Hiding the Facts

A new rash of efforts to conduct public business in private seems to be developing. It is especially apparent among school boards.

The law states that school boards and most other public bodies must hold their meetings in public but does allow for executive sessions. It stipulates that no formal action can be taken except at a public meeting.

Numerous "advantages" are listed for holding closed meetings. These include: efficiency, expediency, the need to deal with personnel problems and property purchases. Another "advantage" noted so often but nonetheless pertinent is that board members need not worry about looking foolish in their deliberations in the absence of an audience.

It might be more efficient and more expedient for a board to meet in private. But American government is built upon the basis that the individual has a responsibility in making logical, government decisions at the polls. He has a right to know how his elected representatives deal with public problems.

Newspapers lead the fight to keep meetings open and always win when people in the community back them. Without solid local support officials are inclined to do as they please. It is the old story of people getting the kind of government they demand.

Some boards make too frequent use of the executive session as a means of conducting public business in private. There are records of boards which meet in private to decide what will be "decided" later in formal session. This has the effect of creating a very dull, cut-and-dried meeting.

Another way to avoid the spilt of public meetings is for the board to call a special meeting. State law does not require much in the way of public notice. So a special meeting can be called following a regular meeting or at any time without being subjected to the public eye.

Irresponsible or unconcerned citizens can expect that their governmental units will move toward more secrecy and more private decisions. After all, it is easier, quicker and more efficient. But it tends to poorer and poorer government with the rights of more and more people endangered. It means government by the few for the many who don't care enough about their collective business to be concerned until it is too late.

Information Please!

Vast amounts of information are available to citizens of Michigan from state agencies. Six times a year the Michigan State Library in Lansing publishes a list of "Michigan Documents," a compilation of latest Michigan governmental publications.

Some are classified "for official use" and are not available for general distribution. Most, however, may be obtained by residents writing to either the State Library or the issuing office.

Topics vary from specialized concerns, such as "Potato Field Crop Report," to such general information as, "Welcome to Michigan's capital as a guest of your legislator."

Homeowners may be interested in such publications as plant pest control; suggested reading for children; recreation in various regions of the state; directories of private trade schools; business schools; institutes; nursing homes or homes for the aged; the outlook for deer season; Michigan guide to summer theatres.

Scholars might need information on Michigan's birth rate; Attorney General opinions; Michigan Medal of Honor winners in the Civil War; the motor vehicle of the future; or county statistics.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I got some figures here on my table that has got me shook up considerably. As a general rule, I ain't much to read what Dixie Dean used to call "statistics" when he was talking about baseball on television. But these statistics here was mighty disturbing.

A fellow named Stanton Evans, that was editor of the Indianapolis Star, has wrote a book about what causes crime in this country. I always figured newspaper editors was pretty smart folks and I ain't got no reason to think this fellow Evans ain't got his fingers official.

The gist of this piece I clipped from the papers is that poverty ain't the cause of crime and that welfare creates more crime than it cures.

He says crime in the United States between the Depression and now has increased 80 percent while the population was increasing 47 percent. He reports we got less crime today than any time in our history, but we got the highest crime rate we ever had. He says the town of Johnston, Pa., has the highest unemployment rate in the nation in 1962 and had the lowest crime rate in America.

He reported the Government was spending $9.58 billion on welfare in 1960, $35 billion in 1965, and $71 billion in 1964. And the crime figures, he said, showed crime kept climbing right along with ever increase in welfare. For instant, he reported, when they had that riot in Los Angeles in 1965, they checked and found 87 percent of the juveniles arrested had been on welfare all their lives.

Furthermore, said this editor fellow, based on population, these fancy Federal housing develop-

A report from the finance committee of the Florence Howlett Memorial fund-raising campaign shows a balance of approximately $165 yet to be raised in order for the Nursery building to be paid in full. The Nursery building is the former Beach rural school on Chelsea-Dexter Rd.

The drought didn't bother one group of growers: The wheat raisers. "Wheat is one crop that flourishes in dry weather," Bill Blass of Blass Elevator says and Blass agrees with Don Johnson, Washenaw County Agricultural Agent, that "it looks like a tremendous wheat crop this year." The yield is running far above its normal 40 bushels per acre, and we took in some 30 loads the opening week.

A Chelsea man's 1962 convertible jumped a dividing strip, crossed the median and crashed over an embankment while it was being driven by a 10-year-old from Detroit early last Friday morning. The car, a 1962 Ford Mustang, was driven by the Donald Knoll home. It was several hours later when Knoll, who operates a wrecker service, got a phone call from the Sheriff's Department to "come in and pick up a wrecked car." Knoll told him that because of the distance from Chelsea, perhaps he should call an Ann Arbor wrecker. "But this is your car," the caller told him. "It can't be mine in the garage." It took a scrutiny of the garage to convince Knoll. His wife said, "I think I polished for two hours on that car just this morning."

At a special meeting of the Chelsea School District Board of Education Tuesday evening, approval was voted for construction of track facilities at Chelsea High school and the contract for its construction was awarded the low bidder—the Ann Arbor Construction Co. The low bid was $9,800 with completion date set for Sept. 3.

The municipal flappant at the corner of Main and Middle Sts. is believed finally to be repaired so the flag may be raised and lowered. Steepjacks from the Midwest Steepjacks Service of Detroit have been here three times in recent months to make adjustments to keep the pole from slipping off the pulley.

A record number of persons turned out for Manchester's annual chicken broil last Thursday. About 7,312 pounds of chicken were served.

An aluminum-sided frame building of the Detroit Athletic Club at Four Mile Lake was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin which was discovered about 3:30 a.m. Tuesday. It was estimated that the fire had been burning for an hour or more before it was noticed. E. A. Rice of Detroit, the owner of the plant, reportedly estimated the damage to be approximately $35,000 of which $25,000 represents machinery and stock destroyed. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Master Sgt. William Schreder, Silver Star award winner who returned last week from Korea, was guest of honor at a welcome home reception at the Legion Home Saturday evening. He and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schreder, Sr., were in the receiving line from 8 until 9 o'clock and then were guests at a dance which followed.

State Highway Department officials met Tuesday morning with Howard Miller, Washenaw County road commission manager, and Wilbert Buetenweicher, Chelsea yard foreman, to discuss the possibility of adding a 10-foot strip of blacktop at the north edge of US-12 at M-92 to act as a "deceleration" lane for US-12 traffic attempting to turn onto M-92 from the east. County road officials are hopeful that the project will be approved.

The dental fluoride-tooth decay preventive treatments for school children here were to be concluded yesterday afternoon, with 72 children registered. This was an increase of eight over last year.

Clare Rowe will have his name engraved on the Whims golf trophy for the second year in succession following his victory over Dave Long in the championship flight match play on the Inverness Country Club course Sunday, July 12. With five of the 36-hole match to go, Long was seven down and Rowe clinched the championship.

The peak load of the present wheat harvest was reached here last Thursday when local elevators were swamped with deliveries. Moisture had undoubtedly affected the wheat harvested after the rains of the past week, William Blass of Blass Elevator said. While moisture content was back to 42.5 percent Tuesday, he reported, test weights per bushel varied in some cases from 57 to a low of 55 pounds per bushel.

Linda Siglin was in charge of costumes. Mrs. Bryan Lawton headed up scenery, and props, and is also directing the puppet show which is to be presented Friday afternoon. Children made what ever kind of puppet they wanted to and the result was a clown, a gypsy, a one-eyed monster, a nurse, a princess, and a "spoiled brat." A story has been improvised to fit these characters.

Girl Scouts Enjoy 3-Day Expo 67 Visit

Six members of Senior Girl Scout Troop 77, accompanied by two adult leaders and one alumna of the troop returned Saturday, July 22, from a week's trip that included three days spent at Expo 67 in Montreal.

The group left Sunday, July 16, and spent that night in Oshawa, Canada. Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, they toured the fair. Tuesday morning their dress uniforms, the girls and leaders waited for an hour and a half before they were able to see the United States pavilion. They finally toured the pavilion together, and then split up into smaller groups, according to individual interests, to see other parts of Expo.

Sandy Knoll, a troop member, reports that each night the girls shared reactions to the things they had seen that day to give others an idea of which exhibitions were the most interesting. Also, the girls enjoyed eating at various restaurants while they were at Expo, especially the one from Argentina and the Polynesian restaurant.

Wednesday the group dressed in camp uniforms, dark shorts with white blouse, for their day at the fair. Wednesday and Thursday were devoted to touring in small groups. The girls rode the Metro to and from their camp site and also rode the mini-rail together.

Sandy comments that the group wore dress uniforms on the way to Montreal and that the appearance of the group in uniform seemed to make crossing the border easier. She adds that people everywhere were very helpful.

Other members of the group making the trip were Lynn Meyer, Debbie Stincheller, Janice Rudd, Lee Spaulding, Sharon Suter, troop alumna Penny Eisenbeiser, and leaders Mrs. Lucille Eisenbeiser and Mrs. E. J. Sutter.

Council Briefs

At a meeting of the Village Council Tuesday evening, July 25, which had been postponed from Tuesday, July 18, because of a lack of quorum, a discussion was held with several interested citizens regarding the appointment of George Meranuck as Chief of Police.

Comments were made by three citizens, and Mrs. Ruby Hendricks presented a number of petitions to the council which expressed satisfaction with Earl Willis. President Baldwin acknowledged the petitions as presented but reaffirmed the council's decision regarding the appointment of Meranuck. Several incorrect statements were discussed and clarified in an open discussion. Trustee Storey explained the procedure followed in the hiring of a police chief. President Baldwin spoke in behalf of the council, stating that the decision was not an easy one to make but one which, in the minds of the council, was in the best interests of the village.

Special use permits were granted to allow a professional pharmacy at the Medical Clinic site and to allow the construction of an extended care facility, subject to conditions as established by the council.

A discussion was held regarding the proposed water line to the Medical Clinic. A representative of Ayres, Lewis, Norris & May assured the council that a final determination of the water line route should be ready very soon, hopefully by the Aug. 1 meeting.

The new fire tanker was discussed and Chief Gukon was given approval to submit contracts to the council for their discussion.

Permission was granted to the city of Brighton to visit Chelsea with a caravan on Saturday, July 29, at 7:30 p.m. The caravan will terminate at the parking lot in the downtown area.

Mrs. Waldo H. Kusterer entertained 10 boys and girls at her home Friday afternoon for the pleasure of her son, Luther, on his eighth birthday. Stunts and contests furnished amusement, after which supper was served. A birthday cake with eight pink candles formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Adelia Kousch of W. Summit St., who celebrated her 87th birthday on Monday, was guest of honor at a supper given Monday evening at the summer home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Kousch, at Cavanaugh Lake. Mrs. Kousch was born in Alsace-Lorraine and at two years of age came to America with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staffan, settling in Lyndon township. For more than 60 years she has made her home on Summit St., Chelsea.

Sylvan township was visited by a hard wind storm late Sunday afternoon. Some trees were uprooted, and broken off. Small buildings were tipped over and hay and straw stacks blown down. A large tree about six miles south of Chelsea on the Manchester Rd. was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Several roads in the township were blocked by fallen trees, broken limbs, and telephone wires.

Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp Wins Top National Rating

Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp was recently inspected by representatives of Region VII Boy Scouts of America, and was awarded the highest rating possible.

The inspection flag now proudly flying beneath the American flag at the camp carries a letter "A" and the analysis sheets backing the "A" rating show that the inspectors approved the camp and its operation in all 100 different categories prescribed by the national organization for an approved camp.

The rating of the camp, which is the main summer camp operation of the Portage Trails Council serving all boys in Washtenaw and Livingston counties, has been in the high 90's the past three years, but this is the first time in the history of the camp that it has achieved a 100 percent rating, according to the Camp Director, Ralph Raloff, who is also the Livingston District Executive for the Portage Trails Council.

Donald C. Hoenke, of Dexter, council president, and Harold J. Houk, Jr., chairman of camping for the council and former camp director, headed a large local delegation of Camp Committee members and other officials who spent most of the day accompanying the inspectors and discussing with them the physical condition of the camp, the staff, and morale.

Highlighting the day's activities for the regional and local scout officials was a charcoal broiled steak dinner served to officials and their wives near the parade ground at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 15.

Roland Spaulding of Chelsea, Iron quois district chairman, and Clarence Dault, scout executive of Portage Trails Council, broiled the steaks.

Ted Crossman of Brighton, nature conservation director at the camp, provided a program for the wives after the steak broil during a final discussion by the men of the findings and the announcement by the two regional inspectors that the camp was awarded top rating.

The rating was announced by Max Heavenridge, regional committeeman from Saginaw, and the inspection flag was presented to camp chairman Houk by Joseph Claffey, deputy regional scout executive.

Four men from Chelsea and a water management program. The council would continue to hold the position of leadership in adoption of policy and programs for the basin.

Attending the council meeting were Jack Bradbury and George Frisinger, both of Chelsea, representing Washtenaw county, William Chandler, representing Chelsea, and Arthur Klump, representing Dexter. There was no quorum, so reports from officers and of the executive committee meeting held earlier in the evening were heard but no business was transacted.

A list of the council member units which have paid dues was read, including the Village of Chelsea, and it was announced that dues are now payable by member units which were not listed. It was also announced that two new members have joined the council, the Village of Stockbridge and Northfield Township, bringing the total number of member units to 28.

At the executive session before the council meeting, the technical committee, headed by Washtenaw County Health Engineer Joseph W. Price, was authorized to begin work on a proposal included in the goals, to delineate areas for various water uses with respect to water quality standards.

State Rep. Raymond J. Smit (R-An Arbor), who spoke at the council meeting, questioned whether elimination of a "potentially harmful wastes" is a realistic goal. He also outlined major limitations of federal water resources program. Budget cuts, lack of manpower, and red tape resulting from inter-agency policies were cited as particular problems.

Rep. Smit indicated that the cost of pollution control in Michigan alone will exceed $800 million in the next 10 years and explained that he favors a state matching grant program on a pay-as-you-go basis over a bond issue by a vote

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A petition of names was submitted to the Village Council last night (Tuesday) in behalf of former acting police chief, Earl Willis. It is nice to know that Earl has such strong supporters, willing to come forward in his behalf. But in fairness to Mr. Willis, to the new chief, George Meranuck, and the Village Council, a review of the facts leading to the hiring of the new chief is necessary.

At the time that Chief Palmer left, Earl Willis was appointed acting chief and at that time he knew that the Village was setting out to find a permanent replacement. He also knew he was in the running for the job, but that others would also be encouraged to apply for the job.

The Village belongs to the Michigan Municipal League, an organization made up of governments of the State of Michigan, which aids member governments in such areas as personnel evaluation, ordinance formulation, purchasing, and other mutual municipal problems.

Therefore, it was natural, logical and good judgment that our Council turned to this organization for aid in selecting our new police chief. The Municipal League set up a testing program, which applied to all applicants and which in the end indicated to the testers that George Meranuck was the best qualified for the job.

The Council, taking the advice of the League testing, then hired George Meranuck as our police chief. Would we have wanted them to do otherwise? I think not.

For the Council to have given a running report during the weeks of the testing program would have been most improper and they did not do so. For the friends of Mr. Willis to think that his not being named chief came as a total surprise to him and that he was unfairly treated in the competitive testing, is to do the Village Council a grave injustice.

The most disturbing event at last night's Council meeting was the dastardly attempt of a South Main Street merchant to muddy the name of the new chief. Such action by a supposedly responsible citizen is contemptible. A personal apology to Chief Meranuck would most certainly be in order.

It is now time for all citizens to welcome George Meranuck and his family to our community and to co-operate with him so that he may do the job he was hired to do—namely, make Chelsea a safe and pleasant community, a community which we all call home.

Sincerely,
William D. Chandler

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

A thought-provoking circular was received by a business man friend of ours, sent to him by a supplier. Here is an interesting extract:

"I'm a nice customer. I never complain, no matter what kind of service I get. When I go to the store to buy something, I'm thoughtful of the other person. If I get a snooty salesperson who gets nettled because I want to look at several things before I make up my mind, I'm polite as can be. I seldom take anything back to the store. I've found people are disagreeable when I do. I never kid, never nag, I never criticize. I wouldn't dream of making a scene, as I've seen people do in public places. I think that's awful. I'm really a nice customer. I'll tell you what else I am. I'm the customer who never comes back. There's a lot of nice customers — just like me. Together, we cause quite a few merchants to lose subsequent sales and profits — every year."

The above quote is published — in an impersonal way of course — because we think it might help some business people, employer and employee alike, to read what the "nice customer" wrote. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 E. Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

Amid the mountain of legislation we have to consider here in Washington, the foremost concern continues to be the war in Vietnam. Everything and everybody is affected by this conflict and as a result there is a great degree of frustration over the fact that no end to the war through either military or diplomatic efforts appears to be in sight.

Furthermore, in my continuing study of the war and its progress, I find its costs both in terms of human life and actual dollars to be particularly disturbing. Recently over 300 American casualties occurred in one week. Projected on a 12-month basis that would mean 100,000 losses in the next year. Michigan families have already lost over 400 of their boys through March of this year. And from a fiscal standpoint, Congress this year passed the largest military appropriation in the history of this country.

These concerns and frustrations, plus a firm determination that Congress has not played its proper role in the conduct and formation of our foreign policy, have led me and several other Republican Congressmen to begin to seek and evaluate various alternatives to our present policy. The first results of our efforts produced the phased de-escalation proposal which has gained wide national attention.

Briefly the plan calls for the U.S. to agree to halt all bombing in North Vietnam north of the 21st Parallel for 60 days. If during this time the North Vietnamese government, after extensive diplomatic efforts, undertook a similarly measurable step toward de-escalation, the U.S. would immediately halt all bombing north of the 20th Parallel for 60 days. In five such successive steps the U.S. would gradually cease all bombing. Each step after the first would be dependent on a similar action by Hanoi. If no such step were taken by the enemy in the first period the plan would end. As I see it this proposal may have a chance to succeed where others have failed because:

1. It involves minimum military risk to the United States and to North Vietnam.
2. It does not require Hanoi to take the first step—or that the first step be a simultaneous one by both governments.
3. It does not require major "conference table" negotiations in the spotlight of public attention.
4. It affords an opportunity to North Vietnam to undertake its own diplomatic initiatives and an opportunity to "save face."
5. It offers a means by which our steps toward de-escalation can be taken slowly and with complete verification—thereby building confidence on each side in the word and credibility of the other.

There is no simple formula or magic key which will end this war suddenly and dramatically. Moreover, any move we make must be carefully calculated so as not to jeopardize our fighting men. Our proposal is not offered as a panacea for certainly there is none. More important than its details is the dialogue it has begun throughout the country—a dialogue which hopefully will help achieve peace.

I have been extremely pleased at the response to our proposal from letter writers and my colleagues. I have received about 200 letters from throughout the country, less than 10 percent of which have been unfavorable. Our efforts were also commended by Congressman Gerald Ford, the House Republican leader, who said "It is wholesome to have new ideas" and that the proposal was not inconsistent with his position.

Space here does not permit a full discussion of the plan which was originally made in a six-page presentation. You may request the full text by writing me in care of House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

Rep. Esch Mailing Questionnaire to District Residents

Congressman Marvin L. Esch, today announced the mailing of this week of some 130,000 "Your Opinion Please" questionnaires to residents of Michigan's Second Congressional District.

According to Esch the questionnaire contains 15 queries on national issues with several options to most of the general topic areas. "This is at least an opportunity for people to make their voices heard in Washington," Esch said. "I always value and welcome the opinions of my constituents and I hope many of them will use this vehicle to contact me."

Issues covered on the questionnaire include the war in Vietnam, the draft law, civil rights, income tax amendments, federal spending and social security benefits. Certainly it does not include all of the issues on which I must vote, nor does it spell out the complexities of each problem. What I have attempted to do is to single out some of the most important areas and alternatives," Esch stated.

Two columns labeled "this" and "here" are included so that both husband and wife may answer separately and respondents are invited to attach a separate sheet if they wish to expand their views. Esch said that the mailing is scheduled to be delivered to every home in the Second Congressional District, but that if persons fail to receive it they should write him for a copy in care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. Plans also call for distribution at county fairs and other public gatherings.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

BY THOMAS E. O'HARA
Chairman, Board of Trustees
National Association of Investment Clubs

A suggestion was made that our investment club elect an executive committee of three of our 10 members to make quick decisions on buying or selling stocks between our regular meetings. It can be a real problem to contact all members for such emergency decisions. Opponents of the idea feel this would take away from the main idea of an investment club. We agreed to ask your opinion.

A. Frankly, my vote is with the opposition. Unless you are dealing in a pretty poor grade of securities, there is rarely any need for a club to make quick decisions on whether to buy or sell.

The most successful investment clubs have a long-term investment program. The NAIC strongly recommends that when a purchase is made of a security, it be bought because your study indicates five years from now the company is likely to be worth twice or more than you are paying for it. This doesn't mean either that you are going to sell the company at the end of five years. Its future may very well then look even better than it does today.

Occasionally you may buy a security whose price will move up faster than the profits and prospects of the company warrant. In such a case you might want to make a fairly quick decision to sell. But as a general principle, short-term buying and selling is likely a pretty risky practice for any club.

Q. I would like to buy some stock for my six small grandchildren, to help them about the time they are ready for college. I can invest $500 for each one. Would you recommend mutual funds or some good blue chip stocks? And would you please name me a couple?

A. I cannot recommend specific securities, but if your grand-children won't be entering college for about 10 years, I believe one of the growth-type mutual funds should be satisfactory. Also shares in one of the major industrial, oil or utility companies would likely produce good results in that span of time.

If you have never invested, why don't you take your problem over with one of the officers of your club, ask him for suggestions or for the name of a reliable broker who can help you pick stocks on a mutual fund that would best serve your purpose.

Q. What can a person of limited income do to build up a financial reserve in 10 years? Is it true that the brokerage fee on anything less than $1,000 offsets the gain?

A. There are several ways an individual can begin an investment program with very little money—and by small amount I mean $10 or $15 a month. Under the Monthly Investment Plan (MIP), you can buy any stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange by paying as little as $40 every three months. That's $13.33 a month. You can also buy mutual fund shares with small monthly payments.

Or you can corral a group of friends and start an investment club. In a club, members decide how much they will invest each month, $10 or $20 a month is the most frequently used sum.

Brokerage fees are not as high as you think. Though brokers do charge a higher percentage for handling small purchases, the highest you will be charged (for a purchase, say, of less than $100) will be $6. That would be on the first $100 of your investment. On larger amounts the fee keeps dropping percentage-wise from 2 percent to one-tenth percent.

Thus if you bought four shares of a stock at $20 a share, you would be showing a "paper" profit whenever your shares rose $2. Or, to look at it another way, you can expect to recoup your $6.80 in brokerage fees from dividends on your stock in a year and a half, if your dividend gives you a 4 percent return on your investment, as is true in the case of a large number of stocks these days.

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," and one of the nation's recognized authorities, will answer as many as possible in his column or by personal mail, but must limit questions to those of more general interest. Correspondents will receive a free copy of "Better Investing."

Write to T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Dept. S, Box 1056, Detroit 48231.

OUTDOORS with GORDIE

If you have a hunting dog, or any kind of dog for that matter, those coming August "Dog Days" can be rather hard on him.

He will have to keep cool and this includes a constant supply of fresh water. Some dogs, though, and particularly the retriever type like Labs, don't know a good deal when they see it. They insist on picking up their water dishes and trying to move them around; thus dumping out the water.

Well, a friend of ours solved this one in good shape by heading for an old auto junk yard. There he bought a couple of old brake drums. These he fitted out with some round, shallow pans that would just nest inside the drums.

His dogs tested out the 10-pound load a few times, then decided it just wasn't worth the effort. That was the last time they spilled their water.

Ever stop to give a thought to the reason why a fish actually strikes a lure? Based on observations of researchers, these are some of the reasons:

HUNGER: Fish—stomach is empty but it was seen striking at minnows before it was caught.

ANGER: Fish was spotted and 34 casts later it struck.

GLUTTONY: With stomach and throat full, bass still strikes a plug.

GREED: Small fish starts for lure, bigger one beats him to it.

CURIOSITY: Fish follows lure, strikes it at boat.

REFLEX ACTION: Lure hits water, fish strikes instantly.

PROTECTIVE INSTINCT: Fish on spawning bed bumps lure away from area.

What's that? All the time you thought it was your skill?

What happens to all of those cock pheasants not shot by hunters?

Intensive studies by biologists show that at least 50 percent the cocks alive at the end of hunting season will die from various causes during the following winter, spring and summer. They will not appear in hunters' traps the following fall.

Cock pheasants cannot stockpile from one hunting season to the next.

Cities, Villages, Townships Share In Income Tax

In response to many inquiries from Washtenaw and Lenawee local officials relative to Michigan's new tax structure, the following may be of interest.

Cities, villages, townships and counties will receive from $22.40 per capita as their share of the new personal income tax. State will actually rebate $5.40 per capita because half goes to the county and half to the city, village or township involved. This will amount to $38,000,000 for an entire year, 17 percent of the state collections on the 2.6 percent personal income tax.

The first distribution of funds will be made in May, and every three months thereafter. Also of interest to cities is state Bill 712 which permits a beginning in 1969, to contract the state to have its city income tax collected through the state administrative machinery.

Another bill, House Bill 2 provides that if a city administers its own income tax it will become effective on the January 1 or July 1 following the referendum.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Phinis "Billy" Case has been in Lorain, O., since Sunday, July 16, with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Fields, awaiting the body of their son Larry, who was killed in action while serving with the U. S. Army in Vietnam. Mr. Case joined his wife in Ohio the week-end of July 22 and 23, but since no further word about the arrival of the body had been received, he returned to their Chelsea home, 425 Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Effert of Green Bay, Wis., spent Saturday through Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Crofoot of 20540 Sager Rd. The Efferts' two sons, Steven and Brian, were with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Risner, Jr., and family, of Trenton, O., returned home Monday, July 24, after a few days of visiting with her mother, Mrs. George Knoll of 124 DeVey St. The Risners also spent several days visiting other relatives in Michigan.

SMORGASBORD: Standing at a Sunday evening smorgasbord table at the Chelsea Methodist Home is Philip W. Jones of Franklin, who has been employed as consultant to food services of the Retirement Homes corporation of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church.

Food Services Consultant Serving Retirement Homes

Philip W. Jones of Franklin has been employed as consultant to food services of the Retirement Homes corporation of the Detroit Conference of the Methodist church and is now spending four days a week assisting the food service operation at the Chelsea and Boulevard Temple Homes.

A Sunday evening smorgasbord has begun at the Chelsea Methodist Home. Assisted by Jones, Mrs. Mary Helen Baldwin plans the menu and directs the preparation and serving. Members of the Home are served in the dining room between 5 and 6 p.m.

As an example of the variety of foods planned for the smorgasbord, last Sunday's menu included Swedish meatballs, assorted cold cuts, and casseroles, fried chicken, breads and crackers, pickles, olives, spiced peaches, bean salad, mulled fruit, watermelon baskets of salad, assorted cakes, and beverages. Also, a fruit basket is placed near the exit of the dining room so that members may take fresh fruit back to their homes.

If your budget won't permit you to build a much-needed bathroom, see if you can't find some wasted space in an old closet, pantry, under a stairwell or at the end of a hall for a compact powder room that will ease the strain on existing bathroom facilities. You can install a powder room in a space as little as 4 x 5 feet. Lavatories and water closets that can be installed in corners are available for rooms with unusual shapes.

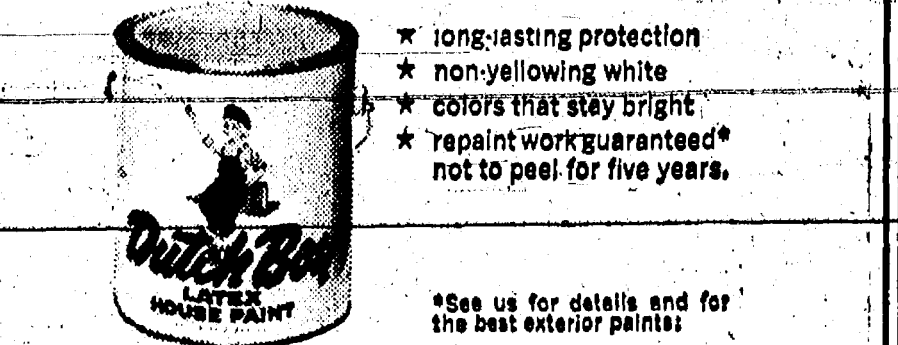

Iron-on tape may loosen when garments are washed, but you can press the tape back in place. Whether to use tape instead of a hem depends on several things. Among them—can you make the hem stable without making it rigid? Will the tape show through the fabric? Can you press the fabric at the temperature needed to obtain a strong bond with the tape.

Redistricting Plan Told to Kiwanis Club

A regular meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club Monday evening, July 24, at the Congregational church was shortened because the scheduled speaker, Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey, was not able to come because of the disorder, fires, looting, and property damage in Detroit and the concern of county law enforcement officers about the effect on the cities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Program chairman William J. Rademacher announced that Sheriff Harvey would be heard at a later date, to be announced.

Following the regular meeting, Immediate Past Lt. Governor William Davis of Ann Arbor, who is coordinator for Division 6, called on Ralph C. Keyes, Past Governor of the Michigan District and member of the Board of Trustees of Forney W. Clement Memorial Foundation, Inc., who explained the redividing of the Michigan District into 20 divisions instead of 15, with a lieutenant governor for each division.

When the new divisions become effective, Jan. 1, 1968, the local club will change from Division 6 to Division 10. Division 6 contained 20 clubs, and the new Division 10 will be made up of the 10 following clubs: Ann Arbor, Ann Arbor Eastern, Ann Arbor Southwestern, Ann Arbor Western, Brighton, Chelsea, Dexter, Howell, Pinckney, and Saline. Presidents and Immediate Past Presidents of each of these clubs were present as guests of the Chelsea group for this part of the meeting.

The purpose of the meeting was to determine what problems any of these clubs has that other clubs in the new Division could help eliminate. Also, each club was asked to present names of members who would be candidates for the first lieutenant governor of new Division 10. Seven names were presented and the qualifications of the men were reviewed. These men will be contacted by the presidents of their local clubs.

The president and immediate past president of each club will act as delegates to the selection conference—Tuesday, Aug. 15 in Ann Arbor and to the election at the Kiwanis State Convention in Lansing in September.

At next week's meeting, Jack Fowler, official delegate of the Chelsea club to the International Convention, will report. This meeting will be at 6:15 p.m. at the Congregational church.

Monday evening, Aug. 7, at 6:30, the Ladies Night Picnic will be held at Pierce Park. Meat and beverage will be furnished, and the rest of the food will be solicited from among the members. Everyone is to bring his own table service. Chairman of this picnic is Clare Warren.

Program chairman Rademacher asked each member to bring at least one guest to the Aug. 21 meeting, when State Rep. Tom Sharpe is to be the speaker.

If you plan to use an oil based paint, you can make your brushes behave by dipping them in linseed oil before painting. To keep them pliant, always clean them with a paint thinner—immediately after painting. If you use a water based paint, no pre-painting breaking is necessary for brushes—and you can easily clean them afterwards in water.

Questions and Answers

Must greens for salad be thoroughly dried if so, is there a better way than patting the leaves dry, which frequently bruises them?

Since oil and water do not mix, drying the leaves makes it possible for the dressing to cling to them, as it should. After rinsing the leaves, shake them dry and arrange them in layers, each layer resting on paper towels. Then roll the leaves gently in the paper towels and wrap them loosely in foil or wax paper. Chill the leaves in the vegetable compartment of the refrigerator (not in the main section, where they may freeze).

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

Three days in the Upper Peninsula produced a variety of news items, including a tragedy that will be disposed of before we go on to more pleasant subjects.

On a beaver pond a pair of Canada geese with three downy young. Proud father in front, mother and infants close behind.

Certainly the original brood was more than three. A big snapping turtle, sunning itself on a log might well have accounted for half a dozen goslings. Then, on the morning of our departure, no goslings, the parents obviously in distress. There was a great horned owl in the neighborhood. Between turtle and owl the Canada family had lost out.

The great horned owl is about the only enemy of the skunk; the skunk preys on ground-nesting birds. Yet there is strong defense for the skunk. Skunk, dig up and devour snapping turtle eggs.

Visiting another beaver pond we saw Skippy, aged 14, poised to grab something from a weed patch. He came up with a 30-pound turtle which we cleaned for stewing. The turtle contained 30 eggs, ready for laying in a hole in the sand, and as many more eggs, lacking shells.

It was Skippy who yelled out: "Lookit, a bear!"

This was on Highway M-28, in broad daylight, with a rush of westbound vacationers. The bear, estimated to weigh 200 pounds, was investigating a cluster of tourist cabins in a grove of pines on the north side of the road. The bear came out to the edge of the highway and looked things over. Had he attempted to cross, a traffic pile-up might have resulted. He seemed to consider the question for a minute or so, then turned back the way he came. Should that bear catch scent of food within a cabin he would crash in and get himself classified as a nuisance bear.

Black bear are much more numerous in the Upper Peninsula than they were half a century ago, when they were hunted and trapped at all seasons.

Recognition of the bear as a game species, with legal protection, was brought about by the Michigan Bear Hunters' Association, headed by Carl T. Johnson, now chairman of the Conservation Commission.

Bears that visit garbage dumps are a tourist attraction, and these bears have evidently spread the word that there is nothing to fear from humans. Black bear in the old days were usually glimpsed in full flight, if seen at all, whereas nowadays they frequently pose for snapshots.

We had dropped in, as usual, at the Conservation Department's Cusino Wildlife Research Station at Shingleton. Found Elsworth L. Harger, biologist, compiling data on the homing instinct in bears. A nuisance bear is trapped, tranquilized, tagged and then hauled into a distant county and released. One pesky bear travelled more than 100 miles to get back to the scene of his vandalism.

In a wilderness lake a merganser—American or red-breasted—with nine downy ducklings. The merganser takes its living from trout streams during the winter and, like the raccoon, is one of the few predators hard to defend.

The old merganser was having trouble with her offspring. Three little ones could ride on her back, comfortably. But when another and another climbed aboard, the mother would free herself of all passengers by diving.

The woods never looked as lush and green as on these June days. We saw a few deer, including a doe nursing a fawn and a buck with a big velvet rack. Saw a doe do a foolish trick: Dashing out of the way of our car, she started up a steep bank, lost her balance and tumbled back, then scrambled up about 20 feet and stuck her head and chest into a maple thicket and there she froze, 40 feet from us, evidently convinced that she was invisible.

Four sandhill cranes flew over a backwoods road. Cranes should be nesting. Were these loafing males? Then, in a beaver pond, a problem for wildfowl specialists—eight male bluebills! That would suggest that not too far away there were eight females on their nests, ignored, as usual, by their irresponsible mates. But bluebills are not recorded as nesting in Michigan. Something to theorize about.

Beauty Queen Search Is on For State Fair

Michigan's beauty queens were reminded today that the deadline to enter the Miss Michigan State Fair contest is Friday, Aug. 18.

Cass J. Wasung, State Fair acting manager, explains that the annual event is a "Queen of Queens" contest. The young lady must have won a sponsored, live, queen contest held in Michigan since September, 1966.

Contestants must be between 18 and 22 years of age and single. A queen who entered last year's contest but who has won a new title since September may re-enter under her new title.

Application forms are available from Cleighton Melin, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 48203.

Applicants must be able to report for the preliminary judging Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 3:30 p.m. in the State Fair Community Arts Building. Ten finalists will be chosen and will be judged for the title on Wednesday, Aug. 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Street length or cocktail dresses are required. No bathing suits or full length formal will be acceptable. All contestants will be guests of the Fair for luncheon, supper and a fashion show on Aug. 29 and a "mystery trip dinner" on Aug. 30.

All will receive corsages and various gifts. The winning queen "Miss Michigan State Fair" will receive a crown, trophy, a $100 bond, a wardrobe from Federal Department Stores, a Charm School course and a Dance School course. She will officiate at State Fair activities for the balance of the week.

The Fair itself opens Friday, Aug. 25 and runs through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4.

HIRING AGE LOWERED

The Civil Service Commission has lowered its hiring age from 18 to 16. This will improve employment opportunities for school drop-outs and will give students a chance to work part time during the school term and full time during vacations.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

BROTHERHOOD
Some 53 years ago, on July 28, 1914, World War I, which some called "the war to end all wars" became a reality.
We have since survived World War II and a number of lesser wars and skirmishes.
The end of war is nowhere in sight. The possibility of a conflagration worthy of the title World War III smolders in many areas of the world.
So it is that while our scientific progress in the last half-century has been somewhat phenomenal, we have recorded scant progress in the search for world brotherhood.
How perfect if someone could provide a ready program, a fool-proof plan. There is none.
Yet, cannot each man make a small beginning? If each man practiced the principles of Christianity and brotherhood, within his small area of living, would not others be encouraged to do likewise?
Do not expect to move mountains or shake the world by living a good life; yet be assured that you are planting fruitful seeds for tomorrow.

PEARLS OF WISDOM
Live all you can; it's a mistake not to. It doesn't so much matter what you do in particular, so long as you have had your life. If you haven't had that, what have you had?
—Henry James.
Cynicism is intellectual dandyism.
—Ibsen.
For as this appalling ocean surrounds the verdant land, so in the soul of man there lies an insular Tahiti, full of peace and joy, but encompassed by all the horrors of the half-known life.
—Melville.
To me, every hour of the light and the dark is a miracle, every cubic inch of space is a miracle.
—Whitman.
I cannot but think that he who finds a certain proportion of pain and evil inseparably woven up in the life of the very worms, will bear his own share with more courage and submission.
—Thomas Huxley.
You should never wear your best trousers when you go out to fight for freedom and truth.
—Ibsen.
In order that people may be happy in their work, these three things are needed: They must be fit for it; they must not do too much of it; and they must have a sense of success in it.
—John Ruskin.
Fortitude—One of man's greatest qualities is described by the simple word "guts"—the ability to take it. If you have the discipline to stand fast when your body wants to run, if you can control your temper and remain cheerful in the face of monotony or disappointment, you have "guts" in the soldiering sense. The ability to take it must be trained—the training is hard, mental as well as physical. But once ingrained, you can face and flail the enemy as a soldier, and enjoy the challenges of life as a civilian.
—Col. John S. Roosa.

Thrift—A man who both spends and saves money is the happiest, because he has both enjoyments.
—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

LIFELINES:
To the preacher life's a sermon,
To the joker life's a jest,
To the miser life is money,
To the loafer life's a rest.
To the soldier life's a battle,
To the teacher life's a school,
Life's a great thing for the thinker,
But a folly to the fool.

To the man who loves his work,
But it's constant dodging duty
To the everlasting shirk.
To the faithful, earnest worker
Life's a story ever new,
Life is what we try to make it—
What, my friend, is life to you?
"I am come that they might have life, and that might have it more abundantly."
—John 10:10

LEAD A DISCUSSION ON THE ISSUES INVOLVED IN

Vietnam Summer

VIET NAM SUMMER is an effort to raise the level of information among the American people about the Viet Nam war. It is a grass roots effort to do something about the most urgent item on our nation's agenda: the need to examine U. S. Foreign policy to see if our nation is conducting its international affairs in a way that will lead to a stable world order and peace.

Ypsilanti Vikings Sign Top College Football Talent

The Ypsilanti Vikings who finished second in the Midwest Football League a year ago have bolstered their squad with some of the Michigan College Football's brightest stars of the past few years.

Steve Juday, Michigan State's 1965 All-American quarterback who set several past records while at Michigan State, and Tom Cecchini, U. of M. Captain and All Big Ten Linebacker have both looked good in early drills.

In addition End Craig Kirby from the U. of M. is also a member of the Vikings squad. The Ypsilanti entry is coached by former Lion Earl "Jug" Girard who saw a turnout of some 40 players at opening drills this week.

Blue Ox Disappears From Paul Bunyan

Paul Bunyan's great blue ox, "Babe," of mythical folklore, but now rendered in fiberglass, had stood for several years in front of the Paul Bunyan restaurant at Zeeb Rd. and I-94 in Seio township.

Removed by unknown thieves, the figure is valued at $1,000. As of Wednesday afternoon, it had not been located, according to Washtenaw county sheriff's deputies.

As of last week-end she has again retreated into legend.

'Red' Lamb Hospitalized In Cleveland

Melvin "Red" Lamb of Manchester and a barber at his uncle's Sam Brown's barber shop has returned to the Cleveland Clinic where he underwent a kidney transplant last December, for further treatment after his system began to react to the transplanted kidney.

Lamb had returned to his position at Sam's Barber Shop in June and worked half days until Saturday, July 15. He entered the clinic Monday, July 17, after experiencing some difficulty with the medication he had been taking.

Lamb's sister, Mrs. Victor Wurster, of Manchester reports that he is receiving a shot of a new serum daily to help his body accept the kidney. She says that he was "depressed at first," but that he is feeling much better now. She adds that his blood pressure has risen, and he has received three cobalt treatments since returning to the clinic.

Mrs. Wurster pointed out that her brother does not have an infection and that his condition does not require the use of a kidney machine.

Sam Brown remarks that no one can tell how long Lamb might have to stay in Cleveland this time, "it all depends on his progress."

Lamb's wife is in Cleveland with her husband and their two children are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Guenther, as they did while Lamb was in the clinic awaiting the transplant.

Lamb's kidney condition is the result of a childhood illness, and he suffered his first attack in October, 1965. He was dependent on a kidney machine at the Cleveland clinic for several months before he was able to receive a transplant. He had returned home from the clinic in February.
