Sunday is Father's Day. So this gives us a chance to pay tribute to one of the most devoted of dads to be found anywhere.

This particular pappy is not the type to be showered with neckties on his day. If he got one he wouldn't know what to do with it. Truth of the matter is, his family doesn't give him anything but a big fat headache every year. Even his wife always seems to take off every year and leaves him with a bang of day-old youngsters.

Old Pappy Bass is our candidate for the prize father. Just look what he has to put up with. In early June he swings up out of the depths to set up housekeeping. He cruises in, near shore, picks out a likely spot to build a nest and gets to work. Standing almost straight up in the water, he whips his tail around like a groom and swishes all dirt from what is to be the spawning area.

A spot of two or three feet in diameter must be perfectly clean, since eggs will not properly incubate in dirty surroundings. The small-mouth bass, a fussy housekeeper, will even stand on his head and turn each stone to make sure the area is really clean. Largemouths settle for twigs, roots or even small shells that have been swept clean of all silt.

When the nest is clean, and ready to be occupied, the male bass goes hunting for a lady bass. He usually finds her lurking around somewhere in the vicinity and the courtship begins. He tries to guide her back to the nest but, like a typical female, she seems to enjoy playing hard to get. Finally, though, he nudges his bride over the threshold.

As a devoted mother, the lady bass is a complete failure. She spawns in the nest, then almost immediately leaves home. Raising of the abandoned family is left strictly up to the male from that time on.

He doesn't seem to mind too much, though. He hovers over the eggs, gently fanning them, and protecting them from enemies. In a week to 15 days, the eggs hatch out and the little bass seek protection among the stones and debris of the nest.

The father bass keeps them schooled for as long as two or three weeks, until they can go into shallow water and fend for themselves.

At that point, Old Pappy Bass, no doubt plumb exhausted from raising a few thousand frisky youngsters, takes off and goes about his career, on account of smashing fishermen's plugs and flies. If he acts a little ornery about the whole thing, he's got good reason.

Or, if he seems to just come slashing out of the water to slap your lure, maybe it is only a sign of exuberance at being relieved of his family-raising duties for another year.

At least that's the way it looks.

PRIME FIRST

If you're about to paint your home, you'll want to paint the metal surfaces, too. By using a special rust inhibitive coating, you can add life and beauty to galvanized iron, tin or steel building materials. Simply apply the undercoating, and then paint with exterior house paint. Your painter will be glad to tell you which primer is best suited to your particular needs.

Better Deal

More and more bright young men are attracted to careers with the Michigan State Police.

Better base salary, fringe benefits, shorter work weeks and other over-all conditions brought renewed interest in this important job. State Police count 1,473 in their ranks with 88 recruits beginning school. Their authorized strength is 1,576. About 300 civilians are employed.

Turnover is low, but the force is now hit hard by current retirements. Continual expansion of the department requires additional recruiting. The department doubled in size in the past 20 years. It is estimated it may grow to 2,000 men by 1970.

Although applications have increased, the number of young men who do not meet the standards is high. Col. Frederick E. Davidson, State Police Commissioner, notes that 35 percent of those who begin training do not graduate.

Opportunities for advancement are excellent. Each retiree opens vacancies through the ranks which means several promotions per retiree. Troopers are eligible to take promotional examinations after five years of service.

Salaries begin at $6,366.40 per year. Annual raises bring a trooper's pay to $9,437.76 after seven years. Higher rank increases pay, of course, with a police captain drawing about $15,000 per year.

Civil Service pay increases will raise salaries to a higher level beginning July 1.

Other benefits include longevity pay after six years of service.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR-MISTER-EDITOR:

I see where one of them Congressmen says, on account of all the new benefits and programs for the people, our Government was necessary passing through the "red tape age." He was claiming things would get better.

Personal, I think they were going through the metal age—gold in their teeth, silver in their hair, and lead in their pants. Furthermore, I don't think our Government has ever got the lead out of their pants or ever will. I heard Ed Doolittle tell the storekeeper once that the reason Rip Van Winkle slept 20 years was because he applied for a civil service job and slept while they were giving the red tape unwound.

The older I get, Mister Editor, the harder it is for me to understand this country our forefathers founded. Part of it was traveling like a rabbit with a dog on his tail and part of it was dragging along like a snail out for a Sunday afternoon stroll. You go to the grocery store to get a little to cook for dinner and everything is ready-made, mass-produced, sealed, precooked, prefabricated and quick freeze and it takes six weeks to get your Social Security checks coming. You go to the tax office and they want you at the door and you go to your doctor's office and you have to get so long that if you ain't already got a disease, you catch one.

And I been getting a little upset over all this crime that was sweeping the country. I can remember when it was safe for spiks to go anywhere at any time of the day or night. Now, special in the big cities, it ain't safe to stick your nose out of the door if you ain't totin a double-barrel shotgun. And I was reading where this holdup man was robbing a store run by a woman and her little boy started crying. The holdup man stopped long enough to spank the boy and tell him to keep quiet. In other words, crime has got to the place where the victims has got to mind their manners.

Michigan "Year"

Weeks, executive director of the Greater Michigan Foundation, this despite the fact that Michigan Week "ended" May 27.

The 14th consecutive Michigan Week observance involved an estimated 15,000 people in leadership roles with hundreds of thousands participating.

Weeks looks upon Michigan Week as a rallying time and likens it to a business convention. The observance, itself, he maintains, is merely a "charging up" of leaders and citizens with the hope that interest and pride in the state will linger for the remaining 51 weeks.

"It is nothing but a place on the calendar," Weeks says when referring to Michigan Week. A county chairman may begin organizing plans in the summer. By the time school starts he will have recommended programs which schools and service clubs can immediately use to promote Michigan Week ideals within their own organizations.

Year-round promotions need not bring monumental results to keep with underlying principles of Michigan Week. Any original program which endeavors to demonstrate the state's friendliness, brings people closer together, builds community pride or improves opportunities for Michigan youth is considered a direct result of Greater Michigan promotion.

Improvements in the seven-day event constantly take place. This year, addition of Michigan Minute-man Governor's Awards became a part of Livelihood Day.

Nominations for the award were submitted by state associations, city and village councils and county boards of supervisors. One hundred people received the Governor's citation at special ceremonies.

Another attraction this year was a tour by five former Michigan Governors during Government Day. Wilbur M. Brucker, 1931-32; Murray D. VanVogner, 1941-41; Harry F. Kelly, 1943-46; G. Mennen Williams, 1949-60; and John B. Swainson, 1961-62 visited some of Michigan's larger cities and were met by enthusiastic crowds at each stop.

Next year's observance, set for May 19-25, is already in the planning stage.

Born about four years ago in a basement at 233 Jefferson St., the Gelman Instrument Co. now pretty well grown-up, started moving Wednesday into its new plant near Ann Arbor. By the end of this week, the entire manufacturing operation—both mechanical and chemical—will be headquartered at 600 S. Wagner Rd. Within about another month the offices will also be at the new location.

Dr. Clara M. Warren was the successful candidate in Monday's election to name a member of the Board of Education of the Chelsea School District. He had a majority of 19 votes. He received a total of 336 votes, while Mrs. Shirley Heydiauff, the second candidate, received 317. Total votes cast in the election numbered 650, with seven of these declared spoiled ballots. Dr. Warren succeeds Clarence Vogel, who did not seek re-election at the expiration of his term of office.

The Parents of Chelsea Co-op Nursery children have gone on record to publicly thank every person who contributed to their drive for funds to enable them to purchase the Beach school at 11000 Chelsea-Dexter Rd., where the nursery school classes are held.

Total amount received to date is $1,181. Donald Bacon of Capital Fibre Products Co. gave $500 of this amount to initiate the campaign; the balance of the money came from 54 persons interested in the nursery.

Approximately 200 persons attended the Chelsea Alumni Banquet Saturday evening in the cafeteria at Chelsea High school. Principal item of business at the meeting following the dinner were reports on the Chelsea Alumni Memorial Education Fund, originally introduced for the association's consideration two years ago as the Mabel Fox-Florence Howlett Trust Fund. The purpose was to establish a fund from which qualified and deserving graduates of Chelsea High school might borrow in furtherance of their advanced education or the acquisition of a trade or profession.

The committee of alumni who presented the original plan included Donald Bacon, Howard Holmes, William Rademacher and Roland Spaulding, with the then president of the Chelsea School Board, Dr. J. V. Fisher. At the banquet the Class of 1936 made a contribution of $50.52.

Nominations for the award were submitted by state associations, city and village councils and county boards of supervisors. One hundred people received the Governor's citation at special ceremonies.

Members of the Chelsea Homecoming Club received word from the Michigan Home Economics Association that they had received an award of excellence for their work during the past school year. This award is granted on the basis of service, social and educational activities and the development of leadership. There are 105 high school clubs affiliated with the association. Ten clubs were given this honor this year. The Chelsea club, which is three years old, has a membership of 20 girls. Arrangements are being made for the village council for a picnic on the beach, which will be a continuation of the Michigan Homecoming Club's annual picnic. The picnic will be held on the beach at Grant St. to the old Dutch way, then east to Concord St. The new sewer will be coming east through the Federal Works property and will take Van Buren St. to connect with a county drain coming out of a peat marsh.

Girls State...

Suzanne Knickerbocker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Knickerbocker, 1221 Green Rd., was selected to represent Chelsea in the Michigan State Girls State, June 18-25.

A total of 162 high school juniors will attend this year, the 27th annual Girls State by the Legion Auxiliary. It is described as "government education program where the girls will be duplicating city, county and state governments in a demonstration of democratic principles."

Area Newcomers Are Welcomed

Chelsea welcomes into the community Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pryor and their 10 children. Pryor and his wife were married Sept. 2, 1966, their original meeting being the result of a computerized match in Ann Arbor. Each brought five children to the marriage, four boys and one girl; the girls of identical age.

The Pryor children range from age 3 to 10: David and Matt, 8; Billy, 5; Shari and Judi, 6; Greg and Jon, 8; Timmy, 9; Richard and Perry, 10. Also included in the family fold are three ponies, three kittens and an old tom cat.

According to Mrs. Pryor, it was the virtue of "clean living" that prompted the move to Chelsea. Four of the Pryor boys hope to join the Little League while three of the older boys hope to serve as members of the school safety patrol. Perry, age 10, will continue with an art scholarship awarded him in Ann Arbor.

Pryor is employed by Mutual of Omaha, with the E. H. Wilson Agency, in Ann Arbor.

For seven days the girls attending American Legion Auxiliary Girls State will play the role of junior politicians and build a unit of government, electing from their own representatives, city, county and state officials for a model state. Under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary the girls will be assigned to cities, petition for offices, for party platform and caucus their way into a whirlwind of self-government.

At the close of their session, two girls will be selected to represent Michigan at Girls State held at the American University in Washington.

Suzanne, who prefers to be called Susie, is a member of the Chelsea High School's Annual Staff; has served as treasurer of her class the past three years; was elected to the National Honor Society last fall; received the Kiwanis "Good Citizenship" award this year; attended Interlochen Music Camp last summer on a scholarship awarded her; took part in a District 10 essay contest, winning first place in serious interpretative reading and is a member of the Golf and Ski Clubs.

She has also participated in musical activities and plays. She is a four year member of the Symphony Band at school; sings in the choir at St. Paul United Church of Christ; and

How Much Do We Pay Our Teachers?

The new teacher salary schedule adopted by the Chelsea Education Association and the Board of Education makes three principal changes:

1) Continues the across-the-board salary increases of $200 for each year of a teacher with a BA degree and annually for a teacher with a MA degree already provided for in the contract; 2) takes a teacher to the top of the pay scale after 12 years; and 3) adds additional pay increases to become greater after the teacher has gained seven or more years of experience (a move that may build a more experienced teaching staff).

The following chart shows the salary schedule for teachers with BA and MA degrees, and the part of the newly agreed-on contract for each, as a new teacher through the 11-step (40-year) scale.

Step	BA	MA
1	$4,000	$4,200
2	4,200	4,400
3	4,400	4,600
4	4,600	4,800
5	4,800	5,000
6	5,000	5,200
7	5,200	5,400
8	5,400	5,600
9	5,600	5,800
10	5,800	6,000

CLEAN-UP PROJECT: Ten members of the day, June 10, gets underway. The photo at bottom shows the same area as the project nears completion. The project was sparked by Verne Otto, who lives in the area.

Jaycees Clear Thick Brush Along Path Used By Children

The path running between South school and Wellington St. used by children through thick brush and heavy undergrowth. The kids used it as a short cut from school to home and from home to school.

Area residents complained about the area, people reported molestations along the path, one man circulated a petition, but not much happened until 10 members of the Chelsea Jaycees corralled some equipment, and permission from the owner of the property and went to work.

The project, proposed to the club by Vern Otto, who lives in the subdivision in which most of the children who use the path live, was carried out Saturday, June 10 with the aid of Don Proctor and his tractor, Bob Updegraff and his brush cutter and the sweat of eight other interested guys. Working with Don and Bob were Dick Me Ueber, Lyndon Haddock, Jim Krichbaum, Silas Hopkins, Tony Bowen, Jack Patrick and Vern Otto, project chairman.

The kids can now use the path with some safety, but it must be noted, that darkness is no effect.

Ordination Slated Sunday

(Continued from page one) For the ordination, the Rev. Council, the Governing Body of Central India Missionary Societies, Rural Life Program, Evangelism Committee of the Chhattisgarh Orissa Church Council, and the India Rural Christian Fellowship.

In addition, he is an elder in the Chhattisgarh Orissa Church Council, formerly a member of the Board of Directors of the All-India Agricultural Institute, and is the manager of both the Rural Life program and of seven village schools.

The Schneiders returned to this country early in 1966 so he could take his Master's degree in Agriculture from Michigan State University, and complete his work for his Master of Divinity Degree (formerly Bachelor of Divinity) at Eden Theological Seminary at Webster Groves, Mo. Less than one month from his ordination, the Schneiders will again return to India to continue their work there.

34 Years Ago...

(Continued on page two) With the idea in mind of ultimately saving the village of Chelsea thousands of dollars each year through elimination of street maintenance, the common council is considering the paving of streets with tarmac or other black-top materials. The annual upkeep of streets to last year has included the expenditure of about $1,200 for calcium chloride dust layer.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Did you ever wonder how the Christian flag, seen in churches, had its origin? A speaker engaged for a "family service" in the Brighton Chapel in Coney Island, N. Y., failed to appear on time on Sept. 26, 1897. Mr. Charles C. Overton, superintendent of the church school, substituted for the speaker and inexplicably began to talk about the American flag. Suddenly, he visioned a flag for the church; a flag unrestricted by geographical or racial boundaries; a flag to remind all people of their allegiance to God. Extemporaneously, on the spur of the moment, he described a Christian flag as he visioned it. He pictured a field of white, signifying purity, innocence and peace; in the corner a union of deep blue for a symbol of faith, trust and sincerity; with a Latin cross emblazoned in red.

The following Sunday, the Christian flag was draped for the first time in the chancel of the Brighton Chapel. It was made by Mr. Amin, a flag manufacturer who did much to secure its adoption by churches. Its use spread rapidly throughout the U.S. and today is seen throughout the world. Watch for next week's column which will relate how the pledge of allegiance to the Christian flag originated. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 E. Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4111.

TIPS for your TOP from

TODDY and FRAN

School's out. It's hot at last. There's swimming and vacationing to plan on. All this is simply great, except for one thing. You feel about as well-groomed as a sheepdog after a splash in the pool and a ride with all the windows down. There ought to be something a woman can do to combine the pleasure of looking like a lady when she wants to too. There is. Start with an easy-do summer hair-do for you and all the girls in the family. This cuts frustration down to near-zero. Then if you really want to add that plus, add a wig to your wardrobe. You'll look casually nice in your own haircut, but formally nice when the occasion calls for it in your "extra hair-do."

Continuing until Saturday, June 10, the job is being tackled by 70 men, with thanks for the cooperation they have received from area residents.

Those residents not home during the time the project reached their area may contribute a donation by check or cash to the Jaycees. The normal donation of $1.00 may be sent to the group in care of Verne Otto, 507 Wellington St., Chelsea.

Planned Parenthood Goals Outlined for Kiwanians

Richard Fennese, program director for the Washtenaw county office of Economic Opportunity spoke about planned parenthood at the Monday Evening meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. The Planned Parenthood organization in Washtenaw county serves about 2,000 patients and holds a clinic in Chelsea each week, according to Fennese.

Planned parenthood services include clinical assistance, education and research. Through clinical services a woman may receive examination and consultation with a doctor and information on all approved methods of birth control including the rhythm method. A speaker's bureau, population study information and sex education material are among the educational functions of the organization.

Through pharmaceutical grants, research is carried out on birth control measures.

The planned Parenthood organization is in part responsible for the research on birth control pills, helping to make them available much sooner than might have been the case, Fennese stated.

"Planned Parenthood is one of the most effective influences against poverty in Washtenaw County," Fennese said, "because it reaches the heart of the problem of unwanted children. Birth control is an essential part of any community health program." Fennese said and cited a continuing need for subsidized birth control in this county.

Walter Nickel from Dexter, a Kiwanis guest at the meeting, Lloyd Heydlauff assisted in giving the meal.

Council Briefs

At the regular meeting of the Village Council Tuesday, June 6, a discussion was held with Paul Spadaford of Stockbridge regarding his request for consideration by the council to allow the construction of a party store establishment. The council informed Spadaford that it had no objection to this type of operation as long as all aspects of its construction and operation would conform with village policies and ordinances.

A discussion was held regarding an investigation and survey of Old US-12 in the village between the east and west limits. The following recommendations were made:

1. No parking at any time within the right-of-way on the south side of Old US-12, between the west village limits (Wilkinson
St.) and the east village limits (east of M-52).
No parking at any time within the right-of-way on the north side of Old US-12, between the
west village limits (Wilkinson St.) and the Old Manhester Rd.
Parallel parking only within the right-of-way on the north side of Old US-12 between the Old Manchester Rd. and M-52.

No parking at any time within the right-of-way on the north side of Old US-12 between M-52 and the east village limits.

2. The 35 mph speed zone be reinstated and a 25 mph zone established along the entire length of Old US-12 from the east to the west village limits, and that an advisory "25 mph ahead" sign be placed 1500 feet west of the west village limits to warn motorists of the 25 mph zone.

The council will discuss these recommendations at its next regularly scheduled meeting to be held June 20, 1967.

The following low bids were accepted for the 1967 street and curb and gutter program.

The low bid of Washtenaw Asphalt Co. for the construction of curb and gutter in the amount of $5,004.00.

The low bid of Washtenaw Asphalt Co. for the excavation and back-fill of certain streets, in the amount of $4,910.00.

The low bid of Workman-Richardson for the blacktopping of the streets in the amount of $10,297-45.

A discussion was held with Drs.
Papo, Botsford and Stubbs and a representative of Atwell-Hicks, of Ann Arbor, regarding the possible construction of a water main to service the area of the Chelsea Medical Clinic.

Recent test boring of the road side leading to the clinic indicate that several areas of a short section of the roadway would not adequately support a watermain. The procedure necessary for the correction of this problem will be investigated by village water engineers Ayres, Lewis, Norris, May, and a final determination will then be made by the council. The Medical Clinic has agreed to provide a ditch and a proper base on which to lay the water line should this be feasible and the village will be responsible for the material and the laying of the main of sufficient size to adequately serve the area.

A discussion was held regarding

AGRICULTURE In Action

by M. L. Wood

★ One Employee for Each 15 Farmers

"We reaffirm our determination to move to the market-price system and to eliminate controls, restrictions and the price-depressing actions of the federal government."

That statement, as plain and forthright as the farmers who wrote it, has been heard loud and clear in Washington.

There, the United States Department of Agriculture has been especially sensitive, with the department long under criticism from farmers who feel USDA officials have been far more interested in political, rather than economic solutions to farm problems.

That Agricultural Secretary, Orville Freeman, is a top politician has long been recognized. That he is willing to use his huge army of employees and vast authority for political purposes has often been demonstrated.

Most recently, the Secretary urged more than 200 of the department's state crop control officials to go back home and "militantly carry" the story of the programs to the farmers and others who seek an end to federal farm aid programs. In his sharply worded attack, the Secretary said that most of his program critics (whom he did not name) were "demagogues."

The Committeemen were called to Washington for a three-day briefing, not only on federal farm programs, but on the Vietnam war, foreign aid, and the Administration's poverty and other social programs.

Farm leaders have protested such use of federal time and money and noted that the estimated cost of the Washington meeting was $100,000 to cover travel and per diem pay of the involved 200 ASCA (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) employees instructed to attend.

These 200 state officials supervise a vast network of some 88,000 farmer-committeemen in the counties and communities, and 15,000 full-time county ASCS workers. Their total of 104,000 part to full-time employees exceeds the full-time USDA staff of an additional 103,000 for a combined total of 207,000 employees—or one USDA man for every 15 farmers in the nation.

Small wonder that one Michigan Congressman actually introduced a bill to prohibit the number of federal farm employees to ever exceed the total number of farmers.

Technical Action Panels To Help Small Communities

Carl L. Robinson, chairman of the Washtenaw county technical action panel, said today the Department of Agriculture had instructed its rural development specialists to "end the migration of rural people to large cities by helping small communities revitalize themselves."

Robinson said instructions had been sent by Assistant Secretary John A. Baker to all the field staffs of USDA agencies urging them to expand efforts to:

—Provide assistance to multi-county planning and development groups. Extend services and benefits of all Federal agencies into rural areas.

—Help rural communities make economic development plans and secure services needed to carry out the plans.

The Assistant Secretary's action emphasized the importance of the technical action panels that the Secretary of Agriculture has ordered established in each state and the approximately 3,000 rural counties to work with local community development organizations.

"Basically, what the Department is doing," Baker explains, "is realigning and fortifying its field offices to insure that rural communities do not miss out on help available from any source in their development programs."

"We have established a 'one-stop' service concept in every rural county to enable local leaders to have made possible a new kind of functional rural community that has a population base adequate to support a large number of basic public services. Generally, the new type of community includes two or more rural counties and at least one small city which is the focal point of local economic, educational and social activity. Areas of this type can undertake development programs that no single county or community could afford."

In addition, Baker's instruction listed the contributions to be made in rural areas development by USDA agencies that do not have nationwide, county-level field staffs.

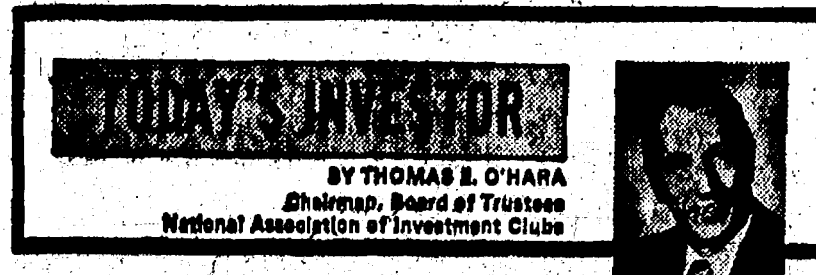

For example the Consumer and Marketing Service will provide technical assistance in the area of marketing services and food assistance programs.

The Farmers Co-operative Service will help provide advisory and educational assistance in each area where forests are economically important.

The Rural Electrification Administration, working through its borrower organizations, will furnish credit-finding aid for commercial and industrial projects.

Support efforts of the Agricultural Research Service, the Co-operative State Research Service, the Economic Research Service, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, and the Statistical Reporting Service were also listed.

There is a time to play, as well as a time to pray, but some people never try either.

TODAY'S INVESTOR
BY THOMAS S. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

Q. I am widow, 60, with $50,000 invested in mutual funds from which I receive $250 a month. I am also receiving $1,000 a year on a land contract from sale of real estate and have $15,000 in certificates of deposit in the bank. My investment counselor has advised me to convert the certificates of deposit into mutual funds. What is your advice?

A. I think you would be wise to leave half of your certificates of deposits untouched. With the other half you might invest roughly equal amounts in a major motor company, a major oil company and in a good utility.

Although the switch may result in your temporarily having slightly less income, these investments should increase both in value and income during the years ahead, thus helping you overcome a further long-term rise in the cost of living—which we have every reason to expect.

Q. I recently inherited about $100,000. I would like to invest this, but it seems that I get a different opinion from every person I talk to. A banker suggests time deposits. An acquaintance, who considers himself an investment authority, suggests half be put in common stocks and half in bonds or time deposits. Another friend says I should put it all into mutual funds, while my wife has still other ideas on good investing. What do you suggest?

A. You have come into a very important amount of money. If you are totally inexperienced in investing, may I suggest that you talk with an investment advisory service?

Such organizations are made up of professional security analysts who specialize in guiding your investment program. You would be charged a fee, but these are professionals and their advice and, if you choose, their actual management of your funds can pay off for you in the long run. You should find one listed in the classified telephone directory under that title. The Trust Department of your bank may also offer this service.

However, if you want to manage the money yourself, I recommend that you put the bulk of it into an assortment of shares of companies growing faster than 5% a year. I'm enclosing a recent copy of Better Investing in which a model portfolio is outlined and this might give you some ideas for individual companies to look at.

Bank time deposits are certainly safe; however, the weakness of this type of investment for all of your funds is the fact that neither your income nor capital will increase with time. Inflation being what it is, this means that your $100,000 will actually decrease in purchasing power. On the other hand, long-term investments in good common stocks tend to climb faster than inflation.

Q. I am considering a regular investment in a mutual fund and have narrowed my choice down to two. Because the shares of one cost less than the other I'm leaning toward it, believing I'll receive, or gain, more on it. Am I right?

A. You should not put too much stress on the price of the shares in buying a fund or any security for that matter. Instead, look at the earnings and appreciation record for the last 10 years. A mutual fund may be selling at a low price because it was originally sold at a low price and never made any money, or it could have made good money and paid out all the earnings as dividends, still keeping its per share price low. It would be better to compare the performance of the two funds in Arthur Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies," which is likely in your local library.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," and one of the nation's recognized authorities, will answer as many as possible in this column or by personal mail, but must limit questions to those of more general interest. Correspondents will receive a free copy of "Better Investing." Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Dept. S. B. Box 1056, Detroit.

The questionnaire will ask employers to identify jobs which they generally find difficult to fill because qualified applicants are not available locally.

Particular attention will be given to jobs for which employers think it is possible to train high school 11th and 12th graders.

The area study staff in co-operation with 19 high schools in Livingston and Washtenaw counties, recently completed a survey of all 10th and 12th grade students. The students were asked to describe their occupational plans and to indicate their interest in occupational training programs.

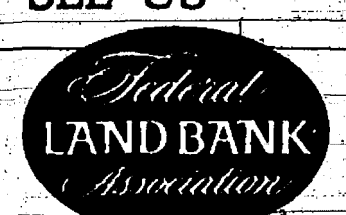

The study is sponsored by the K-12 school districts in Livingston and Washtenaw counties and by Washtenaw Community College.

Operating Millage Requested Is Only 1.9 Mill Increase

When you vote on the operating millage for Chelsea District schools July 10, your ballot will say "0.75 mills," but the net increase over last year's levy which a "yes" vote would bring is only 1.9 mills.

Why is this? A 4.25 mill levy voted for the 1966-67 fiscal year, expires June 30. The 0.75 mill levy

2.5 mill increase, but is further reduced because .6 mill less funds for debt retirement is required in fiscal 1967-68. Hence, the 1.9 mill increase.

New construction (mainly the new Dana Corp. plant) raised the total valuation to create a debt retirement surplus and make this reduction possible.

Here is a chart prepared by a Board of Education committee to give you the elements necessary for a full understanding—

Comparison of Levies
1966-67	1967-68	Change
1966-67	1967-68
4.25	0.75	+2.5
Debt Retirement (Buildings)
Voted 1956	3.50	3.37
Voted 1965	4.00	3.53
	7.50	6.90
Totals	11.75	13.85
		+1.9

Additional funds for school operation are allocated from an 11.22 mill county levy.

Graciousness is a virtue many people mistake for weakness.

Jaycees Offering Flag Sets on Pre-Fourth Sale

In conjunction with the celebration of the July 4 holiday, the Jaycees will sponsor a program "make every day the 4th of July." The program is intended to encourage people to display the American flag every day of the year, just on holidays.

To interested residents, the Jaycees will supply flag sets, consisting of a 3x5-foot flag, a 6-foot aluminum pole and a mounting bracket. All orders should be phoned to Walter Brown, chairman at 475-7034, 475-7384.

Flag sets will be on display in front of the Jaycees hall, 1600 N. Main St., from 8 to 5 p.m. Orders may be placed with Jaycees at that time.
