

SANTA is ready to light up for visitors to the Baldwin home during the Tannenbaum Tour scheduled for Dec. 17 and sponsored by the Chelsea Child Study Club.

Holiday Season House Tour Arranged

"It's Beginning To Look a Lot Like Christmas" everywhere along the planned route of the Chelsea Child Study club's Tannenbaum Tour planned for Dec. 17 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Portions of six homes in the community will be shown. Proceeds from the tour will go to the Chelsea High school scholarship fund and the Chelsea school outdoor laboratory.

Three of the homes are described in the following paragraphs. The Dale Baileys are enjoying their third Christmas in their new brick, traditional home at 6100 Stoffer Rd. The glow of candles in every window illuminates the wooded setting and a traditional wreath of greens welcomes visitors at the door. A grandfather clock in the foyer chimes the hours with a cathedral sound of yesteryear. The living and dining rooms are carpeted in moss green with white walls and draperies. They are furnished in Italian provincial with accents of French blue, green and gold. Mrs. Bailey has chosen many natural greens and boughs in her holiday decorating. The formal tree in the living room is decorated in gold and silver and glimmers with tiny Italian lights.

Lovely hurricanes from Williamsburg reflect in a gold-rimmed mirror over the buffet and the graceful elegance and formality of these rooms is further emphasized by the shimmering crystal droplet chandelier over the dining table and the Baileys' lovely collection of pictures and prints.

In contrast, an old-world atmosphere prevails in the Delft-blue and white kitchen and breakfast area. Wedgewood wallpaper and Dutch tiles on the backsplash form a striking background for the maple cabinets and accents of gleaming copper and brass. Blue Danube china on the maple hutch completes this setting. In the comfy, early American family room with fireplace and hickory paneling, an old-fashioned tree laden with old and memorable ornaments stands before the window; this room is dominated

Bulldog Cagers Open With Win Over Dundee

Good Team Effort, Fine Shooting Raise Hopes for Winning Season

The Chelsea Bulldog varsity basketball team opened up its season with an exciting 75-71 victory last Friday evening over the Dundee Vikings at Dundee. The Eastern Conference game was also the opener for Dundee. The game began with Dundee using a zone defense against the Bulldogs. Dundee normally will man-to-man defense 75 percent of the time, but attempted to surprise Chelsea with the zone, letting the new tactics bother the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs rang up 23 points in the opening quarter on fine shooting by Jack Risner (eight points), Craig Houle (eight points), Roy Holliday (two points), Lance Burghardt (three points) and John Lixey (five points). The Chelsea starting five while the Bulldogs used a court, man-to-man press defense to hold Dundee to 15 points. Chelsea's 19 points for that quarter. Dundee was having its troubles as it could score only 12 points against the Chelsea defense. The total score at this point was Chelsea 62, Dundee 50.

The fourth quarter saw Dundee move out quickly and foul out Chelsea's three leading scorers—Risner, Burghardt and Houle. The reserves were again put into service and performed admirably. (Continued on page three)

School Choirs Plan Christmas Concert Sunday

Vocal Music Groups from All Schools Prepare for Annual Holiday Event

Chelsea School District choirs will present a Christmas concert Sunday, Dec. 10 at 2:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

A combined choir of 150 fourth and fifth graders from North and South schools, directed by Mrs. Alice Tite, will open the program with such Christmas favorites as "What Child Is This?" "Dumpty Boy" and "Sleigh Ride." The choirs from the two schools will each sing a French carol.

The 80-member sixth grade chorus, directed by Diana L. Roy and accompanied by Jill Flintoft, will sing four selections—"O Come Immanuel," "Fum, Fum, Fum," "Rise Now Oh Shepherd" and "Angels We Have Heard on High"—taken from the traditional Christmas music of European countries.

The Junior High select choir, also directed by Miss L. Roy, consists of 80 students chosen from the seventh and eighth grades. Its contributions to the program will include "Three Great Kings," "O, How a Rose," "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The High school choir, under the direction of Miss L. Roy, will sing various types of Christmas vocal selections. The first number will be a 16th century carol, "While Shepherds Watched Their Sheep," featuring an echo chorus composed of Chris Albee, Mary Trachet, Terri Boyer, Pamela Wil-

Moonlight Madness Sale Set Monday

Chelsea merchants' annual "Moonlight Madness" pre-Christmas sale will be held Monday night, Dec. 11. All stores participating in the special event will close at their normal times and re-open from 7 to 9 p.m.

Numerous bargains to aid shoppers in their selection of Christmas gifts will be featured during these hours. Some items will be specially sale-priced for only a specified single hour so wise shoppers should read the advertisements in this issue of the Standard to avoid missing the particular item they may be wanting.

SANTA CLAUS talks to a captivated audience of Chelsea children Saturday, Dec. 9 during the first of his three pre-Christmas visits in town. He will return Dec. 9 and 16, when his "visiting hours" will be from 1 to 3 p.m. Headquarters for the visits will be the post office parking lot.

Santa Returning Again This Saturday

Santa Claus will again be at the parking lot between the Post Office and the theater from 1 to 3 p.m. this Saturday. He still has lots of candy to pass out to his visitors and will be pleased to hear what the kiddies want for Christmas.

Community Chest Fails To Hit Goal

The 1967 Community Chest campaign ended Dec. 1 with contributions totaling $20,489.

Breakdown of the money collected by campaign divisions is as follows: Retail, $502.00; Industrial, $16,108; Residential, $1,105; Business, $1,246; Professionals, $560; Organizations, $360; Schools, $519.

This amounts to 93.3 percent of the budgeted goal of $21,950.

The Community Chest Board and Campaign Committee expressed their thanks to all those who worked on the campaign and everyone who contributed to it. The Campaign Committee wishes to especially recognize and thank

Rod & Gun Club Offers Christmas Trees to Churches

Chelsea Rod & Gun Club is again offering a free Christmas tree to each of the area churches. Representatives from each church are asked to drive out to Pineview clubhouse on Linsane Rd. Saturday, Dec. 16 between noon and 3 p.m. to select the tree.

Club members will serve coffee and Boy Scouts from club-sponsored Troop 405 will be available to cut the trees and help load them.

Two Sofas Burn

Chelsea firemen were called on to extinguish two burning sofas last Friday night. One of the sofas, located in an apartment at 113 1/2 S. Main St., above Kusterer's Market, caused extensive damage to the living room. The other fire, in the home of Harold Greenwood, 116 Lincoln St., was put out before any damage occurred to the rest of the room in which the burning sofa was located.

OYW Winner To Be Told at Sunday Tea

Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary will announce the local winner of the state-wide Four Outstanding Young Women (FOYW) contest this Sunday at a tea in the First Methodist church narthex from 1 to 3 p.m. Presenting the award will be Dan Baldwin, Chelsea village president. The judging was done earlier this week by two prominent citizens outside the area.

Awards Given Posthumously

Awards earned by the late Aviation-Mechanics Mate-Second Class Keith A. Kleis, USN, were presented posthumously to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Kleis of 643 W. Middle. They received an Air Medal with one gold star from Cpt. William R. Sisley, USN, at a 3:30 p.m. ceremony yesterday in North Hall, the NROTC unit, at the University of Michigan.

Kleis, born Dec. 23, 1945, won the medals for meritorious achievement in aerial flight as a crew member in a fleet air reconnaissance squadron during a mission in Southeast Asia from Dec. 14, 1965 to March 1, 1966. He was killed Nov. 3, 1966 when the plane in which he was a crew member was lost at sea during an approach to the carrier USS Independence in the Mediterranean Sea. Kleis had entered the Navy Jan. 9, 1963.

SPECIAL CANTATA: The senior choir of the First Methodist church will sing a cantata, "Rejoice Ye Christians," by Buxtehude at the church's regular 10 a.m. worship service Sunday, Dec. 10. Organist for the morning will be John Peterson, with additional accompaniment to be provided by Susan Sydon and Laurie Eastland, violinists, and Myron Nelson, cellist. The choir will be under the direction of Mrs. Robert Clark, regular director of music for the Methodist church and a graduate of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. Assistant choir director for the cantata has been Max Plank. Members of the choir shown above are (bottom row, from left) Lois Garmen, Peg Worgess and Carole Hoffmeyer; (second row, left to right) Director Mrs. Robert Clark, Sherry Plank, Mary Harris, Jean Storey, and Vera Briston; (top row, from left) James Hoffmeyer, Jack Pfoffe, Clare Warren, Max Plank, Robert Benedict and Vern Otto. (Continued from page one)

Center Steve Diederich, who is 6' 4 1/2" tall, replaced Burghardt; he proceeded to "snuff" a couple of shots by Dundee and grabbed some crucial rebounds. Forward Larry Gaken came off the bench and coolly dropped in two offensive rebounds for four important points. Guard John Freeman withstood the pressing Dundee defense to give the team the pulse it needed in the final moments. Forward Mike Schnadt held up the position formerly occupied by Houie and performed well.

Looking at the free-throw shooting in the last quarter, Dundee had 13 attempts and scored nine, while Chelsea had five attempts and scored three. Considering the Dundee onslaught in the fourth quarter, the Bulldogs held off the charge well and came out the winner, 75-71. Riserer scored five; Lixey, two; Freeman, two; and Gaken, five points in the last quarter.

Hurting Chelsea the most for Dundee were guard Kurt Karner, who scored 20 points on five field goals and 10 free throws; and forward John Williams, who scored 15 points on four field goals and seven free throws. Dundee, as a team, scored 28 field goals and 25 of 41 free throws. The Vikings also had 16 personal fouls.

For Chelsea, the leading scorer was guard Jack Riserer with 24 points on 10 field goals and four free throws. Most of Jack's field goals were jump shots 15 feet or more from the basket. He was followed by center Lane Burghardt with 14 points, forward Craig Houie with 13 points, and forward John Lixey with seven points and, most importantly, 10 rebounds. John played for almost the entire game and was the only starter not to run into foul trouble. His rebounding and steady work on setting up the offense led both teams.

Roy Holliday scored four points from the guard position and also played a very steady game as he passed well to set up shots for his teammates. Larry Gaken finished with five points. Doug Weatherwax with four points, and Mike Schnadt and John Freeman with two points each.

Coach Terry Pokela said that it was near the 40-percent mark, which is good for the first game. The Bulldogs' enthusiasm on the court and the never-say-die attitude were original factors in upsetting the Dundee "appreciation."

Chelsea received tremendous help from its reserves when the starters were in foul trouble. A team is only as good as its reserves and Chelsea does have strong reserves according to Coach Pokela. He said he would not hesitate to put any one of the 13 boys on the team into a tight game. All are capable of coming through for Chelsea; however, the coach feels that the Bulldogs still need to work on their defense.

Tuesday night, Dec. 5, the Bulldogs traveled to Stockbridge for a non-conference game. In its first game of the year, the Stockbridge Panthers defeated Dexter, 64-56. Chelsea also lost to the Panthers, 64 to 44. The game was close during the first quarter, but, starting with the second quarter, Stockbridge took the lead. The half-time score was 34-20 in favor of the Panthers. By the end of the third quarter, Stockbridge increased its lead to 18 points, with the score 48-30. The last quarter was similar to the preceding two. Both teams substituted heavily near the end of the game.

John Lixey led Chelsea scoring with 14 points. The next conference game is Friday, Dec. 15 with Milan, here a Chelsea. The Bulldogs follow that game with a trip to Lincoln Saturday night, Dec. 16 for another conference game.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ellenwood attended an annual Christmas dinner of the Washtenaw County Matrons Pickle Club Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fielder of Manchester. Guests were present from Ypsilanti, Milan, Saline, Dexter, Ann Arbor, Pinckney and Chelsea.

Shortage of Turkey

There is a smaller turkey this year but national production is up so there will be no shortage of that festive bird for Christmas or New Year's.

B. Dale Ball of the Department of Agriculture says this year's turkey production is up 10 percent from last year's. This is a significant increase in the turkey industry.

There is more than enough turkey in other states which is more than enough for the nation. Nationally the crop is up 10 percent more than last year's.

Even the devotees of white meat turkey should be able to find enough turkey for the holiday.

There is a general agreement that the bird needs frequent roasting. Some home economists are warning that turkey is more than enough for the holiday.

A HAND-MADE BISQUE nativity scene, which will be viewed by guests on the Tannenbaum created by Mrs. Robert J. Meyers, is a special part of the Christmas decorations in the Meyers home.

Plans Complete for Holiday Season Tour of Area Homes

by the gay reds of Christmas. The holiday season is delightful for the Baldwins and their daughter, Jacque, and their home reflects their desire for a traditional Christmas.

Traveling north past North Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Meyers and their four small children will welcome tour visitors to their farm home at 11497 Hadley Rd. Christmas at the Meyers home is celebrated in a fond, old-fashioned way and the sleigh at the "back-door" is actually used by them to bring in their balsam tree from the woods. The warm, cozy, country kitchen contains a gaily decorated tree, placed across from the Franklin stove which was taken from a log cabin on the property. Four big boots await Santa's goodies for the children and angels made of copper screening and scouring pads watch meditatively over the setting.

The pegged oak flooring in the living room is very old and was taken from the woods across the road and drawn by oxen to the mill. The 80-year-old mantel is from the original farm house. Many of Mrs. Meyers' Christmas decorations are found in the living room. There is a wind-up train, an infant on a round board made of small colored stones, antique china and hand-painted tiles. Hand-carved tea chairs with green needle-point seats and a matching marble-top table grace the living room. There is a lovely old wooden sock-stretcher which is used to hold the children's pictures. The family is especially proud of a 21-piece nativity scene which Mrs. Meyers made of bisque. A small light placed under each figure illuminates them and shows off each delicate feature. A trip back in time to a real, old-fashioned Christmas awaits tour participants at this home.

A lamp-post bedecked with gay Christmas packages and greenery warmly welcomes visitors to the Donald E. Baldwin residence at 1023 Freer Rd. The outlines of this home will be highlighted with cedar and a lighted wreath will be nestled amid the landscaping. A jolly red Santa points to the entrance where a duo of toy soldiers stands guard. The doorway is hung with a purple and white straw hat filled with fresh flowers.

The contemporary living room is dominated by the large tree in the front window which has been strung with multi-colored frosted snowball lights. A miniature village has been placed beneath the tree. This is a family tradition and many of the items were Mrs. Baldwin's when she was a child. The sunken family room, which was added by the Baldwins three years after the house was built, has walls of pegged walnut paneling and a terrazzo floor with a striking Roman brick fireplace and a raised hearth at the north end of the room. One's attention is drawn there to the lovely hanging-bronzed pinecone tree which was made by Mrs. Baldwin. A nativity scene graces the 60-year-old pump organ and Christmas "stockings" hang in the window catch the slightest movement of air.

A divider of solid oak hand-turned posts separates the living area from the kitchen. The avocado kitchen appliances contrast with Indian tweed carpeting and colonial oak cabinets. A matching oak hutch in the dining area invitingly displays some lovely pieces of china and silver. The combination of candles, poinsettias, boughs, angels and music boxes makes this home a gay delight for their son, David, as well as other visitors.

Sgt. Frank White Returns from Vietnam

After serving 12 months in Vietnam, Sgt. Frank White, USMC, arrived at El Toro, Calif. Nov. 28. Mrs. White, the former Jeannene Rowe, traveled to San Diego to meet her husband. They spent a week in California before returning to Chelsea. Sgt. White will have completed his active duty Oct. 28 next year.

Fashion Notes

Ensembles for daytime wear seem to be the favorite this season. Knitted dresses with coats to the neckline are popular but lightweight wools in light colors combine to make attractive costumes.

Bows are used in many decorative ways on fall frocks. A big ruffle may be placed at the front of a V-neck collar or flat bows may mark the high waistlines in front.

Small bows in one's hair do may be used with good effect when combined with curls.

Wrestling Season Opens Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Chelsea wrestling team will open its new season with a dual meet against Michigan Center at 8:00 p.m. in the Chelsea High school gym. Last year the Bulldog wrestlers, who finished their season with an impressive 11-1 record, had a close and exciting meet with the Michigan Center team which went down to the last match before Chelsea emerged with a 24-20 victory.

This year's team, under the direction of the new coach, Lauren Miller, is expecting to improve on last year's record, especially its second-place finish in the conference meet. Returning from last year's squad are the following lettermen: John McKeighan, Jim Poertner, Bob Kuengeter, Mike Hendricks, Bill Lounsbury, Mark Lancaster, Paul Stahl, Lauren Miller, Ray Worden, Mike Gaken, and Jim Boylan. Tim Colvia, who also lettered, is not expected to start wrestling for a few weeks due to an injury.

The probable starting lineup for the Michigan Center meet, along with their weight classes, is as follows: John Bassett (95), Tom Tirb (103), Jim Poertner (112), Bill Lounsbury (120), Mike Hendricks (127), Paul Stahl (133), Mark Lancaster (138), Chuck Budd (145), Lauren Miller (154), Kerry Kargel (165), Ray Worden (180), and Mike Gaken, (heavyweight).

Other boys who might make the lineup are: John McKeighan, Bill Pearsall, Bill Kuschmaul, Paul Maurer, Dennis Morgan, Ted O'Neil, Bob Kuengeter, Mike Hendricks, Wayne Stahl, Bill Stahl, Dale Robbins, Jeff Alder, Tim Orling, Ron Molsinger and Jim Boylan. John Hess, a promising sophomore heavyweight, may be lost for the season due to a knee injury.

The probable starter at 105, Kerry Kargel, is a junior transfer from Whitmore Lake, where he was conference and regional champion for the Trojans. Lauren Boyer, a senior wrestling at 154, was conference champion as a sophomore and Ray Worden, a senior at 180, was last year's conference champion.

This season's lineup for the Bulldogs includes three former conference champions, four runners-up and two third-place finishers. With this type of personnel the Chelsea team should make a strong bid for the championship.

Last year the Bulldogs won their first 11 meets before losing to the Dexter grapplers in the final meet of the season. Neither Dexter nor Chelsea lost many of their regular wrestlers due to graduation, but what the Dreadnaughts did lose were key men while Chelsea's stronger wrestlers are all returning.

This year the Southeastern championship should again prove to be a two-team affair between Dexter and Chelsea. Saline also could be a potent force in deciding the championship.

This year's schedule will give Chelsea wrestling fans a chance to see exciting, quality high-school wrestling. Michigan Center has always been a tough team to defeat. The Bulldogs' intense rivalry with Dexter will provide some tense moments, as well as the meets with Saline, Jackson Northwest and Willow Run. Coach Miller was at the helm of the Willow Run team before coming to Chelsea, so that, too, should be an interesting night.

The wrestling schedule is as follows:

Dec. 8—Mich. Center home 8:30

Dec. 14—Dundee home 8:00

Jan. 4—Clinton home 8:00

Jan. 6—Parma Western Invitational away

Jan. 11—Willow Run home 8:00

ON SOCIAL SECURITY

The Senate Finance Committee has voted to increase Social Security payroll deductions from 4.4 to 5 percent next year. The maximum base would be from $1,600 to $2,800 to pay for the old-age benefits.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Pre-Christmas thoughts ... Christmas will soon be here. A season for giving and receiving. A season of gladness for most of us. A season of grieving and sadness for some of us. A season of religious dedication for too few of us. A season of memories for all of us.

Christmas always has been, is, and always will be a season for gladness and sadness. It has been that way since the beginning. Just as His birth brought gladness to the world, His birth also brought sadness. His birth triggered the slaughter of many babies in the futile attempt to rid the world of the heralded King of Kings. These murdered babies were loved by sad, grieving parents, just as He was loved.

In our own Christmas gladness or sadness, let us pause and ponder the only reason for the season. We celebrate the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. While those of us with faith know He is ever with us, let us pause and ponder what He would say if He put in a personal appearance as He sees us celebrate His birth in our varied manner. Do we give Him reason for gladness or sadness? The answer we come up with can easily bring our own immediate gladness or eventual sadness. BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Story of 200-inch Palomar Telescope To Be Told on TV

East Lansing.—Arthur Miller's adaptation of "An Enemy of the People" by Henrik Ibsen, returns to "N. E. T. Playhouse," Sunday, Dec. 10, at 10 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

James Daly, 1966 Emmy-winner, stars in the production as the idealistic doctor who discovers that the medicinal springs—source of a small Norwegian town's wealth and fame—are, in fact, poisoned.

The author of "Death of a Salesman," Arthur Miller brings new force to Ibsen's attack on the hypocrisy of a complacent society that prefers corruption to painful reality. In "An Enemy of the People," Miller brings to bear his deep concern for the individual's responsibility to the society in which he lives.

Other WMSB highlights include:

PALOMAR—

"Spectrum" presents "The Story of Palomar," a commemoration of the 200-inch mirror of the Hale telescope on top of California's Mount Palomar, Sunday, Dec. 10, at 4 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 11, at 11:30 a.m.

The program takes the viewer through the incredibly delicate job of wedding a million pounds of steel to thousands of pounds of glass to produce what has been described as an "optical miracle."

The narration is done by the scientists who have been involved with the "great eye" since construction began in 1931.

NOVELIST—

"The Creative Person" focuses on "Silence, Exile and Cunning," James Joyce, one of this century's greatest and most controversial novelists, Sunday, Dec. 10, at 3 p.m. and Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 11:30 a.m.

This program is written by Anthony Burgess, eminent British novelist who also serves as an on-camera host, taking the viewers on a tour of the Dublin of James Joyce, and visiting many of the actual locations immortalized in Joyce's most famous novel, "Ulysses." Throughout the program Burgess provides commentary on Joyce the man and the novelist.

Also included in the program are several readings from Joyce's works. Included are the "sermon on hell," from "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man," an extract from Molly Bloom's soliloquy at the end of "Ulysses" and extracts from "Finnegans Wake."

SLUM SCHOOLS—

"The Way It Is," an unshrinkable look at education in a slum school, Junior High School No. 57 in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, is presented on "N.E.T."

Journal," Sunday, Dec. 10, at 4:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 12 noon.

The documentary focuses on individual teachers, and their efforts to crack the communal learning block through a blend of experimental programs and old-fashioned understanding.

Operating under a two-year grant from the Ford Foundation, NYU's Clinic for Learning has chosen Junior High School No. 57 for its "combat zone" experience in ghetto education.

MUSIC—

Music for violin and harpsichord highlights "Recital Hall," Sunday, Dec. 10, at 3:30 p.m.

Violinist Jerrie Lucktenberg and harpsichordist George Lucktenberg are guest artists. They perform Sonata No. 5 in F Minor by J. S. Bach and the television premiere of Sonatina for Violin and Harpsichord by John Rode, professor of music at Florida State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucktenberg are artist-teachers at Converse College in Spartanburg, S. C., and hold degrees from the Curtis Institute of Music, University of Illinois and State Academy of Music in Vienna.

Jerrie Lucktenberg plays a Stradivarius dated 1718; the harpsichord is a specially-built Sperrhake.

CEZANNE—

James McConnell, professor of art at Michigan State University, discusses and illustrates the art of Paul Cezanne, well-known 19th and 20th century French painter, Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 7 p.m.

Paintings from Cezanne's early years to his later years, when his works were based primarily on the cube and the cylinder, are included in the presentation. The music for portions of this program consists of works by Berlioz, Faure and Ravel.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

Returning to the most important word in the dictionary—Ecology. "A branch of science concerned with the interrelationship of organisms and their environment."

Comes a book, giving life, movement, drama to this cold definition. It is a beautiful book, highly readable, its author, Dr. Durward Allen of Purdue, who is directing a monumental wildlife study on Michigan's Isle Royale, National Park.

The book, "The Life of Prairies and Plains" is produced in co-operation with the United States Department of the Interior, in a series, "Our Living World of Nature."

The Allen text is the kind of plain, yet colorful English that might be expected from a writer with an impressive list of books to his credit. His big achievement is the translation of basic biology, kinship for the "living world of nature" who has any feeling of kinship for the "living world of nature."

The Durward Allen story is accompanied by abundant illustrations.

noble legions of trumpeter swan that plied the airways spring and fall before the white man took over.

There is a wealth of unusual information, scientific insight and ancient lore in this book. It is a joy to read, a problem to review, since any casual summing-up is impossible. Its theme is the tremendous—symphony of all outdoors, from grass roots and prairie pond holes to mountain peaks and global air currents.

The reader becomes aware that man, as dependent on topsoil, water, sunlight as any other animal, is at war with his own habitat. As expanding humanity smother the land, there is one hope—that the next generation and the next will awaken to the basic meanings of ecology, so that much-talked about conservation will come to have practical value.

Schools could be a big help. No better textbook for illuminating the consciousness of American youth could be found than "The Life of Prairies and Plains."

It is a highly entertaining story for anyone who ever enjoyed a sunset, a singing bird, the call of sky-cruising geese. The book is published by McGraw Hill Book Co., New York, Toronto, London.

Are you paying more than 11¢ a gallon for your home's heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gas lights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential non-heating customer, read on. You qualify for our special service rate which gets you Gas for heating at a price equal to fuel oil costing 11¢ a gallon.

Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we will pay for it and its installation by a participating Gas heating contractor. And, except for the Gas you use, it won't cost you a penny for six months after installation.

We'll buy the oil that's in your tank at the price you paid for it. We'll remove the tank from your home at no cost to you, and we'll even haul it away if you want.

Convert to thrifty natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank. Call us today for the name of a participating Gas heating contractor and full details.

Q. My wife and I have $5,000 that we want our son and daughter-in-law to have—but only as a down payment on a home in the future. How should we invest for best income and how can we make certain that they use the money only for the down payment? This is important to us, because the money involved is the insurance from the death of our only other child.

A. The first question to be answered is how long will it be before your son and his wife will need the money? If it is only a short time, I suggest you keep the money in a savings account. If you are talking about two to five years, or more, then you might consider a high-grade preferred stock or, better yet, a convertible—preferred, which a good broker might help you select.

As to restricting the use your son and daughter-in-law can make of the money, this is a legal question; I suggest you consult your lawyer.

Q. My husband and I are living on social security. We have $4,000 in savings which we would like to invest for more income. What would you suggest for us, a couple who have never invested?

A. Since you have never invested and can't afford to take chances with your savings, I suggest that you place the $4,000 in savings certificates at your bank, which should get you about five percent interest.

Q. Our grandchildren, 12 and 16, have $300 to invest. What would you suggest?

A. I am sending you a copy of the National Association of Investment Clubs' "Better Investing" magazine. Your grandchildren can afford risk and can await growth, therefore I suggest that they consider one of the stocks listed in the magazine's model portfolio.

Q. We recently sold our mutual fund shares, which were not making much money for us, and, on our broker's advice, purchased $30,000 worth of Enterprise Mutual and $50,000 worth of Fletcher. Now we have been told this was very risky because these funds are quite new. Will you advise us?

A. I don't know what mutual fund you sold, and therefore do not know whether you sold a good one or a bad one. The services I have do not contain any information on the funds you have bought, indicating they may be both new and small.

Let me add, when you buy into a mutual fund, you should buy for the long term. The commissions on mutual fund purchases run into money. Assuming that the two funds whose share you bought levy a normal sales charge, you paid about $6,400 to buy the $80,000 in funds. If you were to sell them and invest in still another fund, you would again pay a similar charge. This is not the way to make money.

Before you make any further change in your investment program, I suggest you talk with your bank's manager or trust officer, who can either advise you or direct you to an experienced broker.

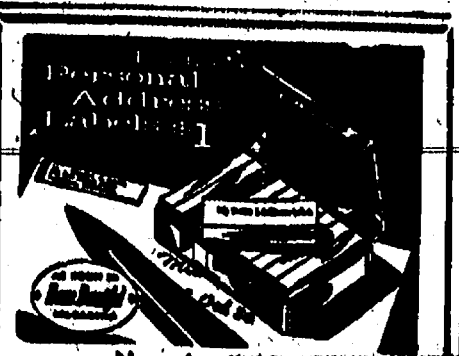

Have you a question about investing? Mr. O'Hara, editor of the monthly magazine, "Better Investing," and one of the nation's recognized authorities, will answer as many as possible in his column or by personal mail, but must limit questions to those of more general interest. Correspondents will receive a free copy of "Better Investing." Write to: T. E. O'Hara, National Association of Investment Clubs, Dept. S, Box 1056, Detroit, 48231.

Driver Attitudes Given As Main Cause for Many Auto Accidents

Lansing.—Secretary of State James M. Hare pointed to "driver attitudes rather than mechanics" as the main cause for auto accidents.

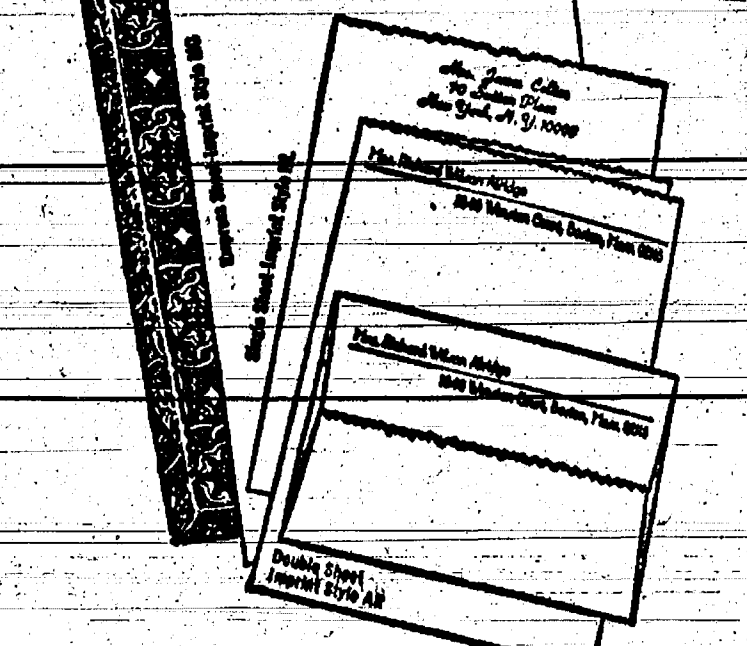

Addressing officials of a large Michigan cab company, Hare stressed the need for drivers "to create better attitudes toward other drivers, a carryover from a general attitude of good will toward others."

Hare said it was his belief that if driver attitudes would improve, accidents would take a decided drop.

ONS OF TROUBLE ON THE TRACKS: The rear portion of a truck broke away from its tractor as the brand-new, driven by Clarence Taylor of Ypsilanti, went over the Main crossing about 3:50 a.m. Tuesday. The trailer, containing a 60-pound load of springs from Rockwell-Standard, was stuck on the tracks until 5:10 a.m., when two wreckers from Smith's Service managed to clear it off the tracks. Meanwhile, a 4:30 a.m. train had to be stopped for 30 minutes until the tracks were cleared. Two sheriff's deputies, William Gilless and Gerald, were credited with preventing a possible train wreck. The train raced to Ypsilanti with a message to stop the 4:30 train. It reached the Chelsea crossing. Meanwhile, Chelsea police David McCormick waited on the crossing near the Methodist church with his patrol car lights flashing in preparation for an attempt to flag down the train in case radio contact had not been

YOUR INCOME TAX

Editor's Note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Detroit District Office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I don't have a maid any more but you're still sending me the Social Security tax form. I used to fill out for her. How can I get this stopped?

A. If you do not expect to be paying any taxable wages to household help in the future write "final return" on the bottom of the Form 942 you received in the mail and send it back. Your name will then be removed from the mailing list.

Q. I've been renting a house to my parents at less than I usually would get. Can I deduct as a loss on my tax return the difference between what they pay me and what I would otherwise receive?

A. No. The difference is really a contribution to your parents' support and is not deductible. In addition, depreciation and other expenses of property rented to a relative or friend at less than fair rental value may only be deducted to the extent of the rent received. The contribution you are making to your parents in the form of reduced rental may be counted as a contribution to their support. If you provide over half their support for the year, and other tests are met, you may claim them as dependents for tax purposes.

Q. I'm a recent widow. Is there any change I should make in my withholding?

A. No. You need not make any change in your withholding in the year of your husband's death. However, if your husband was claiming withholding exemptions for you, your dependents (if any) and himself, you may file a new Form W-4, claiming such withholding exemptions yourself. Of course, you may not claim a withholding exemption for your husband after the year of his death. Furthermore, for withholding purposes if you qualify as a surviving spouse for the two years after your husband's death the

SUNDAY'S SERMON

A WORTHY LIFE

Much has been written and reported in national magazines about the small minority of the young generation which has apparently lost its way to the extent it considers withdrawal from society some kind of a rebellion against the world in which it lives. There is another minority among the millions of teenagers in our community and mine.

Recently, in a small southern town which shall remain unnamed, a school principal suggested to his teachers they take a few classroom minutes each day to discuss manners and the social graces with their students. . . some little things like showing the proper respect when the National Anthem is played at sporting events . . . being orderly in conduct, being more responsive than indicated by a mere "yea" or an indifferent "nah."

This is a small thing, perhaps, to some people. Yet, the thinking individual will realize that teenage indifference is poor training for responsible adulthood. There is a legal age classification for adulthood. But when an individual reaches this age, he or she is not suddenly endowed with a necessary sense of responsibility to God, to country, and to the rights of others. The untrained new adult is unskilled in the art of successful living.

LEARNING BY DOING

Learning by Doing 4-H club held its election of officers Saturday, Dec. 2 at the home of co-leader, Mrs. Lewis Hagelschwerdt. The new officers are Polly Wilson, president; Debbie Gross, vice-president; Cheryl Trinkle, secretary-treasurer; and Wendy Bradbury, recreation.

After the business meeting, the girls worked on their 4-H garments, which are to be completed in March. They also set their dues at 10 cents per meeting.

The club will have a Christmas party Thursday, Dec. 29. After meeting at the home of Wendy Bradbury, the girls will go bowling at Chelsea Lanes. The party will conclude at the home of co-leader, Mrs. Clarence Reddeman, where the 4-Hers will exchange gifts and enjoy refreshments. Each girl may invite her mother and one friend to the party.

The next regular meeting will be Jan. 6 at the home of Wendy Bradbury.

Ford Grant to Wayne U. Aids TV News Coverage

The city room, where the heart of a newspaper beats, has moved to the television screen for the duration of the newspaper strike in Detroit.

A $80,000 Ford foundation grant to Wayne State University will fund the production of "TV City Room," an attempt to provide television viewers with "newspaper-type coverage" of each day's happenings via Channel 58.

Bonafide newspaper reporters will present their coverage of various sections of a paper, simultaneously utilizing film and sound. Even advice to the viewers and comic strips will be included.

In effect for 10 weeks, the grant is negotiable if the strike continues after that period.

Director of WSU's Center for Instructional Technology said, "No control of content is exercised by Wayne State University, to insure that free and open commentary is available to the people of Michigan."

"TV City Room" may be viewed at 7 p.m. Monday through Friday on WTVS, Channel 58.

Michigan's MVACF Claims Average $1,000

Lansing—Average claim paid from the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund since the beginning of the fiscal year was over the $1,000 mark, it was disclosed in a three-month finance report of the fund.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said 484 claims had been settled from July 1 through Sept. 30, totaling upwards of $503,000. "Our claims are now averaging $1,040 for this fiscal year, a decided increase over the $300 in average claims closing. In September, nearly $144,000 in claims were paid out to 43 claimants."

Hare said repayments into the fund by uninsured motorists were nearly $20,000 since the start of the fiscal year. Some $20,000 was repaid during September.

Motorist Mileage Increases Only Slightly Over Last Year's Total

Lansing—Motorists logged an estimated 33.5 billion miles on Michigan highways during the first nine months of 1967, the State Highway Commission reports.

The mileage figure represents an increase of only 1.9 percent in highway travel compared to the same period of 1966, the smallest increase in several years.

Open Blood Clinics Set By Red Cross During December

The Christmas season is an especially appropriate time to give a special "gift of life"—a blood donation. Although donations tend to decrease during this time of the year, the need for blood increases due to a high accident rate both on the highway and in the home.

Certain kinds of chronic ailments (such as bleeding ulcers) which must be treated with blood transfusions also seem to be on the rise during the frenzied holiday preparations.

Keeping these things in mind, the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold two Open Blood Clinics at the Red Cross Operations Center, 2729 Backlund Rd., Ann Arbor. Dates for the clinics are tomorrow from 9 to 11 a.m. and Wednesday, Dec. 13 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. County residents are urged to make appointments as soon as possible by calling 662-5546.

LIFELINES: Why We Need a Saviour

Our first parents—Adam and Eve—were created with sinless natures, but with the power to choose between right and wrong. When tempted by Satan to disobey God's command, they believed Satan's lie instead of God's Word, and ate of the forbidden fruit.

In doing this they sinned. When they sinned, of course, they no longer had a sinless nature, but a sinful nature.

By not obeying God, they permitted sin and death to come in (Romans 5:12-21), and their godlikeness and fellowship with God were destroyed. They became afraid of God and tried to hide themselves. By an act of their wills, they took themselves out of the hand of God and became children of disobedience and children of wrath (Ephesians 2:1-3).

Every person in the world since Adam and Eve, except Jesus Christ, has been born with a sinful nature, a deceitful heart, and a mind that is at enmity against God (Romans 8:5-8).

This evil nature can never be changed by any effort of our own. No matter how much we try to live right and do right, we have no power to change the old nature with which we were born. It is a part of our very being.

We can never live right in this world, nor can we ever live with God hereafter, unless we have a new nature—a nature like God's.

Without a new nature, sinners must spend eternity in the outer darkness (John 3:3).

"Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

"Therefore, if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (2 Corinthians 5:17).

THE LANSING REPORT

FROM
GIL BURSLEY

(This is the last in a series of three special reports).

Two weeks ago I cited some of the frustrations, dilemmas, and problems facing legislators. Last week I pointed to specific bills I have introduced—now enacted in law—as examples of the sense of accomplishment a legislator can achieve. In turn, this makes service in Lansing seem worthwhile.

Today I would like to conclude this series by pointing to some controversial measures upon which we must exercise our best judgment or upon which we have already voted. Obviously, these proposals upon which the public is deeply divided and a legislator will displease some—if not many—each time he casts a vote. Let me state for the record that I study each such issue on its own merits. (It should be noted that these problems often have complicated ramifications of which the public is never fully aware.) My vote is then cast for what I think is best for the state as a whole—which usually coincides with what is best for this senatorial district.

Let's look at some of the major problems areas:

(1) Fiscal reform: For several years I worked for fiscal reform to include a state income tax, repeal of the business activities tax and reforms in the property tax and assessment procedures. In 1967 I voted for the program that has become law. It means higher taxes for most of us but I believe the basis of the program was equitable and that the needs of the people of the state justified the revenue boost. Let me stress that the needs of the people of the state justified the revenue boost. Let me stress that the needs of the people of the state justified the revenue boost.

(2) Sunday liquor: During the past several sessions there have been bills providing for Sunday liquor introduced. They have been variously worded but have always evoked strong support and strong opposition. I do not feel that the arguments in favor, based mainly on the importance of Sunday liquor to Detroit as a convention city, have been sufficient justification to support these proposals. I have voted no each time.

(3) Statewide lottery: Many have suggested amending our Constitution to permit a state lottery which might be used to raise monies for earmarked purposes such as mental health or education. However, as a revenue producer, New York's first year with a state lottery has been a complete bust. Less than 15 percent of anticipated revenues to the state have accrued. Now Hampshire is the only other state with a state-run lottery and it too has produced disappointing revenues. In view of the demonstrated inconsequential revenues that such a measure can generate I cannot see adequate justification for approving a lottery in Michigan.

(4) Daylight Saving: On matters which can be so easily judged by each citizen, I felt as a legislator that I should vote as the majority of my constituents would want. Extensive polls showed a strong majority favoring standard time and I voted accordingly even though my personal preference is a citizen is for daylight time with the extra hour of evening daylight in the summer.

(5) Special assistance to Detroit: As a result of last summer's riots the New Detroit Committee made several recommendations most of which meant the use of monies collected from all over the state to alleviate problems in Detroit.

I recognize the existence of these problems and that we must work co-operatively for their solution. I do not feel, however, that these recommendations had to be acted upon on a crash basis in the 1967 fall session of the legislature. We had just voted a carefully prepared budget based upon a sound financial basis. We have been unable as yet to judge the impact of strikes this fall upon state revenues. We do not yet know how much more the Federal government may siphon off in the way of added Federal income taxes. Accordingly, I think the legislature is wise in holding up action on some of these proposals until 1968.

(6) Fluoridation of water: The preponderance of medical and dental evidence is so overwhelmingly in favor of water fluoridation that I will continue to support positive proposals on this subject as being in the interest of public health and welfare.

(7) Abortion legislation: I support proposals to legalize abortions when the life of the mother is at stake when a deformed baby is definitely expected and in cases of rape and incest. This becomes controversial in that some have serious religious reservations on the subject. I would point out that the legislation does not call for mandatory action but is at the request of the parents. I think the legislative action very much in the public interest.

(8) Gas and weight tax increases: Although I concede the need for increased monies for city and county roads, about half the increase would go to cities and counties and about half to the state highway department. I still voted against the measures for the following reason. On the day that we were to vote, our Republican Governor and our Democratic Attorney General both called for a Grand Jury investigation of the State Highway Department. I think when voting for a $600,000 tax increase that I should be able to assure constituents that the monies were going to a department that would give the most value for the dollar—and certainly the allegations and charges against the Highway Department are as yet still unanswered on that score.

(9) State Fair Housing Legislation: I have strong personal convictions that we should attain a society in Michigan where everyone has equal opportunity. This dates back from my years of foreign service when as American Consul in Africa I could see the hypocrisy of our position, preaching one type of America to peoples elsewhere and practicing another at home.

The immediate problem facing us has been to come up with an equitable "fair housing law" because I certainly was not about to vote for something creating new inequities or infringing upon others' rights. The original proposal of the New Detroit Committee was too one sided in the powers it gave the State Civil Rights Commission. There were other technical objections. I served on a House-Senate Committee and a joint leadership committee that rewrote this bill and I think we now have a good Fair Housing Law which I am ready to support.

Cent Raise In Gas Tax Starts June 1

Enactment of the good roads bills by the Michigan legislature and signature by Governor Romney represents a major forward step toward maintaining the safe, adequate road system needed by Michigan motorists. It was declared by James M. Telford, president of the Michigan Good Roads Federation.

Telford issued the Federation statement as the Governor signed into law a series of five legislative acts which will provide a $65 million annual increase in road and street revenues divided between state, county, and municipal agencies.

"The additional revenues now made possible will greatly help the state highway department, county road commissions, and municipal street departments to construct the more urgently needed facilities required by constantly growing traffic volumes. These new revenues will help to meet only the most emergency needs but the results will be to maintain safer and more adequate roads which are so essential to pleasure and commercial vehicle users."

"Successful enactment of the good roads bills culminates the untiring work of hundreds of individuals throughout the state. Good Roads Federation co-workers in every county spoke effectively and worked diligently in behalf of the program."

The good roads bills increase gasoline taxes by one cent per gallon and raise vehicle license plate fees from 35 to 55 cents per hundred. The gas tax hike goes into effect Jan. 1 but the plate fee increase will not apply until 1969 licenses are placed on sale. The measures increase truck license fees approximately 10 percent. In addition, the bill provides for a revision of formulas by which revenues are divided, increasing the share granted to cities which are experiencing the great traffic control and accident problems.

Admissions processes at Michigan colleges and universities are discussed in the latest in a series of Career Opportunity Guides, published by the Institute for Community Development and Services at Michigan State University.

port. Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti have operated with city Fair Housing Ordinances which most disinterested observers feel are working quite well.

It is important that no one expect that a Fair Housing Law, if passed, is going to work miracles overnight. Actually its impact will be quite minimal. What is needed much more would be modern low cost housing in the core city that would be available to a large number of low income citizens. There is presently in the Senate State Affairs Committee a carefully prepared bill which will make the State Housing Authority a workable agency. And this, if passed, might do a great deal of good.

I doubt if any two readers would agree with me on all of the nine issues I have outlined above. Suffice it to say that I keep an open mind on each. I try to avoid committing myself on a specific bill until we are ready for the final vote because amendments can sometimes change the whole thrust of legislation.

During the year I have thousands of communications from citizens in Washtenaw and Lenawee counties—and from many other areas in the state. Many of these letters include good valid arguments for or against key legislation. I thank you all for these communications because they collectively—and sometimes individually—are most helpful to me in determining how to best serve you.

Slippery Streets Can Be Trap for Unwary Driver

When the streets are icy and more slippery than butter on a porcelain doorknob, you've got to use special knowledge and skill to keep out of accidents, Chief of Police Robert R. Taylor has warned.

"Best thing to do is not drive," the chief said, "but if you must be on the go here are some reminders that may be of help."

The chief said most accidents on ice and slippery snow occur when drivers don't allow enough distance for stopping, or make sudden changes in speed or direction which result in uncontrolled skids.

You have to winterize your driving technique just as you do your vehicle. It may take almost 10 times as far to stop on glare ice as on dry pavement. Regardless of the traction device you use—tire chains, snow tires, studded snow tires—far slower than normal speeds are essential to safety on ice-covered pavements.

The chief said many drivers get into trouble when they jam on the brakes which locks wheels and causes loss of steering control.

"It is important to pump your brakes rapidly when stopping," the official said. "This lets the wheels roll—naturally—between brake applications. You can't control the direction of a sliding wheel. Skidding can be prevented if you anticipate your steering movements and slow down sooner. If you do skid, turn your front wheels in the direction of the skid."

Taylor pointed out that heavy traffic adds another hazard because it polishes ice, making intersections and curves more slippery.

"Every motorist should be sure his tires have good treads," the official stated. "The best evidence of this is the test program conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards at Stevens Point, Wis."

He said these experts found that at 20 miles an hour studded tires on rear wheels reduce braking distance by 19 percent when they are new, and after 2,500 miles of wear, by 13 percent.

"Studded tires are even more effective when used on all four wheels. The braking distance on ice at 20 miles an hour is reduced by 31 percent when the tires are new, and 17 percent when the tires have been used. But the most effective traction device is still the tire chain. The Committee tests found that new reinforced tire chains on the rear wheels reduce braking distance on ice by 50 percent."

He pointed out that ordinary snow tires, without studs, offer no advantage over regular tires in stopping on ice.

State Traffic Toll In November Less Than Last Year

Michigan's 188 traffic deaths in November were 18 or nine percent fewer than 208 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

The count was 14 more than the November average of 174 for the five years 1962-66. It also was the ninth in 11 months this year to show a reduction in deaths compared with corresponding months of 1966.

The toll brings the accumulated deaths for 11 months to 1,880 which was 211 or 10 percent under 2,091 for the same period last year.

With one month to go, indications are that Michigan will end the year with a toll about 200 less than the all-time record mark of 2,296 set in 1966. This would be the first annual reduction in fatalities in six years.

Buyer Can Find Cheaper Credit, U-M Economist Says

Ann Arbor—Most Americans do not know how to estimate the rate of interest on a loan, but they do have credit priorities and some idea of where credit is cheapest, according to a University of Michigan economist.

Prof. James N. Morgan, who participates in continuing economic studies with the Survey Institute for Social Research, says that people's predominantly favorable attitude toward installment-plan buying has not changed over the 18 years SRC has been conducting national surveys in this field.

People appear to have a priority order for uses of credit they regard as acceptable, ranking from medical expenses down to fur coats or jewelry:

Medical expenses . . . 80%
Education . . . 77%
Buying a car . . . 75%
Furniture . . . 62%
Paying piled up bills . . . 43%
Covering expenses when income is cut . . . 40%
Vacations . . . 9%
Fur coat or jewelry . . . 4%

Prof. Morgan suggests that "consumer ignorance about technical details of credit is at least in part offset by sophistication about where it is cheapest, and by shopping for the best deal, and by discriminating notions about acceptable purposes for credit—though some of us might wince at the acceptance of the idea of using credit for debt-consolidation."

"The use of credit is common in the middle of the income range," he explains. "High-income people use it more rarely, but for longer period commitments, as when they buy cars."

The lowest-income people rarely use credit—whether from their own "wheat" power or the unwillingness of lenders to lend to them is difficult to say. They are even less likely to use revolving credit accounts, charge accounts, and gasoline credit cards, even though the last two provide free credit for short periods."

It is only at incomes above $7,500 where as many as one-third of the people use gasoline credit cards, and above $10,000 where more than half do, Morgan reports. Charge accounts are used by about half the people with $7,500 incomes and two thirds of those earning $10,000.

A great deal of the increase in installment credit in the last decade has been the result of its increasing use in the upper middle income brackets, rather than any increase in the proportion of people with more debt than they could handle, the economist points out.

However, he adds, there may not be a lot of leeway for further expansion of installment credit. When a national sample was asked early this year, nearly two-thirds reported that it would be difficult for them to manage larger payments than they had at the time.

And the federal referees in bankruptcy report that the number of personal (non-business) bankruptcies has been growing rapidly, passing in absolute numbers the record of the Great Depression.

One of the reasons people have credit trouble is that the algebra of interest rates is too much for most of us, Morgan asserts.

He suggests one way to beat the cost of borrowing: "A man who could use a savings account as a depreciation reserve could easily, after a small initial wait, be earning 5 percent interest on a varying sum for the rest of his life, instead of paying 10 percent or more on a varying installment debt for the rest of his life. If the average size of that debt is $500, and we are talking about 40 years, the difference is between earning $1,000 in interest over that period, or paying $3,200 in installment credit charges. Can the average man wait for a year for his next durable for a lifetime saving of $4,200?"

Morgan suggests that part of the higher interest rates charges at various places is a reflection of real cost differences, but that more of it is a reflection of what a market of careless or otherwise restricted buyers will pay (plus some refunds to dealers that are not interest rates at all).

"Perhaps the most effective thing we can do with students is not teach them how to construct a table of compound interest but to realize such things as that a $10,000 house bought on a 20-year mortgage calls for payments of $1,200 at 6 percent," the economist says. "If the mortgage runs 40 years, the same house will require total mortgage payments of $26,400 at 6 percent. And yet, those extra amounts may be cheaper than buying a succession of cars on credit over the same period."

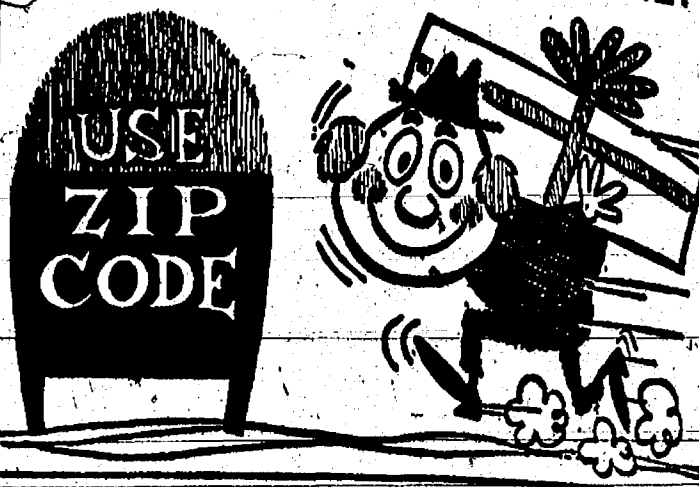

Some evidence on auto installment paper indicates that lenders have been selling long-term paper, 36 months for instance, knowing that a large fraction of the buyers will trade the car in before that, pay off the loan, and take some penalties for prepayment, Morgan adds. "Once again the consumer is lulled into a false sense about what something is costing."

"And now the mail order houses are lengthening their terms, so that you can buy an appliance at Ward's in September, not start payments until March and take 30 months to pay after that, and one-third to the total cost, so that a $460 appliance actually ends up costing $616," Morgan says.

To educate people as to the complexities of modern merchandising and credit systems, something more than "dull books, teaching, and panel discussions" will be necessary, he adds. Morgan suggests "television drama focused on the economic problems of the household, where the truth gradually unfolds, and we learn from others' mistakes."

Understanding your HEALTH

By Albert E. Houstis, M.D. Director Michigan Department of Public Health

Several years ago a book called "Silent Spring," written by the late Rachel Carson dealt with the problem created by man's extensive use of pesticides. In her book Miss Carson not only calls attention to the threat of pesticides to birds and other wildlife, but she also suggests a possible long-range threat to human health.

Others, of course, have felt just as strongly that the pesticide threat has been greatly exaggerated and that the immediate useful benefits of insect-killing chemicals easily outweigh the possible long-term effects on man. The facts probably lie somewhere in the middle (as they so often do). The Michigan Department of Public Health is taking part in a nationwide study designed to shed light on this matter.

Financed by the U.S. Public Health Service, the study being conducted in Michigan as a cooperative endeavor between the state health department and the Entomology Department of Michigan State University. Its primary purpose is to obtain information which will establish the effects on human health, if any, of varying amounts of exposure to pesticides in the environment. Berrien County was selected as the area for this study.

There are three main aspects to the research study. First, detailed information on pesticide usage in the area must be obtained, and persons with varying degrees of exposure identified. There is a high-exposure group, (which includes fruit and vegetable growers and commercial spray applicators; people who work directly with the pesticides and apply them to crops). Then there is the intermediate-exposure group (consisting of dairy and game farmers, and people who live in the rural areas but do not farm). And there is the low-exposure group, (consisting of those who live in the cities and villages).

Second, the environment itself must be examined and monitored to determine the amounts and kinds of pesticides present for each of these three groups of people. This means monitoring the air and water, food and soils; fish and wildlife; household dust and fabrics; and so forth—encountered by the three groups of people in their day-to-day lives.

Third, the health of some thirty persons from each of these groups must be studied regularly and evaluated. This means complete periodical physical examinations and regular analyses of body fluids.

The three parts of the study are being conducted simultaneously over a period of five or more years to determine the long-term effects of the chemicals. Hopefully it may be found that the effect is insignificant. Yet if there are any harmful effects we want to know that too!

Even though the project started back in 1965 it has not yet reached the stage where any conclusions can be drawn. But at least you are now aware that it is going on in Michigan and will be in a better position to understand the source of any conclusions that may be made public in the future.

W. Amsdill Loses Hand in Corn Picker Accident

A freak accident with a corn picker Thursday, Nov. 30, caused the loss of one hand for F. Wesley Amsdill, 47, of 7801 Gregory Rd. According to Amsdill's son, Mark, his father leaned over the machine to see what was causing it to run improperly when the string which closed his hood became entangled in the fan, wrapped around it and pulled him down toward the machine.

In an attempt to brace himself, Amsdill put out his hands and the right one slipped into the husking bed. Quick thinking on the victim's part in applying pressure probably saved his life. Amsdill quickly walked to a neighbor's home where an ambulance was called.

Taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital (Room 647), where his hand was amputated, he will most likely remain there for another week.

RUSTY LINES

More than two million consumers in rural areas and small communities now have modern dial telephone service. This is the result of loans from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to telephone borrowers. Now 79 percent of the nation's farms have telephone service and most of it is dial.

Eating is important in life, nevertheless, too much of it doesn't make for much living.

St.; Jan. 16, and Diane Schneider, 15, both of 219 Railroad St. All are students at Chelsea High school. An all-time record attendance of more than 2,100 young executives participated in workshops, seminars and roundtables on business problems. The turnout of southeastern Michigan JA's exceeded that of national JA conferences.

Junior Achievement Officers Attend Management Conference

Among the 2,100 JA officers who participated in the largest Junior Achievement Management Conference (JAMCO) ever held anywhere, were Chelsea High school students Rose Slane, Carolyn Foster, Vicki Steinaway and Jan and Diane Schneider. The conference met Friday, Nov. 24 at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Southfield.

The all-day meeting included professional clinics, roundtables, discussion groups, workshops, and seminars on problems cropping up in JA company operations.

Accounting, marketing, sales, advertising, annual reports, stockholder relationships, and manufacturing were among the topics covered. A group of 45 delegates to the National JA Conference in Indiana last August presided over the various meetings.

These key teen-agers assisted conference chairman Larry Saterfield, 17, of Dearborn Heights, and conference secretary, Marsha Jahour, also 17, of Dearborn. As leadership spokesmen, young Saterfield expressed satisfaction that the conference experience would make attending officers more effective in running their 419 mini-enterprises throughout southeastern Michigan.

Fifty adult JA advisers from sponsoring firms in the six-county area added their knowledge and background to the business get-together. In addition, professional organizations conducted opportunity clinics concerning careers in their fields and counseled the Achievers in other areas of the program.

The men heading these teams were: Helmut Schneider, Detroit Association of Purchasing Agents; Gerald Montgomery, Greater Detroit Safety Council; Gerald Phelan, Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants; Don Keeler, Sales-Marketing Executives of Detroit; Ronald Hannaway, Young Presidents' Organization; and Elijah Foxson for the American Society of Corporate Secretaries.

After a day of rewarding work, the young delegates relaxed to music of the popular Rationals at a post-conference dance.

Summing up the event, Wallace L. Fleming, JA executive vice president, said: "Everyone who had the opportunity to observe these young people in action is proud of them. Through hard work, dedication and enthusiasm, they planned and carried out one of the finest management conferences I've ever attended. As tomorrow's citizens and leaders, they're setting a good example for all teens to follow."
