THE LANSING REPORT

FROM

GIL BURSLEY

So many persons have written me on specific legislative subjects that I will comment briefly on some.

DAYLIGHT vs. STANDARD TIME. Although a bill has been passed by the legislature and signed by the Governor, keeping us on standard time there is a constitutional provision which can delay the effectiveness of this act which may come into play.

Article II, Section 9, of the Michigan Constitution provides for a referendum on a law when a specified number of citizens sign petitions within 90 days of the close of the legislative session.

This action is being undertaken by supporters of Daylight Time who are out to gather 125,000 signatures. If such signatures are obtained and certified by the State Board of Canvassers Michigan will be on Daylight time this summer and next summer, awaiting the result of the public vote on the proposed Standard Time law at the general election in November, 1936.

U. S. CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION: Efforts are being made to invoke a heretofore unused provision of the United States Constitution to call a national constitutional convention on the basis of resolutions adopted by three-fourths of the state legislatures. Purpose of the convention would be to permit one house of a state legislature to be appointed on other than population factors. 32 states have already taken such action. Apart from the merits of the proposal there are some grave dangers inherent in the calling of such a convention. There is apparently no provision limiting the subjects that could be covered at such a convention. I would hate to see the entire United States constitution opened up to possible revision—particularly since there is no provision as to how the delegates to the convention would be chosen, etc. Any decisions adopted would, of course, still be subject to ratification by 3/4 of the states.

Wasting Effort

Prevailing concept of traffic safety shortcomings, dictated from Washington, is missing the meat of the problem, says the Automobile Club of Michigan.

In Washington focus of blame is car manufacturers for the rising rates of traffic accidents and fatalities. Laws aimed at making autos safer and requiring states to implement these with other programs are either on the books or in the making.

Michigan's Auto Club conducted a unique study of about 20 percent of the fatal accidents which occurred in the state last year. Published as "How to Bring MORE Back Alive" the 61-page report pins down several major causes, primarily law violations. The condition of the vehicle was not the obvious or direct cause of any of the deaths.

Basic law violations, at 89 percent, stood out as the most frequent cause of fatal crashes, other major causes were alcohol (involved in at least 44 percent of the accidents), drivers with bad records, and speed excessive for road conditions or the driver's ability.

A disproportionately large number of inexperienced, teen drivers were involved in the accidents studied. The Auto Club also noted a distinctively small percentage of old cars involved.

Representatives of the Auto Club visited the scenes of most accidents, interviewed witnesses and police, and delved into the driving records of those involved.

Legislators, judges and law enforcement officers have been sent 32 specific recommendations resulting from the AA study. The crux of the study's findings is to get traffic safety into proper focus.

Fred N. Rehm, Auto Club general manager, notes that his organization fully approves of attempts to make cars as safe as possible. "Attention should be shifted to the major cause, the driver," he says.

Federal attempts to get safer vehicles "will have no effect on cutting accidents, though they may cut deaths and severity of accidents," he stated in a letter to the National Highway Safety Agency.

"Even when the perfect vehicle is built, if it ever is, there still will be accidents," Rehm contends. His organization's in-depth study shifted to the major cause, the driver.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading this piece, where a country editor in North Carolina had written to Congressman Basil Whitener of his District announcing he was going to close down his newspaper. He reported the red tape the postal department in Washington had put on him was getting too heavy to carry.

According to this piece, he told Congressman Whitener, "he had to zip code ever paper he mailed, and if he had a dozen papers going to some city it took four or five different zip codes for this one city. Furthermore, he reported, he had to sack up his papers and table 'em for all the different trains and fer ever direction on the compass. He allowed as how he was doing everything but delivering his papers in person. On top of that, he said, he had to mark off all the ads in the paper; figure the percentage of news again the percentage of ads and file a report with ever issue. And he claimed if he wanted to send a complimentary copy to a friend he had to print "Sample Copy" across the top of the front page, put a zip code on it, stick it in a separate mail sack and have it weighed separate for the bulk rate. He said him and his wife and two daughters had been devoting full time to the postal regulations, but the load had final bring his wife down with a nervous disease and his two daughters was having night-

Thursday, April 11, 1933—

An estimated $1,500 was stolen at the Stop & Shop supermarket at Old US-12 and M-52 early Thursday after thieves, believed to be professional safe-crackers, had knocked off the safe's front plate, forced retaining rivets and pounded the combination dial until it fell off.

In regional competition, two Chelsea products won high honors in elimination events to determine Michigan's top products in various categories for Michigan Week, May 19-25. Chelsea's first-place winner in Washtenaw county competition March 25—the portable structure called "Paradise"—was also judged first-place winner in Region XV Saturday, April 4, Ann Arbor.

Four Chelsea school champions and two from Dexter were among those who participated in the district spelling bee at Dexter, Wednesday, April 3. A Chelsea girl, Barbara Bauer, junior high-sixth grader, came out third highest.

Fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage early Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Houk, 14005 W. North Territorial Rd. Chelsea firemen were called to the scene at 4:34 a.m.

Included in the five visits arranged for the April 27 house tour sponsored by the Chelsea-Dexter Co-operative Nursery are the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Donley Boyer at 10 Sycamore Dr., in Lanewood, and the Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Weiss. The latter is the superintendent's home added recently at the Methodist home.

Vickie Blacklaw and Cheryl Lehman attended the 17th annual state meeting of the Michigan Association of Future Homemakers of America as delegates of the Chelsea High chapter.

Chelsea Jaycees, with the assistance of the Jaycees Auxiliary members, are prepared to entertain 500 Chelsea area children at their first Easter Egg Hunt Saturday afternoon.

Deadlines for accomplishing certain phases of the annual lawmaking process have already been missed and reset.

At the beginning of the session Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, proposed setting an additional set of deadlines to schedule committee work.

His idea was a good one, although no schedule came about. Like a family trying to live on an unrealistic budget, the state legislature has consistently set for itself impossible time schedules.

The trouble is inherent in the way they operate. Each year most legislators introduce a whole group of bills to placate their constituents in the full knowledge that the proposals have no chance of passage.

This swamps the entire legislative machine. This year there were some 600 requests to have bills drawn for introduction which could not be fulfilled. More than 2,000 bills were properly introduced; about 800 in the Senate and 1,200 in the House. It is not uncommon for one legislator to introduce more than 100.

Until someone figures out a better way, or until legislators are willing to down the number of hopeless or pointless bills they introduce, there can be no easy solution to their wallowing. They have made their own legislative bed, and they must roll around in it.

CHOP, CHOP

Four different types of pork chops are on the market. Center-cut rib and center-cut loin chops are most popular. Shoulder rib end and loin end chops are economy cuts, just as good tasting. You can use any of these cuts in a recipe that calls for pork chops.

Chelsea's quota in the Second War Loan drive is $45,000 of "up" bonds to be sold by April 30. The local War Savings Committee reports that so far sales of these bonds amounts to only $15,000. That means that we all must start digging deeper into our pockets if we are going to meet our quota. Don't delay—go to the bank or post office at once—buy your bonds and report to the solicitor who has contacted you. However, if you have not been solicited, that is no excuse for not buying your share of bonds. Our Government needs this loan and needs it now.

Starting today, most Chelsea business places will close at noon on Thursdays until further notice. The reason given for this action is the shortage of help. Other reasons which could be given are the headaches involved in conducting a business because of shortages and government regulations imposed upon retailers, which makes it very desirable to take a few

Three automobiles were fired on Monday evening about 10:30 after crossing the Michigan-Detroit tracks on N. Main Street. Shots came from the north end of the Chelsea Lumber Co. The automobile of Gottlieb Sager, driven by his son, Wilbur, was the first one molested, bullet splintering the window.

Judge Elden Addresses Kiwanis Club

"Widespread war and international revolutions are overshadowing the crime wave that is taking place in this country," Ann Arbor Municipal Judge S. J. Elden told the Chelsea Kiwanis Club Monday.

"For every dollar spent on education in Michigan, $18 is spent on crime. Over 55 percent of the serious crimes in the United States are committed by juveniles."

Judge Elden said that the cause of widespread juvenile crime is moral decay gripping our country. He suggested that leaders provide more responsible leadership to youth through parent example. He said, "If our youth are to respect authority, then we must respect authority."

Judge Elden suggested giving youth more responsibility and discipline. The home must be restored as the basic unit of society, so that moral responsibility is instilled in the home, he added.

The CAP expansion program, a one-time effort, received new impetus last week with the announcement of a federal grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare which will finance salaries for trained rehabilitation workers and provide them with equipment needed to extend CAP's services as a sheltered workshop to many more handicapped persons.

Plans Studied for Low-Cost Area Nursery School
A low-cost nursery school for families of limited income in the Chelsea area is being proposed and three women leading the move are seeking an indication of how many families would be interested in such a service.

Carol Ewald and Brenda McGuire brought treats. Meeting ended with taps.

The plan grew out of a series of programs on poverty offered this winter by the Missions commission of First Methodist church. The school would be under the direction of a qualified teacher, and state aid for tuition would be available for many low-income families, organizers said.

Concluded with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Lord's Prayer." We closed with taps.

Concrete plans for the nursery school cannot be made until there is some indication of how many families would use the program.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Our articles on juvenile delinquency caused a reader to ask why the word juvenile is so synonymous with delinquency. The point was well taken. Delinquency is rampant in all age groups, but statistics do show an alarming increase among juveniles. More importantly, the distressing statistics do not show the cause and certainly do not show the cure. Yet, when we reason it out, there is nothing mysterious about either the cause or cure for delinquency in ANY age group.

We've never had it so good nor had it taken away from us so fast.

An adult delinquent is just as juvenile as a teenage delinquent. Actually, he is more juvenile because he has not achieved maturity; has not grown up. Let's be fair about it. There is NO age limit on crime or delinquency. It neither starts or ends in any age group. Delinquency at any age indicates spiritual immaturity. And THAT is the keynote to the whole problem.

When adults take the time to teach the laws of God to children and live by those laws themselves, both adults and youngsters will be better able to live by the laws of men. Don't you agree this thought pinpoints both the cause and cure for delinquency? . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 E. Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR-5-4141.

St. Barnabas Issues Call for New Vicar

In reporting on a joint meeting with the Vestry of St. James, Dexter, Jerry Beaumont, chairman, announced to the Bishop's Committee of St. Barnabas Episcopal Mission on April 5 that the Rev. Edward Schneider of Washington, D.C. has been called to serve as the rector of the combined parishes of the Chelsea mission and St. James Episcopal church, Dexter.

Should the Rev. Schneider accept the call, he will conduct services for both churches and minister to the needs of approximately 100 families in the two churches. Decision to seek one rector for the two churches were reached when both pulpits were left vacant about the same time. The fact that the small size of the parishes makes it possible for one man to serve both adequately, together with the better remuneration that can be made with both parishes contributing, were factors in the decision to try the new plan. Added was the knowledge that 14 parishes in the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan are now without pastors with no replacements available within the Diocese.

The Rev. Schneider, who is originally from Birmingham, is married and he and Mrs. Schneider have the parents of two pre-school children. He is currently employed as chaplain of St. Alban's School for Girls, which is under the auspices of the National Cathedral in Washington.

If he accepts the Dexter-Chelsea call, the Rev. Schneider will be moving to this area in July, after the close of the school year at St. Albans. Thus a full year will have passed during which time the Chelsea mission has been without a rector. The fact that the mission has held together with undiminished enthusiasm is largely because of the efforts of Beaumont, who has served both as lay reader and chairman of the Bishop's Committee. He has conducted the major portion of the services and has been responsible for the conduct of parish business. Services have also been led by staff clergy from St. Andrew's, Ann Arbor, St. Barnabas' mother church.

Additional business discussed at the April 5 meeting included plans for the dedication of the church building and work-day planned for April 15. Members are urged to appear early on that day with appropriate tools and zeal to repair winter's ravages to the church lawn.

Two from Chelsea Cited at U. of M. Honors Program

James R. Grau and Susan Kay Schroen of Chelsea were among 2,147 University of Michigan students honored for academic achievement in the annual Honors Convocation Friday, March 31, in Hill Auditorium.

The convocation address, "Education in a Changing World," was delivered by United Nations Secretary General U Thant.

The University community also had its first chance to see the president-elect of U.M., Robben Fleming, who is now chancellor of the University of Wisconsin at Madison, was introduced by retiring President Harlan Hatcher. Fleming will become president next Jan. 1.

Feature-Length Film on Teen-Age Set in Stockbridge

"The Restless Ones," considered the most successful motion picture yet produced by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown in Stockbridge on April 16 in the new high school gymnasium.

With the film on youth, this feature-length film deals imaginatively and dramatically with the teen-age crisis. With a background setting provided by the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, and fully woven into the story pattern, "The Restless Ones" is a hard-hitting, bold approach to our social problems.

Here is a film which dares to be different, a story which will stir the heart and mind. Having seen "The Restless Ones," you will never be the same.

As one reviewer said, "Here is a picture that tells the world the truth and comes up with an answer, not an easy answer, but an answer from beyond us." This answer will satisfy, challenge and inspire young and old alike and will appeal to churchgoers and non-churchgoers. The Christian message comes through in the midst of a realistic teen-age situation, clearly and without cloying. Swift-moving plot episodes highlight the opportunities facing the church.

Unions To Continue Giving Scholarships

(Continued from page one) submission of evidence that the student has been admitted to a qualified school and the second payment given at the end of the first semester or term on evidence that the student is doing "C" or "satisfactory" work if grades are not given.

John Wilton, chairman of the Chelsea School-Scholarship Committee, reports that with the renewal of this union scholarship there is now a total of $842 in the Chelsea scholarship fund. The breakdown of contributions to this fund is as follows: $150 from former Chelsea Teachers Club; $50 from Chelsea Lumber Co.; $50 from Detroit Abrasives; $10 from McKune Post, American Legion; $150 from the high school club; $32 from Chelsea-School-Scholarship Committee.

Walton urged that any Chelsea group planning to contribute to the scholarship fund should contact him so the committee can inform students of scholarships available.

Track Team Defeated by Tecumseh

Chelsea High's track squad met Tecumseh Friday in the first outdoor dual meet this year. Tecumseh kept the Bulldogs pointless in three events and took the non-conference meet, 72-46.

Coach Bert Kruse said that his team made a fairly good showing against a strong team and that the winning times were good for an early season meet.

The Bulldogs were shut out in the high jump, broad jump and high hurdles.

Pole vaulters Larry Blackwell, with a vault of 11', Doug Westhew, 10'6", and John Bergman, 10', swept all places in that event.

The 880-yard relay team won in 1:41.5. Paul Lancaster, Mike Schnaidt, Rick Slane and Steve Slane were members of the team.

Steve Slane won the 100-yard dash in 10.5 seconds and Rick Slane came in second in 10.9.

Rick and Steve Slane also won the 220-yard dash, but this time the order was reversed, with Rick first in 23.85 and Steve second in 23.9.

Gary Larson won the 880-yard run with a time of 2:10.5.

Larry Gaken came in second in the shot-put, with a throw of 45'3".

In the two-mile run, Larry Porath placed third with a time of 11:07.

Bob Dove was second in the mile run, with a time of 5:00.7.

In the 440-yard run, Tom Smith tied for second, 57.6 seconds.

Paul Lancaster tied for second in the 180-yard low hurdles with a time of 23.3 seconds.

A mile relay team consisting of Tom McGaw, Mike Schnaidt, Gary Larson and Ken Blass was second with 3:51.

The track squad meets Dundee for the first conference meet of the season at 4 p.m. today on the Chelsea High track.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

★ Workmen's Compensation Law . . .

In answer to many letters I have been receiving from so many of you voicing your serious and understandable concern on the Workmen's Compensation Law that will affect farmers and small businessmen, first I would like to review with you the history regarding the passage of this bill.

In 1965 under the Democratic controlled legislature, the workmen's compensation coverage was extended to cover nearly every employee in the state, by a 2 to 1 margin. The vote on this issue was strictly a party-line vote; not one Republican voted for the extension of this Act that included the farmer and the small businessman. There were many Republican amendments offered to exclude the farmer from this Act, but they failed for lack of Democratic support; however, the Democrats did agree to extend the time of the effective date from May 1, 1966 to May 1, 1967.

In my July 17, 1966 Weekly Newsletter I made the following statement: "Some of the more significant bills which received Governor Romney's approval included a measure that will extend the effective date of the workmen's compensation for agricultural employees from May 1, 1966 to May 1, 1967. This was done primarily to get by the November election, but don't forget the bill is still as undesirable as it was before."

Of course, this problem is not unfamiliar to us in the legislature and I do feel it will be impossible to correct this piece of legislation before its effective date for this reason, any bill passed will require immediate effect and there-this requires a two thirds vote from both houses.

It is certainly my desire as it is the desire of many of us, that this Public Act exclude the farmers and small businessmen and correct this unfair compensation.

One rule of thumb for deciding how many bathrooms you need in your new house is this: One bathroom for each of the first two bedrooms and a half bath for each additional bedroom. Of course, if you have a large family, you may want to install double-bowl lavatories in bedrooms to ease the continual traffic jam.

CHS Baseball Team Loses First Contest

The Chelsea High varsity baseball team opened the 1967 season Monday with a loss to the Milan Reds, 9-4, in a non-conference game.

Coach Carl Genske said "My work is really cut out for me due to the many new faces on the team."

Of the nine starters Saturday, we were new members to the team this year. The new members are Craig and Rodney Smith, Mike Gaken, Roy Holliday, Tim Bissman, Jeff Smith and Ryan Smith.

Returning lettermen include Bill and Mike Harvey, Dennis Kyte, Chuck Reed, Chuck Winans, Gary Allen, and Greg Stevens. "Although we were defeated, I do think we have good potential and are going to have a winning season," commented Coach Genske.

The score:

Chelsea 003-411-0-9-3
Milan 201-100-0-4-2-6

David Winans Touring with CMU Symphonic Group

David Winans, son of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Winans, 232 South St., who plays clarinet and contrabass, is a member of Central Michigan University's Symphonic Wind Ensemble, which will perform six concerts in four days during its annual spring concert April 15-17.

The 54-member ensemble will perform at Alma, Saginaw, Buena Vista, Chesapeake, Warren and Oxford high schools before concluding its tour in Cobo Hall Friday before some 3,000 music educators attending the 10-state Music Educators National Conference convention.

Jan Blankenship, a member of the CMU music faculty, will be piano soloist for the tour. Norman C. Dietz is conductor of the Symphonic Wind Ensemble.

The tour program will be varying in content from marches to traditional and contemporary pieces. Blankenship's solo will feature Franz Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasy," one of that composer's most dazzling keyboard display pieces. Blankenship, a member of the music faculty since 1965, is making his second appearance with the ensemble.

The ensemble's concert in Cobo Hall will be at 8 p.m. Friday. Central's wind ensemble will share the convention program with the Wayne State University Glee Club and the University of Michigan Orchestra.

Dundee Throws No-Hit Game Against Bulldogs

Jim Wiechs of Dundee pitched a no-hitter against the Chelsea batters Tuesday afternoon, and the Bulldogs were lucky to score their one run.

Final score of the first conference game was Dundee 11, Chelsea 1.

The one run came in the first inning on a walk, a sacrifice and an error.

The Bulldogs have a game with South Lyon this afternoon on the South Lyon diamond.

All baseball games start at 4 p.m.

The trouble with most reformers is that two of them so rarely agree.

Watershed Council Plans Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Huron River Watershed Council will be held Wednesday, April 19, at the University of Michigan North Campus Commons, Ann Arbor.

"Action for Clean Water in the Huron River Watershed" has been chosen as the title for the public meeting.

Election of officers, committee reports and presentation of the annual budget and program will be completed in morning sessions beginning at 10 a.m.

The afternoon session is specifically designed to interest citizens of the Watershed who are concerned about water quality and water control programs.

Speakers for the afternoon session, which begins at 1:30, will be: Col. Edward Bruce, district engineer, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Detroit; "The Southeastern Michigan Water Resources Study"; Prof. John Gannon, Department of Environmental Health, University of Michigan; School of Public Health, "Water Quality in the Huron River Watershed"; Dr. Alan Hirsch, Federal Water Pollution Control Administration and former executive secretary of the Huron River Watershed Intergovernmental Committee, "The Federal Water Pollution Abatement Programs"; Roman Koenigs, regional director, Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U.S. Department of the Interior, "Outdoor Recreation and Water Pollution in the Great Lakes Region"; Loring Oeming, executive secretary, Michigan Water Resources Commission, "The State Commitment and Community Responsibility"; Paul Reid, executive director, Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, "The Meaning of Regional Planning in the Metropolitan Area"; Gerald Remus, general manager, City of Detroit, Department of Water Supply, "Regional Water and Sewer Programs";

The Huron River Watershed Council was established in 1965 under a state law which provided a legal basis for representative water planning and management agencies. The Council replaced the Huron River Watershed Intergovernmental Committee, which had been established in 1958.

The Council is composed of representatives of counties, cities, villages and townships in the watershed. The governmental units which make-up the council contribute annual dues to its support.

STRANGE DECOR

Providence, R.I. — When police stopped a car recently, they found three tombstones inside. The driver, a college girl, told them she took the stones from a cemetery in Putney, Vt. to decorate her room. Police took the girl and stones back to Vermont.

Four Charged With Conservation Law Violations

Four men charged with conservation violations in this area have appeared before county judges in the past week.

Orville A. Pelkey, 49, of Gregory, was charged with killing a doe deer during the closed season. He was arraigned Thursday, April 6 before Municipal Judge S. J. Elden in Ann Arbor. Pelkey entered a plea of not guilty and trial was set for May 1. He was released after posting bond of $100.

Gary Dale Cornett, of Ypsilanti, 20, and Carlos Asher, 27, also of Ypsilanti, pleaded guilty before Judge Elden to fishing without a license. Each paid fine and costs of $21.

Guy A. Miller, 19, of Ann Arbor, pleaded guilty to dumping rubbish and litter on state land in the Pinckney Recreation Area. He appeared April 6 before Dexter township Justice Earl F. Dolezky and was fined $25 and ordered to clean up the dumped rubbish. Conservation officers said that Miller had dumped what appeared to be a truckload of rubbish near Portage Lake sometime during the winter.

Grit is important in the diet of seed-eating birds because it aids in the digestion of food. For this reason it is suggested to make coarse sand, oyster shells or fine gravel available to birds at winter-feeding stations.

Northern Michigan's deer yards contain only a limited supply of winter food for a limited number of deer. If the winter is long and cold and the snow is deep, the food supply may become exhausted before spring arrives.

Just A Minute...

By the Rev. James A. Craig

"You Are There" used to start reminding you that "today is a day like all days, except you are there." For many of us today is just here. It's nothing special to set it apart from the other days of the week or year.

"Another day, another dollar" is the slogan that reflects the tiresome repetition of days on-end. It isn't a very rewarding philosophy—the very best it makes it possible for us to endure, nothing more.

One man, however, caught a different vision of the coming of each day. And he was a man who didn't have much reason to look forward to the day's coming.

His friends had deserted him—one of them turned him in to his enemies—his message was ignored—his dream for a nation was shattered. He was accused of being a traitor and was shunned by his family.

Eventually he was exiled—possibly sold into slavery—and his death is recorded only in legend. Yet, for him, each day was full of new promise, new hope, new chances to succeed where he had failed before.

His "philosophy" was new as the morning and fresh as the dew. The steadfast love of the Lord never ceases, his mercies never come to an end; they are new every morning.

His name was Jeremiah—the weeping prophet?

Where you put your heating thermostat is important to its correct function. For example, if it's on an outside wall, near a window or too close to the source of heat, it won't accurately register the temperature of the room. The best place for it is on an inside wall, about five feet from the floor.

When buying a car, large appliances, equipment, tools or machinery, avoid financing plans which mean you'll owe more than the resale value of the item for a long period. No downpayment or a low downpayment may mean that your debt exceeds the value of the purchase for part of the payment period.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HOME AND HEART

Travel is today not the living experience of years past. You can jet across the country or leisurely relax on a train or bus that will speed you to your destination while providing most, if not all, of the comforts of home.

Yet, one thing holds true. Travel still tends to remind one that "there is no place like home."

Home is, indeed, where the heart is. If the home is a happy place, the greatest sight, the magic scenery of far away places cannot drive away the thoughts of home.

Home is not a perfect place. Yet the little everyday things that seem to annoy us are not the things we remember when we are away. And, if we do, we remember them more kindly than we endure them on a day-to-day basis.

If you're not traveling soon, why not do something about the little everyday things—whatever you think is necessary to make home thoughts brighter next time you are away.

Co-Op Nursery Adds Class for Children of Mothers Who Work

Something new in the co-operative nursery program in the Chelsea area is the Chelsea Co-Op Nursery's institution of a "co-operative" session for children of three and one-half to five years who have working mothers.

Normal functioning of any co-operative nursery is contingent on the amount of help given by parent members. Assisting teacher (each mother) does several times per year, aid in the maintenance of building grounds, keeping up the plant, regular attendance at monthly meetings, as well as serving to the organization in one or other of the offices, are all in realm of responsibility of the members.

The working mother will be able to aid with a car pool, to attend one evening meeting per month. If she is unable to attend, she is asked to contribute in baking for the annual Chelsea Fair booth, may, in lieu, pay $10.

The spring project will be optional and decided by next year's members.
