LANSING REPORT

done without seriously affecting vital state services.

I hope that I have been able to give you a little insight into the financial problems of our state and to let you know that we in the legislature are doing our utmost to keep costs down. This year's tax increase was the first state-wide tax increase in five years. We certainly hope another one is not needed for at least another five years. And we will do our best to see that it isn't.

The 1968 legislature meets its first deadline this week. Friday, the 26, is the last day for legislators to file requests for bills apart from tax and appropriations measures.

The second deadline will be one month later, Feb. 26. That will be the final day for introduction of bills.

Almost another month later—on March 26—is the final day for reporting bills out of committee. Two weeks later, April 11, is the final day for passage of bills in the "house of origin."

Bills that have passed either House or Senate now face deadlines in the other body.

May 10 is the final day for committee to report out bills originating in the other chamber.

Friday, May 24 is the final day for passage of bills.

May 27, 28, and 29 are set aside for conference committees acting to resolve differences in bills passed by Senate and House.

The legislature then recesses until June 25-26 when final adjournment occurs.

A consumer questionnaire which I plan to send some 10,000 citizens is under preparation. I am eager to know sentiment on such matters as auto insurance cancellations, unsolicited credit cards, trading stamps, junk mail, etc. Also what type of complaints do people have against businesses, professional people and service installations?

From the responses to this questionnaire, constructive legislation may be suggested.

I want your suggestions—What questions would you like to see asked on such a questionnaire? Write me—Senator Gilbert Bursley, State Capitol, Lansing.

Civil rights have never intended to give anybody the right to force himself upon other persons.

Robert Burgess of Den 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Burgess, was third-place winner, and Charles Sannes of Den 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sannes, was fourth-place winner. All of the winners received trophies inscribed with their names. Each boy who built a rocket will receive a ribbon.

Judges were Charles Burgess and D. Elkins. Those involved with the winding and starting of the rockets were Vernon Otto, D. Proctor, P. Case, and R. Schantz. William Keller tabulated the preliminary and final events.

"Cubby", the attendance trophy, was presented to Den 3; Mrs. V. Otto is den mother.

Each den brought a project that its members had worked on during weekly meetings. Den 1 brought a large rocket with "United States" on it. Den 2 brought a large rocket which they named "Moon Cub." The boys installed lights which worked off a battery. Den 3 drew large pictures of the planets. The Webelos built small catapults.

Announcement was made that the next pack committee meeting is to be held Feb. 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Burgess of 717 Taylor St. at 7:30 p.m.

Educational TV Network

Offers Film on North Vietnam

"East Lansing—N.E.T. Journal" presents an edited version of British journalist Felix Greene's film, "North Vietnam—A Personal Report." Sunday, Jan. 28, at 3:30 p.m. on WMBS (Channel 10) Michigan State University television. The film, which premiered Dec. 10, 1967, at New York's Carnegie Hall Cinema, depicts a country of ruined cities and deep bomb craters; a country that "can be destroyed," in the words of Greene, "but never conquered." The determination of the people interviewed by Greene is supported by his film sequence.

The two-hour program includes a discussion of the film and the war by David Shoenbrun, noted journalist and professor of Vietnamese history at Columbia University, and by Robert Scalapino, professor of political science at the University of California (Berkeley) and a supporter of the Administration's Vietnam policy within the academic community. Other WMBS highlights include:

MUSIC—Cellist Louis Potter and pianist Joseph Evans of the MSU music department share the spotlight in "Recital Hall," Wednesday, Jan. 31, at 7 p.m. They perform the Largo from the Sonata No. 5 in E Minor by Antonio Vivaldi and the Sonata G-Minor, Op. 5, No. 2, by Beethoven.

THEATRE—David Hammings ("Blow Up" stars in "Auto-Shop," the story of a young Englishman's coming of age through a hitchhiking trip across the European continent, "N.E.T. Playhouse," Sunday, Jan. 28, at 10 p.m.

The play opens in London, as a beautiful continental woman-of-the-world tells a callow young Englishman, who is enamored of her, to go out and see some of the rest of the world. When he has had the great "European experience," then he can come back to her.

The play then follows the young man's adventures as he travels through Europe and witnesses his coming of age.

DANCE—"N.E.T. Festival" focuses on the artistry of world-famous dancer Martha Graham in "Martha Graham: Night Journey," Sunday, Jan. 28, at 2:30 p.m.

Miss Graham discusses and illustrates her concept of the dance and performs as Joesta in a ballet of her own creation based on the Greek tragedy "Oedipus Rex."

The first part of the program is a fine exposition of Miss Graham's art, and the second is the best-recorded example of it in action. Together, the two form a definitive visual record of a great dancer and choreographer.

POLITICS—"Regional Report" takes a look from coast to coast, Sunday, Jan. 28 at 11:30 a.m. and Monday, Jan. 29 at 11:30 a.m.

N.E.T. regional editors report on developments at the primaries in their assigned areas. From New York, Richard Reeves of the New York Times reports on the New Hampshire primary, while Jack Mahloy of Chicago looks at primary time in Wisconsin, and Mel Wax of San Francisco reports from Oregon. N.E.T. affiliate KETC, St. Louis, studies the Nebraska primary.

Cager of the Week

The 5-foot-11-inch senior previously played a year each on the freshman and junior varsity teams and lettered on the varsity team as a junior. Larry's active sports record also includes one year on the junior varsity football team and three on the varsity squad, for which he received letters during his sophomore, junior and senior years, and four years on the varsity track team, where he lettered each year in the shot put. He has been sergeant-at-arms in the Varsity Club for two years, is a member of the student council, and is on the construction crew for the coming musical presentation of "Bye Bye Birdie." The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gaken of 310 Pierce St., Larry has a brother, Mike, in 11th grade and a sister, Mary Kay, in 9th grade at Chelsea High school, as well as five other brothers and sisters.

JV Cagers Lose Games to Both Dexter, Dundee

The Chelsea Junior Varsity basketball team had another busy week-end. The JV's met the Dexter JV's last Friday evening in a close and exciting game. Chelsea opened the scoring early in the first quarter, but Dexter soon caught up and took the lead, picking up several quick field goals. Some fine shooting by Ned Blacklaw and Dan Wenk narrowed Dexter's lead to three points at the end of the first quarter with an 11 to 8 score.

Chelsea took the lead in the first half of the second quarter, but Dexter kept the pressure on and jumped into the lead in the second half of the quarter. The Bulldogs came back with John Taylor and Jim Wojcicki leading in the scoring to hold the lead at halftime with a 26 to 22 score.

Chelsea held on to its lead in the early minutes of the third quarter, but Dexter brought up a 28-22 tie with slightly more than five minutes remaining in the quarter. In the next minutes, Dexter made two attempts to take a good lead over Chelsea, but the Bulldogs tied up the score each time Dexter dumped in a field goal. Finally, however, the Bulldogs took the lead on a foul shot. The game remained close throughout the remainder of the quarter but the Bulldogs held a two-point lead at the end of the quarter with a 36 to 34 score.

Dexter tied up the score in the early minutes of the final quarter. The game remained close and the lead kept exchanging hands. But in the final two minutes of the game, Dexter picked up some quick field goals to gain a five-point advantage over the Bulldogs. Dexter won by a final score of 49 to 42.

Leading in the scoring for Chelsea was Jim Wojcicki with a total of 10 points. John Taylor followed with 8 points. Art Farley picked up 8 points. David Conklin picked up 7 points. Ned Blacklaw, 4 points; Mike Bassett, 3 points; Leonard Kozma, 2 points; and Dan Wenk, 2 points.

The JV's met Dundee Saturday evening and lost by a final score of 58 to 51. Dundee opened the scoring and shot into an early lead over Chelsea. Although the Bulldogs started coming back in the final portion of the first quarter, Dundee held a five-point lead at the end of the quarter with the score, 13 to 8.

The Bulldogs continued to catch up in the second quarter. Dan Wenk brought up a 24-24 tie with a half minute left in the half. Dundee broke the tie and led at halftime by a score of 28 to 24. Dundee held the lead throughout the remainder of the game.

High scorer for Chelsea was Jim Wojcicki with 16 points. Dan Wenk followed with 10 points. Other individual scores were as follows: David Conklin, 7 points; Karsten Kasper, 6 points; Don Schoenbuck, 5 points; Leonard Kozma, 3 points; John Hepburn, 3 points; and Art Farley, 2 points. The JV's will meet the Lincoln junior varsity squad tonight at Lincoln.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

How would you describe a "nice" person? The question was asked in a group meeting and in the lively discussion which followed, it was surprising how different people had so many descriptions. A consensus of opinion included these traits. . . . Check them over; see if you agree—

A nice person keeps his mind open and his mouth shut—when argument is possible. He makes no difficulties; he certainly does not look for trouble. He not only looks clean and cheerful, he is that way. . . . He has no affectations, he is simply himself at all times. . . . He inspires confidence; encourages you to talk about yourself—not him. He never causes pain to any one. . . . He delights in your talent, pardons adversity, forgives deficiencies, shelters humility and respects the rights of others. . . . He is observing, has a retentive mind for the good things in life. His every action, in deed and in words, communicates nice, clean, decent thoughts to and for his fellow-man.

You probably can include other traits—but is it any wonder it is always nice to meet nice people? . . . BURGHARDT R.L. NERAL-HOME, 214 East Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan. Phone GR 5-4141.

Varsity Cagers Divide with Dexter, Dundee

The Bulldogs came back, taking the lead in the early moments of the final quarter. But Dundee didn't give up and the lead exchanged hands several times during the early portion of the quarter. Chelsea took a lasting lead in the late portion of the quarter, picking up several vital points on foul shots to give the Bulldogs a 67-63 victory over Dundee.

Good rebounding, as well as a 33 percent shooting average and a free-throw percentage of nearly 60, were not only advantageous to the Bulldogs but also a fine demonstration of their capabilities. Fewer fouls were also helpful to Chelsea.

John Lixey was again leading scorer, with a total of 28 points. Jack Risner followed with 14 points. Roy Holliday picked up 6 points on foul shots, as well as 2 points on a field goal, for a total of 8 points. Other individual scores were as follows: Lance Burghardt, 6 points; Larry Gakon, 5 points; Doug Weatherwax, 2 points; Mike Schnadt, 2 points; and Steve Diedrick, 2 points.

The Bulldogs will be at home Saturday night to meet Manchester.

Schools Get Free Use of 2,154 Autos

Michigan high schools reported that automobile dealers, with financial assistance from manufacturers, loaned 2,154 new cars at no cost to schools and taxpayers for use in driver education courses during the 1966-67 school year.

Michael LePere, executive vice-president of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Foundation of Michigan, Inc., stated today these free loan cars represented a total retail valuation of $6,962,440.

Actually the total number and dollar value of cars supplied free to schools during the entire school year is probably twice or three times the officially reported figures," said LePere. "This is because even though a school may have only one driver training car in use at a time, the dealer loaning that car may replace it one or two times during the year in order to provide the latest equipped model."

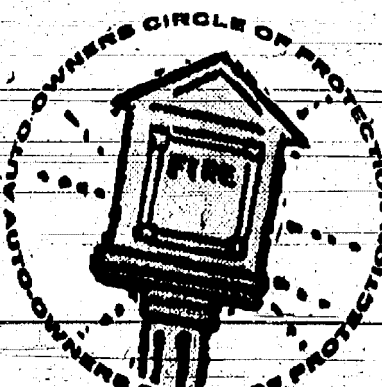

Surveys show that young people who have taken a qualified high school driver education course tend to have fewer accidents and traffic violations than those without such instruction. LePere pointed out, adding, "We are proud of the fine job Michigan schools are doing in training our teenagers to be skillful, cautious and safe drivers. But without the loan of these cars many schools would have been unable to provide adequate behind-the-wheel instruction for students taking the course."

AGRICULTURE in Action

by M. L. Wood

Farmland Taxes

The second session of the 74th Michigan legislature is now underway—with agricultural land assessment sure to be an issue of major farm concern. Involved is the taxation of farm land on the basis of its use for agriculture—rather than other purposes.

Spreading industrial and suburban developments are forcing the issue, with each city sending out water, electrical, draining-out sewer "rootlets" into the surrounding countryside. Each new service connection creates complex problems for the farmer—owning the land under which they burrow or over which they stretch.

Often, the suddenly apparent new value of the property is taken into account for taxing purposes, with farmers complaining of greatly increased tax rates based on the potential, rather than the real value of their land. Often the owners of such farm land near large cities, find themselves saddled with special "high assessments" for sewer, water and storm drains for which they have no use.

Unable to pay high taxes out of modest farming profits, the farm owner may be forced to sell—sometimes breaking up a farming enterprise of many generations.

Frequently, such owners discover little or no ready sale for the property, with the potential value depending strongly on which direction the city may grow, rail and road accessibility and a long list of other economic factors.

Michigan farmers want the legislative protection of some form of "Farmland Act" similar to those passed by the legislatures of such big-city states as California and New Jersey. Under the New Jersey Act, a farm owner may ask for the agricultural exemption if he operates at least five acres of land—which has been actively devoted to farm production for at least the two previous years, and which has produced a minimum of $500 in sale of agricultural products.

Michigan farmers contend that it is in the public interest to encourage a readily available source of food and dairy products close to our metropolitan areas, as well as to maintain the open spaces which most city dwellers enjoy.

Public Hearing Slated on Water Quality Standards

On Wednesday, Feb. 21, 1:30 p.m., at Statler-Hilton Motor Inn, 1-94 and S. State St., Ann Arbor, a public hearing to determine the use designations for the Huron River Watershed will be held.

Based on testimony received at the public hearing and the recommendations of its staff, the Water Resources Commission will adopt and enforce water quality standards to protect water quality for the desired water uses.

Private individuals and groups are invited to submit testimony outlining what water uses they think should be protected in the Huron River Watershed.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

January 2, 1968
Council Room

Regular Session.
This meeting was called to order by Pres. Baldwin at 8:00 p.m. Trustees present: Crouch, Fulk, Heydlauff, Miller, Storey and Weber. The Minutes of the Regular Session of December 19, 1967 were read and approved.

A discussion was held regarding the off-street parking in the village. Chief Meranuck reported that very few problems have been encountered, and the streets are free from parked cars.

A discussion was held with several residents of Taylor Street regarding the need for a through street in the general area of the South Elementary School. Trustee Storey advised that the Planning Commission is considering an overall study of the traffic flow in the village in the master plan for the village.

A discussion was held regarding the garbage and rubbish pick-up. Complaints were made that the contractor has refused to pick up certain types of containers. Trustee Weber advised that our contract calls for two covered 20 gallon plastic or metal containers for each residence or apartment, and the contractor is abiding by the contract by leaving cardboard boxes, paper bags and uncovered containers. Village residents are again advised to obtain two covered containers for depositing their refuse at the curb.

A discussion was held regarding Lanewood No. 2 with no official action at this time.

Trustee Weber informed the council that a two-year contract has been arranged with Sylvan Township for the use of the landfill.

Trustee Heydlauff read a summary of police activity for the month of December.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The State of the Union Address by President Johnson before a Joint Session of the House of Representatives and the Senate offered the nation little new in terms of hope for peace in Vietnam or programs for progress here at home.

The President's comments regarding recent North Vietnamese peace feelers were, if anything, more rigid than they have been in the past. His speech illustrated once again the inflexibility of diplomatic efforts dealing with the Vietnam war. While our commitment is firm as it must continue to be, our diplomacy should allow for flexible response to new initiatives and new diplomatic ideas. The message—merely reiterated prior statements from San Antonio and in some significant respects, created further restrictions on our willingness to enter into talks and to bring the war to an end.

In matters relating to the nation's foreign policy commitments in other parts of the globe, the President was nearly silent. He entirely ignored the crumbling of our relations with NATO and avoided altogether the immense policy questions posed to our nation by Great Britain's announced withdrawal from its overseas military stations. This nation can ill afford to avoid the major questions facing our relationships with our staunch friends of Western Europe. Foreign policy experts have argued in recent months that the Administration's concentration on the problem of Vietnam to the exclusion of all other foreign policy matters has led to the swift erosion of NATO. There was nothing in the President's speech to allay that concern.

On the domestic front the President's speech was primarily a repetitious rehash of tired, old, ineffective programs. For the most part, he confined himself to endorsing programs that are already underway in the government—attempts to put some glitter back on their tarnished image. The same programs which have failed to solve our problems in recent years seem unlikely to be any more effective in the year ahead. Indeed, the President admitted the major fallacy not only of his speech but of his entire domestic policy. There is, he said, a "gulf" between the promise and the reality of our society. For five years President Johnson has been making promises to the nation. The reality has never lived up to those promises. In this speech we were no different and no more capable of fulfillment by the programs proposed than the hundreds of promises of the past.

A major characteristic of the address was the failure to state our nation's priorities. Although he gave lip service to a "tight budget," his speech covered the waterfront of domestic programs and neglected to single out these problems and programs of most importance to the nation. Indeed, there seemed to be a dichotomy between the promised reduction of the deficit and the request for increased funding for numerous programs. There was no apparent cut back on non-essential programs which might be postponed until the nation's budget is not strained by war.

The Congress was pleased to note the emphasis on the need to control crime. I join the President in supporting stronger drug laws and enforcement procedures and encouraging increased training and modern equipment for local police forces. But Administration proposals fall short of the need. For example, emphasis was placed on the authorization for 100 new FBI agents—one for every two million Americans. The massive crime wave afflicting our nation cannot be stopped with such a meager force. I will support this request, as well as the welcome request for 100 new Assistant U. S. Attorneys, but I feel, and I believe the nation feels, that far stronger action is needed. The tokenism of the solution in face of the enormity of the problem is illustrative once again of the bankruptcy of new ideas coming from this Administration.

Only in two instances did the President seem to move in new and promising directions and, in each case, he borrowed his ideas from Republican proposals which have been before the Congress for many months. First, the President indicated the importance of attracting the hard core unemployed to positions in private industry. The need for involving private industry in the solution of the unemployment and job training problems cannot be over-emphasized. I am hopeful that, when the details of the program are announced, we will discover that the President has recognized this Republican proposal. The Human Investment Act, to concentrate the job training programs in private industry where actual jobs will be waiting at the completion of training.

A second interesting new departure is the seeming acceptance by the Administration of the need to encourage home ownership by a broad base of lower and middle income families and his implied endorsement of the National Home Ownership Foundation as proposed by 182 GOP Members. His ambitious home building program can, of course, only be successful if the home building and financing industry is fully involved in the program. Without private support, the program cannot work and would provide a monstrous and uneconomic drain on our budget.

Possible Mental Retardation May Follow Poisoning

According to the Washington Association for Retarded Children, "lead poisoning is still the most common cause of severe mental retardation due to poisoning."

Occurring primarily among children in the one- to four-year age bracket, with the greatest proportion between ages one and two, the main source of lead is in dried paint.

Especially susceptible are children living in deteriorating houses where paint on walls, doors, windowsills, etc., may be peeling.

The early symptoms of this type of poisoning may be overlooked; however, the United States Children's Bureau has just issued an excellent booklet titled, "Lead Poisoning in Children." Copies are available from the U. S. Government Printing Office at 15 cents each.

NAVY & DISCHARGES
The Navy is reportedly planning to lay-up 48 ships to free needed key men for Vietnam war duty. More than 30,000 enlisted men will be discharged a month or two early which will save a possible $18 million in the Defense Department drive to cut spending.

EXCUSES

Defeat is more difficult to swallow when you realize that we never really made the full effort to achieve success.

Many of us carry a bag of excuses everywhere we go. When something goes wrong, we have a ready answer. We tell the world that we knew it would turn out exactly as it did.

We should rid ourselves of excuses. They are a crutch. We make them up in advance and use them as a reason to quit without seeing the task through.

Here are some lines that should be eliminated:

"No one told me about it."
"I didn't know it was my job."
"I thought everyone had given up but me."
"I tried to reach you, but no one answered."
"I started to call you and something came up."
"I thought George had done it."

Very few of us enjoy accepting all of the responsibilities that come our way. But the good citizen, the good Christian, accepts obligations and does his utmost to live up to them. He isn't always successful, but he sleeps well at night.

Storm Windows Reduce Heat Loss, Add to Comfort

Of all insulation efforts to reduce winter home heating costs, installation of storm windows probably is the most effective, reports Carl Edwards, Extension agricultural engineer with Michigan State University. Putting them on all windows can cut fuel bills as much as 20 percent.

Without storm windows, a house which has single pane window glass can give off a lot of heat and take in a lot of cold from having large areas exposed. With storm windows, however, the air space between the storm sash and the window acts as insulation, retarding flow of heat from the inside and cold air infiltration from outside. Storm windows provide most protection on north and west windows.

Moisture problems can be alleviated by use of storm windows, too. Cold windows, like a glass of ice water, tend to condense moisture on their surface when water vapor is present in the air. By keeping the regular window warm, the storm sash helps prevent this condensation, helping keep a comfortably high humidity in the home.

In addition to saving fuel and reducing condensation, use of storm windows makes areas near windows more comfortable. They can also reduce the operating cost of summer air conditioning, Edwards advises.

Trail Blazers Win Special Award for Helping Retarded

Trail Blazers Riding Club of Chelsea was recently honored by the Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children at the Association's annual installation of officers and awards dinner Jan. 19 in Ypsilanti. Cited for their time and efforts in behalf of retarded children in the county, the Trail Blazers were given a special award. W. W. Williamson, club president, accepted the award for the membership.

Trail Blazers Riding Club took the children of Sullivan school and a special education class at Trinity church, Ann Arbor, on horseback rides during the past summer. This was the first time that most of these "at-risk" children had ever seen a horse or had been offered the chance to ride one. Since horses had not previously been used in programs for the retarded, the experience proved to be beneficial to the youngsters, and the Trail Blazers hope to continue this service.

School Notes

St. Mary

GRADE 2—

Teacher, Mrs. Zeeb

Reporter, Suzy Lewis

We have been learning about plants. Plants need water, heat, and light.

We like cursive writing. We are reading library books to the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott came to visit us.

GRADE 3—

Teacher, Sr. Jean Paul

Reporter, Judy Poyers and Kathy Treudo

Third grade boys and girls are studying rocks and shells. They brought in fossils and sand dollars, as well as shells from Florida and the Bahamas.

The third grade class is also having a Mass this month. At the Mass we will give money and other things to a priest in the Philippines named Father Pfeffer.

In art the third grade class does the works of symmetry.

Grade 4—

Teacher, Mrs. Kolb

Reporters, Elizabeth Haselschwardt and Teri Lutovsky

We finished the study of poems by writing Haiku poetry. Many of them are on display in our room.

In geography we just returned by jet (imaginary) from Australia, where we studied its climate, language, government, occupations, rivers, mountains, cities, animals, education and pioneers.

We made outlines comparing Australia with our country. We found differences and likenesses.

So we may become more interested in the news. Elizabeth Haselschwardt and Teri Lutovsky made a bulletin board for community, state and national news. We bring news clippings of interest to all.

We have fun learning.

Grade 6—

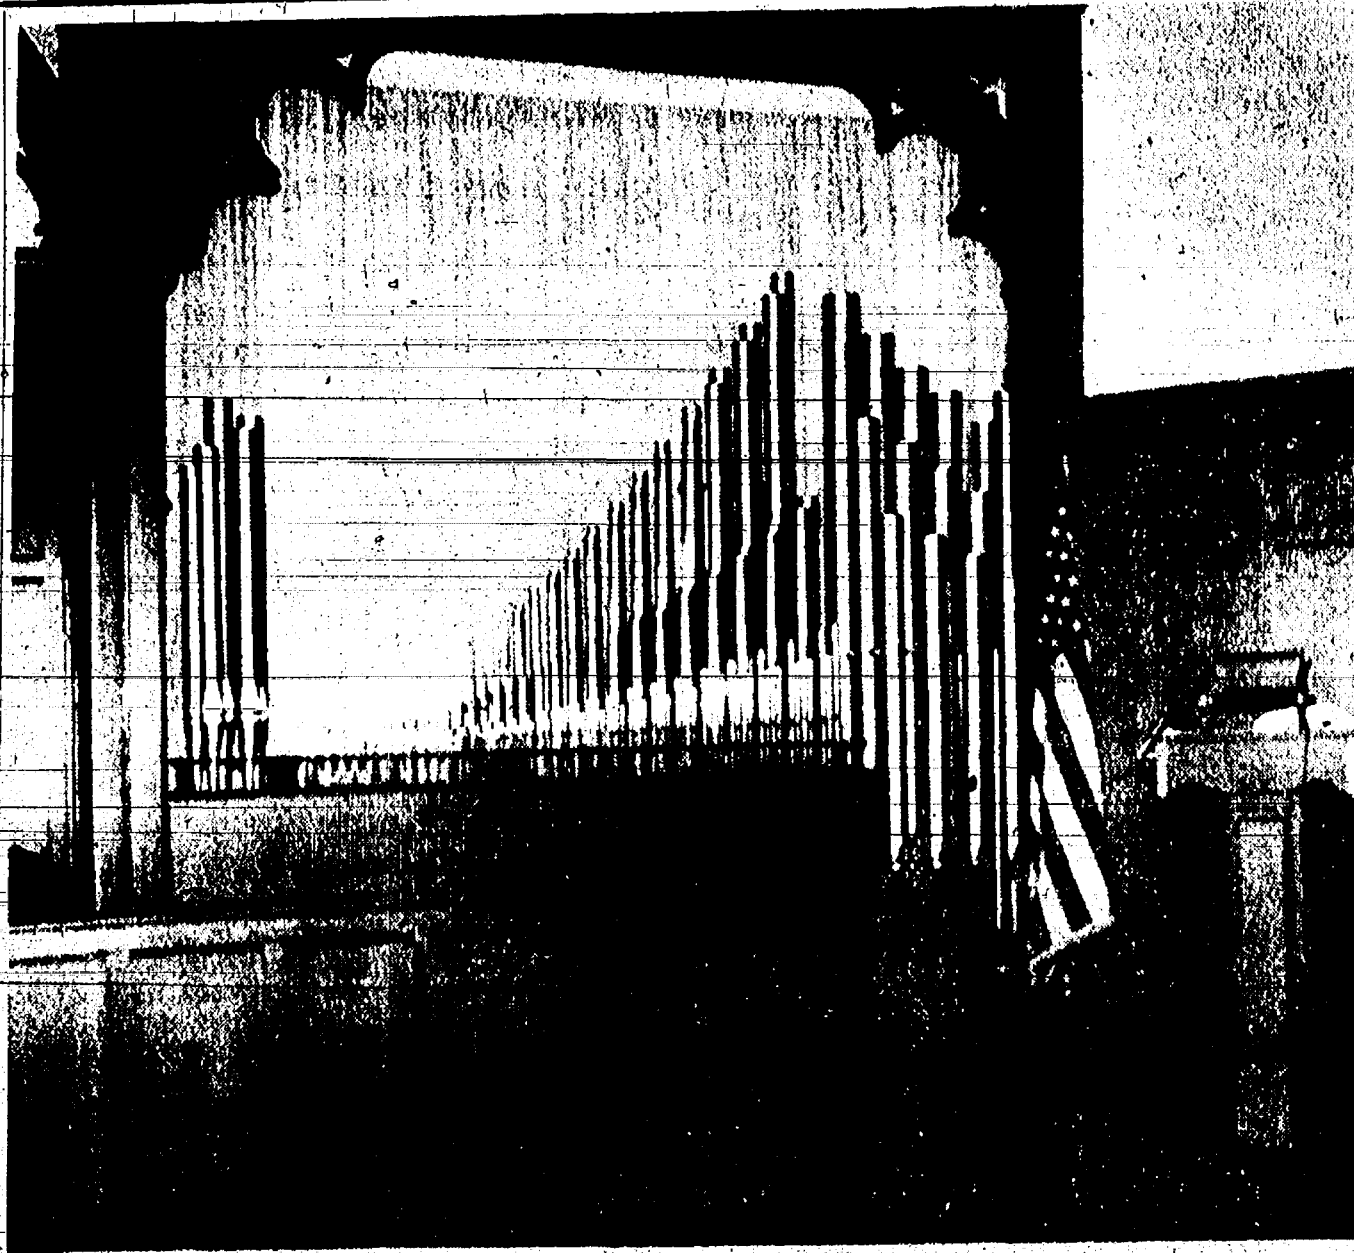

Teacher, Mr. Van

Reporter, Lynette Villemure

In science we have been studying a chapter called "Our Changing Earth." This week the children in our class have been giving reports on these topics: dinosaurs, the different eras, and prehistoric man.

For science we have been planning a place concerning science.

Tuesday, Jan. 23, Sister showed us a film on prehistoric animals in tar pits. It told us how animals got trapped in the tar.

Degrees Awarded By Eastern Mich. To 3 from Chelsea

Among the 628 candidates for bachelor's and master's degrees at graduation ceremonies held Sunday, Jan. 21 at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, were Sharon Ann Oram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Oram of 538 N. Main St., who received a BS in elementary education; Marilyn Lorena Wenk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wenk of 2081 Fletcher Rd., who received a Business Technical Certificate; and Robert Lee White of 201 Wilkinson St., who was awarded a Bachelor of Business Administration.

Addressing the new graduates, Eastern faculty, parents and guests, Dr. Louis William Noyes, president of Albion College, stated that one of the class' first post-graduate assignments is to help solve this country's race problem.

"We shall expect you to plumb the mysteries of prejudice and the mantras of revenge that have made riots in our major cities blots on American history," he said.

Dr. Norris also spoke of the over-increasing use of drugs by young people as well as adults and the need for solutions to this problem.

"We shall judge the success of your education by your attention to what is hidden in man," he told the graduates.

Everyone is a coward, about one thing, and justly so.

Payments Report Going to Farmers

Farmers will benefit from a new reporting service which has been inaugurated by ASCS, Earl Dotzky, chairman of the Washtenaw ASC County Committee announced today. A report of payments made to each farmer under ACP, wool, feed grain, wheat, and other direct payment programs during 1967 will be mailed to the farmer during the latter part of January. This report is expected to be helpful in preparing individual income tax returns. The same information must also be furnished to the Internal Revenue Service in accordance with a requirement of law.

It is estimated that more than three million farmers will receive this report, he said. This information is being gathered from county offices and summarized by computers located at New Orleans and Kansas City.

Being printed by the computers and mailed direct to farmers, a job of this size could not be completed without an automated system, added Dotzky.

Since this is the first year for a service of this magnitude, there are bound to be a few problems. He suggested that farmers carefully read the explanation on the report and check the accuracy of the total reported by comparing it with farm records. If an error is discovered, the nearest ASCS county office should be contacted.

to have the mistake corrected. County offices have been instructed to give farmers whatever assistance they need regardless of where the farm is located.

Portage Trails Boy Scouts Hike 15-Mile Potawatomi Trail

More than 350 Boy Scouts and leaders, including those from Chelsea Kiwanis club-sponsored Troops 425 and 476 and Chelsea Rod & Gun club-sponsored Troop 465, hiked the Potawatomi Trail Saturday, Jan. 13. It was announced today by Ralph Ralford, District Executive of the Portage Trails Council, who serves as staff advisor to the Potawatomi Trail Committee. This scenic hiking trail was constructed and is maintained by the Portage Trails Council in co-operation with the Michigan Conservation Department.

The Potawatomi Trail is a 15-mile hike in the Pinckney Recreation Area located in Livingston and Washtenaw counties northwest of Ann Arbor. Glenn Sawyer of Ypsilanti was instrumental in developing the trail and serves as trail chairman. The trail is almost completely in undeveloped territory, following gravel roads only a few hundred feet. The area abounds in wildlife from the chipmunk to the white-tail deer.

The Potawatomi Indians utilized the area near Pickerel Lake as their summer hunting and ceremonial grounds. The trail crosses creeks and streams which were segments of the Indian canoe route across Southern Michigan.

Boy Scout troops completing the hike through the snow earned a special patch award for winter hiking.
