Ecumenical Program Set By Methodists

The Rev. Robert Brubaker of Brighton will present a program entitled "Cannibals or Christians?" Sunday, Feb. 4 at 8:15 a.m. at First Methodist church. His topic will relate to ecumenism, or the union of all churches in spirit. Time will be allotted after the presentation for a discussion between the speaker and the audience.

The Rev. Brubaker was a delegate to the Gull Lake Conference on Church Union. He is president of the Ann Arbor District Educational Staff (Methodist), a member of the Michigan Area Commission on Higher Education, and a columnist for the "Michigan Christian Advocate."

He will be well qualified to discuss inter-church co-operative efforts, since many such efforts have been instituted recently at Brighton, his home community. His suggestions will have special appeal to teen-agers as well as adults.

All interested members of the community are invited to the program, which will include fellowship and a supper of sandwiches, beverage, and dessert at 5:30 p.m. A special program for the young-children will run concurrently and nursery care will be provided for the very young. Manchester Police Chief's Son Beaten

Manchester Police Chief Billy Wilson's 16-year-old son, John, was severely beaten about the face by an as yet unknown assailant at 8:30 p.m. Monday night on Torry St., Manchester, a block from Manchester High school. John was riding home on a motorcycle with a Manchester friend, Joseph Brown, 18, after a basketball game when a man in a car forced the bike to the side of the road. The man then jumped out of the car and began to beat the two boys. The Brown boy was knocked down and John was beaten and kicked.

Young Wilson received a broken nose and fractured skull. Some of his teeth were knocked out and he was unconscious for nearly 14 hours following the assault. He is now a patient at Herrick Memorial Hospital in Tecumseh awaiting surgery. Brown was not hospitalized.

Through investigation, Manchester police and the county sheriff's department have located an eye witness to the crime. All law enforcement officers in southern Michigan, including those from Chelsea, offered their assistance in the case.

Varsity Cagers Lose Game to Manchester

The Chelsea Bulldog basketball team was defeated by Manchester last Saturday evening by a final score of 68 to 52. The loss marked the ninth of the season for the Bulldogs. Although the game was close throughout the first half, Manchester held a substantial lead throughout most of the second half.

Leading in the scoring for Chelsea was Jack Risner with 12 points. Craig Houle followed with 11 points. John Lixey and Mike Schmidt each had 10 points. Doug Weatherwax dumped three points, and John Freeman, Roy Holliday, and Gary Ellenwood each had two. Tomorrow night the Bulldogs will travel to Milan for a conference game with the Big Reds. The JV's will face the Lions at South Lyon tonight.

EARN JA TITLES: Karen Poertner (center), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard G. Poertner of 420 Chandler St., and Don Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry of 16490 Farnsworth St., Chelsea, Michigan, have been selected as the "Miss Achievement" and "Mr. Executive" respectively, of the Chelsea Junior Achievement businesses at a contest held Saturday, Jan. 20 in Detroit. They are shown with Linda Lamb, the current "Miss Achievement" of Southeastern Michigan.

Contest, Banquet, Luncheon Highlight JA Week Activity

A preliminary contest in which a "Miss Achievement" and a "Mr. Executive" for Chelsea were chosen, a president's banquet, and a luncheon have been highlights of JA (Junior Achievement) Week, Jan. 22 through Feb. 2. JA Week recognizes teen-agers throughout the country who participate in the miniature corporations of JA to learn more about the business world. Some 8,000 teens in southeastern Michigan are benefiting from the JA program this year in the operation of 415 miniature companies.

Karen Poertner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard G. Poertner of 420 Chandler St., was named "Miss Achievement" of the Chelsea Junior Achievement businesses, all sponsored by Chrysler Financial Group, at a contest held Saturday, Jan. 20 in Detroit. Selected as "Mr. Executive" of Chelsea was Don Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry of 16490 Farnsworth St., Stockbridge. Both Karen and Don are 17 and seniors at Chelsea High school. Karen belongs to Chrysler Co., while Don is a member of C. T. D. Co., two of the local JA business groups.

Wrestlers Pin Shut-Out on Lincoln, 56-0

The Chelsea High school wrestling team added Lincoln to its list of victims last Thursday, mauling the Railsplitters, 56-0, to lift the Bulldogs to a 5-0 season mark. The Chelsea wrestlers are 2-0 in the conference.

A large home crowd saw the Bulldogs take seven matches from Lincoln on the mat and five by forfeit. Bulldog men getting forfeit wins were: Jim Wensel (95), John McKeighan (103), Paul Maurer (112), Bill Colvia (155), and Jim Boylan (Haw.). Chelsea wrestlers receiving five team points by pinning their opponents were co-captains Mike Hendricks (120) and Lauren Boyer (145), and Paul Stahl (133), Mark Lancaster (138), and Kerry Kargel (154).

Bill Lounsbury (127) and Mike Gaken (180) won decision victories. Gaken's match, the final one of the night, nailed down a shutout win for Chelsea. Gaken faced the finest wrestler in the Railsplitter line-up and came up with a full six minutes of tough, aggressive action to take the match from the Lincoln 180-man.

The winners, who were judged for poise, personality, appearance and knowledge of business, are now eligible to try for the southeastern Michigan titles of "Miss Achievement" and "Mr. Executive" of 1968. The southeastern contest is scheduled for tomorrow at Colma Hall, Detroit. Selection of the winners will be preceded by a banquet. Immediately after the judges' decision, more than 1,000 Achievers will see their Miss Achievement crowned and then dance to the music of the popular Scott Richard Case combo at the Executive Ball as a climax to JA week activities.

Inverness Offers Golf Team Free Use of Facilities

At a meeting held Friday, Jan. 5, the Board of Directors of Inverness Country Club, North Lake, voted to waive any and all fees from 1967 for the Chelsea High school golf team. In addition, the directors decided to grant the golf team use of the club's facilities free of charge during the 1968 season, providing that members of the high school team are accompanied by their golf coach, Wesley Cowell.

Marilyn Van Drebur, United Airlines' youth speaker and a former Miss America, addressed more than 400 top executives of JA of southeastern Michigan at their annual President's Banquet, Jan. 24, at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Detroit. Attending from Chelsea were Jean Walter, president of JADO Co., Dick Steinaway, president of Chrysler Co., and Suzanne Kozma, president of C. T. D. Co.

Leading businessmen, educators and civic leaders were also present at the President's Banquet to recognize the efforts of teen-agers, businessmen and women in the six-county area. Host for the affair was James Schiavone, JA Week chairman and general manager, WJTV-TV.

A new event, the Advisor Recognition Dinner-Dance, honored the adult businessmen who counsel Achievers. Don D. Mills, JA board member and Ford Motor Co. vice president, was the keynote speaker to an audience of 750 couples at the Jan. 27 occasion.

Several Chelsea High school students enjoyed a luncheon at the Detroit Economic Club, Monday, Jan. 29. Every week, the Club invites up to 10 male JA's to attend their Monday luncheons, where noted speakers address the gathered membership on timely topics of importance. The students are free guests of a representative of a local business or industry and are invited to apply through their affiliation with JA.

Chelsea JA's at the luncheon in the Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit Civic Center, were Thomas Wojciehowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Wojciehowski of 210 Pierce St., a member of JADO; Paul Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent P. Stahl of 13862 Lakewood Dr., a member of JADO; and John Livingston of Saline.

Supr. Hoffman Urges Support On Court Issue

Asking State for Court Located Here To Serve Western Washtenaw County

At the regular Monday night meeting of Chelsea Kiwanis club, Sylvan Township Supervisor Maurice Hoffman spoke on the coming lower court reorganization, which calls for the abolishment of justice courts. Five judges are to be assigned to Washtenaw county, with three stationed in Ann Arbor and the other two also in the eastern portion of the county. Hoffman recently proposed a resolution which would allow one of the five judges to be permanently located in the western 12-township area of the county. This idea was supported by the villages of Chelsea, Manchester and Dexter. The Board of Supervisors is currently studying the proposal.

The county is responsible for the procurement of a courtroom. Hoffman noted judges are paid by the state. The cost of courts in Washtenaw county will be between $250,000 and $300,000, according to Hoffman.

During his talk Hoffman made several recommendations, including the election of the judge for the western townships by the people in that area, and the establishment of a permanent courtroom in the western portion of the county. He asked the Kiwanians to consider adopting such resolutions, stressing the inconvenience to area residents who would be required to go to Ann Arbor even for minor traffic tickets under the new state system and unduly encountering delays in getting their cases heard.

Hoffman said that the decision on his resolution would be made in Lansing. He urged all interested citizens who would like to have a judge stationed in the western townships to contact both Rep. Sharpe and Sen. Bursley at the Capitol Building in Lansing, and the chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, Washtenaw County Building, Ann Arbor.

Jaycees Plan Ice Fishing Derby Feb. 17

Chelsea Jaycees have announced plans for an ice fishing derby to be held Saturday, Feb. 17. Chairman of the event will be Jim Krichbaum of 522 Arthur St.

Contest headquarters will be located in the American Legion Hall at Cavanaugh Lake, but fish caught from any lake in Washtenaw, Jackson, Lenawee and Livingston counties will be considered for trophies and prizes. Trophies will be awarded for the largest fish in each of several categories, including speared pike, pike caught on a hook and line, sunfish and perch; and for the heaviest catch of up to 25 sunfish and/or perch. A grand prize will be awarded for the fish of any variety which is closest in size to the Michigan record for that species.

Each person entering the contest will pay a $1.00 fee before catching any fish. The Jaycees will sell sandwiches and coffee at contest headquarters. As a climax to the day's activities, a winter carnival ball will be planned. All proceeds from the event will be used to finance Jaycee community development projects.

Further details will be announced as plans are completed.

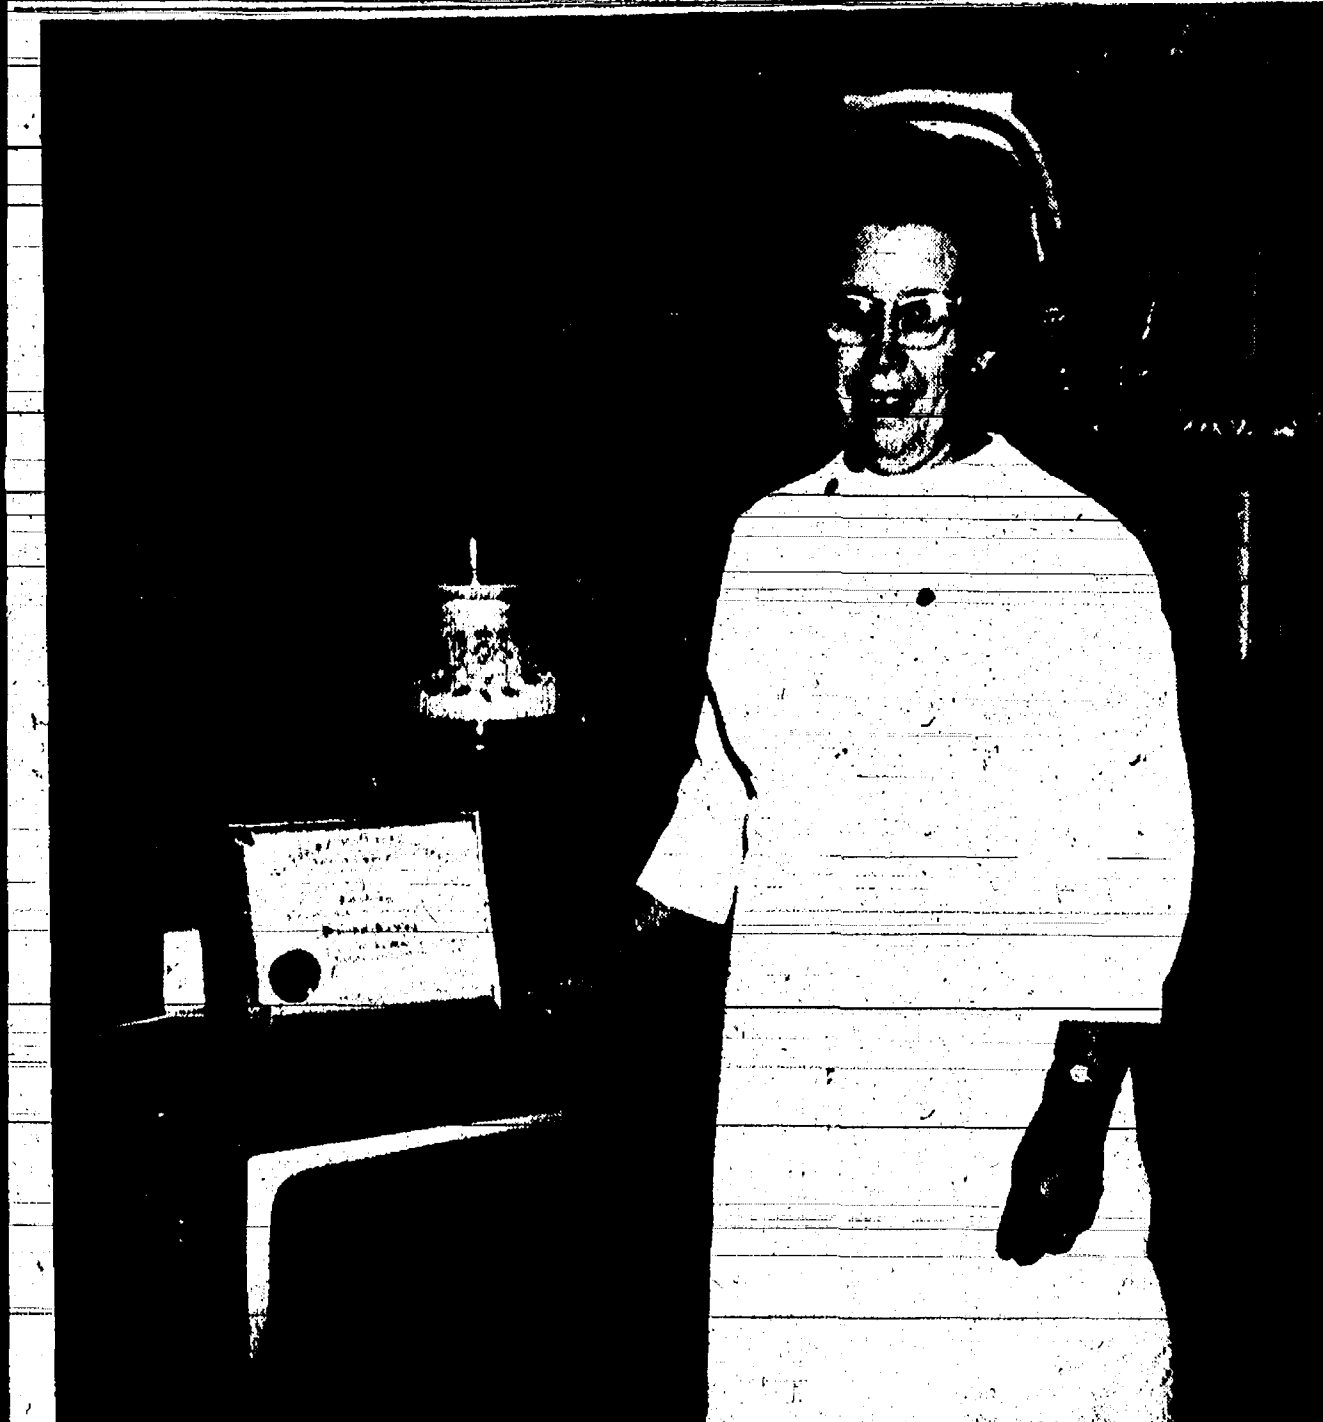

Larry Dann Tops County in Dimes Roll-off

Larry Dann of 215 W. Summit St. won the top prize of a wrist-watch in the March of Dimes bowling tournament county roll-off last Sunday in Milan. Dann bowled a three-game total of 692. In the 1966 county roll-off, he finished in sixth place.

Mrs. Jack (Agnes) Turner, 13875 Yoakum Rd., had a three-game score of 604 in the women's county roll-off in Milan last Saturday. She has not yet received official notification of her standing, but she was in sixth place when she left the roll-off.

The grand prize for the top score of men and women combined was a television won by an Ann Arbor man. Mrs. Turner and Dann placed fourth in Chelsea's recent March of Dimes Tournament in the men's and women's divisions, respectively. Mrs. Turner, a member of Chelsea Mixed League, bowled a 600 score in the local tournament, while

Mrs. B. Speer Completes Practical Nurse Course

One of the 50 graduates of Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center receiving caps and pins at graduation ceremonies Thursday night, Jan. 25, was Mrs. Byford (Lois) Speer of 108 Orchard St. The graduation was held in the auditorium of Ann Arbor High School, with Lloyd Johnson, owner of Whitehall Convalescent Homes, Inc., delivering the commencement address on "Nursing as a Profession." Rudolph Silverstone, director of Vocational Education in Ann Arbor Public Schools, presented certificates to the graduates. Mrs. Speer is the mother of eight children; their youngest son, Jack, is now serving in Vietnam and another son, Gary, was stationed there a year ago. Eight grandchildren complete the family. She first became interested in nursing during World War II, when she took the Red Cross Home Nursing and First Aid courses. For several years, Mrs. Speer worked in a shop, but decided that this wasn't the type of work for her.

She then spent five and one-half years as a nurse's aide in the Chelsea Methodist Home. During this time, her desire to study nursing became stronger and she realized that a license was necessary for most nursing jobs. Through Mrs. Jean DeSmith of Chelsea, a graduate of Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center, Mrs. Speer became acquainted with the course and decided to enroll. She began the one-year program in January

Grow up Smiling

SMILE ALL NEXT WEEK! And remember to brush, too! Mrs. Doris Moore, dental assistant to Dr. Norman Wilner, Dexter dentist, will be assisting in the activities planned for National Children's Dental Health Week, scheduled Feb. 4-10. Her particular service will involve instructing children in the Chelsea schools. University of Michigan dental students will be present in the Dexter schools.

Dental Health Week Slated

Many area children will benefit during the 20th National Children's Dental Health Week which has been proclaimed Sunday, Feb. 4 through Saturday, Feb. 10.

Those in grades two and three in Washtenaw county will be visited by a team of dentists, hygienists and assistants, through the combined efforts of several organizations, among which are: the Washtenaw District Dental Society and its auxiliary, the Washtenaw District Hygienist Association, as well as seniors in the hygienist program at U-M dental school, and the Washtenaw District Dental Assistants Society.

The aforementioned groups will present varied programs to seven- and eight-year-olds attending school in Dexter, Ann Arbor, Whitmore Lake, Manchester, Chelsea, Saline, Ypsilanti, Willow Run, Milan and Lincoln Consolidated.

The presentations will consist of demonstrations, posters, charts, models, film strips, records, pictures and discussions. Questions to be answered are: How do teeth grow? What is decay? For what are the various shaped teeth used?

Other points to be stressed include: regular visits to the dentist, good foods for strong teeth and tooth brushing.

In addition to the above, Dr. William E. Brown of the U-M dental school and a former pediatrician, will be heard on several area radio stations.

Area dentists remind everyone that special attention should be given to teeth every day, as well as during Dental Health Week!

Christ Waiting

A man once stopped a preacher on a street and said, "I once heard you preach, and you said something which has, through God, been the means of my conversion." "What was that?" said the preacher. "It was that the latch was on our side of the door. I had always thought that God was a hard God, and that we must do something to propitiate Him. It was a new thought to me that Christ was waiting for me to open to Him."

"Behold I stand at the door and knock, if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Rev. 3:20.

Income Tax Tips Offered For Farmers

(This is the third in a series of six articles on "Income Tax Tips For Farmers" prepared by Dr. Leonard R. Kyle, Extension Agricultural Economist at Michigan State University.)

Schedule D, which is used to report the sale of capital assets from a farm business, is often the most difficult part of tax reporting on which many farmers slight themselves.

Some farmers still report dairy breeding and work stock held and used for at least one year on Schedule F rather than D. Breeding animals reported on Schedule D are considered long-term if held over 12 months and their gains are only half taxable.

Sales of machinery, a farm or shares of stock held for more than six months should also be reported on Schedule D. This must include the amount paid for the item and depreciation allowed as item and depreciation allowed as item and depreciation allowed as item.

Many farmers hurt themselves by not being aware of the investment credit rule or not adequately understanding it. Instituted a few years ago, this income tax law allows a taxpayer seven percent credit on certain items of personal property which are subject to depreciation. This has a very important effect on tax liability since it results in a direct reduction in the tax owed and is not merely subtracted from the income. The purchase of a single large item of machinery can wipe out a farmer's entire federal tax liability for a given year.

After several revisions the investment credit law now makes farmers eligible for investment credit as long as the amount does not exceed $20,000 during the period from Oct. 9, 1966 to March 31, 1967.

A $50,000 limit was also placed on accelerated depreciation on building improvement made during this same time period. However, few farmers spend this amount.

Trend Continues Toward Fewer, Larger Farms

Never in more than a century have there been as few farms as there are in Michigan today, but the average acreage in today's farms is the largest it has ever been.

The trend toward fewer and larger farms has been going on for years and is nationwide. Nationally the number of farms has shrunk one-quarter since 1959.

On Jan. 1 there were 89,000 farms in the state. This is 8,000 less than a year ago when there were 97,000, says the Lansing office of the Crop Reporting Service which is maintained by the USDA and the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

While farms are dwindling numerically, the average size is going the other way. On Jan. 1 the average size of the Michigan farm was 152 acres, and a year ago it was 145 acres. The year before that it was 142 acres.

Total land in Michigan farms is expected to be about 13 1/2 million acres this year. This is about 200,000 acres less than a year ago.

Agricultural Department Director B. Dale Ball said some farm operators are selling out, caught in the price squeeze between what a farmer receives when he sells products and the price he has to pay when he buys. This is especially true of some small farm operations.

Some farm operators have greatly increased their acreages by buying out other farmers, or renting additional land. This accounts to a great extent for the state and national trend toward fewer farms and larger acreage per farm, Ball said.

on improvements in this short time period.

Another mistake some dairy farmers make is failure to report raised dairy cows on Schedule D. Raised breeding stock has no depreciation, but should be put on Schedule D with purchased stock. However, a reasonable salvage value must be subtracted before computing the depreciation for purchased breeding animals.

Changes in the past several years for computing gains on machinery and improvements, now make it impossible to receive an unusual tax advantage from rapid depreciation. Thus, reasonable lengths of life should be used for depreciating machinery and equipment.

Washington Report

by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

Optimism over the passage of a federal income tax increase this year is on the rise in Washington. Administration pressure has become stronger and Congress appears to be closer to raising taxes than it was last year.

At the same time, as the rush to take a bigger cut of your paycheck picks up momentum, there are still many of us who are insisting on meaningful cuts in non-essential federal spending as a necessary first step alternative to the serious consideration of a tax increase. For one, believe that this can be done without jeopardizing needed domestic programs. If and when a tax increase is considered, it will also be necessary that we have strong assurances that increased revenues will not be used for new spending.

The basic reason behind the tax and spending controversy is inflation—something that has been allowed to run rampant to the point that our total economy is seriously threatened. The rising cost of living is now wiping out pay increases. As Labor Secretary Wirtz recently said, "We are very close to the point where a price increase or a wage increase isn't going to be worth anything."

What this means to the average wage earner was vividly pointed out in a recent article in the U. S. News and World Report which said that in 1967 the average weekly earnings of all wage earners was about $5.50 more than in 1965. But the magazine also indicated that if an adjustment is made for the higher costs of living and higher federal taxes, the average wage earner received 53 cents a week less in 1967 than in 1965. This and other alarming fiscal facts, give the President's claims of "abundance" a rather hollow ring. With inflation nibbling away at paychecks at an ever-increasing pace, it hardly seems equitable to take out another chunk in the form of higher taxes especially when other alternatives have not been fully explored and attempted. Yet the Administration still contends that a tax increase is essential for a return to economic well being.

Most disturbing is the lack of any commitment as to how new revenues would be used. Certainly an assurance that the proposed 10 percent tax increase would be applied against our mounting deficit would rally more support to the proposal. But the impression created thus far by the Administration is entirely the opposite. The State of the Union asks for $10 billion increase in federal spending and a new expansion of spending at home while fighting a costly war abroad. All of which indicates that higher tax revenues would be used for higher spending thus creating more inflationary problems.

There are no simple, pat answers to our nation's economic problems. Perhaps the solution can only be found in a massive attack on all fronts. In any event, the leadership has skirted and scapegoated this issue too long. Congress must act now before we find this country in worse trouble.

Receive Official Milk Production Reports
A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in area herds has been received from Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The actual food production output, under official testing rules, by these local Registered Holsteins is:
Erlevald Fond Iris, 5618743, an eight-year-old owned by George Macomber & Sons, Ann Arbor, produced 16,430 lbs. of milk and 667 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.
Alfalfadale Burke Petunia, 46-19448, an eight-year-old owned by Lowell Spike, Manchester, produced 18,150 lbs. of milk and 616 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.
These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 8,513 lbs. of milk and 315 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, notes the national Holstein Association. Michigan State University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in co-operation with the Holstein organization.

Mother of 8 Completes Nursing Course

1967, spending the first four months in classes at Jones school, Ann Arbor. The final eight months consisted of daily training in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where Mrs. Speer worked as a student practical nurse with registered nurses, and aides. She gained considerable practical nursing experience during this time, including the administration of treatments to patients and the filling of reports, two of the jobs which aides are not permitted to do.

Mrs. Speer explained that all the new graduates of the year-long nursing course must take a state examination in February. Upon successful completion of the test, they will become licensed practical nurses (LPN's).

The only regret that Mrs. Speer had while taking the course was that she was the only person from Chelsea in the classes. She spoke enthusiastically of the course and hopes that more area residents will become interested in the program. A maximum of 80 persons may take the course at a time, and the program is often filled up several months in advance.

March of Dimes Roll-off

Dann's score was 871. He belongs to the Old Timers League. Although they did not receive trophies for the local contest, Mrs. Turner and Dann went to the county roll-off, since eight persons per town were invited to participate. Also taking part in the tournament were local winners Lois Orlovski, Pearl Fitzsimmons, Shirley Greenleaf, Michael Manville, Jesse Fortner and Doug Sindlinger.

SIGNS POVERTY BILL

President Johnson has signed into law a two-year extension of the war on poverty. Congress authorized $1.98 billion for the fiscal year 1968 for the war on poverty. Actual spending money provided is $1.77 billion.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Our world is both weird and wonderful. The complexities tend to make it weird. The simplicities tend to make it wonderful. Unfortunately, the complexities are often caused by failure to look for, identify and accept simplicities.

For example—simplicity is seen in the 23rd Psalm, the ten commandments, the Beatitudes. Then too, simplicity is seen in the kite and the falling apple which revealed simplicities in the laws of electricity and gravitation. Consider too, how simplicity is unseasonal in the beauty of the mountains and valleys, the trees, lakes and rivers—as only God could make them.

Summed up, simplicity is the thumb print of God. When we're willing to look at the thumb print, identification is instant. The world and the things in it become wonderful; weirdness disappears. Winston Churchill was right when he said, "Out of intense complexities, intense simplicities emerge." Burghardt Funeral Home, 214 East Middle Street, Chelsea, Michigan. Phone GR-5-5141.

Harlem Astros Down 'Talented' Faculty Team

Nearly 300 persons were on hand last Friday evening when the Harlem Astronauts, the clowns of basketball, took on the Chelsea faculty. Despite the fact that the faculty lost, almost everyone there got a good laugh or two.

After some pre-game gymnastics the game got underway. The Astronauts opened the scoring and jumped into an early lead, which they held through the first half of the game. The Astronauts held a 12-point lead over the faculty at half-time with the score, 53 to 41.

Some quick maneuvering and fancy shooting on the part of Terry Pokela and Pussel soon brought the faculty within reach of taking the lead. But a field goal, dumped by Philip Barels, actually put the faculty in the lead. The Astronauts retaliated and soon held a good lead over the faculty. They then decided to relax any hard feelings by giving the faculty a "little break." So the Astros brought in a little boy from the audience, named Jerry Benjamin, who picked up a couple of points for the faculty.

Despite their sportsmanship, however, the Astronauts held on to their lead throughout the remainder of the game. Things got pretty discouraging for the faculty in the final quarter—so discouraging that some members of the team in the game for the final minutes of play. The Astronauts emerged victorious by a final score of 99 to 77.

AGRICULTURE in Action

RECENTLY - FARM - OWNERS

Recently we wrote that owners of farm land near large cities may find themselves saddled with special assessments for sewer, water or storm drains for which they have no use.

Within days, came a report of a Kentwood farm couple, slapped with an installment assessment of $36,734—tied to the construction of a sanitary sewer on their farm. Further in light of the city installation they contend it will not benefit them. They allege that the original petition stated that the proposed sanitary sewer would extend to the nearby high school, but instead, now dead-ends on their property. This acreage is not platted, nor is there any plotting planned.

That this is not an isolated instance of such problems, is illustrated by a number of cases compiled by the Michigan Farm Bureau, and which involve reports from all parts of the state. A few include: Gladwin county—city sewerage pumping station bringing a special assessment to the farm owner; Macomb county—water lines across several farms, placing special assessment without doing value to involved farm owners; Saginaw county—a drain, forcing local farmers to sell their property to pay the assessment costs; Washtenaw county—sewer and water lines (Ypsilanti township) causing hardship to local farmers. The list is a long one and could include nearly all parts of the state along that ever-changing border where urban sprawl meets prime farmland.

Some farmers complain of a new assessment practice, whereby several yards of their farmland along a major highway is suddenly declared of extra value (at least for taxing purposes) as road "frontage".

It can be argued that in many cases the "improvements" of new sewer and water mains add value to the farmland, but such value is all too often more apparent to the assessor than it is real to the owner.

Small wonder, then, people grow panicky under Michigan legal conditions which allow farmland to be assessed for potential purposes rather than for current use. Small wonder, too, that farmers consider proper classification and taxation of farmland a prime objective in the current session of the Michigan legislature.

Michigan Newspaper Editors Enjoy 'All-Michigan' Dinner

Luscious Michigan bonanza ham, accented by a golden mustard sauce, was the talk of the table when Michigan newspaper editors and their wives met, Jan. 26-27, at Michigan State University.

More than 700 representatives of the state's weekly and daily papers were treated to a delicious repast of Michigan agricultural products at the famed All-Michigan Dinner, Saturday evening, Jan. 27, at this centennial event of the Michigan Press Association at the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

Complimentary hearty slices of Michigan hickory-smoked ham were Congressional bean soup, a zesty Michigan cabbage patch slaw, a Michigan relish plate, Michigan baked potato with sour cream or butter, Michigan green bean surprise with mushrooms, Michigan cherry pie a la mode and Michigan dairy products.

"Michigan is one of the few states in the nation which can provide a complete meal of its agricultural products," reports Joe E. Wells of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who has supervised the collection of Michigan foods and favors for this annual fete.

The All-Michigan Dinner is co-sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Michigan newspapers, and is prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Evelyn Drake, food service director at MSU's Kellogg Center.

In addition to the banquet fare, all those attending the dinner received, courtesy of Michigan growers and packers, generous gift bags of Michigan products. These included celery soup, Jiffy pancake and waffle mix, blueberries, cold cereal, sliced meats, apples, banana, orange, potatoes, pickles, mushrooms and sugar to name a few.

Area Municipalities Will Share in Increased Funds from Higher Taxes

Lansing—Michigan's more than 500 municipalities will receive an estimated $21.3 million in additional revenue from the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund in 1969 as a result of the recently passed increases in the state gas and weight-tax, the State Highway Commission reports.

The Highway Commission said the municipal share, totaling $49.7 million in 1967, will increase to an estimated $59.5 million in 1968 and an estimated $71 million in 1969.

Dexter received $18,555 in 1967, and will receive an estimated $21,057 in 1968 and an estimated $24,150 in 1969.

Chelsea received $32,626 in 1967, and will receive an estimated $38,014 in 1968 and an estimated $44,988 in 1969.

Grass Lake received $11,337 in 1967 and will receive an estimated $16,046 in 1968 and an estimated $19,975 in 1969. Manchester's totals for amounts received in 1967 and estimates for 1968 and 1969 are, respectively, $20,304, $22,800 and $26,349.

The estimates are based on predicted economic conditions and should be used with caution in preparing budgets and construction programs.

The county share, totaling $96.8 million in 1967, will increase to an estimated $105.4 million in 1968, will increase to an estimated $142.3 million in 1969, and an estimated $168.4 million in 1970.

The governmental units will share nearly a full year of increased gas tax revenues this year. Weight tax increases take effect next November and the full amount is reflected in 1969 estimates.

GOING DOWN

Projections of the U. S. population in 1985 have been revised downward by population experts of the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census.

They now see the 1985 population in the range of 210-215 million compared to a range of 218-225 million projected two years ago.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

Red Cross Lists Safety Precautions To Help Prevent Injuries from Falls

Take extra care to avoid falls, and especially if you're in the over-65 bracket, the American Red Cross urged today.

"In 1966, 20,000 persons lost their lives through accidental falls," declared Dr. John Shoemaker, chairman of the First Aid Committee of the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross. "Only motor vehicle accident deaths exceeded those caused by falls."

This type of accident, he said, strikes most heavily in the upper age group—persons over 65—he said.

"The best safeguard against such accidents happening to you is to take a Red Cross first aid course," he advised. "It teaches prevention of accidents as well as emergency care of the injured."

Dr. Shoemaker urged observance of the following precautions to reduce danger of falls in and around the home and place of work:

IN-THE-HOME

1. Keep floors free of spilled foods or liquids. Wipe them up immediately.
2. Fasten loose materials, such as throw rugs, to the floor or use a non-skid backing on them.
3. Repair or replace floor covering that causes uneven walking surfaces.
4. Keep walking surfaces clear of tools, toys, pencils and the like. An unobstructed walking surface is of particular importance in poorly lighted passageways and stairs.
5. Use proper stepladders or stepstools of appropriate height to extend your reach. When using a stepladder, maintain a handhold at all times. Avoid using chairs, tables and boxes as ladder substitutes. Check all ladders for defects before using them. Lock and check the spreader before use.
6. Provide for well lighted walking surfaces. If adequate lighting is not available, have proper lights installed. Switches should be provided at the top and bottom of stairs. When needed, use a flashlight.
7. Provide guards at the top and bottom of stairways to keep young children away from the steps.
8. Mark the bottom and top of stairways to indicate both the top and bottom steps.
9. Provide sturdy handrails on all stairways.

WHO KNOWS?

1. Who wrote "Never put off until tomorrow what you can do today?"
2. Which rank is higher—baron or viscount?
3. Name the longest river in the world.
4. What President had the shortest term?
5. What is the "troposphere?"
6. What is the "tropopause?"
7. What is the "stratosphere?"
8. What man is generally credited with the discovery that the earth is round?
9. What is the length of the standard tennis court?
10. Salem is the capital of which state?

TV Program Will Examine Major Fund-Raising Groups

East Lansing—"Your Dollar's Worth" examines the operation and management of major non-sectarian fund-raising groups in "The Big Tin Cup," Sunday, Feb. 4, at 11:30 a.m. and Monday, Feb. 5, at 12 noon on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

The program focuses on which portion of funds raised go to the cause and which portion is used for administration, research and promotion. Reformer Hub Haines discusses the inadequacy of present fund-raising laws, in reference to the set up and operation of the bogus Kaiser Foundation. He explains what can be done to prevent fraudulence in charities and foundations.

Also appearing on the program are national officers of the Tuberculosis Association, the National Health Council, the National Institute of Health and other fund-raising groups.

Other WMSB highlights include: "Great Decisions 1968" premieres with "The Middle East: Is Peace Possible?" Sunday, Feb. 4, at 2:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 11:30 a.m.

The series focuses on eight of our country's major foreign policy areas, each program presenting two persons with differing views on the major questions in each area. Participants are widely known figures in diplomacy, government and education. The first program features Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.) who speaks on the Middle East question.

The moderator for the series is Peter Lisagor, Washington bureau chief of the Chicago Daily News and nationally syndicated columnist.

DRAMA

"N.E.T. Playhouse" presents Ronald Ribman's "The Journey of the Fifth Horse," originally presented Off-Broadway by the American Place Theatre, Sunday, Feb. 4, at 10 p.m.

The play, which won the Obie award as the best Off-Broadway play of the 1965-66 season, concerns the story of a publisher's reader whose life parallels that of a young man in a Turgenov novel, "The Diary of a Superfluous Man." The play intertwines the lives of both "superfluous" men.

Dustin Hoffman, original star of the play, again portrays Zerkow, the publisher's reader. Other members of the cast include Charlotte Rae, Michael To-

Rogers City Publisher Named To Head Michigan Press Association

Other officers are Frank Angelo, Detroit Free Press, president-elect; Jim Brown, Ingham County News, Mason, vice-president; Blair C. Bedient, Albion Recorder, treasurer; Elmer E. White is executive secretary.

Norman C. Rumble, managing editor of the Midland News, is past president.

Daniel Ryan, Kalamazoo Gazette; Henry M. Hogan, Jr., Birmingham Eccentric; Albert Shalton, Petoskey News-Review; and Melvin E. Bleich, Romeo Observer, are newly-elected members of the Board of Directors. Re-elected to the Board are David A. Root, Jr., Manistique Pioneer Tribune; and Philip L. Richards, Alpena News.

The centennial convention was climaxed with the 27th "All-Michigan" dinner, co-sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Entree this year was Bonanza Ham, a pre-cooked, boneless product of a Michigan packing company. The dinner-dramatizes Michigan as the only state in the union which has an agriculture industry sufficiently diversified to permit this type of meal.

Michigan Winter Sports Guide Map Is Still Available

Lansing—Michigan's annual guide to fun in the snow—the 1967-68 Michigan Winter Sports Map is still available, according to William T. McGraw, Michigan Tourist Council director.

Since its production date in November, more than 60,000 copies of the popular publication have been distributed nationwide. McGraw said the map is part of the literature sent in response to inquiries prompted by the Council's national advertising and promotional programs.

"Listing the locations of all of Michigan's 83 ski, skating and tobogganing areas, the map includes detailed information on each of the individual winter sports areas' facilities and activities."

Copies of the Michigan Winter Sports Map are available free of charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

The "charge it" habit gets to be expensive, in time.

Marilyn Boyce, Thomas Zick, Jr., Exchange Vows in Stockbridge

Marilyn Lou Boyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wynn C. Boyce of 15780 M-52, Stockbridge, exchanged marriage vows with Thomas R. Zick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Zick Sr. of 809 Mechanic St., Stockbridge. The wedding took place Saturday, Jan. 27 at 8 p.m. at Stockbridge Methodist church, with the Rev. William E. Prager of Stockbridge Methodist church and the Rev. Stuart W. Werner of Stockbridge Presbyterian church officiating. Lawrence Humrich of Webberville, uncle of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'm Yours."

The bride made and designed her floor-length, A-line gown of peau de soie, featuring a bodice covered with hand-clipped rosepoint Chantilly lace, long matching lace sleeves, a modified scooped neckline, and a wattleau peacock train edged with hand-applied scallops of matching Chantilly lace. Her carriage-rose headpiece which held the bride's tresses, shoulders, length silk illusion veil was also made of Chantilly lace. She carried a cascading crescent of white carnations centered with a corsage of pink and white sweet-heart roses.

Mrs. Keith Otto of Kalamazoo was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids included Linda Prentice of Munith, and Ruth Hannevald and Kathy Sweet of Stockbridge. Mary Zick of Stockbridge, sister of the bridegroom, was a junior bridesmaid. Each attendant wore a medium blue, floor-length, A-line dress of peau de soie, with an empire waist accented by a white band with blue flowers and gold edging. The headpieces were ring-shaped and covered with matching material. The matron of honor carried a crescent of pink carnations, while the other attendants carried crescents of pink and white carnations.

Robert Zick of Stockbridge, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushering were Brian Sommer of Stockbridge, cousin of the bride; Edward Zick of Stockbridge, brother of the bridegroom; and Keith Otto of Kalamazoo, brother-in-law of the bride. William Zick of Stockbridge, brother of the bridegroom, was a junior groomsman. The bride's mother chose a pink silk organza coat and brocade A-line dress ensemble with matching hat, shoes and gloves for the occasion. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink whipped cream dress with white collar and cuffs and matching accessories.

A reception following the ceremony was given by the bride's parents at the Stockbridge Presbyterian Education building. Richard Forwood of Grand Rapids, aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake. Others assisting were Jean Boyce of Gregory, Bev Gall of Ann Arbor, and Linda Battaglia of Danville, all cousins of the bride. Louise Thompson of Stockbridge, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's traveling costume included a pink jersey A-line dress, black shoes and a black purse. The new Mrs. Zick, a student at Eastern Michigan University, was formerly a summer employee at Stop & Shop, Chelsea. Her husband, also a student at Eastern Michigan University, is an assistant manager with the S. S. Kresge Co.

The couple will reside at A-7 Pine Grove Terrace, Ypsilanti.

Tumble Drying Givs Best Results On Permanent Press

Tags reading "For best results, tumble-dry" found on permanent press garments may be misleading, according to Bernetta Kahabka, Extension textile and clothing specialist at Michigan State University.

More accurate instructions should read "Best no-iron results will be obtained only by tumble-drying."

"Although many types of slacks give satisfactory no-iron performance whether line or tumble dried, most other types of permanent press should be tumble dried to achieve the desired no-iron performance," she says.

Tumble-drying is especially necessary for light-weight blouses, dresses and skirts in white and solid shades. Drying time should be short and prompt removal from the dryer is important.

What does permanent press mean to the homemaker who does not have access to a dryer?

The results of line drying blouses, shirts, and dresses will be equivalent to the best performance of wash and wear garments. Therefore, touch-up ironing at a low temperature may be needed," Miss Kahabka continued.

Great strides toward solving the problems of durability, cleanability, and complete no-iron features for durable press are being made. For example, the current soil release processes were developed for freeing stains from durable press.

Progress will continue with greater future emphasis on engineering fabric construction and variety in fiber blends, especially for permanent press.

Big-blouse sleeves seemed to be favored on some garments and cowl necks continued to be good.

New Liquid Waste Incinerator Being Installed By Dana Corp.

An incinerator system to control soil, water and air pollution is being installed at the Chelsea plant of Dana Corporation's Power-Take-Off Division. Plans for the system were initiated last September, and actual construction started two weeks ago. The new system is expected to be in operation within three months at the company's new Sibley Rd. facilities.

Designed and built by the Franco Corp., Royal Oak, the high-temperature pyro-decomposition unit will consist of a refractory-lined steel stack in which all liquid waste will be burned under automatic control at a rated capacity of 100 gallons an hour. Ersal Moyer, chief facilities engineer for the Dana division, said natural gas will be combined with air to provide a temperature ranging between 1800 and 3000 degrees, yet only a slight heat wave will be visible from the stack. The system provides a fast, efficient method for the disposal of liquid waste and for complete, adequate pollution control, which is approved by the State Water Resource Board and Air Pollution Commission.

The engineering staff of the Chelsea plant, headed by Moyer, designed and engineered the installation of the new $50,000 system. Working with Moyer on the project have been Leroy Rappette of 118 Pierce St., layout supervisor, and William Taylor, former Chelsea resident and plant layout supervisor who now is a staff engineer at Dana's headquarters in Toledo, O.

NEW INCINERATOR: The incinerator system being currently installed at Dana Corporation's new Sibley Rd. facilities will be similar to the one shown in the above picture. The new system is due to be completed within three months.

It's a pleasant life if you have enough money to pay your bills and a little bit left over.

State Motorists Chalk Up Record Number of Miles

Lansing—Motorists drove an estimated 44.8 billion miles on Michigan's state highways, county roads and city streets in 1967, the State Highway Commission reports.

This is an increase of two percent compared to 1966 when motorists drove an estimated 43.9 billion miles, but the smallest gain in state-wide travel since 1961 when the increase was only seven-tenths of one percent.

The average annual increase in traffic volumes in the 1960's is 4.3 percent.

The biggest gain in 1967 volumes was an estimated four percent in the northern lower peninsula. In the remainder of lower Michigan, excluding Detroit and southeast Michigan, volumes were up about one percent.

Volumes decreased an estimated three percent in the Upper Peninsula and an estimated four percent in southeast Michigan.

The Highway Commission's estimate of traffic volumes is based on gasoline tax returns combined with information gathered at traffic recorders throughout the state.

Mrs. Clayton Myers of Battle Creek, the former Genevieve Valant of Chelsea and daughter of Mrs. Helen Valant of 13050 Sager Rd., has just graduated from Battle Creek Community College practical nursing program. Enrollment in the one-year course has been a "life-long dream" for the 1944 Chelsea High school graduate.

Following her marriage, Mrs. Myers and her husband lived in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, England and Oregon during his 20 years of Naval service. She did not have the opportunity to go back to school until they settled down in East Leroy upon Myers' retirement from the Navy.

Mrs. Myers, mother of a married son, Gerald, who is 21 and stationed with the Sea Bees in Gulfport, Miss., and a 19-year-old son, Tom, plans to work in Battle Creek Sanitarium.

Donald Hinderer is Member of MSU Meat-Judging Team

East Lansing—Donald N. Hinderer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hinderer of 4180-M-52, Chelsea, was a member of the 1967 Michigan State University Meat-Judging Team which competed in four intercollegiate contests last year. Hinderer, a junior, is majoring in agriculture business.

Those on the team are members of the meat judging and grading class in MSU's Department of Animal Husbandry. Students learn to evaluate carcasses and parts of beef, pork, and lamb on the basis of color, muscling, and leanness.

They also master slaughtering techniques and meat grading through classroom and field trips to packing plants and slaughtering houses.

The MSU team, coached by Dr. Robert Merkel, professor of animal husbandry and food science, and Mike Dikeman, graduate assistant in animal husbandry, won its first competition of 1967 at the Southeastern Meats Contest in Knoxville, Tenn., last spring.

Last year, the team placed first at the American Royal-Livestock Exposition in Kansas City, Mo., fourth at the Eastern National in Bristol, Va., and seventh at the Chicago International Livestock Exposition.
