Jan. 3, 1967, 4 p.m. is the deadline for returning petitions to the village clerk.

South Lyon Sets Bulldogs Down, 68-53

The final buzzer Friday night saw South Lyon top Chelsea on the South Lyon court, 68-53.

After a perfectly "ineffective first half," in which the Chelsea Bulldogs scored only 15 points to 34 by the Lions of South Lyon, the Bulldogs managed to respond in the second half by outscoring South Lyon, 36-34, only to suffer their fourth loss of the season.

Very poor shooting contributed to the weak offensive punch of the Bulldogs in that first half. Chelsea shot 36 times and hit only on six for a 16 percent average. Many of the missed shots were close in the basket, some being tapped by South Lyon, meanwhile, was ripping the nets for a 41 percent shooting average on 11 of 29 from the floor. The Lions also scored on 12 of 18 free throws in the half while Chelsea hit one of four.

By the time the game was over the Bulldogs had erased more field goals then South Lyon, 22-19, but were on the short end of foul shots, getting only 9 of 22 while the Lions had 30 of 47.

In the four games played this season, the Bulldogs have been outscored from the field by only a few margin. But in the foul line the Bulldogs have hit on only 45 of 77 while the opponents have scored on 87 of 151.

Contributing to the difference in the number of foul shots is the number of fouls committed by the Bulldogs. Chelsea has been whistled down for fouls 107 times to the opponents' 62.

PLANS FOR NEW STRUCTURE:

100-Year-Old North Lake Church May Be Replaced

The North Lake Methodist Church building on N. Territorial Rd. saw its first Christmas in 1866. Now, 100 years later, members of the congregation are talking about replacing it. They are definitely planning to replace the church's educational wing, which was added to the main structure in 1925.

Actually, North Lake Methodist's education wing is the old neighborhood Grange hall in disguise. It was the church members' about 1,200 1925 dollars to move it to the church site and remodel it for the use of Sunday school classes.

When the church members began to formulate their building plans earlier this year they were thinking in terms of only an educational building. But now some members are talking about also building a new church, or at least planning to add one to the education unit soon after that is completed.

L. D. Shutes, chairman of the building committee, says that the committee is hiring an architect and should soon have preliminary plans in hand.

A fund-raising campaign within the church has been in progress for some time, but for 1967 the women of the church have scheduled rummage sales, bake sales, a spring luncheon and a summer fair.

The new facilities would be located behind the present church. The congregation owns a three-acre plot at the site and the present church is very close to the road.

In 1857 John and Jane Glenn, who had organized the Methodist Episcopal Society at North Lake with 10 other pioneers in 1836, deeded the land on which the church now stands to the society. In January of 1866 a meeting was called to consider building a church, and by the end of the year the present building had been completed. Cost: $2,645.87. At that time the church had only 57 members and $2,845.87 was quite an investment. Then there was the additional task of paying the church janitor $1 for taking care of the building for six months.

Forty years later, in 1907, the building was ready for remodeling, and the congregation put up $1,800 for the job. By 1910 the electric age was in full swing, and a $500 Delco lighting plant was installed.

Six years later the nearby Grange hall was purchased for $1 and moved (somehow) to the south of the church building.

The congregation celebrated the centennial of its founding in 1936, and two years later the church was redecorated.

By 1946 the building was ready for another redecoration and a new oil furnace was installed. The bill for the 1946 improvements came to $1,537.

An organ was added in 1952. Four years later, in preparation for the 120th anniversary, the church was redecorated. The women of the church painted the dining room and kitchen. Floors were sanded and finished, new carpet laid, the altar rail rebuilt and the front steps repaired.

Now members say that if a new church is built, the old building will have to be razed. But not, at any rate, until it has lived out its first century.

The warning is especially timely with the Christmas vacation beginning.

Dale Carnegie Course Set By Jaycees

Ron Branham, president of the Chelsea Jaycees, announced that plans have been made for the Jaycees to bring the Dale Carnegie Course to Chelsea.

Jaycees are working with Carnegie Course representatives in getting preliminaries taken care of. Enrollments are now being accepted for the class which will start soon.

The Dale Carnegie Course is a 14-session course which helps the individual to develop his abilities in the areas of effective speaking, human relations, memory and self confidence.

Results of the first class in Chelsea were so good that the Jaycees feel that a repeat is in order. The class is not limited to Jaycees. They are steering the course into the community. Branham stated that the Jaycees feel that sponsoring the course is a genuine community service. Reports show that people benefit from the training on the job, at home and socially and in civic work.

Many companies today use Dale Carnegie training as part of their employee training program.

Jaycees are sponsoring the course along with Donald E. Defendahl & Associates of Ann Arbor.

People desiring more information should contact Ron Branham or Ron Edes.

Jaycees Join Christmas in Vietnam Move

Chelsea Jaycees announced Tuesday that they would participate in Gov. Romney's program for Michigan Christmas in Vietnam week, Dec. 18 through 24.

Ronald Branham, local Jaycee president, said that everyone is invited to help the people of Michigan make this program an outstanding success. Materials collected will be distributed to the civilian population in South Vietnam.

Medical supplies, canned or dehydrated foods, clothing and soap are especially needed.

Almost any article which is not perishable or easily breakable may be used for the program, Branham said. He mentioned that tools and materials to rebuild homes are constantly needed, as are personal hygiene items, cleaning materials and antiseptics, school supplies, sewing supplies and cloth.

Branham said he plans to contact local doctors, dentists, food stores and other businesses for

Everyone Can Help

"Every family should give serious consideration to taking part in Michigan Christmas in Vietnam," stated Gov. George Romey at a kick-off press conference where the idea was presented.

Briefly, this campaign urges Michigan citizens to demonstrate their Christmas spirit by working through one of several agencies now functioning in Vietnam to help the people and servicemen there.

"The most severe need," stated the Governor, "is for soap." He said that nearly every child needs medical attention and most of his need is related to the fact that they cannot keep clean. Soap, food and money, it is hoped will stream to Vietnam because of Michigan people and their generosity.

Newspapers and electronic media of the state were encouraged to get facts of the campaign to the Michigan public in time for the Dec. 18-24 special week which was proclaimed by the Governor. The Michigan effort, it is hoped, will stretch well into next year.

Local Jaycee, Red Cross and religious offices are geared to work with state citizens, accepting their gifts and donations on the spot and sending them on to Vietnam.

Organizations cooperating fully in this program are: American Friends' Service Committee, American National Red Cross, CARE, Catholic Relief Services, Christian Children's Fund, Foster Parents Plan, International Rescue Committee, Lutheran World Relief, Project Concern, USO, Vietnam Christian Service, World Medical Relief, World Rehabilitation Fund, World University Service, and World Vision International Relief Organization, Community Development Foundation, Save the Children Federation, NAE-World Relief Commission, People-To-People Health Foundation, Inc., (Project HOPE), Seventh Day Adventist Welfare Service.

Another Look

Prospects for legislative action aimed at more effectively measuring campaign expenditures may have been enhanced by a question which arose following the November election.

It seems the report filed by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams exceeded the limit now specified by law in spending for his unsuccessful bid at the U. S. Senate seat. The report may be misleading, however.

Present law specifies that a candidate may spend $40 for each 1,000 votes cast for gubernatorial candidates in the previus presidential year election.

Ambiguity in the law permits the candidate to spend this amount while any number of separate committees may also spend this much or more, depending on whether they come under the law's reporting requirement.

In the most recent election, it seems Williams' campaign workers lumped his own spending and that of several committees into one report. Thus his spending went beyond the limit of the law.

Williams' opponent, the incumbent and victorious Sen. Robert Griffin (and other major office seekers for that matter) took the other route. He filed a personal spending report and individual committees working in his behalf filed separately. Taken together, several other candidates would have gone over the spending limit as well as Williams.

Revision of this law, which in effect is unenforceable because of its ambiguity, has been urged for several years primarily by Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose office tries to administer this law.

Hare has contended that in addition to lacking teeth, the law's ineffectiveness is creating a situation in which only the wealthy can seek public office.

In 1948, when Williams gained his first term as governor he spent less than $50,000 on the campaign. In 1960, Neil Staebler's futile bid for the same office cost him over $175,000 and supporters of Gov. George Romney spent nearly $290,000 on his second term bid. Neither candidate reported any personal spending.

What is needed, Hare says, is a law which will require registration of all political committees working in a candidate's behalf and a firm but reasonable limitation on the over-all spending.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The spirit of Christmas was in the air at the country store Saturday night. All the fellers was in a jolly mood and was speaking out in favor of peace on earth and goodwill toward everbody.

I have took note through the years that the older folks git the more they look on the religious side of Christmas. The young-uns was thinking about dances and parties and gifts but the old folks was happy to set by the fire and give thanks to the Lord fer their blessings.

That was the spirit amongst the fellers Saturday night. Most of them was born before the turn of the century and they been bruised and battered by time but none of them has needed Medicare, all was eating regular, got their notes at the bank in good shape, and was gitting along as well as could be expected with their old lady after 40 or 50 year of wedded bliss.

They was a few wise cracks mixed in with the brotherly love talk of the evening. It's mighty hard fer Ed Doolittle to set through a whole session without taking a little poke at the Great Society. He allowed as how he was strong fer this peace on earth filosophy but he could recollect when Truman's slogan was "Save The Pence" after World War I and now Lyndon was trying to "Save The Pieces." He was kidding Clem Webster of the Great Society, told Clem the Democrats had got us into all the wars we ever had. But Ed was all fer the Christmas spirit, reported he had took down his July Fourth Decorations and put up some mistletoe. Personal, Mister Editor, I figger Ed is gitting too old to be messing with mistletoe but didn't say nothing.

Zeke Grubb told the fellers he aimed to cash in his E Bond he bought during the war and set his family up to some fine steaks fer Christmas dinner. The storekeeper butted in to tell Zeke since we have got prices and wages in the new "Guidelines" groove he wasn't goov shore he could git enough steak fer one E Bond to do the job.

I'll have to admit, Mister Editor, that we got more inflation at this Christmas time than I can ever remember. I recollect they used to be a poet feller named Edgar Guest that wrote fer the newspapers and always said it took a heap of living in a house to make it a home. Now it takes a heap of living in a house to make it worth the cost of living.

But comparing everthing, we got peace at home, was living in a land of freedom and plenty and got a heap to thank the Lord fer this Christmas.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS, Mister Editor, to you and yours, and to all your subscribers, advertisers and friends.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Community Greets Christmas Season with Worship, Rejoicing

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly; 'tis the season to be jolly." Christmas is for joy and laughter; Christmas glows with merriment. Throughout this community, families are putting the finishing touches on plans for holiday get-togethers. Hideaways bulge with mysterious packages; kitchens are fragrant with the scents of special treats; homes are bright with gala decorations. Schools and clubs prepare their annual Christmas programs. Holiday party plans go forward. It is, indeed, the season to be jolly.

"Silent Night, Holy Night, all is calm, all is bright." Christmas is a prayer and peace; Christmas gleams with the light of the Star that shone so brightly, nearly 2,000 years ago. And throughout this community the deep spiritual significance of the holy season spreads comfort and cheer. In churches, the house of worship reflect the coming joy during the weeks before Christmas, the story of Christ's coming the subject of study, sermon, song and prayer, all building toward special services of Christmas week-end.

ST. NICHOLAS, who preceded Santa as a Christmas gift giver, was pictured on an 1870 greeting cards as a monk-like figure.

FATHER CHRISTMAS, pictured as a rather stern resident of the North Pole, appears on this turn-of-the-century greeting card.

...iting in Joy and Prayer

Christmas is a joyful season; Christmas is a prayerful season. ...ce the earliest celebrations of this Christian holiday, it has ever ...n so.

The twin spirits of Christmas—festive celebration and reverent ...ship—are woven together in all the lore of the season. History says ...t when the time now celebrated as Christmas was designated, in the ...h century A.D., early Christian leaders felt that the traditional winter ...rymaking of pagan festivals such as the Roman Saturnalia might be ...owed by association with the Nativity.

Thus, pagan peoples who had once looked to mythical sun gods ...the source of the rebirth of life began to turn to religious observ...es of the Saviour's birth. Christmas lights symbolized faith, hope ...l life eternal.

Today, the glow of the tiniest candle—or the twinkling of the ...llest electric bulb—still reflects, however humbly, the Light that ...ist brought to the world.

...inging Gifts

...t the heart of the holiday fun ...f feasting there glows the spirit ...giving. The Wise Men sought ...onor the Christ Child with rare ...precious gifts—gold, frankin...se and myrrh. Thus, to give of ...best at Christmas is a time...ored tradition.

...ll may rejoice in the oppor...ity to give generously, to please ...ily and friends with "just ...t they wanted," and to share ...h the less fortunate.

...et the best Christmas gifts are ...those that come from the ...n hand, and the warmth of a ...ndly smile, the words of a ...dial greeting add priceless ...ning to the most elaborate of ...s.

...nging Carols

...Glory to God in the highest, ...on earth, peace, good will to...d men."

Across the years since shepherds first harkened to an angelic chorus, Christmas rings with the sound of voices raised in joyful song.

Carol singing at Christmas is both a tradition and a source of tradition. Much of the legend and lore of the season is known today only because it has been preserved in song—in carols passed on from generation to generation.

Spirit of Giving Lives in Quebec's Colorful Tradition

The traditional spirit of giving that's world-wide at Christmastime takes on a special form and meaning in French Quebec. This year, as every year, will see the enactment of a masquerade known as "La Guignolee," to benefit all the poor of Quebec.

"La Guignolee" was begun by the first French colonists who settled in Quebec. But historians date the custom to the Druidic rite which celebrated the arrival of a new year: the cutting—with golden scythes—and the gathering of mistletoe that grew in the sacred forests.

Dress Like Trappers

The French version of "La Guignolee" has been kept alive for modern Quebec by such organizations as the St. Vincent de Paul Society. It involves a door-to-door collection for the poor by "Les Guignoleurs."

Since 1901, the role of "Les Guignoleurs" has been played by members of the Commercial Travelers Club of Quebec, Inc. like the Canadian trappers of old, with their red knit caps and colorful sashes. Singing the song of "La Guignolee," they approach each householder with a long, red woolen stocking, to be filled by gifts for the poor.

"Les Guignoleurs" of early Quebec had a very different method of attaining their goal. Arriving at the homes of the villagers, they sang a song that asked for a contribution or threatened the abduction of the eldest daughter of the household.

Fights Did Happen

The master and mistress of the house, or someone representing them, then opened the door and allowed "Les Guignoleurs" to enter.

Gifts were placed in a bag and later emptied into a cart that followed along behind them through village, accompanied by a swarm of children and dogs.

Sometimes, when two different groups of "Les Guignoleurs" met, a fight ensued and the treasures of one cart would fill up the cart of the winners.

Aiding the Needy

Originally, food and clothing as well as money was collected. But for the part twenty years it has been only money, and the generous people of Quebec have contributed as much as $30,000 for the poor.

The money is deposited in a bank, and checks are issued to the parish priests of the city, who use the money to aid all the needy, regardless of religious denomination.

A Michigan State University agricultural engineer predicts a dramatic increase in farm uses of electricity by 1980. The specialist estimates that each farmer will use an average of 15,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity, compared with just a little over 9,000 today.

Four Youths Bound Over to Circuit Court On Area Rape Charges

Four Wayne county youths charged with raping a 19-year-old Chelsea girl last month have been bound over to Circuit Court by Ann Arbor Municipal Court Judge Francis L. O'Brien.

Carl M. Gary, 18, and William Cooley, Richard Marken and Milton R. Davis, all 17, all of Belleville, appeared before Judge O'Brien for an examination on the felony charge. After hearing testimony and argument in the case, Judge O'Brien bound the four teen-agers to Circuit Court for an appearance Dec. 29. He ordered bond of $2,000 each to be posted for their release.

Fire Dept. Responds to Three Minor Blazes

The Chelsea Volunteer Fire Department responded to three minor fires last week.

A fire in the motor, possibly caused by the wiring system, caused $1,000 damage to a car on Monday, Dec. 19, on Bush Rd.

A report of a grease fire was received Monday, Dec. 19, but by the time the fire department reached the Werkner Rd. address the fire had been extinguished. No damage was reported.

Tuesday, Dec. 20, an overheated motor caused a fire which burned a roof vent at Chelsea Products. There was no estimate of the damage.

Trout Fishing Permitted

You don't need ice to fish for rainbow and brown trout in a number of lakes in Washtenaw county.

Fishing is by hook and line only and the limit is five trout a day or a maximum of 10 pounds plus one fish.

Ice is not safe anywhere in the state and is non-existent in most of the lower peninsula.

Lakes where it is legal to fish for trout in this area are Bruin, Half-Moon, Pickerel, Portage and South lakes.

Missing Man Found Near Grass Lake

George Laslo, 44, of Dearborn, the object of an intensive search since his car was found abandoned in the Grass Lake area with the lights on and motor running, Dec. 6, was found hanging from two electrical cords suspended from rafters in the living room of cottage No. 300 at Fa-Ho-Lo Park at Timms Lake, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 16.

The body, clad only in shorts and dark blue trousers which were badly torn, was removed to Jackson. Because of its frozen condition, Foote Hospital pathologists were forced to wait until 8 a.m. Saturday to perform an autopsy to determine whether anything other than strangulation contributed to Laslo's death.

Upon completion of the autopsy the report stated no evidence of violence attributed to Laslo's death and that cuts appearing on his body were caused when he broke the windows of the cottage and crawled inside. His death was later attributed to suicide.

Discovery of the body was made by the Rev. Thode Thodeson, Assembly of God pastor of Ludington and supervisor of Fa-Ho-Lo camp. He first noticed something amiss about 10:30 a.m. Thursday while taking promotional pictures of the lake and camp facilities when he saw the front porch light burning on the cottage and the front door glass broken. He did nothing about the situation then but continued his maintenance work about the caretaker's home. At noon he prepared lunch for men working about the grounds.

Midway through the afternoon he remembered the light and broken glass and decided to do something about it. Upon entering the cottage and walking into the living-room he saw the hanging corpse.

State Police from the Jackson Post were called. They had just returned from an unsuccessful search for Laslo. They had criss-crossed property north and south of I-94 and Mt. Hope intersection but could find no trace of the missing man.

After the arrival of the crime laboratory team, Dr. James R. Howestine of the state health laboratory crime detection and detectives of the State Police crime lab, the cottage was searched in a futile attempt to locate Laslo's missing items of shoes, socks, and a billfold reportedly containing more than $1,000 representing six paychecks obtained from his employer, Chrysler Corp., and cashed the day he disappeared.

State police later found the billfold wedged between the front seats of the car Laslo had abandoned. The other items are still missing.

Police had suspected murder but the finding of the missing wallet discounted a robbery motive.

It was reported Laslo had been despondent since the death of his mother about three weeks ago. He lived with his father in Dearborn.

FRESH MINNOWS

When transporting minnows over a long distance, carry a length of garden hose—and a funnel—as insurance. The funnel goes out the window, hose is attached, and bubbles the water in the minnow bucket, minnows stay alive.

Tractors — both very big ones and those just above garden size—will increase in Michigan by 1980. An agricultural engineer at Michigan State University said large and larger tractors will be both feasible and economical due to coming research developments. Some of these developments might even lead to a tractor operated by an automatic pilot with pre-programmed operational instructions.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 14 years old. I have a problem with my mother. She doesn't care if I go on dates but there is one boy my mother won't let me go out with. He happens to be the only boy I like. She said he was 'cute' but he was a 'smart-aleck'. What should I do? I want to go on a date with him. Should I sneak out with him — or do what my mother says?"

OUR REPLY: Do what your mother says. Most 14 year old girls are not permitted to date at all. If your mother permits you to date, providing she knows who you are dating, you will be wise to believe in her good judgment and recognize that any objections she has to some boy are based upon considered thought and a genuine interest in your welfare.

If you go against your mother's wishes and date boys who are not acceptable in her eyes, you may wind up not being able to date at all.

Should you believe your mother is wrong about this particular boy, your proper move is to show her where she is wrong — and at the same time, be willing to accept the truth about him if she shows you that she is right.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS; COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

In Honduras, the aromatic little brown cocoa bean has been the symbol of romance for centuries. Here, when a Honduran Indian wishes to propose marriage, he offers the lady a gift of cocoa beans. If she accepts it means their engagement can be announced.

Pork shoulder steaks are just as easy to prepare as pork chops and they're likely to have a lower price tag. You can braise pork shoulder steaks just as you would pork chops — in barbecue sauce, sour cream, tomato juice, orange juice or bouillon.

Churches Echo with Yule Story

"And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn." Luke 2:7

* * *

At Christmas, in church and home devotions, Christians turn again to the Biblical story of that Holy Night nearly 2,000 years ago.

From the words of two of his disciples, Luke and Matthew, they learn of humble shepherds watching in a field, of herald angels singing, of a Star that shone in the East to guide the Wise Men on their way.

In every word of the sacred story, the first Christmas lives anew. And most cherished of all are the words that tell of the simple manger scene, of Mary, and Joseph, and the Christ Child.

* * *

"And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger."

* * *

The words, as simple as the scene, inspire awe and wonder, for the glory of the moment, for the miracle that was wrought. Yet the same words bring a homely comfort, too. It is a miracle that even a child may comprehend, for there, living again in the words, is the Baby Jesus, wrapped in swaddling clothes.

* * *

"Because there was no room for them in the inn."

In the glory, there is poignancy, too.

"No room in the inn."

* * *

The words echo across the ages, and rejoicing is tinged with bittersweet. That — as in the words of the famous carol, "Away in a Manger," — "the little Lord Jesus" had "no crib for His bed" weights on the heart of Christianity.

Even here at the manger there is the shadow of suffering in store for the Son of God, of trials soon to begin with the flight into Egypt and to end on the Cross.

But the glory prevails in the miracle of the humble manager, and ahead, through the shadows of the future, through anguis and agony, shines the radiance of Easter.

It is Christmas, and Christians everywhere rejoice at the words of the angel:

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

Luke 2:11.

Have you ever noticed that the good things in life are most often inexpensive things?

TOYS FOR THE CHILDREN, a gaily-decorated tree — and fun for all. This family holiday scene, recorded about 1850, represents many of the Christmas traditions most beloved today. It is more than "an old-fashioned Christmas," for such customs as exchanging gifts and bringing greenery indoors during the winter holidays originated in ancient times. "Modern" Christmas celebrations combine traditions of many nations and eras, say historians.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Editor's Note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Detroit District office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Our teenage daughter baby-sits and saves this money for college. Should I give the bank where she has her savings account my social security member for tax purposes?

A. No. Your daughter earned the money herself and must have her own social security number. Form SS-5, available at local IRS and Social Security offices, should be used to apply for a number.

Q. I've made a three-year pledge to a church building fund. How much can I deduct this year?

A. When you itemize deductions, charitable contributions may be deducted in the tax year they are actually made.

Q. My company is transferring me to another city and they paid for a preliminary trip for my wife and me to look for a place to live. When I was reimbursed for this trip I noticed that taxes were taken out. Why was that?

A. The amount you received is not classified as a nontaxable reimbursement of moving expenses but as wages. When you actually move to the new location, the cost of transporting you, your immediate family and your household goods may well be a deductible moving expense. The cost of meals and lodging while traveling may also be deductible. If so, any reimbursement you receive would be non-taxable as long as it does not exceed your actual expenses.

Q. I just opened a flower shop and have a truck to handle customer deliveries. Am I liable for the highway use tax?

A. Probably not. The minimum weight for tax purposes is 13,000 pounds for a single unit, two-axled truck. This would exclude the small panel or step-van trucks used for delivery purposes.

Q. I just graduated from nursing school. Will the cost of my uniforms be deductible for tax purposes?

A. Yes it will. Your shoes may also be deductible too if they are a special type required by hospitals. The key factor is whether these items are required for your job and are not suitable for wear in place of ordinary clothing.

Q. What's the story on company pensions? I retired last month and got $125 a month from my company plus Social Security. Is this taxable?

A. Social Security benefits are not taxable. As for your company pension, if you did not contribute to the cost of the pension then it will be fully taxable. If you shared the cost of the pension with your employer then it will be only partially taxable. Our publications, "Tax Benefits For Older Americans," Document No. 5569, and "Retirement Income and Credit," Document No. 5018, explain in some detail what the tax liability for pensions might be. You will also find details on other tax benefits for taxpayers 65 and over. You can get these publications free by dropping a post card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Q. I just had to cash in my life insurance policy to take care of some unexpected medical bills. Is the money I received taxable?

A. In most cases where life insurance policies are turned in for their cash surrender value there would be no new taxable income. New taxable income would be involved when the cash received exceeds the amount paid in premiums. Then the excess over and above the amount paid in premiums would be taxable. Ordinary life insurance policies do not usually produce taxable income when they are surrendered. Taxable income is more likely to be realized when a limited payment insurance policy, a 20-payment life policy, for example, is surrendered. Since you are using the money from your insurance policy for medical expenses, make sure to keep a record of them. This will be helpful when you file your return next year.

Two Washtenaw county 4-H families will share in this year's Adventure to Understanding program during the Christmas holidays. Two students will be visiting in Washtenaw county Dec. 26-28. The Lowell Spike family of Manchester and the Simon Girbach family of Saline will host the two students.

The three-day itinerary calls for the students' arrival in Ann Arbor at 3:30 Monday afternoon.

Tigers Plan All-Florida Exhibitions

Detroit — For the first time in five years, the Tigers will confine their 1967 spring exhibition games to Florida.

A schedule of 29 tune-up contests, announced by Jim Campbell, executive vice-president and general manager, disclosed the Tigers will play all of them in the Sunshine State, then fly to Anaheim Calif., to open their 67th American League season against the California Angels April 11. The Tiger Stadium opener against the Angels will be April 18.

For the last two years, the Tigers have interrupted their journeys out of Florida to engage National League teams in lucrative week-end exhibition series in new stadiums — at Atlanta against the Braves in 1965 and at Houston against the Astros in 1966.

In 1963 and 1964, the Tigers barnstormed with the Minnesota Twins, enroute to their northern openers. Now they are returning to the schedule pattern which prevailed from 1959 through 1962.

Fifteen of the Florida exhibitions will be played at Lakeland, the Tigers' training base since 1934, in the new 4,500-seat Marchant Stadium which they opened in 1966. The opener there will be Sunday, March 12, against the Twins, following two road exhibitions with the Kansas City Athletics at Bradenton March 10 and the Twins at Orlando March 11.

Other big games at Marchant Stadium will feature the World Champion Baltimore Orioles March 23, the National League Champion Los Angeles Dodgers March 14 and the always-popular New York Yankees March 24.

The Tigers will play all 15 of the other teams training in Florida, with five games against the Boston Red Sox based at Nearby Winter Haven. Seventeen games are with American League teams, 12 with National Leaguers.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Treasured memories and family sentiment that Christmas recreates every year is one of life's greatest joys. In the midst of this joy, we hear the usual complaint that Christmas is over-commercialized. We hear the complaint that Christ has been taken out of Christmas. It is sadly true some people do ignore Him as they celebrate His birthday. These complaints seem to get nowhere, or not very far. The reason is clear. It sums up to PERSONAL acceptance or rejection of the meaning and purpose of Christmas. This verse, copied from a Christmas card, deals with this thought rather well.

May the glitter of the season
Not obscure the holy reason
For this happy celebration . . .
They came in haste to find the King—
Is your rush another thing?
He extends this invitation . . .
Come—and find the Prince of Peace.
Let the needless turmoil cease,
Find for life a dedication.

With these borrowed words, we hope that those of you who read this may have the everlasting joy of Christmas in your heart always . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 E. Middle St., Chelsea, Mich., Phone 475-4141.

Square Dance Is Probable If Enough Interested

If at least 16 interested adults would contact Richard Bareis, director of the Chelsea Area Recreation Commission, by this week-end, there will be a square dance in Chelsea sometime between Christmas and New Year's. Harold (Shorty) Huffmeyer will organize and call the dance, which may develop into a class. If intersted, call Bareis at GE 9-7466.

Bareis reports that 15 men have signed for men's physical education and this class is still open. He still hopes to organize a women's physical education class after the first of the year, but the rest of the adult classes have been dropped because no interest was shown.

He has also announced that the recreation program for high school students will have to be dropped unless more participants show for the Jan. 7 session.

Other basketball and recreation programs for students are in full swing and will meet next on Jan. 7. Sixty-two boys are enrolled in the boys' Saturday morning basketball programs, Bareis says.

Cub Scout Awards Given At Pack Meet

Cub Scout Pack 445 and 455 held their monthly meeting in the High school cafeteria on Dec. 15, opening with a flag ceremony by Mrs. Loyadell Keezer, den 1.

Christmas carols were led by William Windle of Pack 455. Each Cub brought hand-made decorations that were put on the Christmas tree for the evening.

Don Pierson of Pack 455 led a Santa Claus group participation stunt that the Cubs enjoyed. The dens each sang a Christmas song in keeping with the theme, "Christmas Around the World."

A Bob Cat induction was held by William Windle, committeeman of Pack 455. Those inducted from Pack 445 were John Simpson, Michael Boyer and Kurt Lantis. Inducted from Pack 455 were David Popovich, Steve Bowen, Mark Houle, Donald Oesterle, David Proctor, Eric Prinzing, Steve Lverla, Randy Case, Michael Keller, James Boyer, Mike Schanz, John Toon, Robin Boyer, Randy Rosentreter, Jeff Schantz and Steve Schanz.

The Lion badge of Pack 445 went to Michael Juergens and Ricky Milliken. Pack 455 received the Wolf badge and Bear book. The awards were presented by Ralph A. Frisch.

Each club also brought two bright new pennies for the world friendship tree, which helps promote and organize Scouting in other countries. The tree was made from cardboard and was decorated by Charles Popovich.

All the dens were given rocket kits to prepare at home and at den meetings for the next pack meeting, Jan. 19.

Den mothers Rosine Jacobs, Loyadell Keezer and assistant Lois Lantis were introduced from Pack 445. Helen Harris was unable to be present.

Pack 455 introduced den mothers Judith Boyer, Alice Windle, Marge Rosentreter and assistants Billie Case and Beth Lyerla.

New boys and their families were introduced. The boys are Randy Sweeney, Matt Roy, Greg McClain, David Schaible, Doug Beaumont and Scott Haselschwardt.

Bill Jacobs, Pack 445, displayed a monkey bridge made of rope. Finis Case and Richard Schanz helped get the cafeteria set up before the meeting. Retiring of flags for the closing was by Loyadell Keezer, den 1.

Pvt. Terry Tison is home on furlough from Fort Gordon, Ga., to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tison He has been in the service four months. He is to report back for duty on New Year's day.

Cager of the Week

JACK RISNER, 5'9" junior, starts at guard for the Bulldogs. He has averaged roughly 10 points per game this season. "Jack is our steadiest ball player. He shoots well and handles the ball well. Also, for his size, he rebounds verywell," says Coach Terry Pokela. Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Risner, 170 Park St. He has one sister, Pam, 10. His main interest is in sports and until this year he also played football.

JV Cagers Win over Stockbridge

The Chelsea junior varsity basketball team scored its first win of the season Tuesday night against Stockbridge, 47-32. This was their third game.

"Rebounding was the key to victory," Coach Bob Purcel said. "We still aren't shooting as well as we should, but our rebounding kept Stockbridge from scoring."

Play began slowly with Chelsea trailing, 4-5, half-way through the first quarter, but then the Bulldogs caught fire for the first time in the season. Chelsea scored 16 consecutive points before Stockbridge could manage a single hit.

Chelsea had a 12-point lead at half-time and Stockbridge never really got back into the second half of the game. They came within nine points twice, but key buckets by Mike Schnaidt both times put the Chelsea lead back into double figures. The Bulldogs led by 20 at one time in the second half.

Three Chelsea players scored in double figures, Mike Schnaidt with 16, and Larry Blackwell and Lance Burghardt with 10.

The first great gift we can bestow on others is a good example.

Planning Commission Discusses Annexation With Area Residents

The Chelsea Village Planning Commission held an informal hearing Thursday night with residents outside the present southwestern section of the Village to explain the advantages of annexation into the Village and to hear the views of the people involved.

Following this meeting a similar meeting was held with the residents of The Arden Lane area and representatives of the school district concerning the annexation of the North Elementary school and the area immediatoly to the north.

The Commission stressed the fact that the Village was not interested in forcing anyone into annexation but that there are long range advantages to both the residents and the Village in coming into the Village in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs Wilbur Hinderer left Tuesday for Medina, N.Y., where they will spend Christmas with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Benson and children.

Basketball Team Loses One More

Leading the attack for the Bulldogs in the second half was forward Larry Gaken with seven points, followed by centers Wes Stinehelfer and Jeff Hitchingham with six each.

Sophomore froward Craig Houle pumped in five more to boost the Chelsea cause. All players saw service in the game as Coach Terry Pokela kept looking at individuals under game conditions to see if they could assist the Bulldogs in climbing out of the celler of the Southeastern Conference.

Center Wes Stinehelfer looked particularly sharp as he scored a total of eight points and pulled down 13 rebounds. Also looking good was forward Larry Gaken, scoring nine points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

Boys having "off" nights were Jeff Hitchingham, who scored nine points on three of 18 field goal attempts and three of five free throws, and forward John Lixey who hit on only two of 11 shots and six rebounds. Hitchingham did grab 11 rebounds. Guard Kim Flint oft lost his shooting eye for the night, hitting nothing for six attempts.

Playing the steadiest ball for the Bulldogs has been guard Jack Risner. Jack hit for eight points Friday night and a total of 30 points in the three previous games.

Besides having trouble putting the ball in the hoop, the Bulldogs have not been playing good defensive ball. Except when they are using the zone full-court press the Bulldogs relax too much in their defense, giving the opponents easy baskets and making unnecessary fouls. The Bulldogs will utilize the full-court press more often in the future and also work considerably on the various zone defenses, particularly the need to hustle. A lack of speed and agility makes it difficult to play a good man-to-man defense.

Jeff Hitchingham and Larry Gaken led Chelsea scoring in the game with 9 points each. Jack Risner and Wes Stinehelfer hit for 8, Craig Houe 5, John Lixey and Tim Kern 4, John Freeman, Ken Blaess and Larry Porath 2.

The next conference game will be Jan. 6 at Dexter. The Bulldogs will meet Milan Dec. 27 at 9:45 p.m. in the first round of the Chelsea Christmas Tournament.

History Proves Yuletide Season Always A Memorable Occasion

For the children, this is the very best Christmas that ever was. The adults agree—but still, they look back a little wistfully at the Christmases of yesteryear, with nostalgic thoughts of "a good old-fashioned Christmas," or of a special Christmas memory.

Memories enhance the seasonal joys, and with good reason, for Christmas is a memorable time. Since the first Holy Night, some of the most important events of both religious and secular history have taken place at the Christmas season.

A look at the past reveals momentous occasions, joyous or poignant, as well as many of the little things that give bygone times living meaning—and all taking place on or about Christmas Day.

Dec. 24, 400 A.D.

In Italy, in the fifth century A.D., church bells rang on Christmas Eve to call Christians to worship.

This seemingly simple event had great significance, for it meant that Christians could worship in freedom, instead of in secret, as earlier suppresion of Christianity had forced them to do.

Traditionally, the first Christmas feast in England was held at the Round Table of King Arthur. The actual date is unknown, but references to this legendary king have been traced to 600 A.D.

Dec. 25, 1535

Beset by cold and hunger, in fear of hostile ndians, the French explorer Jacques Cartier and his band of 110 settlers observed an early Canadian Christmas at a fortress near what is now the city of Quebec, in 1535.

The most precious of the scanty food supplies were set forth for a Christmas "feast"—in the courageous spirit that enabled the tiny band to hold out till spring.

Dec. 24-25, 1620

December 1620 marked the landing of the Mayflower at Plymouth Rock. A site for the first home in the new settlement was selected on Christmas Eve, and on Christmas Day construction began.

Dec. 25, 1776

On December 25-26, 1776, George Washington crossed the Delaware. He surprised, and put to rout, Hessian soldiers employed by George III.

The surprise attack was greatly assisted by the fact that the Hessians were sleeping off the effects of their Christmas celebrating!

People Plus Problems Add Holiday Lore

Friends who visited the Robert Reilly home last December got a real Christmas surprise. In this Grants Pass, Ore., household, the Christmas tree "grew" out of the ceiling—or at least, was suspended there, upside down.

Will it start a trend? Will more and more families hang their Christmas trees from the ceiling? Only time can tell!

Christmas customs start with people and, often, with problems. In the case of the upside-town Christmas tree, the problem was, "Where to put the tree?" and the humorous solution was reached when the family just couldn't decide.

Creating Pudding

Many well-established traditions had their legendary beginnings in the inventive reaction of people to problems, large or small.

Take plum pudding for example, as many people do at Christmastime! The very first plum pudding was an answer to adversity, so legend says.

An English king and his hunting party were lost in the forest on Christmas Eve. Commanded by the king, the cook prepared dinner using the foods he had on hand—some meat from a stag, some bits of wild game, flour, birds' eggs, sugar, dried plums, ale and brandy.

The cook not only created a delicious emergency dish, he also invented plum pudding, which tradition says must contain these same ingredients if it is to be the "real thing."

Lighting the Tree

A pleasant problem with a happy solution led to the custom of decorating the Christmas tree with lights.

Martin Luther, the Reformation leader, returned from a Christmas Eve walked under a starlit sky, inspired by a wish to reproduce the heavenly scene for his family.

How to show some small reflection of the glory of the heavens on the first Holy Night? Luther solved the problem by lighting candles and placing them on the boughs of an evergreen.

Unique Decorations Adorn St. Paul's Christmas Tree

Unique decorations on a 15-foot white pine Christmas tree stress the true significance of the Christmas season as the congregation of St. Paul United Church of Christ observes its first Christmas in the new church building on Old US-12.

The tree, set directly over the cornerstone in the center of the narthex is decorated with handmade ornaments symbolic of the Christian faith. Decorations are the work of the Senior Adult group of the church and are made of styrafoam.

The symbolic ornaments are called "Chrismons," a combination of the two words "Christ" and "monogram" and are meant to signify a monogram or symbol of Christ. Patterns and descriptions were obtained from the Lutheran Church of the Ascension at Dansville, Va., owner of the trademark and copyright of the series.

All Chrismons are made in combinations of white and gold. White, the liturgical color for Christmas, refers to the Lord's purity and perfection while the gold symbolizes His Majesty and Glory. All-white lights on the tree point to the Christ as the "Light of the World."

The most widely known Chrismon is the combination of the first two letters in the Greek word for Christ. These form the familiar sign of the letter "P" with the crossed "X" on the stem of the letter. It is explained that this was probably among the first symbols used by Christians.

Other early symbols for Christ are a fish; butterfly or lily, signifying the resurrection; the vine; grapes; cornerstone (Christ Jesus Himself the chief cornerstone); a cross over the world (Christ over the world); and the crown, denoting the kingship of the Lord.

There are also various crosses—the Latin cross which is most widely used among Christians; the graded cross which is a Latin cross on a base of three steps: faith, hope and love; the cross of glory or Easter cross; the Maltese cross with eight outer points symbolizing the eight beatitudes; the pointed cross, reminder of Christ's crucifixion; the Greek cross; and the anchor cross which signifies hope.

Also included in the Chrismons are the circle symbolizing eternity; the equilateral triangle symbolizing the Triune God; angels portraying the spirits created to praise and serve God; scrolls which depict the written word and prophecy; a heart, the symbol of Christian love and service; a yoke, designating universal ministry and Christian service; and a ship "for the whole business of the church," the main part of a church being called a "nave," a Latin word meaning "ship."

There are two stars included—the five-pointed one called the Epiphany star or star of Bethlehem which was a manifestation to the Wise Men; and the six-pointed star known as the Creator's star with the points referring to the attributes of God: power, wisdom, majesty, love, mercy and justice.

Even the tree, evergreen, symbolizes the eternal nature of the Christ.

There is also a shell, the symbol of holy baptism and a dove, symbol of the Holy Spirit. A dove with an olive branch in its beak, is the universal symbol of peace.

St. Paul's Senior Adult group has held several workshop meetings in recent weeks in order to complete the new decorations in time for the holiday season. Final details and trimming of the tree took place Saturday.

The idea of a Chrismon-decorated tree was first discussed at a meeting of the church's Board of Christian Education. Later, the Senior Adult group leaders decided to go forward with the project.

The tree was donated by the Walter Beutlers. They also gave three regular-sized trees for use by Sunday school departments.

Mrs. Eugene Fisher also donated trees for four Sunday school departments at St. Paul's.

Buzzing with Holly

An English tradition of long ago says that sprigs of holly should be placed in beehives at Christmas. This stems from a legend that, at the Manger, bees gathered to hum a hymn of joy.

SPREAD THE HOLIDAY JAM

And enjoy it!

Christmas is a time for tradition. One tradition is calling family and friends Long Distance on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Always exciting but sometimes frustrating—when you experience delays because almost everybody calls at the same time.

This Christmas, you've got two extra days to call Long Distance . . . all day Saturday and all day Monday when low evening rates apply. No need to wait for the peak holiday Long Distance jam.

On Sunday (Christmas Day), the lowest night rates apply all day so there's no need to wait until evening.

Pass the jam and have a Merry Christmas.

(Lower rates do not apply on person-to-person calls within Michigan.)

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. What is a "closed-end investment trust," and to you consider it a good place for me to put my money?

A. A closed-end investment trust is a company that uses its money to invest in other companies rather than manufacturing a product or providing a service itself. Its purpose and activity is much like the popular open-end investment trusts or mutual funds, but its shares of stock are handled quite differently. A closed-end fund has a set number of shares and these shares may be listed on an Exchange and are bought and sold like the shares of any other corporation. If you want to buy shares in such a trust after the original date of issue, you must bid for them on the open market, just as you would for the stock of any other company.

For this reason, the shares of a closed-end investment trust don't necessarily sell at their net asset value. They may sell either above or below it, depending upon how many investors are bidding for it and how many are willing to sell it at a given price.

Open-end trusts, on the other hand, issue new securities as money for investment comes to them, buy them back again when an investor decides to liquidate. As a result, open-end trust, or mutual fund, securities always sell at their net asset value.

Many closed-end investment trusts have earned a good rate of return for their investors, and when they can be bought below their net asset value the investor would certainly seem to be getting a bargain.

Q. Please discuss penny stocks.

A. I will, if we can proceed on one premise: "penny stocks" — that is, those selling from a few cents to around $1 a share — usually have a great deal of risk connected with them.

I'll admit there has been, and likely always will be a high degree of romance attached to penny stocks. Many people are naturally attracted by the idea of getting a lot (in quantity if not quality) for their money and they are intrigued by the prospects of phenomenal growth — the good old get-rich-quick or something-for-nothing lure.

Just enough penny stocks — which are most common in the highly speculative oil and mining industries — turn into good investments to act as a magnet for those stock buyers who are really gamblers at heart. But by far the greater number of such stocks end up worth less than the paper they're printed upon.

Many reputable brokerage firms refuse to accept orders to purchase penny stocks. Others, if they do consent to handle such transactions, demand a letter from the customer stating that the stock is being bought at his insistence.

Remember this: You must realize that you're speculating not investing when you start buying them. I'd say your chance of hitting on a really good penny stock and cleaning up is about the same as buying a ticket in a lottery.

Q. My father died recently. Going through his papers, I found some bonds issued in 1923 by a Chicago suburb. I had never heard him mention them, and want to know if they have any value.

A. The best way to find out is to take the bonds to a reliable brokerage firm. They have the facilities to check on them and should be able to give you a report within about a week. My guess is that you'll find they're valueless; but don't destroy them until you've made certain.

State Police Director Calls For Teen-Age Guidance

The vast majority of today's youths have high standards of personal conduct, but there also has been a failure to place greater emphasis on guidance for the smaller percentage who commit criminal acts, Co. Frederick Davids, director of the State Police, stated in an address given at Jackson before the North Star District of the Land-O-Lakes Council of Boy Scouts.

"One of the most significant factors in the complacent attitude toward youth problems today is the false teaching which tends to blame society for all of the frustrations and woes visited on young people," Davids said.

"Teenagers and their parents have been subjected to a foolhardy theory which endorses rebellious conduct against authority, law and order, or any regulatory measures which restrict their whims, wishes and desires. This astonishing belief has spread into the school room, living room, the court room, and now into the streets of our nation in the form of riots and drunken brawls."

Pointing out that between 1961 and 1966 major criminal offenses in Michigan increased three and one-half times faster than the increased ability of police to solve such offenses, he said that of 49,388 apprehensions for felony offenses in 1965, 34.5 percent of those arrested were under 17 years of age.

"In the past three years," he said, "a number of services have been expanded such as detention quarters, half-way houses and camps for young offenders, but from my point of view, not enough has been done. Youth criminals in most cases where treatment and detection are inadequate turn into adult criminals; proper guidance and encouragement at an earlier age is what our youth needs today."

"No doubt society has failed our youth but not in the way many seem to think," Davids said. "Rather, the dereliction has been the failure to teach them the meaning of discipline, self respect, restraint and respect for law and order and the rights of others, consequently the lesson is now both painful and costly."

Davids observed, however, that "While the logical inclination is to be disturbed about youthful misbehavior, I want to make it clear that the vast majority of today's youth are deeply concerned about moral values. They have high standards of personal conduct and they respect law and order. Those involved in criminal acts represent a decided minority, but we can't afford to turn our heads and hope it will go away. It will not. It is imperative that all of us pitch in with a firm resolve to do all within our power to help today's youth become the world's great leaders of tomorrow."

Honoring Christmas In Poetry and Prose

"I will honor Christmas in my heart, and try to keep it all year."

So wrote Charles Dickens, for whom Christmas was a favorite topic — so much so that most people, asked to name someone who wrote about Christmas, would immediately answer, "Dickens."

No only Dickens, but almost every writer, from the little-known to the famous, has been inspired at some time in his career to "honor Christmas in prose or poetry. For instance—

At Christmas I no more desire a rose
Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth,
But like of each thing that in season grows.
—William Shakespeare

At Christmas play and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.
—Thomas Tusser

For somehow, not only at Christmas, but all the long year through,
The joy that you give to others is the joy that comes back to you.
—John Greenleaf Whittier

England was merry England, when Old Christmas brought his sports again.
—Sir Walter Scott

I heard the bells on Christmas Day
Their old familiar carols play,
And soft and sweet the words repeat,
"God is not dead, nor doth he sleep."
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

So shall we learn to understand
The simple faith of shepherds then,
And clasping kindly hand in hand,
Sing, "Peace on earth, good will to men!"
—James Russell Lowell

"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night."
—Clement Clarke Moore

Insurance Proof Becomes Meaningful with New Rules

Lansing — Michigan's early-buying license plate shoppers were reminded by Secretary of State James M. Hare that they must show proof of liability insurance when purchasing plates so they can qualify for the $1.00 insured fee under Michigan's Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund.

Hare reported sales of passenger plates . . . which went on sale November 1 in about 275 outlets in Michigan . . . were "brisk during the first three days of the sale but that the blizzard which hit most of the state November 4 slowed sales to a snail's pace."

Vehicle owners planning to buy their plates early were reminded of what they need when they go to purchase 1967 license plates.

They should bring: (1) their 1966 registration or vehicle title; (2) enough cash to purchase plates based on the customary 35c per hundredweight formula (same amount as last year); and (3) either $1.00 extra for persons with liability insurance and valid proof of it or $35 additional for owners of uninsured vehicles.

"We have changed the criteria of what constitutes valid proof of liability insurance to make it more meaningful," Hare said.

He listed the following as examples of proof of liability insurance:

1. Valid certificate of insurance but only when a policy number and expiration date appear on the certificate. The terms "applied for" or "continuous" are not acceptable Hare said.

2. A statement with the same information as the certificate on the letterhead of any company or agent.

3. In-effect liability insurance policy.

4. Copy of a policy declaration or an insurance ID card which contains the same information as the certificate.

5. A certificate of insurance binder or any document containing the same information as a binder showing the binder period or expiration date.

"A copy of the binder must be turned over to branch personnel when plates are purchased and will be checked at the expiration of the binder period to see if the person followed through with the purchase of liability insurance. Persons who do not show in-effect liability insurance will be asked to pay the $35 uninsured fee."

Removing paint splatters from brick often leaves unsightly stains. Experts recommend they be covered with a flat, brick-color paint for best results. Once the touched up areas have weathered, they are relatively unnoticeable.

Game Cooking Bulletin Available

Hunters often give game away because their wives don't feel they know how to cook it, says Mrs. Helen Fairmas, Extension Home Economist in Washtenaw, Monroe and Lenawee counties.

Men hunt mainly for sport, and not for meat, the agent said. However, game can provide good eating when properly cooked and prepared. Game shot and not eaten may also be due to the family believing the game is not good to eat.

"Good Eating from Woods and Fields" is the title of a revised booklet available from the Co-operative Extension Service. The agent points out that needed information on preparation and cooking techniques are contained in the bulletin.

The best methods of preparing pheasant, wild duck and geese, rabbits, grouse, woodcock and partridge are dicussed in detail. Several recipes from all parts of the country are given for each game species, Mrs. Fairman points out.

Recipies and methods of preparation for more uncommon game species such as beaver, woodchuck (ever try a woodchuck meat pie?), opossom and raccoon are listed. A variety of cooking methods are also available for bear, squirrel and muskrat. Mrs. Fairman points out that the bulletin will be a handy addition to any hunting cabin, as well as the hunter's home.

The bulletins are available at a charge of 10 cents from the Washtenaw County Extension Office, located in Ann Arbor, or from the Bulletin Office, Co-operative Extension Service, Agriculture Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

This and many other useful bulletins are available from the MSU Co-operative Extension Service. Why not request a list of current bulletins at the same time? They are free to Michigan residents.

County ASC Committee Organizes

The new Washtenaw Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee is Earl Doletzky of Dexter, Raymond Girbach of Saline and Lawrence Stein of Ann Arbor. Doletzky was elected chairman, Girbach vice-chairman and Stein member.

Farmers are chosen to serve as the county, which are elected in munity committees throughout the county, which are elected in annual non-partisan elections, under legal provisions administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Terms of office for county committeemen were established last year on a three-year term basis with one new member being elected each year for three years. This, however, varies according to the number of actual vacancies on the committee.

In addition, first and second alternates are elected for one year each. Of the Washtenaw county committee, Doletzky is serving his second year of a three-year term, Girbach is serving his last year and Stein was elected this year for a three-year term. The newly-elected alternates are LeRoy Braun of Ann Arbor and Charles Braun of Ann Arbor.

The farmer-committee system is unique. No other group of citizens has so direct a voice in running government programs. The elected committees have responsibility for the local administration of Federal programs, including expenditures of Federal funds, but they are not Federal office holders. Congress holds the Department of Agriculture responsible, and the department in turn relies on the judgment and leadership of the locally elected farmers and the county office employees. The county office serves as the headquarters for farmer business connected with program participation.

Major ASC activities in Washtenaw county include the Agricultural Conservation Program, the Feed Grain Program, the Voluntary Wheat Program, Acreage Allotments, the National Wool Program, Commodity Louns, Storage Facility Loans and the Cropland Adjustment Program.

No Christmas!

"Hear ye, hear ye! Christmas will not be celebrated. All who observe that abominable day will be severely punished!"

An unlikely message for a town crier? Not in the time of Oliver Cromwell!

Cromwell and his Puritan Party did indeed consider Christmas an "abominable day," and on December 24, 1653, they succeeded in getting the English Parliament to pass a law making Christmas celebrations of any kind illegal.

Imprisonment or exile was the penalty for disobedience.

A few days before Christmas, town criers went through the streets warning against holiday celebrations.

In England, the ban lasted eight years—and even longer in the United States. The belief that Christmas merry-making was sinful came to the New World with the Pilgrims.

New England states outlawed Christmas observances until the middle of the nineteenth century. In Boston, for instance, Christmas was illegal until 1856!

'White Christmas' Is Traditional As Plum Pudding

For a quarter of a century people have been sentimentally dreaming their way through a "White Christmas."

It was in 1941, the blackclouded war years had already begun, when Hollywood released a motion picture entitled: "Holiday Inn." The star of this movie was the ever-popular crooner, Bing Crosby. But perhaps the real star of "Holiday Inn" was the song written especially for the movie by Irving Berlin: "White Christmas."

Through the ensuing 25 years, over 100 versions of the song have been recorded by almost as many artists, yet "White Christmas" is synonymous with the name of Bing Crosby.

The poignant Christmas message that's found in the song has made it popular 'round the world. It has been translated into Italian, French Chinese, German, Spanish, Hungarian, the Scandinavian languages, several Polynesian tongues and even Swahili.

Apartment dwellers can substitute a pair of clay-potted poinsettias for the traditional tree. Bright, red poinsettias have become the traditional Christmas plant, and they're large enough to group presents around.

'67 Greenspan Program Has Higher Rates

Greenspan, a part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP), will be continued for 1967, with increased assistance rates, the USDA has announced.

CAP provides for adjustment payments and conservation cost-sharing to farmers who agree to take land out of certain crops and into conserving uses for periods of 5 to 10 years. The Greenspan provision of the program authorizes equivalent help to public entities—local, state or Federal, desiring to buy cropland for permanent conversion to nonfarm uses such as the preservation of open space and natural beauty, wildlife habitat and recreation, and the prevention of air and water pollution.

The first Greenspan project approved for 1967 was for Lafayette County, Fla., to help buy 240 acres of cropland in a 538-acre Suwannee River tract acquired for conversion to an outdoor recreation area. Other projects undertaken under Greenspan include ponds for swimming, boating, and fishing; wildlife areas; nature areas and trails; children's playgrounds; camping and picnic areas; an outdoor civil stage; an outdoor science laboratroy; football practice fields; baseball and softball diamonds; basketball and badminton courts and golf courses.

The generally higher rates for assistance in 1967, except for the purchase of cotton land, reflect the improvement in the prices of crops grown on the land. The increased rates apply to acreages of those crops in plentiful supply or for which there is a continuing surplus potential.

Earl Doletzky, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) County Committee, posts out that Greenspan rates of assistance in acquiring cropland in 1967 will be based as in 1966, on 50 percent of the cost of the land diverted from eligible crops or what a farmer would have received under a 10-year CAP agreement, whichever is less.

The payment will be determined by the number of acres and the farm yield per acre. For land in Washtenaw county that would otherwise produce corn, the rate will be 51 cents a bushel. The rate for grain sorghum acreage will be 40 cents a bushel.

Rates for other eligible cropland in the county including that for wheat and barley—will range from $6 to $8 per acre.

State or local officials, farmers, and other persons interested in details of the 1967 Greenspan program should call, write or visit the Washtenaw ASC county office.

MAJOR ROUTES TO FLORIDA used by Michigan residents are getting easier to travel all the time, due to improved highway construction, as this map prepared by Auto Club shows. The most popular route, designated "A," is 1,560 miles with all except 388 miles four-lane highway. More than 90 percent of the half million Michiganians expected to travel south will drive, according to Auto Club officials.

Winter Exodus to Florida Starting Soon from Michigan

The winter exodus of Michigan residents to Florida is about to begin. And for those who drive, the going will be faster, safer and more enjoyable than ever before, according to Jerry E. Fisher, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager.

More than a half million Michiganizans are expected to make the trek to the Sunshine State during the next few months, and more than 90 percent of these will go by automobile, Fisher said.

The remainder will take a plane, train, or bus. If time is a factor, it's best to consider flying since jets now make the Detroit to Florida trip in 2½ hours. Six non-stop air flights are now available from Michigan to Florida.

Otherwise, the advantages are with driving. Economy and convenience are the biggest factors. Other things in favor of this method include sightseeing along the way and your own car to use when you get there.

Much highway progress has been made in Florida in the last year, the most notable improvement being the completion of I-75 into Tampa from just south of Macon, Ga., a distance of 360 miles. This is the longest stretch of the Interstate system open to traffic anywhere in the U.S.

One-half of Florida's Interstate Highway System is now open to traffic. By the end of 1966, Florida will have put under contract nearly $350 million of new highway construction. Expenditures are expected to continue to run at or near that level until the Interstate program is completed in 1972.

"Those driving to Florida should plan to spend at least three days each way—three and a half days if the destination is Miami," Fisher said.

New highway construction has resulted in some changes in routings, but in general they follow Auto Club's four major routings used in other years. For convenience, they are designated as Routes, A, B, C, and D.

Here is Fisher's brief description of the four routes:

Route A, long voted "most popular" by the majority of Michigan drivers, is 140 miles longer (to Miami) but driving time is the same because it avoids mountains, which can be treacherous in winter.

Those from western and central Michigan will follow US-33 and US-31 to Indianapolis, I-65 to Louisville, the Kentucky Turnpike, and on to Birmingham, Montgomery and Tallahasse. Or they can go from Indianapolis to Cincinnati and then take Route B the rest of the way.

Route B is the most direct for Jackson area and Detroit residents. US-127, US-25, I-75 and US-25, are utilized to Cincinnati, then on through Lexington, Knoxville, Atlanta, Macon and on to Florida. Since this route weaves its way through 100 miles of "semi-mountainous" travel in Kentucky and Tennessee, it's a good idea to be sure of the weather ahead before starting out.

Route C is the longest of the four main routes, but is regarded as an "all-year" route and takes advantage of the Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes. It still offers some 100 miles of freeway less than the previous two roues. During winter, snow and ice may affect some portions of the route in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Route D is recommended for spring, summer and fall travel. In winter, snow and ice conditions in West Virginia and North Carolina may make roads hazardous. It is scenic, however.

Here's a comparison of the four routes to Florida:

Route	Mileage	Four-Lane	Toll
A	1,560	1,172	$6.20
B	1,418	1,102	$4.80
C	1,584	1,005	$6.60
D	1,405	702	$4.00

Once in Florida, motorists will find that accommodations are approximately the same as last year. Food, however, is a bit higher in line with prices across the nation. Those who plan to do their own cooking will find that some grocery-store items are higher than in Michigan.

Enroute to Florida, motorists will find that cities which insist upon strict traffic enforcement are fewer than last year. The AAA now lists officially only Livingston, Ky., on Route B's US-25, Coleman, Fla., which is on US-301, recently was removed from the list. Caution is still urged in the smaller towns of the south, however.

The AAA has suggested that motorists using US-301 in Georgia buy their pecans and gasoline in places other than the Ludowici-Long county area. A practice has developed there involving car tampering, phony engine trouble and exorbitant charges for repairs.

For those who don't want to drive, or whose time is limited, flying is the answer. For the first time, both Eastern and Delta airlines will have all Michigan flights to Florida departing from Metropolitan Airport near Detroit. Taking an airplane to Florida can add almost a week to the time spent in the Sunshine State.

Air travelers are advised to make reservations well in advance of departure dates, since airline officials say the passenger load this winter will be greater than ever before.

One-way fares to Miami from Detroit are: day fares, $92.50 first class and $73.40 tourist class; night fares, $65.10 first class and $57.60 tourist class. Special family-plan fares on these prices are in effect from noon Monday to noon Friday and Midnight Friday to noon Sunday.

Train or bus transportation also is available for those who have the time and want to see the scenery.

Many Florida visitors who travel by air, rail or bus rent a car in Florida. A car may be rented for a flat rate of $99 a week. The driver pays for his own gas, but there is no mileage charge.

Special winter package rates are available in such key cities as Miami, Fort Lunderdale, Palm Beach, Jacksonville, Sara s o t a, Clearwater, Tampa and St. Petersburg.

Trees Live and Bloom In Legends of Yuletide

Almost every kind of tree has a legend relating it to the Nativity or the life of Christ.

The cherry tree, says "The Cherry Tree Carol," bent down its boughs for Mary to pluck the fruit.

The Glastonbury Thorn blooms at Christmas because, legend says, St. Joseph of Arimathea, on his arrival in England, drove his staff into the ground, while he was carrying the Holy Grail, the chalice used at the last supper.

The staff took root and grew into a thorn tree.

Regardless of circumstances each man lives in a world of his own making.

Fireplace Fills Early Role in Yule Festivity

When Santa Claus comes sliding down the chimney on Christmas Eve, where will he land?

Right in the fireplace, an area that has been a traditional part of Christmas for more years than Santa has worn a red suit!

Before the turn of the century, Santa Claus, or St. Nicholas, frequently wore a blue robe, although Clement Clarke Moore, in "A Visit from St. Nicholas," pictured him as "clad all in fur, from his head to his foot."

But for centuries, the fireplace has been a treasured and often vital part of the home.

The fireplace as it exists today—that is, the firebox along the wall, with a chimney instead of an open fire in the middle of the room—dates from about 1060.

Built of Wood

Early fireplaces were built of wood or wicker, but they proved so dangerous that in the year 1419 the City of London decreed that henceforth fireplaces be made of tiles, stone or plaster, under the penalty of being demolished.

A greatly improved system of making tiles was adopted by the Dutch from the Spaniards following the Treaty of Breda in 1609, and paved the way for more elaborately decorated ceramics on fireplace facings, walls and mantels.

The use of such tiles for fireplaces soon spread to England, and then to the Colonies.

Skilled Dutch craftsmen decorated ceramic tiles with designs of oranges, grapes, tulips, vases of flowers, ships, sea monsters, landscapes, horsemen and royal portraits.

The English used similar pictures and added many charming scenes designed by renowned artist including Kate Greenaway, famed for her Christmas card designs.

Set a Precedent

These tiles were used both to line the fireplace and on mantels and other surfacings, setting a precedent for modern fireplaces.

In America, the Pilgrims built crude stone fireplaces, then constructed their log huts around them.

Today, as in those earlier years, ceramic tile remains a practical and decorative surfacing material for fireplaces, and the home owner has a far wider choice to work with than did early home builders.

More than 250 different ceramic tile sizes, shapes and textures are supplied by American manufactureres, says the Tile Council of America.

Just as in the early days, special decorative tiles give the fireplace a distinctive touch of elegance to greet Santa when he arrives, via the traditional route.

Cards Have Clue To History of Jolly Santa Claus

Greeting card history offers a clue to Santa evolution as a holiday symbol.

The theme of Santa Claus was conspicuously absnet from most 19th century Christmas cards, points out Miss Esther Mooney, curator of the Norcross Historical Collection. Early cards frequently favored children and flowers.

When Santa did appear occasionally on a greeting card, it was generally in the form of a dour, rather sad-faced Father Christmas robed in a monk's blue garb and long gray beard, or as "Saint Santa," a semi-religious figure developed from St. Nicholas.

These were a far cry from the rotund, red-cheeked Santa depicted on Christmas greeting cards of today.

The modern Santa, fat and friendly, began to emerge at the turn of the century, and about 1909 he appears on a Christmas card. Here he is shown mounted on a hobby horse, rather than a reindeer-drawn sleigh.

The card shows him wearing the now familiar red jacket, but his trousers still were blue. His stern expression, however, has given way to a slight whimsical smile, brightening his white-bearded, cherub-like face.

The concept of the reindeer sleigh was a still later addition in greeting card history. The early Santa walked with a wheelbarrow or carried his toys in a straw basket attached to his back, or rode a horse.

Today, a jolly Santa Claus, his originally blue robe changed to red, and riding his now traditional reindeer sleigh, is a dominating Christmas card theme.

Other 'Santas'

Though Santa Claus is today's most popular Christmas-season gifts giver, he still has plenty of help.

In Northern Europe, many children await the arrival of St. Nicholas, on the Eve of Dec. 5. In Spain and Latin America, the "Three Kings" traditionally bring gifts on Epiphany Eve, Jan. 5.

CANADA GIVES YULE TREE

Ottawa — Canada's Christmas present to the United States was a 64-foot Christmas tree which will be placed in Rockefeller Center in New York. The 75-year-old 27-foot-wide spruce is the first used from outside the U.S.

The immediate goal of the American Cancer Society is the annual saving of 285,000 lives or about half those who develop cancer each year. This is the number that could be saved if the cancer was diagnosed early and promptly treated. "That," the Society says, "is why an annual health check-up by a physician is so important."

Slow Start Proves To Be Downfall for Frosh Cage Team

Chelsea's 9th grade basketball team traveled to Dundee Thursday, Dec. 8 and was defeated, 48-29.

Chelsea started out cold as they allowed Dundee to take a 16-point lead before they could score. Dundee held a 26-18 lead at half-time. In the second half Chelsea came to life and pulled to within four points of Dundee, 32 to 28. Chelsea stayed close until midway in the fourth quarter when the team faltered.

Scoring leaders for Chelsea were Warren Wisner and John Hepburn with 7 and 6 points, respectively. Coach Richard Bareis was pleased with the over-all play of Warren Wisner, Richard Bollinger, Ron Herrst, John Hepburn, and Robert Brassow.

The 9th grade basketball team is made up of the following boys: Doug Schoenberg, Richard Bollinger, Mike Bassett, Art Farley, John Hepburn, Robert Brassow, Warren Wisner, Ron Herrst, Dan Wenk, John Porter, Leonard Kozma, Ken Doye, Don Nutt, Barry Noyess, Jack Wood, and Phil Musolf.

Frosh Cagers Show Great Improvement

Chelsea's 9th grade basketball team showed tremendous improvement even though they were defeated by a bigger and more experienced South Lyon team, 49-38.

Thursday evening a South team which had not been defeated in two years found Chelsea surprisingly tough as the score was 10-10 at the end of the first quarter and 20-17 in favor of Chelsea at the half. Chelsea then ran into a cold third quarter and fell behind, 23-34. Chelsea warmed up in the fourth quarter but could only play South Lyon even as the game ended, 49-38.

Coach Richard Bareis pointed out the fine team hustle and aggressiveness as the principal reason for this fine showing. Robert Brassow broke into the scoring column with a fine 18-point output. He was supported by John Hepburn and Ron Herrst with 7 and 5 points, respectively. Bareis Bareis also pointed out the fine floor play of Richard Bollinger, Warren Wisner and Doug Schoenberg as being instrumental in the improvement of his team. He also feels that if this team keeps improving with each game it should develop into a fine, high-scoring outfit.

JV Cagers Sneak Past South Lyon

The Chelsea junior varsity basketball team pulled one out of the fire in the final seconds of play Friday night, defeating South Lyon, 58-57. The victory evened the JV season at two wins and two losses.

Chelsea trailed throughout the first two quarters and most of the third, until the final basket of the quarter put them in the lead for the first time, 43-41. The Bulldogs scored first in the fourth quarter and momentarily enjoyed their biggest lead of the game, four points. Then South Lyon spurted for seven points, Chelsea for six, South Lyon for five and so it went until, with 1:35 left, Chelsea trailed by four points.

Then, needing at least five points, Chelsea went to work. Lance Burghardt made a free throw, cutting the lead to three points. Chelsea, playing a tight man-to-man defense, stole the ball from Weatherwax hit a 15-foot jumper from the key. South Lyon came down court again, and this time Weatherwax was fouled in getting the ball from the opposition. With less than 30 seconds to play, Weatherwax hit both free throws, giving Chelsea the lead. Chelsea held off the South Lyon final attack.

Weatherwax led the scoring with 19 and Roy Holliday, playing a very consistent floor game, hit for 13. Also in double figures was Mike Schnaidt, who added 11.

Good Food Is Traditional at Christmas Time

Good food is traditional at Christmas, and the special treats provided for the season include almost everything, ranging from baked carp in Austria to roast pig in Hawaii.

In France, it's traditional to serve a Christmas supper after midnight mass, but the main dish varies according to the section of the country — roast goose in Alsace, turkey in Burgundy, oysters and sausages in Paris.

England has a mouthwatering array of traditional dishes for Christmas feasting, among them plum pudding. As the pudding is being prepared, it's customary for each member of the family to stir it, making a wish for the New Year.

In Germany the people bake long cakes for Christmas. The cakes are meant to symbolize the Christ-Child wrapped in swaddling clothes.

Every gift which is given, even though it be small, is in reality great, if it be given with affection.

St. Nicholas Preceded Santa As Gift Giver

Long before Santa traveled by sleigh, St. Nicholas, special guardian of children, set forth on foot, or rode by horse or donkey, to bring gifts to European homes.

The good saint's day is Dec. 6 and "on the eve of his festival day," writes an Encyclopedia American authority, "St. Nicholas makes his tour, visiting palace and cottage.

"The children place receptacles for the gifts, which St. Nicholas is expected to let fall down the chimney.

"Sometimes shoes are neatly polished for the purpose, at other times plates, or baskets or stockings or specially made shoes of porcelain.

"St. Nicholas' steed . . . is not forgotten. For him the children put water and hay, or carrot or potato peeling, or a piece of bread in the shoe, or basket, or stocking.

"In the morning from the tipped-over chairs and general disarray in the room it is evident that St. Nicholas has been present.

"Replacing the oats, or hay, or carrot are found sweets and playthings for children who have been good. For bad children, rods are left, and the fodder is untouched."

Junior High Cagers Still On Win Trail

While the senior high varsity is still trying for its first victory this season, the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams have been burning up the court. Each team has played four games and they haven't lost yet. The eighth grade defeated Milan, 25-21, trounced Saline, 40-27, and went on to defeat Dexter, 27-19, and Pinckney, 46-26. Meanwhile the seventh graders weren't even giving their opponents a fighting chance. They defeated Milan, 20-15, and then Saline, 27-14. Dexter scored only 12 points against Chelsea's 37 and Pinckney could only manage 7 to Chelsea's 34.

The starting unit for the eighth graders has been Larry Gorton and Jim Hercules, forwards, John Taylor, center, and Jim Wojcicki and George Cameron, guards. Jeff Bust and Roger Roark are first-line substitutes.

Leading scoring for the eighth graders has been Jim Wojcicki averaging 17.5 points a game. The primary weakness has been a lack of balanced scoring with Wojcicki carrying most of the scoring load. However, John Taylor scored 16 points against Pinckney to help with the scoring punch. The squad has shown some strong rebounding and defense, plus good ball handling.

Ron Sweeny and Mark Collins, forwards, David Porath, center, Wayne Welton and Greg Howard, guards, have been starting for the seventh grade team. A second unit of Chuck Lane, Ed Koengeter, Randy Seitz, Todd Sprague and Mike Thomson has also seen considerable action. The leading scorer for all games has been David Porath, averaging 9.5. He has also been the rebound and defensive leader. The seventh graders have shown good balance in scoring plus some strong defense.

The junior high teams will meet Stockbridge Thursday, Jan. 5, on the home court.

Christmas Customs Vary With Area

Cherished memories, heartfelt joys, children's laughter—everywhere these means Christmas.

The spirit of Christmas knows not boundaries. It lives in the hearts of men in many lands, though its message of joy is always the same, the legends and lore of the season are as varied as the peoples who celebrate the Holy Birth.

Customs of each country may be similar, yet marked by their own individual character.

In New Mexico

The Santa Domingo Indian pueblo, in New Mexico, performs a four-day-long sacred ritual dance in honor of the Christmas season.

It begins at two A.M. Christmas day. After midnight mass, the Indians gather inside the church. They are clad in colorful costumes, adorned with everything from fox tails to evergreen branches.

The dancers carry on their ceremonials until daylight. At dawn the Indians move to their sacred plaza in the center of the village, where they continue dancing throughout Christmas day.

On the second day the children dance, and the older members of the tribe take over for the third day. On the last day the entire pueblo joins in the day-long ceremonies.

In California

Communities as well as countries have their own special way of celebrating Christmas.

In Joshau Tree, Calif., this small community transforms itself into a replica of Bethlehem. The story of the first Christmas is re-enacted, with the main street serving as a giant stage.

Citizens of Newfoundland show their Christian ethics with the Christmas custom known as "Fishing for the Church." On this day huge quantities of fish are caught and brought by the parishioners of a village to the church, where they are sold. Proceeds of the sale go toward buying firewood for the curate.

* * *

In Czechoslovakia

It's customary among the Czechs to break off a cherry tree branch, at the beginning of Advent. The branch is placed in a pot of water in the kitchen and kept in the warm air.

At Christmas time, it's hoped, the twig will burst into bloom and make a festive decoration.

In Scandinavia

The Jultomten is a friendly gnome, who not only brings gifts to Scandinavian children but guards the household and farm as well. To keep him happy, the children give the cattle extra fodder and leave sheaves of grain for the birds on Christmas Eve.

In Turkey

A unique holiday tradition in Turkey requires the head of the church to throw a wooden cross into the Bosporus. On Christmas Day, three boys dive after it.

The finder takes the cross from house to house and receives in return food and gifts from those who are allowed to see the cross.

Since trees are scarce in Iceland, families must use their ingenuity in creating a Christmas tree. A pole with branches of greenery tied to it is the solution in many Icelandic homes. And the valuable real trees are saved for industrial use.

Traditionally, adults in France do not exchange gifts until New Year's Day.

In some French villages, shepherds bring their lambs to church on Christmas.

Liberians use an oil palm in place of the traditional fir as a Christmas tree. The palm is decorated with red bulls, other palm leaves and ferns.

YOUNG THIEVES

Memphis, Tenn. —After arresting two car thieves aged 9 and 13, police couldn't believe their system until the youths demonstrated. One had squatted on the floor to work the gas and brake while the other, sitting on a wash pan steered. The pair took joy rides before they were caught.

NATURE WHISPERS "NOEL": This setting of snow-laden pines quietly extends the season's best from nature to man. In these days of counting blessings, it reminds all of us in Michigan of a rich heritage of natural resources for which we can be particularly thankful. These resources—our minerals, forests, waters, wildlife—are great gifts, bountiful and of great value the year around. In the whirl of holiday celebrating, may each of us in the true spirit of this season pause and renewour pledge to preserve these resources as a legacy for youngsters of tomorrow's Christmases.

Brownies...

TROOP 247—

Brownie Troop 247 held its first meeting on Nov. 2 at the Congregational church. Officers elected were president, Kristy DelPrete; secretary, Nancy Hepburn; treasurer, Karen Romine; scribe, Julie Tite. Because two meetings during the month of November were cancelled, the officers continued through December.

The Brownies used pine cones to make Christmas gifts for their mothers. The girls had their Christmas party on Dec. 14. On Wednesday night, Dec. 21, Brownie Troop 247 joined other Girl Scouts in Chelsea in the annual Christmas Caroling party.

★ Home Fire Drills May Save Lives . . .

A PARENT would be horrified to discover that his child's school did not hold fire drills. Yet a child is 200 times more likely to be trapped in fire at home than at school. Most of them could walk swiftly away from death if they were given the most elementary fire instructions. The most important lifesaving command to impress upon children is: Escape immediately. Also, map out, with the children helping, two separate escape routes from each room. More than 2,000 children die annually in home fires, reports the American Medical Association.

PERSONAL ATTITUDES toward smoking, as indicated in a study conducted by the Harvard School of Public Health, tend to be formed before boys and girls reach the age of 13. The researchers suggest that programs seeking to discourage and prevent cigarette smoking among teen-agers will be more effective if the campaigns were started before the children reached that age.

THE BODY of a mummified penguin estimated to be about 2,000 years old will be the subject of a Northwestern University investigation into genetic and cellular changes during biological evolution. Tissues from the preserved bird will be compared with those of living members of contemporary species. The mummy is one of about 30 discovered by National Science Foundation investigators in the McMurdo Sound area of Antarctica.

A HYDRAULIC PRESS is causing quite a ruffle in the meat processing industry by taking the wrinkles out of bacon. The All-bright-Nell unit presses up to eight slabs of bacon a minute. Pressing the slabs increased their yeild and makes it easier for them to fit package boards.

YOU CAN'T keep a cyclotron down. A seven-million-electron-volt instrument that was "retired" last year after 30 years of service at the University of Rochester is getting a new lease on life. WOODPECKERS have built-in shock absorbers. The bones between the beak and skull of a woodpecker are not rigidly connected. Unlike most other birds, the connective tissue is spongy and elastic.

WELDERS 'DRAW' many arcs but seldom complete a circle when welding. The first step in making a weld by the electric arc process, reports Alloy Rods Company, York, Pa., is called "drawing the arc." The welder brings an electrode in contact with the work surface, closing an electrical circuit. The electrode is then quickly withdrawn a short distance and the current jumps across the gap, forming an arc that quickly brings the work to a welding temperature.

Safe Following Distance Higher In Wintertime

How close is too close?

This question seems to plague Dexter's drivers this time of year, according to Chief of Police Robert Taylor. At least that's what police department records indicate.

"Few drivers recognize the extreme hazards of winter's snowy or icy pavements," Chief Taylor pointed out. "That's why we must contend with a rash of crashes in which drivers fail to stop in time . . . or lose control and go into an uncontrolled skid when they jam on brakes.

"These collisions aren't necessary. Our department wants to do all it can to help prevent them," the chief said.

"Drivers need to winterize their winter driving judgment, just as they winterize their cars," Chief Taylor continued; and he expressed his suggestions this way:

Think of the distance between your car and a vehicle ahead in terms of an air-filled cushion of space.

In good weather, that cushion is about one car length deep for each 10 miles an hour speed—a good rule-of-thumb for dry pavements.

On wet pavement, you have to expand that cushion in your imagination to about twice its normal size.

And when winter clobbers us with snow and ice-covered pavements, your thinking has to change even more. That cushion must expand from three to 10 times its normal size.

"That cushion between you and the car ahead is your margin of safety," the chief reminded drivers. "If you ignore it and drive closer, you're taking a risk you can't afford."

The chief supported his argument with these tips:

1. Your best defense against collisions on slippery roads is to increase your following distance—and reduce your speed.

2. "Pump" your brakes with rapid, intermittent applications to stop. You may not stop shorter, but you can keep control of your car and avoid skidding.

3. Have good tires with good treads. Snow tires provide added traction in snow. Reinforced tire chains should be used for maximum traction in deep snow and on glare ice.

"But remember," he added, "regardless of the type of traction aid employed, whether regular or studded snow ties, or even with the far greater help of tire chains, performance on ice and snow-covered pavements is still nowhere near that on dry pavement!"

Chief Taylor joined the International Association of Chiefs of Police in urging drivers to sharpen up on their stopping distance judgment with this appeal:

"Use the best and the proper traction aids on your car for the conditions; but also remember that driver alertness . . . reduced driving speeds . . . and proper braking techniques are definitey 'in season' now!"

Michigan State University scientists are working with "high relative humidity" to keep stored dry navy beans from cracking. Pumping high moisture air through the stored beans could prevent thousands of dollars of damage each year.

When Diamond Jim Brady tucked a napkin over his necktie and tackled an order of reed birds, he had before him the most expensive item on Delmonico's menu. Reed birds were supposed to be mostly bob-o'-links, but with redwing blackbirds, cowbirds and other smaller birds mixed in. Starlings, brought into this country about 1875, had not yet reached the population explosion stage. Starlings would pass muster any time as reed birds.

Reed birds are now more expensive than ever, although no restaurant serves them. Farmers in 28 states report millions of dollars in damage from the depredations of small birds—mostly redwing blackbirds and starlings. Redwings are protected by federal law and the fact that they are delicious has completely faded from the public mind.

Hundreds of thousands of edible birds have been trapped and gassed, killed by dynamite or fine shot for the protection of crops—which is permissible under regulations of the Fish and Wildlife Service—but the makings of hundreds of game banquets have been wasted.

In Saskatchewan bird-damage insurance is paid to farmers, financed by a $1 tax on hunting licenses. Maryland has established seven weeks open season on blackbirds, assuming that federal law will be no obstacle.

Measures taken to frustrate blackbirds include covering fields with nets, at a cost of $1,000 an acre; hiring boys to keep up continuous fire with 22 caliber shotshells; tethering cats or live hawks in fields; patrolling fields with planes, flying 10 feet from the ground; installing automatic acetylene guns that produce loud explosions every few seconds.

None of these methods works very well. While the Fish and Wildlife Service welcomes suggestions for handling the blackbird problem, enforcement officers of the Service are likely to arrest anyone shooting a blackbird unless the bird is actively engaged in crop depredation at the time. Michigan Conservation Officers have, on occasion, persuaded eager federal officers to overlook the shooting of redwing blackbirds by duck-hunters.

The redwing blackbird scourge has developed in recent decades. It is believed that when there were heavy stands of wild rice in freshwater marshes the blackbirds had an adequate supply of natural food and paid no attention to sweet corn, field corn, berries. German carp get most of the blame for eliminating wild rice.

In an era when duck-shooting was legal for more than half of the year and when the best hunters shot for market, feasts of redwing blackbirds, rails and coot were counted as fringe benefits. Bunty Chisholm used to explain why he had never tasted canvasback duck; it was too expensive. He had shot and sold a lot of cans.

On a still September evening a group of gunners—as they are called on the Atlantic seaboard—sat on the screened porch of Wolf's cottage on a sandbar island att he mouth of the Canard River over in Canada. They were looking forward to a reed bird breakfast next morning. In a stone crock, covered with a pie tin beside the porch, were two dozen dressed redwings.

Now and then the pie tin rattled mysteriously. Someone flashed a light, revealing a mink, loping off into the marsh with a bird. The crock was empty.

We had to be satisfied with mallards livers and scrambled eggs for breakfast.

Definitions Given for Weather Terminology

What's the Weather Bureau's definition on winter weather terms if you want to know what the Bureau means when it forecasts a weather report about cold waves, blizzards or heavy snow, here's a refresher course for you.

Just plain "snow" says the weatherman, means the snowfall will be steady and will continue for several hours while a "heavy snow" indicates a fall of four inches or more in a 12-hour period or six inches or more in a 24-hour period. This varies in different parts of the country.

Falling snow accompanied by strong winds is referred to as "blowing and drifting snow." Drifting snow warnings indicate that strong winds will blow falling or loose snow into drifts. This condition is described as a "ground blizzard."

A "cold wave" warning means a rapid fall in temperature within a 24-hour period.

"Sleet" or frozen raindrops main hazard is the causing of hazardous driving conditions.

"Snow flurries" means falling snow for short durations while "snow squalls" are like a shower of rain only with snow accompanied by gusty surface winds.

A snowstrom becomes a blizzard when wind velocity reaches at least 35 miles per hour and temperatures of 20 degrees or lower are expected to prevail. A "severe blizzard" anticipates wind speeds of at least 45 miles per hour and a temperature of 10 degrees or lower.

The term "ice storm" is used when freezing rain or drizzle causes ice to cover the countryside. This happens when surface temperatures are below freezing. "Heavy ice storm" means accumulation of extra weight causing extensive damage to all exposed objects. The condition is worsened by accompanying high winds.

So these are the Weather Bureau's terms for winterweather points south anyone?

Acapulco, the Bahamas, or other points south anyone?

Hare Urges Action In Speeding Up Court Procedures

Lansing — Even though more than 50 percent of the traffic violations committed in Michigan are settled within one month from arrest to conviction, many linger on for months . . . 20 percent remaining unsettled from eight weeks to a year or longer.

A study of 47,000 cases by the Michigan Department of State, revealed that nearly 30 percent of these cases were dispatched by the courts within one week of arrest, Secretary of State James M. Hare said.

"This is good. But on the other hand," said Hare, "10 percent are prolonged for more than 10 weeks, with nearly five percent delayed a year or longer."

Hare said the analysis pointed up the "dire need of adopting a ticket system like the one in Illinois.

"Under the Illinois system, when a driver commits a moving violation, the police officer picks up his driver's license and issues him a temporary driving permit. This permit is good only until the violator's scheduled court date. If he fails to show up in court, he then is guilty of driving without a license. If he settles, his driver's license is returned by the court, barring any other problems on his record.

"Last year, our Department filed more than a quarter-million reports on failure-to-answer-summonses, spotlighting one of the major problems in the efficient administration of the Michigan point system," Hare said.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION .....

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Farming in '67

With most possibilities of field work buried under the snow, farmers take time out at year's end to look ahead and to plan their enterprise for the new year. What will 1967 bring Michigan agriculture? How will farmers fare in the new year, compared to the year just past?

Although farmers "hedge" whenever possible, answers to many of the big questions, such as price and farm labor, remain hidden to them.

Farm labor trends have been anything but encouraging and have forced most farmers to cut back plans for labor-intensive crops of fruit and vegetables and to lay out more cash for automated machinery.

What about government controls and interference in agriculture? As surpluses dwindle, so will government influence in agriculture, prompting one national farm leader, Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, to call for termination of "the whole sorry mess of government farm controls, direct subsidy payments and price manipulations."

What about prices? The outlook remains good for most farm commodities with demand high and little processor or consumer hesitation. Livestock farmers, however, will find some of the bloom off the rose as beef and pork prices continue to drift closer to the "normal" prices of a few years ago.

Several predictions, backed by a wealth of accumulated evidence, will be easier to make. For example, farmers (and others) will continue to be faced by a tight money situation with interest rates moving up to the 7 percent and higher bracket for short-term loans. A corollary prediction is that down payment requirements will be upped accordingly.

Domestic government spending will ease in response to the violent voter reaction of November's election, but government spending will remain substantially in excess of government income and higher labor costs will far outstrip increases in production.

Thus, inflation will continue, and this fact sets the stage for the easiest prediction of all—food prices will continue to rise, by about 5 percent in 1967—and with the farmer receiving the usual blame, but little, if any, of this newest increase.

The flight of the Canada goose is heavy but powerful. It averages about 55 miles per hour. To cut down air resistance, Canada geese usually form a V-shaped flock. These magnificent migrators sometimes negotiate a non-stop flight of hundreds of miles.

Good Roads District Captains Me To Plan Suggested Program for S

District Captains of the Michigan Good Roads Federation Educational Campaign Organization met at Win Schuler's restaurant in Marshall, Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 13. The 15 captains met with Federation officials to discuss the recent federal cut-back in highway funds and to plan steps to take in bringing the message of Michigan's urgent need for roadway funds to the public.

Raymond L. Koch, district captain in this area, said that all members of the Federation will be pressing the Michigan legislature for quick passage of the "Good Roads Package." He stated that the $34 million reduction in federal highway funds for Michigan creates a desperate situation.

"The Michigan Good Roads Federation's recommended package," Koch said, "would make reasonable and moderate increases in the motor fuel and weight taxes on commercial vehicles and passenger cars. This would amount to an estimated cost of about $15 a year to the average Michigan motorist. It would also change the formula for distributing highway funds to give cities and villages more money since municipalities, with almost 50 percent of state traffic volume, have been suffering the greatest shortage of road funds. The loss of expected federal road money makes the importance of immediate passage of this even more critical."

Koch pointed out that ways, of which Michigan are so proud, make up only 1 percent of Michigan's system and that even ways are often overburdened constrating inadequacy in areas. Aside from the detailed highway studies shown that 50 percent trunklines, 46 percent roads, and 29 percent roads are already inade while population, vehicle traffic volume are growing rapidly than anyone had

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

A holiday truce. For a short period in the too long war the fighting will stop, for what is hardly more than a flicker of an eye compared with the time already spent on the conflict. And, while it is stopped, both sides will be watching with caution in case the other tries to gain an advantage.

A sense of relief was felt with the announcement. It was at least a nod in the direction of remembering that there are other things, perhaps more important in the life of men than their wars and their pride.

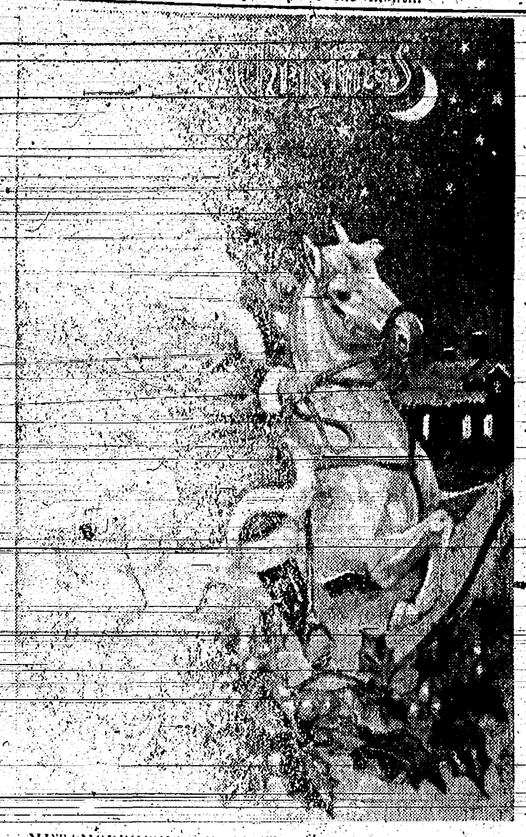
Even if it doesn't mean peace in Vietnam it does mean that Americans there will be able to turn their thoughts to Christmas at home; and the customs of Christmas at home.

And while this all happens none of us will get the point of the whole celebration. We will be thankful for the relative safety of servicemen and for anything that eases the terror of the war but we will not discover that Christmas means a peace that has nothing to do with out celebrations.

It means a peace that offers understanding to those of differing points of view; it means a peace that extends compassion even to those who violently disagree; it means a peace that offers a helping hand to those whose purposes are suspect; it means a peace that counters hatred with help, suspicion with service.

St. Francis knew the meaning of that kind of peace. Christmas is for us to remember it. It is for us to counter the destructive force of men with constructive service in the name of God and without credit to oneself.

May the meaning of Christmas be deeper, its faith stronger, and its hopes brighter as it comes to you this year.



METAMORPHOSIS OF SANTA CLAUS, from St. Nicholas in a monk's blue robe, to jolly St. Nick in a bright red suit, may be traced in the history of greeting cards—witness this 1909 card. The gift-giver here, who looks somewhat like the modern Santa Claus, wears a red jacket, but his trousers, like St. Nicholas' robe, are still blue, and he is mounted on a hobby horse rather than a reindeer-drawn sleigh — the historical result of the introduction into American folklore, by early Dutch settlers, of St. Nicholas on a horse. The 1909 Santa carries his gifts in a straw basket, which later became the Christmas sack of toys. Cards shown are from the Norcross Historical Collection.

Scio Resident Beaten By 3 Young 'Hoods'

A 77-year-old man was pulled from his automobile on Dec. 17 by three unidentified youths and struck on his face and head.

Fraser was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he was treated for cuts and bruises on his right eye and ear.

Dr. R. Glenn Reed, Jr., Marietta, Georgia, president of Kiwanis International (left), presented a scroll to The Honourable Lester B. Pearson, Prime Minister of Canada, in the Prime Minister's office in Ottawa, November 14. The scroll represented Kiwanis' appreciation to the Canadian people and their leaders for the support which they have rendered to Kiwanis during the past fifty years. Kiwanis celebrated the Golden Anniversary of the establishment of its first club in Canada — Hamilton, Ontario — on November 15, 1966.

Kiwanis International Marks 50th Anniversary in Canada

Dr. R. Glenn Reed, Jr., 601 Church Street, Marietta, Ga., president of Kiwanis International, extended the thanks of his organization for Canada's 50 years of support for Kiwanis to Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson in the Prime Minister's office in Ottawa, Monday morning, Nov. 14. Kiwanis celebrated the Golden Anniversary of its coming to Canada the following day in special ceremonies conducted by the Kiwanis Club of Hamilton, Ontario which was organized Nov. 15, 1916.

Word of President Reed's visit to the Prime Minister and to the Hamilton Club was received by Ron Mason, president of the Kiwanis Club of Dexter.

During his visit to the Prime Minister Dr. Reed presented a scroll which read

"An Appreciation—To the great Canadian nation for the understanding, sympathy, and support which it has rendered to Kiwanis and its work for half a century;

To the great Canadian people who have permitted Kiwanis to serve them where it can, and who have furnished members to its ranks with such prodigality;

To the leadership of Canada for maintaining the climate where human dignity is paramount, and where man, working in concert with his fellow man, can reach his fullest potential in all things, and thus in Kiwanis, too;

And to the Honourable Lester B. Pearson, the Prime Minister, longtime friend of Kiwanis and its work, leader of that great nation and its people.

May we in Kiwanis, at the time of our Golden Anniversary in Canada, measure up to the support and the challenge which you vouchsafed us through the years . . . and may we grow in service as this great nation itself grows in the community of men."

Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, Dr. Reed was principal speaker at a Golden Anniversary banquet of Kiwanis Club of Hamilton, which attracted about 350 Kiwanians from nearly 40 clubs in Canada and the United States. Singled out for special honors at the meeting was Norman Firth of Hamilton, last surviving founder of the Kiwanis Club of Hamilton.

Extra Police Patrols Set For Holidays

Michigan State Police holiday patrols will be operated during the Christmas and New Year weekends in special efforts to reduce accidents, Col Fredrick E. Davids, department director, reported.

Emphasizing that the state is headed toward a new annual high in traffic deaths, Colonel Davids urged motorists to exercise greater care in following safety rules and practices.

"The holiday season should be an inspiration to every driver and pedestrian to do whatever he can to reduce the risk of an accident," he said.

Extra hours of darkness, frequently bad weather and road conditions and the drinking associated with holiday celebrations are factors which add hazards at this time of the year, he noted.

State Police patrols will provide maximum coverage from 3 to at least 9 p.m. each day of the holiday periods, with special attention to highway sections with bad accident experience. Department planes will assist in the patrols during daylight hours, weather permitting.

Christmas week-end traffic deaths numbered 37 last year and 38 the year before. New Year period fatalities totaled 33 a year ago and 22 in 1964-65.

The highest Christmas traffic death toll occurred in 1955 when 50 were killed. The record for a New Year week-end was 39 in 1938.

A fresh water fish never drinks water because water continually seeps through its gill membrane. The ocean fish drinks sea water, its gills desalting it and making it drinkable.

Stocking Is Just Legend?

Did a spinster hang up the first Christmas stocking? Legend says yes, but history says no—or at most, "Maybe."

St. Nicholas, a fourth century bishop, secretly gave gifts of gold for the dowries of poor spinsters. His method was to toss the gold down a chimney by night, at Christmas.

On one occasion, so legend says, the gift landed in a stocking, hung by the fireplace to dry.

History casts a dubious eye on this "origin" of the Christmas stocking custom. The spinster probably didn't have a stocking—not in the fourth century.

Knitted form-fitting hosiery was unknown until the thirteenth century. Earlier, people wrapped cloth or rags around their feet as substitute for modern stockings.

Even after William Lee invented the stocking frame, a more efficient method of production, in the late 1500's, it was some time before the poor could afford to buy stockings.

History makes one concession to the legend tellers. Paintings from Pompeii show that early Romans did wear some form of stockings, even before the birth of Christ.

We count as blessings our friends and neighbors, who have made our Christmas truly joyful.

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Heustis, M.D. Director
Michigan Department of Public Health

Unfortunately, this time of year always brings an alarming increase in the number of accidental carbon monoxide poisonings. Almost daily we read about a couple found dead in a closed car or folks overcome by a defective heater in a cabin.

The sad thing is that these deaths are totally unnecessary and would have been avoided with a few simple preventive measures. Carbon monoxide is a killer that can be controlled.

Although automobiles are not the only means of carbon monoxide poisoning, they are responsible by far, for most of the deaths. A defective auto exhaust system is a dangerous source of the colorless, tasteless, and odorless gas. Carbon monoxide can leak up through the firewall or floor, asphyxiating the occupants—even if the car is out-of-doors. To avoid this danger, be sure to have your exhaust system checked at least once a year at a service station, and keep it in good repair at all times.

Sitting in a parked car with the engine running, and all the windows closed is inviting trouble. The tragic scene of folks found dead in a parked car, with the windows closed, ignition on, and gas tank empty is all too frequent. You should always keep a window open at least a crack to let in fresh air, and turn off the engine whenever the car is parked—otherwise, you're taking a grave risk.

Charcoal grills present another carbon monoxide hazard. While a burning charcoal fire produces no smoke, it gives off large quantities of lethal gas. These grills are designed for outside cooking only, and should never be used indoors, or even in a partially enclosed breezeway. All these areas trap the gas and concentrate on it—making it extremely dangerous.

Other dangers you should be aware of are rusted out flues and general defects in furnaces, poorly vented or adjusted space heaters, hot water heaters, and poorly adjusted gas refrigerators. Have all your gas appliances and furnace checked at least once a year by a qualified person to make sure they do not present a hazard.

Cabins are especially likely places for carbon monoxide poisoning because of old appliances and poor venting. Proper venting should be through the roof and not a side wall, and appliances should be kept in good working order.

Michigan has more than 11,000 inland lakes, more than 36,000 miles of rivers and streams.

Roslyn M. Boyce, Keith Otto Wed in Stockbridge Church

Stockbridge Methodist church was the setting for a marriage ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, uniting Rosalyn Mary Boyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wynn C. Boyce, and Keith Eugene Otto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner S. Otto of Stockbridge. The couple spoke their wedding vows before the Rev. William E. Frayer, pastor of the church.

Lawrence A. Humrich, uncle of the bride, was the soloist, singing for the occasion "Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace featuring a scoop neckline, long pointed sleeves, a detachable chapel-length watteau train and a fully-gathered skirt formed of tiers of lace jeweled with iridescent sequins. Her elbow-length veil of nylon illusion was attached to a headpiece of aurora crystals. Red sweetheart roses, nestled in silver bells, accented her bouquet, a cascade of white roses.

The Christmas color scheme of red and green was further carried out in the gowns worn by the bride's attendants, Marilyn Boyce, her sister, who was maid of honor, and Eva Lou Streets of Stockbridge and Mrs. Donald G. Young of Chelsea, who were bridesmaids.

The maid of honor wore a red velvet floor-length dress with an empire waist accented by tear drop beading while the bridesmaids wore similarly-styled dresses of green velvet. The bridesmaids carried nosegays of red carnations and the maid of honor had a red and white striped carnation nosegay.

The bride's mother wore a light blue crepe costume accented with sequins at the neckline and cuffs and chose matching colored accessories and a darker blue sequin-trimmed hat.

The bridegroom's mother wore a rose lace dress with rose and beige accessories.

Arnold Otto of Norfolk, Va., assisted his brother as best man; Douglas Mills of Stockbridge and Donald G. Young of Chelsea, were ushers; and Thomas R. Zick, Jr., of Stockbridge, served as an additional usher and as bell ringer.

At a reception immediately following at the Stockbridge American Legion Hall, Mrs. Arnold Otto was in charge of the guest book. Others assisting at the reception included Mrs. William Sharland, Mrs. Max Boyce, Mrs. Seward Green and Mrs. Lloyd Boyce.

After the holidays the couple will be at home at 1409 Blakeslee, in Kalamazoo. The bridegroom is a student at Western Michigan University following three years service in the U.S. Navy.

The bride, a 1963 graduate of Cleary College, Ypsilanti, was employed until her marriage as a secretary at Chrysler Proving Grounds here and plans to take a similar position in a Kalamazoo office.

For going away the bride wore an aqua wool dress accented with black patent accessories.

TROOP 98

Girl Scout Troop 98 meeting was called to order and then taken over by the A-Go-Gos to plan the Christmas party. Our penthouse was brightly decorated with crepe paper and a little tree. We then had refreshments and were given friendship pins by Mrs. Sutter and Mrs. DeLoy. We then exchanged gifts and all got wonderful things.

The next part of the party was a game with cotton balls and then breaking a pinata. The closing was traditional Christmas carols.

County Hospital Auxiliary Urging Another Vote on Medical Facility

Reluctance of the property owner to vote higher taxes for himself and confusion about the availability of various therapies in other facilities in the county were the chief causes for the defeat of a bonding proposal for a new medical care facility, the Washtenaw County Hospital Auxiliary Board concluded at its last meeting. The auxiliary was the chief group campaigning for approval of the $4,050,000 bonding proposal, which was on the November ballot.

The group concluded that a difficult job of educating property owners would be required before the facility could be approved on a future ballot.

Last week, two members of the auxiliary board asked the County Board of Supervisors to build the medical care facility by trying again for a favorable vote on a bonding issue or by creating a building authority. Mrs. Harry B. White and Mrs. Notley Maddox restated the auxiliary's position that the county needs a new and larger facility, which would provide "not just acre but a way of life for the patients which is not duplicated by any other facility in the county."

Earlier this month the state fire marshal detailed extensive renovations which would be required if the present building is to continue in use. If these renovations, informally estimated at more than $100,000, are not undertaken, the 50-year-old building may be closed next year. Without improvements the county hospital will not be able to receive medicare and medicaid payments for its patients. Many of the present patients are otherwise eligible for these benefits.

The county supervisors are considered likely to set a special election at the time of the April city election to try again for a favorable vote on the bond issue for a courtroom addition to the County Building. If the county medical care facility proposal were put on the ballot, it would probably also appear in April.

The Hospital Auxiliary has announced that the county hospital is open from 2 to 4 p.m. on weekday afternoons for visits from interested citizens. A new carpet has been installed in the sun porch and drapes are planned.

The board also announced that contributions for patient gifts are always welcomed, and that Christmas shopping is already underway. Money is most helpful to the board since many patient's wishes can be satisifed only by purchasing articles. Shirts, toilet preparations, dresses, night gowns and pajamas are also useful, the board reports.

Volunteers for cart service and occupational therapy are needed, and anyone interested in this work should contact the board.

How It Began:

'Green Christmas' Traces Heritage To Ancient Times

A spring of mistletoe, a holly wreath, an evergreen tree—these and other decorations of greenery come into homes at holiday time—and tradition blooms.

The "green Christmas" is an ancient custom, more universally observed than a "white Christmas."

In earliest times, at the pagan winter festivals, evergreens and winter-blooming plants were prized for their promise of spring and the sun's return. For the first Christians, the same greenery symbolized life eternal.

"The Holly and The Ivy." As the old Christmas carol indicates, both holly and ivy share an ancient heritage as holiday greenery. Early characterization of holly as masculine and ivy as feminine goes back to pagan games, with "the holly and the ivy" in friendly competition.

A later tradition says that spiny-leaved hollies are "he" hollies, while the smooth-leaved plants are "she" hollies. The kind of holly brought into the home at Christmas determines wether "he" or "she" will be head of the house for the coming year.

"Rosemary, that's for Remembrance." When Shakespeare wrote this famous line, rosemary was not only for remembrance—it was for Christmas decorating, too.

Rosemary a fragrant herb that remains evergreen in warm climates, is no longer used as a holiday decoration, but it still retains its legendary connection with Christmas.

The legend says that, during the flight into Eypt, Mary spread the Holy Infant's clothing on a rosemary bush to dry. At once, the bush became sweetly scented, and its pale white blossoms turned to a lovely blue.

Mistletoe for Luck. Today, a meeting beneath the mistletoe brings good luck in the form of a kiss.

Ancient peoples believed that mistletoe had a more postive control over luck, good and bad. A bit of mistletoe hung over a doorway was said to ward off evil.

A later belief suggested that mistletoe could bring bad luck. If mistletoe boughs put up for Christmas are not removed by Candlemas Eve (February 1), this belief holds that each leaf will bring forth a goblin to remain for the rest of the year, harassing the household.

Michigan's shoreline is longer than either the U. S. Atlantic coastline or Pacific coastline.

ENGAGED: Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Runciman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances Kay, to John Raymond Suffron of Dearborn. Mr. Suffron is the son of Mrs. C. Raymond Suffron, Jr., and the late Mr. Suffron. Miss Runciman earned a BA degree in French from Albion College and a certificate from the Katharine Gibbs School in New York. She is employed on the personnel staff at General Motors Central Office in Detroit. Mr. Suffron has his MS degree in Resource Development from Michigan State University, and has been accepted into the Officers Training School, U.S. Air Force. The couple is planning a February wedding.

Older Adult Fellowship Group Has Christmas Program Saturday

Older Adult Fellowship of the Methodist church enjoyed a Christmas program at the December meeting held Saturday in the church social center. The program followed a noon dinner, which included a birthday cake honoring five in the group whose birthdays occur during the month—Mrs. Schlosser, Mrs. Nancy Taylor, Rev. and Mrs. James Craig and the Rev. LeRoy Lord.

Program chairman Mrs. [illegible] Bates called on Mrs. Herbert [illegible] who presented a Christmas devotional service.

Twenty-six members of the church's junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Clark, sang Christmas carols and then Mrs. Craig showed a film strip, "The Holy Child of Bethlehem," with recording of Christmas music accompanied the pictures.

A grab bag distribution of Christmas gifts and a social hour concluded the gathering.

PRACTICAL:

Besides being practical, the rug often adds a decorator's touch to a room. Splashes of color in a pattern may be used that would be impossible with a room rug.

A sure-fire opener for breakfast is to heat canned peach halves in their syrup, then drain and fill the peach cups with hot crumbled bacon. Serve at once with French toast or waffles.

Home Economist Advises Parents To Enjoy Children

"If you're a parent, relax and enjoy it," advises Mrs. Helen Fairman, Co-operative Extension Service home economist in Monroe, Washtenaw and Lenawee counties.

"Leading Michigan psychologists say that parents are becoming more and more anxious about how they're raising their kids. They're just like gardeners pulling up plants to see if they're growing," she said.

Mrs. Fairman, who recently returned from a family development conference at Michigan State University, said one of the speakers stressed the over-protectiveness of parents. He predicted that while neglect has caused problems for under-priviledged children in the past, over-protectiveness could cause serious problems with middle class children in the future.

"We were reminded that kids have a lot of two-way stretch. You can make a lot of mistakes with human beings without their breaking up," Mrs. Fairman said.

Children will make mistakes. They won't make all the same decisions that their parents might make. But it's their life, she added.

Mrs. Fairman summarized the study of individual and family development at the conference as a lesson in the need for communication.

"Parents need to talk out their problems and concerns. As a society, we're forgetting communication between individuals as our standardization of mass communication grows," Mrs. Fairman said.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

IT'S CHRISTMAS

Christmas is with us again. Whether the tune is "Jingle Bells" or some long-favored carol, when you feel a surge of warmth within yourself, open up your heart and give free rein.

Turn loose the smile that seeks your lips; speak unhesitatingly the happy greeting that pushes outward.

Open your eyes to the goodness that surrounds you. Seek a share of the happiness that abounds.

Sometime, set aside a moment or two and turn your footsteps toward your church. Don't be content with merely attending Christmas services. Make a special pilgrimage of your own. You will find, perhaps, as did the Wise Men and the shepherds so long ago, something of the real beauty and wonder of Christmas-time.

You will find that Christmas has a meaning and a spirit which can well endure the passing of the holiday observance.

Fashion Notes

This is the season of straight hair. That doesn't mean that the beauty operators will be idle as most of the girls need permanents to give body to long or straight locks they may be wearing. Great pride is being taken in the sheen and cut of the coiffure. Bangs are good. They may be straight across the brow or brushed to one side.

Braids of hair are in favor—especially so when coming from the crown of the head down the back.

For women, one famous hair stylist advises women over thirty never to wear their hair lower than the chin. As one gets older hair should have an upward sweep so as not to accentuate facial lines that come with age.

The Spanish influence is being seen in the new felt hats and in the pants suits which are so popular this season.

Testing Underway Of Suspended or Revoked Drivers

Lansing — More than 9,300 Michigan drivers who have been suspended or revoked will be among the first of such drivers who will be taking written and road test examinations of their driving abilities before their driving privilege is restored, reports Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Hare noted that the drivers whose licenses were revoked or suspended during August and September because of the statutory point system, mental or physical incompetence, or failure to comply with the financial responsibility laws of the state will be extensively re-examined before their license is restored.

The secretary of state, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, said the re-examinations were being conducted as the result of Act 174 of the Public Acts of 1966, a bill he strongly supported, that requires before a license is issued to any person whose license has been suspended or revoked, he shall be examined in a manner prescribed by the secretary of state.

Handel's Messiah Slated On Sunday TV Program

Ragtime pianist and singer Max Morath returns to Christmas Eve of 1910 in a half-hour special entitled "Magic Lantern Christmas," Monday, Dec. 26, at 11:30 a.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

Armed with a stereopticon and original slides produced and used in the early 1900's, host Morath shares his extensive knowledge of the turn of the century. He shows slides while he plays the piano, sings Christmas songs and reads Christmas poetry. Among the songs he sings is one popular in that period but now almost forgotten -- "Why Doesn't Santa Claus Go Next Door?"

Other WMSB highlights include

MUSIC—

As a special Christmas tribute, WMSB presents a three-hour performance of George Frederick Handel's "Messiah," Sunday, Dec. 25, at 12 noon. The Handel and Haydn Society chorus and orchestra of Boston performs the "Messiah" with soloists Helen Boarwright, Louise Parker, James Wainner and Raymond Michalski.

Pianist Jose Rambaldi is guest artist on "Recital Hall," Wednesday, Dec. 28, at 7 p.m. He performs Barcarolle, Opus 60, by Frederic Chopin; Sonata No. 4, Opus 30, by Alexander Scriabin, and "Summermusic 66" by Donald Erb.

Rambaldi is a faculty member at the Whitman College conservatory in Walla Walla, Wash. He is a successful concert artist who has toured Europe and Latin America, as well as the United States, and in November 1966, made his Carnegie Hall debut in New York.

RELIGION—

For its holiday program, "International Magazine" deals with religious subjects from around the world, Sunday, Dec. 25, at 3 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 26, at 12 noon.

A five-year-old boy is seen as he is initiated into the ranks of Buddism, learning to use the begging bowl, which a monk traditionally carries with him from town to town.

In Switzerland, the film shows the training of L.C. Bernard dogs by monks of the order of St. Bernard. The third segment is devoted to Voodooism on the island of Haiti.

The final segment turns to the dilemma of Jews in England, where intermarriage has created a problem between the generations of Jewish people.

JOB CORPS—

"A Second Chance," a documentary based on the first 300 days of a Job Corps camp in New Bedford, Mass., appears on "NET Journal," Sunday, Dec. 25, at 4:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Dec. 28, at 12 noon.

The film follows a group of boys on their way through the slums of New York to Camp Redman. By attending classes, playing football, raising pigeons and attempting to govern themselves, the boys demonstrate the premise on which the Job Corps was founded: a total living experience, designed to "reverse the personal history of failures."

DRAMA—

Arthur Miller's adaptation of "An Enemy of the People" by Henryk Ibsen has its television premiere on "NET Playhouse," Sunday, Dec. 25, at 11 p.m.

James Daly, 1966 Emmy-winner, plays the idealistic doctor who discovers that the medicinal springs, which are the source of a small Norwegian town's wealth and fame, are poisoned. Broadway, screen and television actress Kate Reid plays his wife, who stands by him in the face of the town's hostility to his findings.

In "An Enemy of the People," Arthur Miller shows his deep concern for the individual's responsibility to the society in which he lives.

SCIENCE—

"Spectrum" takes a penetrating look at one of the most prolific and prophetic writers in the history of English literature on "H. G. Wells, Man of Science," Tuesday, Dec. 27, at 7 p.m. and Wednesday, Dec. 28, at 11:30 a.m.

The program concentrates on H. G. Wells' scientific training and his amazingly accurate predictions of future developments in science and technology which were anticipated in his novels. The film shows many meaningful exchanges between the writer and his intimates.

Mrs. Gladys Klumpp, who has been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, since Dec. 8, is reportedly making progress toward recovery from injuries received Nov. 29 in an automobile accident. The accident occurred at Marietta, Ga., as Mrs. Klumpp was accompanying Mrs. Esther TurnBull south with the intention of spending some time at Lake Worth, Fla. They had left here in Mrs. TurnBull's car on Monday, Nov. 28.

Mrs. Klumpp suffered two broken vertebrae located just below the skull and is still in a cast. She and Mrs. TurnBull, who was not seriously injured, were taken to Kennestone Hospital at Marietta. They left the hospital Dec. 2, Mrs. TurnBull continuing on to Florida to spend the winter and Mrs. Klumpp being flown to Ann Arbor to enter St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Klumpp's sister, Mrs. Velma Dorr, who makes her home with her, flew down to accompany her home.

Mrs. Klumpp's sister-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Bacon of Empire, are currently spending some time here to be with her at the hospital as much as possible. They plan to remain to spend Christmas here.

Doctors have given no indication as to when Mrs. Klumpp will be sufficiently recovered to return home.
