Village Wage, Benefit Plan Now in Effect

All Full-Time Employees Gain Pay Hikes, Increased Fringe Benefits

six-month study by members the Village Council has resulted the classification of all village s, increases in pay scales and ge or increased fringe benefits Chelsea's 16 full-time village loyees.

his is the first over-all study revision of village employee us and policy in recent years. ncil members hope that the program will serve as a frame- k for future Village Councils follow in dealing with village loyees.

Nothing was taken away from body" in the new wage and efit package, several members the Council have emphasized. he new wage levels and fringe efit programs, with the excep- of an insurance package, be- g effective Feb. 1.

Council members Will am Storey Duane Crouch, who worked ensively on the study along h the entire Council, said that h the new package Chelsea com- es favorably with other munici- ities and villages in the area in ms of employee compensation. Council members declined to vide specific data on wage in- ases, saying only that all salary les were increased, and by ying amounts.

major aspect of the six-month ief study was the classifica- n of village jobs. Sixteen classi- ations have been established. rting pay and a program of ular increases have been set up each classification.

In establishing the classifications, rey and Crouch said, village s were compared to those in er cities and villages in the a.

The classification system is de- ned to be comprehensive, they ed, noting that at present the are does not have employees all of the categories estab- ed.

While wage increases will have most immediate impact for age employees, Storey and uch said, the package adopt- by the Council includes many itions and increases in the vil- e fringe benefit program.

One entirely new feature is a life insurance plan to be provided by the village. A $2,000 policy will be provided for each employee. The Council plans to advertise for insurance bids immediately, members said.

Another innovation in the fringe benefit package is a death benefit of $500 to be paid immediately in a lump sum in the event of accidental death of an employee on the job.

Several other fringe benefits have been increased.

The number of sick-leave days that may be accumulated has been doubled, from 60 to 120 days. Employees who have accumulated the maximum will be paid in cash for one-third of their additional sick-leave time. Retiring employees will be paid in cash for one-third of any accumulated sick leave.

The Christmas Bonus plan has also been expanded so that employees, depending on length of service, will receive up to a $75 bonus.

Vacations in the new plan range from one week with one year of service to three weeks with 10 years. Under the old system, only some employees with more than 15 years of service were eligible for three-week vacations.

A group hospitalization plan, a pension plan to which both the village and employees contribute, and the list of six paid holidays will remain the same.

Council members have met with employees of all village departments to explain the new wage and benefit package.

Recreation Basketball Boys Will Play During Half-Time Intermissions

The Saturday morning recreation basketball boys will play during the half-times of both the junior varsity and varsity games with Vandercook Lake Saturday night at Chelsea High.

The fourth and fifth grade boys will play during the junior varsity half-time and the sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys will play during the varsity game half-time.

Bulldogs Sink Still Deeper In Basement

The Dexter Dreadnaughts obtained revenge for an earlier defeat by subduing the Chelsea Bulldogs on the Chelsea court Friday night, 67-42.

Again the Bulldogs were in the game until the middle of the third quarter before the Dreadnaughts opened the game with a 10-point burst while the Bulldogs were scoreless. At the beginning of the third quarter Dexter led 29-23. The end of the quarter found Dexter leading, 49-32.

The Chelsea attack in the close first half was led by forward John Lixey's 10 points and Wes Stinehelfer's seven.

The Bulldogs were playing without the services of center Jeff Hitchingham and guard Jack Risner, who were barred from the game by Coach Terry Pokela after they refused to participate in a team skit last week.

The Bulldogs fought valiantly in the first half to slow the Dexter attack. Defense was the keyword as Stinehelfer, Lixey, Larry Gaken,

Beauty Shop Destroyed by Intense Fire

A fire which broke out about midnight last Sunday destroyed the interior of the House of Orient Beauty Shop at 103 W. Middle. The shop is operated by Paul Higgins.

Apartments above the shop suffered extensive smoke damage. A couple in one of the apartments smelled smoke and turned in the alarm at 12:30 a.m., Fire Chief James Gaken said. Chief Gaken said that the fire may have been caused by electrical wiring.

Higgins said that he had been given estimates of damage to the building of $7,300 and of $8,000 to the contents.

Chief Gaken said that cans of hair spray which exploded in the intense heat created problems for the fire-fighters. It is possible, he said, that exploding cans caused the front window of the shop to blow out. Higgins said that he had just received a shipment of hair spray and had at least 12 to 14 dozen cans in the shop.

Higgins plans to reopen the shop at the same location by March 1. He said that the entire lower level of the building will have to be reconstructed and that he will have an entirely new shop when the job is completed. He added that he has already placed orders for new equipment.

The building is owned by Sylvester Fisher of Ypsilanti.

CHS Students Participating In All-Stars Band Activities

Five Chelsea High School Symphony Band members will participate this week-end in the Lansing Conservatory All-Stars Band event in Ithaca.

Participating Chelsea students and their assigned band positions are: Russell Maurer, a senior, second of eight trombones; Mike Funderburgh, a senior, fourth of 14 trumpets; Ralph Johnson, a senior, fourth of six tubas; Susie Knickerbocker, a junior, fourth of 24 clarinets, and Kathy Fulks, a junior, second of four alto clarinets.

Saturday sessions will involve rehearsals for a concert Sunday afternoon. A party is scheduled for Saturday night. Sunday, the students will attend a banquet followed by instrumental clinics. The Sunday afternoon concert is set for 4 p.m.

Bruce Galbraith, director of the Chelsea High Symphony Band, explained that the number of Chelsea students participating was determined by the school's ranking in last year's band festival. Chelsea received a 1, the highest rating awarded, and so the school was invited to send the maximum of five students to the All-Stars Band.

The five students were assigned their initial band positions following initial tryouts held in Lansing Jan. 21.

Last year Chelsea was the host community for the All-Stars Band event.

Blood Bank Lifts Limit Of Six Pints

For a trial period of one year the Chelsea Community Blood Bank will release as much blood as a patient needs instead of the usual limit of six pints per patient, Mrs. Dudley Holmes, director, has announced.

She said that during 1966 less blood was used in Chelsea than usual and that the November clinic was one of the most successful, leaving the blood bank with a very high balance of 242 pints.

She explained that very few patients use more than six pints, but that occasionally the need for more blood could be a real hardship in a time of sickness with mounting hospital bills.

If for any reason the blood bank should run short of supply, she said, an extra clinic, in addition to the usual yearly one, might be offered.

She added that if there was not sufficient participation to support an extra clinic, the blood bank could, in January of 1968, return to a policy of releasing only six pints per patient.

Mrs. Holmes pointed out the broad coverage of the Chelsea Community Blood Bank, noting that while under most similar plans only immediate family members living in the same house are covered, the Chelsea bank coverage extends to mothers, fathers, brothers living in any part of the husband, wife, children, sisters and country.

The Chelsea Community Blood Bank of the American Red Cross was begun in 1952—the first Red Cross community blood bank in Michigan, Mrs. Holmes said.

The amounts of blood, in pints, collected in each of the 15 clinics since 1952 follow:

1952 (two-day clinic)	237
1953 (two-day clinic)	253
1954	157
1955	150

Chelsea Mothers March Nets Total of $741.48

Riding Club Organization Meet Slated

A riding club is being organized in this area and may be a going concern before spring.

Bill Williamson, who came to Chelsea last summer from New Smyrna Beach, Fla., began a move to organize a club when he found there were no family riding clubs in this area.

Williamson belonged to the Silver Spur Riding Club in New Smyrna Beach and plans to use that club as a model for the new Chelsea organization. He emphasized, however, that the decisions on policy and activities of the new Chelsea club would be made by those from this area who want to form the club.

He said that several people have expressed interest in such a club.

A preliminary meeting for any interested adults will be held Friday, Feb. 24 from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. at McKune Library.

The riding club will be centered around family activities, Williamson said, and will probably have two sections, one for adults and one for junior members.

Junior members under 18 will not be accepted unless their parents also join, Williamson said.

He suggested that anyone interested in the new club should contact Merle Sibley or Williamson, who lives at 118 E. Middle, or simply attend the preliminary meeting next Friday.

Barn Destroyed by Fire On Roy Kalmbach Farm

At noon Tuesday the Fire Department answered a call to control a barn fire at the Roy Kalmbach farm, Fahrner Rd. The barn was a total loss. Hay, feed and a shredder inside the barn were also destroyed. High winds fanned the flames, and the structure was "pretty well gone" by the time the Fire Department arrived, Chief Gaken said.

Kalmbach was able to save 21 head of cattle from the area of the barn.

John Palmer Quits Post as Chief of Police

Accepts Position as Director of Civil Defense for Washtenaw County

John Palmer, who has been Chelsea police chief since 1959, resigned Wednesday. He will leave Chelsea March 15.

He is accepting a position as Washtenaw County Civil Defense director.

Palmer emphasized that his decision was not a sudden one and was not the result of any disagreement with the Village Council or village residents. The new job simply offers better working conditions and a substantially better pay and benefit scale, Palmer said.

The county Board of Supervisors formally adopted a resolution to hire Palmer Tuesday afternoon, on the recommendation of the Civil Defense Committee.

Village President Don Baldwin said yesterday that Palmer's resignation is a real loss to the community. "He will be hard to replace," Baldwin said.

Chelsea's police force had already been weakened with the loss of Clyde Myers, who had been a police officer here since 1963. Myers resigned effective Saturday, Feb. 18, to join the local division of Dana Corp.

Both Palmer and village Police Commissioner Larry Chapman said that village residents should be assured that round-the clock police protection will be provided. They explained that arrangements have already been made with the county Sheriff Department for off-duty men to cover some shifts for the village. State Police aid is also available, Palmer said.

Applications for new officers are already being processed, Palmer added. It is hoped that the department may be reorganized and new officers hired before Palmer takes up his duties as Civil Defense director. If no new officers were hired before March 15, Officer Earl Willis would be the only remaining village police officer.

Palmer joined the Chelsea police force in June of 1958 and was made police chief in January, 1959. He had previously been police chief in Dexter from 1949 to 1958 and was also commissioner of public works in Dexter from 1951 to 1957.

Palmer was a Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputy before joining the Chelsea force.

Open House Plans Underway for Library Birthday

Plans are now being formulated for an open house celebration at McKune Memorial Library on Friday evening, March 3, from 7 to 9.

The library, founded on Feb. 23, 1932 by the Woman's Club of Chelsea, will be celebrating its 35th anniversary.

The planning committee for the celebration is composed of women from two organizations. Committee members from the Woman's Club are Mrs. George Frisinger, Mrs. Jess Meininger, Mrs. Edwin Eaton, Mrs. Ruth Wilkenson and Mrs. Jeremiah MacDougall. Those from the Friends of the Library are Mrs. Robert L. Dample, Mrs. Ben Bower and Mrs. Paul Schiable, Jr.

CHS Junior Struck by Car On N. Main

Jim Williams, a junior at Chelsea High school, was struck by a car while walking home from wrestling practice Friday evening and is still listed in serious condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, 14034 North Territorial Rd., Gregory.

According to police reports, Williams was walking northwest on N. Main near Chestnut when he was struck by a car traveling in the same direction. He wore dark clothing and was apparently walking on the pavement, police officers said.

The car was driven by Oren C. Wireman, 20, of 302 Garfield.

Williams was thrown approximately 75 feet by the force of the impact.

Wireman, who was alone in his car, told police officers that he heard a "thud" and stopped his car. When he found cloth on the car he searched and found Williams, who had been thrown onto the shoulder.

The Wireman car did not leave the pavement, officers said.

Williams, 16, has been an important member of the Chelsea wrestling squad this season, wrestling in the 112-pound weight class.

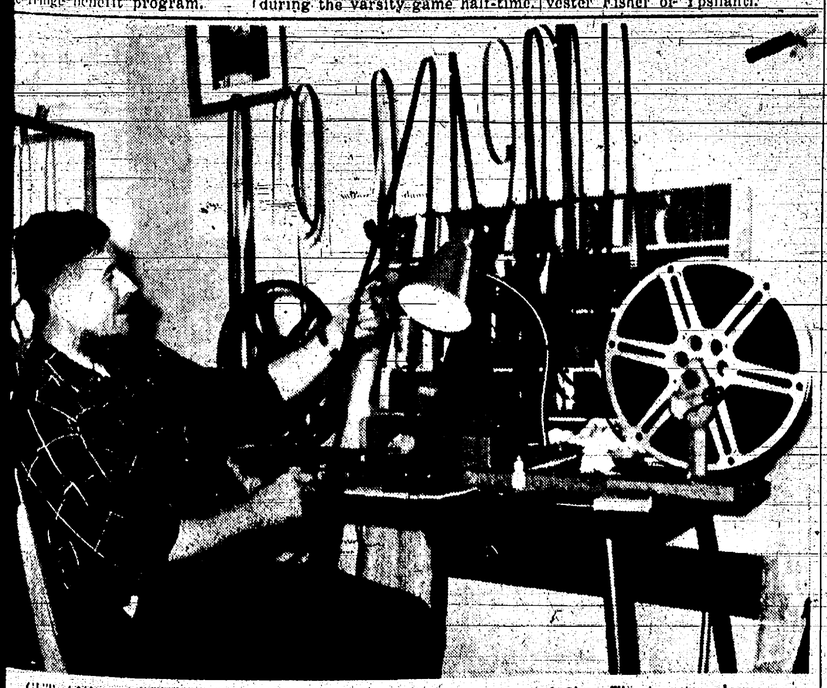
Special Primary Election Slated

Monday, Feb. 20, polls at township halls will be open for balloting in the special primary election to chose two candidates for the post of second county probate judge.

Candidates in the primary are Ross Campbell, William Dannemiller and Rodney Hutchinson.

The special election to fill the probate judge vacancy will be April 3.

The post was vacated when John W. Conlin was elected to a Circuit Court judgeship in November.



CUT AND SPLICE: Don Turner is preparing two full-length travelogues to be shown by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club on April 22 and May 6. While on his six-month Alaska trip last summer, Don shot 15,000 feet of film. The two travelogues are entitled "Southeast Alaska" and "Interior Alaska" and will be shown at Chelsea High school.

Kiwanis Club Arranges To Show Turner Travelogue

By Don Turner
Alias, "The Alaska Kid"

Since my last Alaska Caper article was published in The Standard on Oct. 18 of last year, I have been sticking pretty close to home base and burning the midnight oil in some cases.

My cutting-room floor is littered with scraps and odds and ends of film I have been sorting from the 15,000 feet I shot while in Alaska.

It seems as if every time I venture out in public I am greeted by someone telling me that they read my articles in The Standard last summer. Most people ask when they will have a chance to view some of the film I have been talking about.

That is the reason I am writing this article. Some of you may be wondering why I have not associated with the razor since my return from the great land of Alaska. Let me explain.

Actually, it is a publicity stunt suggested by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. I have compiled two full-length travelogues from the footage I have been talking about, and have sold the rights for the first showing to Chelsea Kiwanis for a money-making project.

The dates are set for Satur-

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

Michigan must make mighty efforts to increase exports of farm and factory products. It means dollars. It means jobs. It means a stabilized economy.

Michian can reasonably expect an export increase of $100,000,000 annually if properly promoted. This could mean 5,000 more jobs each year, more money in our pockets and more tax revenues for our state and local governments.

When we sell more abroad we diversify our markets. Thus we decrease our dependence upon those cyclical swings that accompany the auto industry's domestic sales. This means greater business stability.

As chairman of the State Senate's Committee on International Commerce during the past two years I have made certain recommendations that are already helping us move in this direction. The Committee's report to the 1967 legislature will shortly be presented.

But Michigan citizens should know what our rival competitor states are doing in the area of foreign trade promotion. Some of them are way ahead of us in this highly competitive field.

Let's consider overseas offices and state-promoted trade missions. In two areas I have an abundance of specific facts.

New York, as a state, has done far and away the best job in overseas promotion. New York's International Commerce Department has an office in Brussels which it claims has participated in the writing of $250,000,000 in increased foreign sales. Ohio also has recently opened an office in Brussels. California is opening one in Milan, Italy. Ontario has a three-story building, Ontario House, in London and branch trade promotion offices in Dusseldorf, Germany and Milan, Italy.

Also in Europe we find various state port authorities and commissions with offices or local representatives: the New York Port Authority is in London and Zurich; Georgia's Authority has an office in Bonn, Germany; Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and the Gulf Ports have representation in Brussels; New Orleans is in Milan; Toledo, Cleveland and Chicago port officers make annual trips to Europe and the Far East where they have local representatives. Toledo, in particular, has done an outstanding job.

In Tokyo we find New York, California and Alaska all have Commerce Department offices; Toledo, Long Beach, New York, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Oakland, Portland, Seattle, San Diego, San Francisco, Stockton, Virginia and Vancouver all have permanent port representation.

As a matter of fact every Canadian province has a trade promotion office overseas. All are in London and Quebec is also in Paris.

So much for overseas offices. What are these states doing in the area of trade missions? And here I stress the "industry-organized government-approved" 12-man hard-sell trade mission which the U.S. Department of Commerce officially encourages.

28 states will have had state sponsored trade missions of this type by the end of 1967 and Michigan is presently not scheduled to be one of them. 14 of these states will have found such missions so profitable that they will have sponsored at least two of them.

Here are some of the 1967 plans of our rival states: Ohio is sending a trade mission to the Far East in March; Indiana's second trade mission will be in London, Paris, Berlin, Munich, and Milan in April-May; Connecticut State Industries will be in Germany, Denmark, Holland, Spain and Yugoslavia in April-May; Fort Worth is sending a mission to Caracas, Bogoto, Guayaquil and Lima next week; Mississippi is sending its fourth overseas trade mission to South America it's there now; Arizona is sending a mission to Manila, Hongkong, Malaysia, Tokyo and Bangkok in March; Dallas is sending a mission to South America in April; Nebraska's second mission will be in the Far East in April; Jacksonville will have a mission in Central and South America in May; New Jersey's third state mission will be in Tokyo and Osaka in May; Miami's Chamber of Commerce will have a mission in South America in April; Arkansas's second mission will be in Australia and the Far East in April-May; Texas State Industries trade mission

Smoking Problem

Bordering states and our own criminal elements might find themselves curiously allied behind the efforts of one Michigan lawmaker.

Rep. Jack Faxon, D-Detroit, is proposing a multiple attack on cigarette sales in Michigan which could considerably boost the income of the two groups.

Basic weapon of Faxon's plan is to more than triple the present seven-cent state tax on a package of cigarettes. He proposes the levy be set at 24 cents, thus boosting the price per pack to about 50 cents.

A few years back when the cigarette tax was raised to its present level many legislators, particularly those from southern border districts, warned of the potential increase of motorists driving across the border to buy cigarettes in the states where the tax was lower.

Wholesale black-marketing of lower priced cigarettes was also mentioned at that time, but the few-cents-per-pack difference was not really expected to cause a big market for bootlegged quantities.

Because of the potential for lost income to Michigan's treasury, extra law enforcement procedures were put into effect along the borders when the new rate went into effect. A few violators were caught.

The 300 percent increase in the tax could cause officials of nearby states to look for a considerable boost in their revenue from Michigan residents. Organized crime would find an easy market for new activity if cigarettes sold at 50 cents a package.

Faxon's goal as stated is primarily "to discourage teen-age smoking. He figures teens could not afford cigarettes at that price. For that matter, many adults could not afford them either.

Admirable as Faxon's concern for Michigan residents' health may be, a different approach must be found to reduce cigarette consumption in the state, if it is to be reduced at all.

Who Drives How

Understanding of that nut behind the wheel might be possible if you knew a little about him, or her, as a person, according to the State Highway Commission.

A study conducted by the Highway Research Board shows that many factors influence the way a person drives.

Single women and divorcees of both sexes, for example, tend to drive faster than married people. On a long trip a person will drive faster than on a short one. A motorist who drives more miles annually tends to have a heavier foot on the accelerator.

Location of driving also is a factor on speed, the survey showed. Out-of-state cars maintain higher speeds than in-state cars.

Type of auto involved affects speed also. A motorist will drive a rented or fleet car faster than his own. Higher average speeds are noted in newer vehicles, expensive and heavy cars, than in old ones, low-priced or light autos.

So the next time you drive near a "crazy woman" or a "speed demon" you might find solace in frustration by considering the various factors apparently affecting the driver's behavior.

Traffic Deaths

In case anyone had any doubts, it is now official that Michigan motorists died in greater numbers during 1966 than in any other single year.

With perhaps a few delayed deaths still to be reported for last year, State Police listed at least 2,270 traffic fatalities. The highest previous year on record was 1937 by the 1966 toll was about 4.5 per cent over that mark.

The 1966 toll represented a 6.6 percent boost over the highway death mark of the previous year. Personal injury accidents of a non-fatal nature also increased sharply, to nearly 159,000, State Police said.

January Traffic Deaths Reduced Compared to 1966

Michigan traffic deaths in January numbered 118, a reduction of 29 or 20 percent compared with 147 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

Snowstorm-handicapped travel in much of the southern half of Lower Michigan during the last six days of the month is viewed as a contributing factor in January's death decrease.

January deaths in the past five years, 1962-66, averaged 134.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You probubble will quit running my little piece in yore paper when I tell you what I done yesterday.

I set down and wrote a letter to my Congressman and told him I didn't never aim to vote fer him if he didn't vote to cut off all foreign aid to ever country in the world.

On account of the weather being half bad lately and in ebeing all the way lazy, I been spending my time all week reading and studying the matter.

What brung up my verdict was hearing one of them Washington column writers that was just back from Paris telling folks on television that General DeGaulle was whispering to his close friends that we stole Louisiana from France in 1803 and actual Louisiana still belonged to France. This feller on television reported DeGaulle was saying we didn't give but $15 million fer that territory and farthermore the French authorities that sold it didn't have no legal right to make the deal.

That's the kind of feller running France, a country we bailed out of two world wars and rebuilt after the last war.

This put me to studying some newspaper clippings I was saving in a box under the bed and one of these pieces, that was put out by a U.S. Senator, reported the United States had spent $880 billion on foreign aid since the end of World War II and we ain't got a friend in the world except South Korea and Formosa, two small countries that was depending on us to keep 'em from getting invaded.

I don't recollect from my history book in the sixth grade how much we paid Russia fer Alaska and when we bought it, but I'm looking any day now fer them Russians to claim the price was too low and the sale wasn't official.

According to the papers, we have give France more of that $880 billion than any other country and I was reading a piece yesterday where France was making us pay $3 million to French civilian workers fer losing their jobs when NATO moves out of France after that country ordered us to git out of the country.

And most of them countries in South America and Africa that was gitting millions from American tax payers, was carrying it to the bank with one hand and burning up our embassy flag with the other.

With all the money we was squandering away here at home and the cost of the War in Vietnam, we can't keep on sending billions to them foreign countries without taxes eating us up in the end. I was talking to my old lady that ain't agreed with me political more'n a half dozen times in 40 year, but she was agreed on this one and our Congressman has done lost two votes if he don't see the light.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Two Chelsea Boy Scouts received Pro Deo et Patria (For God and Country) awards at special services Sunday morning at the Congregational church. They are Tom Penhallegon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Penhallegon, and Ken Reinhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reinhardt. Both are Life Scouts and plan to continue work toward Eagle rank, highest award in Scouting. Penhallegon is a member of Troop 25 and Reinhardt is in Troop 76.

Conservation officer Donley Boyer said yesterday that it is imperative for motorists to be on the lookout for deer, particularly in the Chelsea-Dexter-Manchester area. He said motorists should reduce speed when in this area in order to be prepared to stop at once if deer are sighted. Not only have large numbers of deer in the area been killed, but cars have been severely damaged. Boyer says the fact that car drivers and passengers have so far escaped injury is fortunate.

Paul G. Schaible, Sr., was honored last night (Wednesday) at a dinner at the Town Club in Ann Arbor to mark the 50th anniversary of his affiliation with banking institutions of Chelsea. Present for the occasion were officers and employees of the bank and their wives and husbands. While not unique in banking circles, the senior Schaible's 50-year career is one of very few recorded in Michigan, according to banking publications.

At 3:07 Tuesday firemen were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Petsch, 20156 Old US-12, west of Wilkinson St, where fire gutted the interior and destroyed the roof of the building. Firemen laid two lines of hose to hydrants on Wilkinson St., and had plenty of water; however, the fire had gained such headway that the interior was completely destroyed before the blaze was brought under control.

After two years of planning a new kitchen for the Methodist church—a project of the Woman's Society of Christian Service—the plan was approved for installation by act of the church's commission on finance as read by William Storey, the commission chairman.

The Board of Education at the regular meeting Tuesday evening decided to hold the dedication of the new school Monday evening, April 20. The dedication program and parents' night for elementary grades will be combined.

The special election held for the purpose of granting the Chelsea Agricultural Schools district permission to sell the four rural schools known as Pumpkin College, Riemenschneider, Savage and Sylvan Center schools, resulted in approval by a vote of three to one.

The 80-year-old house on the George Miller homestead on Werkner Rd. was believed to be a total loss after a fire which raged for more than two hours Tuesday morning.

Severe colds and complications have caused increasing absence of pupils in both the elementary and high school groups during the past week. A high was reached Monday when 143 elementary pupils and 67 high school students were absent.

Chelsea will remain on Eastern War Time as the result of definite action taken by the village council at their regular meeting on Monday night. With Detroit and Ann Arbor retaining EWT, to change to slow time here would mean no end of confusion, as is the case throughout the state as the result of the law passed by the legislature recently, which permits any municipality to choose between the two times.

Miss Ann Welch of Lansing and Laverne Taylor of Ann Arbor met with a group of interested parents and representatives of the local industries and school officials on Monday afternoon to discuss the "Day Care of Children" under reimbursement from the Lanham Act. A community must have 60 children whose mothers are engaged in vital war industry who will take advantage of such a program before this can be set in to operation.

(An Editorial) With an unexpected crisis decending upon the people of Michigan on Tuesday this week, serious thought is necessary on the part of every individual if we are to successfully combat the problems that are ahead of us in the next few days. Everyone is familiar with the situation that called for an emergency proclamation from the Governor of our State, early Tuesday, and the facts of the case must be clearly placed before the public in order that general support will be given to any proposal which are offered for a solution of the crisis now existing. It should be clearly understood by all the citizens of our community that the two Chelsea banks are not affected in the least by the crisis which faced the large Detroit banking institution, which would have been forced to close its doors Tuesday morning, which condition called for the moratorium in Michigan banking business for eight days.

According to a dispatch from Lansing appearing in the Jack

With about one-half of one per cent of the population of Chelsea in attendance at the two village caucuses held Tuesday night in the town hall, it is evident that there is very little interest in village affairs. However, the Independent party mustered a total strength of five men—the meeting was called to order by Ernest Adam, a secretary and tellers were appointed and a party committee consisting of Ernest Adam, Herbert Ahnemiller and George Clark was named, and the meeting adjourned. The People's party had a somewhat better representation, with eleven men performing the duties of the caucus, with Sidney W. Schenck as chairman.

A Patriotic banquet, sponsored by R. P. Carpenter Corps No. 2, will be held at the Tower Cafe on Wednesday evening, Feb. 22, beginning at 7.

The Congregational parsonage was the scene of pleasant gatherings on Sunday afternoon and evening when the Rev. and Mrs. W. Skentelbury held open house. The arrangements were in charge of the officers of the Ladies' Guild, which Mrs. M. J. Baxter is president.

Help Offered In Filling Out Medicare Claims

Older people in the Washtenaw county area who have paid doctor bills but have not yet claimed their Medicare doctor bill insurance payments are invited to have their claims checked by the Ann Arbor Social Security office before mailing them to the Medicare Carrier, according to Robert A. Kehoe, district manager.

"In the first six months of the Medicare program some benefit payments were delayed because the applicants did not include all the necessary information with their claims," he said.

Kehoe believes that most people will need this help only the first time they make a medical insurance claim. "The Medicare handbook, which is given to all beneficiaries, explains how to make the claims," he said, "and the form is relatively simple, but most people can use some advice the first time they apply. We're glad to offer assistance, and we believe we can help many people to avoid some delay in their payment."

Kehoe noted that the Medicare claim may be made either by the patient or by the doctor if he accepts assignment of the insurance. If the doctor applies for the Medicare payment, he bills the patient only for any part of the $50 deductible that still remains to be paid and for 20 percent of the bill over the $50 deductible.

Under the other method of payment the doctor bills the patient, the patient pays the bill, and then the patient sends the completed request for payment form to the Medicare carrier. A statement from the doctor showing the treatment given and the charges already paid by the patient must be furnished either on the request for payment form or in a separate receipted bill. In the Washtenaw county area, Medicare doctor bill insurance is handled by Blue Shield in Detroit.

The same simple one-page request for payment form is mailed to the carrier no matter whether the payment is to go to the patient or to the doctor. Doctors' offices, accustomed to filling out insurance forms, should have no difficulty providing the few items of information requested, Kehoe noted. But handling of forms received directly from Medicare beneficiaries is sometimes delayed because some essential item of information has been omitted.

If the beneficiary leaves out his Medicare identification number, for example, it is impossible to verify that he is signed up for the doctor bill insurance, or how much of his deductible amount has been paid. Some elderly people with failing eyesight are unable to make legible entries. And some do not get adequately itemized receipts from their physicians, or forget to enclose the receipts with their claims. If the request for payment form is incomplete or improperly filled out, the Medicare carrier has to write back to the beneficiary, thus delaying the payment.

The Ann Arbor Social Security office is located at 220 E. Huron, Room 650. The phone number is 663-8541.

Bulldogs Sink Still Deeper In Basement

Craig Houle, Kim Fluntoft and substitute John Freeman out-hustled the Dexter offense, capturing many steals and defensive rebounds.

Only center Tom Haight of Dexter, playing his best game of the year, according to Dexter coach Tom Walsh, was able to score enough points to hurt the Bulldogs. Haight scored 12 points in the first half.

The Dexter offense was mainly concentrated at the foul line, where they scored on 13 of 16 attempts in the first half and 23 of 29 for the game. Haight hit on 10 of 11 free throws, Dan Hoy of 8 of 3, Ratliff on 5 of 5, Bob Shoop on 2 of 4 and Bart Wall on 1 of 1.

The Bulldogs hit on 3 of 10 in the first half, and 1 of 7 in the second half for a total of 4 of 17 for the game.

From the field Dexter shot 40 percent on 22 of 53 attempts, while Chelsea shot 28 percent on 19 of 68 attempts.

Dexter has now won three in succession for a conference record of 4-4.

Scoring for the Bulldogs was led by Lixey, with 19. Houle had 8, Stinehelfer 7, Freeman 6 and Flintoft 2.

Haight of Dexter hit for 26. Hoy had 11, Ratliff 9, Wall 7, Shoop 6, Dallas Winkle 3, Mike Howard 3 and Dave Hammond 2.

The game Saturday night at Dundee had originally been scheduled for Friday, Jan. 27, but was snowed out.

Again a close first half and a poor second half meant doom for the stumbling Bulldogs, as they lost to the Vikings of Dundee, 63-43.

The Bulldogs jumped off to a 16-14 first-quarter lead, mainly on the six points of returning center Jeff Hitchingham and five points by forward John Lixey. Three by Houle and two by Stinehelfer rounded out the quarter.

A slow second quarter on the part of the Bulldogs, especially after Hitchingham picked up his fourth foul early in the quarter, gave Dundee the spark they needed to move into a 28-21 half-time lead.

The shooting of Tony Missler and combined shooting and rebounding of sophomore Del Gregory led the Dundee attack in both quarters.

The Bulldogs continued to stumble in the third and fourth quarters. A strong man-to-man Dundee defense upset the Chelsea offense. The Bulldogs could only shoot 57 times, hitting on 17 for a 30-percent average.

After the Saturday game Dundee is now 6-2 in the conference. Chelsea is now 1-7.

League standings after last week-end are led by Lincoln and Dundee, 6-2. Saline has a 5-3 record and Dexter is 4-4 for the season. South Lyon with a 2-6 record and Chelsea with 1-7 are dwelling in the Southeastern basement.

The Bulldogs will play Friday night, Feb. 17 at Lincoln. Saturday night the team entertains Vandercook Lake on the home court for the final home game of the season.

Mill Creek Research Council Will Elect 12 as Directors

Mill Creek Research Council will hold its annual meeting at Lima Community township Hall on March 28 at 8 p.m. A board of 12 directors will be elected to serve for the coming year. An informative meeting for stockholders and other interested residents is being planned.

Meetings have been held by the present board on Jan. 3 and 10 and on Feb. 7. A meeting has also been scheduled for Feb. 28.

Current board discussion has involved the postponement of an interim report on the Mill Creek impoundment by the Army Corps of Engineers. The report, originally scheduled for June, 1967, will not be released until June of 1968, a Corps representative announced.

Philip McCallister, chief of basin planning for the Corps' Detroit district, said that the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration is planning a report to be released this June on the Lake Erie basin as part of a larger "Great Lakes-Illinois River Basin Study."

If figures in the report differ from earlier available data, McAllister said, they would have to be taken into account in Corps planning. He said that this consideration prompted the decision by the Corps to put off its report for a year.

The final report of the Corps on the Huron River Basin is still scheduled for fiscal 1969.

The Mill Creek Research Council Board has also discussed the reports of Corps hearings held last year on the Southeastern Michigan Water Resources Study. Possible roles of the Huron River Watershed Council, the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission and the Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study in decision making procedures have been discussed.

MCRC Board members have also attended Corps hearings in Adrian and Detroit, Huron River Watershed Council meetings and special information committee meetings.

Mrs. Harry Denham, MCRC chairman, has prepared special visual aids which she used recently in speaking to groups in Ann Arbor, Chelsea and Dexter.

On Sunday night, Feb. 19, Mrs. Denham will participate in a public forum discussion of the Mill Creek proposal at St. Andrew's church in Dexter, from 7-9 p.m. Also participating will be Joseph Price, Washtenaw County sanitation engineer.

MCRC dues for the current fiscal year may be paid to William Chandler, treasurer, until Feb. 28, one month before the annual meeting, council officers and announced.

D. Turner's Alaska Capers Will Be Shown on Film day evening, April 22 and Saturday, May 6, in the High school auditorium at 8 p.m.

The first show will be on that part of Alaska lying along the coast of Canada's province of British Columbia. The area is known as the "inside passage" or "Alaska's panhandle." I have given this show the title "Southeast Alaska."

In this film we will follow the Alaska state ferry system from Prince Rupert, British Columbia, to Skagway, Alaska, and will visit all the ports along this 700-mile route.

There are three of these ferries—The Malispina, The Matanuska and The Taku—and each is 352 feet long and capable of carrying 108 cars and 500 passengers. They resemble ocean liners, but maneuver very well through the many narrow channels and firods, past many forest-covered islands and huge glaciers that flow into the sea.

Although this is part of the Pacific Ocean, the roll of the sea is broken by many islands. At times one can see snow-capped mountains reflected in those waters as in a small interior lake.

It is all very beautiful. Even if you do not stop at any of the ports, it is well worth the 30-hour trip just to sit back and watch the scenery go by. A sunset on this scenic route is something to behold.

It is hard to say which part of Alaska is the most scenic, or what parts of the most interest to a traveler, but I found a great contrast between southeast Alaska and the interior. The weather and climate are quite different. The size of Alaska is one reason for the contrast in climate. Alaska is larger than the three largest states of the lower 48.

"Interior Alaska" is the title of the film to be shown May 6. This show will take us from the port city of Haines on Lynn canal of southeast Alaska to the interior, where we will cross part of British Columbia and on to the port city of Valdez and the lush farming district in the Matanuska valley. After stops at Anchorage, Homer and Seward we take a trip through Mt. McKinley National Park, where huge moose, caribou and grizzly bears abound.

In Fairbanks our local portrait photographer, Ralph Guenther, joins me for a three-week bear and sheep hunt in the Brooks range of artic Alaska.

We had pretty good luck on that hunt and two beautiful Dall rams are back from the taxidermist, along with a grizzly bear rug and a wolf we bagged while on this safari. They will be on display in the lobby of the high school both nights the films are shown.

If you are interested in this sort of thing, come early and see the trophies and have a chat with Ralph or me. If you have been to Alaska, maybe you would like to compare notes; if you are planning a trip, maybe we can give you a few pointers. The Kiwanis Club Travelogue Committee predicts a complete sell-out in advanced tickets, so don't delay; get yours as soon as they go on sale, which will be shortly.

One of the local clergymen viewed part of this film and said he would like his entire family to see it. I believe this to be a good show for boys and girls, so why not include your whole family.

I was asked by a party the other day if I photographed every place I went in Alaska and I told him "no, only the places I wanted the home folks to see where I went." I guess I had better wrap this up before this typewriter gets me in trouble.

I hope to see you all on Saturday, April 22 and on May 6.

May I remain, your bearded friend,

Don Turner,
alias, The Alaska Kid.

Conservation Workers See Victory in Great Lakes Battle

Lansing—An exhilarating excitement coupled with the sweet smell of success hover like heady perfume over the Great Lakes fisheries program these days.

It's a story that tops the biggest fish tales ever told—except this one is true. Conservation leaders across the continent who have taken part in, or contributed to, this story are still a bit astounded by what has happened on the Great Lakes scene in the last few years.

But the facts, as told by Conservation Department Fish Chief Wayne H. Tody in the Novem-December issue of Michigan Conservation, are these:

1. Chemical treatment of streams to kill the destructive sea lamprey in Lakes Superior and Michigan has advanced far enough so that specialists in the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service working with the problem say they have it licked. Lake Huron stands next in line for the full treatment, with lamprey control efforts already under way there.

2. Restocking of lake trout in Lake Superior, and to some extent in Lake Michigan, has advanced far enough so that plants of fish are taking hold. Spawning has taken place in Lake Superior, and the first young crop of native, non-planted fish are now growing in the lake. Similar results are expected to follow on Lake Michigan.

3. Some 850,000 coho, or silver salmon planted last spring in one Lake Superior stream and two Lake Michigan streams, have made amazing progress. The young coho were raised in Michigan hatcheries and planted as four- to six-inch fingerlings. Within three months, several of the fish measuring over 15 inches and weighing up to two pounds had been caught in nets in Lake Michigan.

By early September, anglers were catching them on hook and line in the Platte and Manistee rivers, the two Lake Michigan streams originally planted. In the third stocked stream, the Big Huron River on Lake Superior, a small salmon run started in late September, but it never materialized like the ones on the Platte and Manistee.

On these two streams and the Manistee's tributary, Bear Creek, fishermen creeled an estimated one or two thousand or more coho this fall which averaged about three pounds in weight. The biggest reported coho taken was a hefty two-foot fish weighing about seven pounds.

If only on the strength of its tremendous growth rate, the coho promises to be one of Michigan's most outstanding fish.

GREAT LAKES VICTORY: Heads-up research and sound field work have unfolded over the Great Lakes the greatest story of fisheries success ever told. Its chapters tell of how chemical treatment of streams to kill sea lampreys has spelled victory in Lakes Superior and Michigan. Winning the same battle in Lake Huron appears to be only a matter of time. Also part of this success story is the restocking of lake trout in Lakes Superior and Michigan which shows that planted fish are taking hold. A more recent chapter headlines the introduction of coho salmon in Lakes Superior and Michigan which seem destined to be one of Michigan's most outstanding fish. Coming up next will be the Conservation Department's efforts to establish the jumbo-sized chinook (King) salmon in Great Lakes waters, starting in 1967. Fishing for both in the years ahead, Michigan's Department of Conservation, with continued federal and Canadian co-operation, is mounting bold trout and salmon promises to make increasingly spectacular sport programs to stretch this breakthrough even further.

4. This fall's runs of cohos in Michigan were made up of two-year-old fish—"jacks" as their counterparts are known on the Pacific Coast. The majority of cohos planted last spring will either be caught in the Great Lakes next summer, or will return next fall as full-fledged three-year-old "adults." From Lake Michigan, at least, the Conservation Department's early expectations of five- to nine-pound adults appear overly conservative. The fish now show promise of coming in much larger—perhaps some even of record size.

5. Most of the two-year-old fish in this year's runs were males, as was expected. The $64 question in the entire introductory attempt is, of course whether female cohos can produce fertile eggs in the Great Lakes enviroment. If they can, the success of the introduction is assured, according to Tody.

Having collected a ripe female coho in November and fertilized the eggs, the Department hopes to score a grand slam by hatching Michigan's first "native" salmon!

6. Efforts to revitalize the Great Lakes fishery received another boost within the last few weeks when the State of Washington donated more than 1,000,000 chinook, or king salmon, eggs to Michigan. Fingerling chinooks hatched from these eggs will be planted next spring in a Lake Michigan stream yet to be selected.

7. The tremendous nuisance problem of alewives glutting lakes Michigan and Huron stands to be greatly reduced if the coho and chinook salmon both become established to add to current stocks of lake trout and steelheads. The alewife, a small low-value fish, currently accounts for an estimated 90 percent of all fish, by weight, now in lakes Michigan and Huron. It is crowding out other desirable fish, such as the yellow perch and cisco. Happily, it is a natural food for both the coho and chinook.

In a nutshell, the unfolding story of success and promise suggests that fishing for both trout and salmon will continue to improve steadily during at least the next 10 years.

The Michigan Department of Conservation will continue to plant lake trout in lakes Superior and Michigan. Meanwhile, it will, with available federal aid, continue to beef up the Great Lakes fish management program in all waters.

A major program is being planned to open up new stream spawning and fishing areas. Old dams will be removed, and fish transfers and ladders will become a part of the Michigan scene. Key land areas will be acquired for public access and stream habitat protection. Whenever possible, streams will be improved for greater fish production.

On the Great Lakes, additional marinas and harbors of refuge will be added by the Waterways Commission, now a division of the Conservation Department, to accommodate the fishing fleets.

A major rebuilding of state fish hatcheries is also being planned. Not only do salmon need to be reared, but coaster brook trout and steelheads (lake-run rainbows) will be produced to step up the existing runs.

A few years in the future, the chinook offers a possibility of really superb big-game fishing.

These rapid changes now taking place in the Great Lakes are going to require long and careful consideration of how to best use the new fish resources.

It may be that commercial fishermen will be restricted to certain areas of the lakes, zoned for their use. Whatever the decision, Tody says that commercial fishing will continue to play a role in use of the total fishery.

The Department's fish chief sees the need for a Great Lakes sport fishing license to help underwrite the bold management plan for these waters.

"So far," he notes, "most of the work of lamprey control and fish introductions has been carved out of federal taxes and funds provided by Michigan inland fishermen through their license purchases."

Tody adds "This management program for the Great Lakes costs money and we think it is only right that sportsmen who benefit from it should pay their fair share through license purchases. In view of what has already been done and is being planned, it's not like asking these anglers to pay something for nothing.

"If they are required to buy licenses, these sportsmen will be getting their money's worth and more, thanks to the combined efforts of the thousands of persons who have helped restore and enhance the tremendous values found in the Great Lakes."

Pack 445 Holds Blue & Gold Banquet

Cub Scout Pack 445 held its Blue and Gold dinner at the Chelsea High school cafeteria on Feb. 11. Paul Schaible, Jr., acted as master of ceremonies. He welcomed parents, Scouts and guests.

Before the dinner the group was taken on a snake dance around the room to see displays the Cub Scouts had made. The Rev. Warner Siebert gave the invocation. A flag ceremony was led by Mrs. Robert Jacobs' Den 7 and Ralph Frisch, Sr., led some scouting songs.

A candlelight Bob Cat ceremony was held for Randy Sweeny, Barry Czarnecki and Dale Schoenberg by Frank Ray and Ralph Frisch.

Howard Haselschwardt presented the den mothers with a "thank you" certificate. Those receiving the certificates were Mrs. Loyadell Keezer, Mrs. Rosine Jacobs and Mrs. Helen Harris. He also thanked their assistants, Mrs. Czarnecki and Mrs. Lois Lantis. They also received a blue carnation flower with yellow ribbon.

Frank Ray gave recognition to the committee: Doug Sindlinger, Kaywood Lantis, Richard Keezer, Howard Haselschwardt, Ralph Frisch and Frank Ray.

Den 3 held a bus transportation skit with Brian Owings, John Simpson, Mark Boyer and John Frisch. Robert Lambert of Dexter talked about the history of the Cub Scout program.

Tenure service award pins went to Joey Keezer and Ricky Sweeny, both one year; Doug Sindlinger, one-year pin and lion book; and Matt Ray, two-year pin.

Other awards went to Don Thomson, denner bars; Ricky Sweeny, recruiter patch; John Frisch, gold arrow and lion rank; and Mike Juergen, Webelos rank. All the Cubs received a round-up patch for bringing new Cubs into the pack. Several guests were introduced, among them being the Rev. and Mrs. Warner Siebert and Steven and Pomelo Siebert from St. Paul's church; Rolland and Gretchen Spaulding, district chairman, Albert and Lydia Penhallegon, neighborhood commissioner, Robert and Donna Lambert and children, Donna, Ethel and Brian David, of Dexter, district commissioner and scoutmaster of Troop 465; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garman, scoutmaster of Troop 325; Robert Roy, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 476; and Ron Branham, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, pack sponsoring institution.

Paul Schaible, Jr., made the announcement that the next committee meeting would be held March 9 at the Kaywood Lantis home on Madison St., and the next Pack meeting March 23, with a uniform inspection.

He also thanked those who had worked on the blue and Gold banquet.

The meeting was closed with the Cub Scouts in a circle giving the Cub Scout oath.

ON SAFETY RULES

Congressional leaders plan to look further at newly adopted federal auto safety standards. The 20 federal standard rules were modified versions which the agency proposed earlier.

Homemaking Hints

Planning a home work schedule is well worth the effort. A few minutes spent in thoughtful planning ahead of time will result in improved work patterns and a saving of misdirectd energy. Plan by the day, week, or month, whichever is best for you and your family.

When you shop for clothing, include sizes and preferences for various items. Do this for each person on your list. It may be helpful to keep an up-to-date record of sizes on a card in your billfold or handbag.

The know-how is less impor
than the do-it-now.

The Right Ingredients

"Where fine cuisine is concerend, the "extra" touch of the expert chef often makes a lot of difference.

In cooking as in most other endeavors, there are few substitutes for knowledge and experience. The trained chef has learned that all of the little things are important to the ultimate finished product.

The successful businessman or merchant also has a formula for success. He has learned through experience that "little things" do count—such things as quality products and services, fair prices, guaranteed satisfaction.

When you stop to think about it, these aren't such "little" things after all. They're rather important. And, it just makes good sense to trade where these things are a part of everyday service.

Michigan must wake up and compete. We presently are striving to get our State Commerce, Agriculture and Tourist Departments more fully involved with greater legislative support. We would like a goal of four Michigan industry-organized trade missions within the next fiscal year. Groundwork has been laid and this can be done.

Always bear in mind that Michigan's major exporters—our great industrial giants are among the world's most sophisticated exporters. Its the small land medium sized business in Michigan that has untapped sources of foreign sales awaiting.

I am fully committed to doing all in my power to promote greater Michigan participation in these overseas markets.

New Telephone Exchange Ready To Serve Parts of Ann Arbor-Ypsi Area

A new Michigan Bell central office exchange designed to serve the eastern part of the Ann Arbor exchange and the western part of the Ypsilanti exchange will be cut into service beginning Monday morning, Feb. 20.

Ann Arbor telephones connected to this new office will have telephone numbers beginning with the prefix "971," while Ypsilanti telephones connected to the office will have the prefix "434."

N. J. Prakken, manager of Michigan Bell in this area, said that when the cutover is completed, 1,547 Ann Arbor and 261 Ypsilanti customers will be served from the new office, located on Packard Rd. near Carpenter Rd. The office is equipped to eventually serve 5,000 customers, he added.

Prakken said that customers served from the new office will have the same calling privileges as they have today, and that no rate changes would be involved.

The cutover is scheduled to be complete by March 4. Approximately 250 telephones will be changed each day, and as the telephones are cut over, the telephone numbers will be changed. Calls to the changed number will be transferred by the operator who will advise the calling party of the new number, Prakken said.

The new central office exchange, a $2,060,000 project, was begun in June of last year and is being completed on schedule, Prakken said. The office was necessary because of the unprecedented growth of the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area, he added.

Hustling JVs Still Manage To Lose Twice

The Chelsea Junior-Varsity basketball team went down to defeat twice the past week-end, falling victim to the tight man-to-man presses of both Dexter and Dundee.

Dexter, in playing a hustling, tenacious defense, handed Chelsea its worst defeat of the season, allowing Chelsea only 35 points while netting 58 for themselves. The Dexter press kept Chelsea off balance all during the second half, caused numerous ball control errors, and kept Chelsea from "finding the range." Chelsea hit a mere 24 percent from the floor, while Dexter connected at a rate of 3[illegible] percent, giving Dexter nine more baskets.

Chelsea failed to get a man in double figures while three were in double figures for Dexter with a fourth scoring nine.

Holliday was high for Chelsea with nine and Blackwell scored eight. Holliday and Schnaidt did a fine job on the boards for Chelsea, each grabbing 15 rebounds.

Saturday night the Chelsea quintet played a much better game, committing only 15 turnovers and connecting on 38 percent of their shots from the floor, but this wasn't good enough. Dundee's pressing, alert defense and fast breaking, sharp-shooting offense proved to be a too powerful attack for the improved Chelsea team. Chelsea led at half-time 33-29, but Dundee came on even stronger in the second half, taking the lead and the victory, 57-46. Lance Burghardt was the only Chelsea player in double figures, goaling 16, but Holliday, Schnaidt and Blackwell each contributed nine.

Chelsea is now 3 and 5 in conference play, and 5 and 6 over-all.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

By mid-winter a diet of pork and beans became a little tiresome. So, on a Sunday, lumberjacks would cut holes through the ice on a beaver pond and yank out brook trout, using deer liver for bait.

(By the way, they didn't call themselves "lumberjacks" in those days. They were shanty-boys. Lumberjack was invented sometime in the present century by a highbanker, a clover-kicker, and ink-slinger of some kind.)

What brings up this subject, shocking as it must be to every ethical trout firsherman, is a report on the opening of trout season on many Ontario waters, Feb. 26, a Sunday as it happens.

From the latest issue of the Ontario Fish and Wildlife Review, received from the Toronto offices of the Hon. A. Kelso Roberts, Minister, Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, we learn that native brook trout—fontinalis—in remote lakes, back in what Canadians call the "bush"—grow big and fat and die of so-called natural causes without benefit of hook-and-line. Many of these lakes were too hard to get to, so a rich supply of brook trout went unharvested.

But, not any more. Comes the snow tohoggan, motor propelled, and isolated lakes and ponds, too small for plane landings, became fishable, therefore the winter trout season.

Snow toboggans travel in teams, in case one of them breaks down. Also, the mid-winter anglers tote snowshoes, sleeping bags and grub, and some of them, no doubt, tuck in what is known in Upper Canada as a jug or crock, for relief of chills. An axe is an item of standard equipment. A roaring fire is kindled out on the ice. Camp coffee is brewed.

(Bring to rolling boil, take from fire until boiling ceases. Put back on fire. Repeat three times. Pour cold water down spout to settle grounds.)

One of the features of a 20-below picnic is a meal of brook trout, served within minutes after leaving the cold depths of the lake.

A report of one of these expeditions shows a tally of 10 trout, averaging between two and three pounds. Wilderness trout are ravenous minnows are the preferred lure and the fish are unsophisticated. There are no unfished trout lakes in Michigan; no possibility of a mid-winter trout season.

The winter wilderness has a fascination that has to be experienced to be understood. The snow records every movement of furred animals. A display of northern lights, in full color, is to be expected after dark. Freezing tree trunks bang like rifle shots. Barred owls hoot, ravens croak, and if you're lucky, wolves sing for you.

In all other snowy regions, the power sled is having almost as much impact on outdoor living as the outboard motor. Like every other technological advance, changes wrought by the snowmobile are not all beneficial. Dog teams of Canadian trappers are being displaced for one thing. Also, hunters and trappers are getting into back country that had been a wildlife refuge simply because no one cared to hike into it. But now, in mid-winter, the snowmobile carries the menace of man into the wildest, most rugged, most formidable terrain.

A snowmobile can get a man into bad trouble. Fred Bear, Michigan's famous archery professional, acquired a bulky plaster cast when a snowmobile bucked on him. And, of course, a snowmobile could transport a man two day's snowshoe journey in two hours, then conk out and leave the traveller marooned far from home and grocery store. That's why snow motorists travel in pairs.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION .....

by M. L. Woell

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ More Headaches

New bookkeeping headaches have been added to the farming business and experts predict that one long-range result will be less food produced at higher consumer costs.

Assuring the headaches are countless new state and federal laws dealing with agriculture.

Last year Congress passed an amendment to the federal minimum wage law to include agriculture—with an effective date of Feb. 1, 1967. Meanwhile the Michigan legislature enacted a Workmen's Compensation law also including agriculture, with an effective date of May 1, 1967. Obviously, bookkeeping will be a major farm chore.

The U. S. Department of Labor has released the rules governing new records which farmers must keep to comply with the federal law on minimum wages. It becomes plain that any farmer who employs, or is likely to employ, or who may even come close to employing 500-man-days of labor in any quarter year, must keep detailed records on his employees and their earnings—whether they are covered or not.

Needed will be: (1) name in full, as used on social security information; (2) home address, including zip code; (3) sex and occupation; (4) symbols to show whether worker is (a) member of immediate family, (b) "hand-harvest" labor, or (c) employee working in the range-production of livestock, and (5) the number of man-days worked monthly.

For the entire year there must be a record of time of day and day of week which each employee worked; basis of wages (such as $1.50 per hour, or $15 per day, or piece-work); hours worked each workday and total worked each week; total daily or weekly earnings; total additions or deductions from wages paid each pay-period; total paid each payperiod; and date of payment and pay-period covered by payment.

Some of these same records will apply to the new Michigan Workmen's Compensation law, with several records of even greater detail also expected. Required is a strict accounting of not only actual wages but "other remuneration" as well. This includes the value of such things as furnished housing, garden, meat, milk and eggs used.

If all the record keeping means that farmers must hire somebody to do it, they must keep the records on that new employees too.

Intensely bitter about these costly, confusing new procedures, farmers predict the end result will be much lower quality food at much higher prices.

Farmers Will Find Soil Is Well Soaked

When the snow cover melts and the Michigan farmers start thinking about spring planting of crops, they will look at a soil well soaked with late fall moisture.

A survey of authorities from the U. S. Weather Bureau, Soil Conservation Service, and Michigan State University indicates that the late fall rains and snows prior to ground freeze, soaked into the soil. Although in many areas of the state the 1966 total moisture was below average, the subsoil moisture situation will be good for farmers this spring.

Farmers working poorly drained soil may find it too good.

Michigan's larger winter wheat acreage went under snow cover December in excellent condition with good root growth in most areas of the state. Orchards likewise got plenty of moisture the fall to replace the depleted supply due to light mid-summer rains, crop authorities say.

Every one of us should make a mental duty every year to study some new subject. Brains never develop without study.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WASHTENAW

In the Matter of the Complaint of ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw:

ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the State Treasurer of the State of Michigan and makes and files this complaint under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, Act No. 126 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended and Act No. 380 of P.A. 1965, as amended.

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above-mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent; and the description of all lands in said county which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of Act 126, P.A. 1933, as amended.

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $3.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule against each parcel of land therein described constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which extended in favor of the people of the State of Michigan, the payment of which lien this court may enforce as a preferred or first claim upon such lands by the sale thereof.

Wherefore your plaintiff prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and adjudge that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein extended;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final judgment in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said judgment provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands in said schedule, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount adjudged against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your plaintiff may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable.

And your plaintiff will ever pray, etc.
ALLISON GREEN, State Treasurer of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

Just A Minute . . .

By the Rev. James A. Craig

A recent article by the Board chairman of a large American corporation claimed there should be no conflict between Sunday morning and Monday morning for the businessman. If this is to be so, the Church will have to provide more help.

Business and its problems exist within a moral climate. Businessmen have to deal with them subject to a wide variety of pressures.

What is critical is the moral climate within which we live and work. Interestingly enough, church conversations with businessmen have been criticized because the church talks about morality.

The Christian businessman, like any other Christian, is subject to the law and the gospel of Christ. The law requires that his righteousness shall exceed the standard of any other.

By all means let us talk about business standards in a day of excess profits taxes and truth-in-lending and truth-in-packaging legislation and automotive safety legislation and anti-trust legislation; let us talk of the morality involved when corporation executives serve jail sentences for price-fixing; when companies are prosecuted and fined for false and misleading advertising; when products are marketed without adequate research into their long-term effect and possible side-effects.

What better topic during lent when covetousness and acquisitiveness are hallmarks of advertising and a sharp deal is what most people are looking for.

What better topic for a period of personal self-examination than the business ethics by which we live and which we have accepted, no matter how conflicting they may be with the faith widely proclaimed.

BIBLE VERSE TO STUDY

"It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

1. Who spoke these words?
2. To whom were they addressed?
3. Where did the conversation occur?
4. Where may it be found in the Bible?

PLANT LIGHT

Plants generate electricity in tiny amounts. But it would take about 100 billion bean plant roots to produce enough current to light a 100-watt bulb.

NO TAKERS: Pretty 19-year-old Carolyn Obenour, a clerk at Automobile Club of Michigan's Detroit office, uses some of her unsold license plates to point out that sales across the state are over 25 percent below last year's pace. Feb. 28 is the deadline for having 1967 plates attached to automobiles. Last-day plate buyers are expected to form the langest lines in recent years unless sales begin to increase soon, Auto Club states. In order to purchase 1967 plates, motorists must show either 1966 car, registration or title, plus proof of insurance. Proof of insurance can be either a certificate from the insurance company or an insurance policy showing coverage. In addition to the cost of plates, motorists with proof of insurance must pay $1 into the uninsured motorist fund. Those without proof must pay $35 into the fund, plus the cost of plates.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HOPE

It may not be completely true that it is always darkest just before dawn, but one can always find a reason to hope.

We must have faith. In faith one finds the strength to endure, to persevere and, once the decision is made to stand fast, misfortune and trouble are more easily recognized as something less than permanent.

Hope lies in God's promise of forgiveness, in the realization that God is with us always. Troubles that appear impossible to the weak are not necessarily easy for the strong. But the strong, because they have the faith to endure, can live a life of purpose and find some measure of victory in what otherwise would be hopeless defeat.

Area Peace Corps Placement Test Slated Saturday

Area residents intereted in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 18, at Civil Service Room, U. S. Post Office, Downtown Station, 220 N. Main St., Ann Arbor.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achivement. (If test scores indicate a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country). The Placement Test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the Placement Test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an applicaton, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

The Placement Test takes about one hour and a half.

Some men honor the positions they hold; others are supported by their positions.

Agricultural Exports Hit New High in 1966

The total value of U. S. agricultural exports reached an all-time high of $6.5 billion in 1966 according to Carl Eicher, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Eicher reported that the U. S., which is the world's largest exporter of agricultural products, sent about one-fourth of these exports overseas under the Food for Peace programs.

"Since 1954, this country has exported $16 billion of food under these programs," the economist pointed out. "This represents nearly one-third of our total agricultural exports."

The largest recipient of U. S. agricultural surpluses is India. In 1966, said Eicher, India received more than eight million tons of U.S. grains, primarily wheat.

The well-rounded adult has often forgotten the value of recreation which is even more important to adults than active youngsters.

Mailing Income Tax Return to Correct Address Speeds Refund

Detroit —Do you have a refund due on your 1966 Federal income tax return? By mailing it to the correct address, you will help speed the processing and refunding procedures involved by eliminating one handling operation.

This announcement was made today by A. M. Stoepler, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan.

The mailing address for Michigan taxpayers is: Internal Revenue Service Center, Central Region, Cincinnati, Ohio 45298. A return envelope for this purpose is included with your tax form package.

Certain common errors and omissions cause delays in processing and refunds, Stoepler said.

Before mailing returns, the District Director advises taxpayers to be sure all Forms W-2 are attached, the return is properly signed (both husband and wife must sign a joint return), social security numbers are entered correctly and names and addresses are printed clearly.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

Last week I introduced a Resolution in the House of Representatives which will create a special committee to study student activities on Michigan campuses.

As a member of the Michigan Legislature representing the 51st District, I have become increasingly troubled by the activities of some students attending state supported Universities. "Students for a Democratic Society (a student organization) members and fellow travelers appear to have gained effective control of U-M student publications and student government, since the actions and positions taken by that government and the editorials and slanted news stories seen in those publications vary in no discernible degree from the SDS line.

I believe the time has come when we of the Michigan State Legislature must take a hard-nosed look at recent events and investigate the existing situation thoroughly.

The fact that state-provided facilities have repeatedly been used for 'sit-ins' and 'teach-ins' and other demonstrations staged in opposition to this nation's military struggle in Vietnam may not be overly alarming to many. Even the fact that university property has been utilized for 'workshops' on the subject of selective service, workshops that might be described as draft-dodging seminars, may be dismissed by some.

But I defy anyone to dismiss lightly the fact that, on at least one occasion, the facilities of a state-supported university—specifically the University of Michigan Teach-in—were actually used for the solicitation of funds to be turned over to the Viet Cong.

In the absence of a Congressional declaration of war, this direct aid to an active opponent of the armed forces of the United States may not be technicllly classified as treason. But clearly enough, this is not for any lack of the basic raw material of which treason is made.

After extreme patience with disruptive demonstrations made in protest of the Vietnam conflict and the draft laws, the U-M administration recently announced that sit-ins that intered with the proper business of the Universites would not be permitted. This was not a new policy, but merely a reminder of a permanent policy that should have been self-evident. It did not ban demonstrations, but simply reminded demonstrators that they could could not curtail or hinder the essential processes of education.

Yet in response to this announcement, the U-M student government, which enjoys a substantial operating appropriation of more than $20,000, immediately broke off relations with the University administration.

A short time ago, a division of this same state-supported student government sponsored, in university facilities, the showing of a film depicting not only nudity but various sex perversions, which was regarded as obscene by the police of Ann Arbor and the prosecutor of Washtenaw county and accordingly confiscated under the laws of the State of Michigan. A group of students immediately staged another sit-in demonstration and then demanded that the U-M provide attorneys for those responsible for the selection of this film. When this demand was refused a University vice-president was publically and vehemently cursed by a ringleader of the group, who was identified in the local press as a member of the previously-mentined "Students for a Democratic Society." Reportedly, this individual was not even a student.

Furthermore, these distrubances all fit the pattern of a plan of action, a 'working paper' prepared for the national SDS convention at Clear Lake, Ia., in August of 1966. And the clearly stated purpose of this plan is to gain control, through disruption and harrassment, of vital processes of education, and to turn our universities into radical political enclaves.

It is perhaps significant that, very recently, a University of Michigan faculty member testified on the basis of numerous student reports, that various illegal drugs, including LSD, are readily available on the U-M campus, and that the proceeds from the sale of such drugs are used to finance so-called 'peace' activities in rpotest of the Vietnam conflict.

This situation poses an ominous threat to the academic freedom and the quality of education offered at our state-supported institutions of higher learning, and is repugnant to the very great majority of Michigan citizens, upon whom the very existence of those institutions depends.

Can we in good conscience ask the people of Michigan to pay a new income-tax—the requirement for which arises chiefly from the needs of education—if any portion of the proceeds will serve to support not only activities which shock any normal sense of morality but also such activitities as the use of state-provided facilities for draft-dodging seminars and even the solicitation of funds for the Viet Cong, activities that can only be called de facto treason?

I believe that true academic freedom means giving students who are no longer minors exactly the same privileges and responsibilities as any other citizen no more and no less. Accordingly, I believe that students of leftist inclinations should have the right to engage in whatever legal political and journalistic activities they wish. But I do not believe we have the right to sponsor those activities, with the taxpayers' money, when they are dominated by a small minority that is less interested in learning than in promoting philosophies that are foreign to the great majority of citizens we represent.

It is interesting to note, that the SDS has steadfastly attacked, in the working paper you distributed and elsewhere, any thought that a university should serve in loco parentis for its students. Male SDS members have long demanded, for example, that they be allowed to entertain co-eds behind closed doors, in the bedrooms of their taxpayer-provided dormitories. (A demand, incidentally, that the U-M has begun granting, which leaves on wondering if the State of Michigan could legally be made the co-defendant of a paternity suit brought by some luckless 17-year-old's parents; it might be well to request an opinion from Attorney General Kelly on this.) Yet when students are held accountable for their actions under the law, SDS immediately demands, with profane indignation, that the University be very much in loco parentis—in place of an extremely permissive parent with a bank account big enough to hire the best lawyers.

Governor George Romney, in denouncing "the dusty doctrine of states' rights, had reminded us that "states have no rights, or responsibilities."

We must institute the means of raising revenue and determine the destination of that revenue have a very basic responsibility to the people we represent—the responsibility for all that is involved in or evolves from the expenditure of their money.

The doctrine of university autonomy has been honored far more literally here than in most states. In California, for example, various governmental representatives are ex officio members of boards of regents. But if and when this doctrine interferes with our responsibilities to the citizens of Michigan, then it too has become dusty.

Speaker Tells Annual Meeting Group Church Must Be Flexible

At a dinner meeting in the University of Michigan Union on Feb. 7, the Very Rev. Msgr. John A. Trese, director of the Archdiocesan Opportunity Program based in Detroit spoke before those assembled for the annual dinner of the Catholic Social Services.

Speaking on "The Role of the Church in the Social Order of the Modern World," Msgr. Trese stated that the church can no longer remain static in its attitude toward social problems, but must change with the times. "Innovations and new approaches" are necessary, he said. "We've got to stay on our feet."

Awards were made to the adoptive and foster families of the year.

Miss Marguerite Parrish, executive director, announced an increase in organizational activities.

The dinner followed a reception also held in the Union.

A compliment remains the best way in insuring cooperation.

THIS IS SNOWMOBILE COUNTRY: When Jack Weller, supervisor for the Waterloo Recreation Area, found more than a foot of snow on the ground he decided it was time to lay out a snowmobile trail so that area residents could legally operate the vehicles in the Area. He borrowed a snowmobile and spent most of the day Monday setting up a four-mile trail. The trail should be open by this week-end and will be well marked. Snowmobiles must stay on the trail. A parking lot has been cleared. The trail begins and ends about one mile north of Waterloo Rd. on Roe Rd. Weller said signs will mark the spot.

Washtenaw Beef Tour Set March 1 In Jackson County

The 1967 Washtenaw Beef Tour will be held on March 1, in Jackson county. The morning stop will be at 10:30 a.m. at the Floyd Barnes farm on Cross Rd., Horton. This stop features a 110-head Angus breeding herd including 70 cows making maximum use of non-tillage land with minimum investment in facilities. He also feeds out 150 steers in an auger bunk.

Noon lunch will be served at the Concord Methodist church. Dr. John Ferris, Agricultural Economist, Michian State University will speak on "Using Beef and Grain Futures To Hedge Your Business."

The afternoon stop will be at 1:30 p.m. at the Lyle Cuningham farm on Little Rod, Concord. This is a completely remodeled system with a capacity of 2,500 head per year. There are 1,500 cattle on feed at present. Corn silage (7,000 tons) is stored in a 90'x240'x16' horizontal silo with a mechanical unloader. High moisture shelled corn is stored in one 20'x60' and two 24'x60' tower silos. Cattle are fed in fence line bunks. One 50'x240' shed and two 60x240' sheds house the cattle with no outside lots.

Detailed directions to the tour stops may be obtained by contacting the Co-operative Extension Service in the County Building, Ann Arbor.

PERSONAL INCOME UP

The Commerce Department reports the personal income increase in 1966 made the biggest jump in 15 years. Individual income rose 8.5 percent from 1965, but inflation claimed a good part of the increase, the department said.

State Bred Gilt Boar Sale Slated Feb. 23

The annual Michigan Bred Gilt and Boar Sale will be held at the Livestock Pavilion, Michigan State University, on Thursday, Feb. 23. Approximately 50 bred gilts from some of Michigan's finest herds will be offered for sale according to Edward C. Miller, MSU extension swine specialist. All major breeds will be available.

The favorable hog prices has brought about a big demand for breeding animals, Washtenaw County Extension Agent Bob McCrory says now is a good time to cull poor producing sows and replace them with good meat-type gilts.

In addition to the bred gilts, several production tested boars will be auctioned. All the boars are littermates to hogs tested at the Michigan State Univesity Swine Evaluation Center.

Information on rate of gain, feed efficiency and carcass evaluation of the animals will be available at the time of sale. The qualification for sale requires that all animals meet minimum standards for back fat, length, loin and eye area and weight for age.

Miller points out that the cost of a good herd sire represents a very small percentage of the total cost per pig farrowed. "If a boar costing $200, sires 40 litters per year, the cost per pig produce is about 50 cents. The boars at the state sale will be ready for service this spring.

"There is no substitution for good breeding stock. The quality of market hogs from a commercial feed lot will depend to a large extent on the quality of boars used during the past two or three seasons," Miller explained.

Livestock Banquet Scheduled March 1 At Chelsea High

The Washtenaw County Livestock Banquet will be held on Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. at Chelsea High School. Following a roast beef dinner, Mort Neff of "Michigan Outdoors" will present a program based on his experiences.

To complete the program, door prizes, contributed by county merchants will be given to lucky ticket holders.

Tickets are available from all Livestock Council members, including Leroy Heller, Carl Heller, Reuben Lesser, Jr., John Brooks, Lloyd Grau and Loren Koengeter of Chelsea, Bill Nixon, Art Doletzky and Carl Lesser of Dexter, Lee Talladay of Milan, Herb Diuble of Ann Arbor and Robert Mannisto of Plymouth.

Decisions. Decisions. Decisions.

(May we help you with an important one?)

Your choice of a heating system is one you'll live with for a long time. So, naturally, you'll want to make sure you get a system that won't cost too much to own. That's where our new electric heat guarantee comes in.

Here's how it works: We'll see that you get a written estimate of heating costs—before you buy. Then, your monthly bills may be less, but they won't be one cent higher than the estimate. We guarantee it.

If the installation needs adjustments to meet the guaranteed cost figure, we'll see that it's done. And if at the end of three complete, consecutive heating seasons the system is still not operating within our estimate, we'll remove it and refund your money.

Before you make any more important modernizing decisions, get the facts on modern electric heat. You can't lose!

The council wishes to make known that in the future all requests for zoning, zoning variances, and annexation to the Village of Chelsea should be submitted to the Village Planning Commission. All requests must be submitted in duplicate to the secretary of the Planning Commission, Mr. William Chandler, 765 Howard Rd., Chelsea, Telephone 475-8578.

A discussion was held with Mr. Leon Meabon regarding the zoning in the Restricted Business District. Mr. Meabon was informed of the wishes of the council, and was requested to conform to the zoning as stipulated in Village Ordinance No. 55A and 55B.

A discussion was held with Police Chief, John Palmer regarding failure of many people to remove the snow and ice from the sidewalks adjacent to their homes or vacant property which they might own. It is obvious to everyone that this has been an exceptionally severe winter, and has presented many snow and ice problems for village residents. In the recent past mild years has minimized the snow and ice removal, and the danger of accidents has been slight. It should be obvious to all the village residents that this is a community problem, and the council is asking the cooperation of all residents in this regard.

Motion by Bollinger, supported by Schaible, to authorize the Village President and Village Clerk to enter into an agreement with the Michigan State Highway Department for the construction of curb, gutter and sidewalk on North Main Street from East Middle to Jackson Street. NEUSCHWANSTEIN CASTLE, known as King Ludwig's fairy tale castle, is only one of the many historic landmarks along the Rhine which are included in the Kiwanis-sponsored travelogue, "The Valley of the Rhine." The program will be presented Saturday evening, Feb. 18, at Chelsea High school auditorium. Narrator will be Clifford J. Kamen.

'Valley of the Rhine' Travel Film Set Saturday Evening

CLIFFORD J. KAMEN

Clifford J. Kamen will present his new all-color film program, "The Valley of the Rhine" at Chelsea High school auditorium Saturday evening, Feb. 18. It is the fourth of the 1966-67 series of Kiwanis-sponsored travelogues.

Kamen's unique cobination of academic studies, travel experience, photographic and art training, and speaking ability make him outstanding among travel film lecturers. He speaks regularly for such major audiences as the National Geographic Society, New York Town Hall and other leading lecture courses as well as for numerous university and private groups.

Kamen is also one of the few accredited to produce educational films for Encyclopaedia Britannica Films for television and classroom distribution.

"The Valley of the Rhine" is a dramatic blend of scenic grandeur, colorful people, significant history, and vibrant commerce.

Of all the world's great rivers, none has played a more important role in the development of civilization than the Rhine. Shown is the Rhine's source beneath a high Swiss mountain glacier. The stream grows to impressive size before entering beautiful Lake Constance. It flows through scenic Alpine foothills to Basel, then shares its banks with Germany and France for 100 miles. In Germany, Heidelberg and its famous University, Mainz, the spectacular wine district, and Cologne with its celebrated cathedral, are some of the program highlights.

A trip on a Rhine steamer with picturesque castles and the rock of the Lorelei; quaint villages which give way to industry and Dusseldorf, Duisberg and Essen, part of a manufacturing complex and one of the most productive on earth, all are clearly shown and described.

Below Germany, the Rhine broadens and winds across the flat lands of Holland and at the mouth of the river, Rotterdam has grown to be the world's second greatest seaport.

The distance from its source in the Alpine glacier to Rotterdam covers only 820 miles, but in that short distance is found a great variety of beauty, charm and human activity like none other on earth, according to Kamen.

Snakes in the Basement? Just Throw Them Out!

Linda Bauer was on a routine mission to the basement for a jar of pickles Friday night, in her bare feet, when she looked down and a two-foot milk snake slithered between her toes.

Her family caged the beast and at last report hadn't decided just what to do with it.

Conservation Officer Don Boyer said that snakes often crawl into wells, deep holes or basements during the winter for warmth. They are just looking for a place to sleep, he claims.

If you should find a snake sleeping in your basement and you don't want to provide lodging for the winter, just throw him out in the snow, Boyer advises.

Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bauer, 375 Freer Rd.

Sun Running Behind Clocks By 14 Minutes

Ann Arbor — It's earlier than you think—about 14 minutes earlier—but don't reset your watch.

According to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh, our clocks are built to show time based upon the movement of the sun, but the sun is not a steady timekeeper. It does not move at a constant rate.

The sun "runs slow and fast alternately, but in a regular and predictable fashion," she said. "Right now, the sun happens to be running slowest."

It seems that in addition to our moving around the sun, the sun itself moves in an ecliptical path. When it reaches a certain area in that path, it slows down.

"This is the time of the year when the sun shows change of pace," said Prof. Losh. "The differences between the times as indicated by the sun and our clocks are greater now than a tany ot time of the year.

"At the present time our mean time clocks are ahead of the sun as much as 14 minutes," even allowing for the correction for Eastern Standard time.

We are also at the time of the year, according to Prof. Losh, when the earth's heating has not quite overtaken its rate of cooling. Therefore, it is a mistake to think that the longer days necessarily mean warmer weather.

As a matter of fact, we are now in the coldest time of the year because of something astronomers call the "lag of the season."

"For a period after the winter solstice (Dec. 22, after which the days grow longer) the northern hemisphere loses more heat at night than can be replaced by the sun during the shorter-than-average days, and the temperatures will continue to drop."

Wheat, Feed Grain Sign-Up Period Extends to Mar. 17

The Wheat and Feed Grain Program sign-up period has been extended for Michigan, according to Earl Doletzky, chairman of the Washtenaw ASC County Committee. The previous closing date was March 3. The final date for Michigan is now March 17.

The state committee has determined a sign-up period which will insure that all farmers have an opportunity to discuss the programs with ASC county office people and make up their minds about taking part. In some counties where there are large numbers of farms, there were not enough hours available in the original sign-up period to accommodate all farmers in the county offices. Also, bad weather in some areas made a revision necessary.

Sign-up is the essential first step toward participation in a farm program. No further extension is anticipated; therefore, farmers should not wait until the last minute to enroll. The final date of March 3 to sign up in the Cropland Adjustment Program was not changed in view of the fact that present requests under this program generally have already exceeded available funds.

Farm program officials point out that the United States has more cropland than is currently needed to meet demand for crops. However, the nations wheat acreage allotment for 1967 is nearly a third larger than for 1966, and the feed grain program aims to divert only about half as many acres as in 1966. The wheat program offers no diversion payments, and the feed grain program offers diversion payments only to small farmers. Even though acreage diversion goals vary from one program to another, farm program officials emphasize that the law makes the programs available to all farmers.

THE LETTERBOX

Dear Editor:

To Mr. Lewis — I have no children in school yet! We have two that will go to school as soon as they are old enough. So I think we have something to say about this 11 or 12 months of school. I came from a family of six children and my mom used to always say summer vacation put a new face on her, and we kids sure looked forward to it too.

Why not stop having children and make machines instead? That's what the older people are becoming.

As far as our taxes are concerned, we all agree they can't get much worse. The only thing that's free today in the USA is air, and that's beginning to take lives.

Why not put on dancing and card playing? And maybe the adults will save the day, why take it out on the kids.

A Pre-school Mother.

Senator Philip A. Hart's REPORT from WASHINGTON

★ A Tax Increase? Make It Do Two Jobs . . .

The University of Michigan periodically sends out interviewers to take the temperature of the American consumer, keeping a sort of fever chart of his rising and falling expectations for personal prosperity.

The latest survey shows that the buying public's spirits have been on the decline for nine months, consumers apparently seeing nothing cheery about high prices and high interest rates.

There has been a leveling off lately but only—the surveyors report—because the consumer "is becoming accustomed to bad news."

This is sobering news to a politician who had planned to write a newsletter on taxes.

If he suggests a new tax burden on the general public, he will be as popular as a general announcing short rations to exhausted troops.

If he suggests that the Interla Revenue Service aim its guns away from the consumer, someone will accuse him of adjusting economic theory to gain popular appeal.

But two years of study by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, which I chair, force me to what may appear to some an uncourageous conclusion—that it would be a mistake to put a new tax bite on the private individual and the small businessman.

Neither should we cut down on that 10 cents of every federal dollar that is spent on domestic programs. For my money, the war on poverty, crime, air and water pollution, poor education, and inadequate housing is just as important as defending democracy abroad.

At this point, a legitimate question might be, "All right, then what would you propose if it becomes clear that more tax money is needed?"

Unhappily for anyone who asks that question, the answer is a lecture in economics which is not entirely without tedium. But the facts as I see them are these:

1. There is an accelerating merger movement in the nation that is rapidly diminishing the number of competitors in many basic industries.

2. Price competition remains the one factor that consumers must depend on most for low prices, but . . .

3. Competition in many industries has diminished to the point where one corporation sets price to reach a target profit and the others follow along with demand playing little role in the decision.

4. Partly as a consequence of this, corporate profits have climbed by 88 percent in the past nine years.

5. Also as a consequence of this, a general tax increase could result in a business slowdown without having much effect on high prices.

6. In 10 years at the present rate, 200 firms will own two-thirds of the nation's manufacturing assets, a trend that seems to many very undesirable, and . . .

7. One effective way to discourage a trend is to make it expensive.

This leads me to the conclusion that the best way to raise any added revenue we might need is to take a larger slice of corporate profits in concentrated industries.

The program might be coupled with a provision that softens the tax blow to firms that cut prices.

Certainly, there will be arguments against the plan. Its targets will argue—with some justification — that corporate growth shouldn't be penalized by high taxes.

Understandably, stockholders too may feel wounded. But they would be hit only a glancing blow since no more than 40 percent of national corporate profits are distributed in dividends.

Still, in balance, I believe a damper on industrial concentration is a prudent long-range course — even from a business point of view.

Because as competition fades as a force for lower prices, it will almost certainly be replaced by government wage and price controls. And I find this a very disagreeable prospect.

Meanwhile, I am discussing the idea with leaders in the House and Senate. Consumer optimism in this country certainly cannot hope to flourish unless competiton does.

Conservation Law Violators Appear In Area Courts

Four men charged with conservation law violations in this area appeared in court last week.

Lester R. Rudd, 33, of North Territorial Rd., was arrested Jan. 23 and had an examination on a charge of larceny of walnut logs from state land in Municipal court, Ann Arbor, before Judge S. J. Elden, Feb. 8. He was bound over to Circuit Court for an appearance Feb. 17. Rudd is now free on $500 bond set by the court.

Delbert F. White, 55, of Stockbridge, appeared before C. A. Rogers, Sylvan township justice, charged with carrying a loaded gun in an automobile on Feb. 4. He pleaded guilty to the charge and paid fine and costs of $35.

Virgil J. Thomas, 40, of Warren, was apprehended on the complaint of a farmer Feb. 4 in Freedom township. He pleaded guilty last Saturday before Justice Rogers to a charge of carrying an uncased gun in an automobile. He paid fine and costs of $35.

Richard F. Russeau, 35, of Lakeland, was arrested last week for a Jan. 15 offense. He pleaded guilty before Justice Rogers to a charge of carrying a loaded gun in an automobile, and paid $20 fine and costs.

A smile can do more than money, work or words on many occasions.
