsity team played its second game of the season Thursday night in the rain, losing to the Dundee Junior Varsity team, 12-0. The JV's are now one-and-one as the season having won their opener, 13-0, against Fowlerville.

The game was much closer than the score indicates. The score was tied, 0-0, at half-time, both teams requiring some time to adjust to the soggy playing conditions. Then Dundee took advantage of a Chelsea error halfway through the third quarter (a fumble on about the Chelsea 30), and marched in for their first score. Their second score came after the final gun sounded, when a Dundee player fell on a Chelsea fumble in Chelsea's own end zone.

The Chelsea team played well, though lacking the services of four starters from the previous week. Doing a good job for Chelsea were offensive ends Glen Wilkerson and Tom Smith, quarterback Dave Conklin, and defensive tackle Dave Pickell.

NEW RAILROAD TIES have been inserted along the New York Central railroad line between Chelsea and Ann Arbor to replace rotted ties. The work is continuing between Notten Rd. and Jackson, and is expected to take approximately three weeks to complete. Rotted ties are cut in three pieces by a special "guillotine" machine, pulled out of place and later burned. The tie inserter machine then lifts the heavy ties and moves them into place. Kenneth Booth, foreground, of Decatur, a tie handler, helps guide ties into place. The scene above was photographed as the crew moved through Chelsea last week.
